How's that? Religion

Q. With what religion are the presidential and vice presidential nominees affiliated?

A. Democratic presidential nominee Walter Mondale, whose father was a Methodist minister, became Presbyterian when he married his wife, Joan, whose father was a Presbyterian minister, according to his campaign headquarters in Austin. His running mate, Geraldine Ferraro, is Catholic.

Ronald Reagan is also Presbyterian, according to the Reagan-Bush campaign headquarters in Austin. He has responded to Democratic criticism that he does not attend church regularly by claiming security risks are too great. George Bush is Episcopalian.

Fiberflex in limbo

Judge's injunction rules against board meetings

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

A Fiberflex Products Inc. board of directors elected at an Aug. 18 shareholders meeting will not be allowed to act as the company's board of directors, 118th District Court Judge Jim Gregg ruled Thursday evening.

Shareholders at the Aug. 18 special meeting removed five board members, including corporate officials Tom Rutledge, Russ Rutledge and Fred Morrow, and replaced them with former O.I.L. manager Charles "Chris" Christopher and four other Christopher supporters.

Christopher's attorney, Gil Jones, had asked the court to rule that the Aug. 18 board be allowed to act as the company's board. Christopher is fighting current corporate management for control of the multi-million oilfield industry-related manufacturing company in a series of lawsuits.

Gregg also denied a request by Jones to order the Rutledges to post a $3 million bond in the case — the same amount of money Christopher testified Thursday he had spent purchasing stock and voting rights to gain control of the corporation. The bond on the injunction remains at $1,000 each.

But Gregg also denied a request by the Rutledges to permit the current board — elected in February 1984 — to meet and consider refinancing of a $2.3 million loan at a Dallas bank and the issuance of treasury stock or previously authorized but unused stock.

The judge's ruling restrains the board, which favors the Rutledges by a vote of 9-6, from meeting and from issuing stock or treasury stock. Such a move would alter the percentage of stock owned by each faction until a final judgment has been reached in the case.

Tom Rutledge, company president, testified during Thursday's hearing that the bank note was due July 15, and that the company had been denied access to its working credit line by the bank.

Gregg also granted two requests by the Rutledges and their attorneys, Tom McCall, Steve Kiser and Tom Orloff, to convert temporary restraining orders, which last only 10 days, into temporary injunctions, effective until a final judgment in the case has been reached.

Under the temporary injunctions, Christopher and his supporters cannot use 31,500 shares of stock previously owned by Guy Matthews to determine a quorum for a shareholder's meeting. Ownership of the stock's voting rights is contested in pending litigation.

The injunctions also prohibit:

- The five board members elected at the Aug. 18 special shareholders' meeting — Christopher, Dean Holland, Jerry Lysaght, Kerry Burks and Al Teeter — from acting as board members.
- Christopher's group from excluding the Matthews' shares from the total number of shares to determine a quorum.

Toxic fine EPA charges Shamrock dumped toxic waste

DALLAS (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency has filed a complaint charging Diamond Shamrock Corp. with illegally dumping toxic PCBs, and has proposed a $2.3 million fine, an agency spokesman said today.

"It would be one of the largest fines the EPA has proposed for PCB violations nationwide," said Roger Meacham, a spokesman for the EPA's regional office here.

He said the agency ended "an intensive year-long investigation" by delivering a complaint to Diamond Shamrock late Thursday.

A Diamond Shamrock spokesman said officials were not immediately available for comment.

The oil and gas company has 20 days to file a written response to the EPA complaint, Meacham said.

The complaint charged the company's Green's Bayou Plant in Houston with illegally dumping 1,228 tons of PCB-contaminated waste between September 1979 and November 1980.

Meacham said the complaint alleges the Dallas-based company disposed of the toxic waste at two disposal sites that were not authorized to accept PCBs under federal law.

"EPA's review of company records showed that a total 2,188 tons of waste were actually disposed of, however, a five-year statute of limitations prevented EPA from citing the company for the total amount of waste disposed," he said.

Meacham said the PCBs were sent the TECO site in Robstown near Corpus Christi and the Chemical Waste Management Inc. site in Port Arthur.

"The EPA is now evaluating the situation at each site by working closely with the staff of the Texas Department of Water Resources in Austin," he said.

Meacham said the EPA investigation began in May 1983 after a routine inspection of the Green's Bayou pesticide plant.

PCBs are highly toxic materials that are a byproduct of various chemical processes. PCBs, which have been associated with reproductive disorders, cancer and disfiguring skin disease, can accumulate in human tissue, Meacham said.

"They're toxic and they're persistent," Meacham said.

PCBs are covered under the toxic substances control act of 1976.

State jobless rate declines for August

By The Associated Press

The unemployment rate in Texas fell to 5.7 in August from 6.1 percent the previous month, while the national jobless rate held steady at 7.5 percent, the Department of Labor said today.

At this time last year, the Texas jobless rate was 7.6 percent, said government economist Nick Santangelo.

Nationwide unemployment stood still in August as modest new hiring by business was offset by the departure of large numbers of young people from the work force, the government said.

The overall civilian rate, which had leveled off after a significant 0.4 percentage point rise from June to July, remained at the level that existed when President Reagan took office in January 1981.

While the ranks of America's unemployed held steady at roughly 8.5 million, the Labor Department said, total employment fell by 425,000.

The decline in state unemployment from July's rate was largely a result of teen-agers preparing for return to school, Santangelo said. About 7.5 million Texans had jobs in August and 455,800 were out of work, he said.

Santangelo said that the only large state with a jobless rate lower than that of Texas was Massachusetts, where the rate was 5.1 percent in August.

He said the fastest growth rate has been posted by the mining industry, with the oil and gas component showing a gain of about 9,000 jobs.

Santangelo said the problem area of the state continues to be the border, which was hit hard by the devaluation of the Mexican peso and a winter freeze that devastated crops.

In remarks prepared for delivery to the congressional Joint Economic Committee, Janet L. Norwood, commissioner of labor statistics, said the August national figures "show a moderation in the pace of the labor market improvement that we have experienced for more than a year and a half."

She added, "Gains in payroll employment, as measured in the business survey, were small."

At the White House, deputy press secretary Larry Speakes said today it was "encouraging news that unemployment rates have remained stable.

The shrinking of the work force by 425,000 evidently was the result of teen-agers abandoning summer jobs in preparation for the new school year. When the figures were adjusted to reflect this seasonal variation, the overall civilian rate held steady. Without that adjustment, the jobless rate would have fallen to 7.3 percent.

In her prepared testimony, Ms. Norwood said that the week in which the August household survey occurred was "quite late this year." She added, "It is possible that more youth than usual had

Meese may draw clean check on own finances

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A government-appointed investigator is expected to conclude there is no evidence that Attorney General-designate Edwin Meese III engaged in criminal conduct in connection with his personal finances, according to reports.

The Los Angeles Times quoted unidentified sources in today's editions as saying that independent counsel Jacob A. Stein was unable to find proof that Meese arranged federal jobs for friends in return for loans received by him or his wife, Ursula.

An unidentified source was quoted by NBC News on "Today" this morning as saying the investigation was "a waste of everybody's time," producing no evidence of criminal wrongdoing.

At the White House, deputy acting counsel Bruce Chapman told The Associated Press today: "We don't know whether it's true or not true or premature or what."

He said Meese had not been notified that the investigation was over. "We certainly have not had any indication that it's wrapped up," said Chapman, Meese's deputy.

The Times also said Stein's five-month inquiry found no criminal conduct in Meese's failure to report on his government financial disclosure form an interest-free loan of $15,000 to his wife in 1981.

The sources, according to the newspaper, said they don't know if Stein will address the question of whether Meese's actions were improper though legal.

Meese is President Reagan's longtime friend and White House counselor. His nomination to head the Justice Department has been delayed in the Senate Judiciary Committee pending completion of Stein's probe.

"I have no comment," George T. Frampton, one of five attorneys assisting Stein in the Meese inquiry, said Thursday night when asked about the newspaper report.

"I can't confirm or deny the story. I can't even confirm the timetable of when the panel will issue its conclusions," said Frampton, who was reached by telephone at his home in a Washington suburb.

Meese's Washington attorney, Leonard Garment, said Thursday night that "I don't know the outcome of the investigation. We're

Weather

Winds sweep state

By the Associated Press
 A light and variable wind covered the eastern half of Texas today, but a 10 to 20 mile an hour south wind whistled across the state's western half.
 The stiff breeze was a reflection of a deepening trough of low pressure in the Rockies that helped pull a little Gulf moisture into the state.
 Temperatures across the state were mostly in the 60s and 70s, with a 48-degree reading recorded at chilly Marfa and a balmy 80-degree reading at both Galveston and Corpus Christi's Naval Air Station.
 Other than low clouds along the immediate coastline, skies were clear. No rain fell anywhere within the state overnight, the National Weather Service said. However, widely scattered thundershowers spattered the coastal waters from east of Palacios southward into northeastern Mexico.
 The weather service forecast calls for generally sunny skies today with thundershowers widely scattered across the lower Rio Grande valley and early evening isolated thundershowers in the western Red River valley.
 Highs will be in the 80s and 90s as a 20- to 30-mile an hour south wind screams through the state.
 Winter was knocking at the door as frost advisories were posted today over the mountains of northwest Pennsylvania and parts of western New York state, while a heat wave scorched Southern California with endless summer.
 Early morning showers were scattered over eastern South Dakota, as well as across the northern portion of the lower Ohio Valley. Rain was scattered over the Pacific Northwest and showers extended over southeast Florida.
 High winds fanned large grass fires on Thursday that swept across thousands of acres of Kansas farm land, destroying farm machinery, barns and abandoned homes, authorities said.
 However, no injuries or damage to homes were reported in six counties where fires occurred.
 The temperature hit 105 degrees at Palm Springs, Calif., Thursday in the second day of a heat wave on the West coast that has sent thousands to the beach and knocked out many transformers because of widespread use of electricity for air conditioning.
 Today's weather forecast predicted scattered thundershowers from the northern Rockies to the Great Lakes. Strong and gusty winds were expected across the central Rockies and the Dakotas.
 West Texas — Fair through Saturday. Isolated evening thundershowers west of the mountains tonight. Cooler in the Panhandle Saturday. Highs today upper 80s mountains, 90s most areas, except near 103 in the Big Bend. Lows in the low 50s in the Panhandle to low 70s extreme south. Highs Saturday mid 80s to near 103.

Harte-Hanks OKs leveraged buyout

SAN ANTONIO — Stockholders of Harte-Hanks Communications, Inc. approved a leveraged buyout of the company Wednesday.
 That move, approved by 98 percent of the firm's shareholders, will allow each holder of the firm's common stock to receive $27 in cash and $13 principal amount of Harte-Hanks junior subordinated discount debentures.
 The company's stock, listed on the New York Stock Exchange, closed at 31.25 Wednesday, up three-eighths from its Tuesday close.
 Under the leveraged buyout, members of the corporation's management team and family members are borrowing against the assets of the company to finance the purchase of stock they do not control. Such a move effectively takes the corporation into private ownership.
 As a result of the transaction, Harte-Hanks will become the wholly-owned subsidiary of HH Holding Inc., a corporation formed by members of the Harte-Hanks management and the Harte and Hanks-Shelton families.
 All the conditions to closing of the transaction have been satisfied except court approval of a proposed settlement of pending stockholder litigation with respect to the transaction. A hearing on the fairness of that settlement has been scheduled for the Delaware Court of Chancery on Monday. Included in that hearing will be discussion of an objection to the settlement filed by one stockholder.
 Company officials said trading of Harte-Hanks stock likely will halt Tuesday when the Delaware lawsuit is expected to be settled.
 Harte-Hanks Communications, Inc. operates in 29 states. The company owns and operates 27 daily newspapers and 75 non-daily publications, including weekly newspapers, advertising publications produced by newspapers, and a trade publication for the radio industry. The company also publishes shoppers that are zoned into 325 separate editions reaching 4 million households each week.
 Also owned and operated by the company are four VHF network affiliated television stations, and a division that develops entertainment programs and products.
 The company owns cable television systems serving 146,000 basic subscribers. Harte-Hanks owns and operates seven marketing services companies and 25 direct mail systems, which can offer advertisers direct mail programs reaching 96 percent of American households.
 The company has seven alternate delivery systems which can reach more than 1.5 million households via hand delivery. Harte-Hanks also operates a nationwide trucking service specializing in delivery of advertising materials.
 The company currently is negotiating for the sale of its five AM and four FM radio stations.

Judgment against Ford reduced by Texas judge

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — A state district judge has slashed a $106.8 million judgment issued against Ford Motor Co. to $26.8 million.
 A jury had awarded $106.8 million to Mr. and Mrs. William Durrill of Corpus Christi for the October 1978 death of their daughter, Devary, who was killed when her Mustang II was hit from behind and burst into flames.
 But Judge Walter Dunham Jr. reduced the amount Thursday in a hearing on a motion for a new trial.
 The jury found that Ford was negligent in failing to warn of the danger of fire from rear-end collisions involving 1974 Mustang II automobiles and said Ford should pay $100 million in punitive damages.
 In addition, the jury awarded $6.8 million in actual damages to the Corpus Christi parents for the loss of their child and for the pain and suffering of their daughter who died a week after the accident from burns over 80 percent of her body.
 If the Durrills decide not to accept the reduced judgment, a new trial will be ordered, Dunham ruled.
 David Perry, attorney for the Durrill family, said his clients "have very little choice" but to accept the lesser amount.
 "Their only alternative is to go through the trial again," Perry said. "They don't want to go through all that emotional turmoil again and its still a very substantial punitive damage award."
 Of the $26.8 million, $20 million is punitive and $6.8 is for actual damage, Perry said.

Sheriff's Log

5 plead guilty to burglary

Five persons pleaded guilty Thursday morning in 118th District Court to one count each of burglary of a building. All had been indicted for the burglary of the John Cole Ranch in Howard County.
 District Court Judge Jim Gregg sentenced each defendant to seven years probation. Sentenced were: Ida Belle Epperson, 43, of Lorraine; Ruby Lee Wyrosdick, 21, of Lorraine; Lonnie Albert Wyrosdick, 20, of Lorraine; Pamela Sue Dering, 18, of Lorraine; and Granville Ray Dering, 22, of Colorado City.
 Jeffery Griffith Starr, 28, of 1101 1/2 N. Bell pleaded guilty in 118th District Court Thursday to felony driving while intoxicated. He was sentenced to two years in prison.
 Mitchell County sheriff's deputies Thursday arrested Henry David Williams, 35, of Comanche on a Howard County grand jury indictment for burglary of a habitation. He was released on $15,000 bond.
 Between 7 p.m. Tuesday and 3 p.m. Wednesday, Tommy Tompkin's house, located about 8 miles northeast of Big Spring, was burglarized, according to the sheriff's office.
 Burglars entered the house by prying open the front door. Items taken include three saddles, other tack items, a large lounge chair and clothing.
 Money and checks were taken Wednesday night from two Howard County businesses located on Lamesa Highway, according to the sheriff's office.
 Burglars entered both the offices of the Shirley Walker Tractor Co. and the Grady Walker LP Co. by prying holes in the metal walls of the building.
 Jose Juan Martinez, 36, of Carlsbad, N.M., was released from Howard County jail on the authority of Judge Gregg. Martinez was jailed July 2 for contempt of court for failure to pay child support.
 Marshall Bennett Rinehart, 47, of Snyder was transferred Thursday to the sheriff's office from the Department of Public Safety on suspicion of DWI. He was released on $1,000 bond set by Municipal Judge Melvin Daratt.
 Darran Joe Ancinec, 22, of Andrews was transferred Thursday to the sheriff's office from the police department on suspicion of driving while license suspended. He was released on $500 bond set by Daratt.
 Noel Pinchinat, 32, of 2626 Hunter was transferred Thursday to the sheriff's office from the police department on suspicion of DWLS. He was released on $500 bond set by Daratt.

 already left summertime jobs in anticipation of the return to school.
 Within the various population groups, moreover, there were no significant gains in the various jobless rates. Unemployment among blacks dropped substantially, from 16.9 percent to 16 percent. When Reagan was inaugurated in January 1981, roughly 7.8 million people were out of work. Since the depth of the recession in November 1982, nearly 6 million jobs have been created, both the business and household surveys have shown. But the rate is the same as when Reagan came into office because the number of people seeking jobs has increased substantially since the recovery commenced in early 1983.

 still furnishing material to Mr. Stein.
 White House spokesman Anson Franklin also said he knew nothing about the outcome of Stein's inquiry.
 Last spring, Attorney General William French Smith asked a three-judge federal panel to name an independent counsel under provisions of the 1978 Ethics in Government Act.
 Stein, 59, was appointed by the panel on April 2 to investigate the loans to Meese and his wife.
 The $15,000 loan to Mrs. Meese was made by Edwin W. Thomas Jr., a California friend of Meese who was later appointed to a government job in San Francisco. Thomas's wife, Gretchen, also received a federal appointment. Meese has said he "inadvertently" failed to report the loan on financial disclosure forms.
 According to testimony at Meese's Senate confirmation hearings earlier this year, Meese's accountant John R. McKean arranged the first of two loans totalling $60,000 in 1981 shortly before he was named to the U.S. Postal Service board of governors.
 Other testimony showed that California real-estate developer Thomas J. Barrack Jr. was appointed to an Interior Department post and nominated as assistant secretary of commerce after he helped Meese sell his California home.
 Barrack loaned a friend $70,000 for the downpayment on Meese's house and later cancelled the debt.
 Meese, who has denied any connection between the loans and the federal appointments, reported last month that he had repaid the loans from McKean and Thomas.

Woman, son die in car-train collision

SEALY (AP) — A 2-year-old San Felipe boy was in stable condition today at a Houston hospital where he was being treated for injuries he received in a car-train collision that killed his brother and parents.
 Leslie Ray Wilson was listed in stable condition at Hermann Hospital, where he was taken by helicopter from the Brazos Valley Hospital in Sealy Thursday night, a hospital spokesman said.
 His parents, Florence Bailey Wilson, 26, and Leslie Ray Brown, 25, died at the scene of the accident, said Christina Piorkowski, a nurse at Brazos Valley Hospital.

Inflation over 600 percent

BUENOS AIRES — The government says the cost of living rose 22.8 percent in August, boosting the inflation rate for the past year to 649.7 percent.

It was the largest single monthly increase since March 1976, when a rise of 37.6 percent was recorded. In August 1983, inflation increased 17.2 percent.

Inflation has risen steadily in Argentina since 1980. The nine-month-old democratic government, in a new bid to curb the rise, last week announced wage and price ceilings of 16 percent for September.

MOSCOW — Dissident Yuri Shikhanovich, a mathematician and friend of Andrei Sakharov, has been sentenced to five years in jail and five years of internal exile for anti-Soviet activities, a Moscow source said.

The source, a friend of the Shikhanovich family, told reporters the 51-year-old mathematician was sentenced after a two-day trial that ended Thursday.

Western reporters and diplomats were barred from the courtroom in northern Moscow where the trial was held, but family members were admitted.

Shikhanovich reportedly was arrested Nov. 17 and charged under Article 70 of the criminal code concerning preparation and circulation of literature defaming the Soviet state. The charge has a maximum penalty of seven years in jail and five years of internal exile.

Polish film takes award

VENICE — "The Year of the Tranquil Sun," directed by Krzysztof Zanussi of Poland, won the Golden Lion award today for the best film at the 1984 Venice Biennale Arts Festival, organizers announced.

The film was chosen over 25 other entries by an international jury headed by Italian director Michelangelo Antonioni.

Now based in West Germany, Krzysztof earlier directed a film based on the life of Polish-born Pope John Paul II, titled "Man From a Far Country."

Antonioni announced that Nasseruddin Shah of India was voted the best actor for his role in "Paar" ("Beyond") directed by Gautam Ghosh, and the best actress award to Pascale Ogier in "Les Nuits de la Pleine Lune" ("The Nights of the Full Moon") by Eric Rohmer of France.

Indians kill two workers

BRASILIA — A group of Amazon Indians attacked and killed a government worker and an oil prospector for trespassing on tribal territory, a spokesman for the government-run Indian affairs agency said.

"They were shot with bows and arrows and clubbed with sticks," Raimundo Nonnado Cruz, a press spokesman for the agency, said Thursday. Nonnado Cruz said the Indians, who belong to the Kurubu tribe, live in Atalaia do Norte.

PICKING UP — A Farmers Oil Co. employee gestures while talking with firefighters standing in the rubble left by an explosion and fire that destroyed the Anthony, Kan., business Wednesday night. Investigators plan a closer look at the scene today.

Fiery oil explosion claims two men's lives

ANTHONY, Kan. (AP) — Investigators dug through the rubble Thursday of an explosion and fire that killed two men as it ripped through a building housing an oil company, hurling debris two blocks and sending up a fireball visible for 10 miles.

About a half-dozen people were injured, one of them critically, in the explosion Wednesday night at Farmer's Oil Co. in this town in south-central Kansas, a Harper County sheriff's deputy said. The cause of the explosion had not been determined Thursday afternoon, authorities said.

Bodies of the men killed in the blast were badly charred, authorities said.

Sheriff John Catherwood identified the dead as Joe Wayne Pierce, 32, of Wakita, Okla., a Farmers Oil truck driver, and Ronnie R. Gettle, 17, of Harper, who was not a Farmers Oil employee but sometimes visited the business.

Kenneth Ray Graves, 51, president of the oil company, was in critical condition at St. Francis Regional Medical Center in Wichita with burns over 70 percent of his body, a hospital spokesman said.

Tom Ackmire, an investigator for the state fire marshal's office, said he would not attempt to estimate damages or to determine a possible cause for the explosion and fire until Friday.

"You know how the atom bomb looks with that big, fiery mushroom cloud? That's what it looked like," Marilyn Warnock, who was in a convenience store across the street, said of the explosion.

The building, which housed Farmers Oil, an oil wholesaler and transporter of ammonia, was virtually destroyed, said Harper County Attorney Phil Unruh. The structure also housed an optometrist's office and the local office of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Social Conservation Service.

A convenience store and a restaurant across the street were damaged, as were nearby houses. There were numerous reports of window breakage in town, Unruh said.

The blaze that gutted the building raged out of control for nearly three hours, Harper County Undersheriff Larry Stone said. About 150 nearby residents were evacuated from their homes until the blaze was brought under control.

Police Chief Richard Happ said bricks from the building's walls were blown to two blocks away.

Larry Gaugh, 17, was in good condition in the Harper hospital with a head injury from flying debris, police said. Four people were treated and released for cuts and abrasions, Happ said.

Ike makes last stop in south China

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — Typhoon Ike has run out of steam over south China, having torn a path of destruction across parts of the mainland and the Philippine Islands.

Filipino authorities reported 1,113 dead and 200,000 homeless, and said they feared hundreds more might have been killed in the 115-mph winds that whipped the central and southern part of the archipelago.

In China's southern Guangdong province, Nanfang daily, a Communist Party newspaper, reported today the typhoon blew the roofs off about 2,000 houses, flattened buildings and destroyed rice, sugar and rubber crops.

There was no immediate word on Chinese casualties. Chinese television today showed the wreckage in the Philippines but made no mention of how the storm affected China. The Chinese are sensitive about disclosing details of disasters.

Chinese meteorologists reported the typhoon crossed China's Hainan Island and southern provinces and dissipated into a minor storm Thursday night.

In the Thai capital Bangkok, an interior ministry official reported two persons dead and three missing in flash floods in the northeast caused by seasonal monsoon rains aggravated by the typhoon.

Japan, S. Korea vow to unity

TOKYO (AP) — The leaders of Japan and South Korea vowed today that the bitter past between their nations will yield to a new era of friendship, and Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone expressed "deep regret" for the suffering Japan once imposed on Korea.

South Korean President Chun Doo-hwan, in the second day of his historic visit to Japan, warned that northeast Asia and eventually the world would be dragged into a conflict in Korea. He called on Japan and other nations in the region to help keep peace on the peninsula.

Earlier, Chun and Nakasone held a second round of talks on maintaining peace on the peninsula, divided between South Korea and communist North Korea. Chun's official three-day visit is the first by a Korean leader to Japan.

At Chun's request, the two leaders left bilateral issues, such as Japan's trade surplus and discrimination against Korean residents in Japan, for meetings among Cabinet ministers.

"There was a period in this century when Japan brought to bear great sufferings upon your country and its people," Nakasone told Chun at a luncheon, in the frankest acknowledgement yet of past wrongdoings. "I would like to state here that the government and people of Japan feel a deep regret for this error and are determined firmly to warn ourselves for the future."

The admission of guilt was far more direct than that made by 83-year-old Emperor Hirohito the night before at a state banquet.

Hirohito lamented the "unfortunate past between us for a period in this century," but stopped short of an apology.

Hinckley requests ballot

DENVER — Presidential assailant John Hinckley Jr. cannot be denied the right to vote just because he is in a mental institution, an official said after Hinckley wrote to request an absentee ballot.

However, Jefferson County clerk and recorder Norm Allen said Thursday he's not sure if Hinckley can claim residence in Colorado. He isn't registered in the county where his parents live. The matter has been referred to county lawyers and the Justice Department, Allen said.

Hinckley, who resides at St. Elizabeths Hospital in Washington, said he wants to vote in November but was not allowed to register in Washington because he isn't considered a resident.

Hinckley was found innocent by reason of insanity in the March 31, 1981, shooting of President Reagan.

Blaze strikes Disneyland

ANAHEIM — A fire near a warehouse at Disneyland, apparently touched off by fireworks, burned about $1.5 million worth of stuffed animals, a Disneyland spokesman said.

The fire, which was extinguished within a half-hour after it was reported at 9:11 p.m. Thursday, was in a remote northern section of the amusement park, said supervisor Liz Creamer of the Anaheim Fire Department.

"A lot of stuffed animals went up in smoke," said Disneyland spokesman Bob Roth, who estimated the damage at $1.5 million. The stuffed animals were Disney characters — Mickey Mouse, Minnie Mouse, Goofy and others, that were to have been sold as souvenirs.

3 plead innocent to fraud

NEW YORK — Three men accused of using inside tips from a writer's upcoming newspaper columns to stage a $700,000 stock fraud were released on their own recognizance after pleading innocent to all charges.

R. Foster Winans, 35, a former reporter for the Wall Street Journal, his roommate David J. Carpenter, 35, and former broker Kenneth P. Felis, 31, entered pleas Thursday to securities fraud charges.

Winans is accused of taking $31,000 to leak the contents of his influential "Heard on the Street" column.

A trial date was not set.

McDonald's donates site

SAN DIEGO — An advisory committee of residents will be formed to decide what to do with the McDonald's restaurant site where 21 people were killed by a lone gunman, said Mayor Roger Hedgecock.

The McDonald's Corp. donated the land in San Ysidro, a part of San Diego, to the city Thursday and expressed hope it would be used in a "sensitive and meaningful" manner.

Flynt apologizes in court

LOS ANGELES — Hustler magazine publisher Larry Flynt, facing trial on charges of desecrating the U.S. flag, apologized Thursday in federal court for his profane outbursts during an earlier courtroom appearance.

"I feel an apology is in order to this court. I was venting a lot of anger," Flynt told U.S. District Judge Consuelo B. Marshall.

Looming ladders leave 'em leery

To the editor:
The front page of the Big Spring Herald on Thursday, Sept. 6 has really got us disturbed. According to the Herald, a skyline ladder was seen looming at the Big Spring Airport just this past Thursday morning.

Being very close to this confirmed sighting, we, and several other residents of the area most possibly affected by ladder looming, named the Homeowners Evading Ladder Looming Organization, aka HELLO, would like the editor of the Herald to address the following questions:

1. How many communities in the United States are affected by ladder looming?
2. Is there a current, nationwide study concerning skyline ladder looming, and the possible side effects?
3. Are there any early warning signals the public should be aware of, in the event a looming ladder looms?
4. If said ladder looms on one's property, is there an available "ladder eluminator"?
5. What should one wear to a ladder looming?

HELLO thanks you, Herald, for bringing our and the rest of the public's attention to this climbing epidemic.

From the editor: I'm pleased that concerned citizens such as yourself are willing to mobilize so quickly to combat this threat. The phenomenon is so new that I'm afraid I don't have the answers to your questions, except for number five which would be lace, leotards or leather. Maybe other readers can help. In the meantime, we've sent a team of crack photo caption writers to the scene to act as looming ladder liaisons.

CLEAN efforts draw applause

To the editor:
We want to commend Johnnie Rutherford, Dwayne Wallace and all of the CLEAN workers for their efforts this summer. We used these young people several times this year and found them dependable, thorough, and reasonable in price.

Thanks for a constructive program for our youth!

Reagan salesman but not statesman

To the editor:
I have been watching Mr. Reagan speak from Salt Lake City. Who knows what they found on Grenada? Except what our government wanted us to see. I don't say the U.S.A. put those arms from Russia and Cuba on Grenada. And I can't say they didn't. Can you?

Yes, Mr. Reagan, you are a good salesman but I hope the people don't buy what you are selling again in '84.

Mrs. Mayor

Mildred Schmidlapp came home from lunch the other day and told Bert Schmidlapp the "girls" wanted her to run for mayor of Five Corners.

"Are you out of your mind?" said Schmidlapp. "If you run for public office I'll have to produce my tax returns."

"What's wrong with that?" Mildred wanted to know.

"Everyone will know how much money I make."

"So, what's the big deal? You didn't do anything wrong when you filled out your tax returns, did you?"

"Everyone does something wrong when he makes out his tax returns. How could you do otherwise with the crazy forms they require you to fill out?"

"Well, as long as it's an honest mistake people won't fault you."

"I'm not worried about people. I'm worried about the IRS. You release my tax return to the public and I'll have 20 agents down here going over every facet of my business."

"I don't see why I should give up my political ambitions because you're afraid of the IRS."

"Look, I run an honest car dealership in this town — at least as honest as any other car dealer. But in order to meet my bills I can't give all my money to Uncle Sam."

"Then what you're saying is you have something to be afraid of if your tax return is made public."

"Everyone has something to be afraid of when his tax return is published. The only thing the IRS has going for it is fear."

"Why didn't you tell me this before?"

"Because you didn't give a hoot how I ran my business in the past. Now you decide to run for office and suddenly you want to know where the bread for the table is coming from. Why do you want to become mayor anyway?"

"If I do a good job it will be a natural step to the Governor's Mansion."

"My God, if you run for governor they'll not only have the IRS but the FBI after me."

"Don't tell me you have anything to hide from the FBI."

"How do I know? They could set me up in a sting operation. They'll try to get me involved in a stolen car ring. Those guys will stop at nothing to set you up."

"I didn't say I'd run for governor right away. But it would be a good spot to launch my campaign for the Oval Office."

"That's where you're heading?"

"What's wrong with wanting to be the first woman President of the United States?" Mildred said.

"Nothing if you don't mind the IRS trashing our records, the FBI tapping our phones, the media camped under our bed, and the public afraid to do business with me because of conflict of interest."

"But you've always been supportive of women running for political office," Mildred said. "Now you're talking out of the other side of your mouth."

"When I said women, I used it in a generic sense. I never thought you would toss your hat in the ring."

"The only reason I'm doing it is that I believe I'd make a very good mayor, and the machine in this town has been in office long enough."

"The machine you're talking about buys all its police cars from me."

"Well, it's wrong. The contract should go to the lowest bidder. That's one of the things I'm going to campaign for."

"That's just great. You take on the machine and they'll see that no one buys a tire from me."

"Honest government is more important than selling cars."

"I agree. So how do I make a buck while you're running for mayor of Five Corners?"

"That's your problem. If I'm going to run for public office I shouldn't know how you make your living."

Around The Rim For Carol

By RICK BROWN
The longest journey begins with the first step.

— Chinese proverb

I hadn't seen Carol for eight years, maybe more. We didn't really count up the years when we got together in Houston last weekend.

I was happy that from the moment I saw her, we still had the same rapport. After all the years, the feeling was comfortable between us.

Without saying much, we slid our arms around each other and walked into the house for me to meet her husband.

This was potentially awkward, but presented no problem. Our relationship had always been platonic: We were high school buddies back then, interested in the same kinds of music and borne of the same liberal philosophy and education.

Now, several pounds lighter and in good physical shape, there was something sad about the Carol I met in the wet Houston rain. It was never specifically stated, but I felt that she'd had problems.

She alluded to them in psychological terms. Starting a couple of years ago, she'd begun having "anxiety attacks," though she didn't know that's what was happening to her when they first occurred. She talked about a tightening of muscles, incessant stomach problems and a racing heart beat. She said she had been seeing a psychologist — her "shrink."

I demurred from pressing her on specifics, but I wondered. What had happened to make her so listless?

She said she was bored with her job (at an insurance company), but they had done all they could to make her happy. She said that after three years of marriage she and her husband had turned out to be "just good friends."

I thought about other marriages I'd known that were a lot less, and this last didn't seem so bad. She said she wanted more, but she wasn't able to put her finger on what "more" would be.

It was with a feeling of embarrassment that I told her of what I'd done and where I'd been since I'd seen her last: the trips to Japan, the interesting people, etc.

Lucky me.

I knew it had been a long trek for Carol, and I had a feeling that her journey was really only beginning. She didn't know what she wanted or how to attain it. She was afraid of taking the first step.

I wanted to tell her to strike out in any direction that seemed right and not to mind if it turned out wrong.

I wanted to tell her that she would defeat herself from the start if she didn't at least try.

But most of all, I wanted to be a comfort. It was enough that as we said good-bye and gave each other one last, good hug we knew that we would see each other again.

Justice waltzes on Nazi probe

WASHINGTON — Attorney General William French Smith tried to prevent a Justice Department investigation of the close ties between U.S. intelligence agencies and Klaus Barbie, the infamous Nazi war criminal, according to the former official who headed the Barbie investigation.

Smith changed his mind only after weeks of growing pressure from the press and members of Congress — and a television network reporter's threat to go on the air with embarrassing questions about the Justice Department's reluctance to look into Barbie's cozy relationship with U.S. intelligence.

The resulting investigation disclosed that U.S. officials had recruited Barbie after World War II and arranged his escape to Bolivia in 1951. Expelled last year, Barbie is now in France awaiting trial for "crimes against humanity." He was known as the "Butcher of Lyon," the French city where he headed the Gestapo during the Nazi occupation.

The story of Smith's last-minute decision to authorize the investigation is told in a forthcoming book by Allan Ryan, former director of the Justice Department's Office of Special Investigations. My associate Lucette Lagnado has seen proofs of the book — Quiet Neighbors: Prosecuting Nazi War Criminals in America — which will be published this fall by Harcourt Brace Jovanovich.

The attorney general "had decided there would be no investigation," Ryan writes, because Smith didn't believe the case was "important." He describes Smith's attitude this way: "If Congress or the press wanted an investigation, they could do it themselves."

Ryan tells how he learned of Barbie's links to U.S. intelligence on February 11, 1983:

"I called the Pentagon to see the director of Army Counterintelligence about the case. When I arrived in his office, I saw a single file, almost 3 inches thick, with a red cover marked 'secret.' He pushed it toward me. 'That's the Barbie file,' he said.

"I leafed through the dossier. ... It was thick with postwar memos from one officer to another discussing Klaus Barbie."

"The most recent document was dated March 27, 1951. It was a page and a half, signed by two Army intelligence agents, describing how they had escorted Barbie to Genoa, Italy, with false papers under the name 'Altmann' and had arranged his departure to Bolivia ...

"So the charges were true. Barbie had been an Army intelligence operative after the war."

After reviewing the file, Ryan sent a memo to Assistant Attorney General D. Lowell Jensen, head of the Criminal Division. Ryan concluded that any prosecution for violation of U.S. law — Barbie had visited the United States twice — was probably barred by the statute of limitations.

"But I recommended that we go forward anyway with a full investigation," Ryan writes. "The evidence of American complicity with Barbie was unmistakable..."

Jensen agreed. But two days later he called Ryan to say that Smith had vetoed the investigation. The press was told that Smith "had not announced his decision," Ryan writes, adding, "I did not tell them that in fact he had decided against it."

Ryan said he tried to persuade Smith — through Jensen — that "the reaction against the department will be immediate, widespread and adverse" if Smith's decision stood. No dice.

Then, on March 14, 1983, two weeks after Smith's initial decision, Ryan got a call from a TV correspondent who said he was going on the air in one hour with questions about Smith's refusal to move on the Barbie case.

"I called the attorney general's press secretary to alert him," Ryan writes. "Scarcely half an hour later he called me back. Smith had decided to authorize the investigation."

Footnote: Smith's office had no comment.

WATCH ON WASTE: I've reported many instances of waste and extravagance in the use of U.S. aid funds in Egypt, which now total about $1.3 billion a year. Auditors who have investigated Agency for International Development operations in Egypt may have found one explanation for the mess: AID personnel in Egypt are stretched too thin to keep proper tabs on the spending.

Two symptoms, three problems

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I really want to be a better person, and usually, I am moral and decent. But when I get angry — which is far too often, I know — my tongue gets away from me and I lash out. I know this is wrong, but I can't seem to do anything about it. — A.J.

DEAR A.J.: You have two problems — your anger and your tongue — but they are very closely related. Your speech, after all, is an indication of what is going on inside of you, in your mind and in your emotions.

But more than that, your anger and harsh words are signs of a deeper problem, one that is spiritual in nature. Jesus declared, "The things that come out of the mouth come from the heart, and these make a man 'unclean.' For out of the heart come evil thoughts, murder, adultery, sexual immorality, theft, false testimony, slander" (Matthew 15:18-19).

In other words, our hearts — our inward natures — need changing. That may be hard for us to admit, because we like to think we are better than we really are, or that we have the moral strength within ourselves to control our problems. But the truth is we need our hearts changed, and we do not have the power to change them ourselves. This is what you have discovered. You know your attitudes are wrong and would like to change, but you aren't able to do it.

But God wants to help you — and He can if you will let Him. Only Christ can change our hearts, and the Bible promises: "If anyone is in Christ, he is a new creation; the old has gone, the new has come!" (2 Corinthians 5:17). That can be your experience, if you will open your heart right now to Jesus Christ and ask Him to be your Lord and Savior.

That does not mean you will never have problems with anger or your tongue again, but when you stumble, God is ready to forgive and help you. Turn by faith to Christ, and discover the difference He can make.

California sizzles under record-setting heat wave

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A searing Southern California heat wave has topped three temperature records in two days, knocked out power to almost 100,000 people and hospitalized several people with heat exhaustion. Officials said Thursday the worst may be over.

Thousands fled to the beaches, classes were shortened in overheated schoolrooms and air conditioners cranked up to high speed drew record amounts of electricity.

Two men were in comas Thursday after being taken to County-USC Medical Center for treatment of heat stroke, emergency room Dr. Linton Bayless said.

"Amazingly enough, we usually don't see much of any (heat cases) at all," he said. "But the past couple of days, we've had two very severe ones ... Both came in comatose."

"I also know of a couple of other cases that were admitted to other area hospitals," said Bayless.

Paramedics have handled a number of heat-exhaustion calls, said Jim Wells of the city Fire Department, but he said complete reports on the numbers were not yet available.

DESERT RATS — Marine Corps personnel carriers race into the hills Wednesday as Operation Gallant Eagle began on the Mohave Desert in California.

The Marines are participating with sailors and Army units in the war games.

Operation Gallant Eagle invades Mohave

TWENTYNINE PALMS, Calif. (AP) — Artillery thundered in the desert and hundreds of paratroopers leaped from planes 300 miles away as the 50,000-player war game Operation Gallant Eagle began in earnest across Southern California.

Howitzers hurled 95-pound shells at targets on the Marine Corps Air-Ground Combat Center on Wednesday as armored vehicles carried thousands of troops to positions for Thursday's live-fire maneuvers on the 932-square-mile Mojave Desert base 120 miles east of Los Angeles.

At Camp Roberts, in the coastal foothills midway between Los Angeles and San Francisco, 528 paratroopers of the Army's 82nd Airborne Division streamed from six Air Force transport jets Wednesday.

One soldier suffered a sprained foot and two others complained of back pains after the drop, Army Col. James Strachan said.

But the major enemy was heat exhaustion, which felled at least one Marine as others sought shade from tanks, trucks and camouflage tents in 101-degree heat, said Col. Hank Stackpole.

"Heat is the biggest problem," Stackpole said. "The other problem we have is making them eat. In the hot environment, they don't feel like eating."

Gallant Eagle involves 50,000 troops, and the cost just for transporting personnel and equipment was put at $33 million.

"They are full of ready-to-go," Marine Lt. Col. Jim Teixeira said of his battalion. "It's an opportunity to drill with live fire. It's like the total experience."

Thursday's live-fire exercise involved two battalions of Marines from Camp Pendleton battling dummy targets to seize an objective in the Bullion Mountains. The maneuver includes aerial and artillery bombardments and firing of real ammunition, Marine Maj. Bob McLean said.

The Mojave Desert base is dotted with about 50 acres of temporary tent structures camouflaged by a brown plastic mesh that resists radar detection.

At Fort Irwin, 125 miles northeast of Los Angeles, the 24th Infantry Division out of Fort Stewart, Ga., was to engage in mock battle using blank ammunition.

A two-page newsletter, entitled "Eagle Eye," is being printed daily for the benefit of the troops and reporters.

"The individual Marine is not always aware of what his role is in the whole thing," said Lt. Col. Carl Morrison. "We want to make sure that when the Marine is hot and sweaty in the field, he knows that he is an integral part of the operation."

During the parachute drop at Camp Roberts a six-wheel truck slammed into the ground when its parachute malfunctioned.

During the 82nd's 2,300-man Gallant Eagle jump at Fort Irwin, near Barstow, on March 30, 1982, four paratroopers were killed and 156 injured in high winds.

Precautions this year included additional drop zone safety officers to check the wind and a reversal of the order in which men and equipment are usually dropped.

Normally, heavy equipment is dropped first, followed by the troops. This year the troops jumped first and cleared the drop zone. Then 11 C-141 jet transports disgorged 50 tons of equipment.

Mickey, Goofy threaten strike

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Disneyland's workers are threatening to go on strike, saying their boss is acting more like Scrooge McDuck than the Fairy Godmother by asking many of them to take a pay cut because of sagging attendance.

"I know it sounds like it's against motherhood and apple pie, but we could be going out (on strike) against Mickey and the boys," said Robert Tiernan Jr., spokesman for Local 399 of the Service Employees International Union.

The pioneer theme park, which has proposed a 17 percent pay cut over three years, has been hurt by small crowds, especially during the Summer Olympics.

Disneyland's contract with five unions representing 1,844 people from janitors and ride operators to bakery and hotel workers expires at 12:01 a.m. Sept. 16.

Disneyland has 5,000 workers. About 3,700 of those are members of 26 labor groups, but not the people who walk around dressed as Mickey, Donald Duck and the other cartoon characters.

"Mickey and the others are union members at Disneyland (in Florida). Here, they don't carry a (union) card," said Disneyland spokesman Robert Roth.

Home economists plan meeting for organizing area AHEA chapter

All area home economists are invited to an organizational meeting for the formation of a local American Home Economics Association chapter. The meeting will be at 6 p.m. Tuesday at Golden Corral Restaurant's meeting room. The meeting will be hosted by Big Spring High School home economics teacher Virginia Martin and Big Spring Herald Lifestyle editor Tina Steffen. Persons eligible for membership are those who hold a bachelor's or advanced degree in home economics or in a specialized area of home economics from an accredited college in the United States or Canada.

Also eligible for membership are those who hold a bachelor's or advanced degree in a related subject-matter area from an accredited college or university in the United States or Canada, who have a minimum of two year's experience in home economics.

The subject-matter sections are the following: art; family economics and home management; family relations and child development; food and nutrition; home economics communications; home economics teacher education; housing, furnishings and equipment; institution administration; and textiles and clothing.

For more information contact Mrs. Martin at 263-3758 or Tina Steffen at 263-7331.

Dr. Donohue

Tales of the pesky tailbone

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have been having trouble with my tailbone since last summer when I started riding a bike. It was very sore after the ride, and since then it gets very sore when I do a lot of sitting. Could I have a cyst there or could something serious be wrong? I'm a 38-year-old female, 5 feet, 6 inches, 110 pounds, and in good health otherwise. — S.R.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My problem is really a nuisance. Whenever I sit down my buttocks get very warm. This started about a year ago. I can't stay seated for more than 15 minutes without the pain occurring. I have no trouble walking, but it is very frustrating to have this. I am a 58-year-old male. — S.D.

Tailbone pain (coccygodynia) probably dates back to the invention of the chair and the bicycle. Yes, you very likely injured your tailbone, the very lowest part of the spinal column comprising a group of fused bones. The telltale symptom of coccygodynia is deep throbbing pain. Because of its vulnerable position at the very end of the spine, this section requires special cushioning, and it gets that normally from the thighs. Many times the cause of pain is poor sitting posture, a slump that alters the natural thigh cushioning.

Poor handlebar adjustment and an improper bike seat can be the cause, apparently the case with S.R. In any event, conservative treatment almost always works. Heat, especially in the form of warm baths, helps. Just sit in a normally-heated tub of water. A cushion or a donut pillow provides the tailbone cushioning until the inflammation subsides.

Once you've injured the tailbone, nearby muscles and nerves react and send out the pain signals. Pain lingers, often for several months. It should not linger for a year, as seems to be the case here. Sometimes, tailbone pain has its origins in arthritic changes in the bone itself, and the problem may become chronic and require continuing attention.

Because of these considerations and the length of time the pain has persisted, these writers should be examined to rule out things like a lower spinal disc problem. Until the cause of pain is pinned down we all may be barking up the wrong tree in diagnosing simple coccygodynia.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have had varicose veins for the past couple of years. My doctor has been "watching" them and has me doing all the things you mention—leg elevation, a walking program, loose garments, elastic stockings, etc. No surgery has been recommended yet, but it seems to be in the cards down the road. It will be to remove the bad vein in the leg. What is done in ligation? How long will I have to be hospitalized? — Mrs. R.O.

Ligation is the tying off of the vein so that the varicose section can be removed. That is called stripping. This ends the immediate problem as blood is shunted to nearby intact veins. However, you will have to continue your present program as soon as your doctor gives you the go-ahead following surgery.

Dear Abby

Busy mother keeps phone off hook

DEAR ABBY: Concerning "Mother," who complained that her inconsiderate son takes the phone off the hook when he wants his privacy — bully for him!

I am the mother of two small children, and my days are hectic. One day I counted 17 telephone calls! Only five were for me. The others were wrong numbers, hang-ups and sales pitches.

I know that phone companies recommend telephones that can be "unplugged" whenever people don't wish to be disturbed. I don't like that idea because often burglars will telephone a home they have targeted for a robbery, and if the phone is unplugged, they hear it ringing and assume nobody is home. Easy prey.

So for my money, I'll take the phone off the hook whenever I choose. I get my privacy; pests and burglars get a busy signal; and I get my housework done. Don't use my name. My husband works for "Ma Bell."

OFF-THE-HOOKER
DEAR OFF: You're "right on" for your own convenience, but here's a message from the friendly folks who beseech us to reach out and touch someone:

DEAR ABBY: I work for the telephone company, so before you approve of taking the phone off the hook, please consider these facts: R.O.H.s (receivers off the hook) decrease service and increase everybody's phone bill.

Repairmen are often dispatched to locate the trouble when people phone to say their telephone must be out of order, it's been busy for hours.

Also, taking the phone off the hook ties up the equipment for others.

New pastor a building stone for congregation

By KIM KIRKHAM
Church Editor

The Rev. Bob Parks is a builder. "The church's job is not to build buildings but to build people," said the new pastor at Gospel Tabernacle.

Parks, who is the store manager of Dolphin Pools, serves approximately 20 members of the Scurry Street congregation.

"We open our doors to all people. We encourage people to come who have needs to be a part of a church," said Parks, who was the associate pastor of Christ Fellowship Church in Big Spring for three years. "I think people are at the point where they can really be open to receive the ministry we can offer," he said.

"We believe, as far as the church, that the people desire a

THE REV. BOB PARKS ministry with a personal touch — a church that's growing in the Lord," he said. "We will stay intimate enough to minister to people with special needs. We look to touch the unlovely."

Because his father was a deacon and his mother was a Sunday school teacher, Parks had a "good background" to help him with his decision to go into the ministry.

"I really surrendered to His call in '78," he said. "He (God) put the desire in me that I didn't have before. He revealed to me that he wanted me. Parks' philosophy is that "if your heart's right, God can use you to do mighty things."

As for goals, "the first goal that I have (for church) is to get to know the people that are there," he said. "Being a healing agent into growing them (congregation) together is the practicalities of knowing God through His word."

Parks' personal goal is to be a part of a very large congregation. "I'm a little man with a big dream, but dreams make people," he said.

Parks, a graduate of Howard College and Central Arizona College, was the founder of the Lion's Den. It was a Christian coffee house that was open in Big Spring for two years. He also attended a Bible school in Fort Worth for one year and was an interim pastor at a church in the Houston area during the summer of 1983.

Parks and his wife, Vicki, have three children, Skydria, 10, Jeremy, 6, and Daniel, 5. Their hobbies include swimming and camping.

Mrs. Parks helps her husband at the church, leading the singing, playing the guitar and teaching study classes.

"We want to build this church on strong families," Parks said. "It's one structure that has been torn apart all over this world."

Women of First Church of God studies fall lesson

The Women of the First Church of God met Monday in the church sanctuary.

Betty Reagan, missionary education director, introduced the first lesson of the fall study titled "Hispanic American: Early Settlers or Modern Sojourners," written by Nilah Meier Youngman. The objectives for the study were to become better acquainted with the Hispanic women in society and to awaken sensitivity to the long, tradition and contribution the Spanish culture has made to American life. Another objective is to seek a move from stereotypes to real friendship and caring for the Spanish women.

The background history and cultural values of Hispanics were considered. A skit, "Who Am I," was presented by eight women depicting the various Hispanic women.

The next meeting will be Oct. 1 under the leadership of the missionary education director.

College Baptist to conduct revival

Dr. A. B. Lightfoot will conduct a series of revival crusade services at College Baptist Church, 1105 Birdwell Lane, Sunday through Thursday. Services will be at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Sunday, 7:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and 11:45 a.m. Tuesday through Thursday.

DR. A. B. LIGHTFOOT

According to the Carrollton evangelist, his mission is to help today's youth find their proper place in God's world. Lightfoot believes that many of the problems young people face result more from a "communication gap" than from a "generation gap," he says. The public is invited to hear Dr. Lightfoot and his wife, Ligntfoot, who will lead the special music. For further information, call 267-7429.

Center offering college-level courses

The Seminary Extension Center is offering college-level courses for pastors, staff members and laymen engaged in the ministry. The classes will be offered in 38 weekly sessions on Mondays at 7 p.m., 8 p.m. and 9 p.m. beginning Sept. 10 at the First Baptist Church.

The theological curriculum includes: "The Pastor As A Person" taught by Dr. Lee Butler; "Studies in Psalms" taught by Dr. Rick Davis; "Dynamics of Teaching Youth" taught by the Rev. Gary Fine; and "Great Doctrines of the Bible" taught by Rev. Joe Torres in Spanish. Interested persons may pre-enroll at First Baptist Church or by calling Dr. Patrick at 263-3661.

The Rev. Delmer Loy to be installed

The Rev. Delmer Loy, pastor of First Church of God, will be installed during an installation service at 8 p.m. Sunday at the church.

Area pastors from the West Texas District will participate in the service. The Rev. Clayton Hicks, retired chaplain of the Veterans Administration Medical Center in Big Spring, will serve as master of ceremonies. The Rev. Larry Smith of Inspiration Church of God in Eastland and chairman of the West Texas Minister's Association will deliver the installation message. The Rev. June Strickland of Ira will give the dedication prayer.

A reception will be held in the fellowship hall following the installation. The public is invited to attend all activities.

Upper Room to present mission film

A film titled "The Book That Would Not Burn" will be shown at the Upper Room, 313 Runnels, at 8 p.m. Saturday. Admission is free.

The film depicts a teenager in a Madagascar village who sees her people's lives transformed as they read the missionaries' Bibles and as hundreds of people become Christians.

The missions emphasis film shows the importance of memorized scripture and faithfulness despite persecution.

Crawfords to lead Tabernacle revival

A revival, led by the Rev. and Mrs. Jack C. Crawford, will be held Sept. 12 at the Gospel Tabernacle, 1905 Scurry. The public is invited. The Crawfords hold evangelistic meetings all over America, Canada and many nations abroad.

Coffee meeting set

A "Get Acquainted" Coffee will be held at 10 a.m. Sept. 14 in the fellowship hall of St. Mary's Episcopal Church, 1005 Goliad.

The meeting, sponsored by the Church Women United of Big Spring, is an annual fellowship meeting of all women in the Big Spring area.

For the record

The address of the New Thought Center was incorrect in last Friday's Church news briefs. The center's location is apt. No. 215 of the Kentwood Apartments, 1904 E. 25th St.

Team to present gospel

Paul and Trish Jackson, recording artists on the Pinebrook and Clarion labels, will be featured in a gospel presentation at 10:45 a.m. Sunday at the First United Methodist Church of Coahoma.

The Kansas-based team will present a versatile program of vocal music and various instruments that appeal to all ages.

Service planned for Vanderbilt heir from Austin

NICHOLAS VANDERBILT

NEW YORK AP) — A memorial service will be held Saturday for Nicholas Vanderbilt, who was believed dead after disappearing on a mountain climbing expedition in western Canada.

Vanderbilt, 25, of Austin, son of racehorse owner and breeder Alfred G. Vanderbilt, and Francis Glenhill, 29, of Berkeley, Calif., were last seen Aug. 22, one day after they began their ascent of Mount Robson, according to the Vanderbilt family.

The two, described as expert mountain climbers, were reported missing Aug. 25.

Search efforts were hindered by heavy snow on the mountain in the Canadian Rockies. Constable Hugh Menzies of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in Valemont, British Columbia, has said chances the men remained alive were "remote."

An aerial search Sunday failed to turn up any trace of the men, and heavy snow has forced cancellation of ground search, he said.

John Hinckley asks to vote for president

DENVER (AP) — Officials are considering an absentee ballot request from John Hinckley Jr., who says he would "very much like to vote" from the hospital where he was sent after being found innocent by reason of insanity of shooting President Reagan.

Hinckley sent a typewritten letter to the Denver Election Bureau asking that an application to vote and an absentee ballot be returned to him at St. Elizabeths Hospital in Washington, D.C.

Hinckley said he would "very much like to vote in the November general election."

"Although I am physically living in Washington, D.C., I have been told by the local elections board that I am not considered a resident here since I did not come here voluntarily," he said. "Therefore, I must vote in the state in which I last lived."

The request was forwarded to Jefferson County clerk and recorder Norm Allen, who said he hadn't seen it, but that a person cannot be denied the right to vote because he is in a mental institution.

Neither Hinckley nor his parents, who live in Evergreen, outside Golden, are registered to vote in the county, Allen said Thursday.

"We don't know where his residence is," he said. "I would have to check up and see if he can claim residence."

Guru draws busloads of homeless to Oregon

RAJNEESH PURAM, Ore. (AP) — Buses filled with "street people" from seven cities are arriving in this city run by followers of Indian guru Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh for what their hosts say is an experiment in communal living and charity.

"We don't have at all the traditional approach to charity," Rajneesh spokeswoman Ma Prem Isabel said Thursday. "We are sharing something that we have — a beautiful lifestyle, a beautiful environment."

She said the guests of the Rajneesh Humanity Trust are free to work at the commune if they wish, and any who want to leave will be provided transportation to the city of their choice.

Ma Prem Isabel said she had no figures on how many people would be arriving, but a New York organizer vowed last week to bring in 2,000 from that city.

"I will bring back 2,000 people ... I'm going to put them in a clean environment, where they get three meals a day," Swami Nikhilananda said in a telephone interview.

Disciples in Washington, San Francisco, Seattle, San Diego, Portland, Ore. and Santa Cruz, Calif. also are sending "street people" to the commune.

Country singer Ernest Tubb dead at 70 from emphysema

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Ernest Tubb, the pioneer of country music's "Honky Tonk" sound with songs like "I'm Walking the Floor Over You," died today. He was 70.

Gil Caywood, spokesman at Baptist Hospital, said Tubb died at 11 a.m. with his son, Justin, a Grand Ole Opry star like his father, at his bedside.

Tubb, who had been hospitalized since Aug. 10, suffered from emphysema and had been in failing health since 1981.

Tubb, known as "The Texas Troubadour," in 1965 was the sixth member elected to the Country Music Hall of Fame. He first sang on the Grand Ole Opry in 1942 and his distinctive, deep baritone was heard on the popular country music show throughout his career.

He sold at least 30 million records and recorded more than 250 songs.

His hits, besides the million-selling "I'm Walking the Floor Over You" in 1942, included "Waltz Across Texas," "Let's Turn Back the Years," "Rainbow at Midnight," "Tomorrow Never Comes," "Filipino Baby" and "Little Ole Band of Gold."

Tubb also was a successful songwriter and operated three Nashville record shops that did a thriving mail-order business.

He helped Loretta Lynn in the early part of her career and in 1964 they recorded a duet, "Mr. and Mrs. Used-To-Be."

A&M drools over commissary

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — It has stacks of snacks, banks of franks and oodles of noodles.

It's the new Texas A&M Food Service Commissary, a massive warehouse on Agronomy Road that opened this summer. Inside, the food services department keeps $1.5 million worth of food, everything from sides of beef to Cap'n Crunch Cereal, the Aggies' favorite cereal, food service officials report.

To give an idea of the commissary's size, the food department has estimated that the commissary can keep 6.7 million pounds of food in dry storage — the capacity of about 85 railroad cars. The giant freezer can keep 2.6 million pounds — 33 car loads — at 10 degrees below zero. And the refrigerator holds 1 million pounds of produce and perishables — about 13 car loads.

Even serving at the rate of 50,000 meals a day, the average rate during a regular semester, the commissary stores enough canned supplies for a year, and enough refrigerated food for three to six months.

The assistant director of food services, Lloyd Smith, says the commissary's size enables the university to buy food directly from the manufacturer or the processor, eliminating the middleman. The savings are so great that officials estimate the $3.9 million building will pay for itself in four years.

The commissary opens onto Agronomy Road for truck deliveries as well as onto railroad tracks. Smith says about one-third of the food stored in the warehouse arrives by rail.

Even if the A&M board of regents decides to move the tracks, Smith says, the commissary will still have access to rail deliveries.

"If the tracks are moved, the railroad would still keep the tracks behind us as a switching yard," he says. "We'd still be able to bring in food by rail."

"In fact, we waited to build it until after the rail relocation study, and put it here because the study indicated that this portion would remain in use."

Not only does the commissary allow bulk purchases, Smith says, but it also has facilities that were previously unavailable. It contains a butcher's area with machines for cutting sides of meat and blast-freezing them, a barbecue oven for catering large dinners, and even racks for growing bean and alfalfa sprouts.

Unfortunately, Smith says, all the food has to be brought in from outside, because A&M's agricultural departments don't produce food in large enough quantities for a voracious campus. The only exception to that is fresh milk, which is trucked in every day from the Dairy Cattle Center.

Before the commissary opened, campus dining facilities were served from the basement of Duncan Dining Hall. Its ceilings were low, and access to it was difficult. Unloading a truck took 1½ hours then, Smith says. The same process now takes about 12 minutes.

The food department serves all campus dining facilities except for Cain Hall, the athletes' dormitory. Cain, operated by the athletic department, buys its food from the university, Smith says.

OODLES OF NOODLES — Texas A&M University officials stand by cases of food in the university's new commissary, a giant warehouse storing crunchies and munchies for hungry Aggie students.

A&M Corps brass shuffle top cadets

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Morale is good among Texas A&M University's Corps of Cadets despite a shuffling of upperclassmen that was ordered after a Corps member's hazing death, a Corps official said Thursday.

Corps Col. Donald Burton said Thursday he decided to reassign 17 juniors and seniors in the dead student's unit to change leadership in the unit.

Bruce Goodrich, 20, of Webster, N.Y., died Aug. 30 after he was rousted out of bed at 2:30 a.m. by three students in his unit and forced to perform "motivational" exercises.

"I looked at the leadership in the unit," Burton said, "and I also looked at the fact these young men are going to be under a great deal of stress."

Burton, who is conducting his own investigation into the matter, said any decision he makes will not change any punishment the students involved might receive from the university or civil authorities.

"University-level action will occur first," Burton said. "If the university does not take action in their case, then it's my turn."

Morale among corps members is good, Burton said, and the black arm bands worn by the corps during their Sept. 1 football game against the University of Texas at El Paso will not be worn again.

More than 2,100 students belong to the corps, a semi-military organization. Corps members, some of whom are under contract to the U.S. armed services, wear uniforms and have close-cropped hair.

Meanwhile, other university officials are going to gather evidence in three other on-going investigations into the case.

Bob Wiatt, director of university security, said Thursday the two officers he has assigned to the case are continuing their investigation and he will present any evidence gathered to the Brazos County grand jury Sept. 27.

The groups conducting investigations also include the office of student life and the corps of cadets, said Lane Stephenson, university spokesman.

"No one's operating under a particular deadline," Stephenson said. "They want to make sure they come up with good comprehensive investigations."

Pay goof gives raise to teachers

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas school district officials say they simply miscalculated when they figured pay raises for 150 teachers, and the mathematical goof resulted in $1,200 raises that the teachers weren't supposed to get.

The mistake was uncovered at a school board meeting Wednesday when representatives from a teachers group objected to letters from the school district telling the 150 teachers their salaries would have to be cut.

Linus Wright, Dallas Independent School District superintendent, agreed to let the teachers keep the extra money this year.

But Wright said the fortunate teachers won't receive their automatic raises next year.

The mistake was made when raises were calculated for teachers with five years' experience, school officials told the Dallas Times Herald.

Instead of saying the salaries would go from $18,700 to $20,200 a year, the policy adopted last month said salaries would go to $21,400.

That amounts to a 14 percent pay raise for the lucky 150 teachers at a time when most other Dallas school district teachers are getting an average pay raise of only 8 to 9 percent.

This is the second time in a week the district has found itself in the embarrassing situation of uncovering mistakes in pay raises.

Last week, school officials revealed to school board members that 25 Dallas teachers who were given marginal performance ratings from their principals actually received raises in error.

The reason cited: a bureaucratic snafu.

The district pay policy required teachers to be notified of marginal ratings that threatened raises by Feb. 15, but most didn't learn until close to the end of the school year, the Times Herald said.

As a result, the raises were granted, officials said.

Next year in Baghdad

Iran appeals to Islamic youth in campaign against Iraq

SHIP CEMETERY — Wrecked vessels line the Shatt-al-Arab waterway, closed by the Iran-Iraq war.

NORTH MAJNOON ISLAND, Iran-occupied Iraq (AP) — Entrenched in dense cane forests rocked by artillery barrages, Iran's Islamic troops bow their heads to the ground three times a day, praying for orders to storm Iraqi positions a few miles away.

Drawing plans inside cement huts, officers say the prayers will be heard soon. Some of them say they are learning Arabic "for when we capture Baghdad."

Eagerness and expectations grow fast in this torrid marshland battlefield despite reports that Iran's long-heralded "final offensive" may have been postponed because of lack of air support and differences among Iranian leaders.

"Nonsense. Just one word and the offensive is on," said a rugged, clean-shaven colonel who commands an assault unit stationed in the northern flank of the twin, 43-square-mile islets.

"We have all the air and armored strength to crush the enemy in a matter of hours. God is on our side, so victory is near," he said.

The colonel was one of nearly a dozen army officers and Revolutionary Guards commanders who were interviewed during a rare guided trip to Iranian front lines over the weekend. They all spoke on the condition of remaining unidentified.

The oil-rich Majnoon Islands, about 13 miles west of the Iran-Iraq border, were captured by Iranian forces in mid-February after a fierce "human-wave" attack that claimed one of the heaviest tolls of the four-year-old Persian Gulf war.

Thousands of Iranian soldiers were felled by Iraqi gunfire as they advanced in speedboats or while building a 10-mile floating bridge that later funneled several divisions of young volunteers towards Iraqi trenches.

The islets, which take their name from the Arabic word for "madly in love," are Iran's most feasible springboard for a new full-scale attack.

A fresh Iranian thrust, if successful, would cut the Baghdad-Basra highway, along with Iraq's main supply lines to the embattled Shatt-Al-Arab waterway zone.

"That's not going to stop us. We will swim if necessary."

Red Sea sweep comes up dry

ADABIYA BASE, Egypt (AP) — A multinational force of minesweepers combed the Red Sea and found a torpedo and a World War I bomb but no mines, and their mission will continue, an Egyptian navy officer said Thursday.

Minesweepers from the United States, Britain, France, Italy and Egypt have been searching for mines in the Suez Gulf and the Red Sea since explosive devices damaged at least 18 ships during July and August.

"They have come up with pipes, oxygen cylinders, oil drums, wire coils, a cupboard, a torpedo and an old bomb dating to the First World War," said Commodore Ahmed Medhat Abdel-Bary, commander of the Adabiya naval base at the southern entrance to the Suez Canal.

He added there "is no end in sight" to the mission. Egyptian warships began the minesweeping operation on July 30, and the rest of the force joined the search in August.

"Our main mission is to keep traffic in this vital seaway normal, and until now we have succeeded,"

Abdel-Bary said. British vessels found the torpedo and old bomb and detonated them, he said.

"We cannot determine a time when every group finishes its work," he added. "After each group finishes its area, they will be allotted other areas."

The first six explosions happened in the Suez Gulf and the others in the Red Sea.

The United States has three ships and seven helicopters operating in Saudi Arabian and Egyptian waters; France has three minesweepers in Egyptian waters and three in Saudi waters, and five British and four Italian ships are operating only in Egyptian waters.

In Rome, Defense Minister Giovanni Spadolini said after a Cabinet meeting that Italy plans to withdraw its contingent within 15 days if there are no new developments.

Cairo's semi-official Al-Ahram newspaper on Thursday renewed charges that Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafy was responsible for the mine-laying, but it gave no details.

Libya places troops on alert

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP) — Libya placed its troops on alert Thursday and accused the United States of staging "huge military maneuvers" off its coast, the official news agency reported.

U.S. Navy officials, in telephone interviews with The Associated Press, said they did not know of any U.S. naval maneuvers taking place in the Mediterranean near Libya.

Honeys turn sour in volleyball tilt

By STEVE BELVIN
Staff Writer

It took the Bronte Longhorn Honeys front line a game-and-a-half to warm up, but once they did they powered past the Lady Steers 4-15, 15-12, 15-5 in non-district volleyball action at Steer Gym Thursday night.

The Honeys, members of District 8-A, and state runnerups last season, proved why they are considered a West Texas volleyball powerhouse as their senior-laden front line came to life midway through the second match. Bronte's uprising came after Big Spring handily won the first match.

Serving was the name of the game for Big Spring in the opening match with the low, hard serves of Tonya Stevenson and Tanya Ferguson leading to nine points as Big Spring jumped out to a commanding 11-3 lead. Both Stevenson and Ferguson had two aces each in the match.

In fact, the Lady Steers served the ball well all night in recording eight aces for the contest. With Debbie Holguin serving, Big Spring ended the match when Monique Jones and Tab Green double-blocked a Bronte spike attempt.

It looked like the Lady Steers might make it a fast two-in-a-row when they jumped to a 9-5 lead behind the net play of Trell Clemons, Tab Green and Jones. But then the Honeys powerful front line of Becky Morrow, Lesa Dyess, Connie Badgett and Beverly Robinson took charge.

Bronte put on a spiking barrage which led to six unanswered points. Kills by Morrow and Dyess put Bronte up 11-9 before a spike by Big Spring's Shelia Chatman stopped the charge.

Big Spring cut the lead to 12-11 but that's as close as the Lady Steers got. Badgett and Morrow served the final three points.

The final match was all Robinson and Bronte as the 5-9 senior, time and time again, drilled the middle of the lady Steers defense with crushing spikes.

Big Spring had the lead in the match once, 2-1 when Stevenson and Ferguson served points. The lead was short-lived as Bronte's Stacy Davis served the next five points to give Bronte a lead it never relinquished.

Evidence of Bronte's spiking dominance was its 21 kills in of 37 attempts as compared to only 11 of 24 for the Lady Steers. Morrow and Dyess led the Honeys with seven and six kills respectively. Robinson followed with five.

The loss drops Big Spring's record to 7-8 for the season while Bronte stands at 19-2 on the year.

Big Spring coach Susan Sharp said her team just "fell apart" after the first match. "We didn't come out fired up for the second match. We thought it was going to be easy. Bronte has that winning tradition and it begin to show. We just lost our concentration. We had some girls do some things well individually, but not together as a team."

The Lady Steers are involved in tournament action at Seminole this weekend before opening up District 4-5A play Tuesday at home versus Midland.

TOTAL CONCENTRATION — Big Spring Lady Steers sophomore spiker Tab Green gives the ball all her attention as she prepares to set up a Bronte Longhorn Honey serve. Bronte got the best of Big Spring last night, however 4-15, 15-12, 15-5, leaving Big Spring's at 7-8 for the season.

Sub-varsity Steers split first games

The Big Spring Steers won one and lost one Thursday night in opening season sub-varsity action.

The Big Spring Sophomores traveled to Midland and came away with a 14-8 win over Midland Lee. A strong rushing attack led by John Hart and Harry Marcus combined with a staunch defense keyed the win.

Hart led the Sophs rushers with 70 yards on 14 carries while Marcus accounted for 70 yards on seven carries, including a game-winning 45-yard touchdown in the third quarter. At the time the Soph Steers were leading 6-0 thanks to a 23-yard option run by quarterback Paul Decker in the second stanza.

Hart ran in the two point conversion. Lee scored late in the contest on a 19-yard pass play.

Defensive tackles Danny Wise and Deeg Young led the Steers defense with 23 and 20 tackles respectively. Steers coach James Collinsworth also singled the fine defensive play of John Meyer, John Moore, Ricky Valencia and Marcus. He also added that punter Chad Wash did a good job averaging 35 yards per punt.

The sophomores next game will be Thursday, Sept. 13 in Odessa versus Odessa High at 4:30 p.m.

JV'S FALL

Meanwhile, Big Spring's junior varsity fell upon hard times last night in Memorial Stadium by committing seven turnovers in a 8-0 loss to Snyder.

All of Snyder's points came via Steers turnovers. After a scoreless first half, disaster struck the Steers early in the second half when the punter fumbled the snap and the Tigers recovered at the Big Spring one-foot line.

Snyder added an insurance safety when another snap sailed over the punter's head out of the endzone for a safety, which was all the scoring Snyder would need.

Big Spring's next contest will be in Pecos Thursday, Sept. 13 at 7 p.m.

Clemson, Nebraska worried

By The Associated Press

From what they say about their teams, you would think football coaches Danny Ford of Clemson and Tom Osborne of Nebraska were headed for disaster this weekend.

Instead, Ford and Osborne are at the helm of two of the top three teams in the nation as college football gets into full swing Saturday. Clemson, ranked third and coming off a 40-7 romp over Appalachian State, visits Virginia in an Atlantic Coast Conference night game. Nebraska opens its campaign hosting Wyoming.

Neither the Tigers or Cornhuskers figure to have many problems Saturday — though you'd never get that feeling by listening to the coaches.

"If we're going to have a reputation for being a great team, we've got to be good enough to back that up," said Ford, who was unhappy despite last Saturday's rout of outmanned Appalachian State. "Sometimes I don't think the players listen to me when I tell them an opponent's going to be tough."

"But I keep telling them

Virginia's a good team."

The Cavaliers, 6-5 last year, have not beaten Clemson in 23 tries.

"They're going to look forward to playing Clemson, and I think our team's got a hard job in trying to get ready to play Virginia and trying to win a football game at Virginia," said Ford.

Osborne is concerned that his Cornhuskers will have trouble with Wyoming's wishbone offense. The Cowboys rode that attack to a 31-13 victory over South Dakota last week. But no one is mistaking Nebraska for South Dakota.

"Wyoming is going to be a difficult team for us," Osborne said. "Their wishbone presents some unique problems for us. If you blow an assignment on an option play, you can give up six points pretty quick."

Nebraska defensive end Bill Weber also is worried about Wyoming's wishbone.

"It puts a lot of pressure on the defense," said Weber. "You have to play the run and the pass. It requires you to pay attention and do your job. You can't afford too many mistakes."

Nebraska usually doesn't make many errors.

Elsewhere in the Top 10, No. 1 Miami, 2-0, is at No. 14 Michigan; No. 4 UCLA visits San Diego State

Coahoma JV sinks Seminole

COAHOMA — Behind the rushing of Craig Wallace, the Coahoma junior varsity downed the Seminole Indians 32-20 in the season opener for both teams.

Wallace keyed a potent Coahoma rushing attack with 186 yards on 20 carries and two touchdowns and Bulldog quarterback Chris Parker threw for two scores.

Coahoma started the scoring in the second quarter when Parker hit Jim Kling for a 12-yard score. The PAT was no good. Parker came right back and fired a 58 yard scoring strike to Frank Galviz, taking a 12-0 lead. Again the punt after failed.

Seminole roared back on the ensuing kickoff, returning it 70 yards for a score. The Bulldogs came back for two more TD's before the half to take a 26-6 lead into intermission. The first score came on a three-yard plunge by Randal Crawford and Wallace raced 83 yards for the next score. He also was on the receiving end of the two point conversion.

Seminole scored first in the third quarter, but Wallace scored from four yards out to put the count at 32-14 going into the final period. Seminole scored the final TD of the night on a 60-yard pass play.

Offensive linemen Monte Huckabee, Scott Ernest and Butch Wood were credited by coaches as having good games while Mike Duckworth, Ray Uranga, Gabie Morales, Mike Sepeda and Chris Wilson had good defensive games.

The JV Dogs next contest is Thursday Sept. 13 in Stanton at 6 p.m.

BULLDOG FROTH TIE

In a prior game, the Bulldog freshmen and Seminole fish battled to a scoreless tie.

Coahoma quarterback Andy Gambol and linebacker Willie Gutierrez played good games according to coaches. Linebacker Anthony Hernandez stopped a final Seminole scoring attempt when he picked off a pass with 10 seconds remaining.

Martina within reach of record with U.S. Open win victory over Turnbull

NEW YORK (AP) — Defending champion and top-seeded Martina Navratilova defeated 13th-seeded Wendy Turnbull of Australia 6-4, 6-1 in 55 minutes today to advance to Saturday's women's final of the U.S. Open Tennis Championship.

Navratilova will play the winner of today's match between second-seeded Chris Evert Lloyd and No. 14 Carling Bassett of Canada. Also on Saturday, John McEnroe plays Jimmy Connors and Ivan Lendl of Czechoslovakia faces Australia's Pat Cash in the men's semifinals.

It was Navratilova's 54th consecutive singles victory, matching her previous best streak which ended last Jan. 9 in a Virginia Slims of California loss to Hana Mandlikova. In the history of modern women's tennis, only Lloyd, with 56 in a row, has won more in succession.

The 27-year-old Navratilova now has won 26 of 30 career matches with Turnbull who, at 31, was the oldest woman seeded in the $2.55 million tournament.

They traded service breaks in the third through seventh games of the first set, then each held until the pivotal 10th, when Turnbull netted a forehand volley off a service return to give Navratilova the set.

Navratilova took command early in the second set, breaking in the second game and again in the sixth and was never seriously challenged.

Also on Thursday, the third-seeded Connors reached the semifinals by fending off John Lloyd of Britain 7-5, 6-2, 6-0. Then McEnroe, the No. 1 seed, turned aside Gene Mayer 7-5, 6-3, 6-4.

"John has to play sub-par to lose at any time to anyone right now," Mayer said.

McEnroe said Connors "has nothing to lose. He's going to have a lot of people on his side and he's got nothing to lose against me. Normally there should be a lot more pressure on him because he's trying to go for a third straight Open. But because I'm ranked No. 1 and I've beaten him quite a few times, the pressure's really off him."

Jets crash, 23-17

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — David Woodley, coming back four days after a concussion, tossed two short touchdown passes, and Gary Anderson booted three field goals as the Pittsburgh Steelers topped the New York Jets 23-17 Thursday night in a mistake-filled game.

Woodley, knocked out of last Sunday's opening-game loss to Kansas City in the third quarter, hit rookie Louis Lipps with a 6-yard TD pass in the first period. Then, he tossed a 3-yard lob that another rookie, Weegie Thompson, plucked out of the air for the go-ahead score in the third period.

Anderson had field goals of 32 and 43 yards in the second quarter, and 27 in the fourth quarter. But he hooked two more, one from 27 and one from 30 yards out.

The Jets, playing before a crowd of 70,654 in their first home game had taken a 14-13 lead on Bobby Humphrey's 97-yard touchdown return with the second-half kickoff.

But New York, also 1-1, could hold the lead for only a little more than two minutes. On the first play after Greg Buttle intercepted a Woodley pass at the Jets 42, quarterback Pat Ryan was forced to backpedal under a Steeler blitz. As he did, he hit his right knee with the ball and it squirted to the turf, to be picked up by Robin Cole and returned to the Jets 13.

Three plays later, Woodley lobbed the ball into the air from the 3-yard line where the 6-foot-6 Thompson leaped over Davlin Mullen to give the Steelers a 20-14 lead.

The Jets had a chance to regain the lead later in the period when Chuck Ramsey's punt bounced off the leg of Steelers rookie Terry Long and was recovered by Greg Bingham at the Pittsburgh 49. After the Jets moved to the Pittsburgh 10, they were pushed back by a sack and two penalties. So, they had to settle for Pat Leahy's 52-yard field goal, longest in Jets history, that made it 20-17.

Pittsburgh then marched 79 yards in 10 plays for Anderson's 27-yard field goal.

Pittsburgh's Sam Washington intercepted two Ryan passes to stop two late Jet possessions, and Rick Woods picked off a desperation toss from Ryan on the game's last play.

KEEP THAT SPIRIT UP — Coahoma Bulldog mascot Jana Parker and cheerleader Leslie Kirkpatrick help lead a yell at Coahoma's community pep rally held at Bulldog Stadium last night. Coahoma opens its season in Seminole tonight at 8.

'Fill the stadium'

Don't forget to buy a ticket for "Fill the Stadium Night" planned for the Steers home opener Sept. 14 versus Lubbock Estacado.

Members of various Big Spring civic clubs are selling the tickets. The clubs participating are Greater Big Spring Rotary, the Big Spring Rotary, the Evening and Downtown Lions, the American Businessmen's Club, Big Spring Civitan, Kiwanis, Optimist and Jaycees.

Injury silences 'Boom Boom'

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A training camp cut over his left eye forced Ray "Boom Boom" Mancini, former lightweight champion, to cancel Saturday's nationally televised fight against Kenny "Bang Bang" Bogner from the 1984 World's Fair amphitheatre.

"I wanted to fight this guy, but that's a hell of a thing to have your doctor tell you the thing would open right up," Mancini said at a hastily called press conference late Thursday afternoon.

It was the second time in a little more than a year that a Mancini-Bogner fight has been cancelled. The previous cancellation happened last summer when Mancini, 29-2, broke his collarbone while training for a fight against Bogner, 22-1-1.

The winner of this fight hoped for a rematch with World Boxing Association champion Livingstone Bramble, one of only two men ever to beat Mancini and the only one to have beaten Bogner.

Scramble still on in Pittsburgh

HOUSTON (AP) — The agent for running back Mike Rozier says he's still trying to get the Heisman Trophy winner out of a contract with the United States Football League Pittsburgh Maulers and into a deal with the National Football League Houston Oilers.

Rozier's agent, Art Wilkinson, said Thursday he "gave the Maulers one last-ditch proposal on Saturday. They're supposed to get back to me."

The Maulers want $1.6 million to allow Rozier to escape from a three-year, $3.1 million contract. Wilkinson has offered the USFL team $1 million.

The Oilers have NFL rights to the 1983 Heisman winner.

Christoval coach resigns

CHRISTOVAL, Texas — Christoval High School football coach Buddy Luce has resigned his job in the wake of a federal civil rights investigation and lawsuit alleging that he violated the civil rights of a Christoval athlete.

Luce submitted his resignation Tuesday afternoon to the Christoval Independent School District Superintendent T.E. Erickson. The resignation became effective Friday.

Assistant coach Bill Barnett will fill Luce's position at the San Angelo area school until the school board meets Tuesday to consider the resignation, Erickson said.

In semis vs. McEnroe

Connors says past matches are history

NEW YORK (AP) — The past, Jimmy Connors says, is not necessarily prelude.

"I feel I've gotten a little bit better along the way with each match," he replied when asked whether he could beat John McEnroe Saturday in their semifinal at the U.S. Open Tennis Championships. "That's what they put the net up for. Every time is a new time. Forget about what happened the last time."

Or, in this case, the last two times.

They met last June in the semifinals of the French Open. McEnroe won 7-5, 6-1, 6-2.

They met again a month later in the final at Wimbledon. McEnroe won even more decisively, 6-1, 6-1, 6-2.

But this is the U.S. Open. Connors won it last year — and two years ago, too.

In neither case, though, did he have to face McEnroe along the way. Both times he defeated Czechoslovakia's Ivan Lendl, who plays Saturday's other semifinal against Australian Pat Cash.

Connors and McEnroe haven't played here since 1980, when McEnroe won a five-set semifinal en route to the second of his three consecutive U.S. Open titles.

Today, top-seeded woman Martina Navratilova took the next step toward what she hoped would be a second consecutive crown here. She played No. 13 Wendy Turnbull of Britain in a semifinal. In a later match, second-seeded Chris Evert Lloyd played No. 14 Carling Bassett of Canada.

On Thursday, the third-seeded Connors reached the semis by fending off John Lloyd of Britain 7-5, 6-2, 6-0. Then McEnroe, the No. 1 seed, turned aside Gene Mayer 7-5, 6-3, 6-4.

"John has to play sub-par to lose at any time to anyone right now," Mayer said.

McEnroe said Connors "has nothing to lose. He's going to have a lot of people on his side and he's got nothing to lose against me."

Later, asked to assess Connors' chances, McEnroe revealed a moment of candor.

"This is the best court for him to play on," McEnroe began. "The balls are fast. The ball stands up pretty high ..."

He paused.

"I mean, if he's going to ..."

He paused again.

"I would think that this ..."

He paused yet a third time, then said: "He'd better play well Saturday."

Peete leads first round of Boston tournament

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — Born in Detroit, he grew up on a Florida farm. Golf was for the rich kids.

But, starting at the age of 23 when he picked up his first clubs, Calvin Peete overcame the odds.

In 1980, driven by a friend, he pulled up to the clubhouse at Augusta National Golf Club in a gold-colored Rolls Royce for his first appearance in the Masters.

Last year, he became a PGA tour millionaire in his eighth season on the circuit.

Now, at 41, Peete still is looking ahead.

"When I started, I had two goals — win $1 million and win a major tournament," Peete said Thursday after firing a 5-under-par 66 for a one-stroke lead in the opening round of the $350,000 Bank of Boston Classic.

"I've become a millionaire. Now I'm going to work on winning a major title for the next 10 years."

As he looks ahead to the "major" championships — U.S. Open, British Open, PGA and Masters — Peete is trying to improve his game while earning a comfortable living on the pro tour.

"I played here at Pleasant Valley for three years, but I've skipped the last five years because it's the time the kids go back to school and all," Peete said. "It was time to come back. I feel I need to play more to help my game."

Peete collapsed during the U.S. Open in June. He said he became dehydrated while playing at the Westchester Classic just prior to the Open.

Now, he said, he is healthy again, stating, "I feel good, but I haven't been playing that well."

No one would have believed he has been in a winless slump this year as he toured Pleasant Valley's 7,119-yard course with seven birdies and just two bogeys to start the 72-hole test worth $63,000 to the winner.

Australian Bob Shearer, whose afternoon challenge just missed, was second going into today's second round.

Shearer, 36, started on the 10th green and birdied two of his first four holes. Then he survived a double bogey 5 on the 14th green. He went on to card five more birdies before he took a bogey on his 17th hole by missing a short putt.

There was a three-way tie at 68. Tied just two strokes off the pace were veteran Curtis Strange, tour rookie Gary Pinns of Wake Forest and Wheaton, Ill., and former University of Minnesota star Tom Lehman, winner of just $16,000 in nearing the end of his second year on the circuit.

Then came a traffic jam at 69. Locked in the 15-way tie for sixth place were four former Pleasant Valley champions — defender Mark Lye, Lou Graham, Wayne Levi and Dave Stockton.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, SEPT. 8, 1984

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The early part of the day finds it advisable for you not to make changes and to maintain calm and poise to avoid unnecessary nervousness.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) A day when you can be very swiftly one moment and later want to do nothing so keep a steady pace and you can accomplish more.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) An outside partner is apt to spoil your plans in the morning, but later a new contact gives good ideas for getting ahead faster.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Be careful not to let dull tasks interfere with modern activities you want to engage in that can be profitable.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) You have business to attend to in the morning, but your mind is on pleasure. Be more charming with your mate.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) You had better postpone the work at home and meet with partners for some settlement of an important matter.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get routine work done in the daytime and tonight you can enjoy some entertainment you like.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Don't permit some monetary worry to keep you from enjoying family life and pleasure you have long desired.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Put family's needs before your own today and tonight you can see good friends. Take any health treatments that you may need.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) A private worry could cause you to neglect outside duties that are important, if you permit.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Don't allow some gossiping person to take your valuable time away from whatever is important and practical.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Be more concerned with important personal matters and put aside vocational tasks for awhile.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) If you run off on some tangent you can lose out on working out fine plans you have made.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be undecided whether to follow a conservative or a more progressive kind of life, follow standard or New Age ideas, etc., so teach to combine the two and reach a happy medium, and then the success can be great. A nice personality here and fine manners come naturally.

"The Stars impel; they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

PUBLIC NOTICE

THE STATE OF TEXAS
 COUNTY OF HOWARD
 NOTICE OF INTENTION TO LEASE LAND FOR OIL AND GAS EXPLORATION AND PRODUCTION

The City Council of the City of Big Spring, having determined that it is advisable to lease certain land belonging to it, as authorized by resolution finally passed by it on August 28, 1984, hereby gives Notice of its intention to lease the following described property for oil and gas exploration and production:

TRACT 1: 28896 acres, more or less, out of the NE/4 of Section 3, Block 33, T-1-S, T&P RR. Co. Survey, Howard County, Texas, and being described in that certain Judgment dated November 29, 1940 with the City of Big Spring as Plaintiffs and Thelma McGee as Defendant and being recorded in the minutes of the District Court in Volume 9, Page 428, said property bearing a legal description as follows:

Starting at a point in the North line of said Section No. 3, said point being 825 feet West from the Northwest corner of said Section No. 3, running thence in a Southerly direction on a line parallel with the East boundary line of said Section No. 3, at 2.6 feet crossing the center line of State Highway No. 1, U.S. Highway No. 80, continuing on said course and at 52.6 feet crossing the South line of right-of-way for said Highway and continuing on said course for a total distance of 100 feet to an I.P. set in the ground for the N.E. corner and the place of beginning of this tract;

THENCE in a Westerly direction on a line parallel with the North boundary line of said Section No. 3, at 38.3 feet passing a hub set in the ground adjacent to the East wall of a building, said hub being 13.6 feet North from the Southeast corner of said building, then continuing said course through said building and at 69.8 feet passing a hub set in the ground adjacent to the West wall of said building, and then continuing said course Westerly for a distance of 125 feet to an I.P. set in the ground for the Northwest corner of this tract;

THENCE in a Southerly direction on a line parallel with the East boundary line of Section No. 3, a distance of 75.2 feet to a hub set in a fence line for the Southwest corner of this tract;

THENCE in a Easterly direction following said fence line as far as it goes and then continuing on a line parallel with the North boundary line of said Section No. 3, a distance of approximately 125 feet and whereon said course with a line parallel with the East line of said Section No. 3 at a distance of 825 feet therefrom, to a stake for the S.E. corner of this tract;

THENCE in a Northerly direction on a line parallel with the East line of said Section No. 3, a distance of 80.5 feet to the place of beginning of said tract just above described being 125 feet in width, East and West, and 75.2 feet in depth North and South, on the West side, and 80.5 feet in depth on the North and South, on the East side, and said tract including within its boundaries the South end of a building occupied by the defendant Thelma McGee and whereon the said defendant Thelma McGee conducts a business known as "Airport Inn", the portion of said building enclosed in said tract being 13.6 feet North and South, and 31.3 feet East and West;

TRACT 2: 16.53 acres, more or less, out of the NW/4 of Section 3, Block 33, T-1-S, T&P RR. Co. Survey, Howard County, Texas, and being described in that certain Warranty Deed dated January 25, 1939 from C. E. Frazier et al to the City of Big Spring and being recorded in Volume 104, Page 321, said property bearing a legal description as follows:
 Beginning at a point 1100 feet S. 15°23' E. of the N.W. cor. of a 200 acre tract of land heretofore conveyed to City of Big Spring by Big Spring Airport Company, Inc. by deed dated June 22, 1936, and recorded in Vol. 96, Page 8, Deed Records of Howard County, Texas, said beginning point being in the West line of said 200 acre tract of land; thence S. 74°37' W. 800 feet to an Iron Pipe for the N.W. corner of this tract; thence S. 15°23' E. 900 feet to an Iron Pipe for the S.W. corner of this tract; thence N. 74°27' E. 800 feet to an Iron Pipe for the S.E. Corner of this tract; thence N. 60°12' W. 900 feet to the place of beginning.

The City of Big Spring makes no warranty, express or implied, of title regarding the ownership of the above described property.

All bids submitted to the city shall be sealed and received by the City Secretary no later than 1:30 P.M. on Monday, September 17, 1984. Such bids as may be received by the city will be opened in the City Council Chambers in City Hall at 2:00 P.M. on Monday, September 17, 1984.

The City Council will consider all bids submitted on the basis of the following criteria, among others:

1. Amount of bonus
2. Amount of royalty
3. Duration of primary term
4. Specific drilling commitment, if any, and/or continuous development program
5. Total number of acres bid upon
6. Location of acres bid upon
7. Rights to shallow and/or deep production depths

Of primary importance to the council are the royalty, primary term, and drilling commitment and/or continuous development terms and provisions of the bids. Bids may be submitted on all or any portion of the above described property.

The City Council will conduct a Public Hearing, and receive and consider the bids at its regularly scheduled meeting to be held in the City Council Rooms of City Hall, 4th and Nolan Street, in the City of Big Spring at 6:30 P.M. on the 25th day of September, 1984.

The City Council may reject any or all of the bids or give notice and call for additional bids.

MURDER SCENE — Convicted killer Henry Lee Lucas is accompanied by special agent Lucas, left, points to the spot where he allegedly Charles McLaughlin during a recent 4,000-tour of the strangled and buried two little girls near San Miguel, state.

Florida execution

Convicted killer executed despite appeal

STARKE, Fla. (AP) — Ernest John Dobbert Jr., convicted of killing two of his children and abusing two others, was executed today in the electric chair for the "heinous" torture and strangulation of his 9-year-old daughter.
 He was pronounced dead at 10:09 a.m., eight minutes after he entered the death chamber.

"Do you have any final words before sentence is carried out?" prison Superintendent Richard Dugger asked before the switch was thrown.
 Dobbert shook his head and said "No, no."

He winked and smiled at his former public defender and at a minister who had visited him the night before. Both were seated on the front row of the witness section.
 Dobbert was dressed in dark blue trousers and a white short-sleeved shirt, with no shoes or belt. The clothing was given to him by prison officials specifically for his burial.

A chin strap was fitted, then a black mask like a welders mask was dropped over his face. The surge of 2,000 volts of electricity lasted just under 90 seconds. A wisp of white smoke rose from the electrode on his right ankle.
 Outside the prison, about 10 to 15 supporters of the death penalty cheered when word came that the execution had been carried out. About 30 opponents sang "We Shall Overcome."

The U.S. Supreme Court, which had rejected three previous appeals from Dobbert, had refused to grant a stay, voting 6-3 against his latest appeal.
 Dobbert was the 23rd person executed since the Supreme Court reinstated the death penalty in 1976 and the sixth put to death this year in Florida.

Dobbert reacted "very stoically" when told that a federal appeal court in Atlanta had refused Thursday.

day to extend a 27-hour stay it granted Tuesday, said Corrections Department spokesman Vernon Bradford.
 He spent his final evening with his attorney and ministers, his mother, Catherine Dobbert, two sisters and a daughter, Honore Vinglem, Bradford said.

He was awakened at 4:30 a.m. for breakfast and final preparations, but he refused to eat, turning down both a regular prison meal and any special last meal offered condemned inmates, the spokesman said.

Dobbert, who considers himself a born-again Christian, was convicted of second-degree murder of his 7-year-old son Ryder Scott Dobbert in 1972, child torture of an 11-year-old son and child abuse of a 5-year-old daughter. He was sentenced to death for killing his daughter Kelly.

The bodies of the murdered children were never found.
 Trial Judge R. Hudson Olliff called the 1971 murder of Dobbert's daughter "the most cruel, atrocious and heinous crime I have ever personally known of — and is deserving of no sentence but death." Ignoring a jury's recommendation of life in prison, he sentenced Dobbert to death.

After an 80-minute hearing Thursday, the 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Atlanta voted 2-1 against extending Dobbert's 27-hour stay of execution.

Dobbert's attorneys argued during that hearing that his execution should be blocked because of perjured testimony from his oldest son, Ernest John Dobbert III, who was the state's chief witness in Dobbert's trial.

The son, 13 at the time of the trial, underwent hypnosis and was drugged before testifying at his father's trial, his attorneys said. The youth recanted his statements after his father was convicted.

Dobbert had won stays from federal court on two previous death warrants signed by Gov. Bob Graham.

Lucas leads police to crime scene

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Fifteen unsolved murders, many involving rape and one taking the life of a 4-year-old girl, were considered solved after convicted killer Henry Lee Lucas visited nearly three dozen crime scenes, California officials said.

During a two-week visit that began Aug. 19, Lucas was escorted by Texas authorities and California state and local law enforcement officials on a 4,000-mile trip to the scenes of 35 of 67 California murders in which Lucas is a suspect, mainly as a result of his own statements.

"Fifteen of those visits resulted in good confirmation of the crime and Lucas' role in the killing," state Attorney General John Van de Kamp told a news conference Thursday.

Because of time restrictions imposed by Texas authorities, Lucas was unable to visit the sites of the 32 remaining California murders. Van de Kamp said he did not know whether another tour could be arranged.
