U.S. veto condemned Lebanon angered by vote

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Angered by the American veto of a U.N. resolution on the Israeli occupation, Prime Minister Rashid Karami on Friday accused the United States of protecting "the oppressor against the oppressed."

Karami's criticism of the United States, his strongest since taking office as part of a Syrian-backed coalition government four months ago, was made in a speech broadcast by state radio.

"May this modern civilization that is championed by such cheap values be cursed," the veteran

Sunni Moslem politician said.

The United States on Thursday vetoed a Security Council resolution that called for improved conditions in Israeli-occupied southern Lebanon. U.S. representative Warren Clark said it was one-sided and did not address problems in parts of Lebanon controlled by Syrians and Palestinians.

"The resolution totally ignored the presence of Syrian troops in Lebanon," said the official, who spoke on condition that he not be named. "The only aim of the discussion in the Security Council was to slander Israel, and Syria incites Lebanon to this."

Local radio stations, meanwhile, said Syrian and Lebanese army teams soon would begin drawing up details of a plan to restore Lebanese government authority in the Druse-controlled mountains east of Beirut.

Radio stations quoted Karami as saying "all parties have shown full willingness to cooperate and restore normalcy to the country very soon."

Grant policies questioned

Staff Reports

AUSTIN — Grants from the Texas Commission on the Arts are skewed toward large cities, state Rep. Larry Don Shaw, D-Big Spring, told a commission task force Thursday.

Shaw also told commissioners a proposal to change the application deadline will "stifle artistic opportunities."

Shaw and Sam Woodward, president of the Big Spring Symphony Association, testified before commissioners who are reviewing procedures by which state arts grants are funded.

Shaw took issue with funding guidelines that give weight to existing programs which can verify their quality. The "quality" requirement is one of four criteria but has enough weight to "completely eliminate a grant request" for a new arts project.

Woodward said the commission denied a $3,500 grant request from the Big Spring Symphony Association on that basis last year. "We could not measure quality (of the symphony) because we had not previously existed," Woodward said Friday.

Woodward said the symphony has a $3,000 symphony grant request pending for 1985. He said the quality criteria has been satisfied now because commissioners conducted an on-site visit at the opening of the symphony this year.

"We don't take issue with being rejected on merits," Woodward said, "just on the system." That system, Shaw told commissioners, "has the effect of stifling new, innovative, creative projects for which there is ... no prior frame of reference."

"The system also overlooks the fact that our tax dollars from Big

The Postal Service board of governors meets next week.

The governors can accept the commission's decision and put it into effect, ask for reconsideration, seek court action or allow it to take effect under protest. Postal officials have said they will need increased revenue sometime next year and that is when a rate hike is considered likely. The governors have the option of moving more quickly than that if they consider it necessary.

Ms. Steiger said her commission scaled down the 23-cent request because the continuing improvement in the economy and the lowering of inflation have reduced postal costs and increases revenues from the original estimates.

She said four members of the commission voted for the 22-cent rate while the fifth, John W. Crutcher, dissented, preferring a 21-cent rate.

Besides the first class and post card rates, the commission also recommended a variety of other increases, ranging from a 15 percent boost for second class regular items down to no change for priority mail. Most of the recommendations were less than those sought by the Postal Service.

A key recommendation was the one-cent increase proposed in the charge for presorted mail, where postal officials had sought a three-cent hike there. The commission also recommended that the second ounce of first class mail continue to cost 17 cents, rather than rising to 20 cents as had been proposed.

When the current 20-cent rate was recommended, the commission turned it down on grounds the 18 cents then charged was sufficient. The Postal Service asked reconsideration and was rebuffed a second time by the commission.

The Postal Service then put the 20-cent rate into effect anyway, on Nov. 1, 1981, only eight months after postage had climbed from 16 cents to 18 cents.

To overrule the commission, however, requires a unanimous vote of the postal governors, a

Pageant chairman offers no apology

FORT WORTH (AP) — The chairman of the Miss Texas Pageant is under fire from feminist groups for compliments he paid to the current Miss Texas, but he asserted Friday that he's not about to apologize.

B. Don Magness said Tamara Hext "has all the parts it takes to win" the Miss America crown in one week, and "there may not be a better body in the U.S."

"I talked to her this morning and she doesn't understand why there is any flap. She worked for two years in a gym to develop her figure," Magness said.

Feminists were angered by a press release announcing Miss Hext's departure date for the national contest in which Magness praised her talents.

"I've not been any more excited about a girl we've taken up there,"

Magness said in the release. "She has all the parts it takes to win. She's the prettiest one we've ever taken. She's intelligent, talented and there may not be a better body in the U.S., much less the pageant."

Those remarks are "sexist and very condescending," said Terry Walsh, communications coordinator for the Tarrant County chapter of the National Organization for Women.

"That to me says what beauty pageants area about is judging the figure regardless of what they say or the talent competition," Ms. Walsh said.

Magness' comments are chauvinistic, said Abbe Doss, a charter member of the Tarrant County Women's Political Caucus. "We have to realize that's what we have to overcome."

Professor says U.S. oil demands rising

By CAROL BALDWIN
Staff Writer

For the first time in several years, the demand for oil in the United States has risen, but two men involved in the oil business in Texas say the demand is slight and will have little effect on Permian Basin production.

Dr. Ken Morgan, director of Texas Christian University's Center for Remote Sensing and Energy Research in Fort Worth, recently reported that for the first time in six years the U.S. demand for oil has risen.

Morgan said: "Since 1978, our demand has dropped every year until 1983. The increase of consumption in 1984 is something to be concerned about because the only way we are making up that increase in demand for our energy sources is to get it overseas, that is, to import."

Morgan said because the price of oil has dropped from $35 a barrel to as low as $27, U.S. companies are not as aggressive in finding new energy resources as they once were.

But Bob Madison of the Permian Basin Petroleum Association in Midland said a demand for oil in the U.S. is "not enough of an increase to amount to anything" in terms of Permian Basin production.

Madison said the increase in demand is very slight and is at this time limited to the United States. "An increase in demand would have to increase worldwide before we would see price increases," Madison said.

Madison added he knew of no great rise in demand for oil in the supervisor, Bob Simpson, maintenance manager, Wally Whittington, plant manager, Dale Walker, president of Local 826, and Ross Westbrook, manager of industrial relations.

Cosden workers recognized for 1 million safe manhours

Employees at Big Spring's Cosden Oil and Chemical Company were recently recognized for achieving one-million safe manhours, according to Ross Westbrook, manager of industrial relations.

The President's Safety Award, from Paul Meek of American Petrofina, Inc., Cosden's parent company, was presented to employees Aug. 1 by Rene Brown of American Petrofina.

According to Jimmie Wood, safety supervisor, no lost time injuries were reported during one million manhours at the plant from July 11, 1983, to Aug. 1, 1984.

The Cosden plant has received other such safety awards, including two other one million safe manhours awards and one award for two million safe manhours.

"We stress safety in all of our operations," Wood said. "Safety is equal to production" at the local plant.

Westbrook agreed, saying, "We try to make safety a top priority."

Cosden employees 291 hourly employees and 125 salaried employees.

When Brown was in Big Spring to present the plaque, "he shook the hand of every employee on duty that day," Westbrook said.

FITNESS CONNECTION — Ambassadors and Blue Blazers were on hand this week at the ribbon cutting for the Fitness Connection at 602 Main Street. Pictured above are Debbie Jensen, Ray Alexander, Gladys Cochran, owner Teri McIntosh, Mamie Lee Dodds and Tito Arencibia.

Aerobics and exercise classes offered at Fitness Connection

The Fitness Connection, located at 602 Main Street, offers 52 different classes in aerobics and exercise classes, according to Teri McIntosh, owner.

Mrs. McIntosh opened the fitness center in June and said enrollment has averaged between 75 and 100 per week since that time. Aerobics and exercise classes are offered from 8:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Mrs. McIntosh began working in Big Spring several years ago as physical director at the YMCA. She later taught aerobic classes there, then took a job at Howard College.

She continued teaching aerobics, however, in evening classes at the First Presbyterian Church. She later taught physical education at the Immaculate Heart of Mary school and aerobics for church members.

When she decided to open her own studio, she and her husband, Kevin, remodeled what had been Nancy Hanks, a women's dress shop. Mrs. McIntosh estimates that remodeling cost about $15,000. She said her husband did most of the work himself.

The Fitness Connection has two mirrored studios for exercise classes and aerobics, dressing rooms with showers for both men and women, a whirlpool room and a nursery.

She said the Fitness Connection offers "a flexible schedule" with classes from 8:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. daily and from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. on Saturday. "We also offer different levels of classes, such as beginning aerobics, intermediate and advanced." Many studios offer only one level in aerobics, she said.

A course in men's aerobics is taught nightly, Monday through Friday, from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Fitness Connection participants pay $2 per workout or $20 per month for up to three workouts per week. Also available are Fitness Connection health club memberships which include unlimited workouts and use of all facilities such as the whirlpool, Mrs. McIntosh said. Health club memberships are $25 per month, $80 per quarter or $225 per year.

Instructors, in addition to Mrs. McIntosh, include Karen Lee, Cindy Nash, Lisa Forte, and Gwen Nichols.

Rodeo board names president

Did you know...
 • That Toots Mansfield has been elected president of the Rodeo Association and that John Key has been elected to the board of directors to fill out vacancies created by the death of Charlie Creighton. The Rodeo Association will host its 52nd annual rodeo next summer.
 • Bent Tree Apartments will host open house on Sept. 15-16. Whether or not you're in the market for apartment living, you should see what has been added to the housing market in Big Spring.
 • S&H Floor Cover has moved to 3210 11th Place.
 • Gail Office Supply and Yes! Business Services have expanded to new quarters at 305 S. Main.
 • Thursday night was Blue Blazer night at the high school women's volleyball game. The Blue Blazers showed up in force to form a support line and rally for the women's team.
 • The Heritage Museum horn collection was featured in the last issue of Southern Living Magazine.
 • The Texas Industrial Commission statistics show that 80 percent of any community growth will come from within and only 20 percent will be from attracting new industry. In other words, whether it is a Dallas-type or a Big Spring-type community, the people from within a community must be willing to make the investment and back their own entrepreneurs for it to thrive. It is this inborn spirit of "alive and doing something" that attracts the 20 percent.

P.D. Auctioneers, the largest auctioneers in the world, will hold an auction expected to raise a half-million dollars on Sept. 28 at the Howard County Industrial Park.

In the building formerly occupied by Well-Tech, auctioneers will sell oil field equipment and rigs.

Denton Marsalis was recently elected vice chairman of the Texas Manufacturing Housing Association. His wife, Johnnie, was elected about the same time as president of the local chapter of the TMHA. At the state meeting in August, Denton earned four other awards of outstanding state leadership in the Texas Manufactured Housing Industry. These included an award of merit for serving as treasurer of the organization last year; for outstanding work as co-chairman of the governmental affairs committee; and for 100 percent attendance to the Board of Directors.

He was also cited for his community citizenship as chairman of Big Spring Crimestoppers.

All area home economists are invited to an organizational meeting for the formation of a local American Home Economics Association Chapter. The meeting will be held at the Golden Corral Restaurant at 6 p.m. Tuesday. It will be hosted by Big Spring High School home economics teacher Virginia Martin and Big Spring Lifestyle Editor Tina Steffen.

Persons eligible for memberships are those who hold a bachelor's degree or an advanced degree in home economics or in a specialized area of home economics from an accredited college or university in the U.S. or Canada, or have a minimum of two years experience in home economics. The subject matter sections are the following: art, family economics and home management; family relations and child development; food and nutrition; home economics communications; home economics teacher education; housing, furnishings and equipment; institution administration; and textiles and clothing. For more information, call Virginia Martin or Tina Steffen.

A Rose Magers Scholarship Fund has been started for our very own Olympian. Rose has one more year to take in college before she can get her degree but her athletic eligibility is over. Therefore, to complete her education requires her own funds. Because of protecting her amateur status, she can't receive money, except to be held in escrow, for any of her playing. She was not paid for the Olympics. Her plans now are to start school next September and hopefully, we as a community, can show our appreciation for her quiet dignity and superlative athletic skills by helping with this last year.

A fund has already been established and any who wish to contribute should send it to Box 2271, Rose Magers Scholarship Fund. The check should be made to the Rose Magers Scholarship Fund.

The Business and Professional Women's Club of Big Spring is sponsoring the New Seekers in concert Sept. 14, at the City Auditorium.

Tickets are $5 for adults and $2.50 for children under 12. Proceeds go to the Rainbow Project and to the club scholarship fund.

Tickets are available from Business and Professional Women's Club members.

Dental patients are needed for the student dental technicians at Howard College. The clinic is open Mondays and Wednesdays from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

These student technicians are in their final phase of their education and training and must see a certain number of patients before they can graduate. The clinic also provides X-Ray and other dental services under the direction of dentist Dr. Alice Haynes. Call 267-6311, ext. 275, for an appointment.

Bruce Hogenmiller joins Home Savings and Loan

BRUCE HOGENMILLER

Bruce Austin Hogenmiller has joined Home Savings and Loan Association as head of the West Texas Division which includes Big Spring Savings Association, according to John Henderson, president.

Hogenmiller will be responsible for the association's operations in West Texas, including supervision and administration of Big Spring Savings.

Hogenmiller has been affiliated with the savings and loan industry for 11 years, most recently serving as the president of a Tyler savings and loan. Prior to that he worked three years in the banking industry and served five years in the U.S. Navy.

While in Tyler he served as a director of the Local and National Homebuilders, American Red Cross, Homemakers Upsilon and the United Way.

He is a native of Tyler. He and his wife, Margie, have three children, Donna, Angela and Charles.

SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1984
GENERAL TENDENCIES: This full moon period will give you very opportunity to get into a considerable amount of trouble by upsetting present conditions, getting annoyed and showing it.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19): Don't get so annoyed that you lose your temper very quickly. Delve into soothing studies and avoid making some costly error.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20): You feel a personal wish is hard to attain, but if you talk it over with a partner, you will find it easy to get.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Get busy at whatever you have to do and avoid associates since there would be little understanding between you.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): Study how to fit new ideas into your regular activities so that all works out better for you in the future.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Do whatever will please kin and forget all that pleasure you have in mind which could cost you an arm and a leg.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Meet with partners and get important plans worked out, thereby avoiding some possible fracas at home.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Good day to get your surroundings improved and more comforts added to it as well as beauty.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Try not to get involved in any financial affairs today and avoid trouble. Enjoying entertainments that are not too expensive is wise.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Your ideas are fine and should be channeled in proper directions so that you can get right results.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Avoid emotionalism and go after your main objectives in a positive fashion. Be with pals who are cheerful and poised.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): You must permit friends to get involved in any financial affairs or you can lose out where it counts the most.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20): Avoid higher-ups and make new acquaintances today who can be helpful to you. Get rid of worries that are particularly irritating.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will follow a course of activity that is well thought out and practical in nature, but needs to be taught early in life to think carefully before speaking so as not to hurt others' feelings through careless speech. One who needs to get into sports.

"The Stars impel; they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1984
GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is a time to make your environment more attractive and operative and to see you can penetrate into better means for building a more comfortable set of circumstances about you.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19): Get advice from an expert who can help you to get rid of problematical affairs quite easily.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20): Morning is fine for studying just how to gain a personal aim quickly; then do so. Devote yourself to your mate in the evening.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Get in to that outside work that needs handling early, but in the evening avoid an angry partner.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): You are inspired in the morning about how to gain your aim, so carry through in a positive manner.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Your intuition is fine in the morning about how best to please kin and get your home nicely organized.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): State your aims to partners who can assist you in gaining them and avoid a family fracas.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Get your environment improved and delight others and in the evening be most careful in driving.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Your creativity is high and you can make real progress during day hours, but the evening is not good for investing money.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Have those talks with kin which can bring about greater position and prosperity in the future.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Confer with friends and discuss your plans for the future, but in the evening do not go against a good pal.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Consult a monetary expert and find out how to better your situation in life, but steer clear of one who gossip in the evening.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20): A change in routine can be good for you during the daytime, but tonight steer clear of a bigwig who likes to talk a lot.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will understand the whole of any enterprise and know how to set it up so that every phase can be worked out successfully. Later, your progeny may want to get into something different from the norm which would be bad to do, since consistency is the key to the success.

No. 1 Hurricanes hit Saturday's upset road

By the Associated Press
If it's Saturday, the Miami Hurricanes must be on the road again. "I've been hearing that song a lot lately," says Coach Jimmy Johnson, who nevertheless has no plans to make Willie Nelson the Hurricanes' official balladeer.

This week's travelogue takes the No. 1-ranked Hurricanes to Ann Arbor where they will play their third game in 13 days and help 14th-ranked Michigan open its season before the Wolverines' 54th consecutive home crowd in excess of 100,000.

The largest crowd ever to see a Miami team play was 86,287 at Ohio State in 1977. But quarterback Bernie Kosar (629 passing yards in victories over Auburn and Florida) says: "I don't think that a crowd of 100,000 is going to make any more noise than the 72,000 that were in the stadium in Tampa (for the Florida game)."

"Once you get to a certain point you can't hear anyway, so it does not affect what we do. Personally, I am looking forward to going to Michigan and the challenge of playing in front of all those fans."

By Saturday night, every member of the Associated Press Top Twenty will have seen action except fifth-ranked Texas and No. 15 Southern Methodist, which get under way next week.

Saturday's only other pairing of Top Twenty teams finds No. 18 Boston College in Birmingham for a nationally televised night game against ninth-ranked Alabama (ABC-TV, 8 p.m., EDT).

Runnerup Nebraska opens at home against Wyoming, third-ranked Clemson (1-0) visits Virginia for a night game and No. 4 UCLA plays at San Diego State at night.

Elsewhere, sixth-ranked Ohio State entertains Oregon State, No. 7 Notre Dame plays the first college game in Indianapolis' new Hoosierdome against Purdue, eighth-ranked Auburn (0-1) is idle and No. 10 Iowa hosts Iowa State.

In the Second Ten, Rutgers visits No. 11 Penn State, Oklahoma State is at No. 12 Arizona State for a night game, Baylor plays at No. 13 Brigham Young (1-0), Stanford is at No. 16 Oklahoma and Northwestern (0-1) at No. 19 Washington. Seventeenth-ranked Pitt (0-1) and No. 20 Florida State (1-0) are idle.

Despite Miami's 2-0 record, Johnson says the Hurricanes' defensive performance against Florida left something to be desired.

"I really do not think that we played as well as we are capable of playing," he said. "Because we are not a fast defensive team, we have to have a fanatical-type effort. They may not be fast on a track, but all I want is for them to run as fast as they can to get to the ball. They weren't doing that against Florida."

College football

Miami's two victories on the road vaulted the defending national champions from 10th place back to No. 1, which Johnson says "may give them (Michigan) a little spark. But they are going to have that spark anyway. It's their opener."

And while Michigan Coach Bo Schembechler may have trouble winning finales (2-11-1 without counting the 1969 Rose Bowl loss to Southern Cal when he was hospitalized with a heart attack), his Michigan teams are 14-1 in openers.

But Schembechler points out that the Wolverines "have to do five weeks' work in three weeks with Miami having two games under their belt and us only having two scrimmages. There's a heck of a difference there and they've not lost too much from a year ago."

Michigan, on the other hand, has lost quarterback Steve Smith. The Wolverines are going with junior Jim Harbaugh, who played in three games last year and threw five passes.

"Our passing game is the best I've had since I've been here," says Schembechler. "We have a good quarterback, good receivers, good tight ends and good backs catching the ball out of the backfield. This will be more of a passing team than it has ever been."

Two teams under a microscope this year will be Notre Dame and Oklahoma, which reportedly must have outstanding seasons to keep the alumni "sullen, but not mutinous," as someone else said, and perhaps save the jobs of Coaches Gerry Faust and Barry Switzer.

"We have business to attend to, and we plan to attend to it in a business-like manner," says Faust, whose first three Notre Dame squads compiled a record of only 18-15-1 but won all three openers. "We can talk all we want to about the season, but the only thing that counts now is what it says on the scoreboard on Saturday afternoon."

The Irish received a blow when outside linebacker Mike Larkin tore knee ligaments and will miss the season. He also sat out the entire 1983 campaign after suffering a broken arm in preseason practice.

Notre Dame will rely on tailback Allen Pinkett and a mammoth offensive line to take some pressure off sophomore quarterback Steve Beuerlein.

"The first game of the year is always tough because you never know exactly what to expect from your opponent," Faust says. "But we're not concerned as much about what Purdue will do as we are about making sure we play hard both offensively and defensively.... The preseason rankings don't mean much if we don't do the job on the field every week. I think we've all learned that after the last three seasons."

Oklahoma, which has lost four times in each of the past three years, has gone back to the Wishbone offense which made the Sooners a national power during the 1970s, although they will use lots of motion.

"I have been very pleased with the progress and attitude of our squad in preseason practice," says Switzer. "Now it's time to see how we do against other folks. Stanford will have an emotional aid in playing their first game for a new coach (Jack Elway)."

Nebraska, with Mike Rozier, Turner Gill and Irving Fryar, finished second to Miami.

"You look at the early polls and most of them have to do with how people finished last year," says Coach Tom Osborne.

Bears, Owls to battle foes in grudge games

By the Associated Press

Both Baylor and Rice, the only Southwest Conference football teams in action Saturday, are involved in revenge games.

Brigham Young will be hosting the Bears at Provo, Utah in an afternoon game and hoping to make Baylor pay for last year's 40-38 victory. It was BYU's only loss of the 1983 season.

Rice lost 21-12 to the Golden Gophers last year, the only victory by Minnesota in a 1-10 season.

Rice is at Minnesota Saturday night. The Owls are a field goal underdog to the Gophers while Baylor is a quoted by the oddsmakers as a touchdown underdog to BYU.

New Minnesota Coach Lou Holtz, formerly of Arkansas, is making his debut for the Gophers while the Owls have a new coach in Watson Brown.

Baylor, although it upset Brigham Young last year, was a six-point underdog in their return match at Provo, Utah. BYU stunned Pittsburgh last week.

Texas A&M nipped Texas-El Paso 20-17 last weekend in the only other game involving an SWC team to be played in the young 1984 season.

Baylor Coach Grant Teaff won't reveal his starting quarterback until the kickoff against BYU but said both Tommy Muecke and Cody Carlson will log considerable playing time.

Teaff said the Bears will have to outgun BYU much as it did last year in a 40-38 victory. It was BYU's only loss of the season.

"If you expect to win you'd better do some scoring," said Teaff. Brown will start sophomore Kerry Overton at quarterback against Minnesota at the Hubert H. Humphrey Metrodome in Minneapolis in a night game expected to draw 55,000 fans.

The Austin native completed 30 of 54 passes for 467 yards and three touchdowns during two preseason scrimmages.

"We will be playing a team we knew absolutely nothing about," said Brown. "We're a new staff and they have a new staff."

Brown said the Owls were green. "We are very young and the players who aren't young will be very inexperienced," he said. "We'll just have to relax and play smart football."

There is a full slate of activity on Sept. 15 with most SWC teams swinging into action.

TCU is at Utah State, Ole Miss is at Arkansas, Miami (Ohio) is at Houston, SMU is at Louisville, Auburn at Texas and Texas-Arlington, at Texas Tech.

Hogeboom loads gun for NY

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — Dallas Cowboys quarterback Gary Hogeboom may feel like a rookie, but the New York Giants say they know better.

Hogeboom will make his second start when he leads the Cowboys into Giants Stadium for a National Football League encounter with the Giants on Sunday.

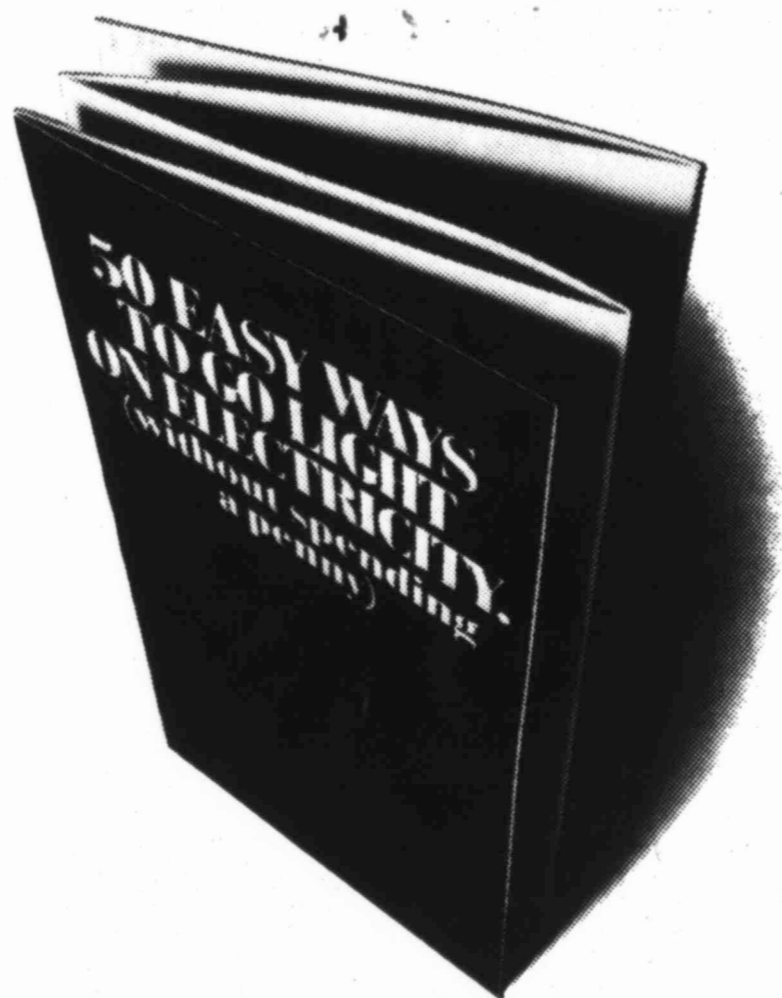

"I feel I'm a rookie, but I'm comfortable being a starting quarterback," said Hogeboom, who was Danny White's backup for four years before taking over the starting position this season.

The Cowboys appeared comfortable with Hogeboom at the helm in Monday night's 20-13 triumph over the Los Angeles Rams. The former Central Michigan signalcaller hit a club record, completing 33-of-47 pass attempts for 343 yards and one touchdown.

But Giants All-Pro linebacker Lawrence Taylor said Hogeboom did not look like a quarterback making his first start.

Mancini suspended by commission

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Louisiana's boxing commission suspended former light heavyweight champion Ray "Boom Boom" Mancini for 60 days Friday for failing to tell it that he might have to pull out of a scheduled fight because of a cut over his eye.

But Mancini announced Thursday that his doctor had ordered him out of a nationally televised fight scheduled for Saturday at the World's Fair against Kenny "Bang Bang" Bogner for fear the inch-long scar would reopen.

Mancini's manager, David Wolf, also was suspended for 60 days, according to Michael J. Cusimano, secretary-treasurer of the State Boxing and Wrestling Commission.

"I don't think we can argue with the doctor," Cusimano said. "If the doctor says he's got a medical problem, I don't think we qualify to argue."

"What we're saying is the doctor himself said this condition occurred two weeks ago in the Catskills (site of Mancini's training camp). ... If that condition existed, we should have been notified of it."

Cusimano said the suspensions were effective Friday, but both Mancini and Wolf could appeal. If they did, he said, a hearing would be scheduled as soon as possible — preferably on the first or third Friday of the month, when the commission holds its regular meetings.

At the news conference Thursday, Dr. Jeff Schwartz said he thought at first that the cut had a good chance to heal — but that when he saw it Thursday, he knew there was no way Mancini would be able to fight two days later.

It was the second time in a little more than a year that a Mancini-Bogner fight had been canceled. The previous cancellation was last summer when Mancini, 29-2, broke his collarbone while training for Bogner, 22-1-1.

Second NFL week will see Harris continue rushing quest

By The Associated Press Franco Harris, the second-leading rusher in National Football League history, renews his quest for Jimmy Brown's all-time record Sunday in a new uniform — with the Seattle Seahawks.

The Packers probably will be without Paul Coffman, their stand-out tight end. He suffered a stretched ligament in his leg during Green Bay's 24-23 triumph over St. Louis a week ago in Forrest Gregg's debut as Packers' coach.
