Off the wall: Fake snake

HOUSTON (AP) — The maker of a rubber coral snake displayed at the Houston zoo for years says officials did not mean to deceive anyone — indeed, they feared visitors would be misled if they saw the only live alternative, an albino snake.

Thirty-year-old Robert Rothbard's snake was removed from its glass case this week after being on display for more than four years.

"The zoo had an albino (snake), but they didn't want to put that on display and mislead people," said Rothbard, who does drafting and design work for a Houston engineering firm. "If there hadn't been that exhibit, the snake never would have been made."

The fake, first shown in March 1980, came to light Monday after a visitor to the zoo called The Houston Post to say he thought the snake was dead.

Beirut's toll Embassy staff finds body

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Americans removing classified documents from the shattered remnants of the U.S. Embassy annex Friday found the body of a Lebanese woman, but there was no final word on how many people died in a suicide bomb attack.

U.S. Assistant Secretary of State Richard Murphy arrived in Beirut Friday night for an investigation of the third suicide bombing attack against U.S. soldiers and diplomats in the past 18 months.

The death toll — including 10 Americans — stood at nine or 13, according to conflicting reports. Earlier Friday, embassy officials said the search for victims was complete, and that rescue workers had recovered all the bodies they were able to find.

But Americans working at the annex found the woman's body in the late afternoon. They placed it in a green vinyl bag and turned it over to Lebanese civil defense workers waiting in an ambulance. The ambulance driver identified the dead woman as Nayla Saoud.

On Thursday, the suicide terrorist drove his explosives-packed van through concrete barricades and volleys of gunfire to within 20 feet of the annex, where it exploded.

An anonymous caller said Islamic Holy War, an underground Shiite Moslem extremist group, was responsible for the bombing.

That group also claimed responsibility for the bombings in 1983 of the U.S. Embassy in Beirut and U.S. Marine and French paratroop command posts.

However, Hussein Musawi, an extremist Shiite named by Western intelligence sources as a leader of Islamic Holy War issued a statement in the east Lebanese city of Baalbek disclaiming any involvement.

Before the latest body was found, a check by The Associated Press of six hospitals indicated eight people were killed and 47 Americans and Lebanese were wounded. Lebanese military investigator Elias Mousa had said hospital and coroners' reports indicated 12 people had died.

U.S. Ambassador Reginald Bartholomew, injured in the attack, said Friday that the bomber shot a Lebanese guard, was fired at, and slumped over the wheel before his explosive-laden van blew up.

Doctors at Serhal Hospital said that among the dead was a Lebanese security policeman, who had been shot.

Bartholomew, 48, gave his version of the bombing in an interview with the American NBC television network. He left Abu Jawdeh Hospital in a wheelchair Friday, got into his bulletproof limousine and went to his residence in Yarze, a suburb of east Beirut. He had still-See Beirut page 2-A

Building pace up over '83

A new $300,000 Exxon truck stop will be built at the intersection of Interstate 20 and Highway 87, according to the city inspection division.

The construction will help keep the city's building pace well ahead of last year's.

So far this year, the city has seen $10.2 million in private construction, a figure about $2 million ahead of this time last year. The city's fiscal year begins each Oct. 1.

However, last month's construction figure of $429,000 was about half the $963,000 amount recorded during August 1983, figures show.

In addition to the $300,000 truck stop construction permit, the city last month issued a $10,000 permit for demolition of the Exxon station currently at the site.

Topping at the remaining August construction work was a permit issued to Joe Winnet for a $41,600, 1,302 square-foot private residence at 3208 Fordham.

Also slated for construction is a $16,000 addition to the First Methodist Church at 403 Gregg. The church plans a 640 square-foot storage building for the site.

And Brenda Hayward plans a $4,000 addition to the Quality Cabinet Shop at 101 Jefferson.

Deaf Awareness Week scheduled Texas war hero part of heritage

Staff reports

Next week has been proclaimed "Deaf Awareness Week" around the nation, and members of the local deaf community are planning several events to commemorate the event.

Information about continuing education programs, sign language classes and other educational information on deafness will be made available during the week, and Mayor Clyde Angel will proclaim "Deaf Awareness Week" in Big Spring.

In addition, Steve Baldwin, an instructor at the SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf, is working on a play about Erastus "Deaf" Smith, a hero of the Texas

Revolution who was hearing impaired.

The play will premiere at the Texas Association for the Deaf Centennial Convention in Austin May 25, 1985. Baldwin has received queries from people around the nation interested in a play about the Texas folk hero.

Baldwin said the play is drawing attention "because of our pride in our deaf heritage and partially because of the need for such public exposure of the success of deaf and hearing impaired people."

Deaf Smith settled in Texas, near old San Antonio, in 1821. He was born in New York in 1787, but left his home state "in search of a healthier climate. That could mean he was suffering from (some illness) that brought on his progressive hearing loss," Baldwin said.

Writings by Deaf Smith and articles about him are scarce, Baldwin said. He has researched the project for more than eight months and has visited with author Cleburne Huston of Stamford, author of "Deaf Smith, Incredible Texas Spy."

Baldwin believes Smith was post-lingually deaf, which describes someone who loses his hearing after he has learned to talk. He bases this on a poem he found written by Deaf Smith called, "The Ballad of Ben Milam."

The document and Smith's ability to write prose is "indicative of a post-lingual deaf person."

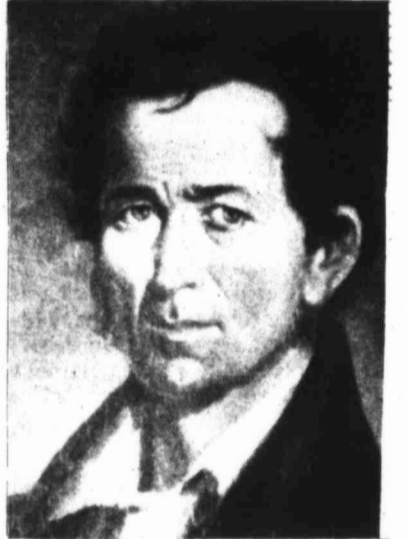

Moving to Texas may have helped Smith's health, according to information Baldwin has found.

"His health did improve," Baldwin said. "Legend has it that he invented a remedy (for asthma or 'consumption') of eating skunk meat."

In Texas, Smith "dabbled in stock racing and did business with Gail Borden of the Borden milk company." Borden County and its county seat, Gail, are named for Gail Borden.

But, "His record as a businessman was rather poor," Baldwin said. "He found much success."

Center has long history

The Westside Community Center has come to mean service and dedication to the people of Big Spring since its inception in the early 1940's.

The center began as a recreation center for children. The children would come over to the center after school while their mothers helped in the war effort during World War II.

A group of dedicated church women who saw the immediate and future need for such a facility organized the center. Another group of church women selected a board of directors to incorporate it and turn the center into a non-profit organization in 1970.

At that time the center was moved to a larger building at 1311 W. Fourth where it still remains.

The center also serves as an educational center for the community. It went from serving 40 children monthly to 880 children during July 1984. It serves as a base for such organizations as Brownies, Junior Girl Scouts, Cadettes, 4-H, choirs and a child care clinic.

The center also serves special-interest programs.

Since the programming for the center is done through interests and need, it is constantly looking forward to new programs.

The Westside Community Center is funded by local donations and the United Way. The United Way goal for this year is $202,500.

The staff includes a director, Mrs. Ben A. Boadle; two full-time employees, Mrs. Viola Salgado and Mrs. Frances Pesina; and two part-time employees, Pete Baeza and Jessie Salgado.

There are no fees or membership dues required for participation in any of the programs. Everyone is welcome regardless of race, creed, religion or financial status.

Tornadoes touch down in 3 cities Minor damages, no injuries reported

By the Associated Press

Tornadoes touched down in three Texas localities Friday, causing mostly minor damage and no injuries, officials said.

A tornado touched down in a commercial section of northern Beaumont Friday evening, but officials said there were no reports of injuries.

A Beaumont police spokesman said the tornado, which touched down at 5:26 p.m. CDT, apparently "hit a credit bureau building" along Interstate 10 in north Beaumont.

Officials in the emergency room at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, the hospital closest to the scene of the tornado, said no one had been brought into the emergency room by 5:45 p.m. CDT.

Power lines fell and police said streets in the area were blocked off.

Authorities said several traffic accidents occurred, but they did not know how many accidents or whether there were any injuries.

In Dickinson, about 35 miles southeast of Houston, officials said a "possible tornado" swept through a residential section of that town Friday evening but caused no injuries.

The tornado touched down at "about 5 p.m. but caused no major damage," said Laura Hartmann, a dispatcher for the Dickinson police department.

Police officers were on the scene assessing damage, Ms. Hartmann said.

Sirens also sounded Friday night in Galveston, where a tornado roared through the East Beach Trailer Park, police said.

No one was injured by the tornado, which set down about 6:30 p.m. on the east end of the island, said police dispatcher Anna Hermann.

Ms. Hermann said she did not know how extensive the damage was.

Rains pelt state

By the Associated Press

While 40 Rio Grande Valley families waited to return to their homes following torrential rains, a line of thunderstorms Friday pelted the Houston area and spawned tornadoes in Beaumont, Dickinson and Galveston — but drought-stricken Corpus Christi went another day without moisture.

A stalled front off the South Texas coast dumped more than 20 inches of rain in various parts of the valley earlier this week and forced numerous families out of their homes.

State and federal officials Friday toured several communities that suffered an estimated $50 million worth of damage from three days of torrential rains.

Cameron County officials have asked that Gov. Mark White declare their county a disaster area.

Two disaster centers in the Rio Grande Valley continued to assist families forced to evacuate flooded homes and a Red Cross caseworker said an estimated 500 families would "need help getting re-established."

In Southeast Texas, thundershowers dumped between two and three inches of rain in Galveston and Houston areas, while a tornado touched down in Beaumont.

The twister hit at 5:26 p.m. near a shopping mall in north Beaumont, causing some damage to a credit bureau building, according to a police dispatcher, who declined to be identified.

Officials at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, near the site of the twister, said they had received no reports of injuries.

Tornadoes also were sighted in Dickinson, about 35 miles southeast of Houston, and nearby Galveston. No injuries were reported as the result of either twister, both of which roared through residential areas, officials said.

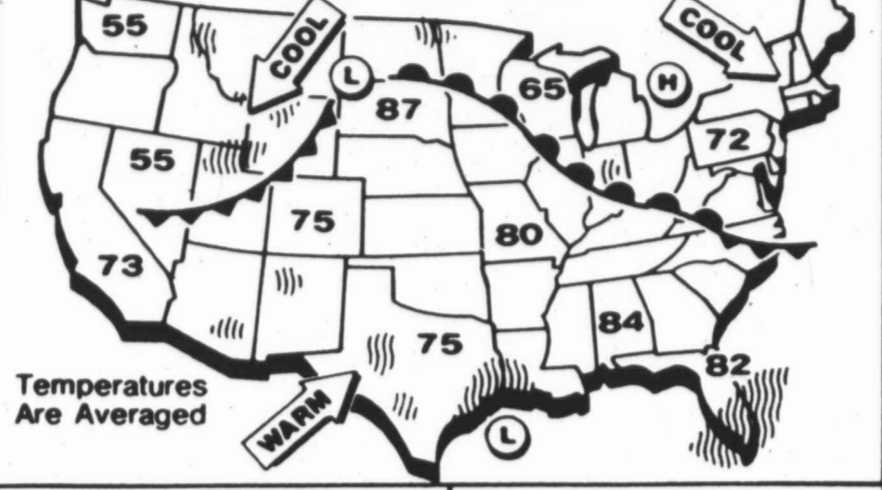

Jamaica Beach Police Chief John R. Gardner said his community was not experiencing any flooding problems and said all roads were clear. He said strong winds caused tides to rise two to five feet, and have caused Galveston Bay tides to be two feet above normal.

There was no real damage and the island would need to get six to eight inches of rain before there would be any problems, Gardner said.

"A good tropical depression might give us some problems, but so far we haven't had any problems like that," he said.

El Paso man arrested

Police Thursday morning arrested a 50-year-old El Paso man on suspicion of burglary after receiving a call at Sam's Liquor Store, 2409 S. Gregg.

Alberto Diaz, 50, was taken into custody by police officers Kathy Hosler and Capt. Lonnie Smith.

According to Chief Rick Turner, both officers were off-duty in their assigned police vehicles when they heard the call on their radios and responded.

After answering a call of a fight in progress yesterday afternoon in the 300 block of Runnels, Big Spring police arrested William Forman, 23, of 901 Abrams on suspicion of assault.

A wicker hanging chair valued at $200 was reported stolen at 4:36 p.m. Thursday from a 1311 Settles address. Susan Cobb told police that someone stole the chair at about 12 noon Thursday while it was hanging outside her residence.

Odessa man injured in wreck

A 36-year-old Odessa man was slightly injured Thursday night in an accident on Interstate 20 near F.M. 700 when a pickup truck being towed went out of control.

Barry Wade Hogans, 36, of Odessa, the driver of the pickup truck being towed, was slightly injured but did not receive treatment, according to a Department of Public Safety accident report. Hogans was injured when his 1981 Sierra Classic pickup drove onto the chain with which it was towed, causing him to lose control of the truck. Both the truck and the 1979 Dodge Galaxie towing it then spun out of control and struck a bridge railing.

The driver of the car, Sherman Davis, 64, of Odessa was not injured during the accident, which occurred about 7:15 p.m. Thursday.

Improvement grant awarded

A grant totaling $380,000 awarded to Big Spring yesterday by Gov. Mark White is for street and water improvements in the city's Airport addition, Public Works Director Tom Decell said Friday.

Decell said the Bird Streets construction, which stems from a similar grant, will be completed within the next three months, while the Airport Addition improvements will probably begin next January.

"(The two projects) really complement our Capital Improvements Project," Decell said. "That's over $700,000 of CIP money we're not going to have to spend."

ches across his upper lip, a small bandage on the back of his head and a cast on his arm, which he said was not broken.

In Washington, State Department official Brian Carlson said embassy offices had been moved Friday to Bartholomew's residential compound.

The chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., ordered an investigation to determine "if all necessary precautions were taken."

Two American doctors from Cairo flew into Beirut on Friday, and embassy officials said they were to decide if any of the injured should be evacuated by air to American or other hospitals.

The bodies of the two Americans were flown from the Lebanese Defense Ministry in suburban Yarzeh east of Beirut to Larnaca, Cyprus on Friday. From there the bodies were to be sent on to the United States.

The two were identified as Army Chief Warrant Officer Kenneth V. Welch, 33, whose mother lives in Grand Rapids, Mich., and Navy Petty Officer 1st Class Michael Ray Wagner, 30, of Zebulon, N.C.

British Ambassador David Miers, who was in a meeting with Bartholomew when the explosion occurred, was hospitalized for a second day with minor injuries. Shots by Lebanese, U.S. Marine and Miers' British bodyguards apparently killed the driver before he reached an underground parking entrance. If the van had exploded under the building, the damage would have been much worse, Bartholomew said.

"God knows, this was bad enough, but it could have been a hell of a lot worse," he said in the NBC interview. Asked about reports that steel gates were to have been installed at the entrance to the annex in the next several days, he said: "You know, any gate would not have stepped him."

U.S. Embassy Deputy Chief of Mission Stephen R. Lyne said rescue crews had found all the bodies they were likely to find, and that they were concentrating on removing classified documents. Two Lebanese employees of the embassy were killed, he said.

But an American source close to the search, who spoke on condition he not be identified, said seven or possibly eight Lebanese employees died.

Lebanese President Amin Gemayel telephoned President Reagan on Friday, denouncing the bombing and expressing his hope that the attack would not affect U.S. support for efforts to end the Lebanese civil war, radio stations reported.

Deaf Smith

cess as a military scout, guide and spy."

Smith's reputation as a spy got him the attention of Stephen F. Austin, "who recommended Deaf Smith to head the Texas army spy company" in the battle against Mexico.

"The recommendation was accepted by Sam Houston, commander-in-chief of the Texas Army," Baldwin said.

A little known fact about Deaf Smith is his association with Capt. Henry Karnes, founder of the Texas Rangers. Baldwin said his research shows Smith was a founder of the Rangers.

"He had a short stint (with the Texas Rangers) due to health problems and injuries he had suffered" in battle at old San Antonio.

Deaf Smith's folk hero reputation was enhanced by what Baldwin calls "his most important contribution" to the Texas Revolution. "This came in a span of one day," Baldwin said.

"Deaf Smith captured a Mexican courier with critical dispatches that led to the defeat of General Santa Ana," Baldwin said.

Smith and other Texas spies "also captured a boat with a load of valuable supplies" and kept these supplies from making it to the Mexican army.

"He led a group of soldiers to Vince Bridge, which was later considered strategically important, since it cut off communication among several nearby Mexican soldiers and prevented the army from escaping," Baldwin said.

Deaf Smith is also remembered

"as giving the battle cry during the Battle of San Jacinto, 'I have cut down Vince Bridge. Now fight for your lives and remember the Alamo.'"

During the revolution, "There was a $1,000 reward for 'the head of El Sordo,' or the 'Deaf One,'" Baldwin said.

Smith married a woman he met in San Antonio, Guadalupe Ruiz Duran. The couple had three children.

He died of consumption in Richmond, Texas, in 1837, but the site of his grave is not known. On a trip to Richmond, Baldwin toured the Richmond museum. Outside is a grave marker that was relocated to the site many years ago.

Deaf Smith also has a Panhandle county named after him.

Baldwin hopes the play, which will feature performers from the SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf and technical assistance from Howard College, will serve as a reminder of the Texas spy.

"People tell me Deaf Smith belongs in the same realm as Davey Crockett, Sam Houston and Jim Bowie. I'm convinced he is the most unsung hero I've ever read about."

Baldwin admits that "art comes before historical fact" when writing a play, but he said, "I've found his feats incredibly dramatic."

Baldwin has talked to several students who were upset by the nickname "Deaf," but he explains that "in those days, it was common to read about strange nicknames, like One-Eyed Jack or Big Foot. Those were names of respect."

New bonding procedures set

New Big Spring Police Department bonding procedures for misdemeanor cases should reduce the time offenders have to spend in jail, according to Police Capt. Roy Lee Osborne.

The schedule also calls for a $1,000 bond in cases of driving while intoxicated.

The new procedures, which started this week, give offenders the choice of "waiving their right" to a magistrate's warning and thus allow bond to be set without waiting for a magistrate's appearance, Osborne said.

According to Osborne, persons brought to jail for alcohol-related offenses will have to stay a minimum four-hour "sobering up time" before release, regardless of the new bonding policy.

"We're trying to alleviate any problems (offenders) might encounter in having to sit an excess amount of time," said the police captain. Local magistrates previously met and agreed to a standardized set of bonds for the misdemeanor cases, Osborne said. Among bonds mentioned in the schedule are $500 for simple assault, $1,000 for peace bonds and $200 for school truancy.

He said the time is necessary "to get (offenders) to a sobriety level where they can understand their rights," and because "we're not going to let an intoxicated person out on the street."

Osborne named two exceptions in the bonding policy in alcohol-related cases: when the sheriff makes a request that a prisoner be transferred and when a magistrate tells police to make the transfer. Osborne said the new procedure is for misdemeanor cases only. Bonding for felony cases remains the same, he said.

Osborne said the time is necessary "to get (offenders) to a sobriety level where they can understand their rights," and because "we're not going to let an intoxicated person out on the street."

New proposals studied

WASHINGTON — President Reagan is weighing "new proposals" to put on the table if the Soviet Union agrees to reopen negotiations on nuclear weapons, but he will not slow the installation of U.S. missiles in Western Europe as a concession, top administration officials say.

Reagan will begin the effort to revive the suspended talks in a speech Monday to the United Nations General Assembly. In it, he intends to signal his willingness to reverse the long decline in U.S.-Soviet relations, beginning with a prompt resumption of the stalled weapons talks, the sources said.

Meanwhile, Reagan told reporters Friday that among options he had under consideration was proposing a series of summit meetings with Soviet President Konstantin U. Chernenko.

Upjohn heir sentenced

KALAMAZOO — Upjohn Co. heir Roger A. Gauntlett, originally sentenced to chemical castration and five years' probation for raping his teen-age stepdaughter, was resentenced Friday to five to 15 years in prison after public outcry that the first penalty was too lenient.

"I strongly suspect that people in this community have in large part already determined what an appropriate sentence should be," said Visiting Ingham County Circuit Court Judge Jack W. Warren, before a courtroom packed with spectators and reporters.

Less than three hours after sentencing, Gauntlett was free on post-sentence bond.

Before he was sentenced, the 43-year-old Gauntlett asked the judge to consider the remorse he has felt during his prison time.

"Because of the media and others, I and my family have been made to suffer humiliation, hardship and stinging embarrassment," Gauntlett said. "There have been many others charged with CSC (criminal sexual conduct) ... who have not been given the treatment I have received."

After making his statement, sitting at the defense table, Gauntlett rested his head in his hands briefly.

Picket lines down

DETROIT — Picket lines began coming down at General Motors Corp. plants Friday after the company and the United Auto Workers tentatively agreed on a three-year contract that sources said gives money and retraining for displaced workers and a pay raise of more than 7 percent.

The agreement was announced at 2:10 a.m. EDT, following six days of crippling spot strikes against the nation's largest carmaker, which had prompted layoffs both at GM and in related industries.

UAW President Owen Bieber, emerging tired from a 16 1/2-hour bargaining session, called the pact "historic" because of its novel job security guarantees.

Chief GM bargainer Alfred Warren called it a "win-win situation" for both sides that will make GM more competitive.

The union and GM said they would keep the accord secret until the union convenes its 300-member GM Council next Wednesday in St. Louis.

DROUGHT CONTINUES — Lake Corpus Christi, which is the source of water for the city, is drying out. What used to be a fishing pier is now dry and high and Mr. and Mrs. David Bell have to get on the bank to fish. Already the city is opening underground wells to supplement what is now in the lake.

Ferraro, Bush react with humor

ARLINGTON (AP) — Faced with the most intense heckling of her campaign, Geraldine Ferraro showed the same determination and flashed the same sharp humor Americans saw in August when she was questioned about her family finances by a swarm of reporters at a New York news conference.

Vice President George Bush, faced with the largest group of protesters of his campaign, also reacted with humor. But after he and his aides woke up Friday to a front-page headline that read, "Bush Booed Into Changing His Speech," his press secretary decided to take action.

"You'll have to have your tape recorders going and your pencils moving fast," Peter Teeley told reporters as he announced that he would no longer give reporters advance copies of the vice president's speeches.

Until Thursday, Bush had largely escaped the protests that have been hounding Ms. Ferraro's vice presidential candidacy.

"It's wonderful," he said, as hecklers kept interrupting him during a stop in Vermont. "This is all very refreshing because you see the country strong and yet you see the great freedom that we protect — to have people who are out of step with the country having their say."

Ms. Ferraro also used the word "wonderful" on Thursday to describe the hecklers who greeted her at the University of Texas campus in Arlington.

"You're wonderful," she told the protesters. "You've figured out how to stop this New Yorker from talking too quickly."

Ms. Ferraro once blamed her tendency to get into hot water with various statements on speaking just a little too fast. It was with the same sense of humor that Ms. Ferraro responded to questions about her family's finances. In both cases, she never lost her temper. She was pushed, but didn't give way.

Asked at the Aug. 21 news conference whether a business decision by husband John Zaccaro left her "surprised, startled, aghast or suspicious?" her response was quick: "How about none of the above?"

Interrupted in mid-sentence in Arlington by chants of "Four more years" as she tried to talk about Reagan's record, Ms. Ferraro retorted: "I want to tell you — if I had a record like Ronald Reagan's I wouldn't want anybody to talk about it either."

Questioned closely in August about her connection with her husband's businesses, one reporter asked if she was involved in "an attempt to deceive."

"Now you know better than that," she retorted. "I have no intention of deceiving anybody. I released more (financial information) than anybody has released in the history of this country."

Of course, at the rally, Ms. Ferraro had the help of thousands of supporters who drowned out the hecklers on occasion with their own chants of "Ger-ry, Ger-ry, Ger-ry."

Ms. Ferraro's staff was pleased with her performance in Arlington. Campaign manager John Sasso said she had struck just the right note of firmness and humor.

Anti-abortion pickets have been a constant accompaniment to Ms. Ferraro's steps across the country, but generally she has simply ignored them. Only in Scranton, Pa., on Sept. 12 and in Arlington this week did the opponents break into intensive heckling and yells of support for the Reagan-Bush ticket.

Chernenko on TV

MOSCOW — President Konstantin U. Chernenko made his second television appearance in three days on Friday, sending a message to the Finnish people on the 40th anniversary of the Soviet-Finnish armistice agreement.

The two appearances this week and another Sept. 5 followed more than six weeks' absence from public view — an absence that prompted speculation that he might be ailing.

Chernenko, who turns 73 on Monday, sat at a desk throughout the four-minute message shown on television Friday. He was short of breath while reading the message but looked generally to be in good health.

Soviet television said the message was to be broadcast on Finnish television. Chernenko wished the Finnish people well and said Moscow looked forward to more years of bilateral cooperation.

Soviet-Finnish ties "were and remain immune to the vagaries of the world political climate," he said.

Lawrence riots recalled

LAWRENCE — A month after riots rocked this struggling city, the streets seem peaceful and children of every color break dance together in the housing projects. Changes are under way but even the mayor admits "it could happen again."

"The city is not in fear of having a riot again as such," says Mayor John J. Buckley. "But whenever you have poverty and frustrations like we do, you are liable to have riots. It's not something you could say will never happen here again. It could happen again in Lawrence ..."

"I've made several visits there myself since the riots, and I thought to myself that if I worked at a shoe factory all day and then came home there — it's a concrete jungle — I might have been out there in the streets."

Rebel holds hostages

BOGOTA — Police exchanged gunfire with slogan-shouting rebels outside a Bogota high school Friday, killing one guerrilla before the others fled into the building where they freed the students but kept 50 adults hostage, witnesses said.

Bogota radio station RCN reported two police lieutenants were wounded.

Students told The Associated Press that about 20 guerrillas arrived at the school at about noon. They said the rebels, armed with submachine guns and pistols, shouted leftist slogans and talked with students and teachers outside the building during a recess.

About five of the rebels had left when dozens of police sped up in cars and began firing into the air, the students said, adding that youngsters ran screaming in all directions, some back into the school.

The remaining guerrillas fired at the police and retreated into the building. Once inside, they sent the students out but held about 50 teachers and other school employees hostage, the school's principal said.

More police arrived and about 300 officers surrounded the two-story brick building in southern Bogota.

Police fire tear gas at demonstrators

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — More than 2,000 tear gas-firing police and soldiers, at sunrise Saturday, charged anti-government demonstrators holding an all-night vigil outside President Ferdinand E. Marcos' presidential palace.

Helmeted riot police, some wielding clubs and others rifles, chased about 3,000 demonstrators through rain-slick streets as explosions from the grenades rocked the heart of Manila. Police said some of the blasts were from homemade bombs thrown by demonstrators.

Hospitals reported five people injured — three with head wounds possibly caused by truncheons, a girl who collapsed from tear gas and a policeman hit in the leg by shrapnel.

On Friday, tens of thousands of demonstrators filled downtown Manila, shouting slogans against "the U.S.-Marcos dictatorship," high inflation, low wages and abuses by the military.

They marched to the Mendiola Bridge, which leads to the presidential palace, but police had barricaded the crossing with barbed wire, steel shields and water cannon.

Most of the demonstrators left, but about 3,000 remained and occupied the normally busy intersection. They bedded down for the night on newspapers or mats, cooked food on portable stoves, and planned to hold a Roman Catholic Mass Saturday morning.

Before the charge at 6:30 a.m., Manila's police chief, Gen. Narciso Cabrera, told the crowd, "The police have been very tolerant. I ask you, let's end this peacefully." He spoke over a loudspeaker as demonstrators milled around a truck where a priest was saying a Mass.

The demonstration leader, Agapito Aquino, brother of assassinated opposition leader Benigno Aquino, pleaded with Cabrera in a huddle at the police lines not to break up the protest. Then he walked away saying, "OK, we stay. Disperse us."

Cabrera had agreed not to disperse the demonstrators until the priest finished the Mass. When the service continued, he issued a 10-minute warning and then extended it for five more minutes before sending the troops into action.

Police had been forming an assault column since 4 a.m., and many cheered when they received the order to move forward.

Gen. Pacifico de Leon, military civil relations commander, had asked the rain-soaked demonstrators to go home in a broadcast appeal Friday night. "Are we comedians for the whole country to laugh at, the whole world, too?" he said.

But former Sen. Lorenzo Tanada had told the crowd, "The time has come for the people to stand up for their rights." The demonstrators included students, laborers, peasants and Catholic nuns and priests.

Tanada, 86-year-old patriarch of the political opposition, stayed until nearly midnight and vowed to return before sunrise if the demonstrators remained.

"If we are going to retreat, then count me out," he said from atop a truck.

The camp-out followed a day of anti-Marcos marches throughout Manila and other cities including Cebu, Cotabato, Davao, Bacolod, Tacloban and Lucena.

Friday marked the 12th anniversary of Marcos' declaration of martial law. He lifted it in 1981.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

SUNDAY, SEPT. 23, 1984
GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day to consider just what you can do for others and what service you can render them in an objective fashion, especially where you are appreciative for favors they have done for you.
ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Make plans now so that you can handle that work load ahead most efficiently, and know how to get more cooperation from co-workers.
TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) You have fixed plans in mind for creative work that needs a little revision, so don't permit another to meddle.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Concentrate on some new philosophy of life that is to your liking and forget about work today.
LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Good day to study your standing in the world and discover how best to improve it. Avoid a friend who takes up your time with nonsense.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will have every ability to analyze any situation and then know how to handle it and improve it, and for this reason will do very well at studies. Make sure that the diet is good and that good health habits are taught early in life.

The Stars impel; they do not compel. What you make of your life is largely up to you!

MONDAY, SEPT. 24, 1984
GENERAL TENDENCIES: Deceptive conditions in effect make it necessary for you to be still a while and let your intuitive processes be selective about interests. Discrimination is the best means by which you can forge ahead to a new success.
ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Study the work ahead of you and do only that which is important; leave the rest for another day.
TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Any entertainment you have in mind should be considered from the angle of cost, so be frugal.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You noticed many things that need improvement at home over the weekend, so get to work on them now.
MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Try to analyze your friends and see if you are operating in the same accord. Get your practical affairs well handled.
LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Although you are generous by nature and like to think big, this is a day when you had better think of being economical.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Begin the week properly by very wisely getting your health and appearance at their very best.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get your ideas clear in your mind so that you will know how to proceed and get what you really want.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Be sure to follow directives at your job and be precise in what you will start the new week properly.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Keep rooted to your work and do not run on some tangent or you will later regret it. Show that you are stoic.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Any problematical affairs of a practical nature can be worked out very well now and solved.
PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) If you keep any promises you have made to associates, you gain added good-will which is important to you. Drive carefully.
IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be very neat and particular and want everything to be just so, and even more so upon reaching maturity. Teach early to be more concerned with the loftier aspects of life than the allowances for human frailty. Slant the education along precision lines of work.

The Stars impel; they do not compel. What you make of your life is largely up to you!

CHURCH'S FRIED CHICKEN — Owner/manager Al Rios says the Church's Fried Chicken franchise at 1100 Gregg is "here to stay" now that he's taken over the business. The restaurant is open seven days a week and employs eight people.

New Church's Fried Chicken owner is franchise veteran

Church's Fried Chicken, located at 1100 Gregg, recently joined the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, according to owner Al Rios.

Rios, 29, purchased the local Church's Fried Chicken about six months ago. He has worked for Church's Fried Chicken franchise for 10 years, and plans to continue his career with the company.

He and his wife, Mary, relocated to Big Spring from Dallas. They have three children, including Christine, Elizabeth and Al Jr.

Rios said he is concentrating on improving service, maintaining cleanliness and providing a quality product at the local restaurant. In recent years, the restaurant had a reputation "of a high turnover," Rios said, but he is working to change the image.

"We're trying to do our best," said Rios, who also manages the facility.

"We're here to stay. We're making changes for the better and improving quality," he added.

The restaurant recently began accepting checks. Rios has been sponsoring several promotions and discount coupons for the restaurant during recent weeks.

In the near future, Rios said Church's will add mashed potatoes and gravy to its menu, as well as chicken nuggets. This joins the menu of chicken, including livers and gizzards, french fries, cole slaw, peppers and okra.

Fast service, variety of foods on the menu at Good Fortune

Hoover Hu, owner of the Good Fortune Restaurant in College Park Shopping Center, is a native of Nanking, China, who has lived in the United States several years.

Hu, who worked in Chinese restaurants in Chicago and New York City for more than six years, relocated to Big Spring when his wife, Lorie Hsu, took a job as a psychologist with the Big Spring State Hospital.

After moving to Texas, Hu began attending Howard College. He graduated from the University of Texas of the Permian Basin with a degree in computer science and a minor in mass communications. He hopes to work in computer science and manage the restaurant, but for now is concentrating on the new restaurant.

Hu opened the Good Fortune Restaurant about two weeks ago. In preceding weeks, he remodeled what had once been Cacky's Shoe Store. He said he's been working in all areas of the restaurant since it opened, including management and cooking.

Good Fortune Restaurant offers "different varieties of Chinese food," Hu said. Among styles of cooking are Peking, Szechuan, Hunan, Shanghai, Hong Kong and Taiwan. Each features a slightly different taste, ranging from mild and delicate to spicy.

The restaurant is opened from 11 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. and 5 p.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Luncheon specials are offered daily at the restaurant with choices which vary from day to day. Prices for lunch range from $3.50 to $4.50. The supper menu offers dishes from $5.25 per person to about $9.50. House specials are slightly higher but "highly recommended," Hu said.

Hu says the drawing card of Good Fortune Restaurant is "faster service and quality food. People are welcomed to carry out their orders. If they will phone

Two years ago Mamie Lee Dodds and her fifth grade class at Marcy School wrote the history of Big Spring and then depicted it on a hand-made pictorial history quilt. Those 24 youngsters who worked so hard to turn out a magnificent product will be happy to know the quilt has been chosen for a special, very prominent display at this year's State Fair in Dallas in October. It will be the only craft of any kind that is strictly there for display.

● The Chemical People Legal Affairs Committee (headed by JoAnn Guitier and Cindy Marshall) is sponsoring a one-day seminar for law enforcement and criminal justice professionals, including judges, attorneys and related agents.

Faculty will include a U.S. attorney, state pharmacy and medical investigator, Texas DPS air-smuggling investigator, and U.S. drug enforcement official. The seminar, held at Howard College, is accredited for eight hours of training by the Texas Commission on Law Enforcement Standards and Education.

● The Agriculture Committee (headed by T. Paul Hopper and Larry Shaw) provided the annual Ag Appreciation Barbecue at the Fair which fed about 650 farmers, ranchers and their families.

● Industrial Development Committee (Hooper Sanders, chairman) has purchased ads in several appropriate industrial and business magazines promoting industrial incentives and space available in Big Spring. Oscar Castillon, Big Spring Industrial Development, is preparing to leave for the Minneapolis-St. Paul area next week to visit with industrial prospects.

Craig Brace, Malone-Hogan Director of Wellness, laid out the plans for a community fitness program which will be sponsored by Malone-Hogan, Wells Fargo Bank, the City of Big Spring and Hall-Bennett Hospital.

The jogging course, located at Comanche Trail Park, meets the needs of all ages from youth through senior citizens. This is more than just a set of trails — it's a health entertainment adventure.

It was instructive signs to lead one progressively through warm-up, conditioning and cool down activities to enhance total fitness.

A fitness court is planned in the future. Gala opening of the jogging course is coming soon.

Slowdown 'not as severe as feared'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The economic slowdown during the latest quarter was not as severe as some economists had feared and some said the current level of growth is just what is needed to sustain the current 22-month expansion.

The economy has slowed to a 3.6 percent rate of growth, substantially below the pace set during the first half of the year but still strong enough to give the country its best two-year economic performance in decades, the government said Thursday.

The Commerce Department report said the gross national product, the total output of goods and services, increased at an annual rate of 3.6 percent in the current

July-September quarter, for an annual total of $1.64 trillion. The report is based on data for the first two months of the quarter and estimates for September and is often subject to later revisions.

Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige said the preliminary estimate for GNP growth "provides further evidence that the economy has shifted down to a more moderate growth rate."

R for your garden

by Don Richardson
County Extension Agent

New attractions make Fair success

The Annual Howard County Fair was a big success this year and offered more attractions than ever before. One of the new attractions was the Plant Disease and Insect Control Diagnostic Clinic held in conjunction with the fair's horticultural show. An excellent team of Extension specialists were on hand to help people diagnose their plant problems. There were a lot of good horticultural exhibits at the fair and it still always amazes me how West Texas gardeners can always come up with excellent produce in spite of such adverse conditions such as drought.

Here is our garden check list for September:

Caladiums require plenty of water at this time of year if they are to remain lush and attractive until fall. Fertilize with ammonium nitrate at the rate of 3/4 to 1 1/2 pound per 100 square feet of bed area and water thoroughly.

About eight weeks after gladiolus have finished flowering, they should be mature enough to dig, cure and store. Destroy any corms that appear to be diseased.

Don't allow plants with green fruit or berries to suffer from lack of moisture. Hollies will frequently drop their fruit under drought conditions.

Stake mums through growing season when necessary. Do not divide crowded mums until spring.

Powdery mildew season is here. Check crapemyrtle, evergreen euonymus and zinnias. Funginex or Benlate will usually give excellent control.

Prune out dead or diseased wood from trees and shrubs. Hold off on major pruning until mid-winter. Pruning now will only stimulate tender new growth prior to frost.

Collect interesting plant materials for drying and curing to use in winter arrangements.

Plan now for major landscape changes you need or want.

As you plan your new landscape or as you renovate an existing plan remember to consider recommended plant varieties for your area.

For gardens in our area it is time to plant peonies in September and October to give the roots an opportunity to become established before cold weather. Don't move or divide peonies unless there is a good reason to do so as they do not like to be disturbed. If replanting is deemed necessary, place the growth-bud not more than one to two inches below the soil surface.

Select and order or purchase spring flowering bulbs as soon as available. This way you get fresh bulbs that haven't dried out in a warm dry store. Plant all but the tulips and hyacinths when the bed is ready. Store the tulips and hyacinths in the vegetable drawer of the refrigerator until December. They should receive at least 60 to 90 days of low (35 to 40 Degree F.) temperature before planting. Beware of close-out sales later in the season as often the bulbs are no bargain at any price.

Prepare the beds for spring flowering bulbs as soon as possible. It's important to cultivate the soil and add generous amounts of organic matter to improve the water drainage. Bulbs will rot without proper drainage.

Continue to mow lawn regularly. Do not scalp until next spring.

Time to divide spring flowering plants such as iris, Shasta daisy, gaillardia, cannas, daylilies, violets, liriopse and ajuga.

Good time to watch the ads for needed garden equipment such as mowers, sprinklers, edgers, weeders, hoses and the like. Merchandisers want to make room for Christmas items and often offer good buys at this time.

Don't attempt to plant Bermuda grass seed after Sept. 15, as it will seldom develop a root system strong enough to withstand freezing temperatures.

Continue the disease spray schedule on roses as blackspot and mildew can be extremely damaging in September and October. Funginex used every 7-14 days will give excellent control.

It's time to turn your existing compost pile, and to think about starting a new one for the fall crop of leaves and garden wastes.

If treatment for grub worms has not been applied and a definite problem is present, (four grubs in a one square foot soil area four inches deep). Diazinon or Dursban granules can be applied in early September. Water them thoroughly. If you have had a water softener installed, don't be tempted to use the water for container plants. It contains sodium and can be damaging. Draw water from a tap that is not connected to the softener.

For those who have successfully carried over a poinsettia from last Christmas, if you want them to flower in time for the holiday season, you had better give them the short day, on night treatment. You can drape them with a sheet of dark cloth for 14-15 hours each night or place in a room or closet where there is no danger of a light being turned on. Start about October and your plant will flower by Christmas.

Christmas Cactus can be made to flower by supplying 12 hours of uninterrupted darkness and cool nights (55 degrees F.) for a month starting in mid-October. Keep plants on the dry side for a month prior to the treatment.

Focus on the family

Meetings improve communication

Our hectic lifestyles mean much of the communication between parents and children is conducted through notes and short bursts of information. Yet, family relations experts tell us that good communication is important in preventing family problems.

One way to help insure adequate communication in your family is to hold regular family meetings. Families with children of any age can benefit from family meetings. But it may be easier to start when the children are young, since they are more likely to have a positive attitude about the meeting.

A family meeting is simply a regularly scheduled time when all family members share their plans, wishes, complaints, questions and suggestions about matters of concern.

The meetings may not "catch on" with the children at first, because they represent a change. Listen to the messages behind their complaints, but continue to meet on a regular basis. Go over the ground rules of the meeting and the specific "how to's", so they will be more comfortable participating.

Here are some suggested guidelines to use for family meetings:

- Select a convenient time and place for the meeting by consulting everyone involved. Post a notice of the meeting on the refrigerator door or in some other visible place.
- Discuss the purpose of each meeting and agree upon some ground rules. They may include the length of time for meetings; no one person speaks at a time; no interrupting; no distractions such as telephone calls, television, visitors or pets will be permitted.

- Family members who do not attend the meeting must accept the consequences of decisions made when they were not there.
- Family members can't out vote each other — all members must agree on a decision.
- Parents and children take turns leading the meetings.
- Include some family fun at each meeting so it becomes a positive experience.

These guidelines can be helpful, but families will need to be creative in developing a system that works for them.

The family meeting technique helps children learn about problem solving and keeps the channels of communication open among all family members.

Dr. Donohue

Cherry angioma not dangerous

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: To begin with, I'm 63 years old. My breasts, neck and upper arms have red spots about the size of the head of a common pin. Some are a little larger. They look like blood spots. When I had my physical, my doctor asked how long I'd had them and I told him for quite some time. I asked if they meant anything and he just nodded and said — uh-huh.

I was wondering if they were anything to worry about. I am of light complexion and these spots are quite visible. I have heard of blood leaking through the skin and wonder if this is my problem. — L.B.K.

I can't be sure, but from this distance it seems you are talking about cherry angioma. They are slightly elevated, small (about 3/100th of an inch in diameter) and irregularly roundish. These bright red spots are commonly found on the chest and upper arms. Are we on the same track?

If this is what they are, they are not dangerous, but they do tend to become more numerous with advancing age. They can be removed by freezing or drying them with an electric current.

They are not from blood leaking out into the skin, as you fear. When that happens you have petechiae, and that can be a sign of a true problem. Petechiae vary in size, look more like the color of a bruise, and they come and go. Cherry angioma are forever. I am sure your doctor would have had more to say than uh-huh if you had petechiae.

FOR A.B.K. — You asked about mycobacteria Kansasi. There are many mycobacteria. The mycobacteria tuberculosis causes TB. That's true.

The one you have is another type, and it's not just found in Kansas. It's just that it was first found there. If it had been found first in New York it might have picked up that name. Many people are infected with it around the country.

Few ever get sick. When they do, it is a lung infection, and that's treated with medicines used for TB.

I am glad you are no longer coughing and that you feel better. It appears that you will make a complete recovery. You may have to take the medicine for up to two years.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Dear Abby

A shady deal

DEAR ABBY: Several years ago you encouraged your readers to donate their organs after death. I thought it was a fine idea, so I wrote to the Living Bank in Houston and signed up, and I was sent a donor card, which I have carried in my wallet ever since.

My 17-year-old son had a serious motorcycle accident, and I was told his chances of surviving were slim, so I informed the woman in authority at the hospital that if he died, the hospital could take his eyes, kidneys and other organs for transplants.

She said, "Fine, but did you know that it will cost you several thousand dollars to remove the organs?" I told her I was sorry — that we were poor people and didn't have that kind of money.

Abby, I was never told that the donor's family is expected to pay out anything. If this is true, please tell me, and I will tear up my card.

I also think you should let others know the truth about this.

EX-ORGAN DONOR
DEAR EX-DONOR: Don't tear up your card; you are still an organ donor. Inform the person "in authority" at the hospital immediately that she is mistaken — not one penny is charged to the donor or donor's family for removing organs for transplants.

I've carried an organ card for 15 years and feel that nothing I could leave after my death would be of greater value.

Interested parties may write to: The Living Bank, P.O. Box 6752, Houston, Texas 77265.

This is a non-profit organization, so please include a long, stamped (37 cents), self-addressed envelope.

DEAR ABBY: Very soon I will have been married for 50 years. I feel that I am entitled to celebrate a golden wedding. My wife refuses.

Here is the problem: I was married to Wife No. 1 for 23 years. She died. Wife No. 2 and I were married for 22 years. Wife No. 3 has been my wife for four years. This makes a total of 49 years of marriage for me, right?

My wife says if I want to celebrate a golden wedding anniversary to go ahead, but she refuses to celebrate 45 years of marriage that she had nothing to do with. Furthermore, she thinks I am unfair to expect her to go along with it.

Whose sides are you on, Abby?
PUSHING FOR THE GOLD
DEAR PUSHING: I'm on your wife's side. Quit pushing for the gold — a fifth anniversary is all you're entitled to. It's wood. Use your head.

DEAR ABBY: Regarding bedroom eyes: I haven't heard that expression for a long time, but when I was young, that was my problem. It must be an inherited trait, because my daughter had the same problem.

I used to enjoy a little innocent flirtation, but if I looked at a man a little too long, he took it wrong and I had to practically fight for my honor.

I never seriously considered having an affair in my life, but my bedroom eyes gave a lot of men the wrong impression.

Fourth quarter rally nets Steers win

By BILLY NABOURS
Sports Editor

A gutsy fourth quarter comeback propelled the Big Spring Steers past the Lubbock Monterey Plainsmen, 22-21 at Memorial Stadium Friday night as the Steers closed their non-district schedule with a 2-1 record.

Although a Carl Speck to Sammy Baucham pass for two points gave the Steers their first and only lead of the game with 2:57 in the fourth quarter, it was not until Victor Pruitt blocked a 42-yard field goal attempt with 13 seconds to play that Steer backers could rest easy.

Speck's two point conversion hookup with Baucham highlighted a 15 point fourth period as the Steers battled with the tenacity that has already come to mark their season.

Trailing 14-7 as the fourth quarter started, the Steers capped a 14 play, 70-yard march when Carl Speck passed to Thomas Rodriguez on fourth and goal from the Monterey six. Colin Carroll, who added 115 yards rushing, kicked the tying extra point with 11:39 in the game. Monterey came right back, however and took two plays as James Goolsby rambled 59 yards. Brent Rice booted the extra point to put the Plainsmen back in front, 21-14 with 10:46 to play.

But the Steers weren't to be denied even after an apparent touchdown 46-yard touchdown pass from Speck to Michael Doporto was called back because of a penalty with 6:54 remaining.

The penalty had Big Spring facing third and 20. Speck passed to Tommy Gartman for 19. Pirkle plunged forward for the first on fourth and one to keep the drive alive. Although weakened by a virus earlier in the week, Pirkle responded with two scores in the fourth quarter and 58 tough yards on 15 carries.

Pirkle's first down kept the drive alive and he capped it off with a two yard run with 3:05 left in the game. Following the kickoff, Monterey drove from the Steers' 49 to the 25. After two incompletions and one dropped pass, Rice lined up to attempt the field goal that was blocked by Pruitt.

Until Pirkle's score and the go-ahead conversion, the Steers had played catch up all game long.

Monterey, now 0-3, wasted little time in cranking up for an offensive evening when Carey Wallace hauled in a pass from David Coleman at the 8:39 mark in the first quarter. The play covered 24 yards and concluded a 55-yard drive. Rice's kick was good.

On a night of big plays it was the Steers that sprung a surprise with 3:42 to play. With its drive stalled on fourth and nine and the Monterey 39, Big Spring ran a fake punt. Carroll picked up 13 yards to the 26. From there it took the Steers nine plays to reach paydirt as Pirkle did the honors for his first score of the night. Carroll's kick was successful and the score stood 7-7 at the half.

Following a Pirkle punt in the third quarter, Monterey went 43 yards in six plays. Goolsby, who rushed for 192 yards, went 31 with 4:23 in the period. Rice's boot was again on the mark for a 14-7 advantage.

Big Spring then went on its 70-yard drive that came to a halt when Speck and Rodriguez teamed on their pass and catch.

Defensively the Steers gave up their most yardage of the year — 380 — but the unit came up in the clutch when it had to.

In the first quarter linebacker Jerry Anderson stopped a Monterey drive with an interception in the endzone after the Plainsmen drove from their own three to the Big Spring 13. On two other occasions Jerry Meyer recovered a pair of fumbles while playing noseguard. The recoveries

Forsan nips Steers 15-11 in close clash

By STEVE BELVIN
Staff Writer

ROBERT LEE — Before last night's game with Robert Lee, Forsan coach Jan East said as long as his team played good defense they would be in the ball game.

East's theory paid off in the Buffaloes' encounter versus the Steers as Forsan made the big defensive plays when they needed them and defeated Robert Lee 15-11 in Class A non-district action.

Forsan stopped a late-game Robert Lee scoring drive with 2:50 left on the clock with the Buffaloes leading 15-11. Robert Lee quarterback Kirby Rasco fourth-down pass attempt fell incomplete at the Forsan 35-yard line.

East was less than enthusiastic with the win, especially with the Buffs defensive play.

"We didn't play good defensive, or offense for that matter," he said. "We played when we had to and then we were lucky."

That luck East referred to was a thirty-yard touchdown pass from Robert Lee halfback Greg Grim to Douglas Roberts, which was nullified because of a holding penalty. The score would have given Robert Lee the lead with three minutes remaining.

The Buffaloes did play in clutch situations. The defense held Robert Lee without scoring on three separate occasions inside the Forsan 30-yard line. The most impressive was a goalline stand in the second quarter which saw the Buffaloes hold four times from their own five-yard line.

The Forsan offense also came through in the clutch. After Robert Lee had taken a 11-7 lead on a 30-yard field goal by Bobby Boone with 8:05 remaining, the Forsan offense came back.

The Buffs went 58 yards in seven plays and Mitch Hays scored from 14 yards out. Todd East passed to Bobby Headrick for the two-point conversion to ice the game with 2:45 left.

Hays, who ended the night with 96 yards on 12 carries, got Forsan on the scoreboard in the first quarter. The speedy senior fielded a punt at his own 36, got one block from a teammate, and found a wall of blockers down the sidelines for a 60-yard touchdown run. Craig Creel's PAT gave Forsan a 7-0 lead with 1:53 left in the first quarter.

Robert Lee turned running back Grim loose in the second half and dominated the game. The Steers kept the ball 18 minutes of the second half.

After gaining 40 yards in the first half, Grim ended the contest with 201 yards on 28 carries.

He scored Robert Lee's lone touchdown on a 14-yard run with 1:20 left in the third quarter. The score capped off a 56-yard, 14-play drive which ate up seven minutes of the clock. Grimm scored the two-point conversion.

The win was Forsan's first over the Steers in the last six years.

"I am glad the jinx is over," said East. "When they got the field goal I began to wonder. The kids showed a lot of character in coming back." Forsan is 3-0 for the season, while Robert Lee falls to 1-2.

Milwaukee runs by Blue Jays 5-1

By the Associated Press

TORONTO — Cecil Cooper stroked a two-run home run and Don Sutton and Ray Searage combined on a five-hitter as the Milwaukee Brewers broke a five-game losing streak with a 5-1 victory over the Toronto Blue Jays Friday night.

Sutton, who has won nine of his past 12 decisions, improved his record to 14-12. He gave way to Searage in the eighth inning.

Cooper slugged his 10th homer in the fifth inning, driving in Jim Gantner and padding the Brewers' lead to 5-0.

Milwaukee struck for three runs in the second inning on four consecutive hits off Dennis Lamp, 8-8, including a two-run triple by Dion James.

Doug Loman and Bill Schroeder singled and both scored on James' triple. James scored on a single by Bob Clark.

Sutton lost his shutout bid in the eighth when Rance Mulliniks tripled and scored on Willie Aikens' grounder.

The Brewers won their seventh game in eight against the Blue Jays this year.

Sparling will head Hawks basketball

What a week!

Tuesday, Ed Sparling was hired as assistant men's basketball coach at Howard College. On Friday he became the head coach in light of Mike Mitchell's official resignation.

Mitchell, a one year veteran at HC and who guided the Hawks to their first Western Junior College Athletic Conference championship in 10 years during the 1983-84 season, resigned to accept a job in sales with Fiberflex. He will work the Oklahoma City territory for the Big Spring based company. Under Mitchell, the Hawks posted a 28-4 record and came within a game of reaching the National Tournament.

But, Sparling is familiar with the national scope as well.

The 45-year old Sparling, who served in the capacity as athletic coordinator at a TDC unit in Palestine the past two years, coached five years at Southeastern Iowa College. In that time the Burlington based school was in the National Tournament three times. Its best finish was fifth place in 1966.

While serving as an assistant at UTEP from 1969-72, Sparling was associated with one NCAA tournament team and another that qualified for the NIT. Aside from his three day stint as an assistant with the Hawks, the UTEP position has been Sparling's only assistant's job.

He started his coaching career at Mary Help of Christians High School in Tampa, FL. College stops have included St. Leo College in St. Leo, FL., Southeastern Iowa College, UTEP, College of Stubenville in Stubenville, Oh., Gannon College in Erie, Pa., and Chadron State College in Chadron, Ne.

Sparling-coached teams have made the playoffs in 19 times. His overall coaching record is 417-160.

The Hawks third head coach in three years is married and has four daughters.

BROUGHT DOWN — LUIS GONZALES is brought down by an unidentified Christoval defender after gaining some yardage for the Grady Wildcats in their non-district six man encounter Friday night. The Wildcats scored 38 points, but Christoval was 16 points better in a 54-38 win. Grady is 1-2 and Christoval is 1-1-1.

Borden County rams Wellman 46-12

GAIL — Borden County tailback Chris Cooley exploded for 173 rushing yards here last night as the Coyotes rolled over the Wellman Wildcats 46-12 in 4-A six-man play. First half action saw Borden County score 34 unanswered points, 18 of them resulting from 12, 70 and 72-yard runs by Cooley. The Coyotes scored again with a 9-yard run by Rick Turner that was iced by a 2-point conversion kick by Kirby Williams.

Buchanan recovered a Wildcat fumble in the team's own endzone to cap first half play.

The two teams traded scores in the third quarter, the Coyotes returned with a 34-yard Brice Key run that Wellman answered with an Eric Johnson 4-yard run.

Although the teams traded scores again in the last quarter — Borden County hitting the endzone with a 79-yard Rick Turner run — but it was a case of too little too late

Cougars claw Grady Wildcats 54-38

GRADY — The Grady Wildcats put together a 38-point effort here last night, but it wasn't enough to stop the Christoval Cougars, who grew to a 54 point total and a 16-point victory. The two teams traded a pair of touchdowns each in first quarter action, Grady using a 28-yard run by fullback Fred Garza and an 8-yard pass from quarterback Michael Mitchell to end Terry Deatherage to put its points on the board. However both Grady PATs were no good.

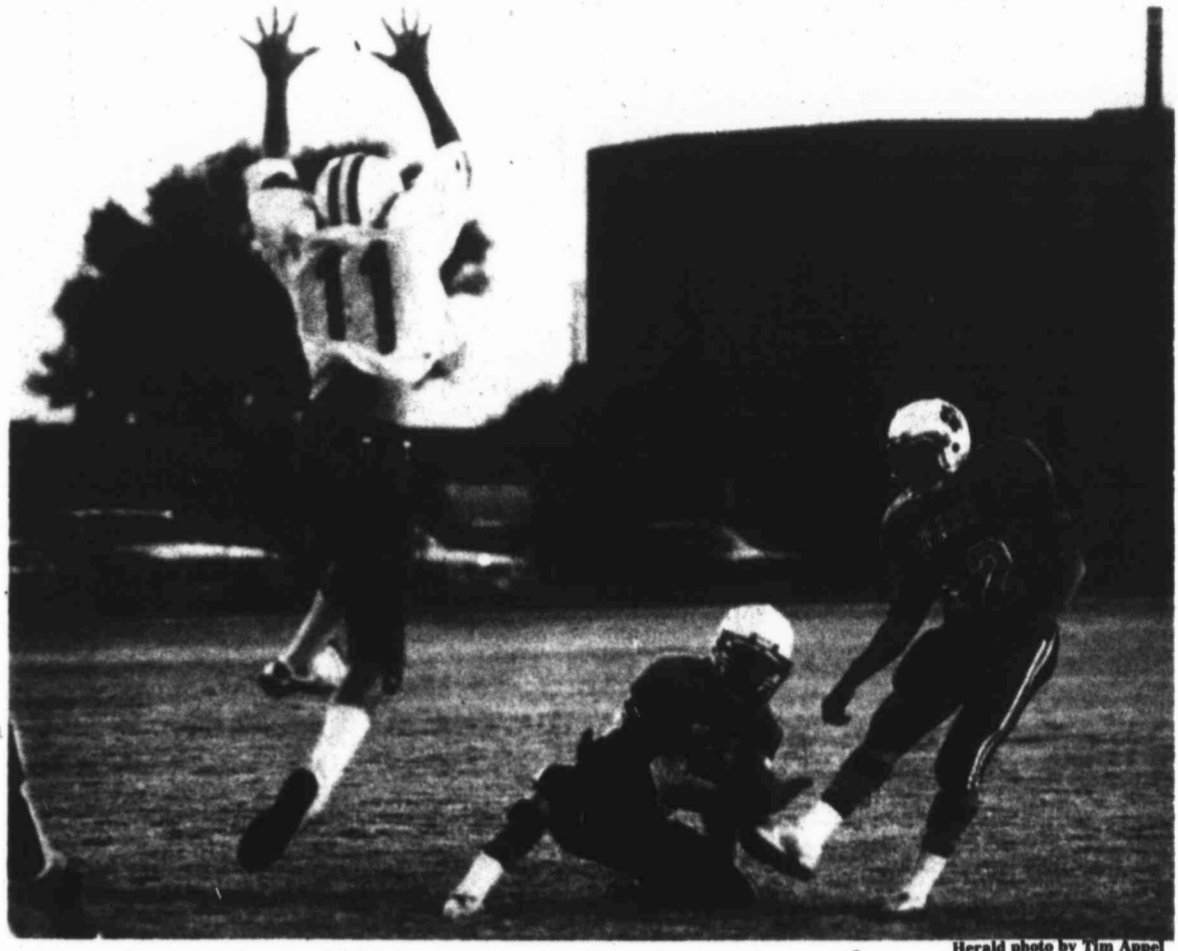

Grady scored again in the second quarter on 42-yard pass from Mitchell to wingback Dennis Sawyer, but four Christoval touchdowns made the intermission score 42-20 in favor of the Cougars.

Grady came back in the second half with three TDs, one with 6:11 left in the third quarter on a 53-yard run by tailback Wade Miller; another with 2:11 left in the quarter on a 2-yard pass from Mitchell to Deatherage and finally with 1:41 left in the game on a 3-yard run by fullback Louis

Klondike Coogs rope Mustangs 35-6

ACKERLY — The Sands Mustangs were hard pressed to fight a phenomenal performance by Klondike Cougar Tim Cope here last night as the Mustangs went down to a 35-6 defeat.

In what looked like a close game during the first half, the two teams traded TDs. Sands capped a 30-yard, 6-play drive with a 1 yard run by Mustang halfback Arnold Velasco. But the Mustang PAT was no good. Velasco carried the ball 30 times during the game for a total 102 yards.

Klondike answered with the first of four Tim Cope touchdowns. The Cougar halfback took the ball in on a 25-yard run and then kicked his own point after.

After halftime, the game essentially became the Tim Cope show, with the halfback running in two punt returns, blocking a Sands kick that resulted in a Klondike endzone recovery and running the ball 70

Golden Cranes nip Buffaloes 7-0

STANTON — A close defensive struggle between the 2A Stanton Buffaloes and the 3A Golden Cranes here last night ended with a final 7-0 score — in favor of the Golden Cranes.

The Golden Cranes threatened late in the first half, but with about a minute left, Buffalo tackle Jason McDonald recovered a Crane 5-yard line fumble to send the teams into the locker room with a scoreless tie.

The games only score came in a third quarter 72-yard pass from Crane tailback Kenny Walker to wingback Gerald Mitchell. Rod Wilson kicked the point after. The play was well set-up and looked like a run until the very last moment, according to one game observer.

In a game that was fought mostly at mid-field the Golden Cranes fumbled seven times, but Stanton was only able to recover three of

Coahoma Bulldogs trip Tahoka 20-8

TAHOKA — Quarterback John Swinney and the Coahoma Bulldogs wasted no time in showing Tahoka who was the top dog here Friday night posting a 20-8 victory in a Class 3A non-district game.

The win gave Coahoma a 1-1-1 season record and the Tahoka Bulldogs dropped to 0-3.

The Coahoma passing attack accounted for the game's first two touchdowns in the second quarter. Swinney lofted a 7-yard pass to tailback Jimmy Yanez to put the Bulldogs on the scoreboard. The point after failed.

Minutes later Swinney loaded up his arm for a 53-yard touchdown pass to Brian Calaway with two minutes left in the half. The Coahoma quarterback then hit Gary Vaughn for the two-point conversion to take a 14-0 halftime lead.

Despite the scoring by the offense, the Coahoma defense was the brightest spot in the Bulldogs attack. The Bulldogs allowed Tahoka a mere 35 total yards in the first half.

The final Coahoma touchdown came in the third quarter with 53 seconds left. Yanez capped off an 80-yard drive with a one-yard plunge to end the scoring for

C-City Wolves stun Mustangs 50-9

DENVER CITY — Colorado City quarterback Doug Chitsey and running back Billy Jackson terrorized the Denver City Mustangs as the Wolves won 50-9 Friday night.

All-West Texas signal caller Chitsey was 13 of 21 for 235 yards and Jackson carried 19 times for 120 yards. The Wolves completely dominated the game from the second quarter on.

Ironically, the Mustangs opened up the scoring with a 33-yard field goal and later added a touchdown on a 59-yard scoring pass from Chris Grabbit to Steve Mills. The score which came in the first quarter ended the Mustangs glory.

Chitsey, tight end Don Randle, running back Sammy Rivera and Jackson added two touchdowns apiece to spread the scoring around. Randle and defensive back Gary Marsh were stalwarts on defense with Randle recovering two fumbles and Marsh grabbed two interceptions.

The Wolves led at halftime 30-9 and the barrage of points continued late into the game. The Wolves are 3-0 for the season.

Watson rallies to five-way lead at Panasonic Las Vegas classic

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Denis Watson, the last man to finish, had an eagle-2 on his way to a 3-under-par 68 Friday to lead into a five-way tie for the lead after the third round of the richest event on the American PGA Tour, the $1,122,500 Panasonic Las Vegas Invitational.

The South African, who completed his round at the Las Vegas Country Club in near-darkness, built his effort around a pitch from the fairway which found the cup for an eagle on the sixth hole. He finished 54 holes of this 5-day, 90-hole event with a 203 total and was 12 under par.

Watson was tied with Johnny Miller and three others. Also at 203 were former Masters champion Craig Stadler, Lon Hinkle and Andy Bean, who had the lead alone until he 3-putted from 4-feet and made double bogey on the 18th hole. Miller's score was 12 under par — the same as Watson's. Stadler was 11 under, Bean and Hinkle 10 under.

The confusion arises from the format and courses used for the tournament that offers $162,000 to the winner.

The 176 pros are required to play one round on each of four courses — Las Vegas, Tropicana, Showboat and Desert Inn — each day with a different, 4-man team of amateurs, before the field will be cut for the pros-only finish at the Las Vegas Club on Sunday.

The Showboat and Desert Inn courses carry pars of 72, Las Vegas 71 and Tropicana 70. Thus, after 54 holes, since different pros have played different courses, par for their rounds could be 213, 214 or 215.

The situation will be resolved by the end of play Saturday. At that time, all pros will have played all four courses.

Hinkle, who led since shooting a first-round 62, struggled to a third-round 73 at Showboat. Stadler had a 68 at the Desert Inn. And Bean salvaged a 69 despite his double-bogey disaster on the 18th at Tropicana.

Miller, hitting his irons with the devastating accuracy of his glory years of the mid-1970s, had a 64 at Las Vegas, that included five birdies from six feet or less. He missed three other from the same distance, hit all 18 greens and didn't even come close to making a bogey.

"I played like I used to play," said the former U.S. and British Open champion.

Another stroke back at 204 were former U.S. Open champ Hubert Green, Canadian Dave Barr, rookie Corey Pavin and Mike Smith. All were at nine under par. Green, trying to fight his way out of a lengthy slump, had a 67 at Tropicana. Smith closed up with a 66 at the same course. Pavin had a 71 and Barr a 68, both at Showboat. Ed Fiori, with a 69 at Desert Inn, also was nine under par but had a 205 total.

Ali completes 4 days of tests

NEW YORK (AP) — Muhammad Ali completed four days of tests at Columbia-Presbyterian Hospital on Friday and left immediately for Africa, saying he felt "about the same" as before he sought medical help.

"I'm always tired," Ali told a news conference just before leaving the hospital. He said he has been going to bed after midnight and getting up at 4 a.m. to pray — a routine he vowed to change. "I need eight hours a night," he said.

Doctors have diagnosed Ali as having Parkinson's syndrome, a mild form of the degenerative Parkinson's disease. The three-time heavyweight boxing champion has shown symptoms such as slurred speech, a loss of facial expression and trembling hands.

On Thursday, his neurologist, Dr. Stanley Fahn, said Ali, 42, was responding well to treatment and could expect to lead a full and normal life.

Frogs favored, Tech is not

By The Associated Press
Fans of such victory-starved football programs as Texas Christian and Texas Tech, who liked what happened last weekend, are hoping they can pinch themselves Saturday night and discover their success is still real.

"Ho, boy, did we ever need that," TCU Coach Jim Wacker said after last week's 62-18 rout by his Horned Frogs over Utah State.

Texas Tech, unveiling a new split back veer attack, scored its most points since 1977 in routing Texas-Arlington 44-7.

If the gambling odds prove right, TCU will run its record to 2-0, but Texas Tech's Red Raiders will fall to 1-1 before they open the Southwest Conference race next week against Southern Methodist and Baylor, respectively.

Las Vegas oddsmakers have made TCU an 8-point favorite in its home opener against Kansas State, but rate Tech a 7-point underdog on the road against New Mexico.

Eight SWC teams — all but No. 3 Texas — are in action this weekend.

No. 11 Oklahoma is favored by 19 points over Baylor, No. 9 Washington by 13 over Washington, Texas A&M by 15 over Iowa State, Arkansas by 5 over Tulsa, Rice by 3 over Lamar, and Southern Methodist by 17 over North Texas State.

The Horned Frogs have the nation's leading rusher in freshman Tony Jeffery (182 yards) and the nation's leading scorer in junior Kenneth Davis (18 points). Davis is No. 2 among SWC rushers with 145 yards, while Tech senior Freddie Wells is fourth with 131 yards and Red Raider sophomore Timmy Smith is sixth with 114 yards.

Jeffery, a redshirt from Gladewater, picked up 165 yards in the first quarter alone, including runs of 72 and 53 yards.

Four TCU offensive plays covered more than 50 yards. Besides Jeffery's two long scampers, Davis had a 59-yard TD run, and Anthony Guley threw a 64-yard TD pass to James Maness.

Although TCU and Tech won handily in their openers, neither Utah State nor Texas-Arlington was highly regarded.

UCLA hopes to shuck 'Huskers

By The Associated Press
Iowa was considered to have the best defense in the Big Ten this year as all their starters returned from the 1983 Hawkeye team that went 9-3 and allowed 189 points. Don't tell that to Iowa Coach Hayden Fry.

"I have no sympathy for Coach (Earl) Bruce whatsoever in regard to his young team," Fry said of the Ohio State coach who will lead his fifth-ranked and 2-0 Buckeyes against No. 14 Iowa Saturday.

"Any time you give a major college football team a goose egg on the scoreboard, you've really done something," Fry said of Ohio State's 44-0 victory over Washington State last weekend.

Fry's squad wasn't goose-egged last weekend, but it did drop to 1-1, losing to Penn State, 20-17.

"You just have to line up those three big down linemen, who are all seniors," Fry said. "They've been around. He has some young people in the back end, but they're great athletes. They run extremely well."

Fry's team does some things very well offensively as well as defensively. Led by junior quarterback Chuck Long, who has completed 28 of 45 passes for 425 yards and four touchdowns, the Hawkeyes rolled up 59 points in the opener against Iowa State before falling to Penn State.

Bruce said he would like extra time to work with his defense before it faces Long.

"We'd like to catch them later but that's the schedule," Bruce said.

What is on schedule for Ohio State is the rehabilitation of senior quarterback Mike Tomczak, who suffered a double fracture of his right leg in spring practice.

Tomczak led the Buckeyes to touchdowns on each of the three possessions he played against Washington State, connecting on five of seven passes for 55 yards. Bruce said Tomczak is "90 percent ready for Iowa."

There are three other games this weekend pitting members of the Associated Press Top Twenty: No. 1 Nebraska is at No. 8 UCLA; No. 2 Clemson visits No. 20 Georgia and No. 15 Florida State takes a short trip to face No. 4 Miami, Fla.

In other games involving members of the Top Twenty, sixth-ranked Brigham Young is at Hawaii; William & Mary visits No. 7 Penn State; Houston travels to No. 9 Washington; North Carolina and 10th-ranked Boston College meet at Foxboro, Mass.; Baylor is at No. 11 Oklahoma; San Diego State visits 12th-ranked Oklahoma year's 42-10 Nebraska victory at Lincoln.

"I hope we can play better against Nebraska this year than we did last year," he said. "I think we can. We're much healthier. I don't mean to make excuses, but we weren't healthy on defense when we played them last year. It was a slaughter."

That might be a good way to describe Nebraska's first two games of 1984 — 42-7 over Wyoming and 38-7 over Minnesota, while UCLA struggled past San Diego State 18-15 and Long Beach State 23-17.

"UCLA's past history is that they're a slow starter," Nebraska Coach Tom Osborne said. "They started that way last year and developed into a great team."

His Tigers, 2-1, have scored 71 points so far this season. That's a nice offensive showing, but the 71 points is six fewer than his opponent this week, Mississippi Valley, has scored in its worst one-week offensive showing.

The Delta Devils are 2-0, having defeated Kentucky State 86-0 and Washburn 77-15. That's 163 points, 34 more than Jackson State gave up all last season when it went 9-3 in Division I-AA.

Steve Bono's sprained ankle is better than it was last week. He is listed as questionable for Nebraska.

And, for the ultimate in problems confronting a coach, pity W.C. Gordon, the head man at Jackson State.

BIG CORNHUSKERS
UCLA Coach Terry Donahue sounds like an advancement for the Cornhuskers.

"They're as good as I heard they were," Donahue said. "Their offense is like a huge thing that just rolls at you, bowls you over. And their defense may very well be their strength."

Sports Briefs

Showers delay Navratilova's quest

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — For the second time in 24 hours, rain delayed Martina Navratilova's attempt to break Chris Evert Lloyd's record 55-match winning streak.

After a torrential rainstorm Wednesday postponed Navratilova's first-round match at the Lynda Carter-Maybelline Tennis Classic, she and opponent Melissa Brown tried again Thursday.

The clouds cleared over the Bonaventure Racquet Club long enough for the match to start shortly after 2 p.m., but a drizzle began after two games, and play was suspended with Navratilova leading 4-1 in the first set.

Wilander advances in Martini Open

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — Top-seeded Mats Wilander of Sweden defeated Argentina's Martin Jaito 5-7, 6-4, 6-2 to advance to the quarterfinals of the $100,000 Martini Open tennis tournament.

In other matches at Parc des Eaux Vives, unseeded Damir Keretic of West Germany downed Gabriel Urpi of Spain 6-3, 6-4.

Also advancing to the quarterfinals were: No. 3 seed Juan Aguilera of Spain, who defeated Christophe Meyer of Switzerland 6-2, 6-2; No. 2 seed Henrik Sundstrom of Sweden, a winner over Alberto Tous of Spain 6-3, 6-3; Libor Pimek of Czechoslovakia, who stopped countryman Josef Cihak 6-0, 6-4; and Alejandro Gankzabal of Argentina, who ousted Simone Colombo of Italy, 6-7, 6-1, 7-5.

Bodine burns track for pole position

MARTINSVILLE, Va. (AP) — Geoff Bodine turned in a lap of 89.523 mph on the Martinsville Speedway track to claim the pole position for the Goody's 500 NASCAR Grand National stock car race on Sunday.

Neil Bonnett posted an 89.458 mph lap on the .526-mile track to earn the spot next to Bodine in the front row for the $255,850 Winston Cup event.

Fortysix captures Little Brown Jug

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — Colt Fortysix, the swiftest horse in harness racing history, led wire-to-wire in both the first division and the raceoff to capture the 39th Little Brown Jug, the middle leg of pacing's Triple Crown.

The Albatross colt sped through the mile in 1 minute, 55.2-5 seconds in the raceoff, defeating Legal Notice by three-fourths of a length.

BSTA will meet Sunday

The Big Spring Tennis Association will meet Sunday, Sept. 23 at 2 p.m. at the Figure 7 Tennis Center.

Smyer forfeits before half

HAPPY, Texas (AP) — Happy defeated Smyer 26-0 Friday night in a high school football game that was halted in the second quarter because injuries left the losers with only 10 players.

Smyer, 0-3, began the game with 16 players, but six were injured during the first half. Smyer coaches forfeited with four minutes left in the first half.

Happy was leading in total offense 225 yards to minus 5 at the time the game was called.

Player Profile

DEBBIE HOLGUIN

Debbie Holguin, a senior setter for the Big Spring Lady Steers volleyball team has emerged as one of the team leaders for Big Spring, in its quest for a playoff berth.

Holguin, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Holguin Jr. was a part time starter on the squad last season and is, "someone her teammates look up to," according to Lady Steers coach Susan Sharp.

Holguin began participating in volleyball in the seventh grade. She calls volleyball a "fun sport" that means a lot to her. Her other favorite sport is watching the Dallas Cowboys.

Debbie lists her hobbies as water skiing and skating and credits her teammate of last year, Vicky Halfmann, with being the most influential person in her volleyball career because "she was a dedicated leader."

After graduation in May Holguin plans on attending Howard College on her way to becoming a registered nurse, but added she wants to keep playing volleyball in her spare time.

Martina whips Brown to set record

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Martina Navratilova finally completed a rain-delayed 6-1, 6-2 thrashing of outmatched Melissa Brown on Friday to stretch her winning streak to a record-breaking 56 matches.

With the victory in a first-round match at the Lynda Carter-Maybelline Tennis Classic, Navratilova erased the 10-year-old mark set by Chris Evert Lloyd.

The rain, which had forced the match to be moved back from Wednesday night to Thursday afternoon, and then suspended play at 4-1 in the first set Thursday, caused more problems than Brown, a 16-year-old high school junior from Scarsdale, N.Y.

Navratilova, 27, overcame some early jitters to take the first-set lead at the Bonaventure Racquet Club before the skies opened up Thursday. The match finally resumed Friday at 5:42 p.m. EDT, with Navratilova requiring only two minutes to close out the first set.

Brown put together one strong service game and took advantage of Navratilova's temporary service problems to take a 2-0 lead in the second set.

But a determined Navratilova ripped off the next six games to finish the match. A service winner closed it the match, which took a total elapsed time of 57 minutes.

Navratilova had tied Lloyd's match record in unusual fashion Tuesday when the Women's Tennis Association reduced Lloyd's long-standing record by one, ruling that a default had mistakenly been included in the streak.

Navratilova had expressed disappointment when she heard of the ruling, saying she had wanted to enjoy the thrill of tying the record on court.

Ironically, Lloyd was the 55th victim in Navratilova's streak when she lost 4-6, 6-4, 6-4 in the U.S. Open finals earlier this month.

In another odd twist of fate, Navratilova surpassed the record in the town where Lloyd grew up.

Lloyd, contacted Thursday night in London where she is filming a commercial, congratulated her rival a little ahead of time.

"It looks like she might break it, and records are made to be broken," she said. "Probably a lot of people in the course of history will break my records."

Lloyd said she is most proud of her 125-match clay-court win streak and her record of having won at least one Grand Slam title in each of the last 10 years.

The WTA recognizes the 56-match streak as a modern record. Suzanne Lenglen and Helen Wills Moody might have had longer streaks in the first half of the century, but the records from that period are incomplete, said WTA spokeswoman Peggy Gossett.

Navratilova had come close to the record once before, reaching 54 before losing 7-6, 3-6, 6-4 to Czechoslovakia's Hana Mandlikova on Jan. 14 in the final of the Virginia Slims of California in Oakland. She took a month off before starting the current streak Feb. 19 with a 6-3, 6-2 thrashing of Nancy Yeargin in the U.S. Indoors Championships at Livingston, N.J.

The Czechoslovakia-born naturalized American citizen has won six consecutive Grand Slam titles and 246 of her last 241 matches. Also, she and Pam Shriver have teamed to win 70 straight doubles matches, by far the longest doubles streak in modern history.
