Gramm, Doggett ready for debate

Phil Gramm

BEAUMONT (AP) — Democrat Lloyd Doggett will try to avoid talking about his record when he squares off against Republican Phil Gramm in a debate Friday night, Gramm predicts.

"He's going to try to create a lot of issues that don't make any sense," the College Station congressman said Wednesday on a campaign swing through Beaumont.

The two are scheduled to meet for the first of two televised debates in College Station Friday night.

Gramm and Doggett, a state senator from Austin, crossed paths Wednesday in San Antonio, Houston and Beaumont.

Doggett, who has likened the election to the Old Testament battle between David and Goliath, revealed the third of his "smooth stones," charging that Gramm supports the "powerful and privileged."

The race is a "contest between a Texas senator with a record of putting the Davids of Texas first, of fighting for the ordinary, hard-working, taxpaying families of this state, and a politician with a record of putting the Goliaths first, fighting for the powerful and privileged."

Howard Co. pioneer dies

Leora Roberts Flanagan, 94, daughter of the first permanent settlers of Howard County, died at a local hospital early this morning following a lengthy illness.

LEORA ROBERTS FLANAGAN

Services are at 4 p.m. Friday at Nalley-Pickle and Welch Rosewood Chapel with Dr. Kenneth Patrick, pastor of First Baptist Church, officiating. Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park.

Mrs. Flanagan was the daughter of W.T. "Uncle Bud" Roberts and Mary Thompson Roberts. Mrs. Flanagan was the last surviving child of seven born to the ranching pioneers.

She had been living on the ranch her father had established more than a century ago.

The Roberts family came from Williamson County in the late 1870s. They first ranched in Brownwood, but weather and rustlers wiped them out. Roberts headed northwest and "loose-herded" on free grass in the Moss Springs area around 1877.

Later, he and his wife built a small frame house with lumber brought from Brownwood. They made one mistake, that of failing to file on the section where a spring was located. Two Mitchell County ranchers, Will Wardell and Frank Biler, filed on the land.

The couple moved a mile up the dry creek bed and dug their first well. He became a Hereford rancher. Roberts remained there until his death on July 16, 1940.

As a child, Leora dipped buckets of water from the well and carried them to the house. Later, a windmill was installed and an adjacent tank was a mecca for wild horses and domestic livestock. Leora occasionally climbed up the mill tower for safety from the horses. Roberts was said to have built the county's first wire fence to keep wild animals out of his land.

Mrs. Flanagan married Emmett W. "Bud" Flanagan Dec. 15, 1931, in Carlsbad, N.M. He was 52 at the time and she was 40. They took over a part of her parents 12 section ranch. They lived for the next

CCC troops left New Deal legacy on Scenic Mountain

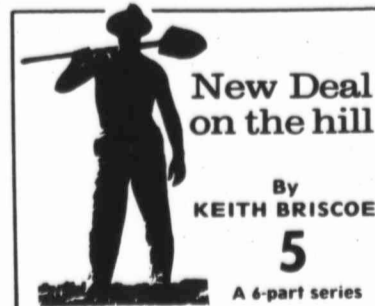

The Civilian Conservation Corps had a simple motto: "Build something out of nothing."

Few places assaulted by these "economic storm troops" during the Depression could challenge the motto as well as Big Spring's Scenic Mountain, an overgrown, ragged butte unconquered by civilization.

CCC Co. 1857, recently organized from mostly new recruits of welfare kids, came to Scenic Mountain on July 26, 1934, to storm the heights and build a giant park, making the desert bloom. It was not an easy job.

"When I first came here, I didn't see how they could make anything out of this place," said former CCC trooper Earl Jenkins of Big Spring, now 68.

city was sent heavenward by a sandstorm clocked at 52 mph. Two days later, the campground was swamped by a 4-inch rain. Before a state park could be built, the Cs would need housing of sterner stuff.

Work on the mess hall for Camp SP-45-T had begun on July 19. After the storm, barracks and other buildings for the company were hurried along.

Capt. Tom Martin of Fort Sam

Houston hired 40 carpenters and 15 helpers to fashion $7,500 worth of lumber from Rockwell Bros. into eight 120-by-20 foot buildings and five smaller structures.

Located on a small bluff on the mountain's southern slope, the camp was completed in three weeks. The mess hall was finished first, followed by six barracks, a latrine and shower house, a headquarters and recreation hall, an infirmary, an equipment warehouse and motor pool. Quarters for the Army officers and National Park staff came later.

Within one week after they moved in, the Cs had planted grass, flower beds and shrubbery around their new home.

"Give us a couple of weeks," commanding officer H.J. Hubbard said, "and we'll have the place looking pretty good."

The camp was run like a military post, and the day's schedule was highly regimented: reveille, 6 a.m.; breakfast, 6:20 a.m.; sick call, 7 a.m.; assembly and inspection, 7:15 a.m.; work, 7:30 a.m.; lunch, noon; mail call, 4:30 p.m.; dinner, 5 p.m.; taps, 10 p.m.

A CCC "enrollee," who signed up for six-month hitches, was paid $30 a month to work eight hours five days a week; but the Army sent $22.50 of his paycheck home to his family.

A trooper could spend his pocket money in the camp canteen on cigarettes, cokes and candy. On his weekend pass, he could watch a movie on a special 15-cent CCC theater ticket. And he might have enough change to buy a couple of beers.

But CCC camp was not boot camp. Life in fatigues for the boys of Co. 1857 was far from drab.

Weather

Clouds blanket Texas

By The Associated Press
Light rain and scattered showers blanketed most of the Texas Panhandle today while a low pressure system over eastern New Mexico and Colorado moved south into western portions of the Lone Star state.

Cloudy skies were the rule across the state but clear conditions were prevalent in the coastal bend and portions of southern Texas.

The cold front that passed through Texas Wednesday left a wave of cool air hanging over most of the state. The trough became almost stationary over the southern top of the state from near Corpus Christi to south of Del Rio.

Winds over the eastern half of Texas were northerly at 5 to 10 miles an hour. In West Texas, winds were southerly at 5 to 10 miles per hour.

Temperatures at 4 a.m. hovered in the 70s south of the cold front, but over the remainder of the state, readings were cooler, mostly in the 40s and 50s. The low extreme was 41 degrees at Amarillo and the high was 76 at Brownsville.

The forecast called for mostly cloudy skies and cooler readings statewide with scattered showers and thunderstorms over northwest sections of Texas.

Gale warnings were posted from Cape Canaveral to Key West today as tropical storm Isidore threatened the Florida coast between Miami and West Palm Beach with rains up to 10 inches, sustained 50 mph winds and above-normal waves.

Also, rain was scattered over the upper and middle Mississippi Valley and the Plains, while light snow lingered over parts of Wyoming and Montana, where 4 inches had settled by early today at Stanford, Mont., and 3 inches at Great Falls and Butte, Mont.

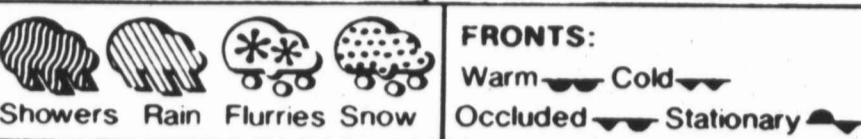

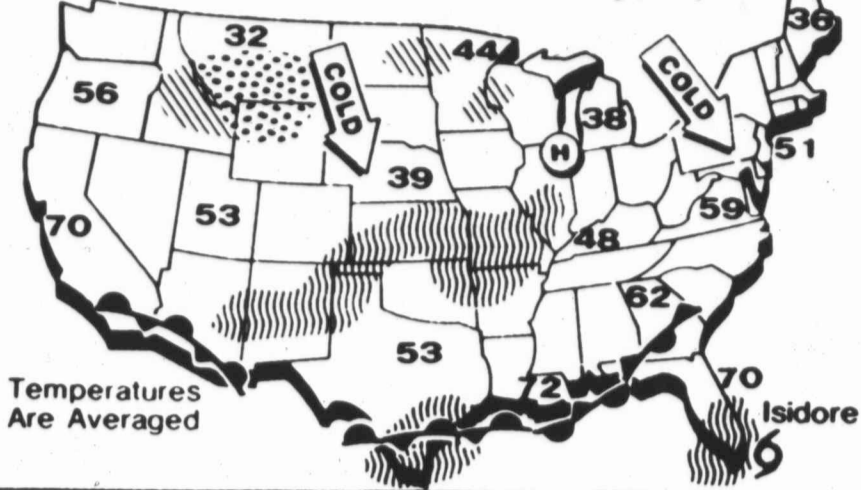

Unseasonably cold air prevailed from the Rockies to the Northeast with the mercury expected to dip below freezing, perhaps ending one of the worse fall fever seasons in years.

A flash flood watch was in effect today for south and southwest regions of West Texas.

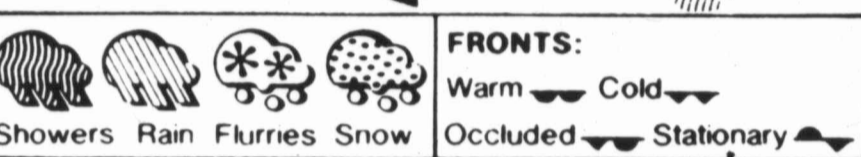

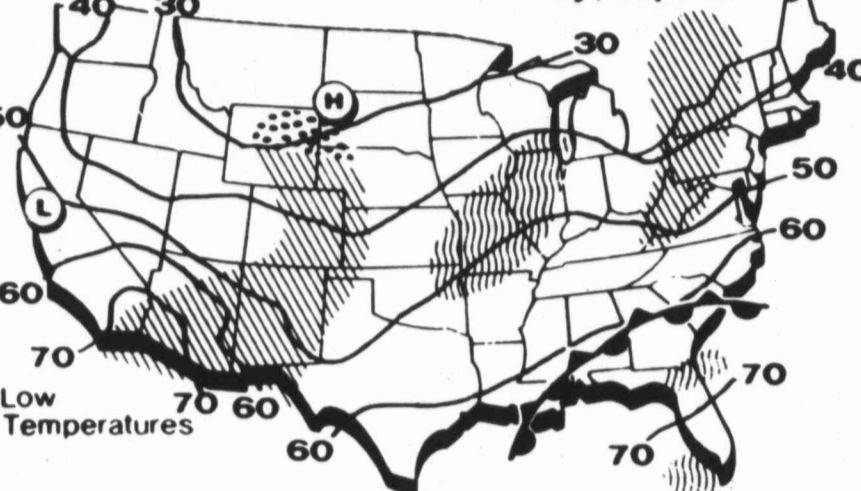

Nearly 3 inches of rain has fallen on west central Texas, delighting area farmers and ranchers saddled with a 13-month drought.

West Texas - Scattered showers ending and a little warmer Saturday afternoon. Becoming partly cloudy Sunday and Monday with no important temperature changes. Panhandle Highs upper 60s to low 70s and lows mid 40s. South Plains high mid to upper 70s and lows upper 40s. Permian Basin and Concho Valley high around 80 and lows low to mid 50s. Far west high low 80s to mid 80s and lows mid 50s. Big Bend high mid 80s to near 90 and lows lower 60s, about 10 degrees cooler mountain sections.

Man not injured in mishap

Heavy rain Tuesday night caused a 36-year-old serviceman stationed in New Mexico to lose control of his car, which plunged into a flooded bar ditch along Highway 87 north of Big Spring.

William Duda, stationed at Cannon Air Force Base in New Mexico, was uninjured in the one-car accident that occurred about 5 p.m. Tuesday about 13 miles north of Big Spring, according to a Department of Public Safety report.

According to the DPS report, Duda's 1980 gray Buick LeSabre hydroplaned on the wet road and slid into the median bar ditch and drainage culvert.

His car was nearly submerged and Duda had to climb on top of the car to avoid flooding, the report stated. Heavy rain caused all drainage ditches along the road to overflow, according to the DPS report.

41 years on the ranch. Flanagan died April 20, 1973.

In 1977 Mrs. Flanagan received the Family Heritage Award from the state for owning land in the same family continuously for 100 years.

She was a longtime contributor to the Heritage Museum and a lifelong member of the Midway Baptist Church.

Survivors include two nieces, Brookie Martin and Vera Grafa, both of Big Spring; three nephews, Wade Choate and Elmo Martin, both of Big Spring, and Charles Marchbanks, Cresson; a stepdaughter, Jay Flanagan of Pampa; several step-grandchildren, E.W. Flanagan II, Pat Nancy, Ingrid Clark, Linda McBride, Dr. Jo Ellen Rice, Johnny Stone and Judith Head-Jones.

The family suggests memorials be made to the Heritage Museum. The family will be at Mr. and Mrs. Otis Grafa's home on Moss Lake Road.

Rate

the country have followed suit so far.

The prime rate historically was what banks gave to their most credit-worthy customers for short term business loans. In fact, many such loans are made below prime and others above.

A growing number of banking organizations have taken to calling it their "reference" rate, suggesting it is an interest-rate level around which other rates — higher and lower — are computed.

The prime rate in the rest of the banking industry has prevailed at 13 percent since June; in the late winter and spring it rose in four half-point increments to 13 percent from 11 percent from the beginning of the year, reflecting increases in other short-term rates. But recently such rates have declined, as the Federal Reserve has relieved some pressure on bank reserves.

The federal funds rate — a negotiated level of interest on short-term borrowing and lending of reserves between banks — has fallen as low as 9 percent this week from a near-12 percent level all summer.

However, except for Morgan and Wells Fargo and some regional banks, most banks have been reluctant to lower their prime lending rates — in part to maximize earnings in the third fiscal quarter when they will face stiffer reporting requirements on their earnings reports dealing with problem loans to developing countries.

Tropical storm Isidore makes way to Florida

MIAMI (AP) — Tropical storm Isidore headed toward the southeast Florida coast early today with heavy rains and winds of near 50 mph, bringing with it a threat of flooding and a warning for residents to be ready for quick action.

Gale warnings were in effect from Cape Canaveral on the state's central east coast to Key West in the south.

The storm was about 40 miles east of Ft. Lauderdale and moving toward the west-northwest at about 10 mph at 6 a.m. today, according to a National Weather Service bulletin. The storm's center was located near latitude 26.0 north and longitude 79.5 west, the bulletin said.

"We're very thankful tonight that we continue to see this westward motion," Dr. Neil Frank, head of the National Hurricane Center, said Wednesday. "That means that the probability of some strengthening is reduced and if we continue to push this storm west tonight across the coastline, then that will be very good news for us."

Meanwhile, Hortense, a tropical storm that had been a hurricane before it lost strength, was inching its way back to hurricane strength about 200 miles east of Bermuda, the weather service said.

Rainfall total tops for year

Rainfall in Howard County slackened off considerably from Monday's level, which was the highest total for any month this year, according to rainfall records at the U.S. Big Spring Field Station.

According to Nell Rogers, an employee at the field station, the county officially received .02 inches of rain Tuesday. Added to Monday's 2.76-inch downpour, September's official precipitation total is 2.79 inches.

The week's rains would lift the total for the year to 6.79 inches, down considerably from the average of 15 inches at this time, Ms. Rogers said.

"I guess most of the county received about three inches," said

Knott farmer Larry Shaw. Shaw said he received about two inches of rain Monday, and an additional inch Tuesday. "We haven't had enough to amount to anything since then," he said.

Shaw said his rainfall gauge on land in East Knott showed the area received a total of 3.9 inches of rain for the two days. "I've heard rumors of some spots getting 4½ or five inches," he said.

Big Spring, however, received virtually no rain since 8 a.m. Tuesday. According to Big Spring resident "Red" Thomas, his rainfall gauge at his home on Fifteenth showed no measurable amount of rain since 8 a.m. Tuesday.

Steer Band selling pizza kits

The Big Spring Steer Band is selling pizza kits. Letters advancing the kits were mailed earlier this week and band members will begin calling to take orders over the weekend.

The kit contains ingredients for six large pizzas. It sells for $14.95.

Mexican food kits will also be sold for the same price. Those not contacted by students who wish to order either kit may call 267-7463 or 267-7461, ext. 170, by noon Monday.

Official defends paddling

MESQUITE (AP) — The school superintendent here says paddling of 30 pupils for not bringing watercolors to art class was just part of keeping "order."

"We're going to keep a proper environment in this district for learning," said Ralph Poteet. "Many applicants tell us they come to the Mesquite schools because they know we keep order. It certainly was not excessive."

Several parents say they are upset about the spankings at Sam Rutherford Elementary School. A first-year teacher gave a swat apiece to 30 students in grades 3-6 on Monday.

"I can't believe kids got a paddling over watercolors," Katy Giddings, who has a fifth-grade daughter, told the Dallas Morning News. "Tomorrow they could whip them for not having a pencil."

Poteet said the children had been reminded many times to bring watercolors. But the News said some parents who called the newspaper to complain about incident, said they didn't know their children needed the paints.

"I would have like to have known that not having watercolors was that serious a situation," said Theresa Nichols, who has a fourth-grade daughter.

For the record

The Herald incorrectly reported the amount of raise county employees will receive in its story on the new adopted county budget.

Employees will receive a $50-a-month raise, not a $100-a-month raise as reported.

Prison population rocketing

DALLAS (AP) — The Texas prison population could hit 60,000 in the next decade despite attempts to ease overcrowding, the chairman of the corrections board said.

The convict population boom could cost the state "billions of dollars," said Robert Gunn, Texas Board of Corrections chairman.

The Dallas Morning News reported today that Gunn said the state must end its "throw-away-the-key" approach.

Police investigating fire

MANILA, Philippines — Police today were investigating a fire that gutted the administration building of the University of the Philippines, destroying the president's office.

Local news reports quoted President Edgardo Angara as saying the fire destroyed irreplaceable pieces in the university art collection as well as Angara's notes and other records and photos.

The university has been troubled by student protests in recent weeks. About 200 students gathered Monday near the administration building to protest tuition increases and low salaries of personnel.

Protests cut maneuvers

FRANKFURT, West Germany — Police fired tear gas to disperse 200 demonstrators who cut through the fence of a munitions depot and made close to 100 arrests nationwide as violent protests continued to plague NATO's fall maneuvers.

Government and military officials say the protests have included an increasingly violent series of attacks on soldiers, as well as costly vandalism and acts of sabotage.

On Wednesday, hundreds of demonstrators tried to break into munitions depots, damage military equipment and blockade bases to protest the Autumn Forge exercises, which involve about 250,000 troops from seven NATO countries.

Rioters march on palace

MANILA, Philippines — Hundreds of riot police fired water cannon and tear gas at a crowd of 3,000 demonstrators preparing to march on President Ferdinand E. Marcos' palace today.

At least eight people, including six policemen, were taken to a nearby hospital with apparent shrapnel wounds in the arms and legs from homemade bombs.

Radio reports said at least one person, a civilian, was hit by a bullet as police marched toward the crowd, firing their guns in the air.

Morocco, Libya sign pact

FEZ, Morocco — Morocco and Libya have signed an agreement doing away with visas for travel between the two North African nations.

The accord, signed Wednesday and effective in two weeks, will permit citizens of either country to enter the other's territory for work or tourism without a visa, although officials said some type of documentation still would be required.

The two nations recently concluded a treaty of union, linking them socially, economically and in matters of security.

Matador dies after injury

CORDBA, Spain — A leading Spanish matador was gored during a bullfight — the last one on his schedule this season — and died on the way to a hospital.

Francisco Rivera, 37, was gored Wednesday during his second fight of the day in the village of Pozoblanco and died en route to a hospital in Cordoba.

Medical authorities said he suffered three wounds, including a six-inch gash in the right thigh near the groin.

Rivera became a full-fledged matador in Barcelona in 1966. He and his wife had a child a few months ago.

OFFICES BOMBED — Police look at the damage caused by a bomb at the Union Carbide offices in Tarrytown, N.Y. Wednesday night, which caused extensive damage but no injuries.

Blasted bomb

Terrorists claim bombing of Union Carbide lab

TARRYTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — An explosion that shattered 100 windows at a research laboratory has been claimed by an anti-apartheid terrorist group linked to 12 other bombings in the past 22 months, including a blast at a South African consulate just 21 hours earlier.

The 25 to 50 pounds of dynamite detonated outside Union Carbide's four-story Silicones Building research lab Wednesday night punched a 20-by-20 foot in an exterior wall, but caused no injuries, officials said.

The United Freedom Front claimed responsibility for the blast in calls to police and two newspapers, said Greenburgh police Sgt. Robert Rohs.

The FBI earlier had linked the group to the bombing of the South African Consulate on Park Avenue in New York City early Wednesday morning.

The organization is suspected in 12 bombings over the past 22 months in the New York metropolitan area and Washington, D.C., including a November 1983 bomb explosion in the U.S. Capitol, authorities said.

The latest bombing occurred at Union Carbide's campus-like laboratory for research in chemistry and plastics in Tarrytown, 20 miles north of New York City, a spokesman said.

An anonymous caller phoned a bomb threat to police around 8:50 p.m., said Rohs. Warnings were also received by the New York Daily News and Gannett Westchester Rockland Newspapers, he said.

"They said it was the United Freedom Front," Rohs said of the call to police. "The caller said, 'There was a bomb set to go off at 9:10 p.m., 100 pounds of dynamite.'"

As Rohs was discussing the call with The Associated Press around 9:30 p.m., he paused briefly, then said, "We just heard a rumble ... it just went off."

"All we know now is that the bomb was not inside the building, but was placed on the ground alongside it in the back," Union Carbide spokesman Ed Van Den Ameele said today from corporate headquarters in Danbury, Conn. "Police tell us it looked like anywhere from 25 to 50 pounds of dynamite."

FBI agents and New York City bomb squad inspectors remained on the scene today, examining the damage and looking for clues, authorities said.

The blast knocked out 100 windows and blew a 20-by-20 foot hole in the wall, Van Den Ameele said. The handful of workers inside were safely evacuated before the explosion, he said.

A switchboard operator at Gannett Westchester Rockland Newspapers took a call at about 8:40 p.m. from a man claiming responsibility for the blast for the United Freedom Front. The Daily News, which received a similar call, said the man also said, "Down with apartheid. Down with U.S. imperialism."

Union Carbide spokesman Tom Failla said the industrial conglomerate has operated in South Africa since 1929 and owns or has a share in five South African companies. Those firms mine, process and sell vanadium and vanadium oxides, chrome alloys, and graphite electrodes, Failla said.

Union Carbide has signed the Sullivan Principles, a voluntary agreement which commits many U.S. corporations to treating their black employees in South Africa on a par with whites, Failla said.

Government lifts housing ban

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — The white-minority government has abandoned a prohibition against blacks living permanently in Cape Province, saying foreign countries were "sensitive" about mass removals of squatters.

The government said Wednesday it also had lifted its restrictions on a prominent anti-apartheid activist and freed six dissidents who have been under detention since organizing election boycotts last month.

The actions came at a time when the government was under sharp criticism from both the South African and British press for demanding that the British consulate in Durban evict six boycott leaders who have taken refuge there. When the consulate refused, South Africa reneged on a promise made to a British court to return four businessmen to Britain for trial on arms smuggling charges. President P.W. Botha, who made a rare European tour last summer and was received by several heads of state who had snubbed him previously, made a pointed reference to international opinion Tuesday night in explaining to the Cape Province branch of his National Party the decision to let blacks live there permanently.

Man pleased with ruling

BUFFALO, N.Y. — A man fined $50 a day until he mows his yard says he's very pleased at a ruling that he need not pay the penalty or clip his lawn until his appeal is heard.

Stephen Kenney was convicted last week of violating codes in suburban Kenmore by growing wildflowers in his front yard and refusing to cut it.

Erie County Judge Penny Wolfgang, saying Kenney's "was not a frivolous appeal," ruled Wednesday he could leave the yard alone while the appeal, expected to take about six weeks, runs its course.

Site open for memorial

SAN YSIDRO, Calif. — The McDonald's restaurant where 21 people were killed by a gunman was razed with little fanfare, leaving the site clear for a possible memorial for the victims.

Construction workers Wednesday demolished the restaurant where James Oliver Huberty went on his rampage July 18 which also left 19 people wounded until he was slain by a police bullet. There were few onlookers to the early-morning razing.

City officials have not decided what will become of the land, but residents held a series of demonstrations asking that it be used for a memorial.

Inmate may face charges

VACAVILLE, Calif. — A prison inmate could face assault charges for dousing convicted mass murderer Charles Manson with paint thinner and setting him afire, officials say.

Manson, convicted in 1971 of masterminding the murders of actress Sharon Tate and eight others, was hospitalized in serious but stable condition Wednesday, said officials at the California Medical Facility.

No decision had been made on whether to prosecute Jan Holmstrom, 36, accused of attacking Manson on Tuesday, but a charge probably would be an "assault-type charge," with attempted murder a possibility, said Mike Smith, chief deputy district attorney for Solano County.

Woman held in bank heist

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — A woman accused of taking part in a $2.7 million bank heist will remain under $400,000 bond while she awaits an Oct. 5 arraignment.

U.S. Magistrate Philip Pro on Wednesday refused to raise the bond for Janice Krebs, 28, after hearing her attorney say she has no access to $1 million still missing from the April 6 robbery.

The former vault manager for Nevada National Bank is accused of stealing the money and fleeing to Paraguay with her lover, who is jailed there and awaiting extradition.

Mine foremen okay strike

LONDON (AP) — Britain's domestic news agency reported today that mine foremen have voted to authorize a strike that would shut down the one-third of the nation's coal mines not already idled by a six-month-old miners' walkout.

Press Association, citing unofficial reports, said 80 percent of the foremen in Scotland and Nottinghamshire voted for a strike, while the vote in the traditionally moderate Midlands was nearly as overwhelming.

Official results in the voting, which ended Wednesday, are due Friday. Two-thirds of the 17,000 foremen must agree for a strike to be authorized. The mines cannot legally operate without the foremen on duty to supervise health and safety.

"Things are certainly moving in our direction," declared Arthur Scargill, leader of the 183,000-strong National Union of Mineworkers. He called his union out on strike without a membership vote on March 12.

Low pay 'proof' is full of holes

Ask the average worker if he's underpaid and if he deserves a raise and the odds are you'll get a "yes" to both questions. It's not a matter of greed, but of human nature. Nobody appreciates us more than ourselves.

For many years, however, federal employees have had an obsession about being underpaid and they claim to have proof in an annual survey comparing private and federal white-collar pay. That survey this year found an 18.28 percent "pay gap," with federal workers on the losing side.

There are a lot of problems with that survey, not the least of them being that it is conducted by federal workers themselves. That in-house bias aside, the survey is decidedly skewed.

Its pay sampling does not include employees of state and local government, a group that would appear most similar in makeup; it does not include employees of firms with fewer than 250 employees, the kind of small businesses that account for an estimated 90 percent of all private-sector workers, and it does not include employees of non-profit organizations.

It does include workers in larger businesses and industries, that part of the economy that traditionally pays the highest wages and salaries. In fact, one-third of sampled private-sector employees work for firms employing more than 2,500 people.

The president's "Pay Agent," a group of advisers on pay for federal white-collar workers, says the 18.28 percent pay gap is unrealistic at best.

In essence, the group wants the survey system restructured and the bias toward high-pay private-sector jobs removed.

When that is done, and the survey becomes a credible straightforward comparison, the public will be sympathetic toward reasonable raises for federal workers. As things stand now, the cynicism that greets the annual survey is entirely warranted.

The abortion fence

Most Americans no doubt stop listening when abortion is debated. The lines are fixed, the arguments familiar. But when the University of Notre Dame sponsored a speech on the subject by New York Gov. Mario Cuomo — practicing Catholic, critic of the church's official position, prospective presidential candidate — it demanded attention.

In political terms, Cuomo's case may have succeeded, thanks to its shrewd invocations of individual autonomy, religious liberty and separation of church and state. In intellectual and moral terms, it failed. The same arguments could have been used just as well for purposes he would despise.

Cuomo's case goes as follows: Catholics who agree with their church's doctrine on abortion have no right to impose that belief on others. The American bishops shouldn't press for a ban on abortions because many people oppose it and some would defy it. Because abortions are legal, the government ought to pay for those of poor women.

Hiding this issue behind the skirts of religious freedom mocks its seriousness. Opposition to legal abortion, as Cuomo knows, is not confined to Catholics or Christians or even the religious. The virgin birth is a religious question. Abortion is a moral one.

Nor does it make sense to say that an abortion wrongly takes a life and that it should be allowed — any more than it would make sense to say that of ordinary murder. If a fetus represents a human life, its disposition cannot be a strictly private matter.

Cuomo's reply is that, even if abortion is not defensible, it is inevitable. There is no consensus for the American bishops' view that abortion should be illegal. Thus, a legal ban "is not a plausible possibility and even if it could be obtained, it wouldn't work." The result would be "Prohibition revisited."

If the problem is a lack of consensus, then the duty of a politician who regards abortion as wrong is not to criticize efforts to achieve a consensus, but to join them. Cuomo weeps crocodile tears over the absence of a consensus against abortion, then strives to block its formation.

Cuomo also thinks the government is obligated to pay for poor women's abortions. Doing otherwise, he says, penalizes "only the already disadvantaged" and doesn't "assure that the disadvantaged wouldn't have them." Well, yes — and the government's failure to provide free liquor hurts only the poor, without keeping them sober.

But granting a right doesn't obligate the government to finance its exercise. If it did, the First Amendment would entitle newspapers to government subsidies.

The defects in Cuomo's case can be seen better if it is applied to a different situation. Say it is 1960 and the question is whether to guarantee legal equality to black Americans. What would his arguments yield? Something like this:

The issue of whether blacks are fully human is a religious one. That's why so many churches, not to mention Jewish groups, fervently argue the affirmative. But why should they have the right to force that belief on others who think blacks are subhuman?

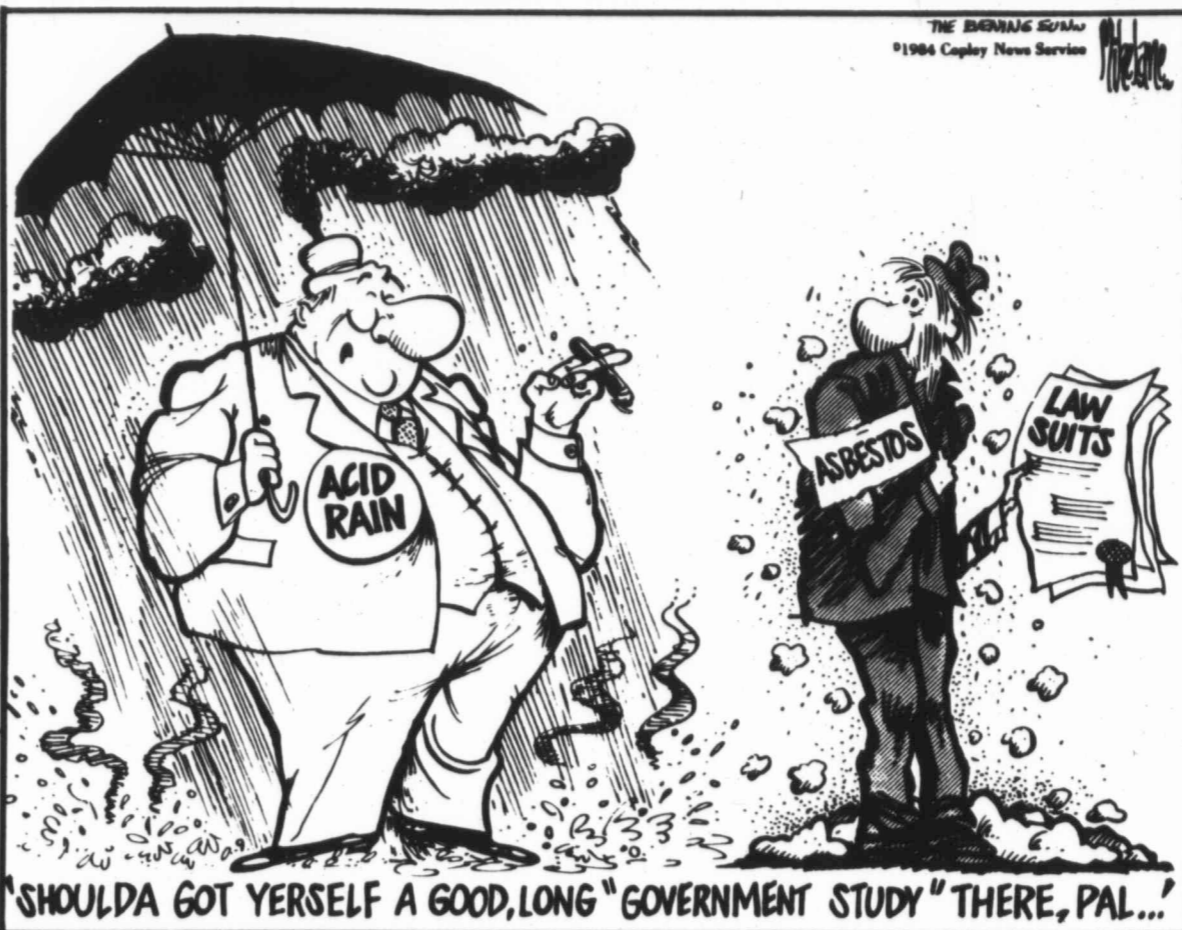

At any rate, even if I think blacks should be granted equality, there is no consensus behind that opinion. Even if it were politically possible, many Americans would continue to discriminate, in defiance of the law.

Because we allow discrimination, taxpayers ought to help pay for it. If a poor white family doesn't like the black family next door, the government should help the whites move. The rich can afford to leave, so why shouldn't the poor have the same option?

All of this, Cuomo knows, would be laughable tripe. On matters of such fundamental moral content, the government can't be neutral. If it refuses to proclaim the rights of blacks, it denies them. If it declines to affirm the rights of unborn children, it rejects them.

Cuomo would like to believe there is something new to be said on the old and, to many, tiresome subject to abortion, that he can establish a position between the two "extremes." But there is no middle ground. Either position — that abortion is ineradicably wrong; that abortion is a matter of individual freedom — may be right. Both sides can't be.

Trade official offers parting shots

WASHINGTON — Taking the poet's advice, departing Federal Trade Commissioner Michael Pertschuk has made it clear he won't "go gentle into that good night," but will "rage, rage against the dying of the light" he has held aloft to protect consumers for the past seven years.

His 300-page critique of the agency's performance has already been summarized in The New York Times, drawing an indignant rebuttal from the FTC's conservative chairman, James Miller III.

Miller derided Pertschuk's blistering report, writing: "While Commissioner Pertschuk's rhetoric displays a certain energy, his report breaks no new ground. It is a rehash of his dissents and a stringing together of his various positions, bracketed in sarcasm." What Miller hasn't seen yet is Pertschuk's brief appendix to his report. This rubs salt into what Pertschuk feels are the commission's self-inflicted wounds under Miller's leadership. My associate Tony Capaccio has obtained a copy.

The appendix is titled, "A Reader's Guide to Claims About the Wonder of Reagan's FTC." Pertschuk charges that the FTC's conservative leadership has habitually tried to make "a silk purse out of a sow's ear" and "has been having fun with numbers and history." He explains: "And by fun, I mean indecent liberties with the historical record and with facts of the present."

Pertschuk writes: "Every government agency puffs up its own record of achievement. We certainly did when we were in charge." But, he complains, "there is a point at which puffery passes beyond the bounds of fair characterization into cynical press agency."

What particularly riles Pertschuk is the way he says Miller's crew takes credit for actions they actually delayed or opposed. For instance, last May, Carol Crawford, director of the commission's Bureau of Consumer Protection, told the House committee, on aging that the FTC's new rule designed to give protection from shady undertakers "has great impact on older Americans." She neglected to mention that Miller had opposed the rule, calling it "a deceit upon American consumers."

Crawford also boasted that the FTC had initiated rules to lower the price of eyeglasses. But Pertschuk notes in his appendix:

"Convenient forgettery precluded her from mentioning that she had just recommended that a key provision — that eye-care providers routinely turn over a copy of eye prescriptions to consumers — be eliminated."

In what Pertschuk calls "the most baldfaced denial of responsibility," Miller told Congress the FTC hadn't buried a rule to monitor hard-sell techniques by hearing-aid salesmen. "The commission has not buried the rule," he testified. "The votes for the rule simply did not exist."

Pertschuk writes: "The translation of this sophistry is: 'Neither I, Miller nor my two colleagues appointed by President Reagan would vote for the rule.'"

Regarding a commission press release last March claiming that the FTC acted on 98 "consumer protection matters" in 1983, Pertschuk writes:

"Wow! It sure sounds like the commission had been suing deceptive miscreants right and left. Right? Wrong."

He notes that 51 of the actions were votes "to delay or kill actions or to relax and weaken prior orders restraining manufacturers from unfair or deceptive practices."

Jack Anderson's investigative report from Washington is distributed by United Feature Syndicate.

Billy Graham

World spins toward chaos

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Do you think the end of the world is going to come in the near future? It seems like things are so bad in the world that I wonder if the end is near. — J.S.

DEAR J.S.: Yes, our world seems like it is inevitably heading toward greater chaos — both politically and spiritually. Jesus spoke of the end of the present age, saying there would come a time when "Men will faint from terror, apprehensive of what is coming on the world" (Luke 21:26). Certainly that would seem to be true of our own age. The Bible indicates many other signs which will be evident just before Christ returns to establish His Kingdom, and many of these are visible today.

At the same time, the world is ultimately in God's hands and He alone knows when human history will end. Jesus said, "No one knows about that day or hour, not even the angels in heaven, nor the Son, but only the Father" (Matthews 24:36). This should keep us from fruitless speculation — but at the same time it should warn us about the seriousness of life right now. It is easy for us to assume life will keep going on just as it has for generations.

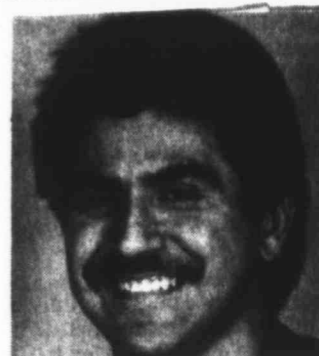

But some day Christ will return in glory — and when He does, it will be too late for us to repent and turn to Him. Furthermore, even if the end of the world is a thousand years away, each one of us will die some day and go into eternity to face God.

Do you know for sure that you belong to Christ, and that you will go to be with Him in Heaven, whatever the future holds? You can know you are forgiven and saved, if you will turn to Christ and commit yourself to Him as your Savior and Lord. Christ alone is our hope, for "Salvation is found in no one else, for there is no other name under heaven given to men by which we must be saved" (Acts 4:12). Trust Christ, and you can face the future with joy and peace in your heart.

Por LUIS RIOS ESCRITOR

La ultima vez que escribe este articulo en espanol (que fue el trece de Septiembre) les dije que seria la ultima vez que lo podia hacer.

Pero el jefe aqui, el Sr. Juan Rice, me dio permiso escribirlo cada jueves para siempre. No se todavia que sera bueno discutir en un articulo de fondo como este.

Y por esa razon me gustaria que Uds. me dejen saber un poco de sus posiciones y pensamientos en varios asuntos economicos, sociales o de lo que sea.

Uno de mexicano sabe que hay muchas y tambien varias cosas que la prensa de Big Spring o cualquiera prensa americana no explica muy bien. Muchas veces estas cosas son asuntos que le pertenecen mas a los mexicanos.

Yo de reportero y editor, ha notado que las nuevas nomas presentan informacion pero no las discuten. De las nuevas que recibimos cada dia nomas utilizamos, diga de 10 a 15 por ciento.

Otras prensas pueden escribir mas que la de Big Spring. Pero ellas tambien omitan un gran tanto por ciento de los articulos que reciben cada dia.

Me pongo a pensar, "Que representan las nuevas?" Nomias porque una prensa no incluye un articulo en sus paginas, uno no puede decir que no son nuevas.

Y uno que lea la prensa o cualquier periodico, debe de ponerse a pensar que fue que los editores y reporteros omitieron.

Yo de reportero no se que esta pasando en todo de Big Spring o el oeste de Texas. Yo y mis editores mas o menos sabemos que son las nuevas nacionales y del estado, pero no podemos decir que sabemos todas las cosas de mas importancia a la gente local.

Uds. no me conocen. Pero con escribir este articulo, asi me gustaria que me conocieran. Es verdad que va haber varios asuntos y posiciones que no vamos estar de acuerdo. Pero mas importante, yo voy ha expresar mis pensamientos y tambien quiero oír los de Uds.

Yo se, y Uds. tambien, que los mexicanos tienen diferentes pensamientos y opiniones de la mayoria de los americanos. No es un pecado o crimen pensar asi.

No tengo que decirles que ha diferencias entre los mexicanos, americanos y negros. Y por eso, nuestros pensamientos son diferentes.

En este articulo semanal me gustaria discutir cuestiones politicas, economicas, y sociales; y como estas cuestiones afectan a los mexicanos generalmente. Tambien me gustaria oír de nuevas del barrio y cosas que ocurren entre la comunidad mexicana.

En concluir, les quiero decir que me da mucho gusto poder escribir este articulo de fondo en espanol; y me diera mas gusto si Uds. tambien les parecia.

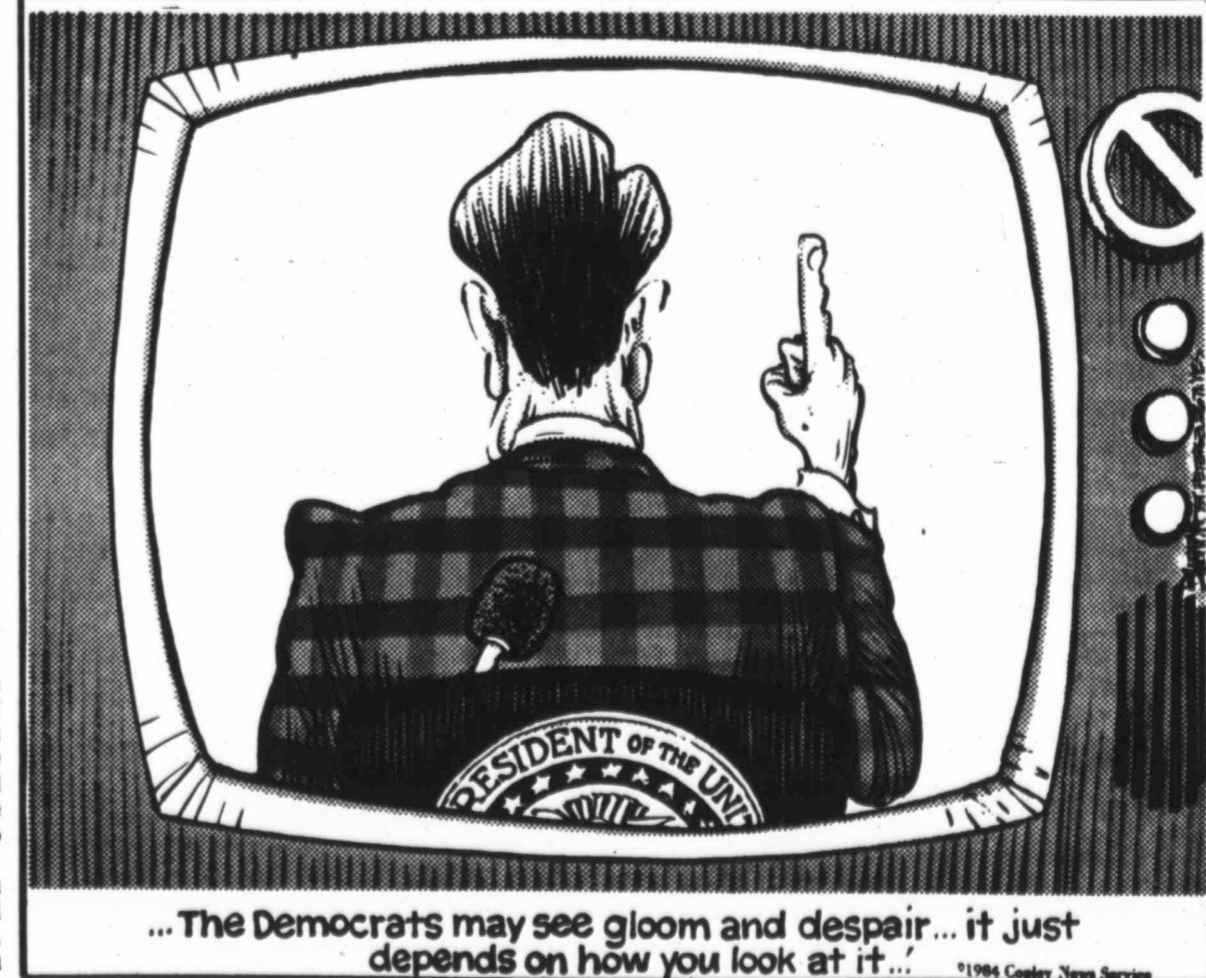

Hasta luego ...

and stunt contests and violin and piano competitions. Camp musicians entertained the townfolk, and Big Spring bands and choirs serenaded the troops.

The first camp dance was held April 27, 1935 — the Walter Deats Orchestra performing, no liquor allowed.

Christian services, conducted by local ministers, were held at the camp every Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. Jewish troops were shuttled to Temple Israel in town.

Most of the company's men took vocational classes in the "rec hall" or went to night school at Big Spring High School. Illiterates were taught to read and write. Literates were taught to read a blueprint.

On March 23, 1935, the Foresters, the camp's basketball team centered by "Dribble" Diddle Young, beat Lufkin 24-19 to win the state CCC championship tournament in Temple. The baseball team, which went undefeated, opened play three weeks later.

Even work sometimes held unexpected adventure. When the company arrived at the mountain, a small party of curious Cs discovered a cave opening near the mountain top.

Enchanted by local legends of a great cavern inside the mountain, Superintendent Thompson Richardson picked some skinny troopers, including Jenkins, and had them tunnel at the bottom of the 40-foot shaft. The spelunking Cs chiseled two tunnels and discovered three "rooms." But no great cavern.

"Mooseface" Mitchell gained fame in November 1934 when he unearthed an Indian burial ground while working on the amphitheater. A state archeologist was summoned, and he used a squad of Cs to excavate the site. The bones and artifacts were crated and sent to Austin.

The long shadow About 400 men passed through Co. 1857 while it was stationed in Big Spring. Most of them were from other parts of the state and country. Some of them were from Howard County. Most of them fought in World War II. Some of them died far from Scenic Mountain.

Ralph Proctor, 70, of Luther, who joined the company in October 1934, said he put on weight, grew some muscles and gained respect for his comrades-in-shovels as they cut the scenic drive on the mountain's northern rim.

A successful farmer, Proctor is a former Howard County commissioner.

W.E. "Hack" Miller, 70, of Big Spring, who was transferred to Co. 1857 from Dublin in September 1934, said he joined the CCC because his widowed mother couldn't afford school supplies for him.

"That's why I think (Franklin) Roosevelt was such a great man," said Miller, an Army veteran who took part in the D-Day invasion of Normandy. "Because he did a lot for the country...and for me."

The men of Co. 1857 left the mountain before the park was finished. Another company took the honors and glory. But the legacy of Co. 1857 looms over the land.

The old campsite, defined by walking paths and crumbling foundations and broken glass and porcelain, is a haunting CCC cemetery, a weathered monument to the short life of the New Deal.

If you stand on that small bluff on the south side of the mountain where the mess hall used to be and look westward at twilight toward the broken foundations of the barracks, and if you listen hard, you can hear the slow flop of a flag in a dying West Texas wind and the quick clop of men climbing into cots to dream of tomorrow.

Dr. Donohue

Shingles relief is trial and error

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am writing for an aunt in her 80s. She has suffered terribly from shingles for about three years. Her doctor says there is not much, if anything, that can help her. The poor woman pleaded with me to find out if there is anything one can do for some relief. She is in pain day and night. Please give me some information. — Mrs. A.T.

It is truly sad that your elderly aunt has to suffer so much and for such a long period. It is sad, too, that what her doctor says is all too true in many instances.

The pain of shingles neuralgia, which is what your aunt has, is excruciating and a constant torment. Thank goodness it doesn't happen to everyone who gets shingles, and thank goodness it lasts for only six months to a year for most. That's plenty long enough. For the very unfortunate, it lasts longer, and your aunt appears to be one of those few to which that happens.

While there may not be a single universally effective treatment, there are enough to be tried and discarded one by one if they fail. For one, there are drugs: carbamazepine, phenytoin, baclofen, amitriptyline and prolixin. There are others, but those are a few. Sometimes combinations of medicines work.

Then there are the new devices, the transcutaneous neural stimulators, which are little battery-powered boxes that emit small electrical charges. They can deaden nerve pain. There are drug nerve blocks, novocaine-like medicines that can be injected into masses of nerve cells. That often works. All these avenues should be explored.

As a prevention for post-shingles neuralgia, many doctors now recommend nerve blocks early in the active infection (bleb stage). That seems to shortcut development of the severe pain stage. Others advocate use of steroids early in the infection.

Much of my mail echoes what you write about shingles pain. I truly wish I had a single effective cure; I don't. The booklet "The Facts About Shingles" offers some tips.

Dear Abby

Relative's casual affection may lead to abuse

DEAR ABBY: I witnessed something last evening that distressed me greatly.

My aunt and uncle were trying to bribe their 2-year-old daughter with candy to hug and kiss some relatives the child had never seen before. The child was obviously shy and didn't want to put on a phony show of affection to people who were virtually strangers to her.

With all the horror stories about children being sexually abused these days, parents should not encourage their children to hug and kiss people they have never seen before — even if they are relatives. It makes that child all the more vulnerable to sexual abuse should a relative (or a stranger) try to take improper liberties in the future. All children should be taught that it's OK for them to say no if they don't want to be touched, hugged or kissed.

A CONCERNED NIECE
DEAR CONCERNED: You are concerned with good reason. We've all seen well-intentioned grown-ups encourage reluctant youngsters to "go kiss Uncle So-and-So" without realizing the incipient danger you point out.

Thanks for caring enough to write. I learned something valuable today.

Deaf Awareness Week

Information booth, hearing tests planned

Mayor Clyde Angel has proclaimed this week "Deaf Awareness Week" in conjunction with a nation-wide observance.

A proclamation presented to the SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf states, "...an understanding of deafness by the general citizenry is critical to the advancement of equal opportunities for deaf and hearing impaired citizens."

The Highland Council for the Deaf and SWCID will sponsor free hearing tests and an information booth at Big Spring Mall Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Glenn Carrigan, audiologist from SWCID, will be conducting the hearing tests. The information booth will feature articles on deafness, hearing loss and services provided for the deaf and hearing impaired community.

A television will be displayed which will air closed captioned programs. There will also be a videotape with a lecture on deaf awareness and a program by "Fantasy," a sign language, musical group.

A telecommunications device for the deaf will be set up so that the public can learn how the deaf communicate over the phone. Various books on deafness and sign language will be displayed.

Carrigan talked about some of the aspects of deafness in preparation for Deaf Awareness Week.

"The major problem a hearing impairment causes is social isolation, especially from someone who has had normal hearing and loses it later in life."

Carrigan said, "These people have not developed any coping skills and communication becomes so difficult and frustrating that they tend to withdraw from most social events."

Lipreading supplements hearing, but, "lipreading, at best, is extremely difficult. 60 percent of the sounds in English are not visible on the lips. They are produced further back in the mouth or throat and of the 40 percent that are visible on the lips, half of them look the same."

Sensori-neural losses, such as noise damage, or excessive exposure to loud sounds, is the most common cause of hearing loss. "These noises are produced in industry, farming, oilfield work, loud music, hunting and many others."

Carrigan said, "Often the complaint one hears from a person with this type of loss is, 'I can hear, but I just don't understand the words. It sounds like the person is mumbling.'"

Another type of loss is "conductive loss. If there is anything blocking the transmission or conduction of sound from the outside through the ear canal, ear drum or middle ear, that is termed conductive hearing loss."

Carrigan said a physician often can improve this type of loss. A sensori-neural loss is less likely to be cured and may require the use of a hearing aid. People must consult their physician before purchasing an aid.

Marcus Myers of the SWCID continuing education department talked about several programs at SWCID.

"Continuing education courses are specifically designed for those who want to develop a particular skill without pursuing a college degree. The courses vary in length from two hours to however many clock hours necessary to learn a given skill," Myers said.

Classes may begin at any point during the year, Myers said. Courses are offered day and night and on the weekends and participants may register up to the day the classes begin as long as the class is not filled.

"Sign language courses for hearing people make up the bulk of SWCID continuing education offerings," Myers said.

Sign language classes begin on the first Monday of every month for Monday and Wednesday classes; on the first Tuesday for Tuesday and Thursday classes. Registration is continuous.

Female attorney ordered to wear dresses in court

CROWN POINT, Ind. (AP) — A dispute over courtroom censure has left a judge and a female prosecutor at odds over who should wear the pants.

Lake Superior Court Judge James L. Clement says he'll decide by Friday whether to order Deputy Prosecutor Marleen Langfield to wear skirts or dresses, rather than pantsuits, in his courtroom.

Each 10-week sign language course meets twice a week for one and a half hours per session. Certificates of attendance or completion are awarded on the last class day along with the appropriate continuing education units.

Specialized sign language programs, such as those with medical or legal emphasis, are offered to area organizations, Myers said.

"For example, sign language classes with medical emphasis or in-service for health care professionals at various hospitals and clinics are available."

The medical personnel learn sign language and information about deafness, information a deaf person may need to know about the health care system, and how to interact with hearing-impaired people in a medical situation.

"In addition, they are introduced to deaf people in the community and to resources which provide services to deaf patients. Activities are included to promote confidence in working with deaf patients and a basic understanding of their needs."

The SWCID continuing education division offers technical assistance and educational opportunities for hearing-impaired adults, families with deaf children and professionals who work with them through programs, consultations and other services throughout the state.

Thursday Notes

By STEVE BELVIN
Staff Writer

The Big Spring Youth Football League enters its second week of action this Saturday at Blankenship Field with the Cowboys and Vikings kicking off action at 1 p.m.

The Buffaloes will take on the Packers at 2:30 while Dolphins tangle with the Bulldogs at 4.

Come on out and give these youngsters some support. There may be some future NFL stars out there.

Two area collegiate gridlers, Richard Evans and Victor Jackson are seeing plenty action in the secondary for Lone Star Conference teams.

Ex-Big Spring star Evans, now a sophomore on the Angelo State University Rams football team, recorded his first interception in ASU's 40-7 loss to Eastern Washington last week.

Evans (5-11, 170), is second string right cornerback for the Rams, but has seen plenty of action in ASU's four games this season and been doing a good job, according to ASU Sports Information Director Gilbert Montez.

The Rams are currently 2-2 for the season and will host Eastern New Mexico University this Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

Ex-Colorado City star Victor Jackson, now a junior at Howard Payne University, is currently starting his second year at the starting cornerback position.

The 5-11, 175-pounder has recorded 11 tackles in three games, recovered one fumble and returned three kickoffs for 53 yards.

Howard Payne was defeated by number four ranked Central State Oklahoma 24-6. CSU went into the contest averaging 45 points per game.

Here are the area first place winners in the Howard County Youth Horseman Club held recently. The Overall Youth winner was Mike Hill of Brady.

Winners are listed by division, name of horse, owner of horse, and residence. From the looks of things, Colorado City and Coahoma have some able horsemen.

1983 Fiddle — Plaudit Skipper Bee, Jerry Putnam, Colorado City.

1981 Mares — Declared Good, Sue Guelker, C-City.

With trip to Midland

Steers start district on road

By BILLY NABOURS
Sports Editor

MIDLAND — It's been fun, what with the Big Spring Steers winning two of their first three games in an untypical Big Spring fashion.

But forget those two dramatic come-from-behind victories. The "real" season starts here Friday at 8 p.m. in the toughest 5A district in the state.

Big Spring will hit the road for its first District 4-5A encounter. The Midland High Bulldogs provide the opposition and Steers head coach Quinn Eudy said he could think of an easier foe to tackle. "I'd much rather play the Austin school for the blind," quipped Eudy.

One makes the playoffs by feasting on district competition, however. For that reason Eudy believes his troops are ready. "After the way our offense performed against Monterey (over 300 yards) I feel it (offensive unit) gained a lot of offense. I only expect the offense to continue getting better," said Eudy. He added that Monday's workout was, "great, the best Monday practice we've ever had at Big Spring."

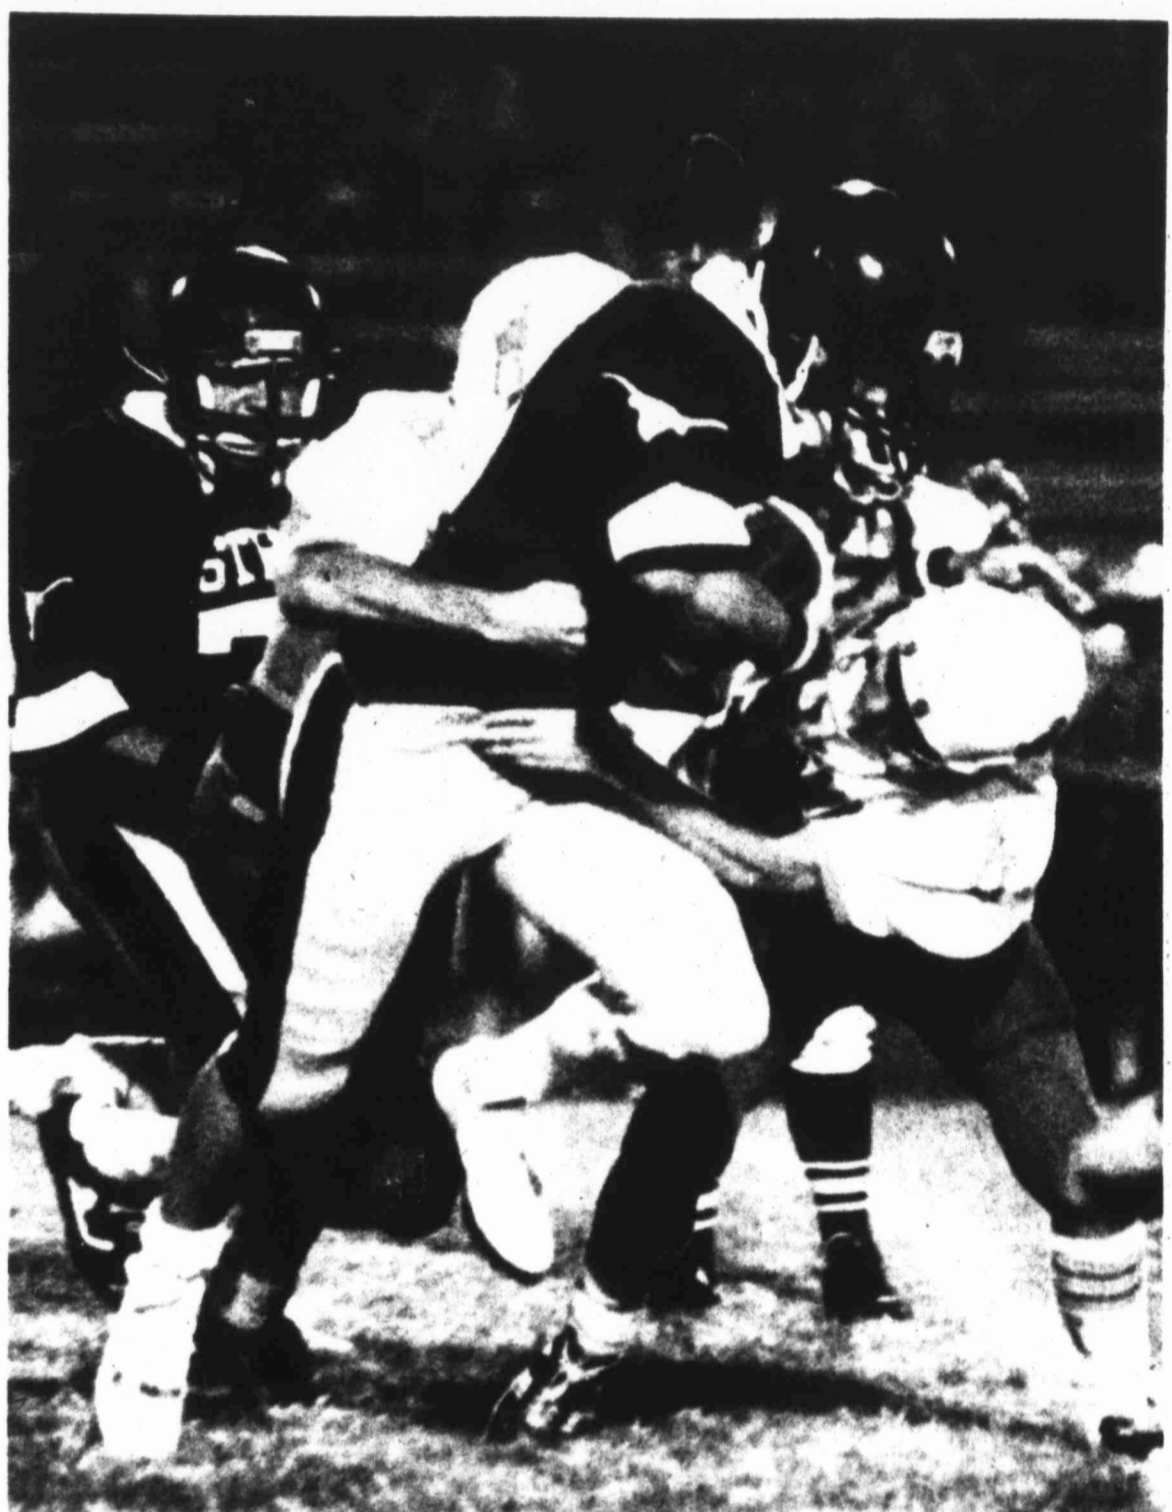

Eudy said the 3-0 Bulldogs of new coach Doug McCutchen offer a strong running threat for the Steer defense and containing Midland's Veer attack and the district's leading rusher Keith Byrd (323 yds.) weighs heavily on Eudy's mind. For that reason he mentioned one change in the defensive lineup after watching the unit give up over 300 yards on the ground to Monterey. Eudy said his confidence in the defense is still high though. "We just made a minor change this week," he said. Senior Billy Russell will lineup at defensive right end, his first start of the year at that position. "Billy has looked good in workouts. He'll still return punts also," added Eudy. Eudy mentioned a lot of Monterey yards came around that right end position before the proper adjustments were made. Adding to defensive concerns are tightend Darrell Davis and flanker Allan Foret. Foret has speed to spare. He placed in the 4-5A track and field met in the 100 and 200 meters.

Offensively, Colin Carroll will start at fullback for the second week in a row. Carroll responded with a 109-yard effort last week after moving from tailback. Tommy Gartman will be the tailback.

In a nutshell Eudy said Midland is a team, "gaining confidence," each week. Midland returned 17 lettermen from last year's 4-6 team (included as one of those wins was a 38-33 decision against the Steers). The Bulldogs are a veteran outfit indeed with nine seniors on the starting offense and seven for the defense. Overall Midland carries 29 seniors on its roster. The Bulldogs do have six two-way starters, however. With the evident conditioning advantage going to the Steers in their first three games, such philosophy could hamper the Bulldogs.

"I'd say Midland has as much talent as any of the teams in the district. They just don't have the numbers," Eudy said. "But like the Steers, Midland, "seems to be playing together well," he added.

Eudy likes his own chances, despite the fact Big Spring has beaten Midland only once in the last decade and is rated an 11 point underdog Friday. "We're about where we thought we'd be going into district. We've (coaching staff)

RUNNING DEPTH — Jay Pirkle, shown picking up 58 yards against Monterey, provides running depth for the Big Spring Steers who open the District 4-5A slate in Midland Friday night at 8. Pirkle is the leading scorer for the Steers with three touchdowns. Big Spring goes into the contest 2-1 while Midland, under new head coach Doug McCutchen is 3-0.

concentration." done a little more thorough scouting job."

Eudy's counterpart at Midland, McCutchen echoes those sentiments. Despite being one game better than the Steers in the W-L department McCutchen said, "We're over here expecting a tough game Friday night. Coach Eudy has done a good job with Big Spring football."

The new Bulldog head coach added, "We had 17 lettermen back from last year, but our early wins (including an 18-6 thumping of Estacado) have united us as a team."

During the past 10 years Midland owns a 9-1 record against the Big Spring Steers. The Bulldogs won eight straight before Big Spring turned the trick. Listed are scores for the past 10 meetings between the two teams.

Area Game of the Week

Winless Bearkats hosting Cope-led Cougars

By STEVE BELVIN
Staff Writer

GARDEN CITY — Through the first three games of 1984 the defense has shouldered most of the load for the Garden City Bearkats.

Friday against Klondike, Garden City coach Tony Stricklin is hoping that his offense will take up some of the slack as his winless Bearkats try to upset the Klondike Cougars here at 8 p.m. Garden City is only winless team in the Howard County Area.

The Bearkats defense led by linebacker Doug Hoelscher, defensive end J.J. Caswell and secondary men Bryan Thompson and Doug Schaefer have given up ground grudgingly in losses against Miles 18-0 (one touchdown was scored on the offense) and Grandfalls 16-6.

The Bearkats battled Bronte to a 0-0 tie.

"The defense really hasn't played badly," said Stricklin. "We really allowed 24 points in three games, which is not bad. If we get our offense going we'll be alright."

When talking about stopping Klondike's I-attack Stricklin sums it up in three words — "stop Tim Cope". Cope, a 165-pound senior tailback put on a sterling performance in Klondike's 35-6 win over Sands last week. For his efforts he was named to the Associated Press Schoolboy Honor Roll.

He returned punts of 70 and 65 yards for TD's and blocked another punt which resulted in teammate Mitch Mitchell recovering for another score. Cope also scored on a 72-yard run. The most amazing thing about his feats is that they all happened in the third quarter.

For the night Cope carried 19 times for 191 yards and four touchdowns, raising his season total to 450 yards in 55 carries and 11 touchdowns.

While Klondike's rushing game has been going strong, its passing game sputtered. The Cougars have thrown six interceptions in the last two games.

"Our passing game has not been what we would like," said Klondike coach Jimmy Thomas. "We've been completing passes, but to the wrong team. We are just not moving the ball consistently. Garden City has a very aggressive defense, they'll get after you. They'll bend, but not break. It's got to be a plus when you have enough kids to practice 11 on 11," he concluded.

Meanwhile, the Klondike defense led by linebacker John Cave, end

LOOKING FOR FIRST WIN — The Garden City Bearkats have played tough defense in 1984, but have little in the way of their win column to show for their efforts. The 0-2-1 Bearkat will face the prospect of stopping a hard charging Klondike team when the two tangle in Garden City Friday at 8 p.m. Making up this year's crop of Bearkats are, front left to right, manager Robert Hines, David Montgomery, Bryan Thompson, Abelardo Madrid, Frankie Ramirez, Doug Schaefer, Junior Navarro, Doug Hoelscher, Mike Kenyon, manager Dean Munn. Middle, left to right, manager Richard Cypert, Aaron Lange, Bobby Medrano, William Sanchez, George Sanchez, Ed Wayne Cypert, Brian Dalton, Greg Stringer, Juan Salazar. Back, left to right, Eddie Knight, Thom Vines, J.J. Caswell, Chare Pesnell, Doug Jost, head coach Tony Stricklin, Doug Thompson. Not pictured is Larry Lopez.

Ricky Webb and cornerback Brent Airhart will be out to keep the Garden City offense down in the dumps.

Stricklin has made some lineup changes trying to get more push in his offense. He will split time with quarterbacks Thompson and David Montgomery. Caswell has been moved from guard to tightend and Hoelscher and Mike Kenyon will see some action at the running backs spots.

"We are re-evaluating our people in order to get the offense going. We thought we had our rushing game down when we rushed 180 yards against Bronte, but last week we got only 70 against Grand Falls," said Stricklin.

Tailback Abby Madrid is the Bearkats leading rusher with 140 yards on 40 carries.

Stricklin says the game might have some fireworks. "I think it could be an offensive game. Klondike has an all-out attack, they can run and throw the ball. Hopefully we'll get our offensive attack going."

Coahoma will try to keep winning ways

By BILLY NABOURS and STEVE BELVIN

While three Howard County Area Teams attempt to keep their perfect records perfect, another will try and continue its new-found winning combination as non-district competition goes into its next to last week for most teams.

ABILENE WYLIE (2-1) is at COLORADO CITY (3-0). Wylie's only loss has been against Ballinger, 16-7. Ballinger is expected to give Colorado City a run for the money in District 7-3A.

The sky may be full of footballs Friday night at Wolf Stadium since the game between the visiting Bulldogs and host Wolves will showcase two of the state's best quarterbacks in C-City signal caller Doug Chitsey and Wylie's Bobby Lilljedahl. Chitsey has been on a tear the last two weeks, completing 31 of 45 passes for 600 yards. He has completed 57 percent of his passes for the year.

Bobby Lilljedahl (6-5, 212) is also an impressive passer, with over 1,500 yards last season. His running ability puts a lot of pressure on the defense also, according to C-City mentor Tom Ramsey.

Wylie has two running backs weighing 190 and 200 pounds that will put pressure on C-City's defense which has allowed only 21 points this season.

"I think this is the best team we will have played", said Ramsey. "Wylie played Ballinger a good game. As far as passing, they run a lot of the same routes we run, but they are more of a power team while we are an option team."

Bill Jackson has been the main workhorse for the Wolves, with 361 yards on 40 carries. Sammy Rivera, who played sparingly last week because of a foot injury, has added 201 yards on 30 carries.

Tight end Don Randle leads a balanced receiving corps with 14 catches for 230 yards. Armando Rivera and Perry Conner have 13 catches between them for over 276 yards.

BIG LAKE (3-0) is at COAHOMA (1-1-1) where coach Bruce Mitchell's Bulldogs are coming off their first win of the season, a 20-8 triumph over Tahoka.

The Owls, a AA power, bring a stingy defense into the contest, owning wins over Crane 6-0, Robert Lee 20-7 and Ozona 14-7.

With the wins coming against two of Coahoma's district foes, Crane and Ozona, Mitchell said, "I think this game will give us some idea about the district race. This is probably the best team we've played so far."

Team speed is the thing that worries Mitchell about the Owls. Big Lake is led by 190-pound fullback Howard Williams, whom Mitchells labels a "gamebreaker". The Thompson brothers, Terry (150) and Tim (180) are also speedy backs that could pose a problem for the Bulldogs.

"This will definitely be the best backfield we have faced," stated Mitchell. "They are all sprinters, and run a lot of sweeps trying to utilize their speed in the Wing-T. We'll have to do a good job of containment".

The Bulldog passing game has picked up tremendously since second-string quarterback Brian Calaway has moved to wide receiver. In two games Calaway has snagged seven passes for 155 yards, including a 53-yard TD last week.

RANKIN (1-2) is at FORSAN (3-4) where the Buffaloes are off to their best start in six years.

The Buffaloes are coming off a 15-11 win over Robert Lee, a game East said his team did not play well in. "This week we need to play better defense against the run," said East. "We did not play as good against Robert Lee as we are capable of. Offensively, we really need to do better. We played good enough to win, but we still made mistakes like having major penalties kill big plays."

Rankin is coming off a 15-12 win over Water Valley and does not have the talent of Rankin teams of the past. "They are a young team and not as strong as past teams. I don't know about throwing, but they like to give the ball to the fullback."

Running back Mitch Hays continues to lead the Forsan rushing attack with 388 yards on 29 carries. He had a 64-yard punt return for a TD last week while gaining 96 yards on 12 carries.

One of the better six man games in the area will take place when WEINERT (3-0) travels to BORDEN COUNTY (3-0). The Coyotes seem to be gathering conference for the start of the District 4 South Zone race in two weeks. Weinert hails from the North Zone of the same district and in the words of BC head coach Doug Frisbee, "We'll be getting our toughest challenge since Dawson." The Coyotes whipped a favored Dawson bunch, however. Dawson was without two of its best runners.

No such luck with Weinert. Weinert likes to run outside and Frisbee said his ends will have to do a much better job than last week when Wellman became a BC victim.

Offensively, the BC attack is paced by runningback Chris Cooley and his 590 yards. SANDS (1-2) is at O'DONNELL (2-1) and Sands mentor Jim White says the game will be his team's biggest challenge to date.

"O'Donnell will be the best team we have played, very well balanced. They beat Plains 10-2, lost to Seagraves 33-8, which is no disgrace since they always make the playoffs, and beat Lazbuddie

48-0," said White. The Mustangs lost to Klondike 35-6 last week in a game which started out well for Sands before the kicking game went bad. The Mustangs scored in the first quarter for a 6-0 lead, and appeared headed for another score when a penalty killed the drive at the Klondike 17. "If we had scored

Cope, Chitsey garner AP schoolboy honors

By The Associated Press

For the second week in a row Colorado City's Doug Chitsey is a member of the Associated Press Schoolboy Honor Roll and, with Klondike's Tim Cope, gives the Howard County Area two athletes tagged for the honor.

Klondike tailback-linebacker Tim Cope is a jack-of-all-trades on a team short of manpower.

Cope, a 5-foot-11, 170-pound senior, contributed to all 35 of his team's points in a 35-6 victory over Ackerly Sands last weekend.

He rushed 184 yards on 16 carries, including touchdowns of 24 and 72 yards, and returned a pair of punts 65 yards each for touchdowns and kicked five extra points.

As a linebacker, Cope blocked a punt that was recovered in the end zone for a touchdown and also assisted in 21 tackles.

Cope earns mention in The Associated Press Schoolboy Honor Roll for his all-around effort.

Cope could have even stepped into the quarterback role if needed. "He led our region in passing as a sophomore and he averaged 26 points on the basketball team," coach Jimmy Thomas said. "He's just a good, all-around athlete."

TIM COPE

We've only got 17 kids on the team, so he has a lot to do."

In another outstanding individual performance Colorado City blasted Denver City 50-9 behind the second passing blitz in as many weeks by quarterback Doug Chitsey, who hit 13 of 21 for 243 yards and two touchdowns. Chitsey has completed 31 of 42 passes over the past two games and is a good reason the Wolves are 3-0.

PLAYING CHASE — Grady's Michael Mitchell (84) chases a Christoval ball carrier during the Wildcats most recent game, a 40-36 loss to the Cougars. Grady will be among several area teams attempting to rebound when they travel to Jayton this Friday for a six man match with the Jaybirds. Game time is 8 p.m.

Bean is man in LaJet spotlight

ABILENE, Texas (AP) — Despite the presence of Tom Watson, a last-minute entry, and PGA champion Lee Trevino, Andy Bean could be the man to beat in the LaJet Golf Classic.

"I'm playing about as good as I can play," Bean said Wednesday as he prepared for today's first round of the $350,000 event at the Fairway Oaks Golf Club. "If I'd putted just a little bit last week (in the tour's richest event, the $1,122,500 Panasonic Las Vegas Invitational), it wouldn't have even been close," Bean said. "For the week, for 90 holes, the longest putt I made was eight feet."

"There's nothing you can do about it. It comes and goes. All you can do is keep trying. But it does get pretty frustrating."

Even with his problems on the greens, Bean was tied for the lead through 89 holes of the five-day, four-course tournament but could not match Denis Watson's winning birdie on the 90th hole and had to settle for his third runner-up finish of the season.

Bean, a winner at Greensboro in the spring, took some consolation in the $97,200 check for second place and boosted his earnings for the season to a career-high $404,760, third behind the Watsons — Tom Watson, who leads the money standings with $471,185, and Denis Watson.

Tom Watson, a three-time winner this season, made a last-minute decision to enter this tournament when Denis Watson's victory last week thrust him into a challenging position for Player of the Year honor.

Tom Watson, seeking a record sixth Player of the Year honor, leads the complicated point standings with 60. Denis Watson, who is skipping this tournament due to a history of allergy problems in Texas, is second with 58 with the season winding down to a close. Only five more official events remain on the schedule.

3,500 fans welcome Cubs home

CHICAGO (AP) — Thousands of orderly Chicago Cubs fans waited hours for the National League East-winning team's plane to arrive at O'Hare International Airport from Pittsburgh, then greeted them with cheers and pennants.

Temperatures hovering in the 40s today were a minor discomfort after 39 years of devotion to a team synonymous with losing.

About 3,500 strong, the Cubs faithful waved pennants as the team's plane touched down just after midnight. The unrequited affair had finally come to an end.

"I would not miss this for the world," said Bob Moyer, 19, who drove from Louisville, Ky. to greet the ballclub. "Big deal if they are here at midnight — it's worth it."

Mary Zaccardo of River Grove waited four hours for a five-minute glimpse of her heroes in the chilly

"My husband said I was crazy," she said. "I don't care, I'm happy crazy. I would like to kiss them all."

Nearly 100 police officers, some on horseback, watched idly as a loudspeaker belted the team's unofficial song "Go Cubs, Go."

Manager Jim Frey briefly addressed the crowd, saying "39 years was enough."

City officials had planned a welcome-home celebration when the Cubs' flight arrived from Pittsburgh, but fearing a traffic tieup, urged fans to stay home and watch the brief ceremony on television.

And at the request of the Cubs' front office, the City of Chicago postponed plans for a rally to honor the North Siders early next week. "Cubs management wanted to keep the team lean and mean, and in the right frame of mind to punch the (San Diego) Padres," said Michael Scott, deputy director for the mayor's Office of Special Events. "Therefore, the city will postpone all events to roll out the red carpet."

The Cubs will meet the Padres in the National League playoffs beginning next Tuesday in Chicago.

The team apparently wanted to avoid a repeat of Monday night's all-night party in Pittsburgh after the Cubs clinched the National League East title with a 4-1 win over the Pirates.

Thousands of Cub fans had unofficial and spontaneous celebrations Monday night outside the empty Wrigley Field, the Cubs' home park, and throughout the city.

Rozier, Pittsburgh reportedly reach agreement on release

HOUSTON (AP) — Mike Rozier's agent says the unhappy running back has reached a tentative agreement with the Pittsburgh Maulers to be released from the remaining two years of his $3.1 million contract with the United States Football League team.

But Rozier's agent, Art Wilkinson, told Houston Radio Station KIKK Wednesday that Rozier would not pay the terms of the agreement until the former Nebraska Heisman Trophy winner signs a contract with another team.

"Mike has close to $2 million remaining on a contract that is guaranteed money," Wilkinson said. "It wouldn't make any sense to say we're going to relieve the obligated party on that contract without assurances and guarantees from another party who wishes to become obligated."

"I'm not signing anything until we have somewhere to go. I'm not going to assist in making Mike unemployed."

Rick Sokolov, an attorney for Maulers' owner Edward J. DeBarotolo Sr. who has handled negotiations with Wilkinson, said today it would be "counterproductive" to comment on the reported buy-out agreement.

"Paul Marth (the Maulers' president) will be back in town today and we'll be getting together," Sokolov said.

But Sokolov said that talk that "a tentative agreement" had been reached were "premature."

George Heddlston, the Maulers' general manager, denied knowledge of any deal.

Under terms of the reported agreement, Rozier would pay the Maulers an unspecified amount — said to be between $600,000 and $1.5 million — to be released from the remaining two years of his contract.

Wilkinson said Rozier could be in a Houston Oilers' uniform immediately if contract terms could be reached. The Oilers chose Rozier in the NFL supplemental draft last June.

"I've conveyed to the Oilers that we have this agreement in principle and that Mike could be available as of tomorrow," Wilkinson said. "The next step has to be theirs. I don't know that we have any control over what happens next."

Oilers General Manager Ladd Herzog has already broken off negotiations with Rozier.
