Spring Borden County

Residents face future together

GAIL - History and time have chiseled a ruggedness and sense of community in this isolated town that sits four miles southeast of Muchaway Peak and serves as the Borden County seat.

"The people in this town believe in each other," said County Judge Van York, who comes from a family who settled the county almost 100 years ago. "They sure hold together and are very independent. They believe in looking after themselves.'

The county and the county seat were named after a distinguished Texan, surveyor and inventor Gail Borden. Ironically, Borden never lived in - or even near - the county that adopted his name.

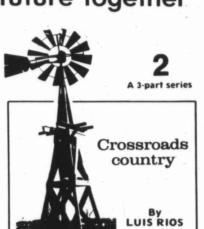

Although the population in Gail dropped from 1,500 in 1918-20 to 140, the county had a population of 870 in 1980, according to the 1980

Children perish

MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP) Three little girls who died in a house fire that also killed four other children and an adult ap-parently perished when the roof they climbed to collapsed into the inferno, authorities said.

Two adults escaped unhurt from the pre-dawn fire Sunday, which may have been started by a kerosene heater, authorities said.

One of those who escaped the blaze, Anna Robey, 24, apparently led two of her children and another child onto a porch roof, said Crawford County Coroner Arden Hughes.

"It's my understanding they Mrs. were taken out there by Mrs. Robey, who then jumped off the roof, which was in flames," Hughes said. "Then the roof collapsed."

The five other victims died on the second floor, said Vernon Central Fire Chief Tom Benak.

Hughes identified the dead as: Shirley Swartz, 46; and her grandchildren, Winona Robey, 5; Adam Robey, 3; and Miranda Robey, 8 months. Also dead were: Jason Bailey, 9; Michael Bailey, 8; Anthony Bailey, 6; and Melissa Onesky, 21 months; all of the Meadville area, the coroner said.

Winona Robey, her infant sister, Miranda, and toddler Melissa Onesky were found in the rubble of the front porch, Hughes said.

Hughes said the Baileys and the Onesky child were being cared for See Blaze page 2-A

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - Texas' new $2.7 billion education reform package could stand some improvements, the Texas Association of School Boards says, and it has adopted dozens of recommendations aimed at doing just that. The TASB, which represents nearly all of Texas' 1100 school boards, concludes a three-day joint meeting today with the Texas Association of School Administrators. The TASB's 500-member Delegate Assembly, a policymaking group, endorsed dozens of recommendations Saturday, including making the state Board of Education elected once again.

The Legislature, meeting in special session this summer, passed the package and an accompanying tax increase of $4.6 billion over a three-year period.

Prior to the convention, TASB's legislative committee commended the Legislature for its education package, and incoming TASB President John Quisenberry said they felt it appropriate to recognize 'that we appreciate the funding." But Jerry Gerlich of the Sweeny Independent School District convinced the delegates to strike the commendation.

"The extra money is not without a price," Gerlich told the delegates. "We've paid that price by giving up local control. To keep the word 'independent' in our district names is just not realistic."

Popular election of the state change the delegates grade. recommended.

package, which called for gubernatorial appointment of a 15-member board until 1989. In that year, the trustees will be elected by popular vote. The TASB delegates also urged non-partisan election of the board in April of election years and not November, as stipulated in the new Proponents said holding the elections in November would reduce the attention the races might get in April, when most school districts elect their trustees.

Also recommended was more flexibility on maximum class sizes. The education bill requires no more than 22 students per class Board of Education was a key from kindergarten through fourth

"We're sympathetic to focusing The board had been elected by an emphasis on keeping class sizes popular vote until the reform down," said David Thompson, associate executive director of the TASB.

But "when that 23rd student shows up, you've got to find a room, equip it, hire another teacher," he said. "The expense is going to be in the hundreds of millions of dollars somewhere down the line

The group urged more leeway so schools could have 27 or 28 students in a classroom staffed by a teacher and an aide. The TASB delegates also urged the Legislature to relax state laws on disciplining students

The reform bill "says you have to jump through a lot of procedural hoops - hearings, appeals and more appeals - to suspend a student," Thompson said. "Meanwhile, the student has to stay in school and the teacher is allowed to remove him from the classroom to

"What are you going to do with the kid — put them in purgatory for six weeks?

The delegates also advocated doing away with a new mandatory school calendar that requires classes to begin no sooner than Sept. 1. They said the calendar is better left to each district because of such factors as construction projects, climate and staff development activities.

The delegates also rejected new rules governing student absences. House Bill 72 requires a failing grade for students with five or more unexcused absences in a semester.

Advocates of a change said some students whose parents take them out of school would be unfairly

ILLEGAL PARKING - The Panamanian crusie ship Vera Cruz rests on the dock at Norfolk Ship building and Drudock Corp. after the ship slipped a work platform early Monday morning trapping the sleeping crewmen inside. There were no deaths reported

Panamanian ship overturns, 31 hurt

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) - A Panamanian cruise ship with about 150 sleeping crew members aboard fell off a dry dock and crashed on its side into the water early today, briefly trapping about 50 people and injuring 31, authorities said.

The 50 people trapped inside the overturned vessel were rescued or got out on their own, according to the Coast Guard. 'Everybody is off the ship," said

Coast Guard Petty Officer Tom Armstrong Still, Lt. Susan Donner, a Coast

Guard spokeswoman, said authorities continued to search the water's surface below the dry dock platform "just in case."

Spokesmen at three hospitals where the injured were taken said one man was in critical condition with head injuries, but the other 30 were treated mostly for cuts and bruises and released.

The accident occurred at 3:48 a.m. at the Norfolk Shipbuilding and Drydock Co., said Don Haupt. director of paramedical rescue in Haupt said that of the approximately 150 people aboard the ship at the time of the accident, about 100 got out as the vessel overturned. Another 50 were trapped inside the ship, he said. No information was immediately available on how the ship fell.

The 484-foot cruise ship, identified by Coast Guardsmen as the Vera Cruz, was originally believed to be Spanish-based but later found to be registereed in Panama and owned by Bahama Cruise Lines, Petty Officer Bill Boatman said. The ship was on a platform above the water when it turned and fell into the water, said Ms. Donner. The Vera Cruz "fell off the platform, apparently crashed into the water and was listing about 20 degrees," Armstrong said. Workers "sank the dry dock again to refloat" the ship.

The accident occurred in drydock 2 at the shipyard, Haupt

Thomas Forrest, a dispatcher at Norfolk paramedical rescue, said most of those aboard the vessel were asleep at the time.

State sets record lows

By The Associated Press

Record low temperatures, triggered by a high pressure ridge aloft over the Colorado Rockies, were reported in several Texas cities early today.

The high pressure ridge kept skies across Texas mostly clear during the night, setting the stage for the record breaking plunges by the mercury at Austin, Wichita Falls, Fort Worth and Houston.

Records for October 1 were set in those cities by 5 a.m. and the National Weather Service said the mercury would likely dip a few more degrees before the sun rose enough to start a warming trend.

It dropped to 46 at Austin, breaking a record set there in 1972. At Wichita Falls, it was 44, breaking the previous record set in 1972. At Fort Worth, temperatures dropped to 47, breaking a record set in 1966. At Houston, it was a chilly 45, breaking a record set in 1972.

The high pressure ridge was expected to start moving eastward within the next 48 hours, returning temperatures to more seasonable levels, forecasters

Skies were mostly clear around the state early today, but a few high thin clouds were reported in Northwest Texas, spreading eastward as far as Fort Worth and Early morning temperatures were mostly in the 40s and 50s. Extremes ranged from 41 at Lufkin to 64 at both Alice and Brownsville.

Other readings around the state included 49 at Amarillo, 46 at Waco, 48 at San Antonio, 53 at Corpus Christi, 47 at San Angelo, 46 at Lubbock, 50 at Midland and Forecasts called for clouds to begin thickening in West Texas and spread into the central region of the state by late Tuesday. A gradual statewide warming trend was to continue today and Tuesday. Highs today were to be mostly in the 60s and 70s and slightly warmer Tuesday.

October's chill hit the nation's midsection early today as frost warnings were posted from the Canadian border to west central Arkansas and southern Missouri, while rain fell over parts of the East and West coasts.

Temperatures were in the 30s over the Great Lakes, the upper Mississippi Valley and the northern Plains. Readings were in the 40s over New England, the Ohio and Tennessee valleys, the middle and lower Mississippi Valley, the central Plains and the Rockies.

A freeze warning was in effect for the lower peninsula of Michigan early today.

West Texas - Partly cloudy and warmer tonight and Tuesday. Widely scattered showers or thunderstorms far west today and most sections Tuesday. Highs in the 70s except near 90 Big Bend. Lows tonight 50s except mid 60s extreme south.

Chinese celebration

Communist China honors 35th National Day

PEKING (AP) — Communist China celebrated its 35th National Day on Monday with self-congratulations and a mammoth military parade reviewed by Deng Xiaoping, who made his first major public speech as the nation's top

"How are you, comrades?," Deng shouted to thousands of soldiers from his black limousine convertible in a 20-minute inspection of troops assembled in Peking's Tiananmen Square and the adjacent Chang An Boulevard.

The state-run television showed the festivities live in what the government called the most elaborate patriotic celebration since the communists came to power in 1949.

"We have given China a new face," Deng, the 80-yearold chairman of the Communist Party Central Advisory Commission, said in a 20-minute speech from atop Tiananmen's northern gate after the military review. An estimated half-million people were in the huge square in "Today, all of our people have reason to be proud," said Deng, who had made few public appearances since emerging as China's major leader in 1978. He wore a dark gray tunic for the event.

Six-thousand soldiers, sailors, policemmen and milita men and women, dressed in new uniforms with white gloves, paraded past the rostrum as a brass brand played

The military parade also included a flypast by warplanes, new tanks, armored personnel carriers and rockets strapped onto olive-colored army trucks with white-wall tires. It was the first military review in 25 years and was seen as a morale booster for the armed forces, which Deng leads as chairman of the military commissions of the party and government. Police squads sealed off the capital Sunday and banned all traffic for the parade, similar to those held in the Soviet Union's Red Square. "The military review is by no means a show of armed

Gao Liang, spokesman for the Communist Party Secretariat's Propanda Department, told reporters Sunday at a news conference. 'All this is oriented at the defense of our motherland as well as maintaining and consolidating world peace," he The parade's giant floats, seen beforehand in practice sessions, ranged from a mock-up of Shanxi province's giant Pingshuo coal pit to a model oil derrick, mounted on Japanese Hino trucks.

'At present, a scene of prosperity and vigorous growth prevails throughout our great motherland," Premier Zhao Ziyang, one of Deng's protegs, proclaimed in an anniversary reception Sunday night at the Great Hall of the

Once disgraced as a "capitalist roader," Deng has been the driving force behind reforms aimed at modernizing the country of 1 billion people and improving their standard of living.

His policies have transformed the communes into individual family farms under the "contract responsibility system' that lets peasants grow what they want, hire employees and make money in the private market after fulfilling a state quota.

"The contract responsibility system is good," read a poster for a contingent of 12,000 peasants marching in the Guo Fuchang, a party propaganda aide, said the singing and dancing peasants were "showing their gratitude for the contract responsibility system.

Police decreed tight security in the capital for the festivities, and attendance was by invitation only. Among the guests were a contingent of 3,000 Japanese, whose travel expenses will be picked up by the People's Republic.

But most of Peking's 9.3 million people had to watch the events on television.

Announcements in all major newspapers warned travelers that as of midnight Sunday the main parade route through central Peking's Tiananmen Square and all access roads would be blocked. Green-uniformed officers with walkie-talkies roamed the Peking railway station during preparade preparations and randomly checked passenger bags, apparently abruptly curtailed about two weeks ago to prevent an influx of people for what the government has called the most extravagant patriotic celebration since Oct. 1, 1949,

Firemen douse gas plant fire

BASILE, La. (P) — Firefighters worked into Monday morning to douse the flames remaining from a more treacherous and spectacular blaze that raged for hours Sunday at a rural southwestern Louisiana natural gas processing plant.

No one was hurt, but the threat of a major explosion seemed so imminent at one point that even firefighters were moved a mile away from the Texas Gas. Transmission Corp. plant.

The company is a subsidiary of CSX Corp. of Richmond, Va.

CSX spokesman E.E. Edel said the plant, a highly automated maze of vertical towers and steel pipe, refines natural gas into ethane and propane, both highly volatile products. He said the main fire was centered in a line that feeds natural gas into the plant.

Edel said the natural gas fire was extinguished by 9:30 p.m., but scattered smaller fires remained.

'What is burning now are light hydrocarbons, such as propane and butane," Don McGee, a Louisiana State Police public information officer sent here from Opelousas, said about midnight. "The fire is being isolated section by section as the plant crews shut it

McGee said the plant's general superintendent, J.L. Bordelon, would not talk with newsmen until he had a chance to inspect the damage.

Runge, vice president of the Major League Baseball Umpires Association, was contacted at his El Cajon, Calif., home.

Runge said that Richie Phillips, attorney for the umpire's union, issued the "go-home" order on Saturday to umpire crews scheduled to officiate the playoffs.

The strike decision remained in force Sunday, Runge added, after Phillips met with American League President Bobby Brown and Charles Feeney, president of the National

Soviet promises count for little

The United States and the Soviet Union jointly subscribe to a formal Consular Convention setting out, among other things, procedures to be followed when American citizens are detained for alleged violations of Soviet law. Regrettably, if predictably, the Soviets did not permit these mere legalisms to inhibit their harassment of five Alaskan seamen arrested in the Bering Strait Sept. 12.

The five Americans aboard the coastal supply ship Frieda K apparently wandered into Soviet territorial waters in the stormy Bering Strait where Soviet and American islands are only two miles apart. When the Americans hailed a Soviet warship and asked for directions, they were detained along with their vessel and taken to the Siberian port of Urelik. At that point, the Soviets should have notified the American Embassy in Moscow and permitted at least telephone access to the five Instead, the Americans were held virtually incommunicado for five days. Only after the State Department filed a formal diplomatic protest with the Soviets were U.S. officials permitted to contact the American sailors. Even then, the five were not released for another two days despite the absence of any evidence suggesting they had deliberately entered Soviet waters or violated Soviet law in any way.

For much of their detention at a sealed military barracks in Urelik, the Americans were pressured to sign statements saying they entered Soviet waters deliberately. The Frieda K's skipper said after his release that Soviet interrogators implied the Americans might be held indefinitely if they refused to

This intimidation, intended to coerce the Americans into confessing a non-existent crime, constituted the second violation of the Consular Convention. This violation too should be duly protested by the State Department even though the Americans wisely refused to sign anything.

The Frieda K incident ended happily enough with the release of the five seamen and their little coastal supply vessel on Wednesday. But the cavalier fashion in which the Soviets ignored their obligations under the Consular Convention serves as yet another reminder that international agreements count for little with the Soviets. They will count for even less if the Soviets are permitted to treat the Consular Convention with, say, the same disdain they reserve for any number of arms-control treaties and agreements with the United States.

Visions of greed

1. That was the situation as the tries to buy slows down growth in world finance ministers and Europe and Japan. The difficulty bankers gathered in Washington debtor countries experience in for their annual meeting recently. meeting payments weakens Only this time primacy did not, as private banks in this country and in the past, foster a generous spirit Europe that are not so robust toward cooperation with other anyway. A default by one of the countries.

On the contrary greed sits in the American saddle and economic nationalism holds the whip. So joint effort to reduce the manifold perils threatening the global financial system proceed case-by-case and at a snail's pace.

Numbers to be published in connection with the session of the World Bank and International Monetary Fund leave no doubt about the lead position of the U.S. Selfishness also stands out in trade policy. Staying On Top, a new book by Kevin Phillips, the conservative political theorist, shows that virtually every segment of the American public favors a tougher stance on trade, particularly in dealing with Japan. The labor unions, and the Democratic Party under Walter Mondale, have embraced protectionism. The Republicans, being ideologically committed to the market economy, cling to free trade — in theory. But in practice they are applying import quotas to virtually every major item of commerce - including, most notably, steel and autos.

The nationalist emphasis has played heavily against the developing countries of Africa and Latin America. Many have recently experienced economic growth rates that fall below rates of population increase, yielding a net decline in living standards. Mountainous debts limit the amount of capital available for expansion, especially since voluntary bank lending dried up after the debt crisis of 1982. High interest rates mean that, in some cases, underdeveloped countries are actually exporting capital to pay off debts.

Negative consequences come home to the industrial world in several forms. The inability of the WASHINGTON — The U.S. is No. Latin American and African coundebtor countries - even a small one - could shake the whole international system.

The system could be steadied in many ways. But all of them require American approval. The Reagan administration, supported by Congress, has repeatedly turned away proposals for help. It has opposed increases in the pools of IMF and World Bank money available to developing countries. It has tried to reduce access of developing countries to funds already in the hands of the IMF. It has set its face against any general easing of terms to the debtor countries.

There remains an approach worked out by Jacques de Larosiere, the managing director of the IMF, and Paul Volcker, the chairman of the Federal Reserve, together with the leaders of the central banks in Japan and Europe. Beginning with the Mexican debt crisis of 1982, they have repeatedly intervened to give emergency help to distressed debtor countries, on condition that these countries adopt austerity programs designed to restore solvency. In the case of Mexico, the operation has worked, and success has been rewarded with lower interest rates and a stretching out of the loans to a multi-year schedule. Countries which follow the Mexican example stand to reap similar

That case-by-case approach could hardly resist political upheaval abroad or sudden change in the U.S. economy. But while greed sits in the American saddle, t passes for vision.

Reagan re-election no sure thing

WASHINGTON — The press and the pollsters have all but re-elected President Reagan. Yet neither presidential candidate has a do-ordie following large enough to win the election. The outcome will be determined by the swing vote the independents who are loyal to neither Reagan nor Walter

This middle vote, now leaning heavily toward Reagan, can be changed overnight by a shift in the political winds. And a confidential memo circulating inside the White House warns: The Republicans could blow it.

The memo was written by Max Hugel, a deputy director of the 1980 Reagan campaign, now a senior

"This election is far from a pushover," he warns. "No matter what the polls say now, as it gets closer to Election Day, the electorate will narrow. It is very possible we could lose.

Hugel doesn't trust the polls. The experts tell me that the polls can be interpreted and analyzed differently depending on how the questions are asked and reported he says. Depending on one's motive, they can be reported for the purpose of lulling the Reagan supporters into complacency and inactivity.

Here are the concerns raised in the memo:

1. In 1980, Reagan "had President Carter to run against." Carter was an unpopular president on the defensive. In 1984, Reagan faces a more formidable ticket, and the Democrats are on the attack with extreme intensity," the memo ads

2. In 1980, many key electoral states were controlled by Republican governors, with strong state organizations. In 1984, some

EYE ON THE MONEY MEN: The growing concentration of the banking industry will hurt consumers and small businesses, Federal Reserve insiders warn. Not only will the diminished competition affect interest rates (both what you pay for loans and what you earn on savings), but when the big boys swallow the small community banks, loan officers are less likely to be intimately associated with local people who need the bank's services.

Loan decisions will be made in faraway board rooms. The only solution the Fed officials see is new antitrust laws that will curb the big banks' growth.

• Bank customers are already getting socked hard as a result of the partial deregulation of the banking industry. When the ceiling on interest rates was removed two years ago, banks were forced to compete for depositors' loyalty, offering higher rates and even paying interest on checking accounts. This has cost the banks about $18 billion in two years, and they've tried to recoup their losses by upp-

Popularity of colors means big business for analysts

By SUE CROSS Associated Press Writer

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) - The art of matching sweaters and scarves to the blue in an eye or the pink in a cheek is putting green in a lot of pockets as personal color analyses evolve from hobby to a serious part of the fashion industry.

The practice of "having colors done" - matching skin, eye and hair tones to textile colors that flatter a person - is good for Deanna Radeloff. The 43-yearold home economics professor at Bowling Green State University is putting nearly 20 years of study in color and psychology to use in a sideline business of training color analysts, who then go into business for themselves, telling others what color clothes they

"I don't know why people are getting so much into color now, because we've known about it for ages, but everybody is," says Ms. Radeloff, who began training analysts to use her system in 1982.

Dolores Ware, managing director of the Color Association of the United States, said the system would probably have been only a party game a decade ago. The New York-based organization sets standards for colors used in the textile industry and monitors color trends in many industries.

Now, she said, color analysis is influencing the textile industry and how stores market clothes.

Jennifer Emery, women's fashion manager and buyer for the Damschroder department stores in Toledo, agrees. Store workers studied under Ms. Radeloff and now train all sales people in coloring because they need to know what customers are talking about when they shop with color swatches to be matched, Ms. Emery said.

Ms. Radeloff's system considers tones in a person's eyes, the way skin reflects and absorbs light, and other factors, to choose colors in four basic categories — usually linked to the seasons. She said her system was based on scientific studies, but said it and other systems often got only scorn from

"Anybody that's very pragmatic, who has a very quantitative mind, is going to look at this and say, Yeah, right.' But any artist or creative person who works with color will recognize color's effect," she

"The big topic (among) professionals now is, is this subject really credible? One thing, it is a subjective process...and while there is a science to color, we haven't made this profession scientific," Ms.

Ms. Radeloff decribes color analysts who consider colors psychic or mystically linked to a personality. But no matter how frivolous some believe color analysis is, the money involved is very serious.

Prospective analysts pay Ms. Radeloff $2,000 for 40 hours of training, certification to use her system, and standard supplies including lights, drapings of various colored fabrics, mirrors, color wheels and swatches of fabric for clients to use when choosing

In turn, Ms. Radeloff said, certified analysts can charge about $50 in Ohio for a personal color analysis. Nationwide, the cost of an analysis probably averages $75 to $100, Ms. Ware said, offering a chance for profit that could ruin whatever professional stature the field has earned. She said people could go to three color analysts and be told they should wear three totally different groups of colors. "That just proves that either the theory is just not as valid as we are being led to believe, or we have a lot of amateurs out there who are posing as professionals," Ms. Ware said.

Ms. Ware and Ms. Radeloff agree that consumers need to carefully question the training and experience of any color analyst. But even if coloring isn't considered a science, it will remain popular.

"It is one of the No. 1 questions in the consumer's mind these days, having their colors done," Ms. Ware said. "It is very much like the horoscope syndrome we have gone through for a decade. It's saying, 'You look wonderful in such and such.' And peo-

Growth hormone: Who should get it?

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I hope you can help me with my problem. Lately, I have been hearing about a new drug that helps children grow to normal height. All I can remember is that it is a result of high-tech, having to do with DNA. Any help you can give me would be greatly appreciated. - M.S.

You are asking about human growth hormone (HGH). It is made in the pituitary glands and until very recently those glands donated upon death were the only source for use in helping abnormally-short children attain normal growth.

The new technology to which you refer is a medical breakthrough. for it permits synthetic production of HGH. The gene for its production is inserted into bacteria, which then produce quantities of it. The amount as of this writing is still limited, but the prospects for a substantial supply are good.

Progress in medicine, while it solves problems, can sometimes pose others. Synthetic HGH may be an example. Because of the extreme scarcity of the pituitary HGH, the sometimes agonizing problem was just who was to get it. With the high-tech source of the synthetic kind, the problem may be turned into who should not get it.

Not all short-statured children need it or can be helped by it. Size often reflects either a temporary gress toward shortness that is hormones may be involved, such as thyroid hormones, insulin or sex

So my advice is to avoid leaping to a conclusion that a child needs human growth hormone supplements. Only a careful evaluation by a gland specialist (endocrinologist) will determie HGH

Certainly, as the new supplies become available we will be able to use HGH more liberally, even for children whose glandular supply is merely not fully up to par. It may not have to be limited to those who are producing none. It is an immensely complex subject and we ought not to oversimplify it. With time and familiarity it is bound to become an important part of

The Hand Hewn Rock Jail, which rests adjacent to the courthouse, was built in 1896. The large picture windows of the courtroom have the witness stand facing an ominous jail, which is no longer used. The windows of the jailhouse are reinforced by three sets of bars and the floor is solid concrete.

"The jail is exactly the way it should be," York said. "We just left it like that."

The current courthouse was built during the Franklin Roosevelt era and was a WPA (Works Progress Administration) project. The first courthouse was a one-room schoolhouse, which was built shortly after the county was formed in 1891. A two-story building later served as the courthouse until the current one was constructed in Wilbourns, who donated land to the county for the "Town Square" in April 14, 1892. Gail sits on the town square and is the center point of Borden County.

J.I. Wilbourn and L.E. Wilbourn donated the land for the streets, alleys, graveyard, public school, churches, public square and other buildings. Since that day the town square has represented Gail.

The area has no underground water system, and water has to be pumped over the Cap Rock from Dawson County. The water travels a course of 27 miles and is mostly used by the school, York said.

Much of the history of Gail and Borden County is kept on record at the county museum. The museum keeps a detailed written history and also a pictorial account of the county residents and businesses. A museum group publishes a leaflet, the Borden Citizen, on the history of Borden County.

The Dorward dry goods store has been a fixture of downtown Gail since the turn of the century. The Kincaid Hotel stood across from where the museum now stands. Other firsts in the county include the first county doctor, James N. Price, who came on Sept. 28, 1891; the "Blue Front Store" (mercantile) owned by J.W. Chandler in the early 1900s; the Wilbourn Ranch House, which later became the Wilbourn House; the Hale Hotel; and finally the Stokes House.

Gail, which out-of-towners call "the area between Snyder and Lamesa," has re-established its identity since demonstrating its grit in dealing with the low-level nuclear disposal dilemma.

But while outsiders now know of Borden County's pluck, it's nothing new to Borden County residents. It's always been here.

Tailor recalls 'Eisenhower jacket'

DELRAY BEACH, Fla. (AP) -Probably the most famous garment to come out of World War II was the "Eisenhower Jacket," worn by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who later became the 34th president.

However, if the snug, waistlength jacket had been named for its designer, it would have been called the "Morris" or "Pinter" jacket, after the army corporal from New York City who created

At 64, Morris Pinter has put on a few pounds and lost a little hair since he was a soldier, but he continues his profession as a tailor.

"I was a tailor before I was born," he joked in the custom shop he's operated since moving here from New York City in 1980.

Pinter relishes the four years he served in the Army and he's particularly proud of his service in the 30th Infantry Division, which took part in the 1944 invasion of Normandy.

Soon after joining the 30th in England in early 1942, he was apin the U.S. Army," he said, showing a photo of his pup tent with its official tailor's sign in front. Pinter made uniforms for the officer corps, including Maj. Gen. L.S.

Hobbs, division commander. "Gen. Hobbs introduced me to Gen. Eisenhower. I took his measurements because he wanted a different uniform," Pinter said.

the jacket Eisenhower wore for the rest of his military career. Pinter, however, won't take full credit for the garment that gained such poularity. He says he simply embellished the design of a short jacket worn by the British military.

Eisenhower was so pleased with the jacket that when he was reelected president, he remembered the Polish immigrant tailor and in-1957. The invitation remains prominently displayed at Pinter's

"I was the only regimental tailor Pinter says another piece of clothing he designed later in the war means more to him.

> When Allied troops fighting on European battlefields were crippled by frostbite, Hobbs asked Pinter to design something to protect the feet of fighting men at the front.

Using discarded army blankets, That was when Pinter created he sewed several thicknesses together and designed what became known as "Pinter's booties." The oversized sock-like item went halfway to the knee and could be worn inside or over combat boots.

"They would carry them under their jackets and put them on before going into battle," Pinter said, adding that the British army saw the advantages of his creation vited him to his inauguration in and adopted it for their foot

Over the years, he's maintained contact with wartime buddies and attended annual reunions of the 30th Infantry Division. This year, he returned to France, Holland and Belgium for the 40th anniversary of the Allied invasion of France.

He happily displays a wartime scrapbook filled with photos and mementos, but in the back room, there's a large photo of a small boy that customers don't see. It's a picture of his son, who died in a Nazi gas chamber along with his first wife and over three dozen members of his family.

Pinter was born in Lukow, Poland. He arrived alone in the United States in 1937 and was drafted in 1941.

He says he lives by a basic philosophy: "If you do the right thing, you can handle anything. The secret is patience."

Shaw, armed with two semiautomatic rifles and a pistol and dressed in cowboy boots and an Army-style vest, burst into Richland High at 8:50 a.m. Friday and fired a volley of shots, police said.

He later surrendered to his former principal, and only one student was slightly injured when she was struck by bullet fragments.

ONE OF THOSE DAYS — It was a rough day for the Houston Oilers in their 27-10 loss to the New Orleans Saints yesterday at the Astrodome. Here a touchdown pass floats over the back of Oilers tight end Mike McCloskey

Saints jump on Oilers early in 27-10 victory

quarterback Richard Todd says excitement is becoming a regular, although unintentional, part of the Saints' game plan. Sunday's 27-10 victory over the Houston Oilers was no exception.

"We came out and scored a lot at first and looked like we could put them away early, but we always find a way to make it exciting,' Todd said.

Todd led the Saints to a 17-0 halftime lead on Hokie Gajan's 15-yard run, a 35-yard interception return by Frank Wattelet and Morten Andersen's 23-yard field

Then came the excitement. Houston quarterback Warren Moon, suffering from a stomach virus, was replaced for the second half by Oliver Luck, who led the Oilers to Florian Kempf's 25-yard field goal and Earl Campbell's one-yard touchdown dive. Suddenly the Oilers had momentum and the Saints were struggling, but Todd stopped the rally by guiding the Saints to a 27-yard field goal by Andersen and Gajan's se-

HOUSTON (AP) — New Orleans cond TD, a 37-yard run in the fourth

"I'm getting better, but I'm still making critical mistakes," said Todd, who completed 14 of 22 passes for 188 yards. "I still think we can get a lot better. With almost 400 yards of offense we should have scored more. When we got to their five-yard line, things got really tough.

For the Oilers it was just another loss, their fifth straight this season, but their second half surge offered encouragement.

"We hustled and we hit them," Oiler defensive lineman Mike Stensrud said.

"I was discouraged that we gave up the big plays. We can't get down on ourselves and make losing a habit. Every game is important. We must get the first win because I'm sick of losing."

Moon hit three of eight first half passes and had two intercepted. Luck completed four of 10 in the second alf

"We were fired up, but we still make errors that hurt like dropped passes," Luck said. "We made some progress, but its hard to see the silver lining sometimes.

Oiler offensive coordinator Kay Dalton sidelined any questions about a battle for the starting quarterback's job.

"I hope no quarterback con-troversy starts," Dalton said. "I don't see why it should. It happened because of the illness. I knew he wasn't himself he's still ill."

Moon said he hadn't eaten since Thursday and felt weak.

"I'm feeling bad and I need fluids," Moon said. "I saw some progress, but I saw some of the same mistakes, like penalties on second down. You have a secondand-2 and all of a sudden its a second-and-8.

Moon also wanted to make it clear he was sidelined by the flu, not benched.

"I don't think that's that big a deal," he said. "If I lost the job because I was beaten out, I'd accept it, but because of illness, no way. That's all the questions I want to hear about starting next week. If he (Campbell) took me out of the game cause I was not doing well, that's one thing."

CHICAGO (AP) - Rafael Septien says his three field goals and two conversions weren't the biggest factor in the Dallas Cowboys victory over the Chicago Bears.

"If you don't have the touchdowns, the field goals don't count," Septien said after the Cowboys' 23-14 victory at Soldier Field Sunday. "It takes total work from everybody.

Septien, who has scored on his last eight field goal attempts, "is one of the strongest things we had going for us this year," Cowboys Coach Tom Landry said.

The game, matching two of the National Football League's most potent offenses, looked like it might be a high-scoring contest after Dallas took a 17-14 halftime lead.

But the defenses buckled down in the second half, with two Septien field goals the only scoring.

"In the second half, we changed up our defenses and did a better job," Landry said.

Chicago running back Walter Payton rushed 20 times for 130 yards in the first half, and for a while appeared likely to get the 222 Hogeboom completed 18 of 29 yards he needed to break Jim Brown's career rushing record.

But Payton rushed just five times for 25 yards in the second half, and finished with 155 yards rushing, 66 shy of Brown's 12,312 career yards.

"I'm not the head coach," Payton said, when asked why he ran so little in the second half. "The coaches have a better viewpoint. They know what's best. I just go with the flow.

"I don't even care about the record now," he said. "The loss overshadows any accomplishments I might make."

The Cowboys, 4-1, have beaten Chicago, 3-2, six times in a row. The loss was the second straight for the Bears.

The Bears shut down Tony Dorsett, holding him to just 51 yards on 18 carries. But the running back did catch a 68-yard touchdown pass from Hogeboom in the first quarter.

"They forced us to pass more than run because they're a great, great defense," Landry said. "We had to work everything we had to get points on the board.

'It was the passes, the long yardage, that got us good field position," Landry added.

Angels' Witt fires perfect game at Rangers

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) -California Angels right-hander Mike Witt, sporting a one-run lead and three outs away from a guaranteed spot in baseball history, had a case of the shakes as he walked to the mound for the ninth inning against the Texas Rangers.

"I was real nervous walking out there until I threw the first pitch," Witt said.

Three batters — including two left-handed pinch-hitters later, Witt strolled away with a perfect game Sunday while striking out 10 as the Angels defeated the Rangers 1-0 on the last day of the season.

Witt, 15-11, was more than appreciative of his effort - the 13th perfect game lasting nine innings or more in the major leagues since 1880 — but could offer little advice on how to hurl such a jewel.

"All I know is it's hard as heck to get," he said.

Witt, who towers over most of the opposition at 6-7, went to three balls on just one batter, Wayne Tolleson in the seventh inning. Larry Parrish managed the only well-hit ball off Witt, sending right fielder Mike Brown to the 380-foot sign to lead off the eighth inning.

It was the first nine-inning perfect game since Cleveland's Len Barker turned the trick against the Toronto Blue Jays on May 15, 1981. David Palmer of Montreal was credited with a perfect game when he retired 15 batters in the Expos' rainshortened victory over the St. Louis Cardinals on April 15.

Jack Morris of the Detroit Tigers no-hit the Chicago White Sox on April 17.

Witt, 24, in his fourth major league season, said he was "awe struck" by his accomplishment. "Getting 27 outs (in a row) is incredible," he said. "All you're trying to do is get outs.

Witt said he was aware of the no-hitter in the fourth inning, but after the seventh, "I knew I could do it." He threw just 94 pitches - 70 strikes and 24 balls - and only four putouts were recorded by California outfielders.

Texas starter Charlie Hough, 16-14, who went the distance and scattered seven hits, also was a bit amazed.

"I never saw a guy get ahead like that before. After the third inning, I knew he had a chance," Hough said. "I've seen three other no hitters, but this was the most overpowering performance I've seen.'

Hough posted his 17th complete game of the year — tops in the American League.

For the Angels, it was a sweet ending for a season that ended just three games shy of the AL West championship.

"We had a chance to win second," said California Manager John McNamara. "We could have just gone out and gone through the motions. This is an important day for this club."

McNamara wasn't a bit surprised by Witt's perfect day. "I knew he had it today," McNamara said. "He had total command of his pitches. He had

"Mike did it all today," said Angels catcher Bob Boone, who caught the first no-hitter in his anything now," he said. The Royals made it into the American League playoffs again this year, but Frey said he won't association has ordered its feel funny facing his former members to strike the playoffs players if the Cubs and Kansas City meet in the World Series.

The Rams manhandled the New York Giants 33-12 Sunday, registering a National Football League record three safeties and generally embarrassing the Giants' offensive line, which was called for holding nine times. half points, then San Diego held off a furious Detroit rally. The Chargers drove 80, 49 and 87 yards for scores in the first half and led 24-7 at intermission. Then Gary Danielson and Billy Sims - who had an 81-yard run - sparked the Lions. Danielson even hit James Jones on an 8-yard, go-ahead scoring toss in the final minutes, but it was negated by an offensive interference penalty.

Royals, Tigers

ready to do battle

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) -Sparky Anderson was merely stating the obvious, but the Detroit manager may ruffle a few feathers on the eve of the American League playoffs

The Western Division champions from Kansas City would be alsorans in the tough AL East, Anderson noted.

Mathematically speaking, he's right. The Royals will represent what many believe is the worst division in the major leagues. They won the West an 84-76 record, 20 games short of the 104-58 mark Detroit posted in the East.

"Kansas City has played well. They've got a good ballclub," Anderson said. "I think we have to remember one thing. They couldn't have done that in any other division."

The Royals, however, are weary of hearing about what a pushover their division is. Any hint of Tiger bravado is certain to stir resentment when the action starts at 7:30 p.m. CST Tuesday night in Royals Stadium

Also sure to grab attention is a planned strike by major league umpires. National League umpire Paul Runge, vice president of the Major League Baseball Umpires Association, confirmed late Sunday that umpires would strike the playoffs and World Series. Money and job security, among other things, were matters of contention in the union's contract negotiations with Major League Baseball.

Royals centerfielder Willie Wilson said the Tigers will "be hyper and up. But if they're too up, they'll come down hard.

The Tigers were easily the best team in the game the first two months of the season and the Royals were certainly among the worst. They were beset by injury and controversy. Wilson, an all-star outfielder who won the AL batting title in 1982, sat out the first 32 games because of a drug-related suspension. All-star third baseman George Brett missed the first month and much of the last month with injury.

The Royals, who said themselves they were in a "transition year," didn't reach .500 until September.

"I really like their ball club and after June, they're as good as any ballclub in the league," said Anderson. "But in this division, you play Green Bay like that before June, you finish Detroit

"I've been playing special teams for four years," said Lane, who started the season with 23 career

Washington's defense sacked Eagle quarterback Ron Jaworski four times and shut down Philadelphia. John Riggins rushed for 104 yards and a touchdown and Joe Theismann hit Art Monk on a 51-yard scoring pass.

Miami used a familiar formula: Dan Marino throwing to his talented corps of receivers for big yardage and lots of points. Marino, who leads the NFL with 15 touchdown throws, hit for a teamrecord 429 yards and three touchde 'ns on 24 completions in 36

Tight end Joe Rose caught a 26-yarder, Mark Clayton hauled in a 29-yard strike and Tony Nathan scored from 22 yards on Marino

49'ers 14

Falcons 5

San Francisco kept its record spotless as Joe Montana hit on a pair of touchdown tosses and the defense stopped Atlanta — which was averaging 30.5 points a game four times inside the 49er 10. Montana, wearing a flak jacket to protect bruised ribs which forced him out of last week's game, threw to Russ Francis for a 5-yard score and to Mike Wilson for a 21-yard

The Falcons rolled up 418 yards on offense as Steve Bartkowski passed for 267 yards and Gerald Riggs, leading rusher in the NFL, ran for 136.

Pats 28

Jets 21

New England controlled the ball with long drives and Tony Eason connected on 28 of 42 passes for 354 yards and three touchdowns. He also scored on a 4-yard run.

Colts 31

Bills 17

Indianapolis' running attack, ranked second in the NFL entering the game, was stopped cold in the first half. But it came alive in the second half behind Randy McMillan, who wound up with 114 yards and two touchdowns. Joe Dufek, making his first start as Bills quarterback, ran for a touchdown and threw for another.

Broncos 16

Raiders 13

Denver knocked the defending Super Bowl champions from the undefeated ranks — only Miami and San Francisco are perfect at 5-0 — in a bitter battle. Gerald Willhite's 4-yard scoring run and three Rich Karlis field goals did the damage for the Broncos in a fightmarred game, lifting 4-1 Denver into a tie with the Raiders and Seahawks for first place in the AFC

GET OUT OF MY WAY - The New York Jets quarterback Pat Ryan (10) is tackled during a short run by new England Patriots Fred Marion during the fourth quarter of Sunday's game at Giants Stadium. The Jets lost to the Patriots 28-21.

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1984

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening when you will have a considerable amount of energy, and it will need to be channeled into constructive direction if you are to use it wisely.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Plan how to get into civic work that interests you, and do a good job at it. Be tactful with a prominent person. Rest up tonight.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You can get fine ideas now that can bring you greater prosperity and happiness, so be more alert and broad-minded. GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Study your standing in practical affairs and resolve to pay as many bills as you can, even if only partially.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) When dealing with a practical person, don't show any sentiment when businesslike methods are expected.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Plan how to get your work improved and choose the best persons who can assist you. You may get a fine invitation. VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get your pleasures arranged more as you would like them to be. If kin want you to get into something with them, do so cheerfully. LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) See what needs improvement at your house and then get right to it. Please others at home and be happy.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Many discussions are needed with your allies before you can get some project working successfully.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Study your property and other assets and know how to improve and add to them. Be careful in going after some personal aim. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Be more concerned with your own goals and gain them by paying particular attention to the details.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You had better study every phase of that plan well before you put it in operation. Do not confide in a friend who could upset you. PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Rely on a friend to help you gain a personal aim that means a great deal to you.

Use a more diplomatic approach.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will have an exceptional amount of energy which should be channeled in proper directions, such as sports and the like. One who should have a fine education. One who will be able to work well with others and will be a stickler for precision and neatness.

"The Stars impel; they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you! 1984. The McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

Skunks raising stink in Austin

AUSTIN (AP) - Mrs. Harold Thiele had to raise quite a stink herself before she was able to get rid of a skunk that wandered into her kitchen.

It took about 24 hours and dozens of calls to seven public and private agencies before the skunk was removed from her premises.

It all happened this way, she

Mrs. Thiele said the skunk slipped into her kitchen through a small swinging door used by the family cat. she said she became concerned that the animal was disoriented and acting "unskunklike." So she called Austin

Police arrived, but said they would have to get special permission to shoot the skunk. They were also concerned because it was cowering behind an oven. They feared the ensuing smell and the danger of hitting a gas pipe. The of-ficers suggested Mrs. Thiele call Austin Animal Control.

Animal Control did not answer the telephone Saturday night. So Mrs. Thiele forced the skunk into a

The woman called animal control officers again Sunday morning, but employees there refused to come out and get the captured

The next call went to Wildlife Rescue Inc., a non-profit, volunteer group that deals with animals including car-struck opossums, downed birds, and starving deer. But they don't handle skunks.

"We do only non-dangerous animals," said rescue volunteer Linda Berg. "Over half of all skunks tested are found to have rabies. They're a real serious problem, and if it wandered into somebody's kitchen during the day, it's got to be sick." Next up on Mrs. Thiele's telephone list was the Texas Department of Health. They told her they could not do anything about the skunk unless it bit someone. They suggested that she bring in the decapitated head for rabies testing.

"I don't have a gun," said Mrs. Thiele. "How was I supposed to kill it? Strangle it to death?"

A call to the Austin City Sanitation Department resulted in Mrs. Thiele being told that they would come and haul the skunk away if it had been dead 24 hours.

Next up on the call list was the Austin Humane Society. They said they did not handle wild animals, but would gas the skunk if Mrs. Thiele brought it in. She did not have transportation to take the caged skunk there.

"The TV is full of commercials telling us to report rabid animals, but nobody will do anything about them if you do call," the exasperated woman told the Austin American-Statesman newspaper.

The newspaper called Austin City Manager Jorge Carrasco at home Sunday night. He sent an employee from animal control to "eliminate the problem."

Before Carrasco was contacted by the American-Statesman, Mrs. Thiele said she was not going to let the skunk go, fearing that it might have rabies. "Turning it loose is just passing the buck, and I've had enough of that for one day," she
