She is scheduled to be at the Howard County Courthouse at 9:30 a.m.

She also will travel to Loraine, San Angelo and Abilene Wednedsday.

storm

Thunder, lightning and hail replaced alarm clocks early this morning as Big Springers awoke to a storm that left more than a half inch of rain and light hail in parts of the county.

The surprise storm, which hit the area about 5:30 a.m., left .67 of an inch of rain at the U.S. Big Spring Field Station north of the city. That brings the official total for the year to 8.14 inches of rain. Normal to date is 15.60 inches.

Kathy Bayes, a secretary at the Knott Co-Op Gin, said farmers there were reporting from .6 of an inch to three-quarters of an inch of rain. 'We also had reports of about 10 minutes of hail," Mrs. Bayes said. Reports of hail came from around the Brown Community.

Mrs. Bayes said the hail did little damage because "there's not that much cotton" in the fields to Farmers in Glasscock County

Police say defendant 'drinking' By KEELY COGHLAN

A man on trial for involuntary manslaughter had "a rather strong odor of alcohol" after an accident last spring that killed a 60-year-old Big Spring woman, according to police testimony today.

The two-vehicle accident occurred about midnight on Wasson Road near Belvedere Street. Helen Ziegler of 4100 Connally died eight days later in Malone-Hogan Hospital from injuries received in the wreck.

Police determined that William Joseph Diliberto, the driver of one of the vehicles and the defendant in the 118th District Court trial, "was intoxicated or had been drinking,' Officer Bud Jones said. Jones was shift supervisor on March 19, the night of the accident, and assisted in the investigation.

Miss Ziegler said she drank one beer "early in the evening" the night of the accident and her mother had about two beers.
"I saw headlights," Miss Ziegler said. "The car shot out like a bullet. That's the only thing I saw, the headlights." After the accident, Miss Ziegler said, her mother "was screaming that she couldn't breathe and I was trying to help her."

Miss Ziegler testified that glass was lodged in her forehead and she suffered a broken ankle in the accident. She was hospitalized until March 27 - the same day her mother died.

David Ziegler was released after a two-day hospital stay, according to testimony.

Diliberto also was treated for injuries but was not hospitalized. Jones testified Diliberto was outside the car he was driving when Miss Ziegler, 29, also of 4100 Con- police arrived at the accident.

WASHINGTON (AP) -Republican Rep. Phil Gramm of Texas is leading the nation in raising congressional campaign funds from oil and gas industry political action committees, according to a new study. Gramm, seek-ing the Senate seat of retiring Republican John Tower, had received a total of $187,489 from oil PHIL GRAMM and gas PACs as of Sept. 1. At the same time, his opponent, Democratic state Sen. Lloyd Doggett, had gotten only one $20 gift. The study, based solely on filings by 212 oil and gas industry PACs with the Federal Election Commission from Jan. 1, 1983 through this past August, showed Republicans on average faring twice as well as Democrats in raising money from energy interests. GOP candidates for the 33 Senate seats at stake in 1984 so far have received an average $41,650 from oil and gas PACs compared with an average $17,684 for Democrats. In races for the 435 House seats, energy interests have contributed an average $8,502 to each Republican candidate and $4,304 to each Democratic contender. "About the only places oil and gas PACs are supporting Democrats are in the producing states of Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana unless they are key members of the House leadership or Senate committees," said Mike Podhorzer, an author of the study. Through August, according to the FEC reports, the oil and gas PACs made contributions totaling $5.47 million to congressional candidates.

Scattered showers and thunderstorms swept wide areas of the Plains and Midwest early today and extended into the upper Ohio River Valley.

A few thunderstorms continued over southeast Missouri and western Illinois, while a line of thunderstorms developed over northern Arkansas.

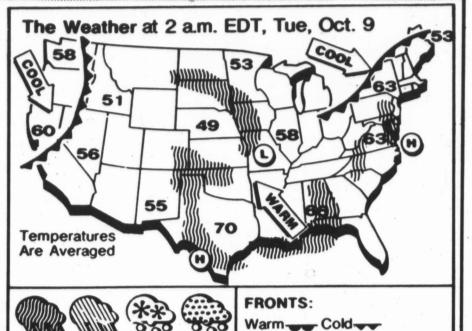

Scattered thundershowers rumbled over southeast Colorado, western portions of the southern Plains and southern Texas.

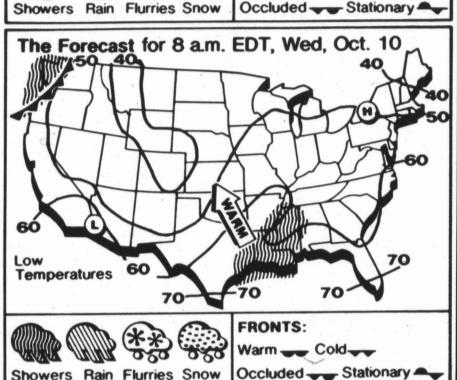

It also was raining over the upper Ohio Valley, Iowa and Alabama. Fog shrouded north central portions of the nation from the Dakotas to the upper Ohio Valley.

Today's forecast called for showers and thunderstorms from south central Texas across the lower Ohio Valley. Thundershowers were expected over the northern half of Texas and from the upper Ohio Valley to Mississippi, Georgia and Florida. Scattered showers were forecast over western Washington, southern New England and from New York state to Maryland. Sunny skies were expected over the Rockies and the Southwest

Today's high temperatures were expected to be in the 50s over much of New England; in the 60s over the northern Pacific Coast and from the central Rockies across the northern half of the Plains, the upper Mississippi Valley and the Great Lakes; in the low 80s from the southern Atlantic coast across eastern Texas; 90 over southern Texas; and in the 90s through the Desert

New York to march 25 blocks Monday in the Columbus Day parade. While the vice president's plane was still on the ground in Washington, Mrs. Bush complained to news service reporters that her husband was being criticized unfairly for paying only 12.8 percent in federal income taxes last

She said that when state and other taxes are figured in, the Bushes paid 32 percent of their gross income in taxes. With a smile on her face, Mrs. Bush said she and her husband enjoy their comfortable style of living and don't pretend to be poor "like that $4 million I can't say it, but it rhymes with rich.

At that point, the plane began taxiing and Mrs. Bush left to take her seat in the vice president's cabin

Later, the two reporters asked to speak with Mrs. Bush again about her remark, but she was not available. Later interviewed by television reporters, Mrs. Bush said, "I called Mrs. Ferraro and told her I would never call her a witch for anything.'

Teeley said he talked with Mrs. Bush and "she said she was guilty (of making the remark) as a result of a humorous encounter with the press which she thought was off the record.

"I must say, however, she was quite surprised she was quoted on it, under the circumstances ... standing in the aisle, with two reporters trading humorous exchanges,' Teeley said. He said Mrs. Bush did not mean to be derogatory.

Ms. Ferraro and Mondale have been among those saying that Bush's disclosure that he paid 12.8 percent of his income in federal taxes last year illustrates unfairness in Reagan administration tax cuts.

Financial disclosure reports have placed the Bush family net worth at $2.1 million and Ms. Ferraro and her husband, John Zaccaro's, at $3.8 million.

According to tax returns releas-ed last week by Bush, he and his wife paid 48.6 percent of their adjusted gross income as federal taxes in 1981, 24.2 percent in 1982 and 12.8 percent last year.

Ferraro and her husband reported paying 26.1 percent in 1981, 26.5 percent in 1982 and 33.6 percent last year.

Store grows into empire

AUSTIN (AP) - Once a little counterculture grocery store known for yogurt and trail mix, Whole Foods Market has grown into a not-so-modest corporate empire.

"We have growing pains every day, literally," said Mark Skiles, vice president for marketing. "It's mostly logistical problems. I've just gotten used to it."

Once a bouncing infant enterprise nutured on kiefer, goats milk and everything free of preservatives and artificial coloring, Whole Foods today is a business success story written by young people with long hair and bushy beards who came to work in T-shirts, blue jeans and sandals.

Now those same employees not only enjoy such benefits as sick leave and paid vacations, they also get to enroll in the company's profit-sharing plan and an employee stock ownership plan.

All that plus a 20 percent discount on granola, tufu pizza and alfalfa sprouts. The Whole Foods story is one of growth, expansion, increased sales and profits year after year.

Whole Foods has grown to three supermarkets with a fourth on the way. It has a wholly owned subsidiary called Texas Health Distributors which supplies not only its stores, but HEB supermarkets and other food stores in Texas and Louisiana.

An affiliated operation, Shiner Produce Co., opened about a year ago in Los Angeles to supply fruits and vegetables to the Whole Foods Market chain.

Fire Chief Dorton gives fire prevention speech

Staff Writer

It was exactly 113 years ago yesterday that a certain cantankerous cow belonging to a Mrs. O'Leary kicked back it's historic hoof, knocked over a kerosene lantern in a Chicago barn and started one of the greatest conflagrations in a nation's history.

Perhaps conventional wisdom has romaticized the fire over the years, but a tally of the devastation incured during the three-day holocaust is startling. The fire took 250 lives, burned over 31/2 square miles, left almost 100,000 homeless and destroyed property valued at about $175 million — in 1871 dollars.

Fire Chief Carl Dorton, newly appointed to the position yesterday, ticked off the facts of the fire to point up the Big Spring Fire Department's efforts for Fire Prevention Week, held each year on the anniversary of the Great Chicago Fire.

Dorton said fire departments across the nation designate this week for fire education. Big Spring firefighters are visiting elementary classrooms around the district to inform children of fire prevention and fire protection, he said. 'So when Johnny comes home and tells Mom and Dad they shouldn't me kill

Also on tap for explanation are the principles of EDITH - Exit Drills Inside the Home, he said. According to the fire chief, equally important to children knowing how to get out of a burning home is their understanding of what to do once outside.

Dorton said parents should arrange a meeting place with their children so they can make sure all family members get out safely.

He said the department also offers a "tot finder" program whereby parents place special stickers at their entryways and on children's bedroom windows. Firefighters will know more quickly were children are located if parents use the stickers, which are available from neighborhood fire stations, he said.

The body of Kerry Thomas, 11, was found Sept. 12 covered with leaves and debris four days after she was shot by her best friend.

The accused girl claims she shot the girl accidentally, then buried the body and cleaned up the evidence because she was scared. It will be up to a state district court jury to decide if the shooting was intentional, the result of the girl's recklessness, or accidental. The adolescent is being tried for the juvenile equivalent of murder and involuntary manslaughter. Jury selection began today.

The 12-year-old told authorities the shotgun fired accidentally and that she then dragged the body into the backyard of her Benbrook home, hid it under a pile of debris, cleaned up the blood in her living room and kept silent until the body was found - all because she was scared.

But Tarrant County prosecutors disagreed and filed delinquent conduct-murder and delinquent conduct-involuntary manslaughter charges against the girl on Sept. 17.

Kerry Thomas' parents also believe the child deliberately pulled the trigger, hid the body and lied to police.

'All the gory details. It's all going to come out. It's going to be very difficult to have to live through what Kerry went through," Kerry's mother, Peggy Thomas, told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram before the trial.

"I want to see justice done for Kerry," she said. "And after all this has sunk in, I don't believe for a minute that it was an accident."

Kerry had been spending the weekend at her friend's house. The accused girl told police that at about 5 p.m. on Sept. 8, she got the shotgun, loaded it and leveled it at her friend. While she fidgeted with the weapon, it accidentally discharged, striking Kerry in the face, she told police.

Should jurors find delinquent conduct in the death, the young girl faces a maximum penalty of incarceration at a Texas Youth Commission facility until she is 18.

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Six union officials were Bob Roth said as the pickets were led away. arrested Monday after a group of pickets defied a court order and marched to a forbidden area of the amusement park near the ticket booths, police said. Park officials twice asked the pickets to leave and were turned down, then called police, said Disneyland spokeswoman Sydne Huwaidi. All except six union business agents dispersed when police arrived, she Disneyland officials held the six and turned them over to police, who formally arrested them for violating the court order, she said.

All six union officials were released later on personal recognizance.

They were identified as Bob Dan Gable, 50, head of the strikers' negotiating team; Jeffrey LeTourneau, 28, a business agent for the Hotel and Restaurant Employees union; Edward Dahlenburg, 55, secretarytreasurer of the Teamsters local; AFL-CIO representative Jeffrey Fiedler, 37, and two officers of the Service Employees Local 399: president James A. Zellers, 49, and vice president Richard P. Davis, 45.

Ms. Huwaidi originally said 10 picketers were arrested but police spokeswoman Carol Johnson said that six people were taken into custody.

"It's a sad day for Disneyland," park spokesman

The arrests came at midday after about 120 strikers and union leaders moved their picket line from the park's perimeter to near its main ticket booths, about a quarter-mile inside Disneyland property beyond its sprawling parking lots.

Last week, a Superior Court commissioner granted a temporary restraining order barring pickets from the ticket-booth area. Picketers on Monday littered the ground with copies of the court order as they chanted, "We want a contract."

More than 1,800 of Disneyland's 5,000 workers, including janitors, ticket sellers, ride operators and restaurant workers, struck Sept. 25 after refusing to accept a wage freeze. The unions represent about half of the park's unionized work force.

Ms. Huwaidi said park officials "regret" the arrests but added, "Pickets in this area intrude on our show and disrupt the atmosphere which our guests expect when they come to Disneyland.'

Union officials were out of the office and couldn't be reached for comment.

Meanwhile, union attorneys indicated that the state

Supreme Court could rule as soon as Tuesday on a request that the high court halt enforcement of the picketing restrictions pending an appeal.

Suits take a tuck in inner space fit

To save money, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration has given up custom-tailored spacesuits. Instead of getting individually fitted, astronauts now have to equip themselves from off-the-rack, choosing from a stock of 32 reusable spacesuits in assorted sizes that NASA was able to buy for the spacesuit equivalent of wholesale.

It's a real bargain for the taxpayers, of course, but not for five of the eight women in NASA's space shuttle program. Every male astronaut seems to fit one or another of the suits in stock, even though the fit has to be near perfect — within one-tenth of an inch in the sleeve and within one-quarter of an inch in the leg. But the five women are simply too small even for NASA's size extra-small suit, and NASA only bought one extra-small anyway and that's a training number that can't be used in outer space.

Astronaut Mary Cleave — at 5 feet 2 inches, 100 pounds, definitely a junior petite — says the women, as a result, are being kept out of the interesting parts of the space missions, the parts where spacesuits are required. But NASA says it has no plans, at $500,000 an ensemble, to buy any new suits. (Never mind that it costs considerably more than that to train an astronaut and restrict her usefulness.)

"We're not discriminating; we're trying to be economical," says the agency's crew equipment chief. It's NASA's practice that seems less than economical.

This bookie bytes

I'm not a betting man by nature but I have this bookmaker. He works for the Reluctant Insurance Company of America. This is how we bet. Every month I give him a certain amount of money, and he takes a gamble that my house won't burn down or be broken into or damaged by a falling tree. Another bet I place with him is that my car won't hit someone in an accident, or I won't be hit by somebody else. Still a third one is that my family will not be stricken with an illness that would require hospitalization.

Funny enough, I was never anxious to win one of these bets. I didn't want to collect from the bookie on any of them. He seemed to feel the same way I did. So much so that, if for some reason, I forgot to send him my check for one of our bets, he would mail me a nasty letter, wanting to know where the money was. He was not, he told me, in the bookmaking business for his health.

Well recently, due to an illness in my family, my bookie lost one of the bets. Since this was the first time I had won I thought he would be happy to pay off. After all, even in Las Vegas the house expects to lose once in a while.

So I wrote him a nice letter telling him that I had won the bet with him that no one in the family would ever have to go to the hospital for

But instead of congratulating me, I got a very terse letter back telling me he refused to accept my word until I produced the facts that he had lost. What hurt was he didn't even sign the letter "Sincerely.

I sent him all the hospital and doctor bills and pointed out I wasn't making a dime on the wager. As a matter of fact, since he only covered 80 percent of costs I was still a loser.

His next letter arrived with 15 green forms and 20 red forms. Each body in the hospital, I was told, had to fill out either the green or red, or both, depending on what they had done

A month later, when I didn't receive a check, I called the bookie at Reluctant's offices in Des Moines. He said he had received all the forms but couldn't pay off on the bet. He had to send it to his chief bookie in Chicago.

I protested I had made the bet with him and asked him why he couldn't send me my money. He told me that it wasn't his job to pay off bets for the Reluctant Insurance Company, but just to collect the money from me. "Are you mad because I finally won a bet?'

"I'm not mad at you. But they

"Who's they?" "The guys in Chicago. They don't like to lose, because then they can't gamble on another skyscraper, or loan a billion dollars to the Chrysler Corporation.

"That's tough," I said. "But when a bookie loses he has to pay off or he won't stay in business very long.

'We'll probably pay you, but your wager has to be reviewed by our in-house betting commission.

"How long will that take?" "As long as they can keep making 15 percent interest on your

Two months went by and I still received no word on my bet. So I decided to take action, as any professional gambler would do under the circumstances. I grabbed a hammer from the tool box.

"Where are you going?" my wife

"To Chicago and break the legs of the chief bookie if he won't pay off my bet.

She wept as my plane took off from Washington. I returned the next day.

"Did he pay you?" my wife

"No," I said. "So did you break his legs?"

"I couldn't because he didn't have legs. The chief bookie in Chicago is a computer.

Top-dollar pricing is widespread

WASHINGTON — The public is rightfully outraged by revelations that the Pentagon routinely pays exorbitant prices for spare parts, hand tools and coffee-makers.

Despite the shocking extravagance laid bare by such stories, Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger and his subordinate spendthrifts insist that these horror stories are the exceptions! not the rule. The system, they say, is basically sound. But is it?

As part of our continuing series on waste in government, my associate Donald Goldberg has studied an internal analysis of certain Navy contracts by investigators for the House Appropriations Committee. The analysis was not intended to be made public, but I think its conclusions deserve to be shouted from the rooftops.

In a nutshell, the committee investigators found that two major shipbuilders are making profits of more than 20 percent - in one case, nearly 30 percent - on nuclear submarines and aircraft carriers ordered by the Navy. The true extent of their profits is covered up by a bookkeeping procedure. Here's the story: Back in the mid-1970s, the nowdefunct Cost Accounting Standards Board created a loophole known as Cost Accounting Standard No. 414. Simply stated, it allows defense contractors to pass on to the government any finance costs incurred in the construction of new facilities needed for a particular build modern defense plants. The government would help pay the finance charges.

At a time of sky-high interest rates, Loophole No. 414 was intended to encourage contractors to or 29.7 percent.

Critics point out that 414, while flawed from the start, has become simply a gift to the contractors now that interest rates have come down and the government makes 'progress payments' as often as twice a month. Yet this "cost of money" is not classified as profit, as even Navy contract officers think it should be.

The House committee investigators looked at just five contracts awarded to General Dynamics' Electric Boat Division in Groton, Conn., and Tenneco's Newport News, Va., shipyard. By putting the cost-of-money giveaway in the profit column, they arrived at the shipbuilders' "real" profits on the contracts. Here they

For one Los Angeles-class nuclear sub with a target price of nearly $240 million, Electric Boat will make a profit of more than $42 million, or 21.7 percent.

• For a similar sub with an estimated cost of $292 million, Electric Boat will make a profit of $43 million, or 17.3 percent

 A Los Angeles-class sub built by Newport News has a target price of $236 million, on which the company stands to make a profit of $48 million, or 25.6 percent.

 A Trident-735 submarine being built by Electric Boat will cost an estimated $532.6 million. The profit will be nearly $96 million, or 22

 Aircraft carriers to be built by Newport News will cost an estimated $3.3 billion. The profit on the contract will total $753 million, Unfortunately, there's little chance that Loophole No. 414 will be plugged anytime soon. Acting right in character, the Pentagon brass have put the accounting henhouse in the foxy hands of the defense procurement office — the contractors' best friend at the fivesided fund factory on the Potomac.

"if they're

As if that weren't enough to ensure continued waste and extravagance by the armed services, the Pentagon last year asked for and received authority to "adopt, reject or grant exemptions to" regulations intended to keep defense contractors from gouging the taxpayers.

So if a contractor wants to charge $400 for a ballpeen hammer, or make 30 percent profit on a weapon, all he has to do is ask a pal at the Pentagon.

Debate was a yawner

By CAROL BALDWIN

Here are a few thoughts on the Presidential debate Sunday night. In the first place it was a little too polite. I know a debate isn't supposed to be a knock-down, drag-out type of argument but it could have used a little more spice.

I knew going into the debate that it wouldn't be the same as Saturday night wrestling with two opponents chasing each other around the ring. But Saturday night wrestling is about as outrageous as politics and certainly more entertaining.

My husband and I watched the debate with our decoder, or closed captioning machine, on. The captions were almost perfect, which is a giveaway that the debate was going very much as planned with few surprises.

Occasionally Reagan or Mondale would get a little irritated, flustered or carried away with what they were saying. Still it was hard to get excited about what was going on during the 100 minutes of the debate.

It was too cut and dried. I would have liked to have seen a little more emotion instead of wellrehearsed responses.

I doubt that the debate changed many minds. I had my favorite candidate going into the debate and he remained by favorite coming out of the debate.

In the back of their minds both candidates were hoping to wipe out their opponent and come across as the man to vote for. But there is the pressure of 100 million viewers hanging on to every word and both candidates had to avoid turning the audience off by being overbearing.

Another complaint I had was the choice of the panel. I didn't disagree with the choices but I was saddened to learn that many journalists' names had been submitted and almost every name had been vetoed by one side or the other.

Barbara Walters spoke briefly to protest the situation. She handled it well. She made her complaint then quickly changed the subject.

Then there were the panelists. Considering the size of their audience and the pressure they, too, were under, they did a good job. But Diane Sawyer seemed to take forever to get to her questions. I looking forward to the debate between Geraldine Ferraro and and George Bush. Ferraro has handled herself well in pressure situations before, and Bush has been calm under attack, too. Maybe they will open up a little

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am a adults are getting only 450 to 550 54-year-old woman in fair health. Besides calcium intake, what else can a woman my age do to prevent osteoporosis? It seems to be a popular subject in the magazines, etc. these days. And why does there seem to be a difference of opinion about how much calcium a woman should get daily? — F.N.

Osteoporosis is an important subject, especially for women, who are the chief victims. I have given it my share of attention in this space.

I haven't talked much about exercise, though, as one preventive of this bone-thinning condition. It's important. Everytime you exercise joints and limbs, muscles contract. Each muscle is attached to a bone, so with contraction there's a tug on bone surfaces. That's a stimulus for the bone to lay down more calcium and become stronger. It makes for more efficient utilization of the calcium you get in food. Even people who are told they already have osteoporosis can usually engage in some form of tolerable exercise to enhance this process.

There are changing ideas about how much calcium an adult needs daily to maintain good bone health. The current officially recommended amount is 800 milligrams. I think a better recommendation is for 1,000 to 1,500 mgs. daily. Many

Parents carry grudge to grave

DEAR ABBY: I am sitting here brokenhearted over a problem that could have been resolved years ago. My father died last week; my mother died a year ago. Although we were very close when I was younger, they stopped speaking to me six years ago when I decided to live with my boyfriend, whom I have since married.

When I first told my parents I was moving in with my boyfriend, they called me "slut, tramp" and a few other names you can't print.

I was over 21 and wasn't hurting myself or anybody else, but after this move, they wanted nothing more to do with me. When I invited them to my wedding, they didn't even respond.

Now that they are gone, I feel angry and bitter that they could let this one difference come between us forever. They missed the opportunity of sharing their lives with me, my husband and our son.

Why am I writing? Because I hope you will print this as a plea to other parents who feel the way mine did about living together. Please, parents, don't lock your children out of your lives because their ideas differ from yours. NO NAME, PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: Here's your letter. I'm sure many parents will identify with it. My mail tells me that although most parents disapprove of "living together," they accept it rather than lose their children

DEAR ABBY: Recently you printed a letter from a 14-year-old adoptee, asking how to contact one's birth parents. You advised him to register with International Soundex Reunion Registry in Carson City, Nev.

Until I read it in your column, I never knew such a service existed. I have often had a desire to contact the daughter I placed for adoption 21 years ago.

I filed my application, and within days, a match was made! (My daughter had filed with Soundex Registry, too.) I have spoken with her on the phone, and we made plans to meet in the near future. I am still recovering from the incredible experience. Thank you for making it possible!

KATHERINE C. IN SAN FRANCISCO

DEAR KATHERINE: I share your joy. I want to repeat, however, that minors may register with Soundex, but until they are 18, they may not be matched with their birth parents. And only if their parents have also registered with Soundex can a match be made. I am in full agreement that birth parents and adoptees should be able to meet, but only when it is mutually agreeable.

Johnnie Lou Avery is a Big Spring Winner on a scale that leaves most of us breathless. How does she do it all? "Everybody can do what I do," Johnnie Lou believes, "You've just got to believe in yourself. You may not be able to do a job perfectly, but you do it the best you can." She was one of 12 women recently inducted into the first Texas Women's Hall of Fame. Johnnie Lou became the first woman president of the Chamber of Commerce in the critical year after losing Webb Air Force Base (and we won a national award as a model community in recovering from the loss of a military facility.) She serves on 35 local boards, committees and agencies; and on dozens of state and national boards and committees. She operates her own business, Avery & Associates, and recently was named the regional SBA Outstanding Woman Business Advocate. She feels a special satisfaction in her roles as founder of Blue Blazers (Women's Division of the Chamber) and in Leadership Big Spring (program to train future community leaders.) "I take on things because I feel I can make a contribution." Johnnie Lou has been married to Jerry Avery, sales rep for West Texas Wholesale Supply, for 27 years; they have a daughter, Joni, 20, senior at TCU. The Averys are tournament fishermen and "nothing interferes with our volleyball night" at First Christian Church.

Texas reports record number voter sign-ups

By The Associated Press

With voter registration for the Nov. 6 general election over, county officials across Texas are reporting record numbers of sign-ups from would-be voters. In some counties, officials were adding personnel Monday to process the

In Williamson County, north of Austin, officials reported that 90 percent of all eligible voters had registered. Among counties where a record number of new voters have registered are McLennan, Fort Bend, Lubbock and Hidalgo

Officials of both major political parties interpreted the higher registrations as indications of increased strength for their

Secretary of State Myra McDaniel predicted a general election turnout of 7.5 million voters, about 700,000 more than were eligible to vote as of last spring.

However, Harris County voter Registrar Carl Smith cautioned that enthusiasm in October doesn't necessarily mean a record vote in November

"You can register all day, but it won't do any good if they don't vote," Smith said.

U.S. Rep. Phil Gramm and State Sen. Lloyd Doggett on Monday continued their appeals for support in their bids for the U.S. Senate from Texas. Monday

Gramm said he plans to keep his campaign for the U.S. Senate on a positive note even though his rival has begun a "period of the big lie" that distorts his position on Social Security and other key issues.

Doggett, a Democratic state senator, used an Austin news conference Monday to unveil a new television advertisement that criticizes Gramm's stand on Social Security. Gramm's record on the issue shows that he "just does not care," the ad charges

Gramm and Doggett are vying for the Senate seat held since 1961 by Republican Sen. John Tower.

Gramm, who was first elected to Congress as a Democrat but later switched parties, said in an El Paso appearance that the advertisement pulls past quotes out of context.

Doggett said Gramm has refused to stand in defense of the Social Security system even though "his own president" promised during his debate with Walter Mondale Sunday night "never" to cut Social Security benefits to current recipients.

He then asked rhetorically why Gramm, who has campaigned on his close ties to Reagan, refuses to make the same pledge.

"I'll tell you why. ... Phil Gramm just does not care. What other solution can there be?" Doggett said. Gramm said the TV advertisments take statements Gramm made "totally out of context." Gramm said Doggett's campaign is "getting into the period of the big lie," but said he has no plans to counter with negative advertising of his own. "I try to keep campaigns on an issue plane," the congressman said.

Gramm also predicted that Doggett's campaign tactics will get nastier as the November general election draws near.

"I do believe that because my opponent's losing," Gramm said after assailing Doggett for accepting what Gramm said is "hundreds of thousands of dollars" in contributions from special interest

Meanwhile, a new study released in Washington showed that Gramm is leading the nation in raising con-

The study, based solely on filings by 212 oil and gas industry PACs with the Federal Election Commission from Jan. 1, 1983 through this past August, was released Monday. It was put together by the Citizen-Labor Energy Coalition, an organization of unions and consumer groups critical of the oil and

AP Sports Writer SAN DIEGO (AP) — The Detroit Tigers last appeared in the World Series in 1968. The San Diego Padres not only are making their first trip to the World Series, but 1984 marks their first taste of postseason play.

When the World Series begins Tonight (7:35 p.m. CST), there will be a featured matchup of two managers who already have met once in the World Series, in 1972. That was when Detroit's Sparky Anderson was with Cincinnati and San Diego's Dick Williams was with Oakland.

Williams won that time; Anderson did not win the first of his two World Series until 1975.

Regardless of who wins this time, however, history will be made. One of these managers will become the first to win a World Series in each league as the two have flip-flopped leagues since their last meeting.

Since this is an even-numbered year, the designated hitter will be used in the World Series. Other than having to find a DH, San Diego comes into the World Series with a set lineup, while the Tigers use a lefty-righty platoon at three positions — DH, third base and left

DICK WILLIAMS

The Tigers won 104 games during the season to capture the American League East, then beat Kansas City in three straight games in the AL Championship Series. The Padres won a club-record 92 games to capture the National League West, then beat Chicago in five games to win the NL Championship Series. The matchups:

Darrell Evans, a left-handed hitter, is the Tigers' regular first baseman, unless he plays at third base in Anderson's platoon. When Evans is at third, another left-handed hitter, Dave Bergman plays first. Steve Garvey, Most Valuable Player of the NLCS, is the Padres' first baseman. Evans hit only .232 during the season but drove in 63 runs and hit 16 home runs.

Bergman was a 273 hitter with 44 RBI and seven homers. Garvey had a subpar year, hitting only eight homers, but batted 284 with 86 RBI. He had seven RBI in the

Although Garvey has problems throw-ing, he set a major league record by not committing an error in 161 regular-season

Give Garvey the edge

SECOND BASE
Lou Whitaker plays this position almost flawlessly for the Tigers. He committed only 15 errors this year compared with 32 by Padres second baseman Alan Wiggins, a converted outfielder. Wiggins led the Padres by scoring 106 runs, while Whitaker scored 90, tops on the Tigers. Whitaker, however, has more power and it 13 between with 56 RBI. Wiggins decree hit 13 homers with 56 RBI. Wiggins drove in 34 runs with three homers.

A big edge goes to Whitaker. SHORTSTOP Alan Trammell has a sore shoulder, but he managed to be effective at shortstop for the Tigers during the playoffs, when he hit .364. Garry Templeton sparked San Diego's Game 3 victory but hasn't had the same kind of season as Trammell homers, while Templeton batted .258 with 35 RBI and two homers. Call this a tossup, only because Tram-mell in slightly injured and because Templeton has been a team leader for the

Trammell hit .314 with 69 RBI and 14

into the majors as a third baseman but was converted to catcher. Graig Nettles plays here most of the time for the Padres, although Luis Salazar was used

The Tigers don't get much offense from Castillo, .234 and 17 RBI, while Nettles had 65 RBI and 20 homers to belie his .228 batting average. Nettles, even at age 39, is one of the best fielding third basemen in the game, so he gets the edge.

CATCHER Lance Parrish of Detroit is one of the best in either league, while Terry Kennedy of San Diego has struggled this season. Parrish led the Tigers in homers with 33 while driving in 98 runs. Kennedy had 57 RBI and 14 homers after driving in 97 runs in 1982 and 98 in '83. Parrish also gets a big edge defensively, since Kennedy has trouble throwing out baserunners. Hands down, Detroit

LEFT FIELD
This is another platoon position for Detroit, which uses right-handed hitting Larry Herndon and lefty swinging Ruppert
Jones. The Padres have rookie Carmelo Martinez in left.

Herndon played in 125 games this year with a .280 average and 43 RBI. Jones, in 79 games, hit .284 with 37 RBI, but he also had 12 homers. Martinez also has power. He hit 13 homers with 66 RBI during the season with a .250 average, although he is not a great outfielder.

The advantage belongs to Detroit.

CENTER FIELD The Padres have some trouble at this pot. Regular center fielder Kevin spot. Regular center fielder Kevin McReynolds broke a bone in his hand during the playoffs, so he's through for the year. He may have been the DH anyway, but now the Padres will use either Salazar or Bobby Brown. The Tigers, meanwhile, have one of the best in the baseball in Chet Lemon.

Lemon, an outstanding defensive player, also drove in 76 runs this year with 20 homers and a .287 batting average.

A lopsided edge to Detroit. RIGHT FIELD Kirk Gibson of Detroit and Tony Gwynn of San Diego are vastly different players but probably of equal value to their clubs. Gibson, a slugger who has improved in the field, was the MVP of the ALCS with a .417 battig average and two RBI. Gwynn, the NL batting champion, could well have been the NLCS MVP with a 368 average, three doubles, three RBI and a lot of hits that kept rallies going.
Gibson hit .282 with 91 RBI and 27 miles ahead. They're not that far ahead, and that's because of the Padres' bullpen. The Tigers have Willie Hernandez, a left-hander who earned 32 saves with a 9-3 record and 1.92 earned run average, complemented by Aurelio Lopez, Juan Berenguer and Doug Bair. The Padres' headliner in Rich Gossage, who had 25 saves and a 2.90 ERA. They also use lefthanders Craig Lefferts and Dave Dravecky, a converted starter, and right-

OU shuts gates

NORMAN Okla. (AP) — The Oklahoma Sooners have locked the gates to the practice field as they go through the final workouts in preparation for Saturday's game with Texas.

It was the first time in nearly a year that practice was closed to the public when the gates were locked Monday. Closed practices are scheduled for the rest of the week.

The Sooners were drilled on the basic offensive and defensive looks that the Longhorns will show OU at Dallas this weekend and worked on the kicking game. The offense concentrated on man-to-man coverage on the passing game.

"We had a very spirited practice," offensive coordinator Mack Brown said after Monday's workout. "We devoted a lot of time to polishing our game.

Wacker will try playing for UT

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) -Afteralmost three years on the sidelines, Mike Wacker has been given the go-ahead by doctors to play basketball again for the University of Texas.

The 6-9 forward, sidelined since injuring his left knee against Baylor in January 1982, was cleared Monday by his doctor to play full time.

"I've waited so long for this, I'm just so excited," said Wacker, the son of Texas Christian University head football coach Jim Wacker.

"It's going to be so much fun just to be out on the floor sweating. Two weeks ago, the doctor (Pat Evans of Fort Worth) said I could play three times a week and that as long as I didn't regress, I could play full time," he told the Austin American-Statesman.

"Sometimes it hurts when I pivot, but I have to learn to play with the pain. I haven't gained total use of the knee, but I was never a very smooth player, anyway. The hardest part is getting back my timing and conditioning. You can't really tell how good things are until you play in a game."

The Longhorns open their season Nov. 24 against Southwest Kansas in the Erwin Center.

At the time of his injury, Wacker was the team's second-leading scorer (15.2) and rebounder (9.3) on an unbeaten Texas team, coached by Abe Lemons, that was ranked high nationally. After his injury early in the league race, the Longhorns' fortunes plummeted, and they finished near the bottom of the SWC standings.

Since then, Wacker has undergone extensive surgery twice to repair a damaged kneecap.

Iraan football team pays last respects to father of players

By SUZY McAULIFFE San Angelo Standard-Times SHEFFIELD, Texas (AP) -Iraan varsity football team players and Billy Dean Clay were together for the last time

Sunday afternoon. Through victories and defeats, the 41-year-old father of three key players had supported the Braves.

He never missed a chance to slip through the locker-room doors to offer words of encouragement and slaps on the back.

Clay, who had six children in Iraan schools, was buried Sunday at Sheffield Cemetery. He died by electric shock at his ranch Friday afternoon.

The 120-member First Baptist Church could not accommodate the 250 mourners who gathered beneath shade trees outside to hear the service. Two loudspeakers inside the church and a third placed outdoors emitted barely enough sound for mourners to hear the consoling words of the Rev. Jerry

Soft piano melodies wafted through the cool, October breezes as the softly weeping widow approached the church with family members and went

"We got one pew open — six cople," the funeral director said after most of the seats had been filled. A group of young girls entered the church. Fortune began his sermon by introducing songs that were special to Clay.

"In the Garden" drifted through the air, while friends quietly sobbed and embraced each other. "When someone dies suddenly or by accident the question that is always asked immediately is 'How did this happen,?' " Fortune said. "I want to suggest to you a more important question: 'How did he live?'

Fortune said three important questions before God were whether Clay answered a calling to the Lord, how he treated his family and what he did with

"Dean decided when he was 18 or 19 that he wanted to do more than make a living. He wanted to make a life," Fortune said. "His ministry was with young people, so he became a father to many — not just to his

"God gave Dean a special gift and that gift was to be able to accept others as they were."

Fortune was referring to Clay's reputation for accepting into his home children who needed help. The Clays have raised more than 30 children since they began their ministry

Four of the seven children currently living in the Clay household were taken into the family because they needed assistance

Clay had one son and two boys in his legal custody on the varsi-

The boys - fullback Mike Volanti, linebacker and halfback Gene Kackley, and end Thomas Clay - are three top players on Iraan's team, Coach Steve Maurer said. School officials canceled the football game against Klondike in honor of Clay and have rescheduled it for Friday night. Fortune ended the service with kind words and a poem written by Thomas Clay called,

"My Dad." "My Dad, He was a special guy, He was different and unique. You couldn't find a better Dad. If you climbed to Everest's peak," the poem began.

After the service, three police cars led a long procession of cars to Sheffield Cemetery. Relatives and friends parked along both sides of the highway and on the grass.

The sun was hot at the gravesite, and at one point Clay's mother fainted and had to be carried to a nearby car for water and rest.

Biblical passages were recited as mourners bowed in Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, in accordance with an order from the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice it has filed a tariff to reduce the monthly rates for the Switched Access portion of the company's intraLATA Foreign Exchange (FX) Service offering that was implemented starting June 1, 1984. Simultaneously, the LATA-wide toll-free calling scope, also started June 1, would be discontinued and the calling scope would return to that in effect prior to June 1. The Commission has assigned this matter Docket Number 5891.

The net effect of the tariff will be a monthly decrease in total billing of approximately $700,000 until November 1, 1984. After that time the net effect on the company's revenue is estimated to be negligible.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N. Austin, Texas 78757. # 49ers cut Giants down to size 31-10

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. possessions (AP) - Joe Montana threw two touchdown passes and Dana McLemore returned a punt 79 yards for another score as the undefeated San Francisco 49ers struck three times in the opening 71/2 minutes and routed the New York Giants 31-10 in a National Football League game Monday

Montana teamed with speedster Renaldo Nehemiah on a 59-yard scoring play and flipped a 1-yard TD toss to tight end John Frank as the 49ers scored on their first two

FORECAST FOR WEDS., OCTOBER 10, 1984

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The daytime is good for making all sorts of new and interesting plans and arrangements for forging ahead in whatever new lines of activity appeal to you.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You want to put across some good ideas but need the advice of experts in order to do so most successfully.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Be sure you know what you want to accomplish in the future and then consult with experts and get the advice you need.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Try a different tack at going after your personal aims and you can gain them with greater ease than usual. MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Plan how best to approach bigwigs and the public in general so that you can gain the best results.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) If you take a little trip to get the right information you need, you can then make real progress where it counts the most. VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Using a new approach at a business matter that is vital to you can bring you far better results now. LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) A progressive individual can suggest how to have better relations with a partner and you can get your ideas across faster. SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have fine ideas for doing better work, so put them in operation while highly enthused. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You are anxious to try a new kind of recreation, so plan for it early in

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Listening to what a serious family tie has to suggest for improving harmony there is wise, then follow such advice. AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have fascinating ideas for making your life far more interesting, so start putting them in motion.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You get clever ideas how to get ahead monetarily and should put them in opera-

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be very interested in progressive modes of operating, so be sure that the education includes subjects that are modern in nature as well as scientific and precise. Be sure to teach early that once a project is started it should not be dropped until it is finished.
