How's that? Special week

Q. Is this week National Employ the Handicapped Week?

A. Yes, according to Mike Collier, vocational rehabilitation counselor with the Texas Rehabilitation Commission. Collier has an office locally but works out of Midland.

The week is a chance to show employers that many disabled people are highly qualified workers who can do a good job if given the chance. It gives an opportunity to show that disabled workers are as safe, productive and dependable as their coworkers, Collier said. The recognition continues through Oct. 13.

Developers buy Settles

Luxury complex planned

By RICK BROWN
Staff Writer

A family-owned San Antonio development company late Tuesday evening struck a deal for the Hotel Settles.

Gilbert Cuadra, representing MPG Management Inc. of San Antonio, bought the Big Spring landmark, the "first skyscraper in West Texas," from Inita Rich and Georgia Rich, surviving wives of the late Bo Rich of Odessa.

Calling the Settles a "really beautiful building" and a "phenomenal opportunity," Cuadra said he and his family plan to renovate the structure into a combination luxury hotel and apartment complex. The building will be capped by a penthouse super club and lounge, he said.

Cuadra termed the entire project — 48 apartments, 24 hotel rooms and private club — "very realistic in terms of the population in Big Spring." He said he will fund the project through industrial development bonds.

Although he would not say how much the envisioned development will cost, Cuadra said it will be a "multi-million dollar project." He estimated the renovation would take about 18 months after an initial 60-day period for "market research."

While complete details of the Cuadra purchase remain undisclosed, Inita Rich said she will receive $10,000 as her part of the sale. According to attorneys for both wives, Cuadra's purchase settles the two women's dispute for the Rich estate. Neither Georgia Rich nor Cuadra would disclose the second Mrs. Rich's share of the sale.

Looking out over the city from the Settles' rooftop Tuesday evening, Cuadra said he wants to "create a sense of history" with the Settles and restore it to its original condition "as much as possible."

The San Antonio developer also said he wants to "integrate the facility into the community."

The proposed penthouse club, in which Cuadra wants to install "greenhouse windows" on its east and west sides, will be available for city use in attracting new business, he said.

A floor-by-floor accounting of Cuadra's planned renovation calls for preservation of the Settles' first and second floors — with a refurbished ballroom and added retail outlets.

Floors 3-6 will constitute "guest quarters," he said, with rooms similar to those found at a Hilton Inn style of hotel. He said certain hotel rooms may be named for prominent Big Spring pioneer families.

Floors 7-13 are planned for apartments, including eight 2,000

Hotel has rich history

By RICK BROWN
Staff Writer

The deal for the Hotel Settles reached yesterday is the latest in a long history of transactions that have checkered the structure's past since virtually the day it opened.

The hotel was built by W.R. Settles and opened in 1930, according to Burr Lea Settles of 1903 N. Monticello, great-nephew of the man who erected the once-great hotel.

Settles funded construction with oil royalties after petroleum was discovered on his land near Forsan. The man was in his 70s when the oil money began rolling in, Settles said.

"He decided he wanted to do something for Big Spring, so he built the first skyscraper in West Texas," said Settles, who is the assistant fire marshal at the Big Spring Fire Department.

"The hotel was more or less his brainchild, his baby," Settles said.

However, Settles had used his land as collateral for the building, and when the price of oil plummeted in the late 1920s, "the banks took it over" before its doors opened for the first time, said Settles.

The hotel was "the most modern of its day," he said. "Apparently, it

White praises TUEC cut

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — Gov. Mark White, who campaigned in 1982 on the promise to fight high utility bills, said he was delighted with the Public Utility Commission's decision to cut Texas Utilities Electric Co.'s rates by $9.8 million.

The utility had requested a $304 million rate increase. The ruling is expected to reduce customer bills by about $5 a year. TUEC's division, Texas Electric Service Co., provides electricity to Big Spring.

"I was extremely pleased," White said at a Wednesday morning news conference. "Many people said this could not be done and admittedly has never been done in the history of public regulatory authority in Texas."

The three-member commission said Tuesday that the decision was a signal to utilities to not file a rate request unless they really need the money.

Commission chairman Philip Ricketts said the ruling reflected new, tougher laws regulating utilities.

But White, who appointed all three members of the commission, said that such rulings could have occurred under previous law if anyone had cared to make them. In the past, the interests of the stockholders and bondholders has been put ahead of those of consumers, he said.

Coahoma split on police need

By LUIS RIOS
Staff Writer

COAHOMA — The City Council Tuesday debated recommendations to eliminate the police department and hire a part-time city manager to help the city cope with financial troubles.

The proposal to discontinue the one-man police force was made by councilman Jerry Brockman. The city, which has found itself in a financial dilemma, is operating under a deficit budget for this fiscal year.

"If we keep the police department, we will get further in debt," Brockman said.

Councilman Gary Roberts said the police department spent $56,000 and took in only $39,000 last year. But that was refuted by Police Chief O.D. Majors, who said some funds were transferred out of his department to other departments.

The police department in the past has reportedly paid for the salary of the city dog catcher and also for the salary of the maintenance man at the city landfill.

"It's not the police department's fault the shape that it is in," Majors said.

Brockman told the council if the police department is not eliminated, the city would have to raise its 1 percent sales tax to pay for it.

"I'm for keeping the police department, if we could afford it," Brockman said.

Roberts, who agreed with Brockman, said the move to eliminate the police department was "a matter of economics."

"Where do you start, what is most important?," Roberts asked. "I don't want the decision (of cutting the police department)."

Roberts also said the department collected $1,700 on traffic violations last year, but paid the city judge $2,400 for his duties.

If the department were eliminated, the city's law enforcement would come from the Howard County Sheriff's Department.

Sheriff A.N. Standard Wednesday morning said he would not comment until the Coahoma City Council makes a ruling on the proposal. The sheriff's department currently has a deputy patrolling the Forsan area, which has no police.

Two Coahoma residents told the council they were concerned about the crime rate in the city if a police department were eliminated.

"If there is no police protection, it will open up the town," said one resident.

Mayor Pat Harrison said the proposal to eliminate the department should be decided by the electorate of Coahoma.

The police department was created by City Ordinance 32, Oct. 14, 1976. It is funded by the 1 percent city sales tax, which is approximately $39,000 annually.

Storms pound Texas

By The Associated Press

Heavy thunderstorms pounded much of the state from the Panhandle, South Texas and the Texas coast today. The National Weather Service blamed the moisture on the combination of upper-level disturbances with low-level moisture over Texas. Light fog formed early today over much of north, east and southeast portions of the state, along with low-level cloudiness. Clear skies were observed over much of the South Plains, Edwards Plateau and the lower Rio Grande Valley.

Light south to southeast winds breezed across much of the state except over far West Texas, where winds were northeasterly at 5 to 15 miles an hour.

Weather officials said today's rains might continue off and on through the night for portions of North Texas.

Little change in temperatures is expected through Thursday, with afternoon highs ranging from the upper 70s to the middle 80s, except for readings near 90 over the Big Bend and extreme South Texas.

Josephine grew into the third hurricane of the 1984 Atlantic season Tuesday with 85 mph winds, but a high pressure system moving out over the ocean should keep it from hitting land for at least a day, forecasters predicted.

Seas already higher than normal were "just being aggravated because of the intensification of Josephine" and were running 16 to 20 feet over open waters, said National Weather Service forecaster Bob Sheets.

By 10:30 p.m., Josephine became "better organized" and its winds reached 85 mph, the center said. "Further slow strengthening" was "likely" during the night, forecasters added.

"The Bahamian government has issued gale warnings for the central Bahamas and a hurricane watch for portions of the Northeast Bahamas," the weather service said.

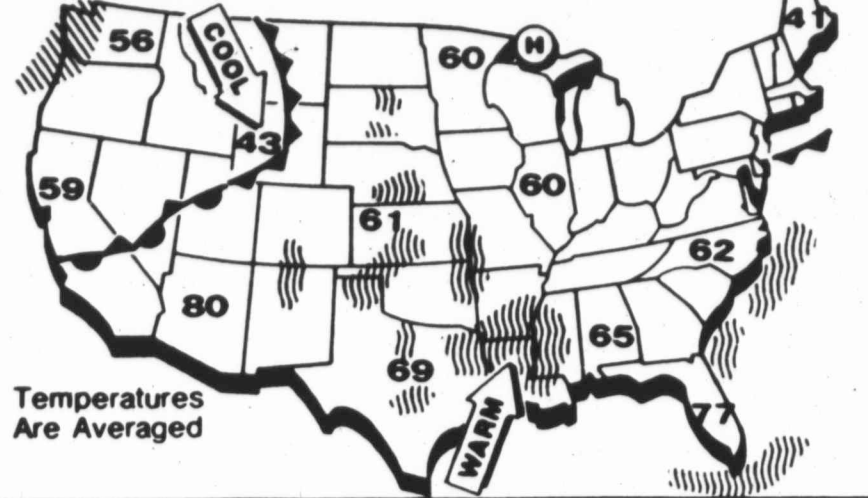

NASA officials, worried over Saturday's scheduled landing of the shuttle Challenger at the Kennedy Space Center on Cape Canaveral, were monitoring the storm.

"There's a thinking they'll start feeling the effects of the storm late tomorrow," flight director Cleon Laceyfield said. "Even if it passed over the Cape, rain and clouds could linger for awhile. We're watching it extremely closely."

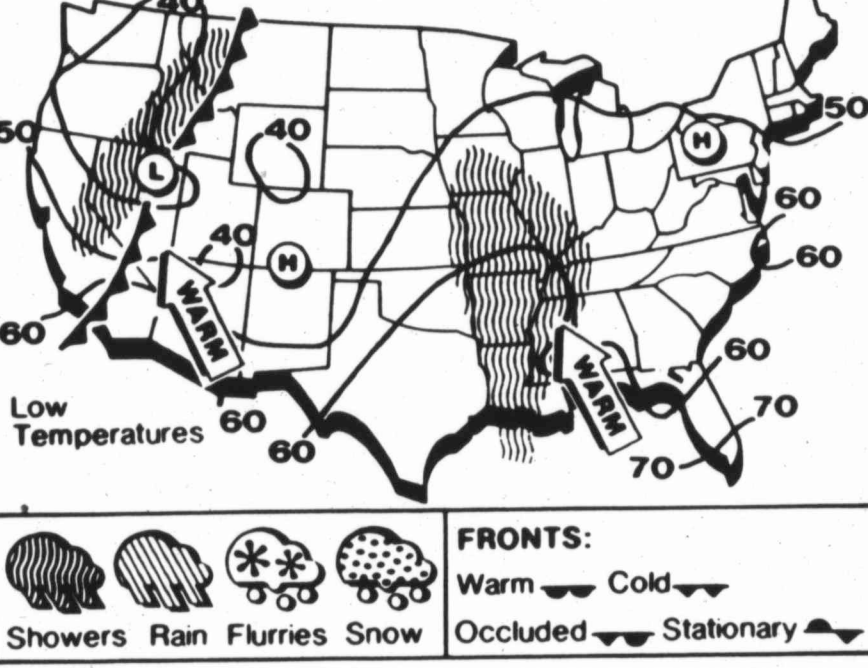

However, the hurricane center said it was premature to forecast where the storm would make land.

WEST TEXAS: Widely scattered showers and thunderstorms most sections through Thursday. Otherwise partly cloudy and warm days with fair and cool at night. Highs Thursday mid 70s Panhandle to mid 80s lower Pecos valley and near 90 Big Bend valleys. Lows tonight upper 40s Panhandle to lower 60s Big Bend.

Man reports tailgate stolen

A tailgate from a 1984 Chevrolet pickup was reported stolen Tuesday morning by Craig Peterson of P.O. Box 372. Peterson told police the tailgate, which he valued at $550, was stolen sometime between 10 p.m. Saturday and 12:30 a.m. Sunday. The incident happened while he was parked at the Player's private club at 3202 Interstate 20 east, reports said. Dewayne Wagner of 1403 Aylford told police Tuesday afternoon that someone he knows struck him with a motor vehicle. Wagner transported himself to Cooper Clinic for treatment after the incident that happened at about 5:15 p.m. Tuesday in his residence's driveway, reports said.

"If we had good regulation in previous years, prior to my administration, we wouldn't be faced with the large price of electricity we have today," White said. Although the utility has complained that lower rates would lead to less reliable electrical service, White said that such decisions are laying the groundwork for greater economic development in the state. "This is a great example of how proper regulation can bring increased industrial development, increased and enhanced business climate for our state," White said. "The state that can do the best job of regulating utilities will also open the door to an improved business climate." He also said that utilities need to do a better job of management, claiming that it why nuclear power projects are having so much trouble. TUEC Vice President Tom Baker, disappointed with the ruling, said the decision would be appealed through the courts. Texas Utilities was created earlier this year through a merger of Texas Power and Light, Dallas Power and Light and Texas Electric Service Co. It serves roughly one-third of the state.

the Tuesday agenda by Brockman died for lack of a second. Mayor Pro-tem Brian Jensen proposed the council consider hiring a part-time city manager. "I think we need to...advertise for a part-time city manager," Jensen said. "He could come in a several days of the month." However, Brockman and councilman Lawrence Abergg said they favored the idea of hiring a city manager but didn't see how the city could afford it. The council 4-0 vote approved a 4.35 percent rate hike by Energas. The letter of intent to the rate hike was presented to the council July 6 by Energas representative Dearl Pittman. The original recommendation by Energas called for a 7.7 percent increase or $8.9 million for the all the areas it serves. However, a steering committee recommended the rate be dropped to 4.35 percent. The hike will mean approximately $20 more on the average fuel bill annually for residents, Pittman said. In other business the council asked for volunteers for the city fire department and authorized for bids to be taken on the city's several insurance policies.

Wolf brand chili makes it hot after meager start

CORSICANA (AP) — It was an auspicious beginning to what would become the nation's second leading chili industry when a Navarro County businessman began making a homemade "bowl of red" in the kitchen of a shack near Corsicana. After operating in Corsicana for nearly a century, the plant will close in May when production will merge with a Dallas facility in a move to save the company money. Wolf Brand chili is perhaps the biggest business success story to come out of this city, and it all started in 1885 with a man, a recipe and a dream. According to newspaper and company records, Navarro County's Lyman T. Davis and an unnamed ranch hand created the chili around 1885. "They brought the chili to town in an old farm wagon, keeping it hot over a charcoal fire. Then hitched the wagon in front of the old Blue Front Saloon and sold chili for a nickel a bowl," said a Corsicana Daily Sun article dated January 1, 1927. The chili, noted for its high quality ingredients and "secret blend" of five to six spices, quickly developed a reputation throughout Central Texas. As the chili's popularity grew, Davis began selling his product in pricks. In 1921, he purchased crude canning equipment and began canning the chili out of the back of a market on North Beaton. The product was first known as Lyman's Famous Homemade Chili, but Davis later decided to put a picture of his pet wolf Kaiser Bill on the label. It was then "Wolf Brand" chili every since. By 1923, production had outgrown the Beaton Street location. Davis moved to a building on the corner of Commerce and Collin streets housing Lyman's Pure Food Product's Co. He installed machinery capable of making 2,000 cans of chili a day. The following year, Davis' oil, cattle, ranching and business interests were demanding so much of his time that he sold the chili factory to Corsicana businessmen J.E. West and Fred Slauson. That same year Davis built a new factory on South Main Street to produce his chili. This facility had the capacity to put out 8,000 cans a day. The 1927 Sun story reports that, "This year nearly a million cans will be put through the machinery and at the present time the factory is between two and three weeks behind filling orders." In 1957, Wolf Brand was purchased by the Quaker Oats Co. Today Wolf Brand is the leading canned chili manufacturer in the Southwest.

Blood sample admitted as evidence in manslaughter trial

By KEELY COGHLAN Staff Writer

District Judge Jim Gregg today overruled an objection to the admission of a blood sample from the defendant in an involuntary manslaughter case being tried in 118th District Court. Defense attorney Wayne Basden, representing Joseph William Diliberto, argued that because Diliberto was not placed under arrest at the time the blood sample was taken, the defendant had "lost his right to give a blood test of his own free will." Diliberto is charged with involuntary manslaughter in the March 27 death of Helen Ziegler, 60, of 4100 Connally. Mrs. Ziegler died as a result of injuries she received in a two-vehicle accident that occurred about midnight March 19 on Wasson Road.

investigated the accident also testified that the sealed container in which the blood sample was mailed to the lab had not been tampered with. Diliberto objected to the taking of the blood sample in the Malone and Hogan Hospital emergency room after the accident, a male registered nurse then working in the emergency room testified. "We were trying to check his vital signs but he wasn't cooperating," Primo Pelopero, the RN who treated Diliberto testified. He also said Diliberto used profanity during the time he was being treated. Police Sgt. Bud Jones, who assisted in the accident investigation, testified Diliberto was not placed under arrest at the scene of the accident or before the blood sample was taken. Diliberto was placed under arrest in the hospital by patrolman Bill Anderson about 1 a.m. March 20, for suspicion of driving while intoxicated. Diliberto's lawyer, Jack Thompson, was present during the arrest.

According to testimony by Burgess Cook, a chemist at the Department of Public Safety Lab in Midland, Diliberto's blood sample results showed his blood "contained .14 percent by weight of ethanol (alcohol)." Asked what that alcohol level indicated, Cook replied, "He would be intoxicated with respect to the driving of a motor vehicle." "His driving ability would be greatly impaired," Cook said. Under Texas law, a person is determined to be intoxicated if his blood alcohol level is .10 percent or higher. Cook and Big Spring Police Department officers who investigated the accident also testified that the sealed container in which the blood sample was mailed to the lab had not been tampered with. Diliberto objected to the taking of the blood sample in the Malone and Hogan Hospital emergency room after the accident, a male registered nurse then working in the emergency room testified. "We were trying to check his vital signs but he wasn't cooperating," Primo Pelopero, the RN who treated Diliberto testified. He also said Diliberto used profanity during the time he was being treated. Police Sgt. Bud Jones, who assisted in the accident investigation, testified Diliberto was not placed under arrest at the scene of the accident or before the blood sample was taken. Diliberto was placed under arrest in the hospital by patrolman Bill Anderson about 1 a.m. March 20, for suspicion of driving while intoxicated. Diliberto's lawyer, Jack Thompson, was present during the arrest. Terri Mattheson, 17, a Big Spring High School student, testified Tuesday afternoon she stopped to assist the persons injured in the accident. She identified Diliberto as the man she saw "lying behind the steering wheel on the driver's side" in a vehicle in the ditch on Wasson Road near the Jet Drive Inn.

Fire destroys home's kitchen

A mid-morning fire at a south-central Big Spring residence completely destroyed the kitchen of the one-story, woodframe structure. No injuries were reported in the blaze that brought three pumping units of the Big Spring Fire Department to the 105 Canyon Drive scene at about 10 a.m. this morning. The house's occupants were not at home at the time of the fire, said Fire Marshal Jim Ryals. Ryals said the fire had traveled from the home's kitchen into its attic. He said he could not make an estimate of the fire's damage. Firefighters arrived at the blaze to find the house filled with smoke, Ryals said. The men remained at the fire's scene at 11 a.m. today.

White, Reagan at odds over nuclear waste site

LUBBOCK (AP) — Gov. Mark White says if President Reagan has decided to remove Texas from consideration as a possible high-level nuclear waste disposal site because of politics, the governor would like to see the statement in writing. White told the Lubbock Rotary Club Tuesday about a letter he has written U.S. Department of Energy Donald Hodel criticizing the administration's handling of site selection. White said he told Hodel of "my grave misgivings regarding the adequacy of the current federal waste disposal program. The siting process is seriously flawed. The siting rules seem to have been written to avoid disqualifying any of the potential sites. Although the methodology for recommending on-going site selection studies is critical, it has not yet been prepared," White said. "Finally," White told the Lubbock group, "the site selection process has been permanently tainted by the recent political remarks made by the secretary of energy during a trip to Houston last month." "Secretary Hodel suggested that the potential sites in Texas have been eliminated from consideration due to the opposition of (U.S. Rep.) Phil Gramm, Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate. It is a matter of record that Mr. Gramm has voted consistently for bills containing a weakened states' rights position on a state's ability to veto the location of a high-level nuclear waste site," White said. "If President Reagan has decided that he will make the siting decision on political grounds and that Texas has been eliminated from consideration, I would like to see it in writing," White said. White said he was asking Hodel to implement a new process to screen future nuclear waste repository sites.

Jury selection set in murder trial

DALLAS (AP) — Lawyers sought to select a jury today in the federal court trial of Marshall Dewayne Williams, who is charged with murder in the Jan. 27 explosion at a newspaper box that killed his stepfather. Ward S. Keeton, 60, was killed when a pipe bomb exploded as he opened a coin-operated newspaper box owned by The Dallas Morning News in a parking lot outside his North Dallas apartment. Williams is charged with the unregistered manufacture and possession of an explosive device and its use in Keeton's death and the destruction of the newspaper box. Williams is scheduled to stand trial Oct. 22 in state court on a separate charge of murder in Keeton's death.

Blast ignites probe

Petroleum plant explosion under investigation

ATHENS (AP) — Investigators are trying to determine the cause of a fiery explosion at a petroleum storage facility that critically burned one man and forced the evacuation of nearby homes and businesses.

Late Tuesday, residents were allowed to return to their homes and the situation was back to normal, fire department spokesman Tom Kerls said.

Firefighters were calling the blast, which occurred about 6:30 a.m. Tuesday, the worst in this East Texas city's history. It caused an estimated $500,000 in damage, officials said.

The cause of the explosion was unknown. "We're still investigating and won't have a report ready until tomorrow," Kerls said Tuesday.

Kerls said it took firefighters several hours to bring the fire under control. By 3:15 p.m., it was out and residents were allowed to return to their homes, he said.

The early morning blast ignited gasoline in a transport truck at Twin Lakes Petroleum, and the fire spread to two 23,000-gallon storage tanks nearby, firefighters said.

George Anderson, driver of the transport truck, suffered second- and third-degree burns over more than 50 percent of his body, and was flown by CareFlight helicopter to Methodist Central Hospital in Dallas. Tuesday night he remained in the intensive care unit in critical condition, said Keith Guier, assistant hospital administrator.

Anderson, 53, was unloading gasoline at the Exxon USA distributorship at about 6:30 a.m. when the explosion occurred, witnesses said.

Gunmen kidnap Spanish ambassador

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Two gunmen kidnaped Spain's ambassador Pedro Manuel de Aristegui in mostly Moslem west Beirut today, a Spanish Embassy spokeswoman reported.

The assailants stopped de Aristegui's car in front of the Spanish mission in west Beirut's Ramlet al-Baida neighborhood, forced him at gunpoint into a green Mercedes and sped off, said the spokeswoman, who spoke on condition that she not be identified.

She said the abduction occurred at 3:50 p.m. (8:50 EDT).

There was no immediate claim of responsibility for the abduction, which came after the Jihad Islami, or Islamic holy war, extremist group threatened to strike at Spanish institutions if two Shiite Moslem Lebanese were not released from jail in Spain.

The organization, believed to be loyal to Iran's spiritual and political leader, Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, has claimed responsibility for devastating bombing attacks on the U.S. Embassy and U.S. military headquarters in Beirut.

Spanish authorities arrested the two Shiite Moslem Lebanese on charges of shooting a Libyan Embassy employee in Madrid. Jihad Islami identified the two as guerrillas belonging to the organization.

Duarte returns home to rebel

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — President Jose Napoleon Duarte returned home to cheers after leftist rebels accepted his offer for peace talks and called the guerrillas "separated brothers" who should rejoin their countrymen.

About 1,000 people shouted, "Duarte! Duarte! Duarte!" as he arrived from New York on Tuesday, the day after making his offer during a speech to the U.N. General Assembly. Today, he meets with U.S. Secretary of State George P. Shultz.

The rebels, meanwhile, announced their acceptance of Duarte's offer to meet next Monday in La Palma, a mountain town 50 miles north of San Salvador in an area where guerrillas move freely.

"I am going to the La Palma meeting with a feeling of agreement and peace, to open my arms to our separated brothers who left one day for the mountains," Duarte told the crowd which greeted him in San Salvador.

Two other tanker trucks were destroyed, officials said.

Fire Chief Pete Jones called the explosion and fire the worst in the city's history.

Firefighters used foam and water kept the resulting blaze from spreading to four larger storage tanks and extinguished the fire at 11:42 a.m., said Kerls. Bob Anderson, the owner of Twin Lakes Petroleum, estimated the loss at $450,000 to $500,000.

The burned driver was conscious when he was pulled from the 8,500-gallon gasoline truck, said Frieda Dyer, assistant administrator of Lakeland Medical Center, and was transferred from Lakeland to Dallas.

Residents of about 20 homes and 10 businesses in west Athens were evacuated by authorities and highways near the area were closed. Residents were later allowed to return to their homes.

Classes at West Athens Elementary School, located across the street from the storage facility, were canceled and traffic was diverted from the Henderson County square, three blocks to the east.

Ted Pierce, owner of a service station located about 50 yards from the storage tanks, said the explosion nearly "knocked" him out of the building.

The force of the blast broke windows in nearby stores.

Eight volunteer fire departments and about 100 firefighters responded to the blast, Kerls said. Late Tuesday, officials were transferring fuel left in the storage tanks out of the area as fire trucks monitored the situation, he said.

Bond set at $15 million

CLEVELAND — A judge who set bond at $15 million for a man accused of decapitating his daughter and stabbing to death her brother called it "the most heinous crime I've heard of."

Judge C. Ellen Connolly set the bond Tuesday for Donnell Parker, 26, who police say tortured the children's mother, Linda Davis, 24, and attacked the children during an 18-hour ordeal in which he was trying to exorcise devils.

Homicide Detective James Sveckric said he will ask for additional charges next week against Parker, who remains under police guard at a hospital for a self-inflicted wound.

Man gets life sentence

PAPILLION, Neb. — A 21-year-old former airman showed no emotion as he was sentenced to die for the murders of two boys abducted and stabbed repeatedly late last year.

John J. Joubert from Portland, Maine, a former airman at Offutt Air Force Base, pleaded guilty in July to first-degree murder in the deaths of a 13-year-old boy abducted while delivering newspapers and a 12-year-old seized while he was walking to school.

The killings showed "exceptional depravity," said Sarpy County Judge Ronald Reagan as he pronounced the sentence of death by electrocution.

Dozers clear out whales

EASTHAM, Mass. — Town officials have brought in bulldozers to begin burying 94 beached pilot whales today following a battery of tests on the dead mammals for clues into why they blundered onto beaches.

Marine scientists worked to complete the tests Tuesday on the animals, some weighing a ton, which swam ashore and died Saturday at Boat Meadow Beach in Cape Cod Bay.

RI plans man's extradition

PROVIDENCE, R.I. — Rhode Island is trying to extradite from Connecticut a man who allegedly swindled antique dealers by posing as a customer with cancer and then faking his death before his checks had cleared.

Peter J. Emerson, 43, of Southbury, Conn., was arrested in August when he allegedly was trying to sell off the purchases.

Antique dealers said a man calling himself Kees Ekland-Emerson visited their shops in July and aroused their sympathy with his account of his battle against cancer. He made purchases of $300-$400 at a dozen shops, and some dealers became suspicious when they got a letter the next week announcing his death and saying that his assets had been seized by Probate Court.

Manslaughter trial starts

CLINTON, Tenn. — A man fatally shot by his ex-wife when he kicked in a locked door, had beaten her in the head earlier that day and threatened to strike her with a whiskey bottle full of coins, witnesses said.

Hassie Kirby Arms, 29, has been charged with voluntary manslaughter after she shot her former husband once through the abdomen Saturday with a 20-gauge shotgun. Their 11-year-old son witnessed the killing.

Anderson County Detective Bobby Higgs said Tuesday that statements from Mrs. Arms, her sister Pam Kirby and the son indicated that William Stanish Arms, 34, had struck Mrs. Arms in the head at least twice Saturday after an argument over some photographs.

 building. "It had been reattached," she said.
 A Dallas businessman, Robert Kendall, came close to taking the hotel off the Rich's hands in early 1983. Kendall proposed a $4.5 million restoration project for the building, but the deal fell through after the Riches were taken to court for back taxes.
 According to Mrs. Rich's attorney, Phillip Godwin of Odessa, the status of the hotel had been "terribly confused" since Rich's death last year. The hotel's title was tied up in probate court in a dispute between the man's two surviving wives.
 According to city administrative assistant, Pat Hardy, the deal that was finally cut represents "the culmination of about six months work."
 "In the long run, it's going to give the town a historical focus to allow us to capitalize on the historical nature of Big Spring," he said.
 She said her husband had plans for it "all that time," but "when Bo died last year, I knew there wasn't any hope for it on my account."
 She said they were unaware of the $800,000 lien on the hotel held by the Mercantile Bank of Dallas at the time of their purchase.
 A Big Spring attorney checked on the hotel's title before they made the purchase, found there was a release on the lien and "that's as far as he checked," she said.

 square-foot "suites" whose floorplans tenants could design themselves, he said.

However, plans for the development are far from final. Cuadra said rent for rooms in the facility is "something we've got to study."

In addition, Cuadra is trying to solve the potential problem of parking for the renovated structure by purchasing land adjacent to the hotel. He said he currently has much of the Settles' block "under contract" and would also like to build a park at the site for city use.

Cuadra said he is also buying another downtown building, but declined to say which.

The corporation Cuadra heads, MPG Management, Inc. of San Antonio, is a "family operation," he said.

According to Cuadra, other projects currently in the works include a 17-acre mixed-use facility in San Antonio, the "Gateways to the Americas Project" near that city's airport.

The family also owns the South Lamesa Mobile Home Park in Midland, he said, and has plans to buy the Crestwood Mobile Home Park near the intersection of Highway 87 and Hearn in Big Spring. He said purchase of the land, on which he plans a manufactured housing development, should be completed next week. The Big Spring City Council has already zoned the land for Cuadra's use.

Financing of the Settles project will come from "special monies," including industrial development bonds, said Cuadra. He also acknowledged the availability of historical grants from the state.

Terms of the development bonds are "very good," he said, with interest rates set at 80 percent of the prime rate and payback terms determined by the seller's need.

Cuadra acknowledged that his plans are subject to change. "First, we have to test the feasibility of our concept" with a market study that will "check the demographics," he said.

"We'll have to find a concept that will work in this market," if the studies show his initial idea is unworkable, he said.

In addition, Cuadra said the project's eventual cost "depends on its ultimate use." He would not specify how much his company is willing to spend before the industrial revenue bonds become available. However, he said, "We are extremely frugal."

Despite uncertainties, Cuadra said he remains committed to his original plan of one building incorporating hotel, apartments and private club. "I have no question in my mind that this will succeed," he said.

Cuadra struck a positive note when asked why he chose Big Spring for his renovation project. "(The city) has really got tremendous potential. In the next five years, the Permian Basin is going to grow tremendously," said Cuadra. Also, Big Spring has "a strong underlying economy," he said.

According to the San Antonio developer, he will need community support to complete the project. "We can't do it all ourselves," said Cuadra. "The thing we don't want people to say is 'It's a great idea, I hope it works,'" he said.

"It's very important that we have local architects and engineers," he said. "I work on the stupid principle. I'm real good at following orders."

Cuadra said his purchase came after extensive research by hired professionals. He called the Settles "structurally sound," although it will need new plumbing and central heating and air conditioning.

Another of the building's problems is an $800,000 lien held by the Mercantile Bank of Dallas.

"We wouldn't have bought the building unless we thought we had a solution (to the lien)," said Cuadra. He said he hopes the problem will be solved "within the next two weeks."

Also, about $75,000 in back taxes are owed on the building to various Howard County agencies, according to city Administrative Assistant Pat Hardy. Hardy was involved in much of the initial research on the building and showed it to several prospective buyers in addition to Cuadra.

Clean-up at the Settles will begin within a week, he said.

Leukemia strikes girl again

Jeannie Edmondson, a 9-year-old Big Spring girl who was stricken with lymphatic leukemia four years ago, underwent surgery Wednesday morning after suffering a relapse.

The girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Edmondson, was admitted to Cooks Children's Hospital in Fort Worth, where doctors implanted a catheter in her chest to transmit medication.

Friends and relatives of the girl will hold a benefit bake sale Thursday at 10 a.m. in front of the TG&Y store in the College Park Shopping Center.

A special fund was set up at the First National Bank to help the family defray medical costs. All benefits are directed by Margaret Hayes.

4-H names Gold Star winners

Tuesday night was "family ties" night for Howard County 4-H Gold Star and Outstanding Junior Awards winners.

All four — Gold Star winners Blair Richardson, 17, of Big Spring and Kevin Hamlin, 17, of Ackerly and Outstanding Juniors Kelly Newton, 13, of Big Spring and Kevin's younger brother, Duncan Hamlin, 14 — say they became interested in the program through a family connection.

Either a relative in their immediate family was involved in 4-H or extension programs or their family was involved in the agricultural business, they said.

Gold Star winners are selected from older members in their last years of 4-H, often in their senior year of high school. The award is based on their performance in shows and programs in an area of continued involvement through the years, as well as outside activities, citizenship and leadership.

Both Kevin and Blair have shown steers at the state level. And they have both served as secretary, vice president and president of their respective clubs, and vice president and president of the county council. They are both members of their high schools' student councils, the National Honor Society, Who's Who Among American Students and the Texas Club Calf Association.

Kevin is a senior class officer at Sands High School and edits its yearbook. Blair is a member of the Big Spring varsity football squad. Both have shown other animals in 4-H contests, as well as participating in livestock judging and method demonstrations. Kevin was also involved in 4-H textile projects.

The junior award winners are selected on much the same basis, with the exception of age. The junior winners are seen as "up and coming" 4-H members with leadership potential in the club.

Asked how he became interested in 4-H, Duncan pointed to his older brother, Kevin, who has been in 4-H clubs for eight years. "Because of him," Duncan said. Duncan has been involved in 4-H programs for five years.

Kevin, in turn, said he became interested because his family lives on a ranch near Ackerly and raises cattle. Kevin and Duncan are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. L.E. Hamlin of Ackerly.

Kelly, the daughter of Marion and Sherry Newton of Big Spring, said she joined 4-H programs when she started showing lambs "and because of my brothers." Last year, her lamb was named grand champion in the Howard County Stock Show.

"I like showing different kinds of animals," although she was most enthusiastic about lambs, she said.

Blair, the son of Don and Sharon Richardson of Big Spring, said he became involved with the programs before he actually became a member because his father is a county extension agent.

"It wasn't mandatory," Blair said. "It was up to me if I was going to be in it. But I figured I'd better be in it," he joked.

Blair, who has received several championship awards for steers he has shown, said he rarely heard any comments that he won because of his dad. "I've heard that once or twice. I usually don't hear that much about it."

And judges and others involved in the 4-H program say Blair's work stands on its own merit.

Both Blair and Kevin plan to attend college next fall. Kevin said he expects to enter "some field of agriculture" at either Howard College or Texas Tech University. Blair's picked his college — A&M University, but is wavering between a pre-law or an agricultural engineering degree.

Three members of the 4-H County Council were named Outstanding Officers: Kevin, the chairman; Robbie Dolan, the secretary-treasurer; and Greg Miller, the parliamentarian.

Veterinarian Sid Hanslik and County Commissioner Paul Allen of Coahoma, "the best egg-cracker in the county," were named "Friends of 4-H."

District 6 Adult Leader Awards were presented to Joan Rock and Jay Wallace, both of Howard County. Former Howard County extension agent Bruce Griffith and R.C. Thomas were named county Adult Leaders.

Following is a list of 4-H Achievement Awards:

Nursing homes investigated

DALLAS (AP) — Two Dallas-area nursing homes are under investigation after a resident of one wandered off and drowned and a resident of another wandered off and was critically injured, state officials say.

The state Department of Health is investigating whether Castle Manor in Garland and Devonshire Manor in Pleasant Grove "are protecting their residents to the best of their abilities," said department spokeswoman Charlene Stowers.

Debate whisked the facade away

Debate mistakes marked both sides of the presidential-hopeful fence in Sunday's TV debate. Little failings, however, are tremendously human. We're voting, after all, for real people, not packaged and merchandised goods.

President Reagan's tendency toward glibness was with him Sunday night. He tossed out figures like a chef applies paprika, and missed the potato salad more than once. He twice dismissed government studies with a "I don't know where they're getting that." His adamant denial that he recommended Social Security and Medicare cuts left Democratic challenger Walter Mondale bewildered. The fact is, he did both.

Reagan's tendency to use erroneous facts and figures was not a revelation of the debate, however. Such glitches have become his hallmark. Somehow, though, voters seem to excuse his factual fractures — so much so, in fact, that he's been dubbed "the Teflon man," to whom no mistakes cling.

Mondale, on the other hand, was "Mr. Boring" coming into Sunday's faceoff. His attempts to assert himself may have proven an overcompensation. He set audiences on edge when he turned on the president to deliver his stinging "there you go again" criticism. If a bit of fire was his goal, however, he accomplished it. A rousing closing statement contrasted sharply to the muddled conclusions the president drew.

Perfect, neither were. Human, both were. And to that end, the first debate was a rousing success. If Sunday's debate was a skirmish, though, Thursday's — between the vice presidential candidates — promises to be a combat zone. Democrat Geraldine Ferraro is sharp of tongue and Vice President George Bush tends toward excitability (remember "voodoo economics"?). Stay tuned, the debates are the highlight of TV's fall season.

'Not too much zeal'

WASHINGTON — Out of the deep psychic wound suffered by Israel in Lebanon there now emerges a government of retrenchment. The new regime under Prime Minister Shimon Peres gives promise of curbing domestic extremists and moving toward accommodation with Arab neighbors.

But first the coalition must heal internal tensions and show survivability. That requires more thoughtful support from this country than the Reagan administration, in its eagerness to score electoral points, has shown so far.

To a degree not yet fully recognized, the 1982 invasion of Lebanon marked a historic watershed for Israel. For the first time the country went to war for reasons other than manifest self-defense. For the first time an Israeli pullback, when it finally came, was not forced by outside pressure. There was no Eisenhower threatening, as he did in 1956, to withhold all aid. Nor, as in 1973, was there a Kissinger bargaining for Israeli withdrawal.

In 1982 for the first time Israel retreated because it lacked internal cohesion. The army, the parties and the country as a whole were torn apart by the Lebanese conflict and its bitter side effects. The instinct to withdraw first asserted itself in a series of spasms — murderous riots between Jews; condemnation of Defense Minister Ariel Sharon for the Beirut massacres; the illness and resignation of Prime Minister Menachem Begin.

The crazy election which followed gave a narrow edge to the opposition Labor Party under Peres, over Begin's successor and Sharon's partner, Yitzhak Shamir. The coalition government which precipitated out of this caldron fuses opposites in an uneasy mix. Peres, Defense Minister Yitzhak Rabin and Minister Without Portfolio Ezer Weizman all opposed the Lebanese war and favor compromise with Arab neighbors. But Shamir is foreign minister, and Sharon minister of trade. In two years, Peres and Shamir are due to change jobs.

Still, the ramshackle arrangement starts with a clear direction. The extreme right wing, which sought to force all Arabs from Israel, has been fenced out. Retrenchment is the order of the day — first in economic policy, where a strong move is on to cut inflation that has been running at 400 percent.

Retrenchment also extends tentatively into the field of foreign policy. The government wants to pull all Israeli troops out of southern Lebanon. While it seeks some security arrangement for the border area, it no longer insists that Syrian troops occupying Lebanon withdraw simultaneously. Neither is it pushing for diplomatic recognition by the Lebanese government. On the contrary, Peres has accepted an American suggestion that Assistant Secretary of State Richard Murphy try to negotiate with both Lebanon and Syria the terms of Israeli withdrawal.

In addition, Peres has approached Egypt for a resumption of the talks — started under the Camp David accords — on autonomy for the largely Arab population living on the occupied territories West of the Jordan River. Peres has also invited King Hussein of Jordan, which used to administer the West Bank, to participate in the negotiations. Though neither Arab state has acceded, a positive sign is that Jordan last week resumed diplomatic relations with Egypt. They had been severed when Cairo recognized Israel in the Camp David agreement.

Given a little nourishment, these faint stirrings could bear genuine fruit. Israel can ease conditions in the West Bank so much by unilateral actions that productive talks with Jordan and Egypt could follow. Cooperation between Jordan and Egypt has a nudging effect on Syria.

For the Syrians are experiencing economic difficulties and political tensions arising from rivalry among factions around President Hafez Assad. They have a mess on their hands in Lebanon. Their ties to Iran have been diminished by Tehran's poor showing in the war with Iraq. The alliance with Colonel Kadafi of Libya has been eroded by his recent accord with King Hassan of Morocco.

Western diplomats who have recently visited Damascus report a more mellow mood. So, with a lot of cultivation, it may yet be possible to build to an understanding between the two key states in the area — Israel and Syria.

But not overnight. A first step is restoration of confidence in Israel.

Wrong antidote gives Army gas

WASHINGTON — When architects make mistakes, they plant ivy: when the CIA commits a blunder, the agency stamps it top secret.

This is the story, uncovered by my associate Dale Van Atta, of a monumental goof the CIA covered up for 10 years.

It began with the Arab-Israeli Yom Kippur War of 1973. After a rocky start, the Israelis wound up with their usual pile of captured military paraphernalia, including what appeared to be Soviet chemical-warfare gear issued to the Egyptian army.

Among the items the Israelis turned over to the CIA was an individual antidote kit carried on Egyptian armored personnel carriers for protection against nerve-gas attack. The CIA was delighted with this inside look at what they assumed was the Soviets' latest nerve-gas defense.

But the CIA scientists were also mystified. When they broke down the contents of the hypodermic injectors, two of the chemicals turned out to be familiar antidotes: atropine and an oxime called TMB-4.

But the third chemical was benactyzine, a known hallucinogen.

Did the Soviets know something we didn't? The CIA decided to find out.

It tested the antidote kit — named TAB from the initials of its three chemical components — on laboratory monkeys. The experiments were classified top secret and code-named "Grand Plot."

The CIA scientists pronounced TAB an unqualified success. That was enough for the Army. It threw out its old atropine antidote injectors and bought 7 million copies of the captured TAB kits.

Belatedly, the Army came to realize that the hallucinogen quality of TAB would unwittingly make it the modern equivalent of World War I's laughing gas: a means of incapacitating troops long enough for the poison gas or other legal weapons to cut them down.

Soldiers who injected themselves with the TAB antidote would be on a high, helpless "trip." The only advantage is that they would die happily.

It took five years to shake the Army's faith in the TAB injectors. Finally, on Nov. 4, 1980, the chief of staff quietly ordered destruction of the injectors. The order explained: "Chemical nerve agent antidote TAB ... was issued during 1974-1975 as a replacement for atropine because it was thought to be the Soviet antidote for 'GD' (somkh)."

Subsequent studies have indicated that TAB is incapacitating in itself, causes hallucinations and does not contain sufficient atropine to be effective.

How did the CIA scientists make such a blunder? It's not clear. Maybe the behavior of hallucinating monkeys is difficult to analyze.

How did the Soviets make such a blunder? They didn't. It was their Slavic brothers, the Bulgarians, who fouled up. Egyptian Maj. Gen. Esmat A. Ezz sheepishly confessed the truth in a conversation with Dr. Matthew Meselson, a Harvard professor and specialist in toxic chemicals.

According to the general, when the Soviet-made antidote kits expired in 1969 — at a time when Egypt and the Kremlin were no longer bosom buddies — he bought new ones from Bulgaria, a notoriously unreliable weapons source. Through carelessness or incompetence, the Bulgarians put the hallucinogen in the antidote mix.

Luckily, the U.S. and its allies made it through the five years without having to use their fatally flawed injectors in a Soviet nerve-gas attack.

FERRARO-GO-ROUND: For Rep. Geraldine Ferraro, the Republicans' attacks on her campaign financing and her views on abortion are a case of deja vu. They were the very issues raised against the Queens Democrat in her first congressional race six years ago.

And by one of those strange coincidences that occur in politics, the man who first hammered away at Ms. Ferraro on campaign financing and abortion is in Washington, a presidential appointee who worked for Ronald Reagan in both 1976 and 1980.

He is Alfred DelliBovi, deputy administrator of the Urban Mass Transportation Administration.

Under the Hatch Act, DelliBovi is forbidden to take part in political campaigns. But several sources said he passed the word on Ms. Ferraro's financial difficulties immediately after her selection as Walter Mondale's running mate — so quickly, in fact, that her aides were unprepared for the deluge of inquiries by the news media.

Around The Rim

Oh, those tiggers!

By KEELY COGHLAN

"Tiggers are wonderful things. Their tops are made out of rubber, their bottoms are made out of springs. They're bouncy and pouncy and fun, fun, fun, fun. But the wonderful thing about Tiggers is that they're — oh, they're No. 1."

I've taken to humming the above nonsensical tune, slightly adapted from a song in a Winnie the Pooh special, for — oh, almost all season long.

Since the playoffs started I've become fairly annoying, according to some of my colleagues, and not just because I am allegedly tone-deaf. Not everyone can be a Detroit Tigers fan.

It takes a special breed of person to pull for the Tigers, usually residents of Detroit or disillusioned Ranger fans. I started rooting for them way back in '78, when Sparky Anderson — what is his real first name, anyway? — began managing there.

I became a rabid fan when Mark "The Bird" Fydrich was pitching for them. Fydrich was the guy who used to talk to the baseball and tell it what part of the strike zone to zoom through. The ball must have talked back, because the routine worked until Fydrich injured his elbow permanently.

But now the Series has opened, and "Big D" is there. As in Detroit, not Dallas-Arlington Stadium, home of the perpetual error-ridden Texas Strangers.

Our photographer's sense of geography is somewhat limited and he's been known to regard every place — even Forsan and Ackerly — as Detroit suburbs. To map the United States according to Appel, every city, town and landmark would be minuscule dots scattered around a mammoth Detroit.

This year, Tim's right. Nothing compares with Detroit and its 104 wins. Especially not the Rangers, who finished in the cellar in the American League West at 429, 14½ games behind the Kansas City Royals. Put them in the eastern division and the Strangers would finish a mere 35 games out.

There's no class in a team like that. Even the Cubbies and Mets have miracle seasons mixed in with the mediocrity. More importantly, they have eras to remember. With the Strangers, you're lucky to remember their managers' names from five years ago. The smartest guy stayed only one day.

The Rangers — well, Ted Williams coached the team its first year. Remember him for his batting average.

I used to be a loyalist, one of those fans who always thought the Rangers could do it. The Mets had 1969, you know. Now — to fork fastballs and the Tigers in five, gang. Even the bleacher bums have changed their stripes.

Opinions expressed in this column are those of the staff writer and do not necessarily reflect the views of the newspaper's management.

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I have heard all my life about the terrible four horsemen of the book of Revelation. Who are they, and what do they represent? — J.H.

DEAR J.H.: You are referring to a passage in Revelation 6, in which the author (John) had a vision of various events that would happen toward the end of the present age. For years, I have been intrigued by the passage, and last year wrote a book entitled Approaching Hoofbeats, in which I tried to examine the meaning of each of these horsemen today.

The first horseman who rides across the earth is white, and "he rode out as a conqueror bent on conquest" (Revelation 6:2). The identity of this figure has been greatly debated, but after careful study, I came to the conclusion that he represents counterfeit religions and philosophies — looking at first much like Christ and yet representing a false hope and turning men's hearts from God.

The red horse clearly represents war, for "its rider was given power to take peace from the earth" (Revelation 6:4). Never has there been a time when this horseman threatened our world more, with vast arsenals of nuclear weapons that could destroy civilization as we know it.

The black horse represents famine and starvation affecting countless millions. Those of us who live in an affluent society easily forget the horrors of massive starvation — but it is a terrible reality in many parts of our world.

The final horseman is death.

Editorial on pay was 'full of holes'

To the editor: Your September 27 editorial, "Low Pay 'Proof' Is Full of Holes," was itself guilty of two significant "holes."

First, should large employers be compared with large employers, or with all employers? We submit the former, and it is a matter of record that the government is indeed a large employer.

Second, while the Administration's arguments for "reform" are persuasive, one wonders what the ultimate outcome would be if their arguments prevail. Once when Congress was debating the issue, a member stated: "I don't want a thirty thousand dollar a year brain surgeon at NIH cutting on my brain!"

Children affected by divorce increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 5 million children under age 18 in the United States, or 9 percent, are living with a divorced parent, according to Pediatric News, a medical publication.

The number of children affected by divorce increased between 1980 and 1981, the latest year for which figures are available from the National Center of Health Statistics.

The 1981 total falls only slightly short of the record year of 1979. In 1981, 1.18 million children were involved in divorce.

The number of children whose parents were divorced each year increased 55 percent between 1950 and 1960, 88 percent between 1960 and 1970, and 36 percent between 1970 and 1981.

Dear Abby

Credit card fraud is now a growth industry

DEAR READERS: Have you been careless about protecting yourself against credit card thieves? I was, until I read the following illuminating facts in September's Working Woman magazine:

Credit card criminals are now committing 20,000 crimes a day and are hauling away a billion dollars a year!

Thomas F. Kelleher, vice president for security and fraud control of MasterCard, says, "Our research indicates that the dramatic increase in account number abuse is in large part due to the participation and direction of sophisticated criminals, not the penny-ante thief of earlier times." From 1973 to 1982, credit card crime jumped 1,540 percent.

Unfortunately, the majority of offenders cannot be caught because of the lag time between fraudulent purchases and their discovery by consumers. "As long as the criminal is smart and throws the card away before the end of the month and doesn't use it for two billing periods, it's difficult to get him," a U.S. attorney is quoted as saying.

Protecting your account means taking precautions. Experts have this advice for cardholders:

- Never give your account number over the phone.
- Always ask for the carbon paper after you charge an item and make sure you or the cashier tears it up.

- Examine your statement monthly and make certain you have ordered everything listed and make sure that the amounts are accurate.

- Always check to be sure you get your own card back from a waiter or salesclerk.

- Don't let anyone memorize your card over your shoulder while you're signing it.

- Keep a list of all accounts and their numbers at home in a safe place and report all lost cards immediately.

I hope the above does as much for you as it did for me.

DEAR ABBY: On the last weekend in August, I went to Harris Beach, Ore., and met this really nice girl from Grants Pass, Ore. It was love at first sight, and we spent a fabulous weekend together. I never experienced anything like it in my life. The only bad thing about the weekend was that when we said goodbye, I didn't get her last name or address.

I would like to get in touch with her. Can you help me?

IN LOVE IN OREGON

DEAR IN LOVE: Did you give her your name and address? If you did and she feels the same way about you, you will hear from her. If not, you're out of luck, Romeo.

Dr. Donohue

Pulmonary hypertension: a special kind

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: We need help desperately. My wonderful 31-year-old son has just been diagnosed as having a rare illness, pulmonary hypertension. The doctors say that the blood vessels in his upper lungs didn't develop when he was born.

Have you ever heard of this? We are just desperate to find any help we can. I hope you have some information you can share with us, as we are just crushed with this verdict. Doctors don't seem to be able to do anything. Thank you kindly for any help you can give us. — Mrs. H.M.

I hope I can give you some understanding of this difficult situation. Sometimes even that much helps a bit.

You've heard it said that the heart is actually two hearts. That's literally true. We have two circulatory systems. One is for the body as a whole. The left side of the heart is the pump for that system.

The lungs have their own circulatory system served by the right side of the heart. Either system is subject to high blood pressure within it. And because they are largely independent systems blood pressure in one is unrelated to blood pressure in the other. In other words, the pulmonary circulation pressure can be high and the general body blood pressure can be normal.

Pulmonary hypertension is a rare illness, and we usually don't know what causes it, although in your son's case the cause has been identified as a congenital malformation of blood vessels in his lungs. I really cannot offer any advice beyond what your own specialists have given. Certainly, it's wise for you to consult with specialists in any medical school or large center to see if anything new is going on in this area.

The signs of this problem fatigue, shortness of breath, chest pain, for examples — are all evidence that the right side of the heart is laboring under a great strain. Drugs to prevent clots in vessels and to try to lower pressure in them are tried, and so are anticoagulants and drugs like hydralazine, isoproterenol, and nifedipine. If the heart begins to fail, digitalis is given.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have a Charcot joint problem. My knee is involved. Is bracing of any help for this? — S.L.

Yes, bracing is sometimes used if the joint becomes unstable. For other readers, a Charcot joint is one that has lost its sense of pain. Nerves to it or pain centers in the spinal cord are malfunctioning. Normally, pain messages serve an important function. For example, they keep us changing leg positions when we sit or lie down for long periods.

Our body is constantly on the move, even as we sleep. With the loss of these pain messages (Charcot joint) there is immobility and with that a gradual deterioration of joint cartilage. Any joint may be affected — hips, ankles, knees, shoulders, feet — depending on just where the nerve malfunction is.

Josephine grows into hurricane; churns Atlantic

MIAMI (AP) — Josephine grew into the third hurricane of the 1984 Atlantic season Tuesday with 85 mph winds, but a high pressure system moving out over the ocean should keep it from hitting land for at least a day, forecasters predicted.

Seas already higher than normal were "just being aggravated because of the intensification of Josephine" and were running 16 to 20 feet over open waters, said National Weather Service forecaster Bob Sheets.

By 10:30 p.m., Josephine became "better organized" and its winds reached 85 mph, the center said. "Further slow strengthening" was "likely" during the night, forecasters added.

"The Bahamian government has issued gale warnings for the central Bahamas and a hurricane watch for portions of the Northeast Bahamas," the weather service said.

NASA officials, worried over Saturday's scheduled landing of the shuttle Challenger at the Kennedy Space Center on Cape Canaveral, were monitoring the storm.

"There's a thinking they'll start feeling the effects of the storm late tomorrow," flight director Cleon Lacey said. "Even if it passed over the Cape, rain and clouds could linger for awhile. We're watching it extremely closely."

However, the hurricane center said it was premature to forecast where the storm would make land.

The storm, which had been poorly organized since forming Sunday about 500 miles east of the Bahamas, was located at 10:30 p.m. EDT near latitude 27.2 north, longitude 72.4 west, about 400 miles east of Freeport, Grand Bahama, or about 550 miles southeast of the Kennedy Space Center.

The 10th named storm of the season was expected to continue drifting slowly north-northwest at about 5 mph through the night, the hurricane center said.

But high pressure over the southeast United States, which was moving out over the sea, would block "any rapid northward movement of the storm" for the next 12 to 24 hours, Sheets said.

Gale force winds — 39 to 54 mph — extended outward 200 miles to the north and east of the center and 150 miles to the south and west.

"Some further slow strengthening is likely tonight," the Hurricane Center said.

Josephine, like Hurricane Diana, the first of the season, and Tropical Storm Isidore formed from a frontal trough located in the Atlantic, Sheets said. The second hurricane this season was the short-lived Hortense.

A tropical depression becomes a tropical storm and is named when winds reach 39 mph. A hurricane is declared when winds reach 74 mph.

W. Virginia congressman sued for gambling debts

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Rep. Nick Joe Rahall II, West Virginia's senior member in the House of Representatives, has been sued by the Dunes Hotel, which claims he owes $66,000 in gambling debts.

The resort's parent company, M and R Investment Co., is seeking the money plus interest and attorney fees from Rahall, a Democrat from Beckley, W.Va.

According to the suit, Rahall owes the hotel for casino credit he received on three days in July 1982 and on a single day in August 1983. The suit lists debts of $15,000, $7,000, $24,000 and $20,000 for the four days.

Rahall, 35, has paid an additional $20,000 in gambling debts but still owes $66,000, according to the civil suit filed Sept. 26.

Rahall, who is running for a fifth term in West Virginia's 4th District, was not home Tuesday night, said his wife, Helen. Telephone calls to his office went unanswered.

But he told the Beckley Newspapers Inc. on Tuesday that he and his wife have gambled "in a responsible manner, as an enjoyment" during trips to Las Vegas.

The trips, he said, were in no way "officially related or paid for."

"I see no relation at all to my congressional duties," Rahall said. "It's all been personal."

Copies of 19 casino credit slips made out to the name of Rahall were attached to the lawsuit. The amount of credit slips ranged from $1,000 to $10,000. In most cases, the slips indicated the game of blackjack was played.

Queen inspects Kentucky horses

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II, taking her royal horse inspection tour to the four corners of the Bluegrass State, saw superhorse Secretariat on Tuesday and America's other two living Triple Crown winners.

The queen's rolling tour of thoroughbred farms took her first to Spendthrift Farm and the stalls of 1977 Triple Crown champion Seattle Slew, the world's most valuable thoroughbred, and Affirmed, who won the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes in 1978.

Later, the British monarch went to Claiborne Farm and the paddock of Secretariat, America's most famous horse ever since he won the Triple Crown in 1973.

Shuttle may get extra day in orbit

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Mission Control officials were weighing the idea today of keeping Challenger's astronauts in orbit an extra day to avoid Hurricane Josephine and recoup some scientific data not gathered because of earlier problems.

If the flight is extended from eight to nine days, the space shuttle would land at Cape Canaveral on Sunday.

The problem is Josephine, a newborn hurricane churning in the Atlantic about 550 miles southeast of this spaceport. The storm's speed and movement is unpredictable, making a shuttle decision difficult.

Flight director Cleon Lacey said Tuesday that Josephine was heading "right towards the Cape," and that NASA was considering either extending the flight a day or diverting Challenger to a landing at Edwards Air Force Base in California.

The shuttle routinely carries enough supplies to stay in orbit an extra two or three days if necessary.

The National Weather Service said Tuesday night that the storm's future course is uncertain.

"If the weather is good, we'll get in there," said Challenger commander Robert Crippen.

While officials watched the storm, the five men and two women aboard the spaceship continued their scientific research, aiming their radar camera at selected ground features, conducting medical tests, surveying the oceans and looking ahead to the first space walk by an American woman.

Astronauts Kathy Sullivan and David Leestma are scheduled to step into the ship's open cargo bay Thursday to tie down a troublesome antenna and practice techniques for refueling satellites in orbit.

NASA said that if the mission were extended a day, the space walk would be put off until Friday. That's because once the antenna is stowed it can no longer be used to transmit radar camera data to a tracking satellite, which in turn relays the information to Earth.

A good deal of radar data was not gathered early in the flight because of problems with the antenna. An extra day would allow some catchup work.

NASA wants very much to land shuttles routinely at the Cape Canaveral launch site because this saves about a week in getting a ship ready for its next flight, eliminating the need to transport it across country strapped to a Boeing 747 aircraft after a California landing. This is especially important now that the agency has increased the launch rate to one flight a month.

Challenger's next mission is scheduled for Dec. 8 liftoff. Discovery is to fly on Nov. 7 and again in January.

To date, there has been only one landing here in 12 flights. Twice bad weather diverted a landing from the Cape to California, and both times Crippen was the commander.

The astronauts observed Josephine's swirling clouds as they flew overhead. Paul Scully-Power, an oceanographer aboard the shuttle, was asked to examine the circular formation and take pictures of it.

Other crew members are pilot Jon McBride, Sally Ride and Marc Garneau, Canada's first astronaut.

Navy analyst indicted

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Navy intelligence analyst has been indicted by a federal grand jury here on charges of providing a British defense magazine with classified photographs of Soviet fighting ships under construction.

Samuel L. Morison, of Crofton, was indicted Tuesday on two counts of passing secret information and theft of government property. Morison allegedly gave the U.S. satellite photographs to Jane's Defense Weekly.

Tigers win Series opener

Morris goes the distance

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The Captain had his hook out. San Diego had his ace in the hole. But Sparky Anderson went against his own instincts, left Jack Morris in — and the Detroit Tigers' right-hander dug himself out and buried the Padres.

San Diego Manager Dick Williams, who likewise has a propensity to reach for the hook and yank a body out of his bullpen at the slightest provocation, decided Tuesday night to give Mark Thurmond a little extra time.

And when Thurmond reached back for a little extra, he found not the bullets that Morris was firing but a bomb that blew up in his face.

While Morris struck out nine batters — three in the sixth inning, Thurmond ran out of luck in the fifth as Larry Herndon deposited a high 3-1 fastball into the right field seats at San Diego Jack Murphy Stadium, giving the Tigers a 3-2 victory in the opening game of the World Series.

It continues tonight at 7 p.m. CST with Detroit's Dan Petry, 18-8, opposing the Padres' Ed Whitson, 14-8.

Morris was hopping on and off the rim of disaster all game, and from the first inning, when the Padres scored their two runs on Terry Kennedy's double, to the sixth, when Graig Nettles and Kennedy singled with nobody out.

By then, Anderson had had half his bullpen warming up at one time or another. "I move pretty quick and I was getting ready," said Captain Hook, whose habit of waving in relievers at a moment's notice followed him from his championship years in Cincinnati.

Bobby Brown was the Padres' next batter. His job: sacrifice the runners ahead. Twice he bunted foul. Then he waved half-heartedly at a bullet of a fastball.

One out. "When he struck out the first guy, he started throwing after that," Anderson said. "Jack normally can come out throwing that way. Tonight I think he was a little nervous in the first inning."

Now there was one out and still two on in the fifth. Carmelo Martinez was next — Morris' next victim. Three strikes.

Two outs. Up came Garry Templeton. Three strikes. Inning over.

Morris had survived. "If one more man would've got on that inning," Anderson said, "he would've been gone — and we would've lost!"

"He has a lot of confidence in me, so I didn't think he would pull me," Morris said. "Then again, he has a lot of confidence in the bullpen."

So does Williams, what with middle relievers like Andy Hawkins and Dave Dravecky. The Padres got here on middle relief, no starter going more than five innings in the National League playoffs against the Chicago Cubs.

Williams had Hawkins and Dravecky up and throwing in the fourth inning, when the Tigers put a pair of runners on base with two away before Lou Whitaker fled out. Williams had them up again in the fifth, when Kirk Gibson walked with one out and wound up as Thurmond's second victim of a pickoff throw, the first one Alan Trammell after he singled home Detroit's first-inning run.

Williams still had them warming up when Lance Parrish pulled a ground-rule double down the left field line on the eighth full count which Thurmond had to deal with.

Williams had them up — they were warm, watching the game, their arms folded — when Herndon homered on the 112th of Thurmond's 117 pitches.

"He was going to come out at the end of that inning, anyway," Williams said. "He just came out one hitter too late."

"He gave in on the 3-1 pitch, got the ball up over the plate that Herndon went with. Our book on Herndon is that he's a fastball hitter. It was just an unfortunate pitch. If Mark gets it down, it probably wouldn't have happened."

That still left five innings for the Padres to catch up. Even after Morris' zip, zip, zip in the sixth, they still had their chances, especially in the seventh, when Kurt Bevacqua, the designated hitter, led off with a drive that whistled past the Detroit bullpen and rattled around in the right field corner, an easy double.

Whitaker, the Tigers' second baseman, sprinted into short right field to take the throw from Gibson.

"When the fans gave that roar, I

Campbell gets 'Bum' deal with Saints

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The New Orleans Saints have acquired running back Earl Campbell from the Houston Oilers in a trade for a 1985 first round draft pick, giving the Saints two Heisman Trophy winners with Campbell and running back George Rogers.

"There's room enough in New Orleans for me and Rogers," Campbell said after the swap was announced Tuesday.

"What this does is give us two great backs," said Coach Bum Phillips, who was coach of the Oilers when he got Campbell in 1978.

Under Phillips, Campbell led the National Football League in rushing in 1978-80. Phillips, sacked by the Oilers in 1980, picked up Rogers, the 1980 Heisman Trophy winner at South Carolina, in his first year with the Saints as the No. 1 draft choice of 1981. Campbell won the trophy in 1977 at the University of Texas.

Phillips said Campbell would report to camp today, and play against Los Angeles on Sunday.

"Obviously, we are glad to get him," Phillips said. "I've never had too many good players. This trade gives us a heck of a backfield."

"I doubt if he and George (Rogers) would play in the same backfield in too many situations, but they might. Earl is a tailback in the I-formation. That's what he does best."

Campbell, 5-11, 238-pounds, started the season with 8,296 yards on 1,883 carriers for a 4.4 yard average, but has just 278 yards on 96 carries this season, for a 2.9 yard average.

Both the Saints and Oilers said the other team initiated the trade.

The Saints said the Oilers came up with the offer Tuesday — the deadline for NFL trades.

The Oilers said the Saints had called several times to see if Campbell was available and the offer for a first-round pick was too good to turn down.

"I believe this trade is in the best interest of both the Oilers and Earl because it gives us the opportunity to select an outstanding young player next year and it gives Earl the chance at this stage of his career to hopefully be bound for the playoffs in 1984," said Ladd Herzog, the Oilers general manager.

Herzog said Campbell's trade had nothing to do with the former All Pro's inability to fit into Houston's one-back offense.

"I don't think the offense had anything to do with the trade of Earl Campbell," Herzog said. "What we tried to do was best for the organization."

"It was good for Earl, too. He now has a chance to go to a team

Lady Steers take 'ugly win'

By STEVE BELVIN

Staff Writer

Call it "winning ugly," but Big Spring Lady Steers volleyball mentor Susan Sharp will still take her squad's 12-15, 15-10, 15-13 win over the Odessa Permian Panthers at Steer Gym Tuesday night.

It was not one of Big Spring's better games as the Lady Steers had to come from behind time and time against the Panthers who entered the contest with a 2-6 District 4-5A mark. The Lady Steers led briefly in the opening moments of the first match and took the lead late in both of the last matches.

The win keeps the lady Steers in contention for a possible playoff berth as their district record goes to 5-4, fourth place behind undefeated San Angelo Central, Midland Lee, 7-2, and Abilene Cooper 6-3. A win over Cooper Thursday could vault the Lady Steers into a tie for third.

"We didn't play very well overall," said Sharp. "Everyone played well in spurts, but we weren't very consistent. Shelia Chatman was our most consistent player tonight. Tanya Ferguson finally started getting in her serves but teamwork we were lazy and un-concerned out there."

Permian outscored Big Spring 9-3 down the stretch to take the win in the first match. The second match started like a Permian victory when Panther setter Sheree Itz served five points and the Panthers jumped to a 5-0 lead.

It was not until Permian had taken a 10-6 lead that Big Spring started to surge. Debbie Holguin, Trell Clemmons and Shelia Chatman served one, four and four points respectively to lead Big Spring to victory.

In the tie-breaker Permian jumped to a 4-1 lead, and stretched that to 8-4 before Big Spring started to rally.

With Ferguson at the line, the Lady Steers pulled within 8-7 on two Panther errors and a kill by Clemmons.

Big Spring took the lead for the first time in the match when Tab Green served three points, giving the home team an 11-10 advantage. Permian then regained the lead as Itz served three points, giving her squad a two point bulge.

But Big Spring put the game away with Ferguson at the line. The senior spiker started things off with an ace, the game was tied 13-13 when Holguin set Clemmons who hammered a spike through the Panthers front line. Ferguson added another ace and ended the contest on a Panther mis-hit.

For the night Big Spring connected on 40 percent of its spike attempts, downing 34 of 84 attempts. Chatman was six of 10 while Monique Jones was six of 12. Tab Green downed nine of 20 attempts.

Permian connected on 38 percent of its kill attempts, downing 33 of 87 attempts. Sophomore Michelle Sullivan downed 10 of 15 attempts while Debora Washburn downed six of 13 attempts.

Sharp gave some credit to the Panthers for taking the Lady Steers win, pg. 2b

Tech freshman takes offensive honors

By The Associated Press

Aaron Keesee was almost perfect.

If he hadn't thrown one pass too low, the Texas Tech freshman quarterback would have been graded 100 per cent against Texas A&M Saturday.

As it turned out, his 98 per cent, four-touchdown performance in the Red Raiders' 30-12 victory over Texas A&M was good enough to earn him The Associated Press Southwest Conference Offensive Player of the Week award.

Defensive honors went to Texas' All-American safety Jerry Gray, who intercepted two passes and made five unassisted tackles in the Longhorns' 38-13 victory over Rice.

Keesee completed 6 of 8 passes for 78 yards and 3 touchdowns. He also ran for another score.

He only threw two passes in the second half against Texas A&M and both went for touchdowns.

Keesee was recruited by Tech offensive coordinator Tom Wilson.

Wilson said he has never had a quarterback grade better.

Wilson said Keesee graded 98 per cent and "that's better than any quarterback I've ever been around. He made just one mistake."

"He threw a pass low on the goal line once."

Wilson added, "Even more unbelievably is the fact that he could do that as a freshman playing in Kyle Field under the conditions of loudness and the weather."

Asked Keesee's biggest assets, Wilson said "he's a competitor. That's the biggest thing about him. He has a good football mind and sees the defense well. Pressure doesn't bother him. Maybe the more pressure put on him the better he does. He learned what we were doing in a short period of time. He's a great student of the game."

Wilson said only two schools tried to sign Keesee.

"We beat Angelo State out on him," Wilson said. "They offered him a half scholarship. That was it."

"You could see he had quick feet and a good arm," Wilson. "If he doesn't get the big head he has a chance to be pretty good."

Other offensive nominees included Houston quarterback Gerald Landry, who threw two touchdowns against Baylor; TCU wide receiver James Maness who caught the winning two-point conversion against Arkansas; and Texas Tech running back Timmy Smith, who had a 159-yard rushing day against Texas A&M.

The defensive honor roll included Texas Tech's Dwayne Jiles, who had 12 tackles and caused two fumbles; TCU's Kent Trammell, who made 18 tackles; and Houston's T.J. Turner, who had 10 tackles.

Swimmers to try Lee waters

MIDLAND — Coach Harlan Smith's Big Spring High swim team will get in its second dual meet competition of the year when the Steers and Lady Steers go against Midland Lee here Thursday beginning at 5:30 p.m.

In their season debut last week, Big Spring swimmers were swamped 119-43 in overall point production by Odessa Permian — 60-19 in girls swimming and 59-24 in boys action.

STILL IN CONTENTION — Despite being taken to three sets by the district doormat, Lady Steers Tab Green (18) and Tonya Ferguson (22) and their teammates finally came out with an important 4-5A victory over Odessa Permian Tuesday night at Steer Gym. Big Spring is in fourth place, but could move into a third place tie by beating Cooper Thursday night.

"Our younger kids were a little scared and upset, but I think they have improved a lot in the last week," Smith said. "Our veterans were not far behind in the level of performance I expect of them," he added.

The Steers appear strongest in the girls 100-meter butterfly, 100-breaststroke, boys diving and the boys 400-freestyle relay.

Big Spring notched first places in those event last week and the veterans Smith spoke of lead the way.

Hartley Newell, Lisa Salazar and Louis Morelino are the standout individuals. Making up the relay are Brigham Martin, Scott Ferguson, Don DeFlicht and Charles Morriss.

Two swimmers are expected back this week. Denise Salazar hit her nose on the wall during a turn last week, but is alright. Cade Lofton missed the first meet completely because of a knee injury. He has been working out this week, however and will swim the butterfly on the 200 medley relay.

Steers to the limit. "We thought the game was going to be easier than it was. Permian's record is not indicative of their play, they play everybody tough. A win is a win, I'm just glad it's over."

JV REMAIN PERFECT
Coach Elaine Stone's JV Lady

Steers upped their district record to a sparkling 9-0 by winning in two straight matches by identical scores of 15-10.

The win was the Lady Steers 16th in the last 19 contests. Their season record now stands at 18-7 for the year.

Sheri Myrick scored six points in the first match while Lisa Hale added nine service points in the second match. Stone credited both players with having outstanding games.

Big Spring will have a big game Thursday when the Lady Steers travel to Abilene to battle Cooper. JV play starts at 6 p.m. with the varsity following at 7 p.m.

Herald Recipe Exchange

Howard County Library features patrons' recipes

By TINA STEFFEN
Lifestyle Editor

Several patrons of the Howard County Library bring in desserts and food for the Library's annual Silver Tea or Open House, and once in a while for the Library's staff to enjoy. The patrons also often give the staff copies of their recipes. Members of the Library staff often bring dishes in for the others to try in their back room. "We love to eat here. So we are always bringing things in," says Donna Jackson, librarian.

The recipes featured in this weeks Herald Recipe Exchange are a few of those that have been collected over time. Ms. Jackson brought them to the Herald to share with the readers.

The Library also has a wide variety of cookbooks on hand for readers to try out. Some include: "The Nero Wolfe Cookbook", "The Yogi Cook Book", "The Ultimate Food Processor Cookbook", "Calorie Counter Cookbook". "Some people come in looking for a recipe from a foreign country and we can usually find something," Ms. Jackson said.

If you or your club wishes to share recipes with the readers of the Herald Recipe Exchange, contact the Lifestyle Department of the Big Spring Herald at 263-7331 or by writing P.O. Box 1431, Big Spring, Texas 79720. We would enjoy hearing from you.

BOOKS, BOOKS AND MORE COOK BOOKS — Donna Jackson browses through the shelves of cook books at the Howard County Library. The Library offers a wide variety of cook books that can be checked out by its patrons. When someone is looking for a particular foreign recipe, the librarians often can find it in one of these books.

3 to 4 cups flour
1/2 tsp. salt

Beat eggs; add sugar and milk. Sift half the flour, all the salt and baking powder together and add to milk and egg mixture. Beat the batter until smooth and add only as much more flour as needed. Batter should be thin enough to run through a funnel into deep, hot fat (375 degrees). Spirals and endless intricate shapes can be made by swirling and criss-crossing while controlling the funnel spout with a finger. Serve hot with molasses,

1/2 to 1 cup peeled, chopped apple (grated is okay)
1/2 tsp. vanilla

Melt butter and add sugar, egg and vanilla and mix until smooth. Stir in flour mixture, apple and walnuts until well-mixed. Spread in greased 8x8 pan and sprinkle with mixture of 2 Tbsps. sugar and 1 tsp. cinnamon (more is okay). Bake at 350 degrees for 20 to 30 minutes until top springs back when touched. 2 Tbsps. chopped pecans

On a piece of waxed paper, mix brown sugar and cinnamon. Dip biscuits in three tablespoons melted butter and roll in cinnamon mixture. Flatten biscuits a bit with the heel of your hand. 3 cups all-purpose flour*
2 1/2 cups sugar

1 tsp. ground cloves
1/2 tsp. baking powder
1/2 cup raisins
1/2 cup chopped nuts

Heat oven to 325 degrees. Generously grease bottoms only of two baking pans, 9x5x3-inches. Beat all ingredients on low speed, scraping bowl constantly, one minutes. Beat on medium speed one minute. Pour into pans. Bake until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean, about one hour. Cool 10 minutes; remove from pans. Cool completely before slicing. Store in refrigerator. Makes two loaves.

*If using self-rising flour, omit salt, baking soda and baking powder.

VARIATION: Zucchini Bread — Substitute 4 cups coarsely shredded zucchini for the apples (do not shred in blender). Omit raisins and increase nuts to one cup.

Add to flour mixture oats, chocolate chips and coconut, mix well. Combine creamed sugar and flour mixture, mix well. Bake at 350 degrees about 10 minutes on lightly greased tin.

MISSISSIPPI MUD CAKE

Donna Jackson
1/2 cup butter, softened
1 cup sugar
3 eggs
3/4 cup all-purpose flour
1/2 tsp. baking powder
Dash of salt
1/4 cup plus 1 1/2 Tbsps. cocoa
1 tsp. vanilla extract
1 cup chopped pecans
1 (10-oz.) pkg. marshmallows
Chocolate frosting

Cream butter; gradually add sugar, beating well. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Combine flour, baking powder, salt and cocoa; add to creamed mixture. Stir in vanilla and pecans. Spoon batter into a greased 13x9x2-inch glass baking pan. Bake at 325 degrees for 15 to 18 minutes or until top is barely soft to the touch. Remove cake from oven and cover top with marshmallows. Return to oven for 2 minutes or until marshmallows are soft. Spread marshmallows over cake and immediately cover with chocolate frosting. Let frosting harden before cutting the cake into squares. Yield 13x9-inch cake.

CHOCOLATE FROSTING

Donna Jackson
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/4 cup plus 2 Tbsps. cocoa
1/4 cup plus 3 Tbsps. warm milk
1 tsp. vanilla extract
1 (16-oz) package powdered sugar, sifted
Cream butter; add cocoa, mixing well. Gradually beat in powdered sugar, adding warm milk as necessary until spreading consistency. Stir in vanilla. Spread immediately over warm marshmallows. Yield: enough for one 13x9-inch cake.

TRIPLE FUDGE CAKE

Judith Gray
Prepare one package chocolate pudding per directions. Blend one package chocolate cake mix (dry) with hot pudding. (Will be thick and sticky). Spread in prepared baking dish (13x8x2-inch). Sprinkle 1/2 to 3/4 cup semi-sweet chocolate morsels and 1/2 to 3/4 cup chopped nuts over surface. Bake for 30 to 35 minutes at 350 degrees. Cool. Cut into squares.

Variation: Substitute semi-sweet chocolate morsels for milk chocolate morsels.

NOTE: Judith Gray bakes this for 30 minutes, turns off the oven and leaves the cake in for an additional five minutes. She believes this makes the cake a little more moist.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR THURS., OCTOBER 11, 1984

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The early day is very good for you to get into the details of money and possessions, especially with newcomers in your life who have considerable experience in financial matters.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Make the collections possible and then pay your pressing bills since later some situation from the past will take time.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You have fine judgment in the morning and can handle important matters well, but later, delays deter your progress.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Early schedule your time and activities well and then carry through despite any delays that may come up.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Contacting some influential person early can bring you fine new ideas but don't let go of others you may have, either.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) If you contact bigwigs early, you are apt to gain the backing you need for whatever your purpose, then handle routines well.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You are inspired how to gain your finest aspirations early, so go right after them without procrastination.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have good ideas how to become more successful and have greater business know-how, so carry through without delay.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Long talks with associates can bring fine results today, and later do not discuss your prejudices with others.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) If you handle your work with greater insight, you may have greater benefits accruing.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Look to industrious and progressive friends for the aid you need in gaining personal aims.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Have guests in who are accomplished in the evening, but make arrangements early for best results.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Morning is best time to handle communications of all sort, and tonight be very careful while out driving.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be very good at business and have the feet squarely on the ground and would do very well when working with others of pretty much the same nature, so be sure to give as fine an academic education as possible. One who has vision.

"The Stars impel; they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Libby Doggett makes local stop, optimistic about senatorial race

By CAROL BALDWIN Staff Writer

An enthusiastic Libby Doggett, wife of Lloyd Doggett, Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate, breezed through Big Spring this morning in a campaign drive which has taken her around the Permian Basin.
 "We know we're going to win this race," Mrs. Doggett said. She said Sen. Lloyd Bentsen was soon to join the Doggett campaign drive and she quoted him as saying the November race will be "a cliffhanger."
 Mrs. Doggett was more than an hour late for a reception in the Howard County courthouse. She had tried to visit Big Spring last spring but her airplane was turned back in Fort Worth due to high winds and blowing dust.
 "I tried to get here one other time, but the weather blew me away," she said as she plopped down papers and a briefcase on a table in the courtroom.
 When asked why her husband has visited Big Spring only one time during his campaign, she said, "The state is so huge that he and I have split it up." But she denied that the Doggett campaign has given up hope for West Texas.
 "I think this is a race we're going to win," she said, turning her attention to the brief time she had to talk with supporters. She compared Doggett's opponent, Republican Phil Gramm, with Goliath, and her husband to David. She said Gramm's "pointed spear" was radio announcements denouncing Doggett.

of an elderly Republican pictured with Doggett in a campaign advertisement will probably be pulled, now that Gramm and other Republicans have charged that the Republican, now deceased, would not have wanted to be seen supporting a Democrat.
 She defended the photograph, however, saying, "We were given the picture to use."
 Mrs. Doggett accused Gramm of putting up smokescreens in his campaign.
 "We've tried to focus on the issues for a year and a half," she said. She chose one issue, education, and said, "We all know we need to do a better job" in education for children in the state.
 "Mr. Gramm has said that he wants to phase out support" for education. She quoted her husband as saying, "Maybe the Gramm family has thrown in the towel" concerning public education, "But we haven't."
 She said her husband "is the voice and the vote for senior citizens in the state... We want to go to Washington and protect Social Security."
 Mrs. Doggett was asked about "untrue statements" Gramm has made in his campaign, and why Doggett didn't spend more time defending himself.
 "We can't match (Gramm) dollar for dollar," Mrs. Doggett said. Instead, the Doggett campaign has tried to maintain "a truthful record," she said.
 "We need all of you to go in and counter some of that," she added.

Mrs. Doggett said, "We will never resort to dishonest advertising." She said the Doggett campaign was "honest."
 Mrs. Doggett said a photograph

From the courthouse, Mrs. Doggett was heading for the SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf to talk with educators and students there.

TDC members approve $82 million '86 budget

HUNTSVILLE (AP) - The Texas Board of Corrections approved a proposed budget calling for an extra $82 million to boost prison staffing and maintain the prison system's programs in fiscal years 1986 and 1987.
 The prison board unanimously approved a proposal during a special meeting Tuesday that will increase expenditures 24.9 percent over the two-year period and will bring an additional 1,232 personnel by fiscal 1987.
 The budget draft for the nation's second-largest prison system is the first one proposed here by Texas Department of Corrections Director Raymond K. Proconier, who took office in May.
 The proposal, which must be submitted to the state Legislative Budget Board by Oct. 19, seeks $377.9 million in fiscal 1986 and $388.2 million the following year.
 Under the 1985 budget, which went into effect Sept. 1, $306.7 million is earmarked for operating expenses.
 The proposed budget also includes the preliminary estimates for construction and additional security, which Proconier said could be revised.
 The plan calls for the prison system to spend $27.1 million over the next two fiscal years to put central administration operations into proper working order. This represents a 68 percent increase over the current $8 million allowed and includes funds to pay $1 million each year to the special master overseeing the court-ordered prison reforms.
 TDC officials say they will need $98 million in 1986 and $105.7 million in 1987 - a 28.6 percent hike, according to the proposal - to maintain the prison system's agriculture program, to replace equipment and to maintain its buildings, industries and utilities. The department will spend $79.3 million on the operations this year.
 TDC also has asked that almost $129 million be earmarked for security and security administration out of the $173.7 million that can be spent this year under the 1985 budget.
 The proposal also would raise the total number of staff to 8,570 by the end of fiscal 1987.
 In 1986, prison officials say, the department will need $154.3 million of a total $210.5 million for security and $161 million of a total $210.7 million in 1987. This includes funds to hire an additional 201 guards over the next two years. Plans also call for 300 TDC personnel who were serving in clerical positions to move to jobs as guards.

 But Proconier told board members the additional guards would still not be enough. The director said he and his staff will re-evaluate the request early next year after prison officials have reclassified all 36,178 inmates in an effort to separate less violent prisoners from troublemakers.
 TDC currently has about 5,400 guards with an inmate-to-guard ratio of about 7 to 1, one of the highest in the country. A federal court order has instructed the TDC to higher 1,625 guards by the end of 1984 for a total of 6,100.
 Prison officials said they do not know how far short they fall of the needed total.
 A federal court judge in 1981 ordered the TDC to undertake massive reforms to reduce overcrowding and improve inmates' living conditions.
 Texas' prison population peaked at slightly more than 38,000 in April 1983, and then declined only to begin raising in June.
 But budget director Bill McCray predicted that 3,400 inmates will be sent to Texas prisons over the next 18 months, causing the TDC to reach 95 percent of its capacity or 39,658 inmates by mid-1986. When the inmate population hits 95 percent capacity, the Texas Prison Management Act is triggered and many prisoners are released early.
 Although figures are preliminary, McCray said $42.7 million and $28.9 million will be spent in 1986 and 1987 respectively for construction and repairs. The request includes an $8.5 million allocation for an officer training facility, school buildings at seven of the systems 27 units and gymnasiums at four facilities.
 The proposal also requests $130,000 to build a new execution chamber at the Ellis I unit, 13 miles north of Huntsville.
 Earlier this year, prison board members voted to move the death chamber to the diagnostic unit, on the edge of downtown Huntsville. But Proconier said he wanted it moved to Ellis where death row inmates are housed, because TDC officials would be better able to control the crowds that gather outside the prison when an execution occurs.
