The forecast calls for partly cloudy skies, a 30 percent chance of rain and highs in the low 70s. Winds will be westerly, 10 to 15 miles per hour, changing to northwesterly, 10 to 20 miles per hour, later in the day.

Off the wall: Martians

LONDON (AP) — An English lord wants 30 people of differing nationalities to live on an island, grow algae for food — and pretend they are on Mars. The volunteers would be confined to huts, venturing outside only after taking the precautions similar to what they might need to survive on the red planet, said Lord Young of Dartington.

Young, who has the backing of Russell Schweickart, a former U.S. Apollo astronaut, said Thursday he's found 15 volunteers, all from Great Britain or Australia.

SOIL SCIENTIST — Ted Zobeck is a research soil scientist working at the U.S.-Big Spring Field Station. Zobeck came to Big Spring in August from Ohio State University to study wind erosion.

Soil scientist enjoys career

By CAROL BALDWIN
Staff Writer

Inside his office at the Big Spring U.S. Field Station, Ted Zobeck, 32, has a poster celebrating the upcoming Golden Anniversary of soil conservation. It features brightly colored hills and plains and a city shimmering in the background.

The poster is a fitting decoration in the office of the research soil scientist who came to Big Spring in August to join in a study of the effects of wind erosion.

The dark-haired Zobeck, clad in a checkered shirt and tennis shoes, is preparing to go out into the fields around the research station. Recent rains have curtailed the amount of time he can spend in the field, and he is anxious to take advantage of a sunny day.

"My speciality is soil science," he explains. "I study the formation and development of soils" and the effect on agriculture production and other land uses.

Although the work of a research scientist and a farmer may seem far removed from one another, their ultimate goal is really the same. Both are interested in sustaining productivity of the land.

Zobeck entered soil research "basically because of a love of the earth," he says. "Agriculture is the foundation of this country. (Agriculture) is the most important industry in the country."

At the research center, Zobeck is trying to "develop a basic understanding of wind erosion on soil production. We are trying to determine how crops respond to wind-eroded soils, and determine the loss of soil nutrients."

West Texas has been battered during the last two years by lack of rain and high winds that have robbed the topsoil in many areas. But Zobeck hasn't given up hope that work done by scientists today will someday solve the problem of soil erosion.

"I'm an optimist. I always think there is hope," he says with a smile. But he doesn't think the problem will be solved in the near future.

Funding agreement found to be illegal

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

A tentative agreement by the Howard County Commissioners Court to fund a county-city rape crisis center is illegal, according to county officials.

County Judge Milton Kirby and County Attorney Bob Miller said Friday that the commissioners' tentative agreement to give $6,000 for operating funds to the new Howard County-Big Spring Rape Crisis Center would violate the Texas constitution.

However, the commissioners could authorize funds for a county law enforcement department to pay for law enforcement services provided to the department under a contract with such an agency as a rape crisis center.

Under Article 3 of the state constitution, commissioners' courts are limited in funding private organizations.

Both Kirby and Miller referred to a 1978 Attorney General's opinion by John Hill, which states that "the commissioners court does not have unlimited law enforcement authority and may not on that basis independently fund a rape crisis center."

However, Hill's opinion goes on to state that the court could "authorize funding for contracts between a rape crisis center and county agencies or officials which do have specific law enforcement duties." The opinion was written by Hill, then attorney general for Texas, to Dallas County District Attorney Henry Wade.

"With the cooperation of the sheriff or criminal district attorney, a county may expend funds for law enforcement activities such as those proposed by the Rape Crisis Center," Hill states in the opinion.

Settles price: $20,000

Other costs figure in to final price

By RICK BROWN
Staff Writer

Financial details for the Hotel Settles deal completed Monday indicate a total selling price of $20,000, a figure less than one-tenth of the landmark's appraised value.

The money was evenly split between the two surviving wives of the late Julian Wayne "Bo" Rich.

The women, Georgia Rich of Odessa and Inita Rich of Cass County, sold the building "as is," including all outstanding taxes and liens, according to the document that records the sale.

As a result, the old hotel's new owner, Gilbert Cuadra of MPG Management, Inc. of San Antonio, owes a total of $82,836 in back taxes on the property. The Settles is carried on the county tax roll at a valuation of $280,000.

"If they're (taxes) not paid, the penalty goes up 1 percent monthly," said Howard County Tax Assessor-Collector Dorothy Moore Friday.

According to Doris Cook of the State Property Tax Board in Austin, neither the taxes nor the penalty can be forgiven by local taxing entities. Ms. Cook quoted a 1987 state Attorney General's opinion that she said is still in effect in such cases.

In addition to the taxes, Cuadra is restricted by an $800,000 lien held on the building by the Mercantile National Bank of Dallas.

According to Mrs. Moore, local taxing entities filed suit to recover the back taxes in 118th District Court three years ago, but the suit could not be settled because of "that big lien on it."

LOW PRICE TAG — The selling price for the Settles Hotel was listed at $20,000, according to figures released recently. Other costs must be paid, though, such as back taxes.

The warranty deed, which was signed Tuesday by Cuadra and the two women, conveyed the Settles property to Cuadra's company "or its successors."

Records show the deed was preceded by an "earnest money contract," a document setting out the Rich estate's intent to sell the property, which was signed Aug. 31 by the two Rich women and on Sept. 2 by Cuadra.

Excepted from the sale were several articles of furniture in the United Way on track of goal

The United Way now has 26 percent of its $202,500 goal, according to Sherrie Bordofske, director of the annual campaign.

Total donations to date are $53,918.

A breakdown shows:

Out-of-town.....$3,295
Facemelters.....$33,922
Special.....$436.80
Small business.....$2,763
Professional.....$2,675

Special events and residential.....$1,660
Loaned executive.....$8,893.20
Rural.....$273.

Money from the United Way goes to a variety of Big Spring organizations, including the West Side Community Day Care Center.

The West Side Community Day Care Center was organized in 1973 and began operation on Nov. 1, 1973. It was initiated because of a request from the Industrial Foundation to provide day care for parents working in industries establishing work sites in Big Spring.

The center is a non-profit federally funded Title XX day care center and is licensed to care for 70 children, ages six weeks to six years. At present, the center is funded for 47 children.

West Side Community Day Care Center provides four priority services. Protective services is the first priority. Children are referred to the center through the Department of Human Resources.

The second priority is Aid For Dependent Children. These families receive a grant from DHR. The parent must be working in some type of training.

The third priority is food stamp receipts. Fourth priority is for income eligibles. These families are given an income guideline to meet.

The fee for families varies. Income eligibles fee is based on their gross income.

Magician on slate at festival

Arthur and Audree Koon of Fort Worth will be among artists and craftsmen who will be providing live demonstrations of their art during the Big Spring Arts and Crafts Festival Oct. 20-21.

The festival will take place in the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum and is free of charge. The festival is opened from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday.

The Koons, a husband and wife team who have participated in the local festival for the past six years, have been working with clay since the late 1950s. They both create one-of-a-kind items in stoneware, porcelain and raku.

Koon is probably best remembered by youngsters in this area by his magic tricks he likes to show while working on his pottery.

Weather

Showers prevail

By the Associated Press

Cloudy skies covered much of the state Friday, with showers and thunderstorms scattered from Northeast Texas to the upper coast as temperatures warmed slightly.

Showers were not as prevalent as earlier in the week. Abundant gulf moisture and a weak upper level disturbance were responsible for the clouds over the eastern two-thirds of the state, the National Weather Service said.

A jet stream also brought high cloudiness across South Texas, while the leading edge of cloudiness and showers associated with a strong upper low pressure system moved across far West Texas.

Southerly winds blew across most of Texas, averaging between 10 and 20 mph. The exception was in West Texas where southwest and west winds were the rule ahead of a trough of low pressure, the weather service said.

Temperatures in the 80s were common over the southern and northern portions of the state. In the mountains of West Texas, the mercury stabilized in the 70s. Harlingen in far South Texas reported a high of 89 degrees.

The forecast called for partly cloudy skies through Sunday with the chance of showers and scattered thunderstorms increasing into the weekend. Overnight lows should range from the 50s in the Panhandle area to the 70s in the Rio Grande Valley. Daytime highs will be in the 70s in the mountains and Panhandle and in the 80s elsewhere except deep South Texas where temperatures will be in the 90s, the weather service said.

A major storm packing winds up to 100 mph buffeted the Pacific Northwest on Friday, as snow in the Rocky Mountains made travel hazardous in Colorado.

The Northwest storm was fueled by a huge low pressure system that spawned rain showers and winds gusting to 60 mph at Newport, Ore., to 40 mph at Whidbey Island, Wash., and to 100 mph at Cape St. James in British Columbia, Canada. Gale warnings were posted for the Washington state coast, where several towns reported power outages due to the wind.

Snow was forecast for the central Rockies and a travelers advisory was posted for the mountains of Colorado.

Gale warnings were posted along the mid-Atlantic coast from Cape Lookout, N.C. to south of Virginia Beach.

West Texas: Mostly cloudy Monday and Tuesday with chance of rain becoming partly cloudy Wednesday. Cooler Monday. Panhandle and south plains: lows mid 40s and highs near 70. Permian Basin and Concho Valley: lows near 50 to mid 50s, highs mid 70s. Far west lows near 40 and highs mid 70s. Big Bend country: lows mid to upper 40s mountains to mid 50s lowlands. Highs low to mid 70s mountains to low to mid 80s along the river.

former owner divorced Inita Rich 10 years ago, leaving a will designating his first wife as the recipient of all his property after his death.

Rich subsequently married his second wife, Georgia, and bought the Settles, but left no second will setting out community property rights from the second marriage, Godwin said.

Soils

"It's difficult to solve the problem. Never say never...Right now we don't have the answers. We won't solve the problem without a great deal more information."

The recent rains have given hope to most area farmers. "Right now there is a real promise that we'll have a better spring," Zobeck said. He hopes farmers will take advantage of the wet soil conditions and plow their land to bring up clods which will hold down the soil this spring.

Zobeck came to Big Spring with his wife, Virginia, from Columbus, Ohio, where he was an assistant professor of agronomy at Ohio State University. He has a bachelor's degree in natural resources from the University of Michigan, his home state.

"I come from a rural background, but I didn't live on a farm," he said. "I wasn't as familiar with the soil as some people might be. My main exposure (to soil sciences) was at a university."

He found he enjoyed studying soils but knew he didn't have enough technical background after obtaining his bachelor's degree. He decided enter research and headed back to college to work on graduate degrees.

He obtained his master's degree from Michigan State University in soil science and his Ph.D. from New Mexico State University in agronomy.

While working at Ohio State University, "I saw a chance to come to Big Spring. There is a very serious problem in the West (with soil erosion) and I thought I might help."

Zobeck is a member of the American Society of Agronomy, the Soil Science Society of America, the International Soil Science Society, the Council on Agricultural Science and Technology, and the American Society of Agricultural Engineers.

His wife Virginia is a native of Roswell, N.M., and was working as secretary for the optometry department at Ohio State before the couple moved here.

Crisis

vices, Cecelia McKenzie, said she was not "worried" about obtaining promised funding from the commissioners' court.

"I'm really not worried. I think the money's coming in. The support has been so openly given to us (by the commissioners' court, the sheriff's office and the district attorney's office)," Mrs. McKenzie said.

And she said the group was trying to see if any revisions in the law had been made since 1978, the date of the Attorney General's opinion.

"We are contacting other rape crisis services to see how they are funded," Mrs. McKenzie said. She also said she had talked to Sheriff A.N. Standard, and had been told funding through his office would be "no problem."

Kirby also indicated that the commissioners' court would fund the group through the district attorney's office or the sheriff's office to meet the constitutional requirements.

Although the court made a tentative agreement to fund the group, it could not vote on the issue because the item was accidentally left off the agenda, Kirby said.

"We're going to discuss funding through one of the law enforcement agencies at our next meeting," he said.

Miller said he discovered a direct contract between the commissioners' court and the rape crisis center violated the constitution when commissioners asked him to draw up such a contract.

"Before the county commissioners can enter into a contract that would grant a community agency funds, it (the purpose of the expenditure) must be authorized in a statute or have a reason permitted in the constitution," Miller said.

"If it isn't there, they can't pay for it," Miller said.

Law enforcement agencies — such as the sheriff's office, the district attorney's office or the police department — can enter into a contract with the group, and the county can provide the department with funds to pay the contract.

The county attorney's office would not be able to enter into a contract with the agency because rape — or sexual assault, as it is legally termed — is outside its legal jurisdiction, Miller said. Sexual assault is a felony, he said.

Commissioners would not be able to appropriate any funds to the services "until a contract is presented to them by a law enforcement agency," Miller said.

HIRE THE HANDICAPPED — Gwen Morton, Handicapped Program coordinator at the Veterans Administration Medical Center, hangs a poster on a display in the VAMC lobby.

Special week gets recognition

Today is the last day of National Employ the Handicapped Week, and several Big Spring organizations are getting the word out on hiring the handicapped.

Mike Collier, vocational rehabilitation counselor with the Texas Rehabilitation Commission, reminds everyone that "there are disabled people right here in Big Spring. Our job at the Texas Rehabilitation Commission is to help these people find jobs, improve the quality of their lives and allow them to contribute to society as taxpaying, productive citizens."

Collier said his office helps people with a wide range of disabilities, including people with spinal cord injuries, mental retardation, mental illness, epilepsy and internal disorders, hearing impairments, learning disabilities and orthopedic impairments.

"We provide counseling, guidance, medical treatment, job placement, training and many other services to help our clients get and keep good jobs," Collier said.

For more information about the Commission, call the TRC office at 263-3715.

The Veterans Administration Medical Center in observance of the week scheduled Jim Potter, recreation supervisor from the Big Spring State Hospital, to speak on the emotional and physical barriers that handicapped people must overcome in the work-a-day world.

During the past year, the Veterans Administration employed 3,836 severely handicapped persons.

Woman's probation revoked

118th District Court Judge Jim Gregg Friday revoked the probation of a 26-year-old Rockdale woman in District Court.

Gregg sentenced Marcia Lou Loden, also known as Marcia Wilson, to two years in prison. She was credited with serving 18 days in county jail.

Roy Rodriguez, 18, of 15th and Benton, was transferred to the sheriff's office Friday from the police department on suspicion of resisting arrest. He remains in the county jail in lieu of $1,500 bond set by Municipal Judge Melvin Daratt.

The Wichita County sheriff's office Friday arrested Roland Noel Hankins, 62, of Wichita Falls on a Howard County warrant for revocation of probation for driving while intoxicated. He was released on $1,000 bond via the Wichita County sheriff's office.

Georges Bank boundary drawn

THE HAGUE — The World Court drew a boundary Friday that gives the United States about three-quarters of the Georges Bank fishing grounds off the Atlantic seaboard.

Its verdict in the U.S.-Canadian dispute spoke of the "exceptionally extensive wealth" in fish resources in the area between New England and Nova Scotia. Georges Bank also is believed to hold up to one billion barrels of oil and natural gas reserves.

Canada and the United States agreed to submit the dispute to the International Court of Justice after the U.S. Senate refused to ratify a 1979 treaty that called for joint management of Georges Bank.

Canada had proposed that the area be about equally divided between the two countries, while the United States claimed all of the zone.

The World Court is the judicial arm of the United Nations. It has no enforcement powers and depends on voluntary compliance, but both Canada and the United States have said they would consider the five-judge panel's ruling as binding.

About 30,000 square nautical miles in the Gulf of Maine became involved in the dispute in 1977 when Canada and the United States extended their offshore claims from 12 miles to 200 miles.

Issues losing public's interest

JERUSALEM (AP) — Foreign Minister Yitzhak Shamir believes world leaders are less concerned about the Palestinian issue than in recent years, a spokesman said Friday.

Spokesman Avi Pazner told reporters Shamir gained this impression during meetings in the last three weeks at the United Nations with foreign ministers from 39 Western, East European and Third World countries.

"In all of these talks, one element was very prominent, which was the lessening of interest in the Palestinian question. In many conversations the subject (of the Israeli-occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip) was not mentioned at all," Pazner said.

Hope cancels appearance

PORTSMOUTH, England — A construction worker dug up a World War II German bomb in this south England port Friday, forcing comedian Bob Hope to cancel a planned appearance at a nearby auditorium.

"I can't play. I'm bombed," Hope told The Associated Press. "Maybe the Germans are getting even for me doing all those U.S.O. shows."

A worker excavating the site of the Hippodrome Theater, an old vaudeville house that used to stand behind the Guildhall, unearthed the 550-pound bomb at mid-morning, a Hampshire Constabulary police spokesman said.

SATELLITE RETRIEVAL CREW — The crew that will go into space in November to retrieve two satellites that went astray Friday answer questions about their mission at a news conference at the

Satellite retrieval scheduled

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Five astronauts slated for Challenger's November flight said Friday they are ready for the shuttle's most complex and daring salvage mission ever, in which they will pluck two crippled satellites from orbit and return them to Earth.

"We feel like we're ready," said Fredrick H. Hauck, the commander for the space shuttle mission set for launch Nov. 7. "We started actively planning in April. (But) we're comfortable with it."

Hauck will lead a crew that includes David M. Walker, pilot; Joseph P. Allen and Dale A. Gardner, mission specialists and spacewalkers; and Dr. Anna L. Fisher, a mission specialist and a physician who will carry the key responsibility of operating a robot arm.

The astronauts appeared Friday at Johnson Space Center at their final news conference before their launch on the eight-day mission.

Plans call for Hauck to rendezvous Challenger with first one satellite and then the other at an altitude of about 210 miles. He will fly alongside the satellites with only 35 feet of separation while Allen, Gardner and Ms. Fisher effect the salvage.

A spacewalking astronaut, either Allen or Gardner, will fly out to the target satellite and attach a device called a stinger. Then the satellite and the astronaut will be hauled on board Challenger by the robot arm. The stinger will be removed from the satellite and other equipment installed that will enable the robot arm to place the craft on a pallet in the cargo bay.

"The (training) time appears to be short," said Gardner. "But we have been intimately involved with the development of the hardware. We're ready."

He said some of the spacewalking tasks required to salvage the satellites appear difficult, but that he and Allen have learned techniques that will help them pull it off.

Walker agreed, noting: "We could train for a year and I'm not too sure we'd be any readier."

Space shuttle Challenger was used last April to salvage the Solar Maximum Satellite. On that mission, the orbiting Solar Max was brought into the cargo bay, repaired and then returned to orbit.

Training and preparation for the Solar Max flight lasted three years. Specific training for the double satellite rescue started only last month.

The mission next month will be the first time that two satellites have been salvaged on one flight, and the first time that salvaged satellites have been returned to Earth.

The targets of the mission are two communications satellites, Westar and Palapa-B, which were sent into wayward orbits by malfunctioning rocket engines after they were successfully placed into orbit by the space shuttle in February. Rocket firings that were to send the satellites to high orbits failed, and the two $70 million craft have been useless since.

An insurance company is paying NASA $2.75 million each for the salvage of the satellites. Hughes Aerospace, which built the satellites, is receiving $5 million to aid in the salvage and to refurbish the satellites.

Once they are back on Earth, the satellites will be refitted and launched to the correct orbit.

Gardner said one of the most difficult parts of the mission was to design a way of grasping Westar and Palapa, which are identical satellites manufactured by Hughes. He said the satellites are symmetrical and cylindrical and have very fragile structures on the surface.

The final solution, he said, was the stinger. This is a mast-like device that will be flown out to the target satellite by Allen or Gardner who will be wearing the Buck Rogers-like rocket pack called the astronaut maneuvering unit.

The stinger will be inserted into the nozzle of the spent rocket on the satellite and two toggle bolts will be released. This will make a hard attachment on the satellite.

Ms. Fisher will then use the robot arm to grasp a handle on the stinger. Another attachment will be made on top of the satellite and this will be used to place the craft in the cargo bay.

Shuttle making tour of United States

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — If space shuttle Challenger returns to Kennedy Space Center at 11:26 a.m. CDT today as scheduled, its unpowered flight will take the ship across Canada, entering United States air space over Minnesota. The shuttle passes over or near Duluth, Minn.; Milwaukee; Chicago; Indianapolis; Cincinnati; Lexington, Ky.; and Knoxville, Tenn.

School stocks suicide pills

PROVIDENCE, R.I. — A referendum urging Brown University to stockpile suicide pills for use in case of a nuclear war has been approved by the school's undergraduates, student government officials announced Friday.

The non-binding proposal was approved by a 60-40 margin, 1,044 to 687, in balloting that brought out voters in droves.

"We've got the whole campus thinking again about nuclear issues," said Jason Salzman, a junior from Denver and a leader of the referendum. "We have succeeded here at Brown by equating suicide and nuclear war and making people realize that the nuclear threat demands that we look at our whole value system and our lives differently."

UAW workers slate talks

DEARBORN, Mich. — The United Auto Workers and Ford Motor Co. scheduled a bargaining session for Saturday after a deadline for reaching a tentative contract passed Friday without an agreement.

Meanwhile, workers neared ratification of the union's agreement with the industry leader, General Motors Corp.

UAW President Owen Bieber declared at Ford headquarters that progress was being made at Ford.

But the company announced in the early evening that Saturday bargaining sessions had been scheduled, and that no settlement would be announced Friday.

Earlier in the day, Bieber said, "If we weren't making progress, I guess we wouldn't be meeting, right?"

Bieber, speaking as he walked up a corridor after a leisurely lunch in the employee cafeteria, said the union so far had declined to set a strike deadline.

Court orders papers released

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — A circuit judge Friday ordered prosecutors to release hundreds of pages of documents that were collected during the criminal investigation following the drug-related death of David Kennedy.

Circuit Judge R. William Rutter Jr., settling a long-simmering feud between prosecutors and media, ordered the release of only those documents that the state had already turned over to defense lawyers, except for statements about young Kennedy's net worth, which will be withheld.

Divorce isn't a simple solution for problems

Women who think divorce is the simple solution to their problems may simply have forgotten what single life was like.

Breaking up a marriage may be advisable — even essential — but an article in Cosmopolitan warns against being seduced into thinking divorce is an easy way out.

First among the common but dangerous delusions about divorce involves re-entry into the dating game, which can be just as intimidating for an adult as it was for a teenager.

"In some ways, people regress," says David Schnarch, director of the Sexual and Marital Health Clinic at Louisiana State University in New Orleans.

"A marriage medicates your insecurities, but if you were worried about your lovability or popularity before you got married, the same qualms will probably resurface after your divorce."

There's a frantic quality to the dating of some divorced women.

"Many divorced women I know run around as much as they can just to prove themselves desirable," says Marcia Kamien, who works with an East Coast singles group. "There's an edge of panic to their behavior."

Another delusion is that once your marital problems are over, you will straighten up and fly right — go on that diet, take that exercise class, organize your closets.

Schnarch points out, "It's easier to say, 'Look at all the things I can't accomplish because my spouse won't let me' than it is to realize that you are standing in your own way."

New York psychologist William Beery says, "Guilt feelings about a separation can lead to such self-destructive behavior as sloppy dressing or extreme lethargy. People try to punish themselves for what they see as a failure."

Then there's the megabucks myth, about how you will handle money so much better than your spouse did.

"The hardest thing to face," says Baltimore divorce lawyer Leon W. Berg, "is that after a marriage breaks up, both partners nearly always find there's not as much cash as they expected. Living on one salary just isn't as easy as they imagined."

Another delusion is the grass-is-always-greener syndrome, in which everybody else's husband appears perfect.

Divorced women also may find that the friends they had as half of a couple gradually fade away, and that careers that appear glamorous actually are tough and demanding.

Divorced women also must beware of making things harder on their children by becoming too dependent on them.

"A bad marriage is hard on a child," Schnarch said, "but divorce can be even harder. Kids become angry and disoriented and perform in whatever way they can to show it."

Dear Abby

Truck driver needs love life, too

DEAR ABBY: I'm a professional truck driver. I run 48 states, and if I'm lucky, I get home every 35 to 40 days. I make real good money, but it's not real good for my love life. You see, I'm a 30-year-old single man and I'd dearly love to find a nice girl to share my life with, but it's impossible with my schedule.

The company I work for is a good one, but its policy is: "No riders unless it's your spouse." But with my schedule, how can I get to know a girl well enough to marry? If I met a girl I liked, I couldn't expect her to wait one, two or maybe three months to see me again.

I probably could find a driving job that allows long-distance drivers to take girlfriends with them, but that wouldn't help other drivers who have the same prob-

Dwarf shrubs lessen pruning chores

If you deplore the thought of planting shrubs this fall because of the tedious pruning they require, consider dwarf plants.

Dwarf plants are just about the nicest thing to hit the nursery trade in recent years. Dwarf, compact, low-growing plants can be the answer to landscape maintenance problems.

Many of the larger old standards now come in "dwarf models." Choose from dwarf abelia, pyracantha, ligustrum, nandina, pittosporum, quince, crape myrtle, bamboo, oleander, azalea, many varieties of holly and others at your local nursery or garden center.

The wide versatility and adaptability of dwarf plants add to their popularity. Dwarfs are adaptable to fully shaded areas, open sun and partial shade. They also can be used for clipped borders, ground-covers and formal and informal plantings.

Dwarf plants are best used in small, detailed areas where they will be observed at close range, such as patio and entrance areas. They should not be used for background plantings or in areas where they might be overgrown by larger shrubs or annual flowers.

Pruning can be virtually eliminated with dwarf plants, but they do require room to spread and grow. Your nurseryman can advise you on the proper planting distance of the particular dwarfs you select.

The following dwarf shrubs can be a boon to any landscape:

- Dwarf Yaupon Holly — This Texas native is excellent as a low hedge or container plant and has few insect or disease problems.

- Dwarf Abelia — A low, spreading evergreen, this shrub has shiny small leaves with a reddish tinge and bears delicate white flowers most of the summer.

- Wheeler's Dwarf Pittosporum — This is a compact evergreen shrub with glossy, dark foliage. It has all the same desirable qualities as regular pittosporum but is only a fraction of the size. It is probably the most popular plant to hit the market in the past decade. However, it is subject to cold damage.

- Dwarf Nandina — A dwarf mounding shrub, this plant is different from the regular Nandina. It produces small, compact plants with green foliage in late spring and summer that turns brilliant scarlet and bronze in the winter. Probably the best selection is called Harbor Dwarf.

- Rock Cotoneaster — This plant's flat, horizontal branches make it ideally suited for planting in rock gardens where these branches can rest on the ground or on a low bank where it will serve admirably as a ground cover.

- Dwarf Gardenia — Here's a compact, flat-topped evergreen shrub with glossy, dark green leaves plus fragrant flowers during warmer months. It likes acid soil.

- Dwarf Buford Holly — This is an erect evergreen with dark, glossy green foliage. It grows slowly, has clusters of red berries after blooming in the spring, and is larger than the dwarf yaupon. In fact, it can reach 6 feet at maturity.

- Dwarf Pyracantha — Several varieties of hybrid dwarf pyracantha are available — "Tiny Tim" and "Red Elf" are two favorites. They have dark evergreen foliage with a bright reddish tinge and bear delicate white flowers most of the summer.

Child safety seat law goes into effect soon

The child safety seat law passed by the Texas legislature goes into effect on October 31, 1984.

The new law will require residents of Texas to transport children up to two years old in federally approved child safety seats and children from two up to four years old in child safety seats or safety belts.

An offense is punishable by a fine of $25 to $50, but the court will dismiss the charge if the person shows proof of having acquired a safety seat by purchase, loan or rental within ten days after the offense.

The law exempts violations involving a person operating a vehicle for himself and a person transporting a child in a vehicle in which all seating positions equipped with the child safety seats or safety belts are occupied.

BWARE OF CHILD SAFETY SEAT BARGAINS
Parents who feel they cannot afford the $30-$40 cost of a new child safety seat may be tempted to search the garage sales and want ads looking for a bargain. But a used child safety seat that could be defective is no bargain.

Parents need to shop carefully to avoid buying a defective used seat which can endanger the life of their child if they are involved in an accident.

The first test of a child restraint device is whether it has a label stating that it "meets or exceeds all federal safety standards."

Beginning in 1981, the federal standard governing child safety seats required crash testing of the devices to insure their safety. All seats that meet the standard can be considered good ones.

Some car seats manufactured prior to 1981 meet these requirements, while others do not. Many seats now on the used market were made before 1981, so parents should always look for that label.

In addition to the federal safety label, parents should look for the following defects in used child restraint devices.

Check the harness to see if it is torn at any point. A torn belt system can be easily repaired on most safety seats with replacements ordered from the manufacturer.

Also examine the padding to see if it is torn. If so, it should be replaced with new padding from the manufacturer.

A child restraint system with these defects will not adequately protect a child until the belt system and padding are replaced. Parents should not purchase a used seat with these problems unless they actually intend to repair them.

If the device has a metal frame, check to see if it rattles. Ask the owner if you may tighten the screws on the frame. If the frame is still loose after tightening, do not buy it.

Also, check the seat bars. If they are twisted or bent, do not buy the seat, since full protection cannot be guaranteed.

The manufacturer's directions for using the safety seat should be provided by the owner. Most seats made after 1981 have a place on the seat to store instructions. For effective use of the seat, parents must carefully follow the manufacturer's instructions.

Finally, try the seat in your car before buying. Certain types of safety belts may cause installation problems. Bulky seat-belt buckles, for example, will not fit through the belt slots on some safety seats.

When it comes to the safety of our children a "bargain" may not be the best buy.

Simply using a child restraint device is not enough. Parents must also make sure that the device itself is safe and used properly in order to protect their children from injury or death in an accident.

Dr. Donohue

Are tongue, gum problems related

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am a 68-year-old male. A couple of years ago I had a burning tongue. The doc said it was glossodynia. Just recently, I had soreness of the gums. The doc said it was mucous membrane pemphigoid. Could these two conditions have a common cause? — J.R.G.

Perhaps. Benign mucous membrane pemphigoid can affect many areas, such as the thing coverings of the mouth, eyes, genital and digestive tracts, etc. So your sore tongue could be part of the same process.

Usually, the blisters that appear leave scars when they disappear. It is, as the name says, benign. But it is also mighty painful.

Steroids are applied to the involved membranes. If that doesn't help then the steroids can be given in oral form.

Glossodynia means tongue pain, an inexact diagnosis, like cephalgia (headache). The cause of yours might have been your pemphigoid problem. What are you taking for it?

Pretty building houses important program

By JOHNNIE LOU AVERY
There's a pretty building on Wasson Road with a sign in front that reads 87-20 Education Co-Op. Most people pass it without knowing what an important function it has.

Russell McMeans is the director of the 87-20 Education Co-Op. With a staff of 14, this facility serves approximately 550 handicapped students in six small school districts.

They are Forsan, Coahoma, Grady, Greenwood, Glasscock, and Stanton.

Working also with hospitals, rehab programs and other helping agencies, they meet the special learning needs of those with hearing, sight, speech, emotional, mental and physical handicaps. They use state, federal and local funds.

Most larger school districts, such as Big Spring, have their own staff to service these needs.

Companies agree to charges

NEW YORK (AP) — Two companies controlled by fugitive commodities broker Marc Rich have agreed to plead guilty to reduced charges and pay $150 million in what a federal prosecutor called the largest settlement ever in a criminal tax-evasion case.

Marc Rich & Co. AG and Clarendon AG pleaded guilty Thursday to 38 counts of making false statements to federal agencies and Clarendon also confessed to two counts of tax evasion.

U.S. District Judge Shirley Wohl Kram fined them $780,000, and the two companies agreed to pay $150 million — $113 million in a single check submitted Thursday morning.

They were indicted along with Rich and several other people in September 1983 on charges of tax evasion and racketeering. Rich and co-defendant Pincus Green are living in Switzerland, where authorities have refused extradition. U.S. Attorney Rudolph Giuliani said called it "the largest amount ever received by the government in a criminal tax-evasion case."

Charges against Rich and Green were unaffected by the settlement, Giuliani said, adding, "They're not living the perfect life ... They can't leave Switzerland. They really haven't gotten away with" anything.

COAHOMA — In a game which the score is closer than it indicates, the Colorado City Wolves rolled past the Coahoma Bulldogs 34-7 in the district opener for both 3A squads.

The Wolves, now 6-0 for the season, behind the hard running of junior Sammy Rivera, a bending but not breaking defense and the timely passing of Doug Chitsey to the victory over a game Coahoma team. The Bulldogs moved the ball well behind reserve quarterback Brian Calaway, but had its problems near the goaline.

Calaway filled in admirably, completing 7 of 13 passes for 100 yards and leading his team in rushing with 91 yards in 13 carries.

Three times the Bulldogs moved the ball inside C-City's 25 yard line and three times they came up empty handed, thanks to a fiery Wolves defense led by noseguard Kevin Norman and linebacker Jay Piland. Albert Rivera, Freddie Pineda and Gary Marsh also had sterling defensive performances.

Rivera was the workhorse for the Wolves offense, scoring twice and rushing for a game-high 131 yards in 29 carries, 96 of which came in the first half when C-City took a 21-0 lead.

Chitsey was his usual steady self, connecting on 10 of 21 attempts for 154 yards, passing for one TD and rushing for two more.

The Wolves offense was lethal in the first half, scoring three of their five possessions.

After coming up empty handed on their first two possessions, the Wolves struck paydirt the remainder of the contest. The first was all Rivera as the 160-pounder carried six times for all 50 yards in the drive. He scored from 11 yards out with 4:23 remaining in the first quarter. The PAT failed.

On their next possession the Wolves reeled off a 76, 12 play drive which saw Chitsey hit Ronnie Hernandez and Perry Conner for large gains. Chitsey took it in from the one and also scored on the two-point conversion. The Wolves lead was 14-0 with 10:48 remaining in the half.

The Wolves final score in the half belonged to Chitsey and tight end Don Randle. C-City marched 81 yards in 1:38. The duo hooked up for gains of 15, 9 and 21 moving the ball to the Bulldog 25.

From there Chitsey again hooked up with his favorite receiver for C-City's third touchdown. Chitsey's PAT was true with 48 seconds remaining in the half.

Coahoma was not without scoring chances of their own. Calaway came in for starter John Swinney, who injured the thumb on his throwing hand late in the first quarter. He was just the shot in the arm the sputtering Coahoma needed. In the first quarter he moved the Bulldogs to the C-City 24 where a fumbled killed the drive.

In the second quarter the Bulldogs marched from their own 20 to the Wolves 19 before the drive ended on downs.

The Bulldogs reeled off their lone scoring drive at the start of the second half. Calaway and Co. marched 83 yards in 17 plays, eating up over eight minutes of the clock. The key plays were a scrambling Calaway hitting Gary Vaughn for gains of 14 and 20 yards.

David Shaw scored from the one. His PAT cut the Wolves lead to 21-7 going into the final stanza.

In the fourth quarter the C-City offense got back in gear as it reeled off a 60 yards scoring drive. The killing blow was a 40 yard pass from Chitsey to Chris Aguilon which carried down to the Coahoma 20.

Rivera got his second score of the night when he dashed in from 16 yards out. The PAT failed with 10:30 remaining.

On the ensuing kickoff the Wolves recovered a fumble at the Bulldog 30. The scoring threat was killed when Swinney intercepted Chitsey's pass and returned it 43 yards to the C-City 42.

The Bulldogs moved to the Wolves 15 before the drive again ended on the downs.

The final C-City TD was set up by a fumble at the Coahoma 32.

Coogs drop bomb on Big Spring 52-0

QB Hadley terrorizes Steers' defense

By BILLY NABOURS
Sports Editor

ABILENE — Jimmy Doolittle couldn't have bombed Tokyo any better than Abilene Cooper field general Doug Hadley bombed the Steers here Friday night as Cooper took a 52-0 4-5A win.

Hadley, a 175-pound senior, completed 11 of 15 passes for 323 yards and five touchdowns as the Cougars upped their season record to 4-2 and District mark to 2-1. Big Spring is 2-4 and 0-3.

After trading punts on their first three possessions, Cooper got un-corked with 6:51 left in the first quarter when Hadley dropped the first of his bombs on the Black and Gold. The Cougars set up at their own 30 and on the first play Hadley found D.C. McDonald for 70 yards and the score. Scott Anderson provided the extra point and the Cougars had all the points they really needed.

Things self-destructed on the Steers on the ensuing kickoff and Cooper recovered the lost football at the 15-yard line. It took Hadley 4 plays to get his air force running again, but on third and 10 from the 15 he found McDonald once again for 6 points and with Anderson point after the Cougars led 14-0 with 5:26 to go in the opening quarter.

At that point, the Steers pieced the most impressive drive of the first half. Setting up on their own 24, the Steers drove to the Cooper 39 before punting away. The big plays in the 37-yard offensive were a 7-yard run by Jay Pirkle and an 18-yard pass from Carl Speck to Michael Doporto. The drive was stalled at the Cooper 39 on 4th and 18 and Cooper got the ball back on a short punt. Cooper got the ball with 1:15 left in the first quarter at their own 11, continued the drive into the second, and capped a 7-yard march with a 52-yard strike from Hadley to McDonald. Anderson's point after was true, and Cooper had the lead 21-0.

With 5:17 before intermission, the Cougars went to the foot of Anderson again, but this time for a 25-yard field goal and a 24-0 lead.

Cooper managed two more scores before the bands took the field. The first came after a 40-yard punt by Jay Pirkle, giving Cooper the ball on its 36-yard line. The Cougars used only six plays to go the 64 yards to the end zone with Hadley going to Anderson for 18 yards and a 34-yard run by Jay Tullison.

Anderson booted another extra point, and with 4 minutes in the half, the score was 31-0.

With 47 seconds, Cooper got the ball back one more time following a pass from Speck to Collin Carroll that came up four yards short on a 4th down try. It took the Cougars only one play from the Steers 49 as Hadley pumped up again and hit McDonald for the touchdown. The extra point was good and the score stood 38-0 at halftime.

Hadley had 276 of his passing yards at the break.

The second half began with Cooper beginning at its own 38 and the Cougars used only 7 plays to go 62 yards. Once again, Cooper struck from the air when Hadley found Terry Suggs in the corner of the endzone for a 27-yard scoring pass. The score rose to 45-0 after Anderson's boot.

After that, neither team seriously threatened a score of any type.

However, with two minutes left in the third quarter, Cooper started a drive at its own 48 that was concluded at the 11:54 mark of the fourth quarter when backup quarterback Bill Dehlinger hit Ted Jennings for 17 yards. Anderson was still in the game for kicking purposes and kicked the final point of the night 52-0.

Reserves flooded the field for Cooper in the final 10 minutes and could do little against the Steers defense. Big Spring, however, managed to reach the Cooper 8 and the 10 on occasion, only to come up one yard shy of a first down once and losing 10 yards on a muffed pitch out the other time.

Big Spring head coach Quinn Eudy said, "There was nothing good at all about our performance. We were very, very bad. We can either die and quit or we can come back with some intensity and play football the way we are capable of playing it."

Tigers walk down SD 5-2 in Game 3

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit benefited from a record-tying 11 walks as San Diego's starting pitching failed once again, and light-hitting Marty Castillo homered to lead the Tigers to a 5-2 victory in Game Three of the 1984 World Series.

The victory, which went to Tigers right-hander Milt Wilcox, gave Detroit a 2-1 lead in games in the best-of-7 Series, which continues here Saturday and Sunday.

But it took a spectacular twisting catch in dead center field by Chet Lemon to end San Diego's final hope in the seventh inning.

Castillo, who had only four home runs during the season, hit a two-run homer as Detroit scored four times in the second inning with the help of three walks, two off starter Tim Lollar and another off reliever Greg Booker.

The game also marked the end of the San Diego bullpen's domination of Detroit. When Booker allowed a third-inning run, it snapped a string of 13 1-3 consecutive innings during which the Padres bullpen had held Detroit scoreless.

Going back to San Diego's five-game National League playoff victory over Chicago, the bullpen had gone 22 innings without giving up a run. Booker gave up the run after walking the bases full, and San Diego's third pitcher, Greg Harris, hit Kirk Gibson in the foot with a pitch.

The single-game record of 11 walks was set in 1956 by the New York Yankees and equaled by the Milwaukee Braves in 1957.

The 14 runners left on base by Detroit tied the record for a nine-inning Series game set by the Chicago Cubs in 1910 and tied by Milwaukee in 1957 and Pittsburgh in 1971. The 24 runners left on by the two clubs set a nine-inning record. The old mark was set by the Cubs and Philadelphia A's in 1910 and tied by Pittsburgh and Baltimore in 1971. Lollar left after giving up four walks and four runs in 1-2-3 innings. Booker walked four more in his one inning, and Greg Harris walked three.

They were, in fairness, not the best of San Diego's relievers. Dave Dravecky, Andy Hawkins and Craig Lefferts had been used up, for the time being, as the Padres' starters failed utterly in each of their three World Series appearances.

San Diego's starters now are averaging only 3.6 innings' work per game in the Series. Mark Thurmond worked five innings as Detroit won Game One 3-2, and Ed Whitson lasted only two-thirds of an inning in San Diego's 5-2 victory in Game Two.

Wilcox, 17-8 during the season with a six-game winning streak that began in mid-August, gave up seven hits, walked two and struck out four before he was replaced by Bill Scherrer to begin the seventh. The Padres scored a run off Wilcox in the third when Alan Wiggin got his second hit of the game, a single, and eventually scored on a grounder by Steve Garvey. Scherrer gave up a seventh-inning run on a sacrifice fly by Graig Nettles, and Willie Hernandez came in to finish up and got a save.

The game was the first of the Series played at venerable Tiger Stadium, where the Tigers won 53 of their club-record 104 games. The Tigers' largest crowd of the season, 51,970, shook this turn-of-the-century building as they cheered their returning American League champions and performed the Wave.

The wave of walks, meanwhile, allowed the Tigers to compensate for their continued tepid hitting. They came into Game Three with a .231 team average in the World Series, and they had only seven hits Friday night.

4-5A Roundup

Central eases by Eagles

SAN ANGELO — The San Angelo Central Bobcats dodged a couple of bullets and escaped with a 14-13 win over the Abilene Eagles.

The last bullet was a fumble which AHS lost in the final quarter while sitting on Central's 15 yard-line. AHS totally dominated the contest gaining 300 total yards to Central's 158.

AHS scored first when quarterback John Bowser scored from one yard out. After recovering a fumble at the Abilene six, Central went in for the tying score when Tim Riebe scored from the two.

The Eagles took a 13-7 halftime lead when Sims scored from the five. The all-important extra point was blocked.

Central scored on their first possession of the third quarter when quarterback Mario Martinez scored from one yard out. The PAT was good good, preserving the win for Central. AHS's Guy Sims led all rushers with 111 yards in 23 attempts.

Central is now 2-1 district play while Abilene falls to 1-2.

'Dogs nip Bronchos 15-11

MIDLAND — The Midland Bulldogs ambushed the Odessa High Bronchos 15-11 in a tough defensive battle in District 4-5A play Friday night. Odessa High opened the scoring on a 38-yard field goal by Bill Wenger. Midland's Keith Byrd plunged in from the one-yard line to give the Bulldogs a 6-3 lead. Jeff Alsup hit Jake Madrid in the endzone for the two-point conversion making the core 8-3 at halftime.

OHS opened the scoring in the third quarter on an 8-yard run by Edward Lewis. Chris Awalt caught a pass from Jeff Wright to add two more points to the score.

The final score by Midland came on an 8-yard run by Madrid. The PAT by Richard Fry was good to end the scoring for the night.

Mojo overtakes Lee, 28-13

ODESSA — In a game which billed the number one and two teams in the state, the Permian Panthers spotted the Midland Lee Rebels a two touchdown lead before overtaking them 28-13.

Lee scored twice in the opening period. The first was a 1 yard run by Walter Jones. The run was set up by a 45 yard punt return by Tyrone Thurman which carried to the Panther 14-yard line.

Late in the period the Rebels clicked off a 7-play, 47 yard drive which ended with Jones scoring from the seven.

Buffaloes nip Bearkats 16-8

GARDEN CITY — Forsan Buffaloes quarterback Todd East threw two touchdown passes to end Bobby Headrick as the Buffaloes downed the Garden City Bearkats 16-8 in a District 7-A South Zone game Friday night.

The game, an unexpected defensive battle, saw the Buffaloes score 10 points on a field goal and touchdown pass to take a 10-0 halftime lead.

The lone Garden City score came on a one-yard plunge by Doug Hoelscher with 5:26 into the third quarter. Hoelscher added the two-point conversion as the Bearkats narrowed the Buffaloes lead to 16-8. Neither team scored in the third quarter.

The Bearkat drive was the only long drive of the night. Garden City drove 68 yards to paydirt.

The first Forsan score came after the Buffaloes recovered a Bearkat fumble at midfield. The Forsan surge stalled at the Garden City and East dropped back and nailed a 35-yard field goal with 2:30 left in the first quarter.

The next Buffaloes drive was for 44 yards as East hit Headrick on the pairs' first TD pass. East added the PAT with :45 second left in the half. The Buffaloes had earlier muffed a chance at another score as they fumbled at the Garden City goal line.

East found Headrick alone in the third quarter and delivered a 28-yard scoring strike with 8:49 left in the quarter. East missed the PAT. The two-play scorg drive was set up by a short Garden City punt that was fielded at the Bearkats' 39-yard line.

The win gave Forsan a 6-0 mark and 1-0 in district play. Meanwhile, the bearkats dropped to 1-5 and 0-1 in district play.

The leading rusher for the game was Hoelscher with 89 yards. Garden City quarterback Bryan Thompson had 55 yards on 18 carries and back Abby Madrid had 44 yards rushing.

Leading the way for Forsan was fullback Wayne Wright with 72 yards. East finished the night with 24 yards and Bryan McElreath had 35 yards.

Coyotes destroy Eagles 58-28

MCCAULLEY — The Borden County Coyotes destroyed the McCauley Eagles, 58-28, tonight as Coyote Chris Cooley ran all over the field, scoring six touchdowns — four of them in the first half.

McCauley started off the scoring in the first half with a 25-yard run by Jimmy Farnsworth; the kick failed.

Borden County's Cooley then ran up a string of four consecutive touchdowns — three on scoring drives and the last on a 30-yard interception return.

Cooley had scoring runs of 20, 14 and nine in the first half before he ran the interception in for a score.

The kicks — for two-point conversions in six-man football — were good for two of those four TDs.

Cooley's yardage — just on scoring — totaled 129 yards. McCauley's Tony Benavides, who scored two TDs, had 26 yards on his scoring carries.

Following the first-half Cooley scores, Benavides then ran over the goal line on a one-yard play to answer the Borden County drives. The two-point kick was good.

The Coyotes' Dennis Buchanan then had a 30-yard run for another Borden County touchdown to close out first-half scoring.

Cooley came back in the second half for two touchdowns, one a six-yard run and the second a 50-yard ramble through Eagle defenders.

Borden County's Brice Key also scored on an eight-yard run in the second half. Two of the PAT kicks on the three Borden County TDs in the second half were good.

McCauley's Benavides had a 25-yard run, and teammate Martin Farnsworth had a 22-yard run for the remaining Eagle scores. The kick on the Benavides touchdown was no good, but the Eagles racked up an extra two points on the Martin Farnsworth touchdown.

Borden County's season record is now 5-4-1, while the Eagles drop to 1-5.

Shula warns Dolphins to be prepared for Oilers

MIAMI (AP) — Though the game is being billed as the biggest mismatch of the National Football League season, Coach Don Shula says his Miami Dolphins had better be prepared when the winless Houston Oilers enter the Orange Bowl Sunday.

"There's just no way you can win in this league if you're not ready to play," Shula said.

The Dolphins lead the league in scoring offense and are second in scoring defense. The Oilers are last in offense and next to last in defense.

Miami has been installed as a 17½-point favorite — alleged to be the largest NFL point-spread since Super Bowl III. If Shula paid attention to such things, he might point out that the underdog Jets won that game 16-7.

Shula didn't have to reach back that far to find something to inspire his troops.

"I've talked (with the team) about what happened last year," he said of a 24-17 Dolphins victory. "We were as heavily favored, or nearly as heavily, then and were behind 14-0 in the first quarter. They played as tough as anybody."

Shula said injuries to his defense have him a little worried. Rookie linebacker Jay Brophy, a starter off-and-on this season, fractured a thumb last week. Earlier, he had sprained the thumb on his other hand. Sunday, he will be on the sideline with casts on both hands, but Shula doesn't expect him to play.

In the defensive backfield, starting safety Glenn Blackwood and backup Mike Kozlowski missed practice this week with various minor injuries. Shula said the Dolphins could be in trouble if those two can't play.

"(Houston quarterback Warren) Moon worries me. He can do so many things," Shula said.

Moon, an NFL rookie after a stellar career in the Canadian Football League, has completed 81 of 172 passes for 1,203 yards and four touchdowns this season.

His Dolphin counterpart, second-year pro Dan Marino, has sliced up opposing defenses for 1,753 yards and 17 touchdowns on 117 of 179 passes.

First-year Houston Coach Hugh Campbell, who tried to sign Marino two years ago while coach of the United States Football League Los Angeles Express, has become a big Marino fan.

"He's just fabulous," Campbell said. "It's just a great offense. And the fact that they execute so well is what make it even better."

Execution hasn't been the Oilers' forte in recent years. They've lost 28 of their last 31 games and an NFL record 21 straight on the road. And last week, they traded running

Iraan Braves skin Coogs 27-7

KLONDIKE — The Iraan Braves skinned the Klondike Cougars 27-7 in a Class A game that ended early in their 4th quarter because of bad weather Friday night.

The Braves, who cancelled last week's game against the Cougars because of a tragedy, scored one-half of their points in the first quarter.

Klondike, 3-2 for the season, managed one touchdown in the first quarter but could not score again.

The Braves now 1-3-1 did not score again until the second half when they made seven points in the third quarter and six points in the fourth quarter.

Officials called the game with 7:38 remaining the last quarter because of rain and hail.

The Forsan and Klondike

superintendents agreed last week to reschedule the game after the father of three players was electrocuted at the Sheffield Ranch.

Billy Dean Clay, 41, was a father to three Iraan players. Coach Steve Maurer said last week the game against Klondike might be dedicated to Clay, but the team decided it would better not to take that action.

Eldorado shuts out Buffs 8-0

STANTON — The Stanton Buffaloes lost their first 8-2A game Friday to the Eldorado Eagles, 8-0, despite a superb defensive effort that included a blocked field goal and an interception.

The Buffaloes also failed to score on two drives when receivers dropped end-zone passes, one in the last three minutes of the game.

Penalties also played a part in the Stanton loss, as they had 10 penalties called for a total of 100 yards. "Every time we had a drive going, the penalties really put an end to it," said correspondent Selan Canada.

Eldorado tailback James Harlin scored the only touchdown of the game with 3:04 left in the first quarter. Victor Gutierrez' PAT kick failed.

On the Buffaloes' second series in the first half, Stanton drove to the Eagles' 30 yard line when they tried the first of two failed end zone passes.

Stanton noseguard Bobby

Almager stopped Eldorado's second scoring opportunity of the night in the third quarter.

Roscoe rakes Mustangs 36-0

ROSCOE — The No. 8 Plowboys ran through the Sands Mustang defenses, as Roscoe shut out the Mustangs, 36-0, Friday in the Mustang District 7-A South opener.

Sands had snapped a three-game losing streak last week, only to lose on Roscoe's home ground.

Roscoe quarterback Matt Denman was involved in three of the Plowboys' five touchdowns as Roscoe upped its season record to 5-1. The Mustangs dropped to 2-4 for the year.

Denman ran five yards for his first touchdown, and then combined with four different receivers for two touchdowns and their two-point PATs. Altogether, he was involved in scoring 22 points.

Border war brews in Cotton Bowl

Longhorns, Sooners tangle for No. 1 spot

By The Associated Press
The football teams of Texas and Oklahoma usually don't need any extra incentive, but they've got some this year.

The No. 1 ranking in The Associated Press poll likely will be at stake Saturday when top-rated Texas and No. 3 Oklahoma square off in their annual border war at the Cotton Bowl in Dallas.

"It means a lot to play in a game like this," says Texas Coach Fred Akers. "It is a privilege. Everyone in the country is curious about this game, and that's particularly so when we are both highly ranked. It is a fun game, a game for competitors."

Akers and his fellow competitor, Oklahoma's Barry Switzer, were teammates at Arkansas from 1967-69 and their coach, Frank Broyles, will be on hand as ABC-TV's color commentator to critique his proteges.

"There's really not too much to say about this game that hasn't been said many times before," says Switzer. "Unbeaten teams, high national rankings, state pride — they're all there."

Meanwhile, second-ranked Washington will be at Stanford and No. 4 Boston College returns to action after two weeks off by hosting Temple in a night game.

The rest of the Top Ten finds Wyoming at No. 5 Brigham Young, Missouri at No. 6 Nebraska, No. 7 Southern Methodist at Baylor, Illinois at No. 8 Ohio State, No. 16 Auburn at No. 9 Florida State under the lights and No. 10 Miami, Fla., at Cincinnati at night.

In the Second Ten, 11th-ranked Penn State plays at Alabama, Vanderbilt visits No. 12 LSU at night, Iowa is at No. 14 Purdue, Mississippi at No. 15 Georgia, Pitt at No. 17 South Carolina, No. 18 Florida at Tennessee, No. 19 Kentucky at Mississippi State and No. 20 Georgia Tech at Virginia for a night contest. Oklahoma State, No. 13, is idle.

Texas and Oklahoma bring perfect records into their annual shootout — some call it college football's greatest rivalry — for the first time since 1979, which also was the last time both teams were ranked in the top five. However, it is the eighth year in a row Texas has reached this point with an unblemished mark. There usually isn't much to choose between the Longhorns and Sooners; they have met 12 times previously with perfect records and each side has won six.

Texas holds a 47-28-3 lead — but just 20-17-1 since 1945 — in the series, which has been played as part of the State Fair of Texas since 1929. Dallas is approximately 200 miles from both Austin, Texas, and Norman, Okla., and the 73,000 seats are divided equally, Texas fans filling the north horseshoe from midfield and Oklahoma the south.

Switzer is the nation's winningest coach at 110-21-3, but his record would be even better but for a 5-5-1 standoff against Texas and a 2-5 log against the Longhorns since Akers took over in 1977.

Both teams have injured players to worry about. Texas quarterback Todd Dodge suffered a hyper-extended knee against Rice last week while Spencer Tillman and Earl Johnson, Oklahoma's top two rushers from 1983, are doubtful with a hamstring pull and cracked kneecap, respectively, and end Kevin Murphy, the Sooners' defensive leader, has a sprained foot.

There seems to be a difference of opinion on the Oklahoma side as to just how big this game really is.

Defensive back Keith Stanberry, from Mt. Pleasant, Texas: "Being from Texas and having been recruited by Texas, this game is bigger to me than the Nebraska and Oklahoma State games. It's time to hook it up."

Linebacker Dante Jones: "I've heard all about how big a game this is, but to me it is just an ordinary game. It means a little more because I'll be going home to play (he's from Dallas), but other than that it's just another game on the schedule."

Meanwhile, Washington returns to Stanford for the first time since 1982 when the Huskies were ranked No. 1 in the nation and lost 43-31. This time, they are 5-0.

Washington Coach Don James calls 3-2 Stanford "the most improved team in our league (Pac-10). It's obvious that Jack Elway has done a great job in getting the most out of his players. Already this year they've gone out and beaten the two Rose Bowl teams from last year — Illinois and UCLA — and that's not too bad."

The Huskies lead the nation in total defense (229.2 yards a game) and scoring defense (6.4 points).

Boston College hasn't played since a 52-20 rout of North Carolina on Sept. 22 but Coach Jack Bicknell says he's "not worried one bit about our long layoff. The kids worked hard during the off time."

He's more concerned about 3-2 Temple, which he says "is a team that has been playing extremely well lately. Just look at that big win over Pitt a few weeks ago. I would think they would really want to beat an Eastern team like ourselves. It's going to be a tough game, there's no doubt in my mind about that."

In BC's first three games, Doug Flutie has completed 69 of 107 passes for 938 yards and 12 touchdowns.

Arkansas, Texas Tech top SWC play Saturday

Associated Press
Arkansas Coach Ken Hatfield and Texas Tech Coach Jerry Moore have clashed for the past two years, and both games "were wild ones," Hatfield recalls.

Hatfield was directing the Air Force Academy at the time, with Texas Tech winning 31-30 at Lubbock in 1982 and Air Force triumphing 28-13 at Colorado Springs last year.

"The 31-30 game was a lot like our game with TCU. There were a lot of big plays. It was an exciting college football game," Hatfield said.

Arkansas led Texas Christian 31-17 last weekend in the fourth quarter, before succumbing to a late rally that gave the Horned Frogs a 32-31 Southwest Conference victory. Texas Tech jolted Texas A&M 30-12 behind several big plays and the quarterbacking of freshman Aaron Keesee.

"We are a little different from everybody else in the conference in that we have seen Ken Hatfield-coached teams the past two years. The flexbone is tough to prepare for anyway without having to go to Little Rock. It's another tough challenge we will have to get up for," Moore said.

Las Vegas oddsmakers have made Arkansas (2-1-1) a 7-point favorite over the Red Raiders (2-2).

In other league games Saturday, SMU (3-0), the nation's No. 7-ranked club, is favored by 8½ points over Baylor (1-3) in Waco, Houston (2-2) is favored by 3½ points over Texas A&M in the Astrodome, and TCU (3-1) is favored by 21 points over Rice (1-3) in Fort Worth.

In an important non-conference game, longtime rivals Texas (3-0) and Oklahoma (4-0) clash in the Cotton Bowl. Texas, seeking to hold onto its No. 1 national ranking, is a 2½-point favorite over the third-ranked Sooners.

Hatfield had 11 straight unbeaten performances before Arkansas' loss to TCU. His Air Force team won its last eight games in 1983, and Arkansas won two and tied one in its first three games of this year.

Arkansas had impressive performances from sophomore fullback Marshall Foreman and junior halfback Bobby Joe Edmonds against TCU last week. They became the first Razorbacks to rush for more than 100 yards in the same game since 1977. Foreman had 150 yards on 21 carries and Edmonds 124 yards on 13 carries.

Both scored touchdowns, Foreman on a 59-yard jaunt and Edmonds on a 37-yard sprint.

Arkansas quarterback Brad Taylor, who didn't play against TCU because of a bruised leg, is expected to play against Tech.

Tech senior Perry Morren, who started the season as the Red Raiders' quarterback, is sidelined with an injury, but might have trouble getting his job back.

Keesee threw for three touchdowns and ran for another in directing Tech's victory over the Aggies and was named the AP's SWC offensive player of the week.

Sophomore I-back Timmy Smith had gains of 52 and 43 yards on the way to a 139-yard day against A&M.

Green takes early lead at Southern tournament

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — Veteran Hubert Green, seeking his first victory in more than three years, shot a 66 Friday to take a one-shot lead after two rounds of the $300,000 Southern Open Golf Tournament.

Green's 131 total was 9-under-par over the narrow, hilly 6,791-yard, par-70 Green Island Country Club course.

Gary Hallberg managed a second-round 67 for a 132 to stay within striking distance of the $54,000 first prize.

First round co-leader Willie Wood shot an even-par 70 for a 134, but Bill Calfee, faltered with a 74 after an opening 64 to drop to 138.

Green, a winner of 17 tournaments in his 15 years on the PGA Tour, including a victory here in 1975 and the U.S. Open in 1977, had seven birdies ranging from two to 25 feet, and three bogeys, including two of his last three holes on a perfect golfing day, sunny with temperatures in the mid 80s and a slight breeze.

"I'm not happy with the two late bogeys, but those things happen," Green said. "I'm playing pretty good, and if I keep it up, I might turn pro next year."

The 37-year-old Green, who has won more than $1.7 million in his career, had fallen on hard times in recent years, earning only $29,171 last year and hasn't registered a victory since winning the Greater Hartford Open in August 1981.

After his 65 Thursday, Green said he had been playing better in recent months.

"I'm still not where I'd like to be, but at least I'm not looking like an amateur. I've been horrible the last several years. Maybe next year I'll be back to being a professional golfer."

Green may be closer than that. His fifth-place finish two weeks ago in the LaJet Classic in Texas was his best of the year and increased his earnings for 1984 to nearly $82,000.

Hallberg, enjoying the best season of his five years on tour, had an up-and-down round, making seven birdies, but had two bogeys and opened his day with a double-bogey.

Hallberg, who won for the first time last year at San Diego, hasn't won this year but has five finishes in the top six, including a second at San Diego and a sixth in the PGA.

Scott Hoch and Mike Sullivan were two shots behind Green at 133. Sullivan, the 1980 winner here, had a 67 Friday and Hoch 65. Larry Ziegler and Gibby Gilbert were another two shots back at 135. Ziegler had a second-round 70 and Gilbert a 65.

Defending champion Ronnie Black ripped out a 64 Friday to get back into contention at 136.

Jack Nicklaus, making his first appearance here in the 15-year history of the tournament, had a 68 for 138 while Andy Bean, the third-leading money winner this year, was at 139 after a 68.

Dennis Watson, who has won three of the last nine tournaments,
