Outside: Warm

Highs in the mid 70s and sunny skies are forecast today. Winds will be northwesterly, 15 to 25 miles per hour. Tonight, look for fair skies and lows in the mid 40s. Winds will be easterly, 5 to 15 miles per hour. On Wednesday, look for highs in the upper 70s and southerly winds, 10 to 20 miles per hour.

Spring Banks lower prime lending rate Board Board Staff and wire reports rates" in this area. Beil said the prime rate bank, led the move to a quarter-point reduc-

Several major banks reduced their prime lending rates today to 12.5 percent from 12.75 percent, one day after another big bank went further by cutting its prime rate to 12.25 percent.

But Charles Beil, president of First Federal Savings in Big Spring, said the effects of the rate reduction "certainly will have no near-term effect on mortgage rates" in this area. Beil said the prime rate "is so volatile" that results nationwide are slow to appear, he said. "It's my anticipation" that the prime rate reduction will not show up in this area in less than 30 to 60

Immediate effects are reflected "theoretically by the best borrowers from the big banks," he said.

Citibank, the nation's second-largest bank, led the move to a quarter-point reduction in the prime rate, which is considered a benchmark for bank loans to businesses. Chase Manhattan, the third-largest bank, No. 6 Chemical Bank and No. 7 First National Bank of Chicago quickly followed. On Monday, Bankers Trust Co. of New York, the nation's ninth-largest bank, opened the latest round of prime rate cuts with a half-point reduction to 12.25 percent.

Although no other major banks moved to match Bankers Trust's action on Monday. economists had said they expected others to do so soon. The 12.75 percent level for the prime rate became widespread throughout the industry last month, down from 13 percent. The prime rate is the base upon which banks compute interest charges on shortterm business loans.

Storm skirts

Sunny skies and warm temperatures forecast in the Big Spring area are a sharp contrast to blinding snowstorms and freezing temperatures pounding the nation's mid-section. An early blast of winter covered the Rockies with up to 36 inches of snow today, after stranding motorists for hours in drifts near Santa Fe, N.M. In Denver, fender benders were up fivefold and a nationally televised football game was played in blinding snow.

The bad weather is sliding north of the Permian Basin headed east. Snow and cold rain were forecast for the Panhandle and Eastern New Mexico.

The forecast for Big Spring and vicinity calls for highs today in the mid 70s and northwesterly winds, 15 to 25 miles per hour. Tonight the skies will be fair, and lows will be in the mid 40s with easterly winds, 5 to 15 miles per hour.

By Wednesday the area should see highs in the upper 70s and southerly winds, 10 to 20 miles per

Doggett targets rural vote

LLOYD DOGGETT

By KEELY COGHLAN Staff Writer STANTON — The handmade sign positioned to the left of state Sen. Lloyd Doggett, D-Austin, at his stop here Monday summed up the thrust of his campaign for the U.S.

Senate: "Phil Gramm: Why?" Doggett questioned the stance of his Republican opponent, a U.S. representative from College Station, on most issues of importance to rural farmers and ranchers, including agriculture payments, low- their governments, Doggett said. interest loans and disaster assistance.

Gramm, a former economist with Texas A&M University noted for his support of the President's supply-side economics budget, wants to "turn farmers and ranchers entirely over to a free market system," Doggett said.

U.S. farmers and ranchers couldn't survive such a situation because of "serious competitors on the world market" who are receiving subsidies and support from The solution, he said, is supply management. "If it (the U.S. farm program) doesn't guarantee a profit, it ought to be a program that will guarantee their property. Doggett also tried to cut into rural support for Gramm by saying he has been working with family farmers and ranchers to save the family farm, a way of life he says he supports because he grew up on a family farm near Post.

Gramm is seeking to form a coalition of rural West and East Texas Democrats, in much the same U.S. Rep. Kent Hance - Doggett's opponent in the Democratic primary runoff - did. Gramm has said he hopes rural support, combined with Republican voters in the cities, will be strong enough to elect him in November. Both candidates have charged the other with misquoting and lying about each other. Doggett refers to Gramm's campaign as "the great lie-and-buy campaign," while Gramm calls Doggett's "the great

S. African black bishop wins Nobel Peace Prize

OSLO, Norway (AP) - Anglican Bishop Desmond Tutu, black antiapartheid leader of the South African Council of Churches, today was named winner of the 1984 Nobel Peace Prize.

Tutu, 53, became the second black resistance leader to win the prize. Albert John Lutuli, former president of the African National Congress, won the prize in 1960. The African National Congress has been outlawed by South Africa and is now the chief guerrilla group fighting to overthrow the whiteminority government.

In announcing the award, the Norwegian Nobel Committee called Tutu "a unifying leader figure in the campaign to resolve the problem of apartheid in South Africa." It said it was drawing attention "to the non-violent struggle for liberation to which Desmond Tutu

chief moral spokesman against the country's system of strict race separation, called apartheid, which reserves the best schools, housing and employment for whites and denies South Africa's 22 million blacks a voice in government.

See related story, Page 3A

Since 1978, he has been general secretary of the South African Council of Churches, which represents 12 million South African churchgoers of which 88 percent are black. Tutu, who was among those considered a favorite to receive the peace prize, was at the General Theological Seminary in New York City when the prize was announced. He was told of the Nobel com-

Tutu has become South Africa's mittee's decision by the Norwegian ambassador, Tom Vrolsen, who came bearing the news and a bouquet of flowers.

The bishop reportedly planned to meet privately with students in the seminary chapel in Manhattan before seeing reporters and photographers.

The Nobel prizes carry an award of $193,000 this year. On Monday, three researchers won the 1984 Nobel Prize in medicine for their studies in immunology. They were Niels Kaj Jerne, 72, a Dane born in London, his West German colleague at a Swiss research institute; 38-yearold Georges Koehler; and Cambridge University researcher

Cesar Milstein, 57, an Argentine. Last Thursday, poet Jaroslav Seifert of Czechoslovakia was awarded the Nobel Prize in literature.

Aggie band ban broken

AUSTIN (AP) - Attorney General Jim Mattox says he will press an agreement allowing women in the Aggie band despite opposition from the Texas A&M University regents, who compare it to letting girls on the football team.

Board Chairman H. R. "Bum" Bright, majority owner of the Dallas Cowboys, and Vice Chairman William McKenzie have both written to Mattox, urging him to cancel the proposed settlement of a 1979 sex discrimination lawsuit. "In my opinion, putting women in the A&M band would be akin to letting women play football on the university football team or play baseball on the university baseball team," board vice chairman William McKenzie wrote Mattox. But Mattox has written back saying he plans to pursue the agreement because he has a responsibility to uphold the equal rights provision of the state constitution. "Despite your firmly expressed

Spring Banks lower prime lending rate Beil said the prime rate bank, led the move to a quarter-point reduction of the major banks me

Several major banks reduced their prime lending rates today to 12.5 percent from 12.75 percent, one day after another big bank went further by cutting its prime rate to 12.25 percent.

But Charles Beil, president of First Federal Savings in Big Spring, said the effects of the rate reduction "certainly will have no near-term effect on mortgage

"is so volatile" that results nationwide are slow to appear, he said. "It's my anticipation" that the prime rate reduction will not show up in this area in less than 30 to 60

Immediate effects are reflected "theoretically by the best borrowers from the big banks," he said.

Citibank, the nation's second-largest

bank, led the move to a quarter-point reduction in the prime rate, which is considered a benchmark for bank loans to businesses. Chase Manhattan, the third-largest bank, No. 6 Chemical Bank and No. 7 First National Bank of Chicago quickly followed.

On Monday, Bankers Trust Co. of New York, the nation's ninth-largest bank, opened the latest round of prime rate cuts with a half-point reduction to 12.25 percent.

Although no other major banks moved to match Bankers Trust's action on Monday, economists had said they expected others to do so soon.

The 12.75 percent level for the prime rate became widespread throughout the industry last month, down from 13 percent.

The prime rate is the base upon which banks compute interest charges on shortterm business loans

Storm skirts

Sunny skies and warm temperatures forecast in the Big Spring area are a sharp contrast to blinding snowstorms and freezing temperatures pounding the nation's mid-section.

An early blast of winter covered the Rockies with up to 36 inches of snow today, after stranding motorists for hours in drifts near Santa Fe, N.M. In Denver, fender benders were up fivefold and a nationally televised football game was played in blinding snow.

The bad weather is sliding north of the Permian Basin headed east. Snow and cold rain were forecast for the Panhandle and Eastern

New Mexico. The forecast for Big Spring and vicinity calls for highs today in the mid 70s and northwesterly winds, 15 to 25 miles per hour. Tonight the skies will be fair, and lows will be in the mid 40s with easterly winds, 5 to 15 miles per hour.

By Wednesday the area should see highs in the upper 70s and southerly winds, 10 to 20 miles per

S. African black bishop wins Nobel Peace Prize

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Anglican Bishop Desmond Tutu, black antiapartheid leader of the South African Council of Churches, today was named winner of the 1984 Nobel Peace Prize.

LLOYD DOGGETT

Tutu, 53, became the second black resistance leader to win the prize. Albert John Lutuli, former president of the African National Congress, won the prize in 1960. The African National Congress has been outlawed by South Africa and is now the chief guerrilla group fighting to overthrow the whiteminority government. In announcing the award, the Norwegian Nobel Committee called Tutu "a unifying leader figure in the campaign to resolve the problem of apartheid in South Africa.'

It said it was drawing attention "to the non-violent struggle for liberation to which Desmond Tutu

Tutu has become South Africa's chief moral spokesman against the country's system of strict race separation, called apartheid, which reserves the best schools, housing and employment for whites and denies South Africa's 22 million blacks a voice in government.

Since 1978, he has been general secretary of the South African Council of Churches, which represents 12 million South African churchgoers of which 88 percent are black Tutu, who was among those considered a favorite to receive the peace prize, was at the General Theological Seminary in New York City when the prize was announced. He was told of the Nobel committee's decision by the Norwegian ambassador, Tom Vrolsen, who came bearing the news and a bouquet of flowers.

The bishop reportedly planned to meet privately with students in the seminary chapel in Manhattan before seeing reporters and photographers.

The Nobel prizes carry an award of $193,000 this year.

On Monday, three researchers won the 1984 Nobel Prize in medicine for their studies in immunology. They were Niels Kaj Jerne, 72, a Dane born in London, his West German colleague at a Swiss research institute; 38-yearold Georges Koehler; and Cambridge University researcher Cesar Milstein, 57, an Argentine.

Aggie band ban broken

AUSTIN (AP) - Attorney General Jim Mattox says he will press an agreement allowing women in the Aggie band despite opposition from the Texas A&M University regents, who compare it to letting girls on the football team.

Board Chairman H. R. "Bum" Bright, majority owner of the Dallas Cowboys, and Vice Chairman William McKenzie have both written to Mattox, urging him to cancel the proposed settlement of a 1979 sex discrimination lawsuit.

"In my opinion, putting women in the A&M band would be akin to letting women play football on the university football team or play baseball on the university baseball team," board vice chairman William McKenzie wrote Mattox.

But Mattox has written back saying he plans to pursue the agreement because he has a responsibility to uphold the equal rights provision of the state constitution.

Weather

Cold front brings rain

By The Associated Press

A strong cold front pulled Alaskan air over the Rockies and into the Texas Panhandle today, bringing thunderstorms and the chance of snow accumulations

Light rain and a few thunderstorms developed north of the front, located from near El Paso to north of Midland. The National Weather Service reported heavy snow accumulations across the Oklahoma Panhandle.

South of the front, moisture-laden air from the Gulf of Mexico produced low clouds in the eastern half of Texas while a low-pressure system developed near Wichita

Meanwhile, skies were fair over the Edwards Plateau as drier air filtered into Central Texas. Low temperatures ranged from the mid-40s in the Panhandle to the mid to upper 70s in South and South Central Texas.

Extremes were 45 degrees at Amarillo and 81 degrees at the Corpus Christi Naval Air Station.

Winds were northeast with gusts of more than 25 mph across the Trans-Pecos region, and more than 40 mph in the Guadalupe Pass. Elsewhere, winds were south at 10 to Accumulations of 1 to 2 inches of mixed rain and snow were expected in the Texas Panhandle by early Wednesday, the weather service said. Showers and a few thunderstorms should develop across parts of the south plains and North Central Texas.

Elsewhere, skies should be sunny, with highs ranging from the 90s in South Texas to the 40s in the Panhandle. Three winter storms carrying snow and cold rain hung over much of the West today, while a fourth weather system threatened to unleash thunderstorms from Oklahoma to Louisiana.

A tornado watch was posted early today for parts of Missouri, Arkansas and Oklahoma.

Stockmen's advisories for cold rain were issued today for western Kansas. Winter storm watches were posted over the Cascades of Oregon and the Shasta-Siskiyou area

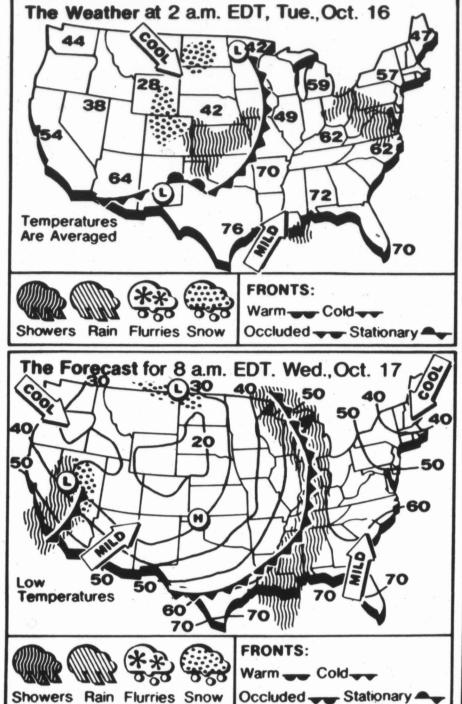

With as much as 8 inches of snow on the ground in parts of Colorado today, the National Weather Service said snow was expected to spread east to the western Plains, with strong gusting winds over portions of the northern and central Rockies.

And while the snow was expected to ease later today in Colorado, another system could move in on Wednesday.

WEST TEXAS — Partly cloudy and warm Thursday, then cooling through Saturday.

Panhandle and South Plains - Lows lower 40s. Highs near 70 Thursday cooling to middle 60s Saturday.

Permian Basin and Far West - Lows upper 40s and highs upper 70s.

Mobil Co. plant burglarized

Raymond Johnston, a production technician at Mobil Production Co., told Howard County Sheriff's deputies that someone burglarized the plant on Sterling City Route between 5 p.m. Sunday and 7 a.m. Monday

According to sheriff's report, someone broke into a sheet metal building and pryed a padlock off the door. Nothing was reported to be missing.

Further reports said someone pryed a tool box open in a 1983 Ford pickup and stole the following items: wrenches, a hydraulic jack, wire cutters, vise grips and channel lock pliers.

A pipe wrench valued at $500 was also taken from a 1980 Chevy truck. · A putting green at the Big Spring Country Club was the site of

He defended the right-to-work law, saying he had only one opportunity to vote for the law and did so. "I am for the working people,"

Doggett said. And he said he was proud of his endorsements from labor unions. However, he said he would support a national right-towork law: "There already is one. The Taft-Hartley act gives states the right to pass such laws," Doggett said.

In turn, Doggett charged Gramm with hypocrisy on the issue. Gramm, Doggett said, criticizes labor unions and then "sneaks down to Beaumont" and accepts endorsements from unions "on the waterfront and from the Teamsters.

The Teamsters union is one of the few labor unions to endorse Reagan.

Doggett discounted polls showing Gramm leading by a wide margin, saying the Democratic contenders he faced in the primary also led the polls until election time

And while he praised Democratic presidential candidate Walter Mondale, he distanced himself from Mondale and Speaker of the House Tip O'Neill.

"I passed 125 pieces of legislation in my career in the state Senate. It was done in a body no one ever accused of being liberal," Doggett said. "I did it without Walter Mondale's help.'

"The coattails, or 'skirttails,' are not very long on either side of this race," Doggett said. Voters will evaluate the race "on what they think of the two people," he said. "I'm pleased to run as part of the Democratic ticket," Doggett said. "There are areas I distinguish myself (from Mondale) but he is a far preferable choice.' Doggett paid President Reagan one particular compliment, though. "The President at least had the courage to face his opponent in a prime-time debate," Doggett said. Gramm, he said, refused a prime-time debate in Houston sponsored by the League of Women's Voters.

He also said Gramm restricted reporters from asking follow-up questions in the debate, saying Gramm was unwilling to leave his cue-cards.

Gramm and Doggett will appear in a televised debate at 8 p.m. Thursday on public television stations.

N. Korea agrees to talks

TOKYO - North Korea today said it wil agree to a South Korean proposal that the two governments hold talks to expand trade and economic cooperation.

In a broadcast monitored in Tokyo, North Korea's state-run Radio Pyongyang quoted an official commentary as calling the proposal "a good thing which deserves to be welcomed."

In a letter sent Friday to North Korea's deputy prime minister, South Korean Deputy Prime Minister Shin Byung-hyon said government officials and businessmen from the two Koreas should hold "open-hearted dialogues" to promote economic cooperation.

The agency said Monday that Col. Gen. A woman who was part of the group told Western reporters that 30 people handed in signed written statements Monday at the office to protest this summer's detention of Yuli Edelshtein and Alexander Cholmyansky. Edelshtein, a 26-year-old Hebrew teacher, was arrested after drugs allegedly were found at his Moscow home during a police search.

Research in immunology leads to top prize

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Three researchers won the 1984 Nobel Prize in medicine on Monday for pioneering studies in immunology that have led to promising new treatments for diseases ranging from allergies to cancer.

The awarding medical faculty at Stockholm's Karolinska Institute said the work of the three scientists already is being applied in the fight against cancer and in organ transplantation.

Niels Kaj Jerne, 72, a Dane born in London, was cited along with his West German colleague at a Swiss research institute, 38-year-old Georges Koehler, and Cambridge University researcher Cesar Milstein, 57, an Argentine. The three reacted with delighted surprise to the announcement.

A Karolinska spokesman said the laureates' work is 'one of the great research achievements in the 1970s, next to developments in the genetics field," for which researchers have previously received Nobel prizes.

The Karolinska professors cited the three for their work in deciphering how the body's defenses against disease work and how to manipulate them to fight disease.

Their discoveries are being used in research on mild ilnesses and on serious diseases such as cancer, severe combined immune deficiency syndrome, and the mysterious acquired immune deficiency syndrome, known as AIDS.

Described as "the leading theoretician of immunology during the last 30 years," Jerne was honored for three major theories on the development and control of the immune system. The selectors said his work was the basis for that of his co-laureates, who discovered the principle for producing monoclonal antibodies and produced the first ones in 1975.

Monoclonal antibodies recognize targets such as germs, particular blood cells, and cancer cells, so that they can be identified or destroyed.

Milstein's and Koehler's method of producing monoclonal antibodies involves fusing an antibodyproducing cell - which can recognize an invading organism — with a tumor cell — which lives and reproduces indefinitely.

Because of their ability to pinpoint a specific cell, monoclonal antibodies are particularly useful in diagnosing diseases, and isolating and purifying medical substances for treatment of specific diseases

But they also have been applied successfully to lessen the body's tendency to reject transplanted organs and to fight hormone disorders, allergies and infectious diseases such as hepatitis.

Reporter faces trial

The Soviets sent nearly 100,000 soldiers into Afghanistan in Decmeber 1979 to help the Marxist government of President Babrak Karmal Monoclonal antibodies are used to treat bone marrow for transplant in such children and patients with cancer such as leukemia. In a bone marrow transplant, monoclonal antibodies can be used to wipe out marrowproduced cells called T lymphocytes which can attack their new surroundings and cause fatal graft-versus-host Jerne presented the first of his three main pioneering theories into immunological research in 1955 and the last, his so-called "network theory," 10 years ago.

The Karolinska professors said the first theory, on antibody formation, "is a starting point of modern cellular immunology. The last concludes that every individual has a network of specialized antibodies even while in the womb.

Milstein, speaking from his home in Cambridge, England, said in a telephone interview with the Buenos Aires radio station Radio Rivadavia: "I still haven't recovered" from the news.

"This is a great honor," he said. Milstein, born in Bahia Blanca, Argentina, has worked in chemistry in Argentina. He received his doctorate at Cambridge in 1960, and now heads the university's division of protein and nucleic acid chemistry.

Jerne told The Associated Press by telephone from the Basel Institute of Immunology where he and Koehler work that he was surprised because "there are so many others who have done wonderful things.

He told reporters later at a reception that the award was the "crowning" of his career. "It would have been nice if it had come earlier to convince my brothers and sisters that I am not the oddball as which they regarded me for a long time,'' Jerne quipped. "I will enjoy the prize and enjoy life." "My knees are stiff trembling," Koehler said in a telephone interview. He plans to move back to his native

West Germany soon to become a director of the famed Max Planck Institute for immune biology at Freiburg. At the reception, he appeared wearing jeans, a sweat shirt and tennis shoes. "It will be a terrible burden for me," he said, "because it will not always be easy to prove that I can still do better in my work.' Jerne, who was educated in Denmark and pursued his science career in the United States, Switzerland and West Germany, now lives in France. He remains active at the Basel Institute as a professor emeritus.

The three will share the $193,000 prize equally. The medicine prize was the second announced in this

Two face electric chair

STARKE, Fla. - Prosecutors have decided not to appeal stays granted by federal judges less than 24 hours before two condemned killers were scheduled to die in Florida's electric chair.

Charles Foster and Frank Smith, would have been put to death at 7 a.m. today in the nation's first double execution in 19 years.

Foster, 37, convicted of the 1975 murder of an elderly Panama City man, contended that psychiatric records were not presented which might have led to leniency. Smith, 28, convicted of the 1978 slaying of a convenience store clerk, contended that he was sentenced to death because he is black.

Suit filed against Oregon

PORTLAND, Ore. - A federal judge has scheduled arguments on a lawsuit filed by disciples of Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh claiming their rights are being violated by Wasco County's refusal to register new voters.

Disciples of the Indian guru filed the classaction lawsuit Monday naming Oregon Secretary of State Norma Paulus and County Clerk Sue Proffitt as defendants. The hearing was scheduled for this afternoon.

Ms. Proffit on Wednesday issued a blanket rejection of all new voter registrations in the county, saying she believed "there are organized efforts to fraudulently register people to vote." Residents feared the Raineeshees would flood the polls in an effort to take over county government.

Biology teacher jailed

COLUMBIA, Mo. - A high school biology teacher who transported a rare bird across state lines for breeding research was sentenced to 18 months in jail, three times the sentence he would have got if he killed the bird, officials said.

Jeffrey Peters, 43, reported to federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., on Monday after pleading guilty in a plea bargain to transporting a merlin across state lines without a permit, a misdemeanor

Peters, also fined $10,000 and forbidden to own, breed or hunt with a bird of prey, was the first to go to prison in a federal probe of illegal trafficking in birds. A merlin is a fist-sized European falcon.

LA PALMA, El Salvador (AP) — Thousands of Salvadorans crammed into the small plaza and some climbed trees to get a look at guerrilla leaders arriving for a historic meeting with their president. The Boy Scouts assigned to keep order were overwhelmed. From the crowd of 20,000, a roar

Starting in a few days, it will be possible to "reach out and touch someone" from the passenger cabin of an airliner 30,000 feet in the sky. Nine airline companies will begin offering a service from Airfone Inc., in which any two passengers at one time can place calls from aloft to anywhere in the United States for up to 45 minutes.

Airline telephones have been attempted before, but were not successful because the connections were poor and the equipment was stationary. Airfone's technologically improved system will permit a caller to insert a credit card into a wall unit, releasing a cordless headset that can be taken to one's seat. (The credit card is not returned until the headset is.)

Airfone and the airlines hope to cash in on business fliers who comprise a good portion of the 300 million annual airline passengers. One goal is to eventually provide a connection between phones and computers so business travelers can work while flying.

No doubt many business travelers and incessant chatterers will want to avail themselves of the service. And competitive airlines can be expected to fall over each other promoting the new gimmick. Our main concern is that if air telephones become too popular and noisy, airlines might start having to figure out how to mix "talking" and "non-talking" sections with those for smoking and non-smoking.

Turn of violence

Mob action turned a great triumph into tragic embarrassment in Detroit Sunday night. Detroit Tigers baseball fans reacted shamefully to the great news that their team had carved out its first "world's best" recognition in 16 years. The violence undermines what should have been pure celebration.

What is it in people that allows happiness to turn sour? Certainly the action on the field did not point this way. The baseball players conducted themselves as the champions they are. Their fans conducted themselves as common criminals.

There is a lesson here in human nature, and what it says is that the spoils of victory belong only to those who have a stake in the reward. The merrymakers turned mayhem-makers proved they have no claim on the Tigers' pennant.

Politics is fun

Before we continue this election campaign, I would like everyone to except for my brother Al. please rise and give the people run-ping this year for any office a standing ovation. The majority have out their jobs, their meager finances and their reputations on the line. Their families have suffered, their egos have been bruised and their friendships have been shattered.

I can understand why someone would run for president of the United States, or even governor. But I've always been bewildered why a person would want to enter the race for city council, county supervisor, board of education, or all the other unglamorous elective offices that have to be filled to maintain our democratic form of government. I didn't realize what a burden it could be on somebody until I drove over to Maryland to see a friend of mine, Jim Colby, who was running for a seat in the state legislature.

He was holding a "garage" sale. I expected to see a lot of furniture and bric-a-brac, but the garage was empty.

"How much will you give me for it?" he asked. "Give you for what?"

"The garage. I'm selling it as "People usually think of a garage sale as a place where they can buy old books, lamps and stuff that has been in the attic for 'years," I said. "I couldn't raise enough money for my campaign doing that. I have to sell the garage. I already mortgaged my house up to the hilt. I figure if I can get the money for the garage I could put three more ads in the newspaper." "You're really determined to win, aren't you?'

"The country's future is at stake, and the people of Maryland are depending on me. 'It must be hard on the family for you to go into so much debt."

"They've been very supportive, "What's Al's problem?

"Well, the opposition investigated my financial situation, and although I came up clean, they found Al had been paying kickbacks for school supply contracts. So they had him indicted. He says if I hadn't been running for office they would never have found out about it."

"Al's probably just jealous of you," I said. "Your wife deserves a lot of credit for putting up with the campaign.'

"She certainly does, especially after my opponent accused me of having an affair with one of my volunteers.

"She didn't believe it?" "Oh, she believed it. But she's a good sport. She said she wouldn't file for a divorce until the campaign was over."

'I guess the one thing that makes it all worthwhile is to see how many friends you can count on when you decide to run for public office.'

'What friends? They're all mad at me because after tapping them for money for my campaign I'm running 10 points behind in the polls. Most of them say if they had known how little charisma I had they would have given the money to the Reverend Moon.

"Well, you can always go back to your law firm if you don't win." "I wish it was possible, but my partners told me they would just as don't want to be associated with a

"You really have given up a lot to run for office. If you had it to do all over again, would you still run for

"Of course I would. Losing your home, your wife, your friends and your job is a small price to pay to see that the people of the state of Maryland get good government."

Constitution will bow to FEMA

WASHINGTON — The nation's civil defense chief, Louis Giuffrida, seems determined to carve out a powerful empire for his Federal Emergency Management Agency, even if he has to call in the Army.

The scary thing is that there are like-minded elements in the Pentagon willing to scrap the Constitution and turn the United States into a military dictatorship.

I've already reported how Giuffrida ran afoul of Attorney General William French Smith with a draft executive order that would insert FEMA between the White House and the Cabinet in the event of a national emergency I also reported that Giuffrida had prepared sweeping legislation, to be presented to Congress when disaster strikes, that would give the president (and FEMA) authority to abolish private-property rights and civil liberties without the findrance of the courts or legislatures.

Now my associates Donald Goldberg and Indy Badhwar have obtained a Pentagon document that discloses how the military would work in cooperation with FEMA civilians during a national emergency. Its proposed assaults on the courts, the executive branch and the Constitution are truly breathtaking.

The internal document shows how the Pentagon, in league with FEMA, plans to drape a cloak of questionable legality over their activities whenever they decide the country is in the throes of a national emergency. The report, issued by the Joint Chiefs of Staff last December, is titled, "Military Support of Civil Defense: System Description.

The Posse Comitatus Act prohibits the armed forces from engaging in domestic law enforcement except under strictly delineated restrictions designed to safeguard constitutional rights. The Joint Chiefs' guideline sets forth its own exemptions to the law "based upon the inherent legal right of the United States government to ensure the preservation of public order ... by force if necessary.

It's wise to be suspicious when someone starts talking about the government's "inherent" right to do this or that. It's a signal that the Constitution is about to be blindsided. In fact, when President Truman ordered the Koreanwartime seizure of the steel mills in 1952, the Supreme Court ruled that he had no such inherent right, even for "national defense."

Here are some of the ways the Joint Chiefs plan to bring in the troops — in close coordination with FEMA:

• "Normally a state of martial law will be proclaimed by the president," the document states. But it adds, "in the absence of such mittee's deliberations and deciaction by the president, a senior military commander may impose martial law in an area of his command where there has been a complete breakdown in the exercise of government functions by local civilian authorities."

 "Military assumption of judicial, law enforcement and administrative functions of local government will be based on necessity that is actual and present" - presumably as decided by the general on the scene.

"In the absence of martial law, the performance of law enforcement functions by the military will be limited to those actions that are necessary to prevent loss of life and wanton destruction property.

Just who will define these limitations is not precisely spelled out. The Joint Chiefs intend to give Guiffrida the military muscle he needs. "All military forces, Active and Reserve, and the National Guard, when federalized, are considered potentially available to provide (support) to civil authorities during a civil defense emergency," the document states.

STRICTLY PERSONAL: Are interest rates rigged by a secret conspiracy of big bankers? This question has been recurring lately in my mail. Interest rates are influenced mostly by the Federal Open Market Committee, which meets in deep, dark secrecy 10 times a year to set monetary policy for the Federal Reserve Board. The committee has close ties to the nation's big banks.

Both the White House and Congress have brought pressure on the Fed to open the door on this comsions. Fed Chairman Paul Volcker promised last spring to provide more timely announcements of the committee's decisions. Now he complains that the Fed is already exposed to too much sunshine.

Sen. Roger Jepsen, R-Iowa, chairman of the Joint Economic Committee, has written a two-page letter to Volcker, complaining that "uncertainty about monetary policy has a detrimental effect on interest rates, person has got to be 35 years old before they can be elected president. I don't think a person should be elected as president after 65 years of age. That is retirement age. I probably will not live to see it but I would like to see a law passed.

Reader to Reagan: You're just too old

To the editor:

A person (should) be elected to one six-year term. After two years, if the person had not done their best to keep their promises to the voters, they would be dropped back to VP and move the VP up to president. Then after two more years if they were not doing their job, call for another election

I think that would make a person try a lot harder to do their job. Yes, Mr. Reagan, you are too old to cut the mustard anymore.

I have never seen a president in my 61 years have as many excuses as Mr. Reagan does. The excuse he used for not going to church. It would put too many people's life in danger. How about the schools he visited, old people homes, jobs where people are working. That (is) as silly as me saying I don't go to church because I might run over a lot of people with my car and kill

"Oh, ye of little faith." I think that would be God's answer. Only God and Mr. Reagan knows why he doesn't go to church.

Head Start says thanks, a lot

To the editor:

We would like to thank everyone who attended the Lakeview Head Start talent show on Thursday, Oct. 11. We would especially like to thank all the break dancers, models, singers, Bertie Ford for working so hard and all the parents who helped, the Head Start staff who helped and participated and a very special thanks to all the stores who loaned out clothes for the fashion show. Again, our many thanks to all who made it possible.

God can turn mixed-up vet around

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: My life is a crazy, mixed-up living hell. I had some bad experiences in the Vietnam War that really messed me up, and then I got hooked on drugs and alcohol. I need help, but the last couple of agencies I tried didn't help me any. Where can I

DEAR A.H.: The most important thing I can say to you is that God soon not have me back, as they cares about your situation, and He is able to help you deal with your roblems if you will let him. After all. God created you, and He knows far better than any human being what is wrong with you and how it can be dealt with. More than that, God is able to help you.

This has been the experience of God's people throughout the ages. "Some sat in darkness and the deepest gloom ... they stumbled, and there was no one to help. Then they cried to the Lord in their trouble, and he saved them from their distress" (Psalm 107:10, 12-13). Your letter indicates that you have never given any real thought to God - and, in a sense, you are paying the consequences for your determination to live for yourself apart from God. But God still loves you, and the proof of this is that He wants you to become His child through faith in Jesus Christ.

If you had been the only person in the entire world who needed God's forgiveness and cleansing, Jesus Christ would have gone to the cross for you alone. He died in your place, so that you might have abundant life - both now and in eternity.

Dear Abby

Great-aunt has good memory, but timing is wrong

DEAR ABBY: Our son is engaged to be married. My great-aunt Emily, who used to live in this town, returned for the engagement celebration. (She's 81).

When Aunt Emily was introduced to "Mr. Jones," the father of the bride, she recognized him as a man she had known 40 years ago. In the presence of Mr. Jones' wife and daughter, Aunt Emily asked him how his son was. Mr. Jones said, "You must be mistaken. I have no son." My aunt replied, "You certainly have — I attended a party for you, your cute French wife and your adorable little boy right after World War II."

It turned out that Mr. Jones did have a son by a French woman to whom he was married briefly. He had told Mrs. Jones about it, but no families has become very strained. The Joneses do not want my "busybody" aunt at their daughter's wedding. Our son is miserable overe the incident and his bride is miffed because his family embarrassed her family.

DEAR STRAINED: When Mr. J. told Aunt Emily she must be mistaken — that he had no son — a wiser, more tactful woman would have said, "Yes, I probably am," and let it go at that.

Dr. Donohue

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My 21/2-year old daughter had a small wound on her left toe. She was hospitalized and diagnosed as having septic arthritis. She had to have surgery on her left ankle. Other side of the coin

Sometimes when a person has access to something for a long period of time they tend to take possession for granted. Such is the case with myself and the Big Spring High School cheerleaders. Cheerleaders have been around for a long time and while their wardrobe has changed for the best over the years, their main duty is to boost spirit for the Last Thursday's Notes rapped the BSHS varsity cheerleaders for lack of enthusiasm and their failure to appear at home volleyball games.

It was written that they had failed to make at least half of Big Spring's eight home games. I was assured by BSHS cheerleader sponsor Medina Thurmand and crew that they had indeed been in attendance for at least six of the contests, missing only two home games.

And while there are two sides to every story, the question arises, "If they were at all home games, why weren't they noticed leading yells, aren't you supposed to notice the spirit leaders at a game?" Maybe a little more intensity could be exerted.

But in all fairness, one Big Spring cheerleader said, "It takes crowd participation to help the cheerleaders. And let's face it, the crowd response has not been that spectacular this year." She's right, a little intensity on the crowd's part never hurt anything except the opposing team.

So let's all remember (present company included) that cheerleaders can't be taken for granted, because firing up the team is not the cheerleader's responsibility alone crowd participation can work wonders.

One other misnomer about cheerleaders is that cheerleaders are supposed to attend home games in any sport. Not so. School policy states they only have to attend football games.

The main beef is that for most of the season the volleyball team had a good chance to make the playoffs, so why not give that extra to get them over the hump?

Also brought to light in a recent meeting with this year's cheerleaders are the "little things that go unnoticed" like painting signs for lockerrooms, baking treats for athletes and representing BSHS at local civic clubs. Those things are not required, it's not in the constiution, they do it because they want to.

But, as is the case in today's world, so many things are taken for granted - cheerleaders included. Little things mean a lot, especially when it means working in 10 hours of practice each week and attending as many games as possible. When do they find time to study? That never crossed the old mind. It was assumed that it came with the territory.

Their sponsor Thurman summed it up best when she said, 'Cheerleaders are taken for granted because the general public dosen't know the number of hours they spend on cheerleadering activities."

To the cheerleaders of Big Spring High — John Buzbee, Adrianne Allen, Becky Griffith, Suzanne Bowers, Tracy Kilgore, Pricilla Escanuela and Chandra Wrightsil maybe you were misjudged over what constitutes your main responsibilty.

Also to this year's group, a challenge — don't be satisfied with just attending the game. As you explained to me, sometimes it's hard to get the fans up. Give that little extra to do your job, afterall, the athletes you are cheering for have been giving that extra effort.

Detroit shortstop is uncomfortable star

DETROIT (AP) - Alan Tram- San Diego Padres four games to mell, the consummate team player, isn't used to going solo.

Trammell, the Detroit shortstop who was voted most valuable player of the World Series, picked up the keys to a shiny new Pontiac Trans Am on Monday, but couldn't help bringing up his teammates, especially second baseman Lou Whitaker.

"Anytime I'm referred to, Lou is always mentioned, too," Trammell noted. "I like that. Each year we've grown as a team, Lou and I have grown as a double-play combination and as friends 'There are a whole lot of guys who could just as easily be here today and Lou is certainly one."

Trammell and the rest of the Tigers were to be honored with a parade through downtown Detroit

The car, which was promptly dubbed "Tram's Am," is awarded to the MVP by Sport Magazine. It was presented to Trammell during a brief ceremony in Tiger Stadium on the grass just behind his infield position.

"I hope I don't miss 'em," Trammell said when photographers begged him to toss the keys in the air. 'The season's over now, so we don't want an E6. That's happened before!"

Indeed, Trammell made one harmless error in Game 2 of the World Series, but it was just about his only mistake as he helped the powerful Tigers brush aside the

'I know how Detroit has waited and this is a special thrill," Trammell said. "The thing is, though, I think Jack (Morris) and Kirk (Gibson) were deserving of MVP, too. But, we've had somebody different every night. We weren't a one-man team this year."

Nor was Trammell a one-man gang during the series. However, he did hit .450, including a pair of homers in the fourth game. He drove in six runs and scored five.

"There's no question that Game was the biggest one I've ever had," Trammell said. "I've had some nights during the season, but this was by far the biggest. This was the World Series.

'Saturday night, after hitting those two home runs, I had trouble sleeping, I was so wound up. As a result, I was drained Sunday (when he was hitless in four at-bats)."

There were only two dampers on Trammell's day.

One was the fact that he has to undergo knee surgery Thursday, which means another winter of strenuous rehabilitation workouts.

The other down note was the loss of anonymity his new fame is sure

"I'm really a nobody in San Diego," Trammell said. "I can go around in shorts and T-shirts there - at least I could. Now, I'm not so sure that will be possible any

Huskies mush to poll's top spot

By The Associated Press For the second season in the last three, Washington football Coach Don James is on the hot spot: His Huskies are No. 1 in The Associated Press college football poll.

On Monday, the Huskies became the fifth team to be ranked No. 1 this season.

"I know it's a tough spot to be in," James admitted.

"Being No. 1 is a position that's just going to make your opponents play their very best football against you. I think it also makes my job a little bit more difficult in dealing with my own players. I can sit there and tell 'em and tell 'em and tell 'em until I'm blue in the face but . . .

Washington was elevated from No. 2 in the poll after its 37-15 Pacific-10 Conference victory Saturday at Stanford. Texas, last week's top-ranked team, and Oklahoma battled to a 15-15 tie.

Washington was No. 1 for six consecutive weeks during the 1982 season, fell as low as 13th and finished No. 7 with a 10-2 record. It was unranked in the AP's final Top 20 poll in 1983 after finishing with an 8-4 mark. Texas Coach Fred Akers said following Saturday's tie with Oklahoma that his team deserved to stay No. 1.

On Monday, Akers said, "There's nothing we can do about it except try to play well and get back up there. My disagreeing or saying anything about it wouldn't have any affect anyway. Oklahoma's Barry Switzer said

Jury decides coach forced into quitting

DALLAS (AP) - Former coach Norman Jett, who won an $850,000 judgment in federal court, says he's not sure whether he'll return to high school football, but now has time to wait in the wake of his victory.

Ruling Monday in a suit that Jett filed 17 months ago, the jury said that Dallas school officials wrongly forced him to resign from his job.

"It was pretty evident that the coach was railroaded," said jury foreman David Burton. "There was no evidence to substantiate his firing (as coach). The school board had better wake up and start applying fairness equally."

Jett, who had been at South Oak Cliff High School for 21 years and had a 106-31-2 record with five district championships, had filed an $850,000 suit against the Dallas Independent School District and school principal Dr. Frederick Todd recommended that Jett be reassigned within the DISD in March 1983. After working for awhile as a teacher, a ninth grade assistant and in the security division. Jett resigned.

His suit claimed he was in effect fired or forced out without any

Since he left the DISD, Jett coached briefly for the semi-pro Wranglers of the American Football Association. After that team folded, he moved to Trinidad, Texas, and has tried to establish himself as a home builder and remodeler.

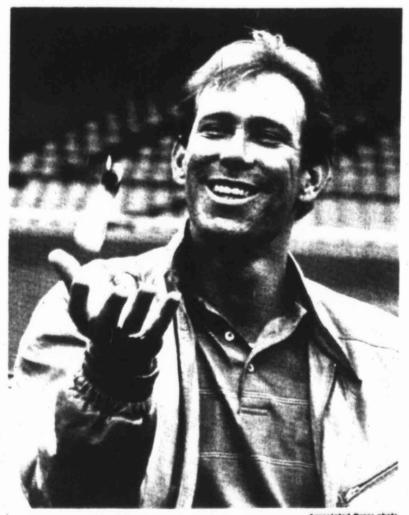

The lawsuit could be appealed, but he says the decision could help him get back into coaching.

"The people I've talked to said it may be easier to look at other coaching jobs once it (the suit) was settled," he said. "With a lawsuit pending against a school district, people are a little hesitant."

But he's in no hurry to make a decision: Openings are few because this is the middle of football season, he says, adding that he'll select his next opportunity carefully.

Jett said that 20 of his players, including former Dallas Cowboys defensive end Harvey Martin, went on to play professional football.

DISD Superintendent Linus Wright said he was disappointed and surprised by the jury's decision. The award was expected to be discussed with the school board on Thursday, he said.

obliterated. By the end of the game, up to three inches of snow stood on the field.

"With all that snow on the ground, our timing was off," said Reeves. "It seemed like we were playing on snow and they were playing on a fast surface." But Denver's opportunistic defense made the difference.

Besides the two crucial early fumble recoveries, Denver forced

"We threw the ball well but lost the game on turnovers," said Green Bay Coach Forrest Gregg.
"There is no explanation for fumbles. We just did it. Denver's offense scored three points. We should have won.

"I am pleased with the way we fought back. We got the momentum but fumbled it away."

AND ANOTHER THING ABOUT SCHOOL IS THEY LEARN YOU HOW TO SPEAK GOODER ENGLISH."

THE FAMILY CIRCUS

"Go to your room, young lady."

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR WEDS., OCTOBER 17, 1984

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is a day when trying to work angles on other persons can boomerang and cause some suspicion to be directed in your direction, so concentrate upon yourself.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Don't mix into a possible argument between a family tie and an associate and it will soon right itself.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Schedule your time well so that you can handle your regular job and some outside matter as well.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Be content with less costly recreation today since economy is very important to you now. Avoid trouble.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Pretend not to see something annoying at home and show a spirit of generosity for good results.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Take a little trip for a worthwhile purpose instead of sticking around the house and fretting over some condition you do not like.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Postpone that talk with one in business over how some matter has been handled until you have regained poise.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Safeguard your reputation which could be in jeopardy today if you take any risks. Meet the expectations of a bigwig.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Getting out to new vistas is wise today, so drop whatever you are doing and study into new outlets.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Keep your personal life separate from your business life and you can handle each properly.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Refrain from get-ting into any squabble between a partner and an official and all turns out well.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Some new interest may be appealing, but don't leave important work just to look into it at this time. PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Not wise to overspend for recreational purposes, so be content with the inexpensive and wholesome IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will have the ability to balance one point of view against the other, the emotional and the intellectual, and come up with the right decision. Early teach not to be resentful if things do not go his or her way at all times, since nothing ever does in life.

Rains don't ease drought

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - Last week's heavy rains in South Texas did much to relieve dry conditions but officials say this year's drought is not over "The dry spell is broken but not the drought," said Joe Pena, an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at Rains totaled as much as 11 inches at Fowlerton in LaSalle County last week, 11 inches in parts of Bexar County and 10 to 11 inches in Leming in Atascosa County.

The rainfall prompted the springs feeding the Comal River to start flowing again. The springs draw their water from the Edwards Aquifer, which also serves as the water supply for San Antonio and four surrounding counties.

The aquifer was at 639.7 feet above sea level Tuesday, up dramatically from its low of 623.2 feet in July, when voluntary water rationing went into effect.

Despite the recent rains, the Edwards Underground Water District will go ahead with plans for cloud seeding next spring, said Tom Fox, the district's general manager.

"Even with the weekend rains, we still need more," said Fox, who added the area still has a rain deficit of 6.5 inches.

The main Comal Springs, a popular New Braunfels tourist attraction, has not yet begun to flow

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, in accordance with an order from the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice it has filed a tariff to reduce the monthly rates for the Switched Access portion of the company's intraLATA Foreign Exchange (FX) Service offering that was implemented starting June 1, 1984. Simultaneously, the LATA-wide toll-free calling scope, also started June 1, would be discontinued and the calling scope would return to that in effect prior to June 1. The Commission has assigned this matter Docket Number 5891.

The net effect of the tariff will be a monthly decrease in total billing of approximately $700,000 until November 1, 1984. After that time the net effect on the company's revenue is estimated to be negligible.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N. Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227, or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

Aviso Público

En conformidad con una orden de la Comisión de Servicios Públicos de Texas, se anuncia mediante el presente aviso público que Southwestern Bell Telephone ha presentado una tarifa con el objeto de reducir las cuotas mensuales que se han cobrado desde el I de junio de 1984, por la porción de la tarifa para acceso a la red central necesaria con el uso del Servicio de Zona Exterior (Foreign Exchange (FX) Service).

Simultáneamente, el servicio de llamadas de larga distancia sin cobro dentro del área de servicio que también se efectuó el I de junio de 1984, se descontinuará; y el campo de llamadas será al igual que antes del I de junio de 1984. Se ha registrado la nueva tarifa bajo el Docket 5891.

El efecto real de la nueva tarifa se verá en la reducción del costo total de facturas de aproximadamente $700,000 hasta el I de noviembre de 1984. Se calcula que despues de esta fecha el efecto real para nuestra empresa será despreciable

Los usuarios de Southwestern Bell Telephone Company que estén interesados en participar en esta reunión, o que requieran mayor información, deben dirigirse por escrito a: Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd. Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. También se puede obtener información adicional llamando a Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division al 512/458-0223, al 512/458-0227, o al 512/458-0221 si requiere teletipo (aparato para personas con impedimentos de audición).
