Texan wins Nobel prize

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — A Fort Worth native today won the Nobel prize in chemistry for research leading to development of new drugs and gene technology.

And an Italian and a Dutch nuclear physicist shared the 1984 Nobel Prize in physics for their breakthrough discovery of subatomic W and Z particles that help scientists understand the basic forces of nature.

Physicists Carlo Rubbia of Italy, a professor at Harvard University, and Simon Van der Meer of the Netherlands became Nobel laureates for their finding last year of particles believed to carry the "weak interaction force," one of the four basic force fields of nature.

R. Bruce Merrifield, a professor at Rockefeller University in New York, was honored by the Royal Swedish Academy of Sciences "for his development of methodology for chemical synthesis on a solid matrix." He is the first American to win a Nobel prize this year. The academy said his "simple and ingenious" method of obtaining peptides and proteins has been applied by other researchers to the field of nucleic acid chemistry. Merrifield, 63, is a native of Fort Worth.

Rubbia and Van der Meer's work, accomplished with a 2,000-ton, atom-smashing machine invented by the Dutch physicist, was the most important discovery in physics since the transistor in

B-52 bomber crashes; 1 killed

KAYENTA, Ariz. (AP) — An unarmed B-52 bomber on a low-level training flight with seven people aboard crashed in remote Monument Valley, leaving one person dead and another briefly missing in windblown snow that hampered rescue efforts, authorities said today.

"We don't even know if they made a forced landing or if they bailed out," said Maj. David MacNamee at Strategic Air Command headquarters in Omaha, Neb. "I would assume that they bailed out," he added.

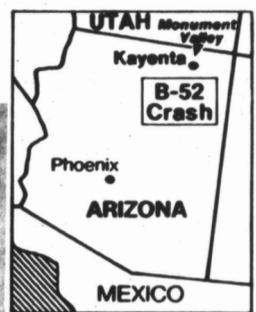

A second B-52 trailing the jet picked up radio signals from survivors, MacNamee said. He said there were conflicting reports about whether the bomber had crashed into a mesa or a valley in the rugged Navajo Indian reservation terrain in northeastern Arizona.

"There is one deceased," said John Boylan, spokesman for the Arizona Department of Public Safety.

"One was missing. He has since been found. No report on his injuries. There were two injured, one of them being a head injury, the other being a broken leg and the remaining three were treated for shock," he said.

He confirmed a report by Capt. Robert Ballew at Fairchild Air Force Base in Spokane that a helicopter from Kirtland Air Force Base in Albuquerque, N.M., picked up the crash victims early today.

A civilian spokesman at Kirtland, George Pierce, said they could not say how many survivors were aboard the helicopter or what their condition was. Boylan said all seven aboard the plane had been picked up.

'And I tell everyone that's what we don't need. It's like putting a goldfish in a shark tank to put him in the Senate.'

John Montford on opponent Sol Thomas

Montford says he's not worried

By KEELY COGHLAN Staff Writer

State Sen. John Montford, D-Lubbock, isn't worried about his Republican opponent in this fall's election. He doesn't even remember his name, he says.

"He's a nice guy," Montford said of Sol Thomas, the Republican nominee for the 28th State Senatorial District, who has law offices in his same building.

"And I tell everyone that's what we don't need. It's like putting a goldfish in a shark tank to put him in the (state) Senate," Montford said.

The former Lubbock criminal district attorney spoke to about 50 persons at the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce Tuesday afternoon. Montford's appearance was one of the most heavily attended visits by a campaigning politician this year.

Montford, elected to the Senate in 1982, is running for re-election after two years because he drew a black bean when the senate was deciding which of its members would receive two-year terms to set up staggered elections. The candidate elected this fall will serve four years.

Joking about the lottery, Montford said, "If I'd been at Goliad, I would have been shot." The practice of drawing beans dates back to the Texas War of Independence, when the Mexican Army forced rebels captured at Goliad to draw beans daily to determine whether they would be shot.

Montford praised West Texans for their positive attitude and praised government and community leaders for their "intensity" in working with him to solve problems, particularly on school reform and water bill proposals.

He has already established his agenda for the next legislative session, he said.

He has drafted a bill that would expand the scope of the death penalty to include persons convicted of multiple murders, such as Henry Lee Lucas.

"As a former district attorney, I take a pretty tough stand against crime. It's shocking to me that someone can commit multiple murders and not be eligible for the death penalty," Montford said. "I think it (capital punishment) is a meaningful deterrent, particularly in horrible crimes committed by someone with a Lucas mentality."

Lucas and his traveling companion, Otis Elwood Toole, are charged with murder and capital murder in the deaths of two out-of-town men in Howard County.

The Navy drops in

Unit chutes at Big Spring

Staff reports

A flock of whirlybirds has taken root in Howard County on its annual migration west.

The armed forces have winged to Big Spring again on the first leg of a parachute testing course, and the U.S. Navy is jumping out of Army helicopters at the Big Spring Airpark.

One Navy paratrooper's chute accidentally struck a power line during a jump Tuesday morning. The trooper was not injured, a Navy spokesman said, but electric power to several residents was knocked out for about 30 minutes.

Personnel with the Navy Tactics and Equipment Development Unit (NAVTEU) from Norfolk, Va., are at the Airpark conducting a parachute and associated equipment test and evaluation program through Oct. 31, said Lt. Cort Traylor, who is overseeing the exercises in Big Spring.

An estimated 20-25 men will be involved with the parachute operations, Lt. Traylor said. The unit is using two Army CH47 helicopters in the exercises, said Master Chief Bill Acklin. The group arrived in Big Spring last Thursday, Acklin said.

The Navy will consider the purchase and modification of the parachute equipment tested, according to a news release.

The Navy Department selected Big Spring because of the environment and climate, said Traylor. The one drawback here is the wind; but otherwise the area is excellent for parachute testing, he added.

The military has conducted similar testing here several times during the last three years, according to Airpark Manager Hal Boyd.

AIRBORNE — U.S. Navy personnel approach an Army helicopter Tuesday at the Big Spring Airpark. The military is testing parachutes and related equipment, taking advantage of the clear, arid West Texas climate.

By The Associated Press

Colorado was braced for as much as a foot of new snow today as late-season thunderstorms drenched the nation from Indiana to Louisiana, dropping golf ball-sized hail on parts of Oklahoma, Arkansas and Texas.

Ripley, Tenn., got 5.65 inches of rain overnight. Stubborn winter-like weather held its grip on the Midwest and a heavy snow warning was in effect this morning for the southern Cascade mountains of Oregon, with a travelers' advisory in force because of snow in eastern Oregon.

Winter storm warnings for heavy snowfall were posted today for the Sierra Nevada mountains of northern California, southern Idaho, the Lake Tahoe area and the northern Sierra Nevada mountains of Nevada and the mountains of Utah and southwest Colorado.

A second wintry blast threatened up to a foot of new snow after a blizzard dumped as much as 3 feet on Colorado.

"Colorado is probably going to get the worst of it. The previous storm set up the conditions pretty nicely," said Harry Gordon of the National Severe Storms Forecast Center in Kansas City, Mo.

The earlier storm also dumped 1.7 inches of rain on San Francisco and more than 1 1/2 inches on Pacifica to the south.

Temperatures around the nation at 3 a.m. EDT ranged from 17 degrees at Yellowstone Park, Wyo., to 80 at Brownsville and Laredo, Texas, and Key West, Fla.

Jennifer Moore of Sterling City Route reported a ring theft yesterday to the Howard County Sheriff's Department. Ms. Moore who was working at the cash register of a local grocery chain store left her ring in her jacket that was untended for about an hour, reports show.

Montford

Montford also reiterated his support for the SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf, saying he would fight to make its state funding permanent.

If re-elected, Montford said he will concentrate his legislative efforts in three major areas: amending House Bill 72, the school reform bill that passed during the special session this year; passing a comprehensive state water bill; and straightening out the state prison system.

Montford voted against HB 72 because the Legislature did not have enough time to study the impact of the bill on local school districts. "You can't overhaul 100 years of public school law in 30 days," he said.

Montford said he would amend the bill rather than try to repeal it, as Thomas has said he would try to do. "It's not going to be repealed. The equalization issue had to be addressed or the courts would have come in," he said.

Following are changes Montford would like to make in the bill:

- Change the way the price differential index, a formula that determines how much money local school districts get, is determined.

- Change the "career ladder" for teachers so that master's degrees in education count in determining their advancement. Under the bill, only advanced degrees in subjects, not in education, are counted.

- Change the times tutorial programs are offered. Currently the programs are offered only in the mornings or the evenings. According to Montford, many students can't take the classes at those times because they may ride the bus for 20 miles and will miss their rides.

- Increase the number of unexcused absences for students who make good grades, to allow them to participate more in extra-curricular activities.

- Allow local school districts to be more flexible in teaching vocational classes like home economics and vocational agriculture. "You can't educate a child here like you can in Houston. They don't have a cotton patch out the window. It's a different world," Montford said.

Montford outspends opponent

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau AUSTIN — Republican Sol O. Thomas of Lubbock is lagging financially in his race against state Sen. John T. Montford.

According to campaign finance reports filed recently with the secretary of state, the incumbent Lubbock Democrat has raised more than five times the contributions reported this year by Thomas.

Montford reported collecting $63,757 from July 1 through Sept. 27, bringing his campaign total to $126,367. He also reported $31,654 leftover from 1983 contributions.

During the most recent period, Montford also spent $23,525, which brings his 1984 total to $108,207.

Thomas, however, reported contributions of $14,565 for the period July 1 through Sept. 27, bringing his campaign total to $23,784. He spent $8,592 during the most recent period for a 1984 total of $11,756.

While Montford collected an extensive number of contributions from political action committees of special-interest groups, Thomas received most of his in the form of free office space and loans.

Doyle McLeod of Lubbock provided Thomas with $9,000 worth of office space between July 1 and Sept. 27, and Wilson Walker, also of Lubbock, loaned the candidate $2,000. Thomas also loaned his campaign $100.

Other major contributions during the recent period included $500 each from Jane Fullingim and R.S. Tapp, both of Lubbock; $335 from the Lubbock County Republican Party political action committee; and $205 from the Ector County Republican Women.

Thomas' major expenses included $1,442 for a political consultant; $2,117 for campaign materials; and $265 for a barbecue.

Montford's contributions included $100 each from Clyde McMahon, G.G. Strickland and R.H. Weaver, all of Big Spring.

His major contributions between July 1 and Sept. 27 included: $5,000 each from political action committees, or PACs, representing doctors and real estate brokers.

VALLEY NATIVE — Barbara Savage, a well-known artist from Raymonville, will be among a large group of artists from South Texas to participate in the Big Spring Arts and Crafts Festival.

Show features Valley native

Barbara Savage will be among a group of South Texas artists who will be participating in the upcoming Big Spring Arts and Crafts Festival. The festival, October 20-21 in the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum, will feature 182 artists and craftsmen from throughout Texas, the Southwest and other states.

A native of the Rio Grande Valley, Savage will make her fourth appearance in the city at the Eighth Annual Big Spring Arts and Crafts Festival. Savage is well known for the timeless quality of both her landscapes and wildlife.

Among her favorite subjects are native trees, cactus, flowers, birds and animals.

Working in both oils and acrylics, Savage has mastered both mediums and is able to use that gift to express her love of art and enjoyment of life. Her work has been featured in many top art shows and she is recognized as one of the leading artists in Texas.

The festival is free of admission charge to the general public. It will be held Saturday, October 20 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Sunday, October 21, from 1 to 6 p.m.

Absentee voting starts today

Absentee voting for Howard County began today in the Howard County Clerk's office.

The voting lasts through Nov. 2. Besides voting in the general, state and local elections, voters will cast votes on eight constitutional amendments.

County Clerk Margaret Ray said a good amount of the mail-in ballots will be from students and people in the service away from home.

Absentee voters may vote in person on Saturday, Oct. 27, from 2 to 8 p.m. at the county clerk's office in the courthouse.

"Everyone is anxious to know of the turnout," said Ms. Ray.

Symphony receives grant

The Big Spring Symphony Association has received a grant for $4,500 from the Texas Commission on the Arts in support of the performance this Friday by the Fort Worth Chamber Orchestra.

The Fort Worth Chamber Orchestra will perform two children's concerts at Big Spring High School Friday morning for elementary school students from Big Spring and the surrounding area.

Friday's 8 p.m. performance will be in the Municipal Auditorium under the direction of music director John Giordano. Trumpet soloist will be Stephen Weger, performing the Haydn Trumpet Concerto in E flat major.

The state arts commission grant of $4,500 will be matched in part by a grant from the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce Cultural Affairs Council for $3,750, bringing a total of $8,250 in grant awards to the first performance of the 1984-85 Big Spring Symphony season.

Season of single tickets can be purchased at the door before the concert or at the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce, Accent Shop, the Kopper Kettle, Dunlaps Department Store, Faye's Flowers and the Gazebo at the Highland Mall.

12 illegal aliens jailed without formal charges

DALLAS (AP) — A dozen undocumented workers have been jailed without charges for four months as material witnesses in an illegal alien transportation case, federal officials say.

The 11 men and one woman were jailed June 11 as witnesses in a case against Weldon Kennedy, the owner of a Weatherford sausage factory indicted on federal charges of harboring and transporting illegal aliens.

Lawyers on both sides of the case blamed each other for the lengthy incarceration and immigration officials blamed the lawyers.

Meanwhile, jail officials said they can't account for eight of the witnesses, the Dallas Morning News said.

Assistant U.S. Attorney E. Michael Sheehan said he was willing to release the workers since they provided sworn statements two weeks ago that could be used in court.

But he said defense attorney Doug Mulder refused to go along with the release. Mulder disputed Sheehan's statement.

Deaths

Roy Box

Roy N. Box, 81, died Tuesday in a local hospital after a lengthy illness.

Graveside services will be at 9:30 a.m. Thursday at Trinity Memorial Park with the Rev. Eddie Tingle, pastor of Berea Baptist Church, officiating.

He was born Sept. 16, 1903, in Van, Texas. He came to Big Spring in 1966 and was a retired carpenter. He was a member of the Baptist Church.

Survivors include three daughters, Ella King of Garland, Rosie Fisher of Dallas and Johnnie Mae Neel of Antlers, Okla.; two brothers, O.W. Box of Shreveport, La., and Ernest Box of Big Spring; a sister, Mrs. Jack (Geneva) Airhart of Minneola; and numerous grandchildren.

"They could turn them loose right now if it were up to me," he said. "I've written to the Mexican consul to make it clear I'm not the one holding them."

Mexican consul Enrique Maldonado said Tuesday he spoke to U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service officials about a release.

"They told me the defense attorneys keep changing the court date. It's really not fair that they be held in jail if they haven't committed a crime," he said. "They have family members they need to take care of."

INS district director Ron Chandler said the INS will deport the witnesses to Mexico after the trial or when they are released by the U.S. attorney.

The trial is now scheduled for Jan. 7.

"We turn it over to the U.S. attorney and we're done with them until the actual hearing or testimony," he said.

The Dallas Morning News said sheriff's officials at the Dallas County Government Center jail cannot account for eight of the 12 illegal aliens.

According to the News, jail officials said Monday that two of the aliens were still in custody.

Adoption law gets jilted

ALBANY, N.Y. — A homosexual can't adopt his lover unless current laws, which make a parent-child relationship "not a condition of, but a result of, adoption," are changed, the state's top court has ruled.

The 4-2 ruling Tuesday by the state Court of Appeals rejected the adoption request of a 57-year-old Manhattan homosexual who wanted to become the legal father of his 50-year-old lover of 25 years.

1 to use insanity defense

SANTA MONICA, Calif. — A man who pleaded innocent to charges he drove a car down a crowded sidewalk on the eve of the Olympics is "not a normal, healthy human being," and may use an insanity defense, his attorney said.

Daniel Lee Young, 21, who pleaded innocent Tuesday to one count of murder and 48 counts of attempted murder, has been held without bail since the July 27 rampage in the fashionable Westwood section of Los Angeles.

Teens face prison terms

INDIANAPOLIS — Two teen-age girls face up to six years in prison on charges they stabbed a six-months pregnant classmate to make her lose her baby, the first counts of feticide ever filed in Indiana, a prosecutor says.

Michelle Morrow, 17, and Nicki Lunford, 14, are accused of stabbing schoolmate Rhonda Cook, 14, on Sept. 26, Marion County Prosecutor Stephen Goldsmith said Tuesday. The charges were filed Monday.

Killer pleads innocent

PROVIDENCE, R.I. — A 23-year-old man indicted last week as the serial killer who terrorized the city this summer by strangling three women has pleaded innocent to murder charges.

Raymond J. Lassar, described by acquaintances as a male prostitute, was held without bail Tuesday after a brief arraignment on three counts of first-degree murder, one of attempted murder and one of first-degree sexual assault.

Man charged with murder

MILWAUKEE — A man who told police he wanted to scare his wife by dousing her with gasoline and setting her on fire after watching a television movie about wife abuse has been charged with second-degree murder.

Joseph Brandt, 40, had been charged with injury by conduct regardless of life while armed, but the new charge was filed Tuesday. Sharon Brandt, 37, who suffered third-degree burns over 95 percent of her body, died Monday, a week after she was doused following the showing of the movie "The Burning Bed."

Arson suspected in fire

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — A fire that destroyed four stores and damaged three others on the famed Boardwalk was "definitely suspicious," authorities said. One or two people were believed to have set the blaze.

Damage was put at $750,000 in the fire, which broke out about 12:45 a.m.

Fifth bomb explosion rocks Belgium building

GHENT, Belgium (AP) — The fifth bomb explosion in Belgium in 15 days caused heavy damage early today at a three-story building housing the regional offices of Prime Minister Wilfried Martens' Christian Democratic party. No injuries were reported.

The French-language radio network RTBF said it received an anonymous phone call in which Fighting Communist Cells, an extreme left-wing group, claimed responsibility for the 1:45 a.m. bomb attack.

The group has also claimed responsibility for four bomb explosions in Brussels in the past 15 days that extensively damaged the offices of Western defense contractors and a conservative study center, but caused no injuries.

RTBF reported that the caller said the attack was designed to protest Christian Democratic policies and threatened more bombs would be set off.

"They announced other actions against unions, other (political) parties and employers' organizations," an RTBF spokesman said.

The blast heavily damaged the building and blew out windows in nearby homes in the center of this city 31 miles west of Brussels.

Martens visited the scene of the blast shortly after the explosion and said he believed the explosion to be the work of the Fighting Communist Cells, until recently unknown.

The bomb exploded on the ground floor of the regional offices of the ruling Dutch-speaking Christian Democratic party, police spokesman Georges Dewolf said.

Five injured in train mishap

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP) — A 20-car east-bound Amtrak work train rear-ended a Conrail freight car, injuring at least five crew members, sending two derailed engines across four tracks and bringing all rail traffic to a halt this morning, Amtrak officials said.

"At 4:35 a.m. an Amtrak maintenance-of-way train hit a Conrail freight train approximately two miles east of Stamford," said John Jacobson, director of public affairs for Amtrak.

The five injured crew members were brought to Stamford area hospitals, and their conditions were not immediately known.

Both trains were eastbound on track 2 when the Amtrak train, which was traveling slightly faster than the Conrail freight, rammed it, Jacobson said. Two tracks are known to be damaged and further damage is likely, he said.

Buses were being sent to New Haven to take rush-hour commuters to New York, Jacobson said. Stamford is a major transfer point for commuters from other Connecticut communities coming into New York City.

Ira Furman, a spokesman for the National Transportation Safety Board in Washington, said an official from the NTSB's New York field office would be sent to the scene "to see if there are any problem areas we would want to address."

Rome passes drug law

ROME — The Cabinet has approved a tough drug-fighting bill that provides 30-year prison terms for pushers whose adulterated drugs kill users and increases police power to seize property used in illegal trafficking.

A Cabinet statement Tuesday said the bill would increase penalties for drug traffickers inducing others to use illegal narcotics. The statement did not specify what the new penalties would be.

Bombmaker sentenced

DUBLIN, Ireland — Michael O'Rourke, a convicted IRA bombmaker deported from the United States, was sentenced by Dublin's anti-terrorist Special Criminal Court to four years in jail after pleading guilty to dynamiting his way out of the court in 1976.

The no-jury court, which issued the sentence Tuesday, was told that at the time of the jailbreak O'Rourke was serving a six-year prison sentence after he was found with two others at a guerrilla bomb factory in North Dublin in 1975.

Weapons offered cheap

PIRAEUS, Greece — China, making its first appearance at a European defense exhibit, unveiled a broad range of weaponry for sale at bargain prices.

Five state-owned Chinese companies took four places Tuesday at the Defendory International exhibit, offering to sell self-propelled howitzers, shore-to-sea missiles and fast missile boats, which Chinese officials described as "combat-proven."

Terrorist group revealed

LISBON, Portugal — The Lisbon prosecutor's office has charged a revolutionary hero and 77 other people with membership in a group that has committed politically motivated murders, bank robberies and bombings in Portugal since 1980.

In a statement released by his lawyer Tuesday, Lt. Col. Otelo Saraiva de Carvalho denied he was a founding leader of the Popular Forces of April 25, the group that has claimed responsibility for the violence.

The 73 other people are accused of belonging to the terrorist organization, but no one has been charged with specific attacks or robberies.

Boy, now that's a hard question

Last week two guys having a couple of drinks at a local bar called in a question they wanted answered in the How's That Column on Page 1.

"What happens if Ronald Reagan wins re-election but dies before the inauguration?" they asked. "Would George Bush become president, or maybe Mondale? Or would they have to hold another election?"

We didn't know. So we called the Texas Tech University Law School for a little expert help, and the question intrigued the legal eagles, too. They came up with an answer that requires some space.

According to James Eissinger, professor of Constitutional law, no precedents or legal provisions could easily be applied to such an event.

"There's no way of knowing how the laws would be interpreted," he said.

- Citing a legal commentary, Eissinger said if an incumbent president dies after re-election and before the Electoral College convenes, the electors — pledged to vote for the candidate who wins the most votes in their representative states — could break camp and vote for another candidate.

- If the president dies after the Electoral College votes but before the results are counted in the Senate, the individual states could disrupt the election under an 1887 law that holds a state's electoral votes are invalid unless certified by the governor.

- If the president dies after the electoral votes are counted and certified but before the inauguration, the vice president-elect most likely would succeed without challenge under the provisions of Section 3 of the 20th Amendment to the Constitution.

- And, Eissinger added, if an incumbent president renominated by his party were to die before the general election, the party would have to name a new candidate. The election could probably be delayed by consent of Congress, he said, but not the inauguration.

"Anything that happened could be challenged in the courts," Eissinger said. "By the way, where did you come up with this hypothetical situation?"

Two guys in a bar.

Wrinkle in time

WASHINGTON — Can the old man hack it for another four years as president?

That dirty question, once only a whisper, is now out in the open as a central feature of the campaign. Fritz Mondale intends to plug it hard in the second debate. Even the huge lead President Reagan has built it not entirely secure unless he can somehow trump the issue.

Like most matters, involving that unknown god public opinion, exactly how the question surfaced is not fully clear. For openers, there was a certain predisposition in the public mind, an unspoken doubt on the matter, a widespread suspicion which wanted only the flick of an event to bring it to life as a full-blown issue.

The first debate supplied that flick. Reagan, while not looking badly, was not entirely in the pink either. He showed uneasiness under questioning, and a flash of temper. Especially at the end, he seemed less vigorous in bearing, and less alert in mind, than Mondale.

Moreover, Reagan came close to acknowledging his own weakness. Toward the close of the debate a question arose whether it was his turn to offer rebuttal or to sum up. "I'm all confused now," Reagan exclaimed. He seemed not to care much either way. All he wanted was an end to the ordeal. When it came to the summing up, Reagan, instead of the usual dramatic peroration, lost himself — and his audience — in a thicket of numbers.

After that it was child's play for Mondale's staff people to put out the word that the president's age was showing and that the former vice president would ram the question home in the next debate. Television commentators picked it up for the evening news on Monday. So less than 24 hours after the Louisville debate, a devastating issue — previously in the background — had come front and center.

As it happens, Reagan is vulnerable on the issue, and Mondale is in a strong position to work him over. The president has never been renowned as a hard worker. While his memory is good, even phenomenal, he does not have a clear grasp of how the pieces of national and international problems fit together. By his own account, he prefers simple answers. His weakness for slogans is proverbial. He can go on and on and on about the "safety net," as if the mere evocation of the term insured that his administration's efforts to "break the cycle of dependency" took no casualties among the poor and helpless.

On foreign policy, the theme of the second debate, Reagan is at his worst. He took office without either experience or knowledge, and he has not troubled to educate himself in a systematic way. In the matter of arms control especially, he has shown himself ignorant of the properties of various weapons, poorly informed about what happened in significant exchanges between American and Russian negotiators, and weak in comprehension of the way arguments cut.

He once told a panel of experts assembled to support the MX missile that he had discovered that if Japan had had a single atomic weapon, the U.S. never would have dropped atom bombs on Hiroshima and Nagasaki. That example argues that minimum deterrence — a single bomb — works. It follows that there is no need for sophisticated deterrents, like the MX, which can be hidden and moved about from place to place. Without even knowing it, in other words, Reagan was making the case against the MX.

Over the past few years elaborate devices have been developed in the White House to spare the public knowledge of Reagan's weaknesses. In the presidential debates, those carefully prepared defenses come down.

Orgonomy is old wife's tale

WASHINGTON — Sen. Gordon Humphrey, R-N.H., is a strict conservative with strong "pro-family" views. He once assailed the wife of Atlanta Mayor Andrew Young because of what he called her "campaign to distribute contraceptives to minors."

A politician who attacks other men's wives runs the risk of having to defend his own; this is the story of Patricia Humphrey.

She is a member of the American College of Orgonomy, has attended at least one international orgonomy conference and has written articles for the American Journal of Orgonomy.

In 1982, she was chairwoman of the college's fundraising effort. According to a 1982 journal article, she "took on a superhuman task, starting from scratch, organizing the campaign, appointing regional chairmen, instructing them, and arranging for workers under these chairmen."

What makes this fascinating is that "orgonomy" is a school of psychology that would curl the hair of your average pro-family conservative. It makes providing contraceptives to teen-agers look like Victorian repression at its most bluenosed.

The basic tenet of orgonomy is that orgasms are essential to a healthy psyche — in children as well as adults.

The founder of the orgone movement was Dr. Wilhelm Reich, an Austrian-born psychoanalyst and one-time colleague of Sigmund Freud. Reich died in 1957 at the federal prison in Lewisburg, Pa. He had been sent there for persisting in selling "orgone accumulators" — large boxes in which the patient would sit and supposedly absorb orgone energy. The Food and Drug Administration had ordered him to stop selling the boxes.

Reich taught that children should be encouraged to have sex at an early age. In his book, "Children of the Future: On the Prevention of Sexual Pathology," Reich wrote:

"The central question is that of sexual intercourse in adolescence and the attitude of society toward it. Young people have more than merely a right to be 'enlightened'; they are fully entitled to their emotional health and their sexual joy in life. ... The sexual needs of young people cannot be solved ... without gratifying sexual intercourse."

Humphrey has espoused pro-family conservatism in strong moral terms. In 1979, for example, he led an effort to block the appointment of Patricia Wald to a federal judgeship on charges that she would use the position to "abolish parental authority." Ms. Wald's views on children's rights, he argued, would lead to "bizarre changes in the family structure" if she were on the bench.

When my associate John Dillon asked the senator if he could reconcile his conservative social views with his wife's association with orgonomy, he said:

"What my wife's views may or may not be are her business. I don't know anything about orgonomy. It doesn't interest me and I can't comment on it."

The senator said he does not believe in promoting sex among adolescents. He said he didn't know that a central tenet of orgonomy was based on orgasms.

"I've talked to her very little about it," he said. "I don't understand it and it doesn't interest me."

Mrs. Humphrey did not respond to a request for an interview.

Billy Graham

How small is God?

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I guess you would say I am an unbeliever, but I have a hard time believing that God really cares about life on this planet. I mean, we are such a small part of the universe, and, besides that, I don't see that God is really doing anything to change this world for the better. — P.A.

DEAR P.A.: Some years ago, English author J.P. Phillips wrote a book called "Your God is Too Small." That title describes exactly your situation. Has it ever occurred to you that the vastness of the universe (which we are only beginning to understand) actually demonstrates God's concern for even the smallest detail? Don't look at God through the wrong end of a telescope!

Yes, this incredibly complex universe witnesses to the power and wisdom of God. "For since the creation of the world God's invisible qualities — his eternal power and divine nature — have been clearly seen, being understood from what has been made"

(Romans 1:20). But is it true that God also cares about us? Yes! I know this not by gazing at the silent stars or looking through a microscope (although God's constant care of the physical world indicates He has not abandoned it), but rather, because God has demonstrated his love for us he did that in a way which staggers our imaginations — he came down on this earth and became a man in the person of Jesus Christ.

Around The Rim

The insiders for '84 race

If you looked carefully during the Republican convention, you caught the first lessons of advanced camera-jockeying, taught by none other than the presidential hopefuls of 1988.

Yes, that was Reps. Jack Kemp (New York) and Newt Gingrich (Georgia) out there, lining up the news media for interviews. The young Turks took one look at Democratic contender Sen. Gary Hart, and decided they had youth and "new ideas," too.

Presidential campaigns have become like Christmas — the media blitz arrives earlier every year. This time, the campaign position started at both 1984 conventions — for the 1988 race.

On one hand, Sen. Howard Baker (R-Tenn.) and Vice President George Bush were busy trying to establish their party credentials, fighting eviction by the New Right. And in the same move, they were collecting IOUs for the 1988 nomination.

In that same spirit of keeping one step ahead of the mob, I nominate Keith Briscoe for President.

He says his party of choice is the Social Democratic ticket (driven there, he claims, by the Yuppie invasion). However, there are those of us who doubt his plain-vanilla Democratic party credentials after finding a registered Republican card in his mail this spring.

A lot of his potential advisers don't think his party's going to play too well in Peoria, or even at the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce. But Keith — someone promise to say Kaddish for him if he speaks in either place — saw New York Gov. Mario Cuomo's speech at the Democrats' convention, and someone said he had a face for radio, so the campaign's on his way.

Actually, Keith could have provided a real alternative this year, but he had a little problem with the age factor. He's a tad under the presidential age requirement of 35, but he figures he'll barely scrape by in '88.

Here are a few samples of his stunts on important issues:

- Aid to Israel: Absolutely.
- Social Security: He promises to never, never, never make any cuts. And if this sounds familiar, well, he thought of it first.
- Labor Unions: Best things since sliced bread. The UAW president will probably end up on his cabinet — as Secretary of Transportation.
- Agricultural Aid: He'll support the family farm, but he'll cut the subsidies to pork.

A lot of you will be appalled by my suggestion, I'm sure. To overcome your shock, there are a couple of ways of examining his candidacy. If you are among the crowd that would rather see Keith ply his trade elsewhere — well, he might as well go in style.

And, he's qualified. If an actor can handle the job, why not a man with a master's in comparative history?

College trustees approve energy system, new coach

By CAROL BALDWIN
Staff Writer

Howard County Junior College District trustees Tuesday approved a bid of $105,000 for an energy management system that "will pay for itself in three years" through utility savings, said district President Bob Riley.

Riley told trustees the system "is a computer system that will turn the heat and air conditioning on and off" and monitor controls. Before purchasing the system, district officials studied similar systems in Lubbock, Midland and several other cities.

The system, which will be purchased through Honeywell Inc. of Lubbock, "has a 10-year life expectancy," said Terry Hanson, business manager. Over those 10 years, Hanson estimated that the system would save the district $60,000.

Trustees accepted the resignation of Hawk basketball coach Mike Mitchell, who left the college in September to enter private business, and named assistant coach Ed Sparling to the position. Sparling had been hired last month by trustees as an assistant.

Trustees also approved the hiring of Jim Davis as industrial training coordinator. Davis will work primarily with students from the Big Spring Federal Camp in electronics, wiring and repair.

"We have contracted with the prison," Riley said. The prison contract will "cover his (Davis) salary and some of the expenses" incurred by the course. Davis will also be available to teach courses for students within the district.

Trustees approved a low bid of $7,990 for an engine analyzer from the Allen Group of Kalamazoo, Mich.

They approved a low bid of $7,644 for computer-aided drafting equipment from Teaching Systems of Dallas.

They also approved a low bid of $9,345 from Josten's of Midland for printing the district yearbook.

Trustees decided to pass on bids for employee insurance. Following discussions about increases in employee life insurance and dependent coverage, trustees asked that bids be re-submitted that specify dependent coverage.

In his report to the board, Riley said that repairs on the old gymnasium floor, which has been damaged by water leaks, will begin Oct. 29. Roofs on both the SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf and Howard College campuses are also being repaired, he said.

Riley said work is being done to improve use of the district computer for financial reports and said people in the business office are working on getting "some bugs in the print-outs" corrected.

Howard College will host "the region 1A and 2A volleyball tournaments," Riley said.

Riley also reported that a new boiler for the men's dorm is "on its way" and would be installed shortly. He said bids are also being collected for a new weight machine for the coliseum.

Riley said two damaged automobiles had been donated to the automotive technology department from General Motors. Both new cars had been damaged when they fell from delivery vehicles and GM donated them for students to work on.

Riley said Sen. John Montford "recommended we visit with Mark White" to discuss future funding for SWCID.

During White's stop at a Lubbock luncheon recently, Riley and several SWCID administrators met with the governor. "He indicated he would like more information...to clarify the role of SWCID in Texas education," Riley said.

Schools find 100 students

Big Spring Independent School District officials found some good news in the form of 101 additional students last week as they were completing registration tallies for the first six-week grading period.

Harold Bentley, assistant superintendent for personnel and instruction, said the additional students were discovered as attendance clerks refined counts on the high school level.

Enrollment Friday was listed at 4,612 students, which is 115 more than the previous week's tally of 4,497. At this time last year, the BSISD had an enrollment of 4,757, a difference of 145 students.

Other additions on the enrollment report can be attributed to students returning from illnesses and other absences.

Bentley said "this happens every year" because of problems in counting students at Big Spring High School who are enrolled in half-day work programs.

"In elementary school you have 20 seats and 20 students and you can count noses," Bentley explained. In the upper grade levels, the enrollment count varies from class to class and this causes problems when trying to maintain daily records.

During the first six-week grading period, attendance clerks "went through official records and rectified" the tally, Bentley said. The miscalculation was discovered in the vocational and half-day programs.

Attendance is important to local districts because average daily attendance directly affects state funding. Bentley said, "We're 101 students less bad off than we thought we were," regarding funding.

A breakdown Friday showed 2,118 students enrolled in elementary schools, including Bauer, College Heights, Kentwood, Lakeview, Marcy, Moss and Washington. That compares to a total the previous week of 2,116 and a total at this time last year of 2,174.

On the secondary level including Goliad, Runnels and BSHS, tallies show 2,429 students enrolled.

Two win Nobel prize for physics research

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Wednesday, October 17, 1984 7-A

1984, according to Herwig Schopper, the director of the CERN research center in Switzerland where the two scientists work.

Contacted in Geneva, Van der Meer said he was surprised and "very, very pleased" to receive the physics prize.

The scientists, colleagues at the European nuclear research organization in Geneva, used the atom-smasher in 1983 to pinpoint two "field particles" called W and Z, described as "communicators of weak interaction."

Weak interaction is of the four basic forces of nature. The other three are electromagnetism, strong atomic interaction and years of research into the weak force.

Professor Gosta Ekspong, also a CERN physicist and a member of the academy, said the two physicists' discovery already has had many ramifications:

—It has proved why the sun does not overheat and wipe out life on Earth.

—It will help explain the origins of the universe — the so-called "big bang theory."

—It has brought much closer the proof of Albert Einstein's "unified force theory," the idea that all four basic forces actually are one.

The machine devised by Van der Meer can be compared with a huge racetrack, with particles moving at faster and faster velocities until they collide at a speed of 600 billion electron volts.

At that speed, they would reach the moon in a couple of seconds, Ekspong said.

"I hope it gives a boost to CERN and allows it to continue the research despite criticism for being too expensive," Van der Meer told The Associated Press.

"We need such a boost because the research here concerns matter and elements of everything life consists of, even though there is criticism of the costs," he said. "If you think of it, it is the equivalent of a few cups of coffee when you consider the population of the countries involved."

Dr. Donohue

Crohn's disease a flare-up problem

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I was told early this year that I have Crohn's disease. I have seen two gastroenterologists and both seem to differ on what you should eat with this kind of illness. One says food intake has nothing to do with it and to eat naturally. The other says a bland diet is best. One can get real confused.

There's no controversy about that. I suspect you saw your two doctors on different occasions, once when the inflammation was active and another when it was not, hence the conflicting advice.

Today-gone-tomorrow illnesses. In the quiet period, you can eat anything you want, with one exception. Some people with Crohn's also have an intolerance to milk sugar. It causes diarrhea. If it does, then milk sugar products must be avoided.

And Crohn's is one of those here-

My husband gets upset when I have an attack and blames it on what I eat. I don't have a severe case. It only acts up occasionally. When it does I use a bland diet. Whatever you write, it's getting hung on the fridge for my husband to see. — K.A.

If this is going to be hanging on your fridge, it had better be good.

Crohn's, as you know, is a problem (inflammation) of the digestive tract, usually involving both the large and small intestine. Sometimes just the small or large intestine alone is involved. While food intake of itself is not thought to be part of the cause of the inflammation, diet does become important in treatment. That's your question, so I'll stick with that.

Many patients tolerate all varieties of food, so no restrictions are needed. But when the inflammation does become active, a

Superintendent to speak at BSSH luncheon

A. K. Smith, superintendent of the Big Spring State Hospital, will speak at the volunteer's luncheon on important matters in the mental health field. The luncheon will be at the auditorium of the Allred Building at 12 p.m. Thursday.

Smith's subject will be the RAJ class action suit filed against state agencies by parents of patients. Special music by students of St. Mary's Episcopal School also will be presented.

"This class action suit has been at the heart of many discussions and is expected to cause significant changes in the programs of the mental health department," Smith said. "In this address, I hope to offer some clarification of the problems brought about by the suit and to speak to volunteers and hospital employees about some of the proposed remedies."

Smith's speech to the volunteers follows two recent addresses before distinguished audiences. At the annual meeting of the Association of Mental Health Administrators held recently at the Westin Hotel in Chicago, Smith spoke to a group on "Teleconference Staffings: A Cost-Effective System to Facilitate Continuity of Care for Psychiatric Patients."

As part of the improvement plan for Big Spring State Hospital, Smith and his staff began implementation of the teleconference network in West Texas. The new program, funded by a grant from the Hogg Foundation, enabled the hospital, five community centers and 12 outreach centers to be linked in a communication network to promote joint planning with referring agencies and better treatment of mental health problems.

Following his address at the AMHA meeting, Smith went to Washington University School of Medicine in St. Louis, Miss., which was conducting a program on health planning. To students and staff at Washington University, Smith spoke on "Control of the Health Care System."

Accompanying Mr. Smith on the Chicago trip were hospital staff members Robert and Sue von Rosenberg, Chuck and Betty Condray and E. Ray Tatum.

Dear Abby

Right address wrongs prisoners

DEAR ABBY: We fellow inmates do not believe that a prisoner should have to identify himself as man who is in prison when he's corresponding with a pen pal.

Sure, we prisoners have made mistakes in our lives, but there are plenty of people who have committed crimes and are still on the street because they haven't been caught.

Most prisoners are trying to get their lives together and we think they should be given a chance.

Please publish this, Abby.

DOING TIME IN FREDONIA, KY.

DEAR DOING TIME: I agree, prisoners should be given a chance to get their lives together. I'm for wiping the slate clean after they have paid their debt to society. But while they're in prison and corresponding with strangers on the outside, I think those strangers should be aware that their pen pals are in prison.

DEAR ABBY: You published a piece titled "What is a Grandmother?" You said a reader had clipped it out of the Catholic Digest, and it was written by a 9-year-old third-grade girl.

I found the piece very engaging, Abby, but I enjoyed it more when I read it in Erma Bombeck's column about 10 years ago. (Some teacher must have been awfully naive to believe it was written by a 9-year-old third-grade girl.)

ANOTHER GRANDMOTHER: DEAR GRANDMOTHER: I promptly sent your letter and the piece in question to my friend Erma Bombeck, with this frantic SOS:

"Dear Erma: Help! Did you write the enclosed piece, or was it written by a third-grader? This reader says she read it in your column about 10 years ago. Please help clear up this mystery. — Abby"

Deadline for club directory approaches

The deadlines for submitting information and photographs for the Big Spring Herald's club directory is around the corner. The Big Spring Herald will publish its annual club directory in mid-November to inform readers about various clubs in the area.

The deadline is Monday for submitting information about a club. If a club has not received a form for submitting the information, it is available at the Lifestyle Department of the Big Spring Herald.

Photographs of club presidents may be published along with club information. The president may submit a wallet-sized studio photograph of himself with the club information. If the president has a "mug shot" type photograph on file at the Herald, it can be used. Those without photographs may have them made today between 3 and 4 p.m. or Thursday between 4 and 5 p.m. The deadline for photographs to be made is Thursday at 5 p.m.

Homemakers learn about assertiveness

"Adjustments of Everyday Living" was the program given by Naomi Hunt to the City Extension Homemakers Club Oct. 12. The meeting was in the home of Salena Sewell.

Some topics of interest and points discussed by Ms. Hunt were definition of assertiveness and characteristics of non-assertive and aggressive persons. She also told of results of being assertive and key points to assertiveness.

The next meeting will be Oct. 26 in the home of Jean Cantrell.

Club studies today's gospel music

The October theme of the Big Spring Music Study Club is "Contemporary Gospel Music". Mrs. Monna Tonn spoke to the club on the origins of gospel music at the Oct. 10 meeting. Thelma Carlile and Suncha Christensen were hostesses at the event.

Mrs. Tonn says that gospel music is as much a part of this country as its history. The negroes put sacred words in their "working songs" thus creating their gospel songs of today, she said. She sang "Blessing After Blessing" and "You Are So Good to Me".

The First Baptist Church Ensemble, composed of: Londa Hendricks, Suzanne Cranford, Carol Boyd, Cecil Bedell, Amy Teaff and Betty Teaff at the piano, delighted the audience with a medley of gospel songs. Ms. Cranford sang "The Statue of Liberty" and Ms. Boyd sang "My Father's Eyes".

Plans for the upcoming District XII Annual Conference to be held in the Cactus Room of the Howard College Oct. 20 were discussed. Music clubs from Odessa, Midland and Stanton will participate. The Big Spring Music Study Club will host the event.

Defense chief hears Israelis

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — U.S. Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger met Tuesday with his Israeli counterpart, Yitzhak Rabin, to discuss Israel's future military needs.

A Defense Ministry official said the talks would focus on the balance of power between Israel and its Arab adversaries.

The official, who spoke on condition he not be identified, said Israel would outline its long-range military needs to Weinberger and discuss how to preserve its "qualitative edge" over the armies of Arab states.

Israel radio said economic issues relating to defense issues would also be discussed, but the ministry official said a detailed discussion of U.S. military aid was not on the agenda. Israel is to receive $1.4 billion in U.S. military aid in the current fiscal year.

Weinberger, who arrived here from Egypt on Monday, met with Rabin, chief of staff Moshe Levy and other senior Israeli officials at the Defense Ministry.

He was scheduled to visit an Israeli air base built in the Negev Desert with U.S. funds after Israel's evacuation from the Sinai peninsula. He was also to tour Israel Aircraft Industry's facilities where the Lavi fighter is being developed. The fighter is partially funded by $250 million in U.S. aid and is scheduled to be in production in the 1990s.

Weinberger was scheduled to meet with Prime Minister Shimon Peres on Wednesday.

UP TOP! — Big Spring Lady Steers volleyball players Lisa Phillips, left, and Keri Myrick give the high five handshake at a recent game at Steer Gym. With a 4-5A win over Midland Lee last night Big Spring moved into a third place tie with Lee and Midland High with a 6-5 record, one game behind second place Abilene Cooper. For related story see 2B.

Steers of the Week

Four Big Spring Steers, including a pair of first timers, have been named Steers of the Week by the BSHS football coaching staff for their efforts during last week's blowout by Abilene Cooper.

Doug Walker, a 220-pound senior two-way tackle, is this week's Top Steer. Top Steer honors go to the defensive player making the largest contribution in a Steers' contest.

Walker had seven unassisted tackles and five assisted stops for a total of 12 tackles against the Cougars. He also recovered a fumble and his alert play on one occasion resulted in a penalty against Cooper.

Walker is the third leading tackler on the Steers' squad this season. Walker has 48 tackles — 19 solos and 29 assists — through six games.

DRAGON

180-pound sophomore Charley Ogle is in the Steers of the Week circle for the first time this year. Ogle plays left offensive tackle and is the Dragon (top offensive lineman) of the Cooper-Steers' affair.

Ogle was a mainstay up front while allowing the Big Spring passing game to crank up for over 130 yards for the second straight week.

EXPRESS

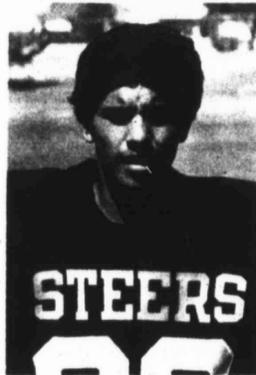

Catching four of those passes for 53 yards was flanker Michael Doport. For his efforts the 150-pound senior was tagged with the Express award. The Express accolade is handed out to a game's outstanding offensive back. It is Doport's first

Buffaloes get older, better in one year's time

By STEVE BELVIN
Staff Writer

FORSAN — Oh, what difference a year makes!

Just ask the Forsan Buffaloes. Last year at this time the Buffaloes were 1-4-1 and had allowed over 150 points. This year the Buffaloes sport a 6-0 record, including a season opening 12-0 whitewashing of tough Bronte, and have allowed just 39 points going into Friday's 7-A South Zone match against Sands.

The start brings back memories of Forsan's 1976 team that won its first 11 games before losing. That loss was a 7-6 heartbreaker to Groom in the quarterfinals of the state playoffs.

What is the big secret for 1984? Maturity and a strong defense, according to Forsan mentor Jan East. "Last year we were so inexperienced. We have nine players on the team that started all 10 ballgames last year," said East.

A stout defense led by East's son Todd and Wayne Wright at the linebacking spots is a major key. The duo averages 25 tackles between them each game on a defense that is allowing opponents a paltry 150 yards per contest.

The younger East, who also doubles at quarterback, says the biggest turaround in the program has been the players' attitudes. "Last year we really didn't believe we could win. This year we know we can. The reason I have made all these tackles is because the defensive tackles are keeping the linemen off me."

One of the tackles East refers to is Tony Miranda, one of nine seniors on this year's squad. Miranda says he felt all along that he and his teammates would bounce back from last year's 3-6-1 mark.

"I figured we would be successful because everyone started the year with a positive attitude, plus we have been ready for every game. The key to stopping other offenses is our gang tackling. One man will slow them down and then we all hit them."

Coach East is quick to admit that defense has been the strength of the squad this season. "It has definitely been our strong point. We could have two or three shutouts if we didn't make offensive mistakes. We feel if we just allow a touchdown per game, we'll beat a lot of people. This year the kids are taking pride in not giving up a lot of yards."

This year opponents have gained 900 yards versus the 'Buffs' defense. Last season alone Forsan allowed over 500 in a loss to Munday.

This year's defense has all but shutdown every opponent's running game, much to the delight of Forsan cornerback Bobby Headrick. The senior, who is tied for the team lead in interceptions along with East at two apiece, says if opponents start to pass more, they will still be in trouble.

"It really doesn't matter if somebody tries throwing the ball on us because I feel we play better against the pass," said the senior transfer from Georgetown.

Headrick's job is made easier with players like Tom Thompson, a cornerback turned defensive end, who leads the team with five quarterback sacks. Thompson made the adjustment well since he played defensive end on the junior varsity.

"Making the switch didn't affect me at all, I like it easier because I don't have to run back and forth so much," he laughed. "Coach Hudgins (Roger Hudgins, defensive coordinator) has come up with a call that leaves me open to rush the quarterback."

OFFENSE HAS ITS MOMENTS While the Buffaloes defense has been making life miserable for the opposition, the offense has learned to play with adversity and make the most of it.

Bad luck struck the Buffaloes before the season started when leading ground gainer and All-West Texas performer Mitch Hays suffered a broken jaw and played only sparingly in the first three games.

Hays played well, however and averaged over 100 yards per contest in limited duty. In the fourth game, a 40-8 trouncing of Rankin, Hays played his first full game and gained 153 yards. Disaster struck again the following week. The speedy Hays suffered a pulled hamstring muscle early in the first quarter against O'Donnell. No problem, exit Hays and enter freshmen Byron McElreath who responded with over 100 yards the remainder of the contest. Last week without Hays the Buffaloes turned to the pass and East responded with touchdown completions of 18 and 28 yards to Headrick.

Hays is questionable for this week's game with Sands. Hays is sure his teammates can function without him though. "They will do alright without me, they have so far. I just hope to get back to full speed soon."

Despite his up and down season, Hays' stats are impressive. He has over 600 yards on 60 carries and 10

Lady Steers keep contending with victory over Lee Rebels

By STEVE BELVIN
Staff Writer

In their District 4-5A volleyball win over Midland Lee Tuesday night the Big Spring Lady Steers did one thing they have seldom done this season — hold on to the lead.

After coming-from-behind for a 15-13 opening match victory, coach Susan Sharp's crew jumped out to a 10-2 lead in the second match and held on to a 15-10 win. Unlike many of their games when they jumped out to early leads and faltered down the stretch, the Lady Steers kept the pressure on Lee while holding on for the win at Steer Gym.

The win places Big Spring right back in the playoff hunt, placing its district slate at 6-5, tied with Lee and Midland for third place. Cooper is second with a 7-4 record while San Angelo Central remains undefeated with three games remaining. In other games played Tuesday, Cooper beat Permian, 15-10, 15-4; Central downed Midland, 15-8, 15-6; and Odessa beat Abilene, 15-11, 15-11.

Big Spring was all but counted out of the chase until last week when Permian and Odessa upset Lee and Midland respectively, leaving Big Spring with a mathematical chance at post-season action.

"I had all but counted us out of it, but everyone got new life when we learned Midland and Lee lost last week," said coach Sharp. "We had a great workout Monday, the kids were more relaxed out there."

Even more impressive than the way the Lady Steers held their second match lead is the way they battled back from an 8-2 deficit in the opening match.

With Tab Green serving, Big Spring started its surge to victory. Three points narrowed the lead to 9-7. With Green still at the line Big Spring simply dominated the remainder of the contest.

First, Trell Clemons blocked Donna Holmes' kill attempt and forced Holmes to hit an errant attempt, tying the contest at 9-9. Junior Monique Jones then took matters into her own hands and drilled three consecutive kills, giving Big Spring a commanding 12-9 lead. Shelia Chatman drilled another spike and all of sudden Lee was fighting for survival.

It didn't take long as Tanya Ferguson put the finishing touches on the Rebels with a well placed dink shot.

The second match was just the opposite of the first as Big Spring jumped out to a 4-2 lead and upped it to 10-2 thanks to six service points by Clemons, including two aces that left the Rebels cold.

It seemed their old nemesis of blowing leads would come back to haunt the Lady Steers as Lee chopped the lead to 13-10, thanks to some hard kills from Lee's Megan Pace and Michelle Lance.

But, Big Spring would hold on for the win. With Tonya Stevenson serving, point number 14 came with a Chatman block of Lance's kill. The game ended when Lance drilled another kill attempt into the net.

Sharp admitted it was one of her squad's better games. "We have played better ball, but it was the best chance played in a long time. Monique Jones and Trell Clemons had terrific nights hitting. Shelia Chatman was reading the defenses well."

JV EDGES CLOSER TO TITLE
Coach Elaine Stone's junior varsity spikers won two quick games over Lee 15-2, 15-8, raising their district record to 10-1 and season slate to 21-9 for the year.

Priscilla Banks was top server with 11 points. Sheri Myrick and Sonya Evans added six and five respectively. Stone singled out the fine offensive play of Michelle Houston and credited the win to total team effort.

'Motown' rocks as city honors baseball's 1984 Series champs

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Tigers Manager Sparky Anderson wasn't satisfied with becoming the first skipper in major league history to win World Series championships in both leagues.

He wants an encore. "They will win again in 1985," Anderson told an estimated 60,000 cheering and waving baseball fans Tuesday during a downtown ticker-tape parade and rally honoring the Tigers.

"I don't think all of you realize what a great team you have," said Anderson, who won two championships with the National League Cincinnati Reds.

The downtown scene looked like the first snow of the winter season as confetti floated down from skyscrapers onto the noisy crowd along the route from Tiger Stadium to downtown Kennedy Square.

The crowd roared its approval as each car unloaded its occupants, reserving its loudest applause for pitching ace Jack Morris, outfielder Kirk Gibson and shortstop Alan Trammell, voted the series' Most Valuable Player.

Tigers owner and Domino's Pizza founder Tom Monaghan called the show of support "incredible, incredible."

"I don't think anyone went to work today — or to school," Monaghan said as he emerged from his convertible before mounting the stage to chat with Gov.

James Blanchard and other waiting dignitaries.

"Bless you, boys," Blanchard said, repeating a team slogan as he presented Monaghan and former Tigers owner John Fetzer with a proclamation declaring "Detroit Tigers Week" in Michigan.

The peaceful noon rally contrasted with the violent celebration outside Tiger Stadium following the Tigers' victory over the San Diego Padres Sunday night, which left one man dead, sent at least 80 to hospital emergency rooms and led to 34 arrests.

"The scene today is a scene of the real Detroit," said City Council President Erma Henderson.

Women may judge Hagler's bout

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Wednesday, October 17, 1984

3-B

NEW YORK (AP) — As a preliminary to Marvellous Marvin Hagler's middleweight title defense against Mustafa Hamsho Friday night, the champion's co-managers Pat and Goody Petronelli will do battle against the New York State Athletic Commission.

What Hagler and the Petronelli's don't want are three women judges for the scheduled 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden.

John Branca, the chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, said that it is possible Eva Shain and Carol Castellano of New York and Carol Polis of Philadelphia could judge the fight.

The three women are certified WBA judges and the WBA has been consulted about their possible opponent, Branca said. Alberto Alomane of Panama, the WBA's international coordinator, will attend the rules meeting and will supervise the fight for his organization.

The WBC is expected to take some action at its convention in Montreal which opened today and concludes Saturday, but no decision is expected to be announced before Saturday.

As for the three women's judges, Branca said, "I think they're very qualified. All of them have handled championship fights."

touchdowns. He gives his success to the seven men blocking in front of him.

Guards Miranda and Marvin "Termite" Kendricks, tackles Brandon Wooten and Jason Donaghe, center Thompson and ends Lance Soles and Gary Little have "matured and gotten stronger" over the past year, according to coach East.

"The guys are really blocking much better than last year. There are more downfield blocks this season," said Hays.

If Forsan gets by Sands this week it will set up a showdown with annual powerhouse Roscoe the week after in Roscoe. The Plowboys are currently 5-1 and ranked number eight in the state.

But East and his coaching staff, which includes Hudgins, Steve Park and R.L. Coates, are guarding their team from looking ahead. "Our number one goal is to win the 7-A South Zone," said coach East. "That means we will be taking one game at a time. The kids are handling this success real well. They are winning games and they know they can be successful and they want more of it."

What a difference a year makes.

Player Profile

Only a sophomore, Tab Green has established herself as one of the Lady Steers most consistent volleyball players this season.

The 5-8 spiker-setter is the daughter of Carol and Gerald Green and has been playing the sport since junior high. "I think that volleyball is one of the most competitive sports in the world, I play because I love the competition," said Green.

Green credits Lady Steers coach Susan Sharp with being a big influence in her young career. "In the three years I have been with coach Sharp she has helped me obtain my goals in volleyball."

Green is a member of the BSHS Student Council and lists her favorite subjects as geometry and english. Her hobbies include skating, swimming, basketball and water skiing.

TAB GREEN

Her long term goals included to attend the University of Texas and get her degree in pre-law and to play in the 1988 Olympics.

Snow football hurts Denver's baseball idea

DENVER (AP) — The Denver Broncos' white and snowy football welcome for the Green Bay Packers — broadcast for posterity on national television — may have had a chilling effect on the city's hopes to attract a major-league baseball club, officials said.

Mayor Federico Pena, the city's foremost baseball booster, thought the blizzard hurt Denver's image and, in particular, its ability to attract major-league baseball and more convention business.

"It was distressing... a very unfortunate set of circumstances," the mayor told the Rocky Mountain News on Tuesday.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR THURS., OCTOBER 18, 1984

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening when you can well consider the scope of your activities and to make a point to extend them as far as possible beyond their present boundaries.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) A good day to get your ideas across to others and gain the esteem you desire so much. Do something special for a loved one.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Be more cognizant of the needs of kin and try to help them. Problems may arise during the daytime, but handle them well.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Even if communications may appear difficult, you soon can get the right answers. Spend a happy evening with those you love.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) You may feel that you are being ripped off in the morning, but if you study the matter well, you realize that this is not so.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) You may feel frustrated in the morning so get busy and improve your position in life. Then gad about socially.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Responsibilities may have you hemmed in but you soon can see how to become more successful and outgoing.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Study your subconscious goals and what obstacles have to be overcome and then you can make real progress.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Your finest chances for advancement are in the outside world of business, but you have to apply real effort to gain results.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You may find it difficult to know just how to make a plan work in the morning, but later all works out to your advantage.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Your hunches are not good in the morning, but later they are reliable and you can follow the right path.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You may find it difficult to convince a prominent friend to go along with a plan you have but it needs to be explained further.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) If you make your environment more functional and charming, you can do better work in it and feel happier.

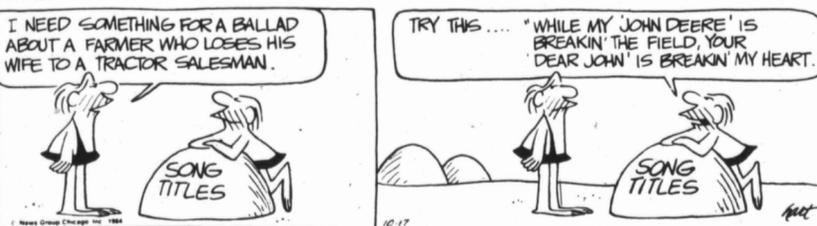

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she can easily understand the greatest potential in any undertaking and you would be wise to add courses in school that will help to make the most of this fine ability, and to be more practical. Be certain to encourage by praising any effort.
