• Texas: Barefoot

HUNTSVILLE (AP) — Convicted cop killer Thomas Andy Barefoot, who had believed God would spare him life a fifth time, asked forgiveness for "any wrong I've ever done" and then was executed by injection early today.

THOMAS BAREFOOT

The former roughneck from New Iberia, La., was pronounced dead at 12:24 a.m., some 14 hours after the U.S. Supreme Court refused to block the execution and eight hours after Texas Gov. Mark White declined to grant him a 30-day reprieve.

Barefoot, 39, was convicted in the Aug. 7, 1978, shooting death of Carl Levin, a police officer in the tiny central Texas town of Harker Heights. Prosecutors claimed Barefoot killed Levin, fearing the officer would discover he was a fugitive from New Mexico, where he was wanted on a charge of raping a 3-year-old girl.

Barefoot, the fourth Texas prison inmate to be killed by injection since December 1982, had insisted he was innocent and repeatedly said God would intervene and spare his life.

• Louisiana: Knighton

By The Associated Press

Earnest Knighton Jr. said he was "going home to heaven" today when he was executed in Louisiana's electric chair for murdering a service station owner.

EARNEST KNIGHTON

Knighton, 38, who had studied pictures of the chair to give himself "a little bravery," died at 12:17 a.m. CST, said prison officials in Angola, La.

Before his death, Knighton handed the warden a statement expressing regret at the death of service station owner Ralph Shell, who was killed during a robbery March 17, 1981, as Shell's wife watched.

Knighton, who admitted the killing but claimed it was an accident, spent part of Monday at the Louisiana State Penitentiary in Angola on the telephone trying to locate a 17-year-old son he had not seen since infancy, but apparently he was unsuccessful, prison officials said.

His case attracted national attention when the Congressional Black Caucus complained that his death sentence was racially motivated. Knighton is black, his victim was white and the jury that sentenced him to death was all white.

Death row

A 28-year-old former Big Spring resident, who was on parole for a 1977 aggravated robbery in Big Spring, was sentenced to death by injection for first-degree murder by an Oklahoma City jury.

Scotty Lee Moore, who was living in Big Spring as late as 1982, was found guilty of murder in the Nov. 18, 1983, shooting death of an Oklahoma City motel clerk by an Oklahoma County District Court jury, according to Oklahoma County Assistant District Attorney William Keel.

The 10-women, two-man jury returned the death sentence against Moore at 11:55 p.m. Oct. 19 after deliberating the punishment for an hour and 20 minutes.

Moore will be formally sentenced by the district trial judge at 2 p.m. Nov. 9, Keel said. However, Keel said an appeal for a stay of execution would probably be filed "as a matter of routine" with the Oklahoma Court of Criminal Appeals.

The last criminal execution in Oklahoma took place 18 years ago, See Sentence page 2-A

• Woman, 52, to die Friday

This week also could see the first U.S. execution of a woman in 22 years. Velma Barfield, 52, is scheduled to die Friday by lethal injection for poisoning her fiancé in 1978, and her attorneys have asked the North Carolina Supreme Court to stay the sentence.

The Supreme Court has ruled that federal appeals courts do not have to postpone executions of all death row inmates pushing non-frivolous appeals. Previously, many courts routinely postponed executions pending review of an appeal.

Coahoma chief, judge quit

By LUIS RIOS

COAHOMA — The City Council in a special meeting Monday afternoon voted to accept the resignations of its only police officer and municipal judge.

MRS. GRANT

Coahoma Police Chief O.D. Majors submitted his resignation Oct. 18, and it was effective Oct. 21. Municipal Judge (Mrs.) Willie Grant submitted her resignation Oct. 11, effective Oct. 15. One council member said he believed the official's resignations were related.

The resignation of Majors, who is now employed as a deputy with the Howard County Sheriff's Department, left the city without municipal law enforcement.

The Sheriff's Department is currently patrolling Coahoma while the council considers the hiring of a police chief, said Mayor Pat Harrison.

"The council is going to consider hiring someone (for both the city judge and police chief vacancies)," Mrs. Harrison said.

The council did not say when the city would fill the two positions. However, one member said the hiring of someone to fill the vacancies would not be any time soon.

"We are being patrolled right now," said councilman Jerry "Red" Brockman concerning the sheriff's department coverage of Coahoma.

"We have received some comments on how visible they (deputies) are," said council member Gary Roberts.

The council had discussed eliminating the one-man police department during its regular meeting earlier this month.

Roberts and Brockman cited the lack of funds for wanting to eliminate the department during See Coahoma page 2-A

Doggett predicts victory here

Senate candidate attacks in war of the words with Gramm

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

State Sen. Lloyd Doggett, D-Austin, escalated the political rhetoric in the U.S. Senate race Monday at a stop in Big Spring, branding his opponent a "Philistine," a "skunk" and a "phony."

Doggett, arriving more than an hour late at Alberto's Crystal Cafe for a scheduled luncheon speech, said Rep. Phil Gramm, R-College Station, was responsible for starting the mudslinging in the contest, one of the most bitterly contested in the state.

"When you fight with a skunk, both people come out smelling. And no one can tell who started it," Doggett said.

Doggett claimed Gramm threw the first stone and said Gramm "took my good name and drug it through the mud all summer long." Gramm started the mudslinging, Doggett said, before Doggett was certified as the Democratic nominee.

At that time, Gramm ran radio advertisements "trying to paint me as anti-family....He knows I have a wife and two kids," Doggett said.

Although Gramm ran many television ads in the summer, Doggett said he did not start television advertisements until 10 days ago.

"He said that was mudslinging. I've never heard that slinging mud back at someone was mudslinging," Doggett said. "After 10 days, he said, 'Ouch! We want a truce.'"

Doggett cast himself as David of Israel and Gramm as Goliath of Philistia — referring to him as "Philistine Phil" — and said if polls were taken at the time of the biblical match, pollsters would have predicted Goliath as the winner.

LLOYD DOGGETT...Big Spring swing

Doggett has moved to within five or six points of Gramm, the front-runner, within the last week, he said. Gramm, in town last Thursday, said he was leading by a 12- to 14-point margin in an ABC poll taken three weeks ago.

Doggett also said he knew what an important role Howard County played for him in the Democratic primary runoff, when the county was the last to report results.

"Whether it is the first box to come in or the last one to come in, it's going to be a Democratic victory in Howard County," Doggett said.

Questioned about Gramm's denial last week that he was the largest Congressional recipient of contributions from the nuclear power and waste industry, Doggett said, "I never cease to be amazed at what he denies that is a matter of public record."

According to Doggett, Gramm received $4,000 from the Flour Corp., which is designing a nuclear power plant, and a large contribution from Carolina Power and Light, "who were in favor of the weak provisions" of a federal bill on nuclear waste that Gramm supported.

Doggett has also charged Gramm with receiving more than $100,000 of illegal contributions to retire his primary campaign debt when he had no debt, according to papers he filed today with the Federal Elections Commission.

"He proposed legislation that (former Republican Gov. Bill) Clements said would be harmful," Doggett said of Gramm's record on nuclear waste legislation. "For him to come out to West Texas and deny that just proves how phony Phil is in his ads and on Social Security."

The same Gramm interview from which Doggett quotes Gramm in ads as being anti-Social Security also quoted Gramm's mother, Doggett said.

According to Doggett, Mrs. Gramm told her son: "Phil, when it comes to Social Security, you mind that nice Mr. Pepper (Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fla., a noted spokesman for the elderly) and shut up." Pepper has campaigned in Texas for Doggett, Doggett said.

"Well, Mrs. Gramm, wherever See Doggett page 2-A

OPEC cuts to have little effect

MIDLAND — The director of an independent oil organization says his group had anticipated OPEC's production cutback Monday and expects little change in Permian Basin petroleum activity as a result.

"We had anticipated it. We had mentioned it in our report," said Ed Thompson, executive vice president of the Permian Basin Petroleum Association.

OPEC oil ministers agreed in principle Monday to lower the ceiling by 1.5 million barrels a day to 16 million, starting Thursday. But they faced a bigger hurdle in agreeing how the cutback — aimed at shoring up oil prices by reducing supply — would be shared.

Nigeria's refusal to join in a proposed 9 percent cut in OPEC oil production was blocking agreement today on how cartel members would share the sacrifice, Indonesian Oil Minister Subroto said.

"OPEC can't cut their own throat," Thompson said. "If they don't cut their production level, their price has to go down."

Thompson sees no major changes in the price of oil and further says that through the end of the year, "folks are going to keep on, keeping on," meaning that local and independent producers will continue with programs of exploration and drilling they have set up.

Assuming that OPEC's prices are going to hold, Thompson doesn't see any decrease with the price of oil because of the federal deregulation of natural gas that goes into affect on Jan. 1.

"It's a two or three prong fork," Thompson says about the availability of energy sources to the consumer.

"The OPEC's will keep a preventative decrease of prices on crude oil and the marketplace will determine the price based on deregulation of natural gas," Thompson says.

Prices will stabilize Thompson says. He said he doesn't foresee any increase.

Subroto said the ministers discussed a sharing formula, but that Nigeria's reluctance to go along was creating problems. He would not provide details of the formula.

Spring Board

How's that? New polls

Q. There are supposed to be some new voting places in this election? Who are they for, and where are they at?

A. According to County Clerk Margaret Ray, there are two new voting precincts, created when the city divided itself into single-member districts. One is Precinct 402, which formerly voted with Precinct 401 in City Hall. In the presidential elections on Nov. 6, Precinct 402 will vote in the Big Spring High School Library. Voters will be allowed to parallel park on the north side of the street and should use the "flagpole entrance," Mrs. Ray said.

The other new precinct, 301, is a small area bordered by Lancaster to Main and Fourth to 11th streets, Mrs. Ray said. The voters in this precinct will be asked to vote at La Iglesia Bautista Primera — formerly known as the Robert Welch Chapel — at 610 Scurry, Mrs. Ray said.

Weather

Mild temps predicted

By The Associated Press

Indian summer weather with mild temperatures and gentle breezes will continue throughout Texas for a few days before a cold front moves into the state toward the end of the week, the National Weather Service said today.

Temperatures through Thursday will hover around the 70s and 80s. Normal readings for this time of year are in the low to middle 70s.

A cold front entering the Texas Panhandle early this morning lowered temperatures in Amarillo and Dalhart into the 50s. But by this afternoon, the front is expected to turn north into Oklahoma and the mercury should jump back into the 70s, said Bryan Harmon, meteorologist with the National Weather Service in Fort Worth.

Most of the state will be dry in comparison with the rest of the month, although scattered showers are expected along the coast, mainly over the Gulf of Mexico, Harmon said.

The weather service has proclaimed this one of the wettest Octobers in state history.

Persistent heavy rains have put a good-sized dent in the drought that has plagued Texas farmers for more than a year, but it will be some time before the parched lands are back to normal, weather service officials said Monday.

Highs in the state today will range from the 80s in North Central and southern Texas to the 70s elsewhere.

Continued morning cloudiness and fog should keep temperatures cool until midday Wednesday and Thursday.

A cold front is expected to plunge into the state Thursday or Friday from northern Canada, causing increasing cloudiness and thunderstorms and cooler temperatures, Harmon said.

The front should spread over most of the state.

Fog cut visibility to zero in parts of the Southeast today, and temperatures plunged to below zero in northern Montana, which braced for another blast of Arctic air tonight.

Billings and Havre, Mont., had 15 inches of snow on Monday, and a winter storm watch was posted today across the northern half of the state with warnings of more snow and strong and gusty winds, the National Weather Service said.

Another surge of Arctic air tonight was expected to maintain the cold and windy conditions that brought overnight readings of 15 below to Havre and 9 below to Cutbank, Mont.

WEST TEXAS: Considerable morning cloudiness east of mountains; otherwise, partly cloudy and warm through Wednesday. Highs Wednesday 70s north and mountains to 80s south. Lows tonight near 40 mountains and panhandle to mid 60s southeast.

Accident victims still critical

Two Big Spring men remain in critical condition in Medical Center Hospital in Odessa as the result of injuries from separate motorcycle accidents, according to a hospital spokeswoman.

Ronnie Ray Rayos, 24, of 200 N.E. Seventh and Juan Joe Yanez, 31, of 308 N.E. Ninth both remain in critical condition in the intensive care unit of the Odessa hospital, the spokeswoman said.

Rayos was injured Thursday afternoon when he collided with the rear of a car as he was traveling south over the Gregg Street Bridge near the intersection of First Street.

Yanez was injured about 1:30 a.m. Sunday when he lost control of his 1974 Harley-Davidson in the 900 block of Benton near N.E. Ninth "for an unknown reason," according to the Big Spring police report.

Yanez had been traveling south on Benton when the accident occurred, according to the police report.

The victim of another accident, six-year-old Robert Rodriguez Jr.

of 601 N. Lancaster, remains in satisfactory condition at Malone-Hogan Hospital, according to a hospital spokesman.

Rodriguez was injured Saturday night in an accident which killed his father, according to police reports.

Robert Rodriguez Sr., 28, of 601 N. Lancaster died of multiple injuries from the accident after being treated at Malone-Hogan Hospital, a spokesman said.

Rodriguez Sr. was driving his pickup truck west in the 400 block of N.E. Second when he hit a parked trailer about 144 feet east of the 100 block of N. Nolan, according to police reports.

His son was a passenger in the truck.

According to the report, police are unsure what caused the accident.

A fund to pay for the funeral and burial expenses of Rodriguez Sr. has been set up at the First National Bank at 400 Main Street, according to a spokesman for the bank.

Absentee voting tops 1,295

Howard County District Clerk Margaret Ray would do it again if she had to.

Mrs. Ray opted to open the county clerk's office last Saturday from 2 to 8 p.m. for Howard County absentee voters.

Absentee voting results so far show that 901 people have come to the county clerk's office to cast their votes, 745 absentee ballots have been mailed out with 394 returned as of this morning.

"It looks like we're going to set a record," Mrs. Ray said when comparing 1980 ballot return results with 1980's returns.

According to the Texas Election Code, a county clerk has the option to open the county clerk's office for absentee voting on Saturday and Sunday prior to the end of the absentee voting period.

Mrs. Ray chose Saturday because she felt that Sunday is "church day" and that a majority of people from Howard County could come in on Saturday afternoon.

Local gets credential renewal

Edna G. Borrego of Big Spring has been awarded a renewal of her Child Development Associate Credential in recognition of outstanding work with pre-school children in a group setting.

The credential renewal was awarded by the CDA Credentialing Commission, which is working to improve the quality of care provided for youngsters in child care centers. The Commission represents the early childhood profession through its member national organizations.

Every candidate for the CDA Credential is assessed by a team of four persons including three from the local community. The team members observe the candidate working with children and evaluate the caregiver's competence in six areas. These range from establishing and maintaining a safe and healthy learning environment to advancing the child's physical and intellectual growth.

Council members also asked the maintenance department to acquire price quotes for grading the city's dirt streets from independent contractors.

In other business, the city heard from local farmer John Metcalf, who told the council he would lease the city land for a sanitary landfill.

Metcalf said he could offer the city 6.2 acres of land located one mile south of the city limits for a landfill. He proposed a contract for eight years at a flat fee of $10,000 or $5,000 for the first year and $1,000 for each of the next seven years.

The council did not act on the issue, and it will be included on the Nov. 13 agenda. Currently, the city's landfill is almost full.

Keel said, "so we aren't expecting the trial judge's date for execution to stand."

Moore was the second person to be sentenced to death in a week under the prosecution of Oklahoma County District Attorney Bob Macy, Keel said. Keel assisted in the prosecution of Moore, he said.

The jury spent four hours before determining Moore was guilty of the murder of Alex Fernandes, a Pakistani national who was the night clerk at the Airline Motel in Oklahoma City, Keel said.

Moore was linked to the murder by evidence discovered by the Dawson County Sheriff's Department after deputies used gunfire to stop a fleeing vehicle occupied by Moore and a female companion on Nov. 23, 1983, Keel said.

"The sheriff's office was invaluable. They really did a good job," Keel said.

The sheriff's office in Lamesa was arresting Moore on suspicion of burglary of a drug store in Lamesa when the high-speed car chase took place. After Moore was under arrest, the sheriff's office found he was wanted on a parole violation for the armed robbery conviction in Big Spring and in the Oklahoma City homicide, Keel said.

24 indicted in abuse case

SAN FRANCISCO — An investigation using phony companies to solicit military contracts in San Diego and San Francisco led to 24 indictments and revealed "widespread abuse of the Navy procurement system," authorities said. Eight Navy personnel and six local contractors were indicted in the San Francisco area after investigators set up two companies and paid about $35,000 for $178,000 in contracts, U.S. Attorney Joseph Russoniello said Monday.

Nursery reports canker

VERO BEACH, Fla. — Authorities are searching back yards in two counties after citrus canker was found in an eighth Florida nursery, the first that sells to homeowners, said state Agriculture Commissioner Doyle Conner. The latest discovery was made Oct. 18 at Peterson's Nursery in Vero Beach, and was confirmed Monday, said John Miller of the state Division of Plant Industry in Gainesville.

Coors targets Hispanics

EAST LOS ANGELES, Calif. — An Adolph Coors Co. plan to spend $300 million to aid the Hispanic community is an effort by brewery officials to "buy their way" into a minority market, an AFL-CIO spokesman says. Coors, whose beer has been a boycott target of unions and minority groups, announced the five-year program Monday. "This makes it clear we actually have been supporting efforts in the Hispanic community all along," said brewery spokesman Eric Wriggle.

Judge considering plea

NEWARK, N.J. — A judge is awaiting a pre-sentencing report before deciding whether to accept the guilty plea of a union official who was to be tried with former Atlantic City Mayor Michael J. Matthews on influence-peddling charges. Frank Lentino, 73, a business agent with Local 54 of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees and Bartenders International Union, pleaded guilty Monday to conspiracy and obstruction of justice under a plea-bargain that would reduce his prison sentence from 80 years to no more than 10 years.

Mayor awaits sentencing

BOSTON — A former high-ranking U.S. General Services Administration official who also served as mayor of Somerville faces 20 years in prison when he is sentenced Nov. 20 after pleading guilty to attempted extortion. Lawrence F. Bretta, 56, of Medford, changed his plea Monday on charges he received two $6,000 payments from an undercover FBI agent to influence the placement of a Social Security office, said U.S. Attorney William Weld.

HAPPY WITH HEADLINE — Democratic presidential nominee Walter Mondale holds up a Monday edition of The Seattle Times following his arrival in Seattle. The Monday campaign stop featured a downtown rally where thousands of people showed up to greet Mondale along with Colorado Sen. Gary Hart, right, who joined Mondale at the airport.

A week away

Mondale faces crowds in last campaign swing

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Before some of the biggest, friendliest and most fervent crowds of the 1984 presidential campaign, Walter F. Mondale is spending precious time before the election in search of a message to jar loose President Reagan's grip on the national public opinion polls. With so little time remaining, Mondale will spend almost all of the next seven days before next Tuesday's election in states where he is believed to have a chance of winning, almost all of them in the Northeast, Midwest and Far West.

In Oregon and Washington, for example, Mondale took heart not only from the size of the crowds but from their intensity. "I think Reagan is in for a big surprise," he told a crowd of about 10,000 people who jammed wall-to-wall for two city blocks in Seattle on Monday.

In Spokane later, Mondale told an equally enthusiastic rally that he senses increasing disillusionment with the president and a dramatic shift toward him. "The whole Hollywood celluloid structure is starting to fall away," he said. "I can feel it coming." Thirty feet above the Seattle crowd, suspended by several dozen helium-filled balloons, was a sign hand-painted by supporters saying, "We have not been polled."

A poll taken by a Seattle newspaper shows Mondale pulling within 6 percentage points of the president in Washington state, and he waved copies of the paper for all to see a headline describing a late Mondale surge.

From Seattle, Mondale traveled to Spokane for another rally before heading eastward to friendly territory today in Duluth, Minn., his home state.

Late today, Mondale planned to march in a torchlight parade through Chicago, one of a series of stops designed to build excitement in voters as Election Day approaches.

Before the Seattle audience, Mondale tried one of the most personal criticisms he has ever leveled against Reagan and his vice presidential running mate, George Bush.

In a reference to time spent at the presidential retreat in Maryland, Mondale said, "Most of the time, Reagan is sleeping at Camp David."

Reagan responded later in the day, saying "If I hadn't been overnighing at Camp David, I would have been overnighing at the White House. Either place, it's good sleeping."

Mondale also ridiculed a decision by the Reagan campaign to limit Bush's campaign schedule following several controversial comments made by the vice president about Geraldine A. Ferraro and other subjects. "They've got old George Bush locked up in the cellar because he makes a mistake every time he goes out," Mondale said.

Later, he also quoted from a Washington Post editorial, describing Bush as "a rotten campaigner... blustering, opportunistic, craven and hopelessly ineffective all at once."

After months of suffering criticism that he is dull and uninspired, Mondale has reached deep within to produce a free-wheeling campaign style that arouses audiences like never before.

After a rally at Portland State University on Monday, Mondale shook hands along a line of supporters, many of whom were weeping as he shook their hands.

4 killed in train crash

PEKING — A Moscow-Peking passenger train rammed into a farm tractor at a railway crossing in northern China, killing four peasants and derailling eight of the train's coaches, the official Xinhua news agency reported today.

No one aboard the train was reported hurt. The accident occurred Monday in Hebei province, about 100 miles west of Peking, the agency said.

Suspects plead innocent

LONDON — Three Londoners have pleaded innocent to charges that they committed Britain's biggest robbery — the theft of $37 million worth of gold bars, platinum, diamonds and travelers checks from a warehouse near Heathrow airport.

The 6,800 gold bars, along with the other valuables taken last Nov. 11, have never been recovered.

Hooded gunmen, believed to number six, broke into the Brinks-Mat security warehouse, overpowered the guards and doused two of them with gasoline to force them to hand over keys.

Woman plans plant raid

LONDON — A 67-year-old woman says she organized a daylight raid on a British nuclear plant to show how easily nuclear materials for a bomb could be stolen.

Katerina Barnes said Monday she helped dig a tunnel under the main gate of the Sellafeld nuclear reprocessing plant in northwest England and entered the grounds Sunday along with 20 other anti-nuclear protesters.

The women were inside the perimeter for several minutes before armed security officers confronted them, she said.

7 want union reactivated

ROME — Parliamentary representatives from seven NATO nations have endorsed reactivation of the Western European Union to promote closer European cooperation on disarmament and security matters.

The decision to reactivate the organization was announced after a weekend meeting of foreign and defense ministers of the union's seven member countries — Britain, France, West Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg.

13 killed in 4-car collision

VALLADOLID, Spain — A military truck, a passenger bus, a light truck and two cars collided in heavy fog, killing 13 people and injuring 33, the civil guard reports.

Killed in the crash Monday were five soldiers and eight civilians, the civil guard said. Five of the victims were relatives of the new Roman Catholic bishop of the Osma-Soria diocese, Jose Dieguez Reboledo. They had been returning home after Sunday's ceremonies installing the new bishop.

The pileup occurred near Simancas in north central Spain.

Chile leader banishes 140, threatens martial law

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — President Augusto Pinochet mobilized thousands of police and soldiers, banished 140 people to a remote fishing town and threatened to impose a state of siege to counter a leftist-led protest against his military regime.

On Monday, two teen-aged boys were seriously wounded and 116 people arrested, including five prominent leftists, on the first day of a two-day protest by a Communist-Socialist coalition. The Catholic human rights agency Solidarity reported 25 injured.

The protest was preceded by 18 scattered bomb blasts that caused no casualties.

Early today, police held positions along major thoroughfares to keep them open for morning commuter traffic. Army units patrolled subway stations, bus depots and rail bridges.

The opposition was divided, with the mainstream unions, independent truckers, shopowners and the main opposition Democratic Alliance, a coalition led by six non-Marxist parties, refusing to support the leftists' call for a national strike.

The rallies, centered in Santiago but also undertaken in the Pacific coast city of Valparaiso, were contained by the weekend arrest of dissident leaders and the largest mobilization of government security forces in Santiago since August 1983. Pinochet also broadened censorship of the national press.

Police dispersed leftists in Santiago's main square, on several university campuses and at flaming street barricades set up after dark in scores of working class districts.

A 17-year-old student suffered abdominal wounds from an exploding device hurled by police at Catholic University in Valparaiso, witnesses said, and unknown gunmen shot an 18-year-old boy in the chest in Santiago.

Dissident labor leaders in the leftist-dominated National Workers Command had called a national strike to press for a return to democratic rule but failed to get rank-and-file support for the illegal action that could have cost workers their jobs.

Independent truckers and shopowners refused to go along because the strike lacked the backing of the Democratic Alliance.

All those groups had supported two major anti-government protests earlier this year, in which 14 people died. They backed away this time in opposition to the Marxists' espousal of violent resistance to Pinochet.

"We understand and respect their criticism of our view, but we ask them to look at reality," said Jose Sanfuentes, secretary general of the Communist-led Democratic Popular Movement, which organized the protest. "These demonstrations are violent because the government makes them violent."

With his opposition divided, Pinochet, an army commander who overthrew elected Marxist President Salvador Allende in 1973, hardened his position on continued authoritarian rule.

In a speech Monday at the Pacific resort of Vina del Mar, the 68-year-old army commander said for the first time that he will not accept any change in a constitutional article that permits the four-man military junta to name the president when his term ends in 1989 — a procedure that could extend his mandate to 1997.

Gambling taxes are not worth it

Two-thirds of Texans favor legalized gambling of the sort that has gotten so much attention in other states: a state lottery. According to the Texas Poll, 66 percent of all Texans — give or take 3 percent — favor a lottery, but if more tax revenues are needed in this state, there must be a better way to raise them.

Nearly 3 out of 4 — or 72 percent — of people with family incomes above $10,000 a year say "yes" to a lottery. Among people with family incomes of less than $10,000, however, the answer to gambling is "no." Fifty-three percent oppose a legalized lottery.

It's not surprising that among poor people the prevailing opinion is that gambling should remain illegal. The poor are the victims of gambling. When they participate, they aren't playing with income set aside for leisure activity, they are using food and shelter money. Yet because of the lure of landing "the big one," and because the game can be played with a relatively small amount of cash, the poor may be prone to indulge in lotteries.

There are more losers, by a thousandfold, than winners in a state lottery. Lotteries have been glamorized because of the instant millionaires they've created in other states, even to the point of a television comedy-drama that portrays winners.

No one talks much about the losers, about the families who stake their food money on an illusive pot of gold, about the compulsive gamblers for whom legalized betting is a nightmare, but their stories are real. If the Legislature must increase taxes, then the people of Texas will have to come to grips with that. But let's not shuffle a tax hike through on the perverse appeal of gambling. It's just not worth it.

They're No. 1

Excellence is what University Interscholastic League judges saw in the performance of the Big Spring High School Street Band.

There's no better feeling than being judged the best. And so, with good reason, band members and director Ricky Mitchell — in his first year in this role — are light of foot this week following competition Saturday in Odessa. Twirler Robin Butler is up in the clouds, too. She also received a 1-rated performance Saturday.

There's no mystery to being the best. Diligence, natural ability, finely tuned training add up. Hard work — hours and hours of drills and "do it agains" — is the stuff that gets in competition into a performance impressive enough to be regarded by an impartial judge as the very best there is.

The Big Spring community has right to be truly impressed with the band's performance this weekend. We wish the musicians well in future competition in April that could lead to a state Sweepstakes award.

CIA on terror

There has been some slight consternation in Washington about a CIA manual written for rebel forces fighting the Sandinistas in Nicaragua. I called up my mole at the Central Intelligence Agency to find out how they were taking it.

"We're all cool," he said. "The problem is you just can't find good proofreaders any more."

I asked, "What was the purpose of the manual?"

"To help our freedom fighters overthrow the Marxist government of Nicaragua by kidnapping, assassination and blackmailing civilians," he said.

"What is the difference between a freedom fighter and a terrorist?"

"A freedom fighter is financed by the CIA. A terrorist is supported by the KGB, Qaddafi and Khomeini."

"But according to your manual the methods used in achieving the goals are the same."

"They might seem that way to the uninformed reader. While freedom fighting requires using tactics similar to terrorism, we part company with terrorists when it comes to which ends justify which means."

"I thought the United States was against all terrorism."

"The United States is, but the CIA isn't. That's why President Reagan has ordered an investigation to find out who put out the manual. He was shocked to hear we were making our freedom fighters into terrorists."

"Why was he shocked?"

"Because he obviously didn't know about it."

"Why didn't the CIA tell him what it was doing?"

"If the president knew what we were doing he couldn't be shocked, could he? The United States does not condone political assassinations nor the overthrow of a legitimate government by force."

"But the CIA does?"

"Somebody has to stand up for America."

"How can the United States protest acts of terrorism in Beirut and condone them in Nicaragua?"

"You have to differentiate between apples and oranges. In Beirut we see examples of wanton terrorism against innocent people, while in Nicaragua our freedom fighters use their skills against despots and dictators."

"Every terrorist thinks of himself as a freedom fighter."

"That doesn't make him one in our eyes. He has to pass a test."

"What's the test?"

"Does the terrorist act he commits have the sanction, if not the financial support, of the CIA? If it does, the terrorist is officially certified as a freedom fighter."

"And then he is permitted to read the manual?"

"That's correct. It says right on the cover of the manual, 'For Freedom Fighters Only.'"

"Suppose it is read by a terrorist?"

"Then we'll pull his teeth out."

CIA covers investment scandal

WASHINGTON — The CIA is engaged in a desperate effort to cover the tracks that lead from the spy agency directly to a Honolulu-based investment company now under federal and state investigation.

The company has been accused of bilking investors of $22 million since 1979.

My associates Indy Badwar and Dale Van Atta have been investigating the scandal. Sealed testimony charges that the CIA — with the knowledge of the Justice Department, which is now prosecuting the investment company's executives — "has been hiding persons and changing the identity of other persons" who could give embarrassing testimony in the upcoming trial.

The damage-control operation is aimed at limiting the CIA's liabilities — financial and political — that could come from its clandestine involvement with the investment firm of Bishop, Baldwin, Rewald, Dillingham & Wong. The company's assets were frozen last year, and it has been placed under trusteeship in response to a bankruptcy petition and investor complaints.

The firm's chief executive, Ronald Ray Rewald, was jailed on charges of fraud; he was unable to raise the $10 million bail — the highest ever set in Hawaii. Rewald claimed he was running BBRD&W for the CIA. The agency denied it. So Rewald responded with a 54-page affidavit and 95 supporting exhibits showing that the investment firm was a CIA front.

Rewald lays the blame for the company's difficulties solely on the CIA, which has now admitted to a "low-level" involvement with BBRD&W.

But confidential documents and interviews with sources make it clear that the CIA's involvement goes much deeper. Here is what I've learned so far:

- After I broke the scandal last week, CIA officials were forced to confirm that the agency ran a covert surveillance operation aimed at foreign students at the Hawaiian branch of Brigham Young University. A CIA agent recruited Rewald's son, Jimmy, to become a student at the university, to tail Chinese students on campus and to pilfer their records. A subsidiary of BBRD&W paid for and ran young Rewald's operation.

- Intelligence sources have confirmed that at least six CIA agents worked for BBRD&W in some capacity. Several invested money in the firm. After it collapsed, the CIA ran an internal investigation that resulted in the dismissal of one agent and disciplinary action against others.

- Former CIA director Stansfield Turner knew about BBRD&W, and used the company's chauffeured limousine on at least one visit to Honolulu.

- The CIA admitted to a grand jury that it paid $3,000 for BBRD&W's telephone, telex and printing bills. It had to. The FBI had obtained copies of checks made out to Rewald by the CIA's onetime Honolulu station chief, Jack Kindschi, who became a BBRD&W director when he retired from the agency.

- A source close to Lt. Col. James "B" Gritz revealed that funds for his ill-starred covert operation to locate American prisoners-of-war in Laos were paid through BBRD&W. The firm's files also contain a letter from a former deputy director of the Defense Intelligence Agency that indicated Pentagon support for the Gritz mission.

- Jack Rardin, the CIA station chief who succeeded Kindschi, sent regular reports of his meetings with Rewald to headquarters in Langley, Va. Rewald secretly tape-recorded several of the meetings.

- According to testimony given to the FBI, a Justice Department prosecutor assigned to the case said "that the agency (CIA) would take whatever affirmative steps (necessary) to protect the identity of certain agents ... that the agency would kill to protect one particular agent."

- According to Rewald's court-sealed affidavit, BBRD&W was a crucial part of the CIA's Pacific and Far East operations. The investment company was used as a conduit for funds that went into covert action and arms transactions, and as a way-station for cash that foreign VIPs wanted to ship to the United States.

Footnote: Rewald, who is under court orders not to talk about the case, could not comment. Through our own sources, however, we have obtained more than 100 pages of his prison interviews with his attorney.

STRICTLY PERSONAL: Readers have expressed growing concern over the reliability of all the fancy weapons their tax dollars are buying. Now I have to report that even the Navy's "old reliable" missile, the Sidewinder, is having problems.

A significant number have been found to have faulty fins — which means they can't be controlled properly on their way to the target.

Over the past eight years, about half the Sidewinder fins have been produced by Genii Research Inc. of New York. Samples tested last December failed to meet Navy specifications and now the Pentagon's Criminal Investigation Service and a grand jury are studying the matter.

- Israeli Prime Minister Shimon Peres made a favorable impression on members of Congress and their aides on his recent visit. At a kaffeeklatsch on the Hill, Peres was poised and charming, and avoided the kinds of confrontations that regularly occurred with his predecessors, Yitzhak Shamir and Menachem Begin.

- Shamir, whose turn as prime minister comes up in 22 months, accompanied Peres. In fact, when a member asked Peres about Israeli settlements on the West Bank, Peres smiled and said: "Are you asking Shamir or are you asking me?" Peres is already on record as opposing the aggressive Begin-Shamir settlement policy.

Jack Anderson's investigative report from Washington is distributed by United Feature Syndicate.

Today

By The Associated Press
Today is Tuesday, Oct. 30, the 304th day of 1984. There are 62 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On Oct. 30, 1938, Orson Welles' radio play, "War of the Worlds," caused panic around the country among people who thought we were really being invaded by Mars.

On this date:
In 1735, the second U.S. president, John Adams, was born in Braintree, Mass.

In 1885, poet Ezra Pound was born in Hailey, Idaho.

In 1912, Vice President James Sherman died in office. He was the only renominated vice president to die before the election.

In 1941, the U.S. Navy destroyer Reuben James was torpedoed off the coast of Iceland by a German vessel, even though the United States had not yet entered World War II.

In 1945, the government announced the end of shoe rationing.

In 1953, Gen. George C. Marshall was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize. Dr. Albert Schweitzer also received the Peace Prize for 1952.

In 1956, Britain and France issued an ultimatum to Egypt and Israel calling for a cease-fire.

In 1961, the Soviets tested a hydrogen bomb with a force estimated to be 58 megatons. (Seven days earlier, the Soviets had exploded a nuclear bomb with a force of 25 megatons.)

Also in 1961, as part of Nikita Khrushchev's "de-Stalinization" program, the Soviet Party Congress unanimously approved a resolution ordering the removal of Josef Stalin's body from Lenin's tomb in Red Square.

In 1972, 44 people were killed when an Illinois Central Gulf commuter train collided with another train in South Side Chicago during morning rush-hour. It was the worst U.S. rail accident in 14 years.

Ten years ago: Muhammad Ali regained the world heavyweight championship by knocking out George Foreman in the eighth round of their boxing match in Zaire.

Five years ago: A presidential commission that studied the nuclear accident at Pennsylvania's Three Mile Island called for fundamental changes in the way reactors are constructed, operated and regulated.

One year ago: Lillian Carter, the 85-year-old mother of former President Jimmy Carter, died in Americus, Ga.

Today's birthdays: Actress Ruth Gordon is 88. French movie director Louis Malle is 52. French movie director Claude Lelouch is 47. Rock singer Grace Slick is 45. Actor Henry Winkler is 39.

Thought for today: "To be a great champion, you must believe you are the best. If you're not, pretend you are." — Muhammad Ali.

Paper Lion

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP) — Nobody can accuse Penn State football Coach Joe Paterno of being a paper tiger — but cardboard's another story.

A 5-foot-10 photographic replica of Paterno wearing white pants, a dark blue shirt and carrying a football under one arm is fast becoming a fixture at tail-gate parties outside Beaver Stadium and in offices and dormitories.

"I took him to a wedding last week and dressed him up in a tuxedo," Greg Woodman, 26, the creator of the $19.95 cardboard coach, said Monday. "People were dancing with him and holding him up. He's great for parties."

The soccer team placed one on the sidelines as an extra "coach," and "one guy had him strapped into a seat in his car," Woodman said. "People can use him for all kinds of stuff."

Paterno, who led Penn State to the national championship two seasons ago, said the likeness "is amusing to me. I think I look like Clark Gable and Cary Grant, but it doesn't come out."

I, the jury

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Everybody agreed that state Registrar of Contractors David Talamante shouldn't be a juror in a lawsuit between a construction contractor and a subcontractor — but nobody did anything about it.

Talamante sat patiently as a member of the jury pool, waiting for the inevitable dismissal. But what he thought was a sure thing never happened.

"After the week-long trial ended, I asked the opposing attorneys why they had not excluded me from jury duty," Talamante said recently. "They said they didn't want to use up a challenge on me as each had thought the other would automatically exclude me."

Dr. Donohue

Speech difficulty

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I had a very frightening experience a while back, one I don't want to happen again. For about 15 minutes I found it difficult to speak. Everything cleared.

I was lucky because I was going to dismiss it as just one of those things. My wife, who is a nurse, was shocked when I told her. She insisted on my going to the doctor. He said I had had a "T.I.A." and gave me some blood-thinner medicine. He seemed very happy that I reported this, and said lots of people wait until it's too late, that this is why there are so many strokes. I just want to pass this on. Maybe it will help somebody else in the same boat. — R.P.

I'm sure it will, for no matter how often this point is made, no one does it better than somebody like yourself. A TIA (transient ischemic attack) is a period of time, less than 24 hours and usually less than an hour, when a part of the brain is deprived of blood. Ischemia means blood deprivation. A stroke is permanent ischemia, total blood deprivation to a brain area, and the symptoms match the brain area involved.

TIA's don't have to be as dramatic as your speech loss. It can be nothing more than a numbness or transient vision blurring. In any event, treatment depends on what's causing the blockage of blood flow. If it's a large mass of debris in a neck artery, that can be removed surgically. If it is due to a shower of small clots from a distant site, like the heart, then blood-thinning medicines are used.

If the artery involved is only partially clogged, then thinners or drugs that act against platelets may be chosen. Platelets are blood cells that cling together to form clots. An example of one of the latter drugs, an anti-coagulant, is aspirin. TIAs and other stroke-related events are discussed in the booklet "Stroke Recovery — Hope and Help," which other readers may obtain by writing me care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and $1.00 for printing and handling.

Local music club hosts conference

The Big Spring Music Study Club sponsored the 24th Annual Conference of the 12th District of the Federation of Music Clubs (TFMC) at the Tumbleweed Room of Howard College, Oct. 20.

Officers and members of The Musicians Club of Midland, Odessa Music Study Club and Tuesday Morning Music and Arts Club of Odessa and Stanton Music Club of Stanton participated. Also present were two officers of TFMC: Mrs. Roy Koonce of Stanton, third vice president; and Mrs. R.W. Sewell of Odessa, chairman of International Relations.

The conference was dedicated to Mrs. R.P. Morrison, a life member of the Odessa Music Study Club, a staunch promoter of good music and chairman of the Committee on Legislation. She is convalescing at a nursing home in Odessa.

In Mrs. Morrison's committee report, she expressed concern for the problem that music in schools is confronting. She says that music was put on the optional list and that every music club member should be alerted to the local situation to see that music is not eliminated at any level. Mrs. Boots Benson urged clubs to form trios or quartets to sing in nursing homes and hospitals.

During the musical portion of the meeting, members from participating clubs provided entertainment. They were: Mrs. Gary Clevenger and Mrs. Koonce of Stanton Music Club; Mrs. Maneta Keckathorne of Musician's Club of Midland; Mary Joy Warner, Julie Osborn of Odessa Music Study Club; and Mrs. Bob Fishback, Carol Boyd and Linda Lindell of Big Spring Music Study Club.

Dear Abby

Gay lovers are legal strangers

DEAR ABBY: You recently published a letter from "Heartbroken," a gay man whose lover of 14 years had recently died. The problem he presented was that his lover's family had stripped his home and later sold the items at a garage sale. You pointed out that although he had given the family permission to take "a few mementos," since they had clearly taken advantage of his grief-stricken state, he could probably sue.

I write to amplify your advice. Unless "Heartbroken's" lover left a will, his parents were probably legally entitled to everything the deceased lover owned, regardless of how long the two of them lived together. "Heartbroken" had no legal claim whatsoever on any of his lover's possessions.

The parallel legality is not between a gay "married" couple, and a heterosexual married couple, but rather between the gay couple and an unmarried straight couple. Gay people, no matter what the depth of their commitment to each other, cannot legally be married in any state of the union. However, a gay couple can, with the help of a sensitive attorney, legally duplicate marital arrangements in every state.

I cannot emphasize strongly enough the importance of a gay couple (or an unmarried straight couple, for that matter) securing competent legal advice to avoid the situation encountered by "Heartbroken." I have seen a situation in which two men bought a house together after having had a relationship of 15 years. Upon the death of one of the men, his family came in and forced the surviving partner to sell his home to settle the estate. The surviving partner lost not only his lifemate, but also his home and one-half of all the things that he and his lover had accumulated over the years. Such instances are not uncommon.

I hope that this information is of some value to you and your readers. You should also be aware that the Gay and Lesbian Advocates & Defenders Inc. (Two Park Square, Suite 300, Boston, Mass. 02116) publishes a National Lesbian and Gay Attorneys' Referral Directory ($10), and most local affiliates of the American Civil Liberties Union can give referrals to sympathetic attorneys.

Texas voter registration up by 1 million

AUSTIN (AP) — More than one million additional Texans have registered to vote since the 1980 presidential election, the secretary of state's office says.

The figures do not include tabulations from four of the state's most populous counties.

The incomplete figures received last week from Secretary of State Myra McDaniel show Texas has 7,841,309 registered voters compared to 6.6 million in 1980. Ms. McDaniel predicts the final tally will be close to 9 million.

Ms. McDaniel said the figures from the metropolitan counties of Dallas; Bexar, which includes San Antonio; Harris, which includes Houston; and Travis, which includes Austin, are not expected until later this week.

The number of registered voters, however, has increased by 713,651 since the May primary without those four counties, she said.

"We've had one of the best organized voter registration drives in the state," Ms. McDaniel said. "The volunteer effort that was made was the best I've seen."

Ms. McDaniel, the state's chief election officer, said since the registration process is non-partisan, it is impossible to tell which political party gained the most from the registration drives.

"I believe this tells us that there's a group of folks out there who have not voted before and may not be as firmly committed to a particular party as those who were already registered and vote regularly," she said.

With the increase in voter registration, Ms. McDaniel forecasts a heavy voter turnout but she said it was too early to predict what percentage of the voters will go to the polls on Nov. 6.

The Democratic primary for U.S. Senate last May showed that one or two voters really do make a difference, she said.

Ms. McDaniel referred to the May 5 primary which drew to a close with U.S. Rep. Kent Hance chalking up 31.23 percent or 455,768 votes, State Sen. Lloyd Doggett gaining 31.36 percent or 454,807 votes and former U.S. Rep. Bob Krueger tallying 31.14 percent for a total of 454,497 votes.

The June 2 runoff between Hance and Doggett was an even closer battle with Doggett edging out Hance by 509 votes.

Dan McClung, a political consultant to the Texas Democratic Party, said Republicans outregistered Democrats in six counties, including Dallas County. He said the parties were even in Harris County.

"The Democratic Party registered more voters in every other county in the state," he said. "There's just more Democrats down here to register."

He said about 10,000 volunteers were involved in registered voters at shopping centers or contacting them by phone or mail.

"At a minimum, I'd say 70 percent of the voters will turn out," McClung predicted. "We'll win by as much as we need, the rules say all we need is one vote. It's going to be a close one."

Sixty-seven percent of the registered voters in Texas went to the polls in 1980 when President Reagan carried the state. In 1982, 49.3 percent voted in the governor's race.

William C. Velasquez, executive director of the Southwest Voter Registration Education Project, said over 1 million Hispanics are registered. He said his group has registered 185,000 of them.

"The major reason for the increase is the number of registration drives," he said.

Velasquez predicts 60 to 65 percent of the Hispanics will vote on Nov. 6 and that 80 percent of those going to the polls will vote for the Mondale-Ferraro ticket.

"From history, you can predict what will happen," he said. "Reagan got the most Hispanic votes of any other president but I believe there will be an erosion. It will go back to the traditional Democratic candidates."

But GOP officials expect Republican candidates to make sharp gains from the increased number of registered voters.

"If our preliminary findings hold true, then I think you'll find that the bulk of those new voters are in Republican precincts," said John Maxwell, state Republican Party director.

Linden Kettlewell, executive director of the Texas Reagan-Bush campaign, said her tabulations show 560,000 new Republican voters have registered.

G & M's roomy building houses a shop with a 14-foot clearance to accommodate motor homes, large vans and trucks, plus office and waiting area. G & M recommends a pre-season inspection for all your vehicles.

Winterize your car Now at G & M Garage

"I always tell my customers — the best maintenance program begins with having your vehicle checked twice a year, once in the spring and again before winter," says George Leatham of G & M Garage.

And it's now time for the winter check-up, which includes an inspection of radiator, hoses and belts, chokes, and anti-freeze levels. This is the time to have a tune-up if needed.

Engine problems in cold weather can be virtually eliminated with a winter check-up, says George. You can be confident that your car will perform well no matter what Mother Nature has in store for West Texas.

No appointment is necessary for G & M seasonal visual inspection of your vehicle on the lot and an estimate of cost on what services are needed. Then the garage will set up an appointment to have needed work done.

For the remainder of winter, George says, just keep your eye out for signs of problems — small of gasoline spots on ground where vehicle is parked, black smoke or anything out of the ordinary.

G & M provides total car and medium duty truck maintenance, including brake, transmission, carburetor, electronic ignition repair, and complete engine overhauling. They service all the generations of computerized cars.

Delbert Smith has recently joined the staff, which includes Randall Overby, Curtis Bruns, Helen Fannin, Mary and George Leatham (they're the G & M) and young Sidney Leatham who's often on hand to greet visitors.

Queens' season starts in Waco tournament

By BILLY NABOURS Sports Editor

WACO — The Howard College Hawk Queens will tip off their 1984-85 basketball season here Wednesday by opening the McLennan College Highlassie Classic against East Texas powerhouse Panola Junior College.

Game time is 4 p.m. in the Queens-Panola clash and HC coach Don Stevens figures the MCC tournament is as good a place as any to begin the year.

But, Stevens said, "We're not where I'd like us to be at this stage." That could be in part due to the lack of experience on hand.

The Queens will have only two starters ready to play in Waco. Alex Provencio and Debbie Hall figured heavily in HC's 24-9 season last year. Hall scored 14.1 points per contest while Provencio added 10.5 plus 6.6 rebounds a game. The third starter of 1983-84, Molly Early, is recovering from surgery last week to remove an abdominal tumor and is sidelined for at least a month. She will rejoin the team in Waco, however after spending hospital time in Houston. Early averaged 13 points a game for the Queens and more than that, "provided us with a real leader, a stabilizing force on the floor," said Stevens. In Early's absence Stevens said Hall will be looked upon as someone to take up the slack. "Debbie usually does a good job of vocally taking charge," he said.

After the little bit of experience comes a load of experience.

Seven freshmen round out the roster and while Stevens, "feels the potential in this team is great," it, "lacks consistency."

He added, "We've had too many mental breakdowns."

Part of the problem through several scrimmages and one exhibition against the University of Chihuahua has been that of simply learning.

"Defensively we relax and are not showing enough aggressiveness," said Stevens. "We tend to get out of position. We've got to learn to help the backside in the zone and cover up when we run man-to-man," he added.

And Provencio, after playing inside last season, is trying to adjust to life out front. The 6-0 El Paso product, "still is unsure as to when to penetrate and when not to," said Stevens. In her two recent outings (an 81-68 win over Chihuahua and 91-56 advantage over Lubbock Christian in a Saturday scrimmage) Provencio has scored in double figures.

Handling things underneath are freshmen Joyce Boudreaux, a six-footer from Houston, and Vicki Wade, a six-foot Carthage High product. Both are "good players who need a lot of playing time," their coach said.

The duo should give HC more strength under the board than last year. Against Chihuahua Boudreaux scored 13 points and pulled down 12 rebounds. She followed that up with another double figure performance and 14 carooms against LCC. Wade had 12 rebounds against LCC. "Joyce is a natural athlete," said Stevens.

If there is one bright spot thus far among the relative inexperience it is the, "ball sense," of this year's group of freshmen.

"I really expect our running game to be improved because of that and this group is probably the quickest overall I've had in about five years," Stevens said.

Sue Van Hooser, 5-11, from Eldorado, Illinois, "hasn't come around," just yet according to Stevens. Van Hooser is getting a lot of action at post, but has been used more as an outside threat before coming to HC. "Sue has a good outside shot, but is so versatile," Stevens added.

Sonora freshman Lorri French, "adds depth," and should get a lot of action in Waco if she is fully recovered from an injury sustained to her left foot in practice several days ago.

If she is able to go, French, along with Provencio, Hall, Boudreaux and Wade will comprise the starting five for the Queens in the tourney opener.

REST OF THE FIELD Completing the tourney field in Waco will be San Jacinto and host MCC at 6 p.m. and Temple Junior College facing South Plains at 8 p.m.

Stevens expects the defending tournament champion Highlassies (third in the nation), Panola and TJC to be in line for honors at the tournament. "San Jacinto is traditionally not a strong team, but they unseated Temple two years ago for their conference championship after Temple had won the thing for about 14 years," said Stevens.

Each team is guaranteed three games. The Queens will face TJC at 6 p.m. Thursday and finish the tourney against San Jacinto at 4 p.m. Friday.

Frogs leap into top 20; Texas now second best

By The Associated Press How 'bout them Frogs? The Texas Christian University Horned Frogs are part of The Associated Press college football rankings for the first time since 1962.

"It's a great honor for the school and the players," TCU second-year Coach Jim Wacker said Monday night after the rankings had been announced, "but frankly, I'd rather wait until the season is over and see us ranked in the Top 20. Then it would stay there forever." TCU, now 6-1, last made the Top 20 during a 6-4 campaign in 1962.

You have to go back to 1959 to find the Horned Frogs in the final poll. They were seventh that year.

TCU beat Baylor 38-28 Saturday to clinch its first winning season since 1971. Its only loss was to Southern Methodist.

"We had a team meeting yesterday and talked about bowls and polls," Wacker said. "I think the players realize that you can lose it (the ranking) faster than a blink of an eye. We want all their concentration in Houston (Saturday's opponent). If we take care of our business, the polls will take care of themselves."

TCU, which is No. 20, replaced Penn State in the rankings. The Nittany Lions, 19th a week ago, lost 17-14 to West Virginia and fell out of the Top 20.

Washington, 8-0, remained No. 1 by turning back Arizona 28-12. The Huskies received 50 of 60 first-place votes and 1,184 of a possible 1,200 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscasters.

But Oklahoma, No. 2 a week ago, lost to Kansas 28-11 and fell to 10th place. Meanwhile, Texas moved up from third to second with three first-place votes and 1,121 points following a 13-7 victory over SMU, which fell from 14th to 19th, just ahead of TCU.

Nebraska walloped Kansas State 62-14 and rose from fourth to third with three first-place ballots and 1,076 points while Brigham Young jumped from fifth to fourth. The Cougars received the other four first-place ballots and 970 points after routing New Mexico 48-0.

Ohio State and LSU, the 6-7 teams a week ago, both lost and fell to 16th and 15th, respectively. South Carolina, which cracked the Top Ten last week for the first time, vaulted from ninth to fifth by trouncing East Carolina 42-20. The Gamecocks' 7-0 start is their best ever.

"These young men are handling all this very well," said South Carolina Coach Joe Morrison. "And I think they'll continue to handle it well going into the game with North Carolina State."

Miami was idle last week but jumped from eighth to sixth. Oklahoma State defeated Colorado 20-14 and went from 10th to seventh.

Georgia, a 37-7 winner over Kentucky, shot from 13th to eighth, followed by Boston College, which defeated Rutgers 35-23 and climbed from 11th to ninth. The Second Ten consists of Auburn, West Virginia, Florida, Florida State, LSU, Ohio State, Iowa, Southern California, SMU and TCU.

Last week, it was Boston College, Auburn, Georgia, SMU, Florida State, Florida, Iowa, West Virginia, Penn State and Southern Cal.

The only unbeaten-untied major-college teams are Washington, BYU (8-0), South Carolina and Cal State-Fullerton, the nation's only 9-0 team. The Titans, who never have been in the Top Twenty, finished 21st in this week's voting with 56 points, 57 behind TCU.

LONG NIGHT — San Diego Chargers quarterback Dan Fouts is hit from behind by Seattle Seahawks Jacob Green during the Seahawks 24-0 victory over the Chargers Monday night in San Diego.

Seahawks defuse Chargers

SAN DIEGO (AP) — In some other season, Seattle's 7-2 record might place the Seahawks atop the AFC West standings. It certainly would put them in commanding position to gain a National Football League playoff berth.

This year, 7-2 is good for only a second-place tie in the rugged division, and Seattle's 24-0 manhandling of San Diego on Monday night was needed simply to keep space of its peers.

"We've still got some things to do, and some more games left in the season to do them," said quarterback Dave Krieg, who threw for 282 yards and connected with Steve Largent for three touchdowns. "Seven-and-two in this division doesn't assure you of anything."

Seattle remains tied with the Los Angeles Raiders, one game behind front-running Denver in the division. The Seahawks play the Raiders once more and still have two games left with Denver.

Seattle sacked San Diego quarterback Dan Fouts six times for 47 yards in losses and forced the Chargers into four turnovers. It was reminiscent of the teams' first meeting this year, when San Diego coughed up the ball eight times in a 31-17 loss.

"We just didn't execute the way we should," wide receiver Charlie Joiner said. "It was pretty much the same thing (as last time). They play good defense and are very good on special teams."

"Those things happen. We keep saying, 'We have to rebound, we have to rebound,' and we've just got to keep saying it until we do."

The Chargers, playing without injured receivers Kellen Winslow and Wes Chandler and using limping tight ends Pete Holohan and Eric Sievers sparingly, suffered their first shutout since a 7-0 loss to Denver five years ago. San Diego netted 201 total yards, less than half its average. Fouts was intercepted twice and lost a fumble and running back Lionel James was picked off on an attempted flea-flicker. All three interceptions were made by Kenny Easley, whose feat set a team record.

"There's not much to say," San Diego Coach Don Coryell said. "All of us are embarrassed we played as poorly as we did. All we can look forward to is getting everybody pieced back together and be a spoiler."

Coryell had acknowledged last week that his team needed to beat the Seahawks to retain any chance of making post-season play. The Chargers are 4-5, with all five losses coming to fellow AFC West teams.

Krieg, a 53-percent passer coming into the game, humiliated San Diego's inexperienced secondary by finding Largent open three times for touchdowns and connecting on a 60-yard bomb to Daryl Turner and a 41-yarder to Byron Walker.

Cowboy criticism will be met by possible fines, suspension

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas Cowboys Coach Tom Landry has warned his players that any more public criticism of their teammates or the coaching staff will be punished by $1,000 fines and suspensions, a newspaper reported today.

Landry's speech Monday during a team meeting was prompted by remarks some of the players made last week after Landry announced he would start Danny White instead of Gary Hogeboom at quarterback against the Indianapolis Colts, The Dallas Morning News said.

Landry referred to a comment made by running back Ron Springs, without mentioning his name, the News said.

Springs, who has supported Hogeboom over White, was quoted last week as saying he was disappointed that Landry was starting White, but that, "People must realize this is coach Landry's team, and he does what he wants to do. If I had the opportunity to express myself truthfully, I could say a lot more strong stuff. But I don't want to get fined."

Several players also were quoted last week as saying that Hogeboom would have performed better this season except that Landry "had turned Hogeboom into a tentative player."

Landry said Monday, "I told them all along there'll be no comments about other players or anybody. They listened, and they understood. It's been a problem over some period of time. It's just our policy not to make those kind of comments."

Last month, after the Cowboys were beaten 28-7 by the New York Giants, Landry told his team he was upset at reading comments some of them had made publicly, criticizing the coaching staff for an offensive scheme that allowed linebacker Lawrence Taylor to blitz successfully.

Taylor twice had run through untouched, both times causing fumbles by Hogeboom. One of them was returned 81 yards for a touchdown by Andy Headen.

One player told The News he may challenge Landry's stand.

"This is all pretty silly, isn't it? I mean, isn't there freedom of speech? If coach Landry fines me for something I say, I will take him to court. Well, at least I'll file a grievance. It's gotten so players are going to be afraid to say, 'No comment,'" said the player, whom the newspaper did not identify.

"I don't want to get fined $1,000 or suspended," the newspaper quoted one player as saying. "I don't think I'll be saying much the rest of the season."

Jordan-led Bulls beat Bucks

CHICAGO (AP) — Thanks to rookie sensation Michael Jordan, basketball is fun again, says Orlando Woolridge of the Chicago Bulls.

"There is a kind of magic in his ability to turn a game around and to instill in his teammates a desire to excel," Woolridge said after Jordan's game-high 37 points powered Chicago to a 116-110 win over the Milwaukee Bucks in the National Basketball Association's only game Monday night.

Jordan scored 22 of those points in the final quarter, breaking the club record of 21 in a single quarter set by Bob Love on Dec. 29, 1972, against the Boston Celtics.

It was only the third professional game for Jordan, a college All-American who was twice named Player of the Year at North Carolina. But he credited his performance less to his own talent than to an ankle injury slowing Moncrief.

"I told Coach (Kevin) Loughery that I thought I could take advantage of it by beating Moncrief to the hoop in the fourth quarter, and it worked," Jordan said after the Bulls had avenged their Saturday loss to the Bucks.

Jordan battled two Milwaukee players — Moncrief, who wound up with 28 points, and Terry Cummings, who had 26 — to bring the Bulls back from a six-point deficit with less than five minutes to play as he scored 13 of his team's final 17 points in a torrid fourth quarter.

He also played without the benefit of backup guard Quintin Dailey, who failed to appear for the game and could not be reached by club management — the second

A Big Spring WINNER!

Bebe McCasland
Administrator, St. Mary's Episcopal School and Conservationist

It all began 10 years ago when the McCaslands rescued an egret soaked in oil. Gradually the word spread that Bebe knew what to do with injured and sick birds, and the phone began to ring. Bebe has since taken seminars in ornithology from Cornell University, but "the greatest teacher is the experience of working with the Midland Sanctuary," one of the few federal sanctuaries in the state. "It's a very necessary endeavor — rescuing birds," says Bebe. "The dangers for migratory birds are increasing as they lose their habitat to construction and insecticides. We get sick birds, some are shot or have fallen into oil wastepools or been injured by power lines. We save about 81%. Our goal is to turn them back to nature so they can continue to breed." Bebe, who has federal and state licenses, keeps a variety of foods and medical emergency supplies at her home — and with a few loyal volunteers can be ready to go at a moment's notice of a bird in peril. They've rescued over 100 this year. "We assemble a lot of information from the birds; for example, their early migrations this year may mean an early winter." Bebe, from Irving, married Big Spring's Ardis McCasland in 1962. She has been with St. Mary's for 20 years, now serving as its administrator.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Be more original in any writings or conversations and get better results. Use discriminating taste in choosing friends.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Get into more unusual activities that will spice up your life. Make contacts now who can help you in the days ahead.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Avoid one who may have an eye on your assets and cultivate those who can be of assistance to you.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You have some fine ideas how to confidentially get closer to those who mean a great deal to you. Please loved ones at home.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will easily comprehend ideas and mechanisms and should go to the most modern schools. Your child will be quite different from most others, so permit full self-expression. One who will need many playmates.
