State income tax: fear and loathing

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — To hear Texans talk, a state income tax is about as welcome as a gang of cattle rustlers or a trainload of carportbaggers.

Even state Comptroller Bob Bullock is fond of saying, "Everyone is in favor of it, except men, women and children."

Other state officials, including Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, fear that an income tax will do away with one of the state's major attractions to new industry.

Hobby's executive assistant, Jerome Chapman, also argues against the likelihood, saying, "Everybody around the Legislature feels so strong and so frightened of a state-income tax that I don't see it anytime soon."

Despite all the loathing, a recent study by the business-oriented Texas Research League has sparked speculation that such a tax may be closer than anyone would like to think.

In the article, "A New Tax Policy For Texas?," Jim McGrew writes some state comptroller officials believe the state's tax revenue situation in this period of high population growth and falling oil and gas taxes has become so bad that each future session of the Legislature could face the need for additional tax revenues. McGrew, now a consultant, is the league's former director of research.

"Short of drastically increasing the rates at which some existing taxes are levied, the most obvious fundamental change in the tax system would be the imposition of income taxes," McGrew says. "No other major tax used by other states has been overlooked by the state of Texas."

Other points McGrew makes:

- The sales tax can't climb much higher, especially in some big cities where they also tack on an extra 1 cent for metropolitan transit authorities.

- Removal of more sales tax exemptions, especially those on food and medical and dental services, would be difficult to pass.

- Local governments, as they have in other states, are going to be pressuring state government for more help in relieving the property tax burden, and a state income tax would provide the necessary funds.

- Forty states, including all the states that share a border with Texas, already have individual income taxes, covering wages and salaries, as well as interest and dividend income. In addition, 45 states already have some form of corporate income tax, which usually is imposed before a state tries for a personal income tax.

- A personal income tax based on a rate of 2-to-4 percent would raise almost $7 billion over the state's 1986-87 biennium. Going with the nation's lowest rate, as employed in New Mexico, would raise $400 million over the same period, while going with the highest rate of Delaware would raise $13.7

• Bonfire ignites weekend events

Big Spring High School students, team members, cheerleaders and community members are expected to gather around the Homecoming bonfire at 8 p.m. tonight.

The community pep rally and bonfire to celebrate the school's 20th Homecoming will be at the Classic Auto Sales lot at the corner of F.M. 700 and Birdwell Lane, which is also sponsored by KBST radio, Vice Principal Craig Fischer said.

The band will play, the Student Council will perform a skit and the cheerleaders will lead the yells at the bonfire tonight, Fischer said.

Also appearing at the rally will be the football team, sponsor Sharon Richardson said.

Big Spring residents are expected to attend the bonfire and pep rally, which are designed for the community to attend, Fischer said.

"This isn't the regular pep rally. We will have already had that one at the gym," Fischer said of the event tonight.

Fischer said he was uncertain when the bonfire would be lit. "These things are spontaneous, so I don't know when it will be lit. They are usually lit at the beginning," he said.

• Hall of Fame will induct music groups

Members of the Big Spring High School 1982-84 Mariah Color Guard groups and all-state band and choir members since 1977 will be inducted into the school's Hall of Fame at 3 p.m. Saturday in the Big Spring High School Auditorium.

The event will also honor the late Bill Bradley, director of Mariah. The Hall of Fame induction is part of the 1984 Big Spring High School Homecoming ceremonies taking place this weekend.

• Members of the 1982 Mariah guard include: Abel Solis, Jay Pursler, Greg Hartfield, Robby Roten, Glenn Mell-

7 killed in bus rollover

TEL AVIV, Israel — A tourist bus overturned on the coastal road in the Sinai peninsula, killing seven German tourists and injuring 25, Israeli newspapers reported today.

The bus, carrying 32 passengers, crashed on its way back to Israel from the tourist resort of Nueiba on Wednesday evening, said the dailies Maariv and Haaretz.

Maariv said the tourists had arrived in Israel last Saturday and were on a one-day tour of the Sinai, which Israel returned to Egypt in 1982.

Navy commander jailed

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina — A federal court trying former military rulers on charges of human rights abuses has ordered a former navy commander jailed while awaiting the verdict in his case.

The order came Wednesday, a day after Admiral Armando Lambruschini was questioned by the Federal Court of Appeals. The court is trying nine ex-junta members in connection with the abduction, torture and presumed execution of thousands of civilians during a campaign against leftist subversion.

Communist meeting ends

MEXICO CITY — Communist bloc nations ended an economic conference in Havana with an agreement to increase and diversify trade with Latin America, the official Cuban news agency reported.

Prensa Latina said in dispatches received here that delegates to the three-day Council for Mutual Economic Assistance meeting also pledged Wednesday to develop stronger economic ties with underdeveloped nations in other regions. The council, known as Comecon, is the Eastern bloc's common market.

Catholic nuns convicted

HASSELT, Belgium — A criminal court has convicted two head nuns at a Roman Catholic hospital of forgery documents in an attempt to use hospital funds to build a new convent.

Jacqueline Vandormael and Maria Truys were three-month jail sentences, with two months suspended, and fined 6,000 francs — the equivalent of $97 — after the prosecutor asked for light sentences.

Since they spent at least one month in detention awaiting trial, they were freed.

$800,000 spent on plaza

MEXICO CITY — Plaza Garibaldi, one of this city's traditional night spots, is getting a facelift.

The government has poured over $800,000 into renovating the plaza, the traditional center stage for Mexico's mariachi bands, and city officials hope the improvements will attract foreign tourists and bring back Mexicans who have stopped frequenting the square.

Authorities in charge of the renovations say too many people had been driven away from the plaza in recent years because of the increasing presence of neighborhood gangs and prostitutes.

RIOTING — A view down a street in the Chandani Chowk quarter in old Delhi, Thursday, shows people gathering in front of a burning house — one of many that burn today when riots started all over the Indian capital.

Revenge riot

Hindus begin riots following assassination

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Vengeance-seeking Hindus set fires and beat Sikhs in cities across northern India today to vent their fury over the assassination of Indira Gandhi by two of her Sikh guards. At least 20 people were reported killed nationwide.

In New Delhi, where hundreds of thousands of mourners filed past the flag-draped body of the slain prime minister to pay their last respects, army units from neighboring states were called in and some areas were placed under curfew.

The throng of mourners became so unruly, despite pleas by Mrs. Gandhi's son and successor, Rajiv Gandhi, that police lobbed tear gas at some sections of the crowd to restore order.

The United News of India said troops were summoned to the capital following a two-hour exchange of gunfire between police and a "large group of people" in a building near the government's Home Ministry. It said 11 people were killed in the capital, including two policemen, and 10 died in other cities, including at least four rioters shot by police.

The bloodshed was part of a surge of rioting, arson and looting by mobs of Hindus in nearly a dozen northern Indian cities seeking revenge for Wednesday's murder of Mrs. Gandhi. The mobs burned Sikh-owned businesses, cars and buses, and beat Sikh men they found in the open.

The rioting forced curfew orders in 11 other cities besides New Delhi, and police in some places were given "shoot-to-kill" orders against the mobs.

The army was ordered into Calcutta to stop looting and arson, and soldiers took over five police stations in New Delhi. Leave was canceled for all military personnel, and curfew orders included bans on the assembly of more than four people at a time.

Such a ban was ordered in New Delhi two months ago, but today it failed to stop mobs from burning Sikh-owned shops and cars in neighborhoods across the city. Fires flared across the capital, and in several instances the mobs prevented firemen from putting out the blazes. One reporter saw a crowd strip a Sikh man naked, beat him and chase him down the street.

The assassination was claimed by anonymous Sikh extremists as revenge for the Indian army attack on the Sikh Golden Temple to flush out Sikh separatists in Punjab state last June. The Sikhs number 13 million in the predominantly Hindu nation of 730 million.

Mrs. Gandhi was shot 22 times, according to the United News of India. One of the assailants was killed and the other wounded, and a third guard — who did not fire — was arrested, the agency said.

Among the first to view the body was Mrs. Gandhi's 40-year-old son, Rajiv, who was quickly sworn in to succeed his mother as prime minister. The body is to lie in state for 24 hours.

The body lay on a tilted bier in the "Teen Murti" house where her father, Jawaharlal Nehru, independent India's first prime minister, lived and died. Her head was covered by a pale yellow sari, and her face appeared swollen, masking her usual chiseled features.

The building is only a few hundred feet from the spot where independence leader Mohandas K. (Mahatma) Gandhi was assassinated by a Hindu fanatic 37 years ago. He was not related to Mrs. Gandhi.

Several hundred members of the huge crowd, shouting "Sikhs should be destroyed," stoned 20 Sikhs who attempted to pay their last respects.

The heavily guarded Rajiv, wearing a simple white tunic and pants and appearing tired with bloodshot eyes, admonished the mourners to stop chanting the slogan "Blood for blood."

"Nothing would hurt the soul of our beloved Indira Gandhi more than the occurrence of violence in any part of the country," he said. Some fell silent, but most ignored him.

Rajiv, like his mother, has received death threats from Sikh extremists. His security guards were alarmed when he approached the unruly crowd, and one drew the prime minister back.

Stenographer sentenced

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — A stenographer who offered "do-it-yourself" legal advice is awaiting a recommendation from the Florida Bar as she prepares to serve a 30-day jail term Nov. 15 for practicing law without a license.

The state Supreme Court, which had sentenced Rosemary Furman to 90 days in jail and suspended 60 days, on Wednesday gave her the 15-day delay to get her affairs in order after the U.S. Supreme Court on Monday refused her appeal.

2 charged in boy's death

MARYSVILLE, Calif. — The teen-age parents of a 14-week-old boy who died of starvation said they couldn't afford to seek medical help and pleaded innocent to murder and felony child neglect resulting in death.

Yuba County Municipal Court Judge Donald Wahlberg this week ordered Dale Baldwin, 18, an unemployed cook, and his wife Jimeise, 18, both of Linda, held in lieu of $50,000 bail each pending a bail hearing Friday.

Indian activist cleared

SIoux FALLS, S.D. — Federal prosecutors have asked a court to drop an unlawful flight charge against Indian activist Dennis Banks, jailed for riot and assault convictions from a 1973 disturbance.

U.S. Attorney Philip Hogen said Wednesday that pursuing the charge "would probably reopen some old wounds that hopefully are healing, and can heal."

The charge dates to January 1983, when Banks fled to avoid sentencing on the state charges.

10 charged in gang rape

RICHFIELD, Utah — Ten teen-agers living in a government dormitory for Navajo Indians were charged with gang raping a 14-year-old girl on a high school football field as her friend was held captive nearby.

Albert Whitehair, 18, and David Calamity, 19, were arraigned on rape charges Tuesday, and were being held Wednesday in lieu of $10,000 bond apiece. Eight minors were being held at the Central Utah Youth Home pending a juvenile court hearing on Monday.

Home operators arrested

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — The operators of an unlicensed nursery home and their son were arrested after authorities raided the home and found some of the elderly residents strapped to potty chairs with sheets, officials said.

Eight residents were taken to a hospital for evaluation, authorities said.

Mary and Milton Willis and their son were booked into the Palm Beach County Detention Center on charges of resisting arrest without violence Wednesday, and were released on their own recognizance, said clerk Barbara Murray.

Striking workers return back to Mack Co. plants

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Workers returned to Mack Truck plants in three states Wednesday as United Auto Workers union leaders called for ratification of the tentative contract agreement that ended a nine-day strike.

The UAW and the nation's second largest maker of heavy duty trucks reached the settlement Tuesday, and workers at four plants are scheduled to vote on the proposal Nov. 11.

Employees reported to plants in Pennsylvania, Maryland and New Jersey, while laid-off Canadian workers are scheduled to return Monday, after the U.S. plants build up parts supplies, said Mack spokesman Brian McCullough.

The strike by 9,200 UAW members began when their contract expired Oct. 20. It shut down production at plants in Allentown, Macungie, Hagerstown, Md., and Bridgewater, N.J., and resulted in layoffs for 450 workers at a Canadian assembly plant near Toronto.

Tornadoes rake Midwest; 2 killed

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Thursday, November 1, 1984

5-A

CARBONDAE, Kan. (AP) — An unusual late-season tornado tossed and tumbled house trailers as it ripped through a mobile home park, killing two people and injuring 10 others.

The flurry of fall tornadoes Wednesday also hit Oklahoma, where the National Weather Service said as many as three twisters touched down and damaged houses and vehicles. No injuries were reported.

The twister that struck this eastern Kansas town Wednesday night gave residents little time to react.

"It happened so quickly it would make your head swim," said Mildred Boyer, 79, owner of the Mineral Springs Trailer Court in this town about 10 miles south of Topeka. "It got still. It got dead hot. It seemed like it came right down and dropped."

The tornado killed a middle-aged man who was found buried under debris, and killed a woman whose trailer home just outside the mobile home park was demolished, said Osage County Sheriff Robert Masters. The names of the victims were being withheld until relatives could be notified.

The 10 people injured at the mobile home park were treated at the scene for minor cuts, bruises and shock, said Osage County ambulance squad director Tony Bell.

Masters said he did not know the extent of the damage to the 16-trailer court, but said at least five of the homes were extensively damaged.

The weather service reported several tornadoes near Seiling and Chester in northwest Oklahoma.

"We may be talking about only one tornado, possibly two or as many as three in the same general area," said Mike Branick, a forecaster with the weather service.

At least one home in Chester was destroyed, but its occupants escaped injury as the house collapsed around them, police said.

In Carbondale, Ray Barnes said he had been taking a shower and his friend, Tanya Pearson, had been watching television when the tornado struck.

Barnes said he ran from the bathroom to the bedroom and dived under the bed, while Ms. Pearson grabbed onto a couch.

The trailer was turned over repeatedly by the twister. Barnes ended up on top of his bed on a pile of debris, while Ms. Pearson found herself sitting in the grass next to the destroyed trailer, he said.

Victims of the tornado were told to go to a school where a relief shelter had been set up, but a dispatcher for the sheriff's department said all the displaced people had found shelter with friends and relatives.

The tornadoes are "a little bit unusual for this time of year," said Pete Reynolds of the National Severe Storms Forecast Center in Kansas City, Mo. "But the ingredients were there that are usually there during the springtime."

"You had a warm, moist unstable air mass meeting up with a cold front ... and that's usually what it takes."

Reynolds said there was a chance of thunderstorms in parts of Texas, Kansas and Oklahoma today.

Deaths haunt Halloween

Staff and wire reports

Mummies walked and werewolves howled as Halloween revelers paraded in New York, partied where trick-or-treating was banned and gave up the ghost for the gospel in an Illinois town where it was "not a time for the devil."

Big Spring police and Howard County sheriff's deputies reported no Halloween-related incidents. Malone-Hogan Hospital, which X-rayed 328 bags of children's candy, discovered nothing suspicious, according to Valerie Showalter, director of the hospital's radiology department.

"As far as finding pins or needles or razor blades, we didn't find anything," Ms. Showalter said. She said more children showed up to have their candy X-rayed but left because of the long line.

"At 8:30 p.m., the line was out the hospital door," Ms. Showalter said. "We shut the door at 9:30 p.m. and we finished X-raying by 10:10. The parents were really polite for as long as they had to wait."

A Malone-Hogan Hospital spokesman said the emergency room did not receive any reports of Halloween-related injuries.

Elsewhere in the nation, two children were killed and a half-dozen people were injured in traffic accidents or pranks gone sour. A service station in Tennessee was held up by three hobgoblins, and a Chicago teen-ager and an off-duty policeman in New York were stabbed by masked men.

More than 2,000 children took their Halloween candy to X-ray stations at Houston area hospitals and fire stations to prevent the repeat of a 1974 poison death that prompted laws against tainting treats.

Only one instance of a straight pin in candy was reported there. A handful of trick-or-treaters in Jersey City and Camden, N.J., including the children of Camden's police chief found pins and glass in candy. One tainted candy bar was found in Lincoln, Neb., during what police said was "one of the slowest" Halloweens in recent years.

In Frostburg, Md., authorities fearing tainted candy replaced trick-or-treating with a town party, while in Midland, Md., the traditional door-to-door gathering gave way to a parade.

Thousands of New Yorkers lined the narrow streets of Greenwich Village as spooks, goblins, Ghost-busters and other fantastic creatures took part in a loosely organized parade.

Marchers included an astronaut with a fishbowl helmet — with real fish; a bag of french fries, and a roach motel with a typically New York sign: "Going Co-Op. No Broker's Fee."

Lifestyle

Controls for the well-oiled skin

Oily skin isn't all bad. It's stronger, withstands the elements better, usually stays younger-looking longer than dry skin. But owners of oily skin know its problems: it's more inclined toward disturbance, develops larger pores, often looks pasty and shiny — and less than clean. To help control this surplus oil and diminish its problems, dermatologists at a cosmetics and skin care company offer these suggestions:

- Wash your face with soap, at least twice a day. That's the most important thing you can do to keep oily skin looking cleaner and fresher. And if you use a facial soap especially made for oily skin — with extra cleansing power but no uncomfortable harshness — you can get even better results.

- Exfoliate — that is, remove the dead skin flakes that surface every day. When skin is oily, these flakes clump together more, giving skin a duller, coarser look. Help for this: everyday use of a lotion made for this purpose — it removes worn-out flakes, comes in different strengths. For more vigorous exfoliation, try a granular scrub. One that's oil-free, water-rinsable, and ideal for the refinery of oily skin will work best.

- Steer clear of putting additional oils on your face — no heavy unventilated creams or moisturizers. If you really want a moisturizer for drier areas or tiny dry lines, use a lightweight one that is virtually oil-free. This leaves skin looking good, with a bit of sheen but no shine.

- Take advantage of oil-free makeup base and oil-free sun products. They spare you more oil and trouble. In addition, oil-free makeup can also endow you with a smooth velvety finish that minimizes pores. Then, for blusher, use powder or gel — leave the creamies for drier skins that can use the extra emollience.

- Watch your mouth. Lipstick feather and blurs more when skin is oily. If you rub loose powder into the lip area first, you give the lipstick a drier surface to cling to and help it hold its line.

- Oily hair goes with oily skin, and can be at the root of skin breakouts. Dermatologists often see that oily hair brings acne to foreheads, especially when hair falls forward in bangs. Answer: frequent or daily shampoos with an oil-controlling shampoo. And, if you have bangs, consider getting out from under them. A smoothed-back hairstyle gives your forehead more air and less chance of trouble.

- Beards and moustaches could have the same ill effects as bangs — by shielding oily skin from air, the skin stays warmer, oilier, more breakout-prone. Answer is the same: frequent shampooing of facial hair, and thorough rinsing to remove every trace of soap. It also helps to keep your beard short — then it's easier to part it right down to the hair roots and exfoliate the skin underneath.
- Telephones, held tightly against cheeks, have a way of collecting stale oil and grime that's been known to irritate the skin — especially oily skin. So before you "reach out", reach out for a cleanser-dampened cloth to remove the messy telephone build-up. This ought to be done at least weekly.

- Cheap help: from time to time, throughout a day, pat a little cool water on your face. As it evaporates, it seems to tighten and freshen skin. It also feels good.

Chapter receives two new members

The Richard Hubbell Chapter of the Colonial Dames of the 17th Century welcomed Diana Hamby and Mrs. Eugene Durand as new members at its meeting at Furr's, Saturday.

The chapter received a copy of the state president's project, a procedure manual, which will assist members in chapter work.

Mrs. William Riley presented a program titled "We Americans of the 17th Century." According to Mrs. Riley, when the Pilgrim settlers descended from the Mayflower on Nov. 21, 1620 and stepped upon the new land, they fell upon their knees and thanked God for a safe passage to the new world.

In Europe, a system ordered a man's life; in America, the abundance of land gave men the feeling of independence, she said. The first American boom was in tobacco. In Maryland and Virginia, the land proved ideal for this crop, which brought high prices. By the year of 1622, a tobacco farmer could earn 10 to 20 times what he had earned in England.

Settlers continued to immigrate and plant tobacco, which exceeded all other American exports, she said. Almost every family had an acre of corn, which the Indians had introduced to the Colony. An acre of corn and a few hogs helped them survive until they were better established.

The next meeting will be in January.

Dear Abby

Hosts lured by fishing trip were out of line

DEAR ABBY: "Hurt Parents" said that every summer they travel a long distance to spend 10 days with their son and his family, and while they were there last summer, their hosts let the painters come in, which ruined the parents' vacation. I think I can top that.

Every other summer, my husband and I drive 1,500 miles to visit his parents.

Last summer, after four days, our in-laws informed us that they were leaving the next day to go fishing with friends! They said they were sure there were other places we would like to see, and they were giving us the opportunity to see them.

I was flabbergasted. Since we had no other plans, and couldn't afford to stay in motels and eat every meal out for the remaining six days, we came home.

Sharing a house with painters would have been a pleasure compared to what happened to us. Now, what do you think of that?

LAST TRIP HOME

DEAR LAST TRIP: I think you

Dr. Donohue

Blood test

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My recent blood chemistry indicated my potassium to be 6.1. The book in the library said only a bizarre diet could elevate potassium, and to lower it one should cook all fruits and vegetables, discarding the water, and avoid whole wheat and grains, using white flour, etc. I cannot visualize myself eating that way. I feel fine, very athletic for my age (65) and I run and swim and do exercises. Should I change my present diet, which includes whole grains, fresh fruits and vegetables and is low in fat? I weigh 150 at 5 feet 10 inches. — D.B.

I don't think your diet will need to be changed. First of all, before speculating about the cause of your slightly high blood potassium you should have another test. Sometimes lab results indicate high levels from damage to red blood cells in the test tube. Red blood cells contain potassium. If they are banged around, as they may be when blood is removed, they release their potassium and you get what appears to be an abnormally high reading. So a single reading can be suspect.

But for the sake of discussion let's say your reading is accurate. Not much happens until blood potassium reaches 6.5. After that you may notice fatigue, muscle weakness and there may be changes in an EKG. The higher the level becomes, the more dangers arise, of course.

Your book is right. You have to have an inordinately abnormal diet to raise blood levels of potassium. The kidneys are quite efficient in getting rid of excess under all but the most unusual of diets. But the question of kidney problems must always be answered when there are consistently abnormal levels. You sound healthy. Get that second check.

Committee on hunger blasts Reagan

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas lawmakers should spend $20 million next year to battle hunger caused by federal efforts to cut welfare fraud, says a legislator whose committee found a hunger level higher "than Texans would tolerate with an easy conscience." A preliminary report issued Wednesday by the Senate Committee on Hunger and Nutrition blames President Reagan for weakening 1970s programs that "provided great headway" in the battle on hunger. "In the 1980s, changes in policy have served to kick many legitimately needy persons off federal programs and procedural changes have resulted in situations where many eligible persons are kept off programs," the report said. Committee Chairman Hugh Parmer, D-Fort Worth, said at a news conference the Reagan effort to eliminate welfare fraud "went far beyond" the level necessary. He said the committee found that the new rules forced rejection of 32 percent of the Texas applicants for food stamps, when only 7 percent should have been rejected. "The Reagan policies, in fact, have resulted in people who need help not getting it," said Parmer. A $20 million state appropriation would help up to one-third of Texans facing hunger, according to Parmer. He estimated that 350,000 children, pregnant women and elderly people in the state go without food at least one or two days a month. Parmer could offer no estimate on how many of what he called the "new poor" are hungry. He defined the "new poor" as the unemployed whose benefits have run out but who do not qualify for other assistance programs. "In a state with one of the lowest unemployment rates in the nation, it is shocking to learn of the thousands who are seriously hungry," the report said. After a year of research, the committee said in the preliminary report: "Texans have long prided themselves as citizens in a state of enormous opportunity; a state with an abundance of land and agricultural resources. Yet, in this state of plenty, hunger exists. There is more hunger in Texas than meets the eye; more perhaps than Texans would tolerate with an easy conscience." There are "many faces of hunger in Texas," including "the face of a steelworker in Pasadena, who finds himself unemployed, and talks of suicide because he cannot provide for his family," according to the report. "It is in the face of a young mother in the Rio Grande Valley whose child goes without food a few days each month because she doesn't have enough money. It is in the face of an elderly person, collecting cans in order to redeem them for cash to buy groceries." Private organizations, included churches, have "drowned" trying to meet increased food needs, according to Parmer.

"They have regularly run out of food to provide," he said.

Forsan

it will be a defensive struggle. "We don't want to get into an offensive contest. They have too much breakaway speed. Defense is our game, we want to control their offense."

Kennedy may talk about defense but he has a pretty good offense led by junior signal caller Matt Denman, who has started since his freshman year. Denman has guided the Plowboys to a 32-4 mark while at the helm.

"Our offense is not as diversified as last season," explained Kennedy. "We lost too many key people, but our quarterback is better."

Danny Reed leads the Plowboys rushing attack with 850 yards. Freshman Danny Herrera is the other starting running back. Roscoe has been without the services of 6-4, 255-pound All-State tackle Nathan Richburgh who had knee surgery after the fifth game of the season. He is listed as questionable for Friday night. The Plowboys offensive line still outweighs Forsan about 200-pounds to 165 pounds.

East is hoping his team's quickness will pay off against a larger foe. "Yes we'll give away a lot of weight to them, but maybe our quickness will offset their size. We won't change anything offensively for them, we'll go with what got us here."

What got them there is a relentless rushing attack led by speedy senior Mitch Hays who has scored 12 TD's and gained 865 yards while averaging an amazing 10.2 yards per carry.

East's son Todd at quarterback is another reason why the Buffaloes have come so far. The 6-4, 180-pound senior has not passed often, but when he does he does it with a bang. He has completed 28 of 57 attempts for 430 yards and eight touchdowns.

Unlike Kennedy, coach East thinks the contest will keep the scorekeeper busy. "With two good solid offensive teams I don't think it will be a defensive game. It might come down to turnovers, but one of the offenses will break loose. I'd like to shutdown their rushing attack and make them throw."

So the stage is set as both powers have been gaining momentum each week for the upcoming collision.

Only this time one will face an obstacle that it can't steam roll over.

Area

quarters — we only had 23 for the entire year before that."

Sonora brings a good offense into the contest led by quarterback Scott Miller and wide receiver Esau Ramirez, whom Ramsey says is not easy to catch once he gets behind the secondary.

Meanwhile a banged up Wolves defense will try to regroup after last week's showing when they gave up over 300 total yards. Ramsey's said he will use backs Sammy Rivera and Bill Jackson in the same backfield more this week.

"This is the third time we've been in the big game and haven't pulled it off, maybe the third time is the charm," said Ramsey. "We can beat Sonora if we play good defense and ball control. What it boils down to is these kids (C-City) have six years invested in 48 minutes of football Friday night."

WALL (1-6-1, 1-2) is at STANTON (2-5-1, 0-3) where the Stanton Buffaloes will be trying to finish out the season by winning their remaining two games.

"The kids are still hanging in there," said Stanton mentor Dale

Ruth. "They want to finish out the season as best as they can. One thing I've found out about these kids: they never quit."

Last week the Buffaloes lost their second consecutive close District-8-AA ballgame, a 15-8 decision to Big Lake. Again it was the big play that hurt the Buffs. This time it was a 44-yard run in the third quarter with Stanton leading 8-7 at the time.

The Stanton offense clicked a little last week rolling up 170 yards. Fullback Danny Koonce rushed for 61 yards on 17 carries.

ROBY (1-7, 0-3) is at SANDS (2-6, 0-3) and both teams are fighting to get out of the 7-A South Zone cellar. Coach Jim White's Mustangs will be trying to rebound from last week's 12-0 loss to Garden City. In fact, the Mustangs haven't scored a point in district play this season.

The Sands offense, led by running back Arnold Valasco's 72 yards, did move the ball last week. The Mustangs missed out on three scoring opportunities deep inside Garden City territory.

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1984

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening when you are able to see the best imaginative and idealistic plans that can advance your interests as well as be able to reduce such desirable courses of action.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Either sit alone or with a good advisor and get a clear picture of what is best to do in order to advance in your career.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Discuss with mutual friends how to make your mutual hobbies work far better in the coming weeks.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) If you want to express your talents better, bring them to the attention of bigwigs who can be of assistance to you.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Good day for advancement and growth, so apply yourself more energetically.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Try to understand what one in business is saying so that you will know better how to use your talents.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Have a long conversation with that bigwig you know who can easily release the backing you need now.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You are now able to add precision and fine finish to whatever work you may be doing. Be more cooperative with your fellow workers.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Plan how to make a special talent bring in more benefits. Then do whatever will increase your romantic happiness.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) A situation at home requires thought and study from a new angle. Later have friends in with whom you want to talk.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Adding to present security is wise so that you can have a reserve for any emergencies later on.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Study any repairs needed to real estate and plan to make them; then work on a plan to have greater security.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You see clearly how you can get more of the good things of life and whatever attracts you the most.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will get along very well with others because of the innate wisdom and kindness in this nature, and will make plans early and then do the necessary work in order to reach goals, so be encouraging in this. Make sure that you accord as fine an education as you can.
