Spring Local voter turnout heavy

By CAROL BALDWIN Staff Writer

Congested traffic, slamming car doors and crowds of voters were the norm at city polling places this morning as hundreds turned out to cast their ballots in a number of contests ranging from the battle for the presidency of the United States to the race for a seat on the Howard County Commissioners

John Bennett, a judge at the Wasson Road Fire Station election site, said that at 7 a.m. this morning, "there was a pretty good line" of voters waiting for the doors to

'There have been people voting all morning. It's been a good turnout," Bennett said.

High winds and cool temperatures were proving not to be a deterrent to voters. Bennett estimated that "somewhere in the neighborhood of 300 voters" had visited the polls by 9 a.m. Bennett said the early morning crowd was an indication that

'we're going to have an excellent turnout.

Bennett has been working as an election judge since the 1960s, and keeps coming back because he enjoys the task. "I guess it'd get tedious if you did it all the time, he said.

Working at the polls gives Bennett a chance to see people he only sees at election time. "I see people I haven't seen for two or four years," he said. He said the workers at the Wasson Road polling place remain basically the same year after year.

Based on his experience at the polls, Bennett estimated that the crowds would again "pick up at noon. We'll have another big surge around 5 p.m. We always do. Then another one after 6 p.m.

Bennett said for election judges, the work really starts at 7 p.m. "we wind everything up." See Local page 2-A

IMPORTANT ELECTION — Mr. and Mrs. Garland Coulter don't like to miss a presidential election, and today was no exception as the two joined hundreds of others to cast their ballots.

Day of decision: landslide or upset?

By The Associated Press Americans voted today after final campaign appeals in which resident Reagan asked for renewal of his conservative ! mandate, saying "our work is not finished," while challenger RONALD REAGAN

Walter F. Mondale defined the election as a choice between "decency" and "self-interest." Forecasts were that more than 90 million people would cast WALTER MONDALE ballots, and opinion polls were unanimous in predicting that a solid majority would give the Republican president a second four-year term.

There was rain in the Northwest and along parts of the East Coast. but the forecast was for good weather for much of the nation. Early voter turnout was described as fairly heavy in several Midwestern and Southern states.

Mondale and the vice presidential candidates - Republican George Bush and Democrat Geraldine Ferraro - were among the early voters today. Reagan was voting later in California.

Mondale and his family were up early to vote just after the polls opened at the North Oaks Recreation Center on a cool, sunny Minnesota morning. He merely said good morning to reporters, but son heodore declared, "We've taken an early lead in North Oaks." Bush and his wife, Barbara, stood in line for 17 minutes in Houston, then voted in a real estate office. "I did the right thing," he told reporters later. Ms. Ferraro voted in a public school in her neighborhood in Queens, N.Y.

"Yes, we're very optimistic," she told reporters. "We're going to prove the pollsters wrong." She flashed a thumbs up signal. Frank J. Fahrenkopf Jr., the Republican national chairman, a businessmen's forum in Washington that the GOP's latest polls, completed Monday night, showed Reagan with a 20 percent

"We've got a shot at 50" states, he said, but added that Mondale "could win five or six states." He did not name them.

While experts talked about a turnout of 55 percent of the eligible voters, compared to 52.6 percent four years ago, the extent of participation won't be known until polls close from easternmost Maine to Hawaii and Alaska.

Their last speeches delivered, the presidential candidates returned Monday night to their homes -Reagan to his California ranch and Mondale to his house outside St. Paul, Minn. - to vote and then await the returns.

In addition to the presidential race, this election was determining 33 Senate seats, the entire makeup of the 435-member House, and 13 contests for governor.

One senator, J. Bennett Johnston, D-La., was assured reelection when he won a nonpartisan primary in September.

DECORATING THE POLLS — Election posters decorate the entrances to Howard County polls this morning as head to various precincts to cast

Vote may set record

Rv The Associated Press Election officials across the country reported heavy voter turnout in the first hours after polls opened this morning, with the presidential race, tight local contests and fair weather producing long lines at many balloting sites.

While a large number of voters in the early hours of Election Day does not necessarily indicate what the tally will be when the polls close, officials in many locations were predicting record turnouts.

Fair skies covered much of the nation, but rain and snow fell in the Northwest and scattered rain dampened the East. Heavy voting was reported in Arizona during the first three hours after polls opened. "It's big, big, big ... bigger than I've ever seen it." said Dave Nicol, election director for the Phoenix area. 'We've never had a turnout like this," said an election worker in the northeast Louisiana city of Monroe, where voters were waiting in line for 20 minutes or more to cast ballots.

In New York City, voters faced a 20-minute wait in one Manhattan precinct. "We haven't had lines for some years, but it's a presidential election year, and everybody should catch the fever," said Bea Dolen, executive director of the city Board of Elections.

Sandinistas claim election win

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Daniel Ortega, chief of the leftist Sandinista junta and his party's presidential candidate, claimed victory in a national election that U.S. and opposition leaders denounced as a sham

With a third of the ballots counted by early today the returns gave Ortega 240,874 of 355,069 valid presidential ballots, or 67.8 percent of the vote. The remainder was split among five other parties.

"We take for a fact the victory of the FSLN in these elections," said Ortega, referring to the Sandinista National Liberation Front, which came to power in July 1979 after a military victory over the 42-year-old pro-U.S. Somoza dynasty.

In second place was the Independent Liberal Party, considered to be center-left, and the Democratic Conservative Party was third. The Independent Liberals decided two weeks ago to boycott the election, but the Electoral Council said it was too late to

Mild day greets voters

By The Associated Press

Pleasant weather was in store for all of Texas today as voters went to the the polls to cast their votes.

Forecasts called for fair skies and slightly warmer temperatures statewide. Highs were to be mostly in the 70s, ranging upward to near 90 in the Big Bend area of Southwest Texas.

Lows tonight will be slightly warmer than those recorded the past several days. Forecasters said they should be mostly in the upper 40s to the upper 50s. Highs Wednesday will again be mostly in the 70s.

A high pressure system aloft remained over Texas, keeping skies clear and temperatures on the mild side. Skies were clear except for the area west of the Pecos and in some sections of the High Plains where high cloudiness

Winds were light and northerly across the southern half of the state and light and southern elsewhere.

Early morning temperatures were mostly in the low to mid 40s except in South Texas and along the coastal plains where readings were in the mid to upper 50s. Extremes ranged from 38 at San Angelo to 63 at Corpus Christi.

Other readings around the state included 43 at Amarillo, 42 at Wichita Falls, 43 at Dallas-Fort Worth, 42 at Waco, 47 at Austin, 41 at San Antonio, 58 at Brownsville, 47 at Houston, 44 at Lubbock, 40 at Midland and 44 at El

Scattered rain fell early on Election Day in the Northwest and the central Atlantic states, and gale warnings were posted for the Oregon and Northern California

Snow advisories were posted for the northern Sierra Nevada Mountains of California and the higher elevations of the Lake Tahoe basin. Snow flurries fell in northern lower Michigan.

Rain was scattered from the Washington coast across the Oregon coast and northwest California. Showers extended over the central Atlantic states and the upper Ohio Valley, the National Weather Service said today.

Morning temperatures were chilly between the Plains and the Appalachians, where frost or freeze warnings were posted

Today's forecast called for rain, with snow in the higher elevations, from the northern two-thirds of the Pacific Coast across the northern two-thirds of the Plateau. Scattered showers were forecast across northern New England.

WEST TEXAS — A gradual warming trend and continued mostly fair through Wednesday. Lows tonight upper 30s mountains to mid 40s South Plains and Permian Basin to lower 50s Concho Valley. Highs Wednesday mid 70s Panhandle to lower 80s most other sections except to lower 90s Big Bend.

"We're going to have a computer man standing by with the NCR," said Mrs. Ray about the possibilities of a mechanical disfunction such as the one that occured in last June's Democratic primary runoff count between Lloyd Doggett and Kent Hance.

"We hope and pray that everything goes well this time.' Mrs. Ray said.

The breakdown in June was due to problems with the card reader, Mrs. Ray said. "We were called upon by the Secretary of the State to count (by hand) Doggett's and Hance's votes," Mrs. Ray said. The same procedure would be implemented if a mechanical breakdown beyond repair occurred in this election, Mrs. Ray said. The process entails a caller and three people tallying the returns manually. Mrs. Ray said that some voting polls had poll watchers, "but we usually have no problems because judges try to do their job."

If a poll watcher has a complaint, Mrs. Ray said, it must be written and submitted to an election judge. Election judges were appointed by the commissioner's court.

Anyone trying to vote when allowed to cast their ballots, Mrs. Ray said. Some type of identification will be given them to permit them to vote, she said.

Libby Doggett, campaigning yesterday in Big Spring for her husband, state Sen. Lloyd Doggett, D-Austin, said she was optimistic about her husband's chances of winning the U.S. Senate seat despite polls released Monday.

Those polls showed Doggett trailing his opponent, Rep. Phil Gramm, R-College Station, by 12

she said, adding that a large turnout would help her husband's Senate bid. She also cited the comefrom-behind victory of Gov. Mark White — who polls at noon on elec-

She said she remained positive in spite of what she labeled as "voter intimidation" and "dirty tricks" by Republicans on behalf of Gramm.

"All our signs were torn down in Midland. The Houston office was broken into," she said. And a Republican ad, done only in Spanish and aired in El Paso, said that polling places had a list of 300 illegally registered voters who would be arrested if they went to the polls. "They had to withdraw that ad," she said.

Her husband, she said, is committed to public education, Social Security, the Texas Retirement System and the family farm and is opposed to the placement of a highlevel nuclear waste site in Texas.

Gramm, she said, voted for an amendment that required only a one-house override of a state veto of such a nuclear site. The original proposal, which then-Gov. Bill Clements, a Republican, supported, would have required a majority vote of both houses of Congress to override a state veto.

Gramm has said he worked for a state veto of the waste site.

Chilean cabinet resigns

SANTIAGO, Chile - The top civilian in President Augusto Pinochet's military government has led a resignation of the entire Cabinet, saying his 15-month campaign for a peaceful transition from military rule to democracy has failed.

Pinochet, an army general who seized power in a 1973 coup, was scheduled to swear in new members of a 16-man Cabinet this evening, the Interior Ministry announced.

Bonfire Night celebrated

LEWES, England - Effigies of coal strike rivals Arthur Scargill and Ian MacGregor went up in smoke as the south England town of Lewes celebrated its annual Bonfire Night.

Bonfire Night commemorates the discovery of the Nov. 5, 1605, plot to blow up King James while he was opening the English Parliament.

The plot by Guy Fawkes and at least a dozen ther Roman Catholics dissatisfied with the Protestant government was defused.

VIOLENCE — A Fort Worth Police Tactical units stands outside the General Dynamics plant in White Settlement, Monday afternoon. Trouble broke out with the striking workers of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace workers. Police reportedly arrested seven union members on the first day of the strike.

Picket line violence

Cops quell violence at General Dynamics plant

FORT WORTH (AP) — Violence marked the first day of picketing at General Dynamics Fort Worth Division as police and firefighters used tear gas and firehoses to quell rock- and bottle-throwing outside the aircraft manufacturing plant.

An official of the union striking against the F-16 fighter plant, Fort Worth's largest employer with more than 15.000 workers, said calm had returned to the picket lines late Monday. "This union is trying to get this thing orderly," said

O.D. Wright, a business representative and strike coordinator for the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers. The Machinists' union, which represents 6,400 workers, voted Sunday night to strike after rejecting a three-year contract offered by the defense contractor. The strike is the first at the plant since 1946.

"The only time I saw any pickets lose their cool was when a car tried to run him down," Wright said. "You get mobs. It's the enthusiastic crowds, and I'm not sure all those people belong to this union.'

At least seven people were arrested as strikers attempted to block cars being driven into the plant by nonstriking employees, said acting White Settlement City Manager Bob Salinas. The main entrance to the plant is located in White Settlement, a Fort Worth suburb.

A state judge granted General Dynamics a restraining order against mass picketing, but a union official said the court went beyond the bounds of state law and the order would be appealed.

Salinas said a group of 200 to 300 workers were chanting outside the gates and some were "trying to slow down traffic" entering the facility Monday morning. Two of four arrested in the morning were taken into custody after tires on cars in the area of the plant were punctured, he said.

White Settlement firefighters used hoses and police lobbed tear gas to end a disturbance in the afternoon after an angry mob tossed rocks and bottles at cars entering and leaving the plant. About 40 members of the Fort Worth Police Department's tactical squad stood shoulder to shoulder blocking the main gate.

Salinas said three men arrested for disorderly conduct posted bond and were released. He said there were no injuries, but employees of television station WFAA said one of their photographers, Russ Bauman, was knocked unconscious when he was hit in the head with a full bottle of beer. They said Bauman was treated at Harris Hospital in Fort Worth and released.

"Personally, I think it was a couple of hot heads in the group and they decided to get rid of the bottles," Salinas

By a margin of 98 percent, members of District Lodge 776 of the Machinists' union voted 4,936-108 Sunday in favor of the strike.

Union officials had expected some 1,200 office and clerical workers to honor their picket lines, but a company spokesman said that those workers crossed the picket lines to go to work Monday.

The company said it would try to keep the plant running by using management and supervisory personnel.

Ex-chief offers testimony

PHILADELPHIA - Just before the beginning of the city's fourth police corruption trial in 31/2 years, a former police officer pleaded guilty to conspiracy, extortion and racketeering and agreed to testify against his colleagues

Former officer Raymond Stern, 32, agreed Monday to testify about other officers who allegedly shook down video poker machine vendors.

His plea came before jury selection in the case of five former policemen accused of extorting about $350,000 to conceal prostitution and other illegal activities.

Jailed woman released

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. - A woman who admitted trying to self-abort her baby in the ninth month could have been jailed for 90 days, but was given an unconditional discharge and no jail term after a judge heard Prosecutors on Monday dropped charges of criminal negligence against Linette Jenkins, 20. She then pleaded guilty to attempted selfabortion, a misdemeanor.

A prosecutor said new evidence showed that Ms. Jenkins had received improper medical attention that could have helped caused the death of her baby.

On May 10, Ms. Jenkins cut her abdomen with a scalpel, then became frightened and closed the wound. When bleeding persisted she was rushed to a hospital, where her baby died 30 hours after being born.

Man shoots GOP worker

BOSTON (AP) — A campaign worker for Presidnt Reagan suffered wounds from stone fragments that ricocheted when a man fired two shots from a taxi and screamed "Reagan's next" before fleeing, police and witnesses said.

The shooting occurred after "a confrontation between Mondale and Reagan supporters" near the Reagan-Bush headquarters in Boston on Monday night, said Peter Woloschuk, a police spokesman.

The campaign worker, Gary Vailani, 19, of Hull, sustained minor injuries when he was struck by stone fragments from a building, Woloschuk said.

According to the police report, groups of Mondale and Reagan supporters passing out campaign literature traded shouts Monday night at a subway station on the Boston Common when a cab pulled up and a man in white jumped out.

"The guy goes over to a Mondale guy, and starts harassing him," said Bob O'Koniewski, 23, of Malden, state administrator for the Reagan-Bush campaign in Death cannot kill priest's message

The recovery of the Rev. Jerzy Popieluszko's body from the icy waters of a reservoir in northern Poland on Oct. 30 sent shudders throughout the civilized world.

One can only imagine the horror of Father Popieluszko's final hours, because the precise details of his disappearance and death probably will remain a mystery. But we do know that the parish priest was dragged from his car on the night of Oct. 19 after delivering an impassioned sermon supporting Solidarity, the outlawed trade union. The suspects — three secret police officers — then presumably drove to a remote location, beat him to death, and tossed his body into the truck of their car. Whereupon they dumped the corpse into the Wloclawek Reservoir.

Although Warsaw denies any involvement in this heinous crime, the cleric was constantly harassed by communist functionaries. Rocks were thrown through the windows of his tiny apartment in the church rectory, and there were several break-ins as well as threats on his life. Earlier this year, the Polish government accused him of anti-state activities. And approximately six weeks before his disappearance, the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia scored his sermons as "anti-Soviet broadsides" and criticized Polish authorities for allowing him to speak out.

Numerous church officials cautioned Father Popieluszko about his outspokenness and the threat it posed to the Polish government. Still, the courageous priest continued to conduct the monthly "Masses for the Fatherland" at St. Stanislaw Kostka Church, where overflow crowds gathered to hear his eloquent appeals for freedom and dignity.

One of his most memorable Masses was held on Sept. 25, 1983, when he concluded his message with these words: "Only a nation that ... loves truth can go on and create for the future. ... Where the lie is a way officially cultivated there is no room for truth. ...

Father Popieluszko's prophetic words will continue to haunt communist officials as they discover they can kill a charismatic priest, but they cannot his spirit.

Millions by mail

If there are a lot of poor people in America it's their own fault. Every time I open my mail someone wants to GIVE me money. The letters are addressed to me personally. Some enclose checks, and others certificates, bonds and Let me give you an idea of what my mail was like yesterday. I received one letter from an insurance company that was willing ay me $1,000 a month for the rest of my life if I came down with ANY kind of illness. I didn't even have to take a medical examination. "Yes, Mr. Buchwald," the writer said, "all you have to do is get sick and you will receive $1,000 a month no matter what your state of health is at the present time."

The next letter was from First National Bank of Wilmington, Delaware. Thomas Campenni, the president of the bank, was offering to deposit in my account $50,000 as a line of credit, with no collateral up front, which I could use at my own discretion. To show me he meant business he was even offering me an immediate cash advance of $2,500 and a personalized checkbook which I could use against my account.

You can imagine how surprised I was to get this letter. For one thing, I've never lived in Delaware, and to my knowledge have never met Tom. But somehow he took a liking to me and decided he would trust me for 50 big ones, without me having to set my foot in his bank in Wilmington.

I was about to send for the money when I glanced at the next envelope. It was a biggie. On the front was a great cellophane window which said, and I'm not making this up, "ART BUCHWALD SHALL BE PAID ONE MILLION DOLLARS IN CASH -GUARANTEED IN EQUAL AN-NUAL INSTALLMENTS OF $50,000 00 AND PAYMENTS MAY ACTUALLY DOUBLE TO TWO MILLION DOLLARS." There was a nice sketch of Ed McMahon on the envelope so I ripped it open.

Well, it was just as simple as it sounded. I had been assigned nine exclusive PERSONAL prize numbers and if I sent in the Gold Label I was eligible to participate in the American Publishers Sweepstakes. I would be guaranteed the money if one of my numbers had already been drawn. In a personal letter, Ed said that he would give me the check for the one million himself. I didn't have to subscribe to any of the magazines that Ed was pitching, but he indicated I'd be a fool if I didn't.

Now unlike Thomas Campenni, 1 do know Ed McMahon, and he's a al guy. Ed doesn't throw that kind of money around unless he means it. So I immediately sent in my prize-winning numbers to him and I guess it will just be a matter of time until Ed will send for me to give me my first down payment.

The other mail was peanuts compared to McMahon's letter. One brokerage firm sent me what looked like a U.S. Treasury Bond which would go in my portfolio as soon as I opened an account with them. Hertz mailed me a PLATINUM card which guaranteed a brandnew car would be waiting by the ramp when I got off my private plane at any airport in the United States. American Express enclosed a Gold Credit Card and informed me they had upped my credit to $25,000. A computer company wanted to send me $2,500 worth of software as a gift if I bought one of their micros, and a publisher wanted to know how many books he could send me FREE if I joined his First Edition Club.

As I said, this was a typical sampling of my mail for one day. It wasn't a bad haul, but nothing out of the ordinary. On some days companies want to send me gold bullion from their valuts; other days I get digital watches from Indian reservations, and last week I got two free airline tickets from a real estate development company in Orlando, Fla.

There are thousands of firms and individuals who keep offering me something for nothing, and only a fool would not take advantage of their generosity.

So show me a person in this country who is always crying poor, and I'll show you someone who doesn't open his mail.

Honesty exacts heavy price

WASHINGTON - Now and then, a lonely hero appears deep in the compounds of government. He becomes convinced that pollution must be seen and smelled to be combated, that corruption hidden is corruption heightened. He convinces himself that good will overcome evil if the facts are known. So he becomes a whistle blower.

He knows, of course, that exposure could cost him his livelihood and lay him open to harassment. Yet he comes forward and condemns the wrongdoing. Thereafter, the scenario seldom varies. The villain in the drama is quickly surrounded by paid obfuscators and is given the full protection of the U.S. government. But the hero is isolated and intimidated, harried and hassled.

It's almost always the same old story; only the cast of characters is different. In this account, the lonesome whistle blower is John Hnatio, a security specialist for the Energy Department. He dared to disagree with his superior, Robert O'Brien, who allegedly had informed the president that safeguards at the nation's nuclear weapons plants

"I wish I could share your views on the adequacy of protection..." wrote Hnatio, "but my experience and knowledge of the program dictates otherwise."

mind that Hnatio was right and O'Brie wrong. This offended O'Brien, who is now the director of the Office of Safeguards and Security. He evidently asked a subordinate to find out how he could get rid of the meddlesome Hnatio. The employee who was asked put it all down in an internal memo, which has been obtained by my associates John Dillon and Indy Badhwar.

"O'Brien requested that I check with personnel to see if we could fire (Hnatio)," the memo states. It then goes on to tell what the employee learned from the personnel people, who apparently are skilled at

According to the memo, there were two options. The first was to "reassign him as requested." The other was more sinister. "If you want to fire him start documenting records," the memo advised.

It then explained how to do this: "Establish good performance standards - if he is rated unacceptable, then he can be reassigned, downgraded, etc. If he continues to fail to follow instructions, (this) can lead to dismissal - after warnings, reprimands, etc." The memo closed with the estimate that the process could take six to eight months." Hnatio's superiors wasted no time getting started.

He had been summoned to Capitol Hill to brief an investigator for Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., on security lapses. For disclosing the poor security at nuclear plants, Hnatio drew a reprimand.

Then a "warning letter" — similar to one given to alcohol or drug abusers — was put in Hnatio's file. (His addiction, apparently, was to telling the truth.)

Hnatio went to the department's inspector general who conducted an investigation, cleared him of any wrongdoing, ordered the reprimand and warning letter removed from his file, and saw to it that Hnatio

Harm's way

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I am in high school and I am very lonely. A boy has been asking me to go out with him, but everyone says if I do I will get a bad reputation. All my friends have boyfriends and I am so lonely I don't think I really care.

DEAR F.G.: It would be extremely short-sighted of you to ruin your reputation and even your life, if you are not careful, by yielding to temptations that are wrong. Think of it this way: Compare your loneliness to physical hunger. Now hunger can be very real, and it is the body's way of telling us that we need nourishment. But there are both good and bad ways of satisfying that hunger.

You could grab the first thing that came along and eat it - but if it was poisonous, it not only would not satisfy your hunger, it might kill you. On the other hand, some nourishing food would not only take away your hunger pangs, but make you a stronger person.

Loneliness is a lot like hunger and you can solve it in ways that will not harm you or ways that will truly meet your deepest needs. Right now, you are being tempted to satisfy your loneliness in a way that will harm you and not satisfy you. Don't be foolish; you have a whole life ahead of you, and it would be tragic if you failed to discover the real meaning of life.

What can you do? First of all, think of ways you can meet new people and counteract your oneliness. Are there clubs or activities in your school where you could meet others? In addition, an active church will have many activities for teen-agers that will help

Most of all, realize that Jesus Christ wants to come into your life and fill the empty place you feel. God can use your loneliness to show you your need of Christ. Christ loves you, and He wants to enter your heart and be your cons-

Two languages are better than one

I would like to thank you and Mr.

Luis Rios for your article in Spanish ("Around the Rim," page Thursdays). In this country of - "you're in America, you should speak English only" - it's nice to know we too have the right to freedom of speech. I have yet to find the definition of 'American," as a lot of people say "if you're in America you should speak English, not Spanish," but just because our color is brown doesn't mean we're not Americans. Even though our ancestors came from Mexico, we ourselves are Americans, because we were born here; in fact some of our ancestors were already here during the Spanish-American war, so who can really say who is a true American or what he or she should speak!

I know some people don't want this weekly article written in Spanish because they can't read it, just like we learned English, anybody can learn Spanish.

I'm sure that people who consider themselves "true Americans" because they only speak English have ancestors that came from farther lands than ours

I consider myself an American born, but with Mexican heritage, who can read and write both languages - which to me is to my advantage.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am a 25-year-old female. A while back I had a sudden onset of swelling of my left foot and ankle. There was no known injury. At first, doctors thought it was tendonitis, but a car-diovascular doctor diagnosed it as lymphedema. Throughout my pregnancy it was worse, then improved afterward. What causes this to happen? Will leg elevation Lymphedema is a failure of our lymphatic system to do its drainage work adequately. Lymph is the fluid part of blood. It oozes out through vessel walls to bathe every body cell. To prevent our body from literally drowning in lymph, a vast and complex network of suctioning tubes, the lymphatics, vacuum up lymph from tissue and return it to circulation. Lymphedema, swelling, occurs if any part of the lymphatic system gets blocked.

Blockage can occur in many ways. Infection can cause it; so can an injury. It can happen if blood flow is impeded, as from the changing structures in pregnancy. The lower part of the body is most often affected by this.

You can help get the lymph fluid back into circulation in a number of ways. The common advice is to elevate the legs above heart level for as long as you can comfortably do that and as many times a day as you can. Lying down with legs resting on a firm pillow is a good technique. Support stockings also help, especially those customized to your leg structure. Exercise on a regular basis helps as large muscles contract, forcing fluid into the lymph collection network.

When lymphedema is massive and of long duration, thickening can occur in the skin, posing a

THE LOSER says "It may be possible but it's too difficult"

Ray Andrews President, Highland Mall Assn.

A vigorous business environment for Big Spring is a high priority with Ray Andrews. "I believe the momentum of the Heart of the City Project is a good beginning of revitalization of business." He'd like to see "us all band together" to improve the products and services offered to consumers. Then, he believes, consumers will be loyal to Big Spring. Ray, manager of Montgomery Ward, also serves on the Business Committee of the Chamber of Commerce. Active in Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church, Ray is a lector, member of the Finance Committee and Catholic Education Committee and a Eucharistic (lay) minister. He's a member of the American Business Club. His wife, Evangeline, is a teacher at Moss Elementary School, and daughters Renee and Stacey attend Kentwood, so the Andrews family is involved in school activities. His hobbies are photography, bowling, camping and skiing. Ray has been with Ward's 14 years, moving here from Lubbock 2 years ago. One of his nominations came from an employee who said "Ray Andrews is interested in doing whatever is going to help the community." Ray stresses "working together," both in his management style and in his involvement in the community.

Cowboys have backs to wall

At the beginning of the season football fans and experts alike figured this would be a year of transition for the Dallas Cowboys.

It's week 11 in the NFL and the Cowboys are in first place in the East, along with the Giants, Redskins and Cardinals. All with 6-4 records.

The 1984 Dallas Cowboys really give the average NFL fan more than he bargains for, not to mention avid Cowboys

When you think of transition within the Cowboys organization you think of a 10-6 or 9-7 season with the Pokes having no problem reaching the playoffs.

Yes, the Cowboys are still in first, but all four losses have come to teams within the conference. That is where this year's Cowboys start to play with the fan's football IQ.

Year in and year out Dallas has little trouble with the teams in the East. There might be the ocassional splits, particulary Philadelphia and Washington.

Critics say Coach Tom Landry team's play hasn't been up to par for the Silver Season. It's not easy to be invincible when you lose two quality wide receivers, a veteran tight end. A young and leaky offensive line coupled with the upand-down play of two quarterbacks doesn't help matters

To top it off, your best defensive tackle wants a million dollars to report to camp late, overweight and out-of-shape.

The Cowboys' struggles get tougher as the season draws to close. Of the final six games, four are against St. Louis, New England, Washington and Miami. Philadelphia is no pushover either.

For the first time since 1974 it appears they might not reach post-season play, and I love it.

Not the fact they are struggling, but they are keeping their head above water and not drowning. It so easy watching them win the division and get into the playoffs easily. It's fun knowing they are fighting for their NFL lives trying to reach their every-season goal that has evaded teams like New Orleans, Buffalo, Chicago and Baltimore for a number of seasons.

Right now Dallas is showing what they are made of Every team has its rebuilding eras, which the Cowboys are now going through. It affects some teams more than it does others. Dallas is not having a disastrous year. The Cowboys are not in the cellar with a 1-10 record.

Instead they are fighting for a post-season playoff spot Right now the odds are against them during the final six rounds of the bout.

One thing is for sure, regardless if the Pokes lose this fight, their opponents will know they have beaten a worthy

Longhorns slip one place in poll

'Killer Frogs' jump ahead five spots

By The Associated Press

The Washington Huskies have become the first college football team this season to be ranked No. 1 in four successive weeks but Texas, which had been second, slipped to third place behind

Washington received 50 of 58 first-place votes and 1,147 of a posible 1,160 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscasters in this week's Associated Press poll following a 44-14 rout of California. The Huskies meet Southern Cal this week in a showdown for the Rose Bowl.

However, Texas needed a field goal in the final seconds to edge Texas Tech 13-10 and the Longhorns, who trailed Washington 1,184-1,121 last week with 60 voters participating, received one first-place vote and 1,032 points this time. Meanwhile, Nebraska crushed Iowa State 44-0 and climbed from third to second with four first-place votes and 1,062

The next five teams - Brigham Young, South Carolina, Miami, Oklahoma State and Georgia - remained the same as last week. BYU trounced Texas-El Paso 42-9 and received the remaining three first-place votes and 1,008 points, South Carolina shaded North Carolina State 35-28 and received 921 points, Miami downed Louisville 38-23 and received 832 points, Oklahoma State trimmed Kansas State 34-6 and received 781 points and Georgia turned back Memphis State and received 719

Oklahoma rebounded from its only loss and crushed Missouri 49-7, moving up from 10th to ninth with 686 points while Boston College dropped from ninth to 16th after losing to Penn State 37-30. Florida, a 24-3 winner over Auburn, jumped from 13th to 10th with 665 points

The Second Ten consists of Florida State, LSU, Ohio State, Southern Cal, Texas Christian, Boston College, Southern Methodist, Iowa, West Virginia and Auburn, which was No. 1 in the preseason poll

Last week, it was Auburn, West Virginia, Florida, Florida State, LSU, Ohio State, Iowa, Southern Cal. SMU and TCU.

There are no new teams in this week's Top Twenty.

HAPPY WITH SCORE — Timmy Smith (33) holds the ball after scoring a touchdown against the University of Texas last Saturday. Although the Raiders did not win, their impressive 13-10 defense against the Longhorns cost the Austin bunch their second place ranking in the latest AP College Football poll. The Longhorns are now

Court ruling could open door for moves

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League has been told by the Supreme Court that it cannot block future franchise shifts by its teams, theoretically opening the way for professional sports teams to hop-scotch the country in response to the best offers.

Whether that will happen is another matter.

Without comment, the high court on Monday left intact a lower court finding that the NFL had exceeded antitrust limits by attempting to stop the move of the Raiders from Oakland to Los Angeles

Raiders owner Al Davis brought the suit against the NFL when the league attempted to block his move from Oakland into a Los Angeles territory that had previously been left vacant by the Rams move to Anaheim. The case now returns to the 9th Circuit Court of Appeals for settlement of the $49 million award to Davis and the Los Angeles Coliseum ordered by the lower court. Jim Heffernan, NFL director of public relations, hinted at the possibility of franchise instability. He noted that, after the Raiders case went to court, the Colts moved from Baltimore to Indianapolis

He said it was "correct" that the league felt powerless to oppose the Colts move because of rulings in the Raiders case.

without challenge.

He wouldn't speculate on whether other NFL teams might begin looking for new homes. "Two teams have done it," he said.

Recent reports indicate that the New Orleans Saints have been talking with Jacksonville, Fla., officials concerning a possible move, although the Saints officially have denied such contact.

Cities such as Phoenix, Ariz., and Memphis, Tenn., have also been listed as attractive markets that might someday receive expansion

Heffernan said that the Supreme not the kind that required review need for some relief from antitrust laws. Only professional baseball enjoys such immunity and its club owners still have the final say on franchise shifts.

Heffernan said that NFL plans for expansion will be implemented only "when we receive some relief from antitrust regulations. That's been (Commissioner Pete Rozelle's) position for a couple of years now.

In addition to seeking that relief, Heffernan said the league would also await a final ruling by the appeals court and then petition the Supreme Court for another

Court action underlined the NFL's by the court. The effect will be very good and beneficial for everyone involved - not only the Raiders and the Los Angeles Coliseum, but for cities everywhere.

> A possible stumbling block for teams seeking to relocate could be contractual bindings to their present city, such as long-term leases on stadiums. Davis moved the Raiders after his lease with Oakland-Alameda County Stadium had expired, and Robert Irsay moved the Colts at the end of contractual tie to Memorial Stadium in Baltimore.

> An official of the National Basketball Association, which is involved in its own legal action against the Los Angeles Clippers after that team bolted without approval from San Diego, thinks the NFL case won't necessarily apply to pro basketball.

McEnroe takes championship before suspension dished out

By The Associated Press STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) John McEnroe, though saddled with his latest suspension, left Sweden with a promise after winning the $315,000 Stockholm Open-Scandinavian tennis championships "I'll be back for the Davis Cup final," McEnroe said after his 6-2, 3-6, 6-2 victory over Sweden's Mats Wilander on Monday.

"Maybe this was good preparation for the final. I don't mind if the people cheer and support their America. I wish I did."

The tennis-crazy Swedes would certainly love to see the world's No. 1 player in the Davis Cup final, scheduled Dec. 16-18 at Goteborg, and McEnroe says he will arrange to take his penalty so it will not keep him from playing.

Jimmy Connors says he is not certain he will play the final because his wife, Patti, is expecting their second child that week.

McEnroe exceeded the $7,500 limit for the year after being fined $2,100 for "unsportsmanlike conown. I don't get that support in duct" in a stormy semifinal Sunday against Swedish Davis Cup star Anders Jarryd.

David Cooper, assistant administrator of the men's International Pro Tennis Council, said in New York Monday that McEnroe 'elected to waive his right of appeal" and accept a suspension. 'He will be suspended for 42 days, beginning immediately.

If McEnroe does not play any tournaments or exhibitions, he could return in 21 days, which is the first Tuesday of the Australian Open starting Nov. 26.

The 61-year-old coach announced Monday that he'll step down from the Buccaneers' helm at the end of 1984 campaign, giving way to a younger man he'd like to help by procuring the talent needed to transform the struggling team into a winner.

"It's a decision I didn't want to make ... But let's face it. We're not getting the job done," the only field boss in the nine-year history of the franchise told a news conference at the Bucs' training complex. "Maybe getting some young blood in here will help.

Suns burning brightly in early season

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The Phoenix Suns are the talk of the National Basketball Association with a stunning 5-0 start, which is a shock to everybody but themselves.

"None of this is surprising to me," said forward Larry Nance. "We worked so hard in training camp and it is just carrying over. A lot of leaders were created in

They were needed.

Veteran forward Maurice Lucas, the club's leading rebounder last free agent, waiting for a new contract offer.

Backup center Rick Robey played sparingly due to persistent soreness in his right heel, a carryover from offseason surgery to remove bone spurs.

Then, on Oct. 9 in the second game of the exhibition schedule, all-star guard Walter Davis tore three ligaments in his left knee. Davis, the team's leading scorer last season, is expected to be sidelined until mid-December.

At full strength at the start of last vear. Phoenix went 4-4 in preseason and then opened the season with 13 losses in the first 18 games - the franchise's worst start ever.

This year, the Suns were 3-4 in exhibition play and many predicted a worse fate once the real games began.

So what happened? Seven-foot center James Edwards scored 30 points to pace a 122-114 win at Golden State in the Oct. 26 season-opener and poured in 20 two nights later in a 102-87 win at Seattle.

Rookie guards Michael Holton and Jay Humphries, picking up the slack when Kyle Macy missed his first pro game in five years with a Houston foot injury, combined for 26 points in a 99-96 win here Oct. 30 over the Los Angeles Clippers.

Nance then scored a career-high 44 points in a 139-130 tripleovertime victory over Portland last Thursday night here. And, after veteran center-forward Alvan Adams' 18-point performance sparked a 105-93 win in Dallas, the Suns find themselves at 5-0 — the best start in their 17-year NBA history.

"This is not by accident," said Coach John MacLeod. "We have great chemistry and this is the hardest clubs we've ever had. This ballclub gives us a 100 percent effort every night and it's been very interesting watching this team

"In training camp, we worked this group harder than any other and they responded. These guys are hungry. They're playing like they have something to prove. And we're playing basketball the way it should be played — unselfishly."

The often fair-weather Phoenix fans have noticed. The largest crowd ever for a home opener, 13,665, showed up at Arizona Veterans Memorial Coliseum on Oct. 30 while the Portland game

Redskins burn Atlanta 27-14

WASHINGTON (AP) - A little sleight of hand and a successful gamble by quarterback Joe Theismann has the Washington Redskins sitting in the pack at the top of the stairs in the National Conference's Eastern Division.

The Redskins downed Atlanta 27-14 in a National Football League game Monday night to join Dallas, St. Louis and the New York Giants atop the division, each with 6-4 marks.

The Redskins were nursing a 7-0 lead midway through the second quarter when Theismann engineered a drive from the Redskin 30-yard line to the Atlanta one.

Atlanta twice stopped John Riggins for no gain, but Redskin Coach Joe Gibbs elected to try again on

"I called a power play for John off tackle," said Gibbs.

But Theismann, who completed 19 of 25 passes for 170 yards and a touchdown, had other ideas.

"On second down, I saw the offsides safety come up really quick so I decided to take a chance," said Theismann, who fooled not only the Falcons but his own teammates when he faked the handoff and bootlegged around the left side of the Atlanta line.

"Fourteen years gives you seniority to call plays. Only a quarterback can call a play like that. You have to have a feeling," said Theismann Had the play failed, Theismann added, he "would have been booed and would have been here explaining to you why. Gibbs, though surprised, said the play was fine with him. "It's all right as long as he makes it." Atlanta's fourth straight loss dropped the Falcons to 3-7 and into the cellar in the NFC West. "I think the players came to play but we had some injuries that further put us in a bind," said Coach

The Falcons, who lost starters William Andrews and Billy "White Shoes" Johnson earlier this season, had quarterback Steve Bartkowski leave the game in the first half with a sprained knee.

Bartkowski's replacement, Mike Moroski, completed eight of 15 passes for 99 yards and was intercepted once.

The Falcons proved more effective on the cround where Gerald Riggs rushed to: 13. yards on 27 carries.Riggins rusned... for ... 100 yards, the fourth time he has reached the century mark this the talk turned to the continuing battle for first-place in the division. "We are still beat up and in the process of getting better," said

"We are now able to

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, NOV. 7, 1984

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The morning finds it advisable not to make any financial commitment and to wait until afternoon before you engage in decisions where the practical phases of your affairs are concerned.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You can be most practical now and find ways to economize. Build a reserve for any possible emergencies. TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Although a personal affair may displease you in the morning, don't make any drastic changes, and also in your appearance. GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Morning is not good for making any private plans otherwise you lose out where your finest interest is concerned. MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) A good pal may not agree with your ideas in the morning, so await the afternoon and then present your plan quietly. LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Morning is not good for forcing anything in the world of business so await the afternoon and then be tactful. VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Look at every angle of any changes you desire to make early and then carry through in a wise fashion.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Find the best way to handle your responsibilities early and later you are able to get backing from a bigwig.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You may find it difficult to gain your objectives early because of an obstinate individual, but perseverence wins the game. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Early handle problematical affairs at work that are difficult and then all should go more smoothly.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You want entertainment but first count the cost well and forget the most expensive kind.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Some home affair could take up a little of your time in the morning, but the situation soon rights itself.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Find better ways of getting your work done in the morning before you start handling communications that are important.

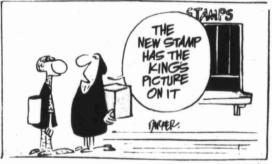

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be able to put practical plans in the most precise order, although in earliest youth will seem to be mulling things over too much before reaching a decision. Upon reaching maturity your progeny can become a very successful business person.

"The Stars impel; they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you! 1984, The McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

EMPLOYMENT AGENCY

Quality is a commodity that is not emphasized as much as it is used to be. But when you, the consumer, spend your money on a product or service, you deserve to get the best available. That's what they strive for at Midway Plumbing and Supply.

Their showroom is stocked with the finest in fixtures and supplies - from faucets to a complete line of bath fixtures.

Gary Belew and Arvin Henry, co-owners of Midway Plumbing and Supply, stress that their company's main aim is to provide quality service to their customers.

The firm is moving soon to a new and larger location in a solar heated building now under construction across I-20 from its present location. The building will house a larger workshop, larger showroom, and a display area for sales and information on solar

In addition to Gary and Arvin, the staff includes Bonnie Foster and Colleen Henry in the showroom/office; Alan Matthies and Chuck Hesson, plumbers; and Paul Dunlap and David Buchanan, helpers.

Midway Plumbing and Supply is located about six miles from Big Spring. Take the Moss Lake Exit off I-20 East. Phone 267-2586.

Three-Shops-In-One At Bob's Custom Woodwork

It's hard to think of any home or business remodelling or repair job that Bob's Custom Woodwork couldn't handle.

Bob's shop is really three businesses in one; General Contractor, "Furniture Doctor" Repair Service and the Strip Shop. As a General Contractor, Bob's provides turn-key construction on room additions, everything from slab to roof, including sheetrock, painting, electrical, plumbing and cabinets.

Remodelling is a specialty, including redesigned kitchens and baths. Bob's advice and counsel is an invaluable service to the homeowner who's in a quandry about where to begin remodelling. "The Furniture Doctor" service offers mplete repairs to furniture in your or in the shop. This includes the repairs and refinishing of fine antiques. Bob's has hardto-find specialty hardware for trunks, chests and other antique pieces. In the Strip Shop, they do wood and metal stripping for home and industry. They will do the stripping and refinishing — or they'll strip an item and provide complete supplies for the do-it-yourselfer.

Bob's installs microwave ovens, dishwashers, and Majestic heat circulating fireplaces and mantels.

There's no job too small or too large for Bob Noyes and his crew. Bob does the estimates and gives his personal supervision to all jobs. His wife, Jan, oversees the Strip Shop, handles bookkeeping and customer service. Bob Kinman and John Nesbett, general carpentry. Armando Nunez, general carpentry, counter tops, installation of cabinets, custom doors and acoustical ceilings; Vickie Bell and Craig Neighbors. stripping and refinishing; Elvin Bearden, furniture repair Bob's is located in Building 613 in the Industrial Park. Their number is 267-5811.

If you give a hoot about finding new customers, you'll advertise your products and services in this handy directory. In addition to your ad, you get a business feature plus it's repeated in the Window Shopper. Ask your Herald ad person about it.
