VA ceremony

It is a time to honor those who served our country in the military. That's what Veterans Day is all about and this year's theme "A Grateful Nation Remembers" will be honored nationwide. The Veterans Administration Medical Center in Big Spring will hold its Veterans Day ceremonies at 11 a.m. Monday in front of the hospital located at 2400 Gregg. Keynote speaker will be Harvey Holcomb, past department commander of the American Legion in Texas.

Outside: Warmer

Highs in the lower 70s are forecast today with southerly winds, 10 to 20 miles per hour. Tonight, look for lows in the upper 40s. Highs in the mid 70s are forecast for Monday.

Reagan disciplines CIA

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — President Reagan approved disciplinary action Saturday against an unspecified number of junior-level CIA employees for their role in preparing a Nicaraguan rebel manual, but he insisted that the booklet's advice on "neutralizing" Nicaraguan officials violated no laws.

Roussel said the disciplinary action, recommended by the CIA inspector general, could entail letters of reprimand or suspension but he gave no details. He said CIA Director William J. Casey would brief Congress on the matter this week. Reagan's acceptance of the inspector general's findings came three days after he dismissed criticism of the manual as "much ado about nothing" and denied that the booklet teaches "someone how to assassinate." On Friday, Sen. Daniel Patrick Moynihan, D-N.Y., vice chairman of the Senate Intelligence Committee, termed the report "appalling" for its failure to acknowledge that the manual adopts "the practices of the Marxist-Leninist insurgencies in Asia and the Western Hemisphere."

Women forgotten legion

By CAROL BALDWIN
Staff Writer

What do Bernice Silen, Georgia Chatman and Peggy Wilson have in common with the legendary Molly Pitcher? They are part of the often forgotten legion of women veterans. In the United States today, more than 1,100,000 women are veterans of military service. They make up 4.1 percent of the 28.2 million total veteran population. This year, Veterans' Day will be observed nationally on Nov.

12, a day after the traditional observation. In conjunction President Reagan has proclaimed Nov. 11-17 "National Women Veterans Recognition Week." Molly Pitcher worked behind the battle lines offering assistance during the American Revolution. In the years since that time, women have served in many facets of the military. Mrs. Silen, Mrs. Chatman and Ms. Wilson today are all employees of the local Veterans' Administration Medical Center. They were all in the Army. Mrs. Silen joined the World War II nursing staff in the 1940s. Mrs. Chatman and Ms. Wilson were both in the military during

Voices from the Great War echo past

John Walker remembers World War I as the "horse days," a war when horses and mules were important in combat strategy and submarines were the most feared weapon available.

It was more than 60 years ago, and young men were lying about their ages just for a chance to participate in the war effort. Patriotism was running high as boys of 14 and 15 told recruiters they were 19 or 20. Because the nation needed young men, there were very few questions asked. Walker and a number of other World War I veterans met in Big Spring Saturday for a district

World War I Barracks convention. There was business to be taken care of, but the veterans seemed to enjoy most talking about the war they participated in so many years ago. Walker is 86 years old now, but he was only 17 when he volunteered for the Great War. His dad was a blacksmith. Walker was assigned to Camp Pike in Arkansas, a wagon company. He remembers shoeing hundreds of mules which would be used by cavalry soldiers. Roy Odom, 90, was 22 when he volunteered for duty. He was a student at North Texas State Normal College and joined eight other volunteers. He trained at Camp Bowie in Fort Worth, and was then sent to a training camp in Brest, France. "I was ready to go to the front when the Armistice was signed," he remembers now. "I never saw any action." Odom was prepared to go to the front when he got the word that "the war was over." He returned to the states 23 months after entering the service. Marion Irland, "the youngest

Hispanics say voting split on racial lines

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The electorate in Tuesday's general election was polarized along racial lines, with whites voting for President Reagan and blacks and Hispanics siding with Walter Mondale, a spokesman for a minority voter registration effort says. Robert Brischetto of the Southwest Voter Registration Education Project said exit polls his organization conducted on Election Day showed strong Hispanic support for Mondale. But the turnout was not enough to turn the tide for the Democratic candidate, who lost by a landslide to the president. "The electorate was polarized. The whites were for Reagan and the blacks and Hispanics were not," he said. "I was not surprised," Brischetto said. "I have predicted all along the Hispanic vote would go strongly for the Democrats, despite the strong tide for Reagan. "The reason is simple if you look at how they (Hispanics) are being affected by Republican policies — unemployment, loss of real income," he said. Brischetto said figures are not in yet, but it appears Hispanics did not turn out at the polls in the numbers that had been expected. Willie Velasquez, head of the voter registration project, said before the election he expected 650,000 Hispanics to vote in Texas, a record number. Exit polls conducted in 26 Texas counties with heavy Hispanic populations, and in Hispanic precincts in New York City, Miami and Los Angeles showed strong support for Mondale in all areas but Miami. In Miami, where the Hispanic

Violent storms strike

By The Associated Press

Hail-laden thunderstorms and tornadoes spanned the nation's midsection today, while snow blanketed parts of the northern Plains and the Great Lakes region and the Pacific Northwest braced for a windy storm system.

Part of a Missouri community was sealed off to prevent looting after tornadoes swept across Missouri, Arkansas and Illinois Friday, killing one woman and injuring 50 other people, battering a shopping center, school and civic center and destroying more than 80 homes.

A tornado watch was in effect today for parts of northern Louisiana, central and southwest Arkansas, western Tennessee, west central and northern Mississippi and northwest Alabama.

Golf ball-sized hail fell near Hot Springs, Little Rock, Morgan and Tyrone, Ark., and Brixley, Mo., and storms dumped large hailstones at Lowell, Charleston, Channahon, Clinton, Toledo, Siegel and Shepardsville, Ill.

Elsewhere in the U.S., three-fourths of an inch of rain at St. Louis by Friday night pushed the area's total rainfall for the season to more than 18½ inches, the wettest fall ever, topping the 1885 mark of just over 18 inches.

Travelers' advisories were in effect for wet snow in northeast Wisconsin and parts of Iowa and Nebraska after 14 to 18 inches of snow fell on Cherry County, Neb., and 10 inches at Mullen. Deerfield, S.D., reported 8 inches of snow.

Light snow fell from northeastern Kansas to western upper Michigan, and travelers' advisories were posted for western and north-central upper Michigan and northeastern Wisconsin. One to three inches of snow fell during the night on northeastern Wisconsin, with 1 to 2 inches reported in upper Michigan.

Another storm system was approaching the northern Pacific Coast, already hit several times this season. Storm, gale and high wind warnings were issued for parts of Oregon, California and Washington.

Locally heavy snow was falling in the Cascade Mountains in Oregon, with up to 10 inches of new snow in the mountains and 2 to 5 inches on the eastern slopes.

Temperatures around the nation at 2 a.m. EST ranged from 18 degrees at Sheridan, Wyo., to 75 degrees at Beaumont and Corpus Christi, Texas.

Burglars strike local autos

Police Saturday were investigating reports of several burglaries of motor vehicles.

Sarah Higgins of 709 E. 14th told police Saturday morning that someone broke into her vehicle parked in front of her residence sometime between 12:30 a.m. and 6:30 a.m. Saturday. Taken in the incident was a classical acoustic guitar valued at $300, a hardshell guitar case valued at $100, a soft guitar case valued at $60, and several cassettes valued at $90.

Sig Rogers of 710 E. 14th told police that someone took two CB radios, valued at $80 each, from his vehicle parked outside his residence between 12:30 a.m. and 6:30 a.m. Saturday.

Before Rogers could report the missing items, someone turned them in to the police department where he identified the equipment. No suspects were listed.

Jessie Hernandez of 1206 Mobile told police Saturday morning that someone had broken into his vehicle while it was parked at 905 E. 15th Friday night. Taken in the incident was a pioneer FM radio/cassette player and a digital clock. The items were valued at $250. Also missing in the incident were several tapes valued at $20.

Richard Victor, a local teacher, told police Saturday morning that someone had broken into the gymnasium at Big Spring High School late Friday night or early Saturday morning. Nothing was reported missing in the incident.

Kathy Maricle of Midland told police Friday night that an unknown man entered an apartment at 1002 N. Main where she was staying and threw a glass object at her, striking her in the face.

Wimley Doyle White Jr. of 1200 S. Gregg told police Friday night that a man assaulted him while he was at work at 1200 S. Gregg. The incident occurred shortly before midnight. White received several bruises and scratches in the incident.

Police arrested Deci Garcia Hernandez, 41, of 203 Lancaster was arrested at NW 3rd and N. Lancaster early Saturday morning. Hernandez was charged with driving while intoxicated. He was transferred to county jail and later bonded out.

Man arrested for burglary

Raul Gonzales Martinez, 27, of 1510 Oriole was transferred to the Howard County Jail Saturday morning following his arrest for burglary, according to reports from the Howard County Sheriff's department.

Martinez was also held for a Bell County warrant for the unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. He was placed under bonds of $5,000 for the burglary charge and $10,000 for the Bell County charge. He remained in county jail Saturday.

Mrs. Paul Kionka told sheriff's deputies Saturday morning that someone had stolen a brass vase from Trinity Memorial Park sometime Friday.

of one another. All three women remember the protective attitude they encountered in the military.

"I never felt alone," Mrs. Silen said. "There was always someone there to help you."

Mrs. Chatman entered the Army in 1966 at Fort McClellan, Ala. She took her LVN training at Brook Army Medical Center in San Antonio, then spent the rest of her military career at Fort Gordon, Ga.

Fort Gordon was a large base, and she said she never encountered any prejudice toward the military. She worked as an LVN throughout her career there. Today, she is an accounting trainee at VAMC.

Although they had varied experiences within the military, all three women recommend the lifestyle to other women because of good benefits and working conditions.

Mrs. Chatman attended the University of Maryland on the GI Bill. She said the military gave her the chance to attend college.

Ms. Wilson said the military gave her the opportunity to tour the United States and Europe. She has worked for the government since her discharge.

Mrs. Chatman said the military "is a great learning experience. It teaches you to be independent away from home and family."

Looking back at the military, Mrs. Silen said: "It seems like it happened in another world."

"I'm glad I had the experience," Mrs. Silen said. "I wish I would have stayed in the military." She left because in the 1940s, the military wanted unmarried women with no children.

Ms. Wilson said the military gave her a chance "to make friends" from all across the nation. "We still keep in contact."

All three women agreed that when people think of veterans, they first think of men and sometimes forget that women have served in many areas of the military.

Throughout this week, a display honoring women veterans will be exhibited in the lobby of the VAMC.

show. In New York, the vote went 67 percent for Mondale and 33 percent for Reagan. And in Los Angeles it was 68 percent for Mondale and 32 percent for Reagan.

Brischetto said the voter registration project used 200 volunteers and a $10,000 General Accounting Office grant to operate the exit poll. To win the grant, the project agreed to include questions on bilingual elections on the exit survey.

The election results drew concern from many Hispanic leaders, including Corpus Christi attorney and activist Tony Bonilla.

"The mistake that's made by the press is they lump the Hispanic vote together. There are a number of Hispanic electorates," he said. Cubans, he said, supported Reagan because they are anti-Fidel Castro.

"They see Reagan as espousing anti-communism," Brischetto said. In Texas, Hispanics voted 79 percent for Mondale and 21 percent for Reagan, the project's exit polls

DPS trooper injured in fight during arrest

Department of Public Safety trooper James Lasater was assaulted early Saturday morning while attempting to arrest a man for driving while intoxicated, according to reports from the Howard County Sheriff's Department.

Arrested in connection with the assault was Leonard Alan Sneed, 33, of 3620 Dixon. Sneed was later charged with driving while intoxicated, resisting arrest and aggravated assault on a police officer.

Reports show that around 2 a.m. Saturday, Trooper Lasater had dropped off his partner and was headed to his residence when a vehicle passed him at a high rate of speed.

Lasater began pursuing the vehicle at Wasson Road and chased the car to 3620 Dixon Street.

Once there, the driver of the vehicle refused to leave his car. A fight broke out, and several members of the Big Spring Police Department arrived on the scene to assist in the arrest.

Lasater was taken to Malone-Hogan Hospital because he complained of difficulty in breathing. He received abrasions to his face, neck and hands, but X-rays showed no serious injuries.

He was released several hours later.

Sneed, who received only minor injuries in the scuffle, was arrested at the scene and taken to the Big Spring Police Department. He was transferred to county jail early Saturday morning.

Sneed was placed under bonds totalling $8,500 set by Judge Lewis Hefflin and posted by a local bonding company. He was released late Saturday morning.

Austin fights traffic deluge

AUSTIN — Seeking ways to reduce traffic congestion, the city is urging large public and private employers to organize commuting pools to take workers to their jobs in vans.

To lead the way, Mayor Ron Mullen and City Manager Jorge Carrasco announced this week that the city will start its own van pooling program on Tuesday.

The program already has signed up enough employees to use a 15-seat van for one area of northeast Austin and a 12-seater for a South Austin neighborhood, they said.

The city will lease the vans and turn them over to employees designated as drivers. Each passenger will be charged $47 a month to cover lease costs, plus fuel, maintenance and insurance.

ATT offers new phone rules

AUSTIN — AT&T Communications has proposed new regulatory rules to the Public Utilities Commission regarding intrastate long distance telephone companies.

The Legislature last year directed the PUC to establish rules, by 1985, governing such service.

AT&T vice president Tom Jones said Friday the company's proposal is designed to "provide equal opportunity to all intrastate long distance carriers in Texas."

"The rules would guarantee that the same rates be charged to those customers in areas of the state where little or no competition exists as is charged in the highly competitive markets," Jones said.

The proposal would protect rural customers, Jones said, by assuring that a long distance company could not discontinue service to an area unless the PUC approved the move and the area was being served by another long distance company, Jones said.

The AT&T proposal also would allow a regulated company to introduce new products and services or establish new rates by giving 15 days notice to the PUC.

Keeping up with the sewage

AUSTIN — In its continuing struggle to handle growing pains, the Austin City Council has authorized allowing a developer to truck sewage from a city waste treatment plant to a private treatment facility near Pflugerville.

The council also agreed that it would not allow new structures to be built in South Austin unless they have existing sewage service permits.

The moratorium will apply to residential and construction building permits in South Austin except for structures which already have sewer permits or won't use the city sewage system.

The trucking plan will allow Nash Phillips-Copus Co. to haul sewage to a manhole leading to a private treatment plant in a subdivision near Pflugerville in northern Travis County. NPC had proposed the idea.

The trucking will enable up to 750 people who have bought homes in South Austin to get sewage service, officials said.

Officials said the trucking could continue for 17 months, until a new sewage treatment plant on the city's south side is built.

Judge restricts union pickets

FORT WORTH — General Dynamics has won a courtroom skirmish with its striking machinists union, gaining a state judge's order barring picketers from walking in front of the aerospace firm's main gate during certain peak hours.

State District Judge William L. Hughes ruled Friday that pickets could stand on either side of the gate driveway, but could not walk in front of the gate during shift changes.

General Dynamics general counsel Hugh King said the company sought the order because it feared that a striker might be struck by a car and be injured, triggering violence between pickets and persons entering or leaving the plant.

Pat L. Lane, president of striking local No. 776 of the machinists union, said the union would contest the ruling at another hearing to be conducted by Hughes Monday.

Selling Mexico to Texans

DALLAS — In an effort to save the country's $1.8 billion tourism industry, a top Mexican government official is conducting a tour of border states to try to convince Americans that, contrary to recent reports, Mexico's highways are safe.

"We want to get our message across," said Jorge Gleesen, director of Mexico's Office of Tourist Assistance. "When you have 9 million tourists and only 12 cases of violence, we feel it is a matter of concern but not a matter of alarm."

In separate incidents last August, two groups of Texans were stopped and robbed by men posing as police near San Luis Potosi. In one incident, one of the victims was raped.

Poles given asylum

DETROIT — Two Poles who sought political asylum after jumping ship here in August can remain in the United States for at least a year, a federal immigration official said.

After one year, the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service will decide whether Grzegorz Solowiej and Waldemar Kaczmarzski must be deported or may stay, INS district director James Montgomery said Friday.

Solowiej, 25, and Kaczmarzski, 23, have found homes and jobs since their defection and said they hope to remain permanently in this country.

Scenic highway closed

SAN FRANCISCO — A section of scenic State Highway 1 along the Pacific Coast has been closed indefinitely because of a rock slide, the Highway Patrol reported.

The slide occurred Friday night two miles south of Pacifica, where rocks and dirt have closed the steep, winding road dozens of times over the years, and thwarted state Department of Transportation workers' attempts to halt it.

With the coast road out, businesses south of the slide that count on customers from nearby San Francisco will be hurt.

Dancer admits fatal fire

MIAMI — A teen-age break dancer who was angry because he was chased away from an apartment building has admitted setting a fire that killed three people, injured 14 and left 29 families homeless, police said.

The 15-year-old, who was arrested Friday, was charged with first-degree murder and held without bail in the Oct. 26 fire, in which the buildings upper floors were doused with gasoline.

FAA grounds airline

NAPLES, Fla. — The Federal Aviation Administration grounded all Provincetown-Boston Airlines flights Saturday for non-compliance with FAA regulations, stranding travelers in New England and the South, the agency and airline said.

The agency issued an "emergency order of revocation of the operating certificate for Provincetown-Boston Airlines," said FAA spokesman Jack Barker from the agency's regional headquarters in Atlanta.

Shuttle deploys satellite

SPACE CENTER, Houston — Discovery's astronauts successfully deployed a second satellite Saturday and then concentrated on the most daring part of their mission — tracking down and rescuing a pair of errant satellites that are trapped in useless orbits.

The Leasat 2 satellite, whirling like a flying pie plate, slipped out of its berth and spun away, leaving the shuttle cargo bay empty and ready to receive two satellites that are to be salvaged on Monday and Wednesday.

RED CHOPPER — The United States claims several Mi-24 armored helicopters have been delivered to the Managuan government and are waiting to be unloaded from Soviet ships docked in Nicaragua's harbors.

War of nerves

Nicaragua protests U.S. spy plane missions

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — The leftist Sandinista government has sent its third protest note to the United States in nine days, claiming a loud boom that shook Managua was caused by a U.S. spy plane crashing the sound barrier in preparation for an American invasion.

The 8:30 a.m. shock Friday kept up the tension in Nicaragua, which has been on edge since earlier this week following reports that a Soviet freighter off the coast was suspected of carrying Soviet combat jets to the Sandinista government.

U.S. officials did not rule out military action to destroy any warplanes arriving in Nicaragua.

A knowledgeable source, who spoke only on condition he not be identified, said Friday it was likely the Soviet freighter docked in the port of Corinto brought as many as three Soviet helicopters, and that a second Soviet freighter was waiting off the Pacific coast.

Nicaragua's leaders have been predicting an American invasion for weeks.

The government said it will begin issuing rifles today to 20,000 student volunteers for a defense force for the capital. Carlos Carrion, coordinator general of the Sandinista Youth Organization, said the students will "receive immediate training" in preparation for "a direct invasion by the U.S. armed forces."

Throughout the day Friday, government statements were broadcast warning people of a possible invasion and urging them to donate blood. Neighborhood defense committees held meetings to explain "how Managua will be defended," said a resident.

But a tour of the Managua area did not reveal any extraordinary military preparations.

Foreign Minister Miguel D'Escoto sent his third protest note since Oct. 31 to Secretary of State George Shultz, following what the Sandinistas say was the third overflight in that time by a U.S. spy plane.

The note said a U.S. SR-71 spy plane flew over the country at 8:30 a.m. Friday, about the time a sound like a sonic boom was heard in Managua and elsewhere.

The protest note said the alleged spy flights indicate "plans already have been put into gear to proceed to a direct military intervention" by the United States.

The Reagan administration has denied the leftist government's allegations of spy missions violating Nicaraguan airspace.

The government had sent a protest note following what it said was a flight by a spy plane Oct. 31 and again earlier this week when it said U.S. navy ships and aircraft harassed the Soviet freighter Bakuriani as it was steaming toward Corinto.

The freighter was first seen Wednesday in the port of Corinto, 105 miles northwest of the capital.

The source also said there were reports that "have some basis of fact" that a Bulgarian freighter has been unloading additional helicopters at the Caribbean port of El Bluff.

Large wooden and metal crates at the Sandino International Airport outside the capital contained one or two Soviet-made Mi-8 helicopters and perhaps one Mi-24 helicopter, the source said.

"It is my understanding that the larger crates that were in the boat ended up at the Sandino airport," he said.

The United States had said the Soviet ship could be carrying MiG-21 fighter planes for the Sandinistas, but a White House official who spoke on condition of anonymity conceded Friday that the Reagan administration lacks proof for its claims.

Tornadoes rake Midwest

By The Associated Press
Parts of two communities were sealed off today after a flurry of tornadoes that killed one woman and injured 50 other people swept across three Midwest states, battering a shopping center, school and civic center and destroying more than 80 homes.

"It looks like there's a lot more damage than we thought at first," said Roy Logsdon, police chief of Potosi, Mo., where a tornado hit a shopping center, destroyed part of an elementary school and injured 16 people. Authorities boarded up windows and closed off the stricken areas to prevent looting, Logsdon said.

Twenty-one-year-old Tammy Kean of Potosi died Friday night when the twister destroyed an A-frame house, said Lt. Paul Jones of the Missouri Highway Patrol.

Part of Brownstown, Ill., was to "remain sealed off while we determine the damage," Mayor Benny Miller said Friday night after a twister overturned mobile homes and injured 11 people. The closed area was dangerous because of numerous downed power lines.

Speaking to a capacity audience in Austin at the Texas War on Drugs Adult Leadership Conference last month, The First Lady Nancy Reagan said, "If ever there was a problem which called for a Texas sized solution — drug and alcohol abuse is it. It is our most pressing problem and it holds our whole next generation hostage. It's going to take everything we've got to free them." Mrs. Reagan feels that a child's self-esteem is important as a deterrent to drug abuse. Top Indian cop fired

NEW DELHI, India — The Indian capital's police commissioner was fired Saturday, and his successor vowed to restore public confidence shaken by police failure to quell four days of deadly rioting.

Thousands of Sikhs, meanwhile, continued to leave the refugee camps where they fled during the spree of murder, arson and looting by Hindu mobs following the Oct. 31 assassination of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, allegedly by Sikh members of her own bodyguard.

The new commissioner, Suryakant S. Jog, said the public lost faith in the 30,000-man New Delhi police force after Hindu policemen stood by or in some cases joined in the carnage by revenge-seeking mobs. More than 1,000 people, most of them Sikhs, died in the rioting.

Troops raid squatters

SANTIAGO, Chile — Air force troops and riot police sealed off a communist-led squatter settlement at dawn Saturday, raiding wooden shacks and busing away more than 1,000 men in what the military government called a search for arms and subversives.

After the six-hour occupation of Villa Cardinal Raul Silva Henriquez, a slum in southern Santiago, officials said 323 of the men and teen-agers bused to an army post would be held as prisoners and the others would be released.

It was the first raid involving the military since President Augusto Pinochet declared a state of siege Tuesday to combat what he said was a Marxist insurgency. Cuadra said the government was holding 104 prisoners taken in earlier scattered police raids.

Beirut calls off talks

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Lebanon suspended troop withdrawal negotiations with Israel on Saturday and said no more talks will be held until the Israeli army frees four Shiite Moslem militia leaders arrested in south Lebanon.

Announcements by Prime Minister Rashid Karami and by Shiite Moslem leader Nabih Berri, the Cabinet minister for south Lebanon, made it unlikely that the just-started negotiations would resume as scheduled on Monday in the southern Lebanese village of Naqoura.

The arrests followed a Wednesday attack on an Israeli army patrol in Sidon in which one Israeli soldier was killed and four were wounded.

OPEC ministers to meet

RIYADH, Saudi Arabia — The OPEC oil ministers are expected to hold another meeting at the end of November to discuss the world oil market, Saudi Arabia's state-owned radio reported today.

Radio Riyadh quoted unidentified oil sources.

City is on target in razing policy

The city is moving cautiously, but with determination, to raze Big Spring's burned out buildings — those which are not only eyesores but health and safety hazards. The city's effort, beginning with six such structures, is a necessary step toward improving quality of life here.

City Public Works Director Tom Decell has established an elaborate procedure for tearing down the structures. The goal is to ensure that the targeted building is beyond doubt in need of demolition. If owners cannot be persuaded to do the work, the city will probably hire a contractor to do it and then bill the owner. If the bill goes unpaid, the city intends to attach a lien against the property. When the property is sold, the city will be in line to recover costs of demolition from the sale. There is perhaps some financial risk in recouping demolition costs, but even if all costs are not recovered, razing these eyesores is worth it.

The six structures currently targeted for destruction are "very obviously very bad structures," Decell said. There's little doubt they constitute health and safety hazards. In future cases, the condition of the structure may not be so clear-cut.

Thus, Decell believes it is important that the city move carefully on condemnations. Either fire marshal, the city building inspector or the health inspector may initiate a determination that a building is substandard. Once this is done, the city notifies the owner to bring the building in compliance. Even if the owner does not protest the city's condemnation ruling, an appeal to the city Board of Appeals and Adjustments is initiated in his behalf.

At the appeal review, Decell will give the board all the details of a case. "We will let them visit the sites," he said. "We don't want to be arbitrary or capricious in any of these situations."

None of the owners of the six buildings has protested the city's order to demolish; yet, appeals have been filed for them and are pending. The policy of condemnation is a fair and painstaking one. The decision by the city to take action is commendable. Big Spring will be the better for having taken this step.

Steve Chapman

OPEC's not so bad

With the oil producing nations in disarray as they strain to shore up their collapsing cartel, you'd think the fear of OPEC might fade a bit. But some people can always conjure up a cloud for any silver lining. The weaker the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries gets and the further oil prices fall, the more they worry.

One voice of alarm is James Schlesinger, who decries American "complacency" about oil imports, predicting we will again fall into OPEC's clutches. Another is the editorial page of the New York Times, which agrees.

During his tenure as Jimmy Carter's energy secretary, Schlesinger did as much damage to the nation's energy policies as anyone in history — a contest in which the competition has been intense. He resisted decontrol of oil prices, proposed a boneheaded excise tax on domestic oil and discouraged the use of natural gas. He even the energy debate a chastened silence.

Likewise for the Times, which, though it argued consistently for decontrol, has faithfully endorsed all sorts of masochistic schemes to tax petroleum products, punish consumers and shut out imports, all to save us from OPEC. Now that we have been rescued, not by state intervention but by laissez-faire, it might also display some humility.

Schlesinger and the Times warn that the U.S. is growing dangerously dependent on imported oil, particularly from the Persian Gulf. The Times fears that if oil prices drop, Americans will use more oil and conserve less, in which case OPEC will regain its leverage and prices will rise. With odd logic, the Times wants prices to rise now, lest they rise tomorrow.

But no one should fear lower oil prices. They are bound to generate economic growth, as surely as the price increases of the 1970s. They will dampen inflation, just as high ones ignited it.

Nor is there much reason to worry about excessive consumption. The rise of OPEC forced firms worldwide to make investments in conservation and alternate fuels that will remain regardless.

Even if the demand for energy rises, as it no doubt will, the demand for petroleum need not — at least not as fast. U.S. oil imports are running at just 5.2 million barrels per day, compared with 8.8 million in the peak year of 1977. The amount of energy needed to produce a dollar of output has fallen by nearly a third since 1974.

OPEC's fatal error was to set prices so high as to encourage factories and utilities to switch to other types of fuel. Since the first oil shock hit, coal consumption has risen by 41 percent. Despite regulatory headaches, the generating capacity of nuclear power plants in the U.S. is expected to nearly double in this decade.

The obsession with imports is bad economics. If U.S. imports had been zero when the Ayatollah Khomeini's revolution halted Iran's oil production in 1978, we would not have suffered less for it.

Oil is traded in a world market, and in the absence of trade barriers, all buyers pay the same price. When world prices rise, they rise in exporting countries and in importing countries alike. That's no fun, but worse problems arise when the government suppresses prices and allocates supplies, as ours did when Schlesinger was energy secretary.

Reducing our demand for oil still further, or preventing it from rising, makes sense only if there are cheaper alternatives, in which case no state interference is needed. There are alternatives, but only if we allow them.

Natural gas, of which the U.S. has huge supplies, has been hindered by price controls, which hold down output, and by restrictions on burning it, which hold down demand. Coal could supplant much oil if it were subject to wiser pollution rules. Nuclear power, regulated intelligently, provides an economical source of power.

Vietnam vets have the right stuff

I missed the Vietnam War by a matter of days. It was a new decade, the 1970s, and college status no longer counted in staying out of the draft. President Nixon had just adopted his lottery, and I drew a nice, low, unlucky number.

There were two options. Fight or flee. And a number of my contemporaries opted for the latter. For a teen-ager caught squarely in an unpopular war, the prospect of military service in the jungles of Southeast Asia was horrifying. Even if a serviceman survived the conflict, he could count on being greeted at home with, at best, ambivalence and, at worst, hostility. It was a no-win situation on a personal level, just as the war was on a much larger scale.

I had just about reconciled to serving; America meant too much to me to give it up. But I was spared. The months of "winding down" the war began and President Nixon put his draft priority on 18-year-olds. I had just turned 19.

Vietnam veterans are now in their early 30s to early 40s. Their average age is 38. They are America's middle class. And though the sounds of cannon fire in Vietnam and Cambodia have long since dimmed, the vets are ever-vigilant in righting the negative perceptions associated with that field of combat.

According to the Associated Press, some 40,000 people turned out, many in ruffled camouflage field outfits, at the Capitol Saturday afternoon for a concert in honor of the Vietnam veteran. There was music, and the sounds of children laughing, but there was also one more opportunity to correct what the vets call "distorted images" of Vietnam era fighting men.

"We feel that we're all victims of that misconception that we're drug-crazed and maladjusted, and that we're going to go out and kill someone," Rob Craig, a 36-year-old Army veteran from Riverside, Calif., told the AP.

"You don't want people to even know you're a veteran sometimes. You keep it to yourself," Craig said.

Jeff Odenbriet, a 35-year-old former Army Ranger from Eau Claire, Wis., said enough time has elapsed since the war ended that he and other veterans will no longer be judged for their part in an unpopular war.

"We're mature people with families now," said Odenbriet, who has a wife and 12-year-old daughter at home.

With the music of '60s-popular crooner Franki Valli in the background, veterans amassed on yet another Veterans' Day weekend to show strength in numbers and to remind a nation not yet healed from the Vietnam struggle that American young men and women committed their lives in the service of this country.

Symbols of tribute continue to flow to the veterans of Vietnam, the ones who were shunted from public spotlight for too long because they were unlucky enough to do the right thing in the wrong war. Today, a seven-foot bronze statue will be dedicated at the Vietnam Memorial. Yesterday, the postal service issued a Vietnam War commemorative stamp. Beyond the symbols, though, there are signs that the wounds are healing. The nation that turned its collective face away from Vietnam is now turning back to open its arms to these heroes.

Believe me, had I gotten the call as a scared, immature youth 34 years ago, I would have gone to war. If I were luckier than 58,022 others, I would have survived. But had I gone to war and survived to return to the animosity of friends and neighbors it would have taken a special courage to keep the poison of personal bitterness at bay.

I know today that I am deeply indebted to those who fought in the service of this country, from World War I to Vietnam. I can pray that the children I've brought into this world will be spared the necessity to offer their lives in combat. But I know that had America ever put down its arms, relinquished its will to fight for the cause of freedom, this 200-year-old experiment in democracy would have foundered.

The moral rightness or wrongness of the war in Vietnam is irrelevant as long as the Vietnam experience taught this nation a lesson, albeit a costly one, in committing its humanity to battle. And as for the soldiers themselves, they did all the right things. We are in their debt.

Billy Graham

What can the Bible do for me?

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I know you think it is a good idea to read the Bible, but what difference to do you think it can really make? I mean, we live in such a different world compared with people in Bible times. — W.T.

DEAR W.T.: The Bible will make all the difference to a person who sincerely seeks its truth and follows it. The reason is because it is not a collection of good ideas that various people had a long time ago — it is the Word of God. In it, God tells us about himself, and tells us also how we should live. "All Scripture is God-breathed and is useful for teaching, rebuking, correcting and training in righteousness, so that the man of God may be thoroughly equipped for every good work" (2 Timothy 3:16-17).

The Bible speaks to every generation, and never becomes outdated. Yes, it was written many generations ago. But God never changes. "I the Lord do not change" (Malachi 3:6). His holiness never changes; his love never changes; his forgiveness never changes.

Strike out

Labor trouble in Big Spring, Texas? You bet.

Six meat cutters struck two Safeway stores here Friday, joining union brothers across Texas in demonstrating against the giant food store chain that demanded its butchers accept a three-year wage freeze.

I don't know how much the president of Safeway makes, but I can guess for whom he voted for president.

In case some of you don't realize the purpose of a picket line, it's to let people know company workers are on strike. Members of other unions and friends of labor won't cross the picket line.

Still kicking
Lest some be too hasty in laying the wreath on the funeral pyre of the Democratic Party, be aware the party of Franklin Roosevelt is very much alive and well.

Despite Reagan's trouncing of Mondale, the Democrats managed to hold their own in the House and Senate. And the New Deal coalition showed no signs of crumbling.

FDR's children picked up two seats in the Senate and lost only 14 in the House — not bad when the other party's top guy wins a landslide.

According to an Associated Press survey taken after the election, 90 percent of blacks, 70 percent of Jews, 60 percent of union household members and about half the small farmers voted Democratic.

Where Reagan scored his biggest triumph was among the urban affluent, a class of people that just wasn't around during the Depression. They voted for Reagan because they feared for their bourgeois comforts. But some heart stirrings brought them back to the other side of the ticket in picking Congressmen.

It's nice to know that when you've got a president like Reagan, you can rely on a House speaker like Tip O'Neill.

What's up, dock?
Not content at embarrassing the American public by mining Nicaragua's harbors and publishing comic books for right-wing insurgents, the Administration seems intent now on harrassing the Sandinistas by asserting a rather imperialistic veto power over what arms the Marxist country can import.

Jean Kirkpatrick says the U.S. just cannot allow the Soviet Union to ship attack helicopters and fighter jets to the Managua government. And to show our displeasure, we've sent spy planes and Navy destroyers to shadow the Central American country.

Nicaragua is an independent country with membership in the U.N. No provision of international law gives us any right to decide other countries' imports. Loudspeaker diplomacy is a silly and dangerous way of conducting international relations.

If our top brass believes Managua is dangerous, then let's blow them up. Otherwise, let's mind our own business.

Highway 87 group pushes improvements

By CAROL BALDWIN
Staff Writer

About 15 members of the U.S. Highway 87 Improvement Association from several West Texas towns gathered in Big Spring Friday and Saturday for their yearly meeting.

Arnold Marshall, president of the association, chaired a business session Saturday morning and heard reports from district representatives concerning improvements on Highway 87 in various points of the state.

The association includes all cities and communities along Highway 87 from Port Lavaca, Texas, to Raton, N.M. The association has been in existence for 28 years.

The purpose of the association is to promote a multi-lane divided highway from Port Lavaca to Raton over the route of Highway 87, to promote traffic over this route and to secure improvements for the route.

Members of the association discussed state plans for Interstate 27, which is some areas of the state will run concurrently with Highway 87. Because the organization is seeking concurrent routing of I-27 and Highway 87, members were advised of resolutions the group had sent to the State Highway Department with suggestions for improvements.

Alton Brazell, a Lubbock representative, reported on projects near Cross, where a bypass is being constructed. The bypass will take I-27 off the Highway 87 route for about 17 miles, Brazell said.

Brazell also reported on a segment of Highway 87 through Lubbock, at 50th and Avenue H, where storm sewers were being constructed for the new interstate route. He also reported that a section of Highway 87 six miles south of Tahoka, known as the "Twin Lakes" area, would soon be elevated to alleviate flooding problems.

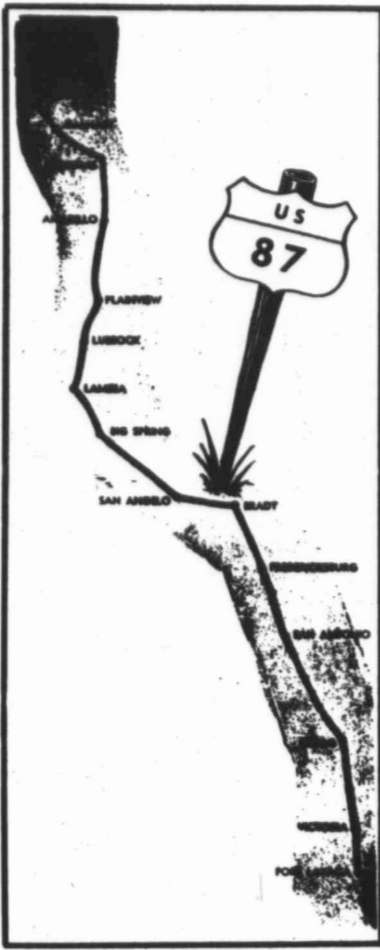

Jerry Worthy, a Big Spring representative, told members that an extra lane had been added to Highway 87 near the exit at Forsan.

Members also discussed the "fill the gap" project. "Fill the gap" refers to improving Highway 87 from Big Spring to Sterling City, the only segment of the highway which is two-lanes wide.

A letter from State Highway Department official Robert Lanier said the project would be given "careful consideration" as officials determined which highway projects to undertake in the next 10 years.

Big Spring representatives also talked about creating a loop around Big Spring to avoid highway congestion in the city.

Association members also discussed plans to promote tourism along Highway 87 by printing brochures of the route and distributing place mats to restaurants. The association also talked about one day collecting dues from association members to pay for new projects.

Increasing membership in the organization was also mentioned. The association will be writing letters to the commissioners' courts in all counties along the highway route to have them appoint representatives to the association.

Elected to serve as officers for the coming year were Arnold Marshall, president; and Barney Wiegand, president-elect.

Vice presidents are Steve Damuth of Brady, Jerry Worthy of Big Spring, Alton Brazell of Lubbock and James Wheeler of Amarillo.

Half fail teacher prep test

AUSTIN (AP) — Almost half the college students who took tests required for entry into teacher training programs failed, the State Board of Education was told Saturday.

Fifty-two percent of the 4,217 students who took the July exams passed all three parts. Only 19 percent of the Hispanic and 15 percent of the black students passed all three parts — compared to 62 percent of the white students.

"The discrepancies are large and continue to be large," said Marvin Veselka, associate commissioner for professional support.

Students must pass all three parts in order to advance to teacher training programs. The tests were first given in March, when 54 percent passed all three parts.

The tests include sections on math, reading and writing. Students can re-take portions of the test they fail.

of the group" at the reunion Saturday, is 82. He was only 15 years old when he enlisted.

"I had two brothers who enlisted, and I couldn't see why I couldn't. We were the same size."

The youngster watched as recruiters checked the records of several boys who said they were 18. He noticed that anyone 19 or over wasn't questioned.

"We said we were 19," Irland said. No questions were asked and he soon found himself in St. Maxient, France, working as a machine gun repairman.

The veterans agreed that no able-bodied young men were rejected. "If you were a warm body, they took you," one veteran said.

Irland never saw active combat, but he remembers "hearing the big guns" on the front a few miles away.

C.D. Phillips, 84, volunteered for the Navy in 1917. He remembers "the most exciting time was on a convoy with 48 boats" headed for the Irish coast.

Only 46 of the ships made it to the coast. Two days out of port, one encountered engine trouble and headed back. Another ship, an oil tanker which had joined the convoy, was blown up by a German submarine.

"That submarine barely missed our ship," Phillips said. "Forty eight men aboard the oil tanker perished in a fire. It was a stormy, stormy night."

Phillips said in World War I the submarine was the one weapon most soldiers feared.

"We were afraid of submarines. They were just like fish. There were no planes dropping bombs on us," Phillips said.

Phillips smiles when he remembers a happier thought about World War I.

"In Glasgow, I met an English girl. Her name was Evelyn Pierce. She was just 16, and I was 17 or 18. I always thought I'd go back and get her."

He never made it back, however. He married another woman. But, "I've always wondered what happened to Evelyn."

He has no regrets, though, because he and his wife wife, Mary, were married for 54 years. After the death of his first wife, he married again, and he and his wife Aula have been married for 10 years.

Andy Urban calls himself a "retread," a man who served both in World War I and World War II. He was 18 when he entered the Navy for World War I. He was 42 when he was called back in World War II.

Urban didn't see active combat in either war but he contributed to the war effort through other talents.

During World War II, Urban was a member of the Seabees, a Navy construction battalion. He built part of what is now Honolulu International Airport. He also helped construct several barracks and other Naval air stations.

Tom Gill, 83, of Lubbock remembers training in Balboa Park, Calif., on a submarine chaser. He spent his time in the service patrolling waters between San Diego and the Panama Canal, but "We never saw any submarines."

Gill was only 17 when he enlisted. "A buddy of mine went in. He was 19, so when they asked me how old I was, I said 19. They didn't check anything."

L.R. Mundt, 87, says with a grin that "I was the best goldbrick" in the military.

GAMEFIELD CEREMONIES — Big Spring residents turned out Saturday morning for grand opening ceremonies of the Gamefield located at the Rose Magers jogging course in Comanche Trail Park. The new gamefield is open to the public and was donated by Malone-Hogan Hospital, Hall Bennett Hospital and the Wells Fargo Co.

DPS opens new classes for motorcycle training

The Department of Public Safety is offering a motorcycle training class for that stresses safety and skills.

The class is open to adults but is required for 15- to 17-year-olds applying for a motorcycle operator's license.

It is open to both beginning and experienced riders. The 20-hour program includes eight hours of classroom instructions and 12 hours of driving instruction.

The course also stresses helmet use and the wearing of protective clothing. According to DPS figures, the number of fatalities and serious injuries has climbed since 1977, when motorcycle riders over 18 were no longer required to wear a helmet.

For more information, contact the DPS at 267-5671.

Tax seminar offered

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Internal Revenue Service will offer tax practitioner workshops across the state for persons who work on tax returns for farmers and ranchers.

The nearest workshops to the Big Spring area are in San Angelo on Nov. 19-20, Lubbock on Dec. 3-4, and Abilene on Dec. 6-7.

For more information, contact the Howard County Extension office at 267-6671.

Diabetes group to hold clinic, other programs

The fledgling local chapter of the Big Spring American Diabetes Association is conducting a clinic for diabetics, blood screening and other informational programs this week in conjunction with National Diabetic Awareness Week.

"We want the diabetics here to be aware we are here to help them," said Vickie Moore, a registered nurse at Malone-Hogan Hospital and the coordinator of the week's activities.

About 150 diabetics live in the Big Spring area, she said. The ADA chapter here publishes its own local newsletter and provides diabetics a chance to meet each other and discuss their problems, she said.

This week, the local chapter is sponsoring a panel workshop for diabetics at 7 to 8 p.m. Thursday in a Malone-Hogan classroom. A panel of nurses from the obstetric, emergency room, intensive care and operating room departments.

Earlier in the week, the group will present informational programs to individuals who may be involved with diabetics. Monday, the group will present information to school and hospital nurses on the disease.

Q: As a new homeowner, I'm interested in private property rights such as protection against changes in zoning laws, building codes, etc. I'd like to get involved and stay informed. What's the best course?

A: You've already suggested the best course: Keep informed. Learn about your local government, and regulations affecting you as a property owner. Find out how those laws are made, by whom, and how they are enforced — or can be changed. Attend town meetings. Become familiar with what's happening with issues such as zoning, taxation and enforcement. Ask election candidates where they stand on the issues. There are rights connected with private property ownership, but the easiest way to have those rights altered or abolished is with apathy.

Cougars throw SWC race into two-way tie

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Quarterback Gerald Landry threw two touchdown passes and cornerback DeWayne Bowden intercepted two passes — one for a 62-yard touchdown — as Houston capitalized on nine turnovers Saturday to upset No. 3 Texas 29-15.

The loss was the first in the Southwest Conference for Texas, now 6-1-1, and set up a possible showdown for the Cotton Bowl next Saturday when the Longhorns travel to Fort Worth to play Texas Christian.

The Houston victory broke an 18-game conference winning streak for Texas, which also was unbeaten in its last 24 regular season games. It was the Cougars, now 5-4, who

Baylor 9

WACO, Texas (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks took a giant step toward a bowl invitation on Saturday as they struggled to a 14-9 Southwest Conference victory over the Baylor Bears.

Although the win was tough — Derrick Thomas pulled the game out with a late touchdown — the Liberty Bowl's Reggie Barnes said the Razorbacks could get an invitation if they beat Texas A&M next week and have a good showing against Southern Methodist on Nov. 24, the official day of bowl bids.

Arkansas improved its overall record to 6-2-1 with scouts from the Liberty, Sun, Bluebonnet and Independence bowls looking on. The Razorbacks are 4-2 in SWC play.

The Bears, playing before a homecoming crowd of 43,500 in Baylor Stadium, dropped to 3-6 overall and 2-4 in SWC games.

Arkansas only had to drive 15 and 33 yards for its two touchdowns courtesy of Bear miscues.

The game-winner came when Mark Lee recovered Bear quarterback Tom Muecke's bad pitch at the Baylor 33.

Backup quarterback Danny Nutt, taking his first snap of the game, completed a 23-yard pass to James Shibest to setup Thomas' touchdown.

Arkansas seized a 7-0 lead by cashing a Bear mistake for a touchdown in the second quarter.

Nathan Jones recovered a Ron Francis fumble at the Baylor 15 and five plays later Marshall Foreman punched across from the two-yard line.

The stung Bears came right back in less than three minutes when Derrick McAdoo slipped out of the backfield and took a 44-yard scoring pass from Muecke.

TEXAS TOUCHDOWN — Texas fullback and ex-Ablene Cooper star Terry Orr (37) scores a touchdown on a handoff from quarterback Todd Dodge in first period action of their game with the University of Houston Cougars. Texas tailback Jerome Johnson leads the way. The Cougars upset third-ranked Texas 29-15.

TCU 27

Texas Tech 16

FORT WORTH, (AP) — And the beat goes on for Texas Christian's Cinderella Horned Frogs.

With Kenneth Davis rushing for 203 yards and three touchdowns, 15th-ranked TCU scrambled to a 27-16 victory over Texas Tech Saturday and will entertain Texas next week with the Southwest Conference championship and a Cotton Bowl invitation on the line.

SMU 31

Rice 17

HOUSTON (AP) — Once 17th ranked Southern Methodist realized it would have to do more than just go through the motions of playing the Rice Owls, the Mustangs put Don King and Reggie Dupard to work and emerged with a 31-17

Southwest Conference victory Saturday.

SMU managed only one first down in the first quarter and didn't get its second first down until midway in the second quarter before reeling off 17-straight points to take command.

Dupard led a 17-point second quarter surge with two touchdowns runs and King added two scores in the second half to key the Mustangs. The Mustangs ran their record to 7-2 for the year and 4-2 in the SWC to increase their chances of a post-season bowl invitation. The Owls dropped to 1-8 and 0-6.

After trailing 3-0 in the first quarter on a 40-yard field goal by Rice's James Hamrick, the Mustangs surged for 17 points in the final 5:48 of the second quarter on Dupard's runs of 5 and one yard and Brandy Brownless' 36-yard field goal for a 27-3 halftime lead.

The Mustangs' scoring drive went 25, 16 and 19 yards.

The two teams traded third quarter touchdowns the Owls scoring on a five-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Kerry Overton to Melvin Robinson and SMU countering with a 23-yard run by King.

SMU started a 76-yard drive to King's second touchdown on a one-yard run after Rice Coach Watson Brown received back-to-back 15-yard penalties for disputing an official's call.

Rice got the final points of the game with three seconds to play on Kerry Overton's 20-yard pass to James Givens.

Brown erupted on the sidelines after an apparent pass interference call against SMU's Reggie Phillips was withdrawn that would have given Rice a first down at the Pony five.

A flag was thrown on the play but a subsequent officials' huddle nullified the call.

SMU failed on three dives from the Rice one but on fourth down, King faked to Dupard into the line and trotted into the end zone.

The Mustangs started sluggishly against the outmanned Owls, gaining only one first down in the opening quarter and trailing 3-0.

Marc Scott's acrobatic 24-yard reception on a pass from Kerry Overton set up Hamrick's 40-yard field goal. Scott caught the ball on the sideline while falling backward.

SWC

earlier this season upset Southern Methodist.

Houston scored 17 points in the second quarter on a 79-yard pass from Landry to split end Anthony Ketchum, a 48-yard field goal by Mike Clendenen and a 7-yard scoring toss from Landry to tight end Carl Hilton with only 9 seconds remaining in the half.

Texas' only touchdown came on a 2-yard run by Terry Orr after the Longhorns recovered Landry's fumble on Houston's first possession at the Cougar 13.

Bowden intercepted a pass by Texas quarterback Todd Dodge in the end zone in the second quarter and pulled down a deflected fourth-quarter Dodge pass and raced 62 yards for the clinching score.

Before a fourth-quarter completion, Dodge, who had been closing in on Texas' passing record, was 0-for-13 and had four interceptions. He later was intercepted a fifth time, which tied a school record set 40 years ago. Boos could be heard from the overflow Texas crowd of 80,348.

Oklahoma St. gets by Missouri 31-13

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — Quarterback Rusty Hilger broke open a tight game with a 36-yard flea-flicker touchdown pass to Jamie Harris in the fourth quarter as No. 7 Oklahoma State escaped with a 31-13 victory Saturday over stubborn Missouri.

On the game-breaking touchdown pass, Hilger handed off to Thurman Thomas, got a pitch back and fired a pass that had Harris had to dive for in the end zone.

The touchdown, which came as the Cowboys led 17-13, was set up when Leslie O'Neal, one of two ding interior lineman, blocked a 33-yard field goal try by Missouri. He also blocked a Tiger extra point attempt and had two quarterback sacks.

The Cowboys, known better for a conservative offense, added to their lead with a one-yard touchdown run by Thomas in the fourth quarter set up by a 23-yard pass from Hilger to J.R. Dillard on a fourth-and-1 situation.

Thomas, who had 101 yards overall, also had another one-yard touchdown run.

Hilger, a senior, completed 16 of record to 8-1 overall and 4-1 in the Big Eight Conference.

Missouri, which missed three field goal attempts, fell to 3-6-1 and 2-3-1.

Oklahoma State led 10-7 at halftime, despite being outgained by Missouri 244 yards to 191. The Cowboys' scores came on a 25-yard field goal by Larry Roach, following an interception and a one-yard run by Charles Crawford.

Missouri's Eric Drain scored on a one-yard plunge in the second quarter.

Angelo St. 52

Sam Houston 7

SAN ANGELO, (AP) — Quarterback Ned Cox threw for two touchdowns passes and ran for two more to lead the Angelo State Rams to a 52-7 non-conference victory over the Sam Houston State Bearkats Saturday.

The win lifted ASU to a 7-3 season record. Sam Houston fell to 7-3.

Cox had touchdown passes of 35 and 22 yards and two scoring runs of five yards. The San Antonio sophomore completed 15 of 23 passes for 235 and no interceptions.

The Rams, 3-0 in Lone Star Conference play, can wrap up the conference championship next week with a win against Howard Payne.

Queens take Ranger in overtime, 78-68

By BILLY NABOURS

ODESSA — The Howard College Hawk Queens served up more turnovers than a French bakery here Saturday night, but still found a winning recipe in their third and final round game against Ranger Junior College in the Odessa College Classic.

Coach Don Stevens' crew was guilty of 29 giveaways in their 78-68 overtime win and despite boosting their record to 6-1 and finishing the tourney with a 2-1 slate, Stevens was displeased to say the least.

"I don't know what the problem is," said Stevens. "We've sort of self destructed in the last two games. The best thing is that our number of turnovers tonight were two less than the night before (a 54-53 loss to Kilgore)."

It was a pair of turnovers with less than a minute left to play that allowed the RangeAnns to knot regulation play at 61-61. The Queens led 61-55 with 51 seconds to play, but Maggie Adams and Terri Moore converted miscues by HC into baskets that cut the gap to 61-59 with 25 seconds in the game. Adams then received a back door pass and made a tying field goal with eight ticks on the clock.

In the overtime period Sue Van Hooser got the Queens rolling with a pair of quick outside jumpers. Diane Dickson and Alex Provencio also contributed a couple of buckets each while Vicki Wade and Tammy Wismann showed in free throws to ice things.

Provencio led the Queens with 21 points while Wade, who sat out part of the first half with a jammed hand, scored 16. Joyce Boudreaux, who was named All-Tournament for her three game average of 21.1, added another 18.

When the game started it appeared the Queens would assume total control as they jumped in front 14-8 midway through the first half. Boudreaux and Wade keyed the attack with an assist from Lorri French and Van Hooser. In that time span Howard committed four turnovers. During the last 10 minutes of the half the Queens were definitely in the giving mood with Ranger benefitting from 10 errant passes and other assorted turnovers.

The result was that the smaller RangeAnns soared to a 32-26 lead with just under three minutes before halftime. They continued to maintain that six point advantage until Boudreaux and Stacey Eitner notched field goals, the final one coming at the 26 seconds mark when Boudreaux knotted things at 36-36 with an assist from Eitner.

The Queens fell behind briefly, 38-36 in the second half before Wade, Boudreaux, Provencio and Dickson boosted HC in front by four, 50-46 at the midway point. With Provencio doing most of the damage from outside the Queens were able to stay in front by six to eight points until the roof fell in during the final 1:48 when they suffered two of their 15 turnovers in that half.

Ann Fuller started Ranger's 8-0 streak in that final time span before Adams and Moore turned their thefts into two point dividends.

Fuller and Deona Whitfield had the only field goals for Ranger in the overtime period. Whitfield and Lisa Coffey had free throws for the only other points mustered by Ranger during the extra five minutes.

The Queens will have little time to rest from the Odessa Classic since they travel to Ranger Monday and Tuesday for the Ranger JC Tournament. Howard College will begin the two day event at 5 p.m. Monday against Weatherford and finish at 7 p.m.

QUEENS (78) — Alex Provencio 8-5-21; Joyce Boudreaux 8-2-18; Van Hooser 2-2-6; French 1-1-3; Wismann 2-2-6; Eitner 1-0-2; Vicki Wade 7-2-16; D. Dickson 3-0-4; TOTALS 32-14-78.
RANGER (68) — R. Moore 2-0-4; Ann Fuller 4-4-12; Contreras 1-2-4; Whitfield 4-1-9; Maggie Adams 5-1-11; Bates 4-1-9; T. Moore 1-1-3; Zachery 2-2-6; Coffey 2-3-7; Jones 1-1-3; TOTALS 26-16-68.
Halftime: Queens 36, Ranger 36.

Hawks comeback over Garden City, 78-71

By STEVE BELVIN

MIDLAND — The Howard Hawks made a vicious run at Garden City Junior College of Kansas which saw them outscore their opponents 33-9 during the final 10 minutes of the game as Howard took a 78-71 win to gain third place Chaparral Classic.

Coach Ed Sparling's young Hawks pushed their record to 4-1 for the year and did it the hard way — fighting back from a 62-45 margin with 10 minutes left in the contest.

Unlike previous wins when the Hawks simply outscored their opponents, this time the eight-man squad with only two sophomores, did it with defense.

The feisty Hawks defense led by the quick hands of Greg Jones and Micheal Porter accounted for 12 steals, eight coming in the final 10 minutes.

Sparling said the win was a valuable learning experience for his squad. "We saw defenses we had never seen before. It bothered us but we adjusted to it. We grew up a lot out there tonight."

The different defenses Sparling referred to were a 1-3-1 zone, halfcourt press and tight man-man attacks employed by the Kansas school.

It gave the Hawks problems throughout most of the game, but in the end it was Howard's pesky pressure defense that turned the tide of the contest.

The Hawks started out hot as they quickly jumped out to a 8-0 lead as Porter canned in two baskets. But Porter and the rest of his teammates would soon cool off. Porter would connect on only one of his next 10 shots for the half. The Hawks as a team would hit a dismal 11 of 32 from the field.

Garden City took a 40-32 halftime lead when guard Scott Stegman sunk two free throws just before the buzzer sounded.

G-City came out smoking in the second half behind the hot shooting of Keith Smart and William Seazell. The duo hit three consecutive baskets each as Garden City took a 56-40 lead at the 13 minute mark.

The count grew to 62-45 at the 10 minute mark and it seemed the Hawks were destined to get blown out for the first time this season.

But Porter and crew wasn't about to go for that. The lone Hawk returner quickly scored on a drive which was followed by basket by Joe Burney and a steal and bucket by Jones, cutting the margin to 62-51 in a span of 30 seconds.

Howard slowly deflated back into the game and soon the deficit was 66-60 with six minutes remaining.

Howard pulled to within 69-68 when Jones scored on an offensive rebound and went ahead as Porter canned a 15-footer. This was followed by steals and baskets by Jones and Burney. With 50 seconds left in the contest the Hawks led 74-69 and for all practical purposes the game was over.

The game ended fittingly as Will Rogers slammed in the final points off a breakaway.

The Hawks shooting heated up tremendously in the second half as they connected on 18 of 32 shots in the period. Porter led all Howard scorers with 18 points. He was followed by Rogers and Burney who added 17 and 16 respectively.

Seazell and Smart led the losers with 20 and 17 points respectively.

Crossroads Country teams ready for week 11

By STEVE BELVIN
Staff Writer

At first it was nine, now it's three, as Crossroads Country Football teams head into week number 11.

Colorado City and Forsan had already clinched post-season playoff spots last week. Klondike fell in its attempt to reach the playoffs for the second consecutive year while Grady lost the battle, but won the war and is headed for at least one more game.

COLORADO CITY, runner-up in District 7-3A with a 3-1 slate and 9-1 overall season record, ended the regular season on a winning note by downing Crane 34-7.

Coach Tom Ramsey's Wolves will play Gatesville, winners of District 8-3A, in San Angelo Saturday at 2:30 p.m.

It was a balanced attack that racked up with over 400 yards total offense. Sammy Rivera paced the attack with 121 yards, bringing his total to 1,061. Doug Chitsey passed for over 200 yards and three touchdowns.

The Wolves lone defeat came to undefeated champ Ballinger which will face 8-3A runner-up Brady.

FORSAN got its offense geared up for its zone clash with O'Donnell by trouncing hapless Roby 67-0.

The Buffaloes, runner-ups in District 7-A South Zone play with a 4-1 ledger and 9-1 overall record, will play 7-A North Zone winner O'Donnell (5-0, 8-2) at Big Spring's Memorial Stadium Friday at 7:30 p.m.

Coach Jan East's Buffaloes downed O'Donnell 20-6 in the fifth game of the season. In that contest played in Forsan, the Buffs were without the services of leading rusher Mitch Hays and offensive tackle Jason Donaghe.

The playing site leaves coach East pleased. "This (Big Spring) is where we wanted to play. We should have a big crowd Friday night. I hope we won't be overconfident because we beat them. This is what (playoffs) we've been working for."

GRADY lost a hard fought 44-40 South Zone 4-A six man contest to BORDEN COUNTY but advances to the playoffs by winning a coin flip over Borden County and Ira.

a 42-8 loss to O'Donnell. Coach Jimmy Thomas' Cougars end the season with a 5-4 slate. A win over O'Donnell would have forced a coin flip between the two and Wilson.

Klondike's offense was non-existent in accumulating only 123 total yards. Wide receiver Leo Amador had half of the yardage with two catches for 62 yards.

In other Crossroads football action GARDEN CITY fell to Zone champ Roscoe 54-20 despite 170 yards rushing by Doug Hoelscher. The Berarkats end the season at 3-6-1.

SANDS dropped its season finale to Loraine 33-6 as Loraine racked up over 400 yards on the ground.

STANTON went through District 8-2A winless as the "Battling Buffs" fell to McCamey 33-20, ending the Buffs record at 2-7-1. One bright spot was an offense racked up almost 300 total yards. Halfback John Zugg had an 85-yard TD run.

COAHOMA found the going tough against number-nine ranked Ballinger as the Bulldogs fell 42-7 in 7-3A action. The Bulldogs finish the season at 4-5-1.

NFC East race heats up

Raiders chances growing dimmer

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

As George Allen used to say, the future is now for the Los Angeles Raiders. Or more precisely, the future is Monday night.

The defending National Football League champions, losers of two straight games for the first time since 1981, go into Seattle to face one of two teams ahead of them in the AFC West. A loss and their already slim hopes of the conference title are about gone, leaving them only the wild-card route into the playoffs.

"Right now we're struggling a little bit," admits Coach Tom Flores. "Last year at this time, we were 7-3, but we were in first place. This year, we're 7-3 but we're in third place."

Ahead of them are the Denver Broncos, 9-1 and the Seahawks, 8-2. The Raiders are coming off two straight shutouts and last week they returned a league-record four interceptions for touchdowns in a 45-0 victory over Kansas City. The Raiders beat the Seahawks 28-14 in their first game, but have lost twice to Denver, making them losers in any tiebreakers with the Broncos.

In other games Sunday, Buffalo is at New England; Indianapolis at the New York Jets; Houston at Kansas City; Minnesota vs. Green Bay at Milwaukee; New Orleans at Atlanta; Philadelphia at Miami; Pittsburgh at Cincinnati; San Francisco at Cleveland; Chicago at the Los Angeles Rams; and Denver at San Diego.

The Raiders, who dropped an overtime decision to Denver two weeks ago, were beaten 17-6 in a roughhouse affair in Chicago last week and came out of the game with quarterback problems.

Both the Cardinals and Cowboys are coming off losses — the Cards had a four-game winning streak stopped when they lost at home to the Los Angeles Rams last week and the Cowboys dropped a 19-7 decision to the Giants in Dallas. The Cardinals beat the Cowboys 31-20 in their first meeting at Irving, Tex.

In Washington, the 6-4 Redskins will be trying to stay at the top of the NFC East and provide another milestone for John Riggins — he needs 46 yards to become, at 35, the oldest man in NFL history to rush for 1,000 yards in a season. For the 3-6-1 Lions, the goal is more elementary — they'll be trying to win in Washington for the first time in 11 tries dating back to 1939.

The other NFC East leader, the Giants, will be trying to beat the Bucs for the second time this season — they took a 17-14 decision. The Giants, coming off wins over Washington and Dallas and with St. Louis coming up next week, will be trying to avoid a letdown and to do it, they're saying scary things about Tampa's James Wilder, who rushed for 112 yards in the first meeting.

"He's the best running back I've faced," says New York's Lawrence Taylor.

The Rams-Bears game in Los Angeles is expected to center on the only two 1,000-yard rushers in the NFL this far — Walter Payton of the Bears and Eric Dickerson of the Rams. Los Angeles have stuck primarily to the ground since Jeff Kemp replaced the injured Vince Ferragamo at quarterback and Chicago should do the same with Steve Fuller taking over for Jim McMahon, out for four weeks with a lacerated kidney suffered against the Raiders.

"It will probably be some of the things that affects every offense that loses its quarterback," Rams Coach John Robinson says of Chicago's attack. "You have to retreat a little bit, go back and cover some of the ground you've already covered. I think it tends to limit you, your focus on the game."

The Rams, 6-4, trail San Francisco by three games in the NFC West, but are in the running for a wild-card spot. The Bears, 7-3, have a 3½-game lead in the NFC Central.

Controversy clouds Breeder's Cup series

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Controversy often is a part of major sports competition, and it was no different for the inaugural Breeders' Cup series Saturday at Hollywood Park.

Fran's Valentine, a 74-1 shot, was disqualified for interference in the stretch in the second race of the program, the $1 million Juvenile Fillies, a mile race for 2-year-old fillies that turned into a calvary charge in the stretch.

Jockey Fernando Toro, rider of Pirate's Glow, shouted at Patrick Valenzuela, Fran Valentine's jockey, after dismounting. He claimed foul, but it wasn't necessary.

The stewards lodged an inquiry into the first five finishers and disqualified Fran's Valentine, dropping her to 10th in the field of 11.

Pirate's Glow finished 10th, but was placed ninth.

That moved Outstandingly, a 22-1 shot, up from second to first. Dusty Heart, a 77-1 choice, was moved from third to second and Fine Spirit to third, followed by Savannah Dancer and Bessarabian, the 8-5 favorite.

"She bumped into me," said Toro of Fran's Valentine. "I thought I was going down. I was in perfect position. I yelled, 'Watch out,' but he hit my filly very hard."

"I'm waiting for him to apologize because I could have gone down and it could have cost me my life. He made the mistake."

"I had a lot of horse and I just didn't have anywhere to go," said Valenzuela. "I'm gonna go out and win the next one."

He finished eighth on Pac Mania in the next one — the $1 million Breeders' Cup sprint.

Fran's Valentine swung out sharply in the upper stretch and knocked Pirate's Glow off stride and into Bessarabian, then grabbed the lead with an eighth of a mile to go.

Mike Doyle, trainer of Bessarabian, said, "She got messed up in that stretch run and just completely lost her action. She was beginning to move and didn't have a shot after that."

years of frustration against Georgia, hammering the eighth-ranked Bulldogs 27-0 behind the passing of freshman Kerwin Bell Saturday to move to the brink of its first Southeastern Conference football crown.

Bell, a redshirt who began fall practice eighth on the depth chart, hurled a 25-yard touchdown pass to Lorenzo Hampton in the first quarter, then applied the clincher with a 96-yarder to Ricky Nattiel, who caught the ball at the Bulldogs' 40, in the opening minute of the final period.

It was the seventh victory in a row for the 7-1-1 Gators, their sixth under interim coach Galen Hall. Neal Anderson scored Florida's other touchdown on a 2-yard plunge in the second quarter after the Gators had recovered a fumbled punt at the Georgia 8 and Bobby Raymond kicked field goals of 34 and 31 yards.

It marked Florida's first shutout over Georgia since a 22-0 triumph in 1957, and was only three points shy of the Gators' biggest victory over Georgia, 30-0, in 1952.

Illinois 34,

Ind. 7

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Quarterback Jack Trudeau passed for 157 yards and two second-half touchdowns Saturday night, and safety Craig Swoope returned an intercepted pass 73 yards for another touchdown as Illinois ended its football season with a 34-7 Big Ten Conference victory over winless Indiana.

The Illini, getting their only road victory of the season, finished 6-3 in the conference and 7-4 for all games. Indiana, with one game remaining, dropped to 0-8 and 0-10 and stretched the nation's longest major college losing streak to 15 in a row over two seasons.

Rutgers 23

(No. 19) W. Va. 19

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — Albert Smith ran for two touchdowns and 120 yards and quarterback Eric Hochberg tossed a 36-yard scoring pass as Rutgers built a big first-half lead and held off No. 19 West Virginia 23-19 in college football game Saturday.

With officials from the Gator, Peach and Citrus bowls looking on, Smith scored on runs of 1 and 7 yards, and Hochberg found Andrew Baker on his long scoring pass as Rutgers opened a 20-3 lead midway through the second quarter.

Tom Angstadt added a 50-yard field goal early in the final period after West Virginia closed to within 20-13, and it proved to be the difference when Tom Gray scored on a 1-yard run for the Mountaineers with a minute left to play.

The victory raised Rutgers' record to 6-3 and snapped a four-game losing streak against the Mountaineers. The loss was the second straight for West Virginia and dropped the team to 7-3.

Tenn. 41,

Memphis St. 9

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Tony Robinson threw for three touchdowns and ran 25 yards for another as Tennessee rolled over Memphis State 41-9 Saturday in a non-conference college football game played in a constant rain.

Tennessee, 5-2-1, recovered five of seven Memphis State fumbles and intercepted two passes to drop the Tigers to 5-4-1.

Johnnie Jones ran 61 yards up the middle for the Volunteers' first score. Fuad Reviez, who saw his string of 38 extra points broken in the second quarter with a blocked kick, booted the extra point.

Tee Time

By AL PATTERSON

Winter may be just around the corner and a lot of Big Spring golfers may have put their clubs in moth balls until spring.

If that's the case perhaps you just might dust them off and get ready for the final golf event of 1984.

The KBST Let's Play Golf Scramble is scheduled Nov. 17-18 at Comanche Trail. A Scramble in our neck of the woods is a Louisiana Draw. Golfers may make their own foursome and tee times for Saturday's opening round. Sunday festivities get under way at Alberto's Crystal Cafe with a buffet breakfast to be followed by the announcement of the flights and team evaluation.

After golf on Sunday comes free refreshments for the contestants and the awarding of prizes.

All foursomes interested in playing should register by Thursday, Nov. 15.

Just completed at Comanche Trail on the front nine are three new ladies tee boxes. Holes number 2, 6 and 7. The two par-fives sorely needed help for the gals due to unfair length of the holes. The second hole, where a new tee box has been constructed for both men and women, is located just behind the first green. Also just completed is a grass and sand bunker on the ninth hole. The purpose of the bunkers is not only to help the hole, but to slow down shots hit to the far left of the fairway that go out of bounds.

Webber rolls to Detroit Open win

DEARBORN HEIGHTS, Mich. (AP) — Pete Weber rolled a perfect game Saturday night to earn the top qualifying position for the championship round of the $125,000 Greater Detroit Open professional bowling tournament.

Weber, of St. Louis, beat defending champion Brian Voss, of Tacoma, Wash., 300,209, to push his total pinfall to 9,998 after 42 games. Voss is second with a 9,675 pinfall.

Weber will shoot for his third Professional Bowlers Association title of the year and an $18,000 first prize in Saturday's championship round.

Cowboys trying to rebound versus Cards

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Even though quarterback Danny White's status has been upgraded to probable, Gary Hogeboom is aware he'll shoulder the load Sunday for the Dallas Cowboys.

"We're just going to have to go out and do things that we've been doing for years," said Hogeboom, the choice of Dallas Coach Tom Landry to face the St. Louis Cardinals. "We're just going to have to execute them better."

Hogeboom, like other members of the Cowboys, finds himself in a precarious position as Dallas heads into the final 1½ months of the National Football League campaign.

The Cowboys, in matching St. Louis, stand 6-4. The records leave them tied with the Washington Redskins and New York Giants atop standings in the National Conference East. But one slip could be fatal.

"If you look at the schedule, I think we're the only team in the NFC that controls its own destiny," said Curtis Greer, a defensive end for the Cards.

"We realize that if we can win the games, we should be looking at a championship. I wouldn't want it any other way. I believe that the team that wins the NFC East will be the team that plays the best defense."

Toward that end, Dallas knows it will be imperative to throw a lasso around a St. Louis passing attack featuring Neil Lomax and Roy Green in the rematch of the division rivals.

Five weeks ago, the Cards duo slipped the noose. They collaborated on eight pass completions for 189 yards, with Green scoring two touchdowns. The result, predictably, was a 31-20 triumph for St. Louis.

Landry, who since 1964 has watched the Cowboys fail to make postseason play only once, places equal responsibility on the Dallas offense, however.

"We have to move the football. We are scoring at an average of 19 or 20 points, about 10 points or more under our usual," said the coach. "When you're doing that, you're going to lose a lot of games."

Compounding problems for the Cowboys, of course, has been the unresolved quarterbacking picture in tandem with injuries which have decimated a once-proud Dallas offensive line.

"Our defense has been playing pretty well for us, our specialty teams have been playing well for us," said Landry. "We just haven't been able to create an offensive scoring machine of any sort."

Hogeboom, the Cowboys' starting quarterback in the loss last month to the Cards, will be back at that role for the first time in three weeks in place of White, who suffered a jammed left shoulder during last week's 19-7 loss by Dallas to New York.

Hogeboom's passing proficiency of 55.7 percent has produced five touchdowns to go with 10 interceptions. By contrast, Lomax of St.

Louis has tossed for 18 scores and been intercepted only eight times.

Meanwhile, strong safety Dexter Clinkscale says the mission of a Cowboys defense burned Oct. 7 by Lomax-to-Green touchdown pass plays of 70 and 45 yards for the Cards will not be easy.

"We're going to try to do everything we can to neutralize not just the passing game but the great running game that St. Louis has," said Clinkscale. "They are probably the most well-rounded offensive team right now in the NFC."

Cottier given Mariners job

SEATTLE (AP) — Chuck Cottier, who managed the Seattle Mariners for the final month of the 1984 season on an interim basis, was given the job permanently Friday, signing a one-year contract for next year.

The decision ended a 40-day search for a manager, in which the Mariners did not have to look very far.

"We just decided that Chuck Cottier was our guy all along," said club President Chuck Armstrong.

Cottier's contract has two option years, meaning the Mariners can retain his services through 1987, if they wish.

"We looked at every viable candidate, and after we boiled it down, we decided that Chuck Cottier was our man for 1985, and hopefully beyond," Armstrong told a news conference.

Cottier, 48, earned a chance to manage the Mariners in 1985 by directing them to a 15-12 record in September after Del Crandall was fired by Armstrong and General Manager Hal Keller.

"We thought he did a helluva job in September," Keller said. "We played well and we played with a lot of enthusiasm."

Although there were reports this week that Cottier was going to get the job, he insisted he wasn't told about the decision by Armstrong until Thursday night.

"I was very surprised but very happily surprised," said Cottier, who joined the Mariners as a coach under Manager Rene Lachemann in 1982.

SPORTS HIGHLIGHTS
by Pat Gray
BODYBUILDING
Weightlifting dates back to the mid-1800's in the United States. In practicing their sport, competitive weightlifters soon found that, as strength increased, so did general athletic ability and muscle size. This added muscle mass was considered relatively unimportant, however, until about 1920 when the legendary Berner McFadden began sponsoring "perfect man" contests with substantial cash prizes. One early winner was an Italian immigrant gardener named Angelo Siciliano. Siciliano later changed his name to Charles Atlas and became an American folk hero.
You will find our entire staff at PAT GRAY BODY WORKS very helpful so whether you are driving an older model car or a new one come see us first. We are a full service auto body repair shop and are very proud of the excellent reputation we earn daily by meeting the needs of many folks in this area. We're nearby at 700 N. Owens. Big Spring, 263-0582, 263-2374. If you need a wrecker at night please call 267-6953. Hours: Mon.-Fri. 8-6. "From a scratch to a rollover we provide quality work at reasonable prices".
— HINT —
Always start a strenuous exercise session with stretching warm-up exercises. Avoid overexercising or you may tear a muscle.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR OIL AND GAS WASTE DISPOSAL WELL PERMIT

Owens & Associates Joint Venture, Box 717, Forsan, Texas 79733 has applied to the Railroad Commission of Texas for a permit to dispose of produced salt water or other oil and gas waste by well injection into a porous formation not productive of oil or gas.

The applicant proposes to dispose of oil and gas waste into the Upper Glorietta Dora Roberts "E", Well Number 3A. The proposed disposal well is located one mile east of Forsan in the Howard-Glasscock Field, in Howard County. The waste water will be injected into strata in the subsurface depth interval from 2900 to 2850 feet.

LEGAL AUTHORITY: Chapter 27 of the Texas Water Code, as amended, Title 3 of the Natural Resources Code, as amended, and the Statewide Rules of the Oil and Gas Division of the Railroad Commission of Texas.

Requests for a public hearing from persons who can show they are adversely affected, or requests for further information concerning any aspect of the application should be submitted in writing, within fifteen days of publication, to the Underground Injection Control Section, Oil and Gas Division, Railroad Commission of Texas, Drawer 12887, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711 (Telephone 512/465-1373).

Senioritis has seniors restless

Senior year is a special time in every person's high school memories. To capture these memorable moments, seniors along with many other students ordered yearbooks Thursday. Along with the fun times comes a lot of decisions and responsibilities. Seniors are faced with the biggest decision of their life, what to do when they get out of school.

It's a time too, to be thinking about voting. All seniors must take government, which helps to prepare them more for the decisions of adulthood. In government classes this week, an election was held. President Reagan was elected by the seniors, but not with such a landslide as in the national election.

While some seniors see the need to get ahead now and take charge of their futures, others are affected by what is known as senioritis. Senioritis, in its truest form, is a bad case of "the don'ts". Senioritis' symptoms are restlessness, outright outrageous behavior and it involves a lot of chance-taking. So, when senioritis hits, students find themselves resorting to all manner of mischief, trying to put a little spontaneity into the now-well-established routine of school life. Now, when seniors start reverting back to childhood, as was the case when Lovelace left a classroom of seniors to come back and find them hiding from their teacher, on the floor, under their desks with the lights off, we know they've got it bad! The symptoms are all there.

Bearkat band goes to contest

The bearkat band competed in UIL marching contest October 27 at Ratliff Stadium in Odessa. They received a III Division. Twirlers Jackie Halfmann (head), Leann Seidenberger and Carol Schwartz earned a first division with their twirling ensemble. These girls will represent Garden City at the state contest in May.

The basketball girls hosted the Stanton buffaloes in their first scrimmage of the '84-'85 season and did a great job! They will have another scrimmage Tuesday against Robert Lee here with Varsity playing only.

The bearkat football team fought hard last Friday night, but could not quite pull out a victory. They were defeated 12-7. The bearcats went to Roscoe this Friday for their last game this season.

Students practice voting right

The government class sponsored a mock election in which the students were able to express their opinion concerning the upcoming elections. It was interesting to know our results followed the national results so closely. This is good practice for us, as soon we will become eligible voters.

Voting is only one of our rights guaranteed under the Constitution, which also includes freedom of religion, speech, press and assembly. Many people died during the Revolution to ensure us of this right; although, numerous countries do not have the privilege of voting.

The lady mustangs opened their basketball season Saturday with a scrimmage against Coahoma. Good luck this season, Mustangs! The FFA quiz team and junior and senior conducting teams travelled to Lamesa to participate in District contests.

Yearbooks go on sale

Yearbook sales for the 1984-85 Buffalo Trail will be held from Nov. 12 to the 30. This year Forsan is offering a family plan for those who wish to purchase more than one book. There will be two sets of prices in effect. On Nov. 20, prices will be (1) $20, (2) $37.50, (3) $52.50 and for (4) $65. For any other day between Nov. 12-30 the prices will be (1) $21, (2) $39.40, (3) $52.50 and (4) $65. Checks should be payable to Forsan high school. Orders will be taken in the office before school and during lunch.

Those students who made the A honor roll for the first six weeks are (6th) Kara Evans, Kelly Hays, JJ Hollingshead, Sebrina Martin, Jason Parker and Chris Rosenbaum; (7th) Ginger Harrison, Eric Hillier, Lauri Roberson, Tera Sims and Nohk Wilson; (8th) Trent Baird, Matt Evans, Shasta Hollingshead, Shay Howard, Libby Martin, Russell Roberts, Christie Sharrer, Carolyn Walker and Teresa West; (9th) Kim Evans, Michelle George and Robin Soles; (10th) Letty Martin, Julie Williams and Renny Spencer; (11th) Kristi Evans, Peggy Johnson, Lana

Nichols and Leigh French; (12th) Tony Miranda. The junior high school students who made A's in every subject had an opportunity to visit Carlsbad Caverns on Oct. 20.

There will be an FHA meeting during lunch Tuesday. Members get their trays and meet in Mrs. Bott's room. The brass section of the buffalo band was invited to play at the University of Texas game in Austin Nov. 10. The girls' basketball teams will scrimmage Lamesa Tuesday. The games will be played in Forsan at 5 p.m.

ASVAB tests slated for Dec. 4

The second weeks tests were Thursday and Friday. Due to new State curriculum, all report cards must be signed by parents or guardians and returned to school. Collegebound seniors need to make plans to take the ACTSAT college entrance exams. For more information concerning tests or financial aid, please contact Larry Hudson at Coahoma high school. A note to juniors, the ASVAB (Armed Services Vocational Aptitude Battery) test will be taken Dec. 4.

Varsity girls scrimmaged Sands High in Sands at 3 p.m. Saturday. The 84-85 football season was brought to an end with the final game Friday in Ballinger.

Favorites announced at pep rally

Thursday was the last pep rally of the year at Runnels. At the pep rally, favorites of the different organizations were announced. The winners were: (Band) Michelle Evans and Paul Chavez; (Choir) Linsa Rodriguez and Eric Mayes; (Football) Leslie Musgrove and Kevin Pirkle; (Pep club) Sylvia Gaitan and Marcus Rocha; (Girls athletics) Melissa Martinez and Kiley Jones.

Annual sales have been going well, but there are still many students that need to order their annuals during November if they plan on getting one at all. Annuals will be on sale again Nov. 12, 13, and 14 and again Nov. 19, 20, and 21. These annual orders will be $12 and will be taken during advisory classes only.

World War One theme for float

Attention parents! Results for this year's California Achievement test were sent home Thursday. Parents should study the results, sign the letter attached and have the student return the letter to school. Students who return these letters signed by their parents will have their names included in the drawings to determine which sixth grade student and which seventh grade student will receive a prize radio.

During the past few weeks, students and teachers alike have been busy with Homecoming activities. The theme was "The Magic Time Machine". Goliad chose to go back in time to World War One where we find Snoopy with Mike Hilario playing the role of the WW1 soldier. Also on the float were Raquel Alivar as the nurse, Michelle New as the French girl and Steve Bedell as the French waiter. Costumes for the float were donated by Ada Narem, Vicky Stewart, Lillian Tereletsy and Jan Whitehead. The Red Baron Workers on the float were students from art, shop and homemaking classes, the Golden Girl pep squad, cheerleaders and Mrs. Whitehead's second period class.

Teachers to attend convention

Terry FOX attended the Accelerated Christian Education Administrator's conference in Lewisville last week. On Nov. 15 and 16, four staff members will attend the ACE christian educator's convention in Dallas. They will be involved in workshop classes and will hear seminars by national ACE representatives.

Teachers using the A Beka Curriculum in grades K-6 will attend the Regional Clinic at Temple christian school in Fort Worth. Current curriculum trends will be reviewed and special teacher training sessions will be available. Teachers from the Hillcrest child development center will also attend this conference.

CFCS choir contest held

The CFCS school choir concert was a great success! There was a good turnout for the concert. Students of choir are Tiffany Thurmond, Christy Rivera, Vanessa Gaston, Connie Keaton, Sharee Robinson, Jerri Bryson, Michelle Fortune, Cindy Weddle, Misty Morton, Chris Guinn, Bryan Weddle, Paul Thurmond, Barry Deubler, CD Boyd, Darryl Hammonds and Jon David Bryson. These students would like to say thankyou to a very special director, Don Bryson.

We are in preparation for putting together the annual for CFCS. It's going to be great! Next week, the stallions will be playing their last football game against Sherwood christian school of Odessa. We believe that we will have a victory!

Fashions with flair

SIMPLY ELEGANT — This black on black silhouette is fashioned with a sweetheart strapless bodice, a roll of black fur along the hip, and slim, sheath skirt slit up the front. According to Victor Costa, black stands alone, seasonless and always correct. His fashions were featured at a benefit style show and luncheon at Big Spring Country Club, this week.

EMERALD BEAUTY — This strapless "crumbcatcher" in emerald jewel-tone lame features crystal pleated ruffle bodice and hem and a full waltz skirt. The "crumbcatcher" is Costa's signature bodice design.

GOLDEN CHIFFON — The model, escorted before the audience, displays a long, strapless gown fashioned from gold metallic on ivory chiffon. The gown features a gathered and draped bodice and side flounce skirt. She has completed her evening ensemble with a fur.

Costa's designs create an air of excitement

By TINA STEFFEN
Lifestyle Editor

Victor Costa's concept of "designing for occasions" dazzled about 100 women as they applauded his styles at the fashion show benefiting the Big Spring Symphony Association, this week.

The style show and luncheon, arranged by J.W. Charde as a fundraiser to the Big Spring Symphony Association, featured 28 after-five holiday ensembles designed by Costa under the theme "Putting on the Glitz." Some of the creations were teamed with furs from the store's collection.

Costa's holiday collection reflects the mood of the season itself — festive party dresses in flirty, feminine shapes, rich fabrications and dazzling colors.

The shapes — lean, mean body conscious silhouettes, proportioned to meet the needs of those "uncertain" figures — were displayed by models from the Anita Blackford Agency in Midland. Bodices were draped and gathered; hip yokes were wrapped and tied over slim sheath skirts. The sweep of an oversized bow caught in a mock wrap and Costa's signature "crumbcatcher" bodice, cuffed bodice or sweetheart bodice over slim sheaths or full waltz skirts also were shown before a white kaleidoscope background.

Everywhere, the Costa touch provoked and enticed the eyes of the women (and men) attending with giant butterfly bows, hip flounces and ruffled necklines.

Costa used a treasure chest of metallics, rich dulcette satins (often paired with ink black velvet), lace and point d'esprit, and glittering lame in his designs. Black is the color for fall 1984, said Jim Brown, commentator for the style show. Costa has teamed it with bright and shiny jewel colors of ruby, amethyst, lapis, emerald and peridot, as well as icy pastels, holiday reds and sandy beige. Black plays off color or stands alone, seasonless and always correct.

Approximately 175 tickets for the luncheon and show were sold to local and out-of-town guests, said Johnnie Lou Avery, one of the event's coordinators. One hundred percent of the proceeds from the ticket sales and 10 percent from the order sales at the benefit will be given to the Symphony Association.

"We haven't met our goal from the maintenance fund drive," said Suzanne Haney, a Symphony Association member in attendance. "This will give us the extra incentive."

"I thought (the fashions) were exciting, stunning," she said, "but that's disappointing because we don't have any place in Big Spring to wear them. That's one reason why the idea that the Symphony should be attractive and should become a gala affair is important." She reminisced of the days when people in Big Spring dressed for after-five occasions and to attend the Community Concerts, and said she would like to see a return to that.

"We appreciate Joyce Wash's generosity in sponsoring this benefit for the Symphony," she said.

'Quick draw' painting easy as 1-2-3

By KIM KIRKHAM
Lifestyle Writer

"Quick draw" painting is as easy as 1-2-3. But it's not paint-by-numbers. It's a rapid oil painting technique taught by Susan Rogers in workshops throughout the country.

"Painting is a learned thing, and it can be so much fun and so easy if it's taught simply," said Ms. Rogers, 35, who is in Big Spring conducting a workshop. "I think a lot of artists have created all this mystery around art because they don't want to share everything with their students. And I think that's sad."

The unique method of painting is step by step. "It teaches a person who doesn't even know how to hold a brush how to do a painting in three hours," she said. "A lot of people don't believe that's possible."

"The big excuse that people give me for not painting is fear of failure, and the other one is 'I don't have time.'" This method is quick, and Ms. Rogers claims she can teach anyone how to paint. "This method is so simple that a child can do it," she said. Her 6-year-old son has won two statewide art contests using the method.

"Ninety percent of art talent is desire and 10 percent is God given. It's that God-given talent that keeps you from getting frustrated and quitting," she said. "But if you don't have that, and you just have a simple enough method, you can be successful from the beginning. And you don't have to get frustrated."

Ms. Rogers compares painting to cooking. "It's not an exact kind of thing when you mix colors. The idea is to learn the mixing and brush strokes."

After learning the 15 brush strokes in the "quick draw" method, "you can master anything," said Ms. Rogers. She has a battery of instant tricks to speed her painting time.

The palette she uses is arranged according to aerial perspective. It begins at the left with the cold colors and works through to warm and hot tones at the right. White is at the extreme right on the palette. "Mother nature is very particular about her colors, and it's not nice to fool mother nature," she said.

"Color tricks your eye and hot colors you see first so you put those mainly in the front of a painting. Cool colors you see last, and you put those in the background," explains Ms. Rogers. "So, you can immediately create depth and distance on a white canvas with no depth in it at all by using colors."

"There's only three colors in the universe — red, yellow and blue. Everything that red is, opposite is what's left in the universe. So, the opposite of red is green," she said. "Anytime you paint a red object, a red sky, a red barn or anything red, you mix green paint into red paint, to get the shadow for a red object. And that's a real simple thing to learn. A lot of people paint for years and they don't know that. I was one of them."

"I was never taught art in a real simplistic way of understanding why you use certain colors to do certain things. Now I have and it's saved me a lot of time."

Ms. Rogers uses the "loaded-brush" technique. This technique, using two or three colors on the same brush at once, creates light and shadows in a single stroke. A fan brush is used to create the effect of distance in a painting. A "dirty brush" also is used to achieve a more natural color in alignment with nature. This technique of not cleaning the brushes also saves time.

She also uses a special medium that varnishes as it dries, making the drying time five times faster than that of a normal medium. This enables the artist to complete a painting in one sitting, and the painting will be dry within three days.

Eight years ago, Ms. Rogers was about to give up on the traditional method of painting when she watched Robert Garden demonstrate his method of painting in a shopping center. "I just fell in love with the way he painted and signed up for one of his classes," Ms. Rogers said. "And I didn't know I was going to marry him five years later."

Garden began developing the method about 30 years ago. Ms. Rogers eventually became vice president and senior instructor at the Robert Garden School of Art in Irving. In the process, she found she could create an oil painting in 30 minutes or less.

"He (Garden) taught me how to paint after I went through the old way of painting that took hours. It used to take me 30 or 40 hours to do a painting." Her first painting received an award and sold for $150.

The Robert Garden method of painting will be televised in a series on PBS in the fall of 1985. In 30-minute programs, the series will teach people how to paint quickly. Ms. Rogers has made appearances on television shows, including "P.M. Magazine," "Good Morning America" and "Kaleidoscope."

Ms. Rogers will give a free demonstration tomorrow at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. at the Best Western Mid-Continent Inn. She also will conduct all-day, paint-along workshops from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday. Students will complete two realistic landscapes in one day. A night class will be from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m., Wednesday. One painting will be completed by each student in the night class. Cost for the day class is $35 for one class, or $60 to take both classes. The night class costs $20.

Students may bring their own supplies or purchase them at the workshops. For more information call 267-1601.

Anniversaries

Family celebrates silver and golden anniversaries

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Railsback and their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Nichols, will observe both couple's wedding anniversaries today. The events will be celebrated during a get-together with family and friends at the Nichols' home from 2 to 4 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Railsback, Rt. 2, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary. Railsback, originally from Hamilton, met the former Johnnie Lancaster of Buffalo Gap in 1931 at her 17th birthday party. The party was hosted by her sister. The couple was married Nov. 11, 1934 at the home of Adkian Little, a Church of Christ minister who officiated at the rite.

The Railsbacks have two children: Mrs. Nichols of Sterling City Rt., and Doyle Railsback of Knott. They also have seven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. The couple has lived in Howard County throughout their marriage.

Railsback is a farmer and has farmed in Howard County for 50 years. Mrs. Railsback attends Anderson Street Church of Christ.

"During the years of our marriage, we have been richly blessed through farming. Even though we had lots of hard work, we have enjoyed it and our lives together," the Railsbacks said. They enjoy gardening and always have many vegetables to enjoy and share.

Mr. and Mrs. Nichols will celebrate their 25th anniversary. They were married on the 25th anniversary of Mrs. Nichols' parents, Nov. 11, 1959.

Nichols, originally of Vivian, La., met the former Joyce Railsback in 1958 while "dragging Main" in Big Spring. Nichols was stationed at Webb Air Force Base. They were at the home of Roy Phemister, minister of Highway 80 Church of Christ. Phemister officiated at the rite.

The Nichols have two children: Allen Nichols, 1303 College, and Lana Nichols of the home. They have one grandchild.

The Nichols have lived in the Dallas area, San Angelo and Big Spring during their marriage. They own Nichols Air Conditioning and Heating Service Company in Big Spring. Nichols formerly worked for Oilwell Supply and Texas Instruments in Dallas and the Civil Service in San Angelo.

Mrs. Nichols attends 14th and Main Church of Christ. The couple enjoys tour cycling and flying.

"The first 25 years have quickly passed. We are looking forward to the next 25 years as happy and fulfilled years as the past ones have been," the Nichols said.

Engagements

TO WED — Mr. and Mrs. B.Y. Butler, 3202 Fordham, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Pamela Ann of Sulphur Springs, to Dr. David Eldon Black of Sulphur Springs. Black is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Black of Sulphur Springs. The couple will wed Dec. 29 at First United Methodist Church of Sulphur Springs. The Rev. Gaither L. Day, pastor, will officiate at the rite.

ENGAGED — Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie W. Deatherage, Tarzan, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Diane, to John Michael Gilbreath, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Gilbreath of Gatesville. The couple will wed at First Baptist Church in Stanton, Dec. 1. The Rev. Bill Shockley of North Side Baptist Church in Lamesa will officiate.

DECEMBER RITE — Aida D. Sanchez, 107 N.E. 3rd, announces the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Diane, to Kevin Mitchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Terrence P. Mitchell, 506 Hillside. The couple will wed Dec. 1 at Immaculate Heart of Mary Church. The Rev. Robert Bush, pastor, will officiate.

JANUARY RITE — Mr. and Mrs. John Meyer, 1110 Johnson, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Julie, to Scot Sheppard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sheppard, 1411 E. 18th. The couple will wed Jan. 12 at St. Mary's Episcopal Church with the Rev. Robert L. Bonnington, pastor, officiating.

Swartz, Andrew Swartzes featured in WWD

I was flipping through the Oct. 16 issue of Women's Wear Daily, Wednesday, when I came across a full-page feature about ANDREW AND LIBBY SWARTZ and the Swartz clothing stores in Midland and Big Spring.

The article was interesting. It spoke about the Big Spring Store's 50 years of success and the move to the center of the West Texas market. "We didn't change markets," Andrew Swartz said in the article. "We simply moved from the periphery of a market we've serviced for years to that market's center." Swartz apparently has maintained its old customers as well as added new ones at its Midland location.

The article goes on to mention the store's marketing concepts, the type of shoppers, lifestyles and economy of Midland, and how the store easily draws customers from a 120-mile radius. The Midland store showed a profit in its first year of business.

And speaking of Libby Swartz, she was one of about 100 women in attendance at the VICTOR COSTA style show at Big Spring Country Club Thursday, which was given by J.W. Charde to benefit the Big Spring Symphony Association.

Howard College has announced the names of three recipients of the Johnny Johansen Scholarship awarded by the Big Spring Council of Garden Clubs. The recipients are: RAYMOND GARCIA of Refugio, KATHY COCHRAN of Aspermont, and JOHN HOWELL of Pecos.

More than 200 attended the homecoming reunion of Big Spring High School classes of 1943, 1944, 1945 and 1946, says LEA WHITEHEAD, one of the classmembers who planned the

Wedding

Hepner-Pruitt

East Fourth Street Baptist Church was the setting for the wedding ceremony of Danne D. Hepner and Tracy Scott Pruitt, Nov. 3. The Rev. Guy A. White, pastor, officiated at the rite before an altar decorated with greenery and Stephanotis.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Hepner, 4505 W. Highway 80. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David L. Jansch, 1500 Stadium, and Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Pruitt, Houston.

Kathy Pruitt, pianist and vocalist, provided music for the ceremony. She is the stepmother of the bridegroom. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The bride wore a waltz-length gown of peau de soie fashioned with a sweetheart neckline. She also wore a Juliet cap adorned with seed pearls, which held a veil of illusion lace. She carried a bouquet of lily of the valley, white roses, white Stephanotis and baby's breath on a white Bible.

Sherry Keller was maid of honor.

Mandy Pruitt, step-sister of the bridegroom, was flower girl. Mike Pruitt served his brother as best man. Dustin Pruitt, nephew of the bridegroom, was ring bearer. Ushers were Troy Gray and Darell Menshev.

Following the ceremony, the couple was feted at a reception at the Mid-Continent Inn. The bride's table featured a two-tiered wedding cake. The table was draped with a white cloth.

Out-of-town guests are from Fredericksburg, Va., El Paso, Houston and Midland.

The couple was honored at a rehearsal dinner hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Jansch and Mr. and Mrs. Pruitt, the bridegrooms' parents, at LaPosada Restaurant.

The bride attends Big Spring High School. The bridegroom is a graduate of Big Spring High School and is employed by Co-Exx Pipe.

Following a wedding trip to an undisclosed location, the couple will live in Big Spring.

Dr. Donohue

Why cooling down is so important

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I belong to an exercise group. We do some pretty strenuous exercise. Some of the group think it is unnecessary to do the cool down. For myself, I think it is very important. I don't know your thoughts on this, but would appreciate it if you would write something on it. — Mrs. L.R.

Your thoughts are my thoughts. Cooling down is necessary. If you stop exercising abruptly with no cool-down, blood flow to your muscles lessens abruptly too. But you want to keep blood flowing to the muscles because in the exercising they have built up lactic acid. If you keep blood flowing it will carry the lactic acid off and prevent muscle soreness. Exercised muscles also have been depleted of energy stores. Continuing blood flow to them after the exercise helps restore the nutritional energy.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My son, who is an athlete at college, tells me he has been advised to take steroids, and that he plans on doing so. I don't know where he will get the stuff, but he says it's available, even by injection. I am shocked, scared to death, and a little mad. What harm can come from this? And why is it permitted in college athletes when it is forbidden in Olympic athletes? — Mrs. P.Y.

You would be correct to discourage this. Recent studies are revealing many side effects from use of these body-building (anabolic) steroids. Some of these effects are dangerous, all uncomfortable. Dosages used by athletes are almost always several times higher than they need be for legitimate therapeutic uses or for desired body-building results (if, indeed, those results are possible).

Some of the symptoms reported in a study of athletes using anabolic steroids included dizziness, nausea, headache, decreased sex drive, water retention

(which might have caused some of the hoped-for weight gain), breast enlargement, hair loss, fever, nosebleed, and lymph node swelling. In at least one of the athletes studied serious kidney and liver ailments resulted.

Even though "everyone" is doing it, that doesn't mean your son must. I don't know that there is any official condoning of the use of anabolic steroids among college-level athletes.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Please advise skiers about sunburning. You can get a serious burn if you're not careful. I know whereof I speak. — E.O.R.

You can get a very serious burn skiing. Temperature of the atmosphere has nothing to do with it; exposure to intense ultraviolet sun rays has everything to do with it. Skiing usually is done at relatively high, clear altitudes, placing the person's skin closer to the unfiltered rays. Add to that the highly-reflective nature of snow itself and you have the setting for extensive burning. To avoid a burn use the same kinds of sunscreens recommended for swimming during summer exposure.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: When I urinate following my daily jog (six miles) I notice that the urine is pink-hued. Is this cause for alarm? — F.F.

It is expected in some runners. Only if the pink-tinged urine persists at other times of the day does it become a concern. It is an indication that red blood cells are being destroyed during the exercise. Many runners also show signs of fecal blood following long-distance running, evidence of minute intestinal bleeding during the exercise. Be sure to report this to your doctor so that he can evaluate it in terms of your general health.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Does insomnia have anything to do with a fitness program? I have been running daily for months and just recently have started waking up in the middle of the night. No pain, no anything, just arousal. — A.W.C.

Insomnia shouldn't enter into physical training if the program is being done correctly. It can be a sign that the athlete is overdoing things. You should taper off a bit. If the insomnia persists, you need to be seen by a doctor because it can be related to various ailments that have nothing to do with physical activity.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: While playing tennis with another elderly gentleman I had a sudden pop in the back of my right leg. The pain was terrific. It was like being hit with a large object. What happened? I had to use crutches for a week. — R.B.

It has been called tennis leg but I have heard of it happening on golf courses and other places. It is an overload of the calf muscle, causing a tear. The tear can be quite minor and still give the impression of being clobbered with an object. The muscle involved is usually the calf muscle on the inside of the leg. You must resume play gradually now and emphasize pre-match warmups and stretches. Hope it doesn't set back your game.

Having trouble getting to sleep at night? In his new booklet Dr. Donohue examines the insomnia problem and offers some ways to help you get your needed rest. For a copy of "Why Can't You Sleep?" send 50 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Marriages may be influenced by parents

By REDBOOK
A Hearst magazine
Many married couples are haunted by the ghosts of their parents.

People tend to seek the kind of relationships in their marriages that they had with their parents or observed in their parents' marriage, reports Jeffrey Blum, a psychologist from New Canaan, Conn., writing in the November issue of Redbook.

"For example, if a woman is lucky enough to have had a terrific relationship with her father," Blum says, "she may recreate this fine relationship with her husband in her own adult life."

"If, on the other hand, that early relationship was unhealthy or destructive, a woman may unconsciously create that same unhappiness in her marriage."

Some people pick partners who possess some of the same negative traits their opposite-sex parent exhibited — someone cold, perhaps, or weak — in the subconscious hope that in marriage they will be able to rectify what was "wrong" in their relationship with that parent.

"Another way in which we may recreate old patterns is by projecting all the negative characteristics of our opposite-sex parent onto our spouse," Blum explains.

"To complicate matters, the marriage partner then may resent the spouse for those very traits, even if they are imaginary."

"I participate in this 'negative transfer' by assuming that my wife is angry at me about something I have done, when in fact it doesn't bother her at all," Blum says.

"For example, I am so sure that my wife will be upset about something I plan to do — such as going alone to spend an evening with old college friends — that I start acting sneaky about it way in advance. My sneakiness does upset her — even though she originally felt fine about my plans to see my friends."

"At times this pattern becomes so obvious to me that I wonder if I actually want my wife to become angry so that I can absolve myself of my guilt over seeing my friends alone or because anger is familiar and comfortable to me — part of my own early experience of love."

Communication is the key to getting rid of childhood ghosts. Blum suggests man and wife each write for 20 minutes on a subject such as "What makes my partner angry" or "Why my spouse loves me." He says there may be wide discrepancies between what your partner thinks and what you know to be true of yourself.

The most important step in getting rid of the past is to understand it. Blum recommends that marriage partners make a list of all the traits they associate with their parents, from who was boss to who saved money to who did the dishes. Compare these descriptions of your parents' marriage with your own. There may be surprising similarities.

"Because we are human," Blum writes in Redbook, "the past is always with us. The more compulsively we try to deny it, the more likely it is to come up and bop us on the nose when we least expect it."

"No marriage is good or bad because it does or doesn't resemble the union of our parents. What causes trouble for spouses is the rigid expectations each partner may bring to the marriage."

Microwave cooking program presented to 1941 Study Club

Roselle Coates presented a program on microwave cooking to the 1941 Study Club. The meeting was Nov. 5 in the Home Economics department of Coahoma High School.

Mrs. Coates prepared three dishes and shared her recipes. She also gave several helpful hints for successful microwaving.

The club will have a Thanksgiving Supper Nov. 19 in the home of Mrs. Tommie Sue Bourland. The next meeting will be Dec. 3 in the home of Sue O'Daniel.

Peter Hurd Exhibition to benefit county's library

A collection of Peter Hurd paintings, watercolors and lithographs will be presented for sale to the public at the Howard County Library, Saturday beginning at 10 a.m.

Frances Slatton, owner of the Front Porch Gallery in Ruidoso, N.M., has assembled 40 works representing the various styles and medium of Peter Hurd and wife, Henriette Wyeth Hurd.

The exhibition and sale will be preceded by a private showing Friday evening to area art collectors and sponsors of the Friends of the Howard County Library. Proceeds will be used to further enhance the scope of Howard County Library's activities. Peter Hurd is exceptional as an artist. He was unsurpassed in his interpretation of the Southwest and the unvarnished individuals who inhabit it. He is the only native New Mexican to earn membership in the National Academy of Design. Notable art critics and historians regard him as one of the important American painters to emerge from the 20th century.

Hurd's work is already familiar to the Big Spring community through his mural painted on the wall of the former Post Office building, now the Howard County Library.

Diet Pill Sweeping U.S.

New Grapefruit 'Super Pill' Gives Fast Weight Loss

No Dieting - Eat All You Want Pill Does All the Work

BEVERLY HILLS, CA. (Special) An amazing new "super" grapefruit pill has recently been developed and perfected that reportedly "guarantees" that you will easily lose at least 10 pounds in 10 days. Best of all, it allows you to "eat as much as you want of your favorite foods and still lose a pound a day or more starting from the very first day until you achieve the ideal weight and figure you desire."

This "super" grapefruit pill is a dramatically improved version of the world famous grapefruit diet. It is far more effective than the original and eliminates "the mess, fuss, and high cost of eating half a fresh grapefruit at every meal."

"Pill Does All the Work" According to the manufacturer, "the pill itself does all the work while you quickly lose weight with NO starvation "diet menus" to follow, NO calorie counting, NO exercise, and NO hunger pangs." It is 100% safe. You simply take the pill with a glass of water before each meal and the amazing combination of powerful ingredients are so effective they take over and you start losing weight immediately.

Pill Has ALL Daily Vitamins The powerful and unique combination of ingredients are what make this a "super-pill". It contains highly potent grapefruit concentrate and a diuretic to help eliminate bloat and puffiness. No need to take any vitamins to maintain your good health and energy. The pill is fortified with ALL (100%) of the U.S. Government daily vitamin requirements.

Contains Japanese 'Glucomannan' Each pill also contains an amazingly effective amount of "glucomannan", the remarkable natural dietary fiber discovery from Japan (used successfully for over 1500 years) that expands in your stomach and gives you a full and satisfied feeling all day long.

The super-pill is already sweeping the country with glowing reports of easy and fast weight loss from formerly overweight people in all walks of life who are now slim, trim, and attractive again.

Now Available to Public You can order your supply of these highly successful "super" grapefruit pills (now available directly from the manufacturer by mail order only) by sending $12 for a 14-day supply (or $20 for a 30-day supply, or $35 for a 60-day supply) cash, check, or money order to: Citrus Industries, 9903 Santa Monica Bl., Dept. 842, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. (Unconditional money-back guarantee if not satisfied.) Visa, MasterCard, and Amer. Express OK. (Send card number, expiration date, and signature.) Flexibility key to today's kitchen

By BARBARA MAYER
AP Newsfeatures

The advent of gourmet cooking as a hobby and the smaller space available for kitchens are a few of today's lifestyle changes which have made yesterday's "dream kitchen" obsolete.

According to Ellen Cheever, a kitchen designer and consultant to kitchen cabinet and appliance manufacturers, today's more flexible lives have created a need for more flexible kitchens.

Since today's kitchen is often smaller than the kitchen of the 1950s or earlier, a priority is to make every inch of space work. In response to this need, noted the designer, who is based in Sacramento, Calif., kitchen planning has progressed so that engineering efficient small-space kitchens is less of a challenge than it used to be.

Among methods she advocates for increasing use of kitchen space are: running cabinets up to the ceiling; using corners more effectively; incorporating moveable work surfaces, such as a food preparation island on casters or pull-out shelves.

Selecting appliances that go up the wall instead of across the floor horizontally is also advisable, she said, pointing out that a one-piece stove that includes a built-in oven, four-burner cooking surface and overhead microwave is now available. This type of stove fits into 30 inches of space while a separate cooktop and wall ovens require 63 inches.

One flaw found in many kitchens built before the days of microwave ovens is that there is rarely a convenient space for it. She has found that microwaves are desirable because they offer time-savings.

"The need to reheat food when different family members eat at different times or the 'I-forgot-to-defrost-something-for-dinner' syndrome make microwaves almost mandatory," she said.

Kitchens in which the ovens can be built in are likely to be more efficient. Some possible locations include wall cabinets, underneath the countertop or on a wall near a built-in oven. If installing the microwave oven in a wall cabinet, locate the unit low enough so the person using it can look into the oven and down on the food being cooked, she said. A spot underneath the countertop is particularly useful if children will be using the microwave.

Not every family lives in a home with a very small kitchen. For some, the kitchen is a large room that serves as the center of the house. Even in large rooms, however, today's different style of living calls for different priorities in kitchen design.

Three important considerations in creating a comfortable open kitchen where many activities take place include: odor removal, noise control and flexible lighting. Yet, despite their importance, these requirements are often overlooked.

Odor control can be handled by installing a good ventilation system. A new type of ventilation method which may offer some improvements over the traditional venting hood is a downdraft system which is located at the cooktop instead of above it. By trapping greasy particles and strong odors at their source, the stove-top system helps keep kitchen wall-coverings and fabrics cleaner.

Noise control is enhanced if well-insulated appliances are selected. She noted that there is a substantial difference in the amount of noise operating appliances produce. Consumers should ask about insulation when they purchase appliances such as dishwashers and food waste disposers and, if possible, should try to observe the model which they are considering in operation.

A versatile lighting system is particularly important when the kitchen is the locale for dining, entertaining and other sociable activities. She said that needs included both general and decorative or accent lighting, as well as task lighting at countertops.

She advocated at least two sets of switches — one for task lighting and another for decorative and overhead lighting. Ideally general lighting should be controlled with a rheostat or dimmer so the level of light can be varied to meet different circumstances.

CowBelles support education program

The Texas CowBelles will provide a grant of $5,000 seed money to the Beef Industry Council for development and promotion of educational material for pre-school and kindergarten children.

CowBelles have worked in the past with the Beef Industry Council distributing and promoting health and nutrition materials to schools. Materials are available for public school-aged students. A need for this material was recognized and the Texas CowBelles voted to give money to instigate the development of this material during its convention in Amarillo.

Scholarships of $500 each were awarded to Kristi Kountz of Lubbock, a junior agriculture communication major, and to Deanne Merritt of Dimmitt, a senior foods and nutrition major. Both are students of Texas Tech.

The president of American National CowBelles, Natalie McElroy of North Dakota, spoke to the group about her year as president and her recent trip to Europe on a United States Department of Agriculture People to People tour of women in agriculture.

Texas CowBelles officers elected for 1985 are: Mrs. Ed Huggins of Junction, president; Mrs. J.M. Sterling of Colorado City, first vice president; Mrs. Clay Miller of Valentine, second vice president; Mrs. Allen Chandler of Blanco, third vice president; Mrs. Gene Walker Jr. of Mirando City, fourth vice president; Mrs. Paul Dauer of Panhandle, treasurer; and Mrs. Rocky Reagan of San Antonio, recording secretary. Officers were installed by Mrs. McElroy.

Dear Abby

Postal worker gives package tips

DEAR ABBY: Part of my job as a postal worker is to deal with the letters and parcels that are undeliverable. With the holiday season approaching, I'd like to pass on some tips so that our readers can avoid some of the more common problems:

1. Remember to affix postage. This is the most obvious and yet the most frequently overlooked item. Use sufficient postage, and don't try to reuse canceled postage stamps.

2. Seal letters and parcels securely. Use wide tape for parcels, not string.

3. Pay attention to addressing. Most common errors: no address, address unreadable, wrong or absent town, state or ZIP code. Many people absentmindedly write their own ZIP code on the address. Your post office has national ZIP code directories, so if you do not know a ZIP code, ask. It speeds up delivery.

4. Do not write any other numbers — such as your phone number or Social Security number — under the address. With only a fraction of a second to look at each ZIP, a clerk can easily mistake these as the ZIP, and your letter ends up in Timbuktu.

It helps to write the ZIP near the state, on the lower right, not lower left, corner as many people write it. Use complete addresses, not abbreviations (except state). Write clearly. Don't write "City" or "Local" in place of an address; it's quite likely that your mail travels 50 miles or more to a processing center where the people there might not know the city you mean. Be sure to spell out the names of foreign countries in English, including Canada and Mexico.

5. Always use your return address. Unmailable items with no return addresses end up in the dead-letter office. (Don't use "Guess Who?" or similar substitutes.)

6. Never tape money to a letter in place of stamps.

7. The U.S. Postal Service does not handle returns for private companies such as UPS. To return packages delivered by these firms, use postage.

8. Breakable items can and will break without protection. Coins are frequent victims of our processing machines, as are small hardware pieces, candy hearts, lollipops and campaign buttons. If you must mail these, cushion them with tissue, or use a box.

9. Monitor your children's mail. It breaks my heart to see a carefully decorated letter addressed simply to "Grandma." (One exception: "Santa" letters are handled by the postmaster.)

10. Mail early in the day. Every business in town mails at 5:00 p.m., and we can't always process it all in time for the main dispatch. Our busiest days are the days after a holiday, Mondays and Fridays. Find out about our special services, such as certified, registered or express mail. We could save you time and money.

11. If you receive poor service, complain! Your local post office has official complaint forms. They're yours for the asking. It will make your local office sit up and take notice.

12. If you think we deserve a compliment, let us know. During the holiday season, we can use a kind word.

Thanks, Abby!

NAIL-WRAPPING

Nail-wrapping is a solution for nails that chip, peel or crack when at full length. For the most refined results, sheer silk is first glued to the existing nail, then filed just to the edge. For basically healthy nails, it is necessary to use only one layer to reshape or lengthen. For weak or broken nails, extra layers can be added. The treatment is effective because nail cells grow in layers which can easily become separated and damaged. Nail-wrapping holds these layers together, protecting the free edge and allowing it to grow forward without chipping. When finished with nail polish color and top coats, the repair work is totally undetectable.

There are seven full time stylists affiliated with LA CONTESSA. Each one is a qualified professional offering you the finest in hair and skin care services. We offer beauty care for the whole family. You will find us conveniently located at 1508 Marcy. We are open Tues.-Sat. Tel. 267-2187.

Lifestyle policies

We will be pleased to announce the news of your engagement, wedding, silver or golden anniversary in the Lifestyle section of the Big Spring Herald. We try to use the story on the date you request, but sometimes space does not permit this.

The information must be submitted to us on a form available at the Herald no later than Wednesday noon before the Sunday it is to be published. The form must include a name and telephone number of a person whom we can reach during the day for more information.

We will use a picture of the couple in the announcements. Or in the case of engagement announcements where a picture of the couple is not available, we will use one of the bride-elect. The picture must be a professional quality studio photograph. We prefer a 5 x 7 glossy black and white print. We ask for this kind of photograph so that it will reproduce well in the newspaper. Following the picture's publication, it may be picked up at the Lifestyle department.

The information for the story may be brought to the Lifestyle department of the Herald, which is located at 710 Scurry. Or it may be mailed to Lifestyle Department, Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 1431, Big Spring, Texas 79720. Call us at (915) 263-7331 if we can help with more information or clarification of our policies.

ENGAGEMENTS

Information on engagement announcements must be submitted to the Lifestyle department of the Herald anytime after the engagement is a reality until at least three weeks prior to the wedding. Anything closer than three weeks will not be published. The engagement form must be submitted no later than Wednesday noon prior to the Sunday it is to be published.

If the bride-elect, prospective bridegroom or their parents do not now or have never lived in our area, we need to know why you are submitting your engagement to the Herald. If only grandparents live in our area, please, give their names and addresses.

WEDDINGS

If a wedding writeup is submitted to the Herald after the wedding has occurred, the space allotted to it will diminish according to the length of time that has passed since the wedding.

BIRTHS

Local hospitals supply information for Storkclub. If a child is born elsewhere in the newspaper's circulation area, or is born to out-of-town parents with local or area grandparents, please contact the Herald Lifestyle Department with Storkclub information.

Information needed for Storkclub is: newborn's name, sex, time and date of birth, weight, place of birth, parents' name and address. If the baby is born outside the circulation area but has local grandparents, please include their name and address. The local grandparents serve as the area connection for the information.

B&PW members sell pecans

Members of Professional and Business Women's Club are in their fourth year of selling pecans as their fund raising project. They are selling Del Cerro shelled pecans from the Stammann Pecan Farms in Las Cruces, N.M.

The pecans are packaged in full 16-ounce packages, consisting mostly of whole halves and are $4 per package. For information, contact Lois Eitzen at 267-7173.

NOTICE

On page 1 of this week's TGIY Family Center Circular the Glade Air Freshener should be 7 oz. each not 15 oz. Also, on page 8 the photo for the iBot Laser Blaster is incorrect. However, it is similar to the model available. The descriptive copy and price of 12.99 are correct. We regret these errors and any inconvenience caused.

Tax & financial planning

YEAR-END BUSINESS MOVES

The tax regulations specify that it is your responsibility to pay as little tax as possible under the existing laws. Businesses can reduce their annual tax bill with some very simple year-end techniques.

•Bad debts are deductible in the year in which they are determined to be worthless or partially worthless. Your deduction must be substantiated by records showing your collection efforts.

•The lower your inventory, the lower your net profit. You are not permitted to under-value your inventory or to list less inventory than you have on hand. You are permitted, however, to write inventory down to a reduced valuation which you can substantiate. Write down the value of shop-worn items and eliminate those items that are unsaleable.

•If you anticipate major repairs to building or equipment early next year, consider having them completed before year-end. Some items you consider repairs the Internal Revenue Service might consider capital expenditures which need to be depreciated over a period of years.

•No one would advocate turning down sales. But, perhaps a sale could be closed in January instead of December or merchandise could be sold on consignment. Consigned sales are not final until the merchant sells the product.

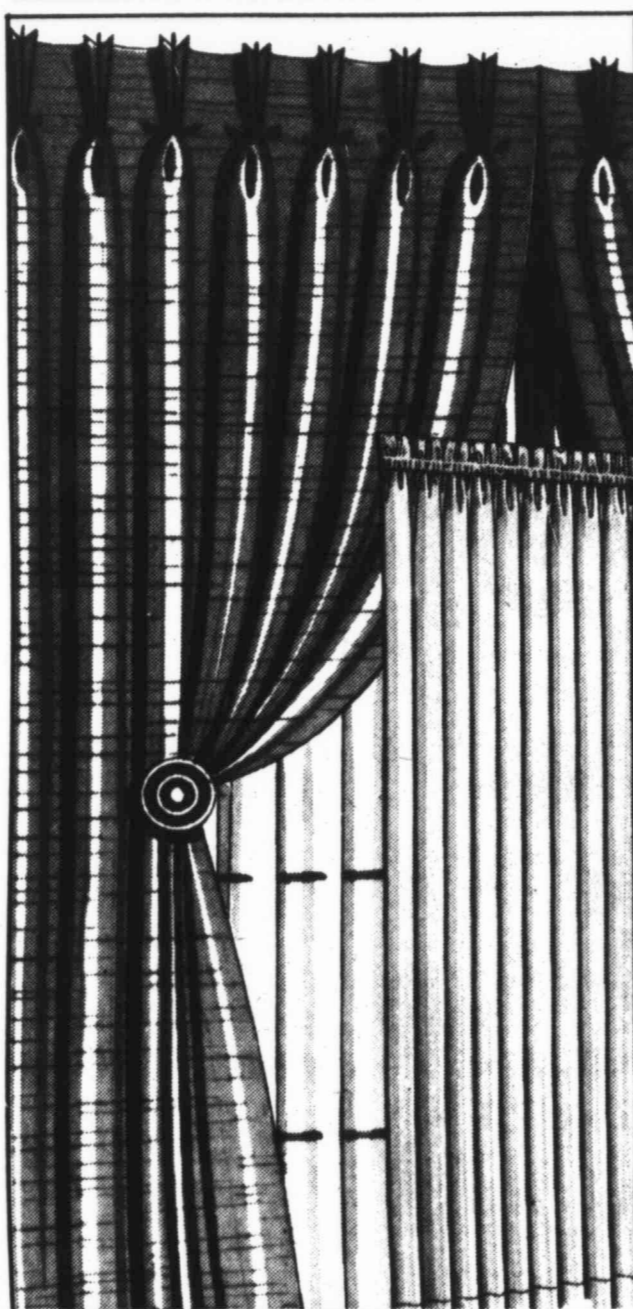

•You are allowed to deduct certain year-end bonuses even though they are not paid until next year. If your company is on the accrual basis, you can take a deduction for a committed year-end bonus if it is actually paid within 2½ months after the close of your tax year (not permitted for majority shareholders).

Even though some of these techniques simply push the tax problem one more year down the road, they provide you with the interest-free use of those tax dollars.
