set for war MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) -

Nicaragua's armed forces were put on a state of combat alert and the civil defense force was activated today in anticipation of military action, the Sandinista government said.

Communiques from the Defense Ministry and the civil defense high command read over nationwide radio said the military moves were being made because of threats of attacks on Nicaragua.

The communiques did not specifically mention the United States, but Nicaraguan government officials have repeatedly said recently that a U.S. invasion was "imminent." The United States has denied the allegation.

Meanwhile, the Soviet freighter that sparked the latest U.S.-Nicaraguan confrontation left port after unloading its cargo, and Sandinista leaders said U.S. suggestions that warplanes had been aboard were fabricated to make

Nicaragua appear threatening. As the freighter Bakuriani sailed from the Pacific port of Corinto on Sunday, sonic booms were heard across Nicaragua for the fourth straight day. The leftist government's Voice of Nicaragua radio station said the two booms were caused by a U.S. SR-71 highaltitude spy plane. Last week, U.S. intelligence sources said the Bakuriani might have been delivering MiG fighter planes to Nicaragua, but Sandinista officials denied these reports and U.S. officials have subsequently indicated they doubt warplanes were on board.

The exact nature of the cargo remained unknown, but a source in Managua, who spoke on condition he not be identified, said the Bakuriani brought two Soviet Mi8 combat helicopters and one Mi24 transport helicopter.

By KEELY COGHLAN Staff Writer

Big Spring Professional Firefighters Association Local No. 2922 President John Branham, reviewing his union's first year, said he is proud of the fledgling group's accomplishments. "The pride has improved in the department," said Branham, who works as a firefighter in the 18th and Main station.

Fire Chief Carl Dorton also said the organization had a good effect on personnel. "I have to pat them on the back. They have accomplished more in the last year as far as fellowship than in the last 10 years," Dorton said. "I really know. I've been there and I understand it."

Branham, union secretary-treasurer Paul Brown and another union member will be in San Antonio Sunday through Tuesday to attend the state and international fircfighters' union convention in San Antonis this Sunday. The local union is affiliated with the International Association of Firefighters and the Texas State Association of Firefighters and joined the Texas AFL-CIO in October.

Howard County Commissioners the other commissioners to provide ran into problems with agenda procedures - on both a requisition request by an outside agency and a severance pay request — at their meeting today.

Commissioner Louis Brown was the first to question an agenda item when a spokesman from the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center asked for the court to grant about $1,800 for repairs in the Center's boiler room.

"I'm not against it," Brown said to the Rehabilitation Center representative. "I just want to make it spelled out.

Another controversy about the agenda arose when Linda Arsiaga, a former secretary to Justice of the Peace Bobby West, asked the court whether they had decided to grant her severance pay. Arsiaga was fired in the summer of 1983.

Allen said another former peace justice secretary who initiated the request for severance after she was fired this summer asked him to drop the matter. "She didn't want it (her name) put in the paper," he said.

Crooker, Allen and Barr said they had discussed the secretary's item from the agenda.

Brown, however, said he was upset by their action, saying he,

Some American veterans who served there can't forget it. Some refuse to talk about it.

Big Spring native Pat Armstrong who served in Vietnam for one year, 1969, has established his own retrospective road to deal with his past experience of serving in Vietnam.

"It gave me a whole different perspective of life I had never thought of before. Over there (Vietnam), everywhere you went you had to carry a gun. They (Vietnamese) had been living with that fact for generations, but for me, it was something totally new," says Armstrong.

"You really can't appreciate what you have till you've been in a place where they have nothing," Armstrong said.

A call for peace

By The Associated Press

Americans marked Veterans Day by vowing in graveside ceremonies, vigils for peace and with parades "never to forget" the sacrifices of those who served their country in war, and to make sure "it never happens again."

An estimated 25,000 people turned out in steady rain Sunday for Boston's annual Veterans Day parade, a two-hour spectacle through downtown streets and past the Statehouse, involving dozens of veterans' groups and bands.

In Washington, D.C., thousands of veterans gathered at the Vietnam Veterans Memorial to pay homage to their dead colleagues, and veterans' memorials were dedicated in Greenville, S.C., and New Orleans.

In Chicago, Mayor Harold Washington and other black leaders appeared at a war memorial See Peace page 2-A

Sweet freedom is just a phone call away

The inevitable sneaks up on you and suddenly happens.

You're standing behind bars realizing that you've made a grave mistake.

Or maybe you've been wrongly suspected of making a grave mistake against society.

Whatever the situation may be, law enforcement officials have booked you and placed you in custody.

You're in jail now. The judge has set bond, meaning that if a certain amount of money can be paid to the court, you may remain free until a final judgment is made.

You don't have the money, though. The amount is way above your means. How do you get out of jail until the final judgment is made

Call the bondsman. He's in the business of getting you out of jail and making sure you appear in court.

"Bonding - it's a business like anything else," says Joe Jabors, who posts bonds in addition to running a dry goods business on the Lamesa Highway.

"When you post bond for so-meone, you're liable to the court for him," Jabors said.

Jabors feels the most important part to the business is "knowing the person and getting him out."

"Paying fines is throwing money away. You can spend it on a lot better things like buying food or clothes," says Jabors, "... you try to talk to the person, help him get his life back together."

Four other businesses in Big Spring post bonds. They are licensed through the Howard County Bail Bond Board composed of District Judge Jim Gregg, who acts as chairman of the board, and Sheriff A.N. Standard, Howard County Judge Milton Kirby, District Attorney Rick Hamby, Justice of the Peace Willie Grant and licensed bondsman Mary Thomas, who acts as a spokesperson for other licensed bondsmen in the county.

Ms. Thomas, whose business is located across the street from the four years and learned about it said Danny Heckler, who also from working with her late husband, a defense attorney.

"All a bond is is a promise to appear (in court)," says Ms. Thomas. Bob Smith has been in the business of posting bonds for about 2½ years.

"You're responsible for that percase is tried or a final disposition is made on that case," Smith says.

The former law enforcement official said that rather than face the possibility of failing to produce a client in court, he'd rather "go get 'em." Smith has never had to forfeit a bond, he said.

Finding a missing client is done in cooperation with other law enforcement agencies. Clients fill out various forms and information cards for bondsmen who use this information to help find the client if he decides to skip his court appearance.

'We've got a card file. I know most of the local people anyway, county courthouse on Scurry, has but you try to get general informa-been in the bond business about tion such as next of kin and that," manages Danny's T-Shop. "Besides, we've been pretty lucky. You put 'em in that computer and it's pretty hard to hide."

Heckler said if his client is missing, he also will go out most of the time and "get 'em" himself.

His reference to "that comson (person under arrest) until the puter" is an information check that the Big Spring Police Department and Howard County Sheriff's Department use in cooperation with state and national law enforcement agencies

> The police and sheriff's departments have access to computer systems known as the TCIC (Texas Crime Information Center) and the NCIC (National Crime Information Center). Both computer systems record and update information of persons arrested for felonies and misdemeanors. All that is needed to plug into the system is a person's drivers license number.

Weather

Cool weather remains

By The Associated Press Clear skies and light winds combined today with a dry air mass ehind the weekend cold front to produce readings in the 30s and 40s over most of Texas. The only clouds in the state were some high scattered cirrus clouds over far West Texas. Temperatures overnight were a bit warmer over the southern tip of the state as readings hovered in the 50s and

60s. The temperatures at 5 a.m. ranged from 35 at Amarillo to 61 at McAllen and Brownsville. The National Weather Service said skies should be sunny today, with mild afternoon temperatures.

A cold front pushed into the Northeast today and a Pacific storm spread rain and snow into the West. Meanwhile, light snow fell over the central Ap-palachians, the upper Ohio Valley, the lower Great Lakes region and parts of lower Michigan.

WEST TEXAS: Fair through Tuesday morning, becoming partly cloudy Tuesday afternoon. A little warmer Tuesday. Lows tonight upper 30s Panhandle and far west to mid 40s south, except lower 30s mountains. Highs Tuesday lower 70s Panhandle to mid 80s along the Rio Grande in the Big Bend.

Bondsmen

Continued from page 1-A clients avoiding their court cases. She said she can't see the value of not appearing.

"It's pretty stupid to run because it's twice as hard. If you ran, where would you hide? I think that running would be a hard life," said Ms. Thomas.

If a bondsman's client fails to appear, the court can forfeit the bond and the bondsman is required to pay the remaining principal.

Most Howard County bondsmen charge their clients a 10 percent fee of the total bond amount

Some, like Jabors and Heckler, are not insistent that potential clients have the money up front.

"I don't make 'em sign anything. Sometimes, I know I'm not going to make anything. The purpose of the bond is appearance. You've got to remember that one is innocent until proven guilty," Heckler said.

Armstrong's duty in Virginia was what he calls "a spit and polish outfit."

The unit manned civic duties such as burials in Arlington Cemetery. Occasionally the group had to stay on alert status for any disturbances in the nation's capital such as protest groups marching.

"That was the worst part of the whole duty," Armstrong says, "We never came into confrontation or got called in but we practiced an hour or two a day."

Armstrong remembers Veterans Day in Washington the year he served in Virginia.

"We had to put a flag on every cemetery in Arlington before 8 a.m. That's a lot of flags," he said.

Armstrong's involvment with the service was rather limited when he got out. He exercised the advantage of using his G.I. Bill and attended college at West Texas State University in Canyon. During that period of his life he was elected vice-president of Campus Veterans, a group that helped other veterans receive G.I. Bill benefits.

Armstrong moved back to Big Spring in 1974. He and his wife Joy have two children, Holley, 8, and Whit, 10. Armstrong works for Missouri Pacific Railroad.

Armstrong looks back at his period of development since Vietnam.

"I think I'm like most of them (Vietnam veterans). We did our time and we got out. It was time to do other things," Armstrong says.

"We never lost the war. We never tried to win it. Our main duty was to police the area.

"I was glad to see us pull out but it was irritating to know that the South Vietnamese wouldn't be able to stand up to the North Vietnamese as soon as we left," Armstrong says.

Armstrong's military career began in 1968 when he signed up with the United States Army to hopefully be inducted into an IBM computer training program. Instead he was transferred to infantry and received his training at Fort Bliss, Ft. McClellan and Ft. Benning. After two to three months of training, he was transferred to South Vietnam to serve with the Second Battalion, 18th Infantry RECON at Long Xuyen.

"It's hard to relate the experience with someone who didn't share it," Armstrong says, "I wouldn't take from the experience over there but I wouldn't want to do it again."

The conflict was different from veterans going through World Wars I and II. We had no defined lines. Everything was subject to change," he said.

Armstrong was transferred from Vietnam to Fort Meyer in Virginia, referred to from other officers in Armstrong's unit as "the old honor guard."

Although firefighters have uniforms that meet state and federal standards, the union is working to obtain flame-retardant uniforms.

Presently, uniforms are made of protective cloth and meet state specifications, which do not require flame-retardant material, Dorton said.

Former Chief Jim Ryals was considering the purchase of flameretardant uniforms, and Dorton said he also was considering such a purchase.

"I like my men to look good. But the uniforms that are good-looking are too expensive and the ones that are cheap are 100 percent cotton and look really bad," he said. "There's no way I'm going to come out looking good on this. I have to consider the cost but the men's safety is important.'

Dorton said he had instituted a new "closed-door policy." "Jim (Ryals) really had an open door. A hoseman could go around the complete chain of command," Dorton said.

Minor problems should be solved at lower levels of the administration, Dorton said.

Branham also cites the union's community involvement as an accomplishment, and says it will continue to be involved with community affairs.

The union has assumed responsibility for the disaster aid fund, started three years ago by men in the department to assist victims of fires or disasters by providing them with food, clothing, shelter and other necessities.

War memorial defaced

SAN FRANCISCO - Just four da s after a graphic sculpture was dedicat d as a memorial to Holocaust victims, it was vandalized, with the faces of some statue s painted and the words "Is This Necessary?" scrawled nearby, authorities said.

The monument in Lincoln Park ov a looking the Golden Gate Bridge depicts the bodies of Nazi death camp victims heaped on op of one another as one pajama-clad man sta x s by. It is titled "The Survivor."

The vandalism occurred between 4 p.m. Saturday and 8 a.m. Sunday, said police Sgt. Philip Toland. The faces of several of the figures in the sculpture were painted yellow and black, and the words were painted on a cement wall next to the memorial, he said.

A bunch of red roses and a note in German reading, "Forgive and Forget," were also found on the monument, according to James Baldocci, theater manager at the nearby Palace of the Legion of Honor.

A 24-hour security detail had been hired to watch the monument, but Toland said he did not know where the guard was when the sculpture was vandalized.

Police said they have no leads in the case.

Dioxin tests underway

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. - A private company plans to test the decontamination of dioxin-tainted soil this week in an electric reactor at the town of Times Beach, the state Department of Natural Resources says.

The J.M. Huber Corp. will operate the reactor at the state's dioxin research facility in the eastern Missouri town, Robert Schreiber, director of the department's Division of Environmental Quality, said Friday.

Fair finale World's Fair blues start with $100 million loss

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - A rip-roaring jazz parade Sunday didn't drown out the financial blues as the 1984 world's fair ended a six-month run, its critical acclaim overshadowed by losses of more than $100 million. "I'm crying inside," said Laura Halpenny, a fair employee, as crowds jammed the entry gates on the final day. "But I want to remember the fair as it is now, alive and happy, full of people. I wish the whole six months had been like this.'

"Isn't this the pits?" said John Martino, of Boston, in New Orleans for the American Petroleum Institute Convention. "It's so dirty."

Instead of drawing the daily crowds of 90,000 or more that would have led to success, the Lousiana World Exposition averaged 39,000 a day for its 184 days - about half of what it would have taken just to break even.

The exposition goes down as the biggest financial fiasco in the annals of world fairs, owing over $100 million to 750 creditors and in the middle of a Chapter 11 reorganization under federal bankruptcy laws. It eclipsed the losses of the New Orleans fair of 100 years ago, a financial calamity in its own right.

This year's closing fireworks started at 8:39 p.m. Sunday, as bands blared, a choir sang and each of the 24 participating nations paraded their flags in chilly 50-degree weather at the fair's 5,500-seat amphitheater. The fair officially closed as soon as the ceremony ended.

"It was one of the great fairs of this century," said John" G. Weinmann, who as U.S. commissioner was the nation's official host at the fair of Jas and stand was "At the Peruvian Pavillon, the concession stand was closed by a lawsuit filed by the fair over unpaid bills. Suits also were filed against the Carribbean Village, the Afro-American Pavilion, and India Delhi Inc.

In the Mexican Pavilion, shop manager Maria Eugenia Petting said she will just break even. She complained that the fair was underpromoted and, with its $15 admission price for adults, overpriced.

yards deep outside the two main gates, which opened 15 minutes early. Many of visitors were fair veterans, holders of season passes.

A parade kicked off at noon, with everybody who could walk invited to dance along behind blaring jazz musicians.

"It's a shame they are tearing this down," said Blanche Benjamin of New Orleans, who gave her age as 80-plus. Some of it should be preserved.

Some of it will be preserved. The Great Hall will become the New Orleans Convention Center, and a section of the International Pavilion will be converted into a shopping center.

A cable-car ride across the Mississippi River will stay on as a commuter facility.

Souvenir prices were cut at the shops but bits of the Wonderwall were being offered for princely sums for those who want to stash away a bit of fair history.

The wall is an architectural oddity that curved for half a mile across the middle of the 82-acre site, a line of towers and archways, temples and fountains, adorned with fiberglass figures - golden cupids about the size of a small child, lions, preening peacocks and Roman busts. The price for a faded cupid off the wall: $450. For a fancy urn, $600, $1,800 for a lion, $8,000 for an Arabian dome.

A sea god wrestling an alligator, one of the plastic figures at the bridge gate, may wind up in the Rose Bowl parade. The huge mermaids who presided over City Gate, wearing nothing but a smile, may wind up at a water park.

But, like many other fair negotiations, most final deals are not yet struck.

The fair cost state taxpayers about $65 million - $27.5 million in direct loans, $10 million in guarantees against losses, and the rest in street improvements and other costs.

But Melvin and Dot Hymel said they enjoyed the fair so much they went to the exposition 145 or its 184 days. Officials of the Mississppi Pavilion gave the couple and their two daughters commemorative posters and On a sunny but chilly morning, the crowd was packed 50 medallions honoring their loyalty to the fair.

TOKYO - Forty Japanese jetfighters chased a Soviet bomber which violated Japan's airspace Monday morning despite repeated warnings, a Defense Agency spokesman said. The spokesman said nine Soviet bombers were flying south past the Tsushima Straits, between South Korea and Japan, in international airspace.

Four of the bombers turned back to the north. Despite repeated radio warnings from Japanese ground stations and from Japanese air defense jetfighters, one of the four, a Tu-16 Badger, violated Japanese airspace above the island of Okinoshima for two minutes, the spokesman said, speaking on condition of anonymity.

Mrs. Gandhi's son and successor, Rajiv Gandhi, was aboard the AN-12 transport plane as it flew in brilliant blue skies above the snowcapped peaks.

Rajiv Gandhi and a military escort had taken three urns containing some of his mother's ashes by helicopter from New Lelhi at sunrise to join 32 other urns also containing ashes from her Nov. 3 cremation.

At Hindon Air Base north of the capital, the urns were transferred from the helicopter to the transport plane, which scattered the ashes between the Gangotri and Amarnath peaks along the Tibetan frontier at the headwaters of the sacred river Ganges, United News of India news agency and other Indian news media reported.

Rajiv Gandhi said the ceremony was in accordance with his mother's wishes that "the end of her earthly journey" come over the mountains of Uttar Pradesh state where she was born 66 years ago,

Military services battle over turf

Even during peacetime, the Army, Navy and Air Force battle amongst themselves, wary of any attempt to economize by consolidating their efforts.

Millions of dollars are spent needlessly each year because the services won't share anything. At one point, they even refused a money-saving proposition to purchase a belt buckle common for all.

Four years ago, top civilians in the Pentagon attempted to create a single command to handle military transportation. It would have eliminated expensive duplication of effort - for instance, the Army moving troops by land and then the Navy taking over the task of moving the same troops by sea. The Navy wanted no part of the idea.

Again, a proposal to save money by joint distribution of consumable items, joint warehousing and supply of material separately purchased by each service, was turned down. If the services would agree to consolidate this task alone, it would save the taxpayers $100 million a year.

The services fear consolidation chiefly because they would lose turf. They fear they would have to share with or turn over to civilians the post now filled by admirals and generals.

This poor cooperation can have serious consequences when it affects military operations. In the invasion of Grenada, for instance. Marine and Army troops had trouble communicating, simply because their radios broadcast on different frequencies.

Congress is aware of the parochial interests on the part of the armed services. It should pass legislation to increase the powers of the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and give the joint chiefs a permanent military staff, so that the problem can be confronted for the good of the military establishment as a whole.

Billy Graham

Son needs help

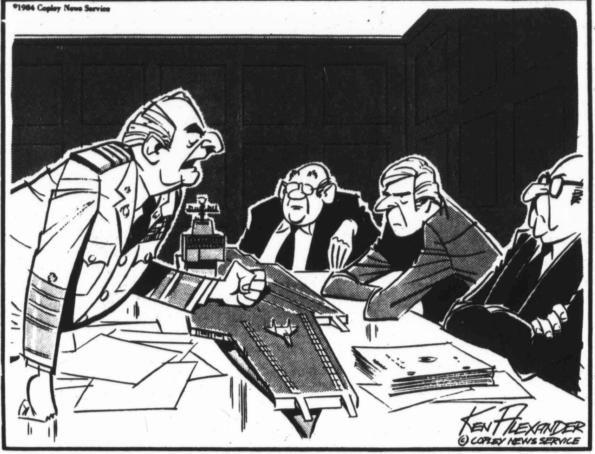

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: We just don't know what to do about our son, who is in his 20s. He will lie all the time about anything, no matter what it is. We have constantly had to come to his aid financially to get him out of situations, but now I am afraid he has lied so much about one thing that he is in danger of going to prison. Why do you think he is like this, and what can we do? ---Mrs. A.J.

DEAR MRS. A.J.: From what you say, your son has a serious problem in his personality, and it would be wise for you to inquire about getting psychological or psychiatric help for him. Your pastor may have suggestions about professional counselors in your area who could help your son uncover the reasons for his behavior and point to some ways to overcome it. At the same time, I do not want to dismiss your son's problem simply as a psychological quirk, because what he is doing is wrong in God's eyes - whatever the reasons may be for it. He is responsible for not coming to grips with this problem, and he needs to face the fact that he is committing sin. The Bible is clear: "The Lord detests lying lips, but he delights in men who are truthful" (Proverbs 12:22).

Your son needs to be confronted with the seriousness of what he is doing, and the way it not only is wrecking his life and yours, but also keeping him from facing his need of God. After all, the greatest lie a person can tell himself is that he does not need Christ.

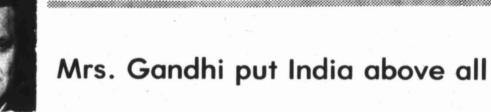

I do not know your full situation, of course, but the time may come when it is best to let your son pay

"DON'T TRY TO ONE-OR-TWO-HUNDRED MILLION THE NAVY, SEN ATOR ... WE DEAL IN BILLIONS!"

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON - I have long felt a deep personal attachment to India, and sincere respect for the strong-willed woman who was its leader for most of the last two decades. The assassination of Indira Gandhi by Sikh extremists may prove to have been a serious blow to the fragile political structure she presided over in the world's largest democracy.

In this period of grief and uncertainty, the United States can best serve India - and the world - by assuring Mrs. Gandhi's successors that we are committed to support of their quest for security amid the dangers of neighboring dictatorships and internal religious fragmentation.

Such assurances would go a long way toward overcoming Indian leaders' suspicion and resentment of the United States, dating back to the Nixon ad-ministration's secret "tilt" toward Pakistan in its 1971 war with India. Relations between the world's two biggest democracies have not been helped in the years since by ignorant American politicians' repeated complaints that India is too pro-Soviet.

In a rare private interview two years ago with my associate Indy Badhwar, Mrs. Gandhi was visibly exasperated at the attitude of many in this country that whoever is not with us in the struggle against the Soviets is necessarily against us.

Kremlin - Mrs. Gandhi refused to let her country become embroiled in the U.S.-Soviet rivalry.

If this attitude cost her friends in both camps, it also allowed Mrs. Gandhi to spend more time and energy on the massive and complex problems within her own huge and disparate country.

Though sometimes she addressed these problems in a high-handed way, she was at heart at pragmatic democrat not unlike Abraham Lincoln - uncompromising and authoritarian in her determination to preserve the nation from both foreign and domestic enemies.

The prickly Ghandhi personality was not everyone's cup of tea. Richard Nixon both feared and detested her. Warned by his secretary of state, Henry Kissinger, that Mrs. Gandhi was "coldblooded and tough," Nixon said after meeting her that she "acted like a man" but, when criticized, "wanted to be treated like a woman."

President Reagan and Mrs. Gandhi met privately in 1982, and despite their strong differences in political outlook took a personal liking to each other. Had she lived, U.S.-Indian relations would have continued to improve. Now, with Mrs. Gandhi's tragic departure from the scene, this improvement can still be achieved if the Reagan administration will make an extra effort.

Reunion proves you can go home

To the editor:

Thomas Wolfe wrote "you can't go home" but then old Tom never lived in Big Spring. I came "home" (for homecoming) and I can't remember when I've experienced a more exhilarating, inspirational and enjoyable experience. Every part of the city, every street I drove along, the old high school building, Scenic Drive, South Mountain ... all held the most wonderful and fondest memories.

Scenic Drive, a prominent feature on the horizon which you can see on the Midland side of Stanton driving home, furnished a marvelous introduction to the symphony of Big Spring as we drove into "our town". And while the young adults of our childhood are now in the twilight of their lives, the warmth, the glow, the inspiration of their character and personalities that we remembered so well as a much younger person is still there in abundance and reminded us why we loved them so very much in the first place. We told all of them that they were so much smarter than we are cause they chose to stay and live in Big Spring.

I never cease to share and tell others where I'm from, something I shared with Don McNeil's Breakfast Club millions of listeners on nation-wide radio on a frosty winter morning eons ago, so ably written by the number one citizen of Big Spring, Shine Phillips. Shine said, "Big Spring: the Main Spring of West Texas, a thriving little metropolis is centrally located half-between between Ft. Worth and El Paso with an approximate population of 20,506 people (not counting the cattle).

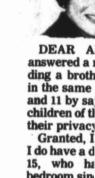

Shine could've added that the people in Big Spring are the finest, most exemplary folks in the university with whom the greatest and most meaningful friendships have been formed and which have lasted a lifetime. I am thankful that the good Lord allowed me the privilege and opportunity to have grown up there.

Today

By The Associated Press Today is Monday, Nov. 12, the 317th day of 1984. There are 49 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On Nov. 12, 1927, Joseph Stalin became the undisputed ruler of the Soviet Union as Leon Trotsky was expelled from the Communist Party.

On this date:

In 1815, American suffragist Elizabeth Cady Stanton was born. In 1920, baseball got its first

"czar" as Judge Kennesaw Mountain Landis was elected commissioner of the American and National leagues.

In 1921, representatives of nine nations gathered in the nation's capital for the start of the Washington Conference for Limitation of Armaments.

In 1929, Grace Kelly, who went on to become an actress and then Princess Grace of Monaco, was born.

In 1944, during World War II, the German battleship "Tirpitz" was sunk off Norway.

In 1948, former Japanese premier Hideki Tojo and several other World War II Japanese leaders were sentenced to death by a war crimes tribunal.

the full consequences for his actions - even if it is painful at the time. At the same time, let him know of your love and concern. Most of all, pray for him and encourage him to turn to Christ for the forgiveness and spiritual strength he needs to fight this deeply embedded problem.

Billy Graham's religious column is distribute by Tribune Media Services.

In 1954, Ellis Island, an immigration station in New York harbor, closed after processing more than 20 million immigrants since opening in 1892.

In 1981, Budget Director David A. Stockman was reprimanded by President Reagan for expressing doubts in an Atlantic Monthly article about the administration's economic policies. Stockman offered his resignation, which was refused.

In 1982, Yuri V. Andropov was elected to succeed the late Leonid I. Brezhnev as general secretary of the Communist Party's Central Committee.

Ten years ago: The Ford administration said publicly for the first time that it appeared the country was moving into a recession.

Five years ago: With the hostage crisis in Tehran continuing, President Jimmy Carter suspended U.S. oil imports from Iran.

One year ago: President Reagan addressed the South Korean National Assembly, assuring his audience that "America is your friend and we are with you."

Today's birthdays: Supreme Court Justice Harry Blackmun is 76. Actress Kim Hunter is 62.

I'm neither pro-Soviet, nor pro-American,' said. "I'm pro-India."

And, in fact, Mrs. Gandhi had always proved willing and able to wriggle out of the Soviet bear hug whenever it showed signs of becoming uncomfortably tight. For example, when the Kremlin tried to make India totally dependent on Soviet arms by offering bargain-counter deals, Mrs. Gandhi went shopping in Europe and the United States in a clear snub to the Soviet overtures.

It was in that 1982 interview that she gave the first public hint of her desire to improve the cool relations with the United States.

"That is important for us," she said in her clipped Oxford accent, "and it is important for America, too, because we are too large a couantry to be wished away.

In the years since then, she went out of her way to cultivate better relations. She liberalized India's tightly regulated economy, and assured American businessmen that their investments in her country would be both welcome and safe.

In foreign policy, Mrs. Gandhi was a hardheaded realist. When the Soviets sought her support for their invasion of Afghanistan, she declined, informing the Soviets privately that they had no business in Afghanistan and should get out. But she did not needlessly antagonize the Soviet colossus to the north by joining the U.S.-led hue and cry over the Soviet aggression.

The course that Mrs. Gandhi set for her country was one of self-interested nationalism. To the irritation of anti-communist zealots in this country - and doubtless of their anti-American counterparts in the STRICTLY PERSONAL: Many readers want to know if anything can be done to hold medical costs down - and if something can be done, why no one's doing it.

One area of abuse is the growing number of multimillion-dollar malpractice awards against physicians and their insurance companies. The premiums doctors pay for malpractice insurance are passed on to their patients. But when doctors in Florida tried to amend the state constitution to put a monetary cap on "non-economic" damages, they ran head-on into the state's legal fraternity.

It's estimated that between them, the doctors and lawyers spent more than $6 million campaigning for and against the proposed amendment - only to have the state supreme court (made up of former lawyers) throw the amendment off the ballot on technical grounds. Look for the battle to spread to other states, though.

· Can a stuffed animal fight infection in the hospital? Oddly enough, it can.

Alarmed at the 20,000 annual deaths from infection among hospital patients - a million Americans a year catch an infection of some kind during their hospital stay - the Department of Health and Human Services has come up with a stuffed animal called T. Bear. The bear, and badges bearing his likeness, remind children, other patients and hospital workers to wash their hands. It seems to be working.

for Christmas, but since many of the stores in my town began selling Christmas items before Halloween, guess it really is not too early. Below are the things I would like for Christmas this year:

1. I wish that people would realize that the true meaning of Christmas is not spending millions of dollars trying to buy the love of other people, but is found in learning to love and accept other people as they are and in loving the God that created all of us.

2. I wish that true peace would be found on earth. You know, learning to like other people that are not different from us is not that difficult when we look for the best in all people

3. I wish that families would begin to be families again. Wouldn't it be great if every family would spend one evening a week together learning from each other and getting acquainted again?

4. I wish that the true meaning of Christmas would be found in every home and each and every person that calls themselves Christian, would bow down and thank God that there is a season called Christmas.

Santa, thanks for listening to my wishes and for being a positive influence in this season of joy and happiness.

Martin Luther King Sr. dies of heart attack

ATLANTA (AP) - The Rev. Martin Luther King Sr., the father of slain civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr., died Sunday at Crawford Long Hospital. He was 84.

King was taken from his home to the hospital on Sunday, said Bernice Thompson, a secretary at Ebenezer Baptist Church, where King and his slain son had been pastors.

The son of a Georgia sharecropper, King's life was marred by the assassinations his elder son and the sniper slaying of his wife, Alberta, as she played the church organ in 1974. His other son, A.D., drowned in a backyard swimming pool in 1969.

Christine King Farris, King's daughter and only surviving child, told a hospital news conference her father was stricken Sunday afternoon at his home and was rushed to the hospital where "extensive resuscitation efforts were taken.'

King died at 5:41 p.m. at the hospital. "It appears the hallmark of his civil disobedience crusade toward integration in the 1950s and 1960s.

"It's no accident that Martin or my other son didn't hate anybody," the elder King said in an interview. "I taught them to love everyone, rich, poor, high or low. I instilled that in my children. That came up in them, and now, I'm preaching the same gospel to my grandchildren."

The younger King was assassinated in Memphis, Tenn., in April 1968. President Reagan last year signed a bill to make the younger King's birthday a national holiday.

President Jimmy Carter said "Daddy King" was responsible "to a great extent" for Carter's 1976 election victory.

King joined Carter at an Atlanta campaign rally in 1976 when Carter was under fire for saving he would oppose any federal attempts to dilute "the ethnic purity" of neighborhoods. Carter later apologized for to be some sort of heart attack," said Dr. Bernard Bridges, King's personal physician, adding that no post-mortem examination was planned.

King had suffered from a chronic heart condition. He was hospitalized in critical condition last month when his heart ailment was aggravated by a lung infection

"On behalf of the King family I want to express my profound gratitude for the love, concern, sympathy and support and we appreciate the fervent prayers over the last few weeks," Mrs. Farris said.

"I'm trying to be as strong as I can, as daddy would want me to be," she said while surrounded by about 20 family members and black leaders, including Atlanta Mayor Andrew Young and the president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, the Rev. Joseph Lowery Young said, "Daddy King did more for this city, the South and the nation than any of us yet realize. Before he was famous, Martin Luther King was always fighting for people's rights and standing up for the little people of this community, and telling people not to hate.

Lowery praised King's "compassion and love" in the face of adversity. "I don't know anyone 84 who has lived a better life.

Lowery also said that King, though living to see tremendous strides in civil rights, "realized we still have a long way to go.'

White House spokesman Anson Franklin said Sunday evening that President Reagan had been told of King's death

"The president was informed, and he was saddened by the news," Franklin said.

"Daddy King," as he was known, preached nonviolence to his children, and his son Martin made it.

In reward for his support, King was chosen to deliver the benediction ending the 1976 Democratic National Convention where Carter was nominated. Following the deaths of his two sons and his wife, King worked 16 hours a day at his church and fulfilled a rigorous schedule of speechmaking to provide money for his nine fatherless grandchildren.

"I live for them, I'm the only man in their life," King said of Martin's four children and A.D.'s five. King was born Dec. 19, 1899, near Stockbridge, Ga. He came to Atlanta when he was 17, worked days and went to school at night. He graduated from Morehouse College in Atlanta in 1930.

King married Alberta Williams, whose father, the Rev. A.D. Williams, was pastor of Ebenezer Baptist Church from 1896 until his death in 1931.

The elder King succeeded his father-in-law in leading the church and retired from the post in 1975. The historic Atlanta church became a touchstone for his son Martin, who was a co-pastor, throughout his turbulent civil rights career.

Former Atlanta Mayor Ivan Allen Jr., a white man who headed city government during the 1960s, said, "He was a wonderful friend to the city and to the people of this city during the very difficult days of the civil rights movement in the 1960s. His contributions, however, go beyond just that period. ... He cannot be replaced.

Allen, who asked King to mediate racial disputes in Atlanta during that turbulent period, said, "I think Dr. King had, of course, lived under very trying conditions during segregation. He had a deep understanding of what needed to be done. He just had that depth of personality and character."

Surprise! — Oilers finally win a game

Snap 23-game road losing streak

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - The arrival of that long-awaited first victory seemed to humble the Houston Oilers more than it gladdened them.

The Kansas City Chiefs, the first team to lose to the Oilers at home in more than three years, admitted to feeling "demoralized."

"This is a confidence-builder for a very young team," said Warren Moon, the Oiler quarterback who accounted for two touchdowns in a 17-16 victory that snapped a National Football League record 23-game road losing streak. "This will help," said Oiler Coach Hugh Campbell. "We still have a lot of problems but this will help.

"We're not to the point where we're cocky," said wide receiver Tim Smith with a grin. "We're 1-10.

Before getting a chance at the Chiefs, 5-6, Houston had not played one opponent this year closer than 10 points. And one key to victory was a defense which pressured Chiefs quarterback Todd Blackledge throughout the day with what seemed like an unrelenting blitz. Nevertheless the Chiefs, coming off a 45-0 defeat at Seattle which equalled the most lopsided loss in their history, took a 9-7 lead into the fourth quarter on three Nick Lowery field goals.

Moon had given the Oilers the first-half lead with a 2-yard scoring flip to Jamie Williams in the second period. And he struck with authority when Mike Stensrud recovered Blackledge's fumble on the Houston 45 as time ran out in the third.

A pass to Larry Moriarty picked up eight yards, then Moriarty got seven to the Chiefs' 40.

The drive almost stalled at the 26 before Moon and Smith connected on a 25-yard gain to the 1 on third down. Moon hurdled across the goalline on the next play for the goahead touchdown.

Joe Cooper's 44-yard field goal with 1:34 left turned out to be decisive after the Chiefs, aided by a 43-yard pass interference penalty, scored on a four-yard pass to Henry Marshall with 26 seconds

"Obviously, losing to a team that's 0-10 is pretty demoralizing," said Chiefs center Bob Rush. "It was pretty bad last week, but my dog will still be nice to me. I don't know about my wife.'

It was Houston's first victory on the road since the Oilers bested the Browns in Cleveland on Sept. 13, 1981.

"As far as the players are concerned, I have some emotion about this," said Campbell. "They have hung in there. To go into a footbal stadium and play a team with a po-tent offense like Kansas City has and come away with a win is a tremendous uplift."

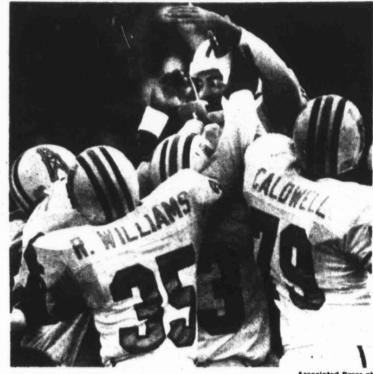

'We started smelling it with about nine minutes left," said Moon. "Our defense was controlling their offense, and our offense was controlling the ball. It was a matter then of not making any mistakes and letting them get back in it."

The victory was a load off the shoulders of both Moon and Campbell, who were dominant figures in the Canadian Football League before casting their lot with the Oilers.

"I'm happy for Hugh," said Moon. "He's handled the losing well. This shows that we can win with this coach, and this system and this guarterback."

Losing by one point to an 0-10 team a week after losing to Seattle by 45 left the Chiefs emotionally staggered.

"Last week hurt - we didn't feel we played our best," said Coach John Mackovic. "But we gave of ourselves today. I know it doesn't show on the scoreboard, where we will ultimately be judged. But our players gave of themselves as much as I've ever seen and it hurts them very deeply to lose today."

GAME WINNER - Houston Oilers kicker Joe Cooper is hoisted by his teammates after kicking a field goal which translated into the winning points for the Oilers Sunday against the Kansas City Chiefs. It was the Oilers first victory of the season, winning 17-16

Racer killed in Atlanta Journal 500

HAMPTON, Ga. (AP) - Dale Earnhardt streaked through sparks and smoke to win his second auto race of the season, the Atlanta Journal 500 — a contest marred by the first driving fatality at a NASCAR Grand National event in nine years.

Rookie driver Terry Schoonover, 32, of Royal Palm Beach, Fla., was pronounced dead at 4:27 p.m. Sun-day of massive head and internal injuries at Grady Memorial Hospital in Atlanta. It was the first driver fatality in the 25-year history of the Atlanta International Raceway.

His Chevrolet Monte Carlo SS hit the outside wall coming out of the second turn on the 129th lap, slid across the track and slammed into the infield banking. It took 10 minutes for rescue crews to cut him out of the car, said Bill Gazaway, vice president of com-petition for NASCAR.

134.610 mph around the 1.5-mile Atlanta track to win $40,610, but not without some anxious moments. A piece of debris that apparently fell off Bill Elliott's car punctured the oil pan of Earnhardt's Chevrolet.

"It happened in the third turn, and I could see sparks flying everywhere," he said. "I saw some smoke and thought, 'Uh, oh,' but nothing happened. When that happened, it looked like Bill kind of backed off."

Elliott, who finished second, three-fourths of a second behind Earnhardt, said the incident ended his charge.

"I had no chance after that to catch Earnhardt," he said. "He threw oil all over my windshield and I couldn't see. I couldn't judge distances and had to feel my way through the corner." "It was a real small hole, but if

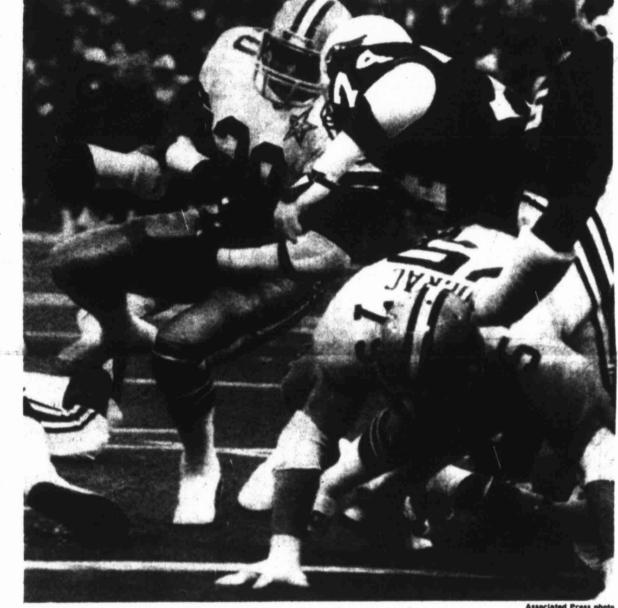

Earnhardt's 11th career victory. you look at the car in Victory Lane, the hole got a lot bigger before the National triumph. He averaged end of the race," Earnhardt said. Elliott was followed over the finish line by Ricky Rudd, Benny Parsons and Bobby Allison.

Schoonover was making his second Grand National start after his Oct. 21 debut at Rockingham, N.C., where he started 39th and finished 21st in the American 500. His death was the first driver fatality at a NASCAR Grand National event since Tiny Lund was killed in the 1975 Talladega 500.

Terry Labonte lost seven points to lead by 42 over second-place Harry Gant in the Winston Cup point standings when his engine blew on the 205th lap and put him out of the race.

The contest was marred by other crashes, including a collision between Mark Stahl and Ken Ragan when Stahl's engine blew on the second lap, and a spinout by Bob Penrod on the second turn of the 60th lap. The cars of Lenny Pond and Greg Sacks collided on the front stretch of the 76th lap.

ST. LOUIS (P) - As with his Dallas Cowboys teammates, persistent effort found a way of producing an unexpected reward for All-Pro defensive back Everson Walls.

"I didn't see the flag until the play was over," said Walls of a penalty ruled his way Sunday in a 24-17 victory by Dallas over the St. Louis Cardinals.

"I was ticked off from the fact that he beat me on the play for a touchdown.

Roy Green, against whom offensive pass interference was called. admitted surprise in addition to dismay.

"I think defensive pass interference would have been justified," said the speedy St. Louis receiver. "Evidently he tried to put an arm up or something. I ran right by it. It didn't even slow me down." Unfortunately for the Cards, the touchdown denied Green on a 39-yard play merely fit a pattern maintained during most of the National Football League contest.

Michael Downs of the Cowboys blocked a 49-yard field-goal attempt by Neil O'Donoghue of St. Louis in the opening quarter, thereby setting up Ron Springs' touchdown dive of 1 yard. By the half, Dallas was in front 17-7 after Mike Hegman had curled around an Ottis Anderson fumble.

The Cards, while reviving their No. 1 National Conference offense, seemed intent on making amends at the outset of the third quarter.

Randy Love slammed 1 yard into the end zone, culminating a 62-yard drive. Later, when a nine-play parade fizzled at the 13 of the opponent, a 30-yard kick by O'Donoghue produced a 17-17 tie.

St. Louis, which suffered six turnovers, withstood Stump Mitchell's fumbled punt reception ahead of O'Donoghue's tying kick.

But a subsequent error involving Victor Scott's interception of a Neil Lomax pass bouncing off Green proved fatal. Gary Hogeboom, who completed but 12 of 33 passes for Dallas, capitalized three plays later by combining with Springs on a 26-yard swing pass with 9:03 remaining

Lauded by Cowboys Coach Tom Landry was the resilience of the Dallas defense in withstanding 388 passing yards by Lomax, who threw 52 times

"We didn't blitz this time as much. The third quarter was our low point," said the coach. "In the fourth quarter, we came back on strong.

Hogeboom, whose sharpest moments were at the close of the opening half while steering the Cowboys from their 2 to the 18 of the Cards to set up a 35-yard field goal by Septien, labeled the triumph redemptive.

"I just think it goes to show you can't count us out until we're totally out of it," said Hogeboom after helping Dallas, 7-4, bump St. Louis, 6-5, from a share of the lead in the NFC East. "We've had our problems this year."

Running back James Jones scored the Cowboys' additional touchdown, gathering in an 8-yard pass from Hogeboom in the second quarter.

12-33-2 27-52-2 One of two interceptions thrown 2-13 4-33 5-4 by the Dallas quarterback earlier set up the Cards. Jeff Griffin picked off the toss, and Lomax rifled a 9-85 34:04 15-yard strike to Pat Tilley.

It marked a second straight week of offensive frustration for St. Louis, which wasted a 435-yard attack through four fumbles and two Lomax interceptions.

'Most of it we did ourselves, but we kept coming back and coming back," said Cards Coach Jim Hanifan. "As a coach, I was very proud."

Lendl garners two wins in England tennis matches

After five months without a tornament victory, Ivan Lendl picked up two in one day and is looking forward to moving on to the Australian Open later this month. Lendl's singles and doubles crowns in the Benson and Hedges Grand Prix tournament Sunday grossed him a cool $57,000 and put him an excellent frame of mind for the year's final Grand Slam event. John McEnroe, the Wimbledon and U.S Open champion, is going for the third leg of the Grand Slam in Melbourne, but Lendl could be a formidable obstacle.

The tall 24-year-old Czech, currently ranked third in the world, could still finish in the No. 2 position if he can make up 139 Grand Prix points on Jimmy Connors.

"I am going to the Australian to win " said I endl after heating An-

WEMBLEY, England (AP) - dres Gomez of Ecuador in straight sets to win the singles title here, his first important success since the French Open in June. "I enjoy it there and the grass will give me good practice for Wimbledon."

Lendl, who defeated Connors in Saturday's semifinals, saved his best performance for Sunday.

He exploded 15 aces, four of them in one game, and dropped just 15 points on his service as Gomez was humiliated 7-6, 6-2, 6-1 in one hour, 43 minutes.

In the opening set, Gomez matched his opponent until the tiebreaker, which many experts had predicted the South American would win.

Gomez has become something of tiebreaker specialist, with 29 suca cesses out of 36 this year, but Lendl won it 7-1.

scored four points, grabbed four rebounds and blocked two shots. Bowie finished with 12 rebounds.

Short rang up the highest point total of the young season by hitting 19 of 33 shots from the field and 10 of 11 free throws.

Jim Paxson led the Blazers with 30 points and Darnell Valentine added 19.
