How's that? Smokeout

Q. Are there any activities planned for the Great American Smokeout this year?

A. Yes. The Great American Smokeout is planned for Thursday, and the 1984 goal is to get at least one in every five smokers to give up cigarettes from midnight to midnight Thursday.

At noon tomorrow there will be a stop smoking seminar held in the first floor classroom at Malone-Hogan Hospital. The seminar is free. If you would like to learn more about how to kick the smoking habit, attend the free clinic at Malone-Hogan Hospital.

Calendar: LULAC

TODAY
• The League of United Latin American Citizens will meet at 7 p.m. at Amigo's private club.

THURSDAY
• People who have been certified for November 1984 may pick up food commodities through the West Texas Opportunities Emergency Food Assistance program at the National Guard Armory from 8:15 a.m. to 2 p.m. Recipients must have their yellow certification cards.

• The National Association of Retired and Veteran Railway Employees Inc. will meet for a Thanksgiving Dinner and business meeting at the Kentwood Older Adult Activity Center at 6:30 p.m.

• The Big Spring High School drama department will present "The Night of January 16," about a murder trial, at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium. Call 267-7461, ext. 165, for more information.

• The Big Spring Humane Society will meet at 7 p.m. at the Westside Community Center.

• A 'Diabetes Awareness' panel will be presented by the local chapter of the American Diabetes Association from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. in the Malone-Hogan Hospital classroom. The public is invited.

FRIDAY
• The Big Spring High School drama department will present "The Night of January 16," about a murder trial, at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium. Call 267-7461, ext. 165, for more information.

SATURDAY
• The GFWC-TFWC Big Spring Junior Woman's Club will hold an autumn bake sale and children's personalized plates craft sale from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the Big Spring Mall.

Tops on TV: Ellis Island

Marco continues his quest for the state senate at 8 p.m. in the conclusion of "Ellis Island" at 8 p.m. on channel 7. At 9 p.m. on channel 13, several members of the hospital staff volunteer to be tested at the dream center in "St. Elsewhere."

Outside: Windy

The forecast calls for partly cloudy skies and highs in the mid 70s this afternoon. Winds will be southerly, 10 to 20 miles per hour. Tonight, look for partly cloudy skies to continue and lows in the upper 40s. Winds will be southerly to southeasterly, 5 to 15 miles per hour. Tomorrow's forecast calls for highs in the mid 70s.

Record deficit projected

WASHINGTON (AP) — Faced with a new prediction that this year's federal budget deficit could be a record $205 billion, top administration officials are conducting an intensive search for ways to cut government spending and reduce the red ink.

President Reagan, who sources said was given the deficit projection at a Cabinet meeting Tuesday, reminded his department heads that "we came here to dam the river" and admonished them to "start throwing in the rocks."

Asked at a state dinner Tuesday whether he was surprised by the projections, Reagan replied: "We are just going to go to work on things of this kind. I don't place much faith in projections."

Administration sources said today that he latest projection, which budget director David Stockman gave Reagan, would put the deficit for fiscal 1985, which started Oct. 1, in the range of $205 billion to $210 billion, sharply higher the $172 billion projected just last summer.

With administration officials ordered by the White House not to discuss the ongoing budget process, the sources would speak only on condition they not be named.

One source said the higher deficit was in part the product of a one-time writeoff the government must absorb in public-housing notes as a result of changes in the new tax law.

While the source would not say how big the writeoff is, today's Wall Street Journal put the figure at $14 billion.

The deficit projections are preliminary and assume that Congress takes no action to cut spending. See Deficit page 2-A

Court rules against Stacy Dam

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — The Texas Supreme Court delivered on Wednesday what could be the fatal blow to efforts to construct Stacy Dam, a reservoir proposed to meet West Texas water needs.

The court, in a lengthy opinion under review for more than a year, invalidated the Texas Water Commission's authorization of the massive water project. The nine justices were unanimous in upholding lower river water rights but one judge said the matter should be referred back to the commission rather than just invalidated.

Proponents of the dam, told of the court decision, said they will continue the fight for the reservoir.

The Colorado River Municipal Water District of Big Spring, which is pushing the reservoir, planned to provide municipal water to several West Texas cities, including Big Spring and San Angelo.

In reaching the decision, the state's highest civil appeals court said commission approval of the project would hurt downstream water rights on the Colorado River.

"Under the law, the department may not grant permits when its own records show that the supply must come from an existing downstream permittee's water that the department speculates he will not actually need," the court opinion held.

Commission staff, during their review of the Stacy Dam project, maintained that uncanceled permits and filings held by districts and landowners downstream of the reservoir would leave an insufficient supply of "unappropriated water for Stacy Dam."

The Texas Supreme Court has had the reservoir debate under consideration since October 1983 when opponents, led by the Lower Colorado River Authority, argued for rejection of a Texas Department of Water Resources permit authorizing the project.

Construction of the dam and 554,340 acre-foot reservoir, which would inundate portions of Runnels, Concho and Coleman counties, was estimated to cost more than $50 million.

An Austin district court and the Austin-based 3rd Court of Appeals have ruled against the Lower Colorado River Authority's attempts to overturn permits authorizing the project.

West Texas is preferred region for nuclear waste disposal site

Q. Which region of the state do you think would be the best location for an above-ground, low-level radioactive waste disposal site?

Source: Fall Texas Poll, 1984. Note: Maximum sampling error: ±3%. Other responses to the question were: No opinion, 30%. Any place except where I live, 4%. All places the same, 2%.

Texans eye W. Texas for nuclear waste site

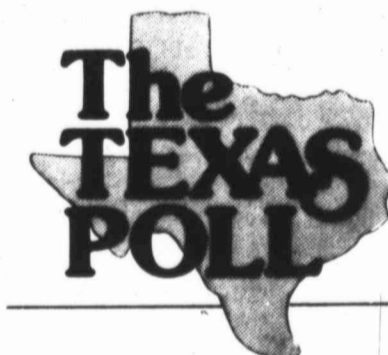

By DAVID HILL
Texas Poll Director

Most Texans would prefer burying low-level nuclear waste to storing it above ground, the Texas Poll has found.

And West Texas is the favorite place for an above-ground radioactive waste site, although the manager of the state agency charged with disposing of the waste says a South Texas site will probably be chosen.

The poll found that 58 percent of the respondents favored storing radioactive waste below ground, while 24 percent favored above-ground storage. The rest had no opinion.

The Texas Low-Level Radioactive Waste Disposal Authority commissioned the Texas Poll to survey public opinion on below-ground vs. above-ground storage after testimony before a state House subcommittee in August indicated that people might be more receptive to above-ground storage.

"We were a bit surprised at the outcome of the poll," authority General Manager Rick Jacobi said. "We had been led to believe that there was a preference for above-ground storage."

But more than half of the poll's respondents said above-ground disposal has no advantages (29 percent) or had no opinion (31 percent). The only advantage that many people saw is the ease of monitoring an above-ground site (26 percent).

The two biggest disadvantages that people saw to above-ground storage are the ease with which a facility could be vandalized (10 percent) and the threat of leakage (10 percent).

Jacobi said below-ground disposal does have some advantages if it's done properly — in an area with thick clay soil and deep ground water. "If you put it below ground, you don't have to worry about other hazards — vandalism, tornadoes ...," he said.

The authority has narrowed its search for a disposal site to two South Texas counties: Dimmitt (pop. 11,367, county seat Carrizo

Audience is jury in BSHS play

Semester's first production is Thursday, Friday

By CAROL BALDWIN
Staff Writer

Twelve members of the audience who attend "The Night of January 16," a Big Spring High School drama production slated this Thursday and Friday, will find themselves assigned to jury duty during the course of the production.

The play, written by Ann Rand in 1933, "depicts a murder trial process," said Chuck Steadman, director of the play.

Steadman, who teaches drama, speech and forensics at Big Spring High School, selected the play because "it's a good show."

Steadman's mother, an English instructor at a small school in Colorado, staged the production in 1958. "I've always found it interesting," he said. "Many people are familiar with it. It is a very old, very popular Broadway production."

He also chose the play because of its large cast.

"We have a large theater department and some very talented students. It was not fair to put on a production with only six cast members. I want to use as much material as I can."

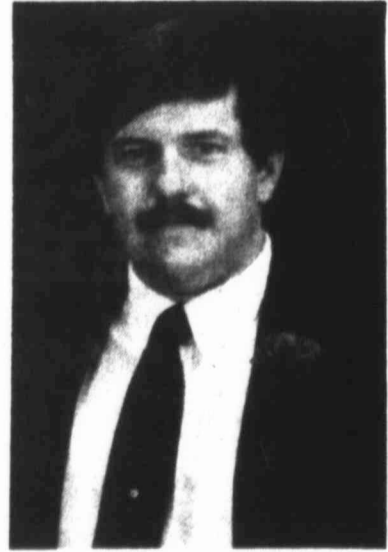

Because the jury will be selected from the audience, the cast "has no idea what the verdict will be." The jury will determine the fate of the defendant each night, and, "it's totally up to the 12 people drawn from the audience."

Taking roles in the production are Molly Thompson, Judge Heath; Sami Eyskens, District Attorney Flint; Terrie Garcia, assistant DA; Anissa Barteo, defendant; Vince Solis, defense attorney; Tracy Wilkerson, medical examiner; and Jimmy Churchwell, night watchman.

Also Mark Corwin, "Guts" Reagan; Stacey Leonard, bailiff; Diane Borrego, clerk; Kristy

Greenbelt notches victory in trash can fight

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

The Big Spring City Council Tuesday night agreed to purchase rollout trashcans for every resident in the Greenbelt section who preferred the rollouts to large dumpsters.

Council members made the decision after 390 residents of that neighborhood, the former housing section at Webb Air Force Base, area presented a petition asking for the removal of the large dumpsters that have been placed on families' lawns as part of the city's "containerization" program.

Although council members did not give a date when residents would receive the portable rollouts instead of the dumpsters, which serve up to three families, they told city staff the change should be made "as soon as possible."

"We're going to wait a month and then come back. It gives them time to give some homeowners black rollouts," said Martie Geanopolus, who presented the petition to the council, after the meeting.

Mrs. Geanopolus said City Public Works

Director Tom Decell told her earlier that it would probably be three weeks before the city could purchase and install the dumpsters in the neighborhood.

Decell said he could not tell when the dumpsters, which residents called "unsightly," "eyesores" and "unsanitary," would be replaced.

The problem stemmed from a change in the residential pattern in the neighborhood since the time the city did a survey of the area. According to Decell, the area was formerly inhabited by transient oilfield workers and renters who had trashcans in front of their house. The neighborhood does not have alleys.

"There's been a pattern change," Decell said. "They've sold more than 150 homes out there this year."

Residents and managers of four housing entities in the area — Greenbelt Homes, Barksdale Apartments, Omega Housing and Sundance Housing — signed the petition, Mrs. Geanopolus said.

"We wanted to get them (council members) all aware of the situation

Coahoma abolishes police department

By LUIS RIOS
Staff Writer

COAHOMA — The police department is abolished, with the unanimous action of Coahoma City Council Tuesday night.

The vote to eliminate the police department and close out its books followed the resignation of the city's only policeman two weeks ago.

Former Police Chief O.D. Majors resigned effective Oct. 21 to take a position with the Howard County Sheriff's Department. The sheriff's department is currently patrolling Coahoma, said Mayor Pat Harrison.

The police department has been in existence since 1976.

Councilman Jerry "Red" Brockman moved to abolish the department. Gary Roberts and Brian Jensen agreed with Brockman. Two councilmen, Lawrence Aberegg and Steve New, were absent from the meeting.

Revenues from the 1 percent city sales tax, which had been used to fund the defunct department, will be transferred to the general fund. Roberts said the sales tax was not imposed solely to fund the police department.

Because the city used state grant money to purchase and lease some police equipment, the city will decide later whether to return it to the state comptroller's office or transfer it to the sheriff's department. The comptroller's office has recommended the grant-funded equipment be transferred to the sheriff's department.

The council also unanimously voted to advertise for bids to sell the city's police car.

"In the foreseeable future we won't be able to sustain a police department," said Mrs. Harrison. "I think in the future we will have to make different arrangements. I have full confidence in Sheriff (A.N.) Standard; they have worked this area before."

Harrison also said it might be possible to employ a constable as it has in the past.

The council also voted to budget $15,000 from the water fund for the construction of a water line from Reid Brothers Station to the water tower on South Avenue and College Street. The approximate cost of the entire project will be $32,710, excluding labor.

The city is hoping to start construction as soon as possible, said one council member.

The council also heard local insurance agent Wanda Bristow explain possible changes the city could make on its insurance policy coverages to reduce costs. The city is currently paying more than $30,000 annually in insurance premiums.

The city also tabled a motion to lease land for a sanitary landfill until Jan. 1985 and to contract with someone to blade the city streets.

The council voted to purchase signs for school crossings and restricted double parking areas for the school zone area.

Jensen, who is the acting fire chief, said he would call a membership drive meeting for anyone interested in serving on the Coahoma Volunteer Fire Department. The meeting has been called for Nov. 27 at 7 p.m. at the Community Center in Coahoma.

By CAROL BALDWIN

Jimmy Olague took home a number of awards Tuesday night during the annual end-of-marching season banquet sponsored by the Big Spring High School band.

Olague, son of Thomas and Elvira Olague, was named one of the 10 best marchers for the season, won the Zane Donald award and the best marching spirit award.

Awards were presented by Big Spring High School band director Richard Mitchell and his assistant Mark Ham.

The Zane Donald award is presented in memory of a former Big Spring band booster president. While presenting the award to Olague, Mitchell said the award is presented each year to a senior who exhibits high moral standards, high scholastic aptitude and a winning attitude.

Catherine Jones, daughter of Glenn and Midge Jones, took home the band director's award for having the "best attitude and being the hardest worker with the least recognition" during her four years in the BSBS band.

Other students taking home awards for best marchers of 1984 were Sherry Criswell, Diane Arnold, Robin Wilson, Henry Sanchez, Michelle DeAnda, Vince Solis, Lori Griffice, Daria Witty and Sam Gladden.

The banquet was held in Garrett Hall at First United Methodist Church. The event is "a celebration of the end of the marching season," Mitchell said. Mitchell thanked Sam Gladden for "putting together" the banquet and then recognized several people who assisted the band this year.

They included Chris Showalter, "the voice of the Steer band," Tommy Arcand, who videotaped the band's performances, Charles Gregory, the Coahoma band director who assisted BSBS drummers, bus drivers for the 1984 season and members of the Steer band boosters.

Mitchell thanked the band for "some wonderful, weird memories." Then he added with a smile, "we're here to honor some outstanding people who have done some outstanding things and some not so outstanding who have done some not so outstanding things."

In addition to the serious awards, the evening was filled with some humorous awards which "highlight some of the lighter moments throughout the football marching season," Mitchell said.

Among the humorous awards were Mr. and Mrs. Fur Piece, for the most intimate couple; Big Mouth awards; Medicine kit, for the person who was always sick; Out to Lunch, for the person in a new world every day; and the Fish awards, given to outstanding freshmen and one senior who acts most like a freshman.

As he concluded the evening, Mitchell told the band, "We've had a great time. You pulled some things from within you that we knew you could. You owe yourselves a standing ovation."

Mitchell and Ham are also assisted with the band by Steve Waggoner and Todd Felty. Color guard director is Traci Burch.

Clouds move into state

By The Associated Press

A low-pressure trough pushed into West Texas today, pulling warm, moist air up from the Gulf of Mexico as a band of clouds formed over the central sections of the state.

The trough induced southerly winds over almost all of Texas although the panhandle was reporting west winds. Speeds were averaging 10 to 15 miles an hour over the western half of the state but only 5 to 10 over the eastern half.

Overnight temperatures were in the 50s and 60s across the state. The low extreme was 48 at both Texarkana and Lufkin, while the high was 68 at Brownsville and Laredo.

The National Weather Service said conditions should be partly cloudy and mild statewide through Thursday.

An Atlantic storm carried more snow and high winds into New England today, but a Pacific storm that dumped snow onto the West was losing its punch.

In Vermont, more than 8 inches of snow fell overnight and 1 to 3 inches were reported in northern and western Massachusetts. Travelers' advisories were in force for Vermont, the northern Adirondacks and Champlain Valley in New York state.

The storm packed strong and gusty winds, prompting gale warnings for Long Island Sound and the coasts of southeastern New York and northern New Jersey.

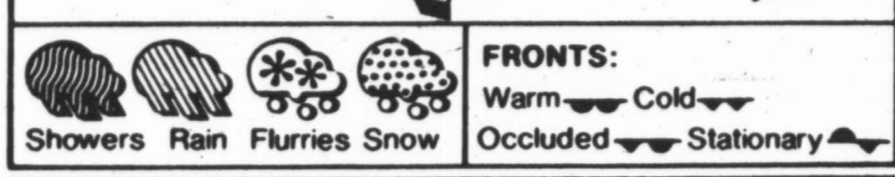

Temperatures dipped below freezing as far south as Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina.

As the Pacific storm weakened, rain and snowshowers were scattered from Oregon and northern California to the northern Rockies. Some of the northern mountains of Utah had as much as 6 inches of snow and travelers' advisories remained in effect for the northern Sierra Nevada range in California and the lake Tahoe Basin.

West Texas: Generally fair, gradual cooling trend. Panhandle: lows mid 30s Friday, cooling to upper 20s by Sunday. Highs mid 60s Friday, cooling to mid 50s by Sunday. Lows upper 30s South Plains Friday, cooling to near 30 by Sunday. Highs upper 60s Friday, cooling to near 60 by Sunday. Lows Permian Basin mid 40s Friday, cooling to lower 30s by Sunday. Highs lower 70s Friday, cooling to lower 60s by Sunday.

Lows far west near 40 Friday, cooling to mid 30s by Sunday. Highs near 70 Friday, cooling to lower 60s by Sunday. Lows Concho Valley mid 40s Friday, cooling to mid 30s by Sunday. Highs mid 70s Friday, cooling to lower 60s by Sunday. Lows Friday upper 30s Big Bend mountains to mid 40s lowlands. By Sunday, cooling to near 30 mountains and upper 30s lowlands. Highs Friday near 70 mountains to near 80 along Rio Grande, cooling by Sunday to near 60 mountains and near 70 along Rio Grande.

Sheriff's Log

1 transferred to state

A Big Spring man held in custody at Howard County Jail was transferred to Big Spring State Hospital Tuesday afternoon upon orders from Sheriff A.N. Standard.

Raul Gonzales Martinez, 30, 1510 Oreo, has been charged on Bell County Warrants of suspicion of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and burglary.

"All charges have been tentatively withdrawn depending on the evaluation of the hospital," Standard said about Martinez.

Big Spring Police Department transferred two suspects to Howard County Jail Tuesday afternoon on suspicion of theft.

Harlean Jean Patton, 53, 105B W. Eighth and Alfred Lee Patton, 29, of the same address, were both released on $500 bonds apiece set by Judge Melvin Darratt.

Howard County Sheriff's deputies placed Mateo Castillo Olvera, 36, of Lamesa in county jail to serve 20 days for his driving while intoxicated conviction.

Olvera was also fined $206 by Howard County Court.

Sheriff's deputies released five illegal aliens early this morning to the Federal Border Patrol Agency for transference back to Mexico.

Man reports burglary to PD

More than $1,100 of items, including four chrome spoke wheel covers and a radar detector were stolen Tuesday night from a Cadillac parked at the Holiday Inn.

Britt Bishop of Abilene told police that someone broke into his red 1984 Broughton between 7 p.m. Tuesday and 7:40 a.m. Wednesday. The persons tore up an armrest and took the wheel covers, valued at $600, a $200 radar detector and a $30 cassette tape case with more than $280 of tapes.

Connie Kuykendall of 4209 Dixon told police an unknown male called her repeatedly between 3 p.m. Sunday and 5 p.m. Tuesday at her home. The calls were made "in an offensive manner," according to police reports.

A $150 green and red 7-Eleven rubber rug was stolen from the 7-Eleven store at Fourth and Birdwell between midnight and 12:35 a.m. today, the store cashier, Ann Chambers, told police.

Roby Knox of 627 Ridgela told police that someone stole $120 in cash from her at 9:45 p.m. Tuesday when she was at the 11th Place Laundry.

Police arrested Gene Patton, 53, and Alfred Patton, 29, both of 105 W. Eighth at noon Tuesday at their home on theft warrants.

Butts, reporter; Michelle Wilson, Michelle Jonquist; and Aricia Grant, Marianne Jorgenson and Kristy West.

Tickets for the play are available by calling the Big Spring High School theater department at 267-7461, ext. 165. Curtain time is 8 p.m. Thursday and Friday.

Steadman is new to the Big Spring High School faculty. In addition to working with the theater department, he works with debate and speech students and teaches an English course.

He began working after graduating from the University of Southern Colorado and doing graduate work at Eastern New Mexico State University. His background is in speech communications.

"I'm very production oriented," the 25-year-old said. His background in theater includes work in community theater. He has also participated in nationally ranked forensic teams and has coached several nationally ranked teams.

This is Steadman's first teaching position. He was a pre-law student but he changed his mind and headed into communications instead.

Steadman has been working with the forensics team at the high school. The team is "fairly young and inexperienced" but talented, he said. "We will be very successful," he predicted. "I don't like to lose. These kids are very good."

Steadman's wife, Lisa, "works up here every day," assisting him with the production. The two met while attending Eastern New Mexico State University.

Springs, south of Uvalde) and McMullen (pop. 789, county seat Tilden, 80 miles south of San Antonio).

Among the Texas Poll's respondents, South Texas ranked third as the best location for an above-ground site. It was mentioned by 7 percent of the respondents; West Texas was mentioned by 41 percent, North Texas by 9 percent. Thirty percent had no opinion.

The poll also asked respondents whether they would prefer that low-level radioactive waste be stored in areas near where it is produced or in one large disposal site. A majority (55 percent) favored the single disposal site; 29 percent favored several smaller sites near production.

Wherever and however, Texas must establish a low-level radioactive waste disposal site by the end of next year. Currently, low-level nuclear waste is buried at only three sites in the United States, none in Texas. In 1986, those sites may legally refuse waste from other states.

Only last week, South Carolina Gov. Dick Riley threatened to close the Barnwell, S.C., disposal site unless Congress acts early in the next session to relieve the burden on the nation's three facilities.

The Texas Low-Level Radioactive Waste Disposal Authority is charged with finding and developing a site for the long-term storage of the state's radioactive waste.

Jacobi said the authority will consider the poll's findings in deciding the site and method.

"We want to include public opinion in with the technical evaluation," he said.

The Texas Poll is a nonpartisan survey of public opinion conducted quarterly by Harte-Hanks Communications Inc. and Texas A&M University's Public Policy Resources Laboratory. The most recent poll interviewed 1,020 Texans, resulting in a sampling error of 3 percent. The poll was conducted Sept. 24 through Oct. 11.

Deficit

dng or raise taxes.

The latest projection compares to the record $195.4 billion the government ran in the red in the 1983 fiscal year.

The nonpartisan Congressional Budget Office predicted last summer that by 1989 the red ink would hit $263 billion without additional spending reductions, tax increases or both.

During the campaign, Reagan scoffed at that projection and said increased growth in the economy and unspecified cuts in federal spending would bring deficits down. He pledged not to raise taxes to combat the red ink.

And his top advisers have begun a week-long series of meetings to search for areas where they can reduce spending by administrative economies or program cuts they hope to push through a reluctant Congress. Sources said the topics range from modernizing the government's computers to trimming Medicaid costs, but they gave no hint that any decisions have been made.

Officials said they hope to have some general proposals ready for Reagan's consideration before he leaves for California at the end of the week to spend a long Thanksgiving holiday at his ranch.

Presidential spokesman Larry Speakes quoted Reagan as telling his Cabinet officers at their first meeting since his re-election, "We accomplished some things; we have changed the course, but there is much more to be done."

"Our main purpose was to reduce the rate of increase in government, and we're going to keep on down that line," Reagan was quoted as saying.

Although Reagan has promised some further spending cuts, his spokesman said the president did not specify what steps he wants the department heads to take.

On Capitol Hill, House Majority Leader Jim Wright, D-Texas, told reporters "somebody has to pay more taxes" if the deficit is to be brought down.

Time lawsuit begins

NEW YORK — Former Israeli Defense Minister Ariel Sharon will prove in his $50 million libel lawsuit that Time magazine lied by accusing him of conspiring to murder Lebanese women and children, his lawyer says.

Milton Gould told a federal court jury Tuesday, as the trial of Sharon's suit against Time Inc. opened, that a Time article lead readers to believe Sharon "instigated, encouraged, promoted and authorized the massacre of innocent women and children."

"In plain English, this is an accusation of mass murder," said Gould.

Sharon alleges Time libeled him in a 1983 article about an investigation by Israel's Kahan Commission into the September 1982 massacre of hundreds of Palestinians in Beirut refugee camps following Israel's occupation of Beirut.

Shuttle is 2 for 2

CAPE CANAVERAL — With a shout of "Amazing!" Discovery's spacewalking salvage crew made it 2-for-2 today, corralling a second stranded satellite and securing it in the shuttle's cargo bay during a dramatic excursion captured in extraordinary television pictures.

"We have two satellites latched in the cargo bay," commander Rick Hauck reported after Dale Gardner and Joe Allen had locked down the Westar 6 payload on a pallet next to the Palapa B2 satellite recovered on Monday.

It's actually 3-for-3, if you count a wayward wrench that astronaut Dale Gardner had to chase down after it floated away and headed for outer space.

Baby Fae struggling

LOMA LINDA, Calif. — Baby Fae, who had been breathing on her own, is back on a respirator and being fed intravenously to preserve strength for the struggle to keep her tiny body from rejecting the baboon heart she received 19 days ago.

The month-old baby's anticipated rejection attempt began Friday and intensified Monday, when she began receiving a second drug to combat her immune system's attack on the foreign organ, Loma Linda University Medical Center spokeswoman Patti Gentry said Tuesday.

Fire under control

OKLAHOMA CITY — A wind-swept blaze that raced like a prairie fire across a portion of the 52-acre roof of an air base maintenance building was brought under control today after workers cut a huge trench in the roof, officials said.

The mile-long service building at Tinker Air Force Base, large enough to drive B-52 bombers through like a carwash, was accidentally set afire Monday afternoon.

Military alert

Nicaragua leery of possible U.S. invasion

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Nicaragua's defense minister says his nation will stay on full military alert until the Reagan administration "stops its aggression" and drops its alleged plans to invade.

Dozens of the Soviet-made tanks remained at major intersections and other strategic points in Managua on Tuesday, but otherwise the capital appeared relatively normal.

How long the heightened military readiness stays in effect "depends on the United States," Defense Minister Humberto Ortega said at a news conference. Tanks and troops took up defensive positions in Managua and other cities Monday, following the leftist Sandinista government's call to citizens to be ready for a U.S. invasion. An estimated 200,000 regular, reserve and militia troops are involved in the nationwide alert.

Reagan administration officials have denied that an invasion is planned. Assistant Secretary of State Langhorne Motley said Tuesday during a visit to Brazil that the Sandinistas' claims were designed to distract the international attention from a poor economy and limits on civil liberties.

The military alert came at the start of the annual coffee harvest. Coffee is Nicaragua's biggest dollar earner and the harvest was expected to bring an estimated $173 million in hard currency to the economically depressed country.

Thousands of men and women were diverted from the harvest to take up emergency military duty.

Ortega said the economic cost of the alert was "preferable to losing the revolution" that brought the Sandinistas to power in a 1979 coup that ousted the pro-U.S. Somoza dynasty.

During the past last 18 months the Sandinistas periodically warned about alleged U.S. invasions, but in the past week government officials have talked of little else.

Starting on Oct. 31, and five other times, loud booms rattled windows in the capital. The Sandinistas said the noises were caused by U.S. spy planes breaking the sound barrier as they violated Nicaraguan airspace "in a prelude to more grave aggression."

Ortega said Nicaragua was seeking "adequate means" to ensure that spy planes "do not come here" but did not elaborate. It is believed that Nicaragua does not have the means to shoot down fast-flying, high-altitude jets.

Ortega was asked if Nicaragua had received Soviet Mi-24 and Mi-8 helicopters, which have been used extensively in Afghanistan, but he declined to answer directly, citing security concerns.

Sikh commando detained in conspiracy

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A Sikh police commando was arrested on charges of conspiring in the assassination of Indira Gandhi on the day the prime minister was shot to death, authorities disclosed today in arguing against his bail application.

Jagtar Singh's detention since Oct. 31 became known today when New Delhi Magistrate O.P. Gogne rejected the request for bail.

The government attorney told Gogne that Jagtar Singh, a member of the prime minister's security guard, was involved "in the criminal conspiracy hatched for the assassination of Mrs. Gandhi and his release would seriously hamper the investigation of the sensitive case."

Jagtar Singh's lawyer said his client was not on duty at Mrs. Gandhi's house when the slaying occurred and that he had been arrested on false charges because he was a Sikh.

The government says two Sikh members of the prime minister's security guard assassinated her and were in turn shot by commandos. One of the alleged assassins died. The other remains hospitalized, and several relatives of the two men have been detained for questioning.

But Jagtar Singh is the first person reported arrested on charges of conspiring to kill the 66-year-old prime minister.

The pro-government Hindustan Times newspaper, meanwhile, reported today that at least six members of the prime minister's inner security ring were expected to be fired for allegedly failing to pass on their advance knowledge of the plan to kill Mrs. Gandhi.

The Times, New Delhi's largest circulation daily, cited no sources for its information.

The officers, who reportedly carried the ranks of sub-inspectors and assistant sub-inspectors, had "full knowledge" of the assassination plot but failed to pass on the information to their superiors, the paper said in a front-page article.

Famine meet planned

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — The Organization of African Unity is calling for an international conference on ways to combat the famine that is killing hundreds of thousands of Africans and threatening "continental catastrophe."

The OAU's acting secretary-general, Peter Onu, said it was "absolutely necessary" to convene a meeting of experts from Africa and the rest of the world so they can "share their experience with us."

Onu, a Nigerian, made the appeal Tuesday as he delivered a report on Africa's current problems to delegates at the OAU's 20th summit.

The secretary-general's statement followed a call last week by M. Peter McPherson, a top U.S. aid official, for a meeting of donor nations, including the Soviet Union.

Executions defended

PEKING (AP) — Chinese police today defended the execution of thousands of convicted criminals in a 15-month crackdown, saying the crime rate has fallen by more than 30 percent because executions "educate" the public.

Public Security Ministry spokesman Wang Jingrong, in his first news conference for foreign reporters, said: "It's true that we executed some people in the past year, but only because in the previous few years we didn't do a good job in punishing criminal offenders."

"Some people who deserved capital punishment were not sentenced to death and the people were greatly dissatisfied," he said. "In a country like ours with a population of 1 billion, it is good to have some criminals executed so as to educate others."

Crash claims 9 lives

JEVINGTON, England — All nine people aboard a light plane were killed in a crash while en route from Ireland to France to collect the first bottles of this year's Beaujolais Nouveau wine.

Among the victims were prominent Dublin restaurateurs and four well-known journalists from the Dublin Evening Herald and the Irish Independent.

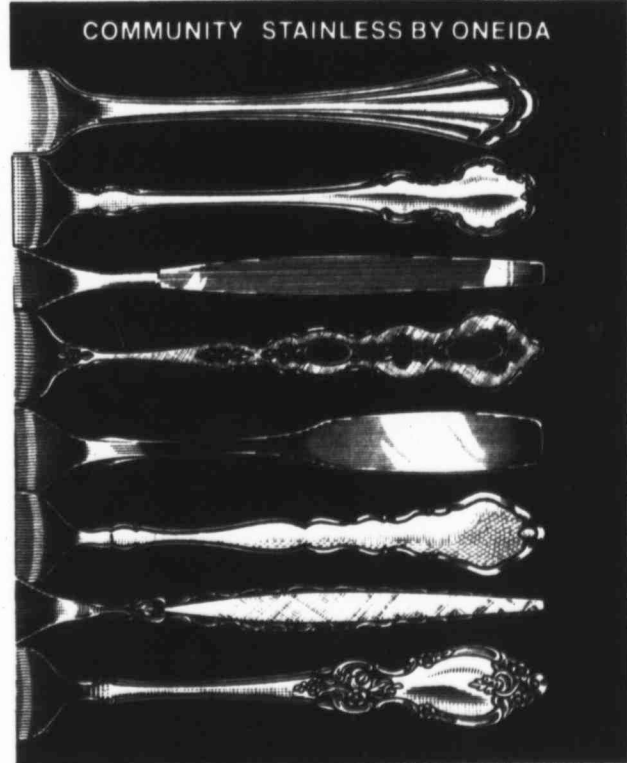

Crime ring broken

ROME (AP) — Police said today they arrested 30 alleged members of a gang called "Clockwork Orange" on charges of breaking into the homes of hundreds of Rome residents and committing robberies, kidnappings, assaults and rapes.

Police said the arrests were made overnight in several cities, and they were searching for 18 other members of the gang on warrants issued by Rome prosecutor Angelo Gargani.

Lindbergh was patriot of WWII

History can be agonizingly slow in putting the past into proper focus. Only now are we learning the full significance of the trips made to Nazi Germany by Charles Lindbergh on the eve of World War II.

This has been a puzzling chapter in the life of the man who became a hero overnight when he flew the Atlantic alone in 1927. Many admirers of Lindbergh, who died in 1974, were troubled by his apparent flirtation with the Nazis and his prominence in an isolationist movement that seemed to play into the hands of Adolf Hitler.

A more complete picture comes from the just-published papers of the late Col. Truman Smith, who served as the U.S. military attache in Berlin from 1935 to 1939. While Lindbergh was hobnobbing with the Nazis — even accepting a medal from Hermann Goering — he was actually gathering intelligence about the burgeoning German Luftwaffe for the U.S. government.

Goering, eager to show off German technology to a fellow aviator, took Lindbergh to see aircraft, factories and airfields that other outsiders had never seen. Lindbergh then helped Smith write detailed reports for U.S. military intelligence on the buildup of the German forces. When Goering announced without warning that he was going to give Lindbergh a medal, the Americans decided not to refuse because to do so might jeopardize their access to further information.

Robert Hessen, who has been editing the Smith papers at the Hoover Institution, says both Lindbergh and Smith became embroiled in controversy on the eve of the war because of their assessment of the intentions of the Nazis. After the war, in which Lindbergh served as a civilian technician for aircraft companies, neither one made an effort to set the record straight because of their distaste for publicity. Smith's widow says her husband's version of the events was written in the 1950s to be published after his death. He died in 1970.

Fame went sour for Charles Lindbergh, first with the kidnapping and murder of his son in 1932 and then with suspicions cast on his patriotism at the time of World War II. There is a lesson here for every generation that presumes to make heroes and villains of the players on the stage of world events. What we don't know won't hurt us, as the old saying goes, but others can be hurt by judgments based on something less than the whole story.

Joseph Kraft Does Reagan want real arms control?

"It's time for us to get together," President Reagan said about the Russians on the morrow of his landslide. The day before he listed as the first priority for a second administration, "peace, disarmament."

But are the Russians ready to deal? And if they are, is the Reagan administration equipped to take "yes" for an answer?

The Communist world now presents a spectacle of multifold confusion. In Moscow, signs of pushing and shoving among leaders show through the blanket of party unity. General Secretary Konstantin Chernenko has recovered from a period of illness and is now moving to assert his primacy. He has been holding open the door for an accord with this country on any one of several areas of arms control.

Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko has been less forthcoming, though not entirely negative. His supposed ally, Defense Minister Dmitri Ustinov, missed the celebration of the Bolshevik Revolution in Moscow — apparently because of an illness, which is serious. The second secretary and his apparent to Chernenko, Mikhail Gorbachev, has been bouncing around in leadership lineups, and is plainly vulnerable. His chief rival, the Leningrad boss Grigory Romanov, is thought to favor pushing it out against the U.S. He seems to be in alliance with Nikolai Gorbakov, the former chief of staff who was recently dismissed, perhaps to close off the possibility of his succeeding Ustinov as defense minister.

A gauge of the trouble is that many countries that rely on Russia are now looking for side deals. The North Koreans are talking about talking to the Japanese and South Koreans. Vietnam gives signs of coming to terms with China. The leaders of Angola hint at expelling a contingent of Cuban soldiers if South Africa comes to terms.

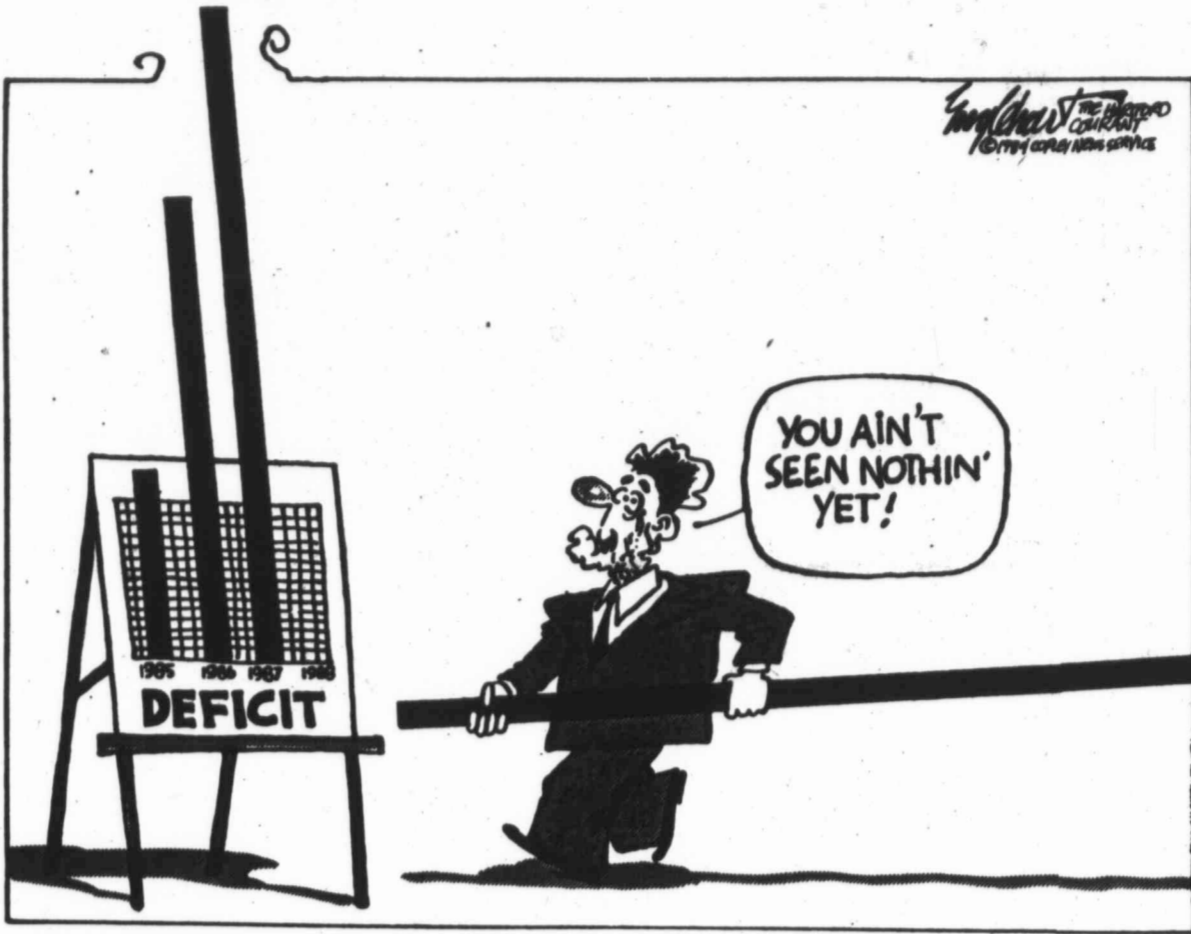

The East Germans are making eyes at the West Germans. The guerrillas in El Salvador have opened talks with the government. The Sandinista regime in Nicaragua accepted the peace terms proffered by the Contadora countries.

Then there is the president's own sense of the realities. He has repeatedly evinced a less than complete grasp of arms control. A good instance lies in the "Star Wars" project for a defense against nuclear weapons. A faint in that direction may be necessary for the purposes of a trade with Moscow. But if Mr. Reagan goes all-out for such a defense — as he frequently seems to be doing — then he will queer any deal, by forcing the Russians to move in the same direction.

Thus there are banana peels aplenty between wanting to do a deal and actually bringing it off. Only the president himself can clear the way. And to open the path, a first step might well be personal contact at the summit level. But further steps entail according absolute confidence to some advisers over others. Specifically Reagan will have to give the nod to Secretary of State George Shultz and Mr. McFarlane. He will have to turn a deaf ear to such close associates as Secretary Weinberger and Director Casey.

Unfortunately, that is the kind of choice Reagan finds distasteful. He has never made it before, and he cannot delegate it. At his post-electoral news conference Wednesday, he even asserted "we don't have a conflict within the administration" on arms control. So to seize the moment that beckons on arms control, the president will have to develop a much sharper sense of the realities. Indeed, he will have to surpass all his previous performances.

Send our kids to outer space

WASHINGTON — Across the nation, thousands of youngsters are signing up as Young Astronauts, ready to dip their big toes into the unknown. One of them, I've been told tentatively, will fly a youthful observer on a future space shuttle. Others will become the Columbuces and Magellans of tomorrow; they will lead expeditions to worlds that lie beyond the Earth.

As they focus on the heavens, they may discover how small this planet is and how petty our differences are. Perhaps Young Astronauts from all nations will develop the capacity to rise above the turmoil and tensions that threaten to rip the world asunder.

Already the International Astronautical Federation has adopted the Young Astronaut program as a means of promoting its goal for 1985: "Peace Through Space."

It called on President Reagan more than a year ago with the idea of founding a Young Astronaut program that would attract young people, stir their imaginations and stimulate their spirit of adventure. We talked about the urgent need for scientists and technicians to keep America competitive in high technology, a national need to arouse young Americans and to focus their attention on the technological challenge.

The president spoke of the deterioration of the schools in this country. There is an alarming shortage, for example, of qualified math and science teachers in most states. And on most levels, U.S. students suffer in comparison with those in other industrialized nations. This decline in the quality of education, he said, made him fearful of the future.

To help reverse the trend, Reagan launched the Young Astronaut program last month in a ceremony on the White House lawn. It will work through the schools to ignite new excitement in the high-tech subjects that will dominate the decades ahead.

Already, experts are at work translating high-tech jargon into language that children can understand. This will be made available to teachers who wish to form Young Astronaut chapters in their classes.

The program is not restricted to math and science students but is open to everyone from age 6 to 16. There is room enough in space for poets as well as scientists. The preliminary response indicates that girls are as enthusiastic as boys about the program. Handicapped children are also welcome.

Reagan doesn't want the Young Astronauts to become another barnacle-encrusted government bureaucracy, so he has called on private companies, civic groups, youth organizations, unions, clubs and churches to support the program. Needed are the kind of visionary backers who would have responded if they had lived in 1492 and had been asked to support Columbus's expedition to the new world.

Already such corporations as Pepsi-Cola USA, Safeway Stores, M&M-Mars, Martin Marietta, Rockwell International, Eaton Corp., Intersat, Commodore International and Discover magazine have offered substantial support. Other sponsors are sought, both on the national and local levels.

The founding of the Young Astronaut program, and the private sector's response, demonstrate the capacity of the American system to do the right thing within a short time and still exhibit some sort of priority, purpose, order and cohesion.

Much of the credit belongs to White House aide James Coyne, who put the pieces together. He was ably assisted by NASA Director James Beggs, White House aide Craig Fuller, NASA aide Pat Templeton, National Space Institute Director Glenn Wilson and Commodore International executive Dan Kunz. Perhaps most ardent of all was Wendell Butler, who has now left the White House to become the Young Astronauts' full-time executive director.

For the Young Astronauts, meanwhile, there is a frontier beyond measurement waiting to be explored, knowledge beyond comprehension waiting to be gathered, resources beyond imagination waiting to be discovered.

Note: Please don't send your inquiries to my office. Address them to: The Young Astronaut Council, 1015 15th St., N.W., Washington, D.C., 20005.

WASHINGTON RUNAROUND: There are rules and guidelines for just about everything a federal employee does beyond sharpening a pencil. But many bureaucrats, sublimely confident that they know best, ignore the rules in matters large and small. For instance:

- Congress explicitly ordered the controversial National Endowment for Democracy — which gives grants to groups that will spread the good word about our political system — to earmark $13.8 million for the Free Trade Union Institute and $2.5 million for the National Chamber Foundation, an arm of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

The idea was to make sure the endowment didn't just dole out great chunks of money to political parties' offshoots.

But Rep. Hank Brown, R-Colo., found that the endowment allocated less than the required amounts to both the union and chamber recipients, and gave the rest of their money to groups not mentioned in the law.

- The Agriculture Department's chief information officer shrugged off regulations and allowed the Forest Service to buy a bunch of calendars from a private contractor without getting a waiver. The rules require a waiver unless a private printer already has the item in stock, or "pre-printed."

But the General Accounting Office discovered that the calendar maker had used photographs and descriptive text provided by the Forest Service itself in his "pre-printed" material. The GAO also found that waivers had been improperly given in contracts for Smokey the Bear and Woodys Owl "pocket planners." The contractors will now be paid only what it would have cost the Government Printing Office to produce the items.

Around The Rim

No one notices when it's right

By KEELY COGHLAN

Notoriety. Some crave it; others cover from its glare of headlines and pictures.

While Howard County Clerk Margaret Ray doesn't hide from publicity, she isn't too fond of seeing her picture plastered in newspapers across the state the day after primary runoff elections — and all because of a computer.

Mrs. Ray found herself in both the Dallas newspapers because the county computer refused to count primary ballots, so she and her clerks had to hand count every one.

It wasn't too bad in the Republican primary, but she says the pressure mounted when they were the last county in, and the ones to decide whether Lloyd Doggett or Kent Hance picked up the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate.

Everyone, it seems, learned where Howard County was that night.

Not so in the November elections.

The computer was working, all the ballots were counted and the results posted by 9:45 p.m. election night.

Through it all, Mrs. Ray kept saying no one paid any attention when the results were in by 10 p.m. "It won't make the paper," she said.

Too bad it's true. When things go smoothly, nobody notices.

On another subject, there has been a lot of furor created by a letter by the Catholic bishops in the United States calling on the church to become involved in several other political areas besides abortion.

Specifically, the letter calls for the religious community to work for a halt to the nuclear arms race, U.S. relations with Central America and for "compassionate" economic policies, both concerns notably lacking in the current administration's first four years.

I haven't read the text of the letter. But these are areas which should concern any U.S. administration and, in the case of economic policies that place an undue burden on the poor, should certainly concern the Catholic church or any group that cares about human dignity.

The letter will probably be sharply toned down before it is finally revised, but I applaud the effort. Religion means caring about your fellow man.

Too often it seems the church or other religious groups have placed more emphasis on banning abortion but not cared about the economic condition of the poverty-stricken, homeless and hungry.

True, there will always be people without money, jobs, home and food, but we — the government, religious groups and everybody — should make a conscious effort to reduce that amount. The answer's not in soup kitchens, but in providing opportunities for these people to provide for themselves.

In the state of Texas, for example, the state gives less than $60 a month per child in its Aid to Families with Dependent Children. Often the family has only one parent, usually a woman, who is temporarily unemployed.

Compared to how much we as a nation and a state spend on other programs, that figure's a little disgusting. We place less premium on our children in society than we do on the latest defense weapon.

We talk about children as our most valuable asset, but the nation has cut the availability of student loans for college, lunches to lower-income children and other programs. We need a conscience to remind us that people are the reason we have a defense budget.

Surgeons glue baby back

Doctors use medical Krazy Glue to mend vessel

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Two-year-old Carrie Zellner is back in Arizona, her health restored by New York doctors who used what they called a medical Krazy Glue to plug a life-threatening hole in a blood vessel.

Carrie and her mother, Cynthia Zellner, 31, arrived here Tuesday night from New York, where doctors said she was the youngest patient ever to undergo such a procedure in the spinal area.

"We're going in the right direction this time," said Carrie's father, David Zellner Jr., 31, as he prepared his family for the two-hour drive to their home in Camp Verde, about 70 miles north of Phoenix.

"We never thought she'd get this far," Mrs. Zellner said earlier Tuesday.

Carrie was cured after a series of operations over six weeks, said Dr. Insup Choi, a member of the surgical team.

Choi said Carrie was born with an arterial-venous malformation of her spinal cord — in effect, a hole in a vein in her upper spine through which blood could flow directly into an artery. The Zellners were not aware of the problem.

"She was, in our eyes, perfectly normal," said Mrs. Zellner.

But after falling from her carriage in April, Carrie began to hemorrhage. Her mother revived her with mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and rushed her to the hospital.

Doctors at Phoenix Children's Hospital examined the child and determined the birth defect, not the fall, was the cause of the bleeding. In August, she hemorrhaged again, and "we thought she was going to die," said her mother.

When she was brought to New York in September, Choi said, blood was flowing through the vein very quickly, and it had swollen.

Her pain, he said, was severe. Her right side weakened so much that she could not raise her right hand; if nothing had been done, and she survived hemorrhaging in the future, a lack of blood to her right side would have stunted her growth there, Choi said.

To block the blood flow, doctors inflated a tiny latex balloon in the vein. Then they tried to plug the hole with an injection of a compound which is "basically Krazy Glue," Choi said. The hole was not closed, but they decided not to risk another operation.

Parents protest killer Santa movie

MILWAUKEE (AP) — "Silent Night, Deadly Night," the movie about an ax-wielding murderer who dresses like Santa Claus, is being pulled from three theaters here after parents protested that even the film's advertisements were too "ghoulish" for children.

Bruce Olson, executive vice president and chief operating officer of the Marcus Corp., said Tuesday that the company's three Milwaukee area theaters, showing the film would end their runs Thursday, after just one week.

Lebanon, Israel resume meeting

Shiite Moslem soldiers freed

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Lebanon and Israel announced today they would resume negotiations on the withdrawal of Israeli troops from south Lebanon, and Israel freed three of the four Shiite Moslem militiamen whose arrest disrupted the talks.

Statements issued by Lebanon's presidential palace and Israel's Foreign Ministry in Jerusalem said the two nations would send their military delegations to the talks at the Lebanese-Israeli border town of Naqoura on Thursday — a week after they began.

The talks, being held under United Nations auspices, are aimed at working out security arrangements to allow Israel to end its 29-month-old occupation of south Lebanon.

Lebanon suspended the talks last weekend after the first session, demanding the release of the four Shiite militiamen detained by Israeli forces in southern Lebanon.

Shortly after today's announcements, Israeli authorities said three of the Shiites had been freed but they gave no indication when the fourth would be released. The man still in custody was identified as Mahmoud Fakhri, a regional leader of the Amal militia in South Lebanon.

Israel's government has insisted that there be no linkage of the resumption of talks to the release of the militiamen.

Yitzhak Rabin, Israel's defense minister, told Parliament during a debate on a no-confidence motion over the government's policies on Lebanon and the economy that once the investigation of the four Shiites was complete and "after an examination of the findings, I wouldn't be surprised if some of them were freed."

Another senior official who refused to be identified by name insisted "we did not make a deal" for the release of the men. "We were all the time ready to renew the negotiations," the official said. "This whole thing was not our doing. We don't understand why a routine security matter became such a big issue."

He said Lebanese decision to return to the talks was in their interests. "They are not doing us a favor. We are talking about a withdrawal of Israeli forces from Lebanon which is in Lebanon's interests," he said, adding the suspension of the talks was a mistake.

The four Shiite militiamen were among 13 it had arrested the day the talks began. Those arrests came a day after an Israeli soldier died in an attack the Israelis blamed on the Moslem militiamen. Israel released nine of the 13, but said the four others would be detained indefinitely.

According to Lebanese government sources, an agreement was reached under which Lebanon would issue a statement calling for resumption of the talks and Israel would simultaneously release the four detained militiamen.

In Naqoura, U.N. spokesman Timor Goksel said: "From a practical point of view, we are ready to have the negotiations resume even with one hour's notice."

The Lebanese statement said Lebanon's decision followed "fruitful efforts by the United Nations and the good offices of U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar." It did not elaborate.

But the Lebanese government sources said U.N. mediation efforts produced an Israeli pledge to release the four.

The four belonged to Amal, Lebanon's largest Shiite militia, whose leader, Nabih Berri, serves as state minister for south Lebanon in Prime Minister Rashid Karami's coalition government.

Marcos' opponent killed by gunman

Man eludes Filipino police

ZAMBOANGA CITY, Philippines (AP) — Mayor Cesar Climaco, a vocal and longtime opponent of President Ferdinand E. Marcos, was shot and killed today by a gunman who fled into a field of tall grass and eluded scores of officers searching for him.

The popular 68-year-old mayor, described by one opposition figure as a "pillar" of the nation's anti-Marcos forces, won a race in last May's national parliamentary elections but refused his seat because he did not want to step down as mayor of Zamboanga City, 540 miles southeast of Manila.

In Manila, news of Climaco's death was flashed on the government's television station, and Marcos promptly ordered acting armed forces chief Lt. Gen. Fidel V. Ramos to personally handle the investigation of the killing as Climaco's opposition colleagues voiced outrage.

Lt. Col. Jesus Guerzon, Zamboanga City's police commander, said investigators were looking into several possible motives, including Climaco's reporting to the military Monday of an alleged attempt to extort money from a local businessman.

Guerzon gave no details of the other angles investigators were pursuing but said police were also looking for a red car seen speeding away from the shooting scene. He said the killer was believed to have arrived in the car.

SMOKY SALMON SPREAD

1 can (7 1/2 oz.) Honey Boy Salmon
1 package (8 oz.) cream cheese, softened
3 drops liquid smoked flavoring

3 tablespoons sliced green onion
Crackers or split, toasted, buttered bagels

Drain salmon, reserving 2 teaspoons salmon liquid. Flake. Combine cream cheese, liquid smoke flavoring and salmon liquid. Blend thoroughly. Stir in green onion, then fold in salmon. Refrigerate at least 2 hours or overnight to blend flavors. Serve as a spread with crackers or bagels. Makes about 1 1/2 cups spread.

Note: Recipe may be doubled using 2 cans (7 1/2 oz. each) salmon or 1 can (15 1/2 oz.) salmon. If desired, chill 2 to 3 hours or until firm. Shape into a ball and roll in 1/2 cup chopped parsley.

Surprise family and friends with this delightful treat.

Eunice Choate details song refining process

Eunice Choate, local song writer, presented the program at the Mary Jane Club meeting in the home of Mrs. Carroll Choate, Thursday.

Eunice Choate told the group the refining process that a song goes through from the time it is a thought until it is recorded for distribution. To protect the writer, lyrics must be copyrighted. This is done by sending a tape of about ten lyrics and a fee of $10. The process takes about four weeks, but protection begins with the mailing of the tape, she said.

Mrs. Choate has an affiliation with Broadcast Music, Inc. (BMI). As records are played by radio stations, the stations are monitored and the writer receives six cents each time her song is played by a small station and 12 cents when it is played by a large station. A writer sends copies to publishers, agents and artists as well as various stations.

Mrs. Choate's records, "Dirt Poor Farmer's Kid" and "Pickin' Em Up - Puttin' Em Down" are being given good air time in San Angelo on KTEO, Midland's KJBC, Colorado City's KVMC and KPET in Lamesa, as well as the Big Spring Stations. She has been invited to do a segment on the Pat Atterbury Show on Channel 8 TV in San Angelo, Friday.

Roll call was answered by the club's members with "If I had it to do over..." The members voted to buy a basketball goal as a Christmas gift for the Rainbow Project.

The next meeting will be a Christmas luncheon and gift exchange in the home of Mrs. Don McKinney, Dec. 13.

Dr. Donohue

Do we need bigger salt shakers?

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I read the articles recently about salt and high blood pressure. They suggest that people use more salt so as not to get high blood pressure. Do you agree with this? Doctors should keep their thoughts and findings to themselves until they are sure. Many lives could be affected because some people are going to use more salt, thinking their own doctors are wrong in telling them to cut down on it. — Mrs. M.

I read the same stories. I am not going to increase my salt intake a bit. The last thing anyone was suggesting was that the answer to high blood pressure lies in bigger salt shakers.

And before blaming the doctors who did the articles, we have to read exactly what they said, not what others interpreted. They conducted ONE study and concluded that higher intakes of calcium, potassium and sodium seemed to be associated with lower blood pressures. They thought this was a potentially important relationship.

Nothing was said about suddenly increasing the amount of salt in our diets. And, incidentally, other experts have vigorously disputed the study itself because its findings were so contrary to all past evidence about blood pressure.

I know how distressing it is to find vacillations in medicine. There are examples where what was taught one day is untaught the next. That is not the case here. Most experts still believe, and believe strongly, that the association of salt (sodium) with high blood pressure is a strong one, and that lowering its intake can lower pressure.

The beauty of medicine does not lie in infallibility, but in its ability to change with advances in learning. Don't be put off by the doctors who made this study. They're making an honest effort to learn new facts that question old principles. It's the only way to advance.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Dear Abby

Give yourself a non-smoking break

DEAR READERS: Each year in the United States, smoking-related coronary disease, lung disease and cancer kill more than 350,000 people. This total exceeds the number of our deaths in World War II. Smoking-related diseases kill eight times as many lives as do automobile accidents. The economic costs of smoking in health expenses and lost productivity have been calculated at $40 billion a year. The loss in death and

So readers, if you're hooked on cigarettes and have been telling yourself, "One of these days I've got to quit," why not start tomorrow just for 24 hours?

It won't be easy, but I can promise you, it will be the best holiday present you can give yourself — and those who love you. — ABBY

P.S. To repeat one of the most poignant letters I've ever received.

Tomorrow will mark the Eighth Annual Great American Smokeout, an upbeat, good-humored, one-day campaign to encourage smokers to quit smoking for 24 hours — just to prove to themselves that they can do it.

The idea was conceived by the American Cancer Society, which insists that anyone who can live without a cigarette for 24 hours can quit forever. So, if you're hooked on cigarettes (or cigars) and really want to quit, why not start tomorrow — for just 24 hours?

Quitting "cold turkey" is the hardest way to quit, but those who know say it's the most effective and, in the long run, the easiest way. Cutting down is less traumatic, but the temptation to smoke is often too powerful to resist while smoking one, two or three cigarettes a day.

"How about the rights of smokers?" you ask. Of course they are entitled to smoke if they wish. But they will have to find a place where they can smoke to their hearts' content without offending those who can't tolerate it.

DARs dedicate trees at Veterans Hospital

Mrs. Wayne Douglas Tiner, state regent of Texas for the Daughters of the American Revolution, dedicated two trees during a Living Tree Memorial Dedication ceremony on the grounds of the Veterans Administration Medical Center, Monday.

Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

A tree is being planted in each of the Texas DAR divisions by the Texas Society of DAR, Mrs. Tiner said. "We want to show our appreciation for Texans who have served in war," she said. Conservation is another reason the trees are being planted for the project.

Captain Elisha Mack Chapter of DAR and Veterans Administration Medical Center officials met for the ceremony as Mrs. Tiner dedicated the recently-planted trees.

The second tree, a cherry laurel, was planted recently by the local chapter. It also was dedicated by Mrs. Tiner in honor of George Washington's 250th birthday.

The first tree, a Texas pecan, was planted in memory and honor of the Texans who have served in the defense of the United States. It was recently planted by the Texas

Following the ceremony, a reception was given in honor of Mrs. Tiner by the Captian Elisha Mack Chapter.

Dolores Norred tells about European tour

Dolores Norred visited seven European countries on an 18-day tour last summer. She presented a program about her trip to the City Extension Homemakers Club, Friday, at the home of Opal Wooten.

Mrs. Norred visited France, Germany, Austria, Holland, England, Switzerland and Belgium during the tour. At the meeting, she showed pictures, souvenirs and mementos of the trip.

This meeting also was highlighted by the club's Thanksgiving dinner. The next meeting will be a Christmas party at the home of Alta Lee Underwood, Dec. 14.

Homemade sweet puddings make good dessert

By TOM HOGE
AP Wine and Food Writer

For many of us, memories of childhood are linked with the homemade puddings that used to wind up the evening meal.

They ranged from light jellied fruit mixtures to rich, creamy custards flavored with chocolate, butterscotch, coconut and many other mixtures that usually were a feature of Sunday dinner and holiday feasts.

Today there are so many sweet puddings that the English who made them popular often use the word to mean dessert of any kind.

But such treats are of relatively recent origin, winning popularity only after sugar became widely available in the 18th century, although some honey and syrup desserts were made at an earlier date.

Originally, pudding referred to a variety of unsweetened baked, boiled or steamed soft foods often served as the main dinner dish, such as chicken and corn pudding.

The name pudding is believed to have derived from an old German word meaning sausage. German "blood pudding" is made from pig's blood, cooked with particles of fat pork and oatmeal and stuffed in a casing. Haggis, a savory Scottish sausage, consists of liver, lungs, heart and other parts of a calf or sheep, plus spices, oatmeal and beef suet, all boiled together in a sheep's stomach. The early puddings were often mixed with suet like the ever-popular steak and kidney pie.

Americans inherited the British enjoyment of sweet puddings. Our early settlers liked such mixtures as Indian corn pudding made with corn or wheat flour and also sweetened with maple sugar.

Today many of us save time with canned puddings and packaged mixes. But the old homemade puddings are still popular. Here is a recipe for an old English favorite known as trifle.

TRIFLE

Cup custard (recipe below)
5 ladyfingers
Strawberry jam
12 small vanilla cookies
18 almonds, blanched and slivered

Grated rind of 1/2 lemon
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
Candied cherries
Angelic, pistachio nuts

Split ladyfingers and spread with jam. Arrange in serving dish. Cover with cookies left whole; sprinkle with almonds and grated lemon rind. Spoon custard over all, top with whipped cream. Garnish with candied cherries, strips of angelica and chopped pistachio nuts. Refrigerate for several hours before serving. Makes six servings.

CUP CUSTARD

2 egg yolks
2 Tbsps. sugar
1 cup scalded milk
Put egg yolks in a bowl with sugar. Pour in scalded milk. Put mixture in top of double boiler. Stir over fire until mixture thickens but does not boil. Remove from fire and set aside.

Mulling spices flavor holiday drinks

Mulling spices tied in small cheesecloth pouches make delightful holiday gifts (or you could give some and keep the rest for yourself).

Each pouch holds enough to flavor one quart of apple cider, cranberry juice or red wine. Served warm this makes a cheering yuletide drink with cookies, cakes or by itself.

Here's the recipe:
With a sharp paring knife or a potato peeler remove the peel from one lemon (the yellow portion only) and cut into 1/4-inch wide strips. Place peel on a baking sheet; bake until dry in a 225 degree oven, about one hour. Cut into 1/4-inch pieces; set aside.

Place 15 cinnamon sticks, a few at a time, into a plastic bag; crush into 1-inch slivers using a rolling pin or mallet. In a medium bowl place the cinnamon, 1 1/2 tablespoons each whole cloves and allspice with 2 teaspoons whole anise seed, crushed, and reserved lemon peel. Place 2 tablespoons of spice mixture in the center of a 5-inch square of cheesecloth or muslin; bring corners together and tie with string to make a pouch. Repeat.

Place 1 pouch in 1-quart apple, cranberry or other juice or red wine. Simmer, covered, for 15 or 20 minutes. Serve warm. This recipe will make eight spice bags, or 1 cup of the spice mixture.

Building Committee elects new officers

New officers selected to serve on the Howard County Program Building Committee made fulfillments to perform to the best of their ability in 1985.

Charles Neeb, district extension director, told a group of 50 persons that gathered Tuesday night at La Posada restaurant for the annual meeting of Howard County Program Building Committee that all committee members "must perform well because it's highly essential and of importance."

Selected to serve as new officers for 1985 are: Larry Shaw as chairman; Geraldine Posey as vice-chairman and Esther Lopez as secretary.

Shaw said afterwards that the 1985 committee's main importance was to meet regularly throughout the year with Howard County Extension agents.

"Extension service involves city people besides agricultural interests," Shaw said. It was a positive theme that was brought up throughout the meeting.

An example of the committee stretching into areas that Neeb said should reach "persons in all walks of life," was Jowili Etchison's 1984 report of the family living committee.

Ms. Etchison said in her report that the committee in cooperation with the March of Dimes, Parent Support Task Force of the Chemical People and Department of Human Resources had presented a seminar this year that was designed to improve family communications and provide support to parents in helping their children deal with their problems.

"You can listen without eavesdropping," Ms Etchison said about the committee's approach to the seminar.

Howard County Agricultural

County Extension Agent Don Richardson said in his report of the importance of result demonstration in extension work that agents are recommending to producers of dry-land cotton in West Texas "is to have more than one variety."

Mexicans kept in labor camps growing pot

EL PASO (AP) — Operators of a Mexican marijuana enterprise kept thousands of Mexicans as "slaves" in labor camps — one of them less than 60 miles from the Texas border, a spokesman for Mexico's justice ministry says.

The El Paso Times reported today that Eduardo Andrade Sanchez, chief spokesman for the justice ministry, said nearly 7,000 peasants were lured from four Mexican states with the promises of high wages for work in apple orchards.

But once they arrived at fields south and east of Chihuahua City, Andrade said Tuesday, the peasants were forced to work without pay, were kept in pens, and were watched by 140 armed guards, some of them carrying machine guns.

According to the newspaper, Andrade said bondage started for many of the peasants three months ago as harvesting approached for nearly 450 acres thickly planted with marijuana.

"The peasants would ask for their money and they would tell them, 'You'll get it tomorrow,'" said Andrade, who said the peasants complained of inadequate food and of being forced to work from 12 to 16 hours a day.

"That sounds unbelievable," Andrade said, adding that at least one field was equipped with lights powered by electricity from a portable generator.

"It was as if they were slaves," said Andrade, who said the peasants were housed in pens "like the ones they keep chickens in."

Two of the labor camps were near the Chilicote railroad station, which is about 60 miles southwest of the Texas border city of Presidio, Andrade said.

Andrade said nine men are in custody, charged with drug and labor law violations. Arrest warrants were granted Tuesday for nine others believed to be the financiers and owners of the operation, he said.

Queens claim tourney championship 72-53

RANGER — A 2-3 zone and half court pressure defense worked in Howard College's favor here Tuesday night as the Hawk Queens downed the host RangeAnns, 72-53 to claim the championship of the Ranger JC Classic.

The Queens forced 22 Ranger turnovers and dominated the boards for 40 rebounds enroute to their eighth win against one loss. The Queens now own a 2-0 slate over the RangeAnns this season.

The Queens never trailed in the contest, leading 32-27 at halftime.

Joyce Boudreaux led the Queens in scoring with 17 points and on the boards with 10 carooms. Molly Early popped in 15 points in her second game since returning to the lineup after surgery. She is averaging 10 points in both her outings.

Vicki Wade had 14 markers, eight rebounds and six assists. "I was very pleased with Vicki's hustle on the boards," said HC coach Don Stevens.

Sue Van Hooser rounded out double figures for the Queens who made good on 31 of 62 field goal attempts. HC was 10 of 16 at the free throw line.

Other Queens having good performances included Alex Provenzio with eight rebounds and seven assists and Lorri French with six assists.

TOURNEY STARTS THURSDAY

The game with Ranger was a tuneup for the Queens own Hawk Queen Classic slated to start Thursday and finish up Saturday.

This year's event includes Howard, Odessa College and South Plains from the WJCAC plus McLennan Community College of the Northern Conference and Tyler JC an Angelina from the Texas Eastern Conference.

Odessa and Tyler should be favored according to Stevens. Both unbeaten meet in Thursday's second game slated for 6 p.m. MCC and South Plains start things at 4 p.m. The Queens play Angelina at 4 p.m.

Tyler returns five players from last season, Odessa is the defending WJCAC champion and MCC finished third in the nation so the field is extremely strong. South Plains ended the Ranger tournament at 1-1 after beating Weatherford at the buzzer, 72-71.

Friday's schedule will also have game times of 4, 6 and 8 p.m. with Angelina facing Odessa, South Plains playing Tyler and Howard taking on MCC. Saturday's schedule will have South Plains an Angelina against each other, Odessa an MCC and Howad against Tyler with times at 2, 4 and 6 p.m.

QUEENS (72) — Provenzio 10-2; Joyce Boudreaux 8-1-17; Sue Van Hooser 5-0-10; French 3-1-7; Molly Early 7-1-15; Vicki Wade 5-4-14; A. Dickson 1-0-2; D. Dickson 1-3-5; TOTALS 31-10-72.

RANGER (53) — Fuller 2-0-4; Whitfield 2-0-4; Adams 3-3-9; Pam Tates 5-2-12; Hatzfield 1-2-4; Moore 2-2-6; Linda Zachery 5-2-12; Jones 1-0-2; TOTALS 21-11-53.

Halftime: Queens 32, Ranger 27. Records: Queens (8-1).

Cubs halt another drought with MVP

CHICAGO (AP) — It had been 25 years since a Chicago Cubs player was voted Most Valuable Player in the National League. Second baseman Ryne Sandberg, who led the Cubs to their first baseball title in 39 years, has ended that bleak spell in a big way.

Sandberg received 22 of the 24 first-place votes cast by a Baseball Writers Association of America panel to become the first Cub MVP since Ernie Banks, who captured the honor for the second consecutive year in 1959.

"It really is an honor to receive the award, but without a doubt I'd rather be wearing a World Series ring right now," Sandberg said Tuesday night after the announcement.

The Cubs won the National League East title but never made it to the Series because they were defeated by San Diego in the league championship playoffs.

Sandberg, who also had two second-place votes, totaled 326 points in the balloting, easily outdistancing first baseman Keith Hernandez of the New York Mets, who finished with 195. Bating champion Tony Gwynn of the San Diego Padres was third with 184 points. Hernandez and Gwynn each had one first-place vote.

Chicago pitcher Rick Sutcliffe, a free agent after winning the Cy Young Award earlier this month, finished fourth with 151 points and Cub left fielder Gary Matthews was fifth with 70 points. Chicago catcher Jody Davis was 10th with 49 points. Atlanta outfielder Dale Murphy, the NL MVP each of the past two years, finished ninth this time with 52½ points.

"There's no question this is the biggest thrill of my career," Sandberg, 25, said by telephone from a ship in Mexico, where he was on a cruise with other members of the Cubs and team executives. "I'm a little bit amazed."

Chicago Manager Jim Frey was not amazed.

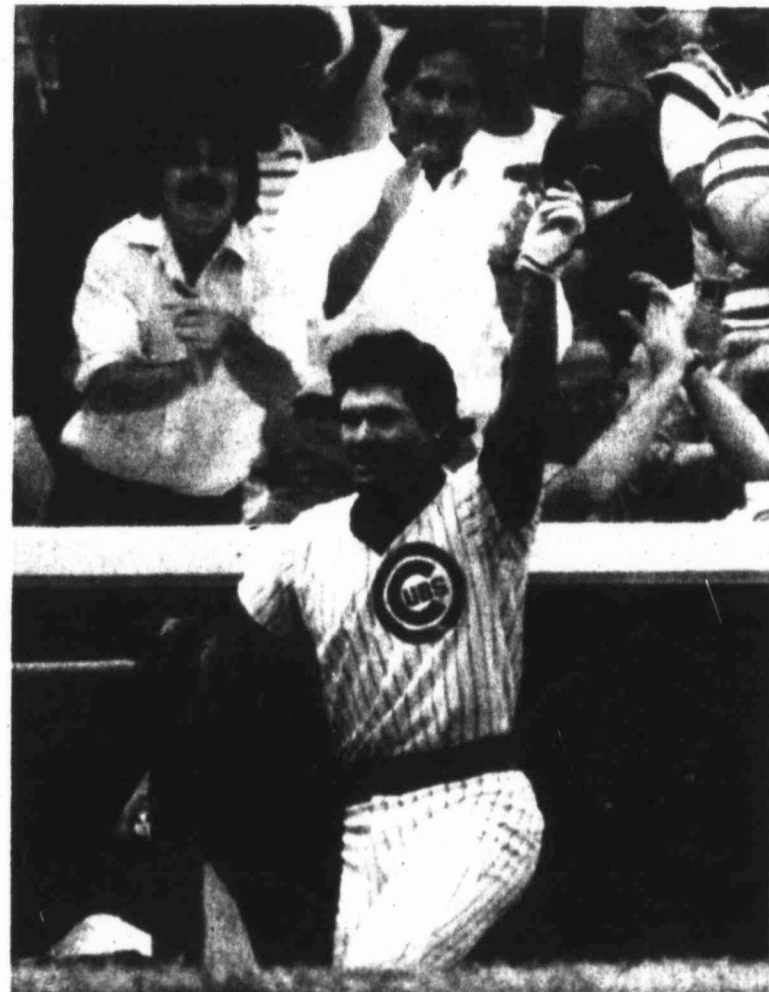

"I've said for the last couple of months I thought it was a one-horse race," Frey said by telephone. "Nobody in the league is deserving of the award more than Ryne Sandberg."

Other Cubs to win the MVP Award were Hank Sauer in 1952, Phil Cavarretta in 1945 and Gabby Hartnett in 1935. Sandberg, 25, is the youngest of that group. He also is the first second baseman honored since Joe Morgan of Cincinnati won in 1975 and 1976.

Sandberg batted .314 with 36 doubles, 19 triples, 19 home runs, 84 runs batted in and 32 stolen bases as the Cubs captured the NL East, their first title since the team won the pennant in 1945.

Hernandez batted .311 with 94 RBI for the Mets, and Gwynn batted .351 with 33 stolen bases for the Padres.

Sandberg and Hernandez were the only players named on all 24 ballots cast by the BBWAA committee, which consisted of two writers from each of the league's 12 cities.

The victory by the second baseman gave the Cubs a sweep of the BBWAA's NL postseason awards. Sutcliffe won the Cy Young and Jim Frey was named Manager of the Year earlier. Detroit, the World Series champion, swept the American League awards, with reliever Willie Hernandez named both Cy Young and MVP winner and Sparky Anderson winning the Manager of the Year.

Special playoff delays 4A plans

AUSTIN (AP) — The 3rd Court of Appeals today threw out the University Interscholastic League's challenge of a judge's order that allows an undefeated Austin team's quarterback to play despite a violation of UIL rules.

The ruling clears the way for a court-ordered playoff game Friday between Austin Westlake and Taylor, and a delay in the entire Class 4A state football playoffs, according to UIL Director Bailey Marshall.

"We'll go ahead with the extra playoff game," he said. "Anytime you get off schedule and not able to follow your rules and schedules it gets to be a mess."

The UIL wanted the Austin appeals court to ban Westlake quarterback Todd Maroney from competition.

Jim Maroney, Todd's father, earlier this season got a court to block the UIL from enforcing its five-year rule, which bars holding a student back for athletic purposes.

Todd Maroney repeated the eighth for academic reasons, according to Marshall. The family applied for a waiver of the five-year rule, but UIL officials and the organization's state executive committee denied the appeal. The Maroneys then got the court order temporarily barring UIL enforcement of the rule.

Marshall said the rule is not waived for academic failures — only for students who miss a year because of medical reasons.

The Maroneys' lawyer said today the family's request for a waiver of the rule was medically based. Todd was hospitalized for about 45 days while in ninth grade because of a spinal infection and could not play football that year, according to Malcolm Robinson of Austin.

If a court eventually rules against Maroney, Westlake would forfeit all games in which he competed — including playoffs.

Maroney has led Westlake to an undefeated season atop its zone of District 6-4A. Other schools in the district last week got State District Judge John Carter of Georgetown to order that three teams — instead of the two normally required by UIL rules — be allowed in the playoffs.

Carter's order led to Friday night's scheduled playoff between Westlake and Taylor. The winner of that game and Georgetown (second-place finisher in 6-4A) would then move on in the playoffs.

UIL officials have said the extra game would postpone the 4A championship game until Dec. 29, force players to practice during the holiday season and delay basketball participation.

The 3rd Court of Appeals' ruling today was based on legal procedures, not the merits of the case. Justice Bob Shannon said the UIL failed to file "security" to cover costs of the appeal. The UIL said it is an arm of the University of Texas and therefore excused from filing the bond.

However, Shannon said there is no state law setting up the UIL as a UT branch.

Hawks traveling to Cisco

CISCO — The Howard College Hawks will be back in action here Thursday night when they take on the Cisco JC Wranglers here at 8 p.m.

The game marks the first action for the 4-1 Hawks since winning their final game of the Midland College Classic last weekend. The Hawks overcame a 17 point deficit in the final 10 minutes to claim a 78-71 win over Garden City, Kansas and finish the tourney with a 2-1 record.

Howard goes in averaging 98.4 points per game while limiting the opposition to 70.4.

Michael Porter, the only starter back from last year's 28-4 team, is the team leader in assists (25), steals (19), free throw percentage (86 percent) and second in field goal percentage (52 percent), scoring (21.1), and third in rebounding (30).

Porter leads an eight man crew that is helped along with starters Bruce Kimble (16.1), Greg Jones (11.4), Walt Reynolds (9.4 rbs. a game) and Joe Burney (18.0).

Howard gets ample relief from Will Rogers (21.4). The Hawks also gained the services of Herbert Bell last Saturday and get additional depth from Perry Stegall.

YMCA sports listing noted

The YMCA is offering competitive adult sports this season and time is drawing near for all those interested.

Registration date for women's basketball league play will be Wednesday, Jan. 2. Registration date for women's volleyball will be Thursday, Jan. 3 while registration for adult indoor soccer will be Saturday, Jan. 5. Fees for all three sports are $10 for YMCA members and $15 for non-members.

Co-ed volleyball registration date is Tuesday, Jan. 8. Fees are $7.50 for members and $10 for non-members.

Entries can be sent to the Big Spring YMCA, P.O. Box 1428, Big Spring, TX 79721.

Golf scramble scheduled

Comanche Trail Golf Course will be the site of the First Annual KBST Let's Play Golf Scramble Nov. 17-18.

The tournament will be played according to a 4-man Louisiana Draw format. All teams will be flighted and golfers interested in participating can make up their own team. Entry fee is $35 per man.

A breakfast and team evaluations will be held Sunday, Nov. 18 at 8 a.m. at Alberto's Crystal Cafe as part of the event. For more information contact Al Patterson at Comanche Trail, 26-7271.

Fines dished out to players

NEW YORK (AP) — Forwards Julius Erving of the Philadelphia 76ers and Larry Bird of the Boston Celtics were fined $7,500 apiece today but were not suspended as a result of their fight last Friday night during a National Basketball Association game at Boston Garden.

Scotty Stirling, the NBA's vice president of operations, also handed out $15,500 in additional fines to 16 other individuals involved in the fracas which erupted with 1:38 remaining in the third quarter of the Celtics' 130-119 victory.

Cowboys release punter, get receiver

DALLAS (AP) — Wide receiver Duriel Harris, cut by the Cleveland Browns, was obtained on waivers Tuesday by the Dallas Cowboys, who released punter John Warren.

The action means quarterback Danny White will be punting in Sunday's National Football League game with the Buffalo Bills.

Harris, of Port Arthur, Texas, was a third-round draft pick by Miami in 1976. He caught 32 passes for 512 yards and two touchdowns this year for the Browns.

Olympians' debut will be competitive

NEW YORK (AP) — The pro debuts of six Olympic boxers at Madison Square Garden is "as competitive as any card could be hoped to be," says Dan Duva, sounding like the promoter he is.

"I agree 100 percent these matches are as competitive as possible," says Cool Hand Luke Lecce, who will box in a six-round lightweight bout against Meldrick Taylor of Philadelphia, who was the Olympic featherweight champion at Los Angeles.

All six opponents for the Olympians Thursday night have winning records, but they are relatively inexperienced as pros and most of them have had fewer actual fights than the Olympians have had.

There are also questions about how serious the "opponents" are about boxing.

One of them, Mike Evans of Los Angeles, is a former top amateur wrestler, who is actor who has had parts in a few television series and is seen as a champion fighter on a televised beer commercial. On the commercial, he says to a young opponent after a sparring session, "Hey, you'll get your chance."

Evans will get his chance at national attention as a boxer when he fights a six-round bout against Tyrell Biggs of Philadelphia, the Olympic super heavyweight champion.

Evans has a 3-1-1 record, with one knockout. His loss was on a first-round knockout by Rickey Reece Aug. 26, 1983, at Los Angeles.

"Once I got hit by an experienced fighter, I had enough sense to stay down and say, 'Hey, I'm not ready,'" Evans said Tuesday at a news conference for the "opponents."

Lecce, of Pittsburgh, has a business degree from Duquesne University. He has a 14-2-1 record, with eight knockouts, but lost his last two fights on a decision and on a ninth-round knockout by Charlie "White Lightning" Brown April 5 at Atlantic City, N.J.

But Chuck Nelson, Lecce's manager, said Lecce wasn't here just for a payday — the opponents will get from $3,500 to $5,000 each. "Luke is nobody's lunch meat," said Nelson. "He didn't come here to be an opponent."

In three other six-round bouts, Mark Breland of New York, the highly publicized Olympic welterweight champion, with a 110-1 amateur record, with 74 knockouts, will box Dwight Williams of Syracuse, N.Y.; Pernell Whitaker of Norfolk, Va., the lightweight gold medalist, will meet Farrain Comeaux of Nederland, Texas, and Evander Holyfield of Atlanta, a bronze medalist as a light heavyweight, will box Lionel Byarm of Philadelphia.

Breland is getting $100,000; Whitaker, Holyfield and Biggs are getting $75,000 each, and Taylor is receiving $50,000. Their opponents are being paid from $3,500 to $5,000 apiece.

A four-round bout will match Virgil Hill of Los Angeles, the silver medalist as a middleweight, against Pedro Montero of Franklin Square, N.Y.

Williams is 7-1, with two knockouts; Comeaux is 10-0, with six knockouts; Byarm is 9-1-2, with four knockouts, and Montero is 5-6, with one knockout.

Byarm is called the "Brown Bomber" because he bears an amazing facial resemblance to the late Joe Louis.

Whitaker's fight will be taped for showing.

Help a friend get through the day without a cigarette. They might just quit forever. And that's important. Because good friends are hard to find. And even tougher to lose.

TURKEY NEWBURG

Unsurpasta!

Turn those turkey leftovers into something different this year — like this easy R-F Pasta!

- 4 T. butter
- 2 cups diced cooked turkey
- 2 T. flour
- 1/4 c. sherry or Madeira (optional)
- 1/2 t. paprika
- 1/3 t. nutmeg (optional)
- 3 egg yolks, beaten
- 1 cup cream
- 8 oz. R-F Egg noodles (or any R-F product)
- 2 1/2 qts. boiling salted water

Melt butter in heavy saucepan over low heat. Add turkey and cook 3 minutes. If desired, add sherry and cook 2 minutes more. Add flour, paprika and, if desired, nutmeg. Add eggs and cream and stir until thickened. Add salt and pepper to taste. Serve over R-F noodles. Makes 4 servings.

THE 1984 TEXAS EDUCATION ACT: REFORM OR REGRESS?

In the 1984 Texas legislature, in a special session called by Governor Mark White, passed a bill that will have far-reaching effects on Texas that history may reveal that on that day before Independence Day...

A. The Act Removed From the People of Texas Their Right To Elect The State Board of Education.

Although the Democratic and Republican parties rarely agree on any issue, both parties passed a resolution at their June, 1984 State Convention to retain an elected State Board of Education.

B. The Act Gave The State Increased Control Over Our Children.

The new Act requires that students spend more time in school — more days per year and more time per day in school.

C. The Act Gave Us Our Largest Tax Increase in Our History.

Mark White pledged in his 1982 campaign against Governor Clements to have no new taxes. Two years after taking office, he signed into law the largest tax hike in Texas history.

D. The Act Gave Us Our Largest Tax Increase in Our History.

Mark White pledged in his 1982 campaign against Governor Clements to have no new taxes. Two years after taking office, he signed into law the largest tax hike in Texas history.

E. The Act Gave Us Our Largest Tax Increase in Our History.

Mark White pledged in his 1982 campaign against Governor Clements to have no new taxes. Two years after taking office, he signed into law the largest tax hike in Texas history.

F. The Act Gave Us Our Largest Tax Increase in Our History.

from Truth Forum, P.O. Box 18927, Austin, Texas 78741). One Texas Senator, Santiesteban from El Paso, said in the public hearings during the 1984 Special Session "children are the wards of the State until they are age eighteen."

The autonomy of the local school board was eradicated by the 1984 Act. The unelected State Board of Education will establish standards and duties for the local school boards and their members.

The power of the central bureaucracy is also increased by the new "equalization plan" which allocates dollars away from the community where raised and transfers them to some other community, as determined by the appointed board.

Teacher pay raises account for only a portion of the tax increase. What the rest of the tax increase is used for? Compliance with all the new regulation is very expensive.

Our forefathers, when subjected by their government to taxation without representation, sacrificed their lives and fortunes so that their descendants might enjoy freedom from arbitrary governmental control.

WHAT CAN YOU DO?

If you believe, as we do, that parents should have the primary rights and responsibilities for educating their children and that the measures passed by the Texas legislature in the 1984 Special Session will, although very costly, prove ineffectual to reverse the decline in the quality of state regulated schools, then, please:

1. Diligently pray that leaders will be raised up who will be guided by principles of parental freedom, fiscal responsibility and free enterprise. Be faithful to pray for those in office.

2. If your State representative or senator voted for the 1984 education bill, work to replace him or her in the next election with a candidate who will vote to repeal the Act.

3. Get acquainted with the legislators in office and explain to him or her your views on education, and other matters. Thank those who vote for family values.

4. Consider entering your children in a church or home school. Home schooling is still legal in Texas. But the Texas Education Agency has already stated its objective to ban home schooling.

5. Stay informed. The news media has not presented an accurate and complete picture of the 1984 Education Act. Subscribe to a publication providing accurate information.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, NOV., 15, 1984

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The early part of the day is splendid for going after what you desire with the greatest possible amount of vision and imagination and to get the support and backing of prominent persons.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Put those good creative ideas to work early and gain fine benefits, but later you will have to stop and handle a pressing obligation.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Start that activity that will bring pleasure to those who dwell with you, and then handle that outside problem that is annoying you.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Daytime is fine for communicating well with others, so get busy early, but tonight you find that quarrels could start easily.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) You have fine ideas for earning more money so carry through with them wisely, and later don't be extravagant.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) You want more happiness and can have it provided you come to right decisions and act quickly.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You get a vision of great abundance and can plan how to gain it, but in the evening steer clear of a troublesome neighbor or relative.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) If you state your aims to a generous friend, you can get backing you need, but later a money problem bothers you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You can advance quickly now if you pursue your goals vigorously. Later you may have to handle personal problematical affairs.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You can look into many advanced ideas today and this will help you to get ahead faster.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Get any business matters handled wisely that may come up in the morning, but in the evening avoid a new acquaintance.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) A wide-awake partner can give you the backing you need at this time for something that means much to you.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You find it easy to get your surroundings improved now, but steer clear of some new temptation in the evening.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she can study plans of great scope and understand them well, so be sure to slant the education along such lines as engineering, politics or law. The career can start very early in life when the mind and body are fresh.

IF SOMETHING GOES WRONG AFTER YOU BUY, ERA REAL ESTATE PAYS FOR REPAIRS.*

ERA pays for all the surprises homeowners insurance doesn't always cover... like the interior plumbing and fixtures, built-in appliances, the hot water heater, furnace, electrical wiring, exposed duct work, the central air conditioning, water softener... even swimming pool components.

The ERA Buyer Protection Plan covers more homes and more working components than any other home protection plan. And it's available from ERA in all 50 states.

So if you're in the market to buy, call the qualified professionals at your neighborhood ERA office.

We've got what it takes to protect home buyers... even after the sale.

There really is a difference in real estate companies.

PUBLIC NOTICE ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS Sealed bids for the construction of a 24" RCP gravity line at the Wastewater Treatment Facilities will be received by the Mayor and City Council (hereinafter called the Owner) at the City Hall, until 10:00 a.m., November 28, 1984 and then at said office publicly opened and read aloud.

The Contract Documents may be examined at the following locations: City Engineer's Office, GSW & Assoc., Inc. 711 East Third, Big Spring, Texas; City Hall, Big Spring, Texas.

Bidders, suppliers and subcontractors may obtain contract documents for bidding purposes upon payment of $15.00 (non-refundable) per set. The scope of the work to be performed under this contract is the construction of a 24" gravity pipe line as shown on the Drawing.

Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check or bid bond by an acceptable surety company for not less than 5% of the amount of the bid, made payable to the Owner as a bid guarantee.

A payment bond and a performance bond, each in the amount of 100% of the contract price, will be required of each successful bidder, conditioned upon the faithful performance of the contract, or the payment of all persons supplying labor or furnishing materials, and payment of all liabilities incurred in connection with the work under this contract.

Each bid shall be supplied in compliance with state law. Each bid must be valid for one year beyond the date of final acceptance of the complete project.

No bid may be withdrawn for a period of 60 days after the scheduled closing time for receiving bids.

The Owner reserves the right to reject all bids. Bidders must comply with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Davis-Bacon Act, the Anti-Kickback Act and the Contract Work Hours Standard Act.

Bidders must certify that they do not, and will not, maintain or provide for their employees any facilities that are segregated on a basis of race, color, creed or national origin.

Attention of bidders is particularly called to the requirements for affirmative action to insure equal employment opportunity for females and minorities under conditions of employment. No bid may be observed and minimum wage rates to be paid under the contract.

Pre-Bid conference will be held at the City Council Room, City Hall on November 21, 1984 at 10:00 A.M.

2108 November 14 & 21, 1984

PUBLIC NOTICE NOTICE TO BIDDERS Sealed proposals addressed to the Honorable Mayor and City Council of the City of Big Spring, Texas, will be received at the office of the City Secretary until 10:00 A.M. November 28, 1984 for the fire protection sprinkler system for Western Container expansion.

Bidders must submit a Cashier's or Certified Check issued by a bank satisfactory to the Owner, or a Proposal Bond from a reliable Surety Company, payable without recourse to the order of the City of Big Spring, Texas, in an amount not less than five percent (5%) of the largest possible bid submitted as a guaranty that the Bidder will enter into a contract and execute bonds and guaranty in the forms provided within ten (10) days after notice of award of contract to him. Bids without the required check or Proposal Bond will not be considered.

The successful Bidder will be required to furnish a Performance Bond and a Payment Bond, each in the amount of the contract, written by a responsible Surety Company, authorized to do business in the State of Texas, and satisfactory to the Owner, as required by Article 5160, V.A.T.C.S., as amended by H.B. 344, passed by the 56th Legislature, Regular Session 1959.

The City of Big Spring, Texas reserves the right to hold all proposals for a period not to exceed 30 days after the date of receiving bids, to reject any or all bids and to waive formalities. No bids may be withdrawn, after having been opened, within the 30 day period set out therein.

Bidders are expected to inspect the site of the work and to inform themselves regarding all local conditions.

Information to bidders, proposal forms, specifications and plans are on file in the office of the Purchasing Agent, Big Spring, Texas. Copies of the plans, specifications, and contract documents may be secured at the office of the Purchasing Agent, City of Big Spring, Texas, upon payment of $25.00 deposit for each set of documents. Refund of the deposit will be made as provided in the INSTRUCTIONS TO BIDDERS.

Attention is called to the fact that there must be paid on the project not less than the general prevailing rates or wages as set out in the SPECIAL PROVISIONS. However, the inclusion of such minimum schedule of wages does not release the Contractor from compliance with any State Wage Law that may be applicable. The Contractor must abide by the Wage and Hour Laws of the State of Texas and must pay not less than the rates legally prescribed or as set forth in the SPECIAL PROVISIONS, whichever is higher.

City Council awards insurance policy bids

By KEELY COGHLAN Staff Writer

Big Spring Council members awarded bids for insurance policies for the city's vehicles and workmen's compensation for employees at Parks Agency Inc. of Big Spring.

The council awarded the bids to Parks, the current carrier of the city's policies, at City Manager Don Davis' recommendation.

Parks submitted two bids, but their lower alternate bid was rejected because the carrier company's rating was lower than that specified and because the carrier was a mutual company.

Under state law, city governments cannot agree to take out insurance contracts with mutual companies.

Parks bid $117,374 for the city's workmen's compensation policy. The Texas Municipal League bid $89,588 plus an additional $1,043 to cover reserve police officers, but according to Davis, they could not provide a "complete package" for workmen's compensation.

Parks was the only agency that offered a bid on an insurance policy for the city's motor vehicles. They bid $60,522.93 for fleet coverage, $2,218 for personal injury and $6,207 for uninsured motorist coverage.

Asked by Councilman Jack Y. Smith about the possibility of rebidding the fleet insurance since Parks was the only bidder, Davis told Smith the city's current policy ran out Thursday.

Questioned by Smith, Davis said the city staff had mailed bid specifications to more than 30 companies and had given them three weeks to submit their bids.

Three companies had replied they would not bid on the policies because they had "insufficient time and data to secure realistic bids," according to a list of the bids from City Secretary Tom Ferguson.

Questioned by Smith, Davis said the city staff had mailed bid specifications to more than
