How's that? Smokeout

Q. How many people participated in "The Great American Smokeout" Thursday?
A. According to figures from the American Cancer Society, about 18.5 million people, or 33.6 percent of the nation's 55 million smokers, tried to quit for the day. That's about 1 million people less than last year.

Face to face

EXHIBIT IS TODAY — James Slatton comes face to face with a piece from a traveling exhibit on display today at the Howard County Library.

The exhibit features work by western artist Peter Hurd.

Peter Hurd exhibit showcased

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer
Frenzied anticipation was in the air Friday afternoon at the Howard County Library.

Members of Friends of the Howard County Library and library employees were busy arranging originals and reproductions of work by the late renowned southwestern artist Peter Hurd.

"Part of my concern is for this community to see part of its heritage," Friends of the Library member Sam Woodward explained to someone over the telephone.

What Woodward was talking about was the large mural that decorates the entrance of the library. Hurd received a commission in 1938 from the Section of Painting and Sculpture of the U.S. Treasury Dept. for a fresco mural in what was then the U.S. Post Office.

Hurd wrote to his wife Henriette in 1937 when he arrived here and exclaimed, "Big Spring at last! What a place it is!... The Post Office is a fine new building, simple and attractive in design."

After his residence in Big Spring, Hurd went on to achieve greater notoriety. Among his achievements, Hurd became a war correspondent of Life Magazine with the U.S. Army Air Force in England. That same year (1942), he was elected to the National Academy of Design. In 1966, he was commissioned by the White House Historical Association to paint an official portrait of President Lyndon Johnson. The painting is now a part of the Smithsonian Institution. Hurd's works have been exhibited in such diverse places as Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York and the Art Institute of Chicago.

"His ability to capture light and shadow with temperas are unsurpassed in the art world," said Cynthia Benedict of The Front Porch Gallery in Ruidoso, N.M. The gallery is responsible for providing the Hurd works.

Ms. Benedict who lived and worked with the Hurd family on their ranch in New Mexico accompanied her employer, Frances L. Slatton of The Front Porch Gallery to Big Spring to assist in setting up the art show.

"Hurd dedicated his whole life to the people who surrounded him," Ms. Benedict said about the artist's unique vision. The majority of Hurd's timeless settings are in the Southwest.

The public is invited to view and purchase reproductions and originals of Hurd's work from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. today at the Howard County Library.

All purchase prices include a 20 percent donation amount that will go to funds being collected for a new Howard County Library, Woodward said. The 20 percent is tax deductible.

Drought silences area gins

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

Most Howard County cotton gins will remain silent this year because of the poor crop used by the drought and very late rains.

At most, only four gins of 13 in Howard County will open this year to handle a cotton crop that is expected to produce no more than 5,000 bales, according to Howard County Agricultural Extension Agent Don Richardson and Tim Hall, director of the Howard County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office.

In a good year the county produces between 70,000 and 80,000 bales of cotton.

And even those gins have not started baling this year because farmers are waiting for the first freeze to kill the remaining cotton so it can be stripped. Farmers in the county say they are unwilling to spend money on chemical defoliants because the crop is so little and of such uneven and poor quality.

The only good producing area in the county is in the Knott area, farmers and agricultural officials say.

Only the Big Spring Co-op Gin and the Co-op Gin at Knott will open for sure, both Richardson and Hall said.

The Big Spring Co-op Gin is expecting to gin only about 3,000 bales, one-fifth of its normal 15,000 bales, said gin bookkeeper Christine Larue.

Possibly the Planters Gin at Knott and the Lomax Producers Gin will open, but county agricultural officials say gin managers they are uncertain if it will be profitable enough.

"It just wasn't worth it this year

Water woes Wastewater battle brewing

By RICHARD HORN

Abilene Reporter-Telegram
ABILENE (AP) — Officials here face a tough sales job — persuading residents that turning wastewater into drinking water is the cheapest option in future water planning.

"People have demonstrated strong aversion to any identifiable association with human waste within their immediate environment," says a consultant's report to the city council.

"Any plan to re-use wastewater should begin with a public education program and, as much as possible, public participation in the planning process," the report says.

Consultants from Freese and Nichols Inc. of Fort Worth say wastewater reclamation for municipal use is used in some form in El Paso, Virginia and Orange County, Calif.

"The question is whether our citizens are ready for this now. We need to find that out," Councilman Julian Bridges said after the report was presented to the council Thursday.

Much of the state's surface water supply starts out as wastewater that is discharged into streams, rivers and then reservoirs, engineers noted.

"In the United States, one out of every 30 gallons of water started as wastewater," said Coy Veach of Freese and Nichols.

But there is a difference in Abilene, the engineers said. The city's effluent would not mix with as large an amount of reservoir

DINOSAUR TRACKS — Geologist Phillip Murray from Tarleton State University has been called into the Stephenville area to check out what may be Carnosaur tracks.

Dinosaur tracks found in creek

By CLIFF COAN
Stephenville Empire-Tribune
STEPHENVILLE (AP) — About 25 years ago, Gerald Dowell of Huckabay stumbled across a couple of "real big chicken tracks" in the rocky bottom of a small creek bed near his home.

Gerald, who was 15 at the time, was unable to find the tracks again, so none of his family would believe him. The owner of the land was having bulldozer work done, and the tracks apparently were buried in the process. Then, last week, the Dowell family took a stroll to "chase some memories" along the creek where the boys had roamed as they grew up.

Gerald wasn't alone at the time, but Michael Dowell remembered his uncle's talk of the "chicken tracks."

"We knew they were on the branch," he said, "but we never knew where." Remembering a location or landmark wouldn't have helped much anyway, because the years and 12 inches of rain in the past few weeks had changed the branch.

But Sunday, Michael saw the tracks — a host of three-toed imprints in the caliche-white limestone of a new wash in the creek bed.

"I acted like I was 10 years old," Michael said. "And I'm 30 — that ought to tell you something." "You couldn't print what he said," said Wanda Dowell, Michael's mother. "He was pretty excited."

The members of the Dowell family present didn't have the trouble 15-year-old Gerald did 25 years ago. They recognized what the tracks were.

The tracks — 13 of them in all — uncovered by recent rains are

Weather

West Texas — Cloudy Saturday with scattered light rain or showers. Partly cloudy and colder Saturday night and Sunday. Highs Saturday mid 50s Panhandle to low 80s Big Bend. Lows Saturday night upper 20s Panhandle to near 50 extreme south. Highs Sunday 40s Panhandle to near 80 valleys of Big Bend.

Cold front brewing

By The Associated Press

Skies were cloudy and temperatures mild over much of Texas Friday, but a strong cold front expected by Sunday should change the weather picture quite a bit over much of the state.

Friday afternoon temperatures ranged from 49 at Amarillo to 86 at McAllen, while readings over most of the state were in the 50s and 60s, the National Weather Service said.

Sunshine was scarce over the entire state except over the summer-like Rio Grande valley. A few showers peppered Southeast Texas.

Highs in the 60s and 70s were expected over much of the state Saturday, although the mercury should be lower in the Panhandle, the weather service predicted.

Rain, showers or thunderstorms were expected to precede a strong front over much of Texas Saturday. Winter-like temperatures, bleak skies and a chilling wind should follow the front over much of the state Saturday night and Sunday.

Low temperatures Saturday night were expected to range from the upper 20s in the Panhandle to the 40s and 50s elsewhere.

Police Beat

CB radio stolen from van

A Citizens Band radio worth $149 was stolen Thursday night from a van parked at the Mid-Continent Inn, according to police reports.

Donnie Heggins of Roswell, N.M., told police someone damaged a wooden pet cage in the van as well as a vent window latch. Both the cage and the van belonged to U.S.A. Pet Supply of Oklahoma City, Okla., he said.

The burglary of the 1983 white van occurred between 9:30 p.m. Thursday and 7:40 a.m. Friday.

Mary Flores, an employee at the city animal shelter, told police that someone took a small brown dog from the shelter without paying the $11 fine.

The animal was taken from the shelter at 9 a.m. today.

Sheriff's Log

Criminal mischief reported

Howard County Sheriff's Deputy Bennie Green investigated a case of possible criminal mischief on a rented home in Coahoma Friday afternoon.

According to sheriff's reports, the owner of the house, Don Parks, called to report damage on the vacant house he owned located at 215 North Fourth in Coahoma.

Deputy Green said windows were broken, back doors were kicked out and total damage estimates amounted to about $200.

Green said leading suspects in the case appear to be "kids."

Big Spring police transferred Consita Olivarez, 17, of Odessa to Howard County jail on suspicion of driving while intoxicated. She was released on $1,000 bond set by the police department.

Glenn Eugene Meek, 28, 113 1/2 E. 16th was arrested by the sheriff's department on a Howard County Court judgment of driving while intoxicated.

Meek will serve two days in jail on a 20-day jail sentence according to sheriff's reports.

Curtis Roy McGriff, 34, 109 N.W. 12th, was released from county jail on bonds on suspicion of driving while intoxicated and theft according to sheriff's reports.

Boy Scouts to honor leaders

The Lone Star District of the Boy Scouts of America will honor its adult leaders at a dinner tonight at the First Baptist Church Family Life Center.

Chesley McDonald, a well-known humorist from Sterling County, will be the speaker. The dinner begins at 7 p.m. Tickets are $5 at the door.

Westbrook students honored

Six Westbrook students are eligible for scholarships or inclusion in a special university program.

Clay Browne, Don Zant, Evon Bradshaw and Donald Burnett are eligible for scholarships from the Permian Honor Scholarship Foundation, which award scholarships to persons in the top quarter of their high school graduating class.

The same students also are eligible for scholarships granted by "Who's Who Among High School Students," the American Society for Distinguished High School Students, and "Academic All-Americans."

Browne also is eligible for a scholarship from the University of Texas at Austin Ex-Students' Association. The association awards scholarships to the top five percent of Texas' graduating seniors.

Two seventh-grade students, Charles Hines and Jason Morris, are also eligible for consideration in a Duke University program for gifted and talented seventh-grade students because they ranked in the 97th percentile on any standardized achievement test in either math or reading.

Hines and Morris can take the S.A.T. in December. Depending on their scores, they could be recognized at ceremonies in Austin or at Duke University.

THE NIGHTHAWKS — The Howard College Nighthawks have maintained a busy schedule during the fall semester, according to director Adolph Labbe, who is pictured at right.

Howard College band maintains busy slate

The Nighthawks Jazz Band of Howard College has been displaying members' talents at several events in Big Spring during November, according to Adolph Labbe, director.

The band consists of students who are both music majors and non-majors.

Members include Jay Purser, Allison White, Shirley Clifton, and Robin Bronaugh. Also Charlie Von Rosenberg, Alvin McVea and Nancy Burgess. Others are Cliff Alcon, Lisa Dixon, Dominic Martinez, Emmitt Barte, Ricky Lopez and Johnny Saldivar.

Labbe said the band has appeared at the United Way downtown Gala celebration, the Big Spring State Hospital volunteer luncheon and the recent Highway 87 Association meeting.

The group will also perform at the Community Luncheon Nov. 28 in the East Room at the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

Labbe is director of the Nighthawks. He came to Howard College from Henderson County

Junior College in Athens. He worked for 10 years in public schools and eight years on the junior college level before coming to Big Spring.

He has bachelor and master's degree from North Texas State University in Denton. His major was music.

The Nighthawks have been featured at Howard College several years. The group is often called upon to perform at various events at the college and in the city, Labbe said. The group is composed of Howard College students with a background in music.

Students perform during their free time for these concerts and appearances, Labbe said. They also attend classes for the band twice a week on the college campus.

Labbe also performs in area groups. He was recently featured as a soloist at a recital at First United Methodist Church.

For more information on the Nighthawks, contact Labbe at Howard College.

to have them open," Hall said. Gin owners have a different attitude than last year, when they said they would open to handle their normal customers to retain their business in good years.

Last year, Howard County farmers produced about 20,000 bales.

In Glasscock and Martin Counties, the picture is brighter as irrigation helped much of the counties' crops.

Martin County Agricultural Extension Agent Gary Clevenger said most of the cotton gins in Martin County will open even though the county will only produce about one-third or less of its normal average.

Only one gin, the Wolcott Gin at Tarzan, will not open, Clevenger said. At least nine other gins in the county will be open to handle the 40,000 to 50,000 bales this year. The county usually produces 150,000 to 180,000 bales a year.

Late showers in August helped improve the cotton crop there, he said.

In Glasscock County, two of the county's three gins are open now, according to the county agent's office. Both the Glasscock County Co-op Gin and the St. Lawrence Gin are baling now; the Paymaster Gin, however, will not be open, according to the office.

According to Marie Pechacek of the Glasscock County Co-op Gin, the gin has already ginned 7,500 bales. However, she said she could not estimate how many more bales the gin would handle.

"The irrigation certainly helped this year," Mrs. Pechacek said.

Tracks

nearly identical to some of those found in the Dinosaur Valley State Park near Glen Rose, 50 miles away.

Two feet across, the tracks indeed look like Gerald's "real big chicken tracks." They are located about 10 feet below the surface of the pasture, where the landowner's bulldozer work has given way and the rains have eroded the creek bed down to the bare limestone. There are at least three separate trails, and the promise of more as the tracks disappear under an area of less-eroded creek bed.

The Dowells called Phillip Murray, a geologist at Tarleton State University, to take a look at the tracks.

Murray, who has a Ph.D. from Southern Methodist University and has done field work in Panama, India, New Mexico and Arizona, visited the site last week.

"I don't know (what made the tracks)," Murray said, as he looked at the tracks for the first time, "but I'd say right off they might be a Carnosaur."

The Carnosaurs were a group of two-legged, two-toed, meat-eating dinosaurs that roamed the area "a little over 100 million years ago" during the Cretaceous period.

Water

water, especially during periods of drought.

"We just don't catch as much rainfall as they do in East Texas and other places," said Dwayne Hargesheimer, director of water utilities. "It will be pretty much wastewater."

But John Cook of Freese and Nichols said the effluent is "high quality" and will be a necessary alternative in the future.

"Most water-short utilities are actively planning re-use," he said.

The owner of the feet that made the tracks probably stood between 12 feet and 21 feet tall, and was between 20 and 30 feet long and weighed in the neighborhood of 10 tons, Murray said.

When the Carnosaurs roamed the Hockabay area, Murray said the area was a shallow marine land environment, with lush tropical or semi-tropical vegetation. Relatives of the pines and other conifers, along with the first flowering plants, had made their appearance.

Bays, marshes and vast areas of shallow, warm water formed the coast areas. As the dinosaurs moved about on the edges of the sea and the shallow waters, their tracks were imprinted in the soft, limey mud.

The mud later solidified into limestone, and the tracks were preserved. The once-mud, now-rock is known as the Glen Rose formation, and most dinosaur tracks are found in that formation, Murray said.

"There are quite a few trackways known," Murray said, "but they're still rare. Within this 100-mile area, there are probably six to 10 known trackways, but out of all these the only one studied and documented is the one at Glen Rose."

John Cook, an engineer for Freese and Nichols, said Abilene will discharge 26 million gallons of treated wastewater per day by the year 2030, making this option capable of meeting the city's needs at least through that year, provided all of the city's current water sources are being used.

The study says a facility for advanced wastewater treatment could be built northwest of the city's existing sewage treatment plant.

Doctor defends surgery

LOMA LINDA, Calif. — The doctor who replaced Baby Fae's malformed heart with a baboon's said Friday that despite her death after 21 days the operation "opened up new vistas for all children" and he plans to "try it again."

Speaking to reporters in a quavering voice, Dr. Leonard L. Bailey said the infant's parents were with their daughter when she died at 9 p.m. Thursday.

"The last thing the mom said to me was to carry this on — to not let this experience be wasted," Bailey said.

"The Baby Faes and their parents are the real pioneers in this quest to enrich our quality of life," he said. "Today we grieve the loss of this patient's life ... her unique place in our memories will derive from what she and her parents have done to give rise to a ray of hope for the babies to come."

Coffee baron charged

MIAMI (AP) — Colombian coffee baron Alberto Duque surrendered Friday to face a 95-count indictment that accused him and 11 others of a $105 million bank fraud — said to be the largest in U.S. history.

After five hours in custody, he was released on a $1 million personal surety bond set by U.S. Magistrate Charlene Sorrentino. Over government protests, she said the 35-year-old millionaire could travel abroad on business if he first notified federal authorities.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Caroline Heck had urged that Duque be required to post $1 million corporate surety bond, for which he would have had to post 10 percent of the total.

Printer to die

LOS ANGELES — A burly printer convicted of murdering two women in a redwood forest and charged with five other killings in the so-called Trailside Slayings was sentenced Friday to die in the gas chamber.

"I must conclude with the prosecution that if ever there was a case for the death penalty, this is that case," Superior Court Judge Dion Morrow said in passing sentence on David Carpenter, 54.

A jury recommended the death sentence in September, after Carpenter was convicted two months earlier of killing two young women in separate 1981 attacks along redwood park trails in Santa Cruz County, about 70 miles south of San Francisco.

Morrow said the defense had failed to prove Carpenter's troubled childhood and psychological problems were mitigating circumstances in the killings.

Morrow also said he believed prosecution evidence that Carpenter had committed "acts of violence" in the five Trailside Slayings for which he has been charged, but not arraigned, in Marin County, just north of San Francisco.

HOME AGAIN — Svetlana Alliluyeva is shown at a news conference in Moscow explaining why she returned to the Soviet Union. At her left is her interpreter.

Happy at last

Stalin's daughter defends move to Soviet Union

MOSCOW (AP) — Josef Stalin's daughter said Friday she came home because she felt guilty about her abandoned children in the Soviet Union and was unhappy after 17 years as a defector in the West.

Svetlana Alliluyeva claimed she was made "a favorite pet of the CIA" and said she never felt free in the "so-called free world."

Speaking at a news conference in which Stalin's name was never mentioned, Miss Alliluyeva declined to say if she had changed her mind about her previous outspoken criticism of the Soviet system.

She insisted she returned for personal and not political reasons, and defended her decision to bring her 13-year-old, American-born daughter with her. Miss Alliluyeva described her daughter, Olga, as "American as apple pie."

Miss Alliluyeva told Soviet and Western reporters, "The sense of profound guilt has never left me all these years. I feel happy at last, I have returned home."

She said, "We have been met here like the prodigal son in the times of the Bible."

Speaking only in Russian but occasionally correcting her English translator, the 59-year-old Miss Alliluyeva declared that she wants to live a quiet, private life and that she would not talk to reporters again.

"Do not try to follow me on the street or find me in doorways," she told reporters.

Miss Alliluyeva, whose father ruled the Soviet Union from 1924 to 1953, defected while in New Delhi in 1967. She lived most of the next 17 years in the United States, where she became a citizen, married architect William Peters, gave birth to Olga and divorced.

After defecting, Miss Alliluyeva published two volumes of memoirs and gave numerous interviews that included some harsh criticism of the Communist system.

For the past two years, she and Olga lived in England and it was from there that they returned to Moscow several weeks ago.

The news conference was called on two hours' notice, one day after a confrontation between Miss Alliluyeva and American TV crews outside her Moscow hotel. A Foreign Ministry spokesman said the news conference, to which only invited Western reporters were admitted, was arranged at her request.

Reading what appeared to be a handwritten statement, Miss Alliluyeva denied "speculation in the press that my return to the U.S.S.R. could have been forced."

"The decision to return to my homeland, to my children, my grandchildren and friends was my personal decision," said Miss Alliluyeva, who wore an expensive-looking British tweed suit.

She said she made her request to return in writing and then in person at the Soviet Embassy in London on Sept. 11. She did not say precisely when she came to Moscow, but the Soviet news agency Tass announced her return on Nov. 2.

Miss Alliluyeva said her primary motive was to be reunited with her children, Josef and Yekaterina, who were 22 and 17 when she defected.

The final decision was taken because Josef fell ill and because she had no way to contact her geophysicist daughter, who works in Kamchatka in the Soviet Far East, she said.

Miss Alliluyeva said she also was disillusioned with life in the West.

She said she did not plan to defect when she went to India in 1967, but "in those years, I paid my own tribute to blind idealization of the so-called free world."

"However, having found myself in this so-called free world, I was not free for one single day."

Diplomat charged

NEW DELHI, India — Investigators probing Indira Gandhi's assassination have asked that a former Indian diplomat be extradited from Norway on grounds he was involved in a conspiracy to kill her, news reports said.

The former diplomat, I. Harinder Singh, a Sikh, told Norwegian television in Oslo Friday night that he was surprised by the charge by the pro-government Hindustan Times newspaper and the Press Trust of India news agency.

"When I was told about the report in Hindustan Times today I was completely taken aback, sort of dumbfounded. I did not expect that the government of a country like India would use such mean tricks to prevent me from obtaining asylum in this country," he said without elaboration.

He added that he did not defend the slaying of Mrs. Gandhi, but considered her death "the revenge of fate."

Famine 'major shame'

ABA ABABA, Ethiopia — President Julius Nyerere of Tanzania, the new chairman of the Organization of African Unity, on Friday accused developed nations of not responding to the devastating drought in Africa until their residents "saw corpses on television."

"It is a shame that a single person in the world should die of starvation," he told a news conference. "It's a major shame because there is a lot of food in the world. Just now, Western Europe has something they call food mountains — and the food is rotting there and the people are dying here."

Movie star indicted

ROME (AP) — Italian movie star Rossano Brazzi and a suspect in the papal shooting plot are among 57 people indicted following a major investigation of international arms and drug smuggling, a prosecutor said Friday.

Judge Carlo Palermo in the northern Italian city of Trento issued the indictments Thursday night, after a five-year probe into a ring that allegedly operated in Italy, West Germany, Spain, Bulgaria, Turkey and other parts of the Mediterranean.

Trento state prosecutor Enrico Cavallieri said in a telephone interview that Brazzi and Bekir Celenk were among those indicted. Cavallieri said both were charged with "arms trafficking," but did not provide further details.

Fire disrupts service

TOKYO (AP) — Service for about 90,000 telephones, plus databank and telex circuits and computer communications systems of five Japanese commercial banks, was disrupted Friday by a fire in an underground utility tunnel in Tokyo, the fire department said.

Housewives strike at several national rallies

By The Associated Press
Striking housewives hoisted a clothesline banner at a Los Angeles rally on Friday, and also gathered in Philadelphia and Tulsa, Okla., to kick off a petition drive to include unpaid domestic work in the gross national products of all nations.

The one-day strike, organized by the Wages For Housework Campaign, was geared to make officials more aware of the collective clout of housewives. The women intend to take their international petitions to the United Nations' Conference on Women next July in Nairobi, organizers said.

"On Friday, we won't be doing housework," said Ruth Todasco, a strike coordinator in Tulsa. "Instead this work stoppage will be bringing the value of women's work to the attention of the policymakers in the most striking way possible. They will have to try to imagine how government and business would function without it."

Participants said housewives and mothers need more political power to seek funding for programs such as welfare and child care.

"When we ask for programs we are always told you are not putting into the economy," said Los Angeles organizer Margaret Prescod in a telephone interview. "We're told, you're a drain on the economy."

With the GNP recognition, "Our worth would be there for the world to see, our worth in dollars and cents."

About 15 women, with their banner attached to a clothesline, joined Ms. Prescod for a news conference in the Norwalk home of Donna Lee, the mother of three.

Their slogan, "Women Count, Count Women's Work," was emblazoned on the clothesline banner, potholders and their aprons.

The women then headed for Los Angeles City Hall to try and enlist City Council support for the petition drive, and to press for funding for a financially strapped child care center in the Echo Park-Silverlake area.

In Tulsa, the strike focused on allowing concerned women time to discuss policy concerns such as child care, equal pay and the amount of welfare and Social Security payments with state and local leaders, Ms. Todasco said. One informational picket was posted outside a Tulsa house serving as strike headquarters, she said.

Ms. Todasco said the GNP petitions will serve as an "immediate lever" to show local officials the support for programs and resources for women. She stressed that the action is "not anti-men at all," and said the husbands of many participants support the aims of the walkout.

"Many husbands could not get to work today, because they were left with the kids," said Phoebe Jones, an organizer in Philadelphia. She said her own walkout did not prevent her husband from going to work. She said he has been "very supportive" of her cause and made her lunch as a gesture.

Ms. Jones said lawmakers throughout the world should recognize that women do more than "sit around and watch the soaps" on television.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1984
GENERAL TENDENCIES: A confusing condition pertaining to your service to others can arise in the daytime and needs to be handled with care, but later you find that a cooperative person will be able to help.
ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Small duties need handling in the morning. Take time to analyze your philosophy of living and clarify it.
TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Some recreational plans may need revision early and then you can make arrangements for the new week's activities.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) The morning may be filled with little irritations at home, so keep your cool, and later you can go out for charming recreation.
MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Do some studying in the morning instead of paying visits to others, and gain greater knowledge.
LEO (July 22 to August 21) Forget those practical problems in the morning, and then you can be with friends who are helpful.
VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get rid of some annoying situation in your life and then plan monetary activity for the new week.
LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Many small situations arise during the daytime which need careful handling and tonight you can have conditions more as you like.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Avoid your friends during the day since they can be disappointing to you. Get your appearance improved.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Avoid the public eye during the day and save your reputation, but later good friends make the evening a happy one for you.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Any new ideas should be well analyzed since there are bound to be errors in them.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have detailed work to get into early in the day, so get it behind you quickly, and enjoy the day.
PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Postpone a meeting with an associate since you are both apt to be confused today. Keep some promise you have made.
IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will have to be carefully taught since there is tendency to daydream too much here and get concerned with irrelevant facts. However, upon reaching adulthood your progress will do well in any work connected with solving the problems of others, being very cooperative and kind.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 1984
GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is a day to forget past mistakes where other persons are concerned and to seek out those persons who are willing to coordinate their efforts with yours and come to an agreement.
ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Steer clear of some highbrow who is too demanding, and be with new and interesting contacts who have fine ideas for the future.
TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Precision and neatness in your work should be paramount today so that you can make the greatest progress. Avoid a jealous person.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Put into action that particular talent that is yours and get fine results. Come to a true understanding with your mate.
MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Although a home tie has different views from your own, reach a point of understanding. Listen carefully.
LEO (July 22 to August 21) An ally could have a fine new plan that should be listened to since it is apt to have great merit. Be more willing to let go of the past.
VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) See what a progressive advisor has to suggest so that you can get out of that impasse in monetary matters. Cut down on expenses.
LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Pursue personal aims and put aside practical affairs for awhile. Let your friendships include the influential.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Make that unusual plan of activity that can gain you your aims, but keep it confidential for right results.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Think of companions with whom you have the most fun and plan to be with them more often in the future.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Capture a clever bigwig who can help you to improve your status in the community in which you reside.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Study those activities you want to get into in the near future that can help you to expand and study all the data possible.
PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Recall something that has proved pleasant in the past and use it again with your mate and find greater happiness together.
IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will possess a warm and kind nature so slight the education along lines that are humanitarian and pretty much out of the norm of regular scholastic studies. One to whom a family unit is very important and will be most romantic and understanding with the mate.

Focus on the family

Make preparations for cold winter months

Most of us have traditions for celebrating Thanksgiving centered around what we eat or where we go or what we do on "turkey day". This year why not try starting a new tradition to celebrate being a family?

The week of Thanksgiving is declared "National Family Week" by Presidential proclamation each year. In 1984 it falls between November 18-24. Families can use this special time to acknowledge their identity and set new goals that promote a stronger sense of family unity.

National Family Week can be an excellent time to start a new family tradition like one of the following:

- Invite an elderly family member for a visit and to share some special memories of their childhood and of family events in earlier times.

- Visit a family cemetery and locate the headstones of relatives from other generations.

- Visit a relative in a nursing home and share a day of family activities with that person.

- Travel to a place where your ancestors once lived and visit with the people who live there now.

- Trace your ancestors and make a written family record of relatives on both sides of the family.

- Establish a new ritual as part of your family Thanksgiving celebration. This is especially important for new families formed by remarriage who are trying to develop an identity of their own.

Thanksgiving can be more than eating turkey and watching football if you take time out to celebrate being a family too.

THINK AHEAD WHEN STORING TURKEY LEFTOVERS

Some families enjoy leftover turkey from Thanksgiving. In fact, some like the leftovers better than the holiday meal itself!

The key to using leftovers effectively is to plan ahead when packaging.

If your family prefers turkey sandwiches and creamed turkey dishes, you can freeze the leftovers in slices and small pieces. If possible, cover the slices and pieces with broth or gravy to prevent contact with air. This also lengthens storage life. Package in air-tight, meal-sized packages or containers and freeze quickly.

Frozen turkey doesn't improve with age, and it doesn't retain good eating quality for as long as some other meats.

If you're going to freeze turkey, remember this storage guide: one month for slices or pieces, six months for slices or pieces covered with broth or gravy and six months for turkey casserole dishes.

Tasty casseroles can be prepared by combining cubed turkey with vegetables, sauce, seasonings, cooked spaghetti, macaroni, noodles and potatoes become mushy after freezing.

Prepare the turkey casserole, cool it quickly and place it in a meal-sized freezing container. Cover tightly with moisture-vapor resistant wrap and freeze immediately.

By planning for leftovers, you can spread the enjoyment of turkey over a long period of time and save food preparation time later during the busy holiday season.

Dear Abby

Bridegroom remains bachelor

DEAR ABBY: I am praying you will answer my letter in the paper because I don't even know where I'll be living by the time you get this.

I was supposed to be married last Friday. My family went to a lot of trouble to arrange the wedding and many guests had bought gifts to bring. I thought I was marrying a sweet, thoughtful man who loved me.

I found out last week that "Jerry's" friends were planning a "bachelor party" for the night before our wedding. I also found out that a cheap hooker would be there to provide sex and entertainment and that plenty of liquor had been bought so everyone could get drunk.

I didn't want to marry a man who thought illicit sex with a hooker was a "treat," and I told Jerry so. He said there was no way he'd call the party off, that he deserved one last fling, and that he was glad he found out I planned to run his life before it was too late to get out.

Now, none of my family is speaking to me. My mother says I will have to change my ways if I ever expect to find a husband. Everyone else says I threw away a great guy. I am sick and wish I had never been born. Was I wrong not to want a husband who got drunk and had sex with a slut the night before my wedding? Everyone is making me feel like I am crazy or something. Please answer me. — "C"

DEAR C: You are not crazy. You and Jerry are miles apart when it comes to moral values, which is the cement that holds a marriage together. You are not his kind of woman, and he is not your kind of man. You're lucky to learn it before the knot was tied.

For your garden

by Don Richardson
County Extension Agent

Start a family tradition this Thanksgiving

Place orders for seeds this month so you will have them available when you are ready to plant. Also by ordering early you will be sure to get the varieties you want.

Evergreen plants frequently suffer from lack of moisture during those occasional winter dry periods that occur in Texas. Also adequate soil moisture provides the best protection you can give your plants against winter cold injury.

Don't get in a hurry to prune woody plants. December through February is usually the best time to prune them.

In areas where ice and snow may cover the ground for extended periods you had better protect young trees and shrubs from rodent damage. Rabbits gnaw young plants, stripping the bark as high as they can reach.

Reduce or stop completely the fertilization of indoor plants from late October to mid March. An exception would be plants in an atrium or a well lighted window.

Clean, repair, and oil garden tools and equipment. A coat of linseed oil on wooden handles will help preserve the wood.

Drain the gasoline from power tools and run the engine until fuel in the carburetor is used.

The winter season is a good time to drain and replace the crankcase on power tools. This removes the temptation to use it one more time when you get in a hurry in the spring.

Drain power sprayers to prevent freeze damage to pump and nozzle.

Drain and store garden hoses and watering equipment in a readily accessible location. The lawn and plants may need water during a prolonged dry spell.

Winter time is an excellent time to take power tools in need of repair to the service shop as it is usually a slack season for them. Just remember where you took them for repair.

November through February is a good time to plant trees and shrubs.

Protect tender plants by covering with structures made of wood frames and covered with clear plastic film. If a severe freeze is predicted, use an outdoor type extension cord and a lightbulb placed under the cover. It will usually provide sufficient heat to protect the plants if the cover is well constructed. Of course the extension cord must be plugged into an electrical outlet.

Don't neglect to remove or to open the plastic cover if the sun comes out bright and clear. Heat buildup can damage the plants.

Christmas poinsettias will soon be available. Don't be misled by the scare stories about the poisonous qualities of these beautiful plants. Plant scientists at the Ohio State University have proven through extensive testing that they are not poisonous. There is always the possibility that some individuals may be allergic to certain plants including the poinsettia.

Dr. Donohue

Nebulizer techniques can help asthmatic

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have a bad case of asthma and have begun using one of the nebulizers in which you breathe in the medicine to open passages to the lungs. It helps, but in bad times it just doesn't seem to get my relief fast enough and I get in distress. I wonder if I am using the thing correctly, although I follow directions. Any suggestion? — G.B.V.

There are techniques that have helped some asthmatics get maximum effect from such nebulizers. Some of them were discussed at a recent seminar on lung problems reported in one of the medical journals. First, why don't you consult your own doctor to see if you are really using yours correctly?

In any event, you might want to ask him about the tips offered. Some find that they get better results from the inhaled bronchodilator drug if it is diluted with water before being put into the nebulizer. The effect of that is to deliver a greater volume without side effects. Others get results by attaching an extension to the nebulizer tube. This results in larger droplets being left behind, with only the finer medicine droplets reaching the lung tissue, permitting better penetration.

The way you breathe the medicine can be important also.

NEW NAME, SAME SERVICE — Rudy Jonas and June McCutcheon, manager and owner of Gentlemen's Corner, say the store, which had been Gibbs and Weeks, has a new name but is offering the same service as always.

Gentlemen's Corner new name for familiar Big Spring store

By CAROL BALDWIN
Staff Writer

Although Gentlemen's Corner at the corner of Third and Main has a new name, the management and service are the same, according to June McCutcheon, who with her husband Leonard owns the men's clothing store.

Gentlemen's Corner, formerly Gibbs and Weeks, was purchased by the McCutcheons about two and a half years ago, said manager Rudy Jonas. George Weeks remained at the store until retiring last May.

Weeks and his partner Gilbert Gibbs had been in the men's clothing business for more than 25 years and until the recent name change many people were unaware that the store had new owners.

The McCutcheons and Jonas have no plans to leave the downtown area and say they prefer the area to other locations.

Mrs. McCutcheon said, "We like the downtown area real well." She said she hopes the see downtown bounce back from what has been a depression for the area.

"We're trying to do what we can to help that," she said. "We'd like the see the area cleaned up and rejuvenated."

Jonas said he was optimistic that the recent purchase of the Settles Hotel and other downtown landmarks will speed the area toward a recovery. He also has other reasons for staying downtown.

"I've been in shopping center stores. It's just not for us. We like being downtown near the banks, the courthouse and the post office. We've got a good location, on the corner, and we have a full basement and office space."

Despite lagging business for some downtown stores, "Our business has not dropped off that much," Jonas said. "This store has been here since 1958. People shop here from Midland, San Angelo, Snyder, all over."

He added, "We have a lot of faith in Big Spring."

Jonas has managed the store since the McCutcheon's purchased it more than two years ago. He explained, "They are old friends. I've known them for 21 years. I had clothing stores in New Mexico. I have 30 years background in men's clothing."

Jonas said, "Once you're in (the clothing business) you never get out of it." Jonas moved to Big Spring in 1977 to work for McCutcheon Oil, but he was glad for the opportunity to return to the men's clothing business.

The McCutcheon's and Jonas have made several changes in the store since purchasing it. The store had been known "as a mature man's store," Jonas said. He has expanded the line to include clothing for younger men and plans to add a line for boys and teens ages 14 through 20 this spring.

The store "carries top lines" of clothing and offers alterations. "We sell service," Jonas said. "That's what (Gibbs and Weeks) built their business on, and we want to continue" the tradition.

Jonas said customers are the most important folks at the store. "We are here to please them, see that their needs are fulfilled."

Mrs. McCutcheon agreed. "Our main thing is service. We feel people come in here because of what we have to offer."

Other employees at the store include Bob Beasley, Joyce Johnson, Ralph Mendez, Diane Reiser, and Bobby Padron. The store held a ribbon cutting ceremony Friday, and name-changing ceremonies continue through today.

Top issues surface in poll

By JOHNNIE LOU AVERY

Several hundred people in this area were recently polled to find out the general concerns facing this state. The top nine issues were ranked in this order.

1. Water resources
2. Education
3. Highways
4. Taxes
5. Solid and hazardous waste
6. Prison reform
7. Alcohol related issues
8. Pari-mutual betting
9. Worker compensation.

These were far ahead of all other concerns, in the poll of West Texas Chamber of Commerce members.

In the area of water resources, strong support was registered for meaningful water planning and conservation, more research of drought resistant crops and plants, more loan guarantees for local water projects, a water importation plan and interbasin water transfer, increased funding for brush control, and support of the revised Texas Water Plan as submitted by the Texas Department of Water Resources.

While expressing concern over education, there was equal division between favoring and opposing many of the concepts proposed by H. Ross Perot's Select Committee on Education.

In the area of increasing taxes in the upcoming legislative session, 55 percent of the respondents thought no new taxes should be considered and that expenditures should be trimmed to balance the budget. At the same time, 42 percent thought some tax increases might have to be considered and should come from sales taxes. Only a small percent thought that if tax increases were necessary, they should come from corporate or personal income taxes.

On alcohol legislation, 74 percent felt that the minimum drinking age in Texas should be raised from 19 to 21. However, only 40 percent think "happy hours" should be outlawed, with 34 percent disagreeing and 26 percent expressing no opinion.

A large majority were opposed to legislation providing worker compensation for migrant labor.

Important message to those with loved ones who have chronic mental illness: A state-wide organization has been formed called the Alliance for the Chronically Mentally Ill. It will have a network of local alliance support groups. Heading up the membership sign-up is Genevieve Hearon, 902 Terrace Mountain Drive, Austin, Texas, 78746. Write her for more information. She needs local leaders to get a Big Spring group organized.

Are you making plans for the giant Christmas parade? These are some things you should know about that event:

A Miss Merry Christmas will be selected Monday and she and her court will reign over all community Christmas activities beginning with the parade Dec. 1.

The parade will begin that Saturday morning at 10 a.m. in the old Gibson's parking lot (line up begins at 9 a.m.) and will proceed up Gregg St. to Fourth St., turn right and disband at the courthouse, where a concert of religious and Christmas music will be held.

Floats and other parade entries may be registered by calling the Chamber at 263-7641.

An effort is being made to get at least 1,000 representing every church in town to march as a united group in the parade. Call 267-6970 if you or your church group wants to walk in this group.

Nationwide for the period 1983-84, the American Business Club members contributed to the Living Endowment Fund, the sum of $245,635, which funded 412 scholarships, and with an average donation of $36.81 per member. These scholarships go to educate physical, speech and hearing therapists.

Locally, the Big Spring AMBUC members gave $4,061 to the Living Endowment Fund, which is an average of $54.12 per member. In addition, members gave $4,000 to Dora Roberts Rehab Center for the purchase of therapy equipment; $500 to the Rainbow Project and $1,000 to the BSHS Christmas party, Westside Center Christmas party and the United Way.

Fund raising projects for this group are the Rattlesnake Roundup in March and the concessions at the Rodeo in June of each year.

Area businesses support fund drive

Several area businesses and organizations took an active part in the United Way campaign.

United Way received pledges of $10,606.50 toward the company goal of $11,500 from Cosden Oil and Chemical Employees.

Cosden will match dollar for dollar each pledge as a corporate gift. Members of the committee were Vi Ballou, chairperson; Ed Wright, Gloria Bain, Alton Fields, Byron Smith, Gene Adams and Judy Brown.

Wally Whittington drew the winner's names of seven drawings totalling $500 donated by the company. For $10 to $25 contributors, there was one $50 drawing with Ronnie Payne announced as winner. Three drawings of $50 each for $25 and $50 contributors were won by Johnnie Hooper, Bobby Bradford and Jackie Barnett.

$100 for three drawings for contributors of $50 and up were given to John Newman, Tom Yeats and Dickie Partlow.

Cosden employees and the corporation donations totalled 10 percent of the United Way goal of $202,500.

Several other efforts were sponsored to raise money for the fund.

They included Gala Day. A total of $370 was collected. Winners of $370 were Jerry Sutton and David Booth. Turkeys were donated by Safeway Stores in the College Park Mall.

West Side Community Center employees made an afghan for a drawing which was won by R. Speaker of 1516 Park.

A breakdance contest was conducted with Adriel Saldivar as judge. Jeremy Balios was winner of the three to six-year-old division. Johnny Lozano won the 7 to 13 division and "Double J" Michael Lane was top winner of the 14-17 group.

The contest was conducted on an 18-wheeler flatbed furnished by Fibertex. The city had the snorkel displayed and gave a skyline view of Big Spring with firemen Clayton Pairett, Kevin Murphy and Farley Hayworth officiating.

Tickets for the booths were donated by the Cinema theatre.

Events planned in the near future for the United Way include a volleyball tournament to be conducted at the Big Spring Federal Camp gym in December.

The Big Spring Professional

Firefighters Association joined together for the United Way campaign with chairman Rodney Phillips. There are 76 percent of the Big Spring firemen who belong to this association.

Their total contributions totaled $500. The association is planning to sponsor some special events throughout the year with proceeds going to the United Way.

Plans are to sponsor a softball tournament and some basketball and volleyball tournaments.

Officers for the group are John Branham, president; Robert Mueller, vice president; and Paul Brown, secretary-treasurer.

Malone-Hogan Hospital served sausage and pancakes to employees who participated in the United Way drive Friday. Department managers cooked and served the breakfast which will be served in the hospital cafeteria.

Hospital employees have reached 90 percent of their $10,000 goal toward the community drive.

John Bingham, hospital administrator, said, "I'm pleased that our employees are the kind of people who care about their neighbors and about each other."

5 Cosden employees promoted

Cosden Oil & Chemical Company recently announced the appointment of Scott Davis as vice president of marketing of Vercon, inc., a wholly owned subsidiary which designs and manufactures complete packaging systems, licenses and leases spinwelding for production of plastic container components.

Davis joined Cosden in 1967 as development chemist in Big Spring. He will be succeeded by Phil Carruthers, who has been named manager of licensing for the wholly owned subsidiary which has technology licenses of the Petrofina group in 24 countries.

Carruthers joined Cosden in Big Spring in 1979 as a process engineer and transferred to Dallas in 1983 as group leader, Polymers. Cosden also announced realignment of the manufacturing, engineering, supply and distribution divisions.

Jim Wright who joined Cosden in 1972 as a distribution product coordinator in Big Spring has been named manager of Traffic and Distribution.

Ken Hamby, a native of Big Spring who joined Cosden 1972 as a junior process engineer, has been named engineering manager.

And Bill Reynolds who joined Cosden in 1959 as a chemist in Big Spring has been appointed manager of the company's Calumet City, Ill. plant.

Bufs take playoff win; Grady loses

'Cats fall 60-14

By BILLY NABOURS
Sports Editor

GAIL — It was a night of firsts. The Grady Wildcats were in the playoffs for the first time ever in any boys sport. The Jayton Jaybirds were in the playoffs for the first time as a six-man football team.

Unfortunately it was also a night when Grady suffered its first football playoff loss.

The Wildcats, runnerup in District 4-6-man South Zone, lost to the Jaybirds, champion of the district's North Zone, 60-14 here Friday night in a game called when Jayton's Trey Richey ran the second half kickoff back 70 yards to break the 45 point lead margin which is the limit for six man contests. It marked the second time this year the 10-0 Jaybirds have beaten the 4-7 Wildcats. In the season's fourth game Jayton beat Grady, 65-22.

Jayton touched the ball only 16 times counting the kickoff. Richey scored on three of those plays while backfieldmate Mike Morales toted the ball for five scores.

Dennis Sawyer tallied twice for Grady and Luis Gonzales added the PAT kick (two points in six man).

Morales went 54 yards for Jayton's first score with 8:12 in the first quarter following a Gonzales punt.

The first of Grady's three lost fumbles led to Jayton's second score when Morales capped a 22-yard drive with a four yard scamper. Randy Waggoner, who missed the first PAT, was good on his second try and with 6:00 left in the opening period the Jaybirds led, 14-0.

Another fumble set up Jayton at the Grady 20 with 5:46 still to play in opening action. It took 29 seconds and three plays for Richey to get his first six of the game. The junior who rushed for 79 yards on five carries, went in from 30 yards. The kick raised the score to 22-0.

After forcing the Wildcats to punt a second time, the Jaybirds marched 40 yards in three plays with Richey finishing things with a 17-yard burst. Another successful boot made the score 30-0.

Grady's third fumble of the period set up Jayton at the Wildcat 33 with 49 seconds to go. It was Morales' turn and the senior responded with a run to the end zone. Waggoner was true and things stood at 38-0 after one period.

AIR ATTACK WORKS

Grady pieced together its first scoring drive starting at its own 29 late in the first quarter. Gonzales completed passes of 28 and 11 yards to Charlie Perez and Terry Deatherage for the big gains in the 51-yard offensive (six man fields are 80 yards long). Sawyer went the final yard at 7:19 in the second period, but the PAT was muffed to leave things at 38-6.

The Jaybirds should have changed their name to lightning with the way they struck. It took them only three plays to go 49 yards following Grady's initial score. Morales ran 37 yards to the 12. Richey went for six and then Morales went in for his fourth score. Another bulseye by Waggoner made things 46-6.

The Wildcats, teetering on the brink of elimination throughout the first half, refused to give up. Using passes of 19 and nine yards to Perez and Deatherage again, Gonzales moved his offense 57 yards in seven

THE VICTORS — Forsan Buffaloes quarterback Todd East raises his hand in triumph just after he and his teammates had defeated O'Donnell 19-6 in Class A zone playoffs.

Forsan wins 19-6

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Writer

Evidently, nothing much has changed between the Forsan Buffaloes and the O'Donnell Eagles.

The Buffs defeated the Eagles 20-6 seven weeks ago in non-district play. Last night they downed them again, 19-6 in Class A Zone state playoffs.

Much like it their first victory coach Jan East's Buffaloes did it with a stingy defense and potent rushing attack.

The Buffaloes defense bent but did not break, as O'Donnell did gather its share of yards on the ground. The Eagles unleashed a horde of nine different running backs to amass 200 yards on the proud Forsan defense.

But in the end it was the Forsan defense that stood tall, along with the quick legs of Mitch Hays.

Hays had a profitable but frustrating night scoring all three Forsan touchdowns and rushing for 88 yards in 17 carries. But the speedy senior also had TD runs of 25 and 75 yards called back because of holding.

Coach East said his team's defensive effort was less-to-be-desired. "No I was not pleased with my defense. We gave up too many yards. Offensively we made a couple of mistakes. You don't let two touchdowns get away from you in the playoffs."

The win may be very costly for the Buffaloes as offensive guard Marvin Kendrick went down to a knee injury in the first half. The extent of the injury was not known.

Even without Kendrick's the Forsan offensive front of tackles Jason Donaghe and Brandon Wooten; guards Tony Miranda and Craig Creel; who filled in for Kendrick; and center Tom Thompson; took control of things in the second half.

Forsan started its first scoring drive on its second possession following a fumble by Eagles quarterback Kyle Summers at the O'Donnell 44-yard line.

Forsan signal-caller Todd East started things off with a 15-yard run to the Eagles 19. Five plays later Hays scored from the one. East's extra point put Forsan up 7-0 with 1:20 remaining in the first quarter.

O'Donnell made their first impressive drive of the night right before the half by starting from their own 45. It ended 13 plays later when the Forsan defensive front stopped them on a fourth-and-goal from the one-foot line.

With 37 second left in the period Hays took a pitch from East and dashed 75 yards for a apparent TD. But Hays would have his second scoring run of the half called back.

Forsan took the opening kickoff an engineered picture-perfect scoring drive that ate up three-fourths of the third period. The 56-yard, 13 play drive had Hays and Wayne Wright carrying the ball all but two plays. Hays scored from six yards out.

The try for two failed and Forsan led 13-0. O'Donnell stopped itself on their next possession when they fumble. Linebacker Wright recovered the ball at the Buffaloes 28.

This time it took the Buffs 13 plays to score, carrying over to the fourth quarter and consuming another six minutes.

Wright caught his second pass of the night, a 15-yarder that carried to the O'Donnell 43. Five plays later Hays bolted around left end 25 yards for the

Queens rip McLennan 62-40

By LUIS RIOS
Staff Writer

Howard College Hawk Queens 6-0 freshman post Joyce Boudreaux gunned in 25 points as she led the 10-1 Queens to a ragged 62-40 victory over the McLennan Highladies Friday night in a second round game of the Hawk Queen Classic at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

The Queens lost the battle of the turnovers in the contest which was marred by missed layups and mental mistakes. But the scoreboard read in the Queens' favor. The Howard College team had 22 turnovers to the Highladies' 20.

The taller Queens team bottled up McLennan star Missy Davis, allowing her only three field goals and five free throws. Davis bombed South Plains Junior College Thursday night for 36 points. Boudreaux, the leading scorer in the game for both teams, went on a streak hitting four straight field goals in the first half. She finished the half with 13 points.

The Queens reeled off 31 first half points to take a 31-12 lead at halftime. The lack of offensive showing concerned HC coach Don Stevens who said he was trying to emphasize a strong offense the first five minutes of the game and the last several minutes before the half.

"We were just not effective offensively, tonight," he said after the game.

Howard College hit 43 percent from the floor and below its season average. The Queens hit on 27 of 62 attempts. The McLennan Highladies managed a measly 25 percent from the field, thanks to a stingy and ballhawking Queens' defense. MCC hit 15 of 60 field goal attempts. HC was also eight of 16 from the free throw line.

The tempo of the game was set at the onset, as the cold-shooting Queens and MCC hit only one field goal in the first two-and-one-half minutes of the contest.

Steven's team came out in the second half and managed only four points in more than six minutes. Turnovers and missed key shots cost the Queens a larger lead, although the Highladies never pulled within 15 points of the Howard College team.

Post players Diane Dickson and Vicki Wade led the way on the boards in the first half. The taller (6-3) Dickson proved an intimidating figure in the lane after coming off the bench midway through the first half.

Sophomore guard Alex Provenico led the way on the boards with 12 rebounds for the night. Dickson and Wade finished the night with eight and nine rebounds, respectively.

"We are just not conservative with the ball," Stevens said explaining the Queens' turnovers. "We are a team prone to turnovers."

Boudreaux, who Stevens said is a streak shooter, hit her first bucket of the second half with 12:15 left in the contest.

"Joyce shoots in streaks, but you can't hold her down," he said.

The Highladies found that out as Boudreaux hit jumper after jumper coming across the lane Friday night. The HC freshman had four rebounds and two blocked shots to her credit for the night.

The 6-1 Davis was the mainstay of the Waco team, despite the tenacious halfcourt press utilized by the Queens. Stevens called the halfcourt press "the best weapon we had tonight."

The Hawk Queens will face Tyler Junior College tonight at 6 p.m. In other games earlier Friday, Odessa College ran by Angelina 98-59 and Tyler stomped South Plains 92-75.

"Tyler has a good team," Stevens said. "It will be a feather in our cap if we knock them off."

Scoring for the Queens were Provenico with seven, Sue Van Hooser with five, Lorri French with four, Molly Early with eight, Stacey Eitner with two, Vicki Wade with six, and Diane Dickson with four.

QUEENS — Provenico 3-1-7; Joyce Boudreaux 11-3-25; Van Hooser 1-3-5; French 2-0-4; Early 4-0-8; Eitner 1-0-2; Wade 3-0-6; D. Dickson 2-0-4. TOTALS — 27-8-62.

HIGHLASSIES — Morall 2-0-4; Miles 1-0-2; Murphy 2-4-8; Charlotte Lewis 5-0-10; Lott 2-1-5; Missy Davis TOTALS 15-10-40.

HALFTIME SCORE — Howard College 31, McClellan 12.

DO IT WITH STYLE — Howard College Hawk Queens player Joyce Boudreaux sets for a drive to the basket during the Queens opener in the Hawk Queen Classic Thursday night.

TCU, UT load guns for Cowtown showdown

By The Associated Press

The "Showdown in Cowtown" Saturday could bring the Texas Christian Horned Frogs their Cotton Bowl dream.

TCU could clinch a Southwest Conference co-championship with a victory over the Longhorns and all but nail down a Cotton Bowl berth for the first time since 1959.

It's been 16 years since the Horned Frogs have beaten Texas and TCU hasn't defeated Texas in Fort Worth since 1958.

The Horned Frogs are the most improved team in NCAA Division I, going from 1-8-2 in 1983 to an 8-1 season so far.

"At the beginning of the season the pressure was on us just to win a game but now the pressure is on us to win it all," said TCU safety Billy Jones. "That's a big change. That's tough for anyone to handle."

A record Amon Carter Stadium crowd and ABC-TV's cameras will be watching the Frogs at Saturday's 2:50 p.m. kickoff.

Odds-makers installed the Longhorns as two-point favorites although Texas lost to Houston 29-15 last week.

Amon Carter's capacity is 46,000 but 1,200 box seats at field level have been sold, too, meaning the crowd should reach at least 47,200.

In 1957, Texas A&M edged the Horned Frogs 7-0 before the biggest home crowd in TCU history — 47,000.

Last year, Texas fell behind 14-3 at halftime but rallied for a 20-14 victory. Kenneth Davis got only 17 yards rushing on seven tries.

The No. 12-rated Horned Frogs have a 5-1 record to 4-1 for the 10th-ranked Longhorns, who are 6-1-1.

Southern Methodist, Arkansas, and Houston all have two losses.

If TCU beats Texas, then the Horned Frogs would be Cotton Bowl bound unless a bizarre set of circumstances occur.

TCU would have to lose to Texas A&M, SMU would have to win all of its remaining games, and Arkansas, Houston and Texas would have to lose another game.

If there is a multiple tie, TCU would go to the Cotton Bowl on the most recent appearance rule. Only a tie with SMU would kill the Frogs, who lost to the Mustangs in September.

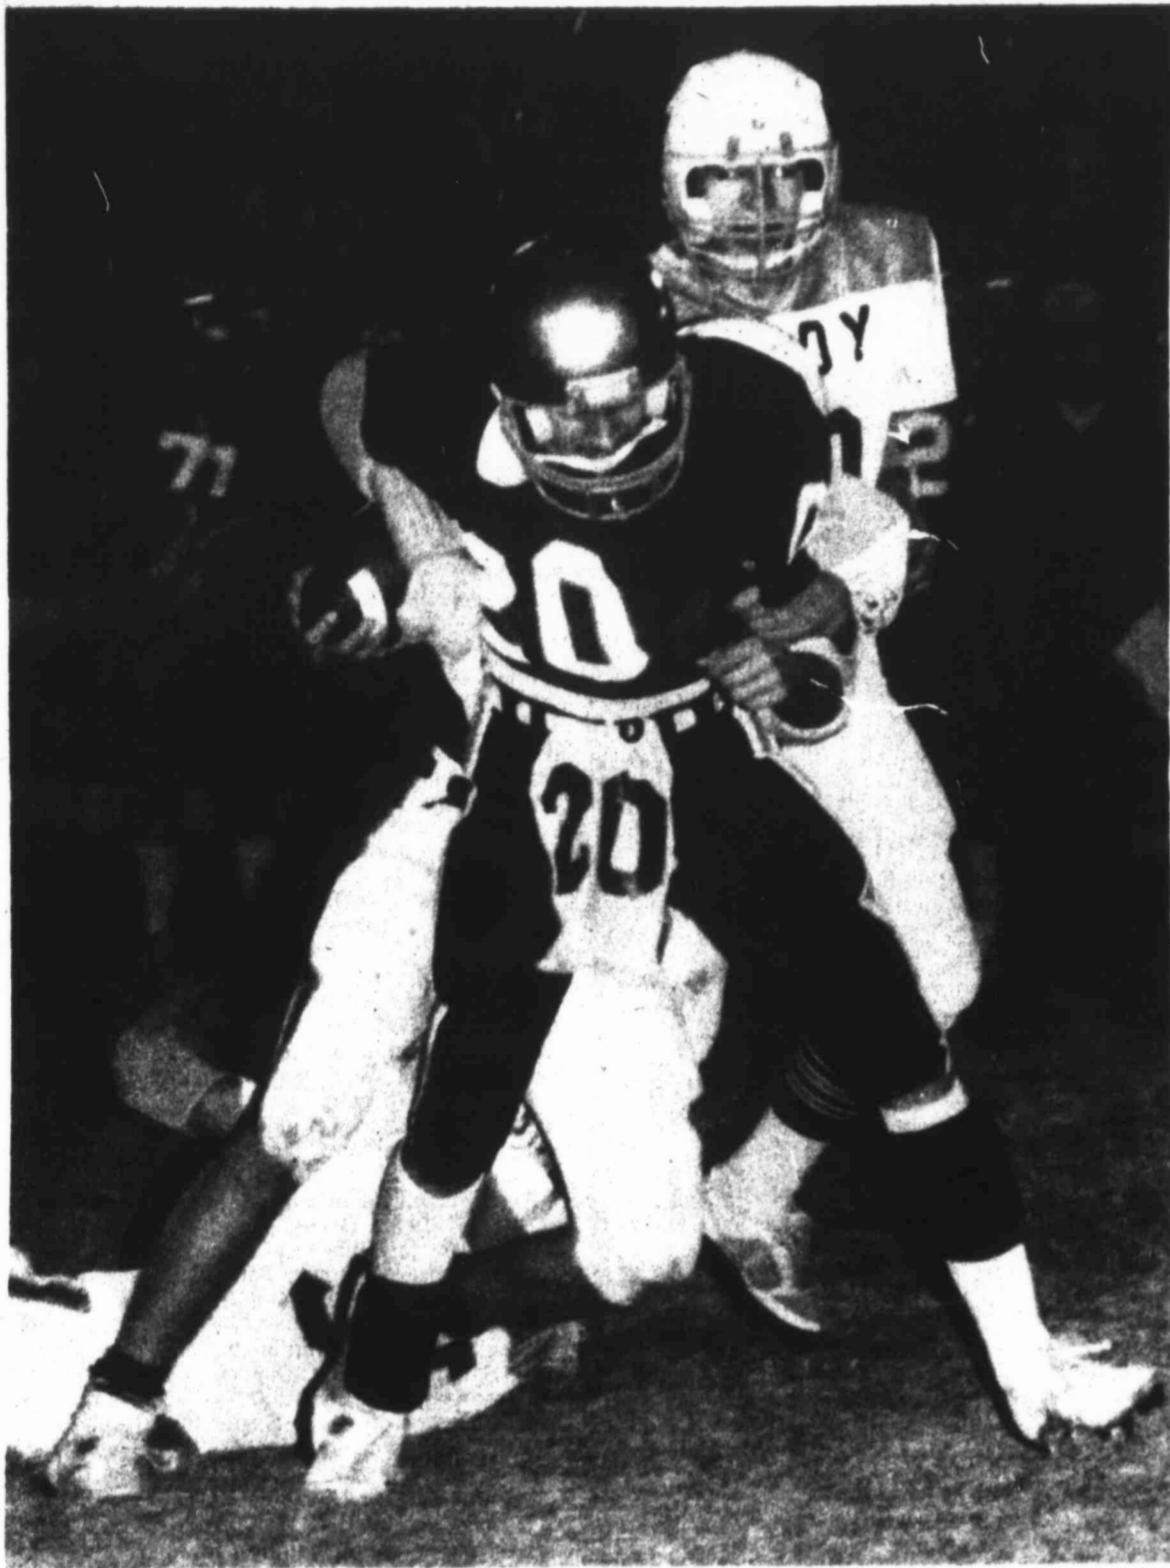

If Texas wins, then the Longhorns can go to the Cotton Bowl with victories over Baylor and Texas A&M in their remaining games.

In other games Saturday, Arkansas was a 10-point pick over Texas A&M in an 11:30 a.m. regionally televised game from Little Rock; Baylor was a 15-point choice over Rice in Houston; and SMU was a 6-point favorite over Texas Tech in Lubbock.

TCU is already the highest-scoring team in Horned Frog history. The Frogs are second in the nation in rushing with 309.9 yards per game, third in total offense with 467.7 yards per game, and average 35.3 points per outing.

Texas Coach Fred Akers said, "TCU is a big play team and not just on offense. They're playing well on defense and making the big plays there, too."

score. Again the try for two failed but Forsan led 19-0 with 8:53 remaining in the contest.

The Eagles finally put together a scoring drive late in the contest. Using all running plays they rolled 63 yards in 14 plays. Jay Edwards scored from the six. Edwards spearheaded the Eagles ground attack with 100 yards in 18 carries. East and West followed Hays in a balanced ball game with 72 and 60 yards respectively.

O'Donnell ends the season with a 7 record while Forsan advances to bi-district play with a 10-1 slate.

plays. Sawyer went 12 yards for the six points and Gonzales found the uprights for the two point kick to make things 46-14 with 3:40 before halftime.

A god ruckback of the ensuing kickoff gave Jayton position at Grady's 37. Morales went in from there for his fifth and final touchdown with 3:28 in the first half. The PAT made things, 54-14.

Grady just ran out of clock on its final drive of the first half. The Wildcats started on their own 30 and moved to the Jayton 34 behind the pass and catch talents of Gonzales, Perez and Deatherage once more. Perez caught three for 12 yards and Deatherage one for four before a loss and the clock dashed any hopes for one more score before Jayton's state ranked band took the field.

Richey then faked a reverse on the second half kickoff before scooting along Grady's side of the field for 70 yards and the game ending score.

Pacers rally to beat Spurs

By the Associated Press
INDIANAPOLIS — Jim Thomas scored eight points in overtime and nine in the fourth quarter as the Indiana Pacers rallied from a 13-point deficit to beat the San Antonio Spurs 128-117 in National Basketball Association play Friday night.

The Spurs, who were paced by Artis Gilmore's 33 points, held a 79-66 lead with 4:57 left in the third period and led 91-82 at the end of the quarter.

But the Pacers, after trailing 95-88, ran off 11 straight points to take a 99-95 lead. Thomas, who finished with 19 points, put the Pacers ahead for the first time with a layup at the 8:24 mark to give Indiana a 97-95 advantage.

The Pacers pulled to a five-point lead at 103-98 on a Thomas basket, but the Spurs rallied to take a 111-110 lead on Johnny Moore's steal and basket.

Herb Williams hit a free throw to tie the game at 111-111 and later blocked two San Antonio shots on the Spurs' final possession in regulation play.

Williams missed a shot at the buzzer to send the game into overtime.

Thomas gave the Pacers a 122-117 lead with 1:19 left in overtime when he scored on a basket and converted a free throw, and Williams boosted the lead to seven at 124-117 when he scored on a drive.

Steve Stipanovich led the Pacers, who won their second straight game, with 25 points, including 13 in the first period and 10 in the third quarter. Gilmore scored 13 points in the first period as the Spurs took a 35-27 lead. Mike Mitchell added 22 points and George Gervin put in 15 for San Antonio, which led 63-53 at the half.

Denver 119
Houston 102

DENVER — Alex English continued his torrid pace with 32 points as Denver defeated Houston 119-102 Friday night before 18,557 fans — the biggest crowd ever to see a National Basketball Association game in Denver.

The Nuggets' fifth straight victory gave them an 8-2 record and moved Denver into a first-place tie in the Midwest Division with the Rockets, who lost for the second straight game after winning the first eight of the season. Denver is off to its best start since 1976-77, its first year in the NBA.

Denver center Wayne Cooper celebrated his 28th birthday as he helped neutralize Houston's Ralph Sampson with 14 points, 13 rebounds and six blocked shots.

Denver led from start to finish in thrashing Houston, which came into the game allowing only 99 points per contest. Sampson scored a season-high 23 points, all in the first three quarters, but the Rockets were hurt by limited playing time by Akeem Olajuwon, who was in foul trouble throughout the game.

The Nuggets led 58-49 at the half, and were challenged only briefly by Houston at the start of the third quarter.

The Rockets were within 64-58 when Denver went on a 15-4 spurt behind six points each by Cooper and Calvin Natt to open a 79-62 edge.

Denver, which outrebounded the taller Rockets decisively, got 25 points from Natt and 15 from Dan Issel, while Olajuwon finished with nine of his 15 points in the final period. Robert Reid added a dozen.

Washington 118

LANDOVER, Md. — Gus Williams scored 25 points to lead the Washington Bullets to their fifth straight National Basketball Association victory Friday, a 118-104 triumph over the New York Knicks.

NBA

Suns 118
Bucks 106

PHOENIX, Ariz. — Rod Foster scored a season-high 24 points and Larry Nance poured in 14 of his 16 in a lopsided first period as the Phoenix Suns breezed to a 118-106 National Basketball Association victory Friday night over the Milwaukee Bucks.

The Pacific Division-leading Suns, now 8-3, led by 15 at three stages of the opening quarter before Nance sank two jumpers in the final 1:07 for a 35-13 bulge.

Bowl bids up for grabs in several college grid tilts

TROUBLE BEHIND — University of Southern California linebacker Jack Del Rio (52) drags Stanford quarterback John Paye down for a five yard loss during a recent Pac-10 contest. USC will be the Pac-10 representative in the Rose Bowl and is awaiting the outcome of Saturday's Ohio State-Michigan game to see who they will face in the New Year's Day bowl game.

By The Associated Press
The road to New Year's Day engagements in Pasadena, Miami and Dallas could twist through Lincoln, Neb., Columbus, Ohio, and Fort Worth, Texas, on Saturday.

Several key conference matchups, along with a few traditional rivalries, highlight the college football schedule and results will help bring the fuzzy bowl picture into sharper focus.

No. 1 Nebraska will be at home Saturday to face No. 6 Oklahoma in one of the biggest games. The top-rated Cornhuskers, who missed last year's national championship in a one-point loss to Miami in the Orange Bowl, will earn a fourth straight Big Eight title and a trip to Miami's Orange Bowl with a victory in Lincoln.

No. 11 Ohio State will be at home to face perennial foe Michigan. With a triumph, the Buckeyes will win the Big 10 crown and a trip to Pasadena for the Rose Bowl, where Pacific-10 champion Southern California is waiting.

Texas Christian, a longtime doormat in the Southwest Conference, has not been to the Cotton Bowl in nearby Dallas since 1959, when the Horned Frogs battled Air Force to a scoreless tie. But, TCU can virtually lock up another trip to Big D by beating visiting No. 10 Texas in Fort Worth.

In other games involving Top Twenty teams, it's No. 2 South Carolina at Navy, No. 3 Brigham Young at Utah, No. 4 Oklahoma State against Iowa State, No. 5 Florida at Kentucky, No. 7 Southern California versus UCLA, figures to hinge on how well each team can stop the other. Nebraska is ranked first in the nation in total defense; the Sooners are ranked second.

"I compare defenses because that's where the strength of both teams is," Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer said. "Nebraska's defense

College Football

No. 8 Washington at Washington State and No. 9 LSU at Mississippi State.

Also, No. 13 Boston College against Syracuse at Foxboro, Mass., No. 15 Georgia at No. 18 Auburn in a night game, No. 16 Southern Methodist at Texas Tech, No. 17 Florida State opposing Tennessee-Chattanooga in a night game, No. 19 Virginia at North Carolina and No. 20 Clemson against Maryland in Baltimore.

While Nebraska can lock up an Orange Bowl berth with a victory, the same is not true for Oklahoma.

Should the Sooners win, next week's Oklahoma-Oklahoma State would be for the trip to Miami. The Nebraska-Oklahoma game is the dominant defense of yesteryear."

Nebraska Coach Tom Osborne returned the compliment.

"They're kind of on a track now with some of the better defensive teams of '73, '74 and '75 when they had the Selmon brothers," he said.

Both offenses are also looking mighty fine.

"They've looked awfully good the last two weeks," Osborne said of Oklahoma, which scored 49 points in mowing down Missouri and 42 more in crushing Colorado.

"They moved the ball well against Missouri and Colorado, teams we had trouble with, and we moved it well against Iowa State and Kansas, teams they had trouble with. Obviously when Bradley was out against Kansas, it is an unfair comparison."

Bowls

The shootout, to be televised to most of the country by ABC at 3:50 p.m. EST, pits the two winningest active major-college coaches, along with the two with the best winning percentage.

Switzer, at 7-1 this season and 113-22-4 for his career, has the best percentage. Osborne, 9-1 this season and 117-26-2 overall, ranks second in percentage.

Even though TCU is not accustomed to the rarified atmosphere of the Top Twenty, Coach Jim Wacker says his team has nothing to be nervous about.

"It's just our first sellout in 25 or 30 years and the game's on national TV," he said. "It's only for the conference championship and a trip to the Rose Bowl."

The Rose Bowl? "Cotton Bowl, folks, Cotton

Bowl," Wacker corrected himself, adding with a laugh, "You can tell I'm not nervous."

The coach was not accurate, either about the game being televised nationally.

A crowd of 48,000, along with a regional ABC-TV audience, will see the nation's No. 2 rusher, Kenneth Davis, who is averaging 152 yards per game for 8-1 TCU. Texas is 6-1-1.

The nation's top runner, Keith Byars, will be in action as Ohio State takes on Michigan. Byars, gaining 155 yards per game, is from Dayton, Ohio, but visited the Michigan campus before deciding to attend Ohio State.

"I just decided it wasn't the place for me," Byars said of Ann Arbor, Mich. "Part of the reason is being from Ohio. If Ohio State recruits you, it's not too hard to make a decision if you're a true Buckeye."

This weekend's schedule also features unranked Penn State at unranked Notre Dame; an Eastern contest often called "The Game," and Harvard (Yale leads the series the 101st meeting between Yale 54-28-5).

White wary, but Dallas should buck Bills

ORCHARD PARK, N.Y. (AP) — Randy White knows the clichés, and the All-Pro defensive end from the Dallas Cowboys used one of the more time-tested ones as he talked about the Cowboys opponent Sunday, the Buffalo Bills. "They have a good team (and) they've had some tough luck," he said, "but those guys are pros, and on any given Sunday, they're capable of beating any other team in the NFL." Given the Bills status as pro football's only winless team this season, one wonders whether White meant to say that on any given Sunday or Monday night, the Bills are capable of being beaten by any other team in the NFL.

The good, the bad, and the in-between have taken the measure of the 0-11 Bills this year, and it would be considered one of the year's biggest upsets if the 7-4 Cowboys didn't follow suit.

Still, White made a prediction fewer and fewer people would bet on this season.

"They're going to win a game or two or three sometime during this season," White said.

Normally, when a team like the Cowboys, coming off their biggest win of the season over St. Louis last week, plays a team like the Bills, there is a real possibility of over-confidence. No chance, said White.

"We're at a point in our season right now where we can't look past anybody," he said. "It's an important game for us and we're going to have to be ready to play when we come up there."

Indeed, the Cowboys and Washington are tied for the NFC East division lead, and aside from Buffalo and Philadelphia, the rest of the Dallas schedule — the Redskins, New England and Miami — is tough.

The Bills, meanwhile, are playing like they really want a crack at the first choice in the NFL's college draft next year.

Their defense played well against New England last week, but because the offense was non-existent, they spent too much time on the field and eventually folded.

Statistically, the Bills have the league's next to worst offense, having averaged just over eight points a game in their last four games.

Coach Kay Stephenson, who has remained publicly composed during the Bills slide, earlier in the week blasted his receivers for "not coming up with one play out of our passing game."
