Cold front drops rain

By CAROL BALDWIN Staff Writer

A slight chance of precipitation turned into a sure thing early Saturday morning as heavy rains fell on the Big Spring area.

Boyce Hale, who lives on the Garden City Highway, said, "I was up about 2:30 a.m. when the drizzle started." The drizzle turned into heavier rain about 3 a.m., Hale said. By around 3 p.m. Saturday afternoon, Hale had recorded 1.54 inches of rain.

Tommy Hart, a resident on the city's east side, reported about 1.75 inches by Saturday night. Rain began falling in the area around 3:30 a.m., he said.

Water district sets fight for Stacy

By CAROL BALDWIN Staff Writer

A ruling by the Texas Supreme Court negating the Stacy Reservoir permit will be the top item on the agenda for a Nov. 27 meeting of the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

The district, based in Big Spring, was granted the permit by the Texas Water Commission to impound a 554,000 acre foot lake 25 miles southeast of Ballinger on the Colorado River to yield 113,000 acre feet

However, on Wednesday, the Texas Supreme Court invalidated the Texas Water Commission's authorization of the water

One judge said the matter should be referred back to the commission rather than just invalidated.

The district had planned to provide municipal water to cities including Big Spring and San Angelo. The Texas Supreme Court said approval of the project would hurt downstream water rights on the Colorado River.

The district's chief antagonist is the Lower Colorado River Authority, an Austinbased agency that is a major supplier of water for irrigation and or rural electrical power in Central Texas.

Frank Booth, an Austin attorney who represented CRWMD in permit proceeding, said he will file a motion for rehearing of the ruling. The court, he said, did not rule on several other key issues in the case. It reached its decision on the basis of its definition that only state water not previously permitted or freed by cancellation of permits can be appropriated.

John Taylor, president of CRMWD, was in New York City closing a refunding of the district's bonds when the decision was handed down. In a statement to the Heraldhe said, "We are not defeated."

Later, Taylor said, "We didn't come this far to give up. At this point we are studying various courses of action."

LULAC plans new offensive on state issues

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau AUSTIN — The League of United Latin American Citizens, hoping to increase its political clout in the 1985 Texas Legislature, will ask other special-interest groups Saturday for help in pushing an ambitious legislative program.

That agenda, formulated by the league's State Government Affairs Committee, tentatively calls for a stronger commitment to civil rights, more pay for farmworkers, foreign language requirements at the high school level and a variety of changes in state election

LULAC is expected to approve that legislative agenda during its statewide quarterly board meeting this weekend. The directors, hoping for lobbying assistance, have invited other special-interest groups to attend the meeting for a briefing on the proposed legislation

Invited to review the proposals, according to LULAC state director Johnny Mata, are representatives of the United Farm Workers of Texas, Mexican-American Democrats of Texas, Mexican American Republicans of Texas, the American GI Forum of Texas and the Coalition for Disabled

"We feel that by working with our sister organizations," Mata told a Capitol news conference, 'we can enhance our legislative

Those efforts entail approval of legislation that would:

 Make foreign language a mandatory graduation requirement in all Texas public high schools.

 Make Texas agriculture growers pay the hourly federal minimum wage of $3.55 to all farmworkers. Mata said Texas farmworkers currently are guaranteed only a minimum weekly wage of

 Give the attorney general concurrent jurisdiction with local prosecutors to investigate allegations of police brutality. Mata said some prosecutors have been unwilling to investigate their law enforcement

State law now restricts the state's chief attorney from investigating allegations of brutality unless requested to do so by local prosecutors.

"In many cases," Mata said, 'local prosecutors do not see fit to ask the attorney general to intervene. We feel like that is a hinderance to civil rights enforcement."

 Establish several changes in state election laws. Those would include making the voter registration deadline one week from an election rather than 30 days; require all special elections and runoffs be held on Saturdays; abolish the caucus system of electing presidential delegates by allowing voters to cast their presidential votes along with those of other political candidates.

LULAC's legislative agenda also calls for abolishing the practice of selecting court juries based exclusively on voter registration

To the Hispanic community, Mata said, that often has resulted in the selection of "a lilly white

Associated Press Writer FORT WORTH - Despite the outcome, Saturday's Southwest Conference showdown between Texas and Texas Christian was more than a football game for the fairy-tale Horned Frogs.

It was a sellout crowd and regional television and tailgate parties and visions of a Cotton Bowl.

It was Christmas and New Year's and purple and white and collegiate craziness.

It was Playboy and the New York Times and ticket scalpers and bowl reps from the Cotton, Fiesta, Sun and Bluebonnet. It was the inimitable Jim

Holiday in step with march, parade

Big Spring is gearing up for its Holiday Weekend celebration the weekend of Dec. 1-3, according to LeRoy Tillery, executive director of the Chamber of Commerce.

Festivities will get underway with a Christmas Parade Saturday, Dec. 1, at 10 a.m. The parade will form at the old Gibson's parking lot on Gregg Street, then proceed down Gregg to Fourth Street. The parade will disband at the courthouse. Santa Claus is scheduled to be an honored guest at the parade, Tillery said. Plans are for Santa to make a brief visit with local children before heading back to the North Pole.

Following the parade, a concert of religious and Christmas music is planned on the courthouse lawn. Featured at the concert will be Wesley and Dorothy Pearce. The Pearce family recently returned from a Canadian tour.

To enter a float or other parade entry, call the Chamber at 263-7641. Entries will be in three categories including civic and church groups, commercial and manufacturing entries and high school and college organizations. First through third plaques will be awarded in all categories.

Don and Cheryl Wilson of Coahoma were honored with District Awards of Merit Saturday night as the Lone Star District of the Boy Scouts of America gathered to recognize adult

The group met at the First Baptist Church Family Life Center, Carl Bradley, district chairman, said.

The District Award of Merit is one of the highest awards given by the Scouts, awarded for "oustanding service to youth in the community," Phil Corbin, district Scouting executive, said.

This year, the district decided to award two such honors when it selected both Mr. and Mrs. Wilson. The award "is decided by a group of peers in scouting," Bradley said. Don Wilson is scoutmaster for Troop 8 in

Egypt tricks Libyan plot

CAIRO, Egypt — Egypt used faked photographs of a former Libyan prime minister lying in a pool of blood to trick Libya into claiming he had been assassinated by a death squad hired by Col. Moammar Khadafy, President Hosni Mubarak said Saturday.

Egyptian officials identified two Britons and two Maltese arrested as members of the Libyan-hired hit squad, and said the four told of other Libyan plots to assassinate leaders in West Germany, France, India, Pakistan, Britain, Saudi Arabia, Qatar, Kuwait and the United Arab Emirates.

Mubarak said in a speech Saturday that the supposed victim, Abdel-Hamid Bakoush, was safe. Bakoush, 46, later appeared at a news conference in Cairo with Interior Minister Ahmed Rushdi.

Gaza leader shot dead

GAZA CITY, Israel — A Palestinian pro-fessor and religious leader at the Islamic University in Gaza City was shot to death outside his home Saturday.

Officials said two men who appeared to be Arabs were seen running away after shooting Dr. Ismail al-Khatib, 39, dean of the university's Arabic language college. No motive for the shooting was known, the officials said.

Two earlier slayings by Plaestinian terrorists were reported in the Gaza Strip since September. A Syrian-backed Palestinian faction claimed responsibility for the Oct. 26 shooting death of a businessman in the town of Darabiye. The mayor of Rafiah, Abdel Hamid Mansour Kishta, 70, was shot dead Sept. 14.

Israel has occupied the Gaza Strip, with its population of 470,000, since it captured the area from Egypt in the 1967 Middle East war.

Bus drivers end strike

MONTREAL - Normal public transit resumed Saturday after 4,000 bus drivers and subway operators ended a month-long strike which had left commuters with only peakhour service weekdays and no weekend service.

Strikers voted by a 52 percent majority Thursday to accept a new contract which will gradually cut the present work week of 42½ hours for drivers to 40 hours by Jan. 1, 1986.

Mugabe asks U.S. shift

HARARE, Zimbabwe - Prime Minister Robert Mugabe of Zimbabwe said Saturday that black Africa is looking for policy changes from President Reagan in his second term.

"We hope that after four years ... the United States would really now attempt to readjust,' Mugabe told a news conference after his return from the Organization of African Unity summit meeting in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia. "Reagan is able to learn and to adapt and it is that adaptation that we want to see in southern Africa."

Thais want to cut canal with nuclear blasts

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) -Engineers are re-studying a pro-posal to use nuclear devices to blast out a canal across Thailand's Kra Isthmus, a long-dreamed-of water-way that would shorten ship travel between the Indian and Pacific

On the drawing board here is a 60-mile canal across the isthmus near the border of Malaysia. Two centuries ago the rulers of what then was known as Siam studied the possibility of a canal farther north on the isthmus as a protection against invasion by the neighboring Burmese.

Currently, all ships, including oil tankers on the vital Japan-Middle East run, must swing around Singapore at the tip of the Southeast Asian Peninsula and pass through the narrow Strait of Malacca between Malaysia and the Indonesian island of Sumatra.

Proponents say the Kra canal would not only shorten the route by about 930 miles, or up to two days of sailing, but would transform the now jungled isthmus into a key economic hub of Southeast Asia, one of the world's fastest growth

Envisioned is a canal zone studded with industrial estates, commercial enterprises and a major 'Asiaport." The latest plans call for a two-lane canal, 1,200 to 1,500 feet wide and more than 100 feet deep, a passageway that could accommodate vessels of up to 300,000 tons. The plan, which is the result of a of the Thai city of Satun; the eastern end would be at the northern edge of the Lake of Songkhla, near the port of Songkhla. Also under study is a propopsal for nuclear excavation, never before employed outside the Soviet Union.

1973 study, places the western end of the canal at a point 18 miles north

Dr. Uwe Henke von Parpart, director of research for the U.S.-based Fusion Energy Foundation, estimates such a method would cost about $9 billion as compared to some $17.5 billion for conventional excavation.

"We're getting there," von Prapart said in an interview following a recent international conference here on the project, sponsored by Thailand's Ministry of Communication. The next step appears to be a debate on the proposal in the Thai Parliament

Supporters for Kra include some Thai politicians, prominent bankers and businessmen as well as organizations like the Fusion Energy Foundation and prominent figures in Japan, which is seen as a crucial potential funder.

There are skeptics, however, who bring up the fact that a canal has been talked about for centuries but never started.

In 1793 the younger brother of Siam's King Rama I believed the canal would facilitate military operations against the threatening Burmese. The British surveyed the area in the mid-19th century and in 1882 count Ferdinand de Lesseps, the French builder of the Suez Canal, drew up plans for Kra.

But Franco-British colonial rivalry and various 20th century conflicts blocked construction of what has been dubbed "the ghost canal." A canal appeared to be headed for reality in 1973 following the completion of a detailed feasibility study.

The study by international con-sultants still forms, with some recent modification, the basic document of the pro-canal lobby and the focus of attack by critics.

Opponents question whether the country should sink billions into Kra when funds are urgently needed to combat rural poverty in this agricultural nation. They also warn of political consequences.

Quake rattles Jakarta

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) - An earthquake at sea shook five towns on the Indonesian island of Sumatra today, but conflicting sesimological readings measured it at 5.2 to 7.5 on the Richter Sclae.

There were no reports of injuries in the towns where the quake was felt at 1:50 a.m. today, said a spokesman for the Indonesian Meteorological Agency in the Sumatran capital of Padang, who said the quake had a magnitude of 5.2 and its epicenter was at sea.

However, Japan's Central Meteorological Agency said the quake was a major one, measuring 7.5 on the Richter scale of earthquake intensity, and that it was recorded at 3:49 p.m.

Indonesia's Search and Rescue Operation Center said the quake hit the town of Sibolga on the west coast of Sumatra. The meteorological society spokesman said the quake hit the towns of Padang Panjang, Batu Sangkar, Agam, Bukit Tinggi and the West Sumatra capital of Padang. A resident of Padang, contacted by telephone, said the temblor was only a minor jolt and no casualties and damages were reported there.

A resident of the town of Langsa near the Arun field operated by Mobil Oil in north Sumatra said no earthquake was felt there.

The U.S. Geological Survey in Golden, Colo.precorded the quake as measuring 7.4.

3 injured in evacuation

HONOLULU — Three people remained hospitalized Saturday for injuries suffered during the emergency evacuation of a United Airlines 747 that aborted its takeoff because of blown tires and leaking fuel, officials said.

Thirty-three others injured in the accident Friday were treated at area hospitals and released. The rest of the 415 passengers and crew members, including singer Kenny Loggins, were placed on other flights or given overnight accommodations, said Eileen Golab, a United spokeswoman in Chicago.

The pilot of Los Angeles-bound Flight 194, whose name has not been released, ordered the evacuation after a metal shard from the rim of a blown tire punctured a fuel valve.

Killer's 28th victim ID'd

ENUMCLAW, Wash. - Skeletal remains found last week have been identified as those of a missing young woman who became the 28th known victim of the Green River serial killer, officials said Saturday.

The victim, 18-year-old Martina Theresa Authorlee of Seattle, had been on a list of missing persons suspected to have been slain by the killer, said George Rowley, a spokesman for the King County Medical Examiner's office. She was last seen alive on May 15, 1983, and was identified through dental records, he said.

Her remains were found Wednesday afternoon about 10 miles east of Enumclaw. She had been reported missing Jan. 30 by her

Some of the protesters later moved into the area between the two countries' ports of entry and stopped traffic from crossing in either

A.: Most experts in the field of mortgage finance agree sellers considering taking back a mortgage should only if the buyer has 20% or more in equity in the house. This provides an adequate buffer in the event of foreclosure. Secondly, always request a credit report on the prospective buyer. They're inexpensive and easily obtained. ### Ending projections is a needed reform

Democratic losers and Western voters had different ideas about election reform after the recent landslide victory by President Reagan. We'd have to consider the concern of many voters — that early TV network projections are disenfranchising them - to be more pressing.

As for the losers, one can be sure that Democratic leaders will tinker with the convoluted presidential nomination process in an effort to find a winning formula next time.

This was on Walter F. Mondale's mind at a press conference a few days ago when he said the long primary season was harmful to Democratic Party unity. What Mr. Mondale did not mention was that he began running on election night in 1980 and that his party establishment allies wrote the rules for this year's convoluted primary process. Never mind, expect changes in 1988.

Some political columnists, who like to fantasize that the Reagan presidency will end in two years, meanwhile, are again talking about the desirability of a single, six-year presidential term. But such a "reform" is a long way off. Americans overwhelmingly indicated they wanted continuity in the White House.

For the second election in a row, all three TV networks projected Mr. Reagan to be the victor hours before polls had closed on the West Coast. While this election was so lopsided that it didn't matter when TV announced the winner, California Secretary of State March Fong Eu may not be off the mark in claiming that 400,000 potential voters were turned off by the show-biz attitude of the networks.

An alternative to tampering with the First Amendment would be staggered voting hours with a uniform closing time. Networks still would have the technological capability of projecting winners, but they would be more reluctant to call an election until all the polls had closed.

Staggered hours would also present some problems. Restricting morning or evening voting hours in some regions could inconvenience some voters. But that could be lessened by a greater reliance on absentee ballots or holding elections on Sundays when more people are at home.

Absentee ballots are a growing trend and Sunday voting is a tradition in many European countries which have higher voting turnouts than we do.

You are what you speak

To the editor:

In reading the recent article by Mrs. Pena regarding the bilingual issue I was reminded of a great story told to me by Jimmy Bryant of The State Finance in Pecos.

My friend Jimmy has hired a lovely little Mexican-American lady to help with the non-English speaking customers, being bilingual and a gracious lady she fit the job perfect.

One day this dark-complexioned couple came in to apply for a small loan to "get started" having just moved to town; they were talking to Jimmy in perfect English and all the sudden they started speaking to each other in a different language, the secretary became offended and left the office.

After the couple had completed their transaction the secretary came back into the office complaining "how rude, stupid, inconsiderate can you be," what kind of language were those idiots speaking. They were Indians from New Mexico and speaking their native language and it didn't bother me at the least, you people do it all the time and I've gotten used to it was Jimmy's reply.

To the editor:

Some home schoolers in Big Spring asked me to respond to your recent news article in which you stated that home education is illegal in the state of Texas and that local citizens should report home schoolers by calling a phone number given in the article.

Home education is not illegal in Texas and I would challenge you to find a statute on the books which outlaws it. Parents have a constitutional right to educate their children at home and to incite a campaign of public harassment against them is irresponsible journalism.

I would urge you to get in touch with the office of Sam Millsap, (San Antonio), who as a matter of policy does not prosecute bona fide home schoolers. We also invite you to contact George Patzig, Justice of the Peace in Richardson, who tried a home school case in Richardson two years ago and ruled in favor of the home schooling

The saga of Stacy Dam

God created all that is here in six days. But a relatively simple job like building a dam to create a lake takes man as long as two decade Exactly seven years ago, an application was filed with the state to erect Stacy Dam on the Colorado River 24 miles southeast of Ballinger. The water impounded was to supply Big Spring, San Angelo, Midland, Odessa, Robert Lee, Snyder and Stanton.

A permit to build was approved by the Texas Water Commission five years ago. A protest to that permit, filed by water users downstream on the Colorado, was carried through the courts. Last week, the Texas Supreme Court ruled that Stacy Dam would reduce the amount of water available downstream — and in one stroke invalidated seven years of effort.

Once upon a time, construction of a dam was routine. If the water was needed and the money available to do the work, obtaining the right to build the dam wasn't difficult. There was plenty of water to go around, and people weren't testy about their neighbors' water projects.

Today, water users are mighty touchy about their water and their rights. No one is in a sharing mood because everyone is aware of the precious and finite nature of this resource. Engineers who specialize in these projects say 20 years is a realistic time span to complete a dam pro-ject. It's beginning to look like Stacy may take those two decades, if it ever becomes a reality

First, a city, or water district, must prove the need for a new water supply. That requires engineering studies showing future water needs for the area, location of the dam and a determination of how much water the dam would trap. Next step is an application for a permit to build.

The permit goes to the Texas Department of Water Resources, where it is reviewed and passed to the Texas Water Commission.

The water commission notifies downstream water users - in this case cities like Austin - that a request has been filed to build a dam on the river upstream from them. A public hearing is conducted. Objections are considered, and then the water commission decides whether to issue a permit.

Home free? Hardly. People who object to the decision of the commission can and do go to court district court first, with appeals to the Court of Civil Appeals and the Texas Supreme Court. Litigation can take five years or more

But there's more. Even if a water rights permit is issued and upheld in the courts, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers must approve the project. The Corps looks to see if the reservoir will have an adverse environmental impact.

In Stacy's case, it just so happens that Nerodia harteri will be affected. Nerodia harteri is a water snake, but not just any water snake. It's a rare water snake. The government is having trouble deciding whether Nerodia is an endangered species or just a threatened one. In either case, the snake is a potential threat to Stacy.

If water rights and environmental problems are solved, there's still the matter of land disputes and property purchases before we ever get to the first load of concrete. But, I'm getting ahead of myself.

Stacy isn't past the permit stage yet. Officials with the Colorado River Municipal Water District in Big Spring vow to keep fighting. It's a tiresome, uphill

Stacy was conceived in the mid '70s, issued an original permit in 1977, fought in the courtrooms from 1979 to now. Costs already have pushed to the $1 million mark. In 1978, the estimated construction considering the effects of inflation, that $50 million turns into $75 million today, and still it is not over.

While the machinery moves with agonizing slowness, the need for an assured long-term water supply to several West Texas cities grows more pressing. I hope the court grant's the request to reconsider its decision, because if not, the original request must be modified and the process begun once again. In either case, I wish the project Godspeed. It will need it.

But the greater tragedy in her heralded heart transplant odyssey is the callous moral behavior exhibited by physicians seeking not to save a life but to resuscitate their reputations as scientists.

Not since the Third Reich has the medical profession proven so depraved and void of ethical esponsibility. Forty years ago the best and brightest of Germany's medicine men beat, gouged, injected, dismembered and torched Jews, Gypsies and Slavs in the name of medical science. They did this not out of fealty to the Fatherland but in selfish search for professional fame and standing.

These physicians, trained to safeguard life, convinced themselves that only some life was sacred, that some humans were 'subhumans' and valuable only to the degree their wretched bodies could proffer little bits of information on anatomy and metabolism.

They were, on the whole, not Nazis. Their profane excesses were excited only by a will to power — that fiat to determine life or death, suffering or healing without the constraints of law or morality.

A physician uncontrolled is a dangerous animal. Yet they stalk, committing ghoulish, Frankenstein experiments still today.

Believing a demonstration of comparative anatomy more important than saving life and alleviating sorrow, California doctors three weeks ago ripped a heart from a baboon and stuck it into a congenitally ill baby girl.

Under massive medication and continuous examination, Baby Fae suffered, struggling for life, leashed by tubes and probes and monitors.

She died. The baboon, a subhuman' sacrifice, was slaughtered. But the experiment lives, and the doctors made history

Reagan's singing those red ink blues

By CLIFF HAAS

Administration officials preparing the spending plan President Reagan will send Congress early next year are all but conceding they will have no more success balancing the budget in Reagan's second term than they had

A dozen senior officials drafting a budget outline for presentation to the president at the end of the week are grappling with forecasts of deficits soaring above $200 billion, requests from Cabinet departments for more money and Reagan's insistence that he will not allow

While there are ways to achieve a balanced budget on paper, administration officials and private economists agree that political and special-interest pressures make the goal virtually impossible to reach even by the end of the decade.

According to administration officials who spoke on condition they not be quoted by name, White House budget director David A. Stockman told the president and his Cabinet earlier this week that rising government farm payments and unanticipated government securities costs are pushing the deficit for this fiscal year into the record range of $205 billion to $210 billion.

The current record for red ink was $195.4 billion set in fiscal 1983. The deficit was $175.3 billion in fiscal 1984, which ended Sept. 30.

The administration had projected the current — fiscal 1985 — deficit at $172.4 billion as recently as August.

At that time, the Office of Management and Budget that Stockman heads projected red ink of $174.2 billion in 1986 and $161.7 billion in 1989, without any changes in current policy. But administration officials said Wednesday deficits at roughly $190 billion through the end "There is no (realistic) way you can propose cuts in a spending track alone that can get to zero deficits" even by the end of the decade, said an administration official familiar with the budget planning.

that Stockman's latest estimates now peg the

'Given the political facts of life, some increase in taxes are going to be necessary to approach a balanced budget by the end of the decade."

Allen Sinai, chief economist at Shearson Lehman-American Express, projected a 1985 deficit of $185 billion, rising to $215.7 billion by the end of the decade.

Asked the likelihood of a balanced budget without tax hikes by the end of the decade, he replied, "It's extremely unlikely." To make sufficient spending cuts to significantly affect deficits, Sinai said, "would require budget cuts in non-defense spending and Congress won't go along with that." Reagan has indicated he would not go along with huge cuts in defense.

"Given the political facts of life, some increase in taxes are going to be necessary to approach a balanced budget by the end of the decade," Sinai said.

But Reagan has ruled out tax increases as anything but a "last resort" after all possible spending cuts have been made. During his reelection campaign, Reagan said a growing economy would do much to create increased revenues for the government and trim the Donald Ratajczak, an economic forecaster at Georgia State University, said, "I think it's going to be very difficult to balance the budget (by the end of the decade) under almost any kind of outlook.

He cautioned that if the administration and Congress were to move aggressively next year "to try to raise revenues, we have an increasingly fragile economic expansion, we would tilt down, go into a recession." Meanwhile, Alan Greenspan, an informal economic adviser to the administration, proects the deficit at $198 billion in 1985, $200 billion in 1986 and more than $200 billion in

But he plays down the importance of a balanced budget as long as actions are taken to place deficits "in a direction going down."

There has been speculation outside the administration that one way to solve the deficit problem would be to hammer out a compromise plan early next year between the administration and Congress that would include both spending cuts and tax increases.

However, some officials said that opening the door now to a bipartisan approach would be interpreted as an indication of Reagan's willingness to go along with a tax hike. "A stalemate is a clear possibility," said an administration official. A variety of factors have prompted Stockman to boost his deficit estimate. For example:

-The economy slowed sharply in the July-September quarter and may again be weak in the current and final quarter of the year, according to private analysts. That means the deficit for the 1985 fiscal year, which started Oct. 1, has been boosted, roughly $10 billion by lower than expected revenues.

 Bountiful harvests have forced increased government spending for farmers in government price-support payments. Those payments ran about $19 billion in 1983, dipped to about $7 billion last year and are expected to rise to more than $12 billion in 1985, officials said.

-A one-time accounting change of nearly $14 billion has been made to cover tax-exempt, short-term notes issued by the Department of Housing and Urban Development for public housing projects. The accounting adjustment was required under the 1984 tax law, according to HUD spokesman Jack Flynn.

—Congress approved and the administra-tion accepted domestic spending bills costing $5 billion to $10 billion more than had been anticipated in the August deficit estimate.

Meanwhile, Cabinet departments are making their own pitches for consideration in the budget process.

A lot of little girls in Big Spring won't be disappointed this Christmas morning thanks to the kindness of a number of local volunteers who have spent weeks dressing dolls to be given away through the Salvation Army.

The dolls were dressed by clubs and individuals of the Big Spring area, according to Helen Braun of the Salvation Army. The dolls were judged in various categories and will be on display in the lobby of the First National Bank from Nov. 23 to Dec. 14 for the public to view.

After that date, they will be given away to families who apply to the Salvation Army for Christmas

Applications for the dolls and other toys will be taken from Nov. 26 through Nov. 30 at 102 E. Third in what was formerly Prager's Men's Store. Applications will be taken each day from 10 a.m. to 3

Winners of the doll dressing contests included Nancy Ramirez, Candee Williams and Tammi Green, all representing the Future Homemakers of America; Johnie Randle and Doris Randle, representing the NAACP; Lelah Smith and Mary Raley, Canterbury; and Wanda Scown, representing the Salvation Army Home

Other individuals winning in the contest were Jennie Lawson, Elle Horn, Twila Lomax, Selma Hicks and Mrs. David Duke.

UT croaks Frogs by 44-23 count

FORT WORTH (AP) — The Texas Longhorns ended Cinderella Texas Christian's Cotton Bowl fantasy Saturday, seizing command of the Southwest Conference race with a 44-23 victory behind fullback Terry Orr's four touchdowns and 195 yards rushing.

The 10th-ranked Longhorns, 7-1-1, regained the SWC leadership with a 5-1 record.

The 12th-rated Horned Frogs, playing before a crowd of 47,-280, largest in Amon Carter Stadium history, fell to 8-2 overall and 5-2 in the conference.

SWC

Texas' much-maligned quarterback Todd Dodge, who threw five interceptions last week in a 29-15 loss to Houston, winged two touchdown passes and setup two more scores as Texas beat the Frogs for the 17th consecutive time. Texas led the rain-soaked, regionally televised game 10-9 at halftime before Dodge found Orr behind the Frog secondary on a 63-yard pass-and-run early in the third period.

Edwin Simmons scored his first touchdown since 1983 on a 10-yard run to up the Texas lead to 23-9.

After TCU quarterback Anthony Sciaraffa had hit James Maness with an 11-yard scoring pass, Orr scored on a three-yard run to cap a 74-yard drive.

Arkansas 28 Aggies 0

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) -Fifth-year senior Danny Nutt came off the bench early and guided bowl-bound Arkansas to a 28-0 victory over self-destructing Texas

A&M Saturday. On the third play of the game, Nutt relieved an injured Brad Taylor and immediately tossed a 23-yard pass to Bobby Joe Edmonds that started Arkansas quished. Nutt completed 10 of 16 for 123 yards and no interceptions. By the time the Aggies ran their second play, Arkansas had run 23 plays and led 10-0. The Aggies turned the ball over on their first four possessions two fumbles, an interception by Kevin Anderson that set up a field goal and an interception by Kevin Wyatt on the Arkansas 1.

Edmonds' 53-yard punt return early in the third quarter gave Arkansas the ball at the A&M 9 and Marshall Foreman scored from the 1 to make it 21-0. Linebacker David Bazzel's second fumble recovery at the A&M 38 led to Derrick Thomas' 4-yard touchdown run that made it 28-0 with 2:09 left in the third quarter.

SMU 31 Texas Tech 0

LUBBOCK (AP) - Two touchdown receptions by freshman receiver Jeff Jacobs and the rushing of junior tailback Reggie Dupard helped No. 16 Southern Methodist roll to a 31-0 victory over Texas Tech Saturday in the Southwest Conference.

SMU's third straight victory boosted the Mustangs to 7-2 overall and 5-2 in the conference. Texas Tech fell to 4-6 and 2-5.

The Mustangs scored three touchdowns in the second period after going without a first down in the first quarter.

On a 27-yard touchdown run, Dupard, who rushed for 78 yards in 13 carries, gave SMU its first points, capping an 88-yard drive with 7:39 remaining in the second quarter.

Baylor 46 Rice 40

HOUSTON (AP) - Baylor's Tom Muecke completed a 45-yard touchdown pass to Glenn Pruitt with 38 seconds to play Saturday to rally the Bears to a 46-40 victory over Rice in a Southwest Conference football game. Moments earlier, Baylor's short cis, completed a five-yard pass to Horace Ates who fumbled into the end zone and Kobe Fornes recovered it for a touchdown with

The Owls, who have not won an SWC game in 24 tries, had earlier dazzled Baylor with 75 and 23-yard touchdown passes from Kerry Overton to Keith Lewis, a 76-yard touchdown run by John Davis and a 90-yard kickoff return by Antonio Baylor improved its record to 4-6 overall and 3-4 in the SWC. Rice dropped to 1-9 and 0-7.

Baylor's Marty Jimmerson, who kicked four field goals in the game, missed a 39-yard field goal attempt that failed to break the deadline with 1:38 left.

I DON'T WANT IT - It appears that Colorado City running back Sammy Rivera is on the receiving end of a pass in Colorado City's AAA bidistrict match with Gatesville Saturday afternoon in San Angelo. Defending on the play is Gatesville's Blake Davis. Actually Rivera is

Wolves put bite to Gatesville

By STEVEN BELVIN Staff Writer

SAN ANGELO - It was typical Colorado City Wolves football. Good passing, good running, good defense and good results. The Wolves downed the Gatesville Hornets 23-6 in AAA bi-district action under rainy weather.

Coach Tom Ramsey's Wolves amassed 109 yards through the air and another 181 on the ground while cruising to Colorado City's first bi-district win in 30 years.

After the win, a similing Ramsey said he was happy with his team's performance. "They all played excellent; anytime you win in the playoffs it's excellent. Before the game I told the kids it dosen't matter how you played, just what the scoreboard read when it was

The Wolves rode the rushing of hard-running junior Sammy Rivera and the timely passing of quarterback Doug Chitsey to his corp of four receivers.

Rivera led all rushers with 110 yards in 26 carries while Chitsey missed just five of 13 attempts for 109 yards.

Meanwhile, the C-City defense led by Freddie Pineda, Kevin Norman, Wylie Stice, Albert Rivera, Ruben Rivera and Jay Piland made life hard on the Hornets. Gatesville rushed for 148 yards with quarterback Kevin Clarke racking up 86. Most of the yards came on two runs of 23 and 44

C-City scored on its first poccession by going 71 yards in seven plays. The big play was a 36-yard reception by tight end Don Randle, Wide receiver Armonda Rivera got the honors on a 14-yard pass from Chitsey. Chitsey's extra point put the Wolves ahead 7-0 with 5:38 remaining.

The next C-City TD came following a Gatesville fumble at their own 24. Seven plays later Chitsey strolled in from the four. His PAT put C-City up 14-0, still in the first

The Wolves last score before the half came with 14 seconds remaining when Chitsey drilled a wide open Ronnie Hernandez on a post pattern. The scoring play covered 17 yards. The PAT was blocked.

The key play in the drive was a diving comeback catch by Perry Conner covering 18 yards.

C-City's final score came in the third period when Chitsey booted a 26-yard field goal. The drive started from the C-City 32. Sammy Rivera made several key runs in the drive.

Gatesville scored in the final stanza on a six-yard pass play from Clark to Carl Cody.

The win ups C-City's record to 10-1 as they advance to area playoff action versus Abilene Wylie. Gatesville ends the season with a 5-4-2 slate.

Sooners get best of No. 1 Cornhuskers

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) - Tim Lashar kicked a tie-breaking 32-yard field goal on the second play of the final period and sixthranked Oklahoma stopped Nebraska an inch from a touchdown with a brilliant goal-line stand Saturday to preserve a 17-7 victory over the No. 1-ranked Cornhuskers and keep three Big Eight teams in the running for the Orange Bowl.

Just like the 31-30 Orange Bowl loss to Miami that cost Nebraska the 1983 national championship, this game featured another daring and unsuccessful gamble by Coach Tom Osborne.

Quarterback Danny Bradley, who scored Oklahoma's first touchdown early in the game on a one-yard plunge, added an insurance score when he ran 29 yards for another touchdown with 56 seconds left. Both of Bradley's touchdowns followed Nebraska turnovers.

Smith's one-yard plunge capped an 84-yard second-period Nebraska drive that tied the score and it remained that way as the Cornhusker defense, ranked No. 1 nationally, stuffed the Sooners time after time. Nebraska finished its regular season with a 9-2 record, but 6-1 in Big Eight play. The Cornhuskers captured at least a share of the conference crown a week ago.

Oklahoma, which winds up next week against fourth-ranked Oklahoma State, is 8-1-1 overall, 5-1 in the Big Eight. The winners of next week's game between Oklahoma and fourth-ranked Oklahoma State will represent the conference in the Orange Bowl, although a tie next week would still enable Nebraka to back into a trip to Miami.

Oklahoma took an early 7-0 lead on Bradley's one-yard sneak. It came 5:57 into the game, seven plays after linebacker Paul Migliazzo recovered a fumble by Nebraska quarterback Travis Turner at the Cornhuskers' 26.

But on its next possession, Nebraska uncorked a 10-play drive that included a 38-yard pass from Craig Sundberg to Robb Schnitzler to the Oklahoma two-yard line. Two plays later, Smith smashed through right guard for the touchdown.

Cold overtime causes Queens to fall, 78-73

By BILLY NABOURS Sports Editor

The Howard College Hawk Queens failed to hit a single field goal in their overtime period against Tyler Junior College in Saturday's final game of the Hawk Queen Classic.

The result was a 78-73 loss to the Apaches that drops the Queens to 10-2. TJC is 7-1 with the lone loss coming against Classic champion

Odessa College.

A total of 25 turnovers did not help the Queens' situation as they fell behind quickly and in fact trailed until the 12:34 mark in the first half. Joyce Boudreaux hit for a 12-10 HC lead and the Queens, although tied once, managed to secure a five point advantage at Boudreaux led the Queens with 20 points, but hit for only six in the second half. A slump on the part of the entire team, plus an eight of 10 shooting edge at one point by TJC, put the Apaches up 43-42 with 11:20 to play. At that mark it became anybody's ball game.

...Matters were not helped any when starting guard Alex Provencio fouled out with almost 14 minutes left in the game. Provencio is one of the team's better board persons. Her absence showed in the rebounding statistics which refleted a 55-42 TJC favor. Her replacement, Lorri French scored 10 points in the second half, but was lost to foul trouble late in the con-

The loss stopped a five game winning streak on the part of the Queens. Their next action will be Nov. 23-24 in the Western Texas Classic at Snyder.

Boudreaux averaged 21.3 points per game to lead three Hawk Queens named to the All-Tournament team. Her high was 25 against McLennan Community College. Molly Early with an 11.3 average and Sue Van Hooser with 13.3 points per tourney game were the other Queens honored. Sheila Bryant and Charlene James and Sharon Blair of Odessa College were also named to the team and Odessa had the tourney's MVP in Dee Commell.

TYLER (78) - Sheila Bryant 11-3-25; Lynn Harvey 6-4-16; Charlene James 6-5-17; McClendon 1-0-2; Reescano 3-0-6; TOTALS 32-14-78.

QUEENS (73) — Provencio 2-0-4; Joyce Boudreaux 8-4-20; Sue Van Hooser 6-5-17; Lorri French 5-0-10; Molly Early 3-6-12; Winsmann 0-1-1; Wade 4-0-8; D. Dickson 0-1-1; TOTALS: 28-17-73.

Cards, Giants fight for survival in NFC East

By The Associated Press Just when the new kids seemed ready to take ver the NFC East, they stumbled. So when the St. Louis Cardinals and the New York Giants meet Sunday at Giants Stadium, both will be fighting for survival in the National Football League's playoff race.

The Cards and the Giants, both 6-5, dropped out of a four-way tie for first in the division when they lost last week - the Cards to the Dallas Cowboys, the Giants to the Tampa Bay Bucs. That left the division in a familiar alignment — with the Washington Redskins and Dallas Cowboys tied for first.

"Younger teams may know how to win big games," says St. Louis quarterback Neil Lomax. "But the older teams always seem to go out and do it."

The meeting between the Cards and the Giants is the first of two between those two junior the NFC East contenders. To the winner will go a place in the midst of the battle for the playoffs; to the loser falls the task of winning all four of its remaining games without being assured of a playoff spot.

'We've got to win five to be sure," says Giants wide receiver Earnest Gray, who probably will miss the game with a fractured bone in his hand. "If we can beat St. Louis, we're still in the thick of things. If not, we have to see how the others do.' In other games Sunday, Cleveland is at Atlanta; Dallas at Buffalo; Detroit at Chicago; the Los Angeles Rams vs. Green Bay in Milwaukee; New England at In-

sburgh at New Orleans. The Cards and Giants put on one of the worst games in NFL memory last season — a 20-20 tie in Monday night game in which St. Louis place-kicker Neil O'Donoghue missed three overtime field goals, including a 19-yarder.

"I still have nightmares about it," says Cardinal receiver Roy Green, who combines with Lomax to give the Cardinals the NFC's most potent passing offense, although Lomax has had trouble in the past with the blitzing of Lawrence Taylor.

The Giants, with a lackluster running attack, are third in the conference in passing and Phil Simms is second only to Lomax in yardage gained. The Giants often use three wide receivers with Simms spreading the ball among Gray and four receivers in their first or second year - Lionel Manuel, Bobby Johnson, Byron Williams and Phil McConkey.

There's another big game, unexpectedly, in Cincinnati, where the Bengals, 4-7 after an 0-5 start, trail Pittsburgh by only two games in the AFC Central following a 22-20 victory over the Steelers last week. Their opponents, the 9-2 Seahawks, need the win to continue their chase of the Broncos in the AFC

Grady starts something

Forsan 'Buffalo Herd' thunders on

The season ended too soon for one Crossroads Country team while another will get the opportunity to test itself at least one

That's about how things shape up after 11 weeks of high school football in the Big Spring area.

GRADY was picked to death by the Jayton Jaybirds in a six-man zone playoff Friday night in Gail, 60-14 while FORSAN beat the O'Donnell Eagles, 19-6 in a zone playoff between two 7-A teams.

The meeting between the Wildcats and Jaybirds was also the second meeting between the two. Hopefully it won't be the last.

"I hope we've started a tradition at Grady," said head coach Currie McWilliams after the game. The playoff between District 4-6-man South Zone runnerup Grady and North Zone champ Jayton marked the first time in the 10-year history had participated in such an event. Jayton jumped in front, 38-0 in the first quarter, however and from that point on the Wilodcats flirted with disaster due to the 45 point rule implemented for six man competition. Grady battled on even terms with the 10-0 Jaybirds in the secod quarter as each team scored twice. Dennis Sawyer ended his career with both Grady touchdowns while junior Luis Gonzales kiced the extra points for the first playoff points produced by the school.

Assistant coach Lynn Maxwell said afteward, "You hate to lose like this, but we did accomplish most of our goals. We wanted to win at least four games and we wanted to make the playoffs. It's been a good year.

Four seniors leaving this year's of GHS that any boys athletic team team can take those memories of being the first playoff participant with them when they graduate. Charlie Perez, Stacy Stribling, Fred Garza and Sawyer will be missed, but next year's senior nucleus should be even stronger since seven juniors will make their presence felt. Coming back for their final season will be Gonzales, Brandon Stone, Terry Deatherage, Dean McClure, Damasio Gomez, Wade Miller and Michael Mitchell.

The Buffaloes herd at Forsan keeps thundering along. The Buffs made O'Donnell a victim for the second time this year while raising their record to 10-1. Forsan, runnerup in the South Zone, will now face Lometa which beat Eden, 27-9.

Forsan will be without the services of two way starter Marvin Kendrick. The 145-pound senior offensive guard-defensive tackle suffered ligament damage to his left knee during Friday's game and is out for the season. He will be operated on Monday. "I think one of O'Donnell's big 280-pounders fell on him," said assistant coach Roger Hudgins.

Mitch Hays keyed most of Forsan's offense with almost 90 yards rushing and all three touchdowns. On defense, however things did go as well as head coach Jan East would have liked.

Forsan gave up 200 yards rushing which is, "too many yards," according to East.

Bengals battling for playoffs despite below average mark

By The Associated Press It seemed improbable a few weeks ago, but Sunday's National Football League game between the Seattle Seahawks and the Cincinnati Bengals actually means something - even to the 4-7

Cincinnati, which lost its first five games, comes into the game off a 22-20 win over Pittsburgh that left the Bengals just two games behind the Steelers in the AFC Central with five games left. The Seahawks, meanwhile, beat the Raiders 17-14 Monday night and are 9-2, a game behind Denver in the AFC West.

The Seahawks' main weapon is a defense that has forced opponents into 50 turnovers this season while coughing up the ball only 23 times

"I hope this will be a barn-burner," says Cincinnati Coach Sam Wyche, who has had his defense making like Seattle this week and trying to strip the ball from the offense.

"Maybe a defensive barn-burner, and those are fun to watch if you're looking for tough football and hard hits and a physical game. In other games Sunday,

Cleveland is at Atlanta; Dallas at their first meeting, start on a down-Buffalo; Detroit at Chicago; the the-stretch quest for a playoff spot Los Angeles Rams vs. Green Bay in Milwaukee; New England at Indianapolis; Washington at Philadelphia; St. Louis at the New York Giants; Kansas City at the Los Angeles Raiders; Miami at San Diego; Minnesota at Denver; the New York Jets at Houston, St. Louis at the New York Jet, and Tampa Bay at San Francisco.

The Steelers play at New Orleans

Monday night.
The Bengals will probably start Turk Schonert at quarterback in place of Ken Anderson, who suffered a slight separation to his left shoulder last Sunday and gave way to Schonert, who helped pull out the victory. Schonert had one of his best games against the Seahawks in 1981, when he came off the bench and rallied the Bengals from a 21-0 deficit to a victory.

"The big plus was that Turk came in prepared," Wyche says. "When he came in the ballgame, we didn't limit our offense to the base. We stayed with exactly what we had hoped to do, and he executed."

Meanwhile, the Raiders, who barely beat Kansas City 22-20 in the stretch quest for a playoff spot that looked like it would come easily. The Chiefs, 5-6, have played badly the last two weeks, losing 45-0 to Seattle and then 17-16 to Houston, the Oilers' first victory after 10 straight losses.

The Super Bowl champion Raiders have lost three straight and at 7-4, are tied with New England for the final wild-card spot in the AFC. If the playoffs started now, the Patriots would be in and the Raiders out.

'We still have a shot at a wildcard berth and that's what we have to go after," says Los Angeles Coach Tom Flores. "The big thing is to qualify for the playoffs. Once you do that, it's a new season and anything can happen."

The Rams, 7-4, are another team in good position for a wild-card spot while the Packers are a bit like the Bengals. They've won three straight after seven straight losses and at 4-7 still have slight hopes of catching the 7-4 Bears in the NFC

AMERICAN

"ARE SATELLITE SYSTEMS LEGAL?"

This has been asked hundreds of times by conscientious customers. The answer has always been yes, but now there is more news on the subject of earth station legality and it comes directly from our lawmakers in Washington, D.C. New satellite viewing rights legislation was passed by the U.S. House of Representatives and by the U.S. Senate, and on October 30, 1984, Ronald Reagan signed the new legislation into law. The bill confirms in specific terms that owning and operating your own satellite dish is completely legal. This is guite a boost in confidence to people everywhere who own or have wanted to own a satellite receiving system but were uncertain of what the future would hold. The new bill, known as Public Law 98-549, lays these old worries to rest and sheds a new light on satellite television.

Arizona Senator, Barry Goldwater, chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on communications and long-time friend and advocate of satellite television authored the timely legislation and was instrumental in its passage. In the House, the bill was sponsored by Representative Timmy Wirth of Colorado, who chairs the House Subcommittee on communications.

The legislation is particularly important because it clarifies some misconceptions that have been drawn on previous laws, and goes much further that did the Federal Communication Commission's decision to deregulate satellite earth stations in their 1979 announcement.

A number of magazines have already published stories concerning the effect of this major legislation, and we think you will be hearing more good news about your satellite system over the coming months and years. Now that the legislation confirms that satellite television is indeed a legitimte industry, it is predicted that dishes may become as much a part of the household as a TV set or the family dog. Prices are down, too, and good financing is available. Satellite viewing is a lot more affordable than it once was. More channels of programming are being announced regularly and new satellites are to orbit each year. The variety better for satellite families than it is now and it's getting better all the time.

To see how easy it is to start enjoying a system in your home, call or come by and talk with us this week. We will share our knowledge of the facts with you and show you how to get the most for your money so that you can benefit from your investment for years to come. Come by American Satellite at 1201 Gregg in Big Spring, Texas. Phone 267-3607. HAPPY VIEWING!

v-ball title

AUSTIN (AP) -For the second year in a row, League City Clear Lake dominated San Marcos in the Class 5A championship match of the State High School Volleyball Tournament, taking the UIL crown Saturday with a 15-5, 15-9 score. Monahans won its eighth title in Class 4A by defeating New Braunfels 15-7, 15-10. Bellville, making its first appearance at the state tournament, beat Fabens 15-3, 14-16, 15-13.

In 2A, defending champ East Bernard beat defending A champion Jewett Leon, which moved up a division this year, 15-11, 15-6, and in A Bronte held off Wink 6-15, 15-5,

With 6-foot Jill Blumenstein, 5-foot-10 Debbie Shelly and 5-foot-9 Sue Schelfhout, Clear Lake's height and college-style fast offense proved too much for the shorter Rattlers.

Schelfhout led the Falcons with five kills, but substitute Stacey Branch's serve was even more overpowering. In the first game, Branch started serving at 4-5, and held it till the game ended 15-5.

"They're a short team, so we thought they'd be dinking us," said Clear Lake coach Angie Chivers.

Mavericks 110

DALLAS (AP) - Kelly Tripucka and Isiah Thomas combined for 26 points in the fourth quarter to help Detroit wipe out an 11-point deficit and defeat the Dallas Mavericks 124-110 in National Basketball Association play Saturday night.

Tripucka, who scored 16 of his 24 points in the fourth quarter, and Thomas, who scored 10 of his 24 during the period, led a Pistons rally that saw Detroit outscore Dallas 46-21 in the final quarter.

Dallas, which led by as many as 17 in the third quarter, was outscored 17-7 early in the fourth quarter as a Tripucka basket pulled Detroit within 96-95 with 7:08

A sellout Reunion Arena crowd of 17,007 watched as a three-point play by Thomas two minutes later put Detroit ahead 104-102 and started an 11-2 run as Detroit, 6-5, pulled away.

Dallas, 6-7, got 30 points from Mark Aguirre and 21 from Jay Vincent. Aguirre scored 20 points in the first half as the Mavericks pushed a 24-23 first-quarter lead to 57-47 at halftime.

(No. 5) Florida 25 Kentucky 17

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) - Bobby Raymond drilled a record six field goals to bail out a Florida offense that found the end zone only once Saturday as the fifth-ranked Gators beat Kentucky 25-17 and claimed at least a share — for now of their first Southeastern Conference title in 52 seasons.

It was the first time since 1928 that Florida, 8-1-1 overall and 5-0-1 in the league, had won eight straight. The Gators lost their opener to No. 14 Miami, tied Louisiana State and haven't lost since, despite the firing of Coach Charley Pell after three games.

Raymond's field goals — from 30, 38, 27, 30, 36 and 43 yards — tied the school record of six in one game that he set against Florida State last season. They gave Raymond 21 on the year, breaking a mark of 20 that he had also set in 1983.

The victory gave the Cowboys a and 5-1 mark in the conference. The Cyclones fell to 2-7-2 and 0-5-2. Late in the fourth quarter, Oklahoma State's Leslie O'Neal deflected a pass by Iowa State's Alan Hood and Washington snared the ball, returning it to the Cyclone 11. Four plays later, Roach drilled a 21-yard field goal — the Cowboys' first points of the second half.

With the field goal, Roach became Oklahoma State's career scoring leader, surpassing Heisman Trophy runnerup Terry

Card of Thanks

In Appreciation: The family of Ray Karns would like to sincerely Thank the Nursing Staff of 4 East and 3 West, Dr. Margolis and Mazie Roberts of the V.A. Medical Center for their concern and care that they gave to Our Dad and Granddad during his long illness. Also to Our many friends who sat with him during the last week of his illness. To Dr. Rick Davis, Rev. Jerry Lewis and Joan Davis for their special love in holding Our Dad's and Granddad's Memorial Services, and their prayers and visits during his illness. Also to Bill Myers and the Staff of Malley-Pickle and Welch Funeral Home for their concern and help of our needs during the time of our bereavment. We would also like to express our appreciation to Our many friends for their visits, prayers, food, cards and floral arrangements.

Don & Grace Karns Cary Karns Family Sharon & Chris Rose Keith Smith Family Phillip Smith Family

蹬0000000000000000000 From the family of Maude Cole Duncan:

Perhaps you sang a lovely song, or sat quietly in a chair;
Perhaps you sent beautiful flowers, if so, we saw them there!
Perhaps you sent or spoke kind words
as any friend could say; as any friend could say;

Perhaps you prepared some tasty Sfood, or maybe furnished a car; Perhaps you rendered a service unseen,

Near at hand or from afar; Whatever you did to console the heart, ***

We thank you so much? Whatever the part.

Special thanks to Dr. Clyde Thomas and the staff of Hall-Bennett Hospital, Dr. Kenneth Patrick for his words of consolation and the members of First Baptist Church, pallbearers, singers, Rebekah Lodge, and Nalley-Pickle

Boston College says it's coming to Cotton Bowl

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) -Boston College will accept a Cotton Bowl invitation, which officials of that game said will be offered next Saturday, Eagles' Athletic Director Bill Flynn said

After 13th-ranked Boston College beat Syracuse 24-16 to improve its record to 7-2, "the Cotn Rowl told us that we are their No, 1 team. We told them that we'd like to go there,' Flynn said. Representatives of the Orange and Sugar bowls also attended the game, and Flynn said, "We'd love to go to all three, but I think the team we'd like to play against is Texas or TCU. The winner of Saturday's Southwest Conference showdown between Texas Christian and Texas was expected to win the SWC and get the host spot in the Cotton Bowl.

Seasonal changes take place

When the farmers start talking about the first frost, you always know it's the end of the football season. Of course the guys are still hard at work with off-season already starting, but now its time to direct our attention towards another sport. Basketball practices began last week. The first varsity game will be in Sweetwater Monday. They will play at home on Tuesday at 6:15 against Brownfield. All students are encouraged to come out and support the steers to a victory. At this time when everything is changing color along with the weather changes, it is the end of the band's marching season. The steer band celebrated this end with

ENFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Turkey at a school's pre-Thanksgiving feast may have been tainted with bacteria, causing three adults and about 80 students to become ill, according to a state official who says tests on food samples should be completed Sunday.

The victims, including a cook and two teachers at the Enfield elementary and high school were stricken with symptoms of food poisoning after lunch Thursday in

Update

In a recent release of the latest Special Report to Congress on Alcohol and Health, by Health and Human Services (HHS), alcohol was described as "undoubtedly the most widely used — and abused — drug in America." Moreover Congress was told that one-tenth of the drinking population consumes half the alcoholic beverages sold. Some of the findings highlighted in this fifth special report are: 1) The death rate from fire for alcoholics is 10 times greater than for non-alcoholics, while the suicide rate for alcoholics is 6 to 15 times greater than for the general population; 2) Drivers with blood alcohol concentrations (BACs) above the usual drunk-driving level of 0.10 are 3 to 15 times more likely to have a fatal accident. Pedestrians with BACs above 0.10 are twice as likely to be hit by motor vehicles; 3) Drinking is estimated to be involved in 45% to 68% of spouse abuse and as much as 38% of child abuse; 4) Chronic brain injury caused by alcohol is second only to Alzheimer's disease as a known cause of mental deterioration in adults.

The average beginning age for alcohol use in America is 12.2 years for marijuana, it is 13 years. (NFP, Summer 1984)

Clothing will make or break many West Texas skiers' day. In spite of high speed thrills, fresh air and snow-laden scenery, the bottom line is staying warm.

Today's ski fashions allow enthusiasts to stay warm as well as look fashionable on and off the slopes. This year's ski fashions feature vivid and bright colors for women, said Dick Helms at a ski style show, Tuesday. He is with Big Spring Athletics and Ski Chalet. Women will be seen on the slopes in many shades of blue, lavender, purple, rose, wine, burgundy, red, white and sea mist green. Beige, khaki, navy, grey, smoke, black and red are popular colors for men.

However, most ensembles are not one color. Three or more colors are often combined to fashion an attractive, figure-slimming assymetrical silhouette. Sweaters, pants, jackets and after-ski boots are color coordinated for a total

Not only does color produce an assymetrical design on the ensemble, so do the construction techniques. This years' ski wear shapes are body slimming. The women's styles feature high fashion collars that stand up to frame the neck and face. Many jackets are fashioned with quilt stitching, which also creates assymetry.

The latest construction techniques featured in some outfits allow the skier to have a versatile wardrobe, as well as flexibility. Reversible parkas provide two styles in one jacket. An insulated waterproof pant unzips down both legs from the waist to the hem. The pant can be worn over a pair of jeans. After a day on the slopes, the skier can unzip the pants and go from the snow on to the nightlife, says Helms.

Short jackets and turtleneck sweaters are top choices this year; however, ski sweaters bearing Nordic designs are always a classic. Not everyone is wearing the insulated waterproof pants, warm-ups or bib overalls, although they continue as a practical and popular style. Stretch pants are back in a new wool blend material that stretches in more than one direction. And underneath it all, the latest hit in thermal underwear are the old-fashioned, one-piece long-johns with the trap door in

Wearing the right clothes protects skiers from the elem Wearing layers and keeping hands and feet warm can add to outdoor

"The trick to staying warm is to stay dry; the minute the body begins to sweat, it loses its insulation," says Stephen Over of the National Ski Patrol System based in Denver. When the skin is dry, it will stay warm. Over recommends clothing insulation that maintains its heat retention qualities even when damp.

The first-time skier's immediate needs are long underwear, parka, pants, hat, mittens or gloves and

The biggest problems on the ski slopes, according to ski patrols, are people with cold toes because their socks are too tight. Too many socks compress the air insulation barrier between layers. Without the trapped air, the socks are like cold bits of cloth inside plastic boots. Wearing too many socks also make feet colder by making the boot tighter and possibly cutting off circulation.

Most socks designed for skiing contain wool. Wool has a great resiliency and resists crushing, which is important since compressed material contains less air, thus is less warm. Wool also whisks moisture away from the skin to the outside of sock where it can evaporate.

The other materials used in combination with wool in socks may add stretch, longer wear, support and warmth, depending on the fiber, says Carol Feder, a ski writer for Skiing.

Many socks have a terryclothlike lining, said Helms, and are referred to as "thermal." Thermal linings have three purposes: they cushion the foot, adding comfort gloves are imperative. Mittens are warm as it is good looking.

(provided they don't make the boot too tight); they create air space — a vapor barrier to keep the foot warm; and they whisk away moisture away from the foot.

The type of sock a skier chooses depends on his foot and ski boot, Ms. Feder said. When trying on ski boots in a store, wear the socks you plan to wear when skiing.

Ski mittens instead of ski gloves also are recommended. "All those however, gloves furnish greater freedom of movement.

Wool hats are colorful, inexpensive and necessary accessories for warmth, serving as regulators to control body temperatures, skiwear manufacturers say.

Goggles or sunglasses are important because they cut the sun's glare off bright shiny slopes. Goggles provide better eyesight when skiing through snow flurries, offer more protection that sunglasses and often come with interchangeable lenses to match the sun's intensity.

The body gives off heat when exercising. The more heat given off, the fewer layers of clothing are required. Skiers riding on a chairlift to the top of a slope need more layers to protect them than someone skiing directly underneath because they are not exercising at the moment. It's after one stops moving that the cold will set in.

Yesterday's woolens have been replaced by machine washable fabrics in colorful designs for long underwear. A thermal long sleeve top and comfortable leggings are the norm, says a skiwear manufacturer.

Manufacturers recommend looking beyond a parka's color and style to examine the fabric and filling that bear the brunt of the wear and weather. Waterproof nylon jackets with polyester fiberfill or down insulation filling are good choices. The outer shell should be treated for rain, snow and stain

Good fit and mobility are important factors for selecting ski pants. Many pants are insulated and have a nylon shell that assures warmth, comfort and tear-resistant strenth. Others offer stretch and good

The parka and pants are the most expensive pieces of a skier's wardrobe. However, "first time skiers can wear jeans and waterproof them and still stay warm;" Helms said. "This may be more economical at first."

Ski equipment - boots, skis and poles - can often be rented from athletic supply stores and ski resorts. Renting is ideal for beginners who are unsure if they will like the sport enough to invest in its equipment.

In poll, public gets fashion sense from others, not ads

By JUDIE GLAVE Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - Despite untold millions spent annually on fashion advertising, a majority in a new poll say they choose their clothes more because of what they see on other people and on the racks than in ads

In addition, a majority of the respondents in the Media General-Associated Press nationwide telephone poll of 1,451 people also said they didn't think designer clothes were of higher quality than non-designer clothes.

Given three choices for the factor that most influenced their clothes purchases, ?9 percent of those polled said they were most influenced by what they saw other people wearing, while 24 percent said they were most influenced by what's new in the stores. Eleven percent said advertising for new clothes was the factor that most influenced what they bought.

Thirty-six percent said they were either not sure or that none of the factors influenced their clothing purchases.

Those figures may not exactly thrill Seventh Avenue designers like Calvin Klein, who in a recent magazine interview revealed that he spent $6 million a year on advertising.

The Newspaper Advertising Bureau and Ad Age magazine said no figure was available on how much the fashion industry as a whole spends yearly on advertising It is not surprising that people claim to be unaffected by advertising, said one Wall Street fashion "People will never admit to being swayed or impressed by a name or label," said Monroe Greenstein of Bear Stearns & Co. "It sounds tacky. The simple fact is if they like the line, they'll buy the line — and people are buying.' In the first half of September, traditionally busy with back-to-school and change of season sales, department stores were selling 14 percent to 17 percent of their merchandise, up several points from the summer lull, said Greenstein He said sales in the midteens translated into "a lot of dollars" for stores, and hence, designers and manufacturers as well.

Besides chronicling people's attitudes toward advertising, the poll showed that men were more influenced in choosing styles by looking at what others wore, while women tended to buy what was shown in stores.

Regionally, those in the Northeast - where multitiered shopping malls dot the highways were more influenced by what was sold in stores, while those in other parts of the country said they looked at what others were wearing.

Seventh Avenue and its European counterparts also may not like to hear that 64 percent of those polled said they didn't believe clothes with designer labels guaranteed a better-made

Twenty-nine percent said they thought designer clothes probably were of higher quality, while 7 percent said they were not sure.

And while 48 percent of the respondents admitted to being "somewhat conscious" of fashion changes from season to season, 33 percent said they were "not at all conscious" of fashion Seventeen percent said they were "very conscious" and 2 percent said they didn't know. Forty percent of the men and 26 percent of the women said they were "not at all conscious" of such fashion dictates as skirt length or tie width. Although they may not change styles as quickly as the fashion industry might like, an overwhelming majority in the poll -77 percent - said they thought it mattered how a person dresses, and 59 percent said they tried to "dress for success" by wearing clothes to create a favorable impression.

Twenty-six percent said they didn't try to dress for success, and 15 percent said either they weren't sure or didn't have the kind of job where they could "dress up."

People in urban areas were more likely to say they dressed to make a favorable impression than were people in rural areas, and men and women were about as likely - 61 percent of the men and 57 percent of the women — to say they dressed for success. The younger the respondents, the more likely they were to say they dressed in a manner to try to help their careers.

Respondents in the Media General-Associated Press poll included a random, scientific sampling of 1,451 adults across the country Aug. 1-8. As with all sample surveys, the results of Media General-AP telephone polls can vary from the opinions of all Americans because of chance variations in the

For a poll based on about 1,400 interviews, the results are subject to an error margin of 3 percentage points either way because of chance variations in the sample.

A strange thing happened at a ski style show and presentation Tuesday evening at the Big Spring Country Club

DR. RAY OWEN won a pair of after-ski boots following the style show. Big deal, you say? Read on. Following his big win, his wife CAROLE OWEN won a ski jacket. That's a little strange, but happens occasionally, right. Then after his wife's big win, their daughter TRACY OWENS won a trip to a New Mexico ski resort. DR. AND MRS. BRIAN CAPLAN was at the event, and from what I heard, Caplan tried to figure the odds of one family winning that many gifts at one time. A bit strange, but it provided quite a bit of excitement at the style show.

The fourth gift was won by DON-NA CAREY, one of the models. She won a trip for two to Winter Park, Colorado's ski resort. Husband, GARY DON CAREY, was extremely excited.

I can't tell you how common disparity in leg length is in the general population. One study of runners who were being treated for leg complaints showed that about 15 percent had one leg shorter than the other. It is certainly worth investigating this possibility in any runner who seems to come up with otherwise unexplained leg com-plaints. Often, a simple lift in the shoe will correct a discrepancy.

show that a sense of depression often accompanies the holiday season, says Dr. Philip F. McKean, a cultural anthropologist, who suggests that putting the emphasis on giving rather than getting will avoid these feelings.

Many people have a deep desire to receive gifts at holiday time, based on childhood memories and expectations, notes McKean, director of Planned Giving for CARE, the international aid and development organization.

"But we're bound to be disappointed and depressed if that is the center of our holiday attention, because we never receive enough of the 'right' presents to fulfill our juvenile fantasies," he says. "Grow up," he advises. "Learn to become a 'good giver' rather down Make sure of the charitable than a passive receiver. When we

for making gifts count: • Make a holiday "gift list" to include at least one local, one national and one international cause that expresses your concern and compassion, and reaches beyond yourself.

Diet Pill Sweeping U.S.

Fast Weight Loss

No Dieting - Eat All You Want Pill Does All the Work

BEVERLY HILLS, CA. (Special) An amazing new "super" grapefruit pill has recently been developed and perfected that reportedly "guarantees" that you will easily lose at least 10 pounds in 10 days. Best of all, it allows you to "eat as much as you want of your favorite foods and still lose a pound a day or more starting from the very first day until you achieve the ideal weight and figure you desire."

This "super" grapefruit pill is a dramatically improved version of the world famous grapefruit diet. It is far more effective than the original and eliminates "the mess, fuss, and high cost of eating half a fresh grapefruit at every meal."

"Pill Does All the Work"

According to the manufacturer, "the pill itself does all the work while you quickly lose weight with NO star-vation "diet menus" to follow, NO calorie counting, NO exercise, and NO hunger pangs." It is 100% safe. You simply take the pill with a glass of water before each meal and the amazing combination of powerful ingredients are so effective they take over and you start losing weight immediately.

Pill Has ALL Daily Vitamins The powerful and unique combination of ingredients are what make this a "super-pill". It contains highly potent grapefrult concentrate and a diuretic to help eliminate bloat and puffiness. No need to take any vitamins to maintain your good health and energy. The pill is fortified with ALL (100%) of the U.S. Government daily vitamin requirements. Contains Japanese 'Glucon

Each pill also contains an amazingly effective amount of "glucomannan", the remarkable natural dietary fiber discovery from Japan (used successfully for over 1500 years) that expands in your stomach and gives you a full and satisfied feeling all day long.

The super-pill is already sweeping the country with glowing reports of easy and fast weight loss from formerly overweight people in all walks of life who are now slim, trim, and attractive again. Now Available to Public

You can order your supply of these highly successful "super" grapefruit pills (now available directly from the manufacturer by mail order only) by sending $12 for a 14-day supply (or $20 for a 30-day supply, or $35 for a 60-day supply) cash, check, or money order to: Citrus Industries, 9903 Santa Monica Bl., Dept. 842, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. ### THE "PERMANENT" SOLUTION

Most men feel that a thinning crown is preferable to hairline recession. This may be because it is more visible to themselves. However, since the hair is generally 'thinning all over the head, permanents are often effec-Itive in enhancing the appearance during initial and intermediate balding. They impart body and thus give Ithe appearance of more hair. Curls also provide more coverage than straight hair. However, when the hair is weak and has atrophied, perms may chemically be too harsh and could destroy the hair. In addition, the perm may simply not take. Perms will do little or nothing for severe balding. Remember as well that balding is due to excessive virility, not a lack of it.

Whatever you want!

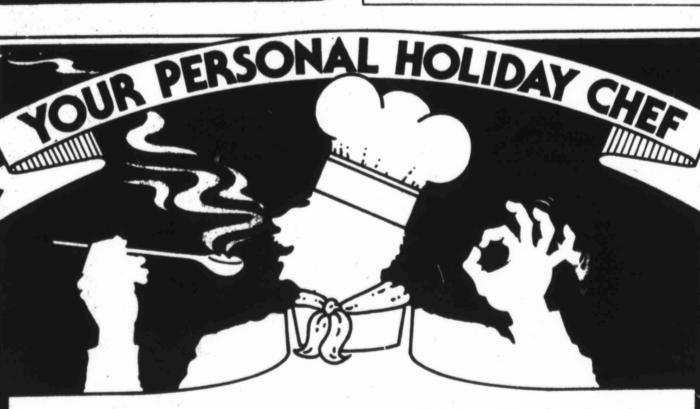

Barbara Donelson grew up in Stanton where she learned how to sew. 'It's just a matter of desire," she says. With the sewing classes offered by Sew What and the "Dream Machine" made by Bernina, anyone can learn how to sew almost anything. There's a lot more to Barbara's store than just fabrics. She carries a full line of accessories including ready made belts, buckles, earrings and collars. The Bridal department is stocked with headpieces and gorgeous laces and trims. There are patterns by Sunrise Designs and Little Darlings as well as Vogue, Butterick and McCalls. Barbara stocks designer fabrics and this fall is featuring South American Imports.

There's always plenty of help for you at Sew What. Kathy Blagrave teaches all the sewing classes and Sew What offers a large variety. A 12 hour sewing course is included with the purchase of a Bernina sewing machine. Other classes are from 4 to 12 hours long and teach beginner's basic skills, ultra suede construction, applique and tailoring. Kathy also offers instruction in fabric crochet and French hand sewing with imported laces. The classes are open to everyone and machines are provided if needed. Londa Henry, Dorothy Henderson, Estelle Howard, De Riherd and Sheri Perry want your creation to be very special. They know how to coordinate patterns and fabrics to your taste and you'll enjoy shopping with them at Sew What.

Barbara carries an excellent selection of Ultra Suede and a dress quality version called facile. It gathers and curves in buttery softness while still maintaining the quality and feel of the original fabric. There are gorgeous holiday fabrics in stock now and soon to arrive are belts to match. This year ... it's time to glitter!

Barbara is married to Delbert Donelson who has been with The State National Bank for the last 12 years. They have two children; Gary and Debbie, who are both students at Texas A&M. Barbara purchased the shop when the children were in High School. She loves to sew and enjoys her shop. You will too! Barbara is one of the Hometown Merchants you'll find at Highland Shopping Center ... Where you'll always find the Quality you desire!
