Knott total tops normal mark

By CAROL BALDWIN
Staff Writer

It may sound a little ridiculous in parched West Texas, but some parts of Howard County are having a very wet time of it.

Larry Shaw of the Knott Community said Saturday's rainfall "has put this area a little above normal" for the year with a total to date of about 18.6 inches.

The above-normal reading comes on the heels of a devastating drought that plagued West Texas throughout the early part of the year. Day after day of no rain left cotton crops ailing and ranchers looking for buyers for their cattle.

But things during the second half of the year are definitely looking up.

"I'd had 7 1/2 inches by September," Shaw said Saturday. During the last 60 days, however, the Knott area has recorded 11.2 inches of rain.

Although farmers are expecting a small cotton crop this year, Shaw said the late fall rains "are ideal for next year." Because the land was parched, the rains soaked into the ground, providing the Knott

President is preparing new tax plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration is on the verge of unveiling a proposal for what would be the biggest overhaul of the U.S. tax system since the income tax came into existence 71 years ago.

Individual taxpayers would see their tax rates shrunk, but in return they would lose some of their favorite deductions.

The administration's goal is to make the current jumble of tax regulations simpler and fairer. President Reagan insisted during his re-election campaign that the enterprise would not be used as a vehicle to raise taxes.

But as with any tinkering with the tax code, some individuals and businesses will benefit by having their total tax bill lowered while others will pay higher taxes. And some fear that Congress — faced with soaring budget deficits — will turn the simplification plan into a tax increase for everybody.

The president's order for a complete review of the tax system was made in his State of the Union address last January.

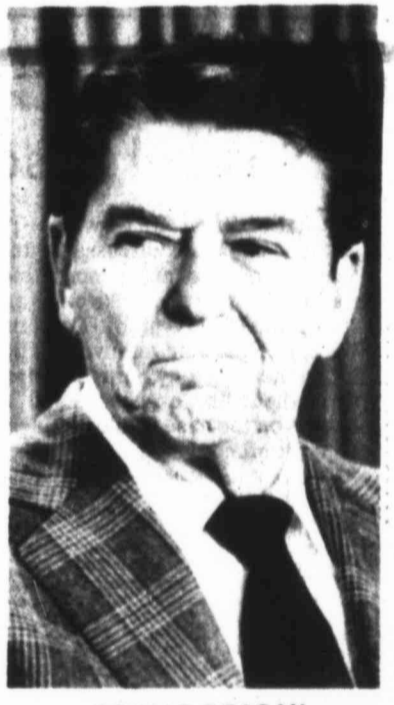

Treasury Secretary Donald T. Regan told a group of business leaders on Wednesday that he expected to meet the deadline of forwarding the review plan to the president on Dec. 1. According to participants at the private meeting, Regan also indicated that he hoped the entire plan would then be made public.

While the administration has refused to publicly disclose specifics of the plan, Treasury Department officials have discussed the tax issue with various interest groups.

Interviews with lobbyists, who spoke only on condition they not be named, provided the following details on elements expected to be in the department recommendations.

The proposal will be a modified flat tax. Under a pure flat tax, there is a single tax rate for everyone and all income is taxed at that rate. There are no exemptions or deductions.

Under a modified approach, the current 16 separate tax brackets for individuals, ranging from 11 percent to a maximum tax of 50 percent, would be pared down.

The Treasury Department plan would apparently pare the top rate from 50 percent down to 35 percent for the wealthiest taxpayers with perhaps two or three other rates.

To allow for rates to be lowered, the base of income subject to tax will have to be widened. For individuals, the exemptions and deductions apparently being eyed for repeal include:

- Certain employer-paid fringe benefits. These fringe benefits are not now counted as income and are thus not subject to taxation. The two biggest are employer contributions for health-insurance premiums, which total $19 billion, and employer contributions to pensions, which total $50 billion. However, since the administration has repeatedly emphasized the need to increase savings, the pension exemption may be spared.
- Deductions for state and local taxes. These deductions will save taxpayers who itemize $21.6 billion

Hijackers seize jetliner in Africa

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — Three armed Somali soldiers hijacked a Somali jetliner with 130 people aboard Saturday, beating up the pilot and wounding a security guard in a gun battle during the takeover, the official news media reported.

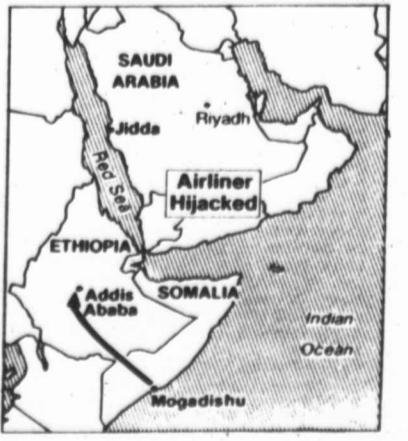

The hijackers directed the Somali Airlines Boeing 707 to Addis Ababa, where they released some passengers and then threatened to blow up the plane and the remaining hostages unless their demands were met.

The government's Ethiopian News Agency said the demands included the release of 13 political prisoners in Somalia and stays of execution for seven young men scheduled to be executed Sunday for political crimes in Somalia.

Ethiopian state television reported the hijackers threatened to blow up the plane at midnight Saturday (3 p.m. CST) unless the demands were met. But the state news agency later said the deadline had been extended until noon Sunday (3 a.m. CST).

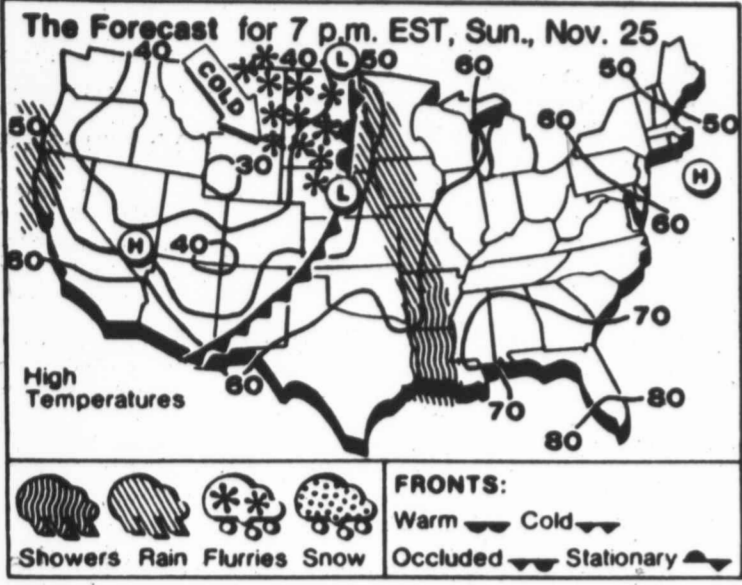

"They agreed to extend the deadline early this morning at the request and persuasion of the Ethiopian authorities who have been negotiating with them continuously since the Somali airliner was forced to land at Bole International Airport" near Addis Ababa, the Ethiopian News Agency reported.

ENA said the negotiations secured "the release of 19 passengers and three crew members. These are four children between three and ten years of age, 15 women, the security man wounded aboard the plane, the captain of the airliner who was beaten

The old pump

Former oil field engine keeps Rio Grande River moving

LAREDO (AP) — She's 5-foot-2 and weighs several thousand pounds. Her arms are a pair of 10-foot piston-rod rods that drive two steel wheels each nearly eight feet in diameter.

This Bessie is no blue-eyed blonde. She is a mighty Bessemer gas engine that has pumped water up the banks of the Rio Grande for 35 years.

For 40 years before that she was in Freer, working the oil fields during the boom days, says Don Luis Nuno Gonzalez. A native of Sapatlanajo, Jalisco, Mexico, Don Luis has come to know Bessie as intimately as anyone. He arrived here in 1955 and has been Bessie's caretaker since 1982.

Remembering early days with Bessie, he said, "I cannot tell you all of her history. I've only been looking after her for about 30 years. Before that, 'un viejito' was in charge. I never knew his name, only the stories they told me about him and the old pump."

He led the way to Bessie's boudoir, a huge underground pit carved 20 feet into the sandy clay banks just west of the Laredo Industrial Park.

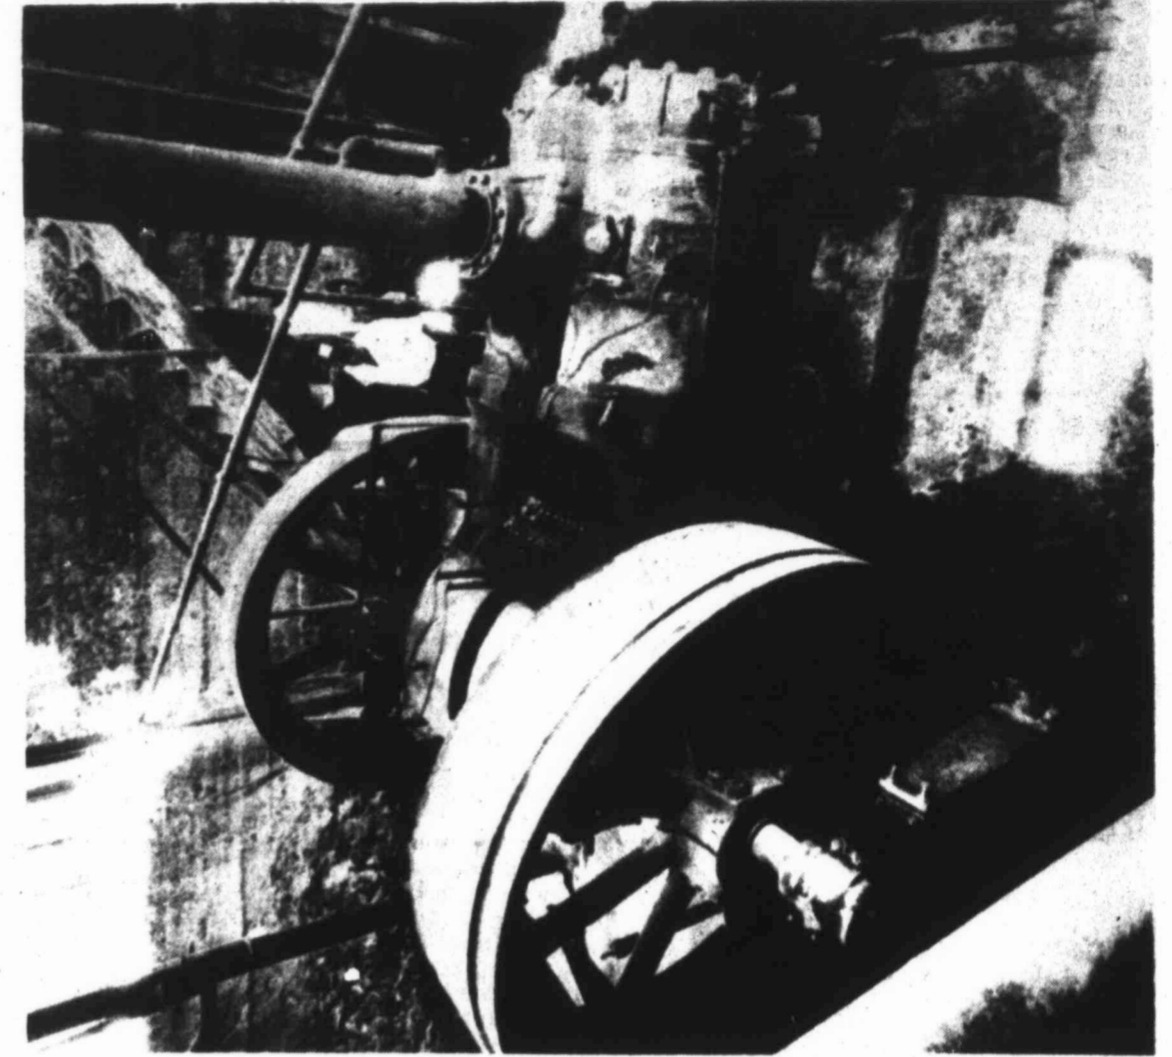

We descended rusty metal stairs. Looking up from the bottom, the reinforced concrete walls that rise to protect her four sides from flood waters seem twice their height. A pungent odor of oil and gas wafted from Bessie's housing.

Don Luis pointed to a spot next to her concrete moorings and said, "For the first 10 years of my life with her, I slept right there, right next to her. She can be extremely violent and dangerous. You can't leave her alone, not even for a few minutes," he said.

Bessie sat poised and quiet, like a huge cannon, her pair of 18-foot exhaust muzzles jutting perpendicularly through the galvanized roof, high above.

"They tell us a story of her first test run and of the old man who was supposed to be watching her. After she had been running about two hours, the old man decided everything was OK, so he went to eat lunch at Senorita Benavides Cafe," laughed Don Luis, recalling the consequence of his mistake. "While he was gone, she threw these belts."

He indicated two huge drive belts, each 60 feet in circumference.

"That is what makes her dangerous," he continued. "Because it is the belts that keep her in place and make her behave."

"When she threw the belts, her engine started running twice the speed. They saw the vibration was so great that she ripped herself loose and began moving. Then she pushed her way out of the building through this concrete wall."

"The only reason she didn't end up in the river is because the gas line that fuels her was also pulled loose, so she just stopped running."

Don Luis explained how a track of railroad ties was laid along the banks to retrieve Bessie.

"She was raised by hydraulic jacks, hoisted onto the railroad ties, and then winched back up the bank into place. It took them two days to finish the job," he said.

Just south of the pit exists an old site which once housed what Don Luis could only describe as some type of steam engine.

"They would send us huge blocks of coal. I think they must have been sent in by rail. They would bring the chunks to the river on a truck and we would unload them and roll them down the banks to the steam engine."

"Then we'd break the chunks in to smaller pieces and feed them in to the tanks. They produced a gas which was used to fuel the pump (Bessie)," he explained.

The old Bessemer has survived countless rises and at least two major floods. A marvel of early American technology, she has worked either full or part-time since she was put into production in 1899.

She can still spit out 2,000 gallons per minute at full throttle, said Don Luis. If you want to know just how much that is, calculated in terms of lakes, she has completely filled Lake Casa Blanca — just over 20 times.

Bessie was semi-retired in 1980 by the Del Mar Water Conservation District. But old pumps don't die or fade away — at least not this Bessie.

Notwithstanding the costly upkeep that led to her replacement by more efficient equipment, she has touched the hearts of the Del Mar fathers, who promise, upon her retirement, she will be cleaned, painted and given some place of honor — as yet to be named — somewhere within the conservation district.

area with a good underground water supply for 1985.

Shaw recorded 1.10 inches of rain Saturday, with most of the rain falling after sun up. Saturday's rain follows rainfall the previous Saturday that measured almost 2 inches. No one in West Texas seems to be complaining about the rainy weekends, however.

Shaw said "there is a lot of mud out here" but that roads are still passable throughout the Knott area. A trouble spot in the past had been the "Knott Lakes" area where run off would block the roadways in the area. Because of the drought, however, the ground has been soaking up the water, Shaw said.

Shaw compared this year to 1972, a year during which a lot of rain fell during the fall months. "1973 was one of our best years," he said. In Big Spring, Saturday's rain was causing havoc for some drivers who were trying to drive their vehicles through flooded streets.

next year. —Deductions for mortgage interest payments on vacation homes. President Reagan himself ruled the tax break for interest on home mortgages untouchable, but apparently the Treasury Department plan would limit this exemption to a taxpayers' principal residence.

The top corporate rate would be lowered from the current 46 percent down to about 40 percent. The key business tax breaks being eyed for either elimination or modification are investment tax credits and accelerated depreciation, the main feature of the administration's 1981 business tax cuts.

Accelerated depreciation will save businesses about $23 billion this year by allowing them to write off the costs of plant and equipment faster than they could under earlier law.

Embassy the hijackers also had threatened to begin killing Somali passengers one by one.

ENA said said "food and provisions" were delivered to the remaining passengers, crew and hijackers aboard the plane.

The agency reported there were indications that the passengers included one American, two Italians, two South Yemen nationals, one North Yemen national, one Egyptian diplomat and one United Nations' staff member, but their names were not given.

Fire damages house porch

Damage was listed at about $800. The fire is under investigation, according to reports.

126 Poles jump ship

FLENSBURG, West Germany — West German authorities today said 126 Poles have jumped ship in another mass defection, bringing the number of Polish defections to West Germany this month to 428.

The latest group defected Friday evening when the ferry Rogalin docked in Travemuende, near the East German border, on the first stop in its regular service from the Polish port of Szczecin to Copenhagen, Denmark, border police said.

The ferry left Travemuende for Copenhagen with 385 people still aboard, border police said.

2 French guards shot

BEIRUT — Two French guards were seriously wounded Saturday when they were shot by gunmen firing at a car on the streets of west Beirut, a French official said.

In a separate shooting Friday, the Israeli military command said two Israeli soldiers were slightly wounded in south Lebanon.

A spokesman for the French observation team in Beirut said two guards outside the team's headquarters in the Moslem sector of the capital were apparently struck by stray bullets as the gunmen, on foot, fired at a car heading toward Christian east Beirut. Both guards were in serious condition in a Beirut hospital.

Angola pullout planned

LISBON, Portugal — South African troops are expected to withdraw from southern Angola by Dec. 25 as part of a U.S.-negotiated peace settlement, the Portuguese weekly newspaper Expresso said Saturday.

The paper quoted unidentified Western diplomatic sources as saying the estimated 25,000 Cuban troops supporting the Marxist Angolan government would pull back to the capital of Luanda following the South African withdrawal.

According to the newspaper, the Cubans would then make a phased withdrawal from Angola simultaneously with a South African troop pullout from the neighboring territory of South-West Africa, also known as Namibia.

Fire hits London tunnel

Twenty-two people received medical treatment — 15 in hospitals and seven at the scene of the fire at Oxford Circus subway station, London Regional Transport said in a statement. All were treated for smoke inhalation.

'The best chance'

Indiana man to receive artificial heart implant

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A man whose heart was so weakened that even wheelchair rides "just about knocked the bottom out for him" gathered his family about him Saturday for a special Thanksgiving dinner on the eve of becoming the world's second person to receive a permanent artificial heart.

William J. Schroeder, 52, of Jasper, Ind., described by doctors as anxious but willing to take a possibly life-saving chance, cleared the way for the implant of the Jarvik-7 polyurethane heart by signing a lengthy consent form Friday in the company of his wife, Margaret, and Dr. William C. DeVries, the only surgeon approved by the U.S. government to perform the surgery.

The consent form warns, among other things, that the replacement of his own disease heart is experimental with no guarantee of success, DeVries has said.

The operation, which DeVries said would last from three to eight hours, was scheduled to begin about 8 a.m. Sunday at Humana Hospital Audubon, just one week short of the second anniversary of the first permanent mechanical heart implant, the hospital said.

DeVries, 40, also performed the first implant, at the University of Utah. The recipient, Barney Clark, survived for 112 days.

Without the procedure, Schroeder's chances of living more than two weeks were slim, Dr. Allan M. Lansing said Friday. Lansing is chief of Humana Heart Institute International, the heart research branch of the hospital's parent corporation, Humana Inc.

"Just going down for an X-ray in a wheelchair just about knocked the bottom out for him," Lansing said. "His blood pressure dropped and he was very cool, sweaty and weak."

"He's very anxious, but he realizes fully that he is deteriorating steadily and he really won't get out of the hospital without something else done," the doctor said.

The hospital gathering Saturday with Schroeder's wife and six children was planned as "the equivalent of a Thanksgiving dinner," Lansing said.

Schroeder's general physician in Jasper, J.P. Said, said Schroeder was not a candidate for a human heart transplant because he is over 50 and has diabetes. "If he was a transplant recipient, the (anti-rejection) drugs just throw diabetes out of control," he said.

Dr. Phillip Dawkins, Schroeder's heart specialist in Jasper for two years, said Friday that his patient's lungs and kidneys function "quite well."

Clark, a dentist from the Seattle area, was in poor health when he received the first artificial heart on Dec. 2, 1982, and his death was attributed to multiple organ and circulatory collapse.

Accepting the artificial heart "wasn't a decision he (Schroeder) made quickly," Dawkins said. "His comment to me was, 'I think that's the best chance I have to live.' He feels like it's going to be successful, and I honestly do, too."

No injuries from quake

MAMMOTH LAKES, Calif. — An earthquake that jolted parts of California and Nevada but caused no serious damage or injuries was the most powerful since a tremor in April caused $8 million in damage, officials say.

The quake, centered 15 miles northwest of Bishop near Paradise Camp and measuring 5.7 on the Richter scale of ground motion, hit shortly after 10 a.m. Friday. S. Geological Survey in Menlo Park.

It was followed an hour later by an aftershock with the same epicenter, measured at 4.9 on the Richter scale.

Mayors discuss city ills

INDIANAPOLIS — Leaders of the nation's cities, worried about the federal deficit and tight local budgets, gathered Saturday for a conference focusing on problems ranging from housing the homeless to attacking chronic unemployment.

Some 3,000 officials representing over 900 local governments arrived in this city, which has invested more than $850 million over the last 20 years to renovate its downtown, for the 61st annual conference of the National League of Cities.

Boy shot helping cousin

PEDLEY, Calif. — A newly hired security guard was arrested in the slaying of an 11-year-old boy who was shot as he tried to flag down motorists while his 13-year-old cousin struggled with a would-be kidnapper, police said.

Horace Edward Kelly, 25, was arrested Thursday night and booked for investigation of murder and attempted kidnapping about 3½ hours after Daniel David Osentowski was shot in the head and chest at close range, police said.

Police said Daniel saved his cousin, Shannon Prock, after a man leaped from a van and grabbed her as the children were walking home from a neighborhood candy store, police said.

Skiers stranded by lift

TRUCKEE, Calif. — Three hundred-eighty skiers were stranded for up to five hours when a broken gear box halted a ski lift on Mt. Pluto, and 300 more were forced to wait on the slopes, a resort official said.

The gear box broke about 3:30 p.m. Friday, stopping the lift and leaving skiers hanging from 40 to 200 feet above the snow along the back slope of the 8,600-foot mountain.

Ski patrol and rescue workers helped the skiers slide down ropes dropped from towers over the lift to the ground. By 8 p.m., all the skiers were off the mountain.

Killer storm strikes Europe

By The Associated Press

Gale-force winds and torrential rain pummeled Europe Saturday for the second day, leaving at least 15 people dead, more than 100 injured and hundreds of thousands of homes without electricity.

In West Germany, police put the toll at seven dead and about 60 injured. In East Germany, state-run newspapers said 25 people were injured as violent weather raged through Gera, Suhl and Halle.

French authorities reported at least four people dead, 250,000 homes without electricity and countless buildings damaged from winds that reached 100 mph. The storm began Thursday night and started easing Saturday morning.

The state-run Electricite de France said all service should be restored by Sunday night.

THE CHEMICAL PEOPLE

Update

In its latest effort to tap youthful beer drinkers, Stroh Brewery Co. this month started distributing a new snazzy poster for its Schlitz brand and sent the rock group Night Rangers out on a Stroh-sponsored tour.

Stroh's backing of young adult and college programs is not unique among beer companies. Anheuser Busch Inc., St. Louis, and Miller Brewing Co., Milwaukee, are big spenders when it comes to advertising on such programs as MTV video shows and "Saturday Night Live."

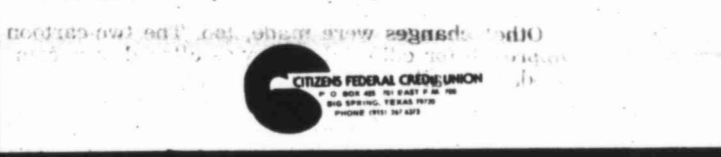

But the beer companies walk a tightrope when they advertise to young people. On the one hand, the breweries don't want to look like evil witches pouring brew into the open mouths of babes. On the other, they know that youth just past the age of majority drink.

"We all have our finger on it," said Al Puccinelli, G. Heileman Brewing Co.'s account executive at Campbell-Mithun. "But we must all tread lightly. We don't want to get young people to drink, but we know they drink, so they should drink our brand. It's a thin line and getting thinner."

Breweries know that the beer those impressionable young adults drink could be the brand they stick with for a long time and that's enough of an incentive for Stroh and its competitors to sponsor rock concerts, sell posters, run ads in college newspapers and other publications with high readership among young adults and undertake promotional programs aimed at young adults.

Stroh shares the tightrope with other beer companies which also use a great deal of caution when advertising to youth, particularly in light of increased criticism leveled against the alcohol industry by such groups as Mothers Against Drunk Driving. A Miller spokesman said Miller has strict guidelines set for distributors who participate in parades, festivals or college events. (AD WEEK, Oct. 29, 1984)

Pall of death

Fear of explosion hangs over Mexico City

New homes and a community park will replace the rubble, and those who fled in panic are returning to the working class neighborhood devastated by a series of gas explosion last week from a nearby government storage facility. But fear, like the stench of death, lingers in the air.

For those who survived Mexico City's worst industrial accident, returning home has been a mixture of pain and fear — pain over the loss of family and friends, fear about the prospects of its happening again.

"All my family died there. I think I will leave here ... what's left here?" said Raul Pena Duarte, 44, as he stood in the doorway of the blackened wreckage of the three-room house and patio he built, where his wife, four children, mother-in-law, sister-in-law and another family lived.

In the crowded neighborhood on the northern edge of the capital, San Juan Ixhuatepec, there is fear of some other disaster, and the reality that little can be done about the poverty and overcrowding that is a way of life.

"You think about moving, but there is no housing you can afford. Right now we don't know what we're going to do, where we're going to live or what we're going to do," said Marco Maldonado, who earns $50 a month as a waiter.

The nightmare began at dawn Monday when several gas storage tanks exploded at a storage and distribution center operated by the government oil monopoly PEMEX.

At week's end, officials said 346 people were killed, another 500 seriously injured and tens of thousands left homeless from the area where an estimated 100,000 people were evacuated.

The government is providing houses to replace those destroyed and officials said the first would be ready this weekend. Badly damaged homes are being leveled.

In the razed area, closest to the PEMEX facility, the government plans to have a large community park ready within two weeks. PEMEX says it will rebuild its storage facility elsewhere, and also may convert its facility into a park.

The community originally was a hacienda, or large ranch, converted into a government farm cooperative. Benjamin Granados, state of Mexico public works director, said the homes were built on land sold illegally by farmers who had the right to work, but not sell, government communal farmland.

Some residents lived in cardboard shacks along the railroad right-of-way that runs between the community and the PEMEX facility. These dwellings took the brunt of the blasts and were vaporized in face another danger," said Luis Morales Villegas, who lived in a three-room house with his wife and 11 children.

The blasts rained burning debris and fireballs on the community and sent chunks of metal storage tanks crashing into the small brick and concrete homes.

People fled into the streets screaming, their clothes and bodies ablaze. Many died in their tracks. Others were killed in bed as they slept, or perished trying to flee from their homes.

The Mexican government declined an offer of U.S. aid, saying it could deal with the situation. Even so, contributions came from the United States, including 120 tons of clothing and medicine from the SHARE organization in San Diego, due to arrive here Sunday.

Uruguay voters to elect 1st government in 13 years

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — Uruguayans will choose their national and local officials on Sunday for the first time since 1971 in elections designed to end rule by the rightist armed forces.

Polls were scheduled to open at 8 a.m. (5 a.m. CST) and close at 7:30 p.m. (4:30 p.m. CST). All Uruguayans 18 years of age or older are required by law to vote, and about 2 million of the country's 2.8 million people are expected to cast ballots.

To be elected are a new president, vice president, a 30-member Senate, a 99-seat House of Representatives, and hundreds of local officials, including the chief administrators for the country's 19 departments, or provinces. The new leadership is due to take office on March 1.

Local pollsters see Julio Sanguinetti of the Colorado Party and Alberto Zumarán of the National Party as the front-runners in the 10-man presidential race. They represent the two traditionally most powerful political groups in Uruguay.

Chilean troops round up hundreds in shantytown raid

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Troops rounded up hundreds of men in one politically active shantytown Saturday and patrolled at least five others in a show of force three days before nationwide protests called by foes of military rule.

Residents of Santa Julia said 12 truckloads of heavily armed soldiers sealed off their neighborhood in eastern Santiago for 2½ hours in the fourth huge raid since President Augusto Pinochet declared a state of siege Nov. 6.

As a helicopter swooped low overhead, five-soldier units with machine guns would surround each male suspect picked at random by police officials on the dirt streets or in doorways, witnesses said.

The Rev. Patricio Rojas, the Roman Catholic priest there, said 400 to 500 men were herded at gunpoint into a vacant lot, a neighborhood police station and a welfare office for identity checks

Tax & financial planning

BUSINESS AND THE NEW TAX LAW

Business people and investors will need to learn about the many provisions in "The 1984 Tax Act" that will affect them. Here are some of the highlights of the act:

- Depreciation of business vehicles is limited to $4,000 in the first year and $6,000 a year thereafter. Investment credit on autos is limited to $1,000. No investment credit is allowed for vehicles used less than 50% for business, and depreciation for such vehicles is limited to the straight-line method over five years.

- Depreciation on all real estate, except low income housing, is extended from 15 years to 18 years.

- Corporations have new rules to follow in many areas, including the dividends received deduction, distributions of appreciated property, and the calculation of earnings and profits.

- The amount of business property that could be expensed rather than depreciated was to have increased from $5,000 to $7,500 in 1984. This increase is postponed until 1988.

- There are new rules for the deductibility of accrued expenses.

- Tax-free like-kind exchanges of business or investment property will now have to be completed within certain time limits.

- Tax shelter promoters have new reporting requirements intended to curb abusive tax shelters. Maintaining customer lists and registering tax shelters are part of the more stringent rules.

The tax act has provisions that will affect exchanges of partnership interests and other partnership transactions, employee fringe benefits, and retirement plans. In that the act is over a thousand pages involving hundreds of provisions, it is a significant piece of legislation. Investors and business people should consult their tax advisors for details on how the law will affect them.

Cotton production moves west

Cotton, the No. 1 cash crop in Texas, is becoming more concentrated in the western areas of the state, which produces more cotton than any other state in the nation, according to Agricultural Extension Service records.

Three-fourths of all cotton produced in Texas is grown in western Texas, including the area that stretches south from the Panhandle to San Angelo and north to Abilene and Wichita Falls, according to extension service economist Carl Anderson.

Cotton production has increased in irrigated areas of the plains because cotton uses less water more efficiently than corn or grain sorghum. And in dryland areas such as Howard, Dawson and Lynn counties, cotton is the only crop with a real chance year in and year out, Anderson said.

The increase in cotton production in the plains has been about 40,000 bales a year, he said.

The farm program base acreage for Texas cotton is more than 8 million acres, according to Anderson. Even if the strong supply management programs continue, Texas cotton acreage will stay around 5 to 6 million acres, he said.

And the development of shorter-season varieties is likely to improve cotton productivity and competitiveness in the northern and western areas of the plains, where the growing season is the shortest, Anderson said.

Cotton production should also increase in Southwest Texas west of San Antonio, Anderson said, where farmers are normally able to produce high yields under irrigation.

In the Rolling Plains, the Coastal Bend and the Rio Grande Valley, cotton should hold its own because farmers traditionally diversify their crops in those areas, Anderson said.

But in the Central Texas Blacklands and the Upper Coast, cotton production has slipped in recent years because of the expansion of cities there. At the same time the cities are gobbling up cropland and offering non-agricultural jobs, wheat, horse and cattle operations are expanding on marginal cropland, Anderson said.

Although cotton was once king in the Trans-Pecos region, it has seen its heyday, Anderson said.

With 24-10 upset win over Texas

Bears throw SWC race into shambles

Baylor 24
Texas 10

WACO (AP) — Texas quarterback Todd Dodge set two passing records Saturday, but one of them — for pass interceptions — was a record he'd just as soon not have.

Baylor scored on two short touchdown drives after an interception by linebacker Ray Berry and a fumble recovery by defensive end Derek Turner to upset sixth-ranked Texas 24-10 in Southwest Conference football action.

"I don't know whether it is a lack of concentration or what, but we were just throwing the football to the wrong players," said Texas coach Fred Akers.

The loss stalled, and perhaps

ended, Texas' hopes for an SWC championship and automatic host spot in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas on Jan. 1.

Baylor coach Grant Teaff said, "Texas was playing for a spot in the Cotton Bowl today, and all we had to play for was pride."

"This is the secondary that started so slowly against Brigham Young's great passing team and finished so well with this super performance against Texas, another national powerhouse," said Teaff.

Dodge's 88 yards passing pushed the junior's season total to 1,441, breaking a record set by Robert Brewer in 1982. His eight completions also tied the school record of 91 for the season, but three pass interceptions made Dodge the Longhorn season leader with 17, one more than Joe Clements threw in 1956.

"I can't put my finger on what happened," said Dodge.

Texas A&M 35
TCU 21

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Texas Christian's Cinderella Frogs had some of the golden glitter removed from their slippers Saturday in a 35-21 loss to struggling Texas A&M, but they were soothed by an invitation to play West Virginia in the Bluebonnet Bowl New Year's Eve.

The Frogs, ranked 17th in the nation with an 8-3 record after finishing 1-8-2 last season, were eliminated from being the Southwest Conference representative in the New Year's Day Cotton Bowl following consecutive losses to Texas and the Aggies.

"This hasn't changed our opinion of TCU and we still want you to play in the Bluebonnet Bowl," said Bluebonnet executive director Ted Nance in extending the invitation to oppose 7-4 West Virginia.

Following a chorus of cheers from TCU players, Frog Coach Jim Wacker accepted.

"We appreciate the chance to redeem ourselves after two straight losses. Thank goodness we've got one game left."

The Aggies, who are going nowhere in a disappointing season, played the spoiler from the start. They were propelled by a 53-yard touchdown interception return by James Flowers and three touchdown runs by Anthony Toney.

"A&M just whipped, destroyed and beat us," Wacker said. "We were ready to play. How can you be going for a 9-2 record and a possible conference championship and be flat?"

The Aggies gained momentum going into their season finale against the Texas Longhorns.

"This football team has had an awful lot of adversity this year," A&M Coach Jackie Sherrill said. "There were a lot of expectations before the season and we've had some disappointments. "There have been lots of reasons to quit, but they haven't."

The Aggies, blanked by Arkansas 28-0 last week, scored the game's first 17 points and held on in the fourth quarter to improve their season record to 5-5 and their SWC record to 2-5.

TCU dropped to a 5-3 record in SWC games and 8-3 for the season.

The Aggies had to hold off a fourth quarter TCU surge that included a one-yard touchdown run by Toney Jeffery and a 9-yard touchdown pass from Antony Sciaraffa to running back Kenneth Davis before claiming their victory.

LUBBOCK (AP) — Houston running back Raymond Tate grabbed a 9-yard pass from quarterback Gerald Landry late in the fourth quarter to score his second touchdown and clinch a 24-17 victory over Texas Tech in Southwest Conference football action Saturday.

The victory boosted Houston to 6-4 overall and 5-2 in conference play. Tech, playing its final game of the season, fell to 4-7 and 2-6.

Tate, who gave the Cougars their first six points on a 10-yard run in the first period, put Houston up 22-17 with 6:41 left in the fourth quarter. Houston added insurance points on a two-point conversion, a pass from Landry to junior Carl Hilton.

championship for the 11th-ranked Mustangs with a 31-20 victory over the Arkansas Razorbacks.

The hard-earned victory assured the 8-2 Mustangs an Aloha Bowl berth Dec. 29 against Notre Dame but they still have long-shot odds at the Cotton Bowl.

Houston (5-2) can seal the host spot in the Cotton Bowl New Year's Day against Boston College by defeating Rice next week in Houston.

If Houston loses to Rice, and Texas (5-2) loses to Texas A&M, SMU would be in the Cotton Bowl.

The Mustangs are 6-2 with their conference games complete.

Chitsey rallies C-City to 20-12 win over Wylie

By STEVE BELVIN
Staff Writer

SAN ANGELO — Doug Chitsey showed the Abilene Wylie Bulldogs just why he is regarded as one of the top quarterbacks in the state.

On a cold rainy day, Colorado City's blue-chip signal-caller overcame six interceptions and three Wolves fumbles, to run and pass the Wolves to a 20-12 come-from-behind victory in Class AAA area action.

It marked the second time the Wolves and Bulldogs had met as Chitsey and Wylie's talented quarterback Bobby Lilljedahl hooked up in another duel.

The 6-4, 213-pound Lilljedahl had a much better performance than in the first 34-13 C-City win where he passed for only 44 yards. This time he connected on 12 of 22 passes for 128 yards. But it was Chitsey who stole the show.

Despite being plagued by the interceptions, the gutsy senior rallied his team from a 12-0 deficit midway through the second quarter to advance C-City the furthest its ever been since 1954.

He ended the night by connecting on 10 of 24 passes for 180 yards and one touchdown. But his offensive fireworks didn't stop there. On the ground he led all rushers with 105 yards in 14 carries and two touchdowns.

The most spectacular TD was the game-clincher with 5:11 in the contest and C-City holding a slim 13-12 lead.

The drive started at the Wylie 25-yard line and Chitsey started things off with a 15-yard run which was followed by a late-hit penalty on the Bulldogs. Six plays later Chitsey ended the drive when he kept on the Veer option, broke no less than six tackles and scampered 39 yards down the sidelines for the score.

His extra point gave the Wolves their final margin of victory.

A lot of credit goes to the Wolves defense led by linebackers Don Randle and Chitsey; linemen Kevin Norman, Wylie Stice and safety Armando Rivera who picked off two of Lilljedahl's four interceptions.

After Wylie's first half barrage, the C-City defense came out in the second half and allowed Wylie only 92 total yards, including 26 in the air. The Bulldogs crossed midfield only once in the second half.

Colorado City defensive coordinator Rick Robinson credited the stout second half performance to the linebackers play versus the pass. "We got better drops from the linebackers. We kept them in the second and third down and long situations. They (defense) played about as hard in the second half as I've seen all year."

The Wolves started out the contest on a bad note as their first three possessions ended in turnovers.

On their opening drive they marched from their own 20 to the Bulldogs four when Sammy Rivera fumbled, the first of his two fumbles in the game.

On their second possession they again drove into Wylie territory and Chitsey suffered his first interception of the contest. Cornerback Jeff Quick picked off his pass at the 30 which was intended for Don Randle.

The Wolves got the ball right back on the next play as cornerback Ronnie Hernandez picked off Lilljedahl's attempt at the Wolves 46.

Chitsey promptly hit Randle with a 21 yard pass moving the ball to the Wylie 22. Two plays later, Chitsey suffered his second interception as Wylie linebacker Mark Redwine snared the pass which bounced off Randle's hands and returned it to the Wylie 31.

Following the turnover, Wylie engineered its 12-play, 69 yard drive as Lilljedahl hit back Dewey Townsend for 13 yards and receiver Justin Reeves for 17 yards. The scoring drive was aided by a pass interference and roughing the kicker penalties on the Wolves. C-City hit Lilljedahl as he missed on a 32 yard field goal, but the flag gave the Bulldogs new life.

The Bulldogs scored with 10:43 remaining in the second quarter when Lilljedahl hit a diving James Henson for a seven yard play.

After two five yard penalties, the Bulldogs missed the extra point.

After the Wolves first punt of the game, the Bulldogs engineered their final scoring drive of the game.

It took them eight plays to go 62 yards as Lilljedahl hit Townsend and Henson with gains of 11 yards each, and fullback Doug Rundle rumbled for 25 yards down to the Wolves 16.

From there Lilljedahl hit Henson again for the score. The try for two failed and Wylie led 12-0 with 6:38 remaining in the half.

Late in the quarter, Colorado City launched its most important drive of the night, according to Wolves PASS INTERFERENCE — Colorado City Wolves cornerback Joey Ritchey (40) goes up with Abilene Wylie receiver Justin Reeves for a pass in second quarter action in Saturday's AAA area clash. Marsh was flagged for pass interference on the play, but the Wolves won the contest 20-12.

Queens end tourney with winning edge

SNYDER — Coach Don Stevens' Howard Hawk-Queens closed out the Western Texas Classic tournament by taking a 68-50 win over McLennan Community College last night.

Again Stevens subbed his players freely throughout the contest as got good defense from his troops.

Last night the Queens held Hill County to 49 points.

The Queens jumped never trailed as they took a commanding 31-21 lead at the half.

Guard Alex Provecio paced the balanced Queens scoring attack with 15 points. Post player Joyce Boudreaux added 13 points and nine rebounds. Vickie Waid followed with six caroms as Howard out rebounded their opponents 33-25.

"We have been playing good defense," said Stevens. I've been playing alot of players because we need some experience coming off the bench. The only thing when you use this many players it sometimes throws off the team's rhythm. We are still struggling at the foul line (10-18). Our biggest game of the year against Amarillo College Monday at home (conference opener) is coming up.

The Queens will sport a sparkling 12-2 slate going into the contest.

Sooners headed to Orange Bowl again

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Spencer Tillman scored two second-half touchdowns as No. 2 Oklahoma came from behind Saturday to defeat third-ranked Oklahoma State, 24-14, to win a share of the Big Eight Conference and a berth in the Orange Bowl.

Tillman's scores, on runs of 3 and 20 yards, came on option pitches from quarterback Danny Bradley and capped long drives by Oklahoma, 9-1-1.

Tillman's first score came after Oklahoma State, which finished the season 9-2 and goes to the Gator Bowl, took a 14-7 lead by scoring on the last play of the first half and the third play of the third quarter.

The Sooners' initial score came on a 6-yard touchdown pass from Bradley to tight end Keith Jackson.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Tim Brown and Allen Pinkett scored touchdowns in a four-minute span of the second quarter as Notre Dame sloshed to a 19-7 victory over 14th-ranked Southern Cal in a downpour Saturday and wrap up a berth in the Aloha Bowl.

John Carney kicked two 45-yard field goals in the third period for the Irish as they beat error-prone Southern Cal in the Los Angeles Coliseum for the first time since 1966.

After the Trojans took a 7-0 lead on Ryan Knight's three-yard touchdown run seven minutes into the second period, Irish quarterback Steve Beuerlein directed a 76-yard scoring drive to tie the contest. Brown capped the march when he cut across the field just behind the line of scrimmage, took a short shovel pass from Beuerlein and scooted 11 yards around end for a touchdown.

Clemson 21

CLEMSON, S.C. (AP) — Quarterback Mike Hold's 1-yard run with 54 seconds left and Scott Hagler's second-chance extra point capped a dramatic rally and lifted ninth-ranked South Carolina to a 22-21 victory Saturday over arch-rival Clemson.

Hold, getting his first start of the season after being South Carolina's relief pitcher over the first 10 games, scored on a keeper to the right side. Hagler's first conversion kick was wide, but a Clemson player failed to get to the sidelines in time and the Tigers were penalized for having too many men on the field.

(No. 1) BYU 38

Utah St. 13

PROVO, Utah (AP) — Lakei Heimuli and Vai Sikahema ran for two touchdowns each as top-ranked Brigham Young rolled over Utah State 38-13 Saturday, giving the Cougars a spotless 12-0 season record and extending college football's longest winning streak to 23 games.

The nation's leading passing team scored only once through the air in the penalty-plagued contest. However, BYU quarterback Robbie Bosco threw for 338 yards in directing the Cougar offense.

A BYU interception seconds later was followed by a 26-yard scoring jaunt by Sikahema for the game's final score with 9:19 remaining.

Pittsburgh 31

Penn St. 11

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP) — Quarterback John Congemi threw three touchdown passes as Pitt rose from the ashes of its worst season in 12 years to upset Penn State 31-11 Saturday in the 84th meeting of these traditional rivals.

Congemi completed 16 of 22 passes for 204 yards as Pitt boosted its record to 3-7-1 for the season and reduced their deficit in the series to 41-39-4.

C-City

head coach Tom Ramsey. Chitsey marched his team 94 yards in eight plays in two minute's time. The big plays were passes of 31 and 30 yards to tight end Perry Conner. The latter moving the pigskin to the Wylie five. On the next play Chitsey scored, kicked the extra point and pulled C-City to within 12-7 at the half.

"That was the key drive," said Ramsey. It gave us an uplifting and was a momentum change. I felt like we could come back from 12-7, 12-0 would have been pretty hard."

Things started off bad for Colorado City in the second half as Reeves intercepted Chitsey's pass at the Wylie 35 on C-City's first possession.

After a scoreless third quarter the Wolves got a break when Armando Rivera intercepted his second pass of the night at the Wylie 49.

Eleven plays Armando Rivera ended things when he snagged a 11 yard scoring pass with 11:14 remaining in the contest. The try for two failed, but the Wolves led 13-12. Sammy Rivera, who ended the night with 78 yards in 15 tries, had 27 yards in the drive and Conner caught a 17 yard pass.

This set the stage for Chitsey's game-clinching TD in the final minutes of the contest.

Wylie ends the season at 9-3 while the Wolves, 11-1 advance to regional play versus Littlefield at 8 p.m. Friday in Lamesa.

Buffaloes run past Lometa, 33-6

BALLINGER — The Forsan Buffaloes, powered by the rushing of Mitch Hays and Wayne Wright, downed the Lometa Hornets 33-6 in class A state area play.

The duo rushed for 166 and 119 yards respectively as the Forsan Wing-T attack amassed 355 yards on the ground. Quarterback Todd East completed three passes for 69 yards, giving coach Jan East's squad over 400 yards total offense.

Meanwhile the Forsan defense, led by East and Wright at the linebacking spots limited Lometa to 150 total yards. Wright had two interceptions for the game.

Forsan took a 7-0 first quarter lead when East nailed Lance Soles with a 51 yard scoring pass. East's extra point was good. Forsan score twice more in the second quarter. The first capped of nine play, 93 yard drive with wingback Bobby Headrick scoring from 27 yards out. Again East's PAT was good.

Forsan closed out the scoring for the half when Hays went in from the one, following a fumble recovery at the Lometa 28-yard line by Jason Donaghe.

The Hornets struck first in the second half when quarterback Brian Thorpe connected with Brad Corradt for a 12-yard scoring pass. The try for two failed and the score read Forsan 20, Lometa 6 with 8:34 remaining in the third period.

The Buffaloes answered right back when Hays streaked 60 yards to paydirt. The PAT was good with 4:08 left in the third quarter.

Watson garners 'Skins win

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — Tom Watson, at 35 the youngest member of golf's greatest foursome, won all the money — $120,000 — in a nine-hole shutout of Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player in the Skins Game Saturday.

"Ooooh," Watson breathed, his lips pursed and a big smile breaking across his face when he rapped in an eight-foot putt for a bi. Jie that was worth $70,000 on the par-5 ninth hole at the Desert Highlands course.

While he had a huge lead, it was far from a lock at the halfway point of this unique event that brought together a foursome that has a combined total of 41 major professional victories.

Nine more holes, with a total of $240,000 up for grabs, are scheduled Sunday.

"He outclassed us all, quite easily," said Nicklaus, slightly hobbled by recent arthroscopic surgery on his left knee.

"It's a little better than through the first nine holes last year," Watson said, "but it isn't over."

Watson, who won a record sixth Player of the Year title earlier this season, was the only member of the foursome to score a birdie in the crisp, desert weather.

NFL roundup

Bills try for second upset-in-row

By The Associated Press
Last Sunday, Washington Redskins Coach Joe Gibbs was a Buffalo booster. This week, he will switch allegiances.
The Redskins will be trying to match the pace set by Dallas in the National Football Conference East Division Sunday when they meet the Bills in Washington.
The Bills come into the game with just one victory, last weekend over Dallas, which had helped throw the Redskins into a three-way tie with the Cowboys and the New York Giants for the division lead.
"Anytime somebody in the division loses, it helps us," Gibbs says.

"And I was glad to see Buffalo win one before we played them. When a team is hungry for its first win, they will fight to the very end to get a victory. Now, maybe some of the hunger has been satisfied."
The Cowboys took a half-game lead in the division with a 20-17 victory on Thanksgiving Day over the New England Patriots. Detroit beat Green Bay 31-28 in the other game Thursday.
Dallas is 8-5, while Washington and New York are 7-5. The Giants play host to the Kansas City Chiefs on Sunday.
Bills Coach Kay Stephenson obviously doesn't expect his team to have been sated by one victory. He says the Bills are beginning to enjoy a new role.

"Of course, you would rather be in first place yourself, but if you can't, you might as well enjoy the role of spoiler as much as you can," he said.
A key matchup in the American Conference will send second-place Seattle, 10-2, to Denver, which leads the AFC West with an 11-1 record. Thanks to Detroit's victory over Green Bay, the Chicago Bears, 8-4, can clinch the NFC Central with a victory over Minnesota, and the San Francisco 49ers, 11-1, can wrap up the NFC West with a victory over New Orleans.

Whale liberated from net

PROVINCETOWN, Mass. (AP) — Researchers say they hope a 38-foot female humpback whale will continue its migration south for the winter now that they have freed it from a gill net that kept it from maneuvering and breathing.

The 20- to 25-ton whale, named Ibis since the Cetacean Research Program at the Provincetown Center for Coastal Studies began monitoring her in 1979, was spotted Oct. 6 with the fish net wrapped tightly around her, said Susan Mackreth, the center's administrative assistant.

On Oct. 21, Ibis was spotted again, this time off Gloucester, with the net apparently snagged on the bottom of the ocean, said David Mattila, director of Caribbean cetacean studies at the center. "It looked like she was having great difficulty getting to the surface to breathe."

Storms batter Florida coast

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Strong winds and high seas along Florida's east coast abated Saturday, and the governor began touring areas worst hit by the three-day storm that left one man dead, washed away beaches and roads and prompted the evacuation of up to 1,000 people.

Gov. Bob Graham set out for aerial inspections of St. Johns, Volusia and Indian River counties "to see if we need to ask the federal government for further help," said press secretary Steve Hull. "It's the worst happening we've had in many, many years as far as beach construction is concerned," Brevard County Civil Defense Director Don Kean said. "We have no idea of damage estimates in terms of monetary loss."

Forecasters said the weather system was moving east and "conditions are slowly improving." Tides were 3 to 4 feet above normal, and coastal winds were up to 40 mph with higher gusts, the National Weather Service in Miami reported.

The storm also left a 230-foot Venezuelan freighter washed up against a sea wall adjoining the compound of Rose Kennedy, mother of Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., in posh Palm Beach.

One weather-related death was reported Friday as Graham declared a state of emergency for Volusia and St. Johns counties in the northeast.

Construction worker Anthony F. Borodauchuk, 40, of Juno Beach, died when he stepped on a high-voltage power line that went down when a Florida Power & Light Co. pole fell, said Palm Beach Sheriff's Detective Russell Butler.

In Indian River County, about 1,000 tourists and residents who fled hotels and condominiums along a 2-mile beachfront strip on Friday began returning to the area Saturday.

"We've got an awful lot of sea wall damage and two establishments that have had part of their buildings washed into the ocean," said Steve Wells, Indian River emergency management director. All but about 300 feet of a new $1 million concrete fishing pier in the community of St. Augustine collapsed, said Ray Ashton, the public safety director for St. Johns County.

Volusia County officials reported that the water level Saturday afternoon remained up to hotel seawalls and boardwalks. Beach access roads had also been washed out. In Flagler County, 200 feet of the coastal highway A1A foundation was washed out and traffic was being rerouted.

Water levels along the Intracoastal Waterway in Indian River County were 3½ feet above normal and "causing minor flooding in many locations," according to the weather service.

Gas firms to move

GUANAJUATO — Gas companies in the state of Guanajuato have been urged to relocate to unpopulated areas.

The state's Department of Trade and Industrial Development has asked all gas companies in cities to move to new locations by February, 1985, according to the government news service, Notimex.

The agency reportedly singled out a company with a large storage capacity, Guanagas, in the city of Leon, 235 miles northwest of Mexico City. Guanagas was asked to move to another site it already owns by the end of the year.

Monday, liquid petroleum gas tanks exploded at a Petroleos Mexicanos storage facility in a northern section of Mexico City, sending a firestorm through the working-class neighborhood and leaving 346 people dead.

Coffe profits down

CUERNAVACA — The president of the National Federation of Coffee Producers says that coffee-growing is profitable only for major producers.

Pastor Murguía said at an agricultural meeting here that growers who produce on a small scale end up losing half their investment. Murguía said 100,000 Mexicans grow coffee for a living, but he did not say how many of those are large producers.

Mexico will export about 4,750,000 tons of coffee from the 1984-1985 harvest, bringing in more than $350 million, Murguía said.

Trade pact signed

MEXICO CITY — Mexico and the Central American Bank of Economic Integration have agreed to promote trade and development in Central America.

"The solution to the conflicts the Central American people are facing lies in the strengthening their economic and social development," Finance Minister Jesus Silva Herzog said at the signing of an agreement on Thursday.

Under the accord, Mexico will contribute $72 million, 20 percent of which will go into the bank's capital fund and 80 percent into various development projects.

The agreement falls under a broad 1980 energy agreement, which gives Central American countries a break on their oil bills and provides credit to finance development projects.

Silva Herzog said emphasis would be made on agricultural projects, since food can then be exported to Mexico. Projects that use Mexican goods and services will receive preferential credit terms, he said.

Santa's helpers are BSHS students

By TINA STEFFEN
Lifestyle Editor

An early signal that Christmas is near is the result of three weeks work by Big Spring High School's Home Appliance Repair students.

The students annually repair the lighted garland that city workmen place on utility poles along Fourth Street and around the courthouse square. A project since 1978, the class offers its services as a Christmas gift to the community, according to Frank Ortega, who teaches the Home Appliance Repair classes.

The decorations are used as a training thing for my students, which is a great help.

In 1978, the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce, through contributions, purchased second-hand decorations from area communities who were upgrading theirs. Despite the second-hand nature, each decoration adorning a light pole in the city cost between $200 and $300. The decorations were in less than perfect condition when the Chamber bought them. Most required replacement of garland and low watt light bulbs.

Since the students specialize in learning about electricity and repairing electrical appliances, the decorations became a project they could practice their skills on. At the same time they were able to perform a community service.

The first year the classes had to rewire and put new garland on all the candy and tree-shaped decorations used in the city. Since then, they have maintained the tree-shaped decorations by replacing bulbs and rewiring the ones that are damaged. They have worked on this project every year for seven years.

"(The students) look for bad fuses, short circuits in the system, bad light sockets and bad plugs. They use a meter to test the circuits. Both male and female students do it," Ortega said.

Once the students complete their work, the City of Big Spring uses its utility employees and equipment to install the decorations along Fourth Street and the courthouse square.

When the students aren't working on Christmas decorations, they work on almost anything that has to do with large home appliances, such as automatic washers, electric dryers, refrigerators, electric motors. They work on everything electrical except electronics. However, if electronic items are donated to the classes, then students work on them, Ortega said.

The freshman and sophomore students take the course for two years. They begin by learning the theory of electricity. Then they go on to learn how electricity works, how to use the tools, and how to use the instruments that check and test the appliances. After they have mastered that knowledge, they begin working on appliances. "The decorations are used as a training thing for my students, which is a great help," Ortega said.

The students learn how to apply for a job as well as learn an electrical trade. The class prepares the students for work. They get the basic knowledge of electrical work in the class and could start out from there being an electrician's helper, said Ortega.

"They want to learn a trade. After they take this class, they can take another class," in which they go to school a half day and work half day at a job that is related to their electrical repair training, Ortega said.

"The home appliance class will accept donated large home appliances such as washers, electric dryers and refrigerators. The appliances can be picked up by the instructor. They are used for training aids," Ortega said. To contact Ortega, call Big Spring High School at 267-7461 extension 154.

McKinnon adds wild horses to pet menagerie

By KIM KIRKHAM
Lifestyle Writer

Ol' McKinnon had a farm, ee-ii-ee-ii-oo. And on that farm he had some horses, ee-ii-ee-ii-oo. He also had Brahmas, wild turkeys, cats, dogs and rabbits.

"I've always had a horse or two," said Ray McKinnon, an Elbow rancher. "(But) when the kids all left (home) we sort of got away from it." That is until the first of November.

The latest addition to McKinnon's collection of animals are two wild mares and two wild colts he adopted through a federal adoption program for wild mustangs and burros.

He got the idea for adopting the horses from an article in the Oct. 15 issue of the Big Spring Herald. McKinnon and his wife Charlene picked up their new pets Nov. 3 at Texas' only permanent adoption center, two miles west of Collisville on FM 902 and about 35 miles northeast of Denton.

The adoption program, administered by the Bureau of Land Management (BLM), began in 1973 as a humane method for disposing of excess animals removed from public lands. Because the animals are protected by the Wild Free-Roaming Horse and Burro Act of 1971 and have no natural predators to limit population growth, their numbers are increasing rapidly.

"They're not near as wild as they were," said McKinnon about his new horses. One mare is five years old and the other is six. The two colts are six months old.

He paid $250 for the four horses. "They wouldn't sell you just the colt, you had to take a mare, too," McKinnon said. The agency allows each person to adopt only four horses a year.

THE WILD BUNCH — Elbow rancher Ray McKinnon adopted the four horses pictured above through a federal adoption program for wild mustangs and burros. Texas' only permanent adoption center is two miles west of Collisville on FM 902. The adoption program, ad-

The cost of adoption a mare with a colt, a single mare or stallion, or burro does not compensate the government for rounding up the animals and transporting them, said Sharon Paden of the BLM office in Santa Fe, N.M., but almost covers veterinary fees for shots, worming and Coggins tests for swamp fever that each animal must have before crossing state lines.

McKinnon plans to "break'em to lead, and make saddle horses out of these colts." He said he will have the colts "gentled down" in a month's time.

However, McKinnon has some problems feeding the horses. "Them ponies don't know what grain is," McKinnon said. He feeds them hay. "They wouldn't hardly eat out of that trough when I brought them here."

He also is afraid to let them out of their fenced area. "I might never get them back in the pen.

"No two horses have the same disposition," explained McKinnon. "You've got to treat each as an individual."

McKinnon puts his animals first. "I was raised on a farm all my life and we were raised to take care of the animals first. Then you eat," he said.

"I rode ol' Chalk to school from the time I started," McKinnon said about his first horse. "I rode lots of horses right up here to (Elbow) school."

McKinnon attended school at Moore while helping his grandfather, the late A. K. Merrick, train race horses. "I never was much for horse races, but I liked the horses."

In 1959, McKinnon competed against 25 contestants to win first place in the senior roping class of a local rodeo. He was riding 9-year-old Jigger Joe, a small quarter horse he trained himself.

McKinnon's children learned to ride horses on Jigger Joe. They had him for 26 years before he died in 1978.

McKinnon used to rope and bulldog in rodeos and trained one of the best bulldogging horses around San Antonio, he said. He rode in his first rodeo in 1945 when he was 16 years old.

"We've got a root box full of trophies and ribbons we won with those horses," he said.

McKinnon also raises 30 to 40 red Brahma cattle. He has been in the Brahma business for five years and is a member of the American Brahman Breeders Association.

Wild turkeys and rabbits scurry around McKinnon's 160 acres, as well as his pet cats and dogs. He also has a Shetland pony named "Sancho" that his young grandchildren ride.

A retired Air Force master sergeant, McKinnon now cares for his livestock and equipment and raises grain for his cattle. "It's just a full time job," he said.

Dentists bond disc to teeth to identify children

By DAVID FOX
Associated Press Writer

O'FALLON, Ill. (AP) — The black spots on the teeth of some youngsters might not be tooth decay. They could be tooth display — tiny identification discs cemented to teeth that could help locate missing children.

The Maxwell-Conover Micro Informational Disc is the inspiration of Dr. Jeffrey Maxwell, a Pekin dentist, and police detective Sgt. Jim Conover. It is a piece of plastic containing vital data, such as the wearer's name, address, telephone number, and medical information.

"The disc is mounted to the side of the tooth," Maxwell explained. "Then, in a case where you're unconscious and go to the emergency room, they have the information they need."

"Or say a child is found and, either because of youth or drugging he doesn't know who he is, you can tell everything you'd want to know about him." He said the disc also would be useful for the elderly, amnesia victims or the mentally ill.

It takes only a few minutes to be bonded to a tooth, and drilling is not required. The disc can be removed, and the information on it viewed with a magnifying glass.

Maxwell said the disc was developed from the forensic work he and Conover had done in identifying both the living and dead.

"We worked with the FBI computer out of Washington, filling in dental charts for missing children," he said Wednesday. "A couple of the charts we filled out were very non-unusual; they could have fit almost any kid."

"We kept getting together, and more frustrated, especially with the problem of missing children. We felt there's just got to be a better way of identifying these kids, something they can't lose so no one can take their wallet or ID card and throw it away."

Maxwell said more than 1,000 discs have been sold to dentists from every state since they went on the market in July, but the Spring Valley Dental Group, four O'Fallon dentists, was the first big client.

"We offered it free of charge — that is the service; the disc costs $10," said Dr. Philip E. Kahlert. "As far as I know, we are the first large dental group to use it."

Kahlert's group is offering the service at cost, but only about 50 discs have been applied.

"The response has just not been overwhelming," he said. "Maybe the $10 stood in the way of some people, and maybe some are just sort of burned-out."

Still, he was confident the project would continue.

"It's a good service; I'm still firmly convinced of that," he said. "Of course there's a lot of people who deny the reality of it. They believe it can't happen to their kid."

"But when you look at the number of missing children in the United States every year, I think it's frightening. And if it saves one kid out of a thousand — no, out of 10,000 — I think it's worth it."

DENTAL ID — A small plastic disc planted on a tooth is a new identification tool being used by some dentists. In this photo, the top of the mouth is on the right.

Wedding

Daily-Fowler

Karla Lynn Daily and Jimmy Joe Fowler were united in marriage during an evening ceremony, Nov. 3, at First Baptist Church Chapel in Snyder. The Rev. Ken Branam, pastor, officiated at the rite before two rainbows and one heart-shaped candelabra with greenery.

The bride is the daughter of Paula Dodd, 2201 Runnels, and Bob Daily, 1709 Johnson. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Fowler, Snyder.

Glen Polk, pianist, and Cindy Hattaway, vocalist, provided music for the ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Michael Dodd.

The bride wore a formal-length gown of candlelight satin and lace.

The bodice was embellished with lace and featured bouffant sleeves which were accented with bows at the shoulders. The skirt fell into a chapel-length train. To complete her ensemble, she wore a fingertip-length veil held by a ring of baby's breath and lace.

The bride carried a bouquet of peach tiger lilies, roses and baby's breath.

Tina Fitzgibbons, sister of the bride, and Lori Calhoun, were matron and maid of honor respectively. Bridesmaids were Shawnda Wiman of Abilene and Jo'll Shearea of San Antonio, cousin of the bridegroom. Tatum Weeks was flower girl.

bridegroom, was best man. Ben Cook of Snyder was ring bearer. Groomsmen were John Smith, Tom Bills and Devin Donaldson, all of Snyder. Ushers were Mark Rice and Kevin Ray of San Angelo and Barney Dodd, brother of the bride. Candlelighters were Amy Polk of Snyder and Lezli Fowler of Snyder, sister of the bridegroom.

A reception at the church's Garden Room honored the couple following the ceremony. The bride's table featured a three-tiered petal cake decorated with peach violets. It was topped with a bride and bridegroom figurine. The bridegroom's table was decorated with blue splatterware with white ceramic ducks. It featured a cake decorated with a Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity symbol.

The bride graduated from Big Spring High School and attended Howard College. The bridegroom graduated from Snyder High School and attended Western

Johansen makes Christmas tree suggestions to Rosebud Club

"Home Landscapes for West Texas with Christmas in Mind" was the subject of Mrs. Carl Johansen's program during the Rosebud Garden Club meeting, Nov. 13, at Dora Roberts Community Center.

Mrs. Johansen suggested that potted living pine trees could be decorated as Christmas trees indoors and later be planted in the yard. Mrs. Odell Womack announced that youths from Coahoma entered the yearly environmental speech and essay contests. Each year the club presents prizes to winners of the contests.

Mrs. Womack, president of the Big Spring Council of Garden Clubs, announced that through the cooperation of people in the community, the Council is able to award five scholarships this year to Howard College students.

The next meeting is a covered-dish luncheon at the home of Mrs. Clyde Thomas, Dec. 11.

Lomax, Duncan tie for high score

Norma Murdock was a guest. The next meeting will be at the home of Verma McIlvain, Dec. 21. It will be a Christmas party.

Twila Lomax and Gene Duncan tied for high score during the Rook Club meeting, Nov. 16, at Mrs. Lomax's home.

Dear Abby

High cost of holiness surprises worshipers

DEAR ABBY: Our 24-year-old daughter, her husband and their 6-year-old son recently moved from Las Vegas to a small town in northern California. (Her husband's company transferred him there.)

They wanted to attend services for the High Holy Days, but were told the "tickets" cost $50 apiece—even for the child. Her husband went to see the rabbi and told him they couldn't afford it because they were expecting another baby soon, and making ends meet was difficult.

I offered to pay for their tickets, but they said they needed a larger apartment, a crib and other things for the baby more.

I am very sad to think a ticket to attend services on the High Holy Days costs more than a ticket to a Michael Jackson concert.

Abby, it seems to me that there should have been some way this could have been worked out for people who want to worship at a temple. I await your reply.

APPALLED MOTHER
IN OHIO

DEAR APPALLED: I, too, was appalled, so I called Rabbi Jacob Pressman at the Beth Am Temple in Los Angeles and read your letter to him.

His reply: "Unlike churches that are supported by weekly collections or tithing, synagogues are sustained by annual membership dues. Because of the great number of worshipers who want to attend only for the High Holy Days, the seating capacity exceeds the limit, so it is necessary to reserve seats for those who make prior arrangements. Those who do not wish to join the congregation make their contributions, then seats are reserved for them. They are also welcome every other day of the year. (Nobody has to 'pay to pray'.)

"Those who cannot afford a full membership or even a High Holy Day donation are welcome in any synagogue in the world, if they make their special needs and limitations known to the responsible parties."

DEAR ABBY: Concerning your answer to "Runner-up" in which you explain how far some beauty contestants go in the use of artificial attachments: I have seen wigs, caps, plates, artificial freckles, phony suntans, falsies, hip and rear-end padding, false fingernails, colored contacts, false eyebrows and hair colored every color on the palette—sometimes all on one head—plus various other beauty "aids," but who ever heard of a teen-ager with silicone implants? Certainly not I, and I am a...

BOSOM BUDDY

DEAR BUDDY: You should get around more. I assure you there are some.

ENGAGED — Mr. and Mrs. Ben A. Beadle, 111 Jefferson, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Laurie Lea, to Gary E. Wilkerson of Olney. Wilkerson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Wilkerson, 1801 Morrison. The couple will wed Jan. 12 at Wesley United Methodist Church. The Rev. Johnny Robertson, pastor, will officiate.

Hand grips may end swelling problem

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: The letter from the man whose hands swell when he walks prompts me to write. My wife, who has arthritis in her hands, had the same problem. We walk at a brisk pace for exercise and swing our arms pendulum style. Each time we walked my wife's hands would swell, even after only two or three miles.

Somewhere I got the idea of carrying hand grips while running. I cut some pieces of broom handle to fit our hands. It worked. From the very first time we carried them her hands did not swell. If as sometimes happens she forgets the grips her hands swell, but never when she wears them. If the gentleman who wrote to you tries this I hope he will find it works. — J.T.E.

Thanks; that's a good idea. You've hit on a new use for the "Heavy Hands" weight grips that some use in their jogging programs. Those grips are supposed to help develop upper body strength and add an element of total body conditioning to a running program. Your idea is another good use for them. Your broom handle adaptation is an economical answer.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Do you think I am going to develop arthritis eventually by jogging? I heard on the radio something to that effect. I don't want any part of jogging if that happens to participants. — W.W.

We're talking about osteoarthritis, the wear-and-tear type. There was a recent study of runners who logged 25 miles a week for many years. The investigators found no signs of arthritis in any greater number of them than one would expect to find in comparable non-runners. I, too, have heard some doctors express reservations about possible arthritis development from joint trauma, especially of the knees, in running. But I have not yet found any documentation of that fear. And the study I mentioned above seems to refute the idea.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters.

By LILA ESTES

Q: It seems a homeowner could be of assistance in helping the real estate agent show his house to prospective buyers. Why is this discouraged?
 A: First of all, showing a house is time-consuming and, often, inconvenient. Part of the real estate agent's job is to relieve you of those two burdens. The agent will also quietly suggest that you stay in the background because a homeowner — through justifiable pride — may say too much about some things, and too little about others. The agent not only knows the merits and short-comings of your home, he also knows for what the prospective buyer is looking. Finally, a third party, the agent, can usually be more objective, put things into clearer perspective, and project that perspective and objectivity to the buyer.

TEASING

Roughing hair, back-combing it and teasing are basically identical techniques. They give added body to hair styles and, if hair is in good condition and, when properly performed, do not do any damage. These techniques should be performed gently, however, and not too often to minimize roughening and tangling. This is especially true if hair is dry and brittle or breaks easily. Excessive tension on hair during teasing may produce some temporary hair loss, such as can sometimes result from wearing tight ponytails and braids. If you prefer styles that require teasing, be wise to have it professionally done rather than attempting to do it yourself. Teasing also tends to tangle hair which can often lead to breakage.

Hair that is silky, shiny and manageable can be yours with the proper shampoo and conditioners. The fast paced and hectic schedule that most of us keep does not allow us the time each day for lengthy stays in front of the mirror fixing and fussing with our hair. Carefree, easy care styles are a must. LA CONTESSA is here to meet your demands. Come to us when you care enough about yourself to want the very best. We are located at 1508 Marcy. We are available Tues.-Sat. Tel. 267-2187. To all our many friends and neighbors, we wish a Happy Thanksgiving.

— HINT —
 Remove tangles by brushing at the ends then working toward the scalp.
