Deputy kills youth after chase

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

A sheriff's deputy shot and killed a San Angelo youth who was fleeing police in a stolen vehicle after he attempted to run a roadblock on Highway 87 south of Big Spring, Sheriff A.N. Standard said today. Deputy O.D. Majors fired two shotgun blasts at the oncoming vehicle at a roadblock he had set up near the Forsan exit of Highway 87, Standard said. The shooting occurred at 2:53 a.m. after an eight-minute chase by Big Spring police.

Joe Guadalupe Garza, 17, of San Angelo died at 7:40 a.m. at Odessa Medical Center Hospital, Standard said. Police said Garza was hit in the head with shotgun pellets. Standard said he has ordered an autopsy.

The vehicle's other occupant, Richard E. Flores, 17, of San Angelo was uninjured, Standard said. Police arrested Flores on suspicion of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and burglary of a motor vehicle at the scene of the shooting.

City police and the sheriff's office reconstruct the events this way: Police stopped a vehicle at 2:45 a.m. in the 500 block of North Gregg for a traffic violation. When police officer Randy Roberts got out of his car to approach the 1975 Pontiac Firebird, the car took off.

Roberts pursued, and police in two other cars assisted in the chase south on Gregg Street. Police notified the sheriff's office of the chase.

Deputy Majors, 54, of Coahoma was patrolling near the Forsan area and used his vehicle to set up a roadblock two miles south of FM 821 on U.S. Highway 87, Standard said.

As the vehicle approached Majors' roadblock, Majors "said he was imperilled" and the deputy fired two shots while "jumping out of the way," Standard said. One shot struck Garza, who was driving. The sports car veered right, off the roadway, struck a mesquite tree and stopped 1,000 feet away, according to measurements of Chief Deputy William Shankles, Standard said.

According to police reports, the vehicle went through the roadblock and swerved as if to hit Majors, who fired his shotgun twice. Both shots hit the car on the driver's side.

Garza was taken to Malone-Hogan Hospital by Shaffer Ambulance. He was transferred to the hospital in Odessa.

Standard said he requested an autopsy through Justice of the Peace Virgil Lumpee of Ector County.

The sheriff said he has asked the Texas Rangers to investigate the shooting. Standard said he believes the case will be referred to the Howard County Grand Jury. Ranger Charles Brune of Big Spring said he is investigating the case and declined to comment.

Majors was police chief on a one-man force for the city of Coahoma for five-and-one-half years until he was hired by the sheriff's office late last month. Following Majors' resignation, the Coahoma city council eliminated its police department because of financial difficulties.

Police initially stopped the vehicle in connection with suspicion of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and burglary of a motor vehicle.

The car in which the two suspects were traveling was reportedly stolen from a San Angelo car lot.

The burglary of a motor vehicle occurred in Big Spring, police said. A large toolbox, which the suspects reportedly threw in the path of pursuing police cars, has been identified by a local man.

In addition to Roberts, police officers David Rios, Phillip Buys and Sgt. Ray Meek joined in the chase.

County approves contract with INS

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

Suspected illegal aliens will be housed in the county jail under a contract approved today between Howard County Commissioners and the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

The INS' Border Patrol had been holding aliens in the Big Spring city jail. However, the city stopped housing prisoners of other agencies Nov. 1.

Under the contract approved by commissioners, the INS will pay the county $22 per day per prisoner.

Commissioners also approved allocating between $1,800 and $2,000 to the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center for repairs and agreed to change the county's pesticide service from Orkin to Foster's Pest Control of Big Spring.

"We've been having trouble getting rid of all the roaches," County Auditor Jackie Olson said.

Commissioners also authorized the county to advertise for bids for reconstruction of the concrete ramp at the west end of the courthouse.

According to Commissioner David Barr, the ramp must be rebuilt so it will be level with the door to a distance of 5 feet. Wheelchair-bound persons were having trouble opening the door, he said.

In addition, commissioners approved two requests to allow pipelines to cross county roads.

Fairchild Petroleum will be allowed to have its pipeline cross county Road 34 and Charles Wash will be permitted to let a water pipeline cross Road 17.

Commissioners also accepted bids for two dump truck beds at $7,292 from Hobbs Trucking; two pickups from Bob Brock Ford — one for $9,768 without a trade and one for $8,968 with a trade of a 1978 Ford pickup; and two dump trucks from from Pollard Chevrolet — one for $25,164 without a trade and one for $20,164 with a trade.

State hospital adds 25 new employees

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — The Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation announced Monday the hiring of 260 new employees, including 25 at Big Spring State Hospital.

"Even though the department is ahead of schedule in achieving court-ordered staff-to-patient ratios, we are adding employees now because their presence will represent a distinct benefit for our patients," Dr. Gary E. Miller, MH-MR commissioner, said in a written statement.

The department has been under court orders to improve the supervision of patients by reducing the number of patients supervised by each employee.

Miller said that ratio already has been improved by expanding community services at the local level and thus reducing the number of patients admitted to state hospitals.

The new hirings are possible under flexibility granted by the Texas Legislature to use lapsed funds that normally are returned to the state general revenue and to transfer other departmental funds, Miller said.

Personnel offices at the hospitals will be conducting the hiring.

BLAST VICTIMS — Police transport the bodies of five victims of a rural gas pipeline explosion that occurred Sunday afternoon. 17 other people were injured in the blast.

Gas explosion kills 5

Authorities uncertain what caused blast

ST. FRANCISVILLE, La. (AP) — An isolated hunting camp was reduced to "just charred leaves and stumps" by a 250-foot fireball from a natural gas pipeline that exploded while being repaired, killing five workers and injuring 21 other people, officials said.

Authorities were uncertain what caused the blast Sunday afternoon about 12 miles west of St. Francisville in the hilly, southeastern Louisiana woods as workers for Clarkco of Jackson, Miss., and Texas Eastern Gas Corp. of Houston reconditioned the pipeline.

"All we know is that a construction crew was working on a Texas Eastern line," said West Feliciana Parish Sheriff Bill Daniels. "For some unknown reason, there was an eruption that was followed by an explosion."

"The area was leveled with just charred leaves and stumps for a wide area. The hunting camp was destroyed," Daniels said.

"The clock stopped at 1:21," said Tommy Tubbs, who lives across a rural road from the construction site. Tubbs and his wife heard the blast and "ran and opened the door, and looked down the road," Tubbs said.

"We saw what looked to be a dirt cloud — it must have been 250 feet over the trees," he said. "Then we heard a loud roar, and the dust cloud turned into flames."

Tubbs said he and his wife fled when that happened. "We were scared. We came back when some police cars and some ambulances started coming in."

Four of the dead worked for Clarkco and the other was a Texas Eastern employee, Daniels said. Some of the victims were burned beyond recognition and none had been identified by early today, he said.

World Court ruling favors Nicaragua

Judges vote 15-1 to handle complaint against U.S.

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP) — The World Court ruled today that it does have jurisdiction over Nicaragua's complaint that the United States was "waging armed attacks" aimed at toppling the Sandinista government.

The ruling foiled a U.S. motion to dismiss the complaint, which was filed April 9. The United States claimed that Nicaragua never recognized the authority of the World Court and thus the court had no authority in the case.

In a 15-1 vote asserting jurisdiction, the court said Nicaragua "had unconditionally declared that it recognized the jurisdiction of the court by signing and ratifying the charter of the United Nations" under which the court is constituted.

American Judge Stephen M. Schwebel dissented from today's majority ruling. At Nicaragua's request, one judge was added to the court for this case only, due to the United States' presence on the 15-member panel.

The United States contended during oral proceedings in April that Nicaragua never recognized the authority of the World Court, or its predecessor, the Permanent Court of Justice of the League of Nations, and thus could not apply to the court for a judgment.

During those initial proceedings,

Nicaragua maintained it had in fact recognized the panel's jurisdiction by signing and ratifying the U.N. Charter.

In today's ruling, read by Court President Taslim Olawale Elias of Nigeria, the court also rejected a Reagan administration declaration last April 6 that the United States would exempt itself from World Court jurisdiction in Central American disputes for a period of two years.

That statement by the United States was intended to undercut Nicaragua's filing of its complaint three days later. The World Court today ruled that the United States cannot exempt itself in advance from court authority.

Despite its announcement, the United States assigned a legal team to the case and has participated in the proceedings thus far.

The court based its ruling on U.S. acceptance of its authority on a 1946 U.S. pledge to unequivocally recognize court jurisdiction unless the United States had given six months notice that it would not do so.

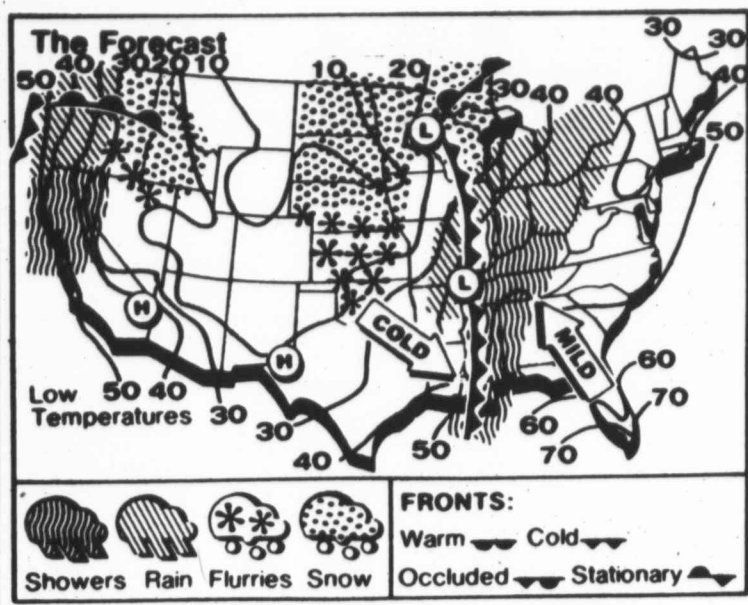

The court's assumption of jurisdiction in the case cleared the way for hearings on U.S.-supported military action against the leftist Sandinista government. Those hearings could take several years, and any ruling would not be binding since the court has no enforcement powers.

The court also ruled today that last May's interim ruling against the United States — which ordered it to cease any military actions against the Sandinistas and to "fully respect Nicaraguan sovereignty and political independence" — should remain in force until a final adjudication of the dispute.

The United States backs anti-Sandinista rebels based in Honduras and Costa Rica. Nicaragua's leaders have claimed that the United States is planning an "imminent" invasion of the Central See World page 2-A

Uruguay elects new president

Country ends 11-year military rule

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — Voters chose centrist Julio Sanguinetti as Uruguay's president and then poured by the tens of thousands into the streets to celebrate an election held to end 11 years of military rule and revive their once-proud democratic tradition.

Although ballots from across this small South American country continued to be counted today, Sanguinetti was accepted by opponents as the winner in the 10-man presidential race. The election Sunday was the first national voting in Uruguay in 13 years.

"The country has now entered a period of dignity," the 48-year-old Sanguinetti, a lawyer and part-time political journalist, said in a victory speech at the headquarters of his Colorado Party. "The party is ready to undertake the task of national reconstruction."

His major opponent, Alberto Zumaran of the National Party, made a surprise appearance during the victory address to concede defeat. "I feel honored to comply with the decision of the people," he said, embracing Sanguinetti.

The current military government is headed by Gregorio C. Alvarez, who was sworn in for a term of three and a half years in September 1981.

Official returns from 7,542 of the country's 7,873 polling places showed Sanguinetti's party capturing 711,902 votes, or 38.5 percent.

The National Party had 607,672 votes, or 32.9 percent. The Broad Front, a coalition of leftist parties, had 378,562 votes, or 20.5 percent.

An estimated 2 million people had been expected to vote.

Sanguinetti's running mate was Enrique Tarigo, 57, also a lawyer and journalist. Under an accord with the ruling armed forces, the new leadership will assume power next March 1.

Voters also selected a 30-seat

NEW PRESIDENT — Julio Sanguinetti, addressed supporters Monday early, as he announced his victory in Sunday's elections. He will take office March 1, ending military rule in Uruguay after 11 years.

Senate, a 99-member House of Representatives and hundreds of local officials, including chief administrators of the country's 19 provinces.

Since cross-party voting was not permitted, the makeup of the Senate and House will be in line with the percentage of presidential votes for each party. With returns still incomplete, the specific number of senators and representatives gained by each party could not be determined.

When the polls closed, tens of thousands of people filled the capital's main boulevard, chanting "Long Live Democracy" and other slogans.

A noisy caravan of cars and trucks crawled along the street, beating out rhythms on horns.

Blue-helmeted police who have been out in large numbers for weeks withdrew from sight after the country had voted.

The celebration was marred by an early-morning confrontation between right-wing and left-wing partisans in which two people were injured, one by gunshots, and one by a blow. Witnesses said the two bands of youths started tossing bottles and rocks at each other when two shots rang out.

Mounted officers from a nearby police station moved in to restore order, and the two injured were taken to a hospital. Information on their conditions was not immediately available.

The armed forces seized power in 1973, two years after the last elections, during a period of leftist terrorist activity and severe labor and student unrest.

Military leaders proved unable, however, to cope with critical economic problems, which include a $5 billion foreign debt, a 60 percent annual inflation rate and 14.5 percent unemployment.

Sanguinetti, 48, running with the slogan "A peaceful change," had been a principle figure in negotiations to restore civilian rule.

He is viewed as a political moderate and is supported by the country's business community.

He served as minister of culture and as minister of labor under the Colorado government that was toppled when the armed forces took control.

Zumaran, 44, was a virtual unknown in politics until three years ago, when he assumed the directorship of a National Party weekly magazine. He ran as a stand-in candidate for party leader Wilson Ferreira Aldunate, who was jailed June 16 upon returning from 11 years in self-exile.

The military coup in Uruguay shattered a century-old tradition.

American country.

On May 10, before the jurisdiction question was settled, the court ordered the U.S. government to stop all military activity aimed at Nicaragua and to "fully respect" its sovereignty and political independence.

Under its statutes, the World Court can take such "interim measures" when it judges that the sovereign rights of a nation are in jeopardy.

That ruling was hailed as a "moral victory" by Nicaragua, which U.S. representative Davis R. Robinson had accused of "abusing the Court to stage a propaganda parade."

The United States also claimed during the initial proceedings in April that a court ruling in the case would jeopardize the Contadora peace process, an initiative by Mexico, Panama, Venezuela and Columbia to achieve a comprehensive settlement of all conflicts in Central America.

Blast

Texas Eastern spokesman James Young in Houston said the cause of the explosion, which knocked out telephones and electricity in the area, was not known. "We are investigating the cause right now," he said.

Two bodies were found near a bulldozer and two backhoes, Young said. "They were burned fairly badly."

Workers were "rehabilitating" the pipeline when the blast occurred, he said. "We routinely replace pipeline, to maintain the integrity of the pipeline to go along with the density of the population in the area."

Accident death toll reaches 31 for state

By The Associated Press

At least 31 people were killed in traffic accidents on Texas highways during the long Thanksgiving holiday weekend.

Authorities said Craig Allen Wing, 23, of Canyon Lake, died Sunday night on a rural Comal County road after his car failed to negotiate a curve.

The holiday traffic death count compiled by The Associated Press began at 5 p.m. CST Wednesday and continued until 11 p.m. Sunday. The toll was down from the same weekend a year ago, when 49 lives were lost on the state's roads.

As soon as the fire occurred, sensors noted a loss of pressure and shut off the gas supply to the line, he said. The fire was out by sunset.

The injured were originally taken to West Feliciana Hospital in St. Francisville, with those most severely injured transferred to the Baton Rouge General Medical Center, 30 miles to the south, said West Feliciana spokesman Craig Talbot.

Talbot said 21 were brought to the West Feliciana facility, four were admitted, five were treated as out-patients and 12 were sent to Baton Rouge. He said four of those who suffered burns in the blast were a couple and their two sons.

Beatrice Taylor, 42, of Houston died at 10 p.m. Sunday, the victim of a hit-and-run motorist. She was standing in a Houston street talking to someone when a car that was reportedly driven by a man hit her and sped away. Police arrested someone later in connection with the incident.

An unidentified man died on Houston's West Belt about 3:30 p.m. Sunday when his car crossed the center line and smashed into another car. A motorcycle and pickup truck also became involved in the wreckage.

Council to consider contract

The Big Spring City Council Tuesday night will consider awarding an engineering contract to Parkhill, Smith and Cooper for runway improvements at the Big Spring Airport.

The improvements will be paid for by part of a $568,708 Federal Aviation Administration grant awarded to the city in September, according to Airport Manager Hal Boyd.

The current project cost is currently estimated at $49,400, including $5,600 for pavement analysis services. The other $43,800 will pay for design, bidding and construction costs, according to Boyd. The current project cost is only about 7.8 percent of the FAA grant, according to police.

Also at the 6:30 p.m. Tuesday meeting, the council also will award bids for micro-cassette recorders and holsters for the police department.

And it will establish a policy for a minority business enterprise program to ensure more businesses owned by minorities and women will participate in bidding for city contracts for work at the airport and amend personnel rules and regulations to prevent discrimination against the handicapped.

Caller reaches out and touches world

DALLAS (AP) — A college sophomore got a $33,533 phone bill after someone using her long-distance credit card number reached out and touched people all over the world.

"My favorite call of these was to Bangladesh from Wichita. It was for 176 minutes and the total was $527.37," said Carol Kuhler, 19.

Someone apparently spent hours on pay phones to places like Indonesia, Italy, Bangladesh, Sweden, Egypt, Kuwait and Jordan, according to her 254-page October bill.

When Ms. Kuhler applied for her credit card in September, she estimated her long-distance bills would be no more than $50 a month — $33,450 less than her first bill.

"My mother is the only one I ever call and she lives in Dallas," the University of Texas at Arlington student said.

The card never arrived — at least not to Ms. Kuhler.

"The phone company called about Oct. 3 and asked me why I had been using my calling card so much in the past 24 hours on overseas calls," she said. "I told them I didn't even have a card."

She said she heard from the phone company about two weeks later — when she was warned "not to faint" when her bill arrived.

Cops look for gun carrier

NEW HAVEN, Conn. — Police evacuated a railroad station and surrounded an Amtrak passenger train packed with 500 holiday travelers as they conducted a futile 1½-hour search for four men believed to be carrying guns.

The search of the Philadelphia-to-Boston Ben Franklin was prompted by the discovery of a military carbine in a duffel bag at Pennsylvania Station in New York, Amtrak spokesman John McLeod said Sunday.

Police told passengers the delay was caused by a mechanical failure and confronted "one or two people fitting the general description," but found no weapons or anything suspicious, said police Maj. Walter Connor.

N-plant reactor stops

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif. — A reactor at the Diablo Canyon nuclear power plant stopped automatically "as it should have" when a generator it drives malfunctioned, but further testing shouldn't be delayed, officials said.

The shutdown Saturday was listed as an "unusual event," the least serious of four problem levels set by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission, and followed an unidentified problem in the Unit 1 generator, not the reactor, said Ron Weinberg, spokesman for Pacific Gas & Electric.

Testing at the $5.3 billion plant began after the NRC issued a full-power operation license for Unit 1 on Nov. 2.

Aftershock rocks area

MAMMOTH LAKES, Calif. — An area of the Sierra Nevada jolted last week by a strong earthquake was jostled by a medium-strength aftershock, but no damage or injuries were reported, authorities said.

The 8:15 a.m. Sunday aftershock was centered 25 miles northeast of Lake Crowley in the Mammoth Lakes area, the state Office of Emergency Services in Sacramento reported. It registered 4.2 on the Richter scale.

Boston airline grounded

NAPLES, Fla. — Provincetown-Boston Airlines, the nation's largest commuter airline, carried about 1,400 people on 300 flights in its first day in service after being grounded for alleged safety violations, officials said.

PBA resumed flights of its smallest planes Sunday, two weeks after it was grounded and one day after the Federal Aviation Administration presented it with a new operating certificate based on pilot flight checks and updated operating handbooks.

Crime up in Motor City

DETROIT — The Motor City's unemployment, auto industry problems, crime and violence have given it the worst image among 17 U.S. cities, with New York City second-worst, according to a survey of 1,000 people nationwide.

Sixty-four percent of those questioned by RMH Research Inc. of River Edge, N.J., said Detroit was worse than other big cities; 54 percent said New York was worse.

They were followed by Miami, Chicago, Cleveland, Las Vegas, Pittsburgh, Los Angeles, Washington, Philadelphia, New Orleans, Baltimore, Atlanta, San Francisco, Boston, Houston and Dallas — which was ranked best.

Successful surgery

Schroeder listed in critical but stable condition

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — William J. Schroeder, the world's second recipient of a permanent artificial heart, was in critical but stable condition today with a plastic pump beating in his chest despite losing half his blood when his aorta began bleeding after the implant.

"I'm happy to tell you the patient is doing very well this morning," said Dr. Allan M. Lansing, chairman of Humana Heart Institute International, where Schroeder's distorted, malfunctioning heart was replaced with softly clicking air-driven device in a seven-hour operation Sunday.

"He is not bleeding," Lansing said. "He is warm, pink and dry, indicating excellent circulation.... There appear to be no major complications."

Schroeder is sedated and will continue to be on a respirator to assist his breathing today because of some haziness shown on X-rays of his lungs, he said. He shows slight kidney and liver problems, but these are to be expected after open-heart surgery, he said.

Before the operation, doctors had said Schroeder would have had less than a week to live without the artificial heart. The Jarvik-7 heart, similar to the one that kept Barney Clark alive for 112 days in Salt Lake City two years ago, was functioning normally, as was its drive system, Lansing said.

Dr. Robert Jarvik, the artificial heart's inventor, said in an interview on "CBS Morning News" this morning that Schroeder had "done very well over the night, considering the bleeding problem, which seems to have alleviated overnight."

Shortly after the operation, Schroeder had been wide awake, squeezed surgeon William C. DeVries' hand, and even tried to get out of bed, Lansing said.

But at 8:30 p.m., less than six hours after the heart implant was completed, the 52-year-old retiree was rushed back to the operating room when doctors could not stem a flow of blood accumulating in his chest.

By the time the bleeding was stanching, shortly before 10 p.m., Schroeder had lost 8,000 cubic centimeters of blood, or about half of the blood in his body, Lansing said. Schroeder, who received massive transfusions, was returned to a coronary intensive care unit, where he was in critical but stable condition today, officials said.

Lansing said some internal bleeding had been expected because of scar tissue on Schroeder's arteries from earlier bypass surgery.

The blood was leaking from a hole where the artificial heart was stitched to the aorta, the principal artery that carries blood from the heart to the rest of the body.

Jarvik said the mood in the operating room during Schroeder's implant surgery differed sharply from that in the University of Utah operating room where Clark became the first recipient of a permanent artificial heart.

"It was an entirely different situation here — a great feeling in the operating room of deliberate, calm progress," Jarvik said. "There was never a point when we felt we might lose him."

Clark lived for 112 days after the Dec. 2, 1982, implantation of his artificial heart. He died of circulatory collapse caused by multiple organ failures.

Schroeder's artificial heart was implanted by Clark's surgeon, DeVries, the only person authorized by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration to implant the experimental device.

Schroeder, a retired quality assurance specialist at Crane Army Ammunition Activity in Crane, Ind., lives with his wife of 32 years, Margaret, and his six children in Jasper, Ind., 90 miles west of Louisville.

He had suffered from cardiomyopathy, a gradual wasting away of the heart muscle caused, in his case, by heart attacks he had in 1982 and 1983.

Members of his family had "a few tears in their eyes" when they learned that his operation was a success, said Lansing.

Meanwhile, hospital officials said a potential artificial heart recipient was admitted to the hospital Sunday for evaluation and a second candidate would be admitted today.

"We are not stopping our search for patients," Lansing said.

Schroeder had twice signed a long consent form that spells out in great detail the things that can go wrong with the artificial heart.

The surgery began at 7:57 a.m. Sunday and was completed shortly before 3 p.m., when Schroeder was wheeled into the coronary intensive care unit.

After the implantation, DeVries leaned over Schroeder's bed and said, "You did really well. It went perfect."

Iran attacks Red Cross

NICOSIA, Cyprus — The head of Iran's War Information office accused officials of the International Committee of the Red Cross of engaging in espionage in Iran.

Iran's official Islamic Republic News Agency also quoted Kamal Kharrazi as saying at a news conference Sunday in Tehran that the Red Cross had not acted impartially toward Iran and Iraq, who have fought a four-year border war.

Rebels kill 4, injure 17

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan — Anti-Marxist rebels killed four people and injured 17 in a rocket attack on Kabul, the Afghan capital, the state-owned radio in Afghanistan reported.

In a broadcast monitored in Pakistan, Radio Kabul said two sections in the southeast part of the capital were the targets of an attack that began late Saturday and lasted into Sunday morning.

The report claimed the rebels fired Chinese- and American-made rockets but did not say how many. It said the rockets collapsed several houses.

Six injured in bomb blast

PARIS — A bomb exploded in front of a concert hall an hour before more than 2,000 people were expected to attend a performance of Armenian folk music and dancing. Officials said six people were hurt, two seriously.

The blast occurred on the Rue du Faubourg Saint Honore just before 4 p.m. Sunday. It blew a hole in the sidewalk three feet deep and six feet across and shattered glass panes in the facade of the Salle Pleyel, a 57-year-old concert hall.

A musical variety show sponsored by 17 Armenian ethnic associations was due to begin at 5 p.m. in the 2,300-seat hall, according to Kevork Sarian, the show's organizer.

GB silent on disarmament

SHEFFIELD, England — Britain's Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament refused to commit itself to a major campaign against Soviet nuclear weapons.

More than 2,000 delegates at the anti-nuclear group's annual conference decided Sunday not to vote on a motion calling for a campaign against Soviet nuclear weapons and defense policies.

The delegates later voted to send thousands of Christmas cards to individuals and organizations in the Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia and East Germany opposing the deployment of nuclear weapons in Eastern and Western Europe.

School closed over riots

CAIRO, Egypt — Authorities suspended studies at Cairo's Al-Azhar university in an attempt to end students' riots that began Thursday in protest over the death of a colleague in an accident involving a police truck.

The Middle East News Agency said the two-week suspension, effective today, followed unsuccessful attempts by the university's president and some of its professors to persuade the students to resume studies and stop demonstrating.

It said the administration was obliged to suspend classes after some students insisted on rioting in nearby main streets, blocking traffic.

French leader makes historic visit to Syria

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — President Francois Mitterrand was welcomed with a 21-gun salute today as he arrived for the first visit by a French head of state since Syria's independence from France in 1946.

Mitterrand was met at Damascus International Airport by Syrian President Hafez Assad and Abdallah Ahmar, Assad's top assistant in the ruling Baath Party.

There were initial reports that Syria's three vice presidents — Abdul-Halim Khaddam, Zuhair Masharqa and Rifaat Assad, the president's brother — also greeted the French president. However, they were not at the airport to meet Mitterrand.

Rifaat Assad reportedly returned to Syria today from Paris after six months of what was widely believed to be an exile his brother imposed on him for trying to gain more power in the government. Rifaat Assad is the vice president for security affairs and special missions.

Mitterrand's 48-hour visit to Syria was seen as an effort to shore up sometimes rocky relations with Syria, a country the French president regards as key to a peace settlement in the Middle East.

In previous trips to the region, Mitterrand has visited Saudi Arabia, Israel, Egypt and Jordan, but this is the first time a French head of state has traveled to Syria since it became independent after 26 years of being ruled by France under a League of Nations mandate.

After the airport reception, Mitterrand and President Assad were driven away in limousines, accompanied by a heavily armed motor escort, to the state guest palace in the Damascus neighborhood of Abu Rummaneh.

The two leaders chatted informally at the guest palace, and were to have their first formal talks tonight before a dinner in Mitterrand's honor. A second round of talks was scheduled for Tuesday night.

French officials emphasized that no diplomatic breakthroughs are expected from Mitterrand's talks with the Syrian president, given the differences in the two leaders' positions on a number of issues.

Michel Vauzelle, a spokesman for the French president, said the visit was "more than an information gathering trip, but it would be imprudent to speak of the launching of a new peace initiative in the Middle East."

France views Syria as a key component in solutions to all the region's major problems — Lebanon, the Arab-Israeli conflict, the Palestinian question and even the Iran-Iraq war.

France has made no secret of its interest in playing a role in the Middle East. Although a French-Egyptian peace initiative launched at the United Nations two years ago appears to have died, Mitterrand has endorsed Jordanian leader King Hussein's idea for a general conference on the Middle East with the participation of "all parties," including the Soviet Union and the Palestine Liberation Organization.

Both Israel and the United States oppose such a meeting.

The Syrians denounced France — along the United States, Italy and Britain — for participating in the multinational force in Beirut, and relations began to improve only after the French withdrew their troops last spring.

An estimated 30,000 Syrian soldiers occupy much of northern and eastern Lebanon. They have been there since they intervened in the 1975-76 Lebanese civil war.

Poor DeLorean needs your help

If you've made all the usual contributions to charity and your compassion is yet unspent, consider the plight of John DeLorean and forward a hefty check to defray his legal expenses.

You remember John. He's the high-living automaker who was recently acquitted of conspiring in a $24 million cocaine deal. A recent full-page advertisement in the Los Angeles Herald Examiner the other day urged readers to donate up to $100 to the DeLorean Defense Fund.

The fund is supposed to be the incorporated inspiration of DeLorean sympathizers but there are reports that John himself organized the group and forked over the $5,000 for the ad.

So what. It's a free country. Even jet-setters have a right to pass the collection plate once in a while. And you've got to admit that poor-mouthing at $5,000 a throw is begging in style.

Besides, DeLorean's troubles would wring tears from Ghengis Khan. DeLorean charges government harassment has ruined his life and his marriage and put him into bankruptcy. His trial was a "horror story" that could happen to any innocent American, the ad states. Well, hardly.

The fact is, though, John will have to shell out a lot to the legal fraternity. There's the bill for the trial, the divorce, the bankruptcy fees and, oh yes, the pending grand jury investigation of the $17 million allegedly missing from the DeLorean Motor Corp.

On top of it all, there's the matter of living expenses, and John likes to live it up. You can't operate on peanuts in the caviar set.

Have a heart. Slip the guy a fin.

Rivalry marks the Arab world

WASHINGTON — "Marvelous," an American diplomat exclaimed when informed of the sting operation used by the Egyptians to trap Colonel Kadafi's hit men in a plot to rob out a Libyan dissident. But the first careless rapture soon yields to melancholy reflection.

The episode shows that murderous onepmanship obsesses the Arab world. That rivalrous spirit dooms constructive steps toward peace and instructs Washington to ignore the calls for a more active American role in Middle East diplomacy.

The Libyan leader, to be sure, poses a genuine threat to international order. Colonel Kadafi has paid assassins to eliminate critics of his regime all over the world. He works hand-in-glove with radical nationalists to undermine the monarchial regimes that rule in Saudi Arabia and its neighboring states. He meddles in quarrels which threaten such nearby states as Chad, Tunisia, Algeria, Morocco. He makes bad blood between the U.S. and various European allies. The elimination of his regime would be a plus for world peace.

So it was right to exult when Egyptian intelligence penetrated a Libyan death squad, faked the murder of its target and then — after Colonel Kadafi bragged publicly of his success — produced the "dead man" at a press conference. But the incident not only proves Kadafi sponsors terrorism. It also says a little about Egypt's leader, Hosni Mubarak.

Mubarak himself announced the foiling of the plot. He personally declared that Libyan plots to kill leaders in Saudi Arabia, Pakistan and West Germany had also been uncovered. He and his minister of interior appear on Egyptian television with the designated victim.

Blasting Kadafi, in other words, is a big deal for the Egyptian leader. He uses confrontation to build internal support and to work his passage back in the Arab world. But when it comes to taking positive steps toward peace in the area, when it comes to following up the Camp David accords with Israel, Mubarak looks to King Hussein of Jordan.

Hussein has finally rescinded the diplomatic ban on Egypt which the rest of the Arab world declared after the Camp David treaties were signed. He has resumed discussions with the leader of the Palestine Liberation Organization, Yasser Arafat. It is likely that Arafat will convene a long-delayed session of the PLO National Council in Jordan this Thursday.

Congenital optimists will no doubt discern in these moves elements of a positive response to President Reagan's appeal of September 1, 1982, for a joint Jordanian-Palestinian follow-up to Camp David. In fact, Hussein and Arafat are mainly acting in the context of rivalry with the Syrian leader, Hafez Assad.

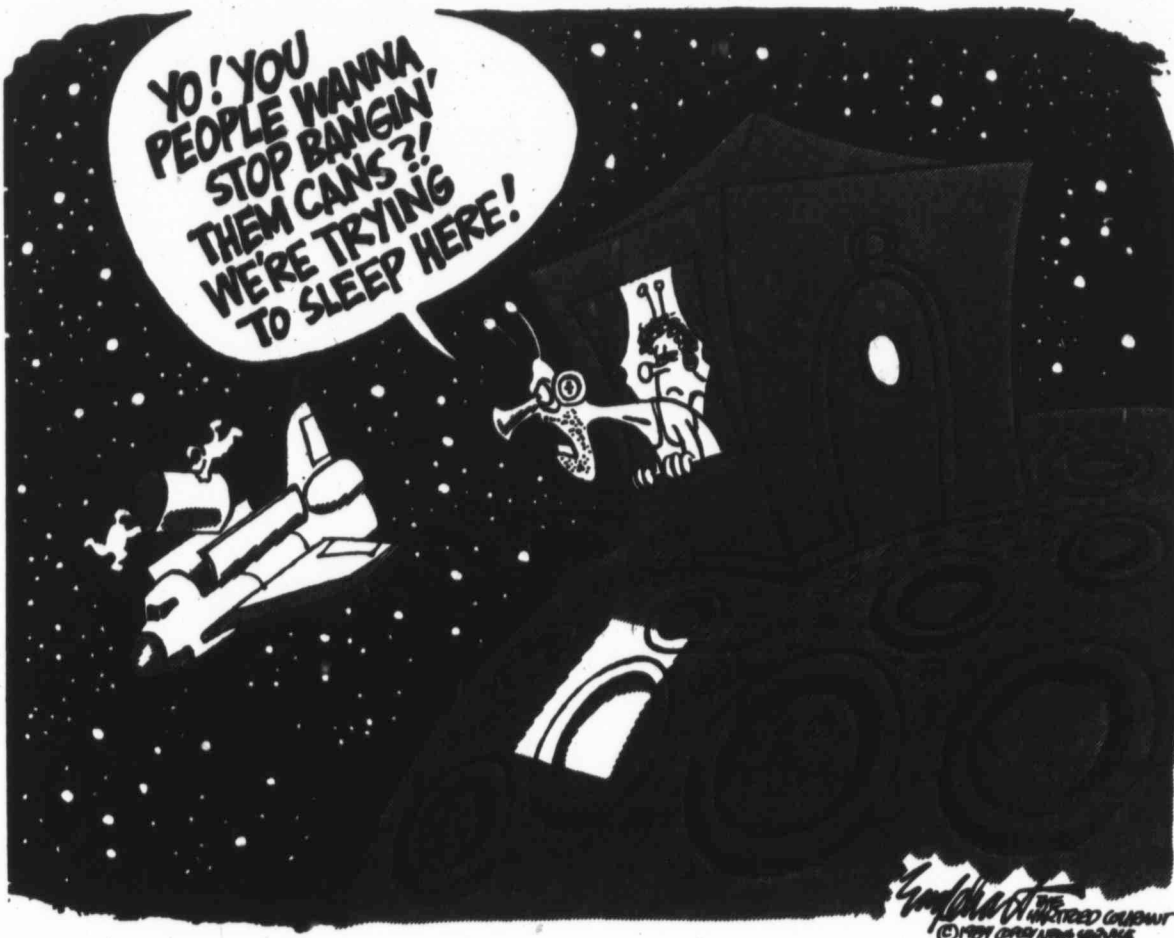

Assad was the big winner when American Marines were pulled from Lebanon after terrorist attacks fostered by the Syrians. He had long feuded with Arafat, and he now controls an anti-Arafat wing of the PLO which is boycotting the National Council session in Jordan. Assad has also leaned hard on Hussein. He supports a scheme for a Greater Syria that would absorb Jordan and Lebanon.

Since Assad's win in Lebanon, Hussein and Arafat have banded together against him. They are calling the National Council meeting in Jordan as a deliberate challenge to Syria. They have also formed up ties with Syria's enemy to the east, Iraq. Partly under their sponsorship, Iraq will be renewing diplomatic relations with the U.S. after a lapse that began 17 years ago when the U.S. supported Israel in the 1967 war with the Arab states.

Not that the resumption of ties between Baghdad and Washington has anything to do with making peace, either. On the contrary, Iraq wants U.S. support in its war against Iran. Jordan — and Arafat — favor the U.S.-Iraqi tie, because Iran's main ally in the Arab world is Syria. In other words, they see the U.S. lining up with them against Syria.

What all this demonstrates is that the motive force in Arab politics is not good relations with the U.S. It is not even bad relations with Israel. The source of action, the principle around which leaders take their stance, is inter-Arab rivalry of a deep and abiding nature.

A bumbling ambassador

WASHINGTON — Presidents have been rewarding political allies with ambassadorships practically since the birth of the republic — to the occasional embarrassment of the United States, but only rarely with any serious harm to the nation's foreign policy.

A political appointee's ignorance of his duties is usually outweighed by the diplomatic skill of his professional underlings, and his easy access to the president can compensate for a wealth of irritating incompetence.

But something went wrong with the traditional safeguards when Joseph Werner Reed set out on the road to Morocco in 1981.

The result was a strategic disaster for the Reagan administration: the astonishing union of a supposedly staunch U.S. ally, Morocco, with the virulently anti-American dictatorship of Libya.

It would be unfair to lay the Morocco-Libyan rapprochement solely at Reed's door. The CIA is still trying to figure out what happened, and the agency will have some hard questions to answer before outraged congressional committees.

But Reed can certainly bear a large share of the blame for the White House's failure to learn what was in the works until it was too late for anything but hand-wringing. Though the Libyans had been courting King Hassan of Morocco for over a year, Reed was so blithely confident of his close friendship with Hassan that he discounted evidence that the king might not be completely loyal to the United States.

It was a measure of Reed's detachment that he was vacationing in Maine when Morocco's "friendship treaty" with Libya was announced. Old hands in Foggy Bottom and on Capitol Hill weren't surprised that Reed was, literally, so far out of it.

Reed has admitted, in conversations with irate members of Congress, that his old buddy Hassan informed him of the treaty with Libya only an hour before the monarch announced it to the rest of the world. For years the ambassador had assured anyone within earshot that he had "unprecedented" access to Hassan and his inner circle.

Reed's behavior as ambassador was based on his sublime confidence that his close relationship to Hassan ensured continuing U.S.-Moroccan solidarity. Reed once had the sentry boxes outside his Rabat residence painted red, white and blue, and named the house Villa America. When the Moroccan prime minister had tea with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in Washington, Reed unfurled a large banner to welcome him.

In fact, Reed suffered from a severe case of "clientitis" — a malady not unknown in the Foreign Service. He sang Hassan's praises to Congress and the White House. He helped engineer an intelligence-sharing agreement with Morocco that gave Hassan information that U.S. spy satellites had picked up on the Polisario rebels in the disputed western Sahara war.

This agreement and several others are now under review; the White House is understandably leery of sharing intelligence with Qaddafi.

An ambassador is supposed to be the president's eyes and ears, as well as the mouthpiece for an administration's views. Once again, an American president has been hamstrung by having an unprofessional ambassador in a sensitive foreign embassy.

Education: the agency that won't die

By CHRISTOPHER CONNELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan is facing some big problems as he sets a second term course for a Cabinet agency that provided some of the most unlikely successes of his first four years — the Education Department.

The unbidden resignation of Education Secretary T.H. Bell has set off a succession scramble among conservatives who chafed at Bell's leadership and who feel it is high time to put that post in the hands of a true Reaganite.

Regardless of who gets the job, Washington's powerful education lobby is girding for a fight over what the lobbyists say are inevitable Reagan efforts to seek billion-dollar budget cuts in student aid.

William Clohan, a former undersecretary of education, predicted, "I think 1985 is going to be just like 1981" when Reagan tried to push through major reductions in education spending.

Congress went along with some of the first wave of cuts as part of Reagan's overall tax- and budget-reduction plan in 1981, but even conservative Republicans rebelled in 1982 when the president came back with a plan to pare the education budget by a third to less than $10 billion. Major cuts in loan subsidies for college students helped sink that plan like a stone.

Bell, trying to fulfill Reagan's promise to abolish the Education Department, proposed downgrading it in 1982 to a non-regulatory foundation, with most programs intact. But that scheme died with barely a whimper.

Reagan met with no success in pressing other conservative items on his education agenda, including tax breaks for private schools and prayer in public ones.

But Reagan got better results after Bell's National Commission on Excellence in Education sounded the alarm about mediocrity in U.S. schools in 1983.

Suddenly, the president, who had not set foot in a public school during his first two years in office, was at the head of the school reform bandwagon, exhorting states to raise graduation standards, restore discipline and to institute merit pay for teachers. Teachers and students by the score trooped into the White House for recognition ceremonies. To the dismay of Democrats who had planned to blister Reagan with the education issue in the 1984 campaign, the president's approval rating on school issues soared.

Washington's education lobby is girding for a fight over what the lobbyists say are inevitable Reagan efforts to seek cuts in student aid.

Last January, Reagan proposed a fiscal 1985 education budget of $15.5 billion — a record, albeit by a slim margin. Congress went one better, boosting the budget to $17.9 billion, a 16 percent jump, with most of the extra funds going to aid college students.

Bell said at his final news conference that he had recommended no cuts in the fiscal 1986 budget that the administration must send Congress in January. "I think that education is so special that it ranks in priority alongside or possibly ahead of the Defense Department," he said, reportedly to the dismay of David Stockman.

Now, with Bell already back in Utah, presidential counselor Edwin Meese III, who four years ago derided the agency as "a ridiculous bureaucratic joke," reportedly suggested at a Cabinet meeting that Reagan try again to abolish the Education Department.

Today is Monday, Nov. 26, the 331st day of 1984. There are 35 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
Nov. 26, 1789, was a day of thanksgiving set aside by President George Washington to observe the adoption of the U.S. Constitution.

On this date:
In 1716, the first lion to be exhibited in America was shown to the public in Boston.

In 1825, the first college social fraternity, Kappa Alpha, was formed at Union College in Schenectady, N.Y.

In 1832, public streetcar service began in New York City. The fare: 12½ cents. The streetcar was the horse-drawn "John Mason," which had been unveiled 12 days earlier.

In 1973, President Richard M. Nixon's personal secretary, Rose Mary Woods, told a federal court she had mistakenly pressed the wrong button on her tape recorder, causing part of the 18½-minute gap in a key Watergate tape.

Ten years ago: President Gerald R. Ford briefed congressional leaders on the tentative arms-control agreement that he had completed with the Soviet Union.

Five years ago: With the Iran hostage crisis continuing, the State Department said the United States had told its embassies in about 10 Islamic countries to "voluntarily" evacuate dependents, non-essential personnel and private U.S. business people.

One year ago: A Colombian Boeing 747 jetliner crashed five miles east of Madrid's airport, killing almost all of the approximately 200 people aboard.

Today's birthdays: TV commentator Eric Sevareid is 72. "Peanuts" cartoonist Charles M. Schulz is 62.

Coahoma native chosen Miss Rodeo Texas Tech

Robin Ethridge, a senior at Texas Tech University, was chosen Miss Rodeo Texas Tech during the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association (NIRA) rodeo held in the coliseum on Texas Tech campus.

Robin is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Ethridge of Coahoma and is a graduate of Coahoma High School. She attended Howard College where she was a Presidential Classic, first runner-up to Miss Howard College, a member of Kappa Alpha Theta honor society and received the American Legion Citizenship Award.

At Tech she is a member of collegiate FFA, 4-H, Tech Rodeo Association and Alpha Zeta honor fraternity. She is majoring in agriculture and biology.

Contestants were judged on personality, beauty, modeling, appearance and horsemanship by a panel of six judges. Each contestant was required to ride two different horses in a required pattern and then be interviewed about horsemanship, current events and NIRA and Professional Rodeo Cowboys of America rules, standing and activities.

During the style show each contestant was asked impromptu questions by the panel. The style show and interviews were held at the Tavern-on-the-Green County Club in Lubbock, and the horsemanship was held at the Dub Parks Memorial Arena.

As Miss Rodeo Texas Tech, Robin will be a contestant in the Miss Texas Rodeo pageant in San Antonio in March, and in June she will represent Texas Tech at the National Intercollegiate pageant in Bozeman, Montana, during the National Intercollegiate Rodeo finals.

Dear Abby

Thoughtful shopper knows what not to buy

DEAR ABBY: Now that people have started to shop for holiday gifts, please remind them about what and what not to give the older person.

I'M ONE IN INDIANAPOLIS
DEAR I'M ONE: Many others have requested a rerun of my column on holiday gifts — for people of all ages — and here it is:

DEAR READERS: Can you believe it's time to prepare for the holidays again? Well, it is, so do yourself a favor and do your Christmas shopping early.

If you're wondering what to give Aunt Jennie or Grandpa, who don't go out much, let me tell you what not to give them:

No dusting powder, aftershave or cologne. (They probably have several unopened boxes gathering dust on their closet shelves.)

Grandpa doesn't need another necktie, and Aunt Bertha doesn't really want any more brooches, necklaces or bracelets.

With the price of groceries so high, folks who live alone on a fixed income probably would be delighted to receive a basket of goodies. Include small cans of salmon, chicken, ham, tuna, vegetables, fruit, instant coffee, tea bags, crackers, cookies and instant soup mixes.

Older people who live in confined quarters do not need more "things" that are ornamental only. Don't send music boxes, statuettes or other bric-a-brac.

A truly thoughtful gift: postcards and some lined stationery with envelopes and a generous supply of postage stamps. (Enclose some felt-tip pens, too.)

The homebound will appreciate a box of greeting cards for all occasions so that they too can send birthday, anniversary, graduation, get-well and condolence cards to others. (Be a sport! Stamp some envelopes.)

Don't give anyone a gift of clothing unless you're absolutely sure the size is right. That goes for color and style, too.

If you're tempted to pass along a scarf, purse, wallet or some useless little doodad you received three Christmases ago, please don't; the recipient will probably find it just as useless as you did. (Besides, you might get it back the year after next.)

If someone on your gift list is living on a pension, a check for any amount would be much more appreciated than a frivolous little trinket. Or give someone who's counting pennies a year's subscription to a newspaper or magazine you know he or she will enjoy.

If you buy a gift on sale, be sure it's appropriate, since if the recipient tries to take it back he will be told, "Sorry, sale merchandise is not returnable."

Don't give anyone a pet unless you're absolutely sure it's wanted and will be properly cared for. And if you want to delight someone who considers his pet a "member of the family," include a tin of cat or dog food for the pet.

Don't give wine or liquor unless you're sure the recipients imbibe. Candy, nuts and fruitcake make wonderful gifts for those who aren't counting calories, but please have compassion for those who are, and lead them not into temptation.

Resist giving toddlers stuffed animals and dolls that are bigger than they are. And parents will thank you for not sending their children horns, drums, sirens or whistles. If you give a child a game or book, be sure it's in the appropriate age range.

Instead of giving someone a gift with permission to "exchange if it isn't what you want," save yourself (and him) much time and effort and give him a gift certificate in the first place.

Holiday time can be very depressing for people who are alone, so if you know someone who might be alone and lonely, give him or her the best gift of all — an invitation to spend the holidays with you and your family. Loneliness is the ultimate poverty.

Love, Abby

Dr. Donohue

Tietze's syndrome affects cartilage

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have been diagnosed as having Tietze's syndrome. I have been unable to find any information on this. — E.G.

Tietze's (TEET-see's) syndrome is swelling, pain and tenderness of the cartilage that binds the ribs to the breastbone. The cartilage involved is a band of tissue about a thumb's breadth. No one knows why that tissue becomes inflamed, but it seems to be a very common occurrence. It is often the kind of problem that begins to fade in time.

Simple pain-relieving drugs and anti-inflammation medicines are all you need to ease the discomfort of acute stages. Sometimes, if the pain is great, the doctor may inject the area with a numbing, novocaine-like drug and a steroid. Because of the chest location, pain of Tietze's is frequently mistaken for that of a heart attack or angina pectoris.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Can children have a natural immunity to chicken pox? Mine (9 and 11) have never had it although both have been exposed. — S.R.

For the first few months after birth the child has natural immunity which he gets from the mother, who previously made the antibodies against it during her own earlier exposure. But because the baby has not learned to make those antibodies himself, later exposure produces the illness. About 90 percent of us catch chicken pox; a few may escape. Many are exposed but have very mild unrecognizable symptoms. You have about a 90-95 percent chance that your children have had chicken pox.

Wash, Cathey present style show to Junior Woman's Club

A fur style show was presented to the GFWC-TFWC Big Spring Junior Woman's Club by Joyce Wash, owner of J. W. Charde, and Linda Cathey. The meeting was Nov. 19 in the home of Pam Mitchell.

Members tried on the latest styles and colors of furs popular today, and Mrs. Wash gave tips on purchasing and storing furs. A brief program on the origin of the "federation" of women's clubs was given by Judi Johnston, parliamentarian.

Members brought foods to make holiday baskets for needy families in Big Spring. They also voted to begin bringing "essential items" (personal hygiene items such as food and clothes) for the Northside Community Center each month.

The next meeting will be at 7 p.m. Dec. 17 in the home of Gay Herren. New members will be initiated. Members are to bring a Christmas item for exchange, a secret pal gift, and an "essential item."

Hawks, Queens open conference play

Amarillo College Badgers come to Dorothy Garrett

SUE VAN HOOSER
...all-around player

JOYCE BOUDREAUX
...leading scorer and rebounder

By STEVEN BELVIN
Staff Writer
Howard College coaches Don Stevens and Ed Sparling will both see how their young squads stack up against the rest of the Western Junior College Athletic Conference when they open conference play versus Amarillo College tonight at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

Stevens has six first-year players under his helm and so far this season the Queens have played relatively well, as their 12-2 record indicates.

About the only things Stevens hasn't been satisfied with is his squad's offensive rebounding and free throw shooting, although he admits there should be more improvement in ball handling.

"We started out the season making too many turnovers, now I see a steady decline. We got only 61 shots in our last game. That shows we haven't been getting offensive rebounds. We do a better job on the defensive boards, but I'm definitely not proud of our offensive rebounding.

"I can't figure out our free throw shooting, we shoot just as well from the floor as we do from the line. In fact this is the best shooting team I've had at Howard. The championship team in the past won with strong defense and running the ball."

In their 6 p.m. tilt Howard will face a team that is inconsistent, but has a good inside and outside attack, according to Stevens. "They have a guard named Georgia Walton and she will be one of the most sought-after players in the country. She is a great shooter and extremely quick," he said of the 5-8 sophomore who averages 18 points.

If that's not enough the Hawk-Queens will have to contend with 6-6 post player Donna Condon and 6-2 forward Debby Jones, who averages 16 points and eight rebounds per contest.

"We'll get into a half court press and try to push them out. They like to go inside. We must do a good job defensively and on the boards."

Stevens says all his freshmen have performed above his expectations, led by post player Joyce Boudreaux and forward Sue Van Hooser. Boudreaux leads the squad in scoring and rebounding averaging 20 and 13 respectively. Van Hooser, whom Stevens call his most versatile player, averages 14 points and seven rebounds per contest.

"It should be a close, exciting game," predicted Stevens. "It's a critical contest for each team."

HAWKS IN ACTION AT 8 P.M.
Coach Sparling and his Hawks have been going through some rough times early in the season.

Their 5-5 mark is not too shabby considering Sparling has only seven players until after mid-term.

Their play has been sporadic. Such as rallying from 18 points down in the second half to defeat Garden City, Kansas 78-71. Then blowing an 18-point halftime lead and losing to Laredo 81-79.

But all in all the Hawks have remained competitive, led by All-America candidate Michael Porter, a 6-4 sophomore guard and the Hawks only returning player.

Porter leads Howard in scoring (21) and assists (5). Will Rogers, a 6-2 freshman from Buffalo, New York follows Porter with a 20 point average.

Walter Reynolds, a 6-7 freshman; leads Howard in rebounding averaging 10 per outing.

Amarillo is paced guard Steve Dailey and forward Andrew Kennedy who average 22 and 19 points respectively.

GOING DOWN — Houston Oilers quarterback Warren Moon is sacked by Cleveland Browns linebacker Clay Matthews (57) while Matthews' brother, Oiler tackle Bruce Matthews (74) looks on. Moon was sacked four times in the contest as the Browns won 27-10.

Browns stop Oilers, 27-10

CLEVELAND (AP) — Perhaps the Houston Oilers figured a two-game winning streak was all they deserved. Or perhaps the Cleveland Browns really aren't as bad as their record.

Whatever the reason, the Browns, behind three touchdown passes by Paul McDonald, coasted past the Oilers 27-10 in a National Football League game Sunday to end Houston's modest streak and improve new Browns' Coach Marty Schottenheimer's record to 3-2.

"It just doesn't seem like we came mentally ready to play," said Houston quarterback Warren Moon, who was intercepted twice after throwing 86 straight passes without an interception. "I don't know why."

The Browns, 4-9, capitalized on both the second-quarter interceptions in taking a 20-7 halftime lead.

McDonald hit rookie Brian Brennan with a 14-yard touchdown pass to put Cleveland ahead 7-0 in the first quarter. Five minutes later, Oilers' safety Keith Bostic blitzed, grabbed the ball from McDonald and ran 25 yards for Houston's only touchdown.

Bostic said he considered plowing into McDonald, but thought better of it.

"I was blitzing and I was wide open. I just took the ball from him," Bostic said.

Cleveland's Matt Bahr, however, capped a 16-play drive with an 18-yard field goal that put the Browns ahead for good 10-7 four minutes into the second period. Moon then suffered bad fortune on each of the Oilers' next two possessions.

Browns' defensive end Keith Baldwin deflected a pass to teammate Hanford Dixon in Oiler territory to set up McDonald's 12-yard touchdown pass to Ozzie Newsome, and linebacker Tom Cousineau tipped a pass to teammate Al Gross, who returned it 47 yards to set up Bahr's second field goal, a 29-yarder.

"They were just tipped. I didn't see the guys," Moon said. "They were quick, rhythm throws. Those two balls really hurt us."

After a scoreless third quarter, Joe Cooper connected on a 39-yard field goal to pull Houston within 20-10, but McDonald came back to clinch it with his second scoring pass to Brennan, a 7-yarder with 4:20 to go.

McDonald finished with 16 completions in 26 attempts for 151 yards and three touchdowns, with one interception. Ozzie Newsome, who led the AFC in receiving entering the game, caught 10 passes for 102 yards and moved into fifth place among tight ends on the NFL's career receiving yardage list.

"If you take the entire game, it was probably my best all-around game," McDonald said.

"He threw the ball well," Schottenheimer said. "He's realizing he doesn't have to be Superman for us to win games, because we're finding out we've got some guys who can run the ball and catch the ball."

Moon, who had completed more than 70 percent of his passes in the Oilers' previous two games, was nine of 20 for 84 yards Sunday.

He was also sacked four times — including three times by Reggie Camp — as the Browns limited Houston, 2-11, to just 147 total yards. Running back Larry Moriarty, who was carried off the field early in the fourth quarter with a pinched nerve in his neck, ran the ball 16 times for 81 yards.

"I'm not sure I have sensation now in my fingers," Moriarty said. "It's going to take a few days for it to come back."

'Golden Bear wins 'Skins

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — It was an unusual scene: Jack Nicklaus flipping his putter in the air in an uncharacteristic display of emotion, then whooping and yelping around the green like a small boy.

He had just drilled in an 8-foot birdie putt on the final hole of the Skins Game Sunday that was worth $240,000 and climaxed the two-day match with Arnold Palmer, Gary Player and Tom Watson.

Player, Palmer and Watson all had birdie opportunities from 12-18 feet — and all missed — on the 18th hole before Nicklaus sent home the winner and tossed his putter in jubilation, something he said he hadn't done since winning the 1970 British Open.

Watson shut out his three Hall of Fame opponents over the first nine holes Saturday, winning all $120,000 available, including $70,000 on the last hole.

Then the first eight holes Sunday were halved, with the prize money mounting on each hole.

Palmer, who drove into a fairway bunker, Nicklaus and Player were unable to reach the 18th in 2. Watson, with the best drive, got it pin-high but well off the green to the right. Palmer, Player and Nicklaus all pitched on and Watson, facing a delicate little chip, saw it take an awkward kick from the fringe and run well beyond the cup.

Three putts missed before Jack made the one that provided him with the biggest payday of his legendary career.

As the leading money-winner from this year's Skins Game (Watson was the only other, with $120,000, while Palmer and Player were blanked), Nicklaus also was assured of a place in the Skins Game next year when the PGA Tour will take over the event and change the method of player-

Bears and Ditka bring title back to Windy City

By The Associated Press
In a moment of triumph, the Bears' first title of any kind in 21 years, Coach Mike Ditka's thoughts went back to Chicago's rich football past. He remembered Papa Bear.

The year was 1963. The Chicago Bears were coached by George Halas, one of their better players was a tight end named Mike Ditka and they won the National Football League championship.

"I think that the most important thing is that this game go to the man that deserves it most, Mr. Halas," Ditka said after the Bears beat the Minnesota Vikings 34-3 Sunday to wrap up the NFC Central title with a 9-4 record.

Another division title was wrapped up Sunday as the San Francisco 49ers crushed the New Orleans Saints 35-3 to win the NFC West title.

Two other divisions remained close as the season finished its 13th week.

The Seattle Seahawks beat Denver 27-24 to create a tie in the AFC West at 11-2 and break the Broncos' 10-game winning streak.

In the NFC East, the Washington Redskins beat the Buffalo Bills 41-14 and New York Giants rallied to edge Kansas City 28-27 to tie them with Dallas at 8-5 atop the division. St. Louis, 7-6, remained one game behind with a 17-16 victory over Philadelphia.

In other games Sunday, Pittsburgh crushed San Diego 52-24, Cincinnati beat Atlanta 35-14, the Los Angeles Raiders defeated Indianapolis 21-7, the Los Angeles Rams edged Tampa Bay 34-33 and Cleveland downed Houston 27-10.

Last Thursday, Dallas beat New England 20-17 and Detroit edged Green Bay 31-28.

Tonight, the New York Jets visit Miami, which has already clinched the AFC East title.

49'ers 35

Saints 3

Rookie linebacker Todd Shell had two sacks, six tackles and an interception that he returned 35 yards for a touchdown as the 49ers clinched the NFC West.

The Saints, 6-7, managed only a second-quarter field goal by Morten Andersen as New Orleans' quarterbacks were sacked seven times.

Cardinals 17

Eagles 16

Neil O'Donoghue kicked a 44-yard field goal with eight seconds left to give the Cardinals, 7-6, the victory. Philadelphia's Paul McFadden had given the Eagles a 16-14 lead with a 32-yard field goal just two minutes earlier.

Seahawks 27

Broncos 24

Dave Krieg and Darryl Turner combined for an 80-yard touchdown on the first play of the game, but the Seahawks needed help from the Broncos to tie them for the division lead at 11-2. Denver drove to the Seahawks' 8 with 39 seconds remaining, but Rich Karlis missed a 25-yard field-goal attempt.

The teams meet again in the Kingdome on the final day of the season.

Redskins 41

Bills 14

Joe Theismann became the Redskins' all-time passing leader as he threw for 311 yards and two touchdowns. Theismann passed Sonny Jurgensen as the Redskins' passing leader as he completed 26 of 33 passes. Art Monk, who caught one of the touchdown passes, finished with 11 catches for 104 yards.

Giants 28

Chiefs 27

Phil Simms threw two touchdown passes in the final 7 1/2 minutes to rally the Giants over the Chiefs, who lost their fourth straight game. Simms hooked up with Bobby Johnson on a 22-yard scoring play with 7:30 left and connected with tight end Zeke Mowatt on a 3-yard touchdown with 2:22 remaining.

Steelers 52

Chargers 24

The Steelers maintained their two-game lead in the AFC Central and scored the most points in an NFL game this year as Mark Malone made a complete recovery from the concussion he suffered last Monday night. Malone connected with John Stallworth on three touchdowns and threw a fourth in wins to Louis Lipps as he completed 18 of 22 attempts for 253 yards.

Lost in the Steelers' offensive show was San Diego's Charlie Joiner becoming the NFL's all-time leading career receiver. With six second-half catches for a career mark of 651, Joiner passed Washington's Charley Taylor.

Bengals 35

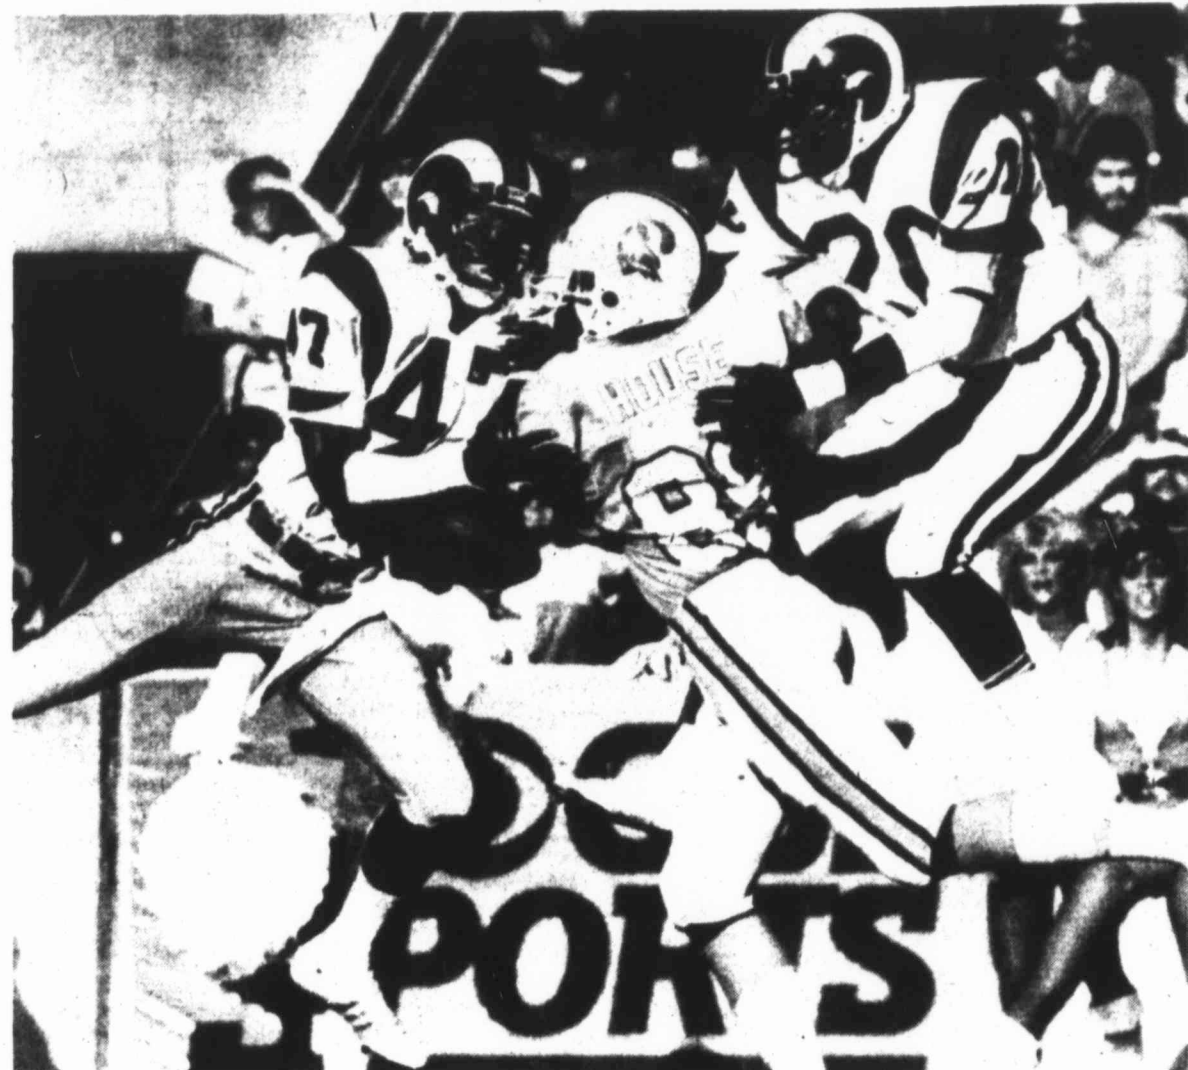

Falcons 14

Turk Schonert, making his second consecutive start in place of Ken Anderson, completed 11 of 12 passes in the first half as the Bengals took a 21-0 lead and never looked back. On the game's fourth play, Schonert and wide receiver Cris Collinsworth combined on a 57-yard touchdown. The loss was Atlanta's seventh straight and leaves them one shy of the club record set in 1974.

One thing for sure: 5 SWC teams in bowls

By The Associated Press
Two weeks ago not even the Independence Bowl wanted the University of Houston.

Now, the resilient Cougars are odds-on favorites to be the host team in the Cotton Bowl on New Year's Day as the host team representing the Southwest Conference.

Houston can clinch the host spot in the Cotton Bowl against Boston College with a victory over the Rice Owls Saturday night.

However, if the Cougars lose then look out.

Should Houston go down, Texas could claim the Cotton by defeating Texas A&M in Austin Saturday night. Should BOTH Houston and Texas lose, then Southern Methodist would have to say aloha to the Aloha Bowl and take the Cotton Bowl bid reserved for the SWC champion.

The SWC football follies on Saturday included Texas succumbing 24-10 to Baylor in Waco and the cinderella Horned Frogs turning into a midnight pumpkin with a 35-21 loss to the Texas Aggies.

SMU clinched at least an SWC championship with a 31-28 victory over Arkansas while Houston sets itself up for the Cotton Bowl by defeating Texas Tech 24-17 in Lubbock.

Never in SWC history has a team with two losses gone to the Cotton Bowl. That is, not until this season. SMU is 6-2 and Houston and Texas are 5-2. Arkansas and TCU are 5-3. Baylor is 4-4, A&M 2-5, Texas Tech 2-6, and Rice 0-7.

SMU is assured a Hula Bowl bid against Notre Dame on Dec. 29 no matter what happens.

Arkansas will play in the Liberty Bowl against either Auburn or LSU, TCU is in the Bluebonnet against West Virginia, and either Houston or Texas will play in the Freedom Bowl in Anaheim, Calif. against Iowa.

Cavaliers win second game of season

By the Associated Press
Cleveland guard Johnny Davis said he wasn't worried when the Cavaliers lost a 16-point lead by allowing 17 straight points in the fourth quarter.

"I don't mind pressure. It doesn't bother me," said Davis, who scored 20 points and helped rally the Cavaliers to only their second National Basketball Association victory in 14 games, a 118-111 decision over Atlanta. "Pressure is not run early and they made their late, but I'd much rather be up 17 than be down 17 and hope that you can rally."

In the only other NBA games, the Los Angeles Clippers trounced Phoenix 114-109 and Seattle defeated the Los Angeles Lakers 105-94.

Cleveland built its big cushion by outscoring the Hawks 35-22 in the third quarter for a 95-78 lead.

After Atlanta wiped out the deficit and took the lead, Davis scored seven points in Cleveland's 12-3 run that made the score 112-104. The Hawks again rallied to trail 113-111, but the Cavaliers scored the last six points of the game.

Cleveland got a career-high 16 points from Mark West and 15 from rookie Mel Turpin to outscore Atlanta 31-0 at the center position. "Tree" Rollins and Rickey Brown were scoreless for the Hawks.

"We got whipped good tonight," Hawks Coach Mike Fratello said. "They beat us up front, and the guards beat us in the backcourt. Obviously, Mark West comes and plays probably his best NBA career game. We got nothing from our center position. We were lacking effort. We were not a good basketball team tonight."

"We are still in an evaluation process on Mark West, but if he plays that well, we have to consider him in our plans," Cleveland Coach George Karl said. "He played with us in the San Diego summer league, and that gave us some insight."

Your Daily HOROSCOPE from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, NOV., 27, 1984

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This can be a day of intense activity, especially in progressive and interesting new directions if you are alert to and willing to go along with them.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Study your finest inspired ideas and then plan how to make them materialize. Let those who are in Aquarian Age projects enter your life.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Early get into the business world and you can accomplish a great deal. Contact officials you know for any backing you may need.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You are quick at handling emergencies and can profit a good deal from such action, and are also good at seizing any opportunities.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Make those small changes in business affairs so that they become more modern and profitable.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Make new friends who are more progressive and can be of real assistance to you, and get ahead faster. Take it easy tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Look for new mechanisms that will make your work more efficient and easier to handle. Improve your health.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have fine romantic ideas so plan to be with the person who charms you the most. Dress with the utmost care.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) If you study your newspaper for items that can make your home more operative, you can buy the right things for it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Your communications can be very good today, provided you add some originality to them. Get out of that rut.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Go to the advisor who has had much success with Jet Age ideas and get the suggestions you need for your own progress.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have excellent ideas for getting your views across to others and making big headway now.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Get into bookkeeping and records that can help you to know how you should prove yourself in the future. Be active and happy.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be a Jet Age product and should be sent to schools where technological subjects are taught. Your progeny may seem quite different from most others, but don't try to change the life pattern since the greatest success can come from this very difference.

"The Stars impel; they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!
