Budget freeze support grows

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House Chief of Staff James A. Baker said Friday that a federal spending freeze is "an option that the president is considering," and Senate Majority Leader-elect Robert J. Dole indicated strong congressional support for the concept.

Baker and Dole met to discuss what to do about the massive federal deficits, running above the $200 billion mark, and afterward the White House staff chief emphasized that "no decisions have been made" by Reagan.

But Dole said, "I think there is the makings of maybe an agreement that we ought to adopt the freeze concept; I think that's about where we are."

"There is a lot of support," Dole said. "Go back and look at the votes of Democrats and Republicans; I think there's a majority there for the concept. If we can put together the right formula for a majority of votes in the Senate, I think we ought to do it and do it quickly next year."

Reagan, meanwhile, met with his key budget aides to discuss where to snip and slash to contain the red-ink spending.

In their talks, White House officials were trying to put together a budget package for the upcoming fiscal year that could limit outlays to the $830 billion figure projected for this year. Interest on the national debt, pegged at some $130 billion, isn't included in that total.

Even under that freeze option, some programs, like Social Security, would get more money and others less. Some would be eliminated entirely, administration officials said.

Defense spending, part of which has already been set in law, would continue growing, although by how much was still in dispute.

Officials, who would speak only on condition they not be identified, said a freeze was implicit in the deficit-cutting recommendations budget director David Stockman has been reviewing with the president.

Stockman, meanwhile, met for nearly three hours on Capitol Hill with a group of House Republicans to lay out the size of the deficit problem and how tough it will be to solve it.

Air Force targets 5 sites for study

Toxic waste search planned

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

Department of Defense officials investigating the possible presence of toxic wastes at Air Force bases may concentrate their search at five areas on the Webb Air Force Base site where chemicals were known to be present.

Air Force officials and the former head of the civil engineering department at the old base, now the Big Spring Industrial Airpark, say there are several sites at the base that might be investigated by the DOD's environmental specialists.

Former civil engineering head Bill Mims, now the Howard County engineer, said one of the sites officials might examine closer is "an oxidation pond," located at the east side of the north end of the main runway.

The pond, marked as a "lagoon" on the current airpark map, was the repository of residue from the paint shops and the engine buildup shop, Mims said. "It's been dried up for some years," he said.

According to Mims, the pond was near a housing or trailer area, now known as the "bird streets."

According to 2nd Lt. Scott Thiel, a public affairs officer with Randolph Air Force Base in San Antonio, the environmental studies of air force training bases have included interviews of personnel employed by the bases in the '30s and '40s.

"What went on here, they asked people who worked here in the '30s to remember any sites of chemicals, say if they dumped a can of paint somewhere," Thiel said.

A map for the airpark shows one large and one small "oxidation pond" located on the west side of the main runway, all of which were dried up on inspection. According to Mims and Airpark Manager Hal Boyd, the areas are septic tanks because the west side of the airpark was not part of the city sewer system.

A spokesman for the Air Force in Washington, Capt. Jim O'Brien, earlier identified wash racks — where airplanes were hosed down and cleaned — as possible areas of concern.

The wash rack at Webb was located to the south side of Hangar 75, or to the left of the old O.I.L. entrance, Mims said.

But Mims and his former assistant Frank Perry — now Boyd's assistant at the airpark — maintain that no toxic chemicals were used at the wash rack.

"The stuff that was used was nicknamed 'gunk,'" Mims said. "It was a concentrated soap compound, not any toxic chemicals."

"If there had been any toxic chemicals, they would have had to travel four miles on the base before they could get off base," Mims said.

Another area that investigators may examine is the firepit, where the civil service fire department practiced putting out fires. The area was also designated as the area where explosives — in the case of a bomb threat — would be detonated, Mims said.

The area is identified as a fire department training area and a small arms explosive ordnance disposal area on the airpark map, and is located just north of Taxiway Four, at the end of the road heading west from the O.I.L. entrance that passes by the wash rack.

"The site was never used to detonate explosives," Mims said.

"It was there in case of a bomb hoax or a jammed gun."

Because chemicals were probably used in the firepit, the area might come under further study, Thiel said.

However, he cautioned that he was identifying possible areas that the department would study, not areas where toxic wastes were present.

"They'll be looking any place where chemicals were used, at old storage tanks. They'll be looking at

GIBSON FEAGINS is unsure what the future holds for two local implement dealers.

Two local implement dealers affected by company buyout

By CAROL BALDWIN

Gibson Feagins, a farm implement dealer on Highway 87, isn't sure what the future holds now that Tenneco Inc. has signed an agreement for the purchase of the farm equipment division of International Harvester.

Tenneco is the parent company of Case Co., a major farm equipment manufacturer. Feagin operates a franchise with the Case Co.

Locally, Feagin and his neighbors, Broughton and Wise Implement, located across the highway, will both have franchises from the same company. Broughton and Wise are International Harvester franchisees.

Tenneco Inc. announced in Chicago Monday that it would purchase the Harvester rights pending federal approval.

G.C. Broughton and Warren Wise were both in Dallas Friday attending an International Harvester dealers' meeting. Gibson Feagin attended a meeting of Case dealers in Kansas City last week.

Should the acquisition be approved, Mrs. Feagins said, "I don't think there will be two dealerships."

Her husband agreed. "There will be just one dealer" following an interim period which will last for 60 days then a waiting period by the company which could last for up to one year.

But in the meantime, Feagin said he believes he and Broughton and Wise will continue "business as usual."

"Really, we don't know how it will be handled," Mrs. Feagin said. "But we feel it will be done in an equitable manner. No one is out to get anybody else. It will be a business-like transaction."

"Independent business people operate under a franchise," Feagin

City searching for minority business owners

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

Under a new affirmative action program, the city of Big Spring is actively looking for businesses owned by women and minorities for possible use in city engineering and construction contracts.

City administrative assistant Pat Hardy will be in charge of the program, designed to increase participation of these businesses in city contracts, he said.

The new program, instituted to meet Federal Aviation Administration requirements for a grant the city received from the Department of Transportation, will apply only to the city's reconstruction of the main runway at the Big Spring Industrial Airpark, Hardy said.

"We recognize that minority- and woman-owned businesses have been traditionally under-represented in city contracts," Hardy said. "To overcome this, we have set affirmative action goals."

Under the grant guidelines, the city is required to allot a certain percentage of funds from the $568,708 grant it received from the Transportation Department to minority- and woman-owned businesses.

Under goals set by the city itself, at least 10 percent of the grant funds must be awarded to minority-owned businesses and 2 percent to woman-owned businesses, Hardy said.

The funds can be awarded either directly to the businesses through a contract with the city or through a contractor who agrees to use minority- and woman-owned businesses.

"The goals will be hard to reach," Hardy said. "You wouldn't think that 10 percent and 2 percent would be hard, but there's not that many women-owned businesses in the construction field."

"It seems like there are not that many (minority- and woman-owned businesses)," Hardy said. "But within the radius of a reasonable area, including Midland-Odessa, there are quite a few. There are a lot that do small things, like electrical suppliers, electricians, dumptruck and bulldozer companies."

On this particular project, the city is looking for businesses in the engineering, construction and lighting businesses, Hardy said.

Persons who think their businesses can be certified as being owned by minorities or women should contact Hardy and request certification forms.

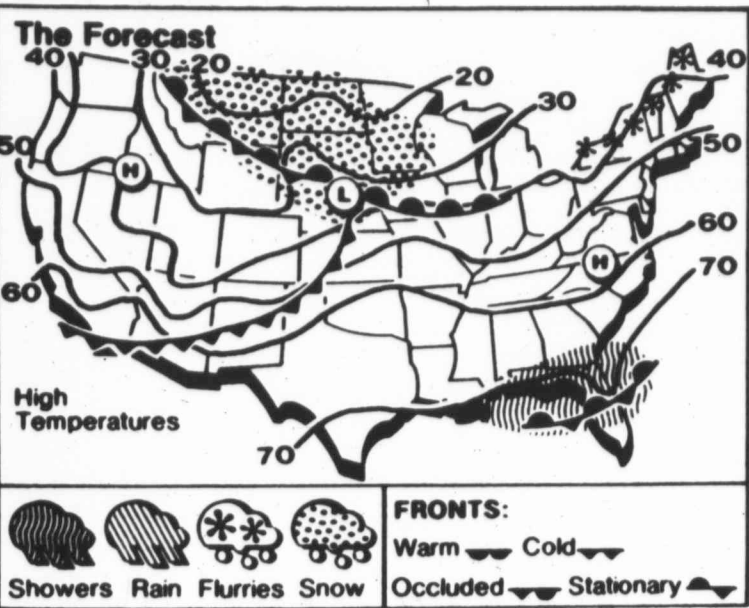

The forms take about 45 minutes to complete, Hardy said. If the business is then certified, it will be placed in the city's minority business enterprise directory, he said.

Businesses who have received Section 8-A certification by the Small Business Administration simply need to contact Hardy, who can confirm the certification with the SBA.

"We can't guarantee we'll meet these goals unless these businesses

Local

Big Spring and the area will see sunny skies and temperatures in the mid 60s today. Winds will be southerly, 5 to 15 miles per hour. Tonight, look for clear skies and lows in the mid 30s.

State

A weak high pressure system dominated Texas weather Friday, leaving sunny skies in the wake of a cold front that moved off the coast in the morning. Afternoon temperatures were in the 60s over most of the state, with readings ranging from the 40s in the Panhandle and western mountains to mostly 70s in the south.

Nation

Showers and thunderstorms ranging across the Mississippi Delta spun a tornado in Louisiana on Friday while snow and freezing rain slickened roads in the northern Midwest. The storms pelted Hernando, Miss., with half-inch diameter hail Friday morning and continued in the afternoon.

Puppy love

Humane Society is long on love, short on cash

By KEITH BRISCOE
 City Editor

Some growled that if they got together, they would be treated as "a bunch of meddling, crazy old women." A few barked that their group would attract "a bunch of nuts."

But they did it anyway. Call it crazy. Or call it puppy love.

The puppies love it, that's for sure. And so do other animals.

Just ask the hundreds of creatures who've been rescued from extermination and placed in loving homes because a few meddling old crazy women and a bunch of other nuts cared enough to show a little love for the little orphans of the animal world.

Just 7 months old itself (49 months in puppy age), the Big Spring Humane Association has unleashed the second phase of its ambitious campaign to make this small corner of the world safe for dog-ocracy.

The society, composed of over 50 prominent primates, is mailing letters asking for donations to a neutering fund.

"The biggest problem is so many litters of puppies and kittens," said Margaret Lloyd, a charter member of the group. "If we can get people to spay and neuter their pets, then we wouldn't have so many strays. There are 40 to 50 animals destroyed a week at the pound."

The society has an impressive pedigree in placing strays, but that's just a drop in the bucket in trying to stem the flood of four-legged refugees.

MARGARET LLOYD and Bandit

CAROL McMAHAN and Garfield

Birth control is the answer, and that costs money. Standard fees for reproductive neutering are $60 a dog and $40 a cat. The Humane Society, long on love, is short on cash.

Most people who take an animal can't afford the surgery, so it's likely an adopted stray will produce successive litters of potential wanderers.

A neutering fund can help fight the arithmetic of veterinarian fees so the small number of Humane Society humans won't have to battle the geometry of rapidly reproductive animals. That's logical, and the society expects success. It should.

Founded last May after philanthropist Dorothy Garrett gave money for a new animal shelter, the Humane Society has pushed the much-needed facility through City Hall red tape and will be on hand to cut the ribbon later this month.

And volunteers will man the shelter during afternoon and weekend hours to ensure man and animal are united. But that's not all. Society members will remain busy placing strays in new homes and caring for sick and injured creatures.

They need help, though. They're hunting humans who'll put extra coins in Humane Society collection jars perched in several stores. They're asking people who find strays to board the animals for a couple of days until foster homes are found.

And now they're soliciting for their new neutering fund.

Their message: A puppy is a terrible thing to waste.

 everything," Thiel said. "That doesn't mean the areas they are looking at more closely are dangerous. It just means the potential is there."

Although Thiel said the study took place weeks ago — from Sept. 17 to Sept. 21 — Boyd said no one at the city, which now owns the majority of the old base site, was notified.

"All we can do is wait until they contact us. We're not going to react to it. There's nothing to react to," Boyd said.

"As far as I know, there are no toxic chemicals at the airport," Boyd said. "I'm more concerned about a possible oil spill (with the drilling at the airport) than I am about toxic chemicals."

The Department of Defense also is trying to learn if any hazardous building remnants are still present at the base site.

According to Mims, several remnants of buildings — "concrete foundations, floor slabs and fittings" — remain at the base. "The buildings were moved but the foundations were never demolished," he said.

Boyd said he was not aware of any hazardous buildings, and said all the present buildings were occupied with the exception of old barracks, which were vacant.

He also said ammunition storage buildings now occupied by Strickland & Knight Inc., contractors, had been thoroughly examined by Air Force personnel before the company had moved in.

Police Beat

Man reports $2,850 stolen

A Midland man told Big Spring police someone stole more $2,850 in cash from his pickup truck about noon Friday while it was parked at the Mid-Continent Inn on Interstate 20.

Todd Dammer, of Midland told police the money, in 20-, 10- and five-dollar bills, was in a Texas American Bank of Midland money bag in his gray 1981 Ford Ranger pickup truck. The burglary occurred about 12:10 p.m.

A 35-mm Nikon camera and a 50-mm lens were stolen Wednesday night from the Big Spring Herald office at 710 Scurry, head bookkeeper Angie Awtrey told police. The theft occurred at 10:30 p.m. Wednesday. The camera was valued at $225 and the lens at $50.

Byron Corn of the 11th and Birdwell Church of Christ at 1616

E. 11th Place told police someone Thursday night threw a rock at a tinted church window and broke it.

The window was broken between 5:30 p.m. Thursday and 8 a.m. Friday. Damage was estimated at $150.

Dan Clere of Sterling City Route told police Friday that someone took several bath items from a house at 1307 Lamar between Nov. 16 and 5:30 p.m. Nov. 19.

Taken were two towel racks, worth $30, a $5 blue ceramic tooth brush holder, a $5 blue ceramic soap tray, a $10 blue ceramic toilet tissue holder and a $5 switch plate.

Someone stole $33.60 of diesel fuel from Pronto No. 2 at 701 N.E. 17th, store clerk Tammy Vaughn told police. The theft of the 28 gallons of fuel occurred at 6:30 a.m. Friday.

House Republican Leader Robert H. Michel of Illinois said afterward that it would be difficult to impose a "hard" freeze on government spending because some items are off limits for such action.

"We're somewhat restricted by certain ... pledges that have been made ... and that would include, for example, Social Security, which is set off the table right off the bat," Michel said.

But, he added, "we're not saying defense is off the table."

"If we're talking about a freeze, a modified freeze, something that is in that character — to hold steady for a year — that there has to still be a little bit of flexibility up and down in certain programs," Michel said.

 said. "These things happen." Mrs. Feagin added, "It's a gamble, no matter what business you are in."

Feagin was optimistic about the acquisition by Tenneco, however, and said, "We will have a strong dealer organization," regardless of the outcome. "With the combination of Case and Harvester, the organization will be able to give better service and support to the customers."

The acquisition, "eliminates the doubt of what's going to happen in case of an unprofitable situation," Feagin said. He expects the move, once approved, will mean "better profits" for the parent company.

"Both (Brought and Wise and Feagin's Implement) will see our customers are treated well," Feagin said. "We'll all respect the other one and his right to do business."

For customers of both organizations, "All warranties will still be honored by the Case Co.," Feagin said. "The company will have service and parts back-up on all units."

The move was made to strengthen an industry "which was over capacity in terms of inventory," Feagin said. The move "would reduce the capacity to build tractors by 30 percent."

Mrs. Feagin said Case "will work with both dealers to make the transition as painless as possible."

 come forward and say, 'Let me be certified.' If they don't come forward, it's difficult to know who they are. It's difficult to seek them out."

Potential contractors for the airport project will be required to meet the city's 10 and 2 percent goals, Hardy said. If the city has a large enough listing of these minority- and woman-owned businesses, then contractors will find it easier to comply with the requirement, he said.

Under the program, the city will be required to take the lowest bid on the project that also meets the city's affirmative action goals, Hardy said. If no bid meets the affirmative action goals, then the city will have to select the lowest bid that comes the closest to meeting the goals.

The city will operate the affirmative action program through 1985, and "probably the next three or four years," depending upon whether the city continues to receive the Department of Transportation grants it requests, Hardy said.

"After that, we'll assess the program and see how well it worked," Hardy said.

Depending on the program's success, the city may keep or expand the program to other areas not affected by the DOT grants, Hardy said.

"In some things it would not be good. When you have only two bidders, and one business is minority-owned, the minority business can bid high," Hardy said.

"It's somewhat difficult to implement a program of this kind. But it assures equal representation in construction work by the city. In effect, it says they (these businesses) will not be discriminated against by a potential contractor, by the city itself or anyone," he said.

Gunmen kill 5

MIAMI — Two gunmen killed five people in a "drug house" early Friday and left a sixth person critically wounded, then apparently fired another volley of shots through a neighborhood to discourage pursuers, police said.

The victims "were possibly known by the subjects inside," according to police spokesman John Shannon. "There wasn't any sign of forced entry or anything."

Inside the apartment "the shots that were fired were specifically directed at the people," said department spokesman Mike Stewart. "It's not like they went in and sprayed the apartment. We don't have shots all over in the walls."

No one was injured in the second volley of shots outside as the gunmen drove off firing an automatic weapon, "possibly shooting at people, no one in particular ... to cover their escape," Shannon said.

13-year-old kills self

MILFORD, Conn. — Classmates had heard 13-year-old Gregory Brown say he was going to run away from home or shoot himself, and one took him seriously enough to alert authorities.

But about an hour after police left his house satisfied that nothing was wrong, he apparently killed himself with a shotgun, police said.

"He was talking about it all day, but no one believed it. I didn't take him seriously," said Nils Vitale, 13, a classmate of Gregory for the last five years. "When I found out, I was hoping it was just his idea of a joke."

Friends said Brown had been upset over poor grades.

A classmate called a suicide hotline Wednesday afternoon and then notified the Fire Department of Brown's threat to commit suicide, Fire Chief William Healey said.

Teen still out of school

DeLAND, Fla. — Prosecutors have dropped charges against a 17-year-old high school basketball player accused of raping a teenage girl in a locker room, but school officials have refused to let him return to classes.

Superintendent Jim Surratt ordered a school board attorney Thursday to conduct his own investigation into claims by the 15-year-old girl that she was raped Oct. 3 at DeLand Senior High School.

"Something is amiss on this. The charges have been dropped. ... Yet, the girl filed a complaint," Deputy Superintendent William Pickhardt said Friday in explaining school officials' decision.

"We want to know more about the circumstances," he said. "Law enforcement agents say it didn't happen. We want to know more about it."

Reagan pledges to work with allies on arms control

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan pledged Friday to work closely with West German Chancellor Helmut Kohl and other American allies in shaping proposals for exploratory talks with the Soviet Union on nuclear arms control.

Kohl conferred with Reagan for two hours in the first of a series of consultations between the United States and allied partners in Europe and Japan before Secretary of State George P. Shultz sits down with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko in Geneva Jan. 7 and 8.

"In sum, our talks confirmed the closeness of our views and the commitment to work together," Reagan said at a departure ceremony for Kohl on the White House driveway on a sunny, warm fall day. A military honor guard in colorful dress lined the steps of the White House diplomatic entrance behind the two leaders.

Kohl said he and Reagan discussed ideas for the Geneva meeting, and added, "These talks, which are taking place on the basis of an umbrella concept developed by the United States, open up new perspectives and opportunities for arms control negotiations."

The United States proposed the "umbrella talks" as a means of trying to break the deadlock that has prevented the two sides for almost a year from talking about specific issues of reducing intermediate range-nuclear forces and strategic nuclear weapons.

A senior American official, speaking on condition he not be identified, said there was no in-depth discussion of U.S. proposals for the Geneva talks because they are still being developed. "At this stage we have not been able to go into many specifics," he said.

The official also said, "It would be hard to imagine more detailed and direct consultations (with allies) than the ones we have had during 1983 and 1984 on this subject. Consultation in the arms control area and missile deployment questions truly unique and unprecedented."

Kohl, in town for less than 24 hours, is the first of a number of allied leaders to meet with Reagan on arms control over the next few weeks. British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher is due to talk with Reagan on Dec. 22, Japanese Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone on Jan. 2 and Belgian Prime Minister Wilfried Martens on Jan. 14.

In addition, Shultz and Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger will meet with their NATO counterparts Brussels in two rounds of talks during December.

In their private meetings, "the president laid heavy stress on the U.S. commitment to consult closely with the Federal Republic of Germany and other key allies," the American official said.

While calling the U.S.-Soviet meeting in Geneva a "very hopeful development," the American official said, "We should keep our expectations in check ... We want to make as much progress as possible in those talks but ... recognize it is up to the Soviet Union as well as the United States for progress to occur there."

In a joint statement, Reagan and Kohl also underlined their commitment to improving East-West relations, improving NATO's conventional forces and intensifying the search for arms control. The statement said the two leaders "consider it essential to redress the steadily growing conventional force imbalance favoring the Warsaw Pact."

The American official said Reagan and Kohl discussed the possibility of a commemoration May 8 of the 40th anniversary of the end of World War II in Europe. "There was some discussion particularly by the chancellor of the importance of this commemoration to the German people," the official added.

Post kills driver

LONDON — A 3-foot concrete post hurled from a bridge killed a taxi driver taking a miner to work Friday. It was the third death stemming from the eight-month-old coal strike, and authorities charged two miners with murder.

Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher, in Paris to meet with French President Francois Mitterrand, called the attack an "utterly despicable deed" of "calculated malice."

"No decent, thinking person can support a strike sustained by this violence and thuggery," the prime minister said. "This is not in the British character; it is not the British way."

She challenged Neil Kinnock, leader of the opposition Labor Party, which backs the miners' protest, to repudiate strike violence "totally and utterly, unequivocally, clearly and no fudging."

Thousands protest

MANILA, Philippines — About 7,000 Filipinos demonstrated peacefully outside the U.S. Embassy on Friday, demanding an end to American military aid to President Ferdinand E. Marcos's government and the removal of U.S. bases from the country.

The 90-minute rally, largest in front of the American mission in years, coincided with a second demonstration by about 1,200 people who shouted "Yankee Go Home!" outside the gates of the Clark U.S. Air Force Base, 50 miles north of the capital.

Marcos, meanwhile, appeared on national television but did not speak, fueling continued speculation about his health.

"You and I have only one enemy, and that is the one (before) you," economist Alejandro Lichaoco shouted to a cheering crowd, made up mostly of factory workers and students, which stretched for two blocks along a broad boulevard fronting the seaside embassy.

Tear gas used by police

LA PAZ, Bolivia — Police used tear gas to scatter bands of student demonstrators Friday as the government opened new talks with labor leaders on the general strike that has virtually paralyzed Bolivia for nearly two weeks.

In another development, the government agreed to discuss "immediately" economic demands by the Peasants' Federation, which then postponed a threatened blockade of key highways for 72 hours.

No arrests were reported, as riot police cleared streets around San Andres University that had been blocked for the second straight day with student-erected barricades of cobblestones.

Police fired tear gas grenades as they moved forward and the students at the barricades retreated into the campus.

Artificial heart hooked to power pack

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Doctors unhooked William Schroeder's artificial heart from its massive drive system, making it skip a couple beats, and connected it to a portable power pack for 22 minutes Friday in the first test of a device that could help him live a more nearly normal life.

When the switch was completed, Schroeder reached over to shake the hand of Peter Heimes, West German inventor of the portable unit, asked for more ice cream and expressed no discomfort, Heimes said.

The goal is to have the 11-pound, shoulder-carried system eventually replace the cumbersome, 223-pound driver to which Schroeder had been tethered since his operation Sunday.

The success of the portable driver is considered by the heart's developers to be a crucial step toward freeing heart recipients from almost total confinement and making the plastic implant an appealing prospect for heart patients.

"This is the beginning of the end of the view of the artificial heart as a cumbersome device that doesn't give people the quality of life they need," said Dr. Robert Jarvik, inventor of the Jarvik-7 artificial heart. He predicted the portable driver could completely replace the large driver in two years.

Schroeder was connected to the portable driver for 22 minutes beginning about 3 p.m. EST, while he was awake and resting in bed.

"We didn't see any change" in the heart or in Schroeder when the switch was made to the portable driver, said Heimes.

It took about three seconds to pull the plastic compressed air lines off the large Utahdrive system and attach them to the portable driver, said Heimes, who works for Symbion Inc., the company headed by Jarvik that developed the heart.

Schroeder missed two or three heartbeats, which is not harmful, he said.

The driver is powered by rechargeable batteries that last up to six hours per charge. It consists of an air compressor, a computer control system and an emergency back-up system, fits inside a hard case the size of a camera bag and will cost about $10,000, Jarvik said.

Jarvik said the portable driver is "more gentle on the heart" and "the valve life (of the heart) might be longer with this system."

Earlier Friday a medical spokesman had said Schroeder was "very weak" and looking "worn out" Friday but there was no sign of complications and the fatigue was probably due to the previous day's activity.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SUNDAY, DEC. 2, 1984

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Except for a slow start in the morning, this is a very good day for you to decide upon new and fascinating plans of action that appeal to you. You would be wise to discuss them with others who may be affected.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) This is a day for new beginnings if you are motivated to go after your goals in a more determined fashion.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) A partner could delay you in the morning, but later make up for lost time and quietly come to right decisions.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Plan how to attain personal aims by a more direct method and go right to work on it. If you need assistance, go to an alert friend.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Putting more sparkle into your outside affairs is wise now, and you get support from an influential person.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) You can develop by extending your interests and being more enthused about them. Look to an imaginative new friend for help.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) A day to make your mate more aware of your charms and good points and have greater affection. Be off to romantic places.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Getting together with the most progressive persons you know and listening to their ideas can be most profitable for you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) A good day to concentrate on what should be done to have more efficiency at your work, so plan wisely for the week ahead.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Some duty you perform in the morning should not deter you from seeding arrangements you like later in the day.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You know what kin desire of you so forget the old and get into new interest and please them. Be happier.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Early study your philosophy of life and see if you are living up to its principles and tenets, and if not, do so and get better results.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) If you use more modern methods, you can gain the abundance that is uppermost on your mind. Listen to the suggestions of others.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be alert to writings and world happenings and should have a fine education. Much success can occur during the lifetime. There is the tendency to be overly independent here, so teach to be more cooperative and also to complete one project before going on to another one.

FORECAST FOR MONDAY, DEC. 3, 1984

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A very unusual day in which to start a new week and one in which your forward-looking qualities have a good chance to express themselves in some positive action.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Show others that you can grasp opportunities quickly and go after what you most desire. Show your finest abilities.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Privately plan how to extend your interests so that you can command a larger income in the near future.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You find that communications flow swiftly and well with friends and associates today. Act with true dispatch.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Do exactly what higher-ups expect of you, especially where monetary and real estate matters are concerned.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Your plans for expansion can be more successful. Be particularly gentle with partners and co-workers today.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Plan just how to handle practical matters in a more precise way and gain added profits in the days ahead.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Plan early for the amusements that will relieve you of tensions and make appointments with others.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You can get practical tasks handled with the aid of family ties very well today. Take time for recreation tonight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Put your fine creative talents to work today with a vengeance. A small risk is worth taking.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) A quiet meeting with family ties can get good results and you can reach right decisions, but act immediately.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Contact individuals who are progressive and dynamic and gain their aid. Show your finest abilities.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Look into monetary affairs that can make the future brighter and more secure. Use care in motion of all kind.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will concentrate on studies and getting ahead in the world from earliest years, but should avoid getting emotionally irritated. Teach early to complete whatever has been started. Be sure to add different languages to the school curriculum, since travel is indicated.

Federal Camp important to city

By JOHNNIE LOU AVERY

The Big Spring Federal Camp is an important economic resource to this community — but it is more than that — it's a valuable community service benefactor.

● Just during the past six months, the following projects have been served by inmates:

● Umpired and coached the Little League through the city-wide tournament playoffs in July and continue to provide groundskeeping every weekend.

● As a new project, assists the Westside Daycare Center (underprivileged children) every other weekend with construction, maintenance and groundskeeping.

● Assists in an ongoing program of painting and other maintenance work for the Howard County Boys' Boxing Club.

● Assist the Senior Citizens' Center each Saturday with painting and other maintenance work.

● As another new project, inmate Food Service personnel volunteer their free time to assist West Texas Opportunities Inc. with its monthly commodities program (cheese, flour, etc.) to the underprivileged.

● For the first time, sponsored a Toastmaster International Division Contest at the institution and sent winning inmate contestants to contests in Midland and Lubbock.

● Begun participating in local meetings of the NAACP.

● Sponsored inmate umpires and groundskeepers for the YMCA Children's Soccer League this fall.

● Sponsored inmates to participate in a fundraising tennis match at a local tennis center this summer to raise money for the Chemical People Project.

● Sponsored an inmate booth at a recent five-state arts and crafts show in Big Spring.

● Prison Band played for Missouri-Pacific Railroad Annual Picnic July 4th; at the Horseman's Club's "playday" in August; and at the city of Big Spring's "Heart of the City" downtown festival July 28.

● Prison choir presents musical programs for local churches approximately bi-monthly.

● Alcoholics Anonymous prison members serve as speakers and attend meetings of other AA clubs in the community. Inmate representatives attend special weekend AA seminars in other cities.

● Inmates will soon assist the local VFW in constructing a fishing dock and ramp at the site on the "Big Spring" in the city park, for aged and wheelchair patients.

● Three inmates helped man the telephones during the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Telethon this fall.

● Nineteen inmates participated in the City of Big Spring's "Operation Sparkle" to clean up the city's thoroughfares in October.

● Inmates are helping the City of Big Spring put up its Christmas decorations.

● Inmates assisted the County Library in a benefit art display to earn money to expand the library.

To guard against taking a facility like this for granted, it might be well to stop and review the procedure and philosophy for requests to the prison for help.

Many more requests come through to Superintendent John Gluch and Asst. Superintendent Jan Schmidt than can be handled. A request must be made to Ms. Schmidt to determine if the projects meet the approved guidelines and if prospective inmate participants are eligible for furlough or can be accompanied by staff escorts.

This request should be made at least six weeks in advance because of the details necessary to insure safety and welfare of the inmates and the community.

The general philosophy of the inmate participation is that it must fulfill two requirements: It must be of benefit to the inmate and it must be a community service that will affect a large segment of the population.

Some interesting facts about the camp: The inmate population is 460 with 103 employees. The average sentence length is 2-5 years and the average age is 35-39.

The majority (62 percent) of the inmates are white Americans. Most of the inmates work in the two major prison factories: an electric cable factory and a textile factory.

Legislative Affairs come to the forefront on Dec. 3 and 4 as the West Texas Chamber of Commerce hosts its 1984 pre-legislative conference in Odessa at the Holiday Inn Center. Getting underway Monday at 6 p.m. with a reception honoring members of the 69th state Legislature, this activity will give participants and the 22 Legislators attending an opportunity to meet, greet and exchange ideas in a friendly, informal atmosphere.

Opening the Tuesday morning session will be Dr. Jared Hazleton, president, Texas Research League. Five concurrent panel discussions by WTCC members and West Texas Legislators will begin. Subjects expected to be brought up in individual sessions include water resources, unemployment compensation, highways, education, taxes, pari-mutual betting and other subjects of interest to WTCC members.

All discussions will be moderated by government affairs staff people from the WTCC membership.

The concluding noon luncheon will be addressed by Texas State Comptroller Bob Bullock. Call the Chamber office if you want to attend this.

Today is a full day of activities. Don't miss out on all the things available to get you in the Christmas spirit. Here's a partial line-up:

- 10 a.m. — Community Christmas parade
- 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. — Biarritz Gallery Open House

Mazda Motor Corp. to build cars in Michigan auto plant

DETROIT (AP) — Mazda Motor Corp. announced today it will build small cars in Michigan, becoming the fourth Japanese auto company to put an assembly operation in the United States.

Construction of a $450 million automobile plant in Flat Rock, Mich., will start in the spring, the company said.

Mazda, Japan's third largest automaker, said production is expected to start by late 1987, and the plant's capacity eventually will reach 240,000 units a year. The plant will employ about 3,500 people.

"Mazda should participate actively in the economic growth of the U.S.," said Hirota Iida, the company's managing director, at a news conference in Detroit.

Mazda said it has "reached an understanding" with the United Auto Workers on representing workers at the plant, but neither the company nor the union would provide details.

The Mazda assembly plant would be built on the site of an idled Ford Motor Co. casting plant in the town of 8,000 people south of Detroit, said Ford spokesman William Sheehan in Detroit. Ford owns 25 percent of Mazda.

A spokeswoman for Mazda said Flat Rock was selected because of its experienced work force. In addition, auto parts and components are available in the area.

"Mazda has not yet decided what type of cars it will build at the plant," the company said in a statement.

State officials and top officials of the United Auto Workers union had been talking with Mazda for some time about moving into the Flat Rock plant.

Mazda President Yoshiaki Yamasaki had said that Mazda would build cars on its own, instead of under a joint venture, in the United States. However, he said it might sell some of the cars to another company, presumably to Ford.

Mazda considered other towns, among them Kearney, Neb., and Greenville, S.C., which lobbied hard for the plant and the thousands of jobs it would bring.

Michigan officials had stressed to Mazda that it would save millions of dollars in building expenses and would be close to major automotive suppliers if it moved into the Ford plant.

Honda Motor Co. Ltd. of Japan builds cars and motorcycles and has several supporting parts plants in Ohio, and recently announced plans to expand its car operation in Marysville, near Columbus.

Nissan Motor Co. Ltd. builds small trucks in Smyrna, Tenn., and has said it will convert part of that operation to the manufacture of small cars as well.

Toyota Motor Corp. and General Motors Corp. plan next week to turn out their first jointly made Chevrolet Nova subcompact car at a former GM plant in Fremont, Calif.

Mazda, based in Hiroshima, has found itself hemmed in by the voluntary Japanese quotas on car shipments to the United States. Mazda is in fourth place behind Toyota, Nissan and Honda in the number of cars allowed to bring in.

Of the 1.85 million Japanese cars allowed in under current quotas expiring March 31, Toyota is allowed 551,800 while Mazda gets just 173,500.

Ford already builds Mazda-designed cars in Taiwan and once sold a Mazda compact truck in the United States under the name Ford Courier.

Battle carries different messages

NEW YORK (AP) — The battle of the industrial Midwest was accentuated recently by two events that seem to carry different messages.

In the first, from Peoria, Ill., Caterpillar Tractor Co., in its own way as American as Coca-Cola, Ivory Soap or Life Savers, announced tentative plans to reduce U.S. capacity by transferring some operations abroad.

The goal, said Cat, maker of those bright yellow earthmoving behemoths so familiar during construction of the nation's interstate highway system, was to lower costs and reduce excess capacity.

The other event was disclosure of tentative plans by Mazda Motor Corp., a Japanese automaker, to assemble compact cars at an empty Ford Motor Co. plant near Detroit, joining three other Japanese carmakers with U.S. facilities.

One leaves, the other comes. But the two events are part of the same, larger story that is still unfolding and which, unfortunately, presents more questions than answers. Especially unfortunate because the stakes are high.

The fate of Caterpillar, for many years the world's most respected name in heavy earthmoving equipment, may involve U.S. labor and management practices, the dollar, and the trade deficit. In short, competitiveness.

For now, the dollar is the predominant issue. More specifically, the extraordinarily high price of the dollar in relation to other currencies means that many American goods cannot compete abroad.

In fact, some cannot compete even within the borders of the United States, a sorry condition that is depicted in the balance of trade deficit. For this year alone that deficit will exceed $100 billion for the first time ever.

It means this: Foreign goods are able to come into the United States and undersell domestically made products. And American, "dollar-made" goods increasingly find it impossible to compete with foreign goods in foreign lands.

A high-priced dollar makes imports relatively inexpensive, and therefore attractive, while making exports relatively more expensive and unattractive.

When this happens, some American companies seek to resolve the problem by moving operations abroad. That is, they export jobs. Cat, for instance, is likely to lay off American workers and hire European personnel.

But if such a problem exists, why should the Japanese switch some of their manufacturing operations to the United States, even to the embattled Midwest, the heartland of heavy manufacturing?

Again, because of the dollar — but more indirectly.

Because the U.S. automotive industry became damaged by Japanese imports, the United States and Japan agreed to quotas.

Native plants popular in landscaping

There's growing interest in landscaping with native plants. People are beginning to appreciate the beauty and hardiness of native plants that characterize the state of Texas. Majestic live oaks, stately spanish oaks, cedar elm, pecan, persimmon and hundreds of other native or "wild" plants add scenic beauty to landscape.

Many horticulturists and landscape gardeners have begun advocating the use of native plants in landscape developments. And for good reason.

Most natives are easy to grow. They're tolerant of local weather conditions and local soils. And for the most part, they're not troubled with insect and disease problems. The main problem is trying to transplant and establish the plant from its native habitat to your landscape. Some native plants are available at local garden centers, but many are not yet available. Nursery grown plants are easier to transplant since they have usually been grown in containers.

The wet, cold days of winter are ideal for transplanting by making spade cuts around the plant in winter, allowing the soil to remain in place. This allows the plant to adjust to shock, as well as develop a more intensive root system.

When ready to transplant, lift the plant with a ball of earth if possible. Wrap the ball with a moist gunny sack or similar material for easy transfer and to prevent disturbing root system. Plant the native at its normal growing depth. Water well and spread a mulch of leaves, straw or leaf mold over the root area.

Pruning transplants is often difficult for gardeners, but is essential for bare root plants or those dug in the wild. Cut back the upper branches and end shoots of limbs to compensate for loss of root area and to encourage new branching. Keep the natural form of the plant in mind when pruning.

PLANT LANDSCAPE FROM SEED

This is the season of the year when trees begin to mature seed to produced next year's crop of young trees. There are a few exceptions: Some maples and some elms mature seed immediately in the spring, but oaks, magnolia and many other tree species mature their seeds from late summer through fall.

I realize it's almost revolutionary to suggest planting landscape trees from seed; but it can be a lot of fun, and you'll be surprised how quickly many of these seedlings will grow - especially if you keep grass and weeds away from the base of the small seedlings with a good mulch. First though you'll probably want to start them in pots.

In the case of magnolia, rub the red, oily covering, known as an aril, off the seed using paper towels. Then mix the seed with damp peat moss and seal in a plastic bag. These bags then should be placed in a refrigerator for 90 to 120 days; then the seeds can be planted and will emerge immediately.

Unfortunately, it still could be in the dead of winter so you'll either need a greenhouse or be prepared to protect them. Remember Magnolias are generally not suited for our area of the state but we do have a few real fine specimens in the county. Oak, redbud and many other seeds also can be treated this way. In the case of redbud seed, the seed coat is very hard and lightly scraping it with the edge of a file, prior of the cold moist treatment, (known as stratification), will accomplish another process in the nursery industry known as sacification.

Most oak seeds, especially red oaks, won't begin to germinate at all until next spring, but members of the white oak family, such as white oak or swamp chestnut oak, may germinate even in the fall.

One to two tree seedlings in a container usually can go through a growing season before they are transplanted into the yard, but it's really best to thing the plants down to one tree per pot after they germinate in the spring, or take a chance on a few not coming up and only plant one seed to each 5-gallon container.

Instead of artificially satisfying the seed in the refrigerator - since most tree seeds won't begin any growth until the soil warms up in the spring - you can simply plant them outside. Be sure to include a stake or other marker, however, so you will know where to look for emerging seedlings. This obviously is a slow way to get landscape trees, but there is a great deal of satisfaction involved too.

Another technique to consider if you have property somewhere with a lot of small seedlings coming up is to mark them now, so you can tell which seedlings are which. Just tie a small ribbon or use a piece of colored tape around the stem, and when they go dormant dig up the small seedlings and transplant them to your yard.

The majority of trees used in your landscape, however, probably will come from a local nurseryman. Be sure that if you buy the plant growing in a container you spread the roots out from the rootball into the surrounding planting hole and cut the top back about one-third to compensate. This will keep them from getting rootbound. Keep a mulch around the base of the tree in about a 3-foot diameter and the trees will grow much faster than if they have to compete with the grass.

Don't forget about the Howard County Pecan Show on December 4. Forty pecans per variety make up an entry and beautiful plaques are to be awarded in each division.

Rape Crisis Services to give awareness program

The Rape Crisis Services of Big Spring will offer the first in a series of community information programs at 7 p.m. Tuesday at Suite 210's Conference Room in the Permian Building.

The public is invited and there is no charge; however, due to limited space reservations are required. To make reservations, call 263-3312.

The program will inform citizens about rape awareness, prevention and avoidance, as well as the services and procedures offered by the non-profit organization. A film titled "An Act of Violence" will be shown. The program will last about an hour. Rape Crisis Services offers information about rape awareness, prevention and avoidance. It also offers victims of sexual assault emotional support and accurate information about medical exams, police and court procedures. Since beginning operation Sept. 15, the Rape Crisis Services of Big Spring has assisted on many different kinds of sexual assault cases.

Stress affects do-it-yourselfers

Stories that glamorize the renovation of charming but neglected older homes or overplay the satisfaction of building your "dream house", may be responsible for more stress, broken marriages and disappointments than alcohol.

While it is probably impossible to escape stress while building or remodeling, it can be minimized with a realistic perspective and some coping strategies.

Building or remodeling a house yourself is far from the simple, glamorous and economically rewarding task it's often pictured to be. It's massive decision-making process which requires time, commitment, organizational skills and physical stamina.

Many do-it-yourselfers fail to recognize signals that the building or remodeling project is "getting to them." Short tempers, headaches or sleeplessness during construction may indicate stress. Some degree of stress is to be expected, so the do-it-yourselfer should recognize and be prepared to cope with it.

In building and remodeling, you must be emotionally prepared to deal with obstacles. "Murphy's Law," that whatever can go wrong will go wrong, most likely will operate at some point during the project. Rather than focusing on alternative plans, solutions and the next step, do-it-yourselfers often end up blaming each other for the problem.

Commitment to the project is necessary, but over-commitment can lead to stress. Some people totally forfeit all outside activities and their social life while engaged in building or remodeling. Relaxation and diversion are essential for both mental and physical well-being. The do-it-yourselfer is also more likely to return to the job refreshed and more productive after some time away from it.

Construction projects require thousands of decisions which can cause conflict. A couple may battle about which way the door should swing, whether to save the old flooring or where to place the wall switch and ceiling fan.

Stress has a way of making minor differences of opinion seem like life-and-death decisions. The do-it-yourselfers need to realize that total agreement isn't always necessary. If it's a matter of preference, personal taste or convenience, compromise is the key. If it's a more objective or technical matter, seek the opinion of an expert.

Wink holds off Forsan

By STEVEN BELVIN
Staff Writer

ANDREWS — In a contest which neither starting quarterback finished the game, the Wink Wildcats hung on to a 26-18 win over the Forsan Buffaloes in class A regional football action.

Neither Wink's Travis Price of Forsan signal-caller Todd East finished the contest. Both went down in the third quarter with Price being the first to go with a sprained ankle.

He departed the contest with his team leading 20-6. The play came with Price at his defensive safety position and ironically, it came on a 35 yard run by East.

East existed the contest a few minutes later when he suffered a hard blow to the knee. However he did come back and play linebacker, but freshman Brant Nichols took over quarterbacking duties.

Turnovers were a major cause in the Forsan loss as it was saddled with five for the contest, three interceptions and two fumbles. Four of the turnovers came in the first half as the Wildcats, ranked number two in the state and 11-0, took a 13-6 halftime lead.

But Forsan coach Jan East said the first turnover was the costly one for his team. It came in the first quarter after Forsan had stopped a Wink drive at their own eight.

Price's third down pass fell incomplete and the Wildcats decided to go for a field goal. Price's 25-yard attempt went wide.

On Forsan's first play of the game from scrimmage, running back Mitch Hays was hit hard and the ball was recovered by Wink tackle Robert Carman at the Forsan 19.

From there it took five plays for the Wildcats to score. Price rolled right and found Gerald Thomas in the end zone from five yards out. The extra point failed and Wink led 6-0 with 3:47 remaining.

"That first fumble was the turning point of the game," said East. "When we turned it over and they scored we could never quite get back up."

In his two-and-a-half quarters of action Price us his usual dangerous self, rushing for 112 yards in 12 carries and intercepting a pass. The Wink rushing attack was tough; chewing up 342 yards.

Halfback Paul Possey led all rushers with 129 yards in 21 carries. Fullback Bryan Moore added another 76 steps in 14 tries.

East was just as effective as Price, rushing for 85 yards in 10 carries. Halfback Mitch Hays led all Buffalo rushers with 98 tough yards in 17 carries.

Following the first Wink TD the Buffaloes stirred up a little offense of their own.

Starting from their own 27, the Buffs marched in for the score thanks to runs by East and Hays. On the eighth play of the drive Hays took a pitchout and scooted in 21 yards for the score.

East's point after touchdown said wide, leaving the game tied 6-6 with 11:23 remaining in the second quarter.

On their next two possessions East had two of his passes picked off. But the Forsan defense led by Hays, East, Wayne Wright and Tony Miranda held strong.

Wink started its second scoring march from its own 18. The big play was as 50 yard run by Posey on a beautiful pitch from Price. Price got the scoring honors from the 11. The drive took five plays and two minutes. This time the PAT was good as Wink took the halftime advantage.

Wink caught Forsan off guard when they recovered an onside kick at the Forsan 49 at the start of the second half. Four plays later Price hit Gilbert Marrufo for an apparent 32 yard scoring pass, but the play was called back because of illegal procedure, killing the Wink drive.

Wink did get into the endzone of its next possession. Price did the damage as he scampered 40 yards down to the Forsan three. On the next play Posey went in. The PAT gave Wink a 20-6 with 3:22 remaining in the third quarter.

On Forsan's next possession East got hurt following his 35 yard run which carried to the Wink 19. After East was hurt in came Nichols, all 115 pounds of him. He was promptly faced with a fourth and five from the 15. The slender freshmen answered with a scoring strike to Bobby Headrick pulling Forsan to within 20-12.

With four minutes remaining in the game Wink sealed the victory when Posey scored from the 11, capping off a 24-yard drive, thanks to an 11-yard Forsan punt.

But the Buffaloes wouldn't say die. Rodney McMillian promptly returned the ensuing kickoff to the Wink 45. Three plays later Hays appeared trapped in the backfield, sidestepped two defenders and dashed 18 yards for the final score of the game.

But it was too little, too late for the Buffs, who close out their season at 11-2.

Coach East was pleased with his squad's effort. "They never gave up, these guys are not quitters. We had a heck of a year. When we started out this year I didn't have any idea we would go to the regional playoffs."

Littlefield puts bite to Wolves, 29-22

By LUIS RIOS

LAMESA — The Littlefield Wildcats will not soon forget the Colorado City Wolves and their spectacular passing attack after Friday night's Class 3A Regional clash.

The second-ranked Wildcats, who were heavily favored in the game, held off a frenzied comeback attempt by the Wolves in the second half to win 29-22.

Wildcat defensive back Billy Nix intercepted a tipped pass at the Littlefield 47 to end a miraculous comeback by the Wolves with seconds left in the game.

The Wildcats' superb running back Steve Greene, who rushed for 232 yards and two touchdowns on 35 carries, took a commanding 21-0 halftime lead. The game appeared to be turning into a rout.

But the comeback by the Wolves in the second half had both sides of the stands on their feet. Quarterback Doug Chitsey, who passed for 252 yards in the game (225 of them in the second half), threw two touchdown passes in the third quarter to bring Colorado City within a touchdown of the Wildcats.

Chitsey and his talented corps of receivers went to work early as the much-anticipated fireworks began.

Chitsey hit end Perry Conner with a 37 yard pass and followed it with a 43-yard bomb to the speedy receiver for the Wolves' first score. Conner had beaten his man deep in the left corner of the endzone. The Chitsey-led Wolf Pack rallied back on its next possession with an 11-play, 74 yard scoring drive. The drive ended when Chitsey hit end Mike Ligon with a 20-yard strike with 4:04 left in the third quarter.

With 11:14 left in the fourth quarter the blonde bomber hit

Ligon with a 29 yard scoring strike to close the gap to 21-20. Ligon, along with S. Rivera, tight end Don Randle and Conner, was a key in the comeback catching five passes for 94 yards.

City head coach Tom Ramsey opted to go for the two point conversion. Chitsey promptly hit end Ronnie Hernandez with a pass to put the Wolves ahead 22-21 with 11:29 left in the game.

However, disaster struck the Wolves half way through the fourth quarter. Ronnie Hernandez, attempting to field a punt, fumbled the ball at the Wolves 17 yard line. The fumble led to the winning Littlefield touchdown.

From the fumble on, it was all Greene, as he carried five consecutive times. He plunged into the end zone with approximately two minutes left in the game. The Wildcats led 27-22 before Littlefield head coach Jerry Blakely decided to go for the two point conversion.

Greene's number came up and he obliged by burling into the endzone.

The Wolves made a valiant effort in the comeback which ended on the Littlefield 47. And with it went the Wolves hopes of a Regional Championship.

"The game was two minutes too long," said Ramsey after the heartbreaking loss. "We got ourselves in a hole in the first half with mistakes and turnovers."

"I thought we were going to win it. If we had not turned the ball over like we did we would have beaten them."

The Wolves fumbled three times inside their own 20 and 3 fumbles led to Littlefield touchdowns; but the backbreaker was the final fumble at the 17 yard line.

The Wildcats capitalized on two first quarter miscues by Colorado City to take a quick 14-0 lead.

The Wolves fumbled on their first play from scrimmage when Chitsey pitched to running back Sammy Rivera, who had 42 yards on 11 carries. Littlefield's Ronnie Willard recovered the fumble on the Wolves 15 yard line.

Four plays later the Wildcats hit paydirt to take a 7-0 lead with 6:06 left in the first quarter.

Fullback Willard picked up 6 yards after the Wildcats were penalized for clipping on the play before. Wolves Albert Rivera sacked quarterback Chris Ayala and Littlefield was faced with a third and 24 from the Wolves 29.

Ayala faked to Greene and rolled out to his left. Looking back to his right he found Willard wide open in the corner of the endzone and hit him with a scoring strike.

Willard had sneaked behind the Wolves secondary to score on the 29 yard pass play. Kicker Mike Pierce added the extra point.

The juggernaut had just begun to roll for the Wildcats.

S. Rivera took a tremendous shot after fielding the ensuing kick off and coughed up the ball on the Wolves 23 yard line.

Littlefield took no time in getting its great running offense rolling again.

Chitsey stopped Ayala for a 4 yard loss on the first play. But Littlefield's explosive game breaker, Greene, reeled off 12 yards to the Wolves 15 on the very next play. And it was Greene who took the hand off from Ayala and scampered 15 yards to score on second down and 2. Pierce added the PAT to give the Wildcats a 14-0 lead

Steers win first game of season in Midland tourney

MIDLAND — The Big Spring Steers won their first game of the young season as they defeated the Levelland Lobos 65-52 in the second round of the Midland tournament.

Coach Mike Randle's squad rebounded from a 63-41 opening night loss to El Paso Irving.

The Steers blew the contest open in the second quarter as they made a run, outscoring the Lobos 20-10. The spurt gave Big Spring a 36-24 halftime lead.

One of the keys in the win was the Steers good free throw shooting, something that has plagued them in previous games. Big Spring hit a sparkling 15 of 20 attempts for 75 percent.

Coach Randle commented, "The kids played hard the whole game today. We really played good defense in the fourth quarter. We had good, solid free throw shooting."

Sophomore guard Bernard Williams led the Black and Gold with 17 points. Senior forward Arthur Jackson added 16.

The Steers record went to 1-3 with the win.

SAN ANGELO — The Big Spring Lady Steers are still seeking their first win in the young basketball season as they fell to host team Lake View 52-30 in the San Angelo Lake View tourney.

The loss drop coach Carol Niemeyer's troops record to 0-5.

The Lady Steers held the lead for a short while, leading 9-6 after one quarter of play.

The fourth quarter is what did Big Spring in as Lake View went on a 14-2 tear that left the Lady Steers trailing 34-21.

'Legends set for play

AUSTIN (AP) — The lineup for the 1985 Liberty Mutual Legends of Golf tournament will include five newcomers in a field that will include 84-year-old Gene Sarazen.

The $500,000 seniors tournament has a field of 52 golfers, paired in 26 teams for the four-day, better-ball match over the Onion Creek Club course.

New to the field this year are Lee Elder, Tommy Jacobs, Mason Rudolph, Harold Henning and Bob Stone, the tournament announced Friday.

Sarazen again will be paired with golf teacher Paul Runyan. The Legends is the only tournament in which Sarazen, winner of the U.S. and British Opens, Masters and Junior forward Monique Jones led the Lady Steers in scoring with 18 points.

Big Spring will play San Angelo Central at noon to see who goes to the final in the four-team tourney. Central defeated Lamesa 64-37.

BIG SPRING (30) — Monique Jones 5 8 18; Myrick 0 5 5; Lockridge 2 0 4; Pruitt 1 1 3; totals 8 14 30

LAKE VIEW (52) — Burnett 3 5 11; Adams 2 0 4; Cowley 1 0 2; Olin 8 0 16; Stineet 2 0 4; Campos 2 0 4; Euler 5 1 11; totals 23 6 52

PGA, still competes. The 1984 tournament was won by Billy Casper and Gay Brewer.

Sam Snead and Roberto De Vicenzo both have won the event twice since its founding in 1978. Snead won that year with Gardner Dickinson and in 1982 with Don January. De Vicenzo won in 1979 with Julius Boros and in 1983 with Rod Funseth.

This year's field will include all of them, plus Arnold Palmer, Miller Barber, Tommy Bolt, Doug Sanders, Jack Burke Jr., Mike Souchak, Ken Venturi, Dave Marr, Bob Rosburg and Orville Moody.

The tournament is scheduled for April 25-28.

Heisman countdown drawing near

NEW YORK (AP) — Doug Flutie will be busy on Saturday, not too far from his home in Boston. Keith Byars, Robbie Bosco and Bernie Kosar have the afternoon off.

But one of them will pick up a Heisman Trophy in New York that night as the nation's outstanding college football player.

Flutie will be in nearby Worcester, Mass., trying to polish off Holy Cross in his last regular season game for Boston College. The 5-foot-9 quarterback also will call the signals for the Eagles in the Cotton Bowl on New Year's Day.

Byars, the junior tailback for Ohio State's Rose Bowl-bound Buckeyes, is one game away from clinching the national collegiate rushing championship. He also hopes to add to the list of 12 consecutive Heisman trophies awarded to running backs, two of which were awarded in succession to former Buckeye back Archie Griffin.

Bosco, like Byars a junior, has the personal goal of a Heisman on his mind. He shares the NCAA's passing leadership with Flutie. But he also hopes to wind up as part of a national championship team.

The quarterback of Brigham Young's top-ranked Cougars, the only unbeaten major-college team, could well nail that down Dec. 21 with a convincing Holiday Bowl victory over Michigan.

Kosar achieved a national championship last New Year's night when Miami defeated Nebraska in the Orange Bowl. Now the Hurricanes' quarterback would like nothing more than to become the first sophomore to win the Heisman.

Walker wasn't that far away from achieving — or even surpassing — that feat.

In 1981, when Marcus Allen of Southern California (and now of the National Football League's defending Super Bowl-champion Los Angeles Raiders) won the Heisman with 1,797 votes, Walker, a junior, was second in the balloting with 1,199.

Even more remarkable was 1980, when Walker became the first freshman to break into the top 10 vote-getters, finishing third behind George Rogers of South Carolina and Hugh Green, a defensive end at Pitt.

Byars' numbers notwithstanding, he clearly is outnumbered in his bid to lengthen the string of running backs to walk off with the 14-inch-long, 13½-inch-high, 6½-inch-wide, 25-pound piece of bronze handed out each year by New York's Downtown Athletic Club.

Since quarterback Pat Sullivan of Auburn won the trophy in 1971 by a narrow margin over Cornell running back Ed Marinaro, it has been won by Johnny Rodgers of Nebraska, John Cappelletti of Penn State, Griffin, Tony Dorsett of Pittsburgh, Earl Campbell of Texas, Billy Sims of Oklahoma, Charles White of Southern Califor-

Bullets blast Pistons

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Gus Williams and Frank Johnson scored 21 points apiece Friday night to carry the Washington Bullets to a 114-106 National Basketball Association victory over the Detroit Pistons.

The victory was the Bullets' ninth in 11 games. Washington, 11-7, seized control of the game while holding Detroit scoreless for the first 4:48 of the fourth quarter. The Bullets ran off eight unanswered points to stretch an 83-80 lead to 91-80.

NBA

Cliff Robinson, who finished with 19 points, scored 3 during that spurt and Detroit never threatened after that.

The Bullets grabbed the lead in the third quarter by scoring 11 consecutive points to erase a 72-65 Detroit lead.

Detroit, 8-9, was led by Isaiah Thomas, who scored 31 points. Jeff Rollins scored 19 for the Bullets.

Nets 123, Pacers 100
EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — Buck Williams scored 19 of his game-high 23 points and contributed to a pair of second-quarter spurts that helped the New Jersey Nets defeat the Indiana Pacers 123-100 in a National Basketball Association game Friday.

The Nets, who evened their record to 8-8, secured a 66-53 halftime lead in handing the Pacers their 13th loss in 18 decisions.

Indiana cut the gap to 57-51 late in the second quarter, but the Nets, who had seven players in double figures, scored 9 of the last 11 points, including four by Mike Gminski, to take a 13-point cushion into the locker room.

Nets guard Micheal Ray Richardson and Pacer reserve forward Bill Garnett were both ejected from the game for fighting with 8:10 remaining in the third period. Richardson had come to the aid of teammate Mike O'Koren, who had been knocked to the floor as Garnett was attempting to drive to the basket.

Otis Birdsong and Albert King each tallied 17 points for New Jersey. Kelvin Ransey hit for 16, Gminski added 14 and Darwin Cook and Richardson each added 10 for the Nets.

Rockets 116, Hawks 102
ATLANTA (AP) — Ralph Sampson scored 30 points as the Houston Rockets cruised to a 116-102 victory over the Atlanta Hawks in a National Basketball Association game

Friday night. Dominique Wilkins scored 31 points for Atlanta, but the Hawks fell steadily behind after Rodney McCray's dunk gave Houston a 15-13 lead with 5:10 left in the first quarter.

Houston's young titans of the front court, the 7-foot-4 Sampson and 7-9 Akeem Olajuwon, dominated the boards. Olajuwon grabbed 11 rebounds in the first quarter as 1 finished with 13. Sampson snared 14 rebounds.

Rookie forward Jim Peterson added 12 rebounds. Houston won the battle of the boards 55-43. Lewis Lloyd added 25 points for the Rockets. McCray had 14, John Lucas 13 and Robert Reid 12.

For Atlanta, Doc Rivers scored 24 points. Sly Williams and Tree Rollins each added 10. Rollins had 10 rebounds.

Crossroads Country basketball

GARDEN CITY — The Garden City boys advanced to the championship in their own tourney for the first time in its 21-year history by taking a 41-33 win over Rankin.

Dean Munn and Doug Hoelscher led the way with 14 and 10 points respectively. Steve Cole led Rankin with 11.

Garden City will play Klondike for the championship tonight at 8:30 p.m.

Meanwhile the Garden City girls failed in their bid to get to the championship tilt by falling to Rankin 34-30 in a nip-and-tuck game. The contest was tied 23-23 going into the final quarter. Janna Hunter paced G-City with 15 points. Elm Hernandez led Rankin with 12.

Meanwhile the Klondike boys and girls were both getting into the championship.

The Klondike boys defeated Sterling City 58-42 as Tim Cope scored 23 points. Jim Copeland paced the losers with 11 points.

The Klondike girls downed Sterling City 61-46 to advance to the championship versus Rankin at 7 p.m.

Tami Snell paced Klondike with 26 points. Patt Lujan scored 13 for Rankin.

The Forsan girls will play at 10 a.m. against Novice to see who will play for third place against the Buena Vista-Westbrook winner.

CRANE — The Coahoma girls won their second game in the Crane tournament by edging Monahans 39-35.

Leslie Kirkpatrick and Shanna Fowler led Coahoma with 19 and eight points respectively.

They will play Denver City at noon to see which team advances to the finals.

Top seeds win in Australia tennis

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Fourth seed Johan Kriek and fifth seed Pat Cash advanced Saturday into the fourth round of the Australian Open Tennis Championships.

Kriek, of the U.S., edged determined New Zealander Bruce Derlin 7-6, 7-6, 6-7, 6-4 while Cash won a tight encounter against Jakob Hlasek of Switzerland 5-7, 6-3, 6-3, 5-7, 7-5.

Cash, fined $2,000 for a racket throwing incident at the U.S. open earlier this year, was involved in a similar incident in the fourth set Saturday.

The aggressive 19-year-old, playing in front of his hometown crowd, bounced his racket angrily into the crowd after the sixth game of the fourth set.

He was warned by the umpire for racket abuse.

Cash, of Australia, a U.S. Open and Wimbledon semifinalist this year, continued to pout and dispute decisions throughout the rest of the match, but maintained his concentration enough to win.

Dutton around another year

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas Cowboys tackle John Dutton, considering retirement at the beginning of the season, says he wants to play for at least another year.

"I had planned to stop, but I feel that I can still contribute," Dutton said. "When I feel like I can no longer contribute to anything and that I am harming something, then I will quit. I know I can do it at least one more year."

Dutton began his career in 1974 in Baltimore and was traded to the Cowboys in 1979.

"I wasn't sure how long it would last when I got to Dallas," Dutton told the Dallas Times Herald. "I wasn't sure I could come in and do the job they wanted me to do at that point. Things were pretty much up in the air in my life."

"I still wanted to play football."

But I didn't know if the instinct was still there, that if I wanted to go through all this punishment with my body and even if I wanted to work that hard anymore."

Then Dutton got hurt in 1981 when he was leg-whipped or kicked in the right thigh during a game with the Buffalo Bills. The injury later required surgery.

These days, Dutton shares his position with Don Smerek and for the first time in his six-year career has not missed a single assigned down.

"I think that you absolutely have to enjoy the game to keep going this long," Dutton said. "I had some really, really good friends in college (at Nebraska) who were good football players, and they just got burned out."

Wolves

with 4:23 left in the first quarter. The Wolves trailed by two touchdowns after having only run one play from scrimmage.

The last Wildcat score in the half came on a 4 play, 63 yard drive that was sparked by a 34 yard pass from Ayala to Steve Costin to the Wolves 39 yard line. Ayala got 3 yards on a keeper before Willard broke free for a 29 yard run through the Wolves defense. All West-Texas quarterback Chitsey, who has passed for over 2,000 yards this season, was held to 27 yards passing on 3 completions in the first half. He had 14 attempts and was intercepted once in that half alone.

Littlefield held a commanding lead going into half time, unaware of what was in store for them in the second half.

The Wolves, playing with over 20 seniors on the squad, saw great performances from the entire team, especially defensive end Don Randle, end Albert Rivera, linemen Freddie Pineda, Kevin Norman and Wylie Stice and the entire secondary, who was busy stopping Greene all night long.
