Buckle Up

Q. I understood that the new state child safety law requires children up to age 10 to be buckled up, but I'm not sure. Exactly who does the law apply to?

A. The law only covers children up to age four, according to Department of Public Safety public information officer Larry Todd. While Todd says the department would like to see all children wearing seat belts in the car for safety reasons, the law only requires children 2 years old and under to be in a car safety seat. Children aged two to four are legally required to use the seat belt, Todd said.

FBI enters shooting death case

By LUIS RIOS
Staff Writer

The FBI is conducting an investigation into the Nov. 26 shooting death of a San Angelo youth in Big Spring, a Dallas agent said Monday.

"Yes, we are conducting a civil rights investigation to see if there are any civil rights violations," said FBI agent U.H. Specht.

Joe Guadalupe Garza, 16, of San Angelo was fatally shot when attempting to flee from Howard County Sheriff's Department deputies and Big Spring Police officers.

Deputy O.D. Majors shot and killed Garza when the youth attempted to run a roadblock on Highway 87 south of Big Spring.

Majors, formerly the police chief in Coahoma and recently hired by the sheriff's department, is on a leave of absence with pay from the department until the matter is resolved, Sheriff A.N. Standard said.

The high-speed chase began in the 500 block north of Gregg Street after Garza was stopped by police for a suspected traffic violation. According to police reports, the victim drove away from the scene when Officer Randy Roberts approached the suspect's vehicle. Garza and Richard Edwin Flores, 17, also of San Angelo were reportedly driving in a 1975 Pontiac Firebird stolen from San Angelo.

The police department contacted the sheriff's department asking for assistance when the suspects were approaching the city limits.

A request for an investigation by the Texas Rangers came from Standard only hours after the shooting death occurred. Ranger Charles Brune of Howard County was asked by Standard to conduct the investigation. Ranger David Burns of Snyder and District Attorney Rick Hamby are helping to conduct the investigation for the county.

However, Hamby said Monday he requested from the Howard County Commissioners Court county funds to obtain legal services from the Prosecutors Council in Austin. The commissioners unanimously approved Hamby's request.

The commissioners also declined to cut the salary of Majors during the special meeting Monday. County Judge Milton Kirby said he put the question of the Major's job status on the agenda after receiving a telephone call from a representative of the League of United Latin American Citizens.

Flores was arrested and charged with auto burglary and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle Nov. 26. He was arraigned before Judge Lewis Heflin, who set bonds at $10,000 and $15,000. Flores was transferred from the county jail to the Tom Green County jail Nov. 30 pending other charges.

Agent Specht said information obtained from the FBI inquiry would be referred to the Civil Rights Division of the U.S. Justice Department in Washington D.C.

Standard said FBI agents questioned Flores and Ranger Brune last Friday. The report on the investigation by the Texas Rangers is not complete, Standard said.

Airpark company delays expansion

By KEELY COGHLAN

A decision by Western Container Co. officials to delay expansion of its building at the Big Spring Airpark prompted a 30-minute closed discussion Monday morning by Big Spring City Council members.

According to council member Bob Fuller, the council agreed last Thursday to table two bids on construction related to the building expansion because of the company's decision to delay the construction six months.

According to Mayor Clyde Angel, the council met with City Attorney Doyle Curtis, city staff and contractors for the Western Container project in closed session to discuss the "legal ramifications" of

A wintry weather pattern began to take shape early this morning over portions of West and Northwest Texas, with light snow mixed with rain reported just north of the Texas Panhandle while rain mixed with sleet fell over portions of North Central Texas.

Up to 2 inches of snow was expected today over the Panhandle, with accumulations of 3 to 5 inches by daybreak Wednesday. Rain was likely over the rest of the state, and temperatures should stay in the lower 30s over the Panhandle, warming to the lower 60s in extreme South Texas.

In the Dallas-Fort Worth area, National Weather Service weather specialist Marshall Batts said, "It's going to be cold and wet." But he said no ice is expected.

Weather service meteorologists said the projections for today and Wednesday conform to a pattern of slightly colder-than-normal weather this winter.

Bronze Age bonanza

Turkish waters yield artifacts 3,400 years old

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mediterranean waters off the coast of Turkey have yielded the most extensive collection of Bronze Age artifacts ever found beneath the sea — a cargo of trade goods that went down in a shipwreck more than 3,400 years ago, scientists announced today.

The remains of the vessel and its cargo, which show the influence of three ancient cultures, represent a "major discovery" and significant find for marine archeology, said the National Geographic Society, which is co-sponsoring the research.

Dr. George F. Bass of Texas A&M University, the chief project scientist, said the wreck located off Cape Ulu Burun in southern Turkey is one of the oldest ever excavated.

The cargo ship, situated at a site near the coastal town of Kas, probably sank around 1400 B.C. when driven onto nearby rocks while trying to round a peninsula, Bass said.

The craft, estimated to have been about 65 feet long, settled to the bottom without capsizing while laden with a cargo of metal ingots, pottery, jars, glass, gold and ivory. These raw materials probably were destined for craftsmen and manufacturers elsewhere in the area.

The single most costly item excavated so far is a gold goblet found in a nearby sandy gully. But proving even more valuable, scientists said, was the simple, two-handled Mycenaean Greek pottery cup located next to it, which helped date the wreck.

Also recovered was pottery of two other cultures — Cypriot and early Phoenician or Canaanite. Some of the Cypriot pieces were stacked in a large storage jar and other goods were carried in Canaanite amphoras, tall rounded jars with narrow necks and bases.

Bass, who is a director of the Institute of Nautical Archeology located at the university, speculates that the ship sailed from Syria, stopped in Cyprus, and was headed for either Greece or western Turkey.

The remains rest in waters ranging from 145 feet to 170 feet in depth, he said, and this depth probably thwarted salvage efforts at the time of the sinking.

Bass said the excavation, which he began this summer with the aid of research associate Cemal M. Pulak, is expected to last five more years and yield unprecedented details about ancient Mediterranean trade and shipbuilding.

Divers raised a stone anchor and uncovered part of the vessel's keel and planking. When compared with later designs, this revealed that Bronze Age shipbuilding techniques were still being used by the Greeks 1,000 years later.

"Although only partially uncovered in 1984, these bones of the wreck push back our knowledge of Mediterranean shipbuilding by nearly a millennium," Bass writes in the January issue of National Geographic Magazine.

Scientists learned of the wreck in 1982 from a report of a young Turkish sponge diver who said it contained many objects resembling "biscuits with ears." These turned out to be scores of large, four-handled copper and tin ingots, the raw materials for the bronze tools and weapons of the era, they said.

Other surprising pieces of cargo include two dozen cobalt-blue glass ingots about two inches in diameter, which probably were to be fashioned into jewelry items, and a piece of elephant tusk, carefully squared off at each end.

The heaviest artifacts found were a row of eight stone anchors, each weighing about 600 to 800 pounds, which are the first such anchors ever to be found with an ancient Mediterranean shipwreck, Bass said.

Snow

Motorists on their way to work this morning had to scrape a thin layer of ice off their windshields and keep their windshield wipers working to battle the drizzle, but streets were clear and no travelers' advisories were posted for the Big Spring area.

Rain was being reported across the South Plains, extending up toward Amarillo, and throughout the Permian Basin area. Rainfall was reported in Mitchell County last night.

Up to 2 inches of snow was expected in the Texas Panhandle this morning.

Today's high should reach into the lower 40s with northeasterly winds, 5 to 15 miles per hour.

By tonight, however, streets could become slick if drizzle continues. The low is expected to drop into the mid 20s with northerly winds, 5 to 10 miles per hour. Accumulations of snow are predicted.

By Wednesday, the forecast is calling for decreasing clouds and highs near 50 degrees. Winds will be northwesterly, 10 to 15 miles per hour.

After a brief respite Wednesday and Thursday, a major cold front is expected to move into the area Friday, dropping temperatures and bringing the chance of more rain or snow.

Firemen fight two local fires

Firemen answered two alarms Monday for an electrical house fire and for a chimney fire at different Big Spring sites, according to Big Spring Fire Department reports.

Three firemen late Monday morning extinguished a small electrical fire in the bathroom of the Kentwood Shamrock service station at 1706 Marcy.

The fire was reported at 11:26 a.m. and was out by 12:15 p.m., according to department reports.

After tearing the ceiling tiles and insulation out of the bathroom, firemen found the fire above the bathroom light fixture. The three men who answered the call then used a gallon of water to cool off a two-foot-by-four-foot rafter.

Estimated damage to the cinder block building owned by Earl Newell of 802 W. 14th is $350, according to the report. None of the three firemen answering the call were injured, but a hole was burned in Lt. Larry Ringener's shirt.

Two fire fighting units — six men — answered a call at a duplex at 404½ Dallas, where they put out a small chimney fire.

According to office reports, firemen received the call at 8:47 a.m. and extinguished the fire by 9:09 a.m.

Firemen put out the fire by pulling out a piece of board in the chimney used as a damper.

Strike talks productive

CHICAGO — Marathon negotiations aimed at ending a teacher's strike that has closed classrooms to 430,000 students resolved many issues today, officials said.

Talks between representatives of the Chicago Teachers Union and the Board of Education recessed early today after about 10½ hours. Monday's walkout by 28,000 teachers and 12,000 other unionized workers slammed doors shut in the nation's third-largest school system.

Salaries were discussed "in context" with other issues but were not resolved, said school board President George Munoz. Union President Jacqueline Vaughn said it would take a "respectable offer," adding that "2 (percent), 3 (percent) and 4 percent is not respectable."

Hustler ad a 'parody'

ROANOKE, Va. — A fake Hustler magazine advertisement depicting the Rev. Jerry Falwell as an inebriated drunkard was not libelous because it was so ridiculous no one would take it seriously, an attorney said in Falwell's $45 million libel lawsuit.

The parody didn't make a false statement of fact, so Falwell wasn't libeled, said Alan Isaacman, an attorney representing Hustler publisher Larry Flynt.

"In order to be a false statement of fact ... there has to be something the reader would believe to be true," Isaacman said in his opening argument Monday. "This is the most unbelievable parody of all time."

But Falwell's attorney, Norman R. Grutman, said the founder of the conservative Moral Majority suffered because of the ad and deserves a monetary award.

U.S. stops 340 Haitians

MIAMI — More than 300 Haitian were seized from two ships in the Atlantic as they headed toward southern Florida, and the Coast Guard sank one of the boats because it was a health hazard, officials said today.

The Haitians were put aboard Coast Guard cutters pending questioning by immigration officials, authorities said.

One group of 340 Haitians crammed aboard at 60-foot sailboat was spotted by a Coast Guard jet Monday night, some 60 miles off the Florida coast, said Coast Guard Petty Officer Dan Waldschmidt.

"Haitians found with no legal reason to enter the United States will be returned to Haiti," said a news release from the Coast Guard.

A drive-in withdrawal

BROCKTON, Mass. — Two men drove their car through the wall of a suburban Boston bank and made off with a sack filled with night deposits, police said.

"We give them an A for ingenuity and effort," said Brockton police Sgt. David Wright. "We've never seen anything like this."

The thieves drove their Toyota through the front wall of the Shawmut County Bank about 7:45 a.m. Monday as four bank workers were lifting money out of a night deposit vault, Wright told The Boston Herald.

THE BIG THREE — House Speaker Thomas P. "Tip" O'Neill Jr. of Massachusetts, right, speaks with Rep. Mary Rose Oaker, D-Ohio, secretary of the Democratic conference and Rep. Jim Wright, D-Texas, majority leader after a party caucus renominated them for leadership positions.

Uneasy alliance

House Demos won't play patsy with president

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic leaders in the House, newly installed for another two years, say they are ready to cooperate with President Reagan, but are "not prepared to be patsies" for his Republican administration.

"Let us make it clear that while we are fully able and willing to face up to the responsibilities that beset this country, including the deficit-reduction necessity that confronts us, we are not prepared to be patsies for the artful pretenders at the other end of Pennsylvania Avenue," Democratic leader Jim Wright of Texas said Monday after re-election to a new term.

Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., nominated to a fifth and final term as the leader of the House, also said Democrats are "open to compromise ... But we will demand the same from them. If the president wants our help, he must ask for it."

"As for the Republicans," he said, "we will make sure they keep the promises they made in this fall's election not to cut Social Security, not to hurt the needy and not to raise taxes except as a last resort."

O'Neill won renomination by acclamation after conservative Rep. Charles Stenholm decided that his plans for a conservative challenge to the 71-year-old speaker might have been "destructive" to the cause of party unity.

O'Neill's election as speaker is assured when the new Congress convenes in January, since the Democrats hold a majority of 253-182 in the new House.

Aides said O'Neill and Wright have not yet begun to formulate strategy for dealing with the president's economic program. But the majority leader hinted to reporters after the closed-door caucus that he might give conditional support to a budget freeze to reduce deficits.

But he said a freeze in domestic spending must be accompanied by steps such as a cutback in the president's military budget and a halt in tax cuts, meaning a suspension of the provision that takes effect next year to adjust tax rates for inflation.

The only question in the Democratic caucus was resolved beforehand, when Stenholm, a third-term Texan, said he believed conservatives had already gained concessions from O'Neill, and announced he would drop his challenge to the speaker.

But even after he withdrew, he said the liberalism epitomized by O'Neill was out of step with the thinking of many voters. O'Neill "is perceived as being the cause of our federal deficits ... the speaker, in the eyes of many in Texas and the South, is the problem," he said.

O'Neill disagreed, saying the Democratic Party is not as liberal as it is portrayed by political opponents. They "like to talk about us as tax and spend. We haven't been like that in the past several years."

One dead in hijacking

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — One passenger was killed and another wounded as five Arabic-speaking hijackers commandeered a Kuwaiti jetliner today and forced it to land in Tehran after threatening to blow it up, Iran's official news agency reported.

The Kuwait Airways plane was carrying 11 crew members and 150 passengers, including about 120 Pakistani citizens, Kuwait aviation officials said.

Kuwait radio, which interrupted its programs to announce the hijack, said the commandeered plane was an A-300 Airbus on a flight from Kuwait to Karachi, Pakistan, via the United Arab Emirates.

Iran's Islamic Republic News Agency, monitored in Nicosia, said the identities of the dead and wounded passengers were not known. It also said it was not known whether the violence occurred before or after the jet was forced to land at Tehran's Mehrabad airport.

Qatar's news agency quoted unidentified sources in Qatar as saying three people had been killed in a shootout aboard the plane, but there was no official verification of this report. The agency also said the hijackers had purchased their tickets in Beirut, Lebanon.

IRNA said the hijackers rejected a request by Iranian authorities for the release of the injured passenger and the women and children aboard. The requested medical aid was provided immediately, IRNA said.

The hijackers also demanded the refueling of the plane, IRNA said, an indication they were planning to fly to another destination.

IRNA said the hijackers asked Iranian authorities to send an Arabic interpreter to the aircraft landing steps. The agency later said the hijacked jet was parked on a subsidiary runway at the airport and was under "security control."

Oilman seeks nuke vow

MOSCOW (AP) — The United States should match the Soviet Union's pledge not to be the first to use nuclear weapons so "we'll all be able to sleep easy," American industrialist Armand Hammer said today after meeting with Soviet President Konstantin U. Chernenko.

Hammer, 86, head of the Los Angeles-based Occidental Petroleum Corp., has had ties with Soviet officials dating back to a 1921 meeting with Vladimir I. Lenin, founder of the world's first Communist nation.

The oil company chief said Chernenko gave him a statement to read to reporters after their hour and 35-minute meeting. The Chernenko statement said the "mercurial" nature of U.S.-Soviet relations "does not happen through any fault of ours."

Death toll now set at 452

MEXICO CITY — The death toll from a series of explosions at a Pemex storage site last month has risen to 452, or 70 more than the official figure of a week ago, according to a new government report.

The report to President Miguel de la Madrid, published Monday by the government newspaper El Nacional, said the fire was a disaster "without precedent" in Mexico.

The report said 113 of the 316 injured still hospitalized were in critical condition.

A commission representing Cabinet ministries and government departments and other agencies provided the report, which listed the number of people injured in the Nov. 19 disaster as 4,248.

It said 31,000 people were forced from their homes in the immediate aftermath of the explosions and fire, which destroyed 88 dwellings housing 170 families.

Jordanian diplomat slain

BUCHAREST, Romania — A Jordanian diplomat was shot to death outside the hotel where he lived as he took his child to school today, and a suspected gunman was arrested, Jordanian officials said.

There was no official confirmation by Romanian officials of the attack, but in Jordan, Prime Minister Ahmed Obeidat told Parliament that Asmi Al-Mufti, 40, the second-ranking diplomat at Jordan's Embassy, was killed.

Rebels seeking ceasefire

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador — Government warplanes bombed and strafed suspected rebel positions on the slopes of a volcano, and guerrilla leaders said they would consider a cease-fire for the Christmas holidays.

The air raids were staged Monday near El Salto, a village 30 miles south of the capital where guerrillas had attacked a civil defense post and ambushed a company of soldiers sent to drive them away.

Government troops entering the site of the weekend fighting on the slopes of Chichontepec volcano found the bodies of 43 soldiers, according to journalists accompanying the army. They said 35 soldiers were reported missing.

India's death toll may top 1,000

BHOPAL, India (AP) — As many as 1,000 people, mostly children, are feared dead from the poisonous gas leak at a U.S.-built pesticide plant here, doctors said today, calling the incident the worst such disaster on record.

Authorities said 600 bodies had been found, and police teams were searching for more in Bhopal and nearby towns today as relatives flocked to mass burials and cremations in the central Indian city of 895,000.

Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi told reporters after a tour of the stricken city that his government would in the future not allow production of "dangerous" material in heavily populated areas. "There will be an overall government policy change," he said.

The doctors, working at Bhopal's Hamidia Hospital, said the accident was expected to cause severe long-run health problems to the estimated 20,000 townspeople who are suffering from gas inhalation.

Dr. Parveen Chaudhury said there was a danger that the survivors may lose their eyesight. Surviving women may not be able to have children, he said.

Another doctor, S.K. Trivedi, said the gas inhalation may also cause blood circulation problems.

Authorities, meanwhile, ordered the Union Carbide Corp. to pay compensation to the victims.

The leak of methyl isocyanate gas affected an estimated 20,000 residents of Bhopal, capital of Madhya Pradesh state about 370 miles south of New Delhi, and triggered a mass exodus from the city.

Bhopal was almost a ghost town with most offices and businesses closed today, an officially declared day of mourning. Streets were littered with carcasses of water buffalo, dogs and birds. Survivors attended mass burials and mass cremations.

The deadly white cloud of gas had cleared but air samples tested today were found to still contain deposits of the deadly gas.

Police and army trucks were picking up bodies from a roughly nine mile radius around the Union Carbide plant, where state Chief Minister Arjun Singh said one of three underground tanks leaked the deadly gas for 40 minutes early Monday.

He told reporters the number of deaths was likely to rise and said it was unlikely the plant would be allowed to reopen at its site in the heart of Bhopal.

Social Security must stay intact

One trial balloon of the fiscal reform type prudently shot down by the White House the other day was the Heritage Foundation's proposal to allow individuals to gradually replace Social Security coverage with private pension plans.

The conservative think tank, which is said to have much influence with the Reagan administration, has recommended that workers be allowed to first invest part, and later, all, of their Social Security taxes in Individual Retirement Accounts. The recommendation is just one of many in a report scheduled for formal release Friday, "Mandate for Leadership II."

Voluntary participation in Social Security, no doubt, is appealing to many young and middle-aged wage earners who contend with high payroll tax deductions yet wonder if the system will still be around by the time they retire.

While Social Security is far from perfect — and possibly far from long-term solvency, for that matter — most Americans appear to want to keep it intact. That message has not been lost on the Reagan administration, which faces demagoguery from the Democrats every time there is the slightest mention of Social Security reform.

Social Security, in spite of its drawbacks, also may be a better safety net for the retired than government-encouraged IRAs.

What could evolve if the Heritage Foundation had its way would be two retirement systems — IRAs for the affluent and Social Security for the poor. Another possibility is just one private pension system for the wealthy, since the Social Security program could be destroyed from lack of tax revenues.

While the Heritage Foundation has made valuable contributions to the goal of shrinking the role of federal government, its view of Social Security just won't fit in with Mr. Reagan's mandate for leadership.

Art Buchwald Who can figure out business?

Some people may be wondering why the economy seems to be slowing down. I have my own suspicions.

I went into Uncle Zorba's Office Furniture Mart the other day to buy a new desk and chair.

I asked for Zorba, whom I've been doing business with for the last 20 years.

"Haven't you heard?" the salesman said. "Uncle Zorba was sold to Hazeltine Electronics a year ago."

"I never heard of Hazeltine Electronics."

"It was a very aggressive company. They owned Ground Zero Toys, Desmond Shoes, Alfa Aluminum and the Sudden Death Life Insurance Company."

"What do you mean it WAS an aggressive company?"

"Hazeltine was bought out by S&M Diet Cola, who owns Dante Raincoats, Garfield Blue Jeans, Mother Goose Fried Chicken, Halley's Comet Potato Chips and the Titanic Submarine Company."

"I see," I said. "What happened to Zorba?"

"They made him vice president of their submarine division."

"How come?"

"Well, the submarine company was losing money, and since Zorba was making money in furniture, they figured he could do the same thing for them in the boat yards."

"Who took over Uncle Zorba's?"

"The CEO of the Halley's Comet potato chip division."

"Does he know anything about making furniture?"

"Not much, but he had done such a good job with potato chips they figured he could double the profits of the office furniture company. The exec VP of Dante Raincoats is now president of the potato chip division, and the head of Mother Goose Fried Chicken is now running the blue jean company."

"That's great," I said. "I would like to buy a metal desk, Model 89B."

"We don't make that model any more."

"Why, wasn't it moving?"

"It was our best seller. We couldn't keep them in stock. But we closed down the plant in Buffalo that was making them."

"Why would you do that?"

"Because sales of Dante Raincoats fell off, and the S&M head office in Greenwich figured they could save $5 million a year in wages if they got out of the metal desk business."

"What about this Easy Back Swivel Chair?"

"They shut that factory in West Virginia to get a tax write-off to make up for their losses in blue jeans."

"Why didn't they sell the blue jean company instead?"

"Because they're being made in Hong Kong, and you don't save any money laying off Chinese workers."

"Could I see the catalogue in case there is another desk and chair I might want to buy?"

"We've done away with our catalogue. The potato chip guy who took over the mart said he never used catalogues to sell potato chips, and he saw no reason why we needed them to sell office furniture."

"So how's business?"

"It's very slow. To save money, the new comptroller they brought in from the life insurance company cut back on all our warehouse inventory, and we have hardly anything in stock."

"You mean they bought Uncle Zorba's because it was a thriving company, and then managed, in less than a year, to drive it right in to the ground?"

"Listen, I'm lucky I've still got a job. Our new boss is closing showrooms all over the country to stay in the furniture business."

"One final question. How is Zorba doing since he took over the submarine company?"

"The rumor is, not too good. The Navy has refused to pay him for the first nuclear boat he built because it's no stronger than a metal desk."

In recent years, we have all heard talk about the need for long-range solutions to our water problem in Texas; but to date, not much has been done to effectively address this critical issue.

Jack Anderson 'Rights' rule under fire

WASHINGTON — The Justice Department has mounted a quiet assault on the individual's right to sue state and local governments for violating due process of law.

As justification, department officials have cited the lack of old-fashioned discipline that has supposedly turned the nation's schools into blackboard jungles.

Using this bogeyman, the officials hope to scare Congress into amending a 113-year-old law that guarantees the right of an injured citizen to sue local authorities who misbehave.

How the Justice Department got from fractious school kids to a legal shield for high-handed officials is a weird and frightening story. My associate Indy Badhwar has pieced it together from various sources, including a telltale memo the Justice Department refused to release under the Freedom of Information Act.

In 1871, Congress passed 42 USC 1983, known as the Anti-Ku Klux Klan Act, to protect individuals from the excesses of state and local governments. Since then it has been the principal legal vehicle for citizens to claim in federal court that their constitutional rights have been violated by local authorities. It was under the anti-Klan law, for example, that Brown vs. Board of Education was brought, leading to the Supreme Court-ordered desegregation of the nation's public schools.

For more than a century, ultraconservatives have fought the anti-Klan law and the "judicial activism" they claim it encouraged. The Brown decision was a bitter defeat. Then in 1975 another school-based Supreme Court case brought under the 1871 law galvanized the conservatives anew. In Goss vs. Lopez, the high court ruled that a student facing arbitrary suspension or expulsion from school was entitled to due process.

The decision, written by moderately conservative Justice Byron White, simply gave students facing disciplinary action the right to tell their side of the story. But states' rights activists reacted with horror, claiming that the decision disarmed teachers and school administrators in their uphill struggle to maintain discipline.

A Gallup Poll last year showed that fewer than one teacher in five nationwide thought lack of discipline was a major school problem. But President Reagan, in a pre-campaign sop to his conservative support base, launched a publicity campaign for more "good old-fashioned discipline in school."

It was about this time that the Justice Department quietly got into the act. Exactly why is not clear. Maybe it was from an ideological conviction that the anti-Klan law was fundamentally wrong. Maybe it was simply from bureaucratic irritation over a law that had, over the years, forced the Justice Department to do battle with state and local governments.

Whatever the motivation, a 10-page memo written by Roger Clegg, director of the department's Office of Legal Policy, suggested using the hue and cry over school discipline as a tool to dismantle the 1871 anti-Klan law.

Sources who have seen the memo say it includes proposals to make state and local officials immune from lawsuits that arise from their "discretionary" actions; to require that citizens filing suit demonstrate that violations of the constitutional rights by local officials were "knowing and willful," and to increase the burden of proof on plaintiffs who try to take government officials to court.

The 1871 law has served the nation well. It is often the only remedy available to protect an individual's constitutional rights. Yet the Justice Department is trying to eviscerate the law by drumming up hysteria over the issue of school discipline.

Wrong is never right

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I just read one of your columns, and I am outraged. What gives you the right to tell other people how to live? You were urging this woman not to have an abortion, but that is her business — not yours — and she can do anything she wants to. — B.F.

DEAR B.F.: You are assuming that it really doesn't matter what decisions we make, because (in your opinion) there is no such thing as right or wrong. But that is not true. If a friend of yours were threatening to jump out of a skyscraper, would you stand back and tell him that it really didn't matter whether he jumped or not? If you heard your neighbor was starving would you say you had no responsibility to help him, because you are free to do anything you want to do — regardless of what effect it has on someone else?

But our greatest abuse of freedom is when we use it to turn our backs on God — which is what you have done. Frankly, it is foolish for us to act as if God did not matter, or as if we were wiser than God. Imagine it: We who were created by God, and who know so little compared with Him, shake our fists in the face of God and tell Him we know more than He does about what is right for our lives!

Your basic problem is that you want to run your own life. God allows you the freedom to do that — but if you do, you will eventually find you are on a dead end road. The Bible warns, "There is a way that seems right to a man, but in the end it leads to death" (Proverbs 14:12). Don't let your pride and your ego keep you from Christ.

Water is major concern for Texas

By LARRY DON SHAW

All of us in West Texas who have experienced the hardships of drought firsthand can understand the intensifying concern across the state to protect and conserve our water for future generations.

Although the cycle of drought and flood are not uncommon in Texas, the severity of the recent two-year drought estimated to have caused damage of $1 billion to crops and livestock serves as a painful reminder that we cannot continue to take this valuable resource for granted.

One of the most significant and critical challenges facing legislators in the upcoming session will be to reach an agreement on a long-term water plan for Texas.

If we continue on our present course, experts estimate that shortly after the turn of the century our demand for water will exceed our total supply by an alarming amount. Consequently, we will no longer be able to have as much water as we want whenever we want it.

What was once considered to be strictly a West Texas problem, however, has become a statewide issue. This summer, the drought spread across Texas forcing nearly 100 cities to institute voluntary and mandatory limits on water consumption.

In recent years, we have all heard talk about the need for long-range solutions to our water problem in Texas; but to date, not much has been done to effectively address this critical issue.

Legislators time and again have attempted to resolve the water issue to no avail. Since 1966, Texas voters have three times rejected bond proposals to develop and control water resources. You may recall from last session a comprehensive water package met with bitter defeat in the closing days of the session when House and Senate conferees failed to reach a compromise.

The politics of water are very complex and involve opposing factions with conflicting interests — environmentalists against river authorities, East Texans against West Texans, and farmers against city dwellers. Legislators have found that formulating a comprehensive water policy to please all of these special interests, pass both houses and win approval from the public has not been an easy task and will likely be one of our most difficult challenges of the 69th Session.

Immediately following the close of the 1983 session, a Joint Commission on Water Resources joined forces with staff members from the offices of Gov. White, Lt. Gov. Hobby, and Speaker Lewis to draft a water proposal that would pass both houses as well as meet with voter approval. The results of their efforts are recently unveiled for discussion and overall have received a positive reaction.

The new water plan is incorporated in a constitutional amendment and a single 81-page bill that attempts to address the various water needs across the state. Basically, the proposal would increase the state's constitutional authority for bonding water development projects by $600 million, $400 million for projects such as reservoir construction and $200 million for projects such as sewage treatment.

The bill also proposes a program allowing the state to guarantee up to $250 million in local water bonds. It would also create a state fund to promote conservation as well as a plan to link state funding of water projects to conservation programs.

A major feature of the bill for agricultural interests includes a new fund that would allow grants to underground water districts for demonstration projects, technical assistance, and other water conservation activities. A fund to help farmers obtain low-interest loans for water-saving equipment was not included in the bill, but may be added to the bill before the start of the session.

Due to the projections of an extremely tight budget, none of the major provisions of the package would draw on state general funds unless a local government defaulted on a loan. Furthermore, although some appropriations for research and new programs would be authorized, no appropriations would be included in the bill.

The entire water plan hinges on approval by the voters in 1986.

As with water plans in the past, initial reaction from environmentalists indicates the protection of coastal bays and estuaries will once again be a major area of controversy between environmental groups and river authorities. To complicate this complex issue even further, however, is the recent ruling by the Texas Supreme Court blocking construction of the Stacy Dam and Reservoir in West Texas.

As you probably know, the Stacy Dam project was intended to provide water into the 21st century to a wide area of West Texas. The Supreme Court rescinded the Colorado River Municipal Water District's permit to build this facility, and in doing so, greatly complicated the entire water issue.

In response to this ruling, Gov. White has said that without a change in the water rights law, the decision may have eliminated the need for new bonds to build the reservoirs because it would be impossible to get permits to fill them. An aide to Lt. Gov. Hobby went so far as to say this ruling could "sabotage" the water package and may force the authors of the legislation back to square one.

Clearly, we have some difficult decisions ahead. Next to balancing the budget, the water issue will probably be the number one priority when we meet in January. If you have any comments or suggestions, or would like further information on the water plan, please contact me. You can write: Rep. Larry Don Shaw, P.O. Box 2910, Austin, Tx. 79769, or call toll-free, 1-800-592-4731.

Dear Abby

Woman worried about vasectomy

DEAR ABBY: My 28-year-old grandson and his wife have just had their second child. I love this grandson dearly as I took care of him when he was a child.

Yesterday he told me that he was going to have a vasectomy! I was horrified. He said he couldn't tell his mother or father but wanted me to know, which shows how much he thinks of me.

I am very much against his getting a vasectomy. In fact, I couldn't sleep for worrying about it. Abby, what if his wife dies and he marries a woman who wants children from him? There's also a chance that something will happen to one or both of his children; he would definitely want more.

I don't think he realizes what it would mean for a young fellow like him to do such a thing. He makes a meager living. I pay his rent and utilities. I agree, no more children, but I can't let him do this.

His wife thinks the pill is dangerous. Surely there are other ways of birth control besides a vasectomy for him.

Please help me before it's too late. I am an 80-year-old doting grandmother, but sign me ...

WORRIED
DEAR WORRIED: Although I am informed that some vasectomies can be reversed, your grandson may not be one of the lucky ones should he later change his mind. He and his wife should visit a family planning clinic and learn about alternate methods of birth control.

Your concerns are legitimate. Grandmother, but the final decision is your grandson's.

DEAR ABBY: The woman who wrote that she was frustrated and irritated because of guests who failed to return their already stamped and addressed RSVP cards for her wedding had every right to be upset. Dinner receptions are expensive, and it would be very embarrassing to run out of food.

My husband and I have a solution to this problem. After the ceremony, when the couple has left the sanctuary, the pastor should make a brief announcement: "Those people who returned their RSVP cards indicating that they would be able to attend the wedding dinner may go downstairs and find their places at their assigned tables; and for everyone else, there is punch and cookies in the room just to the right of the sanctuary where the bride and groom will be ready to greet you."

This would let everyone know, without insulting anyone, that dinner was prepared for those who responded and yet there is still punch and cookies for everyone else. This would greatly help the bride-to-be, who could then just sit back and relax and forget about calling those who did not respond.

RICK AND SUE
IN CENTRALIA, WASH.

DEAR RICK AND SUE: Your suggestion makes sense — but few would have the courage to do it. Of one thing I am certain: Those who missed out on the wedding banquet because they failed to respond would respond PDQ to their next RSVP.

Dr. Donohue

Reader says ice eases pain

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have rheumatoid arthritis. I am a 64-year-old widow, and still am pretty active, or try to be as much as my joints will let me. I used the usual recommended heat application, warm baths, etc. to let me exercise my joints. You warn about joints freezing up from lack of use. Now, here's my question.

I have found of late that if I apply ice packs for a brief period (10 minutes) I can then exercise with less pain than if I use heat. My knees bother me most. Is there anything wrong with the ice? Can it make my arthritis worse? — Mrs. V.

Go ahead and use the cold compresses if that allows you to get the mobility you need for exercise. You are benefitting from the numbing effect, a sort of local anesthetic action.

I have to add a qualification: Ice is not to be used if the person has blood vessel spasm problems, such as Raynaud's disease. And it might be best if you made sure not to apply the ice directly to the skin itself, but over a covering. And exercise only to the point of pain, not beyond. I'm glad to hear you are doing so well.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: What can a pregnant woman do to ease backache? And what brings on such backache? — M.E.

I assume you are in the later months of your pregnancy. This kind of backache is due to enlargement of the uterus, exerting unaccustomed pressure.

Some women are helped by exercise to strengthen abdominal muscles and by switching to low-heeled shoes. They learn to avoid heavy lifting. If necessary a non-aspirin analgesic can be used for pain relief. See the booklet "Backache and Spine Problems." Other readers may order by writing me care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and $1.00 for printing and handling.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Please tell me if there are any other people, or very many, like me who are afraid to go to a dentist. I am so ashamed that at my age (64) I have such fear. Could you help me? I don't know what to do. I would be so happy if we could all be helped. — Anon.

Not many people feel that a dental appointment is one of life's great joys. But today's dental care is as close to being pain-free as possible. That comforts most of us. What you have to do is make an appointment, and explain your fear to the dentist. You can use that appointment to break the ice, perhaps to have the necessary X-rays or to have your teeth cleaned. I am sure the dentist will take time to explain the various instruments and pain-killing drugs used today. You should not ignore this important part of total health.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Are fat women less susceptible to osteoporosis than thin ones? I've heard that this is so. — Mrs. U.H.

Small, slender women are more susceptible to the bone-thinning ailment than those who carry more fat. That's thought to be true because of the greater amount of estrogen that accompanies obesity.

But don't let that fool you. If it is an advantage it is one more than balanced by the disadvantages of being obese. Other factors are more reliable predictors of which women will develop osteo — family history, a sedentary lifestyle, smoking, drinking alcohol, early menopause, and insufficient calcium in the diet throughout life.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Pharmacy offers cancer screening

The Medicine Shoppe Pharmacy, 1001 Gregg, will offer a free colon-rectal cancer screening, Dec. 6-8.

Colon-rectal cancer is the second leading cause of cancer death in the United States behind lung cancer. By detecting cancer early, while the disease is at a "localized" stage, people have an 80 percent chance of surviving five years or more. Once the disease has spread, the five year survival rate drops to less than 10 percent.

Unlike lung cancer, early bowel cancer usually has no symptoms. One of the earliest symptoms of colon-rectal cancer, hidden blood in the stool, is often not easily detected without medical testing.

The screening is offered by AMC Cancer Research Center and The Medicine Shoppe. People over the age of 45 may pick up the free take-home screening kit offered. The test is simple, painless and can detect trace amounts of hidden blood in the stool, which is a leading sign of potential colon-rectal cancer and related intestinal disorders. The test kit is not a substitute for a complete physician's diagnosis — but serves as an indicator of possible problems.

Participants in the screening may take the test at home and mail it to AMC for free analysis. Results are mailed back to participants. Should a test show signs of a potential problem, a second free kit is mailed to them with instructions to repeat the test. This second test guards against the possibility of false positive readings. Anyone with second positive analysis is urged to seek medical advice from a physician.

TOY RATINGS — Ann Brown of Washington's chapter of the Americans for Democratic Action tosses a toy into a "trash box" during a news conference Monday. The group makes recommendations on toys to buy and others to avoid.

'Gobots' transform market; 'Stinkies' smell like losers

WASHINGTON (AP) — A consumer group is calling for new, uniform labels for potentially dangerous toys, saying that inadequate information about hazards is the chief toy-safety problem.

Ann Brown, chairman of the consumer affairs committee of the Greater Washington Americans for Democratic Action, urged Monday that the new labeling requirements be adopted by the Consumer Product Safety Commission in time for Christmas 1985.

The group said at a news conference to announce results of its 13th annual toy survey that labels should indicate not only that a toy poses a specific risk for a child under a certain age, but also what that risk is.

Products recommended included three robots, "Super Gobots" by Tonka, "Transformers: Deception Communicator" by Hasbro and "Robotix" by Milton-Bradley. Other toys receiving favorable ratings were "Pocket Trivia" by Hoyle Products, a camera and roller skates, both by Fisher-Price, and "Power Rods" by Playskool.

Transformers and GoBots, toys that change into robots from trucks, cars or planes, are rivaling the Cabbage Patch kids as this year's hottest toy rage.

So great is the demand for Hasbro's Transformers that a woman was trampled and suffered a sprained ankle Sunday in Bradlee's department store in Fairfax, Va., when shoppers raced for the toy.

"There's always been a rush for key items at Christmas, but I've never seen anything quite like this," said the store manager, John Groux.

Michele Litzky, a spokeswoman for Hasbro, said in a telephone interview Monday that the company will have shipped $80 million in Transformers — or 10 million units — by the end of the year.

"Demand is great," she said. "We knew several months ago that we were not going to meet all the orders that have been placed. There is just a limit on how much you can manufacture."

The GoBots line starts at $3.99 and goes up to $39.99, while the Transformers start around $3.99 and go up to $25.

In New Hampshire, where prices for the two robot toys ranges from $2.97 to $30, Mary Roscoe, a supervisor at Child World in Nashua, said, "When we have them in stock, they usually go that same day."

But she said Cabbage Patch dolls are still harder to get. The store began compiling a list last April and closed it at 2,500 names. Only 900 people on the list have received their two-doll allotment since then.

ADA's call for new labeling requirements came as the group's leaders tossed a group of toys in its "trash box" for failing to meet standards of safety, play value, realistic packaging and advertising, sturdiness and durability.

Among toys tossed in the "trash box" were:

- Two crib toys, "Baby Gym" by Nursey Needs and "Crib Soft Gym" by Shellcore, which ADA declared unsafe because their labels said they were for children over 5 months, the age when many infants begin to push up on their hands and knees and could become entangled in the toy. Company officials could not be reached immediately for comment.

- Designer diapers for Cabbage Patch Kids dolls: "The Cabbage Patch craze" has finally become a ripoff, Ms Brown said, noting that six diapers for the dolls are selling for $3.99. Coleco spokeswoman Barbara Wruck said the company did not make the designer diapers but licenses other companies to use the Cabbage Patch logo.

- "Stinkies" by Multi-Toys, judged to be "too terrible even for our trash box," according to Debbie Wager, chairman of the ADA's toy survey committee. The toy comes in assorted smells, including "Bad Breath," "Sewer," "Bar-nyard," "Outhouse" and "Dead Fish."

Murray Pottick, president of Multi-Toys, said the company had test-marketed Stinkies with children aged 7 to 10 and "there wasn't one who turned it down. Everyone was absolutely crazy about it."

WTCC wants Stacy Dam plan settled

Harte-Hanks News Service
ODESSA — The West Texas Chamber of Commerce Monday passed a resolution warning the 69th Texas Legislature that no state water plan will work until the question of Stacy Dam has been settled.

Members of the WTCC's Water Development Committee drafted the resolution after acknowledging that the Texas Supreme Court decision voiding the Stacy Dam construction permit affects nearly all waterways in the state and would likely short-circuit any future reservoir plans.

The resolution states that the West Texas Chamber of Commerce "desired to support the implementation of the 'Water for Texas' plan as prepared by the Water Development Board, but is reluctant to do so until such time as corrective legislation has been introduced and passed making possible its implementation, now therefore be it resolved...that the 69th Legislature enact necessary corrective legislation that will enable the state of Texas to have adequate water supplies past the year 2,000 and provide that adequate financial resources are available."

Police have no leads man's slaying

Harte-Hanks News Service
TYLER — Police said Monday they have "no solid leads" in the execution-style slaying of a city employee formerly of Big Spring whose body was found near the city's wastewater treatment plant.

A caller representing a terrorist group claimed responsibility for the slaying of 35-year-old John Clayton, but Tyler Police Capt. Bob Bond said, "So far we haven't identified anyone who could be an enemy. We haven't really made any progress."

Clayton's body was found just after midnight Sunday at the southside wastewater treatment plant where he worked the night shift.

A Tyler pathologist was to perform an autopsy on Clayton's body Monday but police do not expect results for several days.

Shortly after the city worker's body was found Sunday a man who refused to identify himself called the Tyler Morning Telegraph, claiming to be a member of the United Forces of Worldwide Liberation.

The man said the group was responsible for Clayton's "execution."

Municipal workers in Big Spring said they had heard of the group but did not know if Clayton had been a member.

Commissioners pass revenue bond

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

Howard County Commissioner's Court voted unanimously on Monday to pass a $3½ revenue bond submitted by the Permian Research Corporation for monies needed at a new research facility west of Big Spring.

The research facility will work on developing various technologies for the Permian Basin such as problems oil withstands before it is extracted out of the ground.

Granville Haune of the Permian Research Corporation told commissioners that bond monies have been put up by six entities outside of Howard County.

LeRoy Tillery of the Greater Big Spring Chamber of Commerce said the research company's bond revenue proposal had earlier been unanimously approved by the Howard County Industrial Development Board.

"They (research company) decided to use individual revenue bonds as a financial vehicle. It holds great promise because as they create new products, the demand will increase," Tillery said. The research company is located at the Old Highwood Building north of the Coca Cola plant on West Highway 80.

Further sessions were delayed after the court decided to repost emergency notices and relist item agendas after squabbles broke out between Howard County Judge Milton Kirby and other commissioners.

Commissioner William B. Crooker objected to a motion brought to the floor by Commissioner Louis Brown regarding personnel discussions submitted by the county tax assessor's and county engineer's office.

"It says 'personnel' on the agenda," said Crooker, "and that's rather vague."

Commissioner Brown withdrew his motion.

Crooker said that the commissioners had to impress upon Kirby that the agenda needed to be posted in greater detail.

"The agenda gives us no opportunity to do prior research. It's not fair for us to come in cold turkey and look at these items and it isn't fair to the public," Crooker said.

Commissioners later passed motions concerning requests for personnel changes.

The court also unanimously approved a motion concerning

District Attorney Rick Hamby's request to a Prosecutor's Council in Austin for its help in hearing an investigation currently being conducted into the shooting of a San Angelo youth on Nov. 26 in Howard County.

Sheriff A.D. Standard appeared before the court to discuss Deputy O.D. Majors' present leave of absence from the sheriff's department. The court agreed with the sheriff that Majors should be given full interim pay until Standard had made up his mind whether the deputy would continue on a leave of absence or be given a desk job in the sheriff's office.

Standard also told members of the commissioner's court that he was scheduled to have a meeting with officials from the Department of Justice on Dec. 12th and that after this meeting, he felt that he would make up his mind as to whether to bring Majors in the office or continue his leave of absence. Commissioner William Crooker said about the discussion.

Athletes honored at BSHS banquet

The largest turnout in four years was on hand to hear guest speaker Jim Baum at the Big Spring High School Fall Sports Sports Banquet. Athletes in cross-country, football and volleyball were honored.

Baum, formerly of Big Spring; presently manager-owner of KVMC-KAUM radio stations in Colorado City; talked to the audience of 420 about determination and leadership.

He told athletes as they grew older, their level of determination and leadership would grow, because they had participated in athletics. "Twenty years from now," Baum told BSHS athletes, "the fun and memories will be great, but you will have gained leadership and determination qualities that will benefit you in the world."

After Baum's speech, BSHS trainer Everett Blackburn introduced cross country athletes and presented them with awards. The Coaches Award, for the runner that gave his all, went to Jamie Baldwin and Anita Flores. The Outstanding Runner went to Anissa DelosSantos and Preston Harrison.

Volleyball coach Susan Sharp then introduced freshmen, JV and varsity volleyball teams that had a combined record of 49-33.

The student-athlete award went to Tonya Stevenson and Lisa Subia. Outstanding Player award went to Debbie Holguin while the Outstanding offensive players went to Trel Clemons and Tanya Ferguson.

Clemons also received the coaches award.

Following Sharp's presentation, head football coach Quinn Eudy introduced football teams; freshmen through varsity. The Steers football program went 16-23 this season.

The Outstanding Back award went to Tommy Gartman and Jay Pirkle while Doug Walker was Outstanding Linemen. The coaches award went to Jerry Meyer and Billy Russell while Jerry Anderson was presented with the defensive award. Blair Richardson got the student-athlete award.

Blackburn then presented the Charlie Johnson Award for the outstanding manager to Alvin Rocha and Delia Correa.

Rounding out the program was the introduction of varsity and junior varsity cheerleaders by Medena Thurmond who praised them for their hard work on and off the sidelines. Varsity cheerleaders were: Adrienne Allen, Priscilla Escanuela, Chandra Wrightsil, Suzanne Bowers, Becky Griffith, Sammy Watson (mascot), John Buzbee and Tracey Kilgore.

Junior varsity cheerleaders were: Shelia Cunningham, Mary Trevino, Larrie Norman, Tessa Underwood and Kelli Preston.

Conclusion of the ceremonies came when Big Spring Quarterback Club President John Preston was presented with a special award for his time and effort, and a good Fall Sports Banquet.

Hawks come up short versus Westerners

The Howard-Hawks saw a furious second half comeback fall short as they were downed by the Western Texas College Westerners 101-98 in conference play.

The loss was Howard's third in loop play and brought their season record to 4-8. Western Texas is now and trailed by as many as 20 points midway through the first half. By 2-1 in conference play and 13-2 for the season.

Despite the loss Howard proved it has the caliber of team to overcome large leads, despite a seven-man squad.

Howard never led in the contest and trailed by as many as 20 points midway through the first half. By 10 points, Porter ended the night with 22 points, but it was the hot shooting of Will Rogers and Bruce Kimble that led the Hawks comeback.

Both players ended the night with a game-high 28 points. Rogers scored 24 in the second half while Kimble added 20 in the second half scoring spree.

Howard quickly got back into the game at the 12-minute mark as they tied it 62-62. From then on the game was tied a number of times, but Howard could never get the lead away from the Westerners.

With 1:41 left in the contest Howard forward Walt Reynolds got a steal and Kimble promptly hit a jumper from the corner, cutting the WTC lead to 95-94.

On WTC's next trip down, James Dunn was fouled and sunk both free throws upping the lead to three again with 1:21 left. The Hawks turned the ball over on their next trip down and the Westerners answered with a basket, giving them a 99-94 advantage with 40 seconds remaining.

Rogers hit from the corner, and then scored on a drive with three seconds left and the Hawks trailing 99-98.

Ex-Lamesa player Victor Spencer iced the game for the Westerners as he sunk two free throws.

Howard coach Ed Sparling said his team's defense in the second half was "superb". "The defense was a lot better in the second half. The kids all played hard. We made some mistakes but we kept coming back. If we have character we'll come back Thursday night and play harder."

Flutie heads All-America team

NEW YORK (AP) — Boston College quarterback Doug Flutie, the only player in major-college history to pass for more than 10,000 yards in a career, was named to The Associated Press All-America football team today, along with two repeaters — offensive tackle Bill Fralic of Pitt and free safety Jerry Gray of Texas.

Flutie, the magical 5-foot-9 1/2 rifle-armed scrambler who captured the nation's fancy and became the first quarterback in 13 years to win the Heisman Trophy, passed for 10,579 yards and also set an NCAA career total offense mark of 11,317 yards.

With Flutie at the controls, Boston College led the nation in scoring with 36.7 points a game and earned a Cotton Bowl bid, its first major bowl trip in 42 years. For the year, Flutie completed 233 of 386 passes for 3,454 yards and 27 touchdowns and led the nation in passing efficiency.

He threw six touchdown passes against North Carolina, passed for 447 yards against Penn State and thrilled a national television audience with a dramatic last-play 48-yard bomb that pulled out a 47-45 triumph over Miami, a game in which he was 34-of-46 for 472 yards. Flutie passed for more than 300 yards on four other occasions.

"It's not his passing ability, it's his running ability, but rather his ability to make a play out of nothing," says Alabama Coach Ray Perkins, a two-time victim of Flutie's passing. "He does the best job of any quarterback I've ever seen at improvising-type things, making something happen out of nothing."

Joining Flutie on the offensive unit are running backs Keith Byars of Ohio State, the nation's leading rusher, and Kenneth Davis of Texas Christian, along with wide receiver David Williams of Illinois, the nation's leading receiver, whose 101 catches and 1,278 yards were Big Ten records. The 101 receptions were the second highest in major college history and eight of them went for touchdowns.

"He probably is the most versatile receiver we've ever had," says Illinois Coach Mike White. "What he does better than anybody is run with the ball after he catches it."

The rest of the offensive unit consists of tight end Mark Bavaro of Notre Dame, wide receiver Eddie Brown of Miami (Fla.), tackles Fralic and Lomas Brown of Florida, guards Dan Lynch of Washington State and Del Wilkes of South Carolina, center Mark Traynowicz of Nebraska and placekicker John Lee of UCLA. Fralic made first-team All-America for the third year in a row.

Named to the defensive unit were tackle Leslie O'Neal of Oklahoma State and Bruce Smith of Virginia Tech, middle guard Tony Casillas of Oklahoma, linebackers Gregg Carr of Auburn, Jack Del Rio of Southern California, James Seawright of South Carolina and Larry Station of Iowa and deep backs Gray, David Fulcher of Arizona State, Kyle Morrell of Brigham Young and Tony Thurman of Boston College, along with Ricky Anderson of Vanderbilt, the nation's leading punter with a 48.2-yard average.

Three players who made the first team a year ago failed to repeat — running back Bo Jackson of Auburn, placekicker Luis Zendejas of Arizona State and nose guard William Perry of Clemson. Jackson missed six games with a shoulder injury.

The AP All-America team will be featured Sunday, Dec. 16, on Bob Hope's Christmas special entitled "Ho-Ho Hope's 35th Jolly Christmas Hour" (NBC-TV, 9-10 p.m., EST).

Ohio State's Byars, a 233-pound junior, led the nation with 1,655 yards on 313 rushes — both Big Ten regular-season records — and in scoring with 24 touchdowns. He has scored a rushing touchdown in 21 consecutive games. In addition, he caught 37 passes for 453 yards and two TDs.

"He is a complete player," says Coach Earle Bruce. "He works hard, he can run inside or out and he can catch. His size fools people sometimes. They don't think a player his size should be able to run by them, but he does."

Like Byars, TCU's Davis is a junior, but somewhat smaller at 5-10, 210. He finished third nationally with 146.5 yards a game and his average of 7.6 yards per carry — 211 for 1,611, best ever for a Southwest Conference underclassman — was tops in the country. Seven of his 17 touchdowns came on runs of 50 yards or more.

Brown became Miami's career leader in reception yardage and touchdown catches in just two seasons. This year, he caught 59 passes for 1,114 yards, the Hur-

Chargers upset Bears, 20-7

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Welcome to Don Coryell's nightmare.

It's a recurring dream. One of his fleet of receivers is striding toward the goal line with a touchdown pass, one that will lead to the defeat of a highly touted opponent, when — just like that — the ball pops loose. Fumble. Touchdown negated. Opportunity lost.

It happened Monday night, and the San Diego coach feared the worst. But Bobby Duckworth atoned for his miscue with an 88-yard touchdown reception in the fourth quarter, and the Chargers dealt favored Chicago a 20-7 defeat that may keep Bears Coach Mike Ditka awake nights.

"I couldn't believe it," said Coryell, who watched in horror as Duckworth, nearing the completion of a 54-yard touchdown pass, lost control of the ball and fumbled it away at the 2-yard line. "I thought, 'This can't be our night.'"

He was wrong. Five minutes into the final period, Duckworth slipped behind defender Shaun Gayle, took a pass from Ed Luther over his right shoulder and went untouched to the goal line to complete the game-winning play.

He held the ball aloft briefly before entering the end zone, but it was clutched tightly to his hand. He didn't spike it, handing it instead to offensive lineman Sam Clapham.

"I was happy the coach had enough confidence in me to go back to me again," the third-year pro from Arkansas said. "That is part of the game of football — the ups and downs."

His redemptive catch, which preceded a 66-yard interception return by Lee Williams, helped the Chargers improve to 7-7. Chicago, which lost its eighth straight Monday night road game, fell to 9-5.

The Bears, who last week clinched their first-ever NFC Central Division title, hurt their chances of gaining home field advantage in the post-season playoffs. Chicago has not hosted a playoff game since 1963.

Duckworth's third-quarter gaffe, which came with San Diego trailing 7-6, stirred memories of a similar miscue by teammate Jesse Bendross earlier this season. Bendross inexplicably fumbled out of bounds near the goal line on a certain touchdown pass, and the Chargers eventually lost to the Los Angeles Raiders, 44-37.

This time, they had better odds. The Bears were ineffective on offense after second-string quarterback Steve Fuller, filling in for injured Jim McMahon, went down with a separated shoulder in the first quarter.

Under third-stringer Rusty Lisch, Chicago managed 312 yards, but was forced to punt 11 times. The Bears' only score, a 10-yard touchdown run by Walter Payton, came after a fumble by San Diego's Earnest Jackson put them in scoring position.

"This was a costly game for us because of the injury (to Fuller)," Ditka said. "I really thought we were going to win it."

Neither team seemed to want to until the final period. San Diego, stifled by Chicago's league-leading defense, settled for two first-half field goals by Rolf Benirschke. The Bears punted on each of their first six possessions, and a fumble on their seventh set up Benirschke's second goal.

Then, in the third quarter, Jackson's fumble gave Chicago an opportunity, and Lisch, who had thrown only 28 passes in 13 games prior to Monday night, maneuvered the Bears from San Diego's 36-yard-line to the 10.

Payton, who gained 92 yards on 24 carries, burst through a gaping hole up the middle and covered the distance for his team's only touchdown.

On the next possession, Luther found Duckworth alone on a simple slant pattern, and the wide receiver sprinted toward the end zone. But the ball slipped out of his hands — "it all happened in one motion; I wasn't trying to spike," he insisted — and Chicago's Mike Richardson recovered at the 4-yard-line.

"I got ridiculed enough from my teammates," Duckworth said. "(Wes) Chandler said, 'If I was falling from a burning building, I wouldn't want you to catch me.' But we won, so what the heck."

WTC noses out Queens, 68-62

The Hawk-Queens hit a cold shooting streak in the second half as they fell to powerful Western Texas College, 68-62.

Things went well for the Queens in the first 20 minutes of play as Coach Don Stevens' squad connected for 45 percent of their shots and took a 35-31 halftime lead.

In the second half things got rough as Howard connected on just 11 of 34 field goal attempts for 33 percent. "We just went cold in the second half," said Stevens. It was an evenly played game, the big difference is they hit 50 percent of their shots for the game, while we hit 39 percent," said Stevens.

Western quickly made a run at Howard at the start of the second half and edged into a nine point lead with 10 minutes remaining in the game. But Howard fought back behind the scoring of post players Vickie Waid and Joyce Boudreaux who combined for 17 points in the half.

Boudreaux led all Howard scorers with 15 points, Waid tallied 12. Waid was top rebounder with 13, while Boudreaux added 11 caroms.

One bright spot for Howard is it made 8 of 11 freethrows and committed 14 turnovers as compared to WTC's 19. "It was our best overall performance in the past two weeks," said Stevens.

The Queens are 13-4 and 1-2 in conference play.

They will host South Plains here at 6 p.m. with the Hawks playing afterwards.

Top seeds advance in Australia

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Defending champion Mats Wilander of Sweden, two-time titlist Johan Kriek of the United States and fifth-seeded Pat Cash of Australia moved into the quarterfinals of the 1.28 million Australian Open Tennis Championships.

Wilander had to battle for more than three hours to down compatriot Stefan Simonson 2-6, 6-1, 5-7, 6-2, 6-3, while Kriek and Cash both scored straight-sets victories.

Kriek, the No. 4 seed, crushed Australian teen-ager John Frawley 6-4, 6-3, 6-2, while No. 5 Cash delighted his hometown crowd with a 7-6, 6-4, 7-5 triumph over John Sadri.

In women's play, Czechoslovakia's Helena Sukova, the No. 9 seed, surprised third-seed Pam Shriver of the United States to advance to the semifinals.

Sukova, 19, downed Shriver 6-2, 6-7, 6-1 to join second-seeded Chris Evert Lloyd and fourth-seeded Wendy Turnbull of Australia in Thursday's semis.

Sukova, the No. 9 seed, will face either defending champion Martina Navratilova or Barbara Potter in the semifinals.

ricanes' first single-season thousand-yard receiver.

The 242-pound Bavaro, who is considered Notre Dame's best blocking tight end since Dave Casper, also led the Irish in receiving. He has elected to forego his final season of eligibility in 1985 — he missed 1982 with an injury — and graduate with his class.

Fralic, one of four finalists for the Lombardi Trophy as lineman of the year, had his No. 79 jersey retired by Pitt. Three years ago, he became the first Pitt freshman since Tony Dorsett in 1973 to start in his first varsity game. The other tackle, Florida's Lomas Brown, was the leader of one of the nation's top offensive lines.

The blocking of Lynch and Wilkes helped their teams finish among the nation's top 10 in total offense. Nebraska, with Traynowicz leading the way, finished third in rushing.

Nebraska line coach Cletus Fischer says Traynowicz "is a better center than (two-time Outland Trophy winner) Dave Rimington if for no other reason than he is 6-6, but he also is as quick or quicker off the ball, strong, tough and smart."

UCLA's Leo, a junior, connected on an NCAA record 29 of 33 field goal attempts. He tied an NCAA record with six field goals for all UCLA's points in an 18-15 victory over San Diego State, kicked three more in a 23-17 triumph over Long Beach State and booted a 47-yarder as time expired to give the Bruins a 27-24 victory over Arizona.

On the defensive unit, the speedy Gray tied a Texas record by intercepting seven passes this season while BC's Thurman led the nation with 12 interceptions in 11 games. BYU's Morrell is "as good a player as we've ever had in our secondary," according to Coach LaVell Edwards.

Board revokes local's parole

A 38-year-old Big Spring man had his parole revoked Monday morning by the state parole board, according to Big Spring parole officer David Harman.

David Earl Grant of Gail Route had his parole revoked on charges of traveling beyond the geographic limits of his parole without written permission, possession of firearms, association with convicted felons, unlawfully carrying a weapon and possession of methamphetamines, Harman said.

Grant had been on parole for two counts of theft of more than $200, unauthorized use of a motor vehicle, attempting to obtain controlled substances by forgery and burglary of a building.

All five of his original sentences were for five years in the state prison and ran concurrently, Harman said.

Grant, who is in custody in the Ector County jail, will be transferred to the Texas Department of Corrections as soon as possible, Harman said.

Local business awards prizes

Seattle powers by Phoenix, 108-96

SEATTLE (AP) — As a former member of the world champion Boston Celtics, Seattle guard Gerald Henderson knows the value of defense in the National Basketball Association.

"I'm a firm believer that defense creates offense," Henderson said after the point guard's overall performance helped propel the SuperSonics past Phoenix, 108-96, in the only NBA game played Monday night.

The Sonics' victory snapped the Suns' three-game winning streak. Seattle grabbed an early 23-6 lead, and injury-riddled Phoenix, without veteran guard Kyle Macy and with backcourt mate Walter Davis already on the injured list, never could catch up.

"Young guys just can't make any mistakes," said Henderson, referring to the Suns' youthful guard corps of Rod Foster, Jay Humphries and Michael Holton. "They got off to a slow start."

"We came out very aggressive, and we were very confident coming off a good win in Houston."

Seattle had wrapped up a three-game road trip Saturday night by becoming just the second team this season to beat the Rockets at home.

Jack Sikma, the league's player of the week last week, continued his fine play by scoring 29 points and grabbing 11 rebounds for Seattle. Teammate Tom Chambers added 28 before being ejected for fighting with Phoenix rookie guard Jay Humphries with 4 minutes 33 seconds to play in the game. Humphries also was ejected.

Chambers scored 10 of Seattle's first 23 points.

Chambers and Sikma are "one of our strengths," Henderson said. "When they're going, we have to get the ball inside. Of course, that opens it up outside for the rest of us."

STILL DRIBBLING — Phoenix guard Rod Foster (10) continues to dribble the basketball while down on his knees during second quarter NBA action Monday. Sonic guard Ricky Sobers (right) watches Foster.

A Big Spring WINNER!

Pastor Carroll C. Kohl
St. Paul Lutheran Church

"I feel that we've all got to work together — whether it's for our church or for our community. Everybody has a job to do and you just do it." Pastor Carroll C. Kohl says "This is not just my philosophy, but it's the philosophy of our congregation" — a congregation which literally rolled up their sleeves two nights a week for two years to build their own new parish hall! Pastor Kohl feels that a church and its pastor belong to the community: St. Paul's opens its doors to non-denominational groups and its educational classes to non-members. He serves as chairman of Salvation Army Advisory Board, director of West Texas Girl Scouts and president of Big Spring Rotary Club. He's a past director of Chamber of Commerce, a founder of West Texas Blood Services and served on Webb Air Base Community Council. He is circuit counselor for West Texas Lutheran Churches. In addition Pastor Kohl has been employed as assistant chaplain at VA Hospital for 11 years. He and wife Leighrene have four children — Thomas, student at Southwest Texas; Glenda, junior at Texas Tech; Angela, loan officer at First Federal; and Dana, BSHS senior and runner-up for Miss Merry Christmas. For relaxation, Pastor Kohl enjoys hunting, woodworking, automotive repair and handyman work. He and a fellow minister are organizing a tour to Israel next February.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she is likely to get into all sorts of interesting, though sometimes dangerous, situations because of the inquisitive nature. Early teach to reason before taking any action. Make sure that the diet is right and that good health habits are taught early in life.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON THE QUESTION OF THE CONVERSION OF THE HOWARD COUNTY WATER CONTROL AND IMPROVEMENT DISTRICT NO. 1
 NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on the 18th day of December, 1984, the TEXAS WATER COMMISSION shall convene at 2:00 o'clock P.M. in Room 113 of the Stephen F. Austin State Office Building, Austin, Texas, to conduct a hearing on the question of the conversion of the HOWARD COUNTY WATER CONTROL AND IMPROVEMENT DISTRICT NO. 1 in Howard County, Texas, into a municipal utility district operating under the provisions of Chapter 54 of the Texas Water Code.
 That said hearing is being held at the request of and pursuant to a resolution duly adopted by the Board of Directors of the Howard County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1 and filed with the Texas Water Commission, which resolution is hereinafter set out in full and made a part of this Notice for all intents and purposes.

 All interested persons are requested to appear at said hearing and offer testimony for or against the proposal contained in said resolution.
 THIS NOTICE is given by the undersigned on behalf of the TEXAS WATER COMMISSION, this 28th day of November, 1984.
 /s/ Mary Ann Hefner
 Mary Ann Hefner,
 Chief Clerk
 Texas Water Commission.
 (SEAL)
 A RESOLUTION by the Board of Directors of the Howard County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1 requesting the reservation of powers of such district to a Municipal Utility District; and making certain findings in connection therewith.
 WHEREAS, this Board of Directors has heretofore adopted an order requesting the Texas Water Commission to hold a public hearing on the question of whether the Howard County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1 will be converted to a municipal utility district following the procedures prescribed by V.T.C.S., Water Code, Section 54.006, et seq. (the "Code"); and WHEREAS, Section 54.005 of the Code provides for the reservation of the name and certain powers, under the circumstances therein prescribed, and it appears appropriate for this Board to suggest the action which it believes should be taken in this regard; now, therefore,
BE IT RESOLVED BY THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE HOWARD COUNTY WATER CONTROL AND IMPROVEMENT DISTRICT NO. 1:
 Section 1: That this Board of Directors recommends to the Texas Water Commission that:
 (a) The name of the District, Howard County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1, be retained.
 (b) The District retain the power and procedures provided in Sub-Chapter F of Chapter 51 of the Texas Water Code, relating to the power of eminent domain, such powers being necessary to the operation of the District, since the provisions of Chapter 54 of the Water Code contain restrictions on such powers.

 It is hereby found and determined that many of the facilities and properties of the District are located outside the boundaries of the District (since they are utilized to obtain water from the City of Big Spring and transmit the same to the area of the City of Cosahoma), but the statute relating to municipal utility districts (Section 54.212) permits the exercise of eminent domain within the district or within five (5) miles thereof. In the event additional improvements are required to be made in the transmission facilities, it would be necessary to the operation of the District to have the expanded power of eminent domain as provided by Sub-Chapter F of Chapter 51 of the Texas Water Code.
 Section 2: That a copy of this resolution shall be supplied to the Texas Water Commission.
PASSED AND APPROVED this 7th day of June, 1984.

Reputation of Densons Built on Quality Work

"There is a market in Big Spring for very high quality construction work," says Rick Denson of Denson & Son, Inc., "and we believe we are uniquely qualified to serve it."
 When a customer contracts a job with Denson & Son, he knows that 90% of the work will be done by B.H. Denson and his son, Rick, personally. In addition they supervise 100% of the work — that is, whenever outside contractors are needed the Densons hire them and set the quality standards.
 "Customer satisfaction is very important to us, and that's why we give every job so much personal attention. We're proud to say, our customers seem to appreciate this, and our rate of repeat business is extremely high," says Rick. The firm handles both residential and commercial work.
 Denson & Son, Inc. specializes in home improvement

 In addition they will do room additions and new construction.
 The B.H. Denson family moved to Big Spring 21 years ago. Both Densons have been in the construction business many years, and founded Denson & Son, Inc. four years ago. They have recently moved to a new and larger facility at 1606 East Third Street, near Pollard Chevrolet.

Damaged windshields can be repaired

Pat and Sue Warren use the patented Novus Method to repair windshield damage at a fraction of the cost of windshield replacement.
 It is no longer necessary to replace many damaged windshields, says Sue Warren; the Novus Method can restore and repair them, both structurally and optically. Sue says that 80% to 90% of windshield damage can be repaired successfully.
 "Every break is different and responds differently to our method," say the Warrens. It is important to have the damage repaired immediately before it spreads.
 Basically the repair is done by forcing optically-matched liquid resin through the break. The resin cures with high bonding strength, for permanent, optically clear results. It becomes as impact resistant as original glass.
 The Warrens have a mobile repair unit which they can bring to home or business to repair windshields on the spot. Or car owners can bring their vehicles to 301 Willard, off Highway 87 South.
 The service is available 7 days a week. For information or service phone Pat or Sue Warren at 267-1264.
