School reform attacked

Speakers claim 'humanism' threatens classroom

By CAROL BALDWIN
Staff Writer

A panel of educators and parents opposed to educational reforms outlined in state House Bill 72 met with a crowd of about 125 people Thursday and called the reforms "humanistic" and a violation of the rights of Texans.

The organization, called "Concerned Texans for Traditional Values," met in the auditorium of Big Spring High School. Spencer Wolfe was moderator.

Gary Phillips of Hillcrest Christian School said educational reforms are leading to "humanistic" attitudes.

"Secular humanism is the most dangerous religion in America. It defies man and dethrones God. The rights of parents are being taken away."

Phillips said, "An atheist and a humanist are basically the same thing. They deny the presence of a supreme being."

Phillips said teachers are being driven out of education because, "They can't go along with what's going on in public education."

"It scares you to death when you realize what House Bill 72 does," Phillips said. "Humanistic educators are the proselytizers of a new faith...Classrooms are arenas of conflict."

Coahoma teacher Craig Bessent read from the Declaration of Independence, then said, "A crime and disease has been committed in our state. Our fundamentals have been shaken."

Bessent said, "I teach the Constitution. I tell my students you have the right to choose your own destiny. How can I teach that when this disease plagues our system?"

Bessent said education "is worth fighting for. I'm not proposing a revolutionary war...Apathy has

Inmate lawsuit heard

Judge to rule on civil rights

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

ABILENE — A hearing in a civil lawsuit brought against the Big Spring police chief, a city jailer and two other police officers by a former inmate of the jail was completed today in federal district court in Abilene.

The civil rights hearing, scheduled for 9 a.m., was completed by 10:30 a.m., according to Federal District Judge Hal Woodward's secretary, Ruth Wood.

Woodward has not made a decision in the case, she said.

Police Chief Rick Turner, jailer Iris Blackmon and police officers Ralph Howell and Juan Palacios went to Abilene today to testify.

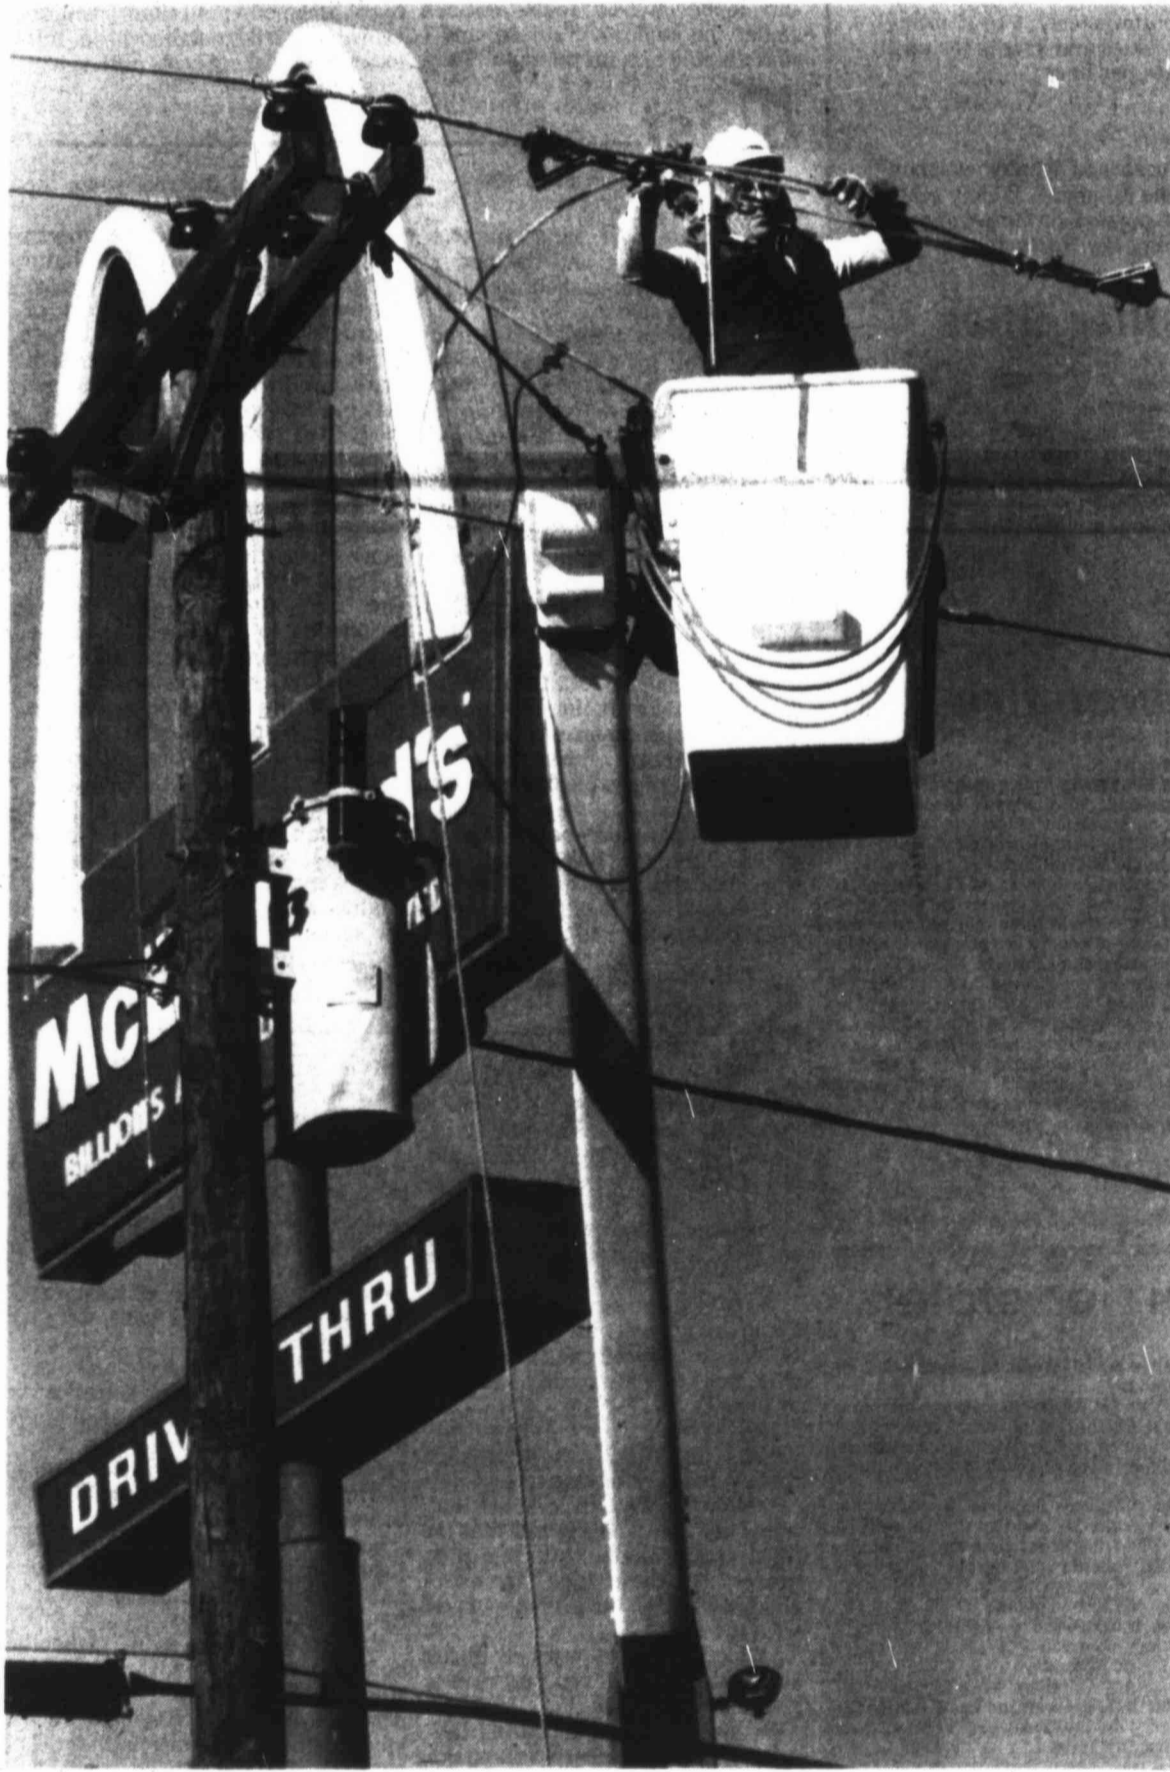

The four were sued in 1983 by Carson, a former inmate of the Big Spring Federal Prison Camp who was being housed in the Big Spring City Jail pending his transfer to higher security level federal prison.

Carson was in the city jail for 48 days — between July 17, 1983, and Sept. 3 or Sept. 4, 1983 — before being transferred back to the federal prison system, according to city attorney Doyle Curtis.

According to Curtis, federal inmates were supposed to be housed in the city jail a maximum of 45 days, but federal prison authorities failed to move Carson until three days after the time limit.

Carson is in custody in Abilene for the federal trial on a bench warrant from the federal prison in Talladega, Ala. He is acting as his own attorney. The four city employees are represented by Curtis, although they were sued individually and the city was not named as a party to the suit.

Carson has charged Turner, Blackmon, Howell and Palacios in the lawsuit with a variety of civil rights violations, most of which the four deny or interpret differently in documents filed with the federal court.

POWER LINE — A lineman cuts and splices telephone and electric service cable at a Fina Station at 1100 Lamesa Thursday afternoon following a gasoline explosion that injured two. The station is located next door to McDonald's.

Blast burns 2 men

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

Two Big Spring men remain in West Texas hospitals today after suffering burns in a Thursday afternoon explosion at a gasoline station on the north side of town.

L.D. Cunningham, 67, of 203 Young remains in serious condition at Lubbock General Hospital with burns on his face, hands and legs, according to a hospital spokeswoman. He received second- and third-degree burns on 40 percent of his body, the spokeswoman said.

Cunningham was transferred Thursday to the Lubbock hospital after being treated at Malone-Hogan Hospital in Big Spring.

Cunningham's employee at D&W Pump Co., Paul Allen Barber, 21, of 1506 E. 17th, is in stable condition in the intensive care unit at Malone-Hogan Hospital. Barber received first- and second-degree burns on his right arm and both legs, according to Malone-Hogan spokesmen.

Cunningham and Barber were injured in an explosion at 3:11 p.m. at Thurman Oil Co. Fina Station No. 2 at 1100 Lamesa while the two were testing the pressure on the service station's underground gas tanks, according to Big Spring police and fire departments.

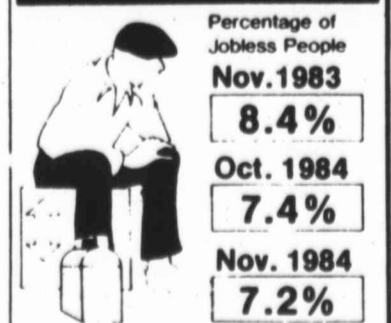

Firemen are still investigating the cause of the blast, but say they believe the explosion was set off by a spark from the air compressor that Cunningham and Barber were using.

According to arson investigator Burr Lea Settles, Cunningham told him that he and Barber "were pressuring up the underground gas tank. The test plug (on the tank) blew off and the compressor set it off."

The spark from the compressor ignited the fumes from the gas tank and burned the two men, their small motorized air compressor, their truck and telephone and electric lines at the service station, according to Big Spring police and fire departments.

Unemployment

Seasonally Adjusted Figures
Source: U.S. Dept. of Labor

Unemployment rate falls to 7.2%

From wire reports
Unemployment in Texas held steady in November at 5.7 percent as the state reflected the national economy. The national unemployment rate dropped slightly for the first time in four months, Labor Department officials said today.

The Texas unemployment rate has been at either 5.7 percent or 5.6 percent since August, reflecting both the state's strong economy, with pockets of problems, and the slow-down in the nation's economy. One year ago, unemployment in Texas stood at 7 percent.

On the national level, civilian joblessness fell to 7.2 percent last month — the first drop since June. "It's very obvious that we've been following the national pattern for four months," said Labor Department economist Nic Santangelo in Dallas.

"Even though the national numbers did do a little drop, there has been a slow-up and Texas has been feeling part of that despite our strengths," Santangelo said.

The creation of roughly 300,000 jobs pushed American employment to an all-time high, the government said today.

With a record 105.9 million

Americans holding jobs, the labor force resumed its dramatic improvement after a four-month period of practically standstill unemployment, the Labor Department said.

As overall employment set a record, the ranks of those officially listed as jobless plunged by approximately 275,000, from 8.43 million to 8.15 million.

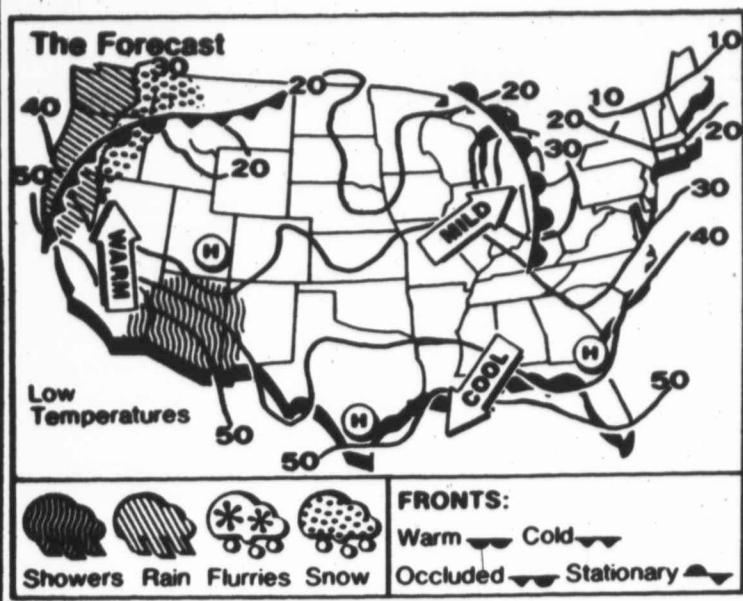

The November report was the brightest since unemployment fell from 7.5 percent to 7.1 percent in June. The jobless rate, however, bounced back to 7.5 percent and stayed in that range through October.

Hiring for the Christmas shopping season usually is reflected in December figures since the Labor Department's survey takes place in the first half of each month, Santangelo said.

Since national civilian joblessness hit a post-Depression peak of 10.7 percent in November 1982, with more than 12 million people listed as unemployed, some 6.8 million jobs have been created, principally service jobs in areas such as retail, hotel, restaurant, hospital, banking and insurance.

Station runs out of gas

Meier's service station is the last of a dying breed

DALLAS (AP) — "Closed, closed, closed Forever more 1948-1984."

Those are the words of the epitaph spray-painted on the window.

There's usually not much reason to get sentimental about the mere closing of some old gas station — but then, Meier's Gulf wasn't a gas station. It was a "service" station, and a venerable one, as service stations go.

The station at the corner of Oak Lawn and Maple avenues was a neighborhood institution and among the last of a dying breed in Dallas, the full-service-only station.

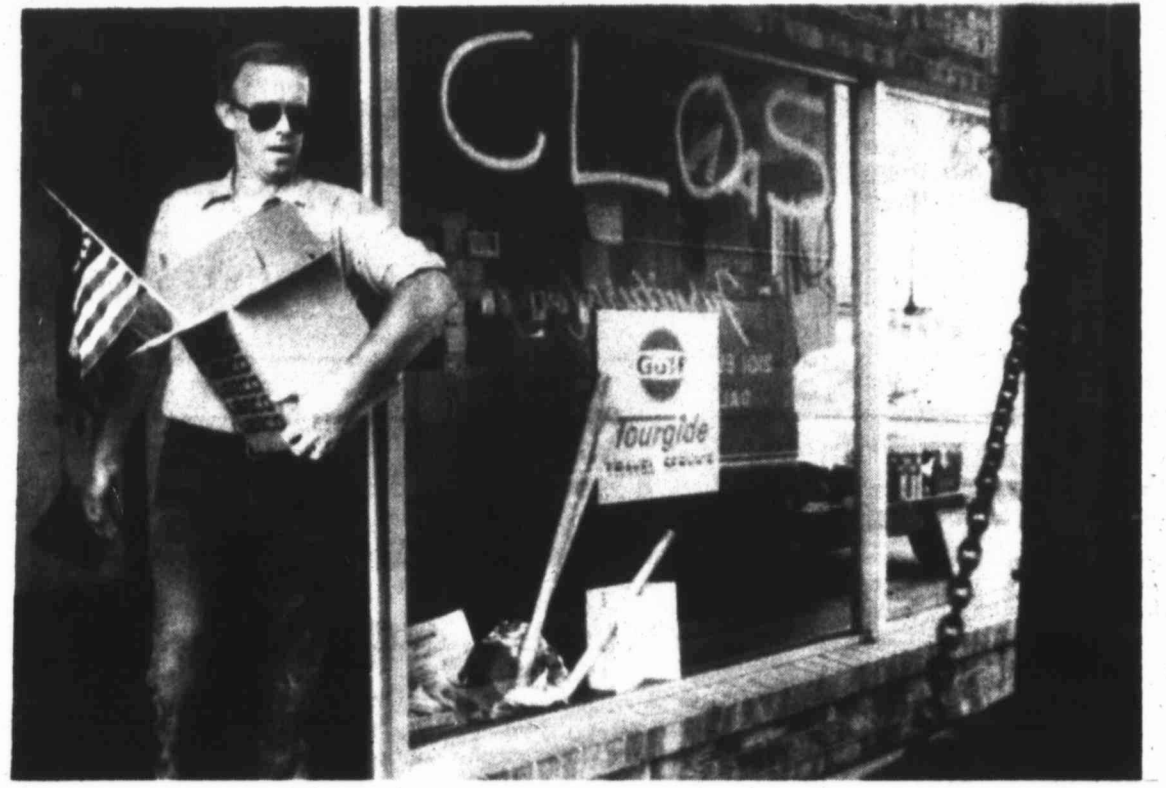

About 10 years ago, more than 100 full-service Gulf stations pumped petrol in the Dallas area. Now only about 16 stations remain, according to Gulf distributors.

"I'd bet over the last 10 years at least 50-75 percent (of the full-service stations) have disappeared," says Louis Meier. "They're few and far between. Key to these new self-service operations is high volume and low personnel."

Now the bulldozers are coming to raze Meier's station. It was killed off by development.

"We have shut the doors and we are packing and moving," says Meier, 42, latest and probably last in a line of Meier service stations scions.

"We lost our lease. The developers waded their millions under the landowner's nose, and I don't blame him for taking it. They are talking about four stories down and six stories up — basically, what they are going to build is like all the rest of the area: offices and retail space. I'm caught between the developers and the oil companies. I'm a washout. I'm a has-been. I'm history. I'm over."

If it weren't for the oil companies, Meier contends, he could open up another similar business elsewhere in the neighborhood. But exorbitant leasing costs at the good locations — plus the proliferation of gasoline "outlets" and gas-slugging convenience stores — have just about driven out of business the small places offering full-service gas sales and mechanical work.

"Don't get me started on the oil companies, I'll get all cranked up," Meier says — then launches into a tirade on the subject of big, cold companies that seek robotic efficiency, corner all the profits, cut overhead to the bone, eliminate the middle man and forget about the human element.

"It's a big-dog-eat-little-dog old world," he concludes after regarding his breath.

And next time you are standing at a gas pump in the freezing wind, nozzle inserted, waiting for the little digital display to start to flicker, and this mechanical voice erupts out of a speaker to say, "Pay first," think about Louis Meier.

cording to reports. All traces of fire in the underground tank and the power lines were extinguished by 4:30 p.m., Settles said.

Electricity to homes in the area was shut off for about an hour by the explosion but service was restored by 5 p.m., according to reports.

Telephone service to as many as 500 homes in the area also was cut. Airpark Manager Hal Boyd said. Telephone service was expected to be restored within 12 to 14 hours of the explosion, Boyd said.

Firemen have not determined an estimate of the damage caused by the explosion, Settles said.

Managers at McDonald's, located next door to the service station where the explosion occurred, said they narrowly missed being in the area of the explosion when it occurred.

According to store manager Randy McClure, the three managers were checking items on the roof for cleanliness as part of their regular procedures and had just left the front portion of the roof when the explosion occurred.

Assistant manager Kenneth Cooper was in the back of the hamburger stand when he heard the explosion. "It was a big ball of flame," he said. "I started yelling at them (McClure and assistant manager Dave Henderson) to get down off the roof."

McClure said the explosion sounded like "a big boom" just before the store's power went off. "I was scared soup," Henderson said. "It sounded like a '22 (caliber gun) going off."

Three fire trucks, the fire chief, the fire marshal and Settles responded to the alarm from the fire department. Assisting with crowd and traffic control at the scene of the explosion were two police supervisors, three patrolmen and two off-duty patrolmen, Police Lt. Jerry Edwards said.

In addition, City Public Works Director Tom Decell, Boyd and a representative from the state Highway Department also were at the scene.

Conciliation specialist to inquire into shooting

By SCOTT FITZGERALD Staff Writer

Richard Evarts, a conciliation specialist with the U.S. Department of Justice in Dallas, is a telephone interview Wednesday said he was scheduled to appear in Big Spring, on Wednesday afternoon of next week.

Evarts was assigned by the justice department to conduct an investigation into the recent shooting death of a San Angelo youth in Howard County.

Joe Garza, 16, was fatally shot by Howard County sheriff's deputy O.D. Majors when the youth attempted to run a roadblock on Highway 87 south of Big Spring on Nov. 26.

Pat DeAnda of the Big Spring chapter of the League of United Latin American Citizens (LULAC) said the organization had requested the Department of Justice to conduct an investigation of the shooting.

The Texas Rangers also are conducting a separate investigation at the request of Howard County Sheriff A.N. Standard.

Evarts said that when he arrives in Big Spring, he would like to conduct "preliminary discussions between antagonistic groups."

"It would be beneficial if we would could get discussions going fruitfully and prevent parties from becoming antagonistic towards each other," Evarts said.

Evarts said the preliminary discussions should be conducted "in a quiet manner."

The U.S. Dept. of Justice official said he wished to cooperate with the media and make this his initial issue upon beginning discussions.

gone on for too long."

Bessent called the new reforms "a socialistic movement" and said it was time "to stick your neck out (for your children)."

He added, "We've got to get local control back in order to preserve it."

Jerry Doyle, superintendent of Coahoma schools, said, "We need to look at what House Bill 72 and what our state leadership has lead us in to."

Doyle said, "Two things will derail (House Bill 72) — lack of money and lack of teachers."

Doyle was quick to point out that there are points of the bill that he liked, such as the tutoring program. "But these things are overshadowed by all the problems I see with it."

Doyle said he is worried about state taxpayers. "You can ride a good horse to death."

He also criticized the career ladder in which teachers will make more money for years on the job and education. "We are driving a lot of good people out," he said.

Tommy Stewman, a rancher in the Marynell Community and a member of the Highland school board, has been speaking to such meetings around the state and was in Big Spring last night to talk about the agriculture programs threatened by the new reforms.

"Ross Perot said, 'The teaching of agriculture is like a cancer in the human body. It will not go away unless it is removed.'"

Stewman wants to see agriculture and other vocational programs protected.

"Perot's attitude toward agriculture is reflected by the new state board. They have employed people who support House Bill 72."

Stewman said supporters of the bill "rammed this bill through the Legislature of Texas...The bill is lacking in common sense."

Kyle Stallings of Midland said the bill, "is another trend in the transfer of authority from local school districts to Austin."

Stallings questioned the appointment of a "master" over districts. A master will "serve at the will of the commissioner of education and can 'approve or disapprove of any action taken by a board of trustees. I'm against the idea of transferring our rights."

Debra Perkins, a parent and one of the organizers of the Concerned Texans groups, said she feared the new reforms, "Will alter the students' philosophy of life...It will change attitudes, values and beliefs of the child."

Kirby Brown, a member of the Coahoma school board, wants to know, "Where's the money?" to fund all the new ideas.

Brown was also said "school board members will become students. We will be required to devote time at the Regional Service Center (in Odessa for study.) I have other things to do. (School board members) have families, jobs."

Donna Muldrew, a member of the Texas Eagle Forum and a volunteer lobbyist, gave some tips of how to combat the bill.

She advised setting up "telephone trees" and told everyone to be aware of upcoming legislation.

"Learn how to write effective letters," Mrs. Muldrew said.

She said, "Do your homework. Learn who your representatives are...If you don't like the bill, look at Mark White. You don't have to send him back."

DeeDee Cauley also advised the crowd to let legislators "know your concerns."

"A lot of things in the bill many educators didn't even read." She told the crowd to get a clear understanding of the bill because, "The news media has painted it as a wonderful thing."

Pair faces 100-year term

NEWARK, N.J. — Two alleged left-wing radicals could be sentenced to up to 100 years in prison if convicted of weapons and explosives charges contained in a federal indictment.

Indicted Thursday were Susan Lisa Rosenberg, 29, who had been sought in connection with the bungled 1981 Brink's robbery in Nanuet, N.Y., and Timothy H. Blunk, 27, who authorities say is a member of the May 19 movement, an offshoot of the Weather Underground.

Ms. Rosenberg is being held on $1 million bail at the Metropolitan Correctional Center in New York City. Blunk is being held in lieu of $500,000 bail at the facility.

Computer caper foiled

MINNEAPOLIS — A program designed to stop the illegal movement of technology with strategic value to countries unfriendly to the United States has led to indictment of the head of a Minneapolis computer company.

Timothy Dean Stelter, owner and president of Computer Maintenance of Minneapolis, was accused in the indictment Wednesday of conspiring to illegally sell a British company two computers that ended up in Bulgaria.

Four other people, officials of a British and a German company, also were indicted in the case, which U.S. Attorney James Rosenbaum said was investigated for two years as part of a Customs Service program called Operation Exodus.

Fake C-Patch dolls!

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. — The 5,208 fake Cabbage Patch dolls seized in this Detroit suburb were duplicates of the real thing right down to the phony adoption papers, an FBI agent said.

The dolls, manufactured in Taiwan, were confiscated just after they were unloaded from a truck at an office building Tuesday, agent John Anthony said Wednesday. He said no arrests were made.

The agency launched an investigation last month to determine if the copyright on the pie-faced dolls, produced by Coleco Industries, was being violated.

States set execution time

INDIANAPOLIS — Trial judges in Indiana and Illinois have been asked to schedule executions for Tuesday through Friday and at normal hours to help facilitate handling of last-minute appeals.

A committee of judges and attorneys of the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals decided that weekday executions would lessen the problems of locating attorneys and judges, Judge Walter J. Cummings said.

CRASH SCENE — Firemen and law enforcement officers look over the wreckage of a plane near what remains of the wing section. All 13 people riding in the plane died in the crash.

13 perish in crash

Airplane crashes into swamp following takeoff

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A small Provincetown-Boston Airlines plane crashed in flames shortly after takeoff Thursday evening, killing all 13 people aboard, authorities said.

"There are no survivors," said Valerie Baltzley, emergency communications officer for Jacksonville Fire-Rescue.

The dead, all adults, included two crew members, said Charles Hardrick, operations manager at the Jacksonville International Airport. Identities of the victims were being withheld pending notification of next of kin, said a statement from the airline.

Flight 839 from Jacksonville to Tampa "was reported down off the end of runway 31 at 6:15 this evening," said Roger Myers, a spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration regional headquarters in Atlanta. "It's my understanding that the aircraft went down a mile and a half off the end of the runway."

"We have reports from the scene that there were no survivors," he said. The plane — a Brazilian-made twin-engine turboprop known as an Embraer Bandeirante — crashed in a densely wooded, swampy area north of the airport. It burst into flames on impact, said Sgt. Charles Hill, a spokesman for Jacksonville police.

"It took off and disappeared immediately off the radar screen," Hill said at the crash site. The plane was found upside-down about 1 1/2 miles northwest of the airport, he said. None of the bodies had been removed and officials did not plan to do so until the morning, when National Transportation Safety Board investigators inspect the scene, Hill said.

PBA requested that a rabbi, a Catholic priest and a minister come to the airport, said PBA spokesman Shaun Vigil.

The plane did not radio the tower of an emergency, said Myers, adding that visibility was seven miles and that weather was "no factor" in the crash.

"The Transportation Safety Board in Washington will be in charge and is dispatching an accident investigation team either late tonight or early tomorrow," Myers said.

PBA officials at the airline's headquarters in Naples would not comment on the crash beyond the statement, which said "there was no pilot contact or any indication of trouble prior to the accident."

"We're trying to accumulate some information, but we don't have anything available right now," PBA spokeswoman Mary Schantzen said earlier.

The FAA pulled PBA's operating license Nov. 10, charging the carrier with federal safety violations. The agency's action, prompted by complaints by a former PBA pilot, culminated a two-month investigation into allegations of shoddy maintenance, inadequate pilot training and falsified inspection records.

19 get life terms in prison

MILAN, Italy — A court convicted and sentenced 19 Red Brigades terrorists to life imprisonment for eight murders committed between 1978 and 1983.

The verdicts came Thursday in the trial of 112 suspected members of a Milan cell of the leftist terrorist gang that has been weakened in the past few years by arrests or by members surrendering and turning state's evidence.

Eight defendants were sentenced to 30 years in prison each and 13 were acquitted.

The 19 given life terms, the harshest penalty allowed in Italy, were found guilty of involvement in one or more of eight homicides in the Milan area between April 1978 and July 1983.

The victims included policemen, businessmen and the medical director of a public hospital.

Soviet minister promoted

BUDAPEST, Hungary — The Communist government has moved Gen. Lajos Czinége from defense minister to a deputy premier-ship and retired one of his senior aides.

Czinége, 60, was replaced Thursday by his former deputy, 58-year-old Col.-Gen. Istvan Olah, the official MTI news agency reported. Czinége became defense minister in 1960 and Olah deputy minister in 1966.

MTI said the aide, Col.-Gen. Karoly Csemi, state secretary of the Defense Ministry, "has been allowed to retire ... with recognition of his merits."

There had been no public indication that the changes were imminent and their significance was not clear immediately.

Rebels kill 4 in attack

LIMA, Peru — Police say rebels killed four people and nearly overran a rural army post in what appeared to be part of a campaign to disrupt 1985 presidential elections.

An estimated 50 rebels of the Maoist Shining Path movement attacked a police patrol on a road check point in the guerrilla stronghold of southeastern Peru on Wednesday, killing a civil guard and a civilian, police said Thursday.

Two days earlier, suspected guerrillas killed two police guarding a suburban Lima bank.

Troop stay in Grenada

BRIDGETOWN, Barbados — Barbados and St. Kitts-Nevis say they will keep their troops and police on Grenada at the request of the newly elected government there, which has also asked U.S. forces to remain.

A seven-nation Caribbean peacekeeping force of about 350 members has been working with 250 U.S. military police to help keep order on Grenada since the U.S.-led invasion of the island in October 1983.

Police arrest chairman of U-Carbide

BHOPAL, India (AP) — The chairman of Union Carbide Corp. was taken into police custody today in connection with a gas leak from a company plant that killed more than 1,600 people, United News of India said. The White House said later that he had been released.

A reliable source in New Delhi said Anderson flew to the Indian capital from Bhopal. A senior government official said Chairman Warren M. Anderson and two of Union Carbide's top Indian executives were accused of "negligence and criminal corporate liability." They were taken into custody at the Bhopal airport after they arrived to investigate Monday's gas leak, UNI said. The three officials were taken to the plush Union Carbide guest house atop a hill overlooking Bhopal, the news agency reported. Early in the day, reporters saw 50 armed police guarding the house and Subinspector A.K. Singh said Anderson was not being allowed to leave his room. However, White House Deputy Press Secretary Larry Speakes said later in Washington that Anderson had been released.

Stenholm's move helped the party

According to the Associated Press, reporters waiting for Monday's news conference joked that someone needed to point out Charlie Stenholm when he arrived, because most of them didn't know what he looked like.

But after Stenholm's much-publicized tilt at the House leadership windmill, he's a familiar face to the Washington press corps, and more importantly, to the Democratic leadership in the Capitol.

The U.S. representative from Stamford, who represents Big Spring in Congress, wants to stay in the Democratic Party. He wants also to have a conservative voice in that party. His threat to challenge Rep. Thomas P. "Tip" O'Neill Jr. for Speaker of the House was more to make a point than actually to mount a campaign.

That point has been made. What Stenholm got from O'Neill was a promise not to stand in the way of conservative legislative initiatives such as a balanced budget amendment; a deficit reduction program that includes across-the-board spending cuts except for the neediest of the needy; his promise to consider a list of conservatives to fill positions on key committees like Budget; and a promise of a new advisory committee that would have access to the leadership throughout the Congress.

It is well that the Democrats are moving to embrace the conservative element among them. Stenholm earlier was a spokesman for the "boll weevils," Democrats who defied the party line and voted with Republicans for President Reagan's economic program. One of the weevils, Phil Gramm, switched parties and became a U.S. senator this year.

Stenholm prefers to remain a Democrat and work to bring the party back toward the center. His efforts at breaking rote Democratic ideology in favor of responsible case-by-case decision-making are making headway. The Democratic Party will be the stronger for having moved to accommodate all its components.

Billy Graham Healing the scars of a painful past

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: When I was a teen-ager I made a conscious decision to turn my back on God and live the way I wanted to. Well, I have sure paid for it: two failed marriages, a serious drug and alcohol problem, loneliness, misery — you name it. Would you warn young people that it will catch up with you if you turn away from God? Now it is too late for me. — P.M.N.

DEAR P.M.N.: As I read your letter two things came to my mind that I immediately turned into prayers. First of all (as you suggest), I pray that God will use your testimony to warn others of the danger of turning away from God — no matter how old we are. Satan never tells us the truth, "for he is a liar and the father of lies" (John 8:44). And he always promised that if you follow his path and turn your back on God, then you will know true happiness. But — as you have painfully discovered — that is not true. The Bible warns, "Do not be deceived: God cannot be mocked. Thank God for his love, in spite of all you have done against him in the past. Then ask Jesus Christ to come into your life and cleanse you from your sin. He has promised to do so, if you will trust him and accept his gift of forgiveness.

School reform is socialistic

To the editor: Your new statist governor that is no v in Austin has run the biggest scam on the people of Texas that will ever be run. Four billion, 800 million for a public education program that is now run, controlled and dictated by the state. Your children's minds are to belong to the federal government and the state government.

Let me ask you people a question. Should the federal and state government be permitted to remove your children forcibly from your home and send them to a state controlled, socialist school without the parent's consent and teach them socialism which you may object to? Mark White believes in totalitarian state education.

The "standards" of education is now to be controlled completely by the state. Think about this!

Should older people be taxed to send other people's children to school, when they are on a fixed income and have no children in the public schools? When the state assumes financial control of education, it is logically appropriate that the state should progressively assume control of the "content" of education. But, when any body of government, either federal or state, enters the sphere of ideas; when it prescribes in issues concerning intellectual "content," that is the death of a free society.

The disgracefully low level of education in America today is the predictable result of a socialistic state-controlled school system. You can believe our liberal Democratic governor is a statist who believes we are subjects of the state instead of the state being a subject of the people.

Education should be liberated from the control or intervention of government, and turned over to profit-making private enterprise, not because education is unimportant, but because education is so crucially important. If people keep voting in these glazed-eyed dreamers — these blubbering liberals and slack-jawed socialists, then we are lost as a nation and it is later than you think.

People are sick of these liberal socialistic Democrats that have been over-spending for the last fifty years. They still have not got the message that the people sent throughout America in this last election. Do you think they will ever get the point of the message? C.G. GILSTRAP

"The trick is to simplify the tax code without increasing the deficit once all the tax accountants go on welfare..."

Jack Anderson Uncovering the underworld

WASHINGTON — Last March, I had a run-in with CBS's super sleuth, Mike Wallace, who challenged a column I had written about the Vietnamese underworld.

I charged that some South Vietnamese generals, whom the U.S. Army had saved from the communists and had airlifted to the United States, are now operating a Mafia-like organization that is preying upon Vietnamese communities here.

"Some of the more ruthless members of the South Vietnamese hierarchy — the taste of power still in their mouths — were not content to retire to a suburban life, American style," I wrote. "They allegedly formed a subterranean network and continued the plundering that they had learned in their official capacities in Saigon."

I quoted from a confidential crime report, which alleged that they are "involved in extortion, drugs, loan-sharking, gambling, prostitution, smuggling, welfare fraud, assault and murder."

Wallace followed up my investigation with his TV cameras, viewing the goings-on through rose-tinted lenses. "All the Vietnamese we talked with," he told his vast "60 Minutes" audience, "agree ... that Anderson's story and others like it that focus on crime in the Vietnamese refugee community are distortions and ignore the fact that most Vietnamese are law-abiding, hard working and grateful to the United States for giving them a home."

In fact, I stressed that most Vietnamese refugees are not only good citizens but, indeed, are the victims of the Vietnamese underworld. I also added: "Though the vast majority of the refugees are law-abiding, they are reluctant to talk to police."

Apparently, they were also reluctant to talk to Wallace, who was a bit naive to expect them to confirm my allegations on coast-to-coast television.

The President's Commission on Organized Crime is more realistic. It recently produced a witness but kept him behind a screen and assigned a dozen federal marshals to guard him. This witness confirmed my story.

Meanwhile, an intelligence document on Vietnamese crime, stamped "For Official Use Only," has been distributed to a few key police departments throughout the country. My associates Donald

• Vietnamese criminals are subtle at the art of extortion. According to the manual, they rarely demand payments for protection. Instead, "individuals representing themselves as members of Vietnamese resistance organizations or political groups have approached businesses for donations to the cause, warning that refusal to cooperate will result in being denounced as a communist, or in direct violence."

• The Vietnamese fear Vietnamese criminals above all others, declares the manual, "because of a perceived potential for senseless violence." Often "the victim's entire family will be held at gunpoint and the house ransacked. In several noteworthy cases, the victims of such robberies have been killed or wounded even though they offered no resistance."

• "Prostitution is one of the most serious crime problems to afflict the Vietnamese community," the manual notes. Young women are often forced into prostitution and "engage in such activity with a great deal of reluctance and shame. Suicide following an arrest for soliciting is not uncommon." Investigators have found "a high degree of organization and concentration of ownership" in this ugly business. Vietnamese prostitution rings also engage in "illegal currency transfers, narcotics, gambling and violence."

• Welfare fraud is rampant in the Vietnamese community. Reports the manual, "There is evidence to indicate that individuals arriving in Southeast Asian refugee camps after their escape from Vietnam are able to receive information from camp workers on the means by which they can exploit American assistance programs."

• The manual also warns, "There are indications of a growing awareness of the possibilities for illicit gain afforded by organized insurance fraud involving refugee insurance agents, lawyers and doctors."

Apparently, the United States is still paying the price for the Vietnam War. Mike Wallace could serve the public better by exposing rather than defending the imported criminals.

Jack Anderson's investigative report from Washington is distributed by United Feature Syndicate.

Private foundation running government

An audit by Heritage after the first year of the Reagan administration claimed that the administration had taken at least initial steps on 60 percent of the recommendations.

Voice of America and U.S. Information Agency.

The Heritage stamp also is on the first Reagan administration in other ways.

It was a Heritage team that produced a study called "High Frontiers" outlining the space-based nuclear defense system embraced by Reagan as a way to make nuclear weapons outmoded and derided by critics as "Star Wars."

Retired Lt. Gen. Daniel Graham, commissioned by the foundation to make the study, later left to form a lobbying group called "High Frontiers." The foundation itself does not lobby.

The foundation's 1980 recommendations were a key component of the budget blueprint Stockman came up with that year, and some have been adopted, at least in part, by Congress or put into effect by executive action. Major elements of the administration's tax bill, including the across-the-board tax cuts and Individual Retirement Accounts, for example, echoed recommendations made by the foundation.

An audit by Heritage after the first year of the Reagan administration claimed that the administration had taken at least initial steps on 60 percent of the recommendations.

The audit was not repeated in subsequent years, and Herb Berkowitz, director of information for the foundation, said "there has been some backsliding" on some of the recommendations, notably in the revenue increases the administration got through Congress last year.

"They can call it revenue enhancement or anything they like, but it raises taxes and we consider it backsliding," Berkowitz said.

"I don't think we are in bed with the Reagan administration," he said. "We have been just as quick to criticize as we have been to praise."

For instance, a new report from the foundation says, "Under the Reagan administration, the Peace Corps has become ... a program rife with waste, fraud and abuse."

Another, in September, said restrictions on textile imports that the administration proposed "will hurt U.S. consumers and invite trade retaliation against American exports."

And the forthcoming sequel to the first "Mandate for Leadership" volume says that in his second term Reagan "must rid his staff of their inordinate fear of union leadership."

Nevertheless, Reagan, in a quotation published in the foundation's 1983 annual report, told Heritage officers, "Your frequent publications, timely research, policy papers, seminars and conferences account for your enormous influence on Capitol Hill and — believe me I know — at the White House."

Reagan, speaking at the organization's 10th anniversary dinner last year, said, "There is no better evidence that the time of the conservative idea has come than the growth of the Heritage Foundation."

Dear Abby

Far away son is still part of the family

DEAR ABBY: Our 16-year-old son has recently been placed in a state facility due to many problems at home and with the law. We try to be supportive and include him in the family as much as possible.

My question: Do I include his name on our holiday greeting cards? He's still a part of our family even though he doesn't live with us. We don't want to leave him out, but neither do we want to give an incorrect impression as to his residence.

IN DOUBT

certainly should include your son's name on your holiday cards. Regardless of where he is, he's still "family." Those close to you know where he is; don't worry about misleading others.

Soft corns can be prevented

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Please write about soft corns. About four years ago I started getting this kind of corn in the same spot, between the fourth toe and the small toe. I had the corn cut off, but it keeps coming back. What can you suggest as a more permanent answer? — P.L.

That's where soft corns form — between the toes. The moist environment there keeps them from getting hard, the way they do on the bottoms of the feet, where it's dryer. But it's the rubbing of one toe against another that sets up the beginning of the soft corn.

You can prevent that pressure by putting a foam pad or piece of moleskin between the two toes and by using shoes that are a bit wider to permit the toes to separate a bit more.

For some, though, the only permanent answer is surgery — if a bone defect is creating abnormal toe alignment, for example. I don't know what your answer will be, but there is no harm, certainly, in trying the simple corrective measures I mentioned.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Boudreaux, Porter lead Howard to wins

Hawk-Queens hold on for 66-64 win over South Plains

By STEVE BELVIN
Staff Writer
Joyce Boudreaux made a lasting impression on the South Plains Lady Texans last night as the Howard Hawk-Queens squeaked out a 66-64 win.

Boudreaux, a 6-0 freshman post player from Houston; shot and rebounded the Queens to their second conference win in four tries. The Queens overall record goes to 14-4. Boudreaux blistered the Lady Texans zone and man-to-man defenses for 28 points while pulling down a career-high 21 rebounds. She also found time to block three shots despite missing 8 minutes of playing time because in foul trouble.

The Houston freshman and guards Molly Early and Lorri French were almost all of the Queens offense. Early scored 15 while French added 11 from the point.

The trio were the main reason Howard hit 46 percent of their shots from the field. Boudreaux hit 12 of 16 baskets, including eight-in-a-row at the start of the game. Early got her jumper going from the corner and sunk 7 of 13 attempts.

But in the end Howard had to overcome poor free throw shooting and turnovers to hold on for the win over the scrappy Lady Texans.

Once holding a 36-19 lead late in the first half, the Queens saw it shrink to a 61-60 advantage with 3:46 remaining in the contest.

The final six Howard points came hard. French, Early and Tammy Winsmann all sunk one free throw each as Howard held on to a 64-60 lead at the 1:40 mark.

After South Plains scored a basket, Howard iced the game when Early beat the press and hooked-up with Boudreaux on an alley-oop scoring play with 37 seconds remaining. The final South Plains basket had little meaning.

Howard might have put the contest away earlier if they had sunk their free throw shots. The Queens shot a miserable 45 percent, hitting 14 of 31 attempts.

Things wasn't much better in the turnover department. Howard gave the ball away 22 times.

It looked like Howard might be in for a "easy one" as it jumped out to a 16-5 lead in the first seven minutes of the game. Boudreaux was just warming up by hitting her first five shots; Early hit two from the outside and Vickie Wade patrolled the boards.

Boudreaux's turnaround jumper was unstoppable in the first half. She missed once in 10 tries.

The lead soon grew to 36-19 when Howard reeled off six consecutive points when French sunk two free throws, Early hit from the corner and scored again on a layup off a Boudreaux steal.

Then SP ran off a tear of their own, outscoring the Queens 13-4 the remaining 4:22 of the half.

The Lady Texans' defense was tougher on Boudreaux in the second half, limiting her to seven points. Boudreaux said the reason was a change in the South Plains defense. "Everytime the ball was passed to me they would sag back and double-team me. We kind of slacked up on our defense in the second half. The win should pull us up and make us want to win more."

The Queens won't be in action again until January 17 when they host Ranger Junior College in non-conference action at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum at 6 p.m.

Hawks MICHAEL PORTER (5) and WALT REYNOLDS (44) sky over a South Plains defender for a rebound.

Hawks take first loop win; down Texans by 89-82 count

By STEVE BELVIN
Staff Writer
Michael Porter figures one good shooting performance deserves another.

After Joyce Boudreaux had just dazzled the fans with her 12 of 16 performance from the field, Porter entertained the crowd with a 15 of 19 performance and a game-high 34 points while leading the Howard Hawks to a 89-82 win over the South Plains Texans.

The win was a big one for coach Ed Sparling's crew of seven players, their first in four conference games. Howard will get several new players after the semester break.

"This win will really help the kids coming off the break," said Sparling. "We'll get some help on the boards. They showed some character out there tonight. These seven hung in there and never got down."

Sparling will kindly welcome more help on the boards; his squad which features only one player over 6-4; got outrebounded soundly like it has been so much this season. Although the taller Texans enjoyed a 45-26 rebounding average, the Hawks didn't need very many shots. For the game Howard connected on 36 of 62 attempts for 58 percent, compared to 31-70 for 44 percent for South Plains.

The Hawks also shot free throws well; especially down the stretch. Howard sunk 17 of 21 attempts including 8 of 10 in the final five minutes when South Plains had to put them on the line.

Porter, Howard's All-America candidate from Hattiesburgh, Miss., did it all from his point guard position. Besides his superb shooting he got two steals, two block shots and five rebounds. Everytime it appeared South Plains was about to overtake Howard, Porter would answer with one of his long range bombs or quick drives to the basket.

Howard's tough-man-to-man defense was one of the main reasons for its jumping out to a 14-9 lead in the opening minutes of the contest. After South Plains took a 4-0 lead, thanks to six missed Hawks field goals, Howard ran off a 14-5 spurt.

Hawks guards Joe Burney, Bruce Kimble and Porter gave South Plains guards problems throughout the contest bringing the ball downcourt. The trio combined for eight steals.

Kimble, a 6-4 freshman, also gave the Texans problems defensively as he scored 21 points and hauled down seven rebounds.

Howard scored the final six points of the half to take a 41-35 lead into intermission. Porter hit a basket and Will Rogers, who finished the night with 14 points; sunk two free throws and a jumper from the corner.

The second half was close all the way. The largest Howard lead was 65-54 when Porter scored a three point-play at the 11:10 mark. South Plains stayed close behind the play of their front wall of 6-7 Steve Liford, 6-5 Tim McHugh and 6-7 Tony Burt.

The trio were the big reason for South Plains' rebounding advantage as they combined for 25 themselves, one less than the entire Hawks team.

They also scored most of their team's points. Liford scored 26, McHugh added 20 to go along with his 12 rebounds while Bates scored 17 points.

South Plains made one final run at Howard at the 1:40 mark. Liford's basket cut the margin to 83-80. Howard gained two points when Kimble and Walt Reynolds hit one free throw each. Bates' basket put the score at 85-82 with 41 seconds remaining.

Kimble put the winning touches on the game by sinking two free throws and ending the contest with a flying double clutch slam, thanks to a steal by Reynolds.

Howard is 5-7 for the season. Their next action will be Jan. 10-11 when they host the Hawk Clinic at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

Snyder native wins Lombardi Award

HOUSTON (AP) — Tony Degrate, a defensive tackle from the University of Texas, said he was looking forward to two things after winning the Lombardi Award — using the trophy to bargain with pro teams and getting out of his tuxedo.

Degrate, a 6-foot-4, 280-pound senior from the small West Texas town of Snyder, was honored Thursday night as the best college football lineman in the country.

"I've never made this many speeches in my life," he said in acceptance. All four finalists had addressed the audience shortly before.

"Each of these guys would have deserved this award," Degrate said. "I'm just left speechless and all I can say is thank God and thank everybody out there."

He said in a news conference afterward that the award "definitely will" help him negotiate a professional contract.

"Lombardi winners have a little edge," he said.

But Degrate said his mind was on other things as well. He said one evening of fancy dressing was enough.

SNYDER — The Big Spring Steers hoopsters saw their chances for a comeback victory go down the drain in the final quarter as the Snyder Tigers got some easy baskets off the Steers' full-court press, to take a 81-66 win.

It was the opening game for both teams in the Canyon Reef Tournament and dropped Big Spring's overall record to 1-6 for the season.

Big Spring led 13-11 after one quarter of play, but Snyder took a 32-28 halftime lead, a lead it would never lose. The Steers trailed 50-43

Crossroads Country basketball Stanton finally defeats Sands Mustangs, 62-51

STANTON — The third time was the charm for the Stanton Buffaloes as they defeated the Sands Mustangs 62-51 in non-district basketball action last night.

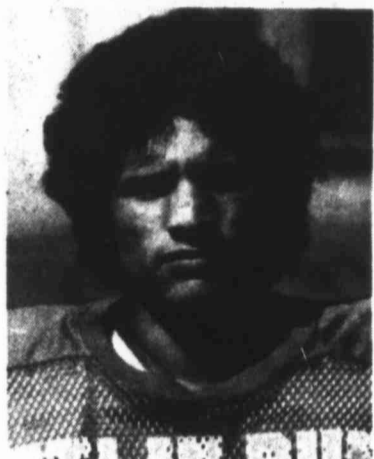

It marked the third time that the class AA Buffs and class A Mustangs had met. The Mustangs won both games, one in the third game of the season and once in the Sands tournament last week.

This time coach Eric Looney's squad finally got the best of the Mustangs, coached by Randy Spain.

Stanton led from the outset, outscoring Sands 17-12 in the first period and stretching it to 34-24 at the half. The win gives the Buffaloes a 3-2 record while Sands slips to 4-4. Stanton will be in action again tonight when they face Coahoma in Coahoma.

Mark Gonzales led Stanton with 21 points, he got help from Kevin Glaspie and Derrick Sorley who added 14 and 13 points respectively. Leland Bearden paced Sands with 21 points while freshman Jay Fryar added 12.

been in a tuxedo," he said uncomfortably and indicated he was looking forward to getting rid of the suit.

Degrate said his coat measured "52 or 54" inches in the chest — huge, but, he noted, far smaller than that of another finalist, 325-pound William Perry, a noseguard from Clemson.

Degrate said the gargantuan Perry, known as "the Refrigerator" for his massive build, would have won the award if it had been given purely for highlight films. In footage shown at the awards ceremony, Perry scooped up a running back and spiked him several feet away, then chased down a quarterback.

Other finalists were Bill Fralic, a 6-5, 285-pound offensive tackle who is a senior at Pittsburgh, and University of Southern California outside linebacker Jack Del Rio, a 6-4, 235-pound senior.

Degrate led the Longhorns to a 7-3-1 season by making 147 tackles, 123 of them unassisted. His coach, Fred Akers, called him "a fixture in our opponents' backfields."

The Lombardi award, made from a 40-pound block of granite, is named for player and coach Vince Lombardi. It has been presented annually since 1970 and is sponsored by the Rotary Club of Houston.

Dean Steinkuhler, last year's winner and now an offensive lineman with the Houston Oilers, presented the award. When he announced the winner was from the University of Texas, the partisan crowd did not wait for him to finish his sentence, but roared its approval. Several spectators made "hook 'em Horns" signs as Degrate walked to the speakers' podium.

Degrate, who said he never would have gotten the nomination without his teammates, credited Texas' other starting defensive tackle, Bill Heathcock, for his success.

Plans set for Living Christmas Tree production

GETTING READY — Kelly Draper (standing) and John Wilson are looking over music to be used in the sixth annual production of The Living Christmas Tree. The show will be Dec. 15-17 in the sanctuary of the First United Methodist Church.

By KIM KIRKHAM
Religion Editor

The First United Methodist Church of Big Spring will present its sixth annual gift to the Big Spring community, The Living Christmas Tree, at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 15, 16 and 17 in the church's sanctuary.

This year's theme, "The Joy of Christmas," will "mostly develop in the music that we have selected and also in the narration," said John Wilson, minister of music at the First United Methodist Church. Kelly Draper is the director.

"I think the response that we've got is everybody wants to hear the original carols," Wilson said. This year's performance is based on the carols. "They (audience) will have the understanding of what the real joy of Christmas is," he said.

The Living Christmas Tree features a 92-voice choir from area churches, accompanied by a 35-piece orchestra from the Big Spring Symphony. Sixty children from the First Presbyterian Church and the First United Methodist Church also are included, as well as 36 hand bell ringers.

An added feature for this year's production is the Big Spring High School Meistersingers. "I think, as one of our singers said, that this is a great experience for youth to sing with an orchestra," Wilson said. "Maybe it will inspire them and lead them into careers in music."

Each year, the church sends invitations to persons it feels would be interested in singing in the tree. "I think we have a good cross section of singers from all over the city," said Wilson. But "we've never had this big of a response." The tree only seats 85 people, and with 92 singers participating in this year's program there is a problem. What to do with the extra seven people? "That's the big question," said Wilson. About 200 people are involved in the production.

"One of the things that's unique about this year is the whole program is based more on the tree than in the past," said Wilson.

As guests enter the sanctuary, they will be greeted by a brass choir. Wilson explained it as a "heralding of people to come help us celebrate Christmas." A nativity scene will be built throughout the production, with a finished product at the end.

"We usually average around 2,500 to 3,000 (people) for the three nights," said Wilson.

With crews working day and night, it takes about three days to build the steel structure of the tree. Then the greenery, which a Sunday School class gets from New Mexico, is placed on the tree and decorated. Draper decorates the tree.

"This year we've invited patients from the State Hospital to come," said Wilson. They will attend a dress rehearsal Dec. 15.

The church totally finances the program, and because it is a gift, they do not charge admission. Tickets are available at the church office.

Wilson hopes that through The Living Christmas Tree program, they can make Christmas "be more joyful and brighter and more meaningful."

Ackerly First Methodist plans Christmas party

The First Methodist Church of Ackerly will have a Christmas party at 6 p.m. Wednesday. A meal will be served and gifts exchanged. Anyone, including children, may attend by bringing an exchange gift and a covered dish.

A film, "Martin the Cobbler," will be shown. The award winning clay animation portrays an adaptation of Tolstoy's "Where Love Is, God Is." Martin has lost all interest in life when he hears a voice, which he assumes is the Lord's, promising to visit the next day.

Instead of being visited by the Lord, people in need arrive at his doorstep and Martin helps them. Through a vision he realizes that by caring for others he has met his "special visitor". Martin's despair is replaced by hope, and he joins the townspeople in the winter festival.

The program will be broadcast live from the Great Hall in the Apparel Mart in Dallas. It will feature international motivator Og Mandino, whose 10 books have sold 12 million plus copies. The public is invited to attend. For more information call 263-2525.

Gibbons begins series on Jesus' power

Keith Gibbons, minister of College Heights Christian Church, will present a series of messages, "The Power of Jesus," during December and January.

The messages, from chapters eight and nine of the Gospel of Matthew, are in-depth studies of the power of Jesus. Topics include the power of Jesus over disease, the natural, the supernatural, sin and death.

As its 1985 goals, College Heights recently approved adding 10 families to the congregation and two Bible school classes. Attendance goals of 35 in Bible School, 50 in morning worship and 25 in evening worship were set. Additional goals include increasing the parking area to accommodate more cars, adding another entrance to the Goliad property, begin landscaping to make the property more attractive, and updating and replacing the church signs on highways leading into Big Spring.

New leaders were elected Dec. 2 during the annual congregational meeting. Elected to serve as elders were Edsel McCrea and Jack Wilson. T. W. Alderson and Charles George were elected as deacons. Trustees elected were C.C. "Red" Lawrence, Jack Wilson and Charles George. College Heights is an independent Christian church.

Women recall Christmas memories

A program, "Journey to Christmas — Again," was presented to the Women of the First Church of God at a meeting Dec. 3 in the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Delmer Loy.

Renae Loy, spiritual life director, presented the program to set priorities for the Christmas season and stir memories of past Christmases. "Memories serve as invisible links binding us as a family, a nation and a church," she said. The program was written by Ruth R. Teaford.

The Christmas story was read from Luke 2. Mrs. Loy said to never lose sight of whose birthday is being celebrated.

The next meeting will be Jan. 7 in the church sanctuary.

Plus, our Buyer Protection Plan protects you from repair bills while your home is still on the market.

Play the Whataburger Touchdown Challenge. It's a snap to win.
 Run or pass your way to the Super Bowl or $10,000 cash.
 Anyone can become a star quarterback with Whataburger's® Touchdown Challenge.™ Just rush into any participating Whataburger restaurant and pick up a game card. Then the ball's in your hands.
 You've got four chances to win. Scratch off either run or pass, but not both. If you make the play, you win a free Coca-Cola or fries, maybe even a big, delicious Whataburger. And that's when the excitement begins. You can settle for the short gain and claim your prize on your next visit. Or go for the big play. Just don't fumble or get intercepted. If you do, you lose all prizes and the game is over. But if you score a touchdown, you could win up to $10,000 cash or one of five trips for two to the Super Bowl in Palo Alto, California. You'll have a ball no matter how you play it.
 Whether you win or lose, you'll have fun everytime you play. So turn your next trip to Whataburger into a trip to the Super Bowl or to the bank. Come play the Whataburger Touchdown Challenge.
It's not just a hamburger, it's a WHATABURGER.
 Whataburger® Touchdown Challenge™ ends December 30, 1984. No purchase necessary. While supplies last. You must be 16 or older to play. Void where prohibited.
