How's that? Drug abuse

treatment

Q. Are there any drug abuse treatment programs in Big Spring or Midland?

A. Yes, according to Clyde Alsup, director of the programs for treatment of drug and alcohol abuse at the Big Spring State Hospital. The state hospital has both an outpatient and an in-patient treatment program for drug abuse. To be admitted to the in-patient program, contact the out-patient clinic in Big Spring. For non-Howard County residents, contact your local mental health authority, Alsup said. In Midland, the Palmer Drug Abuse Program offers out patient help. Contact its main office at 305 N. Baird.

Spring Red marks Schools chalk up deficit

By CAROL BALDWIN

Staff Writer An auditor for Big Spring schools told school trustees Thursday that the district suffered a deficit of more than $500,000 during the 1983-84 year. Green said revenues for the district were $13,882,842 and expenditures were $14,419,225.

The shortfall "was created from a multitude of things dictated to you from the state," Max Green said. If the trend continues, "Ya'll are going to have to find some money from somewhere to cover these shortfalls."

Green said, "I anticipate you are going to have to raise taxes...Something must be done."

Green, representing the firm of Green and Fillingim of Big Spring, said between $800,000 and $900,000 in outstanding taxes receivable were recorded within the audit. Some of the taxes have been owed to the district for many years, he Green said the district is "in an excellent financial condition' despite the shortfall and outstanding taxes.

Trustees approved the audit and agreed to employ Green as the district auditor for the coming

Don Crockett, assistant superintendent for business, gave a lengthy explanation of financial and statistical data that will affect the district over the coming Crockett said the figures were only "guesstimates" of coming expenditures. For the 1985-86 year, "We are looking at $1 million that the school district needs to come up with in new expenditures to offset state cutbacks," Crockett said.

Crockett explained the weightedpupil system used to provide additional funding from the state. A regular student has a weight of 1.0.

But IQs below norm

By CAROL BALDWIN Staff Writer

Test results released to the Big Spring school board Thursday show that local students are slightly below the national intelligence level norms but are scoring above anticipated levels on their classwork.

The results were taken fron the California Achievement Test given to students in September.

Janice Rosson, a curriculum coordinator for Big Spring schools, said in grades 2-8 and 11, students are slightly below the national average in IQ ratings in every grade but 5th. Compared against the national norm of 100, students in grade 2 had a mean IQ of 98. Students in grade 3 had a mean IQ of 99. Students in grade 4 had a mean IQ of 99.

Students in the 5th grade posted a 100 mean IQ, exactly the national norm. Those in grade 6 posted a 99 mean IQ. In grade 7 they posted a 96 mean IQ. In grade 8 they posted a 97 mean IQ, and in grade 11, they posted a 94 mean IQ.

However, students in those grades scored higher than their anticipated levels of achievement in almost every category tested, Mrs. Rosson said.

Students were tested in reading, spelling, language and math. Tests

Staff and wire reports

Traveler's advisories and storm watches remain in effect for the Big Spring area as well as most of the Permian Basin, the Panhandle and the South Plains areas.

Snow and freezing rain hit a large portion of the country today, spreading from the West to the Midwest while a storm blowing out ska threaten Northwest. Only the south-central section of the nation enjoyed mild temperatures.

Crossroads Country residents this morning experienced a little of the rain and freezing rain that forecasters give a 50 percent chance of continuing throughout

A collision on Interstate Highway 20 one mile west of Coahoma was the first weather-related accident in Howard County since the arrival of the cold front. At least one person was injured.

Snow is expected to mix with the freezing rain tonight to create a 2-inch to 4-inch ground accumulation, making roads slick and icy and driving hazardous. The state Department of Public Safety is warning drivers about icy bridges and overpasses.

Highs in the Big Spring area were not expected to exceed 35 degrees Friday, and the low is expected to be near 30. Saturday, the chance of freezing rain drops to 30 percent and no more than an additional inch of groundcover is expected.

Snow is expected to return to the Big Spring-Permian Basin area on Monday, the NWS said.

The western portion of the state, as well as Albuquerque and portions of New Mexico, will under storm watches throughout the weekend, according to the National Weather Service.

Lubbock, Amarillo, the Concho Valley, El Paso and the Davis Mountains are under traveler's advisories because of a combination of high winds, rain, sleet and snow.

Thursday in a violent, unexpected storm system.

By The Associated Press

As Dallas-area residents began picking up from an unexpected, destructive tornado, West Texas was hit today with snow and freezing rain that spawned travelers advisories and a winter storm watch. The National Weather Service warned motorists of hazardous driving conditions created by rain-slicked or icy bridges and overpasses "We have had numerous accidents this morning because of the weather, mostly minor,' said Martha Rasmussen, a spokeswoman for the Texas Department of Public Safety in Lubbock. "There has been ice on the higways and now its drizzling and cold.

Meanwhile, residents of Mesquite, Garland and other areas in five North Texas counties hit by a fierce storm Thursday were assessing the damage.

When it was over, at least 45 people were injured, and hundreds of buildings were damaged in the 65-mile path of a sudden storm that spawned tornadoes and high winds

AUSTIN (AP) - Texas House and Senate leaders have prepared a $25.7 billion state spending bill for the 1985 Legislature that can be covered by expected revenue, plus a $160 million cushion.

A major issue of the 69th Legislature meeting Jan. 8 will be whether to hold spending to available revenue or consider new or revised taxes.

Altogether, the Legislative Budget Board cut requests for 1986-87 money from state agencies and institutions to $768 million below 1985 spending.

Comptroller Bob Bullock warned earlier that spending cuts had to be made, or new revenues found, because of the faltering oil and gas economy, which provides much of Texas' tax money.

Gov. Mark White will send the Legislature his budget recommendations in mid-January, then the Senate and House will hold public hearings and each write a spending bill. The final version of 1986-87 expenditures likely will be written by a 10-member conference committee, made up largely of those who produc-

"Such a proposal is totally unfair and unjust to the 183,000 dedicated state employees across Texas," complained Gary Hughes, executive director of the Texas Public Employees Association. "The TPEA vows a major fight in the upcoming session to see that these workers get what they deserve."

Much of the final budget-writing session was spent on the LBB staff's recommendations fothe Texas Department of Corrections which is under federal court orders to improve overcrowding and other living conditions.

Harte-Hanks Washington Bureau WASHINGTON — Rep. Charles Stenholm, who faced little reelection opposition this year, had $204,144 left in his campaign war chest at the end of November, according to his campaign finance statement filed this week with the House of Representatives.

The Stamford Democrat can carry the surplus over to his next campaign if, as expected, he runs for re-election in 1986

Stenholm, who did not have a Republican opponent in last month's general election, defeated Dublin farmer Noel Cowling in the May Democratic primary. He was elected to his fourth term.

NEW YORK - A 22-year-old man faces arraignment Dec. 20 after being indicted on charges he murdered a 23-year-old drama student on the roof of the apartment building where she lived.

The indictment returned Thursday charges Emmanuel Torres with second-degree murder, alleging that he stabbed Caroline Isenberg to death on Dec. 2 on the roof of her building while trying to rob and rape her.

Arrested Dec. 6, Torres is being held without bail.

3 clergymen arrested protesting racial policy

WASHINGTON (AP) - Police arrested three clergymen outside the South African Embassy as demonstrators joined by heavyweight boxer Larry Holmes kept up their protest against that nation's apartheid racial policy.

"This is one fight I want all of us to win," said Holmes, flanked by three bodyguards, as he joined 300 circling pickets near the embassy.

In New York, 15 protesters were arrested at the South African consulate as anti-apartheid demonstrations entered their third week.

Among the marchers at the embassy was Walter Fauntroy, the Democratic delegate to the House from the District of Columbia. He was one of the first arrested when the demonstrations began Nov. 21.

Those arrested Thursday as they sang "We Shall Overcome" in the embassy driveway were the Rev. Ernest Gibson, executive director of the Greater Washington Council of Churches, and the Revs. Edward White and M.A. Covington, all of the nation's

The arrests brought to 55 the number of people detained here on misdemeanor charges of demonstrating within 500 feet of an embassy.

Randall Robinson, a chief organizer of the demonstrations, denounced South Africa's arrest of two of three dissidents who had earlier left the sanctuary of the British consulate in Durban, South Africa.

"We had asked President Reagan to intervene on their behalf," Robinson said. "We have no indication that the White House or State Department did so. The lives of these three valiant, freedom-seeking people now hang in the balance."

In New York, the arrests Thursday brought the total number of people taken in custody at the consulate to 88 since demonstrations began there Dec. 3. The 15 were given summons for disorderly conduct for blocking the entrance to the consulate and for refusing to move when requested by police, said officer Edward Kulesa, a New York Police Department spokesman.

Shultz: Arms control on agenda

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Secretary of State George P. Shultz, in meetings with NATO foreign ministers, has reassured them the United States will consult them on new arms control talks with Moscow and stressed that "allied unity" is the best way to achieve Shultz will meet with the Soviet foreign minister, Andrei Gromyko, Jan. 7-8 in Geneva to develop a framework for new, comprehensive arms control negotiations.

The allies' intense interest in the meeting, and their hopes for its success, resulted in a 3½-hour private discussion Thursday during the opening session of the two-day NATO conference. The conference concludes

A senior U.S. official, who briefed reporters on condition he not be identified, said Shultz told his NATO colleagues "we all hope it might be the beginning of a better era in East-West relations."

"He emphasized ... our commitment to consult, every bit as full and varied as in the past," the official said. "You could hear a pin drop" inside the meeting room as the NATO ministers listened to a presentation by Shultz,

The official said Shultz talked for an hour about his upcoming meeting with Gromyko, what led to it, and the prospects for progress. "He emphasized the importance of allied unity, how important that was in getting us where we are," the official said.

Lord Carrington, NATO secretary general, said he told Shultz at the conclusion of Thursday's discussion that he "goes to Geneva with our encouragement and support" although "nobody expects miracles."

China plans restoration

PEKING - China's Communist government haspledged compensation and restoration of property for 100,000 former nationalist troops severely persecuted in the 1966-76 "cultural revolution," the official Englishlanguage China Daily reported today.

China Daily reported the veterans are among 1.7 million nationalist Kuomintang troops who joined the Communist side before 1949, when many defeated Kuomintang forces under Chiang Kai-shek fled to Taiwan.

One aim of the move is to accelerate reunification with Taiwan, "where many of the former soldiers have relatives and friends," the report said.

When Mao Tse-tung launched his "cultural revolution," the 100,000 ex-soldiers were severely persecuted and condemned as "reactionaries," the report said. Many were sent to the countryside.

Plant cuts S. African coal

COPENHAGEN, Denmark - Denmark's largest power plant group has decided to phase out its South African coal imports by 1990 in compliance with motions in parliament calling for sanctions against that country's racial segregation policies.

The board of the ELSAM group, which supplies electricity to about one million households and industries in an area covering two-thirds of Denmark, said Thursday the switch to other suppliers will increase the electricity bill of the average household by $25 to $50 a year.

The group accounts for two third of Denmark's total annual imports of three million tons of South African coal. A Ministry of Energy analysis says halting these imports will increase the costs of Denmark's energy imports by $50 to $100 million per year.

The ELSAM decision was in response to motions in the Folketing, or parliament, ordering the government to force power plants to adhere to U.N. General Assembly advocacy of economic sanctions against South Africa to protest the policy of apartheid.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) -William Schroeder survived a partially paralyzing stroke, his second setback since he became the world's second recipient of a permanent artificial heart, but motion in his weakened right side improved overnight, his doctor said today.

The stroke, which froze Schroeder's arm in midair as he was eating, came just hours after he received a Social Security check that was hand-delivered by two officials Thursday, as a result of his complaints to President Reagan in a telephone conversation the day

But Schroeder began recovering quickly, and "he is even better still" today, Dr. Allan M. Lansing, chairman and medical director of Humana Heart Institute, said this morning. The patient had improved steadily since 8 p.m. Thursday, two hours after the stroke, Lansing

Arguments for a budget freeze

Hodding Carter, the Mississippi newsman who served in the Carter administration and now has become a media critic and commentator on television, said the other day that the budget deficit wasn't anything to worry much about.

The deficit is, he said, not greatly higher than it has been in the past, in terms of the gross national product. Figuring that way, the effects of inflation and growth are discounted, so you have a much truer measure of the impact of the federal deficit on the national economy.

Good point. The way to measure the budget deficit is as a percentage of the GNP. But, if you look at the figures, they are not so reassuring as Hodding Carter would have us believe.

Our statistical abstract shows the federal deficit at the following percentages of the GNP in the following years: 1940, 3 percent; 1945, 22 percent; 1950, 3 percent; 1960, 0 percent; 1965, 0 percent; 1970, 0 percent; 1975, 3 percent; 1980, 2 percent; 1983, 6 percent.

What these figures show is that the federal deficit is now twice what it has been at any time since World War II. and that it is twice what it was in the midst of the Great Depression. No reason for concern?

The deficit plunge started under President Ford, made a recovery under President Carter and reached its most alarming depth in the first term of President Reagan. That the crisis has developed to its present proportions under a conservative Republican president is not reassuring. If such a president can't stop the slide, who can?

During his campaign and during his first term, Ronald Reagan was willing to rely on growth in the economy to solve the deficit problem. But now the economy is slowing, putting a further burden on the federal budget. The outlook for the budget deficit is worsening, week by week.

A budget freeze is now being considered in Washington. For the first time, those in the White House are taking it seriously. Well they should. Any such freeze must be as inclusive as legally and politically possible, if it is to be perceived as fair.

It must include the level of Social Security benefits and a ceiling on defense.

Reagan's credit strong as plastic

A man knocked on the door of the White House the other night and the president, in his pajamas, answered it.

"Yes?" Mr. Reagan said. "I'm from the pany, and you owe us $210 billion. We were wondering when you planned to start paying on it." "Two hundred and ten billion?" I thought it was only 170 billion," the president said

"That's what you told everyone during the election campaign., But it turns out it's 210, give or take 5 billion. You've been using your credit card for the past four years, and I think it's time you acknowledged the debt.' "Who is it?" Mrs. Reagan called from the top of the stairs.

"It's a man from the Visa credit card company who says we owe him $210 billion.

"That's ridiculous," Mrs. Reagan said. "I only bought two suits at Adolfo's."

The Visa man said, "These were not for personal purchases. They are government related. I have all the receipts here. Defense, Social Security, Medicare, Human Services and entitlements. We can't stay in business if people just keep using plastic and don't honor their

Now you've more than doubled his debt. and we're getting very nervous.'

Mrs. Reagan shouted, "Tell him if he doesn't want our business anymore, we'll use an American Express credit card."

The Visa man yelled back, "American Express wouldn't touch you people with a 10-foot

"I don't think this is the time and place to discuss how much we owe you," the president said. "Why don't you come to my office in the morning?"

A preppy U.S. diplomat

WASHINGTON - Joseph Verner Reed, the U.S. ambassador to Morocco, may well be the Joe Bftsplk of American foreign policy. Like the walking jinx of the old "Li'l Abner" comic strip, Reed seems to be a magnet for disaster wherever he goes.

When Reed was a special assistant to David Rockfeller a few years ago, he was instrumental in arranging the visit of the shah of Iran to America for cancer treatment. The shah's brief stay in the United States was the spark that ignited the seizure of the U.S. Embassy in Tehran and the capture of the

Perhaps in gratitude for Reed's unwitting role in Jimmy Carter's defeat, President Reagan appointed him his man in Rabat. But even the legendary luck of the Gipper was no match for the Bftsplk - er, Reed

As I reported recently, Reed was caught by surprise when his supposed good friend, King Hassan, signed a treaty of unity with America's most virulent enemy in the Arab world, Libyan dictator Muammar Qaddafi.

But this foreign policy disaster came as no surprise to Sen. Thomas Eagleton, D-Mo. Following a briesvisit to Morocco two years ago. Eagleton wrote an acerbic letter to Secretary of State George Shultz expressing his dismay over the envoy. My associate Lucette Lagnado has seen the leter in which Eagleton twice referred to Reed as a "nitwit."

Eagleton got right to the point: "George," he wrote, "for the first time in my 14-year Senate career, I must write an overwhelmingly negative report on an ambassador. Without beating around the diploamtic bush, Ambassador Joseph Reed is a Eagleton indicated that his two colleagues, Sens. Paul Laxalt, R-New., and Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., were equally upset over the ambassador's "proprietary and possessive" references to Hassan as "our king." Eagleton provided the following • "There are 7,000 Moroccan students in socialist France. This poses a real threat to OUR king." "The election of Socialist Gonzales in Spain along with Socialist Mitterrand poses a threat to OUR king.

The senator observed: "Geroge, the embassy staff is demoralized. I would be, too, if I worked under this He added: "I am informed that he is so dippy that and refers to him as 'your majesty. Eagleton, an Amherst and Harvard man, speculated that Reed's background was to blame. 'Ambassador Reed is a graduate of Yale and of David Rockefeller," he wrote to Princetonian Shultz. "Possibly he might have gotten over one, but obviously can't get over the combination. In short, he suffers from an incurable strain of Yalerock. He runs around the hotel grounds in his Yale jogging suit ... (and needs only) a bulldog to make the act ahead with Reed as U.S. ambassador to co - which was seeking U.S. military aid against leftist rebels in the western Sahara.

'George, if Ambassador Reed were serving in Monaco, it woulnd't make a hell of a lot of difference," the senator wrote. "But Morocco deserves better. It is involved in a serious thing called war.' He wondered how Shultz "could rely on any advice from this guy with respect to what equipment, etc., we should send or sell to 'OUR' king," and added: "The matter is very serious."

Footnote: Repeated efforts to reach Reed were unsuccessful. Eagleton's office declined to comment, as did the State Department.

The 49ers fly a true course

By SCOTT FITZGERALD

Birds and NFL football teams have dominated my thoughts recently. It interrelates.

Big Spring bird watcher Bebe McCasland told me, while I was working on a story about recent local sightings of Redcross Bills, that birds are sometimes blown off their migratory course by strong

An observant sportswriter could have written, "Like the lost Red-cross Bills who recently fluttered into Big Spring's Comanche Park, Quarterback Danny White's final pass that plummeted to the ground floor of Texas Stadium was apparently blown off course with no destination in sight.

White's second half passes didn't hum as most passes are supposed to. They wobbled. They struggled. They either selected the ground or hands of Redskin defensive backs as temporary shelters.

And the Cowboys are very close to finding themselves without a nest for the upcoming playoffs. he has had the shah of Iran's son as his house guest

It's conceivable that San Francisco 49ers may defeat Los Angeles Rams tonight and if Dallas can beat Miami this Sunday then the Cowboys might participate in a lit-tle post-season holiday action.

But like most NFL teams are finally realizing - it's all rather futile. A pack of vultures rather than gold is waiting in them hills in California. Seriously, who is going to beat San Francisco's 49ers?

The 49er quarterback, Joe Montana, feeds off defensive secondaries like Redcross Bills feed off pine cone seeds. And 49er defensive play keeps the squad intact as it glides along its major flyway toward a victorious locker room after 1985 Super Bowl XVIV

Though animosity may exist among San Francisco players off the field, when they step onto the gridiron — it's a different story. Birds of a feather flock together.

The 49ers circle around in the sky like a pack of vultures, waiting for the final pecking. They were denied a trip to Super Bowl XVIII, thanks to a partisan referee's call in last season's NFC Championship game with the Washington Redskins at RFK Stadium.

A San Francisco 49er-Los Angeles Raider showdown in Super Bowl XVIII could have spared us the sight of seeing a wonderful guy like Lyle Alzado crying joyfully into the TV cameras and spouting off, "I've won it all."

The 49ers will win it all this year. They represent one flock of NFL football players who will not get blown off course. Opinions expressed in this column are those of he staff writer and do not necessarily reflect the lews of the newspaper's management.

Local control is group's goal

To the editor:

Thank you for covering the panel discussion of the effects of recent legislation on our schools. We certainly appreciate your putting it on the front page. However we feel the point of the meeting was the need of local-control of our schools.

Mr. Jerry Doyle, the first speaker set the theme of the meeting and the other speakers followed up on different problems we will face in the schools due to the loss of local control. Much of the legislation passed in the special session of the legislature has not yet gone into effect.

The bill was designed for the elitist or the top 15 percent of the retirement or the seeking of students and will result in more employment elsewhere. drop-outs by the lower students., The plan is to prepare every student for college. Many students will never attend college. They need to learn job skills. The opportunity of the schools to teach them job skills has been thwarted by the new law. Vocational studies are cut greatly. Mr. Tommy Stewman of Maryneal told of the plans of Mr. Ross Perot who designed the bill to eliminate the teaching of agriculture in our schools. Other vocational programs are facing a similar future. The legislation requires teachers to keep so many records that there is little time left to teach. Many of them took a sizeable cut in pay due to this legislation. These and other rules forced on teachers have caused many of them to consider early

New dogs forget old tricks

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I am in a rehabilitation hospital trying to recover from hard drugs and alcoholism — although I am only 22 years old. So far the program is good, but I am constantly filled with fears that I will simply go back to my old ways of living when I finish the program here. Do you have any advice on ways to stay straight? - B.L.

DEAR B.L.: Your program will undoubtedly deal with this to some extent, but you have already taken the first step by being seriously concerned about the danger of going back. You know that these things will destroy you, and you also know it will be that much harder to break away from them if you do get in their grip again.

There are several practical things you need to do - although they will not necessarily be easy. For example, you need to get a new set of friends and avoid those from the past who might pressure you into returning to your old ways. The Bible warns, "Do not set foot on the path of the wicked or walk in the way of evil men. Avoid it, do not travel on it; turn from it and go on your way. For they cannot sleep till they do evil" (Proverbs 4:14-16). Avoid places and situations (such as parties) that you know will cause you to fall. The Bible also commands us to "Flee the evil desires of youth, and pursue

But the most important thing is to seek God's help and strength. You need God, and you need Christ's salvation. Perhaps the reason God has allowed you to come to the end of your rope (so to speak) is to show you that you need him. Christ loves you, and he wants to come into your life and help you deal with these problems. You are weak — but Christ is strong. You are never alone when Christ is with you, and when you face temptations he will help you and give you

Woman's pain is like pins, needles

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Could ou tell me what is wrong with my left leg in the thigh area, the outer section? It has not been bumped in any way, but there are times when this section of my leg is very painful. I have the feeling of pins and needles there. When I rub the area it is sensitive from the hip to about the knee. The pain seems to be sort of like a quarter-inch under the skin. There is no redness. What can I do to stop these pins and needles, which can occur when I'm standing, sitting, or lying down? I am that's easier to sing. Few people know that we had a national anthem before 1916. When I went to elementary school in Detroit, our singing teacher taught us the national anthem - "My country 'tis of thee, sweetland of liberty." That was our national anthem until I graduated from the University of Michigan in 1915. The following year, President Wilson proclaimed "The Star-Spangled Banner" our national anthem, and Congress confirmed it in 1931 when

Report shows 1 of 4 pupils failing

AUSTIN (AP) — One out of the state's high dropout rate. every four Texas high school students was failing at least one course this fall under a new law tightening academic standards, a new survey shows.

The survey was conducted by the Texas Association of Secondary School Principals; 852 of the state's 2,100 junior and senior high school principals responded.

The study found that most principals support the new minimum passing grade of 70, which replaced 60 at the beginning of the school

But it also found that more than think the school reform law has weakened discipline and will boost

Harold Massey, executive director of the principals' association, said the survey results will be used to lobby for changes in the law during the 1985 Legislature.

He said the controversial "no pass, no play" rule is on the organization's hit list. The rule requires students to pass all course to take part in extracurricular

The study showed that only 22 percent of the principals surveyed approve of the rule.

Through November, the district had applied $3.588 million to debt service.

Water sales were based 16.19 billion gallons delivered through November. Of that, 14.9 billion gallons went to cities and 1.26 billion gallons to oil companies.

Lakes supplied 12.56 billion gallons, or 77.63 percent of the water, and 2.55 billion came from wells. The other 1.06 billion gallons were unpotable water, because of a slight decrease in diverted from the poor-quality low flow of the Colorado.

Philadelphia fights to keep Eagles at home

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Mayor Monaghan. W. Wilson Goode predicted a quick resolution of the fight to keep the Philadelphia Eagles here, while team owner Leonard Tose, emerging from two days of seclusion, said staying or leaving remained a 50-50 proposition.

City officials met on the subject of the Eagles most of Wednesday and Thursday — including sessions with Tose and his daughter, team Vice President Susan Fletcher. Goode said Thursday night that the verdict as to whether the club will stay could be in as early as this afternoon.

Goode said two loan proposals that would refinance Tose's debts, including a loan from the Crocker National Bank in San Francisco, were being considered. One proposal involves local investors buying a limited partnership in the National Football League franchise.

"Within the next 24 hours, this should come to a head." Goode said after a town meeting in northeast Philadelphia.

Until Thursday, Tose had stayed in his Villanova home for two days while stories shook the city about an agreement to sell a 25 percent interest in the team to Canadian real estate investor and part-time Phoenix resident James G.

Report shows 1 of 4 pupils failing

AUSTIN (AP) — One out of the state's high dropout rate. every four Texas high school students was failing at least one course this fall under a new law tightening academic standards, a to lobby for changes in the law durnew survey shows.

The survey was conducted by the Texas Association of Secondary pass, no play" rule is on the School Principals; 852 of the state's 2,100 junior and senior high school principals responded.

The study found that most principals support the new minimum passing grade of 70, which replaced 60 at the beginning of the school

But it also found that more than 80 percent of the administrators weakened discipline and will boost

Harold Massey, executive director of the principals' association, said the survey results will be used ing the 1985 Legislature.

He said the controversial "no organization's hit list. The rule requires students to pass all course to take part in extracurricular

The study showed that only 22 percent of the principals surveyed approve of the rule.

"We're talking about 200,000 students in Texas high schools who think the school reform law has won't be able to participate next semester if this failure rate holds

The principals' group survey showed that 25 percent of all high school students and 23 percent of all junior high students were failing one or more courses during the first six-weeks grading period this

A random sample survey of 98 high schools by the Texas Educa-tion Agency this fall found an even higher failure rate of about 35 percent after the first six weeks.

But since no surveys were done prior to 1984, officials say they don't know have anything with which to compare the current failure rate.

Massey said his group will seek an amendment to the school reform law so that students will have to pass only five, rather than six, courses to be eligible for extracurricular activities.

The survey also found that: • 88 percent said only new teachers should have to take competency tests.

• 95 percent think high seniors should have to master basic skills to get a diploma.

 83 percent believe students who bring weapons or drugs to school should be automatically expelled for a semester.

- 86 percent think the "no pass, no play" rule will discourage students from taking tough courses.

Stakes are high in Rams-49ers clash

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - The on the outcome of other NFC San Francisco 49ers, in search of a National Football League record. and the Los Angeles Rams, hoping for a place in the playoffs, tonight open a suspenseful final weekend of the season with a game that could affect three other playoff hopefuls.

The 49ers, 14-1, who already have clinched a place in the postseason competition, hope to become the first team in NFL history to win 15 regular season games

'We're going to go into the game to win it," 49ers Coach Bill Walsh promises, but the 49ers are expected to go without a few players, such as defensive back Ronnie Lott, who have slight injuries.

His team clinched its third division title in four years several weeks ago and won't have to leave Candlestick Park during the National Conference playoffs. The Rams, 10-5, will assure themselves of a wild-card berth if they stop the 49ers' eight-game winning streak and deprive them of that 15th victory.

If the Rams lose, they'll face an anxious few days, perhaps including practice for a game they won't play. They could reach the playoffs at 10-6, but it would depend games during a weekend that will see three division titles as well as two wild-card berths decided.

The NFC East title will be riding on Sunday's game between the Washington-Redskins and St. Louis Cardinals, while championships in the American Conference West and Central divisions also will be on the Tonight's game will have bearings on the chances of the Redskins. Dallas Cowboys and New York Giants for NFC berths.

The other three NFC playoff contenders would like to see the Rams lose and are hoping the 49ers compete as they did on Oct. 28 at Anaheim.

Joe Montana, the NFC's topranked quarterback, threw for 365 yards and three touchdowns as the 49ers ran over the Rams 33-0 on Oct. 28. He also had three TD passes last weekend, playing only one half of a 51-7 mismatch with the Minnesota Vikings.

Tonight is Montana's final tuneup opportunity before the 49ers' playoff opener on Dec. 29 or 30, and Walsh says, "If the game is in doubt, we're going to stay with Joe to win the game.

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, DEC., 15, 1984

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is no day to take any chances for illusive and confused conditions can be very much in the picture, and you need to know actual and true facts, which may be hard to obtain. ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Unless you are alert you will find that co-workers could upset production badly, so use care. The evening is best for recreation.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Be sure you count the cost for any amusements you have in mind, or you will later regret extravagance. GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You may not find it easy to come to an understanding with family, so try to understand their views better. MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Much care must be exercised in driving in order to avoid possible accidents. Listen carefully to what others say.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Be most careful in handling any financial affairs otherwise you could lose a good deal of money. Drive carefully this evening.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You want to get everything in fine working order around you, but don't rush otherwise you could make costly errors. LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You want to run away from limiting conditions, but don't tread on the toes of others in so doing. Use tact.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) A friend may be out of sorts today and criticize you, so laugh and let it gc at that. Later avoid a group for recreation. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Use much tact in the business world today and keep out of trouble.

Don't jeopardize your good name. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Some new plan needs more study before you get it in motion, since there are bound to be small errors n it.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Don't get uptight about some account which seems exorbitant to you, but study it further and you will know exactly what is best. PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) An associate may not be very understanding today, but keep mum, and tomorrow all will be well again. Seek entertainment tonight.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will always have to study matters thoroughly since there is a tendency here to see things in rose-colored hues which are not practical or what they seem to be. However, your progeny would do well as an artist or whatever profession requires vision and imagery.

Near fatal accident changes Plant's life

By KIM KIRKHAM

Religion Writer After a brush with death 10 years ago, Lynn Plant turned his life toward the ministry.

Plant, 37, new pastor of the First Assembly of God in Big Spring, and wife Joyce were involved in a near-fatal accident in January, 1974. They were traveling to Plant's grandfather's funeral when their Volkswagen went off an icy bridge, landing upside down.

With a broken sternum, Mrs. Plant sought help. The ambulance driver got confused about the accident's location, as Plant laid in water, paralyzed from the neck down, for an hour and a half.

His neck was broken in two places. No one knew if he would live or die. "The doctors said if I lived I would probably never walk again," he said. However, nine weeks later Plant was walking again.

"The doctor was amazed at first. He said he knew that God had left me here for a purpose, and I needed to find that purpose," said Plant. "And I feel that I am in that purpose (as a minister) today.

"I've been in the ministry ever since," he said. Plant says his wife "has been the moral support that I have always needed. Her prayers and a lot of her faith brought me through the accident." Their two sons, Curtis, 16, and Bryan, 13, were not in the

Before moving to Big Spring in November, Plant was the minister of Wainwright Assembly of God in Wainwright, Okla., for two years. He has ministered at Ringling Assembly of God in Ringling, Okla., and Little Assembly of God in Little, Okla. He also did evangelistic work in Oklahoma.

"I try to work with youth, but I do not forget the other ages," said Plant. "I do lean more towards the youth and help them as much as I can, for they will be the church of tomorrow." First Assembly recently began a young singles class "to try and get some young people in here," he said.

"I was raised in the church all my life in the Assemblies with a full gospel background, and my mother and father played a very important role in that," said Plant. The Rev. Paul Riggs of Oklahoma

City, Okla. also influenced Plant's life by giving him "encouragement and telling me what all I needed to do to get into the ministry." Plant attended Blackwood Business College in Oklahoma City, Okla. before taking a three year course, the Berean School of the Bible. The correspondence course is required for all Assembly of God ministers.

Food prices increase Nov.

inflation rate

WASHINGTON (AP) - A fresh surge in food prices pushed wholesale prices up 0.5 percent in November, the biggest increase since January and the first of any kind since July, the government said today.

Energy costs and automobile prices also rose last month.

Food prices rose 0.7 percent, largely the product of big jumps in meat prices, the Labor Department said.

The November increase in the Producer Price Index meant wholesale prices rose at an annual rate of 1.9 percent through the first 11 months of the year, more than triple last year's 0.6 percent gain but still well under the rates of more than 10 percent in 1979 and Economists expect next year's increases to be only slightly higher than this year's.

Energy prices rose 0.6 in November, including a 1.7 percent gain for heating oil at the start of the fall heating season in many parts of the nation. Heating oil prices had risen 3.3 percent in October.

Automobile prices were up 0.4 percent after a 1.2 percent seasonally adjusted October decline that had helped cause the 0.2 percent decrease in that month's overall wholesale prices. Food prices had risen in only two of the seven previous months, but the big November jump in meat costs abruptly reversed the downward trend. Beef and veal prices surged 7.5

percent; pork prices rose 5.8 percent; poultry prices were up 3.3 percent; fish prices gained 0.6 percent. Dairy prices rose 0.3 percent, but there were sizable declines of 7.3

percent for eggs, 7.1 percent for vegetables and 6.8 percent for fruit. In other major categories: -The overall energy-price gain gasoline but a 0.3 percent decrease for natural gas. PUBLIC NOTICE
