TWC warns Texas of false employment scams

AUSTIN – The Texas Workforce Commission (TWC) wants Texas job seekers to be aware that unscrupulous people posing as potential employers may try to take their money in exchange for non-existent jobs, even sometimes posing as representatives of established businesses or using legitimate meeting spaces to meet and interview victims.

The reported scams can happen online, by phone or in person. Some scammers post from legitimate job-matching websites, such as TWC's WorkInTexas.com, or have used Workforce Solutions offices to meet with the job seekers. In all cases the job seeker received promises of employment and a request for some type of up-front payment.

Reported incidents include checks sent for the victim to cash. The false employer explains that the so-called "new employee" may keep a portion of the money deposited as a signing bonus and then asks the victim to send the rest of the money to a specific address. The check later bounces and the job seeker is out all the money. Job seekers should be cautious in receiving any money from a future employer, unless they have provided something tangible of equal value to merit receiving the money.

Another reported scam includes false employers conducting interviews through instant messaging or on the phone resulting in a job offer and then asking the job seeker to purchase a prepaid card and transfer the funds to the false employer for training, a background check, uniforms or equipment needed to begin work. Texas residents are reminded that legitimate employers will never ask for money as a condition for starting work. Job seekers should never provide personally identifiable information to an employer prior to a face-to-face meeting. Job seekers also should never cash checks from anyone claiming to be an employer, or purchase any equipment, licenses, certifications, starter kits, or software packages prior to validating the employer.

TWC also warns job seekers that sometimes scammers use the names of legitimate businesses as a cover for their fraudulent activity. To verify an employer, TWC suggests that job seekers independently confirm contact information for the company, specifically the human resources department, and call to verify the job posting.

TWC encourages individuals to check their bank or other online accounts for unusual activity if they suspect they are victims of a similar scam. To report suspicious activity, please call TWC's Fraud and Program Abuse Hotline at 800-252-3642. To avoid becoming a victim of scams, visit the Texas Office of the Attorney General online at www.oag.state.tx.us/consumer/scams.shtml or www.onguardonline.gov/, managed by the Federal Trade Commission, for more information.

veterans week at the white house

Since the Veteran's Hospital scandal became public President Obama has been on a "we love you" military tour.

He secretly flew to Afghanistan to thank the troops. He didn't say much about the VA Hospitals.

The next day he delivered the commencement speech at West Point. Reports are the greeting and applause from the cadets was lukewarm. His speech was widely criticized by pundits and the media, including the liberal New York Times. Many had no luck trying to figure out exactly what he said.

General Eric Shinseki the Secretary of Veterans Affairs, resigned. As though that will solve the VA problem. Not even close.

Then Saturday morning the president announced that Sgt. Bowe Bergdahl was released by the Taliban after almost five years as a POW. He flew the parents to Washington from Idaho for the announcement. More about that in a minute.

This week he is flying to Europe in observance of the June 6, 1944, D-Day Normandy invasion.

It has truly been a military week for the White House. A show of support for our military boys and girls and a round of politics for the president, whose approval numbers are headed for the dumpster. How better to calm down the VA atrocity than to spend time praising the troops.

I know it makes everyone feel better to know his administration is investigating the VA scandal. I think he should put on that neat leather Commander in Chief jacket, fire up Air Force One, and fly to the Phoenix VA Hospital and say "what the hell is going on here." Wouldn't that be the fastest way to do something about the problem?

I am glad that Sgt. Bowe Bergdahl of Idaho has been released and will soon be recovering in San Antonio. Hopefully he will be able to get in to see a doctor.

Sgt. Bergdahl was not captured by the enemy during a battle. He deserted his unit and sought out the Taliban. Prior to his desertion, according to a fellow soldier in his unit, Sgt. Bergdahl was learning Farsi using Rosetta Stone. Before he left his unit he sent all of his personal belongings home to Idaho.

His dad, Robert Bergdahl, is said to be an activist who has campaigned for the closing of Guantanamo Bay and criticized the U.S. for killing innocent Afghan children. His most radical tweets have suddenly been deleted. Here is one of dad Bob's tweets: "ABalkhi I am still working to free all Guantanamo prisoners. God will repay for the death of every Afghan child, ameen!" ABalkhi is reported to be an Islamic Emirates Twitter account.

Dad Bob also praised God in Farsi at the White House. He used a phrase that is said to be the opening words in almost every chapter of the Quran.

To retrieve Sgt. Bergdahl from the clutches of the Taliban the U.S. traded five nasty Taliban terrorists from Gitmo to the country of Qatar where they are supposed to be nice guys for at least a year.

Apparently Mr. Obama was supposed to consult with Congress before releasing any Gitmo prisoners but he did not. No surprise there.

National Security Advisor Susan Rice, who lied to the country about Benghazi, went on television Sunday morning and said "we did not negotiate with the Taliban." Their ploy is they had Qatar officials negotiate with the Taliban. More lies from this administration, or you can call it misleading if that makes you feel better.

It will be interesting to watch how the Bergdahl situation plays out in the weeks ahead. His dad said Bowe will probably have difficulty speaking English now. I find that interesting.

With Bowe back now they should find something to trade for the Marine being held in the Tijuana jail.

Letters to the Editor

Dear editor,

I made the paper last week, regarding a small electrical fire in my house, and I want to take a moment to thank God for His protection over my family, and thank the Friona Volunteer Fire Department for their great work.

First, I thank God that the fire was contained to only the heater/exhaust fan that caught fire and was able to be quickly put out using a fire extinguisher. If the fire had spread it could have been tragic as the fire was right next to our kids rooms.

Secondly, I cannot say enough about our volunteer fire department, and their watchful care over my family and the house in this situation. We are really blessed with such an amazing, well trained group of men who sacrifice sleep and much more to serve our community. They did an awesome job and I am so thankful for their service to our town.

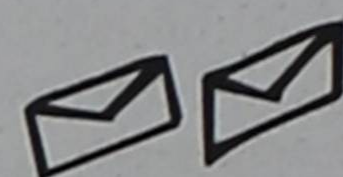

Sincerely,
Brett Hoyle

Dear community,

I would like to thank the community of Friona and its surrounding areas that helped me to fund for my trip to Europe. I couldn't have raised all $7,500 by myself. I will be leaving here pretty soon, on June 12. I have come so far, fundraising for a whole year isn't as easy as it looks, but with the help of my community I did it! I am very excited to be going on this trip. Thank you for everything you have done to help accomplish a big goal like this.

Sincerely,
Mariah Rivera

Thank you, Thank you,

All volunteers who came to the cemetery to help with the annual clean-up and the placing of the flags for Memorial Day. We had City workers, Girl and Boy Scouts and quite a number of area people. We appreciate all of you for your work. A special thanks to Ron Carr and the Friona Star for all the news items and the pictures. Volunteers are Special and we can't do without you! Many of the workers took advantage of the cold drinks and cookies in the chapel.

Remember, the chapel is for all to use for Memorial Services any time the weather is not good. The Chapel has had some improvement this spring, there is seating for 40-50 and fans and heat are available if needed.

Thanks to all who help keep the cemetery beautiful.

The Cemetery Board

The FHS Class of 2014 graduation was hastily moved from the football field to the junior high auditorium Friday night. A rain storm blew in around 6:00 p.m. and was still raining at 6:30 p.m. The decision came about one hour before the 8:00 p.m. graduation and was quite a scramble to move people, graduates, diplomas, sound systems, etc. But it all worked out and the students still received their diplomas.

Prairie Acres/Heritage Estates news: Administrator Billy Ray Johnston says there are three openings at Heritage and about ten openings at Prairie Acres. A family council meeting will be held June 19 at 7:00 p.m. in the boardroom. If you have a family member at Prairie Acres you are invited to attend. They would like your input. Resident of the month for June is Mayme Gee. Employee of the month is Mario Carrasco, a nurse aide who has been employed since August 1999. A new client at Heritage is Linda Brownlow.

Add Mitch Terry and Dennis Field to the teacher retiree list. Also primary principal Autumn Sloan and teachers Marla DeBons and Deirdre Long have resigned. So have Jackie Martin, Benny Case, Nick Gonzales, and Joann Morris.

Lezli and Cole St. Clair had a 6th wedding anniversary last week. Joe and Loy McLellan observed their 36th wedding anniversary this week. Congratulations to these folks and all who celebrate anniversaries and birthdays in June. If you are having an anniversary let us know.

A 5k Color Run is being organized for Friona. It will be held July 5. The run will start out north on Hwy 214 and end at the Reeve Lake park. Proceeds will benefit a local family and the SnackPak4Kids program. Individual runners $45, teams of 4 or more $35 each. Students $25 each, teams of 4 or more $20 each. Participants receive a t-shirt and headband. Winner will receive a bike. For registration contact Karina Trevino at 806-717-8798.

The Dimmitt city wide garage sale is Saturday June 7. This is one of the better city wide sales in the area. Go early for bargains. Have lunch on the courthouse square. For a couple of years I took my mom and Martha Hamilton to the Dimmitt city wide sale. My job was to let them out at one end of the block and drive to the other end and wait, running back and forth to fetch and load their purchases. Those were some fun times.

Summer Drama Workshop is July 7 - 19 with shows presented July 18 and July 19. Allison Johnston, Joy Morton, and Deirdre Long are directors. Donations are accepted to help with production expenses. Make donations to Friona Fine Arts Council and mail to Allison Johnston, 801 W. 5th St. Friona, TX 79035. For info about the workshop you can contact Allison at 806-220-1610.

The date of this Star is June 5, 2014. My first day at the Star was Monday June 5, 1995, nineteen years ago. On that day Bill Ellis drove me over to Bovina to show me around since covering Bovina for the Bovina Blade was part of my job. My first photo was of a blooming century plant. It was during that visit I met Scooter Russell and Dorothy Stowers. The next week I met Marie Venable. Those three ladies helped me out with Bovina news for the next eight years. Dorothy still gives me haircuts. Scooter lives in Spearman now and Marie passed away last year. The Bovina Blade ceased operations at the end of 2003. I'm aiming for one more year to make an even 20 and after that we'll see. Thanks for your support over the years.

Don't forget the Walk for the Cure Saturday June 7 at the football field sponsored by the Parmer County Cancer Coalition. Take your lawn chairs, pop up canopies, blankets and join in the fun and visiting. Ribbons to honor loved ones affected by cancer will be sold for $5.00. T-shirts and hats will be available and lunch is served at the end of the event. The Parmer County Cancer Coalition serves local people with cancer related expenses.

A bit of good local news: James Garrett, a P.A. at Parmer Medical, resigned and moved away. His replacement is Lynette Jubay Smith, P.A., Dr. Jubay's daughter. They are moving to the area from Lubbock. Her husband Eddie Smith has been hired as the head varsity girls basketball coach at Farwell. He will also be assistant cross country and track coach. We welcome the family to Friona.

The Hamilton Steel & Concrete folks are constructing a couple of new buildings here.

Campbell Electric has a new building behind the present location on Hwy 60 and Parmer County Implement is adding a 35x 180 addition on the back of their building for more shop space. The Hamilton brothers, Davy and Jeff, also offer spray foam insulation.

The Friona swimming pool opened Tuesday. Hours are 1:00 - 6:00 p.m. Tuesday thru Sunday. Closed Mondays. Cost is $3.50 adults and $2.50 for children 12 years and under.

I will be making the drive to Denton/Frisco for the weekend. My grandson Hudson Holmes graduates from Coppell High School Thursday. Coppell's graduation will be held at the University of North Texas. Hudson will be attending Auburn University in the fall. Be good to see my daughters Candee, Kirsten, and Megan and my oldest son Casey, all of whom live in that area.

Send along your summer vacation photos or any other summer news of interest. The first couple of summer months are pretty quiet around here so any news you can send our way will be appreciated. See you next week. Until then!

Summer vacations

Summer vacations were a staple when I was growing up. My brother and I knew that at some point during the summer we were going to be loaded up in a car and travel to a fun-filled destination.

Now that I have your attention and made you think about summer vacation trips you went on, I will tell the truth from an adult's point of view.

My childhood vacations were not as exciting as some but they were ours.

One year we went to California. That trip was hot and miserable, our car didn't have air conditioning and there were six people crammed into a Ford Galaxy 500. My grandparents went with us because we were going to visit family.

We didn't stay in the poshest of hotels but instead no-name motels. Reservations were not made ahead of time but rooms were found as night fell. This meant that we did not have the luxurious accommodations that we are afforded today. We took what was offered, slept, and got up early the next morning to continue the journey.

Once in California we stayed with relatives and did the usual tourist stuff. The highlights of the two-week trip were going to Disneyland and seeing the giant redwoods. The rest of the time was spent driving to the next relative's house and praying for air conditioning.

I didn't get to see the Hollywood sign because we had arose at four in the morning and I had fallen asleep just before we passed it. We saw the beach pass by at 60 mph as we drove to the next stopping point.

The ride home from California was miserable. We once again arose early and drove late into the night to "make good time". (I think my step-dad was tired of dealing with his in-laws.)

There were stops along the way but not many.

Our trip to Virginia a few years later was much of the same but we learned not to fall asleep when mom was driving. She needed a navigator and took the wrong off ramp, which led us into West Virginia.

On that trip, we spent much of our time at Uncle Wayne and Aunt Joyce's house. There was the trip to the beach just as a storm was about to come ashore. We were looking for crabs and got to play in the surf. This was a very quick trip cut short by big, fat raindrops and gusting winds.

The trip home from Virginia was SUPER miserable as my brother and I contracted the mumps from our cousins and the symptoms developed on the drive home. Five people crammed into a car and motel room is not any fun. Especially when two of them are sick and one of them snored like a freight train.

There were other trips that I only have glimpses of memories. Trips to Ute Lake on the weekends. Trips to Ruidoso for a week of cool mountain temperatures and shopping.

Trips to Arkansas for family reunions were interesting. No motel rooms, we went in my grandparents' camper. We played "Beat the Snorer to sleep" each night because we knew if we didn't go to sleep before him we would be awake all night.

Someone stepping on a nail, using the 'outhouse' and/or seeing a copperhead snake, usually punctuated the Arkansas trips. Odd food was a staple on these trips. I had my first frog leg and possum in Arkansas.

One year we loaded up in a pickup with a camper with Uncle Wayne and Aunt Joyce and their four kids and went to Six Flags in Arlington. Six kids in the camper with all the luggage. There were no benches to sit on or seat belts to keep us from rolling to the front when Wayne would slam on the breaks for fun to make sure we were awake.

I'm sure the adults were not any happier about the trip as there were four adults crammed into the front seat of the pickup.

As you can see, the trip through an adults eyes were not as much fun as we thought they were as kids.

As kids, the trips were adventures away from home and the everyday mundane life we led. The trips to California and Virginia were fun as kids because we got to see cousins that we never got to see during the year.

I sometimes wish to be young again and not have a care in the world except to know where we were going on summer vacation. Well, maybe not.

Dangerous Deceptions Regarding Alcohol

BRETT HOYLE, Pastor, First Baptist Church

According to the National Council on Alcoholism and Drug Dependence alcoholism and drug dependence is the number one health problem in our society, and alcohol is the most commonly used addictive substance with one in twelve adults suffering from addiction, and several million more engaged in risky drinking patterns (www.ncadd.org). Although billions are spent on advertisements and campaigns to make the use of drugs and alcohol acceptable, glamorous and sexy, the reality is that alcohol addiction destroys lives all across our world each and every day.

When it comes to the use of alcohol God expects you to make a wise decision in light of Christ and our culture. A wise decision is first informed by Biblical input. The Bible prohibits drunkenness (Eph 5:18), but does not prohibit drinking. In fact, Jesus turned the water into wine at his first miracle, Paul suggested Timothy drink some wine to help his tummy ache, and in the OT the pouring out of a drink offering was part of the daily sacrifices before the Lord (John 2; 1 Tim 5:23; Num 28:7). The Bible also clearly states the destructive effects of alcohol in Proverbs 20:1, "Wine is a mocker, strong drink a brawler, and whoever is led astray by it is not wise," and many other places. Although much more could be said, the decision you make regarding alcohol and drug use will impact you and many others, so be sure and choose wisely in a way that seeks to glorify God and not indulge the flesh. ### Hugs and Casseroles

JEFF PROCTER, Minister, 6th St. Church of Christ

There are times in life that storms show up and turn people's worlds upside down. These are storms where the pain seems bottomless and God seems distant. It is a storm that comes suddenly and leaves almost as quickly, but the wound is deep and the scar will remain. Not all of these storms will be chased by folks with cameras. Sometimes the sirens don't sound and there is no warning on TV. Many storms will hit with such precision few may be directly affected, but for them their world is forever changed. Questions pour out in every tear, but no reasonable explanation helps. Then God shows up.

He walks through the door with a hug and a casserole and before you can comprehend the tears in His eyes in He walks in again with another hug and casserole. You look out the door and there He stands in a long line of Himself each bearing two gifts that represent the most powerful force in all of eternity, love itself. There is nothing that is designed to take away all the pain that a storm can pour out, but God in infinite wisdom would step into lives of storm victims with enough love to help them bear the burden of their despair and give them hope. Those who are His are often called upon to be storm chasers of sorts. They chase not the storm, but its path for they know that in it are victims of devastation. They are armed with hugs and casseroles full of love and will stand and help bear the crushing weight of loss. Why? Because that is what love does.

Love is what caused creation. Love is what remained faithful when creation failed. Love would hold Jesus to the cross and love would raise Him from the grave. It is love that reminds us we are conquerors of even death for it is God that is love. What a blessing it is to live in a community that responds to storms with love.

Burial followed in Friona Cemetery. Arrangements were entrusted to Parkside Chapel Funeral Home. Betty Louise joined her Lord and Savior on May 28, 2014.

Betty Louise McLellan was born in Friona, Texas on September 19, 1931. On August 26, 1950, Betty Louise married Lloyd Rector and they were married for 60 years. Lloyd was also from Friona and they lived the farm life to the fullest.

She was preceded in death by her husband Lloyd, her father Leo and mother Lillian McLellan, a baby sister Doris, and a brother Kenneth McLellan.

Betty is survived by three sons, Larry and wife Sharon, Rickey and wife Kathy both of Friona, Roy Don and wife Sherri of Pflugerville, Texas and one daughter Sheri Louise of Garland, Texas. Also 16 grandchildren, 38 great grandchildren, and two great-great-grandchildren, and one brother Joe McLellan and wife Loy of Friona.

Betty Louise was very much a busy lady. Over the years, she painted numerous paintings of all sorts. She made clocks out of saws, ostrich eggs, and yes even toilet lids just to name a few. Also for 16 years, she made cakes of all sorts including three and four layer wedding cakes. Her musical skills allowed her to play multiple instruments like piano, organ, accordion, trombone, and even the saw. She was quite an adventuress. There weren't very many things she wouldn't try once. She loved to bowl and over the years went to many national bowling tournaments with her teammates and even won a few. Betty Louise was a loving, nurturing mother, grandmother, and a very dear friend to all that knew her. She surely never met a stranger.

The family is requesting that memorials be sent to Backyard Ministries at Friona United Methodist Church, 301 E. 8th, or Friona Public Library 109 W 7th and Friona Museum.
