Vietnam launches offensive

Cambodian camps target of attack

NONG SAMET, Thailand (AP) — Backed by artillery and mortar fire, Vietnamese troops and tank units swept into the largest Cambodian resistance camp today, setting it afire and battling a guerrilla counterattack, Thai military and guerrilla officials said.

The Thai Foreign Ministry spokesman, Sawanit Kongsiri, described Vietnam's offensive — launched on the anniversary of its Dec. 25, 1978, invasion of Cambodia — as "cruel, savage and brutal." He said Hanoi's troops used artillery and tank guns against civilians, including children, at the Rithisen camp.

There were widely varying casualty figures. Thai military officers near the scene of the battle said 53 guerrillas had been killed and 47 wounded, while casualties among Rithisen's civilians were 63 killed and 87 wounded. Guerrilla leaders claimed far fewer casualties.

Some 61,000 Cambodian refugees who fled Rithisen on Tuesday watched from temporary shelters inside Thailand as huge columns of smoke rose today above their former homes.

Lia Ne, the camp guerrilla leader, said the Vietnamese had moved about 1,500 infantrymen into Rithisen, which had been defended by 3,500 to 4,000 front soldiers. The Vietnamese are backed by the Soviet Union; the guerrillas receive their arms from China.

He told newsmen the defenders of Rithisen had split up into groups of 20 to 30 soldiers and were counterattacking the Vietnamese. Attack page 2-A

Postal workers get raise

Staff and wire reports
Most Postal Service workers in Big Spring and across the nation will receive 2.7 percent annual raises plus cost-of-living hikes over the next three years, but new postal employees face lower starting salaries under a arbitration ruling.

"We don't agree with all parts of" the ruling, but it's a vast improvement over the original offer from the Postal Service, said Vincent R. Sombrotto, president of the National Association of Letter Carriers.

Pearl Shifflett, president of the Maintenance and Clerical Association of the American Postal Workers Union in Big Spring, said: "The raise will be all right if we don't lose any benefits."

Mrs. Shifflett said salary increases of this type usually include losses on hospital benefits or holiday and sick time periods.

"We're not happy about new employees starting on a lower pay rate," Mrs. Shifflett said.

"I must tell you, I would have liked more," added Moe Biller, national head of the American Postal Workers Union, "but that is the art of compromise and we accept this as a fair effort."

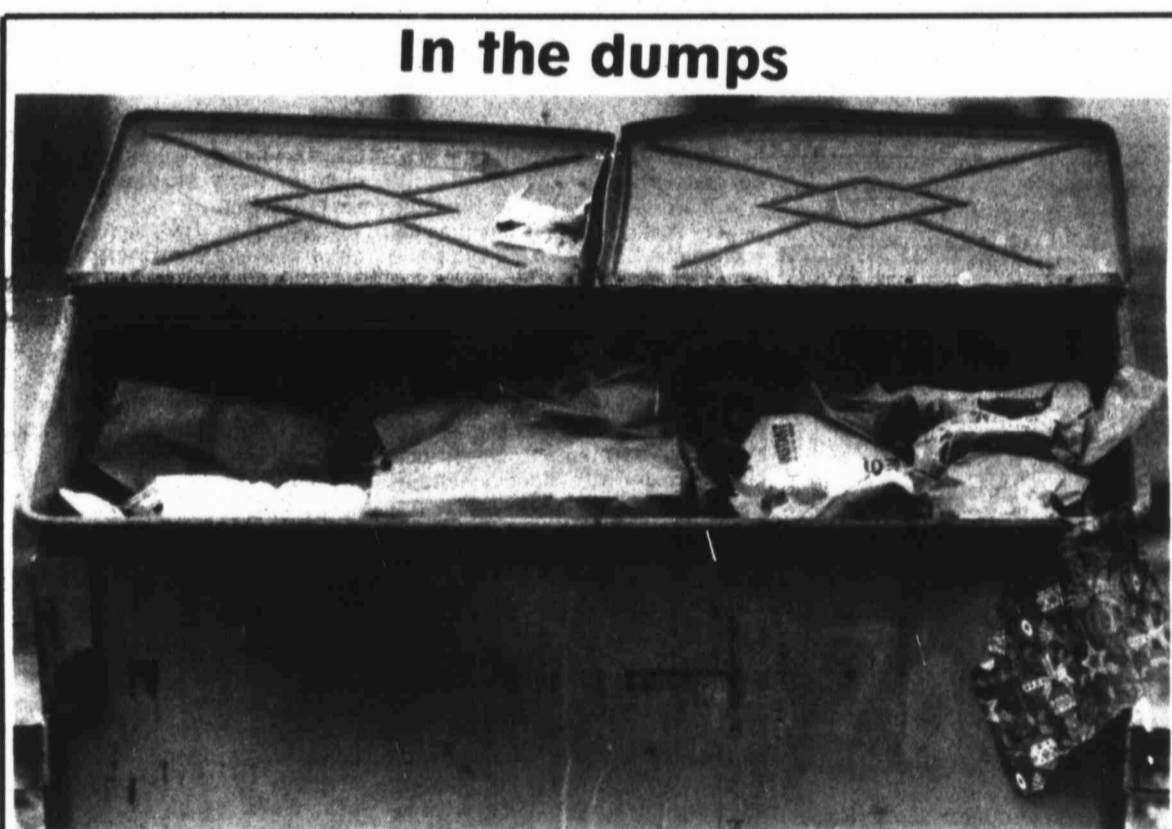

Postmaster General William F. Bolger issued a statement warning that the pay increases may affect postal rates in the future.

First-class postage rises to 22 cents on Feb. 17, and Bolger had said he wanted to hold that rate in place for several years.

Now, with the wage ruling, that goal may be "extremely difficult" under the wage ruling, he said.

The arbitration decision ends an impasse that began when the postal workers' contract expired July 20.

Talks collapsed when the previous three-year contract expired. Raise page 2-A

Christmas cold warms up holiday spirits

By CAROL BALDWIN
Staff Writer

It began to feel a lot like Christmas Tuesday as cold temperatures and freezing drizzle moved into the West Texas area and settled in for the holiday.

Late Christmas night, scattered drizzle turned into freezing rain and Big Spring streets became icy. The official rainfall count at the Big Spring U.S. Field Station for Christmas Day was .01 of an inch.

Traveler's advisories were posted for the West Texas area today, and conditions were made especially hazardous this morning as a heavy fog moved into the area. By mid morning, however, the fog had begun to break up around the area.

The forecast is calling for the chilly weather and drizzle to continue through today. Big Spring has a 20 percent chance of rain this afternoon. Highs will reach to near 50 degrees and winds are forecast to be southeasterly, 10 to 20 miles per hour.

By tonight, lows should fall to the low 30s and winds will be southeasterly, 5 to 15 miles per hour.

Thursday's forecast is calling for highs near 60 degrees. A 20 percent chance of rain remains in Thursday's picture and winds will be southerly, 10 to 20 miles per hour.

Partly cloudy conditions are forecast to remain in West Texas through Saturday.

The cold weather was the result of a dome of moist air which trapped a shallow layer of cold air over the area, according to reports from the National Weather Service.

OPEC facing quotas

ABU DHABI, United Arab Emirates (AP) — Kuwait's oil minister, Sheik Ali Khalifa Al-Sabah, today warned of further declines in oil prices if OPEC fails to agree on a plan to enforce its price and production quotas.

The warning came on the eve of the resumption of the regular year-end meeting of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, which was recessed last Friday to allow oil ministers to consult their heads of state about the enforcement proposal.

In an interview with the United Arab Emirates news agency WAM, Sheik Ali also warned Norway and Britain, which are not OPEC members, against further reductions in their oil prices. Such price-cutting, he said, would lead to consequences which the two North Sea oil producers "themselves would not be able to bear."

Sheik Ali and Saudi Arabia's oil minister, Sheik Ahmed Zaki Yamani, were both in Abu Dhabi for consultations with officials of the United Arab Emirates before returning to Geneva, Switzerland, for the OPEC session.

Sheik Ali said he was confident that the 13-nation organization would agree to create a policing agency "to protect OPEC from itself" because the other options were unacceptable.

Without restoring credibility by sticking to its quotas, he said, OPEC member states would go for individual gains and unilateral production increases, leading to a collapse of prices on the market "which no amount of increased production will compensate."

OPEC has been trying to defend its official prices with a production cutback, but has been hindered by cheating on quotas from within its. OPEC page 2-A

Ho, ho, ho. It's tax time again

WASHINGTON (AP) — Uncle Sam's annual post-Christmas greetings will start on their way today with the mailing of more than 92 million income tax forms.

While it may seem Scrooge-like to get a reminder of one of life's two inevitables during the holiday season, the Internal Revenue Service says the period right after Christmas is the best time to mail out the forms.

In that way, the 92.4 million IRS packages don't get caught up in the mailing crush before Christmas. But the forms are still sent in time to give early-bird filers a head start on doing their 1984 returns.

Since about four-fifths of all taxpayers get a refund, there is a strong incentive to file well in advance of the April 15 deadline, the IRS points out.

The bundles of 1984 forms have been at mail distribution centers for several days, but the Postal Service had instructions not to begin delivering them until today.

"It's traditional that we mail them out the day after Christmas and generally most taxpayers get them some time in the week after Christmas," said Larry Batdorf, an IRS spokesman.

While proposals to scrap the current tax system in favor of a simplified tax with lower rates and fewer deductions will be hotly debated in the new year, none of the discussion will have any impact on taxes due this April.

In fact, taxpayers will notice few changes in the 1984 forms from those mailed last year. The one change with the biggest impact — the final stage of the 1981 tax cuts — won't be apparent from looking at the forms at all.

The cut, which averages about 5 percent below the 1983 tax rates, is already built into the tax tables and tax-rate schedules that taxpayers will use to calculate how much they owe.

One change that will be noticed involves Social Security recipients, who for the first time may have to pay taxes on part of their benefits.

In general, up to half of Social Security benefits will be taxable.

Letter carrier fired after mailing X-mas cards

BRIGHTON, Mich. (AP) — A letter carrier who deposited unstamped Christmas cards in his customers' mailboxes as he had done for seven years was "hung without a trial" by officials who fired him after refusing the man's offer of payment, his wife says.

Marie DePlanche of Pinckney donned a Santa Claus outfit and picketed the post office where her husband, Frank, worked after the 29-year veteran of the postal service was informed he would be without a job after Jan. 9.

Mrs. DePlanche said the incident also landed her husband in the hospital for the holiday, suffering the effects of stress.

DePlanche left a Christmas card last week in each of about 545 mailboxes on his route, just as he'd done the past seven years, she said.

This time, postal officials say someone complained, and DePlanche was confronted about the cards Thursday by the postmaster and two inspectors, she said. "They won't say who complained. We don't even know if it's real. We've been hung without a trial."

Emil Engel, Brighton postmaster, declined to comment on the case.

"Anything I could say would hurt the employee," Engel said in a telephone interview from his home. "I think any comment at all about firing is premature because the employee has his rights under the grievance and arbitration procedure."

Mrs. DePlanche said her husband admitted placing the cards in the boxes and offered to pay the postage, but the officials wouldn't accept the money.

She said she was so angry that she donned a Santa Claus suit and sandwich sign Monday and picketed the Brighton Post Office.

The sign read: "Merry Christmas. My husband was fired from this post office Saturday for giving his customers a Christmas card. He's been a mailman for 29 years. Yes Virginia, there really is a Scrooge. Happy holidays." She said she was picketing when she was told that her 47-year-old husband was hospitalized for a suspected heart problem.

"I have no doubt it's because of (the firing)," Mrs. DePlanche said. "I have a happy-go-lucky Mr. Wonderful. Nothing bothers him."

But she said the dismissal notice "has destroyed his life. His retirement, his pension, is gone."

Mrs. DePlanche said her husband has been harassed since he filed for workers' compensation benefits in 1980 after missing 13 months of work with a pinched nerve.

"This is my personal opinion," she said. "I've seen the changes since (the claim was filed)."

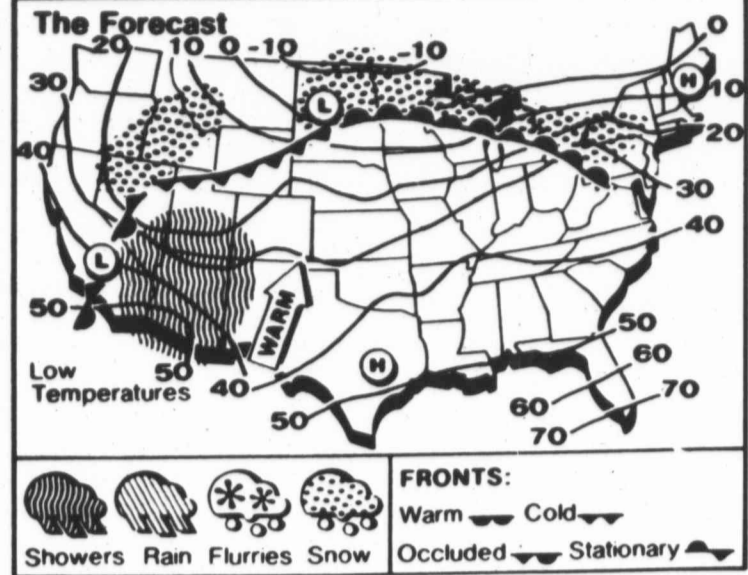

Mrs. DePlanche said union representatives were appealing the firing and that she felt confident that her husband would be vindicated. "This is America and I can't believe American citizens will stand by and let something so ridiculous and unjust happen," she said.

"He didn't realize he committed a crime that would ruin his life," Mrs. DePlanche said. "His intentions were only the best. He likes to communicate with his customers."

Mrs. DePlanche said her husband began feeling a tightness in his chest Monday morning. A doctor discovered an irregular heartbeat.

After more than a day in the cardiac care unit at McPherson Community Health Center in Howell, he was moved to a semi-private room Tuesday afternoon and was in good condition, said a nursing supervisor.

Weather

Local

Forecast for tonight calls for lows in the upper 20s with winds southeasterly less than 10 miles per hour. A travelers advisory will be in effect due to freezing drizzle. Tomorrow will be cloudy and warmer with highs in the low 50s. Winds will be southeasterly to southerly 10 to 20 miles per hour.

State

By The Associated Press
A blanket of low clouds and fog covered the Lone Star state early today as a dome of moist Gulf air enveloped a shallow layer of colder air trapped at the surface.

The dense fog reduced visibilities to near zero in some locations and travelers advisories were in effect for most of the Central and West Central portions of Texas, the National Weather Service said.

Meanwhile, patches of drizzle fell over the southern half of the state with occasional rain reported along the Rio Grande near Laredo. Only extreme West Texas escaped the dismal weather conditions, with just scattered high-level cloudiness noted west of the Pecos.

Light northerly winds were common across the eastern half of the state, while light southeasterly breezes had returned to most of West Texas.

Temperatures were in the low to mid 30s over the High Plains and western sections of North Texas, warming to the mid 60s in extreme South Texas.

Temperature extremes at 4 a.m. ranged from 33 degrees at Lubbock, Abilene and Midland to 64 degrees at Brownsville.

Dense fog prompted forecasters to issue a travelers advisory early today in the Hill Country, the Edwards Plateau, the Permian Basin and the Concho Valley.

Otherwise, the forecast calls for mostly cloudy skies and occasional drizzle statewide Thursday.

piled between the postal service, the 290,000-member American Postal Workers Union and the 195,000-member National Association of Letter Carriers.

Normally, arbitration panels consist of three members — a neutral chairman and one representative each from labor and management. In this case, the panel was expanded to five so each union could be represented.

Peter G. Nash, a Washington lawyer who represented the Postal Service in the arbitration panel, said the compromise was "the best of a bunch of undesirable options."

Theodore W. Kheel, however, a New York lawyer who represented postal workers on the panel, concluded that the final decision "falls within the range of reasonable solutions."

The new pay will be retroactive to July 20 except for provisions lowering starting pay, which take effect Jan. 18. Workers have remained on the job at their former rates of pay during the negotiations.

In addition to the 2.7 percent per year wage hike, the panel granted workers Martin Luther King's Birthday as a 10th paid holiday and continued current provisions.

The Vietnamese launched their attack Tuesday, and Bun Soi, a minister of the Khmer People's National Liberation Front, said by telephone from near Rithisen: "The condition is tense and serious there."

Bun Soi claimed early today that 10 front guerrillas had been killed and 14 wounded since the fighting began.

The International Committee of the Red Cross, which runs emergency medical service at the frontier, said its doctors were treating wounded civilians from four camps.

Youth in coma after shooting

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A 3-year-old girl shot in the head during a grocery store robbery last week remained in critical condition today, officials at Santa Rosa Hospital said.

Police said they have no suspects yet in the Dec. 17 wounding of Mahogany White, shot during a holdup at an H.E.B. grocery store. The child, who is in a coma, was visited on Christmas Day by Mayor Henry Cisneros.

"She seems to be doing a little better," Cisneros told reporters outside the intensive care unit at the hospital.

"Her body is responding. Now it's just a matter of time to see if she wakes up," he said. Officials said a fragment of a .38-caliber bullet remains lodged near the base of her brain.

Police are looking for two men who brandished a handgun and a shotgun during the early morning holdup at the grocery store.

The child was at the store with her mother Joan White, who has kept a vigil at her daughter's side at the hospital since the shooting. No one else was hurt in the robbery.

Two die in copter crash

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. — The bodies of two people who died in a helicopter crash were so mutilated that investigators could not determine whether they were male or female, police said.

Weather conditions were good Tuesday afternoon and did not appear to be a factor in the crash of the helicopter in a farm field just outside this north Alabama city, said John Greenhaw, a state police spokesman.

He said the bodies were unrecognizable as to sex.

Greenhaw said the helicopter's point of origin and destination were not immediately known. The Federal Aviation Administration was investigating the crash, he said.

Smokeout gains ground

NEW YORK — The 1984 Great American Smokeout inspired more than a third of the nation's smokers — some 20 million people — to forgo smoking or to puff fewer cigarettes than usual during the 24-hour campaign, according to the American Cancer Society.

A Gallup Organization telephone survey of 1,291 adults contacted during the five days following the Nov. 15 event showed that about 3 million smokers were able to keep off cigarettes as much as five days after the smokeout, the society said on Tuesday.

50 protest at center

ARCADIA, Calif. — More than 50 people who protested outside the home of the medical director of a research center that experiments with animals disturbed neighbors but caused no other problems, police said.

The demonstration Tuesday by a group calling itself Students United Protecting Research on Sentient Subjects was directed at Charles Mittman, director of the City of Hope National Medical Center in Duarte.

On Dec. 9, animal rights activists broke into the center, stole 100 research animals, splashed red paint on operating room tables and scrawled slogans on wall. Officials said $500,000 in cancer and other research was disrupted by the raid.

Break floods highway

MOJAVE, Calif. — A break in an aqueduct providing water to Los Angeles posed no threat to the city's water supply but flooded a three-mile stretch of California 14 for an hour, a city spokeswoman said.

The cause of the break about 11 p.m. Monday 20 miles north of here was not known, said Elizabeth Wimmer, spokeswoman for the Los Angeles water and power department.

The aqueduct, opened in 1970, is the smaller of two that provide 80 percent of the city's water, carrying it from reservoirs on the eastern side of Sierra Nevada mountains.

The gift of Christmas

Americans share time, food with the needy

By The Associated Press

Americans demonstrated their "good will to men" on Christmas by giving freely of time, money, food and clothing to the nation's needy and by sharing with their families the joy of the holidays.

In Washington, President and Mrs. Reagan spent Christmas Day at the White House exchanging gifts before a festive dinner, joined by Mrs. Reagan's brother, Dr. Richard Davis, and his family and other guests. The Reagans' children were not on hand this year.

Artificial heart recipient William Schroeder, hospitalized in Louisville, Ky., since the implant a month ago, spent Christmas Day visiting with members of his family, who said Schroeder's "gift of life" was the best present they could have had.

In Madison, Wis., Marine Corps veteran Thomas F. Miller, director of the Wisconsin Vietnam Veterans Memorial Project Inc., donned battle dress, left his family and stood vigil in the statehouse in memory of servicemen missing from the Vietnam War.

"The veterans should not be forgotten," said Miller, 43. "The war should not be forgotten. We don't want our children to get involved in such a war."

Volunteers in Los Angeles rolled shopping carts piled with donated clothing to two blue-and-white tents and a tepee next to City Hall, where about 300 homeless people spent Christmas Eve and Christmas.

"God bless these people, God bless these people," a grizzled Freddy Johns, 64, said of the tent city organizers as he held a sandwich in each hand. "This is heaven to me."

In Chicago, the Little Brothers of the Poor filled the LaCanasta Restaurant with elderly diners for the third annual Christmas dinner given by owner Joe Garcia.

"You look around, you see the faces, you know what Christmas is for," Garcia said. "Some of these people only see each other once a year, and that's here. Today, at least, they have someone to talk to, someone to share with."

Anne Ruedig, who with her husband, Paul, and three children helped serve dinner while a violinist and accordionist played, said, "This is a chance for us to return some of that to people who have less. It makes our Christmas special, too."

In Oklahoma City, 6,000 people were served more than a ton of turkey and trimmings at the Red Andrews Christmas Dinner, named after a state legislator who started it 40 years ago as a party for the needy. Friends and relatives have carried on the tradition since Andrews' death in 1977.

At Glide Memorial Church in San Francisco, 11 of the city's best restaurants threw a candlelight Christmas Eve feast for the needy — complete with a roaming violinist. The restaurants donated $12,000 worth of turkey, barbecued ribs, smoked chicken and pasta salad for the more than 3,000 guests.

Worshippers at the Brown Grove Baptist Church in Richmond, Va., took the nearly $1,000 they would have spent on gifts for their pastor, the Rev. Samuel Robinson, and instead set it aside for African drought victims at his request.

Rita Swiener spent the day distributing to St. Louis' needy children the $2,500 in gifts she spent the year collecting.

Minister celebrates Christmas in jail

By The Associated Press
PITTSBURGH (AP) — Lutheran minister D. Douglas Roth spent Christmas behind bars for refusing to step down from his pulpit, while his supporters held a candlelight prayer service Tuesday evening outside Allegheny County Jail.

"If Doug couldn't be at the church to give services, we brought services to him," said Dale Wor-ton, an unemployed steelworker. He was among about four dozen people who gathered in 20-degree temperatures on the jail steps to listen to Bible readings and sing Christmas carols.

"This was church tonight," Wor-ton said. "We did get a report tonight that (Roth) could hear what was going on."

Roth, 33, has been held at the jail for six weeks since defying a court order that he step down as pastor of the Trinity Lutheran Church in nearby Clairton.

"We feel he's been accused unjustly and shouldn't be in the jail where criminals go," said one man, laid off from the Dravo Corp.'s barge-building operation, who came to the open-air service with his wife and two children. The man, who declined to give his name, said he was not a Trinity Lutheran member but wanted to show his support for Roth.

Fellow Lutheran minister William Rex, who led the service, urged working people to "band together under Christ's banner."

"Tonight there is a man who is sitting here unjustly punished for preaching the word of God," he said. "I believe I can speak for Doug, he will never stop. His courage is growing day by day."

A monument to cooler heads

It's hard to believe that the Washington Monument is a century old, for the monument seems, for better and worse, a far more contemporary work. Although its obelisk shape is Egyptian in inspiration, its appearance is curiously modern, almost as if it were a WPA project. There are none of the allusions to the Greeks and Romans that characterize so much of the heroic building in our nation's capital. Indeed, the only illusion apparent to most sightseers is to the striking — and soulless — simplicities of geometry. One can fairly wonder what aspect of the first president's character is captured in a 555-foot-high marble obelisk.

Yet geometry has its own allure, especially when contrasted with the Washington Monument that almost was. The initial plan, proposed 50 years earlier, called for a taller obelisk surrounded at its base by a large Greek Doric Pantheon, topped like some monstrous birthday cake by a statue of the Father of Our Country standing in a horse-drawn chariot.

Cooler heads — and financial exigencies — eventually prevailed. A monumental mistake was averted and the unadorned obelisk erected in its stead. When it opened, the Washington Monument was the world's tallest building, a distinction it enjoyed only briefly. But another distinction has been more long-lived: The monument, proposed in the 1830s at a cost of $1 million, was completed a half-century later at just slightly over its original budget.

Defense solid as cement

"Send Secretary of Defense Weinberger in," President Reagan told his appointment secretary.

Two hefty Marines carried Weinberger horizontally into the Oval Office.

"Why can't he walk?" the president asked his aide.

"He heard you wanted to talk to him about cutting his budget, so last week he put his feet in cement."

The Marines placed Weinberger upright in front of the president's desk.

"Would you care to sit down, Cap?" the president asked.

Weinberger said, "I'll stand. It's more comfortable."

"Have you figured out yet where you can cut the defense budget?"

"It's impossible. We're down to a bare bones $330 billion. There isn't an ounce of fat in it."

"We're not asking you to cut anything, Cap. How about a slowdown in weapons procurement until we get our fiscal house in order?"

"I can't do it. Everything in the pipeline is absolutely necessary to guarantee the defense of this country."

"What about cancelling a few of the multi-billion dollar weapons systems that don't work?" the president suggested. "We could make some savings there."

"We need the weapons that don't work as bargaining chips for the arms talks, so we don't have to give up our weapons that do work. I won't stop building lemons until we hammer out a deal in Geneva."

"I see your point," the president said. "Perhaps we could re-examine our defense contracts. Maybe we're paying too much for what we're getting."

"We've reduced the cost of an Air Force coffeepot from $7,900 to $4,500. I can't buy one for any less without endangering the nation's drip-grind capability."

"Cap, I don't want to drop the defense budget any more than you do. But Congress won't give us our cuts in human services if we don't come up with some slashes in Pentagon spending. Just throw $10 billion into the deficit pot to show good faith. You'll never miss it, and then we can justify doing away with all the school lunch programs."

"Mr. President, it's true I could possibly find $10 billion stuck away somewhere that I don't need. But if I agree to give it back I'd be setting a precedent. I don't want Congress coming to me every time they're looking for a few bucks to save a day-care program."

"I'm aware you're an easy target for the bleeding hearts, Cap. But you have to understand that if you don't come up with ways of trimming the defense budget, Congress will. We could lose the MX missile, the B-1, and the Star Wars program. Tell me this. If you won't go for cuts, will you go for a freeze?"

"A freeze of what?"

"Will you stay with what you've got now for a year?"

"I can't do that, Mr. President. Do you know what hammers and screwdrivers cost these days? The most I can agree to is an 11 percent increase over last year, and I'm doing this without checking with the Joint Chiefs of Staff."

"How can I okay an increase for you, when I'm asking everyone else in the country to take dramatic cuts?" the president said.

"That's your problem. My job is to see that this country is protected, and I can't do it if your budget people keep nickel and diming me to death."

"All right," the president said. "I'll have to make some deeper domestic cuts."

The president pushed a button and the two U.S. Marine guards came in and picked up Weinberger to carry him out. "I'd see you to the door, Cap, but I've got my feet in cement on raising taxes, so I can't move any better than you can."

The Budget Freeze

A real dirty mess in Maine

WASHINGTON — Tom Dunn is a big, tough-looking man, a 48-year-old former Army intelligence officer and Baltimore cop who has ignited a forest fire of controversy in Maine with his self-appointed campaign as a citizens' rights advocate.

Depending on whom you believe, Dunn is either a champion of the little guy or a self-promoting crackpot.

Even the torching of his house five years ago is the subject of controversy. Some officials in Maine say they think Dunn set the fire himself to get publicity. They view with equal suspicion his report a year later that he was shot twice by a pair of assailants. Neither the arson nor the shooting has been solved.

Far from being silenced by the official hostility and skepticism, Dunn continues his crusade with unabated zeal. Last month, he made a respectable showing in his losing race for sheriff of Kennebec County, which includes the state capital of Augusta.

Dunn told my associate Corky Johnson his troubles began in the mid-1970s, when he volunteered to look into complaints from county residents that they had been bilked in real-estate transactions. They came to him, he said, because they knew his background as an investigator.

Dunn investigated and concluded that perhaps two dozen persons had been unfairly treated. He forwarded his findings to the state attorney general. According to accounts by the people Dunn tried to help, the state real-estate commission also referred some of the cases to Maine's attorney general for action.

Former state Assistant Attorney General Cheryl Harrington said her office didn't have enough evidence for a prosecution. She also said Dunn's material was not reviewed.

But in a report filed by a state consumer rights group, three independent experts agreed that Dunn's charges deserved "more thorough investigation."

The real-estate cases were only the start. Dunn soon began rattling even bigger cages by charging that state and federal funds may be misused by the state transportation department.

Documents and other sources support many of Dunn's charges that Maine's transportation department was engaging in at least some questionable practices.

For example, sources in the department told my reporter that bridges were built on roads that led only to the front doors of local officials or onto land owned by big timber companies.

A former state representative said that when he tried to blow the whistle on some dubious bridge constructions, the windows of his business were shot out. One bridge, the former representative said, led directly to a lumber company's land — and no where else. It cost the taxpayers $350,000. "It is a real dirty mess up here," he said.

There were other reports of questionable practices in the department, including charges of overpayment to favored employees, and the use of department fuel and equipment for employees' personal benefit.

While investigating the real-estate and transportation department charges, Dunn says he discovered the screws on his car's carburetor had been loosened, posing the risk of explosion. He also says the windows of his pickup truck were shot out. Then the attic of his home burst into flames in what the state fire marshal said was a case of arson. A year later, Dunn was shot in the back and neck.

Dunn's attorney David Crook said he has been told by police that Dunn shot himself. But state police investigators say that claim is "reckless." Crook said Dunn's supporters "contain every nut in the state," and he claimed that a check with Baltimore police would reveal that Dunn was fired for mental disability.

Baltimore records, however, show that Dunn was retired because of duty-related back injuries. They clearly indicate he had no mental problem.

STRICTLY PERSONAL: People sometimes ask about Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., the outspoken super-conservative: "Is he really so crass that he ignores the blood on the hands of right-wing murderers in Central America?"

The answer is: of course not. But he does give the impression that he is willing to forgive an awful lot if he believes someone is solidly anti-communist.

I once grilled the senator about the widespread allegations of "death squad" atrocities by the Salvadoran rightists he supports. It soon became evident that Helms follows the rule that "the enemy of my enemy is my friend." The misgivings he may have about his right-wing friends in Central America are balanced by his concern that they might be replaced by communist regimes.

In a private letter to President Reagan early this year, Helms inveighed against the kind of violence that has plagued the region "wherever it happens and regardless of who is responsible for it."

Right church for the kids

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: My husband and I come from different religious backgrounds. It has never been much of a problem to us, but now we have children and we disagree about what we should do with them concerning church. How should we resolve this? — Mrs. V.M.

DEAR MRS. V.M.: Let me suggest that you and your husband should begin with an honest examination of your own lives and your own spiritual commitment. Are you committed to your churches or denominations just because you grew up in them and it has been a tradition for you to go to a certain church? Or have you both committed — definitely, clearly committed — your lives to Jesus Christ as your personal lord and savior? As a youth, I grew up in a church and was active in it — although much of it was because of the insistence of my parents. But the time came when I accepted Jesus Christ personally. Then church no longer was a matter of habit, but Christ became the center of my life. If you have never yielded to Christ, invite him into your hearts right now.

Then seek a church for your children — and for yourselves — where the Bible is taught and Christ is proclaimed. Your concern, in other words, should be for the spiritual welfare and growth of your children — as well as your own spiritual growth. Seek the church that will help them come to know and love Christ.

In addition, seek to help your children spiritually at home. Don't leave their spiritual growth to the church alone. They should see that Christ makes a difference in your lives. Teach them to pray, and read the Bible with them also. The Bible says, "Love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your strength ... Impress them on your children. Talk about them when you sit at home and when you walk along the road, when you lie down and when you get up." (Deuteronomy 6:5,7)

'85 may be leaner for scientific research

By WARREN E. LEARY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Science may not find the federal government, which funds almost half of the research and development in the United States each year, as generous in the coming years as in the past.

The nation's science and technology enterprises, which fuel future hopes and advances in everything from medicine to business, are expected to face both new budgetary and organizational challenges in 1985.

There are proposals afoot to reorganize federal scientific efforts, perhaps going as far as creating a new Cabinet position that would consolidate a number of well-known agencies and departments.

During the Reagan administration's last term, support for research — non-military as well as military — generally increased while other domestic programs were either pared or chopped in attempts to hold down federal spending.

But with pressure mounting for spending cuts and budget freezes to reduce the huge federal deficit, insiders say the administration's past generosity to research may be curtailed somewhat.

Dr. George A. Keyworth, II, President Reagan's science adviser, says the administration will continue to give priority to research, more applied technology and cooperation with private industry as a key to revitalizing American competitiveness with the rest of the world.

"If you've followed the development and implementation of science and technology policy during the Reagan administration, they you already know what the main themes of science policy would be in a second Reagan administration," Keyworth said recently.

These themes include, he said, continued growth in supporting basic research; more cooperative research between the government or universities and private industry; less involvement of the government in programs to develop existing technology; and more research on issues of national security, including the administration's "Star Wars" antimissile defense proposal.

But even with these goals, Keyworth has not said if the government will be able to continue to invest more than $50 billion a year into all kinds of research and development at a time when budget-cutters are trying to whittle billions of dollars from the projected deficit.

Aside from money, Congress and scientists also may be debating some major organizational changes in federal research, including a proposal for a presidential commission to create a Department of Science and Technology.

The Commission on Industrial Competitiveness recently decided to make establishing the new department one of its chief recommendations when it reports to Reagan in January.

The group, mostly made up of chief executives of major corporations, suggests including almost all civilian research agencies and programs, except for the Agriculture Department, under one department with an annual budget of about $15 billion.

The proposed department would include the National Science Foundation, the National Institutes of Health, the National Bureau of Standards, the U.S. Geological Survey, the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, and much of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the Energy Department.

Success of the proposal, which has the support of Keyworth and some White House aides, would largely depend upon getting the enthusiastic backing of the president and key congressional committees which oversee scientific agencies.

The White House Office of Management and Budget is said to be reluctant to create another Cabinet department and some heads of the agencies involved are also known to be cool to the idea.

Proponents say having all research under one department would assure better coordination of programs and improved responsiveness to policy directives. Opponents say such a move would diminish the importance of certain agencies and decrease the influence of outside supporters of others, such as the lobby groups who constantly get budget increases for the National Institutes of Health.

Probe continues into fatal plane crash

MARBLE FALLS (AP) — Investigators were working to determine what caused the twin-engine plane belonging to Texas rancher-oilman Clinton Manges to crash and explode in a Hill Country ranch, killing the pilot of the aircraft.

The victim, whose body was burned beyond recognition, was identified as Manges' pilot, Ray McClellan, 50, of Horseshoe Bay in Llano County, said Department of Public Safety spokesman Larry Todd.

Earlier, speculation mounted that the victim may have been Manges. But his wife, Ruth, told the Associated Press her husband was alive.

"We're just glad to report it's not Clinton. He's fine. He called me," Mrs. Manges said early today.

Malou Manges, 20, said she talked to her father by telephone from Houston almost four hours after accident.

The twin-engine Cessna Conquest crashed and exploded at about 8:20 p.m. Tuesday night at the T.P. Ranch northwest of Austin, Todd said.

Todd said the 10-passenger plane was identified as belonging to Manges by the craft's tail number, which is N441CM. He said it was registered to the Clinton Manges Oil and Refining Co. of Austin.

Manges is a principal owner of the San Antonio Gunslingers of the United States Football League and he has ranching, banking and oil interests in South Texas.

The foreman of the ranch where the plane went down heard the plane overhead and thought it was flying too low, said Llano County Constable Tom Hall.

"He said he knew it sounded too low. He saw the glow on impact, an orange glow under the fog," said Hall.

The plane came to a stop near a small clump of oak trees after skidding some 300 yards, Hall said. The site of the crash is about 1/4 of a mile from the airport in Horseshoe Bay in Llano County.

Hall said there was no evidence to indicate there was more than one person in the plane when it crashed. He said the body, which was found in the cockpit, was "extremely burned."

At the time of the crash, the area was covered by heavy fog and drizzle, making visibility very difficult, Hall said.

The only thing left of the left side of the plane was "some floor, a bunch of ash and some scrap," Hall said.

Asked if there was any speculation as to what caused the crash, Hall said: "No. There are sure as hell not any instruments left to read."

The right wing was almost completely severed from aircraft, which is trimmed in black and blue.

The Federal Aviation Administration was to conduct an investigation at the site today, Hall said.

Traffic death toll hits 40 for state

By The Associated Press
Forty people died on Texas highways during the four-day Christmas holiday weekend, and authorities say that number could rise once a final tally is prepared today.

The 102-hour holiday traffic death count began at 6 p.m. CST Friday and ended at midnight Tuesday. Last year, 34 people died during a 78-hour Christmas holiday period, and the DPS had estimated 53 would die on Texas highways this Christmas.

"We're just hopeful we'll be under the estimate of 53," DPS spokesman Larry Todd said early this morning. "There was such strong publicity that maybe some motorists got the message and stayed sober and slowed down."

Todd said DPS officials will finish compiling their tally late this morning.

Among the latest reports in the death count:

Wilford P. Lehman, 64, of Alvin was killed at 3:55 p.m. Christmas Day in a head-on collision one mile northwest of Copeland on Farm Road 1660 in Williamson County.

Sotero Sanchez Gonzales, 21, of Richmond died at 11:40 p.m. Monday after his motorcycle ran off a roadway about a half-mile south of Crabb in Fort Bend County.

Randy DeLeon, 1, died Tuesday from head injuries he suffered on Christmas Eve in a two-vehicle accident in El Paso.

Two Midland men were killed and three other people were hospitalized from a head-on accident between two vehicles on Christmas Eve about two miles southeast of Andrews at an intersection of two county roads.

Killed in the 6:18 p.m. accident Monday were William Lawrence Clark, 67, and Claude Milton Thompson, 62, both of Midland. They were passengers in separate vehicles.

Thelma M. Meador, 79, of Sweeny was killed shortly after 6 p.m. Monday when she was struck and killed by a vehicle as she walked home after checking her mail box, about eight miles northwest of West Columbia on Farm Road 1459 in Brazoria County.

Jack Sidney McMellon, 58, of Houston died early Tuesday from injuries suffered when the vehicle he was in was struck broadside by another vehicle at 7:10 p.m. Monday at an intersection in Harris County.

3 killed, 2 injured in airplane crash

BRACKETTVILLE (AP) — Three people were killed and two injured when a small Cessna aircraft crashed in heavy fog near the Mexico border today, authorities said.

The fog and rugged country hampered rescue efforts, officials with the Department of Public Safety and the U.S. Border Patrol said.

The border patrol dispatched a helicopter to assist DPS troopers at the crash scene in Kinney County, east of Del Rio.

DPS spokesman Larry Todd said authorities had not yet determined the plane's flight plan or the identity of the victims.

Bill Gibson, chief patrol agent for the Border Patrol in Del Rio, said the helicopter pilot had reported seeing two survivors at the scene.

"The Big Spring Health Fair is the most gratifying event I've ever worked on," says Barbara Holdampf, who has been the volunteer Fair chairman since it began three years ago. "Last year we did over 3000 free health screenings. You can see the benefits immediately." In 1981 Barbara became director of Associate Degree Nursing at Howard College, overseeing the college's one nursing program; in 1982 she moved into a newly created position as Director, Allied Health. Barbara now directs three Associate Degree Nursing programs, in Big Spring and extended campuses in Del Rio and Snyder; three LVN programs in Big Spring, Lamesa and San Angelo; the new Dental Hygiene and EMT/Paramedic Programs. "The health care community in Big Spring is tremendously supportive of each other and of the college," she says. Although she has moved into administration, Barbara works regularly as relief nursing supervisor at Malone and Hogan Hospital, enabling her students to see her as "a real nurse." # Texas developer planning city of kings

FORT WORTH (AP) — In a metropolis renowned for sprouting modernistic glass-and-steel towers almost overnight, an Egyptian-style city of pyramids may sound a bit odd.

But a real estate developer, an architect and an artist have announced plans to build in Tarrant County — probably north of Fort Worth — what they say will be the first modern pyramid city.

The project, to be called Valley of the Kings, will include four huge pyramids 30 stories to 40 stories tall, said Fred Tarrant, the project's developer.

"I want to build the safest, most beautiful, technically modern city in the world," Tarrant told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. "In order to get the safest city, the strongest building in the world is the pyramid."

Tarrant, chairman of UCB International Corp. in Garden Grove, Calif., said the project will cost between $10 billion and $20 billion and take seven years to complete.

"Many contemporary designs have come and gone but none have equaled the pyramid in sheer beauty," Tarrant said. "They have withstood the test of time architecturally."

He says he chose Tarrant County for his dream city because it bears his last name. And although he considered

Fred Tarrant

Dallas and Houston, he says he thought Fort Worth more suitable because it is behind the other cities in development.

He said he expects to buy the land for the project in 1985, and the centerpiece for the 640-acre city will be a 40-story pyramid that covers 13 acres at the base and will contain city offices, penthouses and nightclubs.

Three other pyramids will be nine acres at the base, 30 stories tall and will house condominiums, offices, stores and restaurants, he says.

Tarrant said the pyramids are being designed for centuries of use, and he therefore plans to follow the exact specifications of the Great Pyramid of Egypt, he says.

But instead of the more traditional stone, he says he will use steel, glass and concrete.

"A lot of people are in fear of their safety," Tarrant said. "This city will be free of nuclear attack. Like the nation's top officials have bomb shelters, I want to build shelters for everyone in my city."

Los Angeles architect Weston Whipple and her husband, artist Michael Whipple, drew up the preliminary plans and designed a brochure to be shown to those interested in investing in the city.

Mrs. Whipple said the city, which can house about 25,000 residents, will be self-sufficient.

"We will have our own water," she said. "We will create energy by storing the sun. We will be self-supporting. We will reprocess our garbage and trash."

In addition, Tarrant says residents will not be allowed to bring guns into the city and visitors will have to pay $20 just to enter.

Two 15-story sphinxes will be placed at each of the four entrances to the city and four 50-story obelisks will be built in each corner of the city, Mrs. Whipple said.

"We are building for the future," Mrs. Whipple said. "We are not reproducing what exists on the planet. Because what exists on earth is death. We want to save life."

Utilities file suit against PUC

TUEC seeking rule change on rate decrease

AUSTIN (AP) — Two Texas utilities have gone to court to seek a reversal in an October ruling of the state Public Utility Commission that not only denied them rate increases they sought but ordered them to implement even lower rates.

The Texas Utilities Electric Co. and the El Paso Electric Co. filed suits in state District Court in Travis County last week. The suits charge the PUC commission erred in their action — the first time in the commission's 8-year-old history that a rate decrease was ordered.

In both instances, a major reason for the cuts was that the commission reduced requests by the companies to include construction-related costs of nuclear power plants as part of the basis for figuring rates.

Texas Utilities, which had sought a $304 million increase in annual revenues, was ordered to cut its revenues by $9.8 million. El Paso Electric, which had sought a $36.3 million increase, was hit with a $16 million cut.

Texas Utilities serves 1.8 million customers in 91 Texas counties through its three operating companies, Dallas Power and Light Co., Texas Power and Light Co., and Texas Electric Service Co.

The firm owns 88 percent of the two-unit Comanche Peak nuclear project being built south of Fort Worth near Glen Rose. The project, which is nearing completion, is estimated to cost at least $3.9 billion.

El Paso Electric, which has the highest residential electric rates in the state, owns a 15.8 percent interest in the nearly completed Palo Verde nuclear power station in Arizona. The three-unit Palo Verde project is estimated to cost at least $5.9 billion.

In their suits, the companies asked a judge to reverse the commission orders and send the cases back to the commission for correction.

Friends say Stacy Keach in hospital

NEW YORK (AP) — Two friends of actor Stacy Keach, who is serving nine months in an English prison for taking $6,000 worth of cocaine into the country, say they fear he may have been roughed up in prison. But officials dismiss the report as "a figment of someone's imagination."

Pulitzer-prize winning playwright-actor Jason Miller and William McAndrew became concerned after they were turned away over the weekend by authorities at Reading Prison near London, where they believe Keach is being held, the New York Daily News reported today.

They were unsuccessful in a second attempt to contact Keach while posing as ministers, and were told only that the actor had been taken to the prison infirmary suffering from a bad back, Miller said.

"The official said that Keach had had a bad back before he came into prison, but he's never had back trouble in his life," he said.

McAndrew said he contacted a relative, reportedly close to prison officials, who told him Keach "had apparently been involved in some sort of a battle and had been placed in solitary confinement and then taken to the hospital," the News reported.

But a spokesman for the British Home Office, which supervises British prisons, said, "He is not ill. He hasn't been assaulted. He hasn't been in any fight. The story that's circulating is a figment of someone's imagination."

Asked why the friends weren't allowed to visit Keach, the spokesman, who declined to be identified, said:

"You can't simply knock at the door of a British prison and expect to see somebody. Visits are regulated. They are rationed. They take time to arrange and are allowed only when the prisoner wishes the visit and the governor approves."

Miller won the Pulitzer prize for "That Championship Season" and was nominated for an Academy award for "The Exorcist."

Men-of-war invade Florida coastline

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Invading swarms of poisonous Portuguese men-of-war jellyfish put a little sting into Christmas for nearly 1,500 south Florida sand, sun and surf enthusiasts, beach officials said.

None of the injuries reported to authorities on Tuesday was serious, but all were painful.

"Ninety percent were stung on their legs while they were in knee-deep water," said Fort Lauderdale lifeguard Chuck Salmon. "Most people who came for treatment didn't know what had happened to them. They thought something had bit them."

The heaviest concentration of complaints occurred on Hollywood Beach, where lifeguard Bob Fuer estimated that between 700 and 800 people asked lifeguards to help them relieve the pain.

More than 400 people were stung on Fort Lauderdale beaches, 300 to 400 on Miami Beach, about 100 in Palm Beach County, 30 on Pompano Beach and about 10 on Dania Beach, lifeguards said.

The Portuguese man-of-war is a bulbous jelly-like creature with tentacles that release a venom 10 times more powerful than an Asian cobra. But the stings seldom are serious because the dosages are small.

The creatures frequently wash ashore on Florida's east coast in large batches from December to May. The latest bunch floated into South Florida earlier this week, according to life guards.

Longtime Florida residents know enough to stay away from the grounded jelly mounds, which can sting for several days after they wash ashore, but the creatures floating in shallow surf are hard to avoid.

Exotic animal born after embryo frozen

CINCINNATI (AP) — A big-eared eland calf prances around its cage at the Cincinnati Zoo, never far from the protective glance of its mother.

To the zoo's visitors, it looks like any other young antelope — curious, wide-eyed and a little unsure of itself.

To the zoo's researchers, the birth of the calf was unique. It marked the first time the embryo of an exotic animal had been frozen, thawed and born of a surrogate mother.

The female eland spent a year and a half as an embryo, frozen in a thin, plastic straw at 383 degrees below zero as part of a historic experiment.

For several years, researchers had been preparing for the frozen-embryo birth as part of a plan to help the world's endangered species. The eland's birth, they said, proved that it's possible to help such animals multiply without taking them out of the wild.

"Because we are the guardians of these endangered species, the success of the frozen embryo transfer gives us great hope for the future of these animals," said Betty Dresser, a reproductive physiologist who is director of the Cincinnati Wildlife Research Federation.

Ms. Dresser, a faculty member at the UC College of Medicine, has directed the cooperative venture to help propagate endangered species.

"As long as we can preserve genetic material indefinitely, we know we can prevent the extinction of a species," she said.

The Cincinnati Wildlife Federation was formed in April 1981 by the Cincinnati Zoo, the Kings Island Wild Animal Habitat and the University of Cincinnati College of Medicine.

An eland calf is cleaned by its surrogate mother.

By then, researchers had been successful in implanting cattle embryos in surrogate mothers. But reproductive science was still in its infancy.

The researchers began collecting eland embryos, freezing some of them in 1982. Their first major breakthrough was the successful transfer in June 1983 of a fresh eland embryo without surgery, achieved by flushing the embryo from its natural mother for transplant to another eland.

Last May a 40-pound female bongo, a rare African antelope, was born to an eland which had been implanted with the bongo embryo. That birth, the first to occur in a rare animal species as the result of an embryo transplant, also demonstrated that the implantation procedure could allow females of common species to serve as surrogate mothers for the rare species.

The first implant of a frozen embryo resulted in a stillborn calf last December. But the birth of the 37-pound female eland last Oct. 15 marked a breakthrough that brought telephone calls from around the world. Zoo officials say they have narrowed to four — after a public contest — the choice of names for the newborn eland.

And last week the 119-year-old zoo, which is supported by membership donations and corporate grants, received its one-millionth visitor of 1984, the first time that many people have visited the zoo in a calendar year.

The embryo freezing uses a simple process that's been difficult to perfect. First, the water in the embryo is replaced with glycerol, a substance more suitable for freezing. The embryos are put in small straws and stored in liquid nitrogen in a process that takes about three hours.

"There were a lot of really technical details involved in getting to this point," Ms. Dresser said.

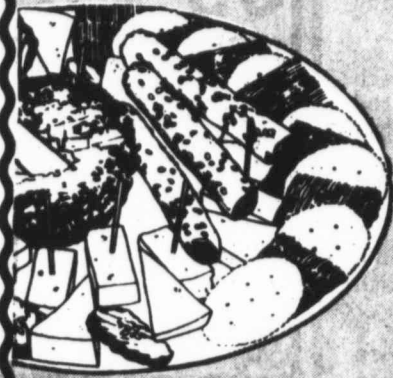

Often through simple trial-and-error, she said, researchers learned the best way to freeze and thaw an embryo without damaging it.

The freezing aspect is important because embryos can't be transported long distances unless frozen. Ms. Dresser hopes to go to Africa next year to collect embryos, freeze them and bring them back to the United States for implanting in surrogate mothers.

Crippled Texas, Iowa ready for bowl clash

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Coaches for both Texas and Iowa say they are delighted to be playing in the inaugural Freedom Bowl on Wednesday night, even if they will be fielding crippled teams.

Iowa's ground attack will have to do without running back Ronnie Harmon, who broke his leg in early November yet still finished second nationally in all-purpose running. Eight other Hawkeye starters were hurt late in the season, but Iowa Coach Hayden Fry said Monday that most of the others should be able to play.

Texas, likewise, is banged up at running back. Coach Fred Akers said he has chosen only one starter, junior Jerome Johnson.

"I hesitate to name the other running back because we don't know who it will be," he said. "It will be whoever is the healthiest."

The top quarterback for each team was hurt late in the season, but each will start Wednesday night.

Two-time All-Big Ten pick Chuck Long has recovered from the bruised knee he suffered against Wisconsin on Nov. 10, Fry said.

"He's on two good legs now," the Iowa coach. "That certainly makes a difference in his mobility and ability to set up and throw the ball accurately."

Akers said his quarterback, Todd Dodge, has recovered from the strained knee and bruised sternum that hampered his play late in the year.

Both teams accepted the bid to the game at Anaheim Stadium after poor finishes in the regular season eliminated them from conference championships.

"We thought all our hopes for a bowl game went out the window when we lost to Minnesota (in the Big Ten Conference finale)," said Fry, whose team was 1-2-1 in the final four games and finished 7-4-1. "The Freedom Bowl people were so kind to extend an invitation. We didn't have to spend much time thinking about it."

Similarly, Akers' team ended up 7-3-1 after a 6-0-1 start.

"We were honored in being asked," he said. "There's no such thing as a bad bowl game. Some have been around longer than others, but I've never been to a bad bowl game."

Both teams have been working out in the area only since Saturday because their players had final examinations all last week.

Akers said the layoff didn't seem to affect Texas' practices.

"The players are alert and they've been real sharp," he said.

Fry couldn't say the same about his team, which had to practice indoors until leaving Iowa.

"We're a little bit rusty and our execution's a little off," he said.

"But the thrill of seeing the sunshine and feeling the heat will have us ready by game time."

Like many first-year events, the Freedom Bowl has had its problems. The NCAA didn't approve the game until August and the executive director, Tom Starr, didn't begin work until Oct. 1. That meant the staff had only a few months to do what usually takes a year.

The game also became embroiled in controversy because Starr and his committee did not include Cal State Fullerton, which finished 11-1, on its original list of potential teams. In addition, ticket sales have been slow.

"Any endeavor in its first offering is going to be a little shaky with the exception of one thing — enthusiasm," said Akers. "And enthusiasm is one thing we've seen. You're getting some participation and that's going to grow and grow."

Fry predicted a bright future for the Freedom Bowl because of Southern California's weather and tourist attractions.

Takes 33-6 win

South dominates Blue-Gray contest

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Tennessee's Faud Reveiz said his four field goals in the 47th annual Blue-Gray Classic shows he can kick like a pro, whether the pros want him or not.

Reveiz's footwork and two touchdown receptions by Mississippi Valley's Jerry Rice highlighted a 484-yard offensive showing that gave the South a 33-6 victory over the North Tuesday.

Reveiz kicked field goals of 41, 43, 52 and 30 yards without using a tee for the first time in his career.

Pro kickers aren't allowed to use a tee, and some college kickers were never able to make the adjustment. But Reveiz said his first try "really helped my confidence."

Reveiz has yet to hear anything from professional scouts, but after Tuesday's "hitting performance," he said: "Even if I end up not being good enough, it won't be the end of my life."

Rice, the game's most valuable player and a member of The Associated Press Division I-AA All-America team, caught four passes for 101 yards, one a 60-yard touchdown throw from Alabama halfback Paul Ott Carruth.

The Gray, with Clemson's Mike Eppley and Vanderbilt's Kurt Page directing the offense, pounded out 233 yards rushing and 251 yards passing, while the South defenders held the Blue offense to seven yards on the ground and 193 passing.

The game's leading rusher was Alabama's Ricky Moore, who picked up 113 yards in 13 carries. North Carolina State's Joe McIntosh, the workhorse of the South rushing attack with 22 carries, added 78 yards.

The South took charge after Brigham Young's Lee Johnson booted a 39-yard field goal to give the Blues a 3-0 lead with 6:34 left in the first quarter.

Following an exchange of punts, Memphis State's Derrick Burroughs intercepted a pass by Pacific's Paul Berner and returned it 54 yards for a touchdown. The extra point by Reveiz gave the Gray a 7-3 lead midway through the first quarter.

Johnson made it 7-6 with a 59-yard field goal with 7:57 left in the first half, but the South responded by moving 70 yards for its second touchdown. Page finished the 10-play drive with a 14-yard touchdown pass to Rice.

Reveiz kicked his first two field goals in the third period for a 20-6 South advantage and, after the Carruth-Rice touchdown, added two more in the final period.

1984 Outland Trophy winner BRUCE SMITH of the Gray squad takes down PAUL BERNER of the Blue squad.

Chaminade plays giant-killer again

HONOLULU (AP) — Chaminade Coach Merv Lopes compares his unlikely giant-killers to a song that, at least for the moment, is No. 1 on the hit parade.

"Not too many people believe in Chaminade, not year in and year out," Lopes said. "One upset and then they tend to forget you, you disappear from their memory. It's like a hit song. So we just want to keep on reminding them we are for real."

Chaminade, a tiny NAIA school, surfaced for the third Christmas in a row to make believers of major-college basketball. After an upset of then-12th ranked Louisville in the first round, the Silverswords won their own Western Airlines Chaminade Basketball Classic on Tuesday with a 71-70 stunner over fourth-ranked Southern Methodist.

In 1982, Chaminade shocked the basketball world with an upset of then top-ranked Virginia, then followed a year later with an upset of Louisville. But Lopes said the win over previously unbeaten SMU may have been the biggest victory yet.

For a time Tuesday, it looked as if Chaminade's magic would finally fail. SMU held a 70-69 lead when Carl Wright blocked a shot by Chaminade's Mark Rodrigues with nine seconds to go.

After a scramble, Wright came up with the ball as the final second ticked off the clock. But Wright's foot was out of bounds and, because the buzzer hadn't sounded, the game officials gave Chaminade the opportunity to try a final shot.

That's all the chance Chaminade needed. As the buzzer sounded, Keith Whitney's 20-foot shot bounced on the rim and fell through for the winning points. It was the 11th victory in 15 games for the Silverswords.

"I let it go as soon as I touched it," said Whitney, who scored all but two of his 21 points in the second half. "I wanted to 'soft' it up to the basket... I knew it was going in when it bounced and then everyone came running at me."

"Nice baseline shot," said SMU Coach Dave Bliss, whose club lost for the first time in 10 games. "The referees were right all the way. The buzzer must go off. You have to play until that buzzer goes off because you don't know how much time is left."

Giants get another crack at S.F. 49ers

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — Casey Merrill says the best thing about beating the Los Angeles Rams is that it gives the New York Giants a chance to get even with the San Francisco 49ers.

The Giants, 9-7, will meet the 49ers, 15-1, for the second time this season on Saturday in a National Football Conference semifinal playoff game. San Francisco routed New York 31-10 in a nationally televised regular-season National Football League game earlier this year.

New York qualified for the rematch with the 49ers by defeating the Los Angeles Rams 16-13 in the NFC wild-card game on Sunday. The Rams had beaten the Giants 38-12 earlier in the season.

"Those were the two worst games we played this season," said Merrill, a 260-pound defensive end. "We were in every other game. Now we have avenged one loss and we're looking to avenge the other."

A Las Vegas oddsmaker already has made the Giants a 10-point underdog.

"We have the kind of team that responds well to adversity," said Merrill. "We are the type of team that can beat anyone on any given day. All we have to do is hit and play with emotion."

The Giants will work out this week at the University of California at Fresno.

King's 60 not enough for Knicks

NEW YORK (AP) — For Bernard King, a career-high 60-point performance was nothing to be excited about.

In the other NBA action Tuesday night, Philadelphia edged Detroit 109-108, Portland beat Golden State 106-97 and Cleveland stopped Atlanta 109-106.

With King scoring 40 of his points in the first half, the Knicks twice held leads of 16 points before finishing with a 64-54 advantage at halftime. But Micheal Ray Richardson, who scored 24 of his 36 points in the second half, rallied the Nets to their first road victory after eight straight losses.

Richardson gave the Nets their first lead of the game since the opening basket when he converted a three-point play to make it 106-105 with five minutes left in the game.

The Knicks reclaimed the lead, but then the Nets reeled off 12 straight points — four by Richardson — to put the game away.

While the Nets didn't entirely stop the Knick star in the second half, they did at least slow him down a bit, with the help of defensive specialist George Johnson, the fifth player to guard King. Johnson also helped the Nets with four blocked shots.

76ers 109, Pistons 108 ....

Moses Malone scored 28 points and Andrew Toney made two free throws with 30 seconds remaining to lead Philadelphia over Detroit. The victory was the 76ers' 13th in their last 15 games and improved their record to 22-6.

The Sixers trailed only in the first two minutes of the game, but had to hold off the Pistons in the fourth quarter.

Trail Blazers 106, Warriors 97. Clyde Drexler scored 26 points, collected 11 rebounds and eight assists as Portland ended a seven-game losing streak by beating Golden State.

The victory, Portland's 14th in 29 games, was costly as the Blazers lost all-star guard Jim Paxson in the first quarter with a dislocated finger on his left hand.

Cavaliers 109, Hawks 106 .. Phil Hubbard scored 28 points to lead Cleveland over Atlanta. The Cavaliers have won four of their last five games, but still have the worst record in the league at 6-20. The Cavaliers, however, are 3-1 against the Hawks.

Golden State's JEROME WHITEHEAD pusses a rebound away from Portland's KIKI VANDEWEGH.

BUSINESS & INDUSTRY REVIEW

It's no longer necessary to go to the expense of replacing a damaged windshield, thanks to the expertise of Pat and Sue Warren, pictured, who utilize the patented Novus Method to make repairs. They have a mobile unit they can bring to your home or office.

Damaged Windshields Can Be Repaired by Novus Method

Pat and Sue Warren use the patented Novus Method to repair windshield damage at a fraction of the cost of windshield replacement. It is no longer necessary to replace many damaged windshields, says Sue Warren; the Novus Method can restore and repair them, both structurally and optically. Sue says that 80% to 90% of windshield damage can be repaired successfully. "Every break is different and responds differently to our method," say the Warrens. It is important to have the damage repaired immediately before it spreads.

Basically the repair is done by forcing optically-matched liquid resin through the break. The resin cures with high bonding strength, for permanent, optically clear results. It becomes as impact resistant as original glass. The Warrens have a mobile repair unit which they can bring to home or business to repair windshields on the spot. Or car owners can bring their vehicles to 301 Willard, off Highway 87 South. The service is available 7 days a week. For information or service phone Pat or Sue Warren at 267-1264.

Efficient New Furnace at Hester & Robertson

Hester & Robertson now offers sales and service on the new Lennox Pulse Furnace, which is called the "world's most efficient gas furnace." It extracts 200 to 350 degrees more heat from the same amount of gas. This kind of efficiency translates into big savings for you on your heating bill. If your present gas furnace is over 10 years old, it is probably in the range of 55% to 60% efficient. That means that 45 cents of every heat dollar you spend is wasted. Lennox technology has made the Pulse easy to install and service. Slim and trim, it can be installed in minimal space. Hester & Robertson installs combination cooling/heating central units the year around. The new 1985 TESCO rebate is now in effect for consumers — both residential and commercial — for the installation of high efficiency units, including room air conditioners. For more information contact Hester & Robertson or TESCO. There's no obligation for an analysis of your heating requirements.

Blazes claim 25 during holidays

By The Associated Press
 At least 25 people were killed and 21 injured in holiday fires in eight states, including an inferno at an Illinois retirement home that claimed eight lives and three Christmas tree-spawned blazes in California and West Virginia, authorities said.

Early today, four people, including three children, died in a St. Louis apartment where neighbors said the heat had been turned off. Investigators said a kerosene heater being used might have been to blame for the blaze.

In fires on Tuesday, two people died in a Baldwin, Mich., foster home; one person perished in a fire blamed on an electrical malfunction in West Virginia; two people were killed in a Tennessee house fire; two people lost their lives in a Minneapolis suburb house fire; and one man died in a rural Columbia, S.C., house fire.

The fire in the nine-story Karcher Retirement Hotel in Waukegan, Ill., that also left 21 people homeless, apparently was caused by an electrical problem in a tailor shop on the ground floor, authorities said. "From what we can determine right now, it appears to have something to do with the wiring," said fire Lt. Jim McGrain. "We think it began in the dead space above a drop ceiling, and that it smoldered for a long time. Whatever started it was totally destroyed, we think."

"The building was built in the 1920s, but we don't know how old the wiring was. From what I saw, it didn't look like it was very old."

The early morning fire — the deadliest in the county in at least 10 years — swept into the lobby and sent dense smoke up an elevator shaft, said Lake County Coroner Barbara Richardson.

"The dead were found on the building's sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth floors," Mrs. Richardson said. "The cause of death for all appeared to be smoke inhalation."

Seven of the dead ranged in age from 67 to 86 years old, and an age was not available on the eighth, she said.

People praise train gunman

NEW YORK (AP) — Relatives and friends of four teen-agers shot by a subway rider who said they were trying to rob him have criticized public support for the mysterious gunman.

A police telephone line set up to get the public's help in finding the man has been flooded by calls from people praising him despite city officials' pleas that people not glorify him.

"I'm very angry at those people," Patricia Allen, 17, the sister of Barry Allen, 18, one of the four teens who were shot, told the New York Daily News.

All four of the teen-agers were expected to survive.

Gay mayor planning future for new city

WEST HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — When she walks the streets of this newborn city, where the glitzy Sunset Strip mingles with plants-in-the window restaurants, Valerie Terrigno dreams of the future.

She speaks of planting trees, installing fountains and creating a safe and beautiful place for all its 36,000 residents, about one-third of whom are gay.

Valerie Terrigno, 31, the newly selected mayor of newly incorporated West Hollywood, is a lesbian.

"You don't have to say avowed lesbian or admitted lesbian," she said. "I am a lesbian. I won't deny it."

She is believed to be the first lesbian mayor of an American city, and the importance of that, she said, can't be underestimated.

"We were illegal not too long ago," she said. "The first consenting adults bill wasn't proposed until 1968. Ten years ago I couldn't have been elected, and not because I was too young. We've come a long way in a very short time."

Ms. Terrigno, who received the most votes of any of 40 city council candidates, was named mayor by the other four council members. All five council members are paid $200 a month.

Last month's election also established West Hollywood as a new city.

In the first flush of victory, Ms. Terrigno stressed that West Hollywood would not be "a gay city," that every citizen group would be equally important.

But she conceded recently that those who predicted a "gay Camelot" may be right. She recalled the first meeting of the new city council, three of whom are gay, when a tough anti-discrimination law was adopted banning bias because of sexual preference.

Tent city people plan march on courthouse

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Permits for a "tent city" that housed about 300 people a night during the week before Christmas expire today, and organizers say their next step will be a demonstration on behalf of the homeless before the county board of supervisors.

Two big tents were erected Dec. 17 to shelter people through the holidays and demonstrate their plight, but permits to use the property at First Street and Broadway expire today, said Jim White of the Homeless Organizing Team project.

Organizers said they planned to march to the county Hall of Administration and try to pitch a tent inside the Board of Supervisors' office to press for better treatment of the homeless. They want the county to raise welfare grants, provide more affordable housing for the poor and stop cutting welfare payments for 60 days when recipients fail to appear for public works jobs.

On Christmas Eve and again on Christmas Day, homeless men, women and children gathered at the tents for turkey dinners. Under sunny skies, volunteers rolled shopping carts piled high with donated clothing into the tents, where men sat in small groups chatting and smoking or taking naps on state-owned civil defense cots. Pieces of cardboard and plastic sheeting lined the floor, which became a muddy mess during last week's rainstorms.

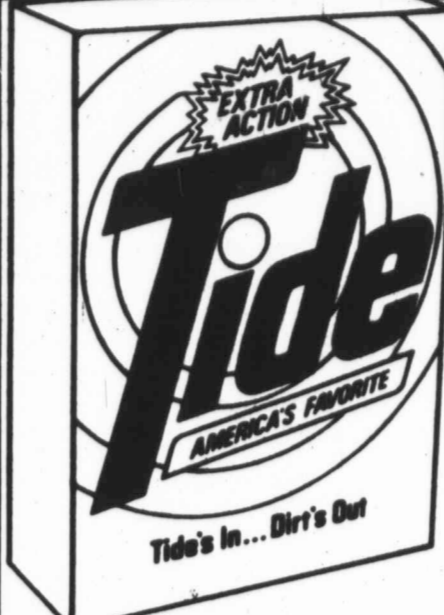

Several Christmas trees adorned the area, trimmed with silver and blue tinsel. Volunteer "monitors," including many of the homeless, swept up litter, sorted donated clothes, food and books, and generally tried to keep the peace.

"God bless these people," said Freddy Johns, 64, as he held a sandwich in each hand. "This is heaven to me."

Almond Paste Border:
1/2 cup whipping cream, well chilled**
1 Tbsp. powdered sugar**

** Can use Cool Whip instead.

Macaroon Layer:
3/4 cup (3 1/2 oz.) blanched almonds, toasted and finely ground
1/2 cup sugar
1 tsp. baking powder
2 egg whites, room temperature
Pinch of cream of tartar

Chocolate Icing:
6 oz. milk chocolate
60 whole blanched almonds
3 Tbsp. (1/4 stick) unsalted butter, room temperature
1 1/4 cups powdered sugar, sifted
3 Tbsp. warm water
1 1/2 Tbsp. dark rum

For Cake: Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Line bottom of two 9-inch round cake pans with parchment or waxed paper; grease parchment. Gently whisk eggs with sugar in large bowl of electric mixer set over hot water over low heat until just warm, about three minutes. Remove from over water. Beat at high speed with electric mixer until almost triples in volume and consistency of whipped cream, about 6 minutes. Resift flour with baking powder. Gently fold into egg mixture alternately with lukewarm milk in three batches. Fold in butter and orange peel. Divide batter between prepared pans. Bake until cake is golden and springs back when touched in center, 18 to 20 minutes. Cool in pans on rack. (Can be prepared 1 day ahead.)

For macaroon layer: Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease 9-inch round cake pan. Line bottom with parchment. Combine almonds, sugar, and baking powder in small bowl. Beat whites with cream of tartar in another bowl until stiff but not dry. Fold in almond mixture. Spread in prepared pan. Bake until top is dry, 20 to 25 minutes. Cool completely in pan on rack. (Can be prepared 1 day ahead. Wrap tightly.)

For custard: Combine half and half, yolks, sugar and cornstarch in heavy small saucepan over medium heat. Cook until mixture just comes to boil and thickens, whisking constantly. Cover and cool to room temperature. Stir in vanilla. (Can be prepared 1 day ahead and refrigerated. Bring to room temperature before using.) Whisk custard to loosen, then fold in whipped cream.

To assemble: Invert 1 sponge layer onto serving platter; remove paper. Spread half of custard over layer. Invert macaroon layer onto custard, removing paper. Spread with remaining custard. Invert second sponge layer on top, removing paper. (Can be prepared 1 day ahead. Cover and refrigerate.)

For icing: Melt chocolate in small bowl set over pan of hot water over low heat. Line large plate with waxed paper. Dip tips of 30 almonds in chocolate and place on paper. Set aside remaining chocolate. Chill almonds until coating is hard.

Meanwhile mix butter, 1 1/4 cups powdered sugar, water and rum into remaining chocolate until mixture is glossy and smooth. cool until spreadable, about 10 minutes. Smooth icing over top and sides of cake. Roll up Almond Paste Border, starting at one short side. Gently unroll onto side of cake, pressing firmly into icing. Whip cream to soft peaks. Beat in 1 Tbsp. powdered sugar. Spoon in 1-inch border around top edge of cake. Press chocolate almonds and plain almonds alternately into cream to resemble wreath. Refrigerate up to four hours. Bring to room temperature 20 minutes before serving.

* Almond Paste Border: Combine almost paste, 1 1/4 cups sugar and extract in small bowl. Press together with hands until mixture forms ball, adding more sugar if sticky. Roll out on surface dusted with powdered sugar to strip 28 inches long and as wide as cake is tall. Trim edges. Score almond paste with crosswise lines space 1/4-inch apart. Cake makes 12 to 16 servings.

Making a pie crust can be 'a piece of cake'

By RHONDA HOECKLEY
Harte-Hanks News Service

So you want to make a pie. No problem — even if you've never made your own crust before. Making a good pie crust is not as difficult as it appears, especially when you know a few little tricks. Following is a recipe for a foolproof pie crust, followed by a few hints that will come in handy. I'd say "good luck," but you won't need it.

PIE CRUST

1 1/2 cups flour
1/4 cup of butter
1/4 cup solid vegetable shortening
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup cold water
Beaten egg white

Lightly grease a 9- or 10-inch pie pan. With a mixer, blend the flour, butter, shortening and salt until mixture forms little balls about the size of peas. Add the water and mix until dough comes clean from the sides of the bowl and forms one large ball. Flatten ball into an 8-inch circle, then wrap in plastic and refrigerate about 30 minutes.

Put chilled dough on a lightly-floured surface. Roll into a 12-inch circle (roll from the center toward the outside). Lightly dust the rolling pin and pastry with flour. Put the rolling pin on the edge of the pastry circle and roll the dough over the rolling pin. Lift dough over to pie pan, and gently unroll dough onto pan. Gently press dough into pan, avoiding having too much dough where the bottom and sides meet. Allow 1 inch of dough to hang over edge of pan. Trim off rest. Press overhanging dough over and under edges of pan. Flute edges. If recipe calls for baked crust: Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Prick bottom and sides of shell with fork. Cover dough with a piece of wax paper cut to fit, and press gently onto dough. Cover crust with a layer of rice, lima beans or bakers beans, making sure they are evenly distributed.

Bake 25 minutes. Remove paper and beans. Return pie crust to oven for 5 minutes or so, just until lightly browned. Cool, then glaze with beaten egg white. Fill.

● If you are going out to buy a new rolling pin and surface, bear in mind that marble is the best choice, followed by Formica. Each holds cold and prevents the shortening from breaking down. ● Beware of over-flouring your rolling surface; too much flour will stop your crust from being tender and flaky. ● If you are making a fruit pie, cut some steam vents in the top crust to keep the fruit from bubbling over.

● Bake filled pies on a rack in the lower third of your oven.

● To keep your crust from getting too brown, cover the edge of the pastry with a strip of aluminum foil, then remove the foil 15 minutes before pie should be done.

● If your chilled dough is too stiff to work with, let it stand at room temperature until it can be rolled out more easily.

● Don't freeze filled pies; the crusts will get soggy. Instead, freeze unfilled crusts so they are ready when you need them.

Cancer society lists anti-cancer diet

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: We have read and heard so much about diet and cancer. Isn't there a set of general guidelines for preventing cancer by watching what foods we eat and don't eat? — K.S.C.

Yes. In fact the American Cancer Society has issued some guidelines for reducing chances of diet-related cancers. According to ACS, you can reduce cancer risk by:

Reducing fat intake. Excessive fat in the diet may play a role in colon cancer, for example.

Losing extra weight. The risk of cancer is higher among those who are obese, particularly in those 40 percent or more over their prescribed weight for height and build.

Eat more foods high in fiber. The incidence of bowel cancer is less in those who do this.

Increase intake of vitamins A and C. Diets rich in C may help prevent stomach and esophagus cancer. Increased A can reduce cancer of the larynx, esophagus and lungs. Refer to daily vitamin need tables for dosages.

Eat cruciferous vegetables (cabbage, broccoli, etc.). That may help reduce cancers of the gastrointestinal and respiratory tracts.

Cut alcohol intake, especially if you are a smoker. That may lead to cancer of the oral cavity, larynx and esophagus.

Moderate consumption of salt-cured, smoked, or nitrite-prepared foods. That may reduce risk of stomach and esophagus cancer.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have been told I have porphyria. I had blood and urine tests. I hope you can supply information on it. What are the symptoms to look for? What role do porphyrins play? I am 29-year-old female. — K.V.

The porphyrias are a group of illnesses with some very unusual and sometimes bizarre symptoms. They can range from abdominal pain to mood changes and may include muscle paralysis, even skin changes when sunlight strikes it. Liver involvement is possible. So you can see that something rather basic to body functions has to be involved.

I can't describe all of the different porphyrias for you, but I can tell you where porphyrins come from and why they are important in the picture. Porphyrins are made from amino acids and are in the heme, the iron-containing part of hemoglobin. You know that hemoglobin is inside red blood cells, where it provides the substance for oxygen molecules to adhere to as blood passes the lungs.

In porphyria there's a disruption in the heme assembly process. An enzyme is missing. The heme molecules are not completely constructed. The parts (the porphyrins) pile up in the body and urinate.

I cannot be any more specific without knowing the precise kind of porphyria you have. Treatment for the various kinds are specific and aimed at the part of the body affected or organ contributing to the problem. If you have further specific questions about treatment, please write again.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Please explain temporal lobe epilepsy. I understand that this does not produce the seizures one would recognize as such in regular epilepsy. Are special EEGs diagnostic in this? — V.A.D.

The temporal lobe of the brain controls speech, hearing perception, memory, and emotional control. So abnormal temporal lobe activity may produce bewildering signs related to those senses and functions. There may be psychotic behavior, but not of necessity, even during a temporal lobe seizure. It's entirely variable. Some may perceive smells or have a feeling of having experienced past events.

EEGs (brainwave tests) may uncover temporal lobe epilepsy. Ordinary tests are not always helpful, however. Tests taken during sleep may be needed. I cannot advise you directly, but if you suspect this you can settle the matter by talking it over with your family doctor, who may suggest the appropriate test. Help is available.

Diverticulosis is a bulge in the digestive tract. To learn more about it, write to Dr. Donohue for his booklet, "Don't Let Diverticulosis Throw You," care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, Ill. 60611. Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and $1.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Reader's questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: the genital fellow who me and I'm good that do when I st Do I say I've got her man run? while and together m him run? I'm young not promise either. A lo in me, but forget that

Dear Abby

Should herpes victim play it straight?

DEAR ABBY: I've got herpes — the genital kind. Now what? The fellow who gave it to me never told me and I'm mad! Big deal. A lot of good that does me. So what should I do when I start a new relationship? Do I say, "Hi, nice to meet you, I've got herpes" — then watch the man run? Or do I date him for a while and then just before we sleep together mention it — then watch him run?
I'm young and pretty and I am not promiscuous but I'm not dead either. A lot of men are interested in me, but I don't for one minute forget that I have herpes. I really don't want to take a chance on giving it to anybody, but I don't want to be treated like a leper either. I wish you'd write an article about herpes, Abby. Is it possible to get it off a toilet seat?

THE GIRL NEXT DOOR
DEAR GIRL: Yes. The herpes virus can live as long as five hours in warm, moist areas, such as the tiles and plastic-coated benches that often surround a swimming pool, hot tub and the steam room of a health club. Though it's very unlikely that you'll pick up the germ from one of these places, "It's wise," says the American Medical Association, "to always sit on a clean towel to be on the safe side — especially if you're bare-bottomed."

You need not to feel like a "leper." But never withhold the fact that you have herpes from anyone who risks contracting it from you.
***
DEAR ABBY: I wish you and your so-called sex experts would get your minds out of the gutter and realize that a brother and sister can share the same sleeping quarters without having it turn into incest.

My folks were poor. There were three boys and two girls in our family, and all us kids slept in one bed, the boys on one end and the girls on the other. I know for a fact there was no sex going on. I was 17 before I had a room by myself, and I had to have it because they thought I had TB.
It's my belief that the less you say about sex in the early years, the less stirred up kids will get. Today, everybody is sex-crazy. I am 80 now and I am sick and tired of the subject.

Congregations share church

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — When the congregations of a Presbyterian church and a Jewish temple began sharing the same sanctuary five years ago, members of each began to recognize that their similarities were more prominent than their differences.

Aside from moving some of the furniture around, few other changes have been necessary, and the arrangement has become an ideal way to promote interreligious understanding.

"We were just amazed at how many things were the same between our worship and theirs," the Rev. Robert Butz of Eastminster Presbyterian Church said.

When members of Beth Shalom Temple worship, a white screen with the Star of David is hoisted to cover the cross. The congregation's ark, which houses its Torah, one of Judaism's most sacred documents, is pulled in front of the communion table.

"I think our people have gotten used to spending five or 10 minutes moving things around," said Rabbi Howard Apothaker, who joined Beth Shalom in 1980.

Rabbi James Rudin, national director of interreligious affairs for the American Jewish Committee in New York City, said he knew of only a handful of such shared sanctuaries in the country.

The idea had its roots in joint military worship facilities, Rudin said. He predicted that with escalating costs of maintaining a church and increased religious tolerance such sharing will be on the increase.

The Presbyterian congregation built the church on the city's east side in 1953. Five years ago, the Reform Jewish group, which was meeting in a nearby bank, asked if it could share the building.

"I think we agreed that with all the hunger in the world and all the need for funds, why should every congregation have its own building when we can share the facilities?" said Butz, who has led Eastminster for almost 30 years.

There are about 380 members of the Presbyterian church and 150 in the Jewish congregation, and "very few" have expressed objections, Butz and Apothaker said.

A committee from both congregations meets monthly to work out scheduling and other details. This year, a joint Thanksgiving eve service in English and Hebrew attracted about 100 people, almost triple that of past observances, Butz said.

Apothaker said American Jews sometimes feel confused by the holiday season and wonder whether to celebrate the joyous eight-day feast of Hanukkah like the secular aspects of Christmas, or retain its religious identity.

"I think our congregation has worked out some of the confusion of the holiday season — to take a joint American holiday (Thanksgiving) and celebrate it and then to take our separate holidays, Hanukkah and Christmas, and share them," he said.

Neither Butz nor Apothaker foresaw an end to the arrangement.

"We had the congregation that had the open mind and ability to be Jewish in whatever setting," Apothaker said.

And Butz, noting that diverse Christian denominations have been moving closer together, said, "I really think the reason Jews and Christians are so far apart is that they haven't had this opportunity."

1984 known as 'Year of the Yuppie'

NEW YORK (AP) — Baby boomers exercised increasing influence on politics and the marketplace in 1984, making it "The Year of the Yuppie," according to Newsweek magazine.

Yuppies — young urban professionals — come from the 60 million people born between 1946 and 1964, the magazine says in its Dec. 31 cover story. But it notes that yuppies aren't necessarily urban.

Using as a definition those with an income of $40,000 yearly or more from a professional or management, SRI International, a California research group, concludes that 4 million Americans are yuppies, but only about 1.2 million of them live in a city, the magazine says.

Political consultants lump together all baby-boomers who went to college, or work in a white-collar or technical job, and arrive at a voting bloc of 20 million, while marketing specialists say yuppie spending habits influence other's spending, the magazine says.
