We do not mean to say that the hog has had his day. On the contrary his day is just coming they are kept in the right place.

We refer to the notice in another column which forbids their running at liberty upon the streets Every one will agree that we have a hog law and that it is nothing but right that it be enforced. The tresspassing of stock upon the premises of another sometimes leads to serious difficulties and besides if we have a law whether it suits us or not it ought to be kept. It is unjust to require one man to keep his stock in an enclosure while his neighbor's roam about at liberty.

"I have been using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and can say it is just what you advertise it to be," writes Mrs Victor J. Hadin, of Leonardsville, Riley Co., Kansas. "I began taking it just two months before baby came and was greatly benefited by its use. The doctor who attended me said I did about as well as any one he had seen (as I was sick only about three hours), and also that your 'Favorite Prescription' was 'one patent medicine' which he did have faith in. We now have a darling baby boy, strong and healthy, who weighed nine pounds when born. During this month he has gained three and one-half pounds. Have never given him one dose of medicine."

An Afflicted Nation.

The news of the death of the President came as a great affliction to the whole of the American people regardless of political affiliations. The love of country, which has ever been uppermost in t'e minds of the people of all sections of the most glorious heritage ever bestowed by God upon a nation, overshadows all political differences, and today there is only one party, and it embraces every loyal subject of the country who with bowed head follows as it were the bier of the dead President to his final resting place. However great the opposition against his policies and however strong we may think them wrong there has never been any serious condemnation of his personal character and uprightness of life which counts for most after all. From the assassins own cold blooded confession the blow was aimed at the government through the heart of its chief executive, and hence the force was directed against every American citizen from the youngest to the oldest and from the poorest to the richest, whose unboundes sympathy is with the lovely woman for whose care the President always exhibited the most tender solicitude.
