How's that? Left turn only?

Q. There have been numerous accidents involving cars turning left at the three-street intersection of Birdwell, 11th Place and George. Is the city considering adding a left-turn signal for cars there?

A. According to Sherrill Farmer, who heads the city's traffic planning department, the intersection was included in a 1978 traffic engineering study. However, Farmer said the engineering firm that did the study made no recommendations on whether to add a left-turn signal or make other changes. "There are no recommendations forthcoming" from the Traffic Commission at the moment, Farmer said.

The big chill

Big Spring missed a white Christmas by a week, but the lingering effects of a New Year's Eve snowfall made driving a difficult task this morning in parts of the city.

A cold front that moved into the area Monday dropped up to a half-inch of snow on the area. As snow became packed on city streets, roads became hazardous and several minor accidents were reported around the area.

The forecast is calling for partly cloudy skies and highs this afternoon in the low 30s. By tonight, fair skies and highs in the upper teens are expected.

Thursday's forecast is calling for highs in the low 40s with light and variable winds.

City roads

Drivers on their way to work and school this morning found some roads blocked off as city crews worked to make driving conditions less dangerous. Some roads were being sanded to prevent vehicles from sliding.

As late at 10 a.m. today, road crews were patrolling areas of the city where slick streets made driving almost impossible. Barricades had been set up early this morning at the Benton Street viaduct. Barricades were being set up in the 100 block of East 15th from Main street to Rannels after 10 a.m. today.

In Big Spring, several minor accidents were reported last night and today, but no serious injuries were logged, according to police and sheriff's officials. Among accidents reported were one in the K-Mart parking lot about 1:45 p.m. Tuesday and another near Hearn Street off Highway 87, where a trailer jackknifed. Icy conditions were listed as the cause in both accidents.

In the county, a Houston woman struck a guardrail about midnight last night on icy Highway 87.

1st class day

Big Spring schools held their first day of classes today after the Christmas holidays and semester break. But several other campuses closed due to the weather.

Closed today due to icy conditions were the New Life Christian Academy, St. Mary's Episcopal School and Hillcrest Christian School. The nursing program at Howard College also closed its doors today.

Forsan schools will not begin the spring semester until next Tuesday. Students at Coahoma will return to classes Thursday.

State roads

The Department of Public Safety reported this morning that roads from Midland to Abilene along Interstate 20 were very hazardous due to snow and ice. Bridges and overpasses were said to be extremely slick.

Along the interstate toward the Dallas area, snow was heavier, according to DPS reports.

Around Dallas, portions of the freeway were closed due to stranded and wrecked vehicles.

Along Highway 87 from San Angelo to Lubbock, roads were reportedly ice covered. Light snow was reported in the Lubbock area, but conditions were expected to clear by noon today.

Fighting Alzheimer's

Former teacher struggles with confusing, cruel ailment

By the Associated Press

CORPUS CHRISTI — Last spring Edna Jordan, 60, was doing what she had done for 14 years — help Moody High School students understand English and history.

Now she lies in bed understanding little of what goes on around her. She cannot move without help, and she is unable to speak, except for repeating occasional words or phrases.

Mrs. Jordan is a victim of Alzheimer's disease.

Her husband of 20 years, Bob, first noticed things weren't right last spring.

One Sunday, as on many others, she was sitting at the kitchen table grading papers. But she kept asking Jordan for help. She couldn't remember how to calculate simple averages.

When Jordan looked at the papers, he knew that something was very wrong with his wife. After working all weekend, she was still on the first five papers and the numbers she had put on them made no sense.

He called her grader at school and asked how his wife was teaching. "She's not," was the answer. Mrs. Jordan, who had always been very organized, was spending all her time searching for misplaced papers.

After a series of tests, including a CAT scan, a neurologist concluded Mrs. Jordan had Alzheimer's disease.

He made that diagnosis by eliminating all the neurological disorders that mimic the effects of Alzheimer's disease.

A brain biopsy or autopsy are the only ways to be certain of the diagnosis.

Jordan, who knew nothing about Alzheimer's disease, learned that his wife's confusion was just the beginning.

Eventually, she would not be able to remember things from one minute to the next, she would forget how to talk, how to walk, how to eat, and would lose control of her bladder and bowels along with her other motor functions.

Finally, if she didn't die first of pneumonia, a urinary infection or some other complication, she would go into a coma and die.

Another man whose wife has the disease said, "Alzheimer's disease is like living through a never-ending funeral."

COMFORT FOR VICTIM — Edna Jordan, a victim of Alzheimer's disease, lies in a Corpus Christi hospital, understanding little of what goes on around her.

"You can't grieve. You can't get over the guilt. Losing by death is nothing compared to this. I keep losing her every single day."

Looking back, Jordan believes his wife's symptoms surfaced about a year ago. That's when her checkbook, which had always been neat, legible and balanced, became a mess of voided and unrecorded checks and arithmetic mistakes.

Jordan began reading everything he could find on Alzheimer's disease. He learned that it is not preventable or treatable, and that although there is ongoing research, doctors don't know what causes it.

Neurologist can't say how fast the disease will progress. It is swift in some cases and slow in others. Victims may live from three to 15 years.

Jordan is not alone in coping with the pain of watching a loved one deteriorate so dramatically.

According to the latest estimates, Alzheimer's disease affects 2 million to 2.5 million people nationwide.

Most of them are over 65, but as many as 60,000 are thought to be between the ages of 40 and 50. The youngest age recorded is 27.

It is estimated that over half of the people suffering from senility are victims of Alzheimer's disease — not just the inevitable effects of aging.

Actress Rita Hayworth, one of the more famous victims of the disease, was accused in the early stages of her disease of being an alcoholic because she slurred her words and stumbled.

Most nursing home administrators in Corpus Christi say they have only two or three diagnosed Alzheimer's patients each.

The Alzheimer's Disease and Related Disorders support group, which formed here less than a year ago, recently became a chapter of the national organization. It has about 35 members and gains new members at every meeting, President Glenn McCarty said.

At first, Mrs. Jordan's case seemed mild. Jordan, who is 59, thought that for the five years until his retirement as superintendent of the Central Power & Light central meter shop, his wife could stay by herself during the day.

He would call to make sure she had eaten the lunch he left for her. Then he began having to tell her step-by-step how to get it ready — get down a glass; take the milk from the refrigerator; pour it into the glass; get a spoon; open the thermos with the soup; put some into a bowl. "One thought at a time," said Jordan.

Then, a half-hour later, he would call to make sure she had eaten.

By June he realized Mrs. Jordan needed someone with her all the time. One day, frightened by something that happened on a television show, she went into the garage and couldn't remember how to get back in the house or open the garage door.

She broke out a window in the garage door and spent the rest of the day in the backyard, eating peaches off a tree and getting soaked trying to drink from a sprinkler.

Mrs. Jordan's disease progressed more rapidly than it does in 90 percent of the cases, Jordan said. Occasionally Mrs. Jordan repeats a word or phrase that she hears, but the woman who researched and wrote the text for historical markers at the Tarpon Inn in Port Aransas and at Solomon Coles School is not capable of originating a thought.

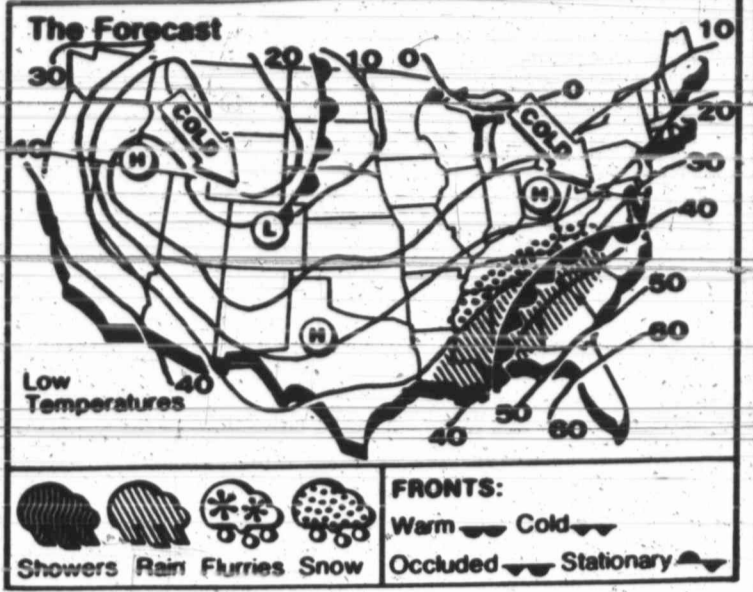

"It scares me that she's hurting sometimes and I don't know it," said Jordan.

When Jordan comes in and talks to his wife, she clutches at his hand and smiles at him.

"As long as she knows me, as long as I make a difference, then I'll keep her at home," he said.

Jordan hired a housekeeper last June and recently hired a vocational nurse for additional help. Mrs. Jordan's lack of muscular control is now making it extremely difficult for Jordan to handle her by himself. He as just hired someone to live in and help him in the evenings and at night.

Big Spring police also arrested James Martin Cole, 20, of Ocean Plaza Motel at about 1 a.m. Tuesday in the 300 block of S. Gregg on suspicion of driving while license suspended.

According to the police report, the window apparently was shot by a BB gun. Damage was estimated at $350.

Storm covers North Texas

Icy blasts sent temperatures plummeting past zero in parts of Texas early today and ushered in 1985 on a frigid pillow of snow that blanketed much of the state's northern half.

As dawn broke, the National Weather Service said snow was still falling in a band about 50 miles wide running from Tyler in East Texas into the south central sections of North Texas.

The weather service said the snow, which was slowly moving eastward, would continue over most of North Texas with additional accumulations of 1 to 3 inches possible.

Snow also covered the Panhandle and West Texas while freezing rain and freezing drizzle fell as far south as 20 miles north of San Antonio in the Hill Country.

A winter storm warning was in effect for North Texas and travelers advisories were posted for the eastern and south central portions of the South Plains.

Winds howling from the north at near 40 mph in some places only added to the problem, dropping the wind chill to near zero.

Ice and snow made driving conditions hazardous from Austin north to Dallas, northwest to Midland-Odessa and east to Bryan, said Lisa Fields of the Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

Around 2 inches of snow fell during the night over a large portion of North Texas, including the Dallas-Fort Worth area. Hamilton, Comanche and Eastland counties had 4 to 5 inches overnight.

Forecasters said snow accumulations in the Dallas-Fort Worth area could top 10 inches if the storm resurges.

In the area

In the Crossroads County area, the Mitchell County Sheriff's Department was reporting icy conditions but no major accidents. Law enforcement officials were reporting a number of minor accidents, however.

In Dawson county, roads were "driveable," according to a dispatcher at the Sheriff's office. Roads in the area "are all right," said the dispatcher. "We're fine."

No wrecks were reported in Martin County, but roads were "slick in spots," according to a sheriff's dispatcher there.

Airport, buses

Midland Regional Airport was "fully operational," according to a spokesman this morning, but some flights were being delayed due to poor conditions in other parts of the state.

The spokesman urged anyone flying out of the airport today to contact the individual airline to check on flight schedules and possible delays.

Spokesmen for Greyhound and Trailways bus lines today said buses were moving this morning but that icy conditions along the highway were resulting in delays.

"We are a little behind schedule," said spokesmen at both bus stations.

Utilities

The first hard freeze and snowstorm of the year hasn't affected local utilities adversely, according to spokesmen.

No water mains have broken because of the freeze, according to Big Spring water utilities distribution supervisor B.R. Perrin.

"We're sliding right along," Perrin said. "I'm expecting some problems, but not yet."

Texas Electric Co. and Energas offices in Big Spring show an increase in electricity and natural gas consumption but have not experienced any weather-related problems, officials said.

"Our usage is up a little, but we don't have any problems relating to (weather)," Dearl Pittman of Energas said.

TESCO manager Hooper Sanders said energy consumption had increased locally because of the weather. "But there are no problems, none whatsoever. Ice is the main thing that would affect us, not snow."

Art Buchwald Santa Claus has bad luck

You may be wondering why Santa Claus did not make it to every house this year. He ran into some bad luck.

The old boy was right on schedule until he got to my doctor's house. My doctor happened to be up late reading the New England Journal of Medicine to his wife, as he does every Christmas Eve. When Saint Nick slid down the chimney my doctor looked up and said, "I'm not seeing patients tonight. Dr. Pincus is taking my calls."

"I'm not here as a patient. I came to drop off some presents for your kids."

"Why are you puffing so hard?" my doctor asked him. "I have a tight schedule," Santa said. "And besides, this bag is loaded with so many transformers and home computers, it's breaking my back."

My doctor said, "You're awfully fat for someone carrying a bag that heavy. Do you mind getting on the scale?"

Santa got red in the face. "I just look heavy because of this outfit I'm wearing. I really only weight 250 pounds."

My doctor pulled a book down from his shelf. "According to the latest life insurance tables your ideal body weight should be 185."

"I'm going on a diet right after Christmas," Santa said.

"You better take off your clothes and let me check you out. Go behind the screen."

Santa came out in his BVDs. "I don't like the look of that red nose. How much drinking do you do?" my doctor asked.

"I just take a few snorters in the sleigh to keep warm."

"You drink while you're driving?"

"I do, but my reindeer don't. Ho-ho-ho."

My doctor held his stethoscope to Santa's chest.

"Say that again?"

"I detect the beginnings of a bronchial condition. You may have picked up carcinogenic substances sliding down all those chimneys. I'm going to send you to the emergency room at Georgetown Hospital for a pulmonary test."

"I was just there making a delivery to the children's ward," Santa said. "The emergency room is packed with people because no doctor will come out on Christmas Eve. Look, I feel great. Have you ever seen anyone so merry and bright? I'm laughing all the time."

"Laughing could be a clue to endogenous anxiety. People who laugh and chortle incessantly are filled with inner tensions. A person like yourself, who is trying to please everybody all of the time, has to be under tremendous stress, and the denial of it eventually takes its toll. How much exercise do you do?"

"A lot when I'm climbing in and out of chimneys."

"But you have no regular walking or jogging program the rest of the year?"

"You ever tried jogging around the North Pole? You can freeze your fanny off."

"All right, Mr. Claus, you can put your clothes on again. But before you do, I'm going to give it to you straight. If you don't lose weight, and if you continue carrying a bag on your back, you're going to wind up with either a stroke or a hernia. You better go home now and get some rest, until your tests come back from the lab."

Santa Claus arrived at the North Pole at 2 in the morning and Mrs. Claus asked him in horror, "What are you doing home so early?"

"Some doctor told me I'm in terrible shape."

"But what should I do with all the toys that are still on the sled? They have to be delivered by morning."

Santa stretched out on the bed and signed, "Call Federal Express."

Jack Anderson Not suitable for children

WASHINGTON — The White House's choice for the new chairman of the Consumer Product Safety Commission has a disturbing record of dissent from attempts to take dangerous children's products off the market.

In his 20 months as a commissioner, Terrence M. Scanlon has been the lone dissenter opposing several enforcement actions the agency has taken against industry-wide defects in design or construction of children's products.

Scanlon favors a cooperative approach, working with industry groups to develop voluntary safety standards for their products, and then cracking down on individual manufacturers who violate the standards. In short, Scanlon prefers the sniper rifle to the shotgun.

Scanlon defends his record on grounds that his approach would result in fewer industry lawsuits against the commission. Not surprisingly, the children's product industry approves of Scanlon and his philosophy. Scanlon "would make a great chairman," industry attorney Aaron Locker, told my associate Tony Capaccio.

Last month, both Scanlon and Locker — in what each described as "strictly coincidental" responses — criticized David Schmeltzer, an agency enforcement official, for a strongly worded letter he sent to all manufacturers of expandable, doorway "babygates." Schmeltzer's letter went out on Nov. 9 after an Idaho infant caught its head in a gate's wooden slats and strangled — the eighth such death in the commission's files.

What aroused both Scanlon and Locker was a single sentence in Schmeltzer's letter: "In order to prevent future death and serious injuries, we now urge you to stop manufacture and distribution of the accordion-style gates immediately."

In a Nov. 26 memo to Schmeltzer, Scanlon wrote: "I want to avoid a repeat of this (the letter), if possible, in the future."

In a Nov. 28 letter to Schmeltzer, Locker also objected to the imposition of a ban on the babygates "by letter of a single agency official." He said it was an example of "backdoor rule-making."

In a telephone interview, Scanlon reiterated the point, saying that Schmeltzer "in fact ordered a ban" and "doesn't have that kind of authority." The gate makers agreed to correct the design hazard, and Schmeltzer has since written to Locker that if they hadn't done so voluntarily "it would have been my recommendation that corrective action be compelled by the commissioners to stop the production and distribution of these gates."

Schmeltzer added: "If consumers were aware of the serious nature of injury that could result from entrapment in the accordion-style gates, I doubt they would continue to purchase them." Scanlon's record of lone dissent included commission votes on enforcement actions against the following children's products:

- Mesh-sided cribs associated with at least 11 infant deaths, and other cribs with flimsy parts such as loose mattress supports, machine screws and guide rods. Since 1980, these crib "hardware hazards" have claimed 27 babies' lives.
- Wooden-slatted infant "corrals," similar to the expandable babygates, associated with at least two infant deaths in 1980-1982.
- Latex rubber pacifiers containing high levels of cancer-causing nitrosamines.
- Squeeze toys that could lodge in an infant's throat.

Scanlon did vote with his fellow commissioners to take action against a particular style of bassinet, because the legs tended to collapse.

Jack Anderson's investigative report from Washington is distributed by United Feature Syndicate.

Billy Graham God's origin divine mystery

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I am 10 years old, and I would like to ask you a question. Where did God come from? — J.H.

DEAR J.H.: I suppose one of the hardest things for us to understand is that God is not like us. And one of the greatest differences between God and man is that he had no beginning — he has always existed. And God created everything — even time! The Bible says concerning God, "Before the mountains were born or you brought forth the earth and the world, from everlasting to everlasting you are God" (Psalm 90:2).

God had no beginning — and he has no end, either. Although you may not understand that completely, if you think about it you will realize that this means God is very great! Just think for a moment what it would mean if God were not like that, but instead if he were just like you and me. If God was like we are, for example, he might get tired and unable to help us or keep the universe going. But (as the Bible says), "Do you not know? Have you not heard? The Lord is the everlasting God, the Creator of the ends of the earth. He will not grow tired or weary... he gives strength to the weary and increases the power of the weak" (Isaiah 40:28-29).

But God is great not only because he is powerful, or because he has no beginning or end. The most important thing I can tell you is that God loves you and me — and that is a far greater wonder than anything else we can say about God. Furthermore, God created you, and he wants you to become his child for all eternity. Yes, you (unlike God) had a beginning — but you can live forever with God in heaven if you will ask Jesus Christ to come into your heart. Have you turned your life over to Jesus? No matter how young or old we are, God wants us to know him personally and follow him each day. Ask him to come into your life today.

Indexing will help low-income earners

Taxpayers will save about $8 to $10 billion on their 1985 tax bills when indexing of the personal income tax system kicks in this January, according to economists at the Tax Foundation. And those in the low- and middle-income levels will benefit the most, they say. Indexing is much more valuable to lower-income families as a percentage of their tax liability than to the upper-income household. The family with the $12,000 adjusted gross income sees its tax bill reduced by $45 or 8.3 percent, due to the increase in the personal exemption and the zero bracket amount. As income rises, the dollar amount of the tax savings also rises, but at a lesser percent of tax paid.

Tax Foundation economists explain that indexing takes the hidden tax of inflation out of the individual income tax system, by wiping out the "fiscal dividend" of inflation-related tax increases.

The reason low- and middle-income taxpayers benefit most is that the personal exemption and the zero bracket amount will be indexed, as well as the rest of the marginal rate brackets. Taxpayers who itemize their deductions will receive no benefit from having the zero bracket amount indexed. Because they reduce their taxable income by the excess of their itemized deductions over the zero bracket amount, any gain itemizers realize from an increase in the zero bracket amount is exactly offset by the reduction in excess itemized deduction.

tax brackets, the zero bracket amount, and the personal exemption for the previous year's rate of inflation. This prevents inflation from shifting taxpayers into higher and higher tax brackets (with successively higher marginal rates).

Indexing was not part of the original package promoted by the Reagan Administration nor of the Democratic alternative. It was injected into the bidding war to sway about eight Democratic votes to the President's package. Since 1981 there have been numerous calls to repeal, defer, or modify the automatic adjustment before it actually takes hold on January 1, 1985.

Now that the first measurement period has passed, the withholding tables for wages earned in 1985 can be recalculated, and it is appropriate to review the likely impact of indexing and the policy implications involved. The provision itself is remarkably short and simple. The Department of Treasury must calculate the average percentage increase in the CPI for the year October 1983 through September 1984 over the previous 12-month period. The index numbers are published monthly by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. Multiply the personal exemption and the dollar brackets in the rate tables by that factor to complete the adjustment. This operation removes about 85 percent of the inflation-induced increase in tax revenues.

Dear Abby

Those who carry tales should use their heads

DEAR ABBY: I have been a resident in a nursing home for many years. My mind is sound, but my body is badly crippled. My wife visits me every day without fail. She has never neglected me and I know she loves me very much.

I've always encouraged her to have a little social life, but every time she goes to dinner with a gentleman, and the employees here at the home see her, they think it is their "duty" to rush in and report to me that they saw my wife with another man.

I am aware of what is going on, and I do not have to be reminded of my incapability to do things for her. Why, oh why, can't these people keep their big mouths shut?

I'll bet others have this problem, too. If you print this, it will probably go up on a lot of bulletin boards. Thank you for listening.

FRUSTRATED
DEAR FRUSTRATED: Some people are more thoughtless than malicious. I hope this reminds those who carry tales to use their heads.

DEAR ABBY: Single American women shouldn't complain about the "Ms." title.

In Australia an unmarried woman — be she 18 or 80 — is officially listed as a "spinster" on her passport!
AMAZED IN AMERICA

Dr. Donohue
Prostaglandins
cause pain

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My mother always suffered from painful menstruation, and I guess I inherited it from her. I have accepted it. My husband gets angry with me, saying there is something to help me over the hard times. Mother, who usually takes his side, agrees that it's something to be lived with. The strong cramping makes me miserable. Certainly, there must be ways to relieve that. It lasts a day or so. If there's help for this I'll be first in line for it. Is there?
Mrs. E.L.H.

There's a very good chance you can be helped. Half of all women have some degree of dysmenorrhea.

We know more today about the cause of such cramping than we knew perhaps in your mother's day. The uterus is a muscle and acts much like any other body muscle. At the time of the period the body releases prostaglandin, a chemical, into the blood. This chemical causes uterine muscle contraction. That constriction causes a blood supply deficiency as tiny blood vessels are closed off. The combination of the two factors causes the pain and cramping.

The answer, of course, is to try to counteract the prostaglandin action, and medicine is available to do that. Indomethacin and naproxen are two drugs that help. Such drugs work in about 80 percent of cases of such dysmenorrhea.

I am speaking here of the dysmenorrhea that occurs only during menstruation, not of the pre-menstrual syndrome, where discomfort lasts a week or longer prior to menstruation. Nor am I speaking of secondary dysmenorrhea, the kind caused by other problems — endometriosis, infection, malformation of organs, etc. Those, too, can be treated. The first step, in fact, is to determine the precise kind of pain you have — primary or secondary dysmenorrhea.

Who is number 1?

BYU top candidate

MIAMI (AP) — There is no shortage of candidates for college football's national championship but second-ranked Oklahoma, leader of the campaign to unseat No. 1-ranked Brigham Young, is no longer one of them.

Brigham Young, third-ranked Florida and Washington all did their final campaigning Tuesday night after the fourth-ranked Huskies upset Oklahoma 28-17 in the Orange Bowl.

In fact, the picture may be more unsettled than ever after a month of steady controversy, most of it involving BYU, 13-0, and Oklahoma, now 9-2-1.

When The Associated Press announces the 1984 national champion at 6:30 p.m., EST, today, it remains to be seen whether BYU's 24-17 Holiday Bowl victory over unranked Michigan on Dec. 21 was enough to keep the Cougars in the No. 1 spot they held for the final three weeks of the regular season.

The national champion is determined by total points in balloting by 60 sports writers and sportscasters, with a first-place vote worth 20 points, 19 points for second, etc.

"We're No. 1. We have my vote," he said. "I think anybody who beats a team as strong as Oklahoma deserves to be No. 1. But we have to respect the poll people."

Indications in surveys taken by the Dallas Morning News, the Miami Herald and NBC-TV in the last few weeks were that the Huskies, who finished 11-1, had virtually no chance to overtake Brigham Young. BYU Coach LaVell Edwards reiterated that he felt his team deserved to stay No. 1 regardless of the Orange Bowl outcome.

"The point I tried to make all along was that we were No. 1 going into the (Holiday) bowl game and we won the bowl game so we should remain No. 1," Edwards told The AP from Palo Alto, Calif., where he will coach in Saturday's East-West Shrine Game. "That's why I didn't put that much stock in this game (the Orange Bowl)."

Jim Herrmann, a BYU defensive tackle who will play in Saturday's East-West game, said: "We're going to get what we deserve. Hopefully, we'll get No. 1. I'm really happy. To tell you the truth, I felt they (Washington) had a real good chance of winning, but I didn't know their offense was that good."

Coach Galen Hall of third-ranked Florida put in a plug for his Gators.

"I still think at the end of the season we were the best team in the nation," he said from his home in Gainesville, Fla. "We just didn't get a chance to prove it in the bowls."

Florida, 9-1-1 and winner of its last nine games, was banned from postseason play by the Southeastern Conference because of an NCAA investigation into its program.

"It looks like BYU is going to get the vote," Hall told The AP. "We've been out of the focus of people for a month. I just hope they will remember us when they vote."

Switzer, while claiming Oklahoma should have been voted No. 1 if the Sooners had beaten Washington, had said he considered fifth-ranked Nebraska the best team around. But he changed his tune Tuesday night despite the Cornhuskers' 28-10 Sugar Bowl triumph over LSU.

BC burns Houston

DALLAS (AP) — It wasn't a highlight film Cotton Bowl Classic for Heisman Trophy winner Doug Flutie, but the results couldn't have been more satisfying.

Flutie, the Boston College All-American quarterback who holds two NCAA passing records, accomplished his final collegiate goal of winning a bowl game.

However, the 45-28 victory over the Houston Cougars — BC's first bowl triumph in 44 years — didn't come without its difficult moments on New Year's Day.

And Flutie didn't even win Most Valuable Offensive Player; that honor went to Eagle fullback Steve Strachan.

Flutie rifled three first-half touchdown passes as the Eagles built a 31-7 advantage and saw most of it melt away in the numbing 32-degree cold under a furious Cougar rally.

The Eagles had to resort to an unheralded running game to hold off the Cougars as Flutie was intercepted twice, once for Audrey McMillian's 25-yard touchdown return.

"It was not one of my better days by far," Flutie admitted.

"But this being the last game of my career and fulfilling a goal will make it very special to me and stick with me the rest of my life," he added.

The Eagle ground game was the story in the second half as the Cougars pulled to within 31-28. Flutie was just 2 of 19 for 13 yards in the second half. He finished with 13 of 27 for 180 yards.

Strachan rushed for a season-high 91 yards on 23 carries and scored on a four-yard run and Tony Stradford dashed a career-high 196 yards on 20 carries and scored on an 18-yard run. Boston College Coach Jack Bicknell said the game proved the Eagles were a good overall team.

"I think Doug is happy with what he did today, but it was a team game," Bicknell said. "We tell Doug: 'You are allowed to be less than super sometimes.'"

Bicknell said, "Everything with us has always been offense, offense, offense and Flutie, Flutie, Flutie, but the defense showed it could play well, too. There are many games that are not a Flutie show."

Cotton Bowl

"We have a lot of good players on our team."

Flutie had some problems with a 17 mph wind and so did his receivers, who dropped four passes.

"I was able to grip the ball but it was hard to judge the wind," Flutie said.

Flutie said his fabulous career would have been a little empty without a bowl victory.

"The win fulfills a goal that we set and I myself set coming into the year," he said.

Unranked Houston, 7-5, was impressed with the 10-2 Eagles, who won the second most games in their history.

Defensive coordinator Don Todd of the Cougars said, "I think Flutie is everything everyone expected, but he has a great cast with him."

Houston Coach Bill Yeoman said, "It wasn't a surprise they ran so much. They give scholarships to runners, too. Flutie is great and there are a lot more players on that team than just Flutie."

Huskies handle LSU

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Nebraska's quarterback Craig Sundberg, who refused to let a case of the flu put him on the bench, powered the fifth-ranked Cornhuskers to a Sugar Bowl victory over mistake-prone Louisiana State.

Sundberg suffered from the flu Tuesday morning, but hit 10 of 15 passes Tuesday night for three touchdowns and ran for another to earn Most Valuable Player honors in the Cornhuskers' 28-10 victory over the 11th-ranked Tigers.

Sundberg had help from a 102-yard rushing effort by sophomore I-back Doug DuBose and a Husker defense that put the clamps on LSU quarterback Jeff Wickersham and running back Dalton Hilliard.

Wickersham hit 17 of 25 passes for 212 yards in the first half as the Tigers took a 10-7 lead. The Huskers scored on a 31-yard pass from Sundberg to DuBose after Ronnie Lewis kicked a 37-yard field goal in the first period and Hilliard banged in from two yards out in the second quarter for LSU.

LSU missed a pair of short field goals after failing to score twice from two yards out. Wickersham managed only nine more yards passing the second half against Nebraska's nation-leading defense.

Sugar Bowl

and was intercepted three times in the second half. All told, LSU's was intercepted five times, matching a Sugar Bowl record set in 1967 when Nebraska was routed 34-7 by Alabama.

Chad Daffer, a backup linebacker, picked off two Wickersham passes in the second half for the 10-2 Huskers.

The victory kept Nebraska unbeaten in its meetings with LSU. The Huskers beat the Tigers 17-12 in the 1970 Orange Bowl, 10-7 in Lincoln, Neb., in 1975, tied LSU in Baton Rouge in 1976 and slipped past the Tigers 21-20 in the 1982 Orange Bowl.

USC nips Ohio St.

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Tim Green has gone from September's redshirt to January's Rose Bowl hero for Southern California. He knew it was coming.

"When I got up this morning, I opened my hotel room's blinds and saw it was a beautiful day, I knew we were going to win. I had that feeling," said Green, voted Co-Player of the Game with his All-America teammate, linebacker Jack Del Rio.

"I didn't want to make it public to the press. We had the last laugh. We own the town. We're the Rose Bowl champions," Green said.

While Del Rio and his defensive buddies were swarming Ohio State's Keith Byars, Green turned two of four Buckeye turnovers into touchdown passes of three yards to tight end Joe Cormier and 19 to flanker Timmie Ware.

Rose Bowl

Southern California came out ahead, 20-17.

Originally, Green had planned to bank his last season of eligibility until 1985. But an injury to No. 1 USC page 4-B

Huskies upset OU

MIAMI (AP) — Washington has proved beyond a doubt that it is in a class with second-ranked Oklahoma. Now, the Huskies are about to learn if the voters consider them in the same class with No. 1-ranked Brigham Young.

"I feel like we ought to be No. 1," said Huskie tailback, Jacques Robinson, who carried 28 times for 135 yards and scored a touchdown.

Hugh Millen came off the bench in the fourth quarter and lofted a 12-yard touchdown pass to Mark Pattison with 5:42 left to play. Washington wrapped it up on Rick Fenney's six-yard run just 54 seconds later.

With the score tied 14-14, Oklahoma's Tim Lashar kicked an apparent 22-yard field goal early in the final period. But Oklahoma was penalized five yards for illegal procedure and then socked 15 more for unsportsmanlike conduct when its mascot, a miniature covered wagon drawn by a pair of Shetland ponies and known as the "Sooner Schooner," raced onto the field, as it usually does when Oklahoma scores. The penalties forced Lashar to try a 42-yarder, which was blocked by Washington free safety Tim Peoples.

Oklahoma's best turnaround came after Washington stormed to a 14-0 just 10:36 into the game on Huskies page 4-B

UCLA wins Fiesta

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — UCLA junior placekicker John Lee says he had been there before and "the law of averages were with me."

Lee, who kicked an NCAA-record 29 field goals this season, with three winning games in the final minute, booted a 22-yarder with 51 seconds remaining to give the 14th-ranked Bruins a 39-37 victory over 13th-ranked Miami, Fla., in Tuesday's Fiesta Bowl.

"I've kicked something like 41-of-42 inside the 40-yard line this year and I believe in the law of averages. I wasn't going to miss," Lee said. "I just told myself, 'Don't be pressured. Don't be afraid to hit the ball hard, just like in practice. Don't worry. You'll make it.'"

The field goal — Lee's third of the game — capped a 10-play, 63-yard UCLA drive against the defending national champion Hurricanes, who had gone ahead twice in the second half.

"You have to play defense to be a championship team, and we did not do that," first-year Miami Coach Jimmy Johnson said. "UCLA did a super job of preparing for us and they had no turnovers, which was a big key."

The victory gave the Bruins, 9-3, their third straight win in a New Year's Day bowl and preserved their unbeaten streak at Sun Devil Stadium.

"I don't rank wins, but this is certainly a monumental one for us," said UCLA Coach Terry Donahue.

UCLA first had to withstand a last-gasp Miami drive, which ended on quarterback Bernie Kosar's fumble at the Hurricane 31-yard line with 15 seconds left.

"I always expect the worst out there and for the last three games, the worst has happened," said Kosar, a sophomore harried all afternoon by the Bruins' blitzing defense.

A crowd of 60,310 at 70,021-seat Sun Devil Stadium watched the first-ever meeting of the two schools.

Martha Stephens' recipes make tasty sandwiches

By TINA STEFFEN
Lifestyle Editor

Martha Stephens submitted a few sandwich spread recipes for leftover chicken, ham and peanuts. We are featuring them this week along with a cookie recipe from librarian Donna Jackson.

Also featured are some soup recipes. They are great for a hot lunch during these cold winter days. In fact, combine the sandwiches from Mrs. Stephens' recipes and the soup recipes and you will have a terrific light lunch. Then add Ms. Jackson's cookie recipe for dessert or a mid-afternoon snack.

If you have recipes you would like to share with the readers of the Herald Recipe Exchange, please send them to Herald Recipe Exchange, Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 1431, Big Spring, Texas 79720, or drop them off at the Herald office at 710 Scurry. We would be glad to print them.

Catchwords entice the health conscious

By COSMOPOLITAN

Housewives trying to preserve their family's health can be hoodwinked by health food hype and food producers who use nutritional catchwords to cash in on health concerns.

They can even wind up endangering the family's health instead of improving it, according to Cosmopolitan, and pay premium prices for the privilege. Here are some of the catchwords and myths about health food to beware:

Sweeteners: Honey is no healthier than sugar—it has 18 calories per tablespoon more than sugar, its nutritional content is too minuscule to matter, it rots teeth faster than sugar and can contain carcinogens and botulism spores that are safe for adults but threaten the lives of infants.

Raw sugar is really refined, but not all the way to white; brown sugar is refined and colored with molasses. Molasses has more nutrients than other sweeteners but also has a strong taste that limits its usefulness.

Fructose has more sweetening power for fewer calories than sucrose and can be handled better by diabetics, but it also rots teeth and may damage blood vessels if overused.

The long-term safety of aspartame—Equal or Nutrasweet—has not been established and saccharin promotes cancer in lab animals.

Raw foods: Many foods lose nutrients in cooking, but others are improved nutritionally by cooking—including dried beans and peas, peanuts, potatoes, sweet potatoes, spinach, broccoli, cauliflower and carrots. Unpasteurized or raw milk is downright dangerous and illegal in most states.

Salty seasonings: Sea salt is no healthier than table salt. A tablespoon of soy sauce contains about half a teaspoon of salt. Tamari sauce is hardly less salty than regular soy sauce, but Kikkoman makes a reduced soy sauce with 47 percent less salt than the regular. Domestic soy sauce generally is saltier than imported brands.

Miso contains nearly as much salt as soy sauce, while oyster sauce is about a third less salty than soy.

Granolas: Granola cereals may be slightly higher in protein, fiber and certain vitamins and minerals than ordinary breakfast cereals, but they offset that advantage by also being high in sugar, fat and calorie content.

Snacks and candies: Health food processors have learned to cash in on the American craving for candy and snacks. Natural or not, they are hardly better than supermarket "junk food." Corn chips, soy chips, banana chips and the like are fried in fat—often coconut oil, the most artery-damaging fat known.

Granola bars, given their fat and sugar content, are just expensive candy.

Nuts and seeds: These protein-rich foods also are high in calories and fat. Seven walnuts contain about 185 calories, an ounce of sunflower seeds has 159 calories and an ounce of sesame seeds, 141. Raw nuts have no nutritional advantage. Health food peanut butter, made without added oil or sweetener, is significantly healthier than standard brands.

Food producers use special language to entice the health conscious. The Cooperative Extension of New York State warns not to be lured by words as natural, light, life, health, nutrition, country, nature, harvest, fair, land, farm or valley.

USC
 quarterback Sean Salisbury changed his course.
 He was forced into the lineup and led the Trojans to a 9-3 record, the Pac-10 title and the team's 21st postseason victory, more than any other school in history.
 "Not to take anything away from Salisbury," said Del Rio, "but Tim was the perfect quarterback for our team this year. He's scrappy. He's a fighter. He's a leader."
 Southern California had a 17-6 halftime lead Tuesday as the Trojans' defense forced Ohio State out of its game plan.
 Earle Bruce, Ohio State's coach, wanted to run his Heisman Trophy runner-up 35-40 times and only pass the ball a maximum of 25 plays. Instead, quarterback Mike Tomczak threw 37 times. Tomczak completed 24 of those for 290 yards. He threw an 18-yard touchdown pass to split end Kris Carter.
 Tomczak, too, committed four turnovers and had forewarned that would be the difference in the game. Two of his interceptions set up Green's passes.
 Bruce blamed the turnovers for the defeat, the Buckeyes' fourth in a row in the Rose Bowl.

Huskies
 Paul Sicuro's 29-yard pass to Danny Greene following a fumbled snap by Oklahoma punter Mike Winchester and Robinson's one-yard run.
 The Sooners pulled within 14-7 on quarterback Danny Bradley's one-yard sneak and tied the score on the final play of the first half, a stunning 61-yard pass play from Bradley to split end Derrick Shepard.
 The fourth-rated Huskies went on to win the game 28-17 to improve to 11-1 for the season. The second-ranked Sooners dropped to 9-2-1 and out of contention for the national championship decided today by writers and broadcasters throughout the country.
