Eating light

NEW YORK (AP) — How long is the average workday lunch hour?

Exactly 49 minutes, 31 seconds, according to a nationwide survey of 100 top U.S. corporations.

Not only is that quite shy of 60 minutes, it's 54 seconds longer than the average employer allows workers to spend at lunch (48 minutes, 37 seconds).

You may think the average boss indulges himself a lot longer, allowing ample time for two martinis and numerous cigars.

Rape suspect nabbed

Illinois man traced to city

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

Big Spring police Thursday afternoon arrested an 18-year-old Watska, Ill., homicide suspect at an apartment complex in Big Spring.

According to Police Lt. Jerry Edwards, he and two other police officers arrested James L. Treece at 2:38 p.m. at an apartment complex in the 1600 block of E. Third Street. The apartments are located behind the Harris Lumber & Hardware store at 1609 E. Fourth, Edwards said.

Edwards, Capt. Roy Lee Osborne and Investigator Tony Chavez made the arrest after receiving a Crime Stoppers tip at 2:16 p.m. that Treece was still in town.

Treece remains in the Big Spring city jail, where he is being held without bond on criminal warrants for one count each of murder, aggravated criminal sexual assault, aggravated kidnapping and home invasion, Edwards said.

The warrants, from Watska, accuse Treece of participating in the Dec. 26 abduction, rape and murder of a 15-year-old neighbor of his in Watska, Jessica Hosick.

The Howard County Sheriff's office was notified Tuesday in a teletype message from Illinois law enforcement officials that Treece might have taken a bus to Big Spring to visit his brother.

Treece was not arrested at his brother's residence, Edwards said. According to that information, Treece allegedly arrived in Big Spring at 4 p.m. Monday. Both sheriff's deputies and police searched the area for Treece, but concluded Wednesday that the man had already left town.

"We still had a few people looking for him, but it wasn't intensive," Edwards said.

The three police officers went to the apartment where Treece was at, according to the Crime Stoppers tip. A man fitting Treece's description answered the door, and after

Whooping it up

Bird watchers crane necks for sight of rare bird in area

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

North Howard County may be playing host to a few unexpected and rare visitors, as area residents have made three sightings of a group of whooping cranes this week, according to ornithologist Bebe McCasland of Big Spring.

Mrs. McCasland said sightings of a groups of two or three tall, white birds with black wingtips have been confirmed as whooping cranes. The birds were sighted Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday over the Knott area, she said.

The rare birds — only 75 have been counted at Aransas Pass, one of their nesting areas — do not usually fly through the Big Spring area, according to Mrs. McCasland.

"We're trying to pinpoint where the birds are. Normally, they are farther south," she said.

The birds — which stand more than 4 feet tall, have a wingspan of about 7½ feet and fly from 50 to 70 miles a day — may be homing in the Knott area, Mrs. McCasland said. The birds probably are attracted by feed crops and natural lakes there.

At this time of the winter, the birds should be in Aransas Pass or at Apache del Bosque, N.M., Mrs. McCasland said.

They normally fly south in November and north in February, she said.

Whooping cranes are an endangered species, and are protected by the federal government.

The are an estimated 140 in the world today. Shooting a whooping crane is a federal crime.

The birds, whose normal habitats are in marshy, coastal areas, may be homing in the area because of the livestock feed in the fields, Mrs. McCasland said.

She said Dave Blankenship of Rockport, a researcher for the Audubon Society, reported that fewer cranes than expected are in the Aransas Pass area now. He also said ornithologists spotted whooping cranes over the Panhandle recently.

Persons who believe they've seen a whooping crane should report the sighting to Mrs. McCasland at 263-0203 or 267-6536, or to the Eos Bird Sanctuary at (915) 694-8001.

Observers who sight the birds are asked to note the time, date, exact location, and what the birds were doing — resting, feeding, flying, etc.

The information is being used by the U.S. Department of Interior and the Audubon Society to maintain an accurate count of the birds and their migratory patterns.

"The more people we have looking skyward, the more chances we have of spotting the birds," Mrs. McCasland said.

Split council OKs Coahoma trash rule

By LUIS RIOS
Staff Writer

COAHOMA — City Council members Thursday night passed a long-awaited city trash collection ordinance and scrapped a previous action that suspended garbage pickup in the city.

The council locked horns again for the third time on the proposed trash collection ordinance. The council has been deadlocked on the controversial issue for over two years.

Council members had passed an amended ordinance July 12, 1984, but failed to have the required readings.

The new ordinance, labeled as the original by some council members, passed by a slim 3-2 vote Thursday night. Council members Steve New, Brian Jensen and Gary Roberts, who also approved the July 12 ordinance, decided in favor of the ordinance. Lawrence Aberegg and Jerry "Red" Brockman opposed the ordinance, voting against it for the second time.

Garbage was not picked up Thursday because Gerald King, who contracts to haul trash for the city, said he received a registered letter that morning notifying him he could not make another trash collection in the city.

The letter, dated Dec. 31, was signed by Mayor Pat Harrison. It stated: "I have been instructed by the Coahoma City Council to inform you that a current certificate of insurance and statement of workmen's compensation insurance for your business and your employees must be on file with the City Secretary at City Hall. This is a regulation by the State of Texas. However, the state does not require workmen's compensation insurance thus making the action for suspension void, said one council member.

Roberts said the council did not take action on the workmen's compensation insurance but instead on the liability insurance on his vehicle. King said he had submitted proof of liability to the city Monday. He also said his liability coverage exceeded the state requirements.

Under the new ordinance, the charge for residential pickup of trash will be $7.50 monthly for weekly pickup. All duplex apartments, triplex, group housing, trailer court or other multi-family housing will be charged $7.50 per month per residence for weekly pickup.

The city had been not been charging trailer courts and other multi-housing units on a per resident status before the first reading of the ordinance Thursday.

Businesses with an average of two barrels per week will be charged $10.50 monthly, and businesses with an average of three barrels a week will be charged $20.50. All businesses with an average of four barrels per week will have to pay $40.50 per month for weekly pickup, according to the ordinance.

The Coahoma Independent School District will be charged $150.50 per month for weekly collection.

King currently is not collecting trash for the schools or businesses. Two stipulations of the new ordinance drew responses from a few of the citizens gathered at the community center.

The ordinance states the City Water Department will disconnect a resident's water if he refuses to pay the trash collection fee. The or-

Artist doesn't mask his trade

Baptist minister creating own flamboyant fantasy

GALVESTON (AP) — Feathers and a faint fragrance of jasmine float around Mike Stark as he creates his flights of fantasy.

Stark, a big man with a bushy, red beard, makes delicate-looking masks out of colorful feathers, rhinestone jewelry, sequins, bones, fur and anything else that strikes his fancy.

A Greenville, Texas, native, who now lives in New Orleans' French Quarter, Stark recently visited Galveston as a guest of Pat Blakeney, who own election at 101 Kempner.

At a table set up in the entranceway to the store, the friendly, flamboyant artist glued feathers to the hand-formed half-mask forms. When all the layers of feathers were attached with a hot glue gun, he dug through old cookie tins filled with rhinestone jewelry collected from flea markets and garage sales. He quickly found the piece de resistance to finish the crown of the mask.

Stark favors the flamboyant. Maybe that's why he dresses the way he does. "This is not a costume, this is daily wear," he said, referring to his unconventional clothes. Dressed in blue harem pants, a plaid tunic and a rose pink scarf tied around his head, Stark doesn't look like an ordained Baptist minister, but he is. Stark was born in Greenville 45 years ago. He attended the Baptist seminary in New Orleans and that city directed him to his artistic career.

"I fell in love with the city.... it's a city full of sheer magic.... New Orleans has a mystique that stimulates magic," he said as he plucked a handful of pink-dyed feathers from a cluster and glued them individually onto the mask form.

"Wearing masks, or 'masking,' is magical and fantasy, Stark said. "Masks allow them (the wearers) to take off the masks they wear everyday. It allows them to express another part of themselves.

"It's not you responsible for what you do. The mask made you do it," he said with a smile.

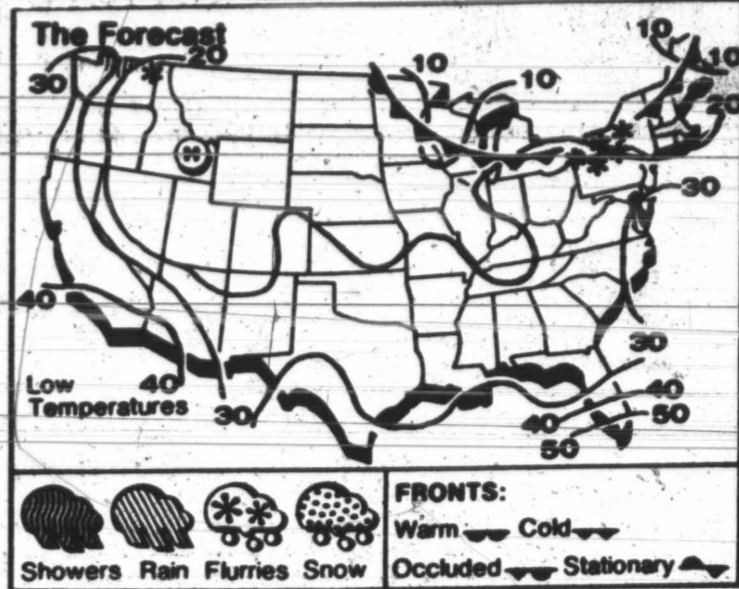

Many of the approximately 2,000 masks he makes each year are custom-made to reflect the personality of the wearer. He makes masks for the New Orleans Mardi Gras, New Year's parties, Halloween and masquerade parties for customers all over the world.

An Austrian princess orders at least 12 masks a year for a special dinner party where each guest gets a custom-made mask. Stark also does five shows a year at Key West, Fla., East Hampton, N.Y., and other places around the country to sell his masks.

The feather masks range in price from $30 on up, depending on the amount of time and the number of feathers. A New Orleans restaurant owner paid $4,000, the most yet for a Stark mask. The restaurateur wanted to look like a cockatoo for Mardi Gras, so Stark designed a full headdress in three shades of blue that extends down his arms. Stark said he wears it only on Mardi Gras day during the street parade.

"Street masking is really important for Mardi Gras," Stark said. For the Galveston Mardi Gras — set for February — to be a success, he said, everyone should wear masks. "Otherwise it's a spectator sport."

Suspect

Treece is scheduled to be transferred to the Howard County Jail Friday, Edwards said. "He's going through the booking procedure now," he said.

According to Wateka law enforcement authorities, Treece shot Hosick four times in the back of the head after he and another man sexually assaulted the girl in Treece's apartment and again at a rural Onarga, Ill. spot. According to an Associated Press report, a 38-caliber handgun was recovered from Treece's apartment in Wateka, Sheriff Joe Mathy of Iroquois County, Ill., said.

Treece's alleged accomplice, William Braid, 25, also of Wateka, remains in jail in Illinois without bond, according to Illinois officials. Miss Hosick's body was found early Monday near Onarga by hunters, Mathy said.

According to Mathy, she had been staying with relatives while her mother was out of town and returned to the apartment briefly to feed her cat when the abduction occurred.

Duo presents recital at BSHS

James and Li-Ly Chang Cunningham presented a master class/recital to members of the Stear Band this week.

The alto saxophone/piano duo presented a collage of contemporary alto sax works, according to band director Richard Mitchell.

Cunningham is a 1967 graduate of Big Spring High School. He received his undergraduate degree in music from Sam Houston State University. In 1980, he was the first saxophonist in the history of the Peabody Conservatory to be awarded the coveted Artist Diploma.

The following year, he won the fifth annual world competition for wind instruments in Ancona, Italy, and was nominated for the Distinguished Alumni Award at Peabody. Li-Ly Chang Cunningham was the first prize winner in both the Taipei Piano Competition and the Taiwan Government Competition in 1975. She studied at West Texas State University under a full scholarship and won the Texas Piano Concerto competition before earning her master of music degree.

She was professor of piano at the Tungal University and Theological Baptist Seminary in Taiwan. After her marriage to Cunningham, she moved back to the U.S.

The Cunninghams made their debut at Carnegie Hall in 1983. They are planning a Baltimore recital.

Man hospitalized in shooting

A Big Spring man in his 20s remains in Malone-Hogan Hospital today, where he is being treated for a gunshot wound in his upper left chest, according to Big Spring Police.

The man, whose identity has not been released, apparently suffered a self-inflicted wound from a .22-caliber revolver, Police Lt. Jerry Edwards said. The shooting occurred inside 308 W. 20th shortly before 9:25 a.m., when police were notified of the incident by a person in the house, who heard the shot while resting in a bedroom. The shooting occurred in the front portion of the house.

Local arrested for assault

A 24-year-old Big Spring man, on parole from an eight-year sentence for forgery by passing, remains in the Big Spring jail today after his arrest Thursday for suspicion of aggravated assault.

Ruben Juarez of 503 Abrams was arrested at 11 a.m. Thursday in the state parole office at 100 Main on warrants for aggravated assault with a deadly weapon and parole violations, Parole officer David Harman said.

Juarez is being held in the jail without bond pending a parole revocation hearing. No date has been set yet for the hearing, Harman said.

The warrant for assault, out of Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin's office, charges Juarez with allegedly stabbing a man Dec. 22 in the San Luis Lounge on Third street, Harman said.

Coahoma

The council and King also discussed possible changes in the contractor's current five-year contract. King, who could be required by the city to purchase workmen's compensation insurance, said in return he wanted the city to help him with the dumping or allow him to collect the additional 50 cents the city keeps from trash collection.

King is currently charging the city 77 per cent, and the city is allowed to keep the additional 50 cents for billing purposes.

"I'm fulfilling my contract," King told the council. "I'm not breaking my contract. I don't see how you can cut me off. I've been arguing for two years and I'm tired of it."

"My biggest gripe in the beginning was arm twisting," said Mayor Harrison. "You make these laws but one of these days you have got to live by them, too."

"And I'm not satisfied with the contract. It lists what we are going to do for the contractor."

However, the first two items on King's contract list his specific duties: to pick up trash in the city of Coahoma once a week and haul trash to Big Spring-Howard County Landfill, Roberts told her.

"That's all he is required to do," he added.

Deputies storm church, arrest church members

CLAIRTON, Pa. (AP) — Sheriff's deputies armed with clubs today broke into a church and arrested seven dissident church members and union leaders who had barricaded themselves inside for several weeks in a protest against "corporate evil."

Authorities said there was no resistance from those inside Trinity Lutheran Church, and Clairton Police Chief Kenneth Ujevich said none of the four men and three women arrested was injured.

The occupants were cited for contempt of court after they ignored a judge's order to vacate the small stone church, whose congregation split after its former pastor, the Rev. D. Douglas Roth, began preaching that too little was being done to help the unemployed.

Allegheny County Sheriff Eugene Coon and dozens of sheriff's deputies wearing blue jumpsuits and armed with clubs surrounded the church around dawn.

Coon pushed reporters off the church's lawn and, using a chrome bullhorn, called out to those inside: "Those of you inside the church, do you hear me? ... You have a court order to vacate. Open the doors and come out."

"This is the sheriff of Allegheny County with a court order," Coon said. "You're in contempt at this time. Please open the doors and come out."

There was no response from inside the church.

The deputies then used a crowbar to break into a wooden rear door. Then deputies, working from inside, unchained a second, glass door.

The chief said the deputies had the arrests "all planned out."

Local woman injured in crash

A 71-year-old Big Spring woman was taken to Hall-Bennett Hospital Thursday morning after the cab in which she was a passenger collided with a truck-trailer at 10th and Gregg.

Ora Ashenhurst of 1700 Lancaster was treated and released from the hospital, according to Hall-Bennett spokeswoman.

Neither the driver of the cab, Raymond Elmer Davis, 60, of 305 Galveston, or the driver of the Amoco truck, Charles Marvin Estes, 59, of Alvin were injured in the accident.

The collision occurred at 8:44 a.m. at the intersection of 10th and Gregg.

About $630 in hand and power tools were stolen from a pickup truck toolbox between 7 p.m. Sunday and 9 a.m. Thursday, Ronnie Baird of 1606 F.M. 700 told police.

The theft occurred while the white 1983 Chevrolet truck was parked at 1603 E. Fifth, the report stated. Taken were: an electric saw, valued at $90; a jigsaw, valued at $165; a saw, valued at $140; two tool belts, valued at $120; two 25-foot measuring tapes, valued at $25 each; a hammer, worth $38; a framing square, worth $15; and a triangular square, worth $9.

About $530 in power tools was taken from another pickup truck between 5 p.m. Wednesday and 5 p.m. Thursday, owner Librado Calderon of 408 Abrams told police.

Taken from the blue and white 1981 Ford pickup were: two power saws, valued at $150 each; a power router, valued at $80; a four-foot level, valued at $50; and a measuring tape, valued at $16. In addition, about $300 of damage was done to the truck's paint.

A brown velvet recliner was taken between 6 p.m. Wednesday and 8 a.m. Thursday in a burglary at a vacant house, 605 Johnson, R. Gage Lloyd of 401 Edwards told police.

At the same time, a door knob was damaged and 13 windows and aluminum window screens were also damaged. Damage to the windows was estimated at $200.

A car stereo-cassette player and speaker set was reported stolen Thursday from Montgomery Wards in the Highland Mall, store employee John Porter told police.

The theft occurred about 5 p.m. Thursday, when a person asked for a refund for the set, valued at $120. When a clerk asked him for a receipt, the suspect took the item and fled the store. The stereo set was discovered missing from the store's inventory, the police report stated.

Police arrested James King, 48, of 4100 Parkway at 11:55 p.m. in the 1400 block of S. Gregg on suspicion of driving while intoxicated.

Arsonist gets prison term

BOSTON — A 26-year-old man who admitted leading a group of fellow fire-buffs in one of the nation's largest arson rings has been sentenced to a total of up to 60 years in prison on state and federal charges, authorities said.

Donald F. Stackpole of Scituate was sentenced Thursday to 19-20 years at Walpole state prison after pleading guilty to six arson counts filed by state officials, then was sentenced to 40 years in federal prison.

He was convicted Nov. 30 on 17 federal charges in connection with more than 200 Boston fires in 1982 and 1983 that officials said injured 65 firefighters and caused at least $22 million in property damage.

Man rescues 6 from blaze

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — A 47-year-old man ignored the objections of his family and returned to a burning house to save his former son-in-law after leading his daughter, her new husband and three grandchildren to safety.

Glenn Rodgers, 47, said he was asleep in a back bedroom and awoke smelling smoke. He crawled through the house to find his daughter, her husband and Rodgers' three grandchildren, ages 2, 5 and 6, and led them from the house.

Then he went back for David Ross, who had been asleep in the den. Ross, who was burned over 45 percent of his body, was in stable condition today at the University of Florida Shands Teaching Hospital in Gainesville, officials said.

Jet makes safe landing

SPOKANE, Wash. — The pilot of a United Airlines 727 with 95 passengers and a crew of seven had to set down at Fairchild Air Force Base, the "longest and driest runway around," because of a hydraulic problem, officials said.

United Flight 614 left Spokane International Airport for Denver on Thursday but had to land at the base, about three miles west of the airport, said Air Force spokesman Maj. John Higginbotham. No one was injured.

Volcano erupts in Hawaii

VOLCANO, Hawaii — A big fountain of fiery yellow-and-red lava shot more than a quarter-mile into the sky and was visible 50 miles away as Kilauea Volcano marked the first anniversary of its current eruption.

"We now have sustained fountains of 800 to 1,000 feet and it's still going strong," Wil Tanigawa, a spokesman for the U.S. Geological Survey's Hawaiian Volcano Observatory, said Thursday night.

Massive airlift brings Ethiopian Jews to Israel

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — The government says it secretly airlifted to Israel in the past three months thousands of Ethiopian Jews who have been isolated from the mainstream of Jewish life for 3,000 years.

The Ethiopians, many of whom had never seen an electric light or bathroom, left their famine-stricken country and traveled a circuitous route to what they regard as their God-given homeland.

Many of the estimated 6,000 refugees who arrived in the past three months came here ill, suffering from tropical diseases, dysentery, tuberculosis and malnutrition.

"They arrived in a very serious state. ... They are probably in the same state as that of the survivors of the Holocaust death camps," said Professor Yosef Rosenfeld, head of an internal medicine department at Beilinson Hospital in suburban Tel Aviv.

Six Ethiopian children are hospitalized at Beilinson — three of them have protruding bones and wide, staring eyes. The nurses who enter their rooms must don a gown, masks and gloves to guard against being infected. On the door, a large sign in Hebrew says: "Isolation."

Airport workers who witnessed the Ethiopians' arrival in large groups said many of them stepped off the planes carrying only a water jug. "In a famine country, the water jug is sometimes the most precious possession," said Yossi Uzzad, one worker interviewed on the radio.

The airlift, which began against a backdrop of Israeli concern for the plight of the Jews in the famine-stricken African country, is the biggest rescue operation by the Jewish state since the early 1950s when Israel flew in nearly 50,000 Jews from Yemen.

Most of Ethiopia's estimated 25,000 Jews had lived in the country's northern provinces as farmers and tradesmen since Biblical times when, according to tradition, their forefathers from the tribe of Dan emigrated to Africa.

They suffered discrimination at the hands of their Christian Ethiopian neighbors and as a result isolated themselves from their surroundings.

They adhered to an orthodox way of life, interpreting the commands of the Bible in such a literal sense that they view elements of the Judaism practiced in Israel as impure.

Israel's rabbis, on the other hand, found it hard to accept the Ethiopians' brand of Judaism and only recognized them as Jews in 1972. The Ethiopians are still asked to undergo a ceremonial water-immersion which the rabbis call a "renewal of the covenant."

An estimated 5,000 Jews made their way to Israel between 1977 and 1983. One of them, Ephraim Mengistu, 21, is a student at Tel Aviv University. He arrived here a year and a half ago, leaving his family behind.

Mengistu acts as a translator for the newly arrived immigrants. "They came because of a dream, because of faith. They say they don't know why (they emigrated). It's all from God."

JERUSALEM — Israel's Supreme Court has increased the prison sentences of two Jews convicted of involvement in terror attacks against Palestinians, Israel Radio said.

The high court ruling Thursday followed government appeals against what prosecutors said were overly lenient sentences given by Jerusalem District Court.

U.S. soldier killed in fall

PANAMA CITY, Panama — A U.S. soldier, who reportedly was demonstrating how a friend died in a recent accident, lost his balance and fell to his death from a fifth-floor hotel balcony, a hotel spokeswoman said.

U.S. Army spokesman William Ormsby on Thursday identified the man as Pvt. Michael Allen Hobson, 19, of Tulare, Calif.

Car dealerships bombed

POINTE-A-PITRE, Guadeloupe — Two bombs exploded at automobile dealerships in Guadeloupe, causing one injury and extensive damage, authorities said.

Police said bombs went off Thursday at Auto Guadeloupe in Pointe-a-Pitre, a seller of French-made cars, and the Sorec Company in Raizet, just outside of Pointe-a-Pitre. That company sells Fords. An Auto Guadeloupe employee was wounded in his right leg by the blast, officials said.

Police kill one, nab five

SANTIAGO, Chile — Police killed a gunman and arrested five people in raids on a private home stocked with guns and a Socialist Party research center, the government said.

A police agent and two firemen were wounded Thursday in a half-hour shootout with the gunman at a Santiago home, the government said.

The raid ended with an explosion and fire that engulfed the one-story home. The man's body was found inside along with two sub-machine guns, an automatic pistol and a rocket launcher, police said.

Bribery trial postponed

BONN, West Germany — The bribery trial of former economics minister Otto Lamb-dorff, which was scheduled to begin Jan. 10, has been postponed, with a new trial date to be set later.

Lambdorff, 58, is accused of taking bribes from the Flick industrial holding company. He was to be tried with Hans Friderichs, his predecessor as economics minister, and Eberhard von Brauchitsch, a former Flick executive.

Killer executed in Louisiana

ANGOLA, La. (AP) — David Dene Martin, a onetime sidewalk evangelist described as alternately obsessed with God and drugs, went to his death in the electric chair today for murdering his wife's lover and three other people.

He made no final statement, walking tight-lipped and wide-eyed to the heavy wooden chair at the Louisiana State Penitentiary, where he became the second man to be executed within a week.

After Martin was pronounced dead at 12:16 a.m., the coroner pulled away the dead man's T-shirt to check his pulse and bared a tattoo: "Love Gloria," the name of his unfaithful wife.

Bhopal teaches deadly lesson

New names have entered the vocabulary of disaster. Some are unfamiliar: a gas called methyl isocyanate, a city in India called Bhopal. One name is familiar: Union Carbide. As the toll of dead and injured rose in Bhopal, it was natural and perhaps it will ultimately prove correct to blame the well-known manufacturer. For now, though, the right response is to give the victims all possible aid, to avoid fault-finding until the evidence is in and to ensure quickly that similar tragedies will not recur.

Experts on such matters say that such an accident in the United States is unlikely; that technicians are better trained, government industrial regulation tighter, gas-storage tanks farther from population centers. But anyone who dismisses India as a technologically backward country knows nothing of India. A country that manufactures precision instruments and airplanes, that has built a nuclear bomb, may be poor, but it is not backward.

A country as advanced as the United States could be assumed to have government regulations on storage of hazardous chemicals like methyl isocyanate. It doesn't — although recent legislation now requires such controls. Nor is there cause for smugness about American handling of other toxic material. An industrialized society generates a lot of them, but only in recent years has the United States begun grappling with such threats as that of hazardous waste. Blame for the Bhopal tragedy may rest with Americans, Indians or, more likely, both. Finding fault will be important, but less so than finding how to make industry safer.

How to keep a Pentagon secret

The administration is mad at the media for breaking the story on its hush-hush military space shuttle mission that will take place Jan. 23, 1985, between 1:15 and 4:15 p.m., Eastern Standard Time.

How did the news people find out the military was launching a top secret "grapefruit" from Discovery on the date in question? The Pentagon held a press conference to announce it.

A brigadier general in full uniform told reporters the mission was so sensitive, that if anything leaked out about it, the national security of the country would be threatened. Anyone who speculated as to what the Air Force was up to was giving aid, comfort and information to the Soviets.

I hope the Pentagon will forgive me for saying this, but it has only itself to blame for the story getting the play it did. When you're in the business of launching a top-secret payload from a NASA shuttle, you don't call a televised press conference a month before flight time to announce that you're not going to talk about what you're doing, and the media better not look any further into the story.

This is particularly true during the holiday season. Up until the Air Force alerted the world to its mission, most newspaper and television reporters were sucking their thumbs in Washington, putting out stories about who the next Democratic Party chairman would be, what Nancy Reagan was giving Ronnie for Christmas, and how much voltage it took to light the national Christmas tree on the mall.

NASA officials couldn't sell a story in December on the next shuttle flight if their lives depended on it. As far as the public is concerned, the program has become old hat, and when you've seen one shuttle flight you've seen them all.

I am not against the Air Force secretly launching military hardware into space. I just think there are better ways of doing it than alerting the media to their plans, and then warning them not to "speculate" what the military is up to. This is how the Defense Department should have handled it.

It has already been announced that an American schoolteacher would be the first "non-astronaut," "non-scientist" to take a ride on the shuttle.

Instead of the Air Force calling a press conference, NASA should have announced they had selected a teacher for the next shuttle mission. Let's say it was Miss Gottleib of Public School 35, in Hollis, N.Y. Miss Gottleib would be flown to Washington with her entire class.

For a month the media would follow every waking moment of Miss Gottleib's training. On Jan. 23 the entire world would be tuned in on this historic flight. Every TV camera would follow the teacher from her dressing room to the launch pad to liftoff.

Houston Control would provide us with hourly reports from Miss Gottleib on how she was enjoying her trip. Now, unbeknownst to anyone, except the captain of the shuttle, the Air Force would have placed its top-secret package in the hatch. When the shuttle passed over the Soviet Union, and with all cameras focused on Miss Gottleib bouncing up and down in the cabin in a weightless condition, the captain would sneak back to the cargo bay and kick out the satellite into the sky.

After the flight, while Miss Gottleib rode in a ticker-tape parade down Fifth Avenue, the Air Force's $300 million gizmo would be safely in stationary orbit, listening to Chernenko snoring in Moscow, measuring heat from Siberian outhouses, and photographing Russian generals drinking vodka with their mistresses on the Black Sea. Not one person inside or outside the media would be any the wiser as to what Discovery's real mission was.

That's how you conduct a secret shuttle operation. If the people in the Pentagon don't know how to do it, let's find somebody in this country who does.

Israel is aiding Ethiopia

WASHINGTON — It's no secret that Ethiopia's deadly famine has been made worse, not better, by the actions of its Marxist leader, Col. Mengistu Haile Mariam. Instead of mounting an all-out effort to help the starving millions, he has devoted the government's energies to putting down rebellious tribesmen in the northern areas where the famine has been most severe.

What is a well-kept secret, though, is that Mengistu has been getting military aid from Israel almost since the day he seized power 10 years ago. What makes this surprising is that, according to a secret CIA report seen by my reporters Dale Van Atta and Scott Barrett, Israel was second only to the United States as a source of military and technical aid to Ethiopia during the reign of Emperor Haile Selassie, the man Mengistu ousted in 1974. The United States didn't make the ideological leap, but Israel did.

Unlike Mengistu, who got his military training in the United States, several of his associates were trained at an Ethiopian military academy staffed by Israelis. Ever since he and his buddies seized power, they have been "in discreet contact with Israel," the CIA report states, adding: "The Israelis, for their part, welcome any opportunity to improve their position in Africa."

Incredibly, though Israeli military advisers were kicked out of Ethiopia in 1973 when diplomatic relations were broken, they were secretly invited back by Mengistu in December 1975. The CIA report explains that Mengistu and his cohorts "decided that the Israelis could help the army cope with the many insurrections throughout the country," and that this service outweighed any political fallout from Ethiopia's Arab neighbors.

In addition to training, the Israelis offer Mengistu's army weapons it needs to fight the rebels in the northern provinces. They have sold him at least $20 million worth of Soviet-made munitions and spare parts captured two years ago from the Palestinians in Lebanon — and at bargain-basement prices.

The Soviets, of course, remain Mengistu's major military patron. This alliance began in 1977 when the Kremlin decided to ditch Somalia, Ethiopia's neighbor to the east, which had been harboring anti-Mengistu rebels.

"Up to 17,000 Cuban troops and over $1 billion in Soviet arms were rushed to Ethiopia by early 1978," a secret Joint Chiefs of Staff report states, "and the Soviets deployed a general staff to organize and direct the Cuban-Ethiopian war effort against Somalia."

The Soviet intervention in Ethiopia, according to the Joint Chiefs' report, was even bigger than that in Angola, which began in 1975. More than 1,500 Soviet military advisers are stationed in Ethiopia, though the Cuban troops have been cut back to about 5,000, mostly on the Somali border. East German advisers have dwindled from the 550 counted by Western intelligence in Addis Ababa two years ago.

What do the Soviets get for their help? Perhaps their biggest strategic prize is the Dahlak Islands in the Red Sea, near the Ethiopian port of Massawa. The Soviets have been building a naval and air base there for three years, including the world's largest floating dock. Intelligence reports indicate that the islands are now a virtual Soviet enclave, off limits even to Ethiopians.

What the anti-Mengistu rebels get from the Soviet collaboration, of course, is more grief than they can handle. The Eritreans, for example, who have been fighting Ethiopian governments for 22 years, have been subjected to attacks by MiG-21s, MiG-23s, Mi8 helicopters, and the Soviet Mi24 helicopter gunships that have created such carnage in Afghanistan.

Nevertheless, the Eritreans have continued to fight, and have actually won the last few major battles with Mengistu's Soviet-supplied troops. The rebels in Tigre province have also fought the government troops to a standstill.

In fact, so bothersome have the Eritrean rebels' ambushes on government truck convoys become, according to a CIA report, that Mengistu has been forced to rely on expensive air drops to supply his troops. He is considering the use of pack animals, instead of more-vulnerable vehicles.

EXECUTIVE MEMO: A proposal to move the Office of Personnel Management's executive training center from Denver to a small town three hours up into the Colorado mountains has burned up Rep. Pat Schroeder, D-Colo., in whose district the OPM center now lies.

Though OPM boss Donald Devine claims the move to Grand Junction would save money, Rep. Schroeder wrote Budget Director David Stockman that it would actually cost the taxpayers $480,000 over the first three years.

"I realize that in the annals of federal pyrotechnics burning $480,000 is hardly a three-alarm fire," Rep. Schroeder noted. "Nonetheless, I urge you to intervene in this move and extinguish it once and for all."

Agency for International Development staffers who attended the graveside service for William Stanford, the AID auditor killed by hijackers at the Tehran airport, were shocked by the episode that closed the somber ceremony. AID Administrator Peter McPherson was given the American flag to pass along to Stanford's widow. But McPherson had to ask the dead man's daughter which mourner was her mother. AID employees were upset by this lack of diplomatic grace.

U.S.-Soviet talks will not stop arms race

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — The arms race will go on after George P. Shultz and Andrei A. Gromyko hold their high-visibility meeting next week in Geneva.

At most, the U.S. secretary of state and the Soviet foreign minister will agree on a formula for reopening stalled negotiations to curb some — but by no means all — nuclear missiles, bombers and submarines.

The Reagan administration would consider that outcome a success. But people everywhere are likely to be disappointed. Their hopes have been raised beyond all plausible proportions by the publicity trained on the meeting.

Moreover, the scope of weapons negotiations is generally misunderstood. Arms control is not disarmament. Even when the United States and the Soviet Union are able to reach an agreement they carefully exclude weapons considered necessary for their defense.

Technology then contributes to the buildup, producing refinements such as the multiple-warhead missiles of the 1970s that raise the level of danger.

Today's Strategic Defense Initiative has the potential of carrying the competition to a new frontier — and of unraveling at least one major agreement, the Anti-Ballistic Missile Treaty of 1972.

"Star Wars" is a research program designed to develop a defense against missiles. The treaty is based on the theory that lowering defenses is a safeguard against nuclear war. An aggressor presumably would be less likely to attack if he could count on being clobbered

...the scope of weapons negotiations is generally misunderstood. Arms control is not disarmament.

Shultz is prepared to put defensive weapons on the table in dual talks with the Soviets after Geneva. The other set of negotiations would deal with bombers, missiles and submarines — so-called offensive weapons.

But Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger, who shares Reagan's commitment to futuristic research, said recently the president would not give Star Wars up. That appears to rule out any tradeoff.

Negotiating an agreement to curb offensive weapons is not exactly a piece of cake, either. During the 13 months of deadlock both the United States and the Soviet Union have added to their stockpiles while also sharpening the quality of their weapons.

Nearly 100 new U.S. missiles were installed in West Germany, Britain and Italy, targeted on Soviet territory. The Soviets, meanwhile, deployed new missiles in East Germany and Czechoslovakia, moved their submarines closer to U.S. shores and tested a land-based cruise missile.

According to figures released last month by the State Department, the Soviets now have 387 SS-20s and are building at least 10 new bases to accommodate 90 more of the mobile, triple-warhead missiles.

All these moves add to the burden of the U.S. and Soviet negotiators who would try to work out a treaty. The tradeoffs that were being discussed before the breakdown have to be debated all over again to take the new developments into consideration.

And that's looking at the bright side.

There is no assurance Gromyko will agree with Shultz on a formula for negotiations. The Soviet foreign minister could make demands — such as an immediate ban on testing anti-satellite weapons — considered unacceptable by the administration.

The current stalemate would then be extended into the foreseeable future, until the two governments found a way to talk again about the nuclear threat. Meanwhile, the U.S.-Soviet relationship would suffer, since it depends largely on Geneva.

The Soviets probably would increase their military pressure on Western Europe and go ahead with new strategic missiles without retiring older ones.

In fact, John D. Steinbruner, director of the Foreign Policy Studies program of the Brookings Institution, suggested this week that the Soviets may already have decided they cannot reach an arms control agreement with the Reagan administration.

"There are lots of signs the Soviet Union is in a new phase" of weaponry while it tries to cope with the Reagan administration's weapons program, he said.

Barry Schweid reports on diplomacy and national security for The Associated Press.

'Falcon' taxes friendly pact

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
My cup of infatuation runneth over with Napa Valley wine.

Not anymore. I've reached an absolute end of sustaining interest in CBS' Friday night soap opera "Falcon Crest," and thus must tearfully change channels when that little theme song and cast of devious characters come splashing across the TV screen.

What's particularly painful is that I must go back on my word to Ana Alicia who plays Melissa Agretti Cumson in the series.

Ms. Alicia is originally from El Paso. Two years ago, I had an opportunity of interviewing and writing a major feature story about her for an El Paso newspaper. I found out in the interview that Ms. Alicia and I would have been in the same class had I attended high school in El Paso. She knew many of my childhood friends and in fact attended the high school prom as my best friend's date.

She commanded me at the end of our magic telephone interview to faithfully watch "Falcon Crest" which I promised her I would. Now I must be a cruel man and break that promise. A "creep" — you women may call me — but for the sake of human sanity, I cannot withstand another 60-minute episode of this nonsense.

The show's plot is totally implausible. Characterizations deny any semblance of reality. Washington Post television critic Tom Shales uses a perfect adjective to describe relationships of this kind between television viewer and the sloop on-hand. That adjective is "ludicrous."

Everyone cheats on each other. And other characters refuse to die, namely Abby Dalton who plays the fugitive Julia Cumson.

But it was Ms. Alicia I became most concerned about. In certain scenes, I saw her miss her cues. And the character she plays — Melissa Agretti Cumson — is fast becoming the most hateful character TV audiences will remember. She shows no mercy, hops from bed-to-bed and displays a lust for power and wealth that is sickening.

Ana concluded our interview two years ago by saying she would like to move her career into the direction of stage either in New York or London.

I'd say the time has come.

Today is Friday, Jan. 4, the fourth day of 1985. There are 361 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On Jan. 4, 1885, Dr. William W. Grant of Davenport, Iowa, performed what is believed to have been the first appendectomy.

19 teams to compete in league basketball

By KIM KIRKHAM
Religion Editor

Church league basketball will begin next week with 19 teams competing, including 17 churches, SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf, and the Big Spring Federal Prison Camp.

"It's mostly for fun and fellowship," said Jack Powers, league coordinator. "But it's still strong and highly competitive."

"Keith McVae coordinated the league for a number of years and always did a real fine job, but he just wanted to sit out this year," said Powers, who is serving his first term at the task. A pre-season tournament occurred in December. In April, at the end of the season, a post-season tournament will be played with two or three games going simultaneously. "That way all the teams will be involved," said Powers.

This year, committees were assigned to delegate the work. They are the scheduling committee, the tournament committee, the rules committee and the protest committee.

Games are held at 6 p.m., 7 p.m. and 8 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday nights. Each team plays one or two games a week. Gyms used are at the First Church of the Nazarene, First Baptist Church and the prison

JACK POWERS, league coordinator

Certified officials call the games which are played under Texas high school rules.

"Every person who plays must be a member of the church they play for, or a member of a church that doesn't have a team," said Powers. Players also must be a freshman in high school or older.

Entry fee is $225 a church, which includes all games and tournaments during the season. "Entry fees and rosters must be turned in no later than the first game," said Powers. For more information contact Powers at 267-9700 or 267-5918 or Keith McVae at the First Baptist Church Family Center.

Cyst remnant of fetal development

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am writing in regard to a throat infection my 23-year-old granddaughter has been bothered with once or twice a year most of her life. It is very painful and swells up terribly. The doctor has to drain it and give her antibiotics. They now give it a name, branchial cleft cyst.

Please, what can you tell me about it? Is surgery to remove this dangerous? The doctor says it should be taken care of as soon as all the infection is out. I worry in case of cancer. — Mrs. L.T.K.

Branchial clefts (little slits) form in neck tissue during embryonic development. Branchia is the Greek word for gills, and the clefts resemble gills. As development continues most branchial clefts close. However, every now and then a remnant of the cleft remains to form a cyst and a story like your granddaughter's results. Many times infection will develop. When that happens, antibiotics are given.

If such a cyst recurs and drains, then removal is recommended. I don't like to evaluate surgery in terms of seriousness. All surgery is potentially serious, as you know. Let me just say that this kind of surgery is not in the same league with heart procedures, for example. In fact, they're far from that. Your granddaughter should have no problems. For your peace of mind, these cysts do not turn into cancer no matter how long their duration.

Dear Abby

Boss thinks woman is nutty

DEAR ABBY: You be the judge: Last night about 7 p.m. I was relaxing in my tub when my doorbell rang. I wasn't expecting anybody, but I got out of the tub, wrapped a towel around me and peeked out my front window to see who it was. I saw a kid about 18 or 19 years old, holding a box. I assumed he was selling something, so I said nothing and went back to my tub because I was not about to open my door to a stranger.

The next morning my boss called me in and said, "Yesterday I asked you if you were going to be home that evening and you said yes, so how come you weren't home?" I told him I was home. Then he told me he had sent his son to my house with a fruitcake his wife had made for a Christmas gift, but nobody answered the door.

I told him the truth — that I was home, my doorbell rang and I saw a kid on my porch but didn't want to open my door to a stranger. He said his son drove clear across town for nothing; then he called me a "paranoid dummy." He really hurt my feelings, Abby. Was I wrong to do what I did? Or was my boss wrong for chewing me out? No name or town, please. I need this job. BEING CAREFUL

DEAR CAREFUL: Orchids to you for being careful, and a wilted weed to your boss for chewing you out. He should have told you that his son would be delivering a gift to you about 7 p.m. Nobody should open his or her door to a stranger.

In 74-33 win over Lady Steers

X-Mas comes late for Midland

By STEVEN BELVIN
Staff Writer

The Big Spring Lady Steers gave the Midland High Lady Bulldogs their Christmas present late.

Midland accepted their belated gift graciously by drumming Big Spring 74-33 in District 4-5A basketball.

The Lady Steers were free-hearted last night, giving Midland the ball via a whopping 42 turnovers. The Lady Bulldogs came into the contest hungry after dropping games to Odessa Permian and Cooper by a total of eight points.

They displayed a fierce fullcourt press and 2-3 zone which had the Lady Steers commit error after error. The first four minutes of play typified the entire contest.

Midland guard Deidra Knapp picked Big Spring guards pocket's three times, turning them into easy layups. The steal brigade raged on as Tina Knight and Denise Lanz got into the act and Midland led 12-0 after four minutes of play.

Knapp, Lanz and Knight combined for 17 of their squad's 22 steals. Lanz, a 5-7 senior forward, had a good all-around game, hitting 7 of 9 from the floor, six rebounds and seven assists. Knight led all scorers with 16.

Monique Jones broke the ice for Big Spring by scoring on a pass from Teresa Pruitt at the 3:53 mark. Midland took a 24-8 first quarter lead and stretched it to 40-17 late in the second quarter when Big Spring went three minutes without scoring.

Dawn Sampley's two free throws broke the slump with one minute remaining. Midland took a 41-20 halftime lead and from then on it was just a case of seeing how close Big Spring could stay to their opponents.

Sophomore post player Sheri Myrick was Big Spring's only offense in the half with eight points, four of them coming on free throws. She led all Lady Steers scorers with 13 points. Jones followed with 8 points and seven rebounds.

Lady Steers coach Carol Niemeyer said lack of ball-handling killed her team's chances last night. "Our biggest problem is we are lacking at point guard. We have some good off guards who have been getting beat up lately trying to play the point.

Coach Elaine Stone's junior varsity team upped their district record to 2-1 by taking a 43-40 win over Midland High.

Shelia Chatman and Lori Gonzales led the way with 19 and 12 points respectively.

Midland High player AMY HUBBARD (30) strips the ball away from Big Spring's TERESA PRUITT in first quarter action last night at Steer Gym.

Bulldogs bite Steers, 85-47

MIDLAND — The Big Spring Steers ran into a hot shooting Midland Bulldogs squad led by Darrell Davis in their District 4-5A encounter last night.

In the end the Bulldogs simply dominated the Steers, winning hands down by a count of 85-47.

Davis, a 6-4 senior post player, proved fatal to the Steers as he gunned in a game-high 38 points.

Midland was in control of things from the start, jumping out to a 23-11 first quarter lead. The margin grew to 47-25 at the half and for all practical purposes the contest was over.

Sophomore guard Benard Williams and freshmen forward Brian Mayfield were Big Spring's two biggest offensive weapons, scoring 13 and 12 points respectively. Reserve forwards Collin Carroll and Sidney Parker combined for 12 points.

USFL has sights set on Boston College's Flutie

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States Football League, proud of its previous record of signing college draft choices, is zeroing in on Heisman Trophy winner Doug Flutie, officially property of the New Jersey Generals.

The USFL, which says it signed almost 40 percent of the players in the previous two drafts, now has the lead in getting down to business with the Boston College quarterback after Thursday's draft.

The signing of the Flutie by the Generals, in a major marketing area, is considered essential for the survival of the league, which begins its third season Feb. 23 with 14 teams — four less than last year.

Flutie, who was in Honolulu for the Hula Bowl, has said he will see what the USFL has to offer.

"If the money and the situation were the same, I would sign with the NFL," Flutie admitted. "But there will be many factors involved.

"It's time to realize your college career is finally behind you. The time has come to talk about pro football ... money and the whole works."

Flutie hired Boston attorney Bob Woolf as his agent following the draft. Doug's father, Richard, said the family had decided a month ago to hire Woolf.

Flutie was one of 19 first-team All-Americans chosen by USFL clubs and one of five B.C. players picked by New Jersey.

"The best quarterback is Doug Flutie," said Jay Seltzer, Generals' president. "Why should I go for less? They don't come any better."

Terry Bledsoe, general manager of the Bills, said that Flutie was among the top choices for his club but said no decision about its plans for the No. 1 pick would be made until late January at the earliest. Since they have the top NFL pick, the Bills are at liberty to negotiate with whatever player they choose.

Spurs dodge bullet in win over Mavs

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — San Antonio Spurs Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons says his team "dodged a real bullet at the end" of their 116-115 win over the Dallas Mavericks Thursday night.

With three seconds left and the Spurs with a four-point lead, San Antonio's Johnny Moore fouled Dallas forward Dale Ellis on a three-point basket.

The basket went in, but Ellis missed the free throw, handing the Spurs their 15th win against 18 losses.

"I had good rotation on the three-pointer," said Ellis, who scored 21 points. "I really thought the free throw was going in."

Moore, relieved the free throw attempt failed, had second thoughts afterwards about his move.

"Being the point guard and running this team, I shouldn't do things

AT&T Challenge tennis competition heating up

The Associated Press
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — It certainly wasn't his most artistic shot of the match, but smashing a ball that hit Jimmy Arias in the shoulder was probably John McEnroe's most effective return.

The shot, which set off a brief shouting match between the two players Thursday night, also drastically altered the complexion of the match and led McEnroe to a 4-6, 6-3, 6-2 victory in the AT&T Challenge of Champions tennis event.

"I should have hit him back," an angry Arias said after the match. "I don't see any reason for him to do that except I was playing well — excuse me."

But McEnroe claimed he was only hitting a normal return and had no idea Arias was in the way.

"If it affected him that was his problem, not mine," said McEnroe. "I don't think there is any secret to what I was doing."

The exchange came with Arias ahead in the game and leading 1-0 in the second set after winning the first set.

But after the incident the match turned around with McEnroe winning 12 of the remaining 15 games to capture the second-round match.

"Maybe it got me going subconsciously," said McEnroe, who also dropped his first set Wednesday before rallying to beat Johan Kriek. "I think he was playing really good tennis to that stage."

The win, coupled with Jimmy Connors' 6-1, 6-3 victory over Kriek, set up a confrontation between Connors and McEnroe tonight that will decide who will play in Saturday's final.

The Connors-McEnroe winner will face either Yannick Noah, Ivan Lendl or Guillermo Vilas in the final depending on the outcome of their matches today.

Connors, who has won both his matches in straight sets, had little trouble advancing by wearing Kriek down with ground strokes.

Also winning Thursday was Noah of France, who used a powerful serve to break open a tight match in the third set and defeat Czechoslovakia's Lendl 7-6, 6-7, 6-1.

The event offers a total of $515,000 in prize money and promoters say they are paying out another $775,000 in appearance money to the players.

Staubach Hall of Fame finalist

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Running back O.J. Simpson and quarterbacks Joe Namath, Roger Staubach and Fran Tarkenton are among the finalists for the 1985 class of enshriners of the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

The list of nominees announced Thursday includes 13 former players, ex-Oakland Raiders Coach John Madden and National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

The finalists, determined by the Hall's 29-member Board of Selectors, will be the only nominees considered when the Selection Committee meets at San Francisco Jan. 19 to name the new class of Hall of Fame members.

No less than four and no more than seven new members are selected each year.

Listed alphabetically, the finalists with their positions, teams and years played follow:

Fred Biletnikoff, wide receiver, 1965-78 Oakland Raiders.
Buck Buchanan, defensive tackle, 1963-75 Kansas City Chiefs.
Carl Eller, defensive end, 1964-78 Minnesota Vikings, 1979 Seattle Seahawks.

Frank Gatski, center 1946-56 Cleveland Browns, 1957 Detroit Lions.
Paul Hornung, running back, 1957-62, 1964-66 Green Bay Packers.

Willie Lanier, linebacker, 1967-77 Kansas City Chiefs.
John Madden, coach, 1960-78 Oakland Raiders.
Dan Maynard, wide receiver, 1958 New York Giants, 1960-62 New York Titans, 1963-72 New York Jets, 1973 St. Louis Cardinals.

Joe Namath, quarterback 1965-76 New York Jets, 1977 Los Angeles Rams.

Johnny Robinson, defensive back, 1960-62 Dallas Texans, 1963-71 Kansas City Chiefs.
Pete Rozelle, NFL Commissioner, 1960 to present.

O.J. Simpson, running back, 1969-77 Buffalo Bills, 1978-79 San Francisco 49ers.
Roger Staubach, quarterback, 1969-79 Dallas Cowboys.

Fran Tarkenton, quarterback, 1961-66, 1972-78 Minnesota Vikings, 1967-71 New York Giants.
Willie Wood, defensive back, 1960-71 Green Bay Packers.

The Selection Committee is made up of one media representative from each NFL city, with the 29th member coming from the Pro Football Writers Association.

To be eligible for election, modern-era players must be retired five years while a coach needs only to be retired.

Eller, Staubach and Simpson are eligible for the first time this year, each having ended his active playing career after the 1979 season.

Gatski was recommended by the Old-Timers Committee, which studied the qualifications of players whose careers ended before 1960.

The announcement of the 1985 class will be made Jan. 22.

The new members will be enshrined at the Pro Football Hall of Fame in Canton Aug. 3, when the New York Giants and the Houston Oilers meet in the Hall of Fame Game.

Houston comes back against TCU

FORT WORTH (AP) — Texas Christian University coach Jim Killingsworth bemoaned the lead that slipped away in the first half against Houston and mistakes that spelled doom for the Horned Frogs.

"We made some mistakes at the end. We just did some things we can't do and expect to still win the ball game," Killingsworth said after Houston downed TCU 83-73 in the Southwest Conference basketball opener for both teams Thursday.

"The same thing happened in the first half," said Killingsworth. "We had a 7-point lead and all of a sudden we start turning the ball over and making mistakes and they come back on us."

The Horned Frogs' Dennis Nutt paced all scorers with 26 points as TCU hit 66 percent from the field, but mistakes at the end handed Houston the victory.

"Houston just got the crucial rebounds at the critical times down the stretch," Nutt said. "That's what you have to do. And we didn't come up with many of those."

"We're a finesse team and we can't afford to turn the ball over and make mistakes," Killingsworth said.

Alvin Franklin scored 22 points and Rickie Winslow and Eric Dickens added 20 each for Houston.

Houston, 9-2, ran off a string of 10 unanswered points after Nutt tied the score at 73 on a jumper with 3:31 remaining.

The Horned Frogs, 8-4, led by as many as seven points in the first half but trailed at the break, 45-43.

The Frogs wound up with 14 turnovers, compared with eight for Houston, which finished the game hitting 58 percent from the field and 15 of 18 free throws.

Winslow's game-high nine rebounds, eight off the offensive boards, helped Houston take the rebound battle, 28-18.

Carven Holcombe finished with 19 points for TCU.
