How's that?

Red H.O.T.

Q. Howard College has a slogan, "Howard College is Red H.O.T." I was wondering if H.O.T. stands for anything, since there are periods after each letter.

A. Linda Woodley of the Office of College Information said H.O.T. does stand for something, but the Hawk cheerleaders haven't revealed just what. The cheerleaders plan to reveal what the letters stand for during an upcoming Hawk game.

Court grants Stacy Dam review

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — The Texas Supreme Court, which dealt a crippling blow to the controversial Stacy Dam reservoir project in West Texas last November, gave it a new lease on life on Wednesday. The appeals court approved a request from the project's supporters to send the matter back to the Texas Water Commission for more review. Backers of the project, the Colorado River Municipal Water District and a host of West Texas cities that would draw water from the reservoir, had hoped for even better news. They wanted a reversal of the appeals court decision that invalidated the original Texas Water Commission permit for the project because of a lack of available water. But supporters still were delighted. "The good part of it is the Stacy project is definitely still very much alive," said Owen Ivie, general manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District in Big Spring. Should the Texas Water Commission approve another permit for the project, the Supreme Court's decision will effectively give the Colorado River Municipal Water District superior water rights over water permits along the river basin issued after February 1978. That was the date the district first filed with the water commission for the project. "Further good news is that the commission, I'm sure, will give very diligent attention to the matter and will endeavor at its earliest convenience to redraw the permit so it will conform with the opinion of the Supreme Court," Ivie said. Ivie predicted that a new permit for the project could be issued by the three-member Texas Water Commission within two months. "We really don't see anything bad in it," he said of the rehearing order, "but we would have been a lot more happy if they would have reversed themselves completely." Envisioned by the district is a 554,340 acre-foot reservoir in portions of Runnels, Concho and Coleman counties. The reservoir is expected to cost in excess of $50 million, and would provide water to several West Texas cities including Big Spring and San Angelo. The Supreme Court, in rejecting the permit late last year, cited objections by the Austin-based Lower Colorado River Authority, which maintained that construction of the project would strip water from those who hold valid water rights downstream of the reservoir. "The remand of this case to the water commission takes some of the sting out of the Stacy Dam decision," said Texas Water Commission member Lee Biggart. "It allows the commission to consider the case again with guidance from the Texas Supreme Court."

The man who wrecked Texas

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

Ray Hollis has been a homewrecker for 37 years, and the Abilene man's pretty proud of it, too. He has torn down more than 20,000 old houses and buildings throughout Texas, including some in Big Spring just south of Interstate 20 and east of Highway 87 in the early 1950s. His most famous job came trying to tear down 13 blocks in downtown Fort Worth.

For his trouble, he has been shot at, threatened with a trip down the Trinity and invited to get the hell out of Dodge — and that was just on the Fort Worth job.

"It had its moments," Hollis said, in Big Spring to promote his book, "Wreckin' Texas," published by Eakin Press in Austin.

At the time, in the 1960s, Hollis said he was threatened by labor unions and the underworld. "They said they were going to take me for my last ride. They said the Trinity was calling," he said.

He narrowly escaped being kidnapped and shot one night when representatives of either the labor unions or the mob — he said he never knew which — took him out of his apartment and downstairs only to be confronted by five of Hollis' men, armed with shotguns.

"They weren't going to get as far as the corner," he said. The way Hollis tells it, he didn't leave town until a man in a finely tailored suit walked into the office and offered him a large sum of money to leave the job with three blocks still standing.

"I told him to double the money, and I'd be gone within an hour," Hollis said. "They wanted to launder their money (from drug sales) through the job."

Most of Hollis' more than 20,000 demolition jobs weren't like that, however, he says. "It's just a job to me. It's just hard work. A lot of sweat. You need a strong back and a weak mind."

The job had difficulties other than run-ins with labor unions and city officials, Hollis said. When he was tearing down the old city auditorium in Abilene's Rose Park, he had "an awful problem getting it down, and the city had condemned it. I put a couple charges on the top of the building to get it started."

Legislators promise water plan for West Texas, no new taxes

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Members of the 1985 Texas Legislature opened a 140-day session at the state Capitol Tuesday with smiles, handshakes and ceremony but also with solemn acknowledgement of the messy money battle they'll fight before leaving town.

Handily elected to a second term as House Speaker at the noon meeting, Gib Lewis, D-Fort Worth, asked his 149 colleagues to pledge that "we will do with what we have, or we will do without" and avoid the "easy course" of raising taxes.

Top priorities for lawmakers, Lewis said, include penning a statewide water plan to ensure continued economic prosperity, strengthening the criminal justice system and improving health care.

State Rep. Larry Don Shaw, D-Big Spring, said he was happy that Lewis placed approval of a water plan as a priority for House members.

"This state has got to come up with a water plan or we are going to be in real trouble sooner than we think and it's not the kind of trouble we can get out of real quickly," he said.

Shaw believes this session of the legislature will be "challenging, but frightening" because of the projected budget deficits.

"We may see Bullock come out with another budget prediction that our revenues will drop another $500 million. But I don't see the mood or support for another tax increase," Shaw said. Financial woes also weighed heavily on the mind of state Sen. John Montford, D-Lubbock, who is serving his second regular legislative session.

"The overriding consideration has got to be the budget, fiscal matters and making ends meet," Montford said. Looking for waste in government is a health process, he said, adding that the lawmakers should use this crisis to wean the state from the oil and gas industry tax revenues.

Montford, D-Lubbock, was passed over for a committee chairmanship Tuesday.

Hampered by a lack of seniority and turnover in the Senate, Montford will have some prominent committee tasks nonetheless.

He was renamed to the Senate Natural Resources Committee, where he was tapped chairman of that panel's subcommittee on water. Montford served as vice chairman of that subcommittee two years ago.

Montford expressed particular pleasure at his leading role in the Senate on water, an issue crucial to his West Texas legislative district that also is expected to dominate legislative discussions throughout the early weeks of the 140-day session.

Hobby did not reappoint Montford to the Senate Education Committee, but did give him a post on the Senate Economic Development Committee and continued his seat on the Senate Jurisprudence Committee.

Unearthing pieces of history

Construction workers discover mastodon bones, tusks

By the Associated Press

AUSTIN — The bones, teeth and tusks from prehistoric mastodons have been unearthed at a downtown construction site, and experts said Tuesday that the find could qualify as the second largest discovery of mastodon bones in North America.

The site is being excavated for a 22-story office building, and the bones were discovered 17 feet below street level by a construction worker who noted a flash of ivory in a mound of gray clay.

Experts used hand-shovels Tuesday to sift through the damp soil where the first bone was found Dec. 30, while bulldozers continued to scoop up dirt in other sections of the construction site.

"They're watching everything falling out of the tunnel like crazy," said Ernest Lundelius, a paleontologist with the University of Texas geology department.

The primitive, elephant-like mastodons died out at least 10,000 years ago, but at least one of the tusks discovered is well-preserved because of the clay makeup of the soil, Lundelius said.

The site might rank second in quantity of remains to a mastodon site in Missouri, and confirmation is being sought from the Smithsonian Institution, he said.

The site, about 10 blocks from the state Capitol, is being developed by the Dallas-based Trammell Crow Co., which hired Lone Star Architectural Services to be on hand during excavation.

"We expected to find historic — not prehistoric — findings," said Aubrey Haines, Trammell Crow construction manager. "I've had projects delayed before, but not for reasons like this."

The first 3-foot-long piece of tusk

HARDLY WORKING — Workers delicately unearth bones and tusks from prehistoric mastodons at a building site in downtown Austin. Ernest Lundelius, paleontologist at the University of Texas, estimating the age of the bones, said, "It's at least 10,000 years old, it could be older."

was unearthed by backhoe operator Steve Tarkington, who was digging in clay that Lundelius said probably was the bed of a pond on the old flood plain of the Colorado River.

"I just saw a piece of ivory flashing in the bucket," Tarkington told the Austin American-Statesman. "I just threw it out and looked at it later."

Archaeologist Alton Briggs, who identified the ivory as a mastodon tusk, said the pond might have been a watering hole for mastodons.

"I've never encountered anything like this before," Briggs said Tuesday, as he and five other experts continued to dig through the clay.

"It's very uncommon," he said. "We were looking for Indian artifacts."

Mastodons, which stood 7 to 10 feet tall at the shoulder, were similar to mammoths, an extinct relative of elephants. But Briggs said a mastodon find is much rarer than a mammoth find. The bones of only a few hundred mastodons have been found, but about 3,100 mammoths have been located, he said.

Remains of mastodons have been found from the Austin area to the Texas coast, but this find, which was announced Monday, is special because experts can pinpoint where the animals died, Briggs said.

Usually, the bones are dredged up from creek beds, where they might have ended up after being washed downstream, he said.

Besides tusks, the find so far includes a rib, part of the upper left jawbone with two large teeth intact, a well-worn molar, spine bones, foot bones, and another bone that might have come from a leg.

The construction project probably will be pushed back only three to five days, Haines said.

Security guards have been hired to patrol the site and at least 100 people have stopped outside the fence surrounding the area for a look at the bones, he said.

Pupil nominated to academies

Danielle Clere of Big Spring is one of 13 high school students in the 17th Congressional District to receive nominations to the United States Service Academies.

Clere was nominated for admission to:

Merchant Marine Academy in Kings Port, N.Y.; Naval Academy in Annapolis, Maryland; Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs and Military Academy in Westpoint, New York.

"I had to touch the dynamite fuse to the wires on a bulldozer battery to get it to come down," Hollis said. And he had trouble getting insurance — "Insurance companies are scared of dynamite," — even though he got into the wrecking business after a brief stint in insurance.

"I just fell in love with it, tearing down old buildings," he said. Yet Hollis said he regrets tearing down many of the buildings, especially the Guitar mansion in Abilene, which had cherrywood paneling, the Star of David, arches and columns.

"I waited until only 10 days were left on my contract, waiting for them to decide not to tear it down. It shouldn't have been torn down — it was the prettiest place between Fort Worth and the West Coast," he said.

"All the old mansions should be preserved because we learn from the past. All of the good sound structures in this day and time should be preserved," he said. "People growing up now might want to build something as good as their forefathers did."

"The houses they build today are just not as sound. They don't have love put into 'em. I guess they don't have the love because they don't have the money (to build pretty houses)," Hollis said.

Hollis says he didn't get a "kick" out of tearing down buildings. "It's just a thing I have to do. I enjoy doing a good job and doing it safely. It is a dangerous job."

Once the charges are placed and detonated, it's too late to worry, he said. "I just hope it comes down right. There's nothing you can do about it then — you've gone too far."

He takes exception to people referring to tearing down buildings as "blowing them up."

"You don't blow a building up or down. You shoot out the props — the weight-bearing columns — with explosives and that causes it to fall. It pulls its own weight in and down, then mushrooms out like an atomic bomb," Hollis said.

Though he says the business is dangerous, it was also lucrative, Hollis said. "I made lots of money. I lost a lot of money too. Some you win and some you lose. And if you're afraid to take a risk, don't do it."

"I've been a gambler all my life," Hollis said.

Hollis quit demolition work last year to write his book and enter the oil business, saying he was tired of tearing buildings down.

His tour has been successful, he says, having sold 18,000 books east of Abilene already. And he enjoys the publicity. One paper compared him to a hangman — a comparison he laughs off. "As long as it sells books," he said. "I'm having the time of my life."

But mention that the Missouri Pacific Railroad is planning to tear down the freight depot in Big Spring, and his interest perks. "Do you know who's going to do it? That might be interesting..."

Police Beat

Business reports burglary

About $2,000 in cash was taken in a burglary at Wildwood Country at 802 W. Interstate Highway 20, owner Penny Passmore told police Tuesday.

The burglary occurred between 3 a.m. Monday and 11:30 a.m. Tuesday, according to police reports. A padlock also was damaged in the burglary.

More than $400 of items, including a vacuum cleaner and brass figures, were taken in a burglary Monday night at Carrol Coates Auto Sales at 1107 W. Fourth, A.C. Neighbors told police. Taken were two mechanical telephones of unknown value, a brass horse figure, valued at $100, a brass cowboy hat figure, valued at $25, a picture clock, valued at $75, and a vacuum cleaner, valued at $200. The burglary occurred between 6:45 p.m. Monday and 9 a.m. Tuesday.

A wooden door frame was damaged in a Tuesday burglary at Geophysical Service Inc. at 401 Galveston, Cathy Perez told police Tuesday.

Police arrested James Aubrey Markum, 40, of Waco at 3:49 p.m. Tuesday at Trailways Bus System at M.E. Third on suspicion of criminal trespass. Police later escorted Markum back to the bus station.

Sheriff's Log

Woman transferred to county

Big Spring police transferred Sandra Anne Larez, 21, of Colorado City, to Howard County jail Tuesday afternoon on charges of driving while intoxicated (DWI), driving while license suspended, possession of controlled substance and possession of marijuana.

Judge Melvin Daratt set bonds totaling $9,000.

Bill King of Coahoma reported a theft of a tire and wheel taken from the spare rack of his 1984 Chevrolet pickup.

Total estimated value of the missing items is $130, set by the sheriff's reports.

Jesus Galindo Roman, 66, of W. Cherokee, was released from county jail on $1,000 bond for a DWI charge.

Texas Dept. of Public Safety troopers arrested Jose Ramon in Virginia, for three Howard County traffic warrants and three Andrews County traffic warrants.

Bojo paid Howard County fines to Judge China Long and was released on bonds totaling $600 for Andrews County warrants.

Big Spring police transferred Ruben Juarez, 24, 503 Abrams, to county jail on a charge of aggravated assault. Judge Lewis Herlin authorized that no bond be set for Juarez.

Big Spring police transferred Jerry Dan Pharris, 21, of Colorado City to county jail on charges of possession of controlled substance and possession of marijuana over four ounces. He was released on bonds totaling $7,500 set by Judge Melvin Daratt.

Sheriff's deputies arrested Ricky Lane McCullough, 29, 1904 E. 20th on revocation of probation for a DWI charge. He was released on $1,000 bond set by Judge Milton Kirby.

Big Spring police transferred Ellejon Marcelle O'Keefe, 31, of Santa Barbara, Calif. to county jail on a charge of criminal mischief over $200 and under $750. She was later transferred to Big Spring State Hospital on emergency commitment according to sheriff's reports.

Big Spring police transferred Jose Galindo Castro, 27, 708 W. 18th to county jail for a Midland County warrant of DWI. He was released on $1,000 bond which was mailed to Midland County sheriff's office.

State

Montford said he got everything he sought in the way of committee positions. "I'm ecstatic. I'm real happy," he said.

In the Senate, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby said he doesn't believe that 31-member body will hike taxes after handing Texans a three-year, $4.6 billion tax bill during the special session last summer.

But, he added, "I think there will be many well-justified efforts to raise fees and (college and university) tuition."

The 31-member Texas Senate

met at noon for 45 minutes to officially convene, swear in new members and appoint Sen. Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls, as president pro tem, a backup position to Hobby.

Farabee was unanimously selected by his colleagues to serve as Senate president pro tem throughout the session. That constitutional position, while largely ceremonial, also technically makes the North Texas lawmaker the third most powerful official in state government and governor when Gov. Mark White and Hobby are out of state.

Weather

Local

Partly cloudy skies and cold temperatures are in tonight's forecast with lows in the mid 20s. Westerly winds will be blowing 10 to 20 miles per hour, becoming northerly during the evening. Tomorrow's forecast calls for high temperatures in the upper 40s with winds blowing northeasterly 10 to 15 miles per hour.

State

A mixture of light rain and snow covered much of the Texas Panhandle and South Plains early today, for the second straight day, as a cold front edged into the state.

Authorities warned that roads would be icy and hazardous in the region, with accumulations of up to 3 inches of snow.

Deaths

James Teele

James A. Teele, 75, died Tuesday morning at his home in Garden City. Services will be 2 p.m. Thursday in the Nalley-Pickle and Welch Rosewood Chapel with Tommy Smith of the Central Christian Church in Rosewell, N.M., officiating. Interment will be in Garden City cemetery.

Teele was born Dec. 28, 1909 in Garden City and had been a lifetime resident. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. E.P. Teele, were pioneer ranchers in Glasscock County. He served in the Army Air Corps during World War II. He graduated from Vraughans Business College in Abilene, worked for Corden Oil & Chemical for several years and later operated a water well service in Garden City before his retirement.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Tommy Marilyn Smith of Rosewell, N.M., three grandchildren, Tracey Smith, Brad Smith, and Leslie Smith, all of Rosewell, one niece, Dorothy Neel of Big Spring, and one nephew, E.P. Driver of Big Spring.

Pallbearers will be R.C. Schafer, Doc Chaney, Bryant Harris, Royce Pruitt, Joe Neel, and Don Hauser.

1906, in Cisco. Married to O.L. Williams Dec. 24, 1922, in Eastland. He died Sept. 21, 1964. They had lived in C-City since 1953 and were former residents of Howard County.

She is a member of the Baptist Church. Survivors are one daughter, Betty Williams of C-City; one son Dwayne of Colorado City; two sisters, Mrs. Charlie Mae Cross of Cisco and Martha Price of San Angelo; one brother Paul D. Johnson of Seville, Spain; four grandchildren and 8 great-grandchildren.

Bruce Bishop

UVALDE — Bruce Arthur Bishop, 72, a longtime Big Spring resident, died Tuesday in Uvalde. Services are pending in Uvalde.

He was born in Howard County March 3, 1912. He grew up in the Yarbar Community and attended local schools.

Survivors include his wife, Ione; two sons, Bobby of Oklahoma City, Okla., and Kenneth of Uvalde; a daughter, Sandra Lott of Del Rio; and several grandchildren.

Survivors in the Big Spring area include his brother, Paul Bishop; his sister-in-law, Mrs. D.H. Griffith; and several nieces and nephews.

A.K. Turner

A.K. (John) Turner Jr., 65, died Tuesday evening in a local hospital following a brief illness. Graveside services will be 4 p.m. Thursday in Trinity Memorial Park. Officiating will be Dr. Claude Craven of Trinity Baptist Church and Rev. Ray Bell of First Presbyterian Church in Coahoma officiating.

Turner was born Nov. 21, 1919 in Eureka, Kansas. He married Elsie Mae Echols, Aug. 7, 1941, in Lubbock. She preceded him in death on Aug. 31, 1978. The lifetime resident of Big Spring was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Coahoma and an Elks Lodge member. He served in the Army during World War II and was an independent oil operator with Turner Brothers Inc.

He is survived by two sons, Ernie Turner of Coleman, Texas, and Roger Turner of Big Spring; five brothers, James N. Turner and Bill C. Turner both of Levelland, C.D. Turner and George Turner both of Big Spring and John Bob Turner of Coahoma. He is also survived by six sisters, Mrs. A.B. Dorothy Young of Sulphur Springs, Mrs. David Norma Grant of Coahoma, Mrs. Truitt Bernice Carter of Hobbs, N.M., Mrs. Ray Emma Lee Chapman and Mrs. Jack Sue Sheedy both of Pickton, Texas, and Mrs. David Mary Jo Stoker of Burleson, Texas; two granddaughters Sarah Kimberly Turner of Corpus Christi and Natasha Mae Turner of Coleman, Texas. He is also survived by several nieces and nephews.

Leonard Ritchey

LONG BEACH, Calif. — Leonard R. Ritchey, 80, died in Long Beach, Calif., Monday.

Services will be held at the V.A. Cemetery at Riverside, Calif., at 2 p.m. Thursday.

He was the brother-in-law of Nellie Mathis of Big Spring.

He was born in Talpa, Texas, June 3, 1904, and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. C.A. Ritchey. He later moved with his family to Cuthbert, where he met and married Louise Gunn on Nov. 3, 1934.

He served in the U.S. Navy and later worked for the Texas-New Mexico Pipe Line Co. for 35 years. After retiring, he and his family moved to California.

Survivors include his wife, Louise; a daughter, Marilou Wenclof of Lakewood, Calif.; three sisters, Charlie Farmwald of Pogos Springs, Colo., Dorothy Ballard of Dumas and Lena Wynn of Arlington; three brothers, Floyd Ritchey and Mac Ritchey of Colorado City and Don Ritchey of Loraine; several nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his parents and a brother, Lloyd Ritchey, of Odessa.

Mother won't testify

HOUSTON — A woman whose teen-age stepson is charged with murder won't cooperate with a grand jury investigation if she stays in jail, her attorney said, but a judge disagreed, saying imprisonment had already had the "desired effect."

U.S. District Judge Carl Bue on Tuesday refused to lift a contempt citation against Odette Port, rejecting the argument by attorney Randy Schaffer.

Illinois: Better buckle up

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Illinois has become the third state to require motorists to wear seat belts, but Gov. James R. Thompson says the new law won't be strictly enforced because it's designed to nudge people into buckling up.

"We expect this bill to be self-enforcing. Because if people think about it, they'll buckle up," Thompson said in signing the law Tuesday at Fairview Elementary School.

Problems led to slaying

MIAMI — A 45-year-old woman who apparently shot herself in the head before a meter maid found her body slumped inside a battered car had been despondent over family problems, says police spokesman Mike Stewart.

Meter maid Carol Robbins ticketed the car three times Monday morning before noticing the body, which was on the front seat nearly under the dashboard, according to records.

The woman's name was not released.

Judge: Discrimination out

COLUMBUS, Ohio — A federal judge has given city police officials and black officers until Feb. 15 to work out a plan to end discrimination within the department.

U.S. District Judge Robert Duncan on Tuesday ruled in favor of Police Officers for Equal Rights, a group of black officers who filed a lawsuit in 1978 claiming harassment and discrimination in promotions and assignments.

B-Panther given deadline

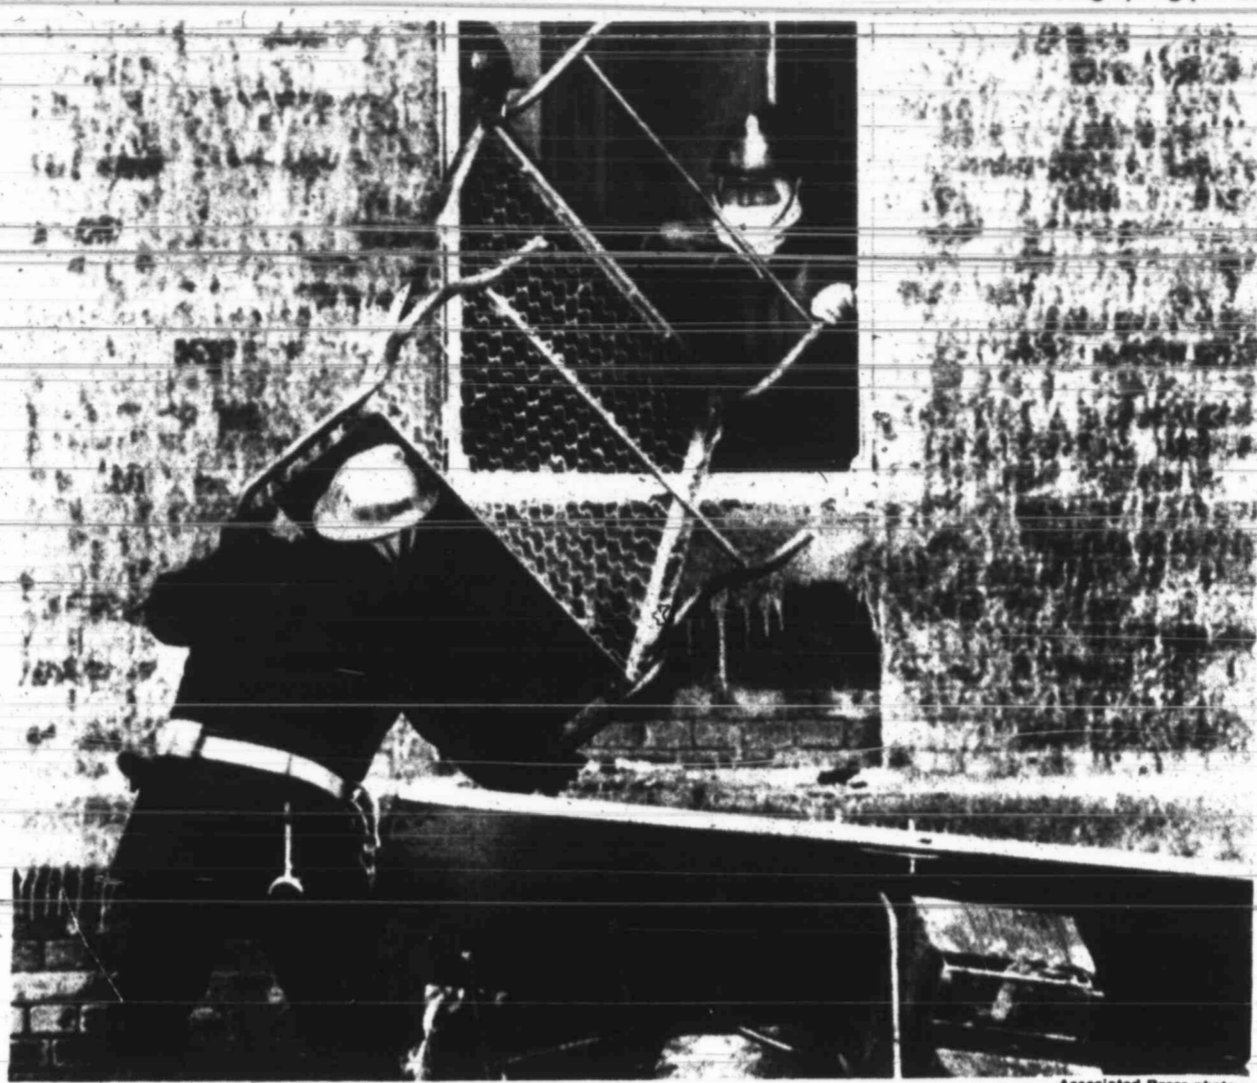

SAN FRANCISCO — Former Black Panther leader Huey Newton has been given 30 days to appeal a federal judge's rejection of his bid to avoid a two-year prison term for possessing a gun while an ex-felon in 1974.

U.S. District Judge Robert Aguilar on Tuesday rejected Newton's contention that he did not know he was a felon in 1974, when Oakland tailor Preston Collins was allegedly pistol-whipped at Newton's apartment. Newton was found innocent of assault, but was convicted of the gun charge.

Unemployment edges up

WASHINGTON — Unemployment edged up to 7.2 percent of the civilian work force in December as a surge in Americans looking for work surpassed the creation of about 340,000 new jobs during the month, the government reported today.

The number of Americans actually holding jobs in December rose to a record 106.3 million, but the total of unemployed increased to 8.2 million as the labor force expanded by 390,000, the Labor Department report said.

AFTER THE FIRE — Firemen evacuate furniture from the Grandvilliers hospital housing for the elderly and bedridden patients, north of Paris, after a fire ravaged it early Wednesday.

Fire takes its toll

Blaze rages through home for aged, claiming 8

GRANDVILLIERS, France (AP) — A fire burned through a home for aged and bedridden patients today, causing the roof to collapse. At least eight people were known dead and another 25 were missing, rescue authorities said.

An unconfirmed higher death toll from the fire, which started at 1 a.m., came from a priest taking part in the rescue operation who said there were 11 coffins containing bodies in the town hall.

Local fire officials initially reported as many as 40 people missing from the hospice of Grandvilliers. However, Lt. Col. Henry Hardy said eight people were known dead and the search and identification process was continuing for 25 others.

The Rev. Pierre Mabilotte, who often worked at the hospital and helped in the rescue, told reporters that 11 coffins containing the bodies of victims were in the town hall's reception room. He said other bodies remained inside the burned central section of the hospital, which houses the elderly and bedridden of modest income.

Two other wings of the hospice, which dates from the 1920s, apparently suffered little damage.

A priest from a neighboring village said he had been told that some patients as old as 87 refused to leave their beds when the fire broke out. "The second floor collapsed onto the first. It was terrible," said the priest, who asked that his name not be used.

President Francois Mitterrand traveled to Grandvilliers, a rural community of 3,000 people about 60 miles north of Paris, the Elysee Palace announced.

The office of Prime Minister Laurent Fabius announced that Interior Minister Pierre Joxe; Geogina Dufoux, minister of social affairs and national solidarity; and Joseph Franceschi, secretary of state for the aged, would also visit the scene.

Some 100 firefighters from neighboring communities including Beauvais, Formerie and Crevecoeur extinguished the blaze, which was concentrated in a wing of the long, low brick building.

"About 1 o'clock they woke me up screaming, 'You've got to get out. You've got to get out,'" recounted Elia Haudiquier, who will be 89 next month. "I tried to get dressed. I was trembling. I looked out and saw the roof burning all over."

Ms. Haudiquier, who had spent the last 10 years at the hospice, was one of three people taken to the town rectory during the evacuation.

Marie-Therese Mille, a 75-year-old blind woman who has spent the last 21 years at Grandvilliers, said she struggled with her neighbor to escape the fire. "I heard shouting and my neighbor tried to help me out, but he couldn't walk well. Then two men helped us out. They did a wonderful job," she said.

Officials said 196 people normally were sheltered in the hospice, which contains a hospital and a residence for the aged and sick. Many patients were evacuated immediately to hospitals in the area. Witnesses said families of some of the residents evacuated their relatives themselves, adding to the difficulty in determining the number of victims.

Fire officials speculated the blaze may have been caused by a short circuit due to a rupture in the water pipes, but no official cause was immediately established. Frigid temperatures across France have caused many problems with electricity and water over the past five days.

U.S.-USSR arms talks set

GENEVA, Switzerland — U.S. officials fanned out today to brief world leaders on the agreement to resume arms control talks with the Soviet Union, an agreement the Americans said was nearly derailed by a Soviet walkout.

No date or place has been set for the negotiations, which the two sides — in a joint statement issued late Tuesday — said would be aimed at "preventing an arms race in space" and "the complete elimination of nuclear arms everywhere."

The agreement came after two days of discussions between Secretary of State George P. Shultz and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, along with top aides, at the U.S. and Soviet missions in Geneva.

3 injured in bomb blast

BOGOTA, Colombia — A bomb exploded in an American-run English language school, and police said three Colombian cleaning women were injured.

No one claimed responsibility for Tuesday's bombing of the Meyer Institute, but police said it could mark the start of reprisals by drug traffickers for the extradition of Colombians wanted in the United States on drug charges.

Sweden buys 2 new subs

STOCKHOLM, Sweden — Sweden says it has bought two Yugoslav minisubmarines to tighten its defense against violations of its waters by foreign submarines.

Maj. Bert-Olov Lax, a defense staff spokesman, said Tuesday that minisubs arrived in December at the Berga Naval Base outside Stockholm, and will be used to train Swedish units to hunt for intruding submarines.

Mother to visit jailed son

MOSCOW — The mother of imprisoned Jewish dissident Anatoly Shcharansky says the Soviet government had granted her permission to visit her reportedly ailing son in a Siberian labor camp next week.

Ida Milgrom said it was the first official notice that Shcharansky had been moved to a labor camp.

Vatican puts man on trial

VATICAN CITY — For the first time since 1974, the Vatican is convening its criminal court to try a museum employee charged with stealing three ancient coins.

Monsignor Giulio Nicolini, deputy Vatican spokesman, said Tuesday that a Vatican employee has been charged with stealing three rare coins from the Vatican Museum.

Ex-president hospitalized

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina — Reynaldo Bignone, a former military president who faces charges of human rights abuses, was hospitalized for 48 hours with heart problems before being released, an army spokeswoman said.

Bignone entered a military hospital on capital's outskirts Sunday complaining of chest pains, said the spokeswoman.

She said Bignone was diagnosed as suffering from auricular fibrillation.

Mother witnesses son's execution

JACKSON, Ga. (AP) — Convicted killer Roosevelt Green went to his death in the electric chair today, winking at his attorney and making his last words a goodbye to his mother, who witnessed the execution at her son's invitation.

Green, son of a Pentacostal minister, showed no sign of fear, watching as guards strapped him into the wooden electric chair after he was led into the execution chamber at 12:12 a.m.

Death penalty advocates jeered him outside the Georgia Diagnostic and Classification Center, chanting "Burn, burn, burn."

Green, 28, was executed for the 1976 shooting death of Teresa Carol

Allen, an 18-year-old college student who was abducted from the Cochran convenience store where she worked.

Green went to his death claiming his innocence.

"What you people are about to witness is a grave injustice," he said. "I am about to die for a murder that I did not commit, that someone else committed."

Green, who was black, also complained that "black lives are not equal to white" in the criminal justice system.

"I have nothing against anyone and I have no enemies," he said. "I love the Lord and hope that God takes me into his kingdom, and goodbye mother."

Green's mother, Annie Green of Roosevelt, N.Y., raised her hand slightly in a farewell gesture and one of his lawyers, John Matteson, gave a thumbs up sign after Green winked at him.

Mrs. Green showed no emotion during the execution.

Two guards placed a leather harness containing an electrode on Green's head, attached a wire to the electrode and placed a leather mask over his face.

At 12:19 a.m., Green's body jerked rigidly against the back of the chair and his fists clinched as high-voltage electricity was applied.

New drug law good medicine

The public and particularly medical patients will be the main beneficiaries of "the most extensive change" in federal drug laws in 22 years, designed to speed the review of new drugs.

On average, as much as six months will be cut from the two years or more now needed to get a new drug on the market, Health and Human Services Secretary Margaret Heckler said.

She said the new rules would slash paperwork by up to 70 percent, allow approval of drugs on the basis of verifiable foreign clinical studies and permit simultaneous reviews by various Food and Drug Administration offices.

The speedup could backfire, according to Dr. Sidney Wolfe, head of the Ralph Nader-founded Health Research Group. He said he believed the quality of some reviews would go down and the drug review process would be slowed where FDA medical officers request additional data.

Although maximum caution is essential in the marketing of new drugs, delays caused by red tape are a pure waste of time. That alone can be life threatening for many patients.

The changes, which include many safeguards, appear to be in the public interest. Patients' safety can only be enhanced by awareness that the new procedures will be more carefully monitored.

No time for laid-back leaders

WASHINGTON — A ragged divide marks the passage from 1984 to 1985. For laid-back leadership, with broad play for individual initiative, sufficed to make last year a good one for most Americans and many other people in the world.

A similar success is possible in 1985. But only if hard-working leaders frame deliberate programs for making a careful and methodical address to visible problems that threaten world peace and the American economy.

Two clouds darken the horizon even as the year begins. First there are the slatamated arms control negotiations with the Russians. Unless those talks are revived with a show of decent effort, relations with the allies and support for foreign policy in this country will wither.

A sensible approach is at hand. The Russians exhibit well nigh paranoid feelings about an American scheme, known as Star Wars, for developing a defense against missiles. This country shows not much less concern about the massive array of Soviet offensive missiles. So a natural deal would trade U.S. restraint on Star Wars for Soviet restraint on offensive missiles.

But President Reagan (almost alone) regards Star Wars as an absolute defense that can make missiles "impotent." He now asserts that Star Wars are not up for negotiation at the Geneva talks between George Shultz and Andrei Gromyko. While that may be a negotiating ploy, it smacks of the genuine article. Leaders who don't work problems dream dreams of finding a magical formula that solves everything.

Then there is the huge cumulus of economic problems allowed to build up over the past year. There are the $200 billion federal deficits. There is the huge debt owed by Third World nations to the U.S. and other industrial countries. There is the record imbalance in trade and in currency exchange rates between this country and the rest of the world — notably Japan.

Continuing deficits oblige the U.S. to borrow from abroad. With American goods overpriced by the soaring dollar, high interest rates are required to hold foreign funds in this country. The high rates discourage enterprise and threaten an economic slowdown that would have harsh effects everywhere, particularly among Third World debtors.

A systematic approach would begin with substantial cuts in the budget deficits. Dependence on foreign borrowing would ease, leaving the Federal Reserve Board free to hold interest rates down. The lower rates would foster good times in this country and take pressure off the Third World debtors.

But so far President Reagan has been approaching these matters with airy insouciance. The president tackles the problem of closing the deficits by ruling out higher taxes, cuts in Social Security and more than token reductions in defense.

With those items off limits, Budget Director David Stockman and his aides have pushed for billions of dollars of cuts in domestic spending programs. The one thing clear about the cuts is that they cannot get past the Congress. The budget, if presented to the Congress as now conceived, will be dead on arrival.

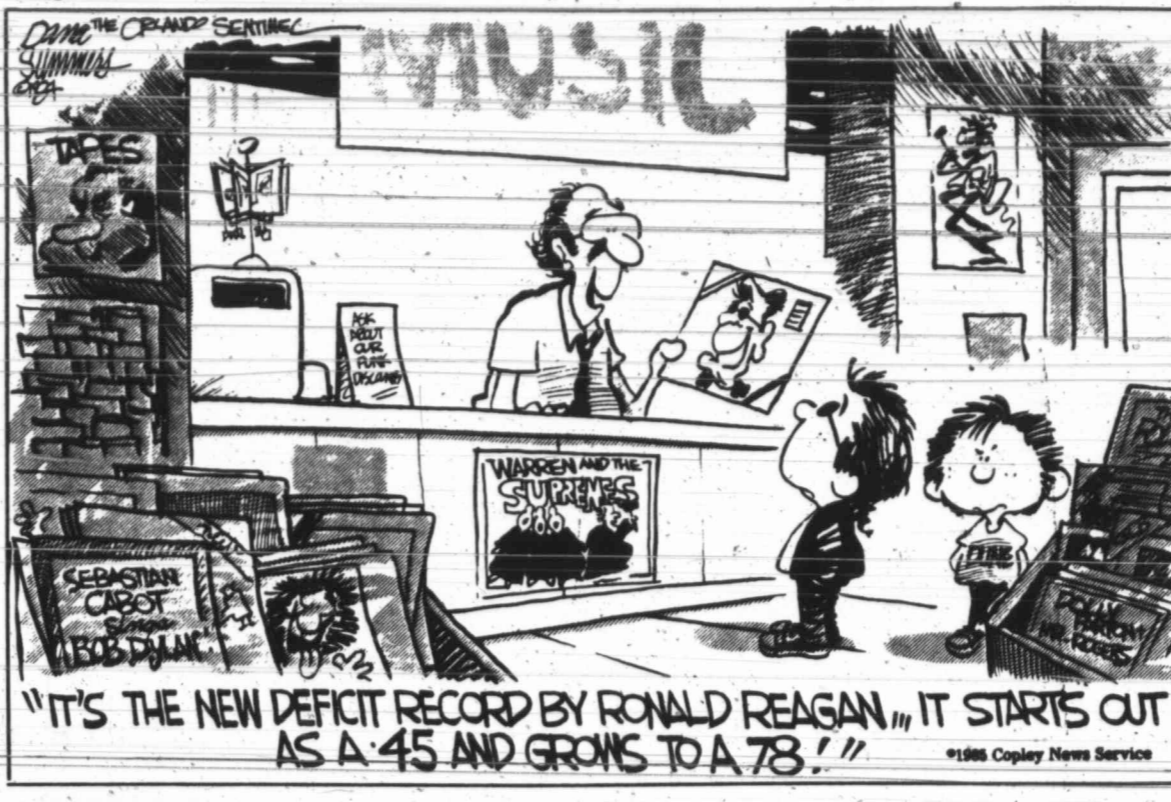

Clever White House aides foresee all that. They believe the Democrats will emerge from the early skirmishes as partisans of big government spending for big (and unpopular) government projects. President Reagan will then appeal to the country against Democratic "obstructionism." He will rally opinion and beat the Democrats just as he did back in 1981.

A fine scenario — except that nobody is playing the appointed parts. The major complaints so far directed against the president's program come from Republican leaders in the Senate. Majority Leader Bob Dole and Senate Finance Chairman Robert Packwood both favor higher revenues as one element in closing the deficit package. They have been deeply offended by some of the suggested slashes in domestic spending. They and such military tribunes as Chairman Barry Goldwater of the Armed Services Committee have insisted that to justify deep cuts in social spending there would also have to be deep cuts in military outlays.

As to the Democrats, for once they have been lying low and keeping their mouths shut and their powder dry. While sure to oppose the program, they are holding fire and letting the Republicans take the lead. "We're not going to shoot at the president's budget boat until it's stuck on shore," one of Speaker Tip O'Neill's aides put it.

Guerrilla warfare with hundreds of isolated firefights is what now shapes up between the White House and the Hill. The outcome, far from being a neat package, will be a chaotic patchwork of deals.

Utilities and South Africa

WASHINGTON — Millions of Americans unwittingly support the white supremacist government of South Africa every time they pay their electric bills.

Eighteen U.S. utility companies run their nuclear generators with uranium bought from South Africa.

In a report soon to be released, the Nuclear Control Institute, a Washington-based public-interest group opposed to nuclear proliferation, points out that almost half the imported uranium used by U.S. utilities comes from South Africa and Namibia, which is controlled by the Pretoria government.

The United States has increased its purchases of South African uranium significantly during the Reagan administration. The Energy Department's use of South African uranium for enrichment jumped 350 percent between 1981 and 1983.

The money Pretoria gets for its uranium is particularly important now, when the world price of South Africa's principal export — gold — is so depressed.

Much of the uranium South Africa sells is actually mined at Rossing, in Namibia, which is one reason the South Africans have continued to occupy Namibia years after the United Nations declared the occupation illegal.

"For South Africa, Rossing is a bonanza," the institute report observes. "By occupying Namibia, South Africa increases by half the foreign exchange it earns from uranium exports." The South Africans have been mining uranium in Namibia since 1976.

The Reagan administration is helping South Africa strengthen its white-minority rule not only by buying, but by selling as well. According to internal congressional documents seen by my associate Vicki Warren, this even extends to nuclear-weapons technology. One computer sold to South Africa — after being embargoed by the Carter administration — "can be used to model nuclear explosions," one document reports.

In fact, the number of licenses granted for exports to South Africa by the State Department's Office of Munitions Control jumped to $88 million worth of goods in the first quarter of 1984. The value of licenses granted previously amounted to only a fraction of that figure for an entire year.

Though the licenses are good for two years and do not mean the items were actually sold, the sharp increase in licenses indicates at the very least a trend toward potential expansion of military sales to South Africa.

Until Congress put a stop to it with the Nuclear Non-Proliferation Act in 1978, the United States enriched South African uranium and sent it back to Pretoria. When the law cut off that trade, a large amount of South African uranium was awaiting shipment in an Energy Department warehouse.

Five U.S. utilities eventually took the enriched uranium off the South Africans' hands — and out of the Energy Department's warehouse — by buying it at a bargain price. The cost of enriching uranium had gone up by several million dollars while the stuff was sitting in the warehouse.

According to the Nuclear Control Institute report, the DOE refused to release the names of the companies that bought the enriched uranium, because "it is likely that some or all of the utilities... would be faced with protests from consumer groups, public-interest organizations and various other groups."

Through its own investigation, the institute learned the identity of two of the companies: Maine Yankee Power Co. and Northern States Power Co. of Minnesota. Maine Yankee declined to comment. A Northern States spokesman said the company had a contract with DOE for enriched uranium, and that it was possible some South African uranium was "commingled" with the material it bought. The spokesman added that Northern States has a contract with Edison for some imported uranium, but didn't know if South Africa was the source.

STRICTLY PERSONAL: Many of you have expressed anxiety about President Reagan's new budget. From confidential documents I've had access to, I can give you the lowdown on one thing you may be worried about:

● Will programs for low-income Americans be slashed?

The White House is determined to do just that, despite Budget Director David Stockman's denial last fall in congressional testimony. A White House document, stamped "very confidential," calls for more than $63 billion in cuts for social programs (except Social Security) from fiscal years 1986 to 1988. Of these cuts, $31 billion are to come from low-income programs.

One particularly cruel proposal is to cut Supplemental Security Income payments to match the amounts of regular Social Security increases. This would mean that the poor would, in effect, get no cost-of-living increases like the rest of Social Security recipients.

● Is Lew Lehrman trying to sign me up?

I recently reported that the millionaire Republican candidate for New York governor in 1982 (who may run for president in 1988) had been advised by aides to Rep. Jack Kemp, R-N.Y., (another potential candidate) that Lehrman and his staff should stop wearing their trademark: fire-engine-red suspenders. Two gaudy, Kemp's people clucked, too cultlike.

Well, what do you know? Lehrman sent me a pair of the red galluses, with a note saying, "I send you a permanent part of me, and hope that they hold you up during all times."

Simply, Elvis was the king

By KEELY COGHLAN
"The King," or simply "Elvis!" as my mother would say, would have been 50 Tuesday. I wonder how the gates at Graceland are holding up.

To my mother and a lot of women of her generation — she's going to kill me for saying that — Elvis was "it." That means no matter how many times you've seen "Viva Las Vegas!", if you're at home with mom, you get to see it one more time.

Elvis' name still sends the "bobby-soxers" of the time into reveries.

"Faantastic," was how Claudine Tucker, a switchboard operator and laundry owner who saw Presley four times described him.

Gail Earls, a secretary at the Howard County Extension Office saw Presley in an Abilene concert as a birthday present. Her eyes, she recalls, were sore the next day because she had them pressed so hard to the binoculars she used.

She, like thousands of other fans who collect the records, talks of making the pilgrimage to Graceland some day and of the King's continuing charisma.

"He was certainly no actor, but he had something that made you watch him," Mrs. Earls said.

She remembers the controversy about "his moves." "I thought they were neat, but in my day they were obscene. You weren't supposed to do things like that. You didn't get to see much — they only showed him from his waist up."

Margaret Cannon, however, said she just liked to listen to Presley's blend of rock and roll. "I didn't like to look at him. I didn't like his wiggling when I was a teen-ager," she said.

Fire Marshal Jim Ryals only glimpsed Presley at an overseas airport when both were returning on different flights to the United States from duty in the armed services.

But that was enough. "I thought it was great to see him personally," Ryals said.

Presley's music — and his death — were cultural milemarkers for a generation. After him came all the other rock stars and their tales of living high and fast.

Give the King credit, though. He inspired generations to come. "There will only be one Elvis," Mrs. Earls said.

If only that were so.

Hoopla marks Legislature's first day

AUSTIN — Texas lawmakers at noon Tuesday began 140 days of legislative chores, with budget slashing at the top of their list.

The state's top officeholders, led by Gov. Mark White, have closed ranks, pledging to avoid a tax increase that looms as state revenue projections plummet. But the opening ceremonies of the 69th regular session of the Texas Legislature promised few surprises.

"I think the mood, from what I've been able to gather so far, is that we're not going to move rapidly on anything," said Sen. Kent Caperton, D-Bryan.

Nor are the 181 state legislators likely to come up with any quick solutions for dwindling state revenue, water problems, prison woes, health care and education.

"We'll be deliberative and, hopefully, thoughtful because with the money crunch we have, any kind of emergency situation we try to handle will cost money," Caperton added.

In the Capitol itself, calm prevailed on the eve of the session's opening. Capitol tour guides Monday reported sparse crowds and said the number of tours they conducted was unusually low.

Most of the 150 House and 31 Senate members scheduled to take their oaths at noon Tuesday remained in their offices, answering phone calls or finishing last-minute paperwork.

Outside the Capitol, though, a festive atmosphere prevailed. Restaurants and watering holes where legislators hobnob with constituents, lobbyists, state agency officials and the news media reported a "brisk business." "We've seen quite a few familiar faces"

'I think the mood, from what I've been able to gather so far, is that we're not going to move rapidly on anything.'

Sen. Kent Caperton
D-Bryan

during Monday's lunch crush, said Marlene Rich, manager of the Quorum Club.

Following tradition, senators met early Tuesday behind closed doors to caucus on rules. Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby has indicated he will dole out committee assignments — and chairmanships — in the first few hours of the session.

Senators also are scheduled to select the Senate pro tem. High on the list of contenders is state Sen. Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls. In the past that position has been mostly an honorary one, with the holder allowed to serve as governor for a day.

Secretary of State Myra McDaniel was selected to preside over the House. She will be the first black woman to preside over that body. Texas Supreme Court Chief Justice John Hill was selected to give the oath of office to the senators.

Democratic House Speaker Gid Lewis of Fort Worth, the sole member of the state's ruling triumvirate who has not yet officially assumed his post for the next two years, was expected to win a second two-year term from his colleagues.

Aides to Lewis said he will reappoint state Rep. Hugo Berlanga, D-Corpus Christi, as House speaker pro tem, or assistant speaker, later this week.

Legislative roles are less secure, however, for state Reps. Mike McKinney, D-Centerville, and Edmund Kuempel, R-Seguin. Both have been certified by the secretary of state as winners of the Nov. 6 election, but are facing challenges from their opponents. The House is expected to reappoint a committee that already has begun a review of those races.

Also on the agenda is the so-called "60-day rule," a provision embedded in the Texas Constitution that prohibits House or Senate floor action on legislation for two months.

An exception is made for legislative proposals declared an emergency by the governor. That allows White to set his own legislative agenda for 60 days.

White has indicated he will give emergency status to a proposed state water package. Additional legislative plans will be outlined to the Legislature in his "state of the state" address Jan. 15.

"I don't think we want to suspend it," Dick Merkel, Lewis' press secretary, said of the "60-day rule." "It gives the House a better chance to get organized and hold hearings (on proposed legislation). It means a more orderly progression of activity because you are not dashing out and hammering out bills."

The Senate, meanwhile, was expected to vote against the restriction, and move ahead with business as usual.

Dear Abby

Sleeping with obese spouse is nightmare

Dr. Donohue

Illness has three names

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Please write about beaver fever, and how you get it. My husband had a severe case of beaver fever. The doctors weren't looking for it, and discovered it by accident. How can one protect himself against getting it again? — Mrs. S.G.

I put off answering you for awhile because I wasn't sure we were talking about the same thing — tularemia. But, sure enough, I was able to find it listed under the name — beaver fever. The usual reference is to rabbit fever.

The germ that causes this is found in more than 100 different animals. But rabbits seem to be most often implicated. You can get it by skinning an infected animal or from the bite of a tick that has already bitten an infected animal. In rare circumstances you can get it by eating the meat of the animal.

Although there are many manifestations of infection, the most common is a black scab that forms where the germ penetrated the skin. Soon thereafter, underarm lymph nodes enlarge and there is a fever. Scabbing often is found on the hands or lower arms. Quite often, a tick bite, if that is involved, is found on the unprotected area of the lower arm.

Tularemia, (or rabbit fever, or beaver fever — take your choice) responds to the antibiotic streptomycin. Preventive measures are obvious: protection against tick bites with repellents, and exercising great care in handling wild game.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have a small problem. My wife, according to her physician, is very anemic. Everytime she goes to the doctor she forgets to ask him what food or drink would help this condition. I'm hoping you can send me some information on how to go about building up her blood again. — S.H.

Next time she goes to the doctor, she has to ask him what kind of anemia she has, for therein lies the key to treatment.

Let me explain a bit further. If your wife's anemia is from iron deficiency, then she obviously needs iron, and there are ways to supplement that through medicine. But if her anemia is the kind that arises because of an inability to absorb a vitamin, like B-12 (pernicious anemia), then she will need regular injections of that vitamin.

As a general rule, unless the person's diet is quite abnormal, food itself is not a very important part of anemia treatment. But I know where you're coming from. You're harkening back to days when liver was considered all but the sovereign cure for anemia, period. But that was before we were able to supply vitamins, like B-12, by themselves. Liver is a rich source of B vitamins, but if the person lacks the ability to absorb them, then gorging on liver isn't going to correct the deficiency.

But I'm making this much too simple. In addition to finding out what is missing, whether iron or vitamins, you have to find out why it's missing. It might have to do with factors other than food intake or absorption deficiency. It can mean subtle bleeding somewhere in the body. That can lead to "low blood," as you state it (in another part of your letter). Let me stop here and ask you again to get the kind of anemia your wife has and why she has it. Then drop me another line, and we'll take it up again from there. OK?

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I notice that of late you have been getting many letters from people on the subject of the intraocular eye lens implant procedure. Is it being done in many places across the country these days? — H.F.

Yes, I'm considering a moratorium on lens implant letters. But it really reflects growing popularity of this procedure, which as you know is to insert a plastic eye lens in place of the clouded one (the cataractous lens). Although in use only a few years, the procedure has, in fact, become almost commonplace.

In a recent review of the literature, I find that an estimated half million cataracts are removed each year. Of those, about 80 percent involve replacement with artificial lenses. Resulting visual acuity is generally quite good.

DEAR ABBY: A marriage of 35 years is about to end because my spouse has become repulsively obese. It's not that this person cannot "perform" — it's that I get totally turned off before I ever get to the bedroom.

Have you any advice for the partner of the fat one? I think I could handle sickness. A person can't help getting sick, but growing fatter and fatter because of overeating is another story.

If I just didn't have to sleep with that spouse, I could survive. What is there besides divorce?

TURNED OFF IN SEATTLE
DEAR TURNED OFF: There's understanding. Overeating is an addiction. Food, like drink and drugs, is used by many to make them feel better. Don't be judgemental or unkind. Communicate with your spouse on a loving level. Try to get that spouse to the family physician for an examination, a sensible diet and an exercise program. Then suggest Overeaters Anonymous. (There are chapters all over.) I've seen the miracles they have performed. It's worth a try. Good luck.

DEAR ABBY: What would you do if you were a 5-foot-8, 60-year-old lady in love with a shrimp?

STATUESQUE

DEAR STATUESQUE: I'd get on my knees and thank God if he loved me back. Then I'd pray that no 5-foot lady was fishing off my dock.

DEAR ABBY: The 80-year-old woman who is heartsick about her 28-year-old grandson's decision to have a vasectomy should mind her own business. She says he already has two children and makes a meager living, so she pays his rent and utilities. I wonder if Grandma has given any thought to who will pay her grandson's rent and utilities when she's gone?

After we had a girl, then a boy, we decided our family was complete, so I had a vasectomy. We also heard a lot of "what ifs" from family and friends. "What if something happened to one of your children?"

We told them, "What if we had 10 children, our house burned down and we lost them all? One child could never be replaced with another."

I was asked, "What if your wife died, or you were divorced, and you married again and you wanted children with another wife, then what?"

I had my answer ready: "I'm covered at the sperm bank."

A honky-tonk heartthrob makes his way to Snyder

Country music singer George Strait will appear in concert at the Scurry County Auditorium in Snyder, at 8 p.m. Jan. 17. Tickets are available at Hastings at Big Spring Mall.

Strait, originally of Poteet, was a college graduate, husband, father, and a cattle ranch foreman when he started moonlighting in Texas honky-tonks as the lead singer for the Ace in the Hole band. Prior to that, he performed with a country-western band in the Army. The Ace, in the Hole band became popular throughout Texas as an opening act for many major concerts, and eventually Strait's talent was noticed by a man associated with the recording business.

Strait recorded his first single "Unwound" in Nashville in 1981. Unlike most first singles, the song was an instant success and skyrocketed Strait's career into the country music business.

Strait and his group is selling an old sound — traditional songs with traditional lyric themes and instruments, but electrified. His music was influenced primarily by Merle Haggard and George Jones. His ambition is to stay at the top as long as Jones and Haggard.

Water district may raise rates

Two water sales contracts and water rates are up for consideration by the Colorado River Municipal Water District Board of Directors at their meeting Thursday in Big Spring.

Only minor, if any, changes are anticipated in water rates charged to member cities Odessa, Big Spring and Snyder, according to Board Secretary Joe Pickle. All other rates are geared to these.

Service to Sharon Ridge, which has not received water from CRMWD since a cut-off from surface supplies because of low lake levels, is expected to be reinstated.

Sharon Ridge will receive diverted low-quality water.

Sun Oil Co., which has a secondary recovery unit in Coke County, is requesting an increase in contract quantity.

In addition, the board will consider routine year-end transfers between funds and resolutions to pay for groundwater royalties and to finance the weather modification program.

The board also will select an outside auditor and will listen to reports from the manager, the legal counsel and the long-range planning committee.

Trustees to review contract

Big Spring Independent School District trustees will discuss Superintendent Lynn Hise's contract during an executive session at their regular board meeting Thursday.

The board meets at 5:15 p.m. at the board room at Big Spring High School.

In other business, trustees will discuss employment and resignations of personnel and will discuss several policy updates.

Also on the agenda are reports on spectator seating at the baseball field and Blankenship field, enrollment reports and the second meeting for the month.

School enrollment same for '85

The first enrollment report for the Big Spring Independent School District taken after the Christmas holidays showed 4,593 students enrolled in classes, compared to 4,592 enrolled on the last day before the holidays.

A year ago at this time, BSISD has 4,661 students enrolled.

A breakdown of classes on Jan. 4 showed 2,126 students enrolled in elementary classes and 2,402 students enrolled in secondary classes.

A total of 65 students were enrolled in special classes Jan. 4.

Postal Service takes route bids

The Postal Service has announced the opening of two Star Routes for bid, according to Frank Hardesty, local postmaster.

The routes are Sterling City Route A and Sterling City Route B. Sterling City Route A has approximately 365 boxes and covers 48.6 miles round trip. Starting time is 6 a.m.

Sterling City Route B goes to Sterling City and has approximately 263 boxes. Starting time is 6 a.m. The mileage is approximately 140.20 miles round trip.

The Big Spring Postmaster does not have bid forms for the positions. They must be obtained by writing or calling the Manager, Dallas TMO, 2400 D-FW Turnpike, Dallas, Texas, 75398-1001. Phone number is 214-948-2701.

Bids must be returned to Dallas by 1 p.m. Feb. 7.

G-Wood sweeps Stanton in 8-2A basketball action

By CHARLIE ALCORN
Staff Writer

STANTON — The Stanton Buffaloes took it on the chin Tuesday night as they lost a double header to Midland Greenwood in District 8-AA action at Stanton High School gymnasium.

In the boys game, the 6-7 Buffaloes hung tough with the squad from Greenwood through the first period. Junior sharpshooter Mark Gonzales scored six quick points as the quarter ended with Greenwood up by two, 15-13.

After the slowly paced first quarter, Greenwood began a fast break streak midway through the second period. Stanton was able to keep up with Greenwood in every respect except field goal percentage, where the Rangers were shot a murderous 12 of 18 from the field, opening up a 43-21 half time lead. All five Greenwood starters scored four or more points in the second quarter outburst.

Any hopes of a Stanton come back were snuffed out in the third quarter as the Buffaloes failed to score a point until 25 seconds remained in the quarter. Greenwood's inside game and perimeter shooting continued to be hot as they pulled out to a comfortable 51-11 lead at the end of the third period. Substitutions for both teams finished out the game, with the final score reading 76-41 favor of the Rangers.

Senior swing man John Gilliam led Greenwood's scoring attack with 19 points. Post man Will Willmon had 18 and senior forward Ken Wallace netted 16 points for the 13-5 Rangers.

Kevin Glaspie scored 12 in the losing cause for Stanton.

Stanton coach Eric Looney viewed the game as a learning experience for the young Buffaloes, all of whom were starting their first District 8-AA ball game. "The boys haven't shot this bad all season. (Kevin) Glaspie and (Mark) Gonzales have both been averaging 18 points a game, but we just were not thinking about our shooting tonight. We have to get this game out of system and go on and play basketball the way we know how the rest of the season."

GREENWOOD TAKES GIRLS GAME

In the earlier Girls matchup, Stanton ran into a Greenwood buzz-saw as the Rangerettes smashed the Lady Buffs, 68-18.

The Greenwood girls, who are currently ranked third in Class AA, forced 27 first half turnovers by Stanton with a devastating full court press. The Lady Buff's were able to put up only four shots in the first half as Greenwood cruised to a 41-7 halftime lead.

Andrea Morgette led all scorers with 22 points for the Rangerettes, and Terri Busic chipped in 12 as Greenwood ran their record to 18-1 on the year.

Hawks win Classic opener

By STEVE BELVIN
Staff Writer

The Howard College Hawks got a good workout even if they didn't play their scheduled opponent in the opening round of the Hawk Classic.

Their scheduled opponent, San Angelo University junior varsity, cancelled out at the last moment leaving Howard without a team to play.

Enter the Permian Basin Globetrotters, six local hoopsters, which included ex-Hawk players Elroy Green and Danny Grayson, who filled in for ASU. They gave the Hawks quite a game for the most part in their 90-64 loss. Howard blew it open late in the game behind a strong inside attack against the Globetrotters zone.

Howard coach Ed Sparling said the game was good medicine for his squad. "Yes we got a good game in and some conditioning. We have to get use to playing again."

Howard's inside game shut the doors on the on the pesky Globetrotters who were at large height disadvantage. The Trojters hung tough until midway through the second half. At that time HC post players Walt Reynolds, Herbert Bell and Marty Jenkins took charge. Howard's lead went from 58-50 to 77-52 in five minutes.

Rozier leaves USFL

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Mike Rozier, having cut his ties to the Baltimore Stars, soon will be free to make a deal with any other United States Football League team or the Houston Oilers of the National Football League, his agent predicts.

Rozier, a Heisman Trophy winner at Nebraska in 1983, on Tuesday was bought out of the remaining two years of his estimated $3.1 million personal service contract with Edward J. DeBartolo, Sr., who owned the defunct Pittsburgh Maulers and now is part owner of the Stars.

The league said the next step would be for Rozier to be put on waivers, allowing any of the other 13 teams to claim him, but Art Wilkinson, Rozier's agent, said because of the running back's $750,000 annual salary, "I don't see anyone making a claim."

Should Rozier clear waivers he would be free to make a deal for himself, but his NFL prospects would be limited to the Oilers, who have his rights in that league.

At a news conference in Lincoln, Brendan Moynihan, an associate of Wilkinson's, declined to disclose the amount Rozier had received from the DeBartolo interests as a settlement. Both sides were pleased with the agreement, Moynihan said.

Attempts to reach a spokesman for DeBartolo in Pittsburgh were unsuccessful.

time. All three players had banner nights with Bell and Reynolds scoring 14 points each and Jenkins adding 11. Together they led Howard to a 42-22 rebounding edge. Bell had a game-high 12 rebounds.

The Trojters fought tooth and nail with Howard the first 20 minutes of play, trailing 42-32 at half. At times in the early going they held slim leads over the Hawks. Howard point guard Michael Porter staked Howard to the lead with 17 first half points. He hit 9 of 11 field goals and led all scorers with 25 points.

The Trojters hung close behind the first half scoring of guard Green and guard-forward Danny Grayson who scored 19 and 16 points respectively. Green got a laup off a Grayson steal and then popped a 35-footer at the buzzer to draw the Trojters to within 10 at the half.

In the second half the Hawks worked the ball inside to their big men who scored 31 of Howard's 48 second-half points. Howard shot a blistering 65 percent in the second half and 58 percent for the game. The Trojters shot a respectable 47 percent from the floor.

Trotters post player Randy Anderson had a good game with 14 points and eight rebounds. Chaz

Hogeboom likes it in Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — After a talk with head coach Tom Landry, Dallas Cowboys quarterback Gary Hogeboom said he wants to remain with the club even if it means competing with Danny White for the starting job again as in 1984.

On several occasions last year, Hogeboom had said he wanted to be traded if the Cowboys weren't going to give him the first-team role.

Landry had also indicated that, rather than continue the quarterback controversy, he would attempt to deal either White or Hogeboom during the off season. But several days ago, Landry said he planned to sit down with both of his quarterbacks and hadn't decided whether to trade either or, if so, which one.

Hogeboom said the coach told him that everything depends on what happens in the off-season.

"He said Danny and I bot could be here," Hogeboom said. "If that happens, we will just have to fight for the job."

Landry said he met with Hogeboom for 15 minutes Monday. He said he wants to meet with White, too, before he leaves next week for his Super Bowl assignment with ABC.

"At this point, I don't have any intention of trading either one," Landry said. "But I can't say I won't. If I can help the team enough, I would trade most anybody."

Landry also said that he has had no inquiries about a trade involving White, whose market value is higher than Hogeboom's.

"There have been no calls from other teams," Landry said, but he added that he had been "out of pocket" since Christmas.

Landry said he will pick a starting quarterback next season and stick with him. This season, Hogeboom started the first eight games and two others. White started six, including the last four.

"If he's going to open it up to the best player, that's all I can ask for," Hogeboom said. "And that's all Danny can ask for."

Cooper downs Steers, 88-76

ABILENE — The Big Spring Steers dropped their third consecutive District 45-A game by a score of 88-76 to the Abilene Cooper Cougars.

The Steers were done in by the Cooper backcourt duo of Terriance Bell and Fred Starks who scored 25 and 21 points respectively. Bell, a 5-9 junior scored 16 of his points in the first half when Cooper took a 34-29 halftime lead.

Cooper snapped a two-game losing streak and stretched Big Spring's losing streak to four. The Cougars are now 1-2 in district and 6-13 overall. Big Spring falls to 0-3 and 6-16.

Big Spring was led by sophomore guard Benard Williams who scored 21 points. Senior forward Arthur Jackson added 16 in a balanced Steers scoring attack which saw four players score in double figures. Billy Cole added a season-high 15 points while Mike Leuschner contributed 10.

All night long the Cougars held off Big Spring rallies. Cooper held a 11-point lead early in the second half only to have the Steers cut it to 56-53 with 2:35 remaining in the third quarter. The Cooper quickly upped the margin to 63-53 with 1:10 left in the period.

Big Spring made one final run at Cooper, cutting the margin to 66-61, only to have Cooper run off a 13-4 spurt putting the contest out of reach.

The Steers will be at home Friday night when the host Midland Lee in Steer Gym at 8 p.m.

Cooper also won the junior varsity game 69-43.

Cavs surprise Nets, 107-101

By The Associated Press
The Cleveland Cavaliers might not be quite the pushovers everyone thought they were.

The Cavs, after a 2-19 start in this National Basketball Association season, have won seven of their last 11 games, including a 107-101 decision Tuesday night over the New Jersey Nets.

"I think we're playing real hard," Coach George Karl said. "We can make changes in the game defensively better than we had been."

One of the changes Karl has made is to bring veteran guard World B. Free off the bench. In the latest victory, Cleveland's third straight, that strategy paid off as Free scored 27 points, including three three-point goals that helped defuse a Nets rally.

some serious basketball," he said. "I believe I'm doing a good job. We're winning and I've been a big part of it."

The Nets, who got 29 points from Micheal Ray Richardson and 20 each from Otis Birdsong and Albert King, hit only 39 percent of their field goal attempts.

But Nets Coach Stan Albeck said, "Give Cleveland credit. They put us in a hole early and when we would get close they would push it down and get a couple of big buckets."

Phil Hubbard had 13 of his 21 points in the first quarter as Cleveland opened a 27-20 lead. They expanded that to 56-44 at halftime behind nine second-quarter points from Roy Hinson, who finished with 20 points and 11 rebounds while hitting eight of his nine shots.

NBA

"Free had an unconscious third quarter," Karl said. "It was sensational. I love what he does for me off the bench and he did it again."

Elsewhere in the NBA, it was Denver 126, Los Angeles Lakers 124; Dallas 108, Portland 102; Washington 99, Milwaukee 95; Houston 112, Kansas City 110 and San Antonio 139, Golden State 94.

Free had 10 points in the last 3:20 of the third quarter after New Jersey had cut a 12-point halftime deficit to 60-58 by holding Cleveland without a field goal for nearly six minutes. Then he hit his third three-pointer early in the fourth period to put the Cavaliers ahead 84-66.

"I think I gave them some spectacular shots," Free said. "I didn't even think some of them were going in."

Free said he has started to adjust to his role off the bench now that the Cavaliers are winning.

"We played, this past week,

Birdsong, still slightly hampered by a pulled muscle in his left leg, came off the bench to score 10 points in the second period to keep New Jersey in the game.

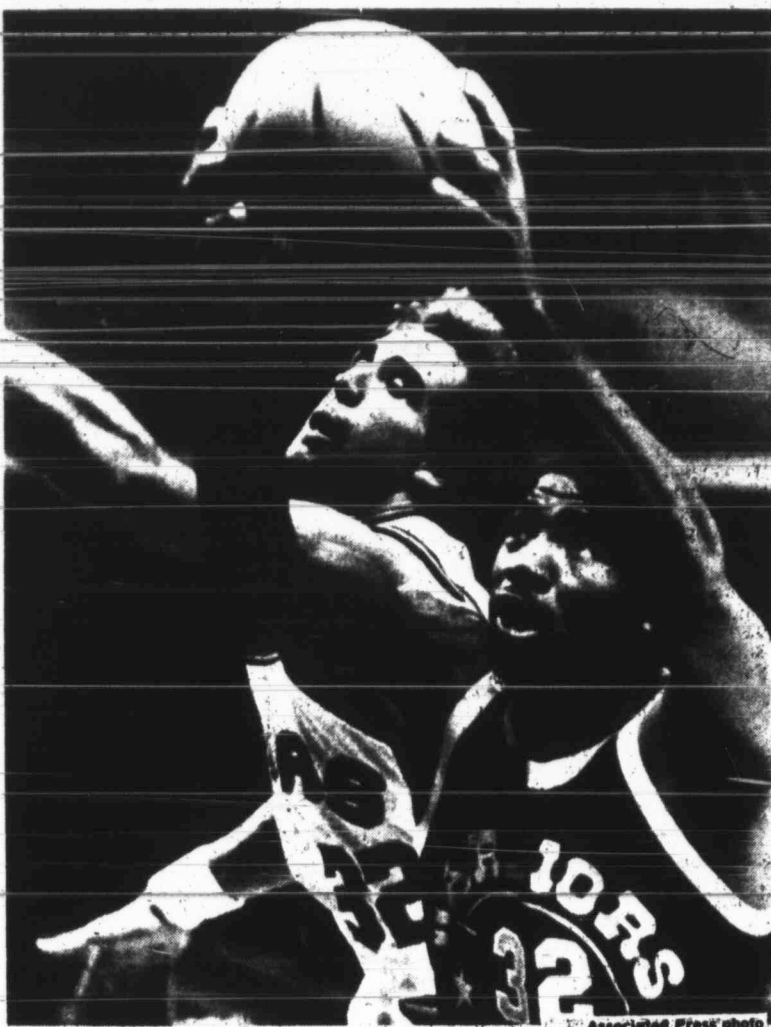

Nuggets 126, Lakers 124 ... Denver ended Los Angeles' nine-game winning streak behind Alex English's 41 points and 11 rebounds.

English scored 11 points in the fourth period to help the Nuggets offset the performance of Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, who led the Lakers with 35 points, 12 rebounds and six blocked shots.

Denver outscored Los Angeles 41-25 in the second quarter to lead by 11 points at halftime. The Lakers rallied in the second half, but could get no closer than two points.

Spurs 139, Warriors 94 ... Johnny Moore had 25 points, 13 assists, 11 rebounds and nine steals against Golden State to pace San Antonio to its largest victory margin ever.

Artis Gilmore added 23 points, Alvin Robertson 21 and George Gervin 20 for the Spurs, who led Golden State Warriors guard LESTER CONNER (32) takes a rebound away from San Antonio Spurs MARC IAVARONI in last night's NBA action.

39-20 after the first quarter with the help of 10-0 and 9-0 streaks.

The Spurs' previous record margin was a 153-111 triumph over Milwaukee in 1978.

Bullets 99, Bucks 95 ... Washington needed final-minute baskets from Gus Williams and Greg Ballard to keep Milwaukee from erasing a 17-point deficit down the stretch.

The Bullets led 89-72 with 5:34 remaining, but the Bucks got eight points from Paul Pressey during a 19-4 spurt that trimmed Washington's edge to 93-91 with 1:08 left.

Ballard led the Bullets with 20 points, while Sidney Moncrief had 34 for Milwaukee.

Rockets 112, Kings 110 ... First-place Houston stayed a game ahead of Denver in the Midwest Division as Akem Olujuwon scored 24 points, five of them in the final minutes.

Olujuwon hit two field goals and a free throw, then made a steal that led to a basket by Robert Reid as the Rockets pulled away from a 103-103 tie to a 112-107 Houston lead.

Larry Drew hit a three-point shot to cut Kansas City's deficit to two and he sank another as time ran out, but an official ruled he stepped out of bounds as he shot.

Eddie Johnson scored 26 points to lead the Kings.

Brock, Wilhelm to enter baseball's Hall of Fame

Wilhelm

Brock

NEW YORK (AP) — The subject was home runs and the speakers were two players who had contributed to the major league total — Lou Brock and Hoyt Wilhelm. Between them, baseball's newest Hall of Famers hit 150 homers — 149 by Brock, the other by Wilhelm.

They share one distinction, though. Brock's most memorable home run and Wilhelm's only one both were hit in the peculiarly shaped Polo Grounds in New York, which years ago was demolished to make room for a housing project.

The foul lines ran just 257 feet to the stands in right field and 279 in left field, which made home runs easy for pull hitters. A straightaway hitter had a much tougher shot because the center field bleachers were 485 feet from home plate.

"The Polo Grounds made you learn to keep the ball away and down," Wilhelm said Tuesday at a news conference hailing him and Brock on their election to the Hall of Fame. The relief pitcher launched a brilliant 21-year career at the Polo Grounds with the New York Giants in 1952. "Make them hit it to center field and Willie (Mays) would catch up with it."

Not always. In 1953, Joe Adcock, a Boston Braves slugger, reached the bleachers. Wilhelm remembered watching the shot from the Giants' bullpen. "It just kept carrying, carrying," he said.

Adcock's homer was the first to reach the Polo Grounds' bleachers in 30 years. By 1962, the Giants had moved to San Francisco and the Polo Grounds had become the temporary home of the New York Mets. Brock was a rookie with the Chicago Cubs in mid June when the team was in New York, playing the Mets.

"Al Jackson was pitching and he got ahead of me with two strikes," Brock said. "Richie Ashburn started to shade in a little because a lot of hitters will slap the ball in that situation. But I never gave in. I swung the same on the last pitch as I did on the first one."

Brock recalled that he sent the ball soared toward center field. "I saw Ashburn's number so I knew it was over his head," he said.

He didn't know, though, that the ball was headed for the bleachers.

DENNIS THE MENACE

"I THOUGHT YOU ALREADY TOLD ME FOR THE LAST TIME TO EAT MY CARROTS!"

THE FAMILY CIRCUS

"I'm flossing my comb's teeth."

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, JAN. 10, 1985

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The early part of the day is the best time for you to get into all the specific courses of action that you need to attend to, for the afternoon and evening find problems arising.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Early schedule your work load, and then carry through with it without deviating. Find some new method for increasing your vitality.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Find new ways of getting your talents working more efficiently, but later be more economical.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Early get some important matter handled at home and later show poise in handling other work in the outside world.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Communicate with others early and be certain your manner with partners is gentle and kind. Much care must be exercised in driving or walking.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Early handling of financial affairs is wise and later do not take on any more obligations than you can handle easily.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get started on your personal plans very early since later conditions are apt to be difficult. Postpone appointments until later.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Plan the day wisely and carry through though you may encounter distractions later. Handle the tasks that will give you more free time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Look to a good friend for the assistance you need in the morning since you find acquaintances are not reliable.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Get outside tasks handled in the morning, and don't get upset later if a higher-up upbraids you without cause.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You get an idea early but later see the flaws in it, so put it aside for awhile and pick it up another day.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Try to please your mate in the morning, and then handle your duties efficiently and conscientiously.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Have long talks with a partner so that the relationship is upgraded and greater benefits are possible in the future.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will have a fine personality and quick mind and will sparkle at studies in school, and should have a fine education; that can be the biggest asset during the lifetime. Your goal-minded progeny will pick the right path and stay on it until the dreams become a reality.

"The Stars impel; they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

GEECH

OKAY, YOU GET BACK ON THE INTERSTATE AND YOU GO TO THE LAST EXIT...
 EXCUSE ME, BUT HOW WILL I KNOW IT'S THE LAST EXIT?
 THERE WON'T BE ANY MORE.

WIZARD OF ID

POOR HENRY, HE WORKED HARD... AND HE PLAYED HARD...
 HE SHOULD'VE BEEN WORKING WHEN I CAUGHT HIM PLAYING WITH WANDA!

B.C.

EVERYBODY HATES ME!
 I DON'T HATE YOU
 IT DOESN'T MATTER THAT I CAN'T PAY YOU EITHER?... YOUR TIME IS UP, FLAP-FACE!

GASOLINE ALLEY

Everybody can get cable but us, Avery!
 I couldn't care less!
 My TV conked out ages ago!
 You've no idea how relaxing it can be just looking at a blank screen!
 I thought you gave up your pipe!
 I'm not smoking it! I just carry it around!

ANDY CAPP

MUM'S INVITED US ROUND FOR TEA, PET, IF YOU'RE INTERESTED...
 NO, THANKS, YOU KNOW HOW IT IS...
 SURE...
 NOTHING PERSONAL... HER GOLF IS TOO UNCOMFORTABLE TO STRETCH OUT ON, AND OURS IS TOO COMFORTABLE TO GET UP OFF.

BEEBLE BAILEY

CHIP, BECAUSE YOU DIDN'T PICK UP YOUR ROOM YOU CAN'T DRIVE THE CAR FOR TWO WEEKS...
 BUT I DON'T EVEN GET MY LICENSE FOR TWO MORE YEARS, DAD!
 I KNOW, BUT I'M STARTING TO PUT IT ON YOUR TAB.

HI & LOIS

BANG!
 EEEK! WHAT WAS THAT?
 NOTHING TO GET ALARMED ABOUT...
 GEN. HALF-TRAIL JUST PUT HIS AILING PUTTER OUT OF ITS MISERY.

PEANUTS

EXPLAIN THIS, IF YOU CAN, CHUCK... EVERYONE IN OUR CLASS HAD TO WRITE AN ESSAY ON WHAT WE DID DURING CHRISTMAS VACATION...
 WHEN I GOT MINE BACK, THE TEACHER HAD GIVEN ME A "D MINUS"... WELL, I'M USED TO THAT, RIGHT, CHUCK? RIGHT!
 NOW, GUESS WHAT... ALL THOSE ESSAYS WENT INTO A CITY ESSAY CONTEST, AND I WON! EXPLAIN THAT, CHUCK...
 NEVER LISTEN TO THE REVIEWERS.

BUZ SAWYER

AS BUZ EMERGES FROM THE PHONE BOOTH HE IS APPROACHED BY A FLOWER "GIRL"...
 OW'S ABOUT A BUNCH O' POSIES FOR THE MISSUS, KIND SIR!
 NO, THANKS... I THOUGHT CHRISTY LIKED FLOWERS, MR. SAWYER!
 HEY, WHAT IS THIS?
 FOLLOW ME... IF YOU DON'T YOUR LIFE WON'T BE WORTH A PLUGGED SHILLING!

DICK TRACY

LIZZ IS A PRO, CHIEF—HER EMOTIONS WON'T GET IN THE WAY OF HER JOB...
 I HAVE FAITH IN HER... THOUGH I'LL ADMIT TO ONE WORRY...
 SHE HASN'T SHED A TEAR SINCE GROOVY'S DEATH—SHE'S COLD, HASN'T ALLOWED HERSELF TO TRULY DEAL WITH HER GRIEF...
 THAT'S HIM.

SNUFFY SMITH

OL' JUDGE POTTER SHORE THREW TH' BOOK AT ME THIS TIME...
 NOW HERE COMES TH' PARSON TO THROW HIS BOOK AT ME.

BLONDIE

GREAT TO HAVE YOU ABOARD...
 WHAT'S OTHERS LIKE?
 I PURE GENIUS...
 HE MADE THE FIRM WHAT IT IS TODAY...
 CELEBRATE.

County sales tax rebate totals $80,932 for Dec.

Howard County received sales tax payments totalling $80,932 for the period ending Dec. 28, 1984. The figure is 23 percent higher than the 1984 payment at this time of $65,314.

January checks represent taxes collected on sales in November and reported to the State Comptroller by Dec. 20.

The payment reflects new items brought under the sales tax by the Legislature last summer, according to State Comptroller Bob Bullock.

"Statewide payments are up more than 15 percent over last January's checks," Bullock said. He cautioned city governments not to expect similar increases for the rest of 1985.

"The cuts we've had to make in expected state revenues are coming from the slump in the oil industry and reduced receipts from oil companies aren't yet reflected in these payments," Bullock said. Sales taxes from the Christmas retail season, which lagged behind last year's season, are due in payments to cities next month.

A breakdown of the January payments showed Big Spring received $79,646, compared to $63,154 received at this time last year.

Coahoma received $751, compared to $2,159 last year, a drop of some 65 percent. Forsan received a payment of $534, up from no payment last year.

Stanton received a payment of $1,984, compared to $2,510 received last year at this time.

Mitchell County received a payment of $15,307, up some five percent from the figure last year of $14,520.

A breakdown of Mitchell County shows Colorado City received $14,250. Loraine received no payment, and Westbrook received $1,056.

Local board of realtors installs officers for 1985

Laverne Gary is the new president of the Big Spring Board of Realtors. She was installed Tuesday at the Big Spring County Club.

Outgoing president is Janelle Davis. Other officers installed Tuesday include Janelle Britton, vice president, Sue Bradberry, secretary, Thelma Montgomery, treasurer, and Kay Moore, director.

Patsy Bohannon, vice president of the Texas Association of Realtors, was guest speaker at the installation banquet. Mrs. Bohannon, owner of Bohannon Realty in Midland, is a director for the National Board of Realtors.

She serves on the Texas Real Estate Research Center, a position she was appointed to by the Governor.

Because board members are volunteers, Mrs. Bohannon spoke on the importance of volunteerism in America.

"What if we were to awaken and find that those who had been volunteering suddenly decided to call it quits?" Mrs. Bohannon said. Such a move would signal the downfall of "institutions which we have grown to love and respect. It would be a drab world indeed."

Mrs. Bohannon also explained for realtors the separate functions of the Texas Association of Realtors, the Texas Real Estate Commission and the National

PATSY BOHANNON serves as speaker.

Association of Realtors. The Texas Association of Realtors follows a strict code of ethics, Mrs. Bohannon said.

The Texas Real Estate Commission is a licensing division, and the Texas Real Estate Research Center is a center founded by the Legislature in 1971 to do research on real estate matters.

Mrs. Bohannon encouraged board members to stay involved with the activities of the board. She also showed outline materials and publications available to board members through the Texas Association of Realtors.

Chamber directors hold yearly planning retreat

Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce directors held a yearly planning retreat Tuesday at the County Club.

Goals and objectives for the coming year were outlined during the evening, according to LeRoy Tillery, executive director.

Emphasis was placed on the importance of continued efforts in development, promotion and expansion of local industry and commerce. The Convention and Visitors Bureau was recognized its efforts during the past year. New ideas for tourism were discussed.

Chamber directors outlined several areas of interest to focus on during the coming year. They include promoting the idea of shopping in Big Spring first to maintain a strong competitive market and encouraging participation in ongoing cleanup efforts.

Directors will also focus on promoting younger leadership through community training and promoting Big Spring as the retirement and health care center of West Texas.

"The Chamber pledged support for programs strengthening local educational systems, encouraging better communication through the press and media, and surveying the Chamber members regarding the Texas Blue Law.

In board business, directors agreed to purchase an IBM PCAT computer for the Chamber offices. The computer will be purchased with help from the Howard County Industrial Development Corp. and the Big Spring Industrial Foundation.

Directors were also encouraged to attend the next community luncheon Jan. 24, and the Texas Chamber of Commerce Legislative Conference in Austin Jan. 23-24.

Family favorites will always hit the spot

By TINA STEFFEN
Lifestyle Editor

This week's Herald Recipe Exchange features recipes submitted by many readers recently. We know you will enjoy them. The recipes are favorites from the women's families.

In last week's Recipe Exchange we printed a recipe for Sandwich Spread by Martha Stephens. An ingredient was inadvertently omitted. We apologize. Mrs. Stephens also called to provide a tip for the preparation of that recipe. We are running the recipe again to include the ingredient and the tip.

We would like to publish your family favorites. Please send them to the Herald Recipe Exchange, Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 1431, Big Spring, Texas 79720, or drop them by the Herald at 710 Scurry.

SANDWICH SPREAD
Martha Stephens

- 1 qt. finely chopped sweet pickles (measured after chopping)
 - 3 red sweet peppers or canned pimiento (chopped fine)
 - 3 green sweet peppers (chopped fine)
 - 1 cup vinegar
- Cover peppers with vinegar and cook 10 minutes. Drain. In double boiler prepare the following:
- 3 Tbsps. flour
 - 1/4 tsp. cayenne pepper
 - 1 tsp. ground mustard
 - 3/4 cup vinegar from sweet pickles
 - 1 tsp. salt
 - 1 cup cream
 - 3 well-beaten eggs
 - 4 Tbsps. sugar

Thoroughly mix flour and other dry ingredients. Add vinegar and mix to smooth paste. Cook in double boiler until thickened. Pour cream in gradually, stirring constantly. Cook about 10 minutes more, stirring constantly. (TIP: Do not cook until mixture is thick; leave thin. When peppers are added, the spread will thicken to just right.) Pour hot mixture over beaten eggs and mix well. Return to boiler. Cook three minutes. Add pickles and peppers and let come to a boiling point. Pour into clean canning jars. Put on cap, screwing band firmly tight. Process in water bath 10 minutes.

PEANUT BUTTER
Martha Stephens

- 4 qts. Virginia peanuts
 - 2 qts. Spanish peanuts
 - 8 tps. salt
- Roast peanuts uniformly brown. Cool, remove red skins and tiny hearts. Use nut grinder or finest blade of food chopper to grind peanuts. Add salt and grind 2 or 3 more times until mixture does not feel grainy between the fingers. Pack closely into clean canning jars, filling to within 1 inch of top. Put on cap, screwing band firmly tight. Process in water bath 60 minutes at simmering temperature (180 degrees). The Virginia and Spanish peanuts must be mixed to prevent too much oil in butter. Make butter often rather than making supply for several months.

MINTED COCOA COFFEE MIX

- 1 1/2 cups non-dairy creamer
 - 1 cup sugar
 - 1/2 cup instant coffee granules or crystals
 - 1/2 cup cocoa
 - Dash salt
 - 1/2 tsp. peppermint extract
- In large bowl or container, combine all ingredients; mix well. Store mix tightly covered in airtight container. To serve, spoon 1 tablespoon mix into demitasse cup or 2 tablespoons into dinner cup or 3 tablespoons into mug; fill with boiling water. Stir to blend. If desired, garnish with dollop of whipped cream. Makes 3 1/2 cups mix.

BEBOP BROCCOLI

- 2 pkgs. (10 ounces each) frozen broccoli spears or frozen cauliflower, cooked and drained
 - 1 can (10 3/4 ounces) condensed cream of chicken soup
 - 1/2 cup milk
 - 1/2 cup shredded sharp cheddar cheese
 - 1/4 cup buttered bread crumbs
- Preheat oven to 350 degrees. In 10 x 6-inch baking dish, arrange vegetables. Combine soup, milk and cheese; pour over vegetables. Sprinkle with crumbs. Bake in oven 30 minutes or until hot and bubbling. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

CHEESEBALL

- Sandy Wright
 - 2 (8 oz.) pkgs. cream cheese
 - 1 (8 oz.) pkg. cheddar cheese, grated
 - 1 Tbsp. chopped pimento
 - 1 Tbsp. dried green pepper
 - 1 tsp. lemon juice
 - 2 tps. Worcestershire sauce
 - 2 tps. Tabasco sauce
 - Dash of salt
- Mix well; shape in ball; sprinkle with paprika and roll in chopped pecans.

MAPLE SUGARED NUTS

- Peggy Williams
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 Tbsp. light corn syrup
- 1/2 cup water

WINTER DRINKS — After being in the grip of winter's cold air, what better time to gather around for a steaming mug of milk-based refreshment. The drinks above are listed in today's Herald Recipe Exchange. They are (from top): Jamaica Punch, Hot Apple Butter Punch and Hot Peanuty Milk.

- Pinch of salt
- 1 Tbsp. butter
- 2 cups pecans
- 1 tsp. maple flavoring
- Dash of cinnamon

Cook sugar, syrup, water and salt until mixture reaches 238 degrees by candy thermometer. Remove from heat. Add flavoring, cinnamon and butter. Mix well; add pecans. Stir until creamy. Pour out onto wax paper and separate with fork. Let cool. Store in tightly sealed container.

PECAN PIE

- Kim Jones
- 3 eggs, slightly beaten
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1 cup light corn syrup
- Pinch of salt
- 1/2 cup melted butter
- 1 cup chopped pecans

Combine eggs, sugar, syrup, salt and butter. Stir well; add nuts. Pour into unbaked pie shell. Bake until golden brown, about 45 to 50 minutes at 375 degrees.

HONEY SPICE CAKE

- 3 1/2 cups unbleached all-purpose flour
- 1 cup sugar
- 3 tps. baking powder
- 1 tsp. baking soda
- 1 tsp. ground ginger
- 1 1/2 tps. ground cinnamon
- 3/4 tsp. ground nutmeg
- 1/4 tsp. ground allspice
- 1/4 tsp. ground cloves
- 5 large eggs
- 1 cup honey
- 2 tps. instant coffee dissolved in 3/4 cup boiling water and cooled
- 1/2 cup safflower oil
- 2 tps. vanilla
- 1 1/2 tps. grated orange rind

In a medium bowl stir together flour, sugar, baking powder, baking soda, ginger, cinnamon, nutmeg, allspice and cloves. In the large bowl of an electric mixer at low speed beat together eggs, honey, coffee, oil and vanilla until blended. Gradually beat in flour mixture until smooth. Stir in orange rind. Turn into an oiled and floured 12-cup fluted tube pan. Bake in a preheated 325-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in the center comes out clean — about 1 hour and 10 minutes. Cool cake in pan on a wire rack for 10 minutes; with a small narrow metal spatula loosen edges; turn out on rack and cool completely.

FRUIT SALAD

- Marie Nichols
- 1 box Tapioca pudding
- 1 large can pineapple chunks
- 1/2 cup orange juice
- 2 Tbsps. frozen orange concentrate
- 2 cans Mandarin oranges, drained
- 3 large bananas

Mix drained pineapple juice, orange juice, concentrate, and orange juice. Add Tapioca and cook until thick and clear. Cool completely. When cool, add pineapple chunks, oranges and bananas. Refrigerate.

ZUCCHINI SQUARES

- Essie Jackson
- 3 cups thinly sliced raw zucchini (4 small or 2 medium)
- 1 cup Bisquick mix
- 1/2 cup finely chopped onions
- 1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/2 tsp. oregano
- 1/2 tsp. minced garlic
- 1/2 cup vegetable oil
- Dash pepper
- 4 eggs, slightly beaten

Mix all ingredients. Spread in 9 x 13-inch pan. Bake 25 minutes or longer to golden brown in 350 degree oven. Cut in 2 x 1 inch squares. Makes two dozen.

HOT APPLE BUTTER PUNCH

- 1 qt. milk
- 3/4 cup apple butter
- 1 Tbsp. fresh lemon juice
- 1/4 tsp. ground cloves

Combine all ingredients in a 2-quart saucepan. Heat slowly to serving temperature. May also be served cold. Yield 4 3/4 cups.

- frozen or fresh)
 - 1 tsp. salt
 - 1 cup chopped pecans
- Grease and flour bundt cake pan. Combine sugar, oil and eggs in bowl. Beat well. Add flour and spices a cup at a time. Beat well. Add three cups pears and the pecans. Bake in bundt pan 1 hour at 350 degrees. Cool, then glaze with lemon and sugar.

BASIC SALAD DRESSING MIX

- 3 cups dairy sour cream
- 1 1/2 cups buttermilk
- 2 Tbsps. white wine vinegar
- 2 Tbsps. sugar
- 3/4 tsp. salt
- 1/2 tsp. dry mustard
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 1/4 tsp. paprika

Combine all ingredients; mix well. Store, covered, in refrigerator up to two weeks. Yield one quart mix. Use as base for either of the following salad dressings.

Blue Cheese Dressing: To 1 cup basic mix add 1/4 cup (1 oz.) crumbled blue cheese, 1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce and 1/8 tsp. garlic powder. Use over salad greens or as a dip for raw vegetables. Yield about 1 1/4 cups.

Creamy Italian Dressing: To 1 cup basic mix add 2 tablespoons tomato paste, 4 teaspoons grated Parmesan cheese and 3/4 teaspoon Italian herbs. Use over salad greens or as a dip for raw vegetables. Yield about 1 1/4 cups.

RICH MUFFINS

- 1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 2 eggs
- 2 1/4 cups all-purpose flour
- 2 tps. baking powder
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1 cup dairy eggnog
- 1/2 cup chopped candied cherries
- 1/2 cup chopped pecans
- 1/2 cup currants

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Cream butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs. Combine flour, baking powder and salt. Add dry ingredients alternately to creamed mixture with eggnog; begin and end with dry ingredients. Mix well after each addition. Stir in cherries, nuts and currants. Fill paper cup-lined muffin cups 3/4 full. Bake 18 to 20 minutes or until a wooden pick inserted into center comes out clean. Cool in pan 5 minutes. Remove from pan and cool completely on wire rack. Store at room temperature in airtight container. Muffins will keep at room temperature up to one week and frozen up to one month.

CREAMY PESTO SAUCE

This recipe makes a good gift at anytime.

- 2 cups fresh parsley
- 6 Tbsps. dried basil
- 1/4 cup pine nuts (pignolias)
- 8 whole blanched almonds
- 2 cloves garlic
- 2 pkgs. (8 oz. each) cream cheese, broken into small pieces
- 1 cup grated Parmesan cheese
- 1/2 tsp. salt

Place parsley, basil, nuts and garlic in work bowl of food processor*. Process until coarsely chopped. Add cream cheese, Parmesan cheese and salt. Process until well combined. For a gift, divide mixture in half and store each half in air-tight container. Include the following instructions with gift. To prepare each half, cook 12 ounces of pasta. Drain pasta, reserving 6 tablespoons of water in which pasta was cooked. Add to softened pesto sauce; mix well. Toss hot pasta with pesto sauce. Serve immediately. Makes six servings. Keep pesto sauce refrigerated up to two weeks. Full recipe of pesto sauce yields about 2 1/2 cups.

*NOTE: Mixture can also be made in blender, using "chopping" speed. Do half a recipe at a time.

Researcher seeks photos of Victorian Texas homes

Interest in preserving and restoring historic buildings has reached every corner of Texas. However, it's difficult for people who care about Texas heritage to find photographic documentation on buildings because material is scattered over the state.

The largest collection of interior photographs of Texas houses to date is being compiled by Dr. Cynthia Brandimarte in a project titled "Images of Victorian Texas: 1860-1920." More than 300 views have been located and more are being sought both in public and in private photographic collections. Area residents may use their photographs to help in the effort.

The project, which has the support of many preservationist groups throughout the state, aims to locate photographs of the interiors of Texas buildings, especially houses, taken before 1920. These interior views show what kinds of furniture, draperies, carpets and accessories were in use at a point in time in a specific place. They document characteristic room arrangements, seasonal changes, special efforts to accommodate the climate as well as ethnic and regional variations in interiors. The survey strives to enrich preservation and restoration efforts.

Interior photographs are rare when compared with the number of surviving portrait photographs and exterior building views. Some interior photos survive in library and archival collections but many interior views are in individual collections and in family photograph albums. Dr. Brandimarte desires to hear from individuals or institutions that have interior photographs taken between 1860 and 1920. She wants to make sure that interiors from all areas of Texas and interiors of all groups of people are well-represented in the publication produced from the research.

Dr. Brandimarte will be in the Big Spring area during the last two weeks of January to view and copy photographs. Anyone who has pre-1920 interior photos of Texas houses may call her at (713) 223-8367 or collect after 6 p.m. at (713) 869-0315 by Tuesday; or send a photostatic copy of the interior photograph to Dr. Cynthia Brandimarte, "Images of Victorian Texas: 1860-1920," Harris County Heritage Society, 1100 Bagby, Houston, Texas 77002 by Tuesday.

Gem designers honor local club and Big Spring

Three internationally known gem designers designed new gemstones named in honor of the local Prospectors Club.

Two designers, Robert Long and Norman Steele, designed the "Star of Big Spring." The only other city to have a gem design in its honor is San Diego.

Long and Steele were symposium speakers at the Texas First Faceters Fair, presented by Prospectors Club at the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum in June. Both men are employed by Boeing Aircraft in Washington.

Russ Roepke recently presented a gem cut known as "Prospectors Brilliant." Roepke, another well-known designer, is from Temple.

The Faceters Fair is a show on the national level. Sixty gem cutters from six states attended the event in Big Spring last June.
