Visibilities were less than three miles along some areas of the Texas Gulf coast shrouded by dense fog today, while a high-pressure cell kept skies mostly fair elsewhere in the state.

The National Weather Service said visibilities were expected to drop to less than a mile over parts of the upper coastal plains, and could hamper travel.

Winds were light and variable across North and South Texas, and west to northwest at 5 to 15 mph elsewhere. Low temperatures ranged from the 30s in North and West Texas to the 40s in southern sections.

Extremes were 35 degrees in Amarillo and 49 degrees at the Naval Air Station in Corpus Christi.

At 5 a.m., it was 41 degrees at Waco, El Paso and Midland; 40 at Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport and San Angelo; 37 at Wichita Falls; 38 at Stephenville; 33 at Lubbock; 45 at Austin; and 48 in Brownsville.

The weather service said San Antonio had 43 degrees, while it was 33 at Lubbock.

Colder temperatures and higher winds were expected over the northern part of North Texas by tonight. The weather service said it should be colder statewide through Saturday with partly cloudy skies.

Highs should be in the 50s and 60s, except warmer readings in the 70s over the Big Bend valleys.

Midland jail found deficient

MIDLAND (AP) — Midland County must come up with a plan to improve its jail within 30 days or the facility will be closed, the Texas Commission on Jail Standards has ruled.

County Attorney Mark Dettman said the jail commission wants a written report detailing steps being taken to solve current "deficiencies."

Among improvements needed are a smoke purging system, better "sound and sight separation" between male and female inmates, improved facilities for exercise and sunlight and the removal of temporary bunks, Dettman said.

The report also must contain "an estimate of what it will cost to farm out our prisoners to other jails... in the event they were to shut our jail down," said Midland County Commissioner Durwood Wright.

Wright attended Wednesday's jail commission meeting in Austin along with Dettman, commissioners Scott Welch and Wally Craig and Sheriff Gary Painter.

Also on Wednesday, the Midland Chamber of Commerce's board of directors announced the formation of a panel that will study possible ways to bring the jail up to state standards.

conditions strike Central Texas and impair LCRA operations.

Gov. Mark White lauded the statement from the Lower Colorado River Authority's board of directors. "This is very important," he said, "because it can have an impact not just affecting the Colorado River, but the whole state of Texas over our water plan that is now before the Legislature."

White said: "If we are not able to reach some agreement to the upstream users... then we are going to find they have no inclination to vote for a water plan that does not give them any benefit."

Since 1978 the Austin-based river authority has fought efforts by the Colorado River Municipal Water District to construct Stacy Dam near Ballinger. The reservoir would, if constructed, supply water to a wide area of West Texas, including San Angelo, Big Spring and possibly Abilene.

The fight reached a climax last year with the Texas Supreme Court blocking construction of the reservoir, ruling that Colorado River water needed for Stacy already was obligated downstream — chiefly to the Lower Colorado River Authority.

Since the ruling, West Texas lawmakers have threatened to oppose a statewide water plan now under legislative review unless legal shackles on Stacy are removed.

White, a leading supporter of the water package, called in both sides of the dispute this week to urge a quick compromise. Those involved in negotiations between the two parties claim the two are close to a settlement.

"I think we're pretty close," said John Scanlan, a Lower Colorado River Authority board member. "I don't know if there are any significant obstacles that still remain."

Ivie said if an agreement is reached, the Colorado River Municipal Water District must still have a legal water use permit for the reservoir issued by the Texas Water Commission. The Texas Supreme Court invalidated an earlier commission permit for the project.

The House Natural Resources Committee, meanwhile, opened three days of work on a state-wide water package Thursday and will resume testimony on the bill Monday. That legislation includes $400 million for water supply projects and $200 million in water quality projects, all of which must be approved by voters.

Police Beat

Police arrest man for assault

Police Thursday arrested an 18-year-old man at his home at 391 N. Scurry on a warrant for assault.

Longorio Flores, 18, of 601 N. Scurry today remains in the city jail pending bond. He also was arrested on suspicion of resisting arrest, retaliation, Class C misdemeanor criminal mischief of less than $20 and public intoxication.

Ismael Carillo of 605 E. 12th told police that someone stole a red man's 10-speed bike from a warehouse at 904 W. Third between 2 p.m. Jan. 14 and 2:45 p.m. Thursday. The bike was valued at $120.

Big Spring police arrested Roy Dean Boyd, 29, of 104 Algerita at 2:30 p.m. Thursday at his house on suspicion of parole violations.

Ester Flores of 1408 W. Second told police a man she knew threatened to fatally shoot her at 8 a.m. Thursday.

Joann Lopez of 411 N. Scurry told police that a man she had earlier filed criminal charges against assaulted her and damaged her clothing and personal property in retaliation.

Yonayudh Pibuldhapantana of 405 Donley told police that people entered her building about 4 p.m. Thursday, but she was uncertain what was taken, if anything.

A 22-inch lawnmower worth $267 was stolen during the last week, Miguel Aguilar of 921 W. Seventh told police Thursday.

The mower was taken between 5 p.m. Jan. 17 and 10:25 p.m. Thursday.

Twenty-nine cassette tapes, valued at $290, were taken from a black 1982 Chevrolet between 8 a.m. Tuesday and 5 p.m. Wednesday, possibly while the car was parked at Howard College, owner Bill Meyers of 4915 Vicky told police.

Deputies investigate mischief

Howard County sheriff's deputies and the Texas Rangers are investigating a criminal mischief act that occurred on FM 5033, five miles north of Interstate 30.

Sheriff's chief deputy Bill Shankles said Wilson Energy Inc. of Midland reported that a plug had been removed from the gear box of an oil pumping unit. Estimated damage has not been totaled.

The act occurred between 4:50 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. Wednesday according to the sheriff's log.

A Las Cruces woman was arrested by a Department of Public Safety (DPS) trooper Thursday morning on a warrant issued by Hillsborough County, Florida, charging her with dealing stolen property and forgery.

Vickie George, 24, was released to report to Dona Ana County probation department in New Mexico as Florida refused to extradite her, according to the sheriff's log.

Mary Linda Olivarez, 19, 209 E. Seventh, was arrested for driving while intoxicated (DWI) and giving false information. She was released on bonds totaling $1,200.

A DPS trooper arrested Zena Louise Ingham, 19, 1213 E. 16th, for DPS traffic warrants issued from Ozona County and a warrant from Erath County charging her with issuing a bad check.

She was released on bonds totaling $700.

A DPS trooper arrested Richard Larry Stockton, 50, of Gall Route, for a charge of DWI. He was released on $1,000 bond set by Judge Lewis Heflin.

Harold Dwayne McIntosh, 40, 803 W. 16th, was arrested at the Greyhound Bus Terminal on a peace bond warrant. He was later released on $1,000 bond set by Judge Heflin.

"look very carefully" at the new estimates and how they might affect future rate requests.

The utility has been allowed to add some charges to offset costs of construction, even before projects begin generating power.

Ramsey, in talking with the Herald today, said discussions on what the delays in Comanche Peak will cost ratepayers "are speculation." He added that the PUC will determine rates based on power from Comanche Peak only after the facility is operational.

Although the $670 million "sounds like a lot... our costs per kilowatt hour are still 25 percent below the national average," Ramsey said.

Ramsey is also not surprised by what has happened at Comanche Peak. "We don't like it, but it's happened everywhere," Ramsey said, referring to about 25 other plants on a similar schedule.

Critics of Comanche Peak who have said recently that the plant may never open are wrong, Ramsey said.

"No. That's never been a consideration. We don't feel there is any problem that can't be resolved. The Nuclear Regulatory Commission hasn't said anything like that."

Ramsey defended the nuclear energy plant. "Customers need that power. Comanche Peak can provide it at less cost. It's not in anybody's interest not to complete (the plant)."

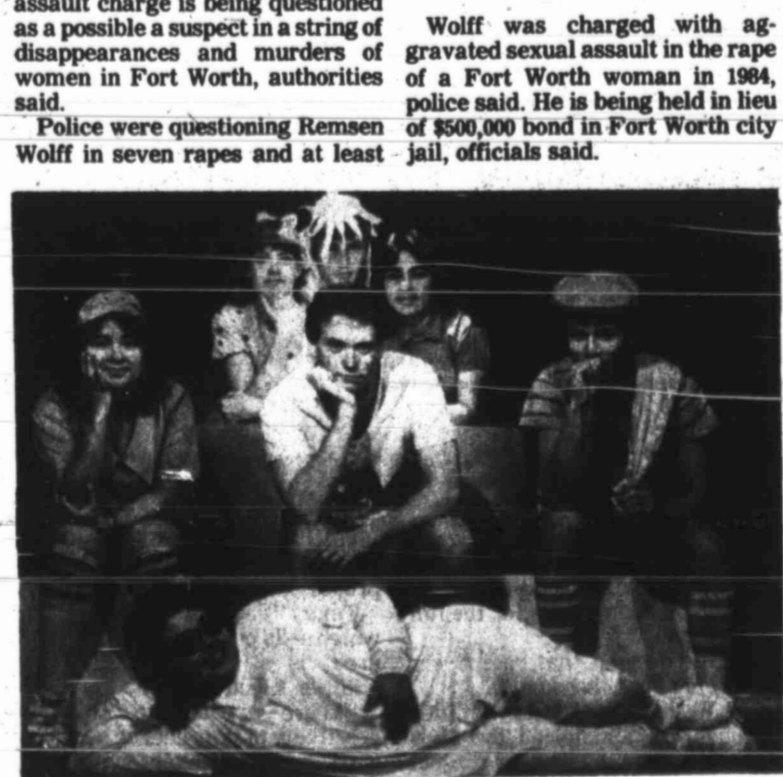

Police arrest murder suspect

FORT WORTH (AP) — A 44-year-old freelance photographer jailed early today on a sexual assault charge is being questioned as a possible suspect in a string of disappearances and murders of women in Fort Worth, authorities said.

Police were questioning Remsen Wolff in seven rapes and at least two murders after arresting him Thursday night and searching his Fort Worth apartment.

Wolff was charged with aggravated sexual assault in the rape of a Fort Worth woman in 1984, police said. He is being held in lieu of $500,000 bond in Fort Worth city jail, officials said.

SNOOPY — The Colorado City Playhouse will present "Snoopy" at 8 p.m. through Sunday. A matinee is slated for 2 p.m. Sunday. Tickets are available through the box office. Call 915-728-3491.

Crash victim remains in coma

AUSTIN — Gordon (Gogi) Grinnan, a former Big Spring resident, remains in a coma in Austin's Brackenridge Hospital following a Dec. 26 accident which injured his wife Mary and three sons.

A fund to help the family offset expenses has been established at the State National Bank.

Grinnan and his family were near Austin when a car driven by a driver later arrested for driving while intoxicated crossed the median and slammed into the Grinnan vehicle.

The family was taken to Brackenridge Hospital. Mrs. Grin-nan underwent several surgeries and is now wearing a back brace. Brian, 5, is in a body cast after having sustained two broken legs and a broken right arm in the incident.

Michael, 2 1/2, underwent surgery for internal injuries. Andy, an infant, received only minor injuries in the accident, according to Jenny Watkins of Big Spring, Mrs. Grinnan's sister.

Mrs. Grinnan and the children are out of the hospital. Mrs. Grinnan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ament of Big Spring, are in Austin with the family.

Gay day goes to court

AUGUSTA, Maine — The Maine Civil Liberties Union is asking the state Supreme Court to overrule a school board's cancellation of a "Toleration Day" program that included a gay activist.

Civil Liberties Union lawyer Jed Davis said he would push for court review of Judge Donald G. Alexander's ruling on Thursday that homosexuals have no "judicially enforceable" right to protection from discrimination.

Dale McCormick, a Yarmouth carpenter and president of the Maine Lesbian-Gay Political Alliance, was to appear on the Madison High School program tonight, along with representatives of other minority groups.

Robbery trial date set

PORTLAND, Ore. — A Feb. 6 trial is scheduled for a man the FBI has linked to the Aryan Nations, a white supremacist group suspected in two West Coast armored car robberies last year.

Denver Daw Parmenter II, 36, of Cheyney, Wash., pleaded innocent Thursday to possession of an automatic pistol with the serial number removed. The pistol was seized at Parmenter's arrest Dec. 18 at a Seaside motel.

He still faces trial on charges he participated in two armored car holdups — a $3.6 million robbery July 19 in Ukiah, Calif., and a $500,000 holdup April 23 at a Seattle shopping mall.

No gambling on Sundays

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — You can gamble in Florida on horse racing, dog racing, and jai alai — but never on Sunday, the state's high court says.

The Florida Supreme Court on Thursday unanimously rejected arguments from horse racing interests that the state's Sunday gambling ban unconstitutionally deprived them of a share in the tourist market.

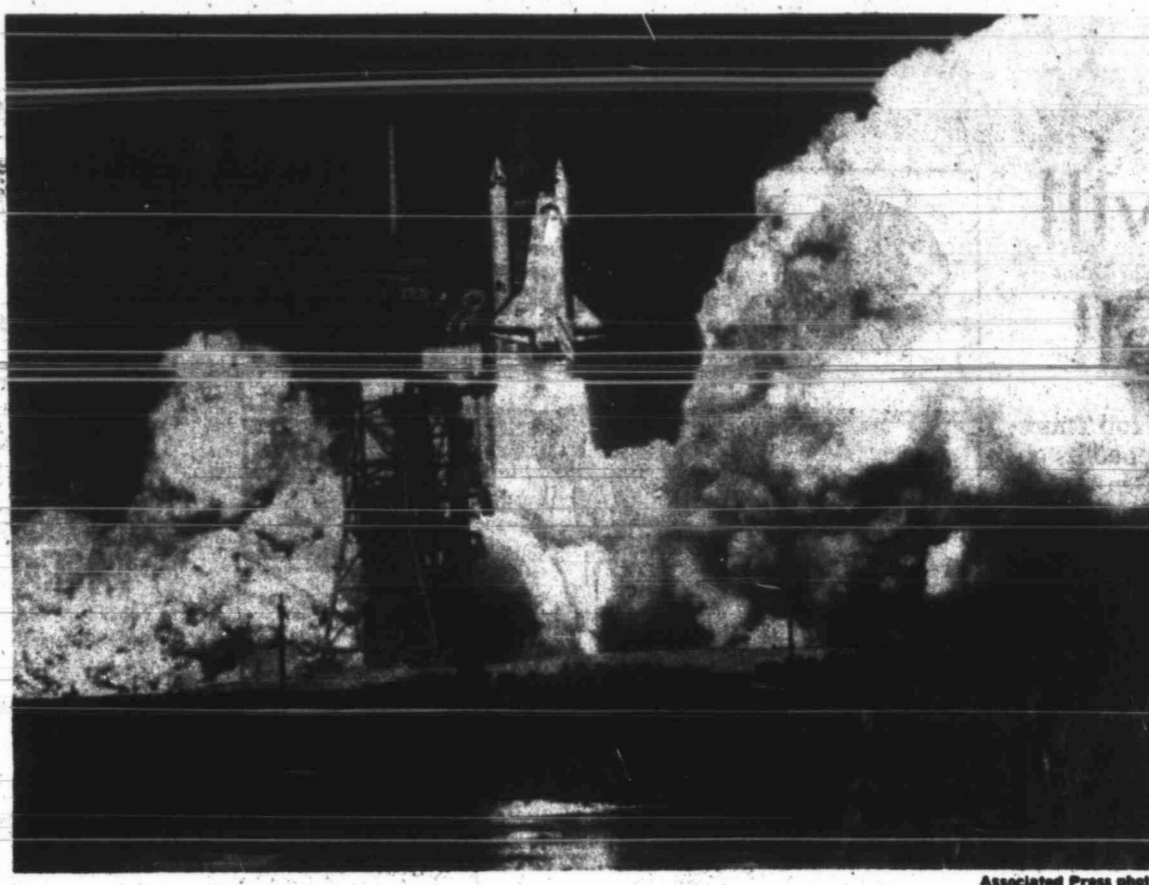

The court said closing race tracks on what might otherwise be their busiest day could help curb the compulsive gambler, and would create "less opportunity for mischief that sometimes attends these events."

Unions challenge 'scabs'

PHOENIX, Ariz. — The 13 unions on strike against the nation's second-largest copper producer for the past 19 months have vowed to challenge their ouster by workers at Phelps Dodge Corp.

Union attorney Michael Kennan called the 1,980-87 vote to decertify the unions "a significant victory" for Phelps Dodge, which claimed the violence-marred strike ended when it hired replacements workers in late 1983.

The unions have five days to file objections to the October elections. Ballots were counted on Thursday.

Super secret satellite

Shuttle mission relying on $50 million rocket

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Discovery's astronauts, their conversations encoded, are ready today to deploy a $300 million super spy satellite whose fate depends on a $50 million rocket stage which failed its only other shuttle assignment two years ago.

Sources reported the satellite was to be released today, but the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and Pentagon said they will not confirm it has been deployed until much later in the flight. The reporting delay is one of several measures being taken to confound Soviet tracking efforts during this first classified U.S. manned space flight.

The mission began at 2:50 p.m. EST Thursday after a secret countdown, whose status was revealed publicly just nine minutes before liftoff. Missing as the spaceship arose spectacularly into space were the voices of the astronauts.

Throughout the flight, expected to last until at least Tuesday, reporters will not be able to listen to space-to-ground communications, reversing the practice in 45 previous missions. And even if they could listen in, the conversations are encoded.

NASA plans to issue a statement every eight hours on the condition of the spaceship and the crew.

"Discovery, its crew and all elements of the space transportation system are performing satisfactorily," the agency said early today.

The astronauts are Navy Capt. Thomas K. Mattingly, the commander, and Air Force Lt. Col. Loren Shriver, Marine Lt. Col. James Buchli, and Air Force majors Ellison Onizuka and Gary Payton.

Discovery's payload, sources say, is a $300 million, 2½-ton Air Force satellite capable of monitoring Soviet missile tests and intercepting military and diplomatic communications in much of Europe, Asia and Africa. The Pentagon has acknowledged that the satellite will be propelled into a higher orbit by a powerful Inertial Upper Stage, or IUS, after the astronauts have released it.

The sources said the payload will be parked in stationary orbit 22,300 miles above the equator south of the Soviet Union. Officials made public the IUS information because this is its first flight since a predecessor misfired and sent another satellite into the wrong orbit during a shuttle mission in April 1983.

Both the Air Force and NASA plan extensive use of the IUS in the future; a second failure would severely interrupt the shuttle launch schedule. The space agency plans to use one of the stages next month to boost a communications satellite to be released from the shuttle Challenger.

Because of the interest, the Air Force said it would report the performance of the IUS on the current mission. The two-stage rocket has been modified and tested extensively since the failure. The prime contractor is Boeing Aerospace Co. The chemical systems division of United Technologies developed the motors.

The problem was traced to the nozzle which acts as a steering system for the second-stage motor. Investigators concluded the most probable cause was overheating, which resulted in the collapse of a flexible seal.

Nine modifications have been made to the second-stage motor, mainly to improve thermal protection for the seal, said Charles A. Chase, chief engineer for space motor programs at the Chemical Systems Division.

Greece quits NATO class

ATHENS, Greece — Premier Andreas Papandreou says his country has quit the NATO Defense College in Rome because of a classroom military exercise which involved a hypothetical coup in Greece.

"Greece no longer intends to send its officers to the Rome-based ... (college), although the incident between the alliance and the Greek government is closed," Papandreou said in a statement Thursday.

Greece recalled three military officers and a diplomat attending the college earlier this week to protest the exercise, which pretended there had been a military coup in Athens following a leftist electoral victory.

Government spokesman Dimitis Maroudas described the exercise as "insulting the Greek armed forces and undermining Greece's democratic and parliamentary institutions."

Relations between Greece and NATO have been strained since Papandreou's Socialist government was elected in 1981. Greece refuses to join NATO exercises in the Aegean Sea region because of a feud with alliance partner Turkey over military control of the region.

174 indicted for terrorism

ROME — A judge has indicted 174 people, including a former Socialist Party senator, on terrorist charges.

A court announcement Thursday said Judge Enrico Pacifico indicted all 174 on charges of taking part in activities aimed at armed insurrection against the state and inciting civil war.

Among those indicted was former Sen. Domenico Pittella, who allegedly made available to leftist Red Brigades terrorists the services of a medical clinic he operated and planned a political kidnapping, Pacifico said.

Pittella, from the southern city of Potenza, did not seek re-election in the June 1983 balloting.

Others indicted included Susanna Ronconi, considered one of the leaders of the Front Line terrorist gang, Pacifico said.

GB drops N-dump plan

LONDON — The government, acting after a protest campaign by local residents, has dropped plans to store radioactive waste underground in the northeast England industrial area of Billingham.

Environment Secretary Patrick Jenkin announced the decision Thursday in the House of Commons and said the search for underground dump sites would continue.

Waste from reprocessing used nuclear fuel to extract useful uranium and plutonium now is stored above ground. Sea dumping was halted when seamen refused to handle the containers.

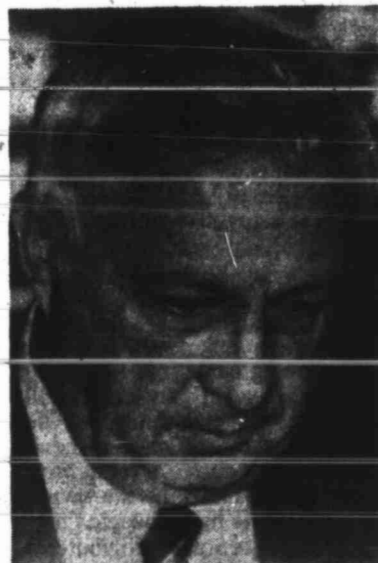

Jenkin praised Billingham people for the conduct of their campaign, but said there was no reason for them to doubt the safety of the disposal plans.

Sharon claims win in libel suit

NEW YORK (AP) — Both sides claimed victory after the jury in Ariel Sharon's $50 million libel suit against Time Inc. said the magazine acted "negligently and carelessly" but ruled against the former Israeli defense minister on the crucial issue of actual malice.

The verdict Thursday meant that even though the panel had earlier found the Time article about Sharon's alleged role in the massacre of hundreds of Palestinians to be false and defamatory, it decided the piece did not libel Sharon.

"We find that certain Time employees, particularly correspondent David Halevy, acted negligently and carelessly in reporting and verifying the information which ultimately found its way into the published paragraph of interest in this case," the jury said in an unusual statement released after the verdict was announced. Halevy was Time's Jerusalem didn't think he was actually out to hurt Sharon with malice," juror Patricia DeLoatch, 27, said after the verdict.

Another juror, Lydia Burdick, 35, said, "The bottom line was that he believed what he had written was true, which meant he did not act with actual malice."

The verdict gave both sides an opportunity to claim victory.

"There's no question we won," Ray Cave, Time's managing editor, said after the ruling ended a 10-week trial. "You can only have one verdict in a legal case — either you win it or you lose it."

"We came in order to prove that Time magazine lied and we managed to prove that they lied," said Sharon, now Israel's minister of industry and commerce.

Halevy, 43, a native Israeli, had worked for Time since 1969, earning a reputation for good sources.

Stacy accord will serve state well

A major roadblock to construction of Stacy Dam fell Thursday when the Lower Colorado River Authority dropped its objection to the reservoir. That turnaround down in Austin should speed toward fruition the Stacy project, too long held in the grip of remote, conflicting interests.

Gov. Mark White was quick to applaud the river authority's action. He personally intervened to try to mend the discord between the river authority and Big Spring's Colorado River Municipal Water District. The new dam has been planned since the mid 1970s.

White saw the split between West Texas and Central Texas interests as representative of regional conflicts that have killed previous statewide water proposals. And, make no mistake, he put pressure on the river authority. He said Thursday, "I don't think that either side would like to be viewed as the party that prevented the state of Texas from adopting a water plan," White said.

Stacy Dam, to be built near Ballinger, would serve vital water needs for West Texas. It is both prudent and practical that the river authority agree to work with the water district here. One area of the state cannot selfishly overindulge itself in a commodity precious to other areas of the state — even if technically it has that right. There are larger considerations here.

It is the spirit of compromise exhibited by Austin's river authority which is essential to guide Texas as it shapes its water future. Agreement on Stacy is symbolic of the attitude that must exist for the entire state to be well-served in the future.

White House musical chairs

The President was adjusting quite well to all the musical chairs in the White House, but even he wasn't prepared for the big one.

One night last week Nancy Reagan said to him, "I'd like to swap jobs with Secretary of Health and Human Services, Margaret Heckler."

"How can you do that? You're the best First Lady a President ever had."

"I'm burned out, Ronnie. After giving all those luncheons and dinners for heads of state, and making all those official appearances, I feel I need a new challenge. At least as a Cabinet officer I won't have to smile all the time. Ronnie, my cheekbones hurt."

"But," the President protested, "I'm losing Deaver, Baker and Meese. You're the only one left from the old gang. With them gone, who can I confide in?"

"Margaret Heckler is well qualified to be the First Lady. She knows the inner workings of government and she's a quick study. Besides, Ronnie, it's not as if I'm leaving Washington. I'll only be a few blocks away, and I'll come over any time you want to talk."

"Gee whiz, Nancy, I just don't think it would work. If you leave me now, with all the other staff changes the American people will get upset. They sleep better knowing that you're in the White House."

"I was afraid you'd try to talk me out of it. But I have to think of my own career. There is no future in being a lame duck First Lady. As Secretary of HHS I'll have a high profile, and I won't have to deal with all the power plays in the White House any more. I'm sick and tired of everyone coming to me and asking me to put in a good word with you for all the silly ideas they have."

"You don't understand, Nancy. I can afford to lose Deaver, Baker and Meese, but who is going to look adoringly at me when I make a speech?"

"I'm sure Margaret Heckler can do that. We've talked it over and I explained what the duties of First Lady entail, and she said as far as she was concerned there wasn't one she couldn't handle."

"You mean you talked it over with her before you talked it over with me?" the President said.

"I knew if I asked you first you might raise an objection. I got the idea when Donald Regan asked Jim Baker if he wanted to swap jobs. If Regan had gone to you first he could have been turned down."

"Suppose I put you on the National Security Council? Would you stay then?"

"I'd rather be in charge of Health and Human Services. I've proved myself as First Lady, and after four years there are no surprises."

"I can't believe anyone who has the ear of the President of the United States would want to throw it all away for a Cabinet position. Do you realize you're the first person who sees me in the morning and the last person who sees me at night?"

"I know that, Ronnie. But as First Lady, I'm still perceived as nothing more than your wife. As a liberated woman, I want to be appreciated for myself."

"But you promised if I were re-elected you'd remain on board as First Lady of the country for the next four years. You're indispensable to me."

"No one is indispensable to the President of the United States. And you can prove that by letting me switch with Margaret Heckler."

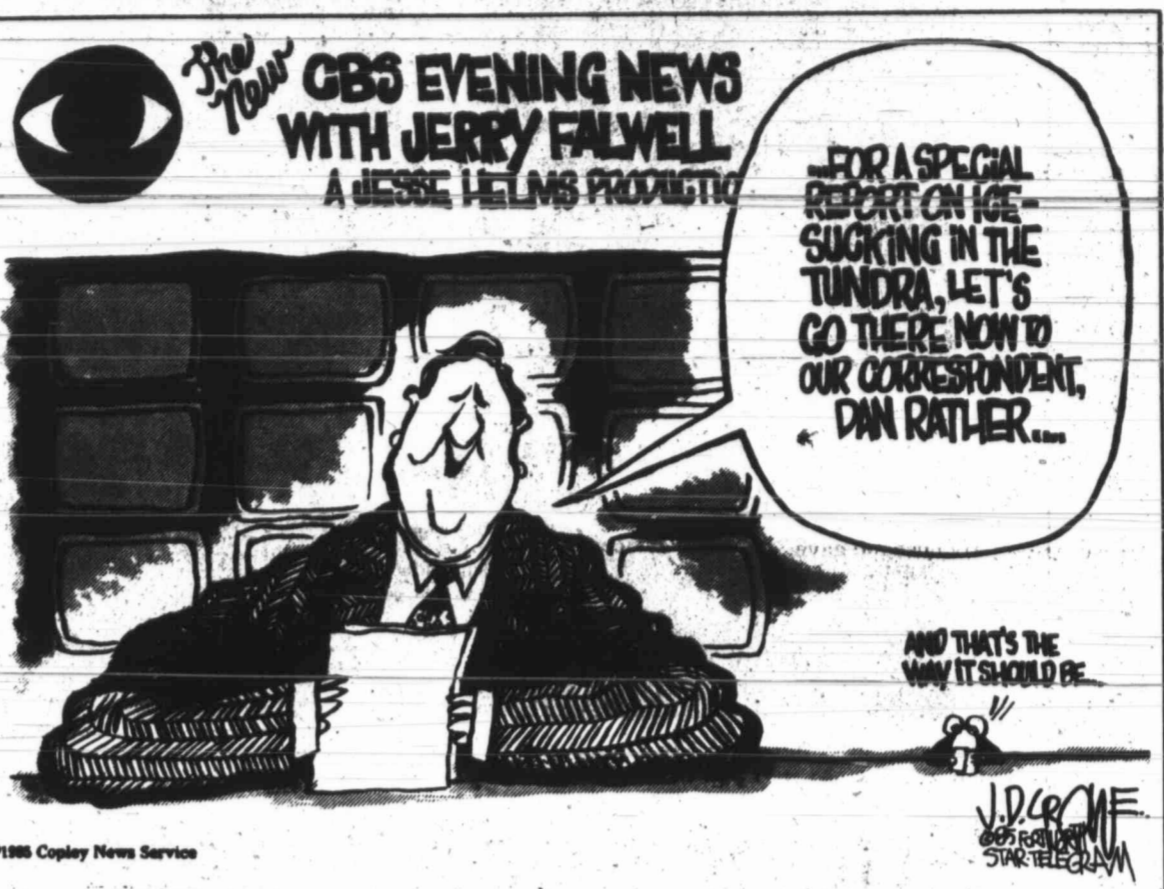

"I'm going to have to sleep on this one," the President said.

"Why don't you do that? And while you're at it, remember, it could be worse."

"How's that?"

"I could have offered to swap with Jeane Kirkpatrick."

A new hazard for pilots

WASHINGTON — This is the story of a disaster, heretofore unreported, that missed President Reagan by six minutes.

Air Force One, with the president aboard, landed at Andrews Air Force Base outside Washington on the afternoon of Aug. 1, 1983. The weather was dry and northwest winds were blowing at 10 to 20 knots. The presidential party disembarked and headed for the White House without incident.

Six minutes later, the airfield was engulfed in the sudden fury of a "microburst," with winds gusting up to 120 knots. Microbursts are powerful downward blasts of air usually associated with thunderstorms. They are probably the deadliest weather phenomenon encountered by air travelers.

Microbursts are immediately followed by violent, horizontal gusts of air known as "wind shears." Planes landing or taking off are torn out of control by simultaneous head wind, tail wind and downdraft. Since 1970, this fatal combination has contributed to at least six crashes that killed a total of 440 people.

The Andrews AFB microburst was the strongest ever measured since government research began in 1978. While Air Force One escaped damage on the ground, the freak weather damaged a building on the base, three Air National Guard jets and an F-4 fighter sitting on the tarmac.

In a report presented to the Air Force and Rep. Elliott Levitas, D-Ga., Dr. Theodore Fujita, a University of Chicago meteorologist, described the incident as "a close call" for the president.

"At the present time," Fujita wrote in December 1983, "there is no means of detecting the Andrews AFB type of microburst in advance..." All the airfield's weather station had picked up was a small thunderstorm moving in from the west.

Fujita "urgently" recommended installation of a Doppler-type microwave radar "at a strategic location in the Washington, D.C. area capable of scanning Andrews... and the helicopter route between the White House and Andrews."

But to this day, there is no such warning device in place. A Federal Aviation Administration spokesman told my associate Tony Capaccio that it hasn't been installed because the Doppler technology "is in the research phase right now." He said he had seen it work in tests, and predicted it will be "the next breakthrough in radar technology."

The FAA's relaxed approach has drawn criticism in a draft staff report to the House Public Works investigative subcommittee. The report analyzes several years of the agency's promises to improve weather-hazard detection and warnings to pilots in the air. The report also assesses the FAA's research-and-development program as "more promise than delivery."

The staff concluded that "it will likely take years before...the systems needed to observe microburst and wind shear, and alert pilots in a timely manner...are implemented at airports."

The staff report noted that FAA officials testifying before the subcommittee in 1981 and 1983 promised the installation of systems then in the research stage, including microburst-detection equipment. "We found," the staff wrote, "that despite major expenditures in the past, the record fails to show significant improvements in weather-related aviation safety."

The FAA spokesman explained that the agency's procurement procedures are governed by safeguards that often cause delay by imposing "time lines" on development contracts.

In other words, the FAA bureaucrats are talking about contractual safeguards when they should be worrying about physical safeguards for the president of the United States and everyone else who flies.

FIGHTING THE FED: Treasury Secretary Donald Regan's move to the White House as the president's chief economic adviser has been the naughtiest overhauls of the Federal Reserve Board. Regan has been an outspoken critic of the Fed and its chairman, Paul Volcker, whom he has blamed for almost turning the economic recovery into another recession by keeping money tight and interest rates high.

Regan is now in a better position than ever to rewrite a White House plan to curb the pesky Fed's independence. There are many in Congress — and not just supply siders — who would welcome the opportunity to clip the condescending Fed chairman's wings.

But as Mr. Dooley remarked about the Supreme Court, the Fed follows the election returns. That could be why, in one of their recent secret sessions, the board engineered a drop in the cost of borrowing money. That's the quickest way to give a little boost to a sluggish economy... and maybe a way to deflect some of the criticism aimed at the Fed and disarm those who want to make it more subservient to Congress and — or the White House.

RIPPLE EFFECT: Washington's large Ethiopian emigre population has spawned several small restaurants that specialize in the spicy, exotic cuisine of the homeland. The recent spate of news reports on Ethiopia's famine caused a temporary drop-off in business at one restaurant, the owner said, because the famine reports made people "nervous." Another Ethiopian restaurateur contributed a full night's receipts, more than $1,000, to famine relief.

An earlier effect of the decade of turmoil in Ethiopia was the cutoff of wine exports from the homeland. The unique Ethiopian honeyed wine is now imported from Canada, where it is made from recipes thousands of years old.

Oilmen gush over demise of the DOE

By WILLIAM GARLAND
WASHINGTON — There will be few tears in the Texas oil and gas industry if President Reagan follows through this year on his pledge to do away with the Department of Energy, possibly combining it with the Interior Department.

The department's minor role in recent years in the oil and gas business has led energy producers to view DOE's possible demise as having little impact.

"It's not a burning issue (for the industry)," said Wayne Gibbons, president of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association in Washington.

President Reagan abolished price controls on crude oil production after his inauguration in early 1981, doing away with one of the department's primary functions related to the oil and gas business.

Since then, the agency has been heavily involved with the production of nuclear weapons and an ongoing study about the disposal of nuclear waste, possibly in the Texas Panhandle.

The Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, virtually an independent agency under the broad umbrella of DOE, now administers remaining price controls on natural gas production. If DOE were eliminated, FERC probably would not be severely affected.

'It (DOE) is just more bureaucracy that really doesn't promote to any extent the production of oil and gas.'

Energy Department officials also have been involved in developing administration policies on petroleum-related issues, such as natural gas decontrol, but they probably would still do so without DOE as a separate department.

Much of the industry's lingering opposition to DOE derives from the days of crude oil controls. If DOE remains in existence, it might be easier to resurrect such controls in the future, according to Texas congressional aides and industry representatives.

Energy Secretary Donald P. Hodel, who was nominated by Reagan as the new secretary of the Interior Department, has confirmed that Reagan gave the go-ahead to study merging the departments of Energy and Interior, possibly into a new Department of Natural Resources.

Consumer lobbyists generally favor keeping the Department of Energy intact.

"We think it (the secretary of energy) is a vital cabinet position that ought to be there," said Ed Rothschild, assistant director of the Citizen-Labor Energy Coalition. "It certainly diminishes the role of DOE (if the agency is combined with the Interior Department)," he said.

Rothschild said the agency is important because it allows the federal government to define its policies at the cabinet level in the important area of energy.

Although DOE performs some research related to enhanced production of oil and gas, private companies are doing some of the same studies, said Larry Springer, a spokesman for Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners.

"It (DOE) is just more bureaucracy that really doesn't promote to any extent the production of oil and gas," said Springer.

Around The Rim Surviving the game

By SCOTT FITZGERALD

What is that famous line about participation in recreational events — it's not whether you win or lose, but how you played the game.

Since Americans these days give recreational activities priority in promoting better or healthier lifestyles, we ought to change that famous line around a little bit.

It's not whether you win or lose, but whether you dared participate or not.

The majority who decide "to get with it," and become physically active will never admit it — but performance and common sense decides whether we continue our physically active programs. Not sheer desire nor a commitment to a new year's resolution.

Sports writer Steve Belvin recently decided "to get with it" in 1985 and resume his program of playing a full-court basketball game with the fellows weekday mornings at the YMCA.

Would I care to join them? You bet. Heck, I'm in shape and I use to play on the high school basketball team.

After buying my tennis shoes, I cockily asked Texas Ranger Charles Brune if he would care to join us men and play basketball. Brune shook his head and had no comment. What a gifted foresight he had. If I had only taken heed.

The next morning, on the game's initial play — having not touched a basketball in eight years — I rolled off a pick, and received a hard thrown pass that sprained my wrists. Somehow, trying to control this strange object by ricocheting it off the floor (I think it's called dribbling a basketball), I tripped over my own feet and lost it.

After 20 to 30 minutes of participation and a contribution of one basket, I told the fellows that I had an early appointment and "had to get going."

I could barely walk due to sheer soreness much less run up and down the court with an occasional jump here and there.

I spent the remainder of the week in the Y's whirlpool.

Now I'm back. Fit and sound, having learned my lesson. The best thing to do is look for a new recreational activity with my new found wisdom.

Shuffleboard, anybody?

Dear Abby

Operation must precede marriage

DEAR ABBY: I am faced with a unique and delicate situation and need some information in a hurry. I am in love with a man who wants to marry me, but I don't know if we can legally marry.

He is a transsexual (female to male), but he has not yet had the necessary surgery to make the change complete.

He has been on hormones for seven years and has the appearance of a male, but he still has female genitals.

He has had his name legally changed, and has lived as a man for six years.

I need to know if we can legally marry before he has had his sex-reassignment surgery.

D. IN NEVADA

DEAR D.: In order for a transsexual to marry, he or she must be examined by a physician, who then must verify that the transsexual is medically of the opposite sex from the person he or she wants to marry. (Same-sex marriages are not legal.)

A female-to-male transsexual is not considered a male, medically, unless her ovaries have been removed. And a male-to-female transsexual is not considered a female, medically, until his testes have been removed.

For more information on this subject, write to the Janus Information Facility, 1952 Union St., San Francisco, Calif. 94123.

This is a non-profit service, so please include a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DEAR ABBY: My husband gave me his class ring when he asked me to marry him. He said he wanted it back when he gives me a "real" engagement ring.

Well, we have been married for 26 years, and now he wants his class ring back. I won't give it to him because he hasn't come up with a real engagement ring yet.

What should I do?

STILL WAITING

DEAR WAITING: Technically, an engagement ring is one that symbolizes a commitment to marry. It can be a tin ring from a box of Cracker Jacks, a paper band from a cigar, an expensive ring with a diamond or a class ring.

So keep the class ring; it is your engagement ring. And don't give it back until your husband replaces it with another one.

Dr. Donohue

Nervousness may cause frequent urination

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am a 42-year-old male who has always urinated frequently, usually about once an hour. However, I have had periods lasting a day or two when I have had to urinate as often as every 15 minutes, and this causes a lot of inconvenience. The only way I can minimize the frequency is to abstain from drinking liquids on these days. It seems that the days of frequent urination correspond with times I am nervous about something.

Less than a year ago I had a complete physical and the doctors did not tell me anything was wrong, but I did not tell them I had this problem, since it was not that bad at the time. The physical included blood and urine tests. What could be causing my problem? — C.N.

I have to ask you a question, is your frequent urination of large or small amounts? If there are large amounts you have to consider diabetes, either the usual kind or the rarer type, diabetes insipidus. If the amounts are small, one looks for infections — of the bladder or the urethra, the channel leading from the bladder.

What is sometimes involved is a partial blockage of the urinary tract, as from prostate gland enlargement. I am just covering a partial list of what might lie behind this persisting and important symptom. In spite of the fact that you say you had a "complete" examination, I feel you have to go back to square one. You must arm your doctor with this very important information. All the possible contributing factors I mention above can then be considered and more precise blood and urine testing, for example, done.

On the basis of your letter, I might be tempted to suggest your admitted nervousness as a factor. Constant tension and preoccupation with voiding can rebound into small amounts of urine. But you should not assume this.

Coe ministers to the needs of the community

By KIM KIRKHAM
Religion Writer

Bruce Coe ministers to the physical, emotional and spiritual needs of the people in his church and Big Spring. Director of evangelism and singles education at Hillcrest Baptist Church, Coe moved to Big Spring at the first of the year.

"Single people are the fastest growing segment of society in the United States today," said Coe, 36. "We believe that it will become one of the largest departments in our church. That is one of the reasons that they have called me to this position.

Hillcrest wants to produce an atmosphere of love and compassion, said Coe. "Today, single adults are facing many pressures from the world. Not to say that we condemn the things of the world, but that we understand, and we want to help in the ways that we can." He plans to train 70 percent of the active members at Hillcrest with an evangelism program. "Our church takes the great commission very seriously. We hope to someday minister somewhere between 15- to 1,800 in Bible study."

Coe enjoys working with adults of all ages, "because they're at church because they want to be. And that makes my efforts seem more worthwhile."

A licensed minister, Coe returned to school to finish his education five years ago, "because I felt that God wanted more for my life than a career with J.C. Penney Co."

"I was raised in a Christian home. They (parents) brought me up and taught me the Christian values in life. Because of that, those values stayed with me."

Dr. Bill Bennett and Charles Collins, two ministers who helped him in his career, influenced Coe's ministry. "Both of these men showed me the love of Jesus, and because of their care and teaching, I grew."

Coe and wife Karen have a daughter Hope, 3. "My wife is a tremendous helpmate to me," he said. "She supports all the decisions that I make and gives her input into anything we do. She gives me her opinion and helps me make decisions."

Coe served as youth minister at Friendship Baptist Church in Weatherford for six months and youth minister at First Baptist Church in Panama, Okla. for 2½ years.

He has a bachelor of science degree from the College of the Ozarks in Clarksville, Ark., and one year of graduate school from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth.

"I just enjoy all kinds of outdoor sports," said Coe. He also does woodworking and landscaping.

UAW OKs Harvester contract

CHICAGO (AP) — United Auto Workers members on Thursday overwhelmingly approved a three-year contract with International Harvester, a union spokesman said.

Union members, who struck the ailing farm equipment giant over the weekend, approved the pact by a vote of 6,205 to 2,394, with 72.1 percent of those casting ballots approving, said UAW spokesman Peter Laarman.

Laarman, speaking from Detroit, declined to reveal details of the contract, but said earlier reports that it included innovative job security provisions and a 2.25 percent pay raise effective Oct. 1 were correct.

More than 11,000 UAW members in nine states walked off the job on midnight Friday, before the strike was recessed Sunday to allow union leaders to consider Harvester's latest offer. Union leadership approved the pact Wednesday.

A union source who declined to be identified said Thursday, before the vote was completed, that the job-security provision requires Harvester to guarantee working hours for UAW members.

The source said the union believes that consideration will force the company to cut down on "outsourcing," or shipping work out to subcontractors.

Also, because of increased union participation in planning and the fact that Harvester would be committed to paying furloughed workers, or developing new work for them, "the UAW believes it can prevent layoffs altogether, or certainly limit their duration," the source said.

Laarman, without discussing specifics, confirmed the job-security provision "does put the union and company into a posture of jointly determining how Harvester will build its products."

"It is different from the contracts with the auto company and one of the most innovative ever," he continued. "This will give us a say in how Harvester will deploy its labor and, conceivably, could affect how the company diversifies."

The Chicago Tribune had reported that highlights of the contract include a 2.25 percent pay hike effective Oct. 1, additional days off, 31 cents in hourly increases resulting from cost-of-living adjustment payments held in abeyance since the last contract expired in October 1984, increased profit sharing, and new health cost-containment measures.

MARCHERS COLLECT — Pam Walker, chairman, and Vicky Slaton accept a Mothers March donation to the March of Dimes from Annie Matt Angel, honorary chairman of the project. Volunteers will canvas their neighborhoods and collect donations for the prevention of birth defects during the annual Mothers March, 6 to 8 p.m. Tuesday.

Judge rules for women in Texas A&M hearing

HOUSTON (AP) — Saying "tradition changes," a judge approved a settlement under which Texas A&M University must encourage women to join its band and elite cadet corps, an arrangement a lawyer vowed to appeal.

Regents of the school reacted by issuing a written statement complaining that Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox settled the case without their approval and charging that Mattox "is not a fighter."

U.S. District Judge Ross Sterling approved the settlement Thursday. Melanie Zentgraf filed the lawsuit in 1979, when she was a senior at Texas A&M. Now an Air Force captain, she was not accepted for membership in the Ross Volunteers, a group of elite cadets who serve as the honor guard for the state governor.

"It's over, but it's just begun," Ms. Zentgraf said Thursday.

Ms. Zentgraf was shunned by many Texas A&M students and faculty members after she filed her suit. At May 1980 graduation exercises, former President Jarvis Miller shook hands with every student receiving a diploma except her.

She said she never learned why her application for membership in the Ross Volunteers was turned down, but assumed she had been barred because she had been openly critical of the male-only policies.

As far as she knows, she said, no woman has ever tried to join the band "because they knew they would be publicly harassed if they tried. You lost friends by even talking about it. It will be very difficult for the first woman member."

"I find it fair, just and reasonable," Sterling said of the decree. "I understand the feelings of the alumni and students on this. There is a great deal of tradition, but tradition changes."

Aggie regents were irate. "The fighting Texas Aggie Band is worth preserving as a very distinctive and unique organization unlike any other volunteer organization in the country," the regents said in a statement.

Top tourney seeds fall in match quarterfinals

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A trio of lesser-known players reduced the rank of seeded players by three in the U.S. Pro Indoor Tennis Championship, as a string of upsets continued in the $300,000 event.

Tomas Smid of Czechoslovakia, seeded ninth, Ramesh Krishnan of India, seeded 13th, and No. 11 seed Ben Testerman, each fell victim to an unranked opponent in Thursday's round of 16 at the Spectrum.

The top two seeds, John McEnroe and Jimmy Connors, continued to advance toward what is expected to be a showdown in the finale, although the second-seeded Connors had to battle to stay alive.

McEnroe easily downed Brad Gilbert 6-1, 6-2 in only 53 minutes, but 10th-seeded Stefan Edberg of Sweden started off strong against Connors, who won 7-6 (7-5), 6-2.

Smid lost 6-4, 6-3 to Scott Davis.

Miloslav Mecir of Czechoslovakia, who earlier in the week beat No. 6 seed Joakim Nystrom of Sweden, played the role of giant-killer again

Thursday, edging 13th seed Ramesh Krishnan 7-5, 6-4.

Testerman lost 7-6, 3-6, 6-4 to Mel Purcell, a 1983 Wimbledon quarterfinalist who previously eliminated seventh seed Jimmy Arias.

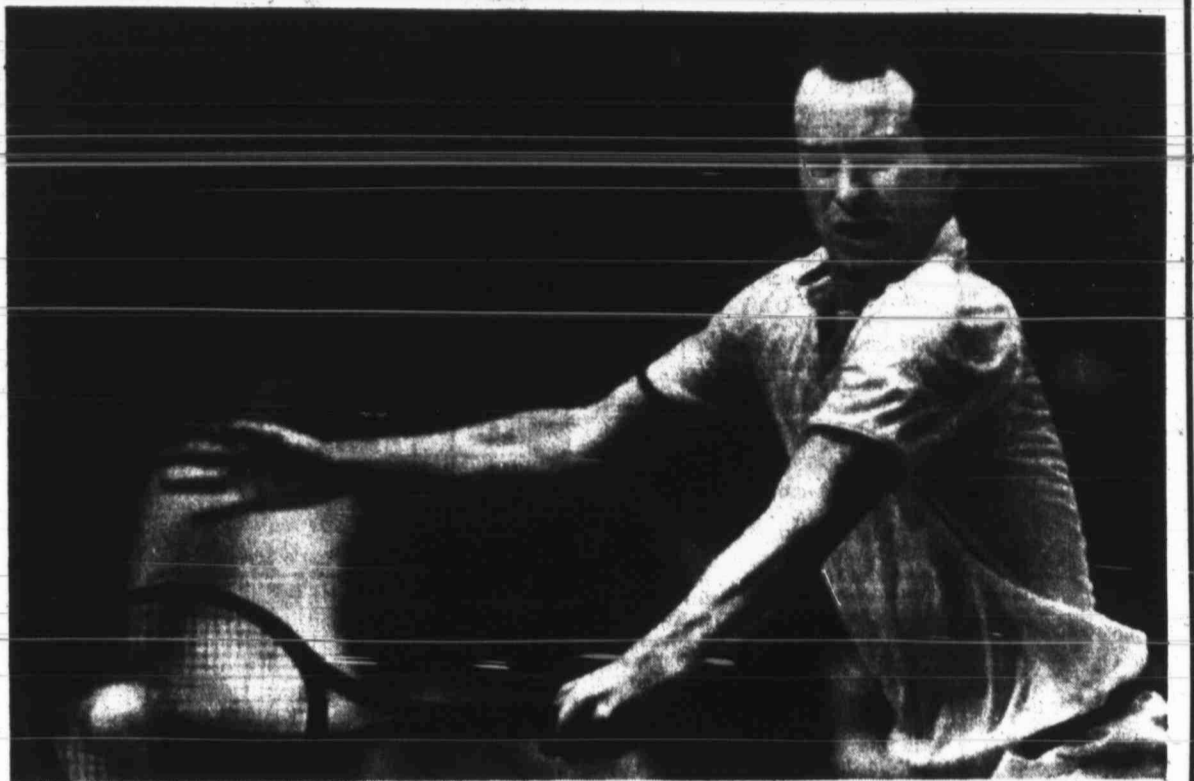

McEnroe continually blistered Gilbert's second service for one placement point after another, while Gilbert was unable to solve McEnroe's hard serve.

Starting at 1-1 in the first set, McEnroe had a run of five games, holding Gilbert to nine points during the stretch.

In the fourth and fifth games, McEnroe argued with linesmen and umpires over calls and twice put balls down on the court to show where he believed they had missed calls. Because of this, the Spectrum crowd booed him lustily at every rare miscue thereafter.

From 2-1 in the second set, McEnroe won three straight games for a 5-1 lead, losing only five points.

"I had a better feel for the ball tonight," McEnroe said.

JOHN MCENROE returns a shot during his 6-1, 6-2 win over Brad Gilbert in the U.S. Pro Indoor Tennis Championships.

Tip in does trick Hawks nip Clarendon

CLARENDON — The Howard College Hawks pulled off their second consecutive last-second victory as they defeated Clarendon College 63-61 in Western Junior College Athletic Conference play last night.

This time the hero was forward Walt Reynolds whose tip in came with three seconds remaining in the contest. The 6-7 freshman from Norfolk Va. put the winning touch on a missed attempt by Michael Porter.

Reynolds had his best outing of the season as he recorded season-highs of 22 points and 17 rebounds. Twelve of the rebounds were on the offensive end.

But the key to the win a the play of reserves Perry Stegall, Isaac Varando and Bernard Bell; according to HC coach Ed Sparling. "We played good defense, especially in the second half. The play of our bench is what won the game."

The Hawks had to fight back from a 36-28 halftime deficit. Early in the second half Clarendon stretched it to 10 but the Hawks started to come back at the 10-minute mark.

Howard guard Bruce Kimble, who is battling the flu, followed Reynolds with 13 points, while Porter added 10 points.

Martin Jenkins pulled down 7 rebounds while Kimble added four steals.

Howard's record goes to 9-9 for the season and 3-5 in conference play.

There next game is 8 p.m. Monday at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum when they take on the New Mexico Junior College Jaybirds.

HOWARD (83) — Bruce Kimble 6 1 13; Bernard Bell 2 0 4; Walt Reynolds 7 8 22; Joe Burney 4 0 8; Michael Porter 5 0 10; Martin Jenkins 3 0 6, totals 27 9 63

WALT REYNOLDS ...winning basket

Coghlan chasing Millrose record

NEW YORK (AP) — Eamonn Coghlan will be chasing Glenn Cunningham, who hasn't run in 40 years, tonight in the Wanamaker Mile in the Millrose Games at Madison Square Garden.

Carl Lewis and Mary Decker will be chasing their own world indoor marks.

Coghlan, nicknamed "The Chairman of the Boards" for his skill in negotiating the tight, banked turns of indoor tracks, has five victories in five appearances in the Wanamaker Mile, having won in 1977, 1979, 1980, 1981 and 1983. The meet record for the event is six — in eight races — by Cunningham, a member of the National Track and Field Hall of Fame and the most dominant middle-distance runner during the 1930s.

Coghlan, who missed the entire 1984 indoor and outdoor seasons with stress fractures of the right shin, has run the fastest indoor mile in history — 3 minutes, 49.78 seconds — the only sub-3:50 clocking ever on boards — in 1983 at East Rutherford, N.J.

To win tonight, he will have to stave off some strong opposition. It includes Scott, who has run 90 sub-four minute miles, second on the all-time list: New Zealand's John Walker, the leader with 98 sub-four minute miles and the 1976 Olympic 1,500-meter champion, and Olympians Jim Spivey and Sydney Mareae of the United States, Ray Flynn of Ireland, and Pierre Deleze of Switzerland.

In the women's mile, Decker, unbeaten in an indoor race since 1976, will be shooting to crack her record of 4:20.5, set at San Diego in 1982. She is coming off a scintillating victory in her season opener, having smashed the world indoor best by some nine seconds in the women's 2,000 meters last week at Los Angeles.

Meanwhile, Lewis, winner of Olympic gold medals in the 100-meter dash, 200-meter dash, 400-meter relay and long jump, will be competing for the first time this year.

Lewis, owner of the best indoor long jump ever — 28 feet, 10 1/4 inches, a distance he reached in last year's Millrose Games and which he has equalled outdoors — still is seeking the elusive 29-foot barrier. Only Bob Beamon of the United States, with a leap of 29-2 1/2 in the 1968 Olympics, has surpassed 29 feet.

JAN STEPHENSON lines up a putt in the opening round of the Mazda Classic. Stephenson finished fifth in the round with a one-under 71.

Andrews makes clean sweep of Steers netters

By CHARLIE ALCORN Sports Writer

ANDREWS — The Big Spring Steers varsity tennis team took it on the chin in a match against a strong contingent from Andrews in non-district court action Thursday. Both boys and girls teams were defeated by the Mustangs 9-0.

Andrews, one of the perennial favorites in District 2-4A strapped in on the young Steer squad early, taking advantage of their home court advantage. This was the first match of the season for the Steers. For the Steers boys, No. 1 Mark Slate was defeated by the Mustang's Mark Dupler 6-1, 6-0. No. 2 Quade Weaver lost to Chad Redwine 7-6, 6-0. No. 3 Jeff Needles lost to Charlie Pennington 6-4, 6-1. No. 4 Victor Coots lost to Scott Petteway 6-1, 6-3. No. 5 Charlie Bott lost to Chan Langley 6-2, 6-1. No. 6 Taff Wennik was defeated by Shawn Holliday 6-2, 6-0.

In boy's doubles action, the Steers' flight team of Slate and Bott were defeated by Dupler and Redwine 8-2, 8-2. No. 2 team of Needles and Coots were defeated by Pennington and Petteway 9-7, 9-7. Number 3 seeds Wennik and Weaver were defeated by Holliday and Langley 8-4, 8-4 to lock up the sweep for the Mustangs.

In girl's varsity singles action, Number 1 seed Linda Arroyo was defeated by Martha Barrera 6-2, 6-3. No. 2 Lara Cunningham lost to Mindy Kniffen 6-2, 6-2. No. 3 Angie Wilson lost to Rebecca Carlson 6-1, 6-3. No. 4 Amber Logback was defeated by Marilyn Blair 6-0, 6-2. No. 5 Stacy Parks lost to Kelly Sears 6-3, 6-1. No. 6 Jessica Hamby was unable to complete her match with Huong Nguyen due to darkness.

In girl's double competition, the top flight duo of Arroyo and Wilson were defeated by Barrera and Kniffen 8-1, 8-1. No. 2 Cunningham and Kendra Madry lost to Carlson and Downing 8-2, 8-2. No. 3 Parks and Logback were defeated by Nguyen and Sears 8-2, 8-2.

Sports Briefs

Sweetwater Frosh 46, Steers A 38

SWEETWATER — The Big Spring Freshman A team was defeated by the Sweetwater Freshman 46-38 in non-district action Thursday night. Coach Richard Victor's boys got into early foul trouble and by the end of the game had amassed 27 fouls compared to only 9 for Sweetwater. Sweetwater's foul shooting proved to be the difference in an otherwise tight game. Leading scorers for the Steers were Jerry Smith with nine, Tim Scott with eight, and Mike Rubio with seven.

The freshman Steers record falls to 10-5 with the loss. Both A and B squads will be competing in the Sweetwater Tournament, January 31.

Coahoma sweeps Stanton Tourney

STANTON — The Coahoma 8th grade boy's and girls basketball teams captured first place honors at the Stanton Tournament last Saturday.

In the boy's championship game Coach Mike Conley's squad defeated Stanton 36-33. The Bulldog's defeated Midland Christian 40-19 and Big Lake 39-33 to reach the finals.

In the girl's championship game, Coahoma defeated Stanton 38-9. In earlier play, coach Gina Farmer's girls defeated Midland Christian 40-19 and Big Lake 26-21 to get to the finals.

Supporters to hold Rap Sessions

The Big Spring Steers Supporters are scheduling a series of pep talks with the Steers football players before and during the spring training workouts. These informal meetings will be held in the high school auditorium on Monday nights starting January 28. The rap sessions will include presentations by local Steers supporters and will be highlighted with a talk by Sammy Baugh, the ex-TCU football great. Everybody interested in the Steers program is encouraged to attend. For more information call Johnnie Lou Avery at 263-1451.

Cold second half freezes Queens

CLARENDON — A cold shooting second half was the Howard College Hawk-Queens' downfall last night as they dropped a WJCAC title to Clarendon 59-46.

It was two different halves for coach Don Stevens' team as it shot 49 percent (12 of 23) from the field in the first half but only 19 percent (4 of 22) in the second half. "We shot bad in the second half," commented Stevens. In fact, neither team shot very well. The game was sloppy, we had 30 turnovers and they had 18."

Howard fell behind from the start, trailing 6-2 and then tying the contest at 8-8. At that point Clarendon outscored the Queens 12-2 over the next four minutes to take a 20-10 lead.

The Queens fought back behind the shooting of guard Molly Early who scored 14 of her 16 points in the period. Howard cut the lead to 34-28 at the half.

Howard made its most impressive run of the night at the start of the second half. They outscored Clarendon 10-2 to take at 38-36 with 15 minutes remaining in the contest. It would be the last Howard lead as cold shooting took its toll on the Queens.

Howard was outrebounded 30-23 and guard Lorri French led the way with seven rebounds.

Stevens made it known he was not pleased with his team's performance, but added that post player Allison Dickson played a good game with her 16 point, five rebound performance. "Allison is coming around, this is the second good game-in-a-row she's had. "We've got some people not performing and it's just killing us."

The Queens will be in action Monday at 6 p.m. versus New Mexico Junior College at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

HOWARD (46) — Alex Provencio 1 1 3; Lorri French 4 0 8; Molly Early 6 4 16; Allison Dickson 5 6 16; Diane Dickson 1 1 3; totals 17 12 46

CLARENDON (56) — Weatherton 2 0 4; Yolanda Terry 5 2 12; Sharon Burkenfield 0 10; Stewart 2 0 4; Pam Walker 11 0 22; Peacock 0 4 4; Gartman 1 0 2; totals 26 6 58

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE TO PUBLIC OF FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT EFFECT OF THE ENVIRONMENT AND NOTICE TO PUBLIC OF REQUEST FOR RELEASE OF FUNDS

City of Big Spring
P.O. Box 381
Big Spring, Texas 79720
(915) 263-4311

FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT IMPACT
TO ALL INTERESTED AGENCIES, GROUPS AND PERSONS:
On or about February 11, 1985, the above-named City will request the Texas Community Development Program (TCDP) to release Federal funds under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, as amended, for the following project activities:

Water Improvements $327,400.00
General Administration 53,000.00

The above referenced project activities will be carried out as part of a 1984 Texas Community Development Program (TCDP). The project will be carried out in a Target Area in the western part of the City of Big Spring. A map showing the locations of specific proposed project activities is available for inspection in the Big Spring City Hall.

It has been determined that such request for release of funds will not constitute an action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment and accordingly the above-named City has decided not to prepare an Environmental Impact Statement under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969. The reasons for such decision not to prepare such Statement are as follows:

WATER IMPROVEMENTS: Undersized, deteriorated, unlooped water lines will be replaced with new adequately sized, looped water lines which can provide dependable domestic water service and fire protection to Target Area residents now lacking such service and protection.

Limited grading and clearing will be involved in project construction activities, but no major changes in topographic features are anticipated. No major changes in land use, population density or demand for community facilities are expected over the course of this project or as a result of project use. Existing support systems and infrastructure will not be negatively affected by the project. During the construction phase of the project, some minimal increases in air and noise pollution may occur, but air quality and noise levels will return to current levels once construction is completed. The project will not affect any properties of known historic, archeological or architectural significance and the aesthetic environment of the Target Area should be enhanced by the proposed project.

GENERAL ADMINISTRATION: Administrative costs are categorically exempt from the environmental review requirements under 24 CFR 58.21.

An Environmental Assessment respecting the within project has been made by the above-named City which documents the environmental review of the project and more fully sets forth the reasons why such Statement is not required. This Environmental Assessment is on file at the above address and is available for public examination and copying upon request in the office of the Personnel Director between the hours of 8 A.M. and 5 P.M., Monday through Friday.

PUBLIC COMMENTS ON FINDING
All interested agencies, groups and persons disagreeing with this decision are invited to submit written comments for consideration by the City to the office of the Personnel Director. Such written comments should be received at the above address on or before February 10, 1985. All such comments received will be considered and the City will not request the release of Federal funds or take any administrative action on the within project prior to the date specified in the preceding sentence.

RELEASE OF FUNDS
The City of Big Spring will undertake the project described above with Texas Community Affairs (TCCA) under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, as amended. The City of Big Spring is certifying to TCCA that the City and Clyde Angel in his official capacity as Mayor consent to accept the jurisdiction of the Federal courts if an action is brought to enforce responsibilities in relation to environmental assessments, decision making and action; and that these responsibilities have been satisfied. The legal effect of the certification is that upon its approval the City may use the TCFP funds and TCCA will have satisfied its responsibilities under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 and 24 CFR Part 58.

OBJECTIONS TO STATE RELEASE OF FUNDS
TCCA will accept an objection to its approval only if it is on one of the following bases: (a) that the certification was not in fact executed by the certifying officer or other officer of applicant approved by TCCA; or (b) that the contractor's Environmental Review Record for the project indicates omission of a required decision, finding or step applicable to the project in the environmental assessment. Objections must be prepared and submitted in accordance with the required procedure (24 CFR Part 58.75) and may be addressed to TCCA at:

Texas Department of Community Affairs
2015 South IH-35
P.O. Box 13106
Austin, Texas 78711

Objections to the release of funds on bases other than those stated above will not be considered by TCCA. No objection received after March 2, 1985 will be considered by TCCA.
