2 Coahoma councilmen resign

By LUIS RIOS
Staff Writer

COAHOMA — Two men quit the City Council Tuesday, citing dissension and lack of cooperation on the board as the reason for their surprise resignations.

Mayor Pro-tem Brian Jensen and councilman Gary Roberts submitted their resignations only hours apart Tuesday. Another council member, Steve New, said Tuesday afternoon he also was "debating" whether to resign.

The resignations will be effective immediately once approved by the council. The council is meeting in a special session today at the city's community center.

If the resignations are accepted, the council has two options: either appoint two new members for unexpired terms or wait for candidates to file for the April city election.

However, the resignations of two councilmen will mean the city will have to call a special city election to replace the exiting members. Procedure calls for a quorum (three councilmen) to conduct a meeting of the council.

Jensen was currently serving the first year of his second two-year term. Roberts, who was elected to the council in May, was serving the first year of his one-year term.

Jensen said there was a lack of cooperation among two factions within the council.

"Due to my strong convictions as to how a democratic form of government should be run, I no longer will be a part of a council that will not listen or respect the wishes, ideas or complaints of the citizens of Coahoma," Jensen stated in his letter of resignation to the council.

"When the council's personal feelings override what the majority of the citizens want, then it is time for a change," he said. "So with this resignation, I will be able to continue to speak out for fair representation for the people without the imminent threat of legal action being taken."

Roberts, listing dissension and lack of cooperation among the council members, said he "felt better if I got out."

Roberts, Jensen and Mayor Pat Harrison said the disagreement over the trash ordinance passed earlier this month led to the resignations.

"I'm dissatisfied (they resigned)," Mrs. Harrison said. "I wish they could have stuck around until we worked this out. The trash ordinance is the big problem."

Harrison said the ordinance, which passed after its final reading Jan. 8, "didn't cover everything." The ordinance came under discussion again during a special meeting Tuesday night, despite its passage over two weeks ago.

"Gary's (Roberts) proposal was to cut the business' (trash hauling) to $7.50 for four barrels," she said. "Steve (New) was absent and I had to vote against the proposal."

Present at the meeting were Roberts, Jensen, Lawrence Aberegg, Jerry "Red" Brockman and Mrs. Harrison. Aberegg, Brockman and Harrison in the past

Former 'hip' '60s radicals 'square' off in debate

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

The image is unexpected: '60s activist-turned-yuppie Jerry Rubin, minus his bandanna headband and long hair, waving an American Express Card. "I won't leave home without it."

His former compatriot in civil disobedience, Abbie Hoffman, in a neatly trimmed beard, a brown sweater vest and a matching brown tweed cap hiding his bald spot, stood across the stage shaking his hand. American Express, he says, wouldn't trust him with a card for 10 minutes.

Gone from both are the faded jeans, the long hair and the peace signs, but the rhetoric remains.

Rubin and Hoffman, defendants in the famous Chicago Seven conspiracy trial, have taken widely divergent paths since their heyday outside the 1968 Democratic Convention in Chicago, where they nominated a pig for president.

Speaking to about 350 people, many who grew up and participated in the campus activism of the 1960s, Rubin and Hoffman slugged it out, criticizing each other's lifestyles, values and even Rubin's "designer Perrier" water.

"It's okay to be professional. It's okay to be successful."

Jerry Rubin

"The people who created the '60s and then went on to create the '70s — the 'me generation' — in the 1980s became business people. We began moving into the Establishment, creating a new establishment with all the values of the 60s," Rubin said.

"Some people say that because we wear a tie, we aren't carrying a picket and we aren't angry all the time — some people say we sold out. We didn't sell out, we grew older," he said.

"It's okay to be professional. It's okay to be successful," Rubin said. "Just because you become a success doesn't mean you have to become a heartless Republican."

But many yuppies are becoming "heartless Republicans," Hoffman said, pointing to their support of Democratic presiden-

Herald names ad director

Richard White, 48, has joined the Big Spring Herald as advertising director, bringing 15 years of advertising sales experience to the newspaper.

White is re-entering the advertising field after a stint in the offshore drilling rig business in Houston. He has worked in advertising sales for the Houston Post, the Oklahoma City Daily Oklahoman and Times, the Dallas Times Herald, the Denison Herald and the Abilene Reporter-News as well as the Southwestern Bell yellow pages.

He said he returned to advertising "because I've always enjoyed the newspaper business."

The Big Spring Herald marks his first job as advertising director. "I've gotten management experience outside the newspaper field," White said.

White comes to Big Spring from Houston where he was president of Dyvi U.S.A., a firm specializing in heavy-lift ships designed to carry offshore drilling rigs. The firm is headquartered in Oslo, Norway.

Prior to working for Dyvi, U.S.A., White was vice president for J.L. Heavyweight, a firm similar to Dyvi, based in Copenhagen, Denmark.

White's duties with Dyvi took him to the East and West coast and to Canada to meet with clients. He also was required to make periodic visits to the home office in Oslo.

White decided to leave the offshore drilling service business because of the shaky oil economy. "The offshore business is in very bad shape right now."

And he had other reasons for moving to Big Spring. "I wanted to get out of the big city. Houston was

School trustee wants 3rd term

Jerry Foresyth has announced that he will be a candidate for re-election to the Big Spring Independent School District Board of Trustees, a board he has served on the past five years.

Foresyth represents District 2. Also up for re-election this year for the April 6 elections is Jimmy Anderson, a representative of District 4. Anderson has not indicated if he will seek re-election.

Trustees are elected to three-year terms.

The first day to file for a seat on the school board from District 2 or District 4 is Monday, according to Don Green, the BSISD business manager. Candidates have until March 6 to file and must obtain forms in the school's business office at 708 11th Place.

Foresyth cited a concern for students as his reason for seeking re-election to the board.

Foresyth is also interested in educational reforms and House Bill 72 which mandates changes in the educational system.

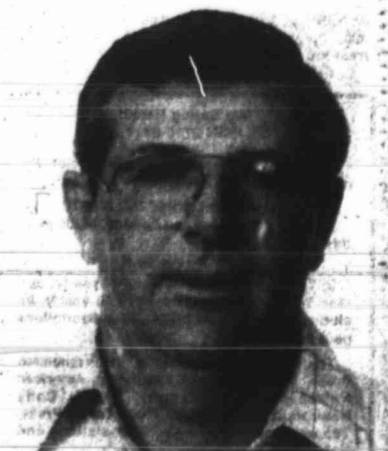

Although he says he does not agree with all parts of the bill, "We are going to have to learn to live with it. I want to make sure that Big Spring gets its fair share of the funds."

Foresyth said he will continue to work for the improvement of teachers' salaries and for obtaining quality teachers and educators for the district if re-elected.

Foresyth has served on boards of the Heritage Museum, YMCA, the Howard County Fair Association and the Parks and Recreation. He is past president of the Howard County Fair Association and the Chamber of Commerce Ambassador Club. He has served as president of the Texas A&M Club of Howard County for eight years.

He has also served as crusade chairman for the American Cancer Society for Howard and Glasscock counties.

Cold front slashes into area

By CAROL BALDWIN
Staff Writer

Fog banked up in coats, mittens and mufflers this morning to brave frigid weather and chilly winds that slashed mild temperatures to well below freezing late Wednesday.

The bitterly cold weather followed on the heels of balmy temperatures that reached the high 60s Wednesday. Days of sunshine and moderate winds gave the illusion that winter was on its way out.

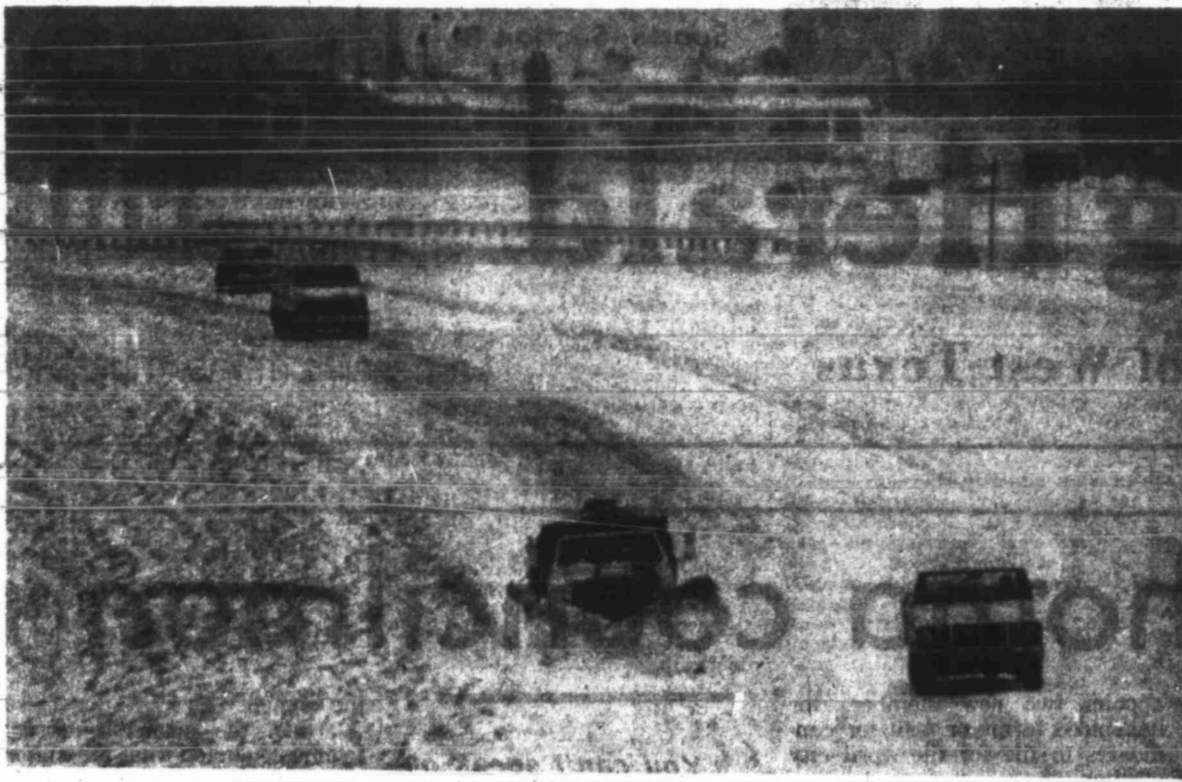

And the news isn't good for those hoping the frigid weather will give way to warmer temperatures anytime soon. The National Weather Service is predicting the weather to remain the same through the weekend.

Big Spring saw a low last night of 10 degrees. When coupled with winds of up to 42 miles per hour, the wind chill factor Wednesday night made temperatures the equivalent of 36 degrees below zero.

Last night's low of 10 degrees was quite a drop from Wednesday's high of 68 degrees. A balmy, mild morning Wednesday gave way to a warm afternoon before the arctic cold front slashed temperatures to below freezing by evening. A traveler's advisory was posted for most of the state by late evening and the advisory remains posted today.

Snow, sleet and freezing drizzle blanketed the state as schools in the Panhandle closed for the remainder of the week and schools in the Dallas-Fort Worth area kept a close watch on the weather.

Schools around the state have been hard hit by the flu during the past week and cold temperatures

Traffic on US 64 west through Amarillo was reduced to a crawl as snow and bitter temperatures turned the roads icy. A Texas Highway Department truck clears the way for motorists.

and hazardous driving conditions were the influencing factors in decisions to shut down many campuses, according to officials from around the state.

In Big Spring snow began falling about mid-morning following only a trace of snow the night before. Early this morning snow dotted gutters and sidewalks but by 11 a.m. streets were covered and the snowfall became steady. Temperatures today are expected to reach only the upper 20s and a 20 percent chance of snow remains in the local forecast. Winds will be northerly at 10 to 20 miles per hour.

The wind chill factor will make the high temperature feel more like four degrees below zero.

Tonight the chance of snow continues. Look for lows tonight of about 12 degrees and northerly winds to continue at 10 to 20 miles per hour. By Friday, highs are expected to reach the mid to upper 20s.

Wind chill factors early this morning were resulting in frigid temperatures for cities around West Texas. Lows coupled with high winds made the temperature feel like 34 degrees below zero in Amarillo, 15 degrees below zero in San Angelo, 23 degrees below zero in Abilene and 19 degrees below zero in Midland.

Weather

Local

Big Spring and vicinity will see highs today in the low 20s and lows tonight near 12 degrees. A 20 percent chance of snow continues through Friday. Look for northwesterly winds, 10 to 20 miles per hour, through Friday.

State

Snow, sleet and freezing drizzle blanketed most of Texas today, and weather forecasters said the newest winter storm to hit the state would stay around for days.

Virtually the entire state was under a winter storm watch, and chill factors under zero were common because of northerly winds that gusted up to 20 and 30 mph.

Roads were reported extremely slick and hazardous this morning in many areas this morning where only light precipitation had occurred so far.

Forecast

WEST TEXAS — Light snow possible over Panhandle and South Plains Saturday otherwise continued very cold nights with slowly warming afternoon temperatures. Panhandle highs in low to mid 30s and lows from near 10 to lower teens. South Plains highs in mid 30s to near 40 and lows in mid teens. Permian Basin, Concho Valley and far west highs in upper 30s warming to near 50. Lows in upper teens to low 20s. Big Bend highs in lower 50s to lower 60s and lows in lower 20s warming to near 30 by Monday.

Police arrest Lubbock man

Big Spring police Wednesday arrested a 21-year-old Big Spring man on a theft warrant from Lubbock County.

Freddy Espinoza, 21, of 1215 Lindbergh, was arrested at 10 p.m. at 490 Nolan.

Police Wednesday arrested two men on suspicion of driving while intoxicated. Arrested were Jimmy White, no age given, of 2609 Wasson, at 9:15 p.m. in the 600 block of N.E. 10th; and Ignacio Ruiz, 30, of Lubbock, at 11:18 p.m. at 2900 W. Highway 80.

Police also arrested Joseph Diliberto, 24, of Quail Run Apartments in the 1200 block of E. 11th Place on suspicion of driving while license suspended.

Sharon Tumbow of 2612 Central told police that someone took two car stereo speakers and a leather cassette case with 35 tapes from her black and gray 1978 Pontiac Grand Prix. The theft occurred between 8:25 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The speakers were valued at $115 and the cassettes at $215.

Jerry Iden of Skipper Travel at 612 Gregg told police that someone stole a $350 airline ticket and $62 cash from the travel agency on June 13, 1983.

Rick Mendoza of 407 W. Sixth told police someone stole a 1 1/2-year-old black female Chow dog from the front porch of his house. The dog disappeared around 5:30 p.m. Wednesday. The dog was valued at $100.

Edward Ramirez of 611 N. San Antonio told police someone stole a .22-caliber pump rifle, worth $120, and a 12-gauge 1913 shotgun. The theft occurred between 7 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Jose Resendez of 907 Bell told police that someone forged his name on his payroll check and cashed it during November.

Big Spring man arrested on two-count indictment

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

A 33-year-old Big Spring man, out on bond after his arrest on a two-count federal indictment for drug-related charges, was arrested Wednesday in Lubbock.

According to U.S. Magistrate J.Q. Warnick Jr. of Lubbock, Jessie Marquez of 1300 Kindie was arrested by the U.S. Marshall's office because a lab test on a urine sample indicated that Marquez had used cocaine.

Warnick said he revoked Marquez' bond on the indictment, which charges Marquez with two counts of delivering a controlled substance, because Marquez violated the conditions of his previous release. Marquez had been released on his own recognizance, Warnick said.

Marquez was accused in the indictments of delivering 1/4 ounce of cocaine to undercover officers on two different occasions, on Sept. 15 and Sept. 29.

One of those conditions, set Jan. 7 by Warnick, required Marquez not to use illegal drugs, Warnick said. To check on that requirement, Marquez was to give the probation office urine samples for testing.

"The lab test on the urine sample he gave us Jan. 7 showed cocaine," Warnick said.

Warnick also revoked Marquez' bond in part because Marquez was indicted under the federal Controlled Substances Act, which makes him considered as a "danger to the community." Marquez also had a prior conviction on a federal drug charge, Warnick said.

Marquez had been released originally by the part-time U.S. magistrate in Abilene. Warnick had imposed additional conditions on his release in a hearing in Lubbock Jan. 7.

Marquez will be moved to jail in Abilene, where his trial is scheduled, Warnick said.

He had been originally released on his own recognizance because his "appearance (at court dates) was never a problem," Warnick said. "He has always appeared."

A federal detention hearing on Marquez' brother, Tony Marquez, 30, of 1105 E. 15th, is set for 1:30 p.m. today, but the defense attorney may ask to postpone the hearing, Warnick said.

Tony Marquez was arrested Saturday in Big Spring on a sealed federal indictment charging him with conspiring to deliver and distribute a controlled substance. He remains in jail in Lubbock.

Sheriff's Log

4 transferred to county jail

Big Spring police transferred four persons to county jail Wednesday morning after they were each arrested for driving while intoxicated (DWI).

Sammy Gamboa Lara, 21, of 909 N. Gregg was released on $1,000 bond.

James Alton Hughes, 32, of 3307 Cornal was released on $1,000 bond. Juanita White, no age given, of 1323 Harding was released on $1,000.

Betty Diane Cunningham, 32, of 607 B. Runnels was released on $1,000 bond.

Bonds were set by Municipal Judge Melvin Daratt.

Midland County sheriff's deputies arrested Shirley Adams, 28, of 1503 A Wood on a Howard County warrant charging her with theft of service. She was released on $250 bond.

Terri Arlene Williams Tate, 32, of 3209 11th was issued a peace bond Wednesday evening. She was released on $1,000 bond set by Judge Lewis Hefflin.

The United States Border Patrol bus picked up four illegal aliens from county jail Wednesday evening.

Big Spring police transferred Freddy D. Espinoza, 21, of 1215 Lindburg to county jail on a Lubbock County warrant charging him with theft. He was released on $300 bond.

Big Spring police transferred Joseph William Diliberto, 25, of Quail Run Apartments to county jail after he was arrested for driving while license suspended. He was released on $500 bond.

White is a native of Denison. He is joined in Big Spring by his wife,

Of his new position, White said, "I've never existed. I couldn't ask for a better qualified staff to work with." White was also complimentary of publisher Tom Watson "who can teach me a lot in a short period of time."

Harrison said Aberegg and Brockman recommended the ordinance be put to a vote with the citizens of Coahoma in a special election in April.

Roberts said the trash ordinance was a big obstacle for the council. "Every road we tried to take ended up in a dead end," Roberts said. "I feel bad about it (resignation). I feel like I'm cracking out on the people."

"What's in store for the future for the city of Coahoma?" Jensen asked.

"Until they start listening to people, it's not going to work well," he said. "It's a hindrance being on there (city council). You can't speak out without hanging yourself. You can accomplish more being off the council."

tial contender Gary Hart's candidacy and to the overwhelming margin of victory for Ronald Reagan.

"I'm proud I'm middle-aged," Hoffman said, lifting his cap to show his balding head. He also said he was proud he was lived in the country and wasn't a professional. "Democracy should be made up of amateurs," he said.

"If you don't learn democracy and do it — if you internalize the idea that you can't buck the powers that be, you live in the police state. It doesn't matter if you live in the U.S. of A.... Democracy demands dissent," Hoffman said.

He dismissed Rubin's claim that he was recycling the same values as in the 60s, saying his work stopping an Army Corps of Engineers plan to dam and destroy the thousand-island region of New York made a difference in society.

"Democracy comes from the moral minority...not just the people in People magazine...The 60s was not just civil disobedience and picket signs. It was voter referendum drives," Hoffman said. "They don't talk about the War on Poverty in (Rubin's) networking salons. It interferes with their business."

Hoffman spent a large portion of the night calling for volunteers in his "People's Peace Corps."

Officer faces prison term

NEW YORK — A senior Federal Aviation Administration official faces a 25-year prison sentence after pleading guilty to charges that he and others used bogus construction and supply bills to trick the agency out of $1.3 million.

Three other FAA officials were indicted Wednesday as Allen Moserwitz of Wheatley Heights, the 39-year-old chief of the radar-data unit at Kennedy airport, pleaded guilty to one count of bribery and two counts of tax evasion.

Four businessmen who allegedly participated in the scheme will be arraigned on a variety of charges resulting from an investigation by the FBI and the Internal Revenue Service, according to U.S. Attorney Raymond G. Dearie. Dearie said the probe will continue.

Man faces extradition

LOS ANGELES — Andrija Artukovic, accused of helping the Nazis kill thousands in Yugoslavia, is mentally competent for extradition proceedings, ruled a federal magistrate who scheduled the hearings to begin Feb. 13.

U.S. Magistrate Volney Brown on Wednesday set Feb. 11 for motions in the case.

Artukovic, who is enfeebled and blind at 85, is being held without bond at the Long Beach Naval Hospital.

Yugoslavia has asked the United States to return him for trial on charges of complicity in the deaths of 770,000 Serbs, Jews and Gypsies in concentration camps during World War II.

Suit filed against Goetz

NEW YORK — Lawyers say they filed a $50 million lawsuit against Bernhard Goetz to "temper the wave of adulation" for the man who admitted shooting four youths he said menaced him in a subway train.

The suit was filed Wednesday on behalf of 19-year-old Darryl Cabey, who was shot along with three other teen-agers Dec. 22 and remains comatose and in critical condition.

A grand jury refused to indict Goetz on attempted murder charges but returned an indictment on a weapons charge. Cabey's attorneys, including William Kunstler, contend their client was shot in the back although he never went near Goetz.

Stars record 'aid' song

LOS ANGELES — A song recorded by 45 American rock and movie stars to aid the starving in Africa will not be released until March, but those involved are already estimating it may help raise as much as $200 million for relief efforts.

After the single, "We Are The World," is released, a recording featuring previously released songs by many of the artists will be released. The project will follow, said Ken Kragen, personal manager for Lionel Richie and Kenny Rogers, two of the artists involved in the project.

Iraqi troops launch offensive

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — Iraqi forces today launched an offensive against Iranian troops in the central sector of the front line, inflicted heavy losses and "occupied new positions," a military spokesman said.

It was the second offensive announced by Iraq this week — the first time in 31 months that Iraq has reported staging major ground assaults along the border.

On Monday, Iraq said 40,000 of its soldiers supported by air and artillery attacked across Iranian lines in the southern sector of the 730-mile front line.

Firefighters battle blazing brush fires in the Golden Gate Estates section of Naples, Florida, Wednesday night when wildfires burning out of control threatened residences in the area.

Fiery nightmare

Wildfire spreads through west, north Florida

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — An 8,000-acre wildfire killed a firefighter, injured another and forced 75 people to flee their homes Wednesday, while police arrested a man on charges he set a separate blaze nearby, authorities said.

Farther north, an arsonist lit 40 separate blazes as brush fires plagued tinder-dry Florida, officials said.

The blaze near Naples on the state's west coast destroyed at least 8,000 acres and burned five homes near Golden Gate Boulevard, although the extent of the damage to the houses was not known, said Jodi Chase, a spokeswoman for the state Division of Forestry.

About 75 residents were evacuated to shelters, she said. In another Naples blaze near Interstate 75, police arrested Eddie Richardson on an arson charge, said Cpl. Kevin Nelson of the Collier County Sheriff's Department.

Earlier in the day, Nelson had said Richardson was arrested in connection with the blaze that killed state firefighter Marco A. Miranda, 26, of Naples. But he later said that was not the case and that Richardson was a suspect in the fire near Interstate 75 instead.

Richardson, however, remains a suspect in the larger blaze, although he has not been charged with setting it, Nelson said. Richardson already faces murder charges filed against him last fall in a separate, non-arson case, Nelson said.

On Wednesday night, an arsonist set 40 fires in a 1,200- to 1,500-acre area south of Lakeland in central Florida, but firefighters on the scene believed the blazes would be controlled quickly, Ms. Chase said.

A state fire investigator, Gary Bain, had identified a suspect but there was no word yet on whether anyone was arrested in the suspicious blazes, she said.

Meanwhile, two other fires continued to burn elsewhere in Florida.

A fire in the Everglades in northwest Broward County on the state's east coast, grew to 16,000 acres, said Larry Amison, a spokesman for the Division of Forestry, while another fire, involving about 2,000 acres and of suspicious origin, was under control near North Port Charlotte, midway between Tampa and Naples on the west coast.

The Broward County fire had been burning since late Tuesday but threatened no homes or businesses, Amison said.

The fire near North Port Charlotte destroyed about 125 acres in Charlotte County, crossed a 40-foot canal into Sarasota County and burned about 2,000 acres before being brought under control, fire officials in those counties said.

One firefighter, Otis Futch Sr., was admitted in good condition to St. Joseph's Hospital with cuts while fighting the blaze in Charlotte County, said North Port Charlotte Fire Chief Paul Kaskey.

In Naples, the fast-moving, 8,000-acre blaze apparently caught Miranda by surprise, said Paul Willis, a Forestry Department spokesman.

"We know he was on a tractor working the head fire, the front part of the fire," Amison said. "The fire just rolled over the top of him. It was moving fast, not because of natural winds ... but the fire itself was generating additional winds."

"I understand the Civil Defense office in Naples is asking for fire equipment from surrounding counties," Amison said. "There's probably homes threatened. Our district forester told me that he thinks they may have lost some homes already."

Extortion suspect nabbed

SEOUL, South Korea — Police said today they were questioning a 37-year-old unemployed man about a plot to extort money from food companies by threatening to poison their products.

They quoted the man as saying he got the idea from a similar extortion scheme in Japan that has baffled police there since last March.

Police said no charges had been filed against the man, who reportedly was arrested at his Seoul home Wednesday by officers acting on a tip from an informant.

The man denied actually poisoning any food, police said, but admitted writing letters beginning in December to manufacturers of cookies, crackers, candies and dairy goods demanding more than 30 million won, or about $37,000. Police said no money was paid.

Bulletproof case for Nazi

LYON, France — Nazi war criminal Klaus Barbie may sit in a bulletproof glass cage at his trial on charges of crimes against humanity, judicial sources say. The trial is expected to start later this year.

Barbie, known in France as the "Butcher of Lyon," was the Gestapo chief in Lyon during World War II. He is accused of deporting thousands of French Jews and others to concentration camps and of torturing resistance fighters.

Government officials are planning tight security measures, such as metal detection devices, for the Rhone court where the trial will be held. They are considering installing a bulletproof glass cage for the defendant similar to that used in Israel's trial of war criminal Adolf Eichmann, the sources said Wednesday.

Radical arrested in raid

BAYONNE, France — Police sources say the presumed second-in-command of the military wing of ETA, the Spanish Basque separatist group, was arrested in a raid on a house where militants were hiding out.

France's air and frontier police arrested Juan Lorenzo Laza Michelena, 29, and several other people Wednesday at a house in Anglet, said the sources, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

Man escapes from guards

CASERTA, Italy — A leading underworld figure foiled armed guards and escaped in a car as he was being taken to court in a bulletproof police van, police report.

Hours after Wednesday's escape by Donato Schiavone, police said they arrested six suspected accomplices, but they had no word on his whereabouts.

City auditorium grant gives life

Municipal auditorium renovation may give impetus to the arts in Big Spring and offer a rallying point for community involvement. That renovation is a reality with the gift announced Wednesday of $150,000 to accomplish refurbishing of the beautiful downtown building. The Dora Roberts Foundation is making the gift which can turn dreams of a restored auditorium into reality, and a new source of civic pride.

The auditorium is still useable, but it is such an uncomfortable environment that groups seeking a public facility rarely put it to use. The Big Spring Symphony Association did so recently with a Fort Worth Chamber Orchestra performance, but that is the rare exception. The interior of the structure doesn't lend itself to acoustics in its present condition; lucky, too, that it was neither too hot nor too cold nor raining the night of the performance. Any of these elements are too much for the auditorium to handle in its current state of disrepair.

All the blemishes of this sturdy but time-worn city showpiece will be given attention in the renovation effort: roof, heating and cooling, plumbing, stage curtains, window draperies, lighting, sound, paint and carpet. The successes that have come to historic sites like the Driskoll Hotel in Austin, the Austin Paramount Theater, and the Abilene Paramount Theater are possible for Big Spring, too. This generous gift gives the venerable municipal auditorium a new lease on life, and new direction for community activities in coming years.

Steve Chapman Texas trip warms Chicagoan's heart

Returning to Chicago from a Christmas trip to Texas, God's blessed oasis, has many drawbacks, starting with freezing temperatures and a foot of snow on the ground. Weather, though, isn't the most jarring difference between the two places.

As a result, to have a regard for courtesy in Chicago is to find oneself in a perpetual and justified fury. Anyone in Texas who behaved like the typical Chicagoan normally behaves would be socially ostracized, and probably lynched as well.

Chicagoans won't like hearing that a state that gave us Roy Bean and Billy Sol Estes exceeds them in any aspect of civilized life. But it does. Texans are among the best-mannered people in Christendom. Chicagoans may be the worst.

An example illustrates the problem. One cold, snowy day, the sweet grandmother who serves as the Tribune editorial board's secretary fell down on the Michigan Avenue sidewalk. A dozen people passed by, but not one offered her a hand getting up, or asked if she was hurt.

I'm not referring to the grand manners of dying aristocracies, such as kissing ladies' hands, or matters of etiquette, like knowing what fork to use at a formal banquet. Those are trivial matters. I am not even concerned about the problems handled by "Miss Manners," which mainly concern how to handle the ticklish situations generated by a rapidly changing society.

The worse part is that most people apparently just don't know any better. Unlike New Yorkers, who are imaginative and audacious in their rudeness, Chicagoans, as a group, are simply boorish. A gentleman was once defined as someone who never insults anyone accidentally. There are very few gentlemen here.

In these matters, Chicago may surpass Texas. The Lone Star state is the product of a wild frontier tradition, not of polite society. No barons died at the Alamo. Texans, unless they have the time to digest Emily Post, are as likely as anyone to botch drawing-room niceties.

Texas couldn't be more different. Another example: While in Austin, I went to see "Beverly Hills Cop" — on a Saturday afternoon, no less. The movie was profanely funny, the audience young and exuberant. You'd expect the theater to be a zoo, right? But the members of the audience were impeccably well-mannered. And get this: They didn't talk! People laughed at the funny lines, but they watched politely, so as not to disturb their neighbors.

But in everyday matters of courtesy, Texas (like the South, of which it is not actually a part) is a model. There, people routinely apologize when they bump into you, thank you when you open doors for them and say hello on the street to strangers. Salespeople and waiters smile and try to please. The difference comes from regarding fellow human beings as fellow human beings, not as obstacles or enemies.

What Chicagoan ever endures the slightest inconvenience to accommodate his neighbor? The experience came as such a shock that I thought I'd gone deaf. Long ago, I gave up going to movies here, where people treat the film as a petty intrusion into their conversations, meals or lovemaking. Did I say movies? Hell, Chicagoans behave that way at the ballet.

When there is human contact involved, Texans are almost invariably warm and considerate. A few Chicagoans are, too, but only a few. Here, rudeness is chronic, thoughtless and utterly pervasive. Even by the standards of the northern United States, where I have lived for 12 years, it is awful.

No doubt people here would regard the habitual politeness of Texans as insincere. But sincere hostility is something we ought to be able to do without. And if you behave as if you care about your fellow man, you may learn to actually care about him.

The list of offenses is nearly endless. People bump you on the street, smoke cigarettes on crowded elevators, stick elbows in your ribs or crack gum in your ear on the bus, step in front of you to get in doors first, talk loudly in restaurants, jostle you in lines, ignore you when you greet them, scowl for the pure pleasure of it.

Most people here have become offensive by taking the modern advice to "be yourself." Chicagoans should be anything but themselves, because anything would be an improvement.

Jack Anderson Tapping U.S. security risks

WASHINGTON — Of all our allies, West Germany is the worst security risk. The Federal Republic has become the greatest single source for sensitive Western technology that seeps to the Kremlin.

For years my sources have been telling me that no country "leaked" as much militarily useful technology to the Soviets as West Germany. I was skeptical. But a recent CIA report to the National Security Council is powerfully persuasive.

The report, plus two related CIA reports, all classified "secret," have been obtained by my associates Dale Van Atta and Michael Binstein. Because of the potential embarrassment they can cause U.S. allies, they have also been stamped "Noforn," a classification meaning "No Foreign Dissemination."

But I think the American people are entitled to know what the West Germans are doing behind their backs.

The key portion of the CIA summary report is titled, "Documented Unauthorized High-Technology Diversion to the USSR." Between 1966 and mid-1982, the CIA reports, it was able to identify 261 "probable instances" of high-tech diversion to the Soviets and 232 "possible instances." That was from all sources.

Out of the total 493 possible and probable high-tech leaks, West Germany accounted for 243, or nearly half. This was almost three times as many leaks as the next-highest contender, Japan, which was blamed for 85 during the same period.

"West Germany is the leading target of illegal technology-transfer activities," the CIA report states. "Illegal trade and Soviet bloc espionage operations are the main mechanisms for the diversion of strategic technology from West Germany to the (Soviet) bloc."

The CIA suggests that the West German government has made a mistake by focusing all its investigative energy on espionage. The CIA reports indicate that the Soviets obtain the vast majority of militarily useful items from crooked businessmen who have little to do with Soviet-bloc spies.

"According to one recent CIA study," the agency summary reports, "Only 28 of some 650 intelligence reports of probable or possible trade-based diversion of advanced technology to Eastern Europe or the Soviet Union over the past 15 years mentioned any intelligence involvement."

The roll call of countries that have supplied secrets to the Kremlin — except for Switzerland, the historically neutral country which places No. 3 — is a roster of friends.

Insight Execution — An eye for an eye

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the past 20 years, executions in the nation were rarities. Now they occur, on average, once every 10 days — and that rate is speeding up.

James David Raulerson, who died in Florida's electric chair Wednesday, was the fifth person executed in the United States this year.

Law enforcement officials are reluctant to predict how many condemned murderers will die this year, but scores of death row inmates are perilously close to losing their battles to stay alive.

There were 11 executions in the first seven years after the Supreme Court in 1976 allowed states to reinstate capital punishment. In the last 21 weeks, however, there were 15.

At first, time was on the side of the inmates. There was only one execution in 1977; none in 1978; two in 1979; none in 1980; one in 1981; two in 1982; and five in 1983.

But last year, states put to death 21 inmates. Now, in the first 30 days of 1985, five have been executed.

A sixth inmate who was scheduled for execution Wednesday in Florida was granted an indefinite stay Tuesday by the 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Atlanta.

"Time seems to be catching up" to the nation's more than 1,400 death row inmates, said Stephen Schlesinger, director of the federal government's Bureau of Justice Statistics.

"It's very difficult to predict. But it's quite possible we'll have a relatively large number of executions" from now on, he said.

The increase has been welcomed by law enforcement officials who argue that the death penalty is more likely to deter crime if enforced regularly.

"I can't prove it but I believe it," said Georgia Attorney General Michael Bowers.

The Supreme Court, expressing growing impatience with an appeals process that has helped keep hundreds of death row prisoners alive years after their convictions, has played an important role in the current speedup.

In July 1983, the justices ruled that federal appeals courts may take short cuts to reject last-ditch efforts to postpone executions. The court said an appeals panel — rather than routinely postponing executions — may deny a postponement by deciding that the issues in the underlying appeal are without merit.

The decision came two years after Justice William H. Rehnquist had denounced "endlessly drawn out legal proceedings" that he said made "a mockery of our criminal justice system."

Richard Brody of the NAACP Legal Defense Fund, an organization that is opposed to the death penalty and represents numerous death row inmates, conceded there is little likelihood of change soon in what he called the Supreme Court's "let's get on with it" attitude.

Brody cautioned, however, that it would be "irresponsible" to forecast the pace of executions. "Our predictions (in individual cases) are wrong 90 percent of the time," he said.

But the mere passage of time could fuel the trend of increasingly frequent executions, as more and more inmates exhaust legal appeals.

An overwhelming majority of Americans supports capital punishment, and it is anyone's guess whether that public sentiment will change if executions become significantly more frequent.

A Media General-Associated Press survey released earlier this week showed that an unprecedented 84 percent of Americans approve of the death penalty, even though half of those believe the death sentence is not imposed fairly from case to case.

In the 1930s and '40s, an average of 148 people were executed each year.

Although 38 states now have death penalty laws, executions since 1976 have occurred in just 12 states — Utah, Florida, Nevada, Indiana, Virginia, Texas, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Georgia, North Carolina and South Carolina.

When the Supreme Court threw out the death penalty in 1972, no one had been put to death for five years. The 1972 ruling said state death sentences were unconstitutional because they were imposed arbitrarily and capriciously.

Capital punishment opponents today argue that rewritten laws, approved by the high court, are not much better.

A case in point might be the Jan. 16 execution of Doyle Skillern for the shooting death of a narcotics agent in Texas. Skillern's accomplice, the admitted triggerman, received a life sentence.

Skillern's death is notable for at least one other reason. He was killed by lethal injection at a time when the Supreme Court is studying the legality of that method of execution.

Skillern and seven other death row inmates claimed lethal drugs may cause "cruel, protracted death." A federal appeals court said the deadly injections should be banned until the Food and Drug Administration approves the drugs for use in executions.

The Supreme Court, expected to announce by July whether it agrees with the appeals court, refused to allow Skillern to remain alive in the meantime.

Questions also persist about whether the death penalty is administered without racial bias.

But the situation is more complicated than years ago when critics pointed to the fact that blacks were more likely to end up on death row.

The prejudice now is more subtle, they say, pointing to studies that show a convicted murderer, black or white, is more likely to get the death penalty if the victim is white, not black.

One study showed that in some states it was eight times more likely a death sentence would be imposed for killing a white.

Death penalty opponents say the figures suggest society values a white life more highly.

Si uno no se fija, alguien va hacer lo que le da la gana con uno. Eso me decia y todavia me dice mi mama. Pero hasta el otro dia no lo pensaba verdad. Uno que tiene su educacion piensa que nadie lo puede hacer tonto. Pero oír y entender son dos cosas muy diferentes.

Fue el lunes cuando mi jefe me enseno una carta que el habia recibido de un grupo que se llama "U.S. ENGLISH." La carta venia de un hombre que fue senador de Hawaii por seis anos, el Sr. S.I. Hayakawa.

En su carta este senor le suplica a la gente que por favor apoyen un movimiento para limitar la educacion bilingue en las escuelas.

Pero el objeto de esta proposicion es para eliminar el balota bilingue en los estados unidos, dice la carta. Dice el Sr. Hayakawa que su grupo quiere hacer el ingles la lengua oficial de los estados unidos.

Pero para que? Si uno no sabe el ingles ya mas o menos esta condenado. Verdad? Luego el dice que es el derecho de cada ciudadano saber ingles. Pero diga, que no es el derecho de uno, tambien, no saber ingles, pero espanol, italiano, ruso o cualquier lengua o idioma que le interesa?

Lo que me cae chiste es que este hombre propone que la bolata este solamente en ingles. Y luego el hombre tiene la audacia de hablar sobre nuestros derechos civiles y que gran pais es en que vivimos.

Pero no explica porque este pais es tan poderoso y gran. Fue por esos mismos derechos y libertades que el no menciona que el puede salir senador.

Y por la libertad de palabra y libertad de prensa fue posible que el podria escribir esa carta que escribio.

No es tanto que uno debe saber una lengua sobre otra que importa. Lo que verdaderamente importa son los derechos de cada persona.

Este pais es lo que es por las libertades que nos garantiza. Pero si alguien nos quita unas de esas libertades; quien puede decir que no nos quitara las demas?

Y si no nos fijamos es posible que alguien va hacer lo que le da la gana con nosotros y lo inevitable nos pasara.

Re: Around the Rim, January 27
I know very little about nuclear energy but I could write a book about government owned utility companies.

I lived in France for three years where the utilities are government owned, while there I learned how to cook many one dish meals on a kerosene heater, how to keep cold items cold on the window sill in the winter and how to shop for each meal in the summer. I also learned how to do housework while bundled up in a coat, scarf and gloves.

I learned all of this because the government was "encouraging" the people to vote a certain way, to work for certain wages and to buy certain products.

The people were encouraged by "brown outs", I never felt the government was too concerned about my welfare.

I may pay through the nose for utilities here in West Texas but I surely do enjoy what I pay for.

Perhaps I may never understand nuclear energy, and perhaps I will someday see it in action, if I do I hope it will be privately owned, I understand government owned utilities as well as I ever want to.

Today is Thursday, Jan. 31, the 31st day of 1985. There are 334 days left in the year.

Gov. Mark White pushed for Stacy Dam.

White used influence on compromise

Governor said West Texas had political power to pass dam proposal

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — Gov. Mark White acknowledged Thursday that he used his influence to push for a compromise over the Stacy Dam reservoir in West Texas.

And, White said, he had little doubt that West Texans held the political power both in the Texas Legislature and at the voting booth to kill a proposed statewide water plan that he supports if they were angry over the Stacy Dam situation.

"I asked" the two sides "to sit down and try and reach an agreement that would permit this water plan to proceed in the Legislature," White said. "They were very responsive and did."

Asked at his weekly news conference if West Texans could have killed the legislative package had a Stacy compromise not been reached, he replied: "Yeah. They were the only ones voting for it. That's the whole reason we haven't had one before."

Texas voters have rejected proposed water plans three times in the past two decades.

West Texas lawmakers, in recent weeks, had threatened to oppose the water plan supported by White, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and House Speaker Gib Lewis if steps weren't taken to allow the construction of Stacy Dam, which was blocked by a Texas Supreme Court ruling last November.

The Lower Colorado River Authority, since 1978, has fought construction of the reservoir with claims that Colorado River water needed for the project already is obligated

The district, however, dropped its fight with the Colorado River Municipal Water District of Big Spring on Tuesday in a still undisclosed compromise.

Bill could raise state drinking age to 21

AUSTIN (AP) — A bill that would raise the legal drinking age from 19 to 21 was approved by a Senate committee, with an amendment telling the federal government that Texas doesn't appreciate being "blackmailed."

Sen. Bill Sarpalis, D-Amarillo, introduced the bill after a federal regulation passed in 1983 called for states to make the legal drinking age 21 or else risk losing federal highway funds.

If the drinking age is not raised the state would lose $33 million in 1986 and $66 million in 1987 in federal highway funds, he said.

The bill was approved on a 12-1 recommendation by the Senate State Affairs Committee on Wednesday and an amendment proposed by Sen. Chet Edwards, D-Duncanville, was added by a 7-6 vote.

Sen. Chet Edwards, D-Duncanville, described his amendment as "not pro- or anti-DWI ... but a matter of states' rights."

"The federal government has literally blackmailed the legislatures of this nation," he said.

Edwards' amendment would work, assuming that the Legislature raises the drinking age. If federal courts should rule that the federal law raising the drinking age is unconstitutional, then the new drinking age would not immediately be voided.

The drinking age would remain at 21 until the Legislature meets in 1987. Then legislators could reaffirm the 21-year limit or if legislators failed to act, the drinking age would drop to 19.

If enacted into law, the new drinking age would go into effect Sept. 1.

Rodney Schlosser, president of the Students' Association at the University of Texas at Austin, said: "Texas will lose more money if it raises the drinking age."

If the drinking age is raised, Texas in 1986 would lose $30 million in sales tax, alcoholic beverage sales tax and costs of enforcing the new age, he said.

City gets tax revenue

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Friday sent checks totaling $13.4 million to 220 counties and 427 cities as their share of the state's mixed drink tax collected at the new rate of 12 percent during the fourth quarter of 1984.

Howard County received a total tax revenue of $38,833.04. The county's 15 percent remittance was $5,824.96.

The city's total tax revenue was $33,935.21. The city's 15 percent remittance was $5,090.26.

The Texas Legislature raised the tax from 10 percent to 12 percent, effective Oct. 2, 1984.

Bullock said the state collected $46.5 million in mixed drink taxes during the quarter, up 22 percent over fourth quarter in 1983.

Cities and counties receive a 15 percent rebate. The state's general fund received the balance of $33 million. The Legislature reduced the city and county share of the tax to 12.5 percent, effective with first quarter collections in 1985 and the state will then get the entire gain from the tax increase.

School enrollment up

The latest enrollment report for the Big Spring Independent School District showed 4,605 students enrolled, up 14 students over the last report taken right after the Christmas holidays.

The 14-student increase came from the elementary grades, according to the enrollment report. As of Friday, 2,150 students were enrolled in elementary schools across Big Spring.

Enrollment on the secondary level remained the same with 2,388 students enrolled at Goliad, Rannels and Big Spring High School.

The engineered classrooms and Big Spring State hospital classroom had 67 students enrolled.

Although enrollment for the semester remained the same, enrollment from this time last year is down by 60 students. At this time last year, 4,665 students were enrolled in the BSISD.

Red Cross honors 3

The awards were given during the annual meeting of the local Red Cross Chapter at the Veterans' Administration Medical Center conference room.

David Wrinkle, general manager of KBST radio station, conceived the idea to conduct a radio campaign for funds from the public for the Ethiopian Relief Fund to be matched by the radio station.

Betty Wrinkle, president of the Snyder Corp., owners of KBST, assisted with the project which netted the Relief Fund 30 percent more than the quota for the local chapter.

Spanish wall may save house from wrecker

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The discovery of what may be a historic limestone wall has saved Dora Osburn's crumbling, 80-year-old house from a wrecking crew.

The find came Tuesday after Mrs. Gusjardo had given up her three-year fight to save the house, which was condemned by the city and slated for demolition after it slipped off its foundation in 1981.

But Tuesday, as the area around the house was being cleared, workers discovered the rock wall. Experts say it may have been part of an acequia, a type of irrigation canal used in the 1700s during Spanish colonial times.

In the wake of the discovery, city officials decided to delay the demolition.

Fat Osborne, the city preservation officer, said the wall may be a significant archeological find if it turns out to be an acequia.

"It looks very interesting," she said Wednesday. "I think the archeologists will be very excited."

The wall is about three blocks from the Mission Concepcion, the best preserved of the city's missions, and could be part of the water system for the ancient Spanish mission, Ms. Osborne said.

The state archeologist and the local superintendent of missions plan to inspect the wall, Ms. Osborne said.

Mrs. Gusjardo has contended all along that her house has historic value and should be saved. But Ms. Osborne had disagreed after an initial inspection before the wall was discovered.

"I kept telling them that the house and the land were part of history but they wouldn't listen," Mrs. Gusjardo said.

City building inspections director Gene Camargo said Tuesday a bulldozer's weight and activity could damage buried structures that might be valuable.

Mrs. Gusjardo, who bought the house about three years ago, now lives in a small structure next door.

PD purchases one stun gun

The Big Spring police department has purchased a "stun gun" for limited use in the city jail and the department's booking room, according to police.

When pressed against a person's body, the "gun" delivers a small jolt of electricity — 35 joules — to the body's nervous system, interrupting the body's own nerve impulses and temporarily stunning or disorienting them, Capt. Roy Lee Osborne said.

The gun, manufactured by Nova Technologies of Austin, is designed to temporarily incapacitate violent suspects without injuring the suspect or the officer, Osborne said.

Police officers, including jailers, will not be allowed to use the gun without certification and training, Turner said.

"It's a last resort. If someone is not cooperative, and the officer's life is in danger or he is in danger of injury, that's when it should be used. It's not for wholesale use," Turner said.

Officers who use the gun without certification or authorization will be terminated, he said.

If the department's experimental use of the gun in the jail does not show any harmful side effects, then Turner said he would ask the council to replace officers' mace and nightsticks with the electronic gun.

The gun's amperage is too low to cause problems for persons with heart problems and will not affect pacemakers, according to Osborne and a film by Nova Technologies.

The gun also is effective against drunks and persons who have taken drugs, like PCP, according to the film. And it can be used in the rain or in water without danger of electrocution, according to the police.

Patrolman David Rios, who volunteered to be stunned by the gun, said he felt its effects for about 30 seconds. "I feel all right now. It burns you, and then it makes you numb," Rios said.

Rios was wearing a bulletproof vest when he was stunned by the gun.

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The state's new mandatory school attendance law is posing problems for the new Miss San Antonio, a high school student with a host of public appearances ahead of her.

Kristen Green, 17, crowned last Saturday, already is scheduled to make an eight-day trip in February to Mazatlan, Mexico.

400 pounds of pot found in fatal plane crash

VICTORIA (AP) — Authorities were searching the marijuana-littered wreckage of a twin-engine plane and questioning its sole survivor Wednesday after a crash that left one man dead.

The Piper Seneca apparently crashed in heavy fog between 10 and 11 p.m. Tuesday. A passer-by discovered the wreckage at about 8 a.m. Wednesday, Department of Public Safety trooper Gerald Bryant said.

U.S. records worst trading year in '84

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States posted its worst trading year in history in 1984 — a $123.3 billion deficit that nearly doubled the old record, the government reported Wednesday.

Both the Reagan administration and private economists predicted the trade deficit will grow even larger this year.

The Commerce Department said the 1984 deficit topped the old mark of $69.4 billion set in 1983 and was almost three times the 1982 level of $42.7 billion.

The growing deficits have been blamed primarily on the strength of the U.S. dollar, which since the fall of 1980 has surged upward by more than 40 percent against major currencies.

Since the dollar is not expected to drop significantly this year, most analysts expect the trade deficit will worsen farther, hitting $130 billion or more.

Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige did not give a specific figure, but he said the United States could expect another "record trade deficit for 1985" because "resumed growth in the economy and the continuing impact of the dollar's rise during 1984 indicates higher imports in the months to come."

The record deficit "is a pointed indictment of the Reagan administration's loose trade policy," said Rep. Don Bonker, D-Wash., chairman of the House Foreign Affairs subcommittee on international economic policy and trade.

"The fact is that this administration is indifferent to the growing imbalance in our international trade accounts," said Bonker, who also heads the House Export Task Force.

The trade deficit reflects the difference between what Americans buy in overseas goods and what U.S. firms are able to sell overseas.

Europeans favor joint space station

ROME (AP) — Ministers of the European Space Agency said Wednesday that agency members are close to approving a joint space station with the United States. But they said that the agency would also continue to seek more Western European autonomy in space research.

The ministers also reported that the fate of a French proposal to build a small space shuttle called Hermes remains doubtful.

The officials spoke at the opening of a two-day meeting that is to decide Western Europe's future in space.

Attending are the 11 member nations — Britain, West Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, Denmark, Ireland, the Netherlands, Spain, Sweden and Switzerland; the two associate members, Austria and Norway, and Canada, which has a limited cooperation agreement with the European Space Agency.

It was the second meeting of ministers since the agency was founded in 1975. The last was in 1977.

A major project under discussion is the $10 billion U.S. permanent space station to be launched in the early 1990s. A proposal before the ministers calls for the agency to contribute a section of the station that can be detached later to form the basis of an independent European space station. The project could cost $2 billion.

1984 brought changes in tax laws

BY ROBERT METZ
 First of a series
 Before we get down to preparing our income tax returns for 1984, let's summarize changes in the law.
 There's good news. Federal income taxes were lower in 1984. Withholding rates were lower too. But even so, millions of taxpayers will qualify for refunds.
 1984 brought the final 10 percent tax reduction in President Reagan's three-step tax-cut program for individuals.

CUT YOUR OWN TAXES AND SAVE

Taxpayers with the highest incomes save the most, but the cut keeps everyone's tax bill lower than it would have been. You get the rate cut automatically; it's figured into the tax table, which covers income up to $50,000. If your taxable income is higher, figure your tax from the schedule that is part of the package of forms.
 What will the cut in individual rates mean in hard dollars? That depends on your income and the number of deductions you have. Here are two examples from the congressional Joint Tax Committee:
 If you're a single person who earns $15,000 a year with deductible expenses equal to 23 percent of income (typical of many taxpayers), you probably paid $1,027 in 1981 taxes. For 1982, after the midyear rate cut, you paid 1,842, and in 1983, you paid $1,651. If your income doesn't rise and push you into a higher bracket, you'll pay $1,572 in 1984.
 A family of four with one wage earner making $35,000 paid about $4,000 for 1981. In 1982 that tax liability dropped to $4,545, and in 1983 to $4,110. Assuming no rise in income, 1984's tax drops to $3,900.

Status	Income	'81 tax	'82 tax	'83 tax	'84 tax
Single	$15,000	$2,027	$1,842	$1,651	$1,572
Family of four (one wage earner)	$35,000	$5,060	$4,545	$4,110	$3,900

TAX CUTS — 1984 brought the final step in President Reagan's three-part tax cut. The above example assumes that the taxpayer had a typical level of deductions and no change in income during the last four years.

- There are a number of other changes in the tax laws.
- Capital gains: The minimum holding period for long-term capital gains treatment has been reduced for assets acquired after June 22, 1984. The long-term holding period is now at least six months and a day (down from at least one year and a day). The holding period applies to losses, too, so assets acquired after June 22, 1984 and sold at a loss after six months and a day are treated as long-term capital losses.
- Social Security benefits: Beginning in 1984, Social Security benefits may be partially taxed. It depends upon level of benefits and the amount of other income. The maximum sum subject to tax is 50 percent of benefits. No benefits are taxed unless adjusted gross income plus one-half of benefits and certain other items exceed $25,000 for single individuals or $32,000 for married couples filing jointly.
- Income averaging: The rules for income averaging have been tightened, making it more difficult for some taxpayers to qualify. To income average, 1984 income must exceed 140 percent of the average income for the past three years by more than $3,000. Prior law permitted averaging when current income exceeded 120 percent of the average income for the four preceding years.
- Credit for the elderly and disabled: The credit for the elderly has been expanded by the doubling of the base amount on which the credit is figured. But individuals under 65 who receive benefits from a public retirement system no longer qualify for the credit. Individuals who are totally and permanently disabled may no longer claim a disability income exclusion. Instead, they may qualify for the credit for the elderly.
- Medical expense deduction: The government is less generous here. As of 1983, fewer taxpayers qualified for medical deductions. You may only deduct sums in excess of 5 percent of adjusted gross income (up from 3 percent). Under the new rules, any medical insurance premium must be lumped in with your other medical expenses.
- The 1 percent floor on drugs has been dropped. Now, all qualifying drugs are included in full along with other medical expenses. Only prescription drugs and insulin qualify as medical expense deductions. Included as a medical expense, beginning in 1984, is lodging while away from home for medical care in a licensed hospital or medical facility. Up to $50 per night per individual may be counted.
- Casualty or theft losses: Such losses are no longer netted with gains and losses from business property (called Section 1231 property). Instead, personal casualty gains and losses are separately netted with these results: If gains exceed losses, all gains and losses are capital gains, and losses are not subject to a 10 percent floor. If losses exceed gains, all gains and losses are considered ordinary, and excess losses are subject to a 10 percent floor. (Before netting, you must still take into account the 100 floor for each separate casualty or theft).
- Also new for 1984 — the government allows a disaster loss for the cost of demolishing or moving a personal residence rendered uninhabitable or condemned because of a disaster. But the residence must be in a federally declared disaster area.

Kay Hepner gives hotline details

It was "Ladies Night Out" for Xi Pi Epsilon Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, Jan. 22. Members had their meeting and dined at K.C. Steak House with Kay Hepner as the guest speaker.
 Mrs. Hepner, coordinator of the Crisis Hotline, presented information on what has been done to date with the hotline and said anyone wishing to be a volunteer could contact her at 267-6335. The hotline is seeking more volunteers in order to expand the hours that it operates.

The hotline number is 267-4111.

Jan Jordan also was a guest and transferred her Beta Sigma Phi membership to Xi Pi Epsilon. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Jordan, Feb. 5.

Volunteer speaks about rape

Donna Jackson, children's librarian at Howard County Library and Rape Crisis Service volunteer, spoke at the Business and Professional Women's Club meeting at La Posado Restaurant, Jan. 22.
 Mrs. Jackson discussed sexual assault and what people can do about it. She named some myths believed by many people and the facts which dispel these myths. She also defined rape as being sexual intercourse in some form against the will of the victim.

 Rape is a non-selective crime that disregards race, age, educational level, marital status and socio-income position, she said. It is the fastest growing crime of violence in the United States, and the chances of being victimized are increasing.

 Ms. Jackson distributed pamphlets that tell people what to do to protect themselves from being victimized.
 The club will meet again at the County Library at 6:30 p.m. Feb. 12.

Keep stroke victim off the bench

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My uncle suffered a cerebral hemorrhage and is paralyzed on the right side. His speech is still guttural. We are told they can't predict what kind of improvement to expect. He tries hard, and it's terribly heart-breaking to see his frustration. Also, what is the difference between a stroke and a cerebral hemorrhage? Please send your literature on this. — L.S.

Before getting into stroke terminology I want to pass along a statistic. While recovery potential is determined by just how much brain tissue has been destroyed in a stroke, 50 percent of all victims gain independence in two years. Persistent physical therapy and family encouragement will help your uncle become a part of that 50 percent success club.

Stroke indicates interruption of blood flow to the brain. Fatty material in the large neck arteries, the main channels for flow to the brain, may participate a stroke. When that happens the stroke is said to be caused by a thrombus. If the build-up is not great enough to stop flow, it can still pose a threat if tiny pieces break off and are carried upward to the smaller arteries in the brain itself. Then the cause is referred to as an embolism.

If tiny arteries in the brain burst, blood may hemorrhage into the brain tissue. High blood pressure is often the cause of this. Or it may occur because of a weak spot on a little artery, and that's called an aneurysm. These are all one form or another of stroke.

You can't really say one kind of stroke is worse or better than another, for there are many factors involved in recovery — speed of treatment, degree of tissue damage, and so on. I hope your uncle is coming along well now. Praise his efforts no matter how slow the progress. And don't relegate him to the bench along the sidelines. The more he's included in family activity, the more motivated he'll be and the less depressed he'll be by his impairment.

Depression is a common stroke sequel and it enervates the patient's will to regain lost potential. You should be able to find much information and assistance at a local rehabilitation center or stroke club in your area.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Can glue used to attach fingernails cause an allergic reaction in the nails? — Mrs. L.L.

It can, and it is possible to transfer the allergenic nail material to other parts of the body to cause similar reactions there. In fact, cosmetics are one of the first avenues of investigation for nail symptoms such as yours. Discontinuing use cures the problem. One woman using Krazy Glue for just such a nail purpose reported a reaction. Of course, not all will have it.

Arthritis sufferers can be helped. For a copy of the booklet, "How You Can Control Arthritis," which discusses many types of arthritis and related joint diseases as well as effective treatments and medications, write to Dr. Donohue, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611. Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Paul Donohue's medical advice is distributed by News America Syndicate.

Dear Abby

Woman's lover falls into other arms

DEAR ABBY: I'm so upset I can't sleep nights. I'm a 50-year-old woman, divorced for eight years, living alone and supporting myself. A year ago I met the man of my dreams. He really made my life worth living and is the kind of lover every woman dreams about.

Well, I made two mistakes. The first was telling my best friend that the new man in my life was the kind of lover every woman dreams about. And the second mistake was introducing her to him.

You guessed it. My best friend fell for him, and now she has him. I had to get this off my chest. It might help somebody.

LOST HIM
DEAR LOST: If you lost him, you never really had him. Consider yourself lucky to have discovered the superficiality of your best friend's loyalty. Write them both off; you can do better on both counts.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I were sitting at a small table at this public nightclub when a strange man asked her three times to dance. She refused, but the fourth time he asked, she accepted. (He didn't acknowledge me at all.)

My wife danced maybe three steps with him when he asked her if she would dance with his friend. Before she had a chance to answer, he motioned to his friend who had been watching from the sidelines. He came out on the floor and my wife was handed over to dance with this second stranger.

They danced the entire set (about 15 minutes), after which my wife was left standing in the middle of the floor while the man walked off the floor alone.

I was very angry, and told my wife that she showed a lack of respect for herself and for me. She didn't see anything wrong with it.

Abby, please explain to my wife how she was rude to me, and how these two men were rude to both of us. My wife doesn't understand how she and both these strangers should have behaved if any of them had any manners. Thank you.

INSULTED
DEAR INSULTED: Stranger No. 1 should have approached your table, introduced himself and asked your permission to dance with your wife. Then you should have asked your wife, if she wanted to dance with him. If she did, then he should not have handed the lady over to his friend without first asking the lady's permission. After the dance was finished, Stranger No. 2 should have escorted your wife to her table, thanked you, and then departed.

(Problems? What's bugging you? Unload on Abby, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Woman gives program on memory

Lois Johnston presented a program on "Improving Your Memory" during the City Extension Homemakers Club meeting at the home of Jowill Etchison, Jan. 25.

Memory is involved in everything we do, Mrs. Etchison said. Memory loss is usually associated with older people, but also can apply to young people. The most common things associated with memory loss are names, dates and birthdays, location of an object, things you forget to say during a conversation and planned tasks.

Memory lapses can cause frustration, embarrassment, stress and anger at one's self. We should think of memory as a filing cabinet, Mrs. Etchison said. Usually thoughts that are filed carefully away can be brought out and remembered again.

Mildred Callihan was elected as nominee for delegate to the District Texas Extension Homemakers Association meeting at Mentone, April 4.

The next meeting will be at 2 p.m. Feb. 8.

Debt rating dives on Phillips Petroleum

NEW YORK (AP) — Standard Poor's Corp. lowered its rating on the debt of Phillips Petroleum Co. on Wednesday because of the "significant increase" in debt the company agreed to incur in its effort to avoid a takeover.

The other major debt rating agency, Moody's Investors Service Inc., reduced its ratings on Phillips' debt Tuesday.

In both instances, the new ratings left Phillips' debt on the lowest rung of the rating categories that the comptroller of the currency views as "investment grade," or eligible for bank investment.

The next four lowest categories are considered speculative, or too risky for bank portfolios. Pension funds and other institutional investors also are barred from investing in speculative securities.

The ratings are important because they are one of the factors investors use in determining how much interest they will insist on receiving to buy a company's bonds. High-rated issues are usually sold at lower interest rates than lower-rated bonds.

Last month, Phillips agreed to ask shareholders to approve a plan that would require the company to buy back 38 percent of its stock, sell $2 billion of its assets and allow employees to increase their ownership in the company from 10 percent to about 40 percent. The shareholder's vote is set for Feb. 22.

The agreement was part of an arrangement under which an investor group led by T. Boone Pickens Jr., the chairman of Mesa Petroleum Co. of Amarillo, Texas, ended a hostile takeover bid for Phillips.

Standard & Poor's said it had lowered Phillips' senior debt rating by two notches to BBB from AA. It said it also would assign a BBB rating to the senior notes and a BBB-minus to the subordinated debentures that are to be issued as part of the proposed recapitalization plan.

Businesses blitzed by computer fritz

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Thousands of businesses in three states were dunned for tax payments and many were threatened with seizure of assets because of an error by the Internal Revenue Service, a spokesman for the agency said Wednesday.

The mistake affected an estimated 10,000 companies in Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware and the District of Columbia, and made it appear that $300 million in withholding taxes had not been paid. It caused special problems for many banks which collect and transmit payroll withholding tax payments for corporate clients.

"Everyone has been getting threats of liens and everything else," said Gerald Pacella, a senior vice president in the operations department of Fidelity Bank of Philadelphia. "Of course, the place that they want to ventilate their anger is the bank."

The IRS originally said the problem was in coded instructions from one computer to another.

Senior regional IRS officials met here Wednesday, however, and determined that the problem resulted from human error connected with computer processing of the payments to the taxpayers' accounts, according to a statement read by Daniel Seklecki of the Philadelphia regional office.

A series of human errors consisted of inordinate delays in correcting a faulty computer tape and poor judgement as to the extent of the problem, he said.

"The error has caused a lot of people misfortune, for which we apologize," Seklecki said. "But there are checks and balances in this system which prevented the problem from going too far."

He declined to comment further on specific errors and said he did not know if any action would be taken against the individuals responsible.

Airline ordered to arbitrate on union demands

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal court has ordered Texas Air Corp., Continental Airlines' parent firm, to submit to arbitration of union pilots' complaints, officials say.

The company has opposed arbitration, which would expose it to millions of dollars in damage claims by the Air Line Pilots Association for failing to require Continental to observe its labor contract with the union.

Continental pilots signed a labor contract in August 1982 that gave the airline major cost concessions.

In return, Texas Air agreed that it and all its subsidiaries — including Continental — would abide by the contract. All disputes were to be settled by neutral arbitration.

Kirkpatrick leaves government for college life

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Thursday, January 31, 1985

11-A

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.N. Ambassador Jeane J. Kirkpatrick, ending the capital's long-running guessing game about her future, announced Wednesday she is quitting the administration after a sometimes stormy tenure and returning to teaching and writing. Revealing her plans following a private meeting with President

JEANE KIRKPATRICK

Reagan, Mrs. Kirkpatrick adamantly refused to say whether she had been offered a new job in the second administration. White House officials also declined. Asked if she was disappointed at not getting another top government post, Mrs. Kirkpatrick said, "No, no, no, no, no." "If I had wanted a top foreign policy job in the second term, I would have remained as U.S. permanent representative to the United Nations," said Mrs. Kirkpatrick, one of three women in the administration with Cabinet rank. Mrs. Kirkpatrick, on leave from a post of teaching government at Georgetown University, said, "I am very committed to teaching and writing and the independence that goes with that. And it's the life I intend to return to." The ambassador said she wrote out the announcement of her resignation on the eve of her meeting with Reagan. The president, who once lamented he did not have a job

"worthy of her" outside the U.N., said last week he was ready to offer a suitable job outside the White House. While the president refused to be more specific, sources who declined to be identified said it was the top post at Agency for International Development or the United States Information Agency or the task of revitalizing the now-moribund International Development Cooperation Agency. Mrs. Kirkpatrick's associates let it be known she was not interested in those jobs.

'Death March' veterans awarded medals

FORT WORTH (AP) — More than 39 years after they were freed from a Japanese prison in the Philippines, six North Texas survivors of the World War II Bataan Death March were given Bronze Stars for valor.

But the seven medals — one was awarded posthumously to the airman's widow — didn't come without a battle of words with the U.S. Army.

The 300 Army Air Corps veterans who survived the grisly march that left at least 1,100 people dead believed they were entitled Army Combat Infantryman badges, said Capt. Kenneth Marx, deputy chief of public affairs at Carswell Air Force Base.

But the Army said only infantrymen — those assigned to ground duty — were eligible for the decoration.

"The Army decided that because they were airmen, they were not entitled to that badge,"

Marx said. "The Air Force finally found out what was going on and decided they were entitled to consideration. They can't give out infantryman badges, so they decided to give out Bronze Stars."

The awards were presented in a ceremony Tuesday at Carswell. Similar citations have been presented to airmen across the nation since November.

The seven Texas men were members of the 27th Bombardment Group, which arrived in the Philippines 18 days before Pearl Harbor was attacked Dec. 7, 1941.

The day after Pearl Harbor, bombs began falling on the Philippines. Their aircraft never arrived because the ship bringing it was diverted to avoid Japanese attack.

The 1,400 airmen and hundreds Army and Navy men were trapped.

The airmen were issued small arms of World War I vintage and reassigned to the 2nd Provisional Infantry Battalion, where they fought as infantrymen for 99 days.

F.L. "Dit" Wright remembers vividly the roar of bombs, heated jungle battles, the agony of surrender and the killing Death March from Bataan to a series of Japanese prisons.

Only 300 of the original 1,400 airmen survived the four years it took for peace to free them.

"I can talk about it and just turn it off," said Wright, a 66-year-old Fort Worth businessman. "I don't dwell on it. If you dwell on it, you would go crazy."

After the men surrendered to the Japanese on April 9, 1942, they were lined up for a 100-mile march from the end of the Bataan Peninsula to San Fernando at the top of Manila Bay.

National Guard units reorganized

TEXARKANA, Texas (AP) — Some National Guard units in Northeast Texas will soon be renamed and given new combat duties as part of a U.S. Army reorganization, military officials have confirmed.

The Division 86 concept, which the Army began implementing in its active units several years ago, will take effect Friday for the 49th Armored Division of the Texas National Guard, the Texarkana Gazette reported today.

A Pentagon spokesman said the restructuring is a result of new weapon systems.

"The Army has been reorganizing its heavy divisions to take into account the lessons that we've learned from the Mideast wars and other wars of the seventies," Pentagon spokesman Col. Craig Macnabe said Wednesday.

"We needed to make some organizational changes in our heavy units to equip them to fight effectively on the modern battlefield."

In the case of mechanized infantry and tank units in Northeast Texas, the Army is placing more firepower in its front-line units.

In all but the Texarkana unit in the 3rd Battalion of the 144th Mechanized Infantry, there have been numerous changes to prepare for when

Several of the units eventually will receive a new armored troop carrier — the Bradley Fighting Vehicle — and a new anti-tank weapon, the Tube-launched optically-tracked wire-guided missile, officials added.

Sergeant Glenn Andrews of Company C unit in Texarkana said the units have reorganized to handle the advanced weapons.

Under the old system, the 3rd Battalion had a headquarters, three companies and a combat support company.

Headquarters was from Terrell. Company A was from Greenville, Bonham and Honeygrove. Company B was out of Atlanta, Mt. Pleasant and Sulphur Springs. Company C was of Texarkana. Combat support company was out of Tyler and Kilgore.

Under the new Division 86 structure, the 3rd Battalion will made up of a headquarters and five companies.

Headquarters and Headquarter Company will be out of Terrell and Tyler, Texas. Company A will be out of Greenville and Bonham. Company B will be of Sulphur Springs and Honeygrove. Company C of Texarkana is losing its mortars.

Company D of Kilgore and Mt. Pleasant, and soldiers from Atlanta are trading their rifles for an anti-tank weapon to form a new company — Company E. This new company will be armed with the TOW wire guided, anti-tank missile.

The 5th Battalion, 112th Armored is getting more, but smaller, tank platoons to simplify battlefield tactics.

"There will be decreases in it from five tanks in a (platoon) to four to make it easier to manage," Capt. Ronnie Albert said.

In the past, the 5th Battalion had a headquarters company, a combat support company and three tank companies. The headquarters company was located in Marshall, the combat support company in Marshall and Carthage, Company A in Henderson, Company B Longview, and Company C in Palestine and Jacksonville.

With the new Division 86 concept, headquarters will be out of Marshall, Carthage and Longview. Company A in Henderson, Company B Longview, Company C Palestine and a new Company D in Jacksonville.

By Steve Belvin

The recent United Way Volleyball Tournament turned out to be a success as 26 men and women teams entered and $1,100 was raised for the United Way.

Since that tourney went over so well, another one has been planned for February 22-24 at the Big Spring Federal Prison Camp.

Entry fee is $25 per team and entry forms can be obtained by calling the United Way office at 267-5201. Deadline to enter is February 15.

The Big Spring High School boys tennis team recently won their first match of the season by downing Snyder six matches to four.

Singles winners were Mark Slade, Victor Coots, Aaron Allen and Jeff Needles. Double wins went to the teams of Needles-Charlie Bott and Taff Wennik-Coots.

The Big Spring girls were defeated 9-0 by Snyder.

One local reader called in and wanted some information to settle a bet with his brother-in-law. His question was: Are the former LA Rams defensive players Jim and Jack Youngblood brothers?

According to the Rams Publicity Office in Anaheim the duo is not related in any way.

Thirty outstanding businesspeople are taking their time and effort to join forces with the Big Spring High School coaching staff to show support and reinforce positive attitudes in the Steers football team.

These men and women, also successful athletes themselves, have kicked off a series of activities which began January 28. This program is designed to build a network of stronger commitment and involvement between the community and high school program.

The program is taking place at the high school auditorium lasting from 8:15-9:25 a.m. and from 10:25-11:45 a.m.

A special feature to conclude the program is a guest appearance by former pro football quarterback Sammy Baugh, who will make his appearance in early February.

The Big Spring Boxing Club welcomes back former West Texas Golden Gloves Welterweight Champion Gene Dukas who returns from a boxing stint in North Carolina, New Jersey and Florida.

Last year he boxed in the Olympic Trials in Colorado Springs, Colorado. According to his coach J.V. Martinez there is a possibility Dukas might turn pro after this year's Golden Gloves in Odessa and Ft. Worth.

Coach Martinez encourages all interested Big Spring High School athletes to come workout at the Boxing Club in preparation for the Golden Gloves division which features no-experienced boxers from Big Spring, Odessa and Midland. The West Texas Golden Gloves in Odessa will be held Feb. 12-18.

Now here is our weekly trivia question thanks to sports buff Scott Fitzgerald.

Question: In 1967, the University of Texas at El Paso (UTEP) Miner basketball team supposedly fielded a team member who had played on a New York high school basketball team that handed Lew Alcindor and his Power Memorial High School team its only loss during Alcindor's high school playing days. Who was this mysterious figure who made brief appearances as a Miner squad member in 1967 and what happened to him?

Answer: His name was Phil Harris, and yes he was from New York City. As a result of childhood accident, Harris lost a finger from each hand. The 6'10" hoopster was an aggressive rebounder but never settled comfortably into Don Haskins' style of play nor at UTEP for that matter. He had several run-ins with campus police and left the university in 1968.

As for the dream meeting between UTEP and UCLA (Alcindor vs. Harris) — it almost came off in the West regional finals of the NCAA tournament in 1967. UTEP, who was the defending NCAA champion from 1966, lost its opening round game to Pacific and a tenacious free throw shooter named Keith Swaggerty. UCLA defeated Pacific in the Western tournament's championship game and moved onto the finals held in Louisville and an eventual championship game victory over the Don May led Dayton Flyers.

SMU gets past Houston

DALLAS (AP) — Fourth-ranked Southern Methodist held closed-door practices all week then slammed the door shut on the Houston Cougars Wednesday night.

"We played with a lot more emotion, we had something to prove," said seven-foot center Jon Koncak, who had 27 points and 21 rebounds in an 85-78 Southwest Conference victory.

SMU Coach Dave Bliss was sizzling after the Mustangs were upset by Texas Tech on Saturday night. In fact, he was so mad that he benched star guard Carl Wright.

Wright came off the bench to score 19 points and dole out 10 assists.

"Carl did a great job coming off the bench," said Koncak. "If he plays like that every night we'll win a lot of games."

Bliss said "Carl and I have resolved our differences. It was nothing major. Just some philosophical differences. He did a super job coming off the bench."

Houston Coach Guy Lewis said the difference was Koncak.

"They had success going into him all night long," said Lewis. "He's a great player and we don't have anybody to match up with him."

"We had three guys on him there at times."

The Mustangs raised their record to 7-1 in SWC play and 17-2 overall. The defending champion Cougars dropped to 5-3 and 13-6.

The Mustangs snapped a six-game losing streak to the Cougars.

Houston never led but refused to go away behind the outside shooting of Eric Dickens, Alvin Franklin and Marvin Alexander.

SMU built a 43-36 halftime lead, but a Houston press helped keep the Cougars in the game in the second half.

Dickens scored 16 points for the losers, Franklin added 14 and Alexander had 12 points.

A sellout crowd of 9,007 jammed Moody Coliseum for SMU's first victory over Houston since 1982.

Scott Johnson was the only other Mustang in double figures with 11 points including three free throws in the final minute as the desperate Cougars fouled at will.

Arkansas 64

Baylor 57

WACO (AP) — Forward Charles Balentine hit 4 out of 4 free throw attempts in overtime to lift the Arkansas Razorbacks to a 64-57 Southwest Conference victory over Baylor Wednesday night.

Balentine, who led all scorers with 20, broke a 55-55 deadlock with 2:55 remaining in the extra period. He later put the game on ice with another pair, giving UA a 63-55 lead with 29 seconds.

Balentine's heroics lifted the Razorbacks to a 14-7 overall record, and 5-3 in the SWC. The Bears fell to 8-10 and 1-7.

Arkansas center Joe Kleine, who scored 14 points, hit the game's first basket and Arkansas never trailed in the first period. Baylor kept the contest close, hitting 75 percent from the field in the first half — by far its best shooting half of the season.

Baylor's Edwin Mitchell sent the game into overtime when he hit a 16-foot jumper to knot the game at 56 with 11 seconds left in regulation. Mitchell led Baylor with 17 points and freshman guard Michael Williams added 16.

N.C. State 61

(No. 8) Georgia Tech 53

ATLANTA (AP) — North Carolina State blew a 12-point second-half lead, but Lorenzo Charles reeled off six points late in the game to help the Wolfpack knock off No. 8 Georgia Tech 61-53 in Atlantic Coast Conference basketball Wednesday night.

Charles, who finished with 23 points, gave State a 51-50 lead with two free throws with 3:35 remaining, added two more 90 seconds later and then hit a 12-foot jumper to make it 55-51.

Tech's John Salley missed the front end of two one-and-ones, and Bruce Dalrymple hit one of two free throws in the final minutes.

The Wolfpack led 48-36 with 13:10 remaining, but did not score again for nearly 8 1/2 minutes while Tech ran off 14 points, taking a 50-48 lead on a Mark Price jumper from the foul line.

(No. 6) Duke 76

Wake Forest 70

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — David Henderson hit four free throws in the final minute of overtime to help No. 6 Duke to a 76-70 Atlantic Coast Conference basketball victory over Wake Forest on Wednesday.

SMU post player LARRY DAVIS (54) grabs the rebound away from University of Houston guard ALVIN FRANKLIN in Wednesday night SWC action.

The victory avenged a 91-89 overtime loss Duke suffered on Jan. 17 against the Demon Deacons and also propelled the Blue Devils, 15-3, into second place in the ACC with a 5-3 league mark. Wake Forest, 12-6 overall, is 3-3 in the ACC.

Duke took a 69-64 lead in the overtime when Henderson hit the front end of a two-shot foul with one minute left. But the Demon Deacons battled within 69-68 on two straight jumpers by Delaney Rudd with 44 seconds left.

Henderson then hit three of his four chances at the foul line, the last with 10 seconds left, to give Duke a 72-68 lead.

Dawkins led Duke with 24 points. Rudd led Wake Forest with 18.

(No. 1) St. John's 77

Providence 60

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Bill Wenington scored 18 points and Chris Mullin added 16 as St. John's, playing its first game in 33 years as the nation's top-ranked college basketball team, pulled away for a 77-60 victory over Providence Wednesday night.

The Redmen won their 11th consecutive game by erasing a 22-20 deficit to take a 33-28 halftime lead. They stretched it to 63-47 with a 10-point run that ended with 5:06 left in the game. St. John's never led by less than 14 points the rest of the way.

Walter Berry added 15 points for the Redmen.

Miami Dolphins quarterback DAN MARINO sits in the back of the limo after getting married to CLAIRE VEAZY in his family's neighborhood church in Pittsburgh's Oakland section on Wednesday night.

Wadkins fed up with 'slow players'

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Lanny Wadkins, long noted as one of golf's fastest players, took a shot at his opposite number — the slow player.

"I don't know what they're doing," the exasperated Wadkins said before teeing off today as the man to beat in the 44th Bing Crosby National Pro-Am.

"They're walking around, lining up a putt they've lined up 12 times before. Nobody wants to see a player walking around the green for 20 minutes, and that's what we're getting."

"They're tossing grass in the air and they're looking over the shot. I don't know what they're looking for. It's something I've never seen."

"And it's not the good players that are doing it. You take Tom Watson and Craig Stadler and Fuzzy Zoeller and put them in a group and they'll play in three hours," Wadkins said.

"Last Sunday, I waited on every shot. The group in front of us, they played at their pace. Didn't have to wait on a single shot. But they finished two holes behind the group in front of them and we had to wait on every shot. That's not very courteous."

"It's a problem. It's something we on the Tour need to deal with. I don't know what the solution is. It's not for me to say. But something definitely needs to be done to speed up play."

"Maybe," he said, and grinned broadly, "last week I should have just played through. Wouldn't that have looked great on TV?"

"Hey, guys, you're playing slow and we've got a fast group at we're playing through.' And then we get on the green, hole out and start celebrating while they're still back in the fairway. Wouldn't that look great?"

"Maybe I shouldn't be talking about this, but if somebody doesn't talk about it, nothing will be done."

Wadkins, waiting not-so-patiently between shots, won the Los Angeles Open by seven shots last Sunday. It was his second victory of the young season, boosted his money-winnings to $172,350, reduced his scoring average to 67.2 and sent him to Pebble Beach, where he won the 1977 PGA, with the hottest hand in the game.

"It happens to good players," he said, and mentioned Watson, Hubert Green, Johnny Miller among the men who have put their games at a peak for several weeks in a row.

"More than anything else," he said of the hot streak, "you feel confidence. You stand on the tee and you don't see trouble. You see fairways and greens and pins."

"It's extremely positive. You don't think about what happens if you hit a bad shot. You think about what happens if you hit a good shot."

"I know I'm capable of a very hot streak. But I don't know if it will continue. Nobody knows. We'll find out starting Thursday."

Among his principal opponents in the chase for a $90,000 first prize are Watson, Jack Nicklaus, PGA champion Lee Trevino, Masters titleholder Ben Crenshaw and defending Crosby champion Hale Irwin.

Moses lifts Philly past rival Celtics

With Moses Malone at his best, not even the Boston Celtics were a match for the Philadelphia 76ers.

Malone scored 38 points and grabbed 24 rebounds Wednesday night to lead the 76ers to a 122-104 rout of the Celtics, cutting Boston's lead in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division to a half-game. The NBA's two best teams have split four meetings this season, with the home team winning in each game.

"He's a wrecking crew type of player, always pumping out there, not a guy who looks pretty out there," the Sixers' Julius Erving said of Malone, the powerhouse center. "He's got a deceptive demeanor, rambles around and gets opposing players to fall into his trap."

Elsewhere, it was Houston 116, the Los Angeles Lakers 113; Washington 108, Chicago 95; Indiana 120, Cleveland 115; Detroit 120, Kansas City 116, and Phoenix 110, New York 93.

Philadelphia won at the foul line, converting 31 of 32 free throws, while Boston had only 11 of 19. Malone was a perfect 16 at Boston 21-5. What did the victory mean? "It means we're 2-2 for the series and that's all," said Cunningham.

"It keeps us from falling 2½ games behind," added Erving.

Rockets 116, Lakers 113
Akeem Olatunji scored 24 points and the Houston Rockets overcame Los Angeles' two-pronged attack of Kareem Abdul Jabbar (34 points) and Earvin "Magic" Johnson (33). Houston built a 101-91 edge but the Lakers battled back to within 112-110 with 58 seconds left. The Lakers got a chance to tie after a Rockets' miss but Abdul-Jabbar missed an off-balance shot that Houston turned into a fast-break basket by Ralph Sampson.

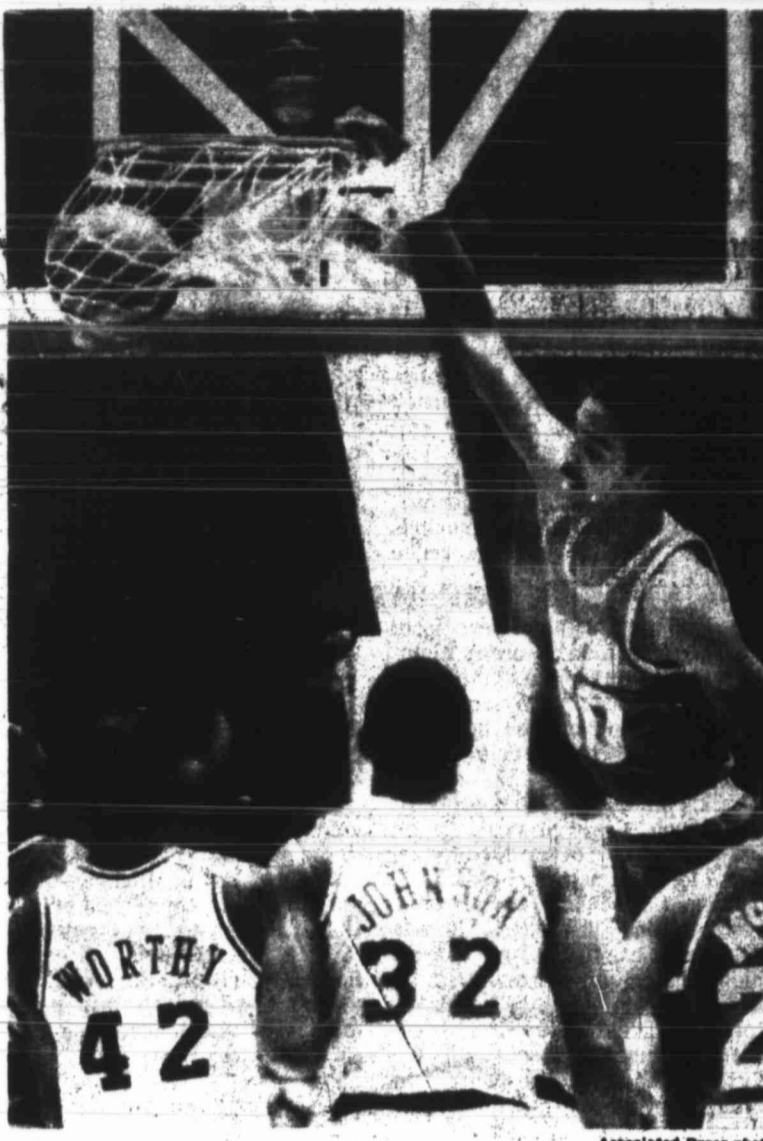

Bullets 106, Bulls 95
The host Bullets snapped Chicago's four-game winning string despite 38 points by Michael Jordan, including 24 in the first half. The Bulls led by six entering the final period but Jeff Malone and Greg Ballard each had six points in a 12-2 run by Washington that proved decisive.

Gus Williams led the Bullets with 29 points as they upped their home mark to 19-5. Chicago has lost seven straight road games.

Pacers 129, Cavaliers 115
Indiana was down by 11 points with 10½ minutes remaining but scored 12 straight to take the lead 104-103. After Mel Turpin gave the visiting Cavaliers a 105-104 margin, Terence Stansbury's jumper put Indiana on top to stay.

Pistons 120, Kings 116
Seven Pistons hit for double figures at Pontiac, Mich., led by John Long with 17. Eddie Johnson and Reggie Theus each had 22 points for Kansas City.

Suns 110, Knicks 93
At Phoenix, Larry Nance scored 21 points and Michael Holton added 18 as the Suns snapped their six-game losing streak. The Suns grabbed the lead in the first period and coasted. The Knicks, who were led by Pat Cummings with a career-high 34 points, saw their four-game winning streak stopped. New York is now 2-20 on the road this season, with a club-record 13 straight losses.

Houston Rockets forward RALPH SAMPSON slams one home as LA Lakers JAMES WORTHY and MAGIC JOHNSON look on.

Perkins patient in first NBA season

DALLAS (AP) — Rookie Sam Perkins isn't a National Basketball Association All-Star like former North Carolina teammate Michael Jordan of the Chicago Bulls. In fact, the Dallas Maverick forward-center doesn't even start.

But the rookie is accepting his role as a reserve in Coach Dick Motta's system without pouting or head hanging.

"I think my inexperience shows," Perkins says quite candidly. "In the fourth quarter situations in the NBA, the coaches usually want to go with the veteran player."

"They think they won't freeze up or make a mistake. Maybe, one of these days I'll be the veteran player."

Perkins is averaging eight points and six rebounds per game by playing some 24 minutes per outing. His high game has been 19 points. Jordan is averaging about 27 points a game and has been drawing big crowds at Chicago Stadium and other National Basketball Association cities. He was the only rookie voted to start in the NBA All Star Game Feb. 10.

"I'm not rushing things," said Perkins, who is more a forward than he is a center. "I've got to get more experience and maybe play with a little more weight next year. I don't have a headlong rush to get there. I think it will all come naturally."

Dallas Coach Dick Motta believes Perkins is a natural. "He's improving every game," said Motta. "He's going to be a tremendous player for this franchise before his career is over."

Perkins, the Mavericks' first round pick, refuses to grumble about his bench-riding status.

"I have no gripes," said Perkins. "As long as I do what I can, the rest will take care of itself."

Perkins has an occasional chat with North Carolina Coach Dean Smith. He said his relationship with Motta isn't as close. "In college, the coach has to be close to the players because they come into the school as a freshman and don't know how to guide themselves," Perkins said. "They have to hold their hand. In the pros, you are on your own as a grown man. They don't do the things they do in college like making sure you are all right."

the line. "It's always tough to win down here," said Boston's Larry Bird, who was held to 16 points. "They played well from the foul line. That and the fact they got second shots were the biggest factors."

"They doubled on me and I just couldn't get into position. They had control in the second half and stayed ahead. We couldn't overtake them."

Malone also got Boston center Robert Parish into foul trouble and Parish played a total of 26 minutes, only seven in the final period when the 76ers turned the game into a rout.

"In Boston, we fell apart at the end," said Erving, who had 15 points. "I thought they fell apart at the end."

Boston scored seven straight points early in the fourth period to close within four. But Philadelphia then outscored

Connors survives upsets

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Defending titlist Jimmy Connors survived a determined attack by Sweden's Jan Gunnarsson to advance to the third round of the $315,000 U.S. Indoor National Tennis Championships.

The top-seeded Connors, ranked second in the world, dropped the first set 4-6 Wednesday night, found his form midway in the second set and won going away 6-4, 6-0.

Three other seeded players, No. 6 Kevin Curren, No. 7 Tomas Smid of Czechoslovakia and No. 14 David Pate were eliminated by unseeded players. Ten seeded players remain in the tournament after two rounds.

Curren was a victim of Yugoslavia's Marco Ostojic 6-2, 6-4, while Pate lost to Israel's Shahar Perkiss 4-6, 7-5, 6-1. Germany's 17-year-old Boris Becker blasted the 17th-ranked Smid 6-2, 6-4. Becker, the youngest player in the tournament, is ranked 82nd in the world after only about six months on the tour.

Connors, who has won the U.S. National a record seven times, struggled in the first set of his second-round match.

Gunnarsson began tiring, however, in the second set. Then Connors broke his serve. "I had a chance in the second set," Gunnarsson said. "When I lost my serve, he started to play better. I began to get tired, and then I had no chance."

Connors, who was once again using his old T-2000 racket after a brief experiment with a new, non-size racket, acknowledged that his opponent frustrated him to run away with the match.

"I didn't know if he could keep that up," Connors said. "Once I got in there and won the second set, I was OK."

Erxleben inks with Rams

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Russell Erxleben, the most controversial first-round draft choice in the history of the New Orleans Saints, said Wednesday's signing with the Los Angeles Rams marks the end of an unpleasant five-year period of his life.

Erxleben, who in 1979 was picked higher than any other kicker in the history of the National Football League, was expected to live up to his college credentials as a record-setting dual purpose kicker. After an injury-curtailed first season, his duties were limited to punting. He averaged 40.6 yards a punt over his five years with the Saints and had his best season in strike-shortened 1982 when he led the league with a 43-yard average.

That was also the year he was credited with helping to settle the players' strike by voicing a desire to go back to work while negotiations were continuing. In 1983, he talled off to 41 yards a punt. His last kick for the Saints was returned for a Rams touchdown that kept New Orleans out of the playoffs. He was hobbled by a badly pulled muscle at the time.

The Saints drafted Brian Hansen in the ninth round last year, and the rookie went to the Pro Bowl.

Erxleben said in a telephone conversation from his new home in Houston that he knew when training camp opened last year that Coach Bum Phillips had already made up his mind to replace him.

At Los Angeles, he will battle incumbent John Misko, who averaged 38.7 yards a punt last season. Erxleben said he signed a one-year contract with the Rams, and that's all he wanted to sign.

"I don't want to tie myself to a long-term thing. I don't know how many years I want to play. One year is as far as I want to go right now," he said. He said that sitting out last season, "I've had an unpleasant feeling of relief."

"Not so much relieved at being out of football as relieved to be out of New Orleans. And not being away from the people there, but playing football there," he said.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, FEB. 1, 1985

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day to avoid arguments and confrontations with others at all costs and to use your best judgment to turn whatever are tensions and strains into opportunities.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You have to use much tact in dealing with others today and care in motion of all kind. Make social contacts.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Don't be too hasty in coming to decisions where finances are concerned, otherwise you can make costly errors.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Don't make changes at home without first getting the approval of kin, and get it by the use of diplomacy.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) You may have inner conflict which could foolishly cause you to spoil present set-up, so calm yourself and be poised.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Avoid that friend who could be upsetting to you today and you save the relationship. Plan what you truly want in the days ahead.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Important you handle outside affairs in a well-regulated manner, even though you are thinking of making big changes.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You are thinking of taking a little trip to gain the benefits that are slow in coming in, but be patient a little longer.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You feel that someone is trying to take advantage of you, but be sure before you try to retaliate in any way.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) It may be that an associate is acting in a flighty and irresponsible manner, but this will soon change, so be patient.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You feel that you may have taken on more work than you can handle, but it will work systematically.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You may be in a bad mood and don't want to work, so go out for some amusement that is not expensive.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) The situation at-home may be difficult, but do nothing that can make it more so. Establish greater harmony.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be very energetic and will need proper direction so as not to get into constant arguments and fighting with others. Give chores to do early in life and see that sports are indulged in. Provide a good education.

PUBLIC NOTICE

AT&T Communications of the Southwest, Inc. ("AT&T Communications"), in accordance with the Public Utility Regulatory Act and the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas ("PUC") hereby gives notice of its intent to implement a new schedule of rates for its services. The new rates will be effective February 22, 1985, unless otherwise determined by the PUC. All customers and classes of customers would be affected by the proposed rates.
AT&T Communications has filed restructured tariffs designed to more closely recover access and other costs for private line, DATAPHONE Digital Service, OCC Facilities, WATS and 800 services.
Also proposed is the institution of a charge for directory assistance to begin to recover access costs incurred for such service, and increases in rates for operator assisted AT&T Long Distance calls.
AT&T Communications is proposing to restructure its AT&T Long Distance Service and to reduce its overall revenues from basic long distance approximately $25 million.
While long distance rates will, in most instances, be reduced, certain AT&T Long Distance rates are proposed to be increased to more nearly recover the access charges approved by the PUC for such service.
The proposed new rates for all services would result in an increase in adjusted test period revenues of $123.4, or 11.3 percent.
A complete copy of the proposed tariffs are on file with the Texas Public Utility Commission.
Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene or participate or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information also may be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227 or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

Nutri/System's multi-disciplined approach accomplishes what other diet programs fail to do.

Melissa A. Kelly
Special Writer
Bob McBee is the same, but different. That is, the difference is 85 pounds. And he lost those pounds in an amazingly short period of time - 90 days. Bob's story, however, is not uncommon. Not since the Nutri/System Weight Loss Center opened its doors 13 years ago in Jenkintown, PA.
Today Nutri/System is an international network of professionally supervised centers with over 700 centers in North America alone. This growth can be explained by the fact that Nutri/System promises and delivers up to a pound a day weight loss or more without using drugs, injections or strenuous exercise. Dr. Jay Satz, Director of Research and Development at Nutri/System, further explains the program's success: "Our weight loss program is individualized and easy to follow; involves no decision-making; and, very importantly, the exclusive Nu System Cuisine™ is delicious!"
Dr. Satz was absolutely right about Nu System Cuisine™. I sampled an entree, and it was superb! Later, I tried Veal Ragout, Turkey Tetrazzini and Chicken a la King, all delicious. In fact, all the entrees taste as if they were made by the magic hands of a gourmet chef! Talking with some Nutri/System clients, I learned that Nu System Cuisine™ does more than taste delicious. These exclusive foods actually make Nutri/System hunger-free and free from counting calories! Nu System Cuisine™ really takes the work out of dieting. And they're convenient—you can take these entrees anywhere. Preparation is simple and quick. Because the same revolutionary process that captures all the flavor and nutrition of freshly made foods also allows you to enjoy that goodness in just minutes.

Former deputy charged in Cash extortion

EL PASO (AP) — The U.S. attorney's office has charged a former El Paso County sheriff's sergeant with trying to extort money from country-and-western singer Johnny Cash.

Jesus Lorenzo Gurrola, 36, is alleged to have sought "money or other things of value under threat of injuring the reputation of Johnny Cash" in a letter mailed in January 1984.

before U.S. Magistrate Phillip Cole, who released the former sergeant on a personal recognizance bond. Gurrola, a sheriff's sergeant for four years until he was dismissed in January 1983, would face up to two years in prison and a $500 fine if convicted.

In the complaint filed last week, Gurrola appeared Tuesday

Fugitive forever

Man who ran from justice asks for sympathy

CAMP HILL, Pa. — After Richard Gartner escaped from prison in 1972, he returned home, started a family and a business, and paid taxes under his own name. But in his mind, he never stopped running.

"Every day I thought that they would come. Every day for 12½ years I never answered the knock on my door," he said.

They came, but not until last November. Now Gartner sits in a jail cell, hoping for parole and angry at the system that incarcerated him after more than a decade of benign neglect.

"I would say I rehabilitated myself," Gartner, 34, said in an interview at the state prison here. "I know I don't belong here. I definitely don't belong here. I belong out there supporting my family."

Raised in Bucks County near Philadelphia, Gartner joined the Marines at age 16 and did two 13-month tours of duty in Vietnam. On his return, he was assigned as a driver for military brass on a base in Georgia.

"They threw you in dress blues, all spit and shine, right out of a combat zone ... There was no deprogramming whatsoever," he said. After one day, he went home, absent without leave.

"I was mentally unstable at the time," he said. He and a handful of others — "just a bad crowd" — went on a spree of half a dozen burglaries in Bucks County. The total take was less than $300, he said. He was arrested and convicted.

After serving five months of a six-year sentence, Gartner walked away from his prison assignment at a forestry camp in nearby Adams County.

He hitchhiked home on the Pennsylvania Turnpike; no one came after him.

After a series of odd jobs, he began working for a trash hauling firm. He got married, had four children and led "a regular family life."

He started his own trash hauling business in 1983. "It was just starting to go good when they picked me up," he said.

"I thought about turning myself in, but after the one kid and then another kid ... it got harder each year to turn myself in," he said.

"I never told my children that I escaped. But I did tell them that I got in trouble when I was younger. I told them to never get into trouble, to be good," he said.

His wife, Jeannie, said she "knew right from the start" about her husband's criminal past. "He wasn't a bad person. He didn't seem like a criminal. I was right," she said.

He used his own name and his old Social Security number. For years, though, he didn't answer the phone or the front door. He was afraid to apply for a driver's license. He kept to himself.

"I didn't socialize with people because I didn't want them in some way finding out about my life ... The fear was always there. Every time a cop would come around the corner, I'd sort of like go back into the house."

One night last November, he said, "I woke my wife up and told her I feel something's wrong. We stayed up all night talking about it." The next morning, he was arrested at home, caught in the web of the Fugitive Investigative Strike Team, an operation of federal, state and local police that captured 3,300 fugitives in the Northeast over a two-month period.

Since his arrest, Gartner has been locked in solitary confinement because of the escape charge against him.

"I try to read but I can't really read because I always think of my family. They're the ones that are being punished more than me," he said.

"My kids, they want their dad home. They don't understand at all," said Mrs. Gartner. The oldest child, Richard Jr., 10, is especially confused, she said.

"I don't think they had any right to pick Rick up after 12½ years. It's ridiculous," Mrs. Gartner said. Gary Hartman, the Adams County district attorney who this month dropped the escape charge against Gartner, said the system often loses track of fugitives when they go from one jurisdiction to another.

"All you have to do is cross a county line and you're in another world in terms of enforcement," he said.

Thomas Lyon, a spokesman for the Pennsylvania State Police, said he didn't know why no one went after Gartner, adding: "If someone is a fugitive and we know where he is, we're certainly not going to avoid him."

Israel promised $1.8 billion in new U.S. military aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan assured Israeli Defense Minister Yitzhak Rabin today he would request about $1.8 billion in military aid to the economically hard-pressed country for next year.

"It will be not exactly what we wanted, but around $1.8 billion," Rabin told reporters after the meeting. The figure represents a compromise between the $1.4 billion Israel is receiving this year and the $2.2 billion it sought for 1986.

At the same time, Rabin said the administration apparently would take no decision on economic aid. Israel asked for an $800 million emergency appropriation as well as $1.9 billion for next year.

"I believe that at present there is no decision about the size of economic aid to Israel," Rabin said. But he said he was optimistic about what the U.S. government would do to support Israeli efforts to turn its economy around.

The former prime minister and military chief of staff said the austerity measures, to his "great sorrow," include cuts in defense spending. "Israel is going to take security risks and real ones," he said.

On the diplomatic front, Rabin said he had registered Israel's objections to any attempt to give the Soviet Union a prominent role in efforts to resolve the Arab-Israeli conflict. U.S. officials said reforms adopted in Jerusalem to combat inflation are still under study within the administration.

The military aid, which Congress could reduce or increase, represents a $400 million boost over this year's figure. Israel contends it needs the American help to compete with Arab adversaries and to help offset inflation.

Yitzhak Rabin, Israel's defense minister.

New missile purchase blocked by Weinberger

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger is blocking the purchase of a new Air Force missile system until the service can find some way to control skyrocketing costs soaring into the billions.

Weinberger's decision, summarized in a memo written earlier this week by his top deputy, William H. Taft IV, not only delays acquisition of the AMRAAM missile but suggests there is a possibility the program might actually be canceled.

Caspar Weinberger, America's defense secretary.

While the order also left open the option of starting acquisition of the new air-to-air missile late this summer if its problems can be fixed, it said the Air Force should seriously consider "the feasibility ... of a more cost-effective solution to the military requirement."

AMRAAM — the Advanced Medium Range Air-to-Air Missile — has been under development since 1981 and purchases were to have begun this year. Designed by the Hughes Aircraft Co., it is supposed to become the super missile of the 1990s for Air Force as well as Navy jet fighters, capable of knocking enemy fighters out of the sky at long range.

As proposed, a fighter pilot could use the radar on his plane to detect enemy aircraft at long distances. He would then "fire and forget" the AMRAAM toward the enemy plane, with the missile using its own small radar to home in on the enemy plane before the opponent could return fire.

The program has been plagued by development problems and contract overruns. Cost estimates have more than doubled, with each missile now projected to cost more than $400,000. The Air Force and Navy together hope to acquire roughly 24,000 of the missiles at a cost projected to exceed $10 billion.

Weinberger's decision, as summarized in Taft's memo, directed the Air Force to establish a committee "to define and evaluate the feasibility of alternative methods for reducing AMRAAM production costs."

In the meantime, all purchases

"will be deferred until the Air Force can show that AMRAAM production costs have been contained," the memo concluded.

The decision by Weinberger to postpone procurement of the missile, while not unprecedented, is an unexpectedly harsh blow for a weapon system. The only recent similar action occurred last year, when Weinberger ordered a postponement in purchases of the Army's troubled Divad air-defense gun pending further tests.

According to the memo, Weinberger met with Air Force Secretary Verne Orr and Navy Secretary John Lehman on Jan. 23 to discuss the AMRAAM program. The result, the memo said, was a decision "that comprehensive cost-control actions must be undertaken immediately...."

"The program does not sufficiently reflect either the seriousness of the current estimated cost increase or my determination to bring cost control to the forefront of the program management responsibilities," Taft wrote.

Scott Rayburn, a spokesman for Hughes Aircraft in Los Angeles, said Wednesday that company officials had not seen the Taft memo or been contacted by the Air Force on the matter and "thus it would be inappropriate for us to comment right now."

Contractors defend high defense costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two defense contractors told a Senate panel Wednesday that reports of weapon over-pricing are exaggerated and are resulting in oppressive government control that could weaken the country's armed forces.

Lockheed Corp. Chairman Roy A. Anderson and Martin Marietta Corp. Chairman Thomas G. Pownall said their companies are more likely to deliver weapons on time and at reasonable cost if government regulations and audits are reduced.

"I'm convinced the system is burdened by red tape," Pownall said. "It is not uncommon for one of our plants to receive 10 to 15 visits from auditors on a project. It disrupts the work day and takes our eye off the ball."

The contractors testified before the Senate Armed Services Committee's Task Force on Selected Defense Procurement Matters chaired by Sen. Dan Quayle, R-Ind.

Man giving farm away in contest

PLAIN, Wis. (AP) — A man who is having trouble selling his 80-acre hog farm has decided to make the spread the prize in a contest in which people put down $100 and try to guess the average temperature in Madison during April.

John A. Taylor conceived the contest after trying for more than a year to sell the farm near Plain.

"I did a pretty good job of selling tickets for other contests, so when someone suggested I run a contest for a farm, I thought it was a great idea," he said.

Taylor said he has checked with the state Attorney General's Office and the Sauk County district atorney to insure the legality of the contest.

State approval is not required because the contest is not considered a lottery, he said, since the correct answer will be based on statistics accumulated by the National Weather Service office in Madison.

Taylor said that to get him out of debt the contest would have to net $180,000, or 1,800 entries. He said he had received 20 entries.

Midwest farmers caught in credit squeeze by banks

By The Associated Press
Farmers — particularly those in the Central grain belt — are being squeezed between high interest rates on loans they use to buy land and equipment and to plant crops, and dropping values of the land and crops which are the basis for the loans.

Economists and bankers say the crunch could drive thousands of farmers out of business if some of the most seriously ailing producers cannot get loans to plant crops this spring. Some say as many as one in ten farmers could be driven out over the next three or four years if conditions do not improve.

During the presidential election campaign last fall, the administration advanced a plan to restructure some government-held farm debt and offered to guarantee loan guarantees for those with commercial loans. But only $25 million of the loan guarantees has been used because banks say they cannot live with the rules under which they are offered.

Administration officials, including Agriculture Secretary

John Block, have so far resisted efforts by independent banks and farm-state lawmakers to liberalize the program's rules and to expand it to $3 billion.

Credit problems were also on the minds of representatives of five farm organizations in Washington this week to lobby Congress for a balanced federal budget as the best cure for rural woes.

The group — including the Farm Bureau, the Grange, the National Farmers Organization and soybean and corn groups — noted that high federal deficits drive up interest rates, which in turn puts the squeeze on heavily leveraged farmers. Deficits also add to the dollar's strength, making U.S. farm exports less attractive in world markets.

Agriculture reaps support from new bills

AUSTIN (AP) — New legislation before state lawmakers will benefit farmers and ranchers, Gov. Mark White told a group of Texas Farm Bureau members on this week.

White addressed the critical issues facing farmers and ranchers during a Texas Farm Bureau Leadership Conference.

"I know how important it is to have the maintenance of roads," White said about farm to market roads. He said legislators are aware how important transportation is for all Texans, especially agriculture.

He said a new wave of economic development in Texas lies in rural areas.

"Companies are looking for places to go, a place to expand their operation and they're asking for a quality of life. What's happening in the rural parts of our state are going to be the new wave of economic development," he said.

White said new companies also are looking at taxes and utility rates when deciding on a new location to expand.

"We are among the lowest tax base of any industrial state in the nation. We're about 40th on all the states on tax bases," he said.

White said 40 percent of Texans have seen lower rates in utilities in the past months because of reductions from the Public Utilities Commission.

Legislators are trying to build a sound water package to accommodate all Texans, he said. He encouraged the 500 farmers and ranchers present to express their views on the proposed bill.

S.M. True, Farm Bureau president, said the six most critical issues facing his organization include water, taxes, highways, agricultural appropriations, education and farm labor.

"Farmers' and ranchers' number one priority is to maintain existing water rights, particularly as it relates to underground water," True said.

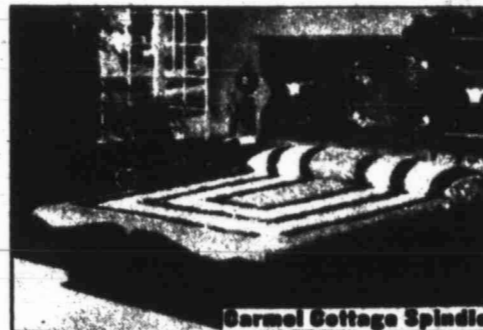

He said legislators should attempt to balance the needs between environment and legitimate water users.

ADOPTION, WHITE Christian professional couple, happily married, unable to have children, desires to adopt new born. Will have loving home and all the advantages of life. All medical and legal expenses paid. Confidential. Call collect. (305)752-8171.

In loving memory of Dana Franklin (DJ) Justice, August 10, 1957 until January 31, 1984. Just when your life was the brightest, just when your hopes were the best, God called you from our home to a home of eternal rest. You had no time to wish us a farewell, except Mommy, not even could you say goodbye. You were gone before we knew it, and only God knows why. Some may think we aren't lonely, when at times they see us smiling, but little do they know the heartache that we suffer all the while. We think of you in silence, and no eyes may see us weep, but many a silent tear is shed, while others are asleep. No matter what we may do with the rest of our lives, you will always have a place in our hearts. We miss you with all our hearts and souls. Until we meet again you're always on our minds and in our dreams. We'll love you forever and a day.
Mom, Dad, Paul, Joe, Courtney and Cameron

Dear Dana,
Oh, where have you gone
My baby so fair,
With the pretty blue eyes
And the "Peamuckle" blond hair
When you were born
I promised never to leave you alone
But I turned for a moment
And then you were gone.
I miss you
Love, Mom.

Walters leads candidates for U.N. ambassador post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidential troubleshooter and onetime spymaster Vernon Walters is expected to be nominated to succeed Jeane J. Kirkpatrick, who is ending her sometimes stormy tenure as U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

A high-level administration official, insisting on anonymity, said Wednesday that Walters would likely be picked for the U.N. job being vacated soon by the outspoken Mrs. Kirkpatrick.

Vernon Walters expected to win U.N. spot.

A former deputy director of the CIA, the multilingual Walters now is a roving ambassador who has traveled widely on delicate presidential missions.

The former Army general was tapped by President Reagan for a secret trip to Havana early in the administration for talks on U.S.-Cuban relations.

Last year, he was dispatched to El Salvador to warn rightist leader Roberto D'Aubuisson to call off an alleged assassination plot against U.S. Ambassador Thomas Pickering.

After meeting privately with Reagan on Wednesday, Mrs. Kirkpatrick ended months of speculation about her future, revealed she is quitting the administration and said she will continue to speak out on foreign policy as she returns to a career of writing, teaching and lecturing.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick said, "I now feel that I can best serve the president and our shared objectives for the United States and the world by returning to teaching and writing."

"In private life, perhaps even more than in public life, I can speak out clearly on behalf of shared foreign policy objectives, such as restoring and preserving American strength, supporting democracy and independence in the hemisphere, defending our friends, our principles and our interests in the Middle East and elsewhere."

An aide to the ambassador, insisting on anonymity, said Mrs. Kirkpatrick clearly intends to resign and our shared objectives for the United States and the world by returning to teaching and writing.

New vaccine may prevent VD

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — An experimental vaccine that could prevent gonorrhea, a venereal disease that strikes a million Americans each year, will be tested on volunteers within the next year, researchers announced.

"If the vaccine for gonorrhea is successful, it would be fantastic," said Dr. Mary Guinan of the Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta. "We could make a significant contribution to public health by preventing the disease instead of just treating it after people get it."

The vaccine is made from a cloned protein fragment that appears to produce an immune barrier against a broad range of gonorrhea-causing bacteria, said Dr. Gary Schoolnik of the Stanford University School of Medicine.

In laboratory studies, it blocked gonococcal bacteria from infecting human cells with the disease, Schoolnik said Tuesday. Tests will begin within the next year, he said.

The report by Schoolnik, Dr. Jonathan Rothbard, Dr. Rosemary Fernandez, Dr. Nelson Teng and Lena Wang will appear in the February issue of the Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences.

Gonorrhea, the most communicable disease for which records are kept in the United States, is totally curable and usually not fatal, but is spread easily through sexual contact and can produce severe complications, including infertility in women, Ms. Guinan said.

In many Third World countries, especially in Southeast Asia and Western Africa, the disease is epidemic, causing infertility in up to 25 percent of women by age 25, Schoolnik said.

Other complications include meningitis and arthritis. Children born to mothers with the disease risk serious eye infections.

Gonorrhea can be treated with antibiotics, but in some parts of the world strains of the bacteria are drug-resistant.

Schoolnik said researchers have long sought a vaccine, but development has been difficult because the microorganism that leads to gonorrhea frequently eludes the body's immune system.

PUBLIC NOTICE

In accordance with the Public Utility Regulatory Act and the Rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, AT&T Communications of the Southwest, Inc. (AT&T Communications) gives notice to all of its Texas customers that a new procedure for long distance billing was made effective on an interim basis on August 6, 1984 in DPcket No. 5800.

The procedure referred to is "Rate Period Specific Billing" and it applies to all message telephone service (AT&T Long Distance calls) including non-REACH OUT Texas calls within the State of Texas. This new procedure effects all AT&T Long Distance customers. All intralATA long distance calls and all interstate long distance calls are currently billed using this procedure.

Under this procedure, customers are billed a specific charge for long distance calls according to the rate or rates in effect throughout the time of each call. If a call begins in one rate period and extends into a different rate period, the customer will be charged whatever rate is in effect for each portion of the call.

For example, if a customer places a call at 4:58 p.m. on a weekday and talks for ten minutes, the first two minutes of the call would be charged at the full weekday rate which extends from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. The remaining eight minutes of the call would be billed at the evening rate which extends from 5:00 p.m. to 11:00 p.m. and includes a 25% discount. If Rate Period Specific Billing were not in effect, the entire call would have been billed at the higher day rate. Calls which extend from the evening rate period (25% discount) to the night and weekend rate period (40% discount) or from the night and weekend rate period (40% discount) to the day rate period (no discount) would also be billed according to the actual minutes of use during each rate period.

AT&T Communications anticipates a minimal increase of approximately .02% in its revenues or approximately $250,000 annually.

A complete copy of the "Rate Period Specific Billing" tariff is on file with the Texas Public Utility Commission.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene or participate or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information also may be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227 or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.
