Hearing asked on Stacy Dam

Staff and wire reports
The Colorado River Municipal Water District in Big Spring has asked for a hearing on construction of Stacy Dam and Reservoir, although a final agreement has not been reached with the Lower Colorado River Authority.

Frank Booth, an Austin lawyer who represents the Big Spring-based district, said Friday he expected a final agreement to be reached soon.

"I'm very optimistic that the final settlement will be ready for the LCRA board next week," Booth said.

The LCRA board is scheduled to meet

Wednesday and Thursday. Booth said the request to the Texas Water Commission for a hearing was made to try to speed approval of construction of the dam. Any agreement reached by the two agencies is subject to review by the Water Commission. The agreement can also be protested by other Colorado River users.

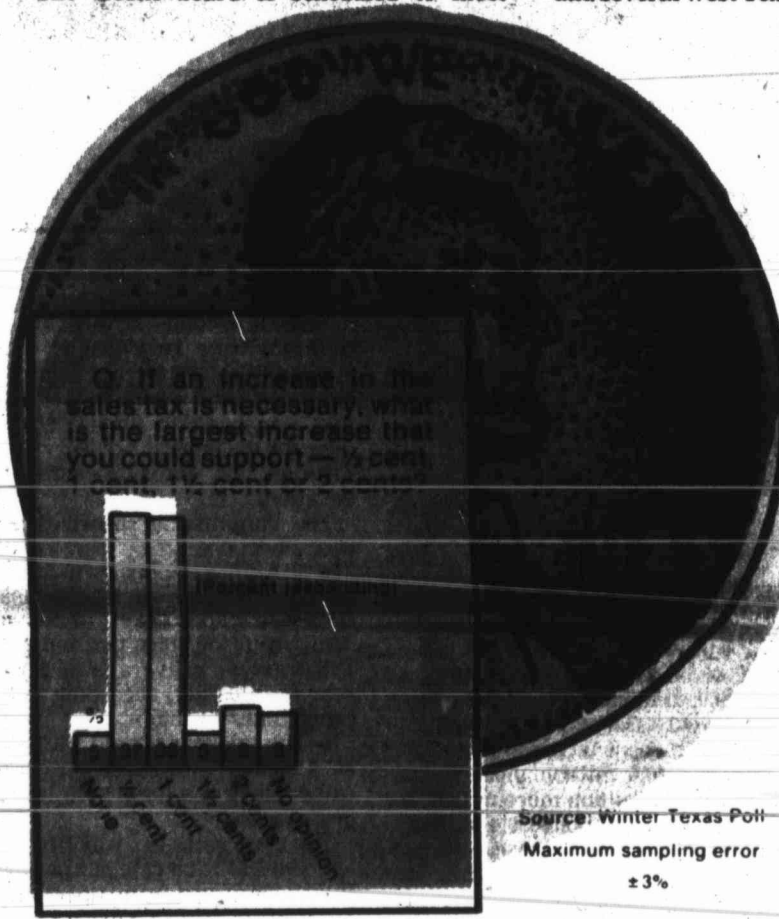

Booth said that by the time a hearing can be scheduled, the agreement should be final. Mary Ann Hefner, chief clerk of the Water Commission, said Friday that no hearing date has been set.

After being pressured by Gov. Mark White and several West Texas legislators, officials of the Austin river authority and the Big Spring-based district announced Jan. 30 that they had reached an agreement in their longstanding battle over construction of the dam.

The two agencies have continued negotiating but refused to talk about details of their agreement.

LCRA had fought construction of the dam and took the case to the Texas Supreme Court, arguing the dam, which would be on the Colorado River, would reduce water flowing into the Highland Lakes and possibly harm water rights owned by the river agency and its customers.

Texans would pay higher sales taxes

Harte-Hanks News Service
More than half the state's adults would be willing to pay higher taxes in order to balance the state's budget, according to a Texas Poll. And half of the respondents would be willing to pay at least 1 cent per dollar more in state sales tax if the sales tax needs to be raised, the poll found. More than 30 percent would support at least a 1/2-cent increase.

State Comptroller Bob Hall has estimated that Texas faces a revenue shortfall of about $1 billion for the next two-year budget. But the state's constitution calls for a balanced budget, meaning that lawmakers must raise more money or spend less.

Only 3 percent of the most recent poll's respondents said they favored resolving the problem through higher taxes without spending reductions. But 49 percent said they would pay higher taxes if legislators also cut spending. Forty percent said the state should balance the budget through spending cuts alone, and 8 percent had no opinion.

The poll also asked Texans what tax — property, gasoline or sales — they would most favor raising if the legislature deems a tax increase necessary. More than half, 51 percent, favored a higher sales tax. That was more than twice as many as the 24 percent who said they favored raising the gasoline tax. Sixteen percent said they favored a state property tax, and 10 percent had no opinion.

And if the Legislature decides to raise the sales tax, the poll found widespread support for an increase of at least 1 cent and even more

Cost of postal stamps goes up 2 cents today

Staff and wire reports
The cost of mailing a letter rises today from 20 cents to 22 cents, the first increase in first-class postage in 3 1/2 years.

Virtually all classes of mail were increasing in price by an amount similar to the 13 percent increase in first-class rates. Postcards rise from 13 cents to 14 cents and sending a package by parcel post increases 11.4 percent. Overall, rates increase by about 9 percent.

Big Spring Postmaster Frank Hardesty said the post office here has nondenominated (plain) stamps that will serve as 22-cent stamps until a supply is received from the U.S. Postal Service.

He said 2-cent stamps can be applied to letters with 20-cent stamps.

Nondenominated stamps are being sold, Hardesty said, "because we estimate that stamp inventories in post offices at present will fall short of public demand."

"Nobody likes to see higher postal rates, but this increase is moderate and justified," Hardesty said. "Since the last increase in November 1981, the cost of living in the United States, as measured by the consumer price index, has gone up almost 13 percent. The 22-cent stamp is only a 10 percent increase."

Electric company says bond rating to force hike in bills

DALLAS (AP) — A drop in Texas Utilities Electric Co.'s credit rating, forced by continuing problems at the Comanche Peak nuclear project, will mean higher electric bills for consumers, officials say.

The company's bond rating sank from Aa2 to Aa3, a shift from the middle to low range of Aa bond ratings, according to a report released by Moody's Investors Service Inc. this week.

Utility spokesman Dick Ramsey said the drop in credit rating means higher rates for customers, in part because it will now cost the firm more to borrow money.

The company recently announced plans to issue $500 million in new bonds.

A person told Big Spring police Friday night that his 1981 Yamaha Dirt Bike valued at $1,500, had been stolen from his residence at 509 Union.

Hospital blackout caused by repairs

An electrical blackout at Malone-Hogan Hospital Saturday morning was the result of Texas Energy Service Co. performing maintenance work, a hospital employee said.

The employee said Malone-Hogan used an emergency generator for its power source from 10 a.m. to 11:45 a.m. and that staff members had been informed about the maintenance procedure on Friday.

support for a 1/2-cent increase. More than one third (37 percent) said they would support a 1-cent increase, 5 percent said they would support a 1 1/2-cent increase, and 9 percent said they favored a 2-cent increase.

Another 36 percent said they would support a 1/2-cent increase.

John Moore, the comptroller's director of tax information, says the comptroller's office estimates potential additional sales tax revenues according to this scale:

- A 1/2-cent increase to 4 1/4 percent: $82.2 million more in 1986 and $129.9 million more in 1987, for a two-year total of $212.1 million.

- A 3/4-cent increase to 4 1/2 percent: $246.5 million more in 1986 and $389.9 million more in 1987, for a two-year total of $636.4 million.

- A 1-cent increase to 5 percent: $575.2 million more in 1986 and $909.6 million more in 1987, for a two-year total of $1.48 billion.

Moore said he doesn't have any estimates prepared on a 1-cent increase, to 5 1/2 percent, because no one is seriously considering it.

Not all Texans would prefer that the sales tax be the source of more tax revenue. In general, people tended to favor the tax that would probably affect them least.

For example, 18- to 29-year-olds, who are least likely to be property owners, were the most likely to prefer the property tax to the other two. A quarter of the young people said they preferred the property tax, while 17 percent of the 30- to 44-year-olds and 7 percent of the 45- to 61-year-olds said the same thing.

College graduates (64 percent), who tend to have larger discretionary incomes and a greater ability to pay, were more likely to favor a higher sales tax than were those with only high-school educations (51 percent) or those with only grade-school educations (38 percent).

Overall though, Texans are no different from residents of other states in preferring that more tax revenues come from a higher sales tax, according to annual studies done for the federal Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations.

The commission theorizes that this is because:

- The sales tax brings in a lot of money without much bite. In 1984, 41 percent of Texas' revenues came from the sales tax, but each Texan pays an average of $211 a year in sales tax, according to the comptroller's office.

- The sales tax is paid a little bit at a time, with each purchase, rather than in a lump sum, as the property tax.

The state sales tax was first collected in 1982 at a rate of 2 percent. It was increased from 4 percent to 4 1/2 percent in last year's special session of the Legislature. Cities can levy an additional 1 cent per dollar of sales, and the state's major cities collect 1 cent on top of that to fund mass transit.

The gasoline tax, currently 10 cents a gallon, was doubled last year session to pay for highway construction and maintenance.

Texas has no state property tax. It was abolished by constitutional amendment in the 1982 general election, and it would take another constitutional amendment to reinstate it.

The Texas Poll is a non-partisan survey of public opinion sponsored quarterly by Harte-Hanks Communications Inc. and conducted by Texas A&M University's Public Policy Resources Laboratory. The most recent poll interviewed 1,000 Texans Jan. 17-31. The results may vary by 3 percentage points in either direction.

Texas Democrats switch date of state presidential primary

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Democratic leaders voted Saturday to switch to a statewide presidential primary held on a different date than state and local primary elections.

But the party's Executive Committee refused to ditch the entire caucus system when it comes to choosing convention delegates.

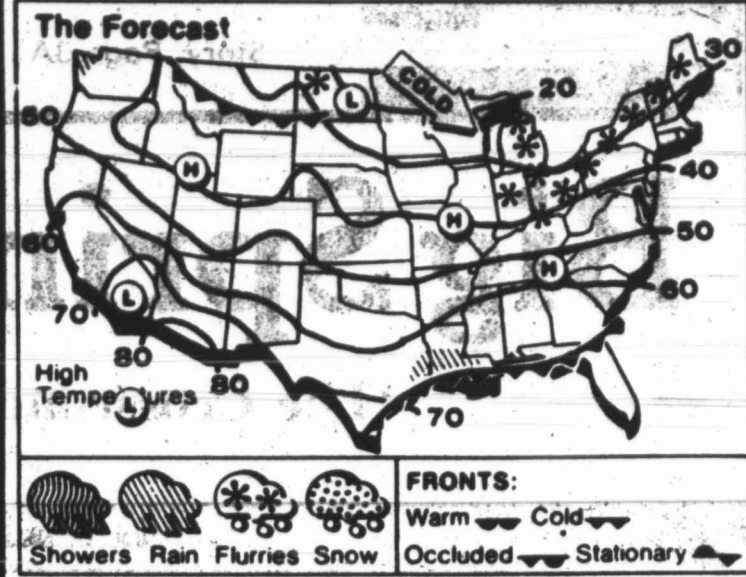

Instead, the officials settled on a convention system where 75 percent of the delegates would be chosen according to popular vote for presidential candidates in each of the 26 senatorial districts.

The remaining 25 percent would be chosen according to the presidential choices expressed by delegates to party conventions.

The vote followed recommendations from a blue ribbon commission named by State Democratic Chairman Bob Slagle, but did not go along with part of the state committee that wanted all delegates selected according to popular vote.

The Executive Committee's recommendation now goes to the Texas Legislature, which has the final say over election law changes.

Weather

Local

Breezy, warm weather wafted over the Crossroads Country Saturday, bringing temperatures in the mid 70s and sunny skies.

State

A cool front that stretched from Wichita Falls to Abilene Saturday afternoon began chasing away the warm temperatures that prevailed throughout Texas earlier in the day.

South of the front, 10 to 20 mph southerly winds pushed afternoon temperatures into the 70s. North of the front's edge, temperatures fell into the 60s and 50s as wind shifted to the north at 10 to 20 mph.

The coolest reading at 4 p.m. was 53 degrees in Dalhart, while Cotulla and Laredo had the state's high temperature of 77, according to the National Weather Service.

In the forecast for North Texas, increasing cloudiness was expected Sunday with a chance of drizzle Sunday night and Monday. Sunday's highs should be in the 50s and 60s, while overnight lows should drop to the 30s and 40s.

In West Texas, skies should be fair Sunday with increasing cloudiness Monday. Highs both days were expected to be in the 50s, and in the 70s in far West Texas. Overnight lows should dip into the 20s and 30s.

Nation

Snow extended from northern Lower Michigan across Upper Michigan, northern Wisconsin and eastern Minnesota on Saturday.

Snow also was scattered over northern New York state, and a travelers' advisory warning of hazardous roads was posted over northwestern New York state. Barnes Corners in northwest New York state, about 20 miles from Lake Ontario, received 24 inches of snow overnight.

Hotel death toll hits 25

MANILA, Philippines — Fire fighters declared the four-day-old fire in the luxury Regent of Manila hotel under control today and officials placed the death toll at 25, including charred bodies in sections still too hot to enter.

The last body brought out of the smoldering hotel today was that of a sixth American casualty of the fire that the hotel's management called "a carefully conceived and brutally implemented arson attack."

Police Col. Levy Macasiano, who took over clean-up operations from fire officials after some guests complained of looting, identified the American as Frank Candid, 29.

Levin in good health

FRANKFURT, West Germany — A U.S. Air Force doctor pronounced American TV correspondent Jeremy Levin in "good health" Saturday despite the 11 months Levin reported spending chained in solitary confinement in Lebanon.

But the Air Force said Levin, who was the Beirut bureau chief for Cable News Network when he was kidnapped last March 7, would not meet journalists before he goes home.

Levin, 52, was admitted to the hospital for a routine checkup late Friday after arriving at the U.S. Air Force's Rhein-Main Air Base in Frankfurt from Damascus, Syria, aboard an executive jet chartered by Cable News Network.

Walesa, contacted by telephone at his Gdansk apartment, said he refused to answer all questions during a one-and-a-half hour interrogation Saturday at the prosecutor's office in the Baltic port city.

Israeli troops jubilant over pullout from Lebanon

KFAR FALOUS, Lebanon (AP) — Israeli soldiers joked and sang Saturday as they boarded troop carriers and armored vehicles taking them home to Israel in the first stage of their army's withdrawal from Lebanon.

On a muddy hilltop leading out of this small village, members of the elite Golani Brigade packed their gear and snapped pictures of each other with small cameras. A few hours earlier they had been manning Israel's front line along the Awali River, trying to prevent infiltration by guerrillas.

"I'm very happy to be going home. In Lebanon, somebody wants to kill you all the time," said Zadok, a 20-year-old soldier who had been stationed on the Awali for the past month.

In keeping with military regulations, he did not give his last name.

Zadok and his friends were happily planning parties of celebration upon their arrival in Israel. But other Israeli soldiers remain in the country their army invaded on June 6, 1982.

Prime Minister Shimon Peres has said Israel will complete the next two stages of its withdrawal from Lebanon by this summer, but no dates have been announced.

A few miles down the road, Defense Minister Yitzhak Rabin said the Lebanese government now bears the responsibility for whatever happens in the 190-square-mile area vacated Saturday by Israeli troops.

His black shoes caked with red-orange mud, Rabin rode in a four-wheel drive vehicle that preceded the last Israeli convoy out of Sidon. He said his government had tried without success for months to reach an agreement with the Lebanese government for an orderly transition of power.

"Let me stress that it is their entire responsibility — whatever will happen now in Sidon," he said.

Lt. Gen. Moshe Levy, the Israeli chief of staff, watched the pullback with Rabin. Levy said the withdrawal had gone "very well ... I don't see any reason to come back if there is violence."

Israeli troops had been stationed in Sidon for more than 2 1/2 years. They took over the city within days of the invasion that uprooted the Palestine Liberation Organization's old south Lebanon power base.

But the summer war of 1982 turned into a costly occupation, and Israeli dead in Lebanon now total 615.

In Kfar Falous, a 28-year-old reserve soldier named Shuki sat atop an armored personnel carrier before leaving the village in the final hours of the pullback. He used a comparison often employed by Israelis.

"Lebanon for us is like Vietnam was for the Americans," said Shuki, adding that he was on his sixth tour of duty in Lebanon.

3rd heart implant set

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Murray P. Haydon, a retired autoworker and avid student of history, goes into the history books himself Sunday when he becomes the third human recipient of a permanent artificial heart.

The experimental operation will be the second in three months performed at Humana Hospital Audubon by Dr. William C. DeVries, the only surgeon authorized to implant man-made hearts in humans.

Haydon, 58, suffers from idiopathic dilated cardiomyopathy, a disease that progressively has weakened and enlarged his heart muscle, leading to poor blood circulation.

LOS ANGELES — Five youths including an 11-year-old boy were hospitalized today after being sprayed with gunfire from a passing vehicle after a Chinese New Year carnival in Chinatown. The incident followed a confrontation between the victims and members of a gang, police said.

The victims, ranging in age from 11 to 16, were attacked shortly before 11 p.m. Friday as they sat in a bus stop shelter.

Police were investigating reports of one or two suspects who shot from the passing vehicle, which was not identified. No one was arrested immediately.

U.S. 'Ripper' charged

PHILADELPHIA — A convicted murderer described as "a real American Jack the Ripper" and investigated by authorities in 10 killings on the East Coast and in Canada, was charged today in the death of a go-go girl who was stabbed 30 times.

William Dean Christensen, 40, serving time for another slaying at Holmesburg Prison near here, was named in a warrant in the 1982 death of Michelle Angiers, 23, of Dixon City.

Khmer Rouge launch surprise counterattack

ARANYAPRATHET, Thailand (AP) — Khmer Rouge guerrillas, driven from their most important bases, attacked from the rear Saturday Vietnamese forces occupying the Khmer Rouge "capital" of Phum Thmei, Thai military officers said.

The officers also reported that fighting and a Vietnamese river boat operation were under way in the mountains of southwestern Cambodia.

A field officer said that guerrillas driven from their strongholds by a Vietnamese attack that peaked on Friday also moved south to strike at Vietnamese supply lines opposite Thailand's Khao Tangoc mountain.

But the Vietnamese, who invaded Cambodia at the end of 1978 and ousted Cambodia's pro-Peking Khmer Rouge government in January 1979, appeared to be in no danger of being driven out of the fallen Khmer Rouge bases south of this key border town.

The Thai officer, who like the other officers spoke on condition of not being identified, said the Vietnamese set ablaze six ammunition storehouses in Phum Thmei, the Khmer Rouge showplace camp where the communist movement's leaders received foreign guests and journalists.

The level of fighting dropped sharply Saturday after days of fierce artillery barrages, tank assaults and infantry pushes in the region south of Aranyaprathet.

HAVE YOU SEEN THE NEW CLOTHES! THEY'RE DYNAMITE!

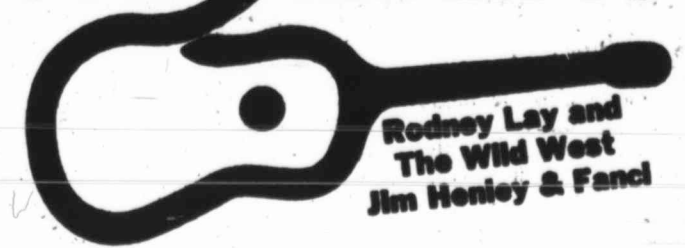

That's the kind of talk you'll hear from Ray Andrews as he walks through Ward's, greeting customers or talking with any of the 87 people who work there. Ray is the store manager who brought new meaning to the word "turnaround". In the two years that Ray has been in Big Spring the store has blossomed into a bright inviting marketplace. From the new recognizable name brands in the clothing departments to the kitchen and bath shops, the look is "TODAY".

The Biggest change in the store is the presentation of the merchandise. It's more than just inviting displays, Ray says that none of what has happened in the store could have been possible without the people who work at Montgomery Ward. There's a great crew to help with whatever you need, from coats and trailers to spring fashions for the whole family. Ray is a graduate of the University of New Mexico in Las Cruces. He came to the United States from Subic Bay in the Philippines to study Aeronautical Engineering. Along the way he discovered that he liked people too much to sit behind a desk and began the switch to the school of business management. Ray met his wife, Evan, while going to school and they settled in Las Cruces when Ray joined Montgomery Ward. Fifteen years later, they've found a home in Big Spring for their two daughters, Renee, 11 and Stacey, 8. After Evan's day teaching school at Moss Elementary, music lessons for the girls and activities at Immaculate Heart Church keep them both very busy. Evan is from the Santa Fe area and there are lots of trips to New Mexico. All learned how to ski and enjoy the winter sports season.

There's a lot for you to enjoy when you visit Montgomery Ward in Highland Mall. It's that hometown care you'll receive from all the merchants of Highland Mall, South Hwy. 87 and FM 700.

Kudos to Laredo for bulling ahead

Congratulations are in order. Laredo is so proud of its partnership for downtown redevelopment that it hired a public relations firm to trumpet the good news. And with good reason.

Government Plaza, an eight-square-block redevelopment of downtown Laredo, was announced last week. The plan boasts city-county cooperation in the context of downtown revitalization. Webb County Judge C.Y. Benevides Jr. says the project proves that "older downtown areas can breathe new life, economically, aesthetically and culturally."

Laredo, slammed in the head by the devaluation of the peso and general economic malaise, is bouncing back.

Government Plaza will embrace a new city hall (if a bond issue passes); county administrative offices; a restored courthouse; a new jail; a five-level parking garage; commercial development for offices, shops and condos; and a new supermarket.

Laredo Mayor Aldo Tatangelo believes "the nature of this rebirth of downtown Laredo should qualify the city for grant money, as well as good bond ratings. This should be viewed as an important thing the city is doing for itself."

Extensive landscaping — 1½ blocks worth — will create a true "plaza" ambience. Grounds beautification is accomplished through a joint effort of public and private enterprise under an Urban Development Action Grant.

Developer George Haehar says, "This portends to Laredo's future. I think our economic troubles are past. This city has a strong heritage of cooperation and working for the common good." The joint effort by business and the public sector is "creating a splendid rebirth of downtown Laredo."

Laredo was down, but not out. Government Plaza is an inspiring example of what a bold, cooperative spirit can accomplish.

America needs her farmers

A precious, fragile segment of society, rural America, is imperiled. The American farmer is stuck on a fencepost, caught between his inherently staunch independence and his need for help to survive painfully high interest rates and depressed land values. The American farmer doesn't like the trap he is in, but he cannot get out of it.

The U.S. government is uncomfortable spending tax dollars to keep the farm economy afloat. If the president's move toward a market economy prevails, hundreds upon hundreds of family farmers will be forced into insolvency, now that the roller coaster of inflated farm land prices has hit bottom.

Budget Director David Stockman inflames the situation by shaking a finger at the farmer and saying "you have only yourself to blame." Farmers are being penalized — and in some cases vilified — for doing what they have always done, for doing what they are expected to do: borrow to plant and repay at harvest; accept assistance to stay alive in a country that overproduces its commodities.

What about all those fancy air-conditioned tractors, you ask? No business functions like it did 50 years ago. Modern machinery makes farming more efficient. No one in the newspaper business would return to hot-metal type or throw out the computer in favor of a Royal typewriter.

And besides, Stockman adds, bankruptcies are a way of life in a "dynamic society." Here, Stockman's right. Small businesses fail every day in every city of America. The difference is that the American farm holds a special place in the country's heart and mind. America was rural long before it was urban. Farming is integral to America's self-image as "the land of plenty" and the country that "feeds the world."

If factory workers can't agree on an equitable wage-benefit package, they go on strike. It's inconvenient, but America muddles along until the strike is over. What if America's farmers went on strike — stopped planting to force prices up?

Attempts to organize and bargain collectively have never been effective in agriculture. They weren't effective in large part because the farmers themselves simply did not feel right about withholding their labor. And that strong pride in country and fierce independence brings us back to why farmers are so bitter over their predicament. They don't want a handout, but they cannot survive without some concessions.

Much of their problem is not of their making. High interest rates and a massive trade imbalance double team the farmer. He cannot afford to borrow the money he needs for his crop cycle. He cannot command the price he needs in the United States for his crop because of oversupply and he cannot sell overseas effectively because the dollar is so strong that U.S. food is hard for foreigners to afford.

Farmers already have turned to city jobs to supplement their incomes on the farm. Some are lucky enough to have oil beneath their amber waves of grain. But even the lucky ones will buckle beneath enough weight.

America's history of cheap food cannot be rewritten overnight. And the move to a market economy may not be what Americans really want. I doubt consumers really want to see higher grocery prices. Yet if enough farmers are forced from the land to make agriculture truly a free-market system, then supply and demand will dictate prices and one bad crop year will ricochet into the supermarket.

But even if that is the direction America really wants to go, we shouldn't try to get there in a day. It is morally wrong to rip the ground rules out from under the American farmer. Government leaders are hardly in a position to talk about farmers making it on their own two feet. The U.S. hasn't paid its own way for years. It lives on credit.

Federal and state short-term help with exorbitant interest rates must be forthcoming. The farm credit "write-down" plan is inadequate. To participate, banks must be willing to lend at less than the prevailing interest rate just for the assurance that they will be repaid. That doesn't seem to be good business for the banks.

Whatever is done, it must be done soon. Time is short; the planting season is upon us. Farmers must be given the opportunity to plant, so they can take their chances with the elements — drought, floods, hail and pestilence — in the enduring work of feeding and clothing America.

Around The Rim Thanks a million

By KEITH BRISCOE

When GM turns a billion-dollar profit, what does it do?

It gives its top executives million-dollar bonuses.

When Chrysler turns a billion-dollar profit, what does it do?

It gives each worker — from the assembly line to the mailroom — a $500 bonus.

Count 'em — $15 million in additional paychecks. Lee Iacocca knows who builds the cars, runs the plants and keeps the records.

When the auto company stalled out five years ago, the UAW gave it good advice. Borrow the capital from the government, invest in new modes of plant production and cooperate with labor, the union said.

It's a simple business formula, and Chrysler shows it works: A good product, no labor problems, and healthy profits.

And Chrysler's dramatic rebound from bankruptcy reaffirms a high standard for American business.

Heavy industry requires long-term capital reinvestment to keep it competitive against foreign state-subsidized firms. But good management can turn quick dividends.

Workers are not just a line-item expense. They're part of the company.

Management is responsible for a company's success, but lucrative bonuses to a few individuals project a bad image.

Business has a responsibility to a community, especially if the people and their local government have aided a company's success.

Labor should have a voice in the way a corporation is operated. Placing a union executive on the board of directors makes good sense.

Chrysler has broken the car company mold. Let's hope our other industries take notice of Chrysler's discovery that the workers help make the profits, and that long-term reinvestment can pay off quickly.

We should not allow our auto, steel, refining, iron and coal industries to deteriorate. If we can't maintain essential manufacturing, then we shall surrender these industries to the Germans and Japanese.

Just look at Chrysler: Government, labor and business joined hands to turn around a vitally important industry. That's an investment in America.

Billy Graham Heaven won't be boring

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: What is your idea about heaven and what we will do there? Frankly, heaven sounds kind of boring to me right now. — M.T.

DEAR M.T.: Heaven is the greatest hope of the Christian, and yet it is one of the most neglected truths of the Bible. We need to rediscover the glorious truth of heaven's reality as taught in the Bible.

One reason for this neglect may be that our minds cannot fully understand what heaven will be like, for heaven is so glorious and perfect that we cannot fully imagine it. But that should cause us to study it more, not less. The Bible says, "No eye has seen, no ear has heard, no mind has conceived what God has prepared for those who love him" (1 Corinthians 2:9).

Heaven is perfect and free from all the problems that afflict us here. Think of it. All the burdens and anxieties of this life will be over, for "There will be no more death or mourning or crying or pain, for the old order of things has passed away" (Revelation 21:4). Sin will be banished, and all of the catastrophes it has brought upon us will be destroyed. God will give us new and perfect bodies, and "we shall be like him, for we shall see him as he is" (1 John 3:2).

Don't think you will be bored in heaven — not at all. Yes, we will have perfect rest from our burdens. But the Bible also says those "are before the throne of God and serve him day and night" (2 Timothy 2:12). Heaven will be marked by joy and peace, but also service to God.

But the real question is this: Are you ready for heaven? Have you put your trust in Jesus Christ as your savior? He died on the cross for your salvation and wants you to spend eternity with him in heaven. Ask him to come into your heart so you also can have the hope of heaven.

Don't complain about student aid

To the editor: Why such a big cry about students not being eligible for a loan to college because their parents make above the income allowed to qualify? This is not a Reagan idea.

Our daughters did not qualify due to the same reason and this was in the years of Johnson, Nixon and Carter but they all got a college degree. There are other types of loans and a student can always work part time. It is hard work but can be done if a student wants it badly enough.

Today is Sunday, February 17th, the 48th day of 1985. There are 317 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History: On February 17th, 1801, the U.S. House of Representatives broke an electoral tie between Thomas Jefferson and Aaron Burr, electing Jefferson president. Burr became vice president.

On this date: In 1817, a street in Baltimore became the first to be lighted with gas from America's first gas company.

In 1864, during the Civil War, the Confederate submarine ship H.L. Hunley attacked and sank the U.S.S. Housatonic off Charleston, South Carolina. The Hunley sank as well.

In 1865, Charleston, South Carolina, burned as the Confederates moved out and Union forces began moving in. (It's never been determined which side set the blaze.)

Looking for lost Americans in Lebanon

WASHINGTON — Journalist Jeremy Levin's escape in Lebanon last week highlighted the State Department's difficulty in obtaining accurate information about the missing Americans in the war-torn country.

More than 12 hours after Levin fled captivity Feb. 14, a senior U.S. official said the government did not know how Levin attained freedom, who seized him from the streets of Beirut 11 months ago, where he had been held or where the four other missing Americans in Lebanon are.

"You all know really about as much as we do," said the official, who spoke only on condition he not be identified. Levin, 52, the Beirut bureau chief for Cable News Network, said in Damascus, Syria that he unshackled his chains and tied blankets together to form a rope that enabled him to slide from the second story of a building.

He scurried down a mountain to a Syrian army position in east Lebanon's Bekaa Valley before he was taken to Damascus and turned over to the U.S. embassy there.

While Levin's escape was not anticipated, the State Department says it has been doggedly pursuing the release of the Americans through quiet diplomatic channels.

Levin's freedom "comes after a lot of intensive effort," including contacts with the Syrian and Lebanese governments, and other governments "who had a less direct role to play," the official said.

The problem, the official said, is that "accurate information is very scarce" in strife-torn Lebanon.

For instance, he said: "We just do not know precisely where he (Levin) was, we have not known precisely where any of the prisoners have been on any particular moment."

It's conceivable ... that they could be held in one place and yet none of the five could know the others were there.

Levin said he could not identify his captors but guessed he may have been held in the same building as the other Americans kidnapped from the Moslem section of west Beirut over the past year.

"It's conceivable ... that they could be held in one place and yet none of the five could know the others were there," the American official said.

The other four who disappeared or were kidnapped in the past year are William Buckley, a U.S. Embassy political officer; the Rev. Benjamin Weir, a Presbyterian minister; Peter Kilburn, a librarian at the American University of Beirut; and the Rev. Lawrence Jenco, a Roman Catholic priest.

While the Syrian-controlled Bekaa Valley was the "most likely spot" for the kidnappers to hold Levin and the others, the official said there were also reports the captives were in south Beirut.

Referring to the Bekaa Valley, the official said Iranians and Lebanese were also there, besides Syrians.

name for several loose groups and organizations of Shia in Lebanon.

In the end, the U.S. government can only "hope there will be circumstances very soon that will bring about the release or escape of the other four," the official said.

"We have nothing hard to indicate that might happen," he added.

Moreover, officials are skeptical about getting their hopes up because there have been "frequent reports" in the past that "something good is about to happen." It never did.

In the Levin escape, the media knew developments "long before we has any information on it," the official said.

In Washington on Thursday, the day Levin gained freedom, his wife Lucille heard about it at 5 a.m. EST when a friend called on learning of reports from the Voice of Lebanon radio in Beirut.

The State Department operations officer telephoned the Levin family shortly afterwards to say he too was aware of the reports, but could not confirm them, according to Claire Moss, Mrs. Levin's 22-year-old daughter.

Before a State Department officer arrived at the house about noon Thursday, Mrs. Levin had appeared on ABC, CBS and NBC television networks and had a news conference with the Rev. Jesse Jackson.

She granted no more interviews, and later flew to Frankfurt, Germany for a reunion with her husband.

Jackson, who secured the release of captured American airman Lt. Robert O. Goodman Jr. from Syria in December 1983, also held a news conference with the Syrian ambassador. The State Department was not informed of that event, a spokesman said.

Mattox trial should be a good show

AUSTIN — When defense attorney Roy Minton spoke to potential jurors in the Jim Mattox case last week, he stressed that the fiery state attorney general is on trial for commercial bribery, not his personality.

Like any good lawyer, Minton wants to protect his client from himself. In Mattox, Minton has his work cut out for him.

It's not too hard to imagine the jurors, after being forced to be in the same room with Mattox for several weeks, coming back with a recommendation that he be hanged, guilty or not.

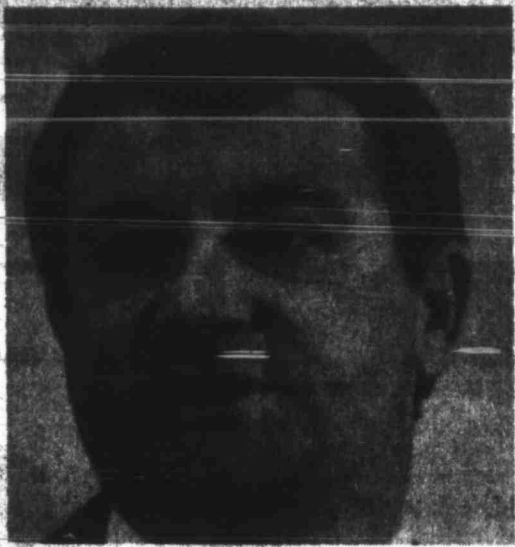

Mattox is hardworking, intelligent and seemingly determined to represent the people as attorney general. He is not loveable, or even likeable. He is intense, serious and competitive, seemingly always plotting to grab an advantage or parry some expected threat.

There are people who will dispute this description, including some of his top aides and political backers. But, as one state employee once pointed out, many of them seem just like him.

And besides, we're not talking about Jim Mattox from the viewpoint of his family or close friends. We're talking about how he comes across to those who meet him casually or observe him from a distance, such as the jurors.

With Minton's help, of course, Mattox will be putting his best face forward during the trial. But the prosecution has some tape-recordings and witnesses to paint a different picture.

According to news stories, Minton already has told the jurors that they will hear "yelling" and "bad language" on the tapes. "People were misbehaving," he said. But he urged them to set that aside when considering whether the attorney general committed a crime by threatening to withhold approval of bonds handled by a Houston law firm.

The defense will try to show that Mattox was a victim more than a perpetrator. They will try to put the black hat on Tom McDade, the Houston lawyer whose attempt to subpoena Mattox's sister in a civil case led to the alleged threat against his firm's bond business.

McDade was representing Mobil Oil Corp. against a $1.7 billion suit by controversial South Texas rancher Clinton Manges, a political supporter of Mattox. The state entered the case, which involved oil and gas royalties, on Manges' side. That set up Mattox and McDade as adversaries.

And, in McDade the defense will have almost as big a target as the prosecution has in Mattox. McDade has a reputation as an arrogant lawyer who likes to go for the jugular as much as Mattox does. And, of course, the defense will keep pointing out that he represented a big, powerful oil company.

It is questionable whether McDade really needed to question Mattox's sister. The subpoena attempt later was dropped voluntarily.

Although the jurors probably won't hear about it, McDade last year came under legislative criticism for using his influence as a prison commissioner to obtain a polygraph test for a prisoner.

The defense also subpoenaed several reporters who wrote stories about the accusations against Mattox. The subpoenas expired without being used, but they could be reissued. If the defense decides to call reporters as witnesses, the reason could be to try to prove the contention that McDade was the source of news reports about Mattox's reported threats against the law firm.

That could set up an interesting diversion, since reporters generally believe they have the right to protect sources under the First Amendment of the U.S. Constitution.

Another possible reason for the subpoenas is to keep those reporters who have been following the case from covering the trial. Since anyone called as a witness must stay out of the courtroom when not testifying, most news organizations hesitate to assign anyone for coverage who might be called as a witness. Subpoenas can be a tool for harassing the news media, and Mattox has no love for reporters.

The trial obviously has the potential to become a black-pot-and-black-kettle situation with the principal question being who was acting worst.

For those of us who will follow it only through the media, it is sure to be a good show. But by the time it is over, the jurors may be so sick of the whole thing they'll be ready to hang everyone involved.

Europeans trying to sneak into Texas

EL PASO (AP) — Increasing numbers of Eastern Europeans are joining the flood of illegal aliens trying to sneak from Mexico into Texas, Border Patrol officials say.

El Paso, located on the border in far West Texas, is part of what may be a new smuggling pipeline for immigrants from Eastern European countries, said

Larry Richardson, chief of the Border Patrol's El Paso sector.

"There is a lot of money involved, and the main destination is Chicago and other major U.S. cities," Richardson said.

The Europeans often use professional smugglers to cross the border, he said.

Live pigeon shoots resume despite flap

HOUSTON (AP) — The Greater Houston Gun Club has decided to resume the live-pigeon shoots that were stopped a few months ago because of controversy surrounding the sport.

Bill Poole, manager of the Greater Houston Gun Club, said Friday that the club decided to renege the so-called flier shoots because more members requested them than opposed them.

Last October, within a week after the Houston Chronicle published a story describing the sport and where it was practiced locally, the gun club's board of directors voted to discontinue pigeon shooting for the remainder of the year because of "a handful" of complaints about the activity.

Now, the club has announced plans to hold live-pigeon shoots every Wednesday afternoon through 1985.

Sherry Ferguson, acting director of the Houston Humane Society, said she is disappointed to learn that the club has resumed the pigeon shoots, but that there is little her group can do to stop the sport.

But she said that animal cruelty officers intend to strictly monitor the shoots.

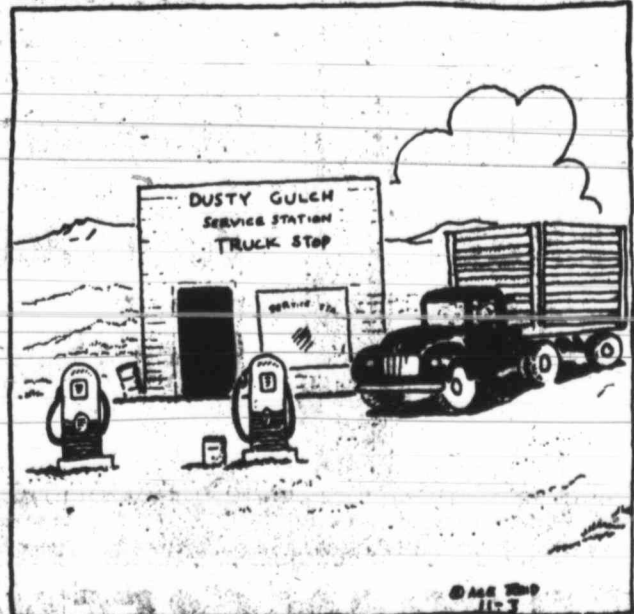

At hand-thrown pigeon shoots, pigeon throwers toss live pigeons into the air for target practice. In other cases, the birds are catapulted out of spring-loaded boxes.

Proponents say live pigeon shooting is the most difficult shotgun sport in the world and helps hunters keep their aim sharp during the off-season. Critics argue the sport is cruel, especially when wounded birds are left to die slowly.

Poole said all wounded birds will receive immediate attention and will not be allowed to suffer.

52 Texas cities apply for GM Saturn car plant

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — Some 52 Texas cities, including Big Spring, returned a site criteria questionnaire to the state by Friday in hopes of luring General Motor's Saturn plant to their area, a Texas Economic Development Commission spokesman said.
 "We have received information on 73 sites from 52 cities in Texas with four more cities advising that they have more information en route to us. We are in good shape," said spokesman Joe Ferran.

GM is expected to select a site in the United States by late spring or early summer for its plant. It will manufacture a new compact car, the Saturn, which is designed to compete with imports.

Cities responding included Midland-Odessa, McAllen, Fort Worth, Paris, Greenville, Dallas, Texarkana, Tyler, Colorado City, Sulphur Springs, Mount Pleasant, Temple, Palestine, Nacogdoches, Hillsboro, Kingsville, Marble Falls, Edinburg, San Benito, El Paso, Laredo, Brownsville, Big Spring, Amarillo, Abilene, San Angelo, Brownwood, Borger, Wichita Falls, Pampa, Cleburne, Sherman-Denison, Bryan-College Station, Lancaster, Mineral Wells, Commerce, Waco, Marlin, McKinney, Roanoke, Denton, San Marcos, New Braunfels, Seguin, Conroe, Katy, Pasadena, Houston, Baytown, Beaumont.

Gov. MARK WHITE

Governor makes push for naval base on coast

AUSTIN (AP) — The Navy's task of choosing a battleship port may have become a little less complicated after the state agreed to pitch in $25 million if a Texas city is chosen.

In a letter sent to Secretary of the Navy John F. Lehman on Friday, Gov. Mark White said the state would commit the additional money for any on-site improvements or construction required for the homeport.

"A bill to appropriate the necessary funds will be introduced in this session of the Legislature or in a subsequent regular session, as necessary, to provide funding required by the Navy," White wrote Lehman. The letter also was signed by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and House

Speaker Gib Lewis. U.S. Rep. Mike Andrews, D-Houston, who made the Friday afternoon announcement with White, said Texas is unlike other competing states, which have one city to offer. Texas cities seeking the homeport include Houston-Galveston, Corpus Christi, Brownsville, Port Lavaca, Freeport-Brazosport, and the golden triangle — Port Arthur, Orange and Beaumont.

Andrews said the Navy Department would reduce the list to 17 cities in a few days. After that a shorter list will be prepared.

White plans to meet with Washington officials on Wednesday to discuss the port selection.

Loftin, Salazar propel Big Spring swimmers

Big Spring diver LOUIS MORLELION, seen here in an earlier meet, placed sixth in the boy's District 4-5A swimming and diving championship in Odessa Saturday.

ODESSA — Although finishing low in the final team standings, the Big Spring varsity swim teams enjoyed some spectacular individual success at the District 4-5A Swimming and Diving Championships held at the Odessa Permian swim center Friday and Saturday.

The Steer boys finished eighth overall with 11 total points for the meet. The Lady Steer contingent finished seventh with a total of 4 points for the meet.

Leading the boy's team was sophomore Cade Loftin with two personal bests in Saturday's finals. Loftin finished third in the 100 yd. butterfly, in a time of :59.14, and fourth in the 100 yd. backstroke, in 1:04.67.

Mitch Houghton was the only freshman to make the finals in the meet, where he placed fourth in the 100 yd. breast stroke, with a personal best 1:08.97.

Big Spring diver Louis Morlelion finished up in sixth place to round out the scoring for the Steers.

Lisa Salazar was the girls' lone individual qualifier in the 100 meter breast stroke. Salazar finished sixth in the final with a time of 1:10.00.

The Steer girls' freestyle relay team consisting of Hartley Newell, Michelle Hummel, Rose Meier and Annie Gutierrez, swam to a sixth place finish with a time of 4:39.53 in the 400 yd. event.

"I was very pleased with the individual performances our swimmers had in the meet," commented head coach Harlan Smith. "I was hoping for a little bit better showing in the team standings, but this is a young group, and they should be very strong in the future. Every one of our swimmers who placed, qualified for regionals and I look for all of them to improve their times."

The Class 5A regionals are scheduled for March 1 and 2, at the Texas Tech University Swim Center in Lubbock.

Flutie unimpressive in first USFL starting role

Doug Flutie is still having fun, despite his inauspicious start in the United States Football League.

The Heisman Trophy winner from Boston College made his professional debut Friday with the New Jersey Generals in the final weekend of the USFL exhibition season. His first two passes were interceptions.

Flutie finished with only seven completions in 18 attempts for 174 yards, and he says he realizes he still has a long way to go.

"I still don't feel like a pro playing for my first paycheck," Flutie said. "I'm still playing for fun. I learned with every play out there. Getting that first completion helped me a lot."

"I don't know if I'm ready for the game (the regular-season opener next week against Birmingham), but I try to do my best," Flutie said.

The Generals won their last exhibition game, beating Orlando 24-14.

In Saturday's exhibition games, Houston defeated Birmingham 20-16, Tampa Bay downed Baltimore 28-26 in Charlotte, N.C., Memphis defeated Jacksonville 13-10, San Antonio clobbered Denver 36-13 and Los Angeles beat Portland 38-17 at San Fernando, Calif.

Sunday's final game of the preseason was Oakland against Arizona at Fresno, Calif.

The USFL continued its experiment of using videotaped replays to aid officials in the Houston-Birmingham game. Each team appealed a play, but both times, the videotape upheld the call of the officials.

Quarterback Jim Kelly threw one touchdown pass, connecting on 15 of 24 attempts for 156 yards, to lead Houston over Birmingham. Houston led 17-10 at halftime, then shut out the Stallions in the second half.

Both coach's appeals were made on fumble calls, and, both times, USFL supervisor of officials, Cal Lepore, ruled in favor of the referees after watching a TV replay from the press box. The replay experiment allows coaches one appeal in each half on calls involving fumbles, a receiver's possession out of bounds, or a ball carrier's progress at the goal line — but not on penalties.

Jimmy Jordan threw a 4-yard touchdown pass to Larry Brodsky midway through the fourth quarter to give Tampa Bay an eight-point lead, and after scoring a touchdown with 5:42 left, Baltimore failed on a two-point conversion that could have tied the score with 5:42 left.

Walter Lewis got 61 of his 160 yards passing on one touchdown play to wide receiver Preston Brown in the second quarter, leading the Memphis Showboats over Jacksonville. Mike Rozier, the 1983 Heisman Trophy winner, had 51 yards rushing on 17 carries for the Bulls.

Rick Neuheisel passed for 159 yards, and Scott Stamper ran for two short touchdowns as San Antonio defeated Denver. The Gunslingers led 22-0 at halftime, then scored two more touchdowns in the fourth quarter. Stamper finished with 47 yards to lead all rushers.

Los Angeles' two quarterbacks, Steve Young and Frank Suerer, accounted for two touchdowns apiece in leading the Express over Portland. Young ran for one touchdown and passed for another, while Suerer, Young's backup, threw for two more. Leading 14-10 midway through the second quarter, Los Angeles scored two touchdowns and a field goal in the next 15 minutes to put the game away.

Howard bats slay Dragons

By CHARLIE ALCORN
Sports Writer

The Howard College Hawks baseballers swept a Saturday afternoon doubleheader from visiting Paris Junior College, 16-1, and 16-8, using an awesome hitting attack, led by Jimmy Garcia's two home runs, and well conditioned pitching to rout the Dragons at the Howard College field.

In the first game, a 16-1 blowout, the Hawks cruised behind the two-hit pitching of sophomore right-hander Chuck Ashcraft and home runs by Eddie Citronelli and Jimmy Garcia. Ashcraft recorded eight strike outs while pitching the complete game. Howard batsmen collected 15 hits in the opener.

Hawk shortstop Mike Byrd got things started in the first inning with a lead-off double to right-center. Jimmy Garcia drove in Byrd with a single to give the Hawks a 1-0 lead after the first inning.

Paris tied the game up in the top of the second on a solo homer by Tuite. Paris' Smith opened up the inning with a clean double but was thrown out by Hawk centerfielder Steve Carrasco trying to stretch into a triple. This was one of many fine defensive plays recorded by the Hawks in the first outing.

The Hawks had two consecutive three run innings in the second and third. Joey Ortiz led off the second inning with a single and then stole second. Designated hitter Joe Cuellar walked and stole second on a passed ball. Right fielder Dan Lanphear stroked a line drive single to score Ortiz. Steve Carrasco was next at the plate and he responded with a sacrifice fly, scoring Cuellar, giving the Hawks a 3-1 lead.

Mike Byrd's second hit of the day drove in Lathgar to stretch the Howard lead to 4-1 at the end of the second inning.

After Ashcraft mowed down the Paris side in the top of the third, the Hawks responded with three more runs in the bottom of the inning. Eddie Citronelli delivered a two run homer over the left wall off

Paris starter Mike Marlow, scoring Jimmy Garcia, and stretching the Howard lead to 7-1. Garcia had knocked in lead-off man Mark Howell to open up the third.

In the top of the fourth, Ashcraft gave up his last hit to Paris first baseman Mike Thompson, but the Dragons were unable to mount a charge.

Howard continued to blast the Paris pitchers with a 4 run fourth inning. Steve Carrasco and Bruce Smith drove in runs with a pair of singles. Steve Howell drove in Carrasco and Mike Byrd on an infield single to round out the scoring in the inning.

Howard scored five runs in the bottom of the sixth to complete the scoring spree. The inning was highlighted by Garcia's 3 run homer off of Dragon reliever Chuck Irving, giving him 5 RBI's for the game.

The Hawks started where they left off in the second game, opening up with a 6 run first inning off seven hits. Jimmy Garcia collected his second home run of the day with a two run shot over the left field wall. Scott Smith had a run scoring triple in the inning and lead-off man Mike Byrd had two hits as the Hawks batted around the order.

Paris made things a bit more interesting than in the second game with a 5 run third inning that pulled the Dragons to within a run at, 6-5.

Howard countered with two runs in the bottom of the third. Garcia again providing the muscle with a RBI double.

Paris collected three more runs in the last three innings to stay in the second ball game, but the Hawks bats could not be silenced by the Dragon pitchers.

Howard added five more runs in the last two innings, as they reached the 16 run mark for the second time in the day.

Jimmy Garcia went 6-8 on the day with 9 RBI's to lead the Hawk batters during the doubleheader. Shortstop Mike Byrd went 4-4 in the second game and had three stolen bases on the day. Centerfielder Steve Carrasco broke out of an early season slump by going 3 for 4 in the second game, with 3 RBI's. Joey Ortiz had two triples in the second game and speedster Eddie Citronelli stole four bases to round out the Hawks spectacular offensive performance. Alex Lopez went to 2-0 for the season in the second game, picking up his win after relieving starter Roland Gonzales through 3 and one-third innings.

Head coach Bill Griffin's Hawks raised their record to 4-1 on the year. Paris fell to 1-3 with the pair of losses.

Both teams will square off tomorrow for another doubleheader scheduled to start at 1:00 p.m.

Martina whips Evert in Lipton tennis final

DELRAY BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Martina Navratilova, attacking from the start, crushed her longtime rival Chris Evert Lloyd 6-2, 6-4 Saturday to capture the women's singles title in the $1.8 million Lipton International tennis tournament.

The victory avenged a rare loss by Navratilova three weeks ago when Lloyd

"I wanted to attack, even if I didn't get the first serve in," Navratilova said. "I had put too much emphasis on her passing shots."

She continually forced the action, putting the pressure on Lloyd, the favorite of the near-capacity crowd of 11,300.

"I wasn't playing as well as I wanted to, but I had this feeling I wanted it," Navratilova said of the championship in this inaugural two-week, Grand Slam-size event. "I remember last night having this feeling, and I woke up this morning having this feeling."

The men's singles final, between two former Stanford University teammates, Tim Mayotte and Scott Davis, will be played Sunday on the hardcourts at Laver's International Tennis Resort. It also will be nationally televised by ABC, beginning at 1:30 p.m. EST.

Singles champions each pocket $112,500, with the runners-up collecting $56,250 apiece.

For Navratilova, who was playing Lloyd for a record 63rd time in their careers, it was the victory — her 32nd — not the money that was so sweet on a warm, bright day.

"I don't know how many more times we'll play again," the left-hander joked. "This could be the last time. I could break a leg skiing or Chris could get pregnant."

The humor, though, came afterward. It was all determination on the court.

"The last match I was ready to go from the first point was the U.S. Open," Navratilova said.

She was ready Saturday, beginning the match by breaking Lloyd's service at 30. And after Lloyd broke right back, aided by two double faults by the tournament's No. 1 seed, Navratilova ripped through the next four games to grab a 5-1 lead.

Lloyd, the No. 2 seed, saved two set points in the seventh game before holding serve. And when Navratilova went up 40-0 in the next game, she had triple-set point.

But Lloyd, a native of nearby Fort Lauderdale, fought back to deuce as Navratilova, up 40-15, double-faulted twice. It was a temporary reprieve, though, as the talented left-hander hit a forehand volley winner to gain her sixth set point, then closed out the opening set with a backhand cross-court volley.

The two traded service breaks in the third and fourth games, knotting the second set at 2-2. Navratilova took a 4-2 advantage when she broke Lloyd in the fifth game, then held serve in the sixth, the final point coming when Lloyd produced a great forehand cross-court passing shot that Navratilova somehow got to and volleyed for a winner.

Lloyd, the classic baseliner with the two-handed backhand, fought back brilliantly, holding her own service at 30, then breaking Navratilova to level the set at 4-4.

It was her last hurrah. "The difference between this one and three weeks ago is that at Key Biscayne I didn't make as many unforced errors," Lloyd said.

MARTINA NAVRATILOVA clenches her fist after defeating CHRIS EVERT-LLOYD in the women's final of the Lipton International Players Championship. NAVRATILOVA won the match 6-2, 6-4.

Raiders turn back Arkansas, 52-50

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Senior guard Bubba Jennings scored 16 of his 20 points in the first half and Texas Tech held Arkansas scoreless in the final three minutes of the game to take a 52-50 Southwest Conference basketball victory Saturday afternoon.

Texas Tech quashed Arkansas' chance to tie the game with three seconds left as Kent Wojciechoski blocked a Scott Rose jump shot.

In handing the Razorbacks their first defeat at home this season, Texas Tech moved to 15-7 overall and 8-4 in the conference. Arkansas fell to 16-10 and 7-5. The victory marked Tech coach Gerald Myers' first win over an Eddie Sutton-coached team in Barnhill Arena.

Jennings scored 10 straight Tech points in the first half, 14 of 16 in one stretch, as the Red Raiders led 30-24 at intermission.

Tech had an eight point four times in the second half, the final coming with 17:29 remaining at 36-28 when Quentin Anderson hit a 16-foot jumper.

Arkansas senior Joe Kleine, who led all scorers with 25 points, had six points during a 12-6 run to pull Arkansas back within three with 9:43 left. Rose hit a 10-footer with 5:08 left to tie the game at 46. The game was tied twice more, the final coming at 50-50 as Arkansas forward Charles Balentine scored inside with 3:10 remaining.

Tech scored the game's final points with 2:35 left on a tip in by junior Ray Irvin.

Louisville (64)

DALLAS (AP) — Forward Larry Davis hit two free throws, a slam dunk and a tip-in basket in the final three minutes Saturday to carry ninth-ranked Southern Methodist to a 72-64 inter-sectional college basketball victory over Louisville. The Mustangs, a Southwest Conference team, improved their record to 20-5 — only the fifth time an SMU basketball team has posted 20 or more victories. The Cardinals, of the Metro Conference, dropped to 12-12 for the season, but still own an all-time 5-2 edge over the Mustangs.

SMU never trailed, but Louisville trimmed a 12-point advantage to a bucket late in the game behind Billy Thompson, who had a game-high 24 points.

With the Mustangs leading 60-58, Davis took charge in the final three minutes with some late help from Carl Wright, who had a free throw and a slam dunk.

Davis finished with 16 points, while Wright was the top scorer for SMU with 18 points.

SMU center Jon Koncak had 14 points and 10 rebounds before he fouled out with 1:36 to play. Koncak now owns the all-time SWC rebounding record of 1,079.

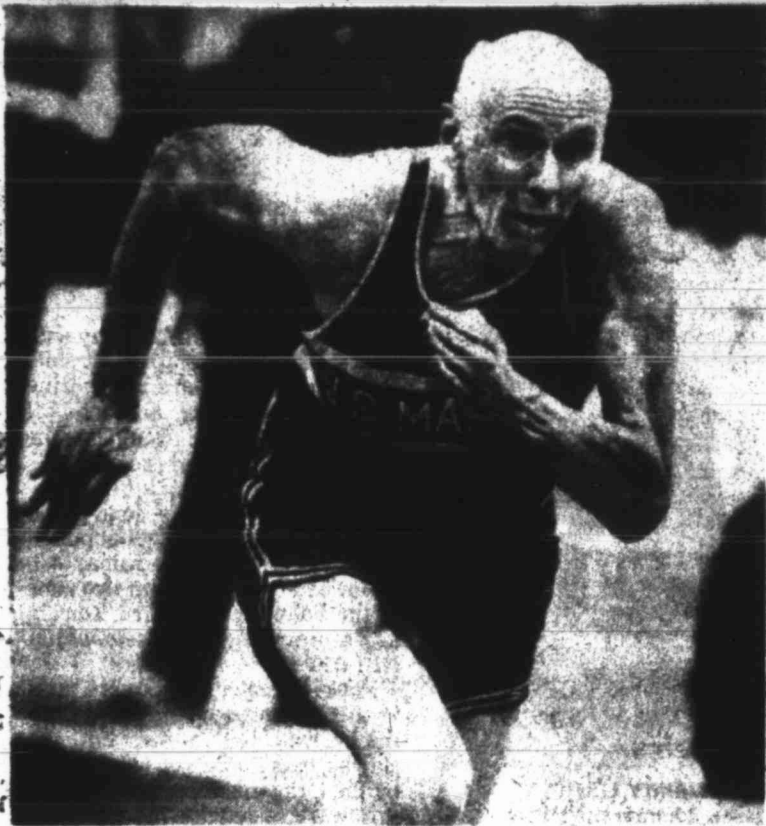

SMU outrebounded Louisville 42-35 and shot 49 per cent from the field to the Cardinals' 42 per cent. The Mustangs have won 16 consecutive games in Moody Coliseum.

Mich. St. (57)
Iowa (55)

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — Michigan State guard Sam Vincent scored 23 points, including the game-winning basket, as the Spartans defeated the 11th-ranked Iowa Hawkeyes 57-55 Saturday in a Big Ten Conference game.

Michigan State, which had lost six of its last nine conference games, knocked off an Iowa team that was second in the conference.

U.S. Senator ALAN CRANSTON shows his form as he sprints in the Legends 40 yard dash at the Michelob Invitational track meet Friday in San Diego.

Gray, Briscoe-Hooks set indoor marks

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The rabbit died, which was about the best reason to explain why the men's mile race in the Michelob Invitational indoor track and field meet fell far short of expectations — about eight seconds short.

To no one's surprise, Eamonn Coghlan, called the "Chairman of the Boards" because of his dominance indoors, won Friday night's matchup against Steve Scott and Sydney Maree, but his time — 3 minutes, 37.5 seconds — was well off his world indoor best of 3:49.78.

That disappointed the crowd of 10,005, because the San Diego Sports Arena's exceptionally fast track has produced 10 of the 20 fastest indoor miles ever run, and has been the site of two world indoor bests by Coghlan.

Meanwhile, Johnny Gray and Valerie Briscoe-Hooks took advantage of the speedy boards to set world indoor bests, and two-miler Doug Padilla turned in the second-fastest indoor time ever in his event.

"I decided to just follow the leaders, whatever the pace," said Coghlan, who sat out 1984 with injuries and has not lost indoors since 1981, winning 16 races, 14 in the mile. "I wasn't really worried about a record."

Good thing. Maree's pre-race strategy was to ask the "rabbit," or pace-setter, Arizona State's Eddie Davis, to complete a half-mile in 1:54 and three-quarters in 2:54, putting him on a pace that might enable him to survive Coghlan's well-known finishing kick.

But Davis failed, turning the half-mile in a relatively slow 1:59 and dropping out at that point. Maree took the lead in hopes of stepping up the pace, but he couldn't hold it.

Coghlan overtook him, and finished far ahead of Mike Hillard of Australia (3:58.4), Scott (3:58.9) and Maree (3:59).

"Sydney didn't force the pace. Obviously, he wasn't feeling as good as he expected to," Coghlan said.

Briscoe-Hooks, winner of three gold medals in the 1984 Olympics, overtook Diana Dixon with 15 yards to go in the women's 500-yard race and was timed in 1:02.3, bettering the indoor best of 1:03.3 set by Rosalyn Bryant of the United States in 1977.

Gray, the American record holder in the outdoor 800 meters, outclassed the field in the men's 800, clocking 1:46.8.

American captures slalom

COPPER MOUNTAIN, Colo. (AP) — Eva Twardokens, the most consistent American skier on the World Cup circuit this season, capitalized on a mistake by young Dianne Roffe and won the women's giant slalom Saturday at the U.S. Alpine Ski Championships.

Roffe, the 17-year-old who shocked the ski world with a giant slalom gold medal in the World Championships earlier this month, had built a huge lead of 1.56 seconds over Twardokens after the first run. But Roffe, skiing fearlessly as usual in the face of stiff wind, lost control early in her second run, fell and was unable to finish.

Twardokens had a second-run time of 1 minute, 9.79 seconds for a combined time of 2:13.04, giving her a narrow victory over Karen Lancaster, who was clocked in 2:13.07. Lancaster, of Incline Village, Nev., had been third after the initial heat.

Unofficial results showed veteran Cindy Nelson of Reno, Nev., in third place at 2:13.56, and Olympic giant slalom champion Debbie Armstrong of Seattle fourth in 2:13.58.

"The wind was blowing hard up there, and the gates were really leaning," said Twardokens, 19, of Squaw Valley, Calif. "You had to duck under the gates sometimes, and that made it hard to concentrate on your line when the gates were in the way."

"My second run felt a little ragged, but the wind was a problem for all of us. I guess it turned out OK."

Twardokens admitted she had mixed feelings about her victory because of Roffe's fall.

Ministers' wives

Behind every great man there is a woman

IN THE BACKGROUND — Carl and Virginia Powers, have been married for 37 years. He is pastor of First Church of the Nazarene, and Mrs. Powers is the Bible teacher at Big Spring High School. She also is active in the Christian Women's Club and is the director of women's ministries at the church. Mrs. Powers and two others reveal the life of being ministers' wives.

By KIM KIRKHAM
Lifestyle Writer

Not many women are willing to share both their home and their husband. But when their husband is a minister, they must learn to cope.

"You have to learn that you're not first. Everybody else's needs come first," said Virginia Powers, wife for 37 years of the Rev. Carl Powers. Powers pastors First Church of the Nazarene.

"At first he was gone so much, and the children were small, until it was difficult," said Elizabeth Craven another minister's wife. "But as the years go, you become accustomed to it." She married Claude Craven, pastor of Trinity Baptist Church, 40 years ago.

"You spend a lot of time alone because your husband is gone a lot," says Barbara Dailey, wife of Dale Dailey, pastor of Evangel Temple Assembly of God. The Daileys have been married for 15 years.

A minister and his family's life is public, Mrs. Powers said. "A church becomes almost like your family. Your home is open 24 hours," said Mrs. Dailey.

Finances are a problem sometimes, especially when a minister is getting started. "Finances were close, but we managed. I guess you learn to do just exactly what you have to do," said Mrs. Craven.

"You're sure not in it for the money," said Mrs. Powers. "Budget problems sometimes make it a little difficult, but I guess everybody has that problem."

"When we went to his second pastorate, I was ready to chuck it all," said Mrs. Craven. "That was the most traumatic time of our ministry."

"I was expecting our last child at that time, and I was very ill," she said. "It was just a down time in my life, and then he was called to the church in Fort Scott (Kan.) which was the beginning of a very happy ministry."

"My husband is his own person, but I've always considered myself Elizabeth Craven. Naturally I am thought of as Mrs. Claude Craven, the pastor's wife, but I have an edge of my own."

Sometimes a minister's wife struggles for individuality, said Mrs. Powers. And many people don't want the minister's wife to be human. "People are a little disappointed if you're not happy all the time," she said.

"At one time it was very difficult trying to live up to what people expect of you. Now I don't try to please people," said Mrs. Craven. "I please the Lord. There's a difference."

"It's not only hard (to please everyone), it's impossible," said Mrs. Powers. "You just have to do what's best for you and please God. Just live by your own conscience."

At Evangel Temple Assembly of God, "they've never required I be or do or act any certain way, just be myself," said Mrs. Dailey. "I learned a long time ago to be myself, because I'm never ever gonna please everybody."

The greatest thing people expect is for ministers' children to be well behaved, said Mrs. Craven. "My children were not angels. They were just normal, healthy, ordinary kids."

"In college, our two boys said they didn't have any identity. They just had their father's name. They were just Dr. Craven's sons," she said.

"I've never told my kids they have to do something or they don't have to do something because they're a pastor's kid," said Mrs. Dailey. "There are people out there that put standards on the kids that they wouldn't put on their kids."

Times are changing, however. The minister's wife of today has more privacy in her life than in the past, Mrs. Powers said. "I think people are realizing that ministers and their families are human and need their private times," said Mrs. Dailey.

Twenty-five to 30 years ago, ministers had to get the congregation's permission before his wife could get a job, Mrs. Powers said. "Nowdays, her life is hers. Within reason, she can do what she wants to do."

Mrs. Dailey advises the wife of a new minister to "strengthen her relationship with God and to be the best wife that she can be." She also advises her to take the pressure off and be herself.

Mrs. Powers advises a new minister's wife to try to see herself as much as possible as a wife and mother. "They don't automatically become a professional because they are a minister's wife," she said.

"My advice to a young minister's wife would be always to watch what she says, to show that she cares for people and to be a loving wife," said Mrs. Craven.

She also advises the wife to attend college with her husband. If not, she should take courses in dealing with people.

Mrs. Dailey teaches Sunday School and children's church and is taking organ lessons. But "before I'm anything, I am a wife and mother," she says.

"I have so many things going at the church that there's really no time for outside involvement," said Mrs. Craven. She is the church secretary during the week and secretary for the auditorium class on Sunday mornings. On Sunday nights, she teaches a class for children of parents in the choir.

Mrs. Powers is the Bible teacher at Big Spring High School and is active in the Christian Women's Club. She also directs the women's ministries at the First Church of the Nazarene.

"Being married to the minister, that's been the nicest reward," said Mrs. Powers. "Although there are many ups and downs, I would not trade it for any other life," Mrs. Craven said.

"Before I'm anything, I am a wife and mother."

Beta Sigma Phis crown four sweethearts

By TINA STEFFEN
Lifestyle Editor

Four sweethearts were crowned during the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority City Council's annual Valentine Charity Dance Saturday evening at the Dora Roberts Community Center.

The sweethearts were chosen for "their sweetness of spirit." Three of the sweethearts were elected by the members of their respective chapters. The fourth sweetheart was elected by the city council delegates.

The dance, open to the public, is a yearly event for members of all chapters to join together in raising funds for a charity. Proceeds from this year's dance will benefit the newly organized Rape Crisis Services, which assists women who have been sexually assaulted.

CONNIE EDMON is the Beta Sigma Phi City Council sweetheart. Originally a member of Mu Zeta Chapter, she joined the sorority in 1978 and was honored with the Pledge of the Year award in 1979, the year she held the office of vice president. In 1980, Ms. Edgemon was treasurer of her chapter and secretary of City Council. In 1981, she was City Council president, and was voted Beta Sigma Phi of the Year in 1982.

In 1983, Ms. Edgemon progressed in Beta Sigma Phi to her present chapter of Xi Pi Epsilon and held the office of secretary. This year she is president.

Ms. Edgemon enjoys skiing, reading and needlework, which she hasn't had much time for since July. At that time, she adopted a baby boy and named him Alex. Ms. Edgemon is employed as a psychologist at the Big Spring State Hospital.

ALPHA PHI DELTA Chapter's sweetheart is Cindy Jones. Ms. Jones has been in Beta Sigma Phi for five years and is a charter member of her chapter. She is a secretary for Wheelco Truck Tire Company.

Ms. Jones is serving as president of her chapter for the second year. Her Beta Sigma Phi activities include serving as secretary for her chapter and City Council and serving as a City Council representative from her chapter for five consecutive years.

Ms. Jones is a past City Council sweetheart and has had the honor of being elected Girl of the Year by her chapter. She enjoys growing plants and dancing.

MU ZETA CHAPTER'S sweetheart is Lisa Murphy. She pledged Mu Zeta in 1978 and has held various offices including president, recording secretary and treasurer, which is her current position. In addition to her office, she serves on the membership and social committees and chairs the ways and means committee.

Mrs. Murphy is a representative to the Beta Sigma Phi City Council and holds the honor of being selected Mu Zeta's Woman of the Year for 1984. She is employed by Big Spring State Hospital and is the mother of one daughter, Lacy, 3. Her hobbies include motorcycle touring, water and snow skiing.

THE CHAPTER SWEETHEART for Xi Pi Epsilon is Rose Stukel. Mrs. Stukel is a teacher's aide at Marcy Elementary School in the Chapter I

Reading Program. She and her husband Ray have two sons: Randy who is a mechanical engineer in Tucson, Ariz.; and Russell, a student at North Texas State University in Denton.

Mrs. Stukel has been a Beta Sigma Phi for eight years. She has held almost every office including vice president of Beta Sigma Phi City Council. She was named Girl of the Year of Alpha Kappa Omicron Chapter, her former chapter, and the next year was honored as Beta Sigma Phi of the Year. She also has been given the Best Program award three years.

In addition to her activities in Beta Sigma Phi, Mrs. Stukel is an active member of St. Paul Lutheran Church. She has been Sunday School treasurer for the past seven years and serves in the church's board of education, couple's club and parish workers. Mr. and Mrs. Stukel are active in square dancing and enjoy pinocle and other card games.

Beta Sigma Phi members, their dates, guests and other citizens spent the evening dancing to the sound of Night Shift from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m.

Dear Abby

Cabbage Patch a status symbol

DEAR ABBY: I couldn't agree more with "Ashamed American Mother," who refuses to buy into the Cabbage Patch craziness. I feel exactly as she does.

Cabbage Patch Kids have become the new status symbol for American youngsters. I am dumbstruck by the number of otherwise intelligent, sensible adults buying into this mania and fostering a frenetic need in their children to possess — what? A cuddly baby doll? Certainly there are cuddly baby dolls galore that cost far less than $50 and $100, do not require putting one's name on a six-month waiting list, and can be dressed, cuddled and loved. But owning a Cabbage Patch Kid is the newest form of snobbery.

When my daughter's peers are older and into drugs, I want her to be able to think for herself and say "No," despite what everyone else is doing.

I may be considered a "mean mommy" by some, but I refuse to follow along like one more sheep to the cabbage patch. My daughter, in fact, is rather proud of the fact that she doesn't own one.

SANE AMERICAN MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: You will be pleased to know that the Cabbage Patch Kids had the stuffings beat out of them insofar as my readers were concerned. The mail ran 300-to-1 against them.

Dr. Donohue

Weights add to walking benefit

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am a senior citizen (my wife hates that term). I am nevertheless still very much interested in physical conditioning, which I accomplish through daily walking. But I just don't feel that I'm getting all I want out of this. I am going to try to increase its benefits by wearing strap weights on my legs. My wife thinks this is crazy. Do you think this is a good idea? — B.L.

Can I give you a better idea? Basically, you're on the right track. However, since you say you are a senior citizen the weights might be placing too great a strain on your leg joints. Why don't you get some of the hand weights. They're very popular these days.

And how you use these weights can be important. If you bend your elbows and swing your arms back and forth from your shoulder you'll increase the intensity of your walk. Start out with light weights (around a pound) and work up to heavier ones. An alternative to the leg weights is a backpack. That's another popular method of increasing intensity of walking, as any mountaineer can tell you.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Is it true, as I've heard, that very strenuous exercise can thin out the blood? — L.Z.

During great physical stress the blood does show a relative decrease in red blood cells. By the term relative I mean that there are fewer RBSs per volume of blood, parent, not real. The situation quickly rights itself with rest from the heavy exertion.

fewer RBSs per volume of blood, although the numbers may be the same as before. The deficiency, which may show in tests, is ap-

Nutri/System's multi-disciplined approach accomplishes what other diet programs fail to do.

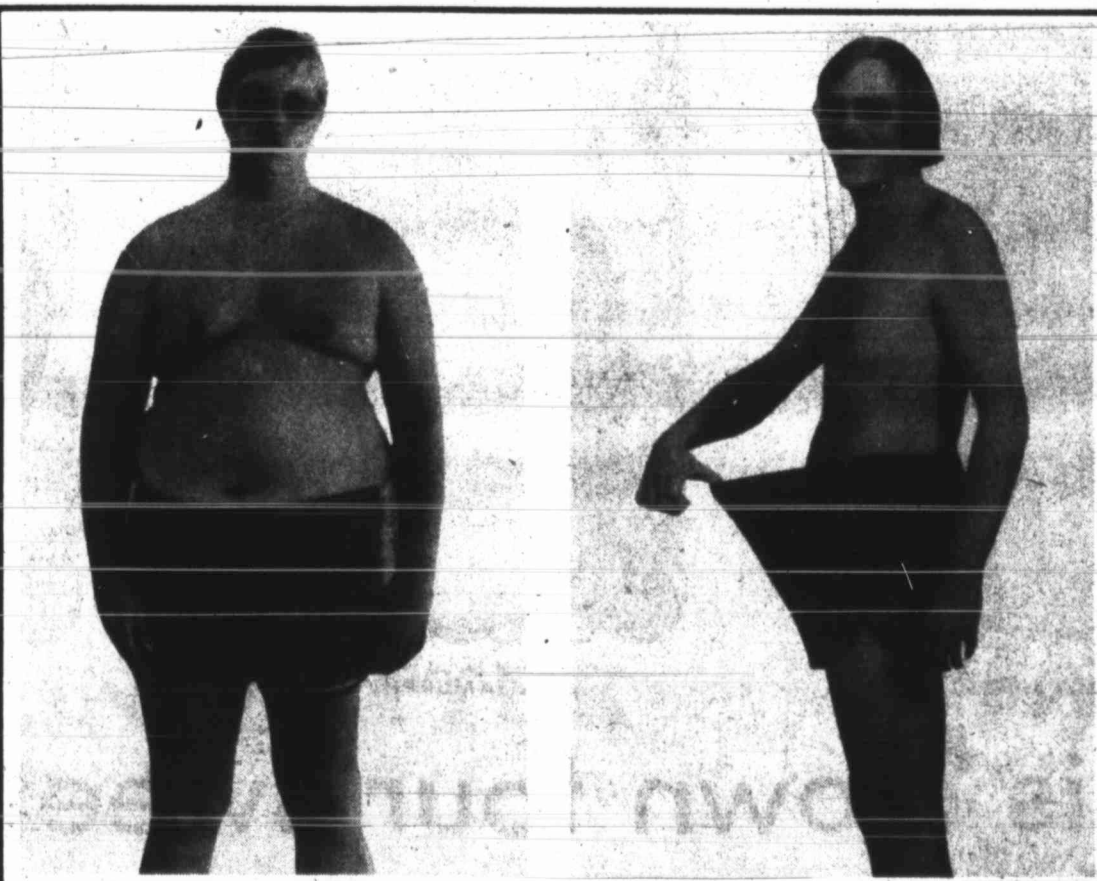

Melissa A. Kelly
Special Writer

Bob McBee is the same, but different. That is, the difference is 85 pounds. And he lost those pounds in an amazingly short period of time—90 days. Bob's story, however, is not uncommon. Not since the first Nutri/System Weight Loss Center opened its doors 13 years ago in Jenkintown, PA.

Today Nutri/System is an international network of professionally supervised centers with over 700 centers in North America alone. This growth can be explained by the fact that Nutri/System promises and delivers up to a pound a day weight loss or more without using drugs, injections or strenuous exercise. Dr. Jay Satz, Director of Research and Development at Nutri/System, further explains the program's success: "Our weight loss program is individualized and easy to follow; involves no decision-making; and, very importantly, the exclusive Nu System Cuisine™ is delicious!"

Dr. Satz was absolutely right about Nu System Cuisine™. I sampled an entree, and it was superb! Later, I tried Veal Ragout, Turkey Tetrazzini and Chicken a la King, all delicious. In fact, all the entrees taste as if they were made by the magic hands of a gourmet chef! Talking with some Nutri/System clients, I learned that Nu System Cuisine™ does more than taste delicious. These exclusive foods actually make Nutri/System hunger-free and free from counting calories! Nu System Cuisine™ really takes the work out of dieting. And they're convenient—you can take these entrees anywhere. Preparation is simple and quick. Because the same revolutionary process that captures all the flavor and nutrition of freshly made foods also allows you to enjoy that goodness in just minutes.

Nutri/System also provides professional support from the highly trained Weight Loss Counselors. Clients attend Behavior Education

Bob McBee was delighted to talk about his weight loss: "It was great. I lost weight at about a pound a day which kept me going. I wasn't hungry. I wasn't tired. I had the desire to do things I could never do before! I could for the first time in my life, be a thin person and I loved it."

"It was simple. I didn't have to make decisions about what to eat. I didn't have to count calories or weigh food. There's no reason anyone can't follow this program, lose weight and keep it off."

Asked how he keeps his weight level, Bob told me he now knows how to make his body work for him. He eats and drinks like a thin person and two days a week he eats Nu System Cuisine™ meals.

Tax & financial planning

YEAR-ROUND PLANNING

If you want favorable tax treatment on a transaction, you can't wait until tax filing time to do your planning. Before transactions involving substantial dollars are completed, see that your tax advisor has estimated the tax consequences.

Here are a few things you might keep in mind in reference to your security transactions:

- Capital gains and losses from all investments are combined. This means that a loss on the sale of stocks can offset the gain on other investments such as real estate, etc.

- If you have acquired blocks of stock at different times and at different prices, be sure to identify which block of stock is being sold since it could determine whether you are entitled to short-term or long-term tax treatment.

- Consider investing in companies that retain the profits to finance growth. Hopefully, this will convert ordinary income (dividends) into long-term capital gain (future stock sales at an even greater gain).

- Sell stock on the installment basis. Your gain will be taxable as the proceeds are received. This installment contract would provide you interest income from the entire value of the stock as opposed to your having to reinvest the after-tax proceeds at a lower return.

- Remember that the capital gains from the sale of securities qualify for income averaging. This means that if you liquidate an unusually large number of investments in one year, the sale will be treated effectively as though it took place over a four-year period.

Seek professional assistance with your tax planning. This is not a time to be penny wise and pound foolish. The money spent on fees for tax planning are deductible and you should get your money back many times over in tax savings.

On Turning Heads

by Gary Don

MATCHING TOP AND BOTTOM

A man's facial hair should create balance and symmetry. As a result, the hairline often dictates what should be grown on the lower part of the face. A wide, receding hairline can be counterbalanced with a closely clipped beard and moustache. This is a far better solution than trying to camouflage the recession. Conversely, narrow foreheads with low hairlines, are made more obvious with beards that are too strong. Minimize the hairline by choosing a short, brushed-from-the-face hair style. Add a trim moustache and attention can be directed away from the forehead balancing the weight of the face. Bald heads can be like unpainted canvases. Make the face more colorful with a moustache.

Quality hair care awaits your visit to LA CONTESSA. Our staff represents a calibre of professionalism second to none. We are your hairquarters for all the latest styles, methods and techniques. We look forward to being of assistance to you soon. You will find us conveniently located at 1508 Marcy. We are open to serve you Tues.-Sat. Call us at 267-2187.

HINT -
 Moustaches give added "weight" to small mouths and chins.

Dee Elrod presents window dressing ideas to Hyperions

"Creative Window Dressings" was the program presented by Dee Elrod of Elrod Furniture at the 1970 Hyperion Club meeting, Feb. 8. The meeting was at Elrod Furniture.

Elrod explained and demonstrated several types of window treatments, including mini-blinds, micro-blinds, verticle blinds, solar-ray shades, woven woods, two-inch wood blinds, wood shutters, custom window shades and draperies.

The club voted to donate cookies to the Big Spring State Hospital during 1985. The club's next meeting will be at the Howard County Museum, at 10 a.m. March 8. The program will be "Our Howard County Heritage." Following the program, members will meet for lunch and business at Brandin' Iron Inn.
