Leaders concerned about farm program

Harte-Hanks Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON — If President Reagan vetoes emergency farm aid expected to clear Congress next week, he could deliver a "bad omen" on other policies crucial to Texas farmers, according to Texas congressional leaders on agriculture.

"It makes for a very bleak future for the farm program," said Rep. Charles Stenholm, D-Stamford, a member of the House Agriculture Committee who worked extensively on the farm credit bill that passed the House on Wednesday.

"It may mean that it's a bad omen for any agricultural legislation after that," agreed Rep. F. "Kika" de la Garza, D-Mission, chairman of the House committee.

The House bill was opposed Wednesday by most Republicans, including all but three of the Texas delegation's 10 Republican lawmakers. Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas, also opposed a similar package that passed the Senate the same day.

A leading Texas House Republican who voted against farm assistance said he agreed with Reagan that the line had to be drawn on further spending for farmers in light of the budget deficit.

"I believed the House proposals to be excessive," said Rep. Tom Loeffler, R-Hunt.

Loeffler cited a $650 million credit package already set aside by the administration as providing enough aid. "President Reagan and Agriculture Secretary (John) Block have also committed to requesting additional funds if existing balances of insured loans and loan guarantees prove to be inadequate," he said.

Stenholm and most other congressmen agreed that Reagan will almost certainly veto any farm aid proposal, although de la Garza said there still was hope that Reagan might sign the legislation.

Stenholm said Reagan's apparent unwillingness to compromise on emergency credit — beyond the $650 million program amended last month to include more farmers — as the primary indication of bad tidings for the farm bill that would set crucial price support and loan levels until the end of the decade.

"The administration has turned a complete total deaf ear to any kind of compromise (on farm credit), to any attempt to work out anything," said Stenholm. "Until we can find the magic key to the White House position (on credit), I don't know if anything will be done," he said.

Although the administration delivered a farm bill to Congress last week that would cut farm program spending in half over the legislation's four-year lifetime, congressional leaders have been almost unanimous in condemning the bill's stringent reductions. Congress is expected to reduce some farm programs, but not to the degree requested by Reagan.

"If their bill (the administration's farm proposal) is what we've got to have, the chances of getting a bill will be very slim, if not none," Stenholm said.

However, if Reagan also vetoed this year's farm bill as being too costly, the Agriculture Department would revert to the original 1949 legislation for setting price supports and loan levels. Agricultural aides said that legislation would be even more expensive for the Treasury Department.

The Congressional Budget Office estimated that the House's farm credit bill would cost $455 million over a five-year period, even though it would provide $3.3 billion in advance Commodity Credit Corporation price support loans and $3 billion for guaranteed loans through the Farmers Home Administration.

The Reagan administration argues that the farm credit bills would cost the Treasury at least three times as much — from $1.6 billion to $9 billion, depending on how many farmers repaid loans.

"I think the CBO is much more nearer to being right (about the cost) because the farmers who get these loans are likely to pay them back," said Rep. Beau Boulter, R-Amarillo, who voted in favor of the House bill. He said as many as one-third of farmers in his congressional district could have trouble with credit for spring planting.

Montgomery Wards, located in the Highland Shopping Center, will close in June, according to district officials.

Local Montgomery Ward store closing

By CAROL BALDWIN
Staff Writer

A poor local economy is forcing the Montgomery Ward store at Big Spring's Highland Shopping Center to close June 26, according to Ray Andrews, store manager.

The store, which has 65 full-time and part-time employees, will close June 26, Andrews said. Montgomery Ward has been at Highland Shopping Center for 20 years. Before moving to the center at the intersection of FM 700 and Highway 87, the store was located on Main Street.

Andrews was told of the decision to close the store Thursday night by representatives from the Montgomery Ward district office in Arlington. Andrews told employees Friday that the store would close in June.

"The store is being closed for economic reasons," Peter Jensen, district manager, Arlington, stated in a release Friday. Andrews verified that the local economy was the reason the store is closing.

"The company has been unable to make a satisfactory return on investment with this store. After long and careful study, the decision was made to close it," Jensen stated.

LeRoy Tillery, executive director of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce, said the decision "is a great surprise to me." Andrews said the only positive thing about the closing of the store "is that we have until the end of June. We feel we have an awful lot of excellent employees."

Jensen stated that, "We have many experienced employees... which has made this a very difficult decision for the company. We will take an active role in working with potential employers in this market who are seeking the skills our people have to offer."

Andrews said Friday that ex-

Public school week set

Parents and friends will have the opportunity to see local schools in action March 4-8 during Texas Public School Week, according to Janice Rosson, coordinator of local programs for the week.

Local Masonic Lodges have invited school personnel to an annual breakfast at 7 a.m. Monday at the Masonic Lodge, 211½ Main Street. A number of schools are planning open houses during the week.

Bauer Magnet School is having a series of lunches for parents beginning with parents of all first graders on Monday. Second graders' parents may eat at the school Tuesday. Third graders' parents may eat on Wednesday, followed by fourth graders' parents on Thursday and fifth graders' parents on Friday.

The Bauer Magnet School PTA will host open house Tuesday from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. During Public School Week, the PTA will sponsor a contest between classes for the most visitors in each room. Winning classes will have parties.

College Heights Open House will be Tuesday from 7:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Prior to open house, there will be a PTA meeting from 7 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. Teachers will send invitations to parents about specific times for classroom visitations, Mrs. Rosson said.

Kentwood Elementary will hold its monthly PTA meeting

GAME TIME — 91-year-old Hugo Unger carries the team logos on to the field before making the dugouts at a Kids and Kubs game last week in St. Petersburg, Fla.

The boys of summer Softball team is young at heart

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Four years ago, doctors told Harry Tarlian, then 73, to limit his physical activities.

Cut back and take it easy, they told the Providence, R.I., retiree after he underwent triple-bypass surgery and had a pacemaker inserted.

Now, 38 games into the softball season, Tarlian leads St. Petersburg's senior stars with 16 home runs. Not bad for a guy whose pulse was so weak doctors thought he would die in his sleep.

But Tarlian's teammates are not overly impressed. They attribute his home run output and speed on the base paths to his youth — a mere 77. After all, one of Harry's teammates is 23 years his senior.

At exactly 1:45 p.m. three days a week — Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday — Tarlian and 37 other men aged 75 to 100 gather on a St. Petersburg softball field for opening ceremonies. Half play for the "Kids" team, the other half for the "Kubs."

A whistle blows and they march to each side of second base and, facing a flag held at the pitcher's mound, sing the national anthem. Then they march two-by-two toward the flag, salute, and line up along the base paths leading to home plate.

At this point George Bakeswell, a 92-year-old great-great-grandfather from Livonia, Mich., vigorously leads them in their cheer:

"What's the matter with 75?
"We're the boys that's all alive.
"High ho, let's go,
"Rah, rah, 75."

The leadoff batter for the Kubs is Fred Broadwell of Apex, N.C. This will be Freddy's only at-bat of the day, and he grounds up the middle into centerfield. At an even 100 years of age, Freddy is played sparingly as he recovers from recent throat surgery.

Andy McKnight, 78, from Newton, Mass., this year's president of the Kids & Kubs, says the league is limited to those with ability and a birthdate at least 75 years past. In addition, McKnight says, each player "must display good character and be a good sport. But, above all, each must be a gentleman."

No player is accepted until he completes one year of probation. Some have been rejected.

Tradition, 55 years of it, dictates that players dress in white pants and white shirts with black bow ties.

Players say they want don't want to be admired just for playing at their age, but for playing well. And play well they do, with a keen sense of competition. Indeed, this season they had to stop logging batting averages because of the squabbles it caused.

Eighty-year-old Bob Gosford, from Newport, R.I., takes infield practice with a cigar in his mouth. Gosford says many of his cigars have marked additions to his family — he has 16 children, 58 grandchildren and 36 great-grandchildren. One man suggested that if every player could assemble his entire family to watch one game, they might even fill Yankee Stadium.

Agriculture department to send food to Africa

AUSTIN (AP) - The state Department of Agriculture on Friday announced a program aimed at moving surplus grain and milk from storage in Texas into the food bowls of starving Africans.

Under Project Tejas, a $35 contribution will buy 10 bushels of stored grain, enough to feed 100 African children for a week, according to Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower.

"In early summer, Texas grain and milk will be purchased. The food will be bagged and loaded on a ship at a Texas port. Texas grain and milk will then be distributed to our neighbors in Ethiopia and other famine belt countries," Hightower said.

"The commissioner promised that 'every penny' sent to his agency will be used to buy grain and milk that will go 'directly to starving people.' All administrative costs will be covered by the Save the Children organization.

"This will be Texas food going directly to starving families in Africa," he said. "The agricultural bounty produced by Texas farmers and ranchers, and the warm generosity of the people of Texas, have the opportunity to unite for one of the most humane and worthwhile causes imaginable."

Donations of any amount will be accepted by the agriculture department through May 31.

Several agriculture organizations are backing the program.

"We do have surplus food," said Joe Rankin of the Texas Farmers Union. "There are hungry people in the world."

2 file for Coahoma council

COAHOMA - Two more people have filed as candidates for positions on the Coahoma City Council, City Secretary Cindy Langston said Friday.

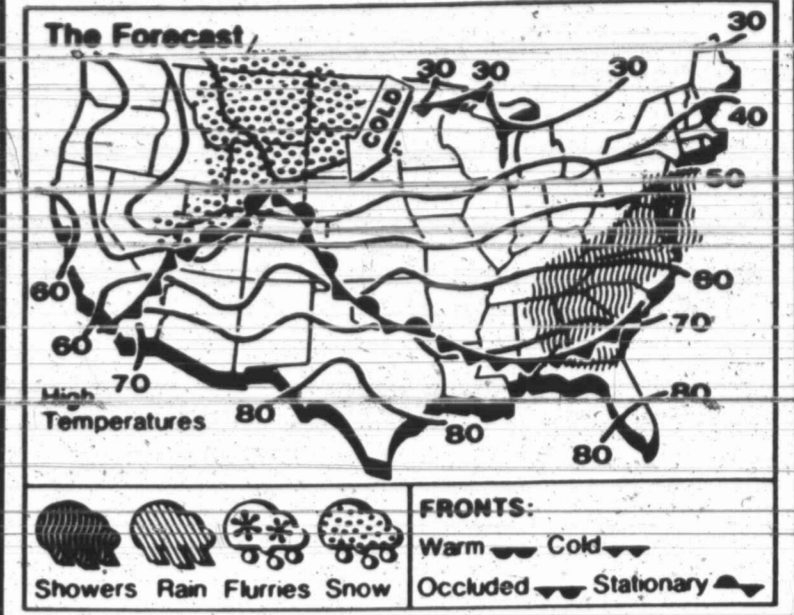

The two women have become the fourth and fifth candidates to file for a place on the April 5 city election ballot. Barbara L. Robertson of 609 Culp and Gladys Young of 412 S. Adams filed Friday.

Mrs. Robertson is employed by Harding Well Service and is seeking a two-year term. Mrs. Young, who is retired, is the only person to file so far for the one-year term.

Two former councilmen and a former mayor filed as candidates earlier this week. Former mayor Joe Swinney is seeking the position of mayor and former councilmen Ronnie Dodson and Billy Sullivan filed for the two-year terms up for election this year.

Filing deadline is March 6.

Weather

Local

The forecast for Big Spring is calling for near record highs in the mid 80s this afternoon. Skies will be sunny. Winds will be southerly, 5 to 15 miles per hour. By tonight, look for lows in the mid 50s. Sunday should see highs in the mid 70s.

State

Clouds covered most of Texas Friday. Light rain fell across portions of the southern tip of the state, accompanied in the Rio Grande Valley by fog that cut visibility to one-half mile.

A few patches of light rain were scattered across Southwest Texas. No other rainfall was reported in the state.

A ridge of high pressure covered the eastern half of Texas, where winds were light and variable. A low-pressure trough developed in far West Texas, producing southerly winds at 5 to 10 mph.

Early morning temperatures were mostly in the 40s and 50s. The coolest temperatures were in the northeast part of the state. At 4 a.m., temperatures ranged from 40 at Texarkana to 59 at Brownsville.

The National Weather Service said skies over Texas would be mostly cloudy today, with occasional light rain in South Texas and chances of light rain in Central Texas.

Afternoon temperatures were expected to be in the 50s and 60s, with rain possible for all but West Texas.

Forecast

West Texas - Partly cloudy, scattered showers and colder Monday. Warmer Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons. Highs 40s Monday, warming to mid 50s Wednesday, except 60s Monday Concho Valley to near 70 Big Bend. Lows mid 20s to low 30s except near 40 Permian Basin.

Police Beat

Tan truck stolen

A tan 1978 Ford pickup truck owned by John Branham of Branham Auto Sales was reported stolen Friday morning, according to police reports.

The truck, valued at $2,500, was taken between 5 p.m. Thursday and 9 a.m. Friday from the parking lot of Branham's car dealership at 1501 W. Fourth, the report stated.

Boy's death ruled accidental

Justice of the Peace China Long ruled a 14-year-old Ackerly boy's death in Big Spring Thursday evening as accidental due to carbon monoxide poisoning.

Mrs. Long said she ordered an autopsy on Paul Gomez Jr. after he was pronounced dead on arrival at Malone-Hogan Hospital. Dr. Robert Rember of Big Spring performed the autopsy, Mrs. Long said.

The boy was discovered in his aunt's home at 1100 Runnels. Long said Gomez probably was alone when he died.

"There was no apparent reason why the boy was dead," Long said. Big Spring Police Lt. Jerry Edwards said Gomez's aunt told police she came home and discovered her nephew unconscious on the couch in the front room. She called Shaffer Ambulance Service, which then asked for police assistance at 5:25 p.m., Edwards said.

Edwards said an unvented gas heater in the house "was going full blast." Mrs. Long said gas range burners also had been turned on.

Edwards said Gomez had recently moved to Big Spring from Ackerly.

Big Spring man undergoes surgery following accident

26-year-old man remains in Malone-Hogan Hospital today after surgery for injuries he received early Friday morning when he was struck by a car.

Anthony Munoz of Knott was listed in stable condition in the intensive care unit in the hospital, according to a nursing supervisor. He received a fractured leg and "multiple trauma," she said.

Munoz earlier was reported to be from Amarillo, police said. The accident report, now complete, lists his address as Star Route in Big Spring. Star Route is the area near Knott.

The driver of the car that struck Munoz, Ellen Marie Anders, 22, of Wilson Road, and her passenger, Lisa Kirby of Big Spring, were not injured in the accident.

The accident occurred at 4:40 a.m. in the 2700 block of Wason Road, about 30 feet north of the Belvedere intersection, the police report stated.

Ms. Anders was traveling south on Wason in the center lane, and Munoz was walking in the center lane of the road at the time the collision occurred.

The driver's side window of Ms. Anders' 1981 black Pontiac Grand Prix was broken in the accident. The collision threw Munoz about 140 feet from the point of impact, according to Police Lt. Jerry Edwards.

Ms. Anders received a ticket for failure to maintain financial liability.

Killer 'noncommittal'

VACAVILLE, Calif. — A former student who killed a professor and says he is "non-committal" on whether he would kill again plans to turn down parole for a third time because he wants to be freed without restrictions.
Theodore Strelski, 48, convicted of beating to death Karel deLeeuw in 1978 at Stanford University, will be asked to sign papers March 7 outlining the conditions of parole the next day.
If Strelski refuses to sign and his parole is denied a hearing March 8, he will remain at the California Medical Facility of the state Department of Corrections.
"He has verbally indicated he will not participate in parole conditions," said Lt. Joe McGrath, spokesman for the medical facility. "He does not wish to be supervised on parole. He's willing to wait until his release date on Sept. 8."

Doctors nix surgery

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Doctors decided against taking artificial heart recipient Murray Haydon back to surgery Friday after X-rays showed an improvement in an unexplained and persistent flow of blood to his chest cavity, a spokesman said.
X-rays at 2 p.m. showed much less fluid in Haydon's chest cavity, and tests showed an improvement in his red blood cell count, said Bob Irvine, Humana Inc.'s director of public relations.
In view of the developments, implant surgeon Dr. William C. DeVries "believes the sources of bleeding are healing on their own and surgery will not be required," Irvine said.

Goetz case in limbo

NEW YORK — Gov. Mario Cuomo said Friday that he won't act on requests to appoint a special prosecutor in the Bernhard Goetz case until the Manhattan district attorney decides whether to submit the case to a second grand jury.
And Mayor Edward I. Koch said he was going to "take a step back" from his outspoken pronouncements on the case, adding that Goetz had said some "flaky things" since Koch first announced his support for the subway gunman.
A spokeswoman for District Attorney Robert Morgenthau said the prosecutor had made no decision on whether to re-submit the case following the release of potentially damaging statements Goetz gave police.

Doctor denied trial

RALEIGH, N.C. — A judge on Friday denied Dr. Jeffrey MacDonald's request for a new trial in the slayings of his pregnant wife and two young daughters, the story of which became the basis for the best-selling book and TV miniseries, "Fatal Vision."
U.S. District Judge Franklin Dupree said a second jury "would again reach the almost escapable conclusion that he was responsible for these horrible crimes." MacDonald said he would appeal.
MacDonald, a former Green Beret doctor, is serving three life sentences after being convicted in 1979 of murdering his wife, Colette, and daughters, Kimberly and Kristen, at their Fort Bragg apartment in 1970.

Meeting of hope

Shultz, Ortega to meet in Uruguay

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — Nicaraguan president Daniel Ortega and Secretary of State George P. Shultz have agreed to meet here today to determine if there is a possibility of easing their differences, U.S. officials said Friday.
Shultz has expressed skepticism about the concessions announced Wednesday night by Ortega concerning Nicaragua's military posture but he also has said he is willing to "listen carefully" to the Nicaraguan's views.
The two officials are here to lend their endorsement to Uruguay's return to democracy after 12 years of military rule. President Julio Sanguinetti was sworn in Friday before delegations from 72 countries.
For a time, it appeared that the Shultz-Ortega meeting would not take place, as each waited for the other to extend a formal invitation.
But U.S. officials, who insisted on anonymity, said the protocol impasse was broken when Nicaragua formally requested the meeting through diplomatic channels.
Ortega's visit to Uruguay was heralded by posters throughout the city praising Nicaragua's revolution and calling on the United States not to intervene in its internal affairs.
The Sandinistas took power in July 1979 after toppling the military government of Gen. Anastasio Somoza. Ortega was leader of the governing provisional junta and was re-elected in late 1984. Relations with the United States have been strained in recent years because of Nicaragua's aid to leftist rebels in El Salvador and U.S. support of anti-Sandinista rebels based in Honduras.
"The Reagan administration is seeking congressional approval for $14 million in aid for the rebel forces. A crowd of several hundred, chanting 'Nicaragua,' cheered Ortega as he left his hotel Friday to attend the inauguration. Left-wing sentiment is strong in Uruguay compared with most other Latin American countries. The leftist coalition picked up 21 percent of the vote in the presidential election in November.
In preparation for his meeting with Ortega, Shultz planned to have dinner Friday night with the heads of delegations from Costa Rica, Guatemala, Honduras and El Salvador. Shultz had a separate meeting Friday morning with Costa Rica president Luis Alberto Monge.

DANIEL ORTEGA

The Saturday meeting is expected to focus on Ortega's decision to ask Cuba to withdraw 100 military advisers from Nicaragua and to order a freeze on the acquisition of new weapons systems.
Shultz, en route to Montevideo Thursday, described the Cuban withdrawal as "token," claiming "several thousand" Cuban advisers are stationed in Nicaragua. Nicaragua and Cuba have said the number of Cubans engaged in military-related activities is 200.
Shultz said, however, that if the withdrawal of 100 is a prelude to the pullout of larger numbers of Cubans, it would be a positive step.
Alluding to the weapons system freeze, Shultz said Nicaragua may have decided it has enough weaponry after the "rather massive buildup" it has undertaken in recent years.
Nicaragua recently invited a U.S. congressional delegation to visit military installations in the Central American nation to see that they are "strictly defensive."
In Washington, State Department spokesman Edward P. Djerejian said Friday: "Obviously we have no objection to such a delegation going, but we would like to see such a visit unrestrained in that the congressmen be free to see whatever they want in an effort for them to really be able to determine the real situation in that country."

GEORGE SHULTZ

The upcoming meeting between Shultz and Ortega raised the possibility of a revival of Central American peace efforts. The Contadora peace mediation group, comprised of Venezuela, Colombia, Panama and Mexico, has been suspended because of a dispute between Costa Rica and Nicaragua over a Nicaraguan asylum-seeker.
Shultz has said that whatever progress is made in U.S. discussions with Nicaragua should be incorporated into the Contadora effort. He has called on Nicaragua to meet Costa Rican demands concerning the asylum dispute, thus permitting Contadora to resume its activities.
Also suspended is the series of high-level discussions the United States and Nicaragua had during the last half of 1984. The Reagan administration broke off the discussions in January of this year, saying it wanted to evaluate Nicaragua's sincerity in seeking a peace settlement with its neighbors.
The United States has expressed concern over Nicaragua's military buildup, its close ties with the Soviet Union and Cuba and the U.S. perception that Nicaragua has reneged on a 1979 promise to establish democratic rule.
Shultz will return to Washington on Sunday after a rest stop in Puerto Rico en route.

Miners attend funeral

FORBACH, France — More than 10,000 people attended the funeral Friday of 22 miners killed in a coal mine explosion. Bells tolled throughout the Lorraine region and shops drew their shutters.
The men were victims of a firedamp explosion Monday more than a half mile underground at the Simon mine. The same blast injured 103 others.
Wearing their blue work clothes and hardhats with lamps lighted in honor of their colleagues, 150 miners formed a double rank in the large meeting hall where Catholic, Protestant, Jewish and Moslem services were held.
"Pierre, Roland, Joseph, Serge..." A representative of the miners slowly intoned the names of those who lost their lives. The 22 wooden coffins were lined up in two rows, each with two wreaths.
Government officials and union leaders also attended, as did a delegation from Lievin.

Planes attack tanker

MANAMA, Bahrain — Iranian warplanes attacked a Greek tanker Friday in the Persian Gulf as it headed for Kuwait to load oil, and one crewman was reported to have been "seriously wounded."
The shipping intelligence unit of the London-based Lloyds insurance firm said the 18,500 ton Athenian Xenophon was hit at about 7 a.m. EST by four rockets that "destroyed the (crew's) accommodations on the portside."
A spokesman for the Pireaus-based Mino Kyriakou Co., the tanker's owner, said the crew extinguished the resulting fire.
The spokesman, who spoke with the condition he not be identified by name, said the crew included the Greek captain and chief engineer and 24 Polish seamen. He said the chief mate had received "internal injuries caused by shrapnel," but not give the victim's name.

Candidates killed

NEW DELHI, India — Assassins killed three state assembly candidates Friday, and five party workers blew themselves up with a faulty bomb they were carrying in a jeep, according to news reports.
The government deployed more than 250,000 soldiers and police Friday, a day before elections in four states, with instructions to keep the vote honest and prevent violence. Some were told to shoot troublemakers on sight.
Among the soldiers' duties were to prevent ballot-box stuffing and keep party militants from taking over polling stations. The orders to shoot on sight were issued in the eastern state of Bihar, India's poorest and least law-abiding.
More than 118 million people are eligible to vote Saturday in state assembly elections in about 940 constituencies in central Madhya Pradesh state and in parts of Bihar, Uttar Pradesh and Maharashtra. About 10,000 candidates are running.

Star Wars criticized

MADRID, Spain — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko called again Friday for President Reagan to abandon plans for the star wars defense system, which he said reflected an obsession with militarizing space.
"Once the Star Wars plan is abandoned, real possibilities will open up to reach an agreement on the reduction — even a drastic reduction — of strategic arms and medium-range nuclear weapons," Gromyko said on the second day of a two-day official visit to Spain.

Trucks trickle across new front line in Lebanon

QASMIYEH BRIDGE, Lebanon (AP) — Trucks loaded with citrus fruit and cauliflower lined up to be searched. A trickle of pedestrians carrying suitcases walked across the narrow bridge spanning the Litani River on the Israeli army's new front line in south Lebanon.
The Qasmiyah Bridge, 20 miles north of the Israeli border, is the gateway to a cluster of Shiite Moslem villages which have been the focus of an intense anti-guerrilla campaign.
In recent days, Israeli soldiers have circled a dozen villages, carried out numerous search-and-arrest operations, blown up houses where weapons were found and imposed a dusk-to-dawn curfew on travel in the occupied zone.

A senior Israeli officer who briefed reporters Thursday said the get-tough policy instituted Feb. 20 had begun to have an impact.
"It is working," said the officer, a colonel who was not identified in keeping with army regulations. "Our feeling is that the population today is beginning to build a rejection towards these radical elements that live among them."
Private cars cannot go over the Qasmiyah Bridge, one of the few crossing points for people and goods on the new front line set up after the first stage of the Israeli withdrawal was completed Feb. 16.
But seven trucks loaded with fruit and vegetables were lined up waiting for the bridge to open for the first time.

Isa, a 36-year-old Shiite Moslem from Tyre, said he had been waiting four days to get his produce across the bridge, which was blocked by coils of barbed wire.
A group of five women came across the bridge on foot, carrying two babies and shopping bags. One who identified herself only as Mafita, 20, said it had taken six hours to come from the capital of Beirut, a distance of 53 miles.
Other Lebanese declined to speak with a reporter, who was surrounded by Israeli soldiers.
Near the bridge, a large yellow bulldozer was scooping dirt into two dump trucks. Officers at the bridge said the army was building a terminal to search vehicles for explosives and arms. Uncertainty over whether Israel intends to withdraw fully from Lebanon and anger over the repressive measures have been linked to the upsurge in guerrilla attacks, which total nearly 200 since the start of the year. Most recent attacks have concentrated in Shiite villages south of the Litani near the Mediterranean port city of Tyre.

"The redeployment brought the hostilities southward," said the officer, speaking through an interpreter. "Most of the hostile operations are against our strongholds, primarily on main roads."
Defense Minister Yitzhak Rabin said that since the operation began, 15 guerrilla suspects had been killed, 22 wounded and 19 others suspected of incitement had been expelled from the area.

The officer said mortar shells, automatic rifles, hand grenades and rocket-propelled grenades had been found in the villages.
Israeli deaths in Lebanon since the invasion was launched in June 1982 total 619. Fifteen have died so far this year. The crackdown was launched because attacks increased in the wake of Israel's pullback to the Litani from the Sidon area.
The anti-guerrilla campaign, carried out to a large extent in the zone patrolled by the 10-nation, 5,900-member United Nations peacekeeping force, has provoked sharp controversy.
U.N. sources, who spoke on condition they not be identified, said Israeli soldiers had entered eight villages in the U.N. zone, arrested 104 Lebanese, killed four, injured two and blown up a dozen houses since Feb. 20.

"The continuous operations are endangering the future capability of UNIFIL (U.N. Interim Force in Lebanon) to keep the area quiet for the benefit of all parties involved by damaging its credibility with the local residents," U.N. spokesman Timur Goksel said in an interview earlier this week.
The Israeli army has sought to limit press coverage of the anti-guerrilla sweeps. Correspondents accredited in Lebanon have been barred from entering its occupation zone in south Lebanon.

People needing blood transfusions afraid of infected blood

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — William Johnstone's wife died last fall from AIDS contracted through a contaminated transfusion, one of nine victims of infected blood from the city's only blood bank. So when Johnstone undergoes hip surgery in a week, the blood he needs will come from the veins of friends.
"You want to play Russian Roulette?" Johnstone said. "Even if it were an emergency — and I had some say in the matter — I wouldn't take blood out of the pool."
Mary Johnstone's tainted transfusion came from Irwin Memorial Blood Bank, the first blood bank to suggest a link between AIDS and blood transfusions after it reported the January 1983 death of a baby who had received AIDS-infected blood, according to Brian McDonough, Irwin executive director.

Growing public awareness of AIDS transfusions has people worried that the blood used in their operations came from someone who eventually developed the fatal disease, which attacks the body's immune system, leaving its victims vulnerable to rare and fatal diseases, McDonough said Friday.
"There are some very responsible people who are afraid, and they call, and just say, 'Is there anything you can tell me?'" McDonough said. "And about all we can say is: 'If we knew, you would have been notified by now.'"

More than 3 million people get transfusions nationwide each year, and there have been 119 AIDS-transfusion deaths since 1979, medical researchers say.
As many as 162 people have been exposed to AIDS-infected blood in transfusions from Irwin, blood bank officials say. Half of those exposed have died from other causes, and of the remainder, blood bank officials anticipate as many as 30 more transfusion deaths this year.

As of Feb. 25, the national Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta reported a total of 8,597 AIDS cases and 4,145 deaths since the disease first was diagnosed in 1979. Of that total, 119 people — 104 adults or adolescents and 15 babies — contracted the illness through blood transfusions.
At Irwin, officials continuously check their donor records against the latest names on the lists of diagnosed AIDS cases from the county health agencies, which are coming in at a rate of two a day, McDonough said. So far, 38 donors have been confirmed as AIDS victims.

The problem of informing transfusion patients has raised some tough ethical issues for medical professionals, said Dr. James R. Allen, chief of transfusion of blood studies for the AIDS task force at the Centers for Disease Control.
Based on current statistics, the probability of receiving AIDS-infected blood in San Francisco is about one in 20,000, McDonough said. Yet despite the low risk, Irwin has seen a sudden jump in donor-designated blood, which is given by family or friends for a specific individual.

In January, there were virtually no such donations. In February, they accounted for 7 percent of all of Irwin's donated blood.
Blood banks hope a test expected to be available in the next month will virtually eliminate the risk of using AIDS-contaminated blood. The test detects antibodies to the suspected AIDS virus known as human T-cell lymphotropic virus, or HTLV-III. The test's accuracy is in dispute, and researchers admit that many people will test positive for the antibody who either do not really have it or who have the antibody but will never develop AIDS.

Big Spring is contest prize

A funny note: A San Angelo radio station is having a contest with the winner getting a weekend in Big Spring! It seems they have a street in San Angelo under which a spring flows. It erupts occasionally ruining the pavement. As I understand it, the person who guesses closest to the next eruption date wins a trip. First place goes to Hot Springs, Ark., for the weekend, and second place goes to Big Spring for the weekend. I'll find out more about this.

Read next week's column for the pros and cons of the question of civil service for the fire department personnel. We'll look at both sides of this issue to help voters make their decisions.

A group of Big Spring downtown merchants went together to purchase a full page of the Martin County News jointly advertising shopping here. They created goodwill in Martin County by this invitation at the bottom of the ad... "Shop in Stanton first and if you can't find what you want, please come to Big Spring."

Time for the customer

By TOM PETERS
We are what we pay attention to, and attention is all there is. You're only as good as your daily appointment calendar. Do you want to find out the strategic thrust at WalMart, PepsiCo, Milliken & Co., Mrs. Fields' Cookies? If you do, analyze the calendar of senior managers Debbie Fields, at Mrs. Fields' Cookies, Sam Walton at WalMart or Andrew Pearson at PepsiCo. They wear their values and visions on their sleeves. They put their calendars where other people put their mouths.

Visions and values that mark the great companies are seldom brilliant. They're merely sensible. But the leaders live their visions with obsession, drama and constant visibility. If the cornerstone of your business is customer service, you have to spend time on service visibly — at every site, in every department, every day.

Sam Walton lives his priorities; the store is king. Walton, age 66, visits a dozen stores a week — each of the 700 stores in the WalMart chain at least once a year. Willard Marriott, Sr., has read every complaint card in the Marriott Hotels system, daily, for 56 consecutive years. His patently obvious strategy is superior service.

Roger Milliken at Milliken & Company, the textile powerhouse, has devoted the last two years to focusing on enhancing customer listening. He and his president, Tom Malone, spend 80 percent of their time at it! They were questioned recently about the diversion of top-level energy by an executive from another company. The response from Malone was simple: "Our managers are minding the store. How can we not spend 80 percent of our time on our customers, if this is our real priority?"

Milliken also has a formal customer listening program that involves customer visits to the company's facilities. During the visits, customers are given a prescribed period time to chide Milliken — without interruption — about anything the company has done, large or small, to irritate them.

So I get unduly rude when managers say they're too busy to listen to customers. My comment is, "If superior customer service is your true top priority —" single store owner or Fortune 500 CEO — and you're not spending 50 percent of your time on it, by detailed calendar content evaluation, then it is not your true strategic priority."

Yes, I know you're busy. We're all busy. Every manager, first line or chairman of a $50 billion company, has 125 or 1,250 legitimate priorities. The magic of Fields, Walton, Marriott, and Milliken is that each has radically oversimplified a complex world. Each has achieved distinction by making the time to pay attention.

It won't be easy for you. Moreover, the only way to start is to start. Now. I know the meetings, appointments and visits on your calendar have not been scheduled frivolously. Each makes sense, just as the 125 or more priorities make sense. A friend has a trick. He looks at his meticulously kept "to-do" list, and when he needs time to work on a priority, he simply marks a dozen things off the list and frees up 20 percent of his time. (He practiced quite a while to get to that point, I must add.)

I played a game with a colleague one time. He was trying to find 24 percent more time to spend on serving his customers. We looked at his calendar. Twenty-nine meetings were scheduled during the next three weeks. I said, "I've got the answer. Let's cut back to 17." "Why 17?" he appropriately asked. "Well," I said, "the 29 didn't particularly make sense. It could have been 23 or 34; surely there is no magic to the number 29. Therefore, using the same logic, or lack of logic, 17 couldn't make any less sense. And 17 is an odd number; it has a ring of preciseness: it sounds as if you thought about it."

He didn't quite make it. He cut back to 21. Nonetheless, that was a full 30 percent reduction from where he'd been, and he spent that time calling on customers.

Your challenge is clear. In the next three hours after reading these words, you must go to your calendar and find a way to free up 10 percent of your time. Visibly focus your new-found hours on that priority you keep preaching about, but not living.

(Tom Peters' column is distributed by Tribune Media Services)

CREDIT UNION TO CELEBRATE
Citizens Federal Credit Union, 701 East FM 700, will celebrate its 30th anniversary on March 8 with a reception for the community. An open house is planned from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday, according to Sandy Wright, one of the credit union's vice presidents. Citizens Federal Credit Union grew out of what was the Webb Air Force Base Credit Union. That credit union was chartered March 10, 1955. When Webb Air Force Base was closed, the credit union received a community charter and was opened to citizens in Borden, Howard and Glasscock counties, Mrs. Wright said. Jim Weaver is general manager of the credit union.

Dallas firm talking about Datapoint acquisition

DALLAS (AP) — Recognition Equipment Inc. announced Friday that it is talking with Datapoint Corp. about the possible acquisition of Inforex Inc., a Datapoint subsidiary. No definitive agreement had been reached, according to a statement released by Recognition Equipment, which is based in the Dallas suburb of Irving. But the company said any final transaction would include the payment of approximately $12 million for Inforex's assets and the assumption of certain liabilities.

Datapoint would retain its obligations to the holders of outstanding Inforex debenture notes due on March 29, 1989, the statement said. Datapoint officials have been seeking a buyer for their company, which reported this week that it lost $15.9 million in its second fiscal second quarter, compared with earnings of $9.29 million for the similar period a year earlier.

Fina station has new operator

For more than 15 years Bill Kautz owned his own truck and he spent his days and nights traveling around the nation.

Kautz recently stepped out of the trucking business and with his wife Jann is operating the Fina Service Station at 1604 Marcy.

Kautz said he left trucking because he had driven "too many miles." Trucking is "too hard a life," he says now.

Economically, it is hard for many truckers to make money at their trade in the face of rising fuel costs and insurance costs.

Kautz hasn't ruled out returning to trucking on a part-time basis. He said he may drive a truck occasionally for area companies sometime in the future, but he plans now to concentrate on the service station he is operating.

The service station is owned by Thurman Oil Co. The company owns almost a dozen Fina stations in this area and is the local Fina distributor.

Kautz is not new to the service station business. He worked at a Standard station for four years while living in North Platte, Nebraska. For years, he traveled around the country, building Texaco service stations.

In recent months, the station located at 1604 Marcy was often closed. Kautz said he hopes to keep the station open longer hours and he is offering a number of services to customers of the station.

New hours at the station are Monday through Saturday, 7 a.m. to 9:30 p.m., and Sunday, 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Kautz said repair work offered at the station includes replacing alternators, batteries, shocks, U-joints, tires and other minor repairs.

Kautz said "trade has been building" since he began operating the station earlier this month. "We are picking up more business every day. (Customers) are getting some service, and that's what people want."

Kautz has lived in Big Spring since 1974. His wife, Jann, is a native Big Spring resident and is the daughter of Walker and Wynelle Bailey.

Mrs. Kautz is a business teacher at Forsan High School but after school and on weekends she can often be found at the service station. She is keeping the books for the station and working in the office and manning the station when Kautz is out picking up equipment. In his new position, he can spend more time in Big Spring. "I like him being home," Mrs. Kautz said.

Chamber collects wage surveys

Twenty-two surveys outlining benefits and wages for Big Spring employees were returned to the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce recently and compiled into a report for the public, according to LeRoy Tillery of the Chamber.

According to the Tillery, 90 surveys were sent out and 22 responses were collected.

Those responsible for the survey were Emma Bogard, Richard Hoolihan, Auriel LaFond, Joe Wallis and LeRoy Tillery.

Following is a breakdown of some of the wage figures. Weighted averages were achieved by taking the minimum and maximum salary paid for a certain job and dividing that by the number of employees holding that job.

Bookkeepers in the city are making a weighted average of $7.76 an hour, according to the survey. Low wage was $4.51 and high wage was $14 an hour.

Chemical plant operators make an average $13.41 an hour. Low wage was $6.51 an hour. High was $14.50.

Laborers make $6.17 an hour on the average. Low wage was $3.35 and high was $9.

Cooks in the city make an average of $7.34 an hour. Dispatchers make an average of $9.76, while cashiers and checkers make an average weighted wage of $4.07.

Electronics technicians make an average of $11.51. Food service workers make $4.40, and forklift operators make an average of $9.26.

Heavy equipment operators make an average of $12.01. Medical laboratory technicians make an average of $8.27 while non-medical technicians make an average of $13.68.

Registered nurses in the city make an average of $10.63. Licensed vocational nurses make $6.48 an hour. Nurses aides make $6.48.

Merchandise displayers make an average of $3.35. Office clerks make an average of $5.73, and PBX operators make $5.18 on the average. Custodians make an average hourly wage of $4.81.

Receptionists make $3.66 while sales clerks make $3.46. Secretaries make an average $7.38.

Security guards make $7.59. Stock clerks make $4.01, while shipping and receiving clerks make $9.09.

X-ray technicians in the city make $8.59 an hour in the city on an average. Maintenance mechanics make an average of $9.88. Pipe fitters make $12.99 on the average. Welders make $13.07 and carpenters and painters make an average of $12.93.

Manufacturing, service, retail, distributing and several miscellaneous businesses responded to the survey. Eighteen of the firms had an established wage and salary structure and three did not.

Two of the firms paid monthly, two semi-monthly, six bi-weekly, two weekly and several paid on a combination of those methods.

Ozark Airlines slashing prices

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Ozark Airlines said Friday it is responding to slashes in ticket prices announced earlier this week by Southwest Airlines with the introduction of matching "go-getter fares."

The fares, the St. Louis-based carrier said, will be available beginning March 17 and extending through April 2. Featured will be $17 flights to Chicago and Kansas City and $39 flights to Houston and New Orleans. Ozark said the offerings will be capacity-controlled.

In addition to its "go-getter" package, Ozark announced the introduction of reduced-cost business and pleasure flights to the same four market areas.

Business fares between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. will be offered five days a week Monday through Friday on flights to Kansas City and Chicago for $47, the airline said, and pleasure flights between 7 p.m. and 7 a.m. for $32 all seven days. To Houston and New Orleans, the fares for the same flights will be $75 and $60.

Do your children sit on the sofa watching television instead of playing ball or riding bikes on a nice day? If so, they're not alone.

A recently released government study shows that about half of young people today don't receive appropriate physical activity to maintain effectively functioning cardio-respiratory systems.

The "National Children and Youth Fitness Study" found that 50 percent of youth do not get the generally accepted 20 minutes of vigorous physical activity at least three times a week. The report also finds that average measurements of body fat for youngsters are significantly greater than those collected by the National Center for Health Statistics in the 1960's.

There are many causes for this lack of physical activity. But the report expressed special concern that school physical education programs still tend to use competitive sports and other activities that do not translate well into activities for adult life.

So perhaps we, as parents, need to take more responsibility for insuring that our children get the physical activity they need for a healthy future.

FITNESS SHOULD BE FAMILY FUN

A family that plays together, stays together — physically fit. Here are some ideas for family fitness activities:

- Take a brisk walk each evening.
- Ride bicycles or swim at a local pool.
- Play catch, shoot baskets, toss a Frisbee.
- Play family sports like softball, badminton or volleyball.

Whatever type of activity you and your family select, it will have rewards. Family members will look and feel better. They will improve cardiovascular fitness and feel better about themselves. Enjoy the closeness that comes with shared family activities.

Fertilizer options for pecan orchards

Fertilizer requirements for pecan trees are always a good topic for discussion. Experienced pecan growers know what works best for them in their orchards. I don't expect to change their programs, but here are a few facts I would like to share with you.

1. The only nutrient we have seen consistent measurable results from is nitrogen. Therefore, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service recommends only nitrogen be applied to bearing pecan trees.

2. The general recommendation on pecan trees which occupy their allotted space in an orchard is 100 units of nitrogen per acre.

3. Pecans are a perennial crop, therefore, the fertilizer regime followed one year not only has an effect on the current season but determines the performance of the tree the following year.

4. A good guide to follow to evaluate your nitrogen program on bearing trees is to examine the previous season's terminal growth. If the trees had at least 6 inches of shoot growth, you applied enough nitrogen. If the shoot growth was more than 12 inches, you applied too much nitrogen.

5. If trees are not properly watered and are not planted in suitable soils, all the fertilizer in the world won't help.

6. If you want to cut corners on production cost, don't do it by cutting the amount of nitrogen your trees require. You may cut cost by using a cheaper nitrogen source, but each source has to be handled a little differently to maximize the efficiency of each source.

The rest of this article concerns the nitrogen sources currently used by growers in the area. Don't be misled and select a source just because it is cheaper. Cheaper means you will probably lose part of the nitrogen if it is not properly applied.

Ammonium Sulfate (21-0-0) is the nitrogen source most used by pecan growers in West Texas. Ammonium sulfate should be applied at 400 to 500 pounds per acre. If a split application is made, 60 to 70 percent of the fertilizer should be applied the first of March and 30 to 40 percent in mid-June with the second or third irrigation. Ammonium sulfate is the most stable of the nitrogen sources which accounts for the higher price of the material. Ammonium sulfate applied to clean, dry soil will not volatilize as readily as the other nitrogen sources. The material will lay on the soil surface for 7 to 10 days before irrigation with no significant losses of nitrogen from volatilization.

Ammonium Nitrate (33-0-0) is a popular source of nitrogen in many areas of Texas. The cost per unit of nitrogen is cheaper than ammonium sulfate but the nitrate portion of this formulation is very mobile and will leach out of the root zone in lighter soils. This material is commonly used in split applications with 21-0-0. Ammonium nitrate must be applied to cool, dry, clean soils or soil bacteria will convert a portion of the material to NH3 gas and a significant portion of the nitrogen will be lost. 33-0-0 must be watered in soon after application or incorporated to insure minimum losses of nitrogen.

Urea 42-0-0 is very comparable to ammonium nitrate in cost and effectiveness. Urea should only be applied to cool, clean, dry soils to insure efficient use of the nitrogen in this formulation. Urea should be watered or incorporated into the soil as soon as possible after application. Urea is very mobile and will leach readily in permeable soils.

Anhydrous Ammonia 82-0-0 is a gas which is commonly applied in the irrigation water. This is the choice of most cotton farmers as a nitrogen source. It is the cheapest source of nitrogen available. A significant amount of the nitrogen can be lost to volatilization if the material is not handled properly. Losses are less in cold water and cool soils, therefore, applications should be made only in early season. Less nitrogen is lost if the point of injection is as close to the ditch turnout as possible. Growers not prohibitive and can be recovered in fertilizer savings in one or two seasons. The combination of these materials in the irrigation water converts the anhydrous ammonia.

Anhydrous Ammonia (82-0-0) + Sulfuric Acid (H2SO4) is a very efficient way to use 82-0-0 as a nitrogen source in pecan orchards. The initial cost of the storage and application tanks for the H2SO4 is not prohibitive and can be recovered in fertilizer savings in one or two seasons. The combination of these materials in the irrigation water converts the anhydrous ammonia to ammonium sulfate which is a very stable and efficient form of nitrogen fertilizer. The Clothing Leaders met Monday night to plan the 1985 Clothing Project and Show. The show this year will be April 13. The judging will be at First Presbyterian Church beginning at 2 p.m. The Style Show will be at La Posada at 6 p.m. A buffet supper will be served for $5.25 each. This includes the meal, tea, coffee, chips and tips.

Symphony Guild elects new officers

New officers for the year were elected during the Big Spring Symphony Guild meeting in the home of Thelma Carlile, Feb. 24.

They are: Linda Ainsworth, president; Kathryn Perry, first vice president; Lisa Nichols, second vice president; Thelma Carlile, secretary; and Phyllis Graumann, treasurer.

Delegates to the state convention of the Texas Association of Symphony Orchestras were appointed. Those who will attend the April conference in Abilene are Mrs. Ainsworth, Mrs. Graumann, Suzanne Haney and Mrs. Nichols.

Marjorie Dodson's choral ensemble from Big Spring High School performed several contemporary musical selections at the meeting.

Mrs. Ainsworth reported on the recent trip to Austin to meet with Larry Don Shaw. She said that while a few representatives are not in favor of arts funding on the state level, Rep. Shaw is a strong supporter of the efforts in Big Spring.

Plans were made for the March 9 concert by the Big Spring Symphony at Howard College Auditorium. A noon luncheon will be held for the musicians at St. Paul Lutheran Church. Following the concert in the evening is a reception for all concert goers at St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

Make plans soon as we will need to know the count by April 10.

Forms for the Clothing Project will be due April 4 by 5 p.m. Lisa Hoff and Naomi Hunt will be out of the office that day, so if anyone needs help with forms call them before that day.

A textile workshop will be offered that will assist 4-Hers in their clothing projects, March 9, at the county fair barns. Registration will be at 9 a.m. Make plans to attend. The District Fashion Show will be in Odessa, May 4.

4-H Council members met recently and elected two delegates to go to the District Council meeting, March 16. Representing Howard County will be Robbie Dolan and Ricky Hope.

Howard County will host the Invitational Livestock Judging Contest at the fair barns, March 16. All 4-Hers' help is needed in preparing for the concession stand and the judging contest. Sandwiches, brownies, and many workers are needed. Anyone that can help with this is urged to call County Extension agents Hoff or Dennis Poole to get on the schedule.

A Record Book Training for Leaders will be March 24-25 and 30-31. Anyone planning to attend may call agent Hoff. The training will be at the Texas 4-H Center at Lake Brownwood.

District Contest for method demonstration will be April 27. Those wanting to attend and participate in method demonstration may call the 4-H county agents Hoff or Poole for information and to let them know of interest.

Klondike rips Indians, 79-66

By STEVE BELVIN
Staff Writer

LEVELLAND — The Ft. Davis Indians gave the Klondike Cougars a good battle for 30 minutes of the game, but in the end, the Cougars stormed to a 79-66 win in the opening round of the Region I-A Tournament.

The Indians, who end the season with a 23-2 record, played coach Jimmy Thomas' Cougars nip and tuck throughout most of the game. The winners of District 14-A handled the Cougars trapping press well for the most part of the game.

But going into the waning minutes Klondike's timely free throw shooting and their press finally took over.

The game came down to the final two minutes with Klondike leading 66-64. Both teams had just lost their big men to fouls.

Ft. Davis' 6-4 junior, John Lane exited at the 4:04 mark with 14 points and 12 rebounds. Klondike Lane Turner left the game with 2:51 remaining after scoring 19 points and collecting 9 rebounds. He and Lane waged a war throughout the contest.

BRENT AIRHART
... Cougars leading scorer.

In the final two minutes of the contest, the Cougars nailed down 8 of 10 free throws to ice the game. Forward Mitch Mitchell hit 4 free throws while Ricky Webb added three. Webb, a 5-10 senior, played a good game as he controlled the boards for the Cougars. His 14 rebounds were a game high.

Meanwhile Klondike placed 4 starters in double figures. Led by Brent Airhart's 20 points. The senior guard hit 9 of 14 shots from the floor. Fellow guard Tim Cope added 17 points, 4 steals and 6 assists.

Cougars coach Jimmy Thomas was displeased with his team's performance. "We didn't play well, except for the last 4 minutes. I think the press eventually wore them down. We must play better against Whitharral."

The game went back and forth throughout most of the game. Klondike trailed 20-19 after the first quarter and led 35-34 at the half.

Ft. Davis stayed close with good shooting from Lane and guard Michael Fierro, who scored 16 points. Ft. Davis shot 57 percent from the field in the first half while Klondike shot 42 percent.

The second half rocked back and forth with Ft. Davis holding its last lead, 55-54 with 6:18 left in the game. Klondike roared back as Turner hit two free throws, Cope scored a basket and Webb added another basket. This gave Klondike a 60-56 lead at the 4:04 mark. A lead they would keep the remainder of the game.

Klondike will face Whitharral (21-4), a 68-57 winner over Wheeler. The game will be at 11:00 a.m. today.

KLONDIKE (79) Mitchell 4-5-13; Airhart 9-2-20; Cope 6-5-17; Turner 7-5-19; Webb 2-4-8; Cave 1-0-2; Totals 29-21-79.

Honey Grove's LATONIA ADAMS reaches in and fouls PHOEBE DUNN of Abernathy in the class 2A semi-final game Friday.

S. Oak Cliff, Victoria in class 5A state final

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — Victoria ended Houston Yates' undefeated season with an emotional 65-63 overtime upset in a Class 5A semifinal Friday night at the UIL girl's state high school basketball tournament.

The Stingettes moved into Saturday's final for the third time in four years. They face Dallas South Oak Cliff, a 68-47 winner over Lubbock Monterey in Friday's other semifinal matchup.

Yates overcame a 14-point third quarter deficit to tie the game with 14 seconds left at 59-59 on Tongella Foster's basket. But Victoria's Karen Gaskin sank four of four free throws in overtime to clinch the win.

Yates was 27-0 going into the game. Victoria's Tisha Boldt led all scorers with 19 points. Evelyn Handry scored 17 and Foster 15 for Yates.

Chandra Dismuke, a 4-foot-11 sophomore directed South Oak Cliff's fast-break offense in the victory over Lubbock Monterey.

Abernathy, seeking a fifth state girls' basketball championship, advanced to the 2A finals with a 48-38 victory over Honey Grove. Troy, jumped to a 16-0 lead and walloped Seymour 75-36 in the other 2A game.

Dismuke only scored three points but repeatedly broke the full-court Monterey defensive press with her dribbling and passing. SOC led by as many as 31 points before Monterey's shots began falling in the last quarter.

The Lubbock school made only seven of 30 field goal attempts in the first half. Rhonda Buggs was high scorer.

for SOC with 16 points and 13 rebounds. Laura Supak scored 12 for Monterey, which also lost to SOC in the 1980 finals.

Phoebe Dunn, an all-tournament player last year when Abernathy won the 3A championship, scored 19 points, including 12 of her team's 13 first-quarter points. The 5-foot-7 junior also led the defensive effort that forced 34 Honey Grove turnovers, which Abernathy converted to 25 points.

Abernathy led after breaking a 15-15 tie midway through the second quarter. Johnnie Harrell, who had only two points at halftime, scored 12 in the second half for Abernathy, which also won titles in 1958-59, 1981 and 1984.

Trailing 23-18 at halftime, Honey Grove lost the ball on turnovers on its first four possessions of the second half and never threatened after that. Only once in those four possessions did the Warriors get the ball across midcourt. Lashone Johnson with 15 points and 10 rebounds led Honey Grove.

Seymour, starting five juniors, had no chance against Troy, which raced to a 44-11 halftime lead and built that margin to 48 points — 71-23 — before Troy coach Janice Wallace put in her sub with 4:12 remaining in the game.

Troy, first-round losers in 1981 and 1983-84, took advantage of 47 Seymour turnovers to score 43 of its points. Jeannie Conde had 22 points and 16 rebounds for Troy, and Dana Hargrove scored 16.

All 10 players scored for Seymour, which has only one senior, led by Jana Hays with 8.

It was the first appearance in the girls' state tournament for Honey Grove and Seymour.

Big Spring baseball in consolation finals

The Big Spring Steers baseball team split a pair of games in the District 4-5A preliminary tournament at Abilene High School Friday. The Steers advanced to the consolation final with a 1-0 victory over Odessa High. The Steers lost their first game against 5th ranked Abilene Cooper 5-2.

In the first game, Steer starting pitcher Micheal Dodd went the distance, giving up seven hits in what head coach Adkins described as a "very strong" performance against the tough Cooper squad. Dodd's mound adversary, Doug Hadley, helped himself with 2 hits and 3 RBI's in the hotly contested opening round game.

Big Spring hitters were stymied by Hadley throughout most of th game. Big Spring did rally for 2 runs in the game off three hits to give Cooper an unexpected run for their money.

In the second game, Big Spring starter Tommy Gartman twirled a nifty 3 hitter to give the Steers the 1-0 victory over Odessa High. Big Spring hitters struck the Odessa pitching for five hits on the day and the games lone run was scored by Matt Garrett on a single by Micheal Dodd. Dodd went 3 for 4 in the game.

Big Spring plays Saturday at 12:30 an will meet the winner of the Midland High-Abilene High game for the consolation title.

Curren unhappy with tennis game

HOUSTON (AP) — Kevin Curren is unhappy with his tennis game, even though he's coming off a victory on the World Championship Tennis tour at Toronto last week.

"I'm not happy with my mental attitude. that's been my biggest problem throughout my career. I don't always play to my potential," he said. "I had a terrible attitude going into this match tonight." Curren said after ousting Paul Anacone 6-4, 7-6 (8-6) in the WCT's Houston Shootout.

"I was lazy. I missed little drop shots; I missed easy volleys. Sometimes I play too conservatively. I've got the capability to make good shots, but instead of going for a tough passing shot, I'll lob."

Curren added, "Also, I have a tendency to think about matches ahead of me, and that's the wrong approach. I'm playing just well enough to get by."

Among the opponents he must get by here is John McEnroe, who breezed with Curren into the quarterfinals by eliminating Tom Gullickson 6-4, 6-3.

In other second-round singles matches Thursday, sixth-seeded Brad Gilbert earned the right to play McEnroe in tonight's quarterfinals by defeated David Tate 6-4, 6-2; Peter Fleming, McEnroe's doubles partner, defeated Jan Gunnarson of Sweden 6-3, 6-4; and Leif Shiras beat Jay Lapidus 6-4, 2-6, 7-6 (7-6).

Survival biggest factor in Carolina 500

ROCKINGHAM, N.C. (AP) — Survival will be as much of a factor in Sunday's Carolina 500 Grand National stock car race as finishing among the leaders.

"There are lots of keys to winning here," said Cale Yarborough, whose Ford Thunderbird will start 14th in the 40-car lineup. "You have to handle well and stay in the lead lap until the last 100 miles — which seems like two days after you start the race — and then survive.

"That might be the key, surviving all the demolition derby that seems to happen here."

Ricky Rudd, starting a Ford right behind front-row qualifiers Terry Labonte and Darrell Waltrip — both in Chevrolet-Monte Carlos — noted, "This place historically is really tough on cars, and there's no reason to believe this weekend will be any different than in the past.

When you finish a race here, you feel like a piece of steak that's gone through a meatgrinder, and your car looks like it, too.

"At a short track, you expect that you are going to have some body damage when you're done; you're not racing if you don't," Rudd continued. "But, here, you probably have the highest percentage of doing serious damage to your car, and to yourself."

Dick Brooks, who led 165 of the 492 laps last year before a steering problem knocked his Ford out of action, brought up another factor.

"I've never seen so many cars in the field all running so close together," said Brooks, who will start 17th. "There must be 25 cars that are running within two-tenths of a second of each other.

"When this race is over, cars will look like a piece of chicken that was attacked by a crazed chef with a cleaver."

Bobby Allison, who managed only two victories in a difficult season after winning the Winston Cup championship in 1983, took one of those triumphs in this race last spring.

"I was in a position to win this race last year," said Brooks. "I was leading when Bobby Allison put me into the wall. I haven't forgotten that still, and I'd sure like to win the race this year. It would be a sort of vindication for me."

Bill Elliott, who dominated in winning both the pole and the race in the season-opener at Daytona last month, said, "This race takes forever to run."

"The sun is setting in your eyes as you are going into the turns after more than four hours of racing, and you know you've still got another 100 miles to go."

Elliott, who crashed his Ford last week at Richmond, Va., while Dale Earnhardt went on to win, will start 14th, while Earnhardt's Chevy will go from the 11th position.

The grueling race is scheduled to start at noon EST.

In the past, this event has been postponed or interrupted frequently by bad weather. However, the National Weather Service is calling for only a chance of scattered showers Sunday afternoon.

A crowd of more than 35,000 is expected to turn out for the race on the 1.017-mile, high-banked oval. The winner will take home about $30,000 from the total purse of $353,440.

Steer girls ready for ABC Relays

By STEVE BELVIN
Staff Writer

Just like the boys division in the ABC Relays, the girls division is an early-season look at the District 4-5A meet.

Of the 10 teams entered in the division, all eight 4-5A teams will participate in the meet. Lubbock Coronado and Lubbock High will round out a highly competitive field.

"This meet is good for us," said Big Spring High school coach Randy Britton. "It will be a good indication of what we will be going up against in the district meet. It's going to be a quality meet."

Rightly so with the likes of Odessa High and Odessa Permian showing up for another duel. Last week at the Comanche Relays in Ft. Stockton Permian nosed out OHS 155-153 for the team championship. Odessa will be led by sprinter

Kerry Evans who ran a 26.31 200 meters last week in addition to winning the long jump and high jump.

Permian is paced by Sonja McIntire in the relays and 400. Last week she broke the Comanche Relays 400 record in a time of 60.02.

Other top performers include Permian's Mary Laird in the distance races and Julie Blavier in the weight events and Bobbi Demick of OHS in the 100 hurdles.

There is an abundance of good sprinters in the field including McIntire and Evans, Regina Gentry of OHS, Ethel Edwards, Midland High, Tina Ellis of Permian and Anita Allgood of San Angelo Central. Britton also feels Central might make a run at the team title.

Meanwhile Britton and the Lady Steers will be trying to get their relays teams together. BSHS was hit with some bad news with the loss of two sprinters, Pam Palmer moved to Midland and Joi Tate electd not to run this year. This left Britton with twins Aretha and Latresa Cork from the 400 meter relay team that ran a 48.5, just missing a berth at the state meet.

Monique Jones and Monica Lockridge will round out the 400 relay.

Both Corks are expected to make a strong bid in the sprints while sister Taylissa Cork, Paula Jolley and Amanda Soliz will challenge in the shot put.

Last week at the Comanche Big Spring scored most of its points in the field events, after dropping the baton in the 400 meter relay. Lockridge scored points in the long jump (15-5) and triple jump (33-5) while running a 13.4 100 for fourth place.

Coach Britton calls Lockridge the "biggest bright spot" on the team so far. He also praised hurdler Connie Swinney who broke the 18 second mark for the first time in the 100 hurdles last week.

"She has the best hard working attitude out there," said Britton.

Other top Lady Steers hopefuls include freshman Michelle LaGrand in the 400, Tonya Gilstrap and Milly Correa in the discus, Katrina Thompson in the 800 and Trell Clemons in the high jump.

Top distance runner Nissa De La Santos is a question mark because of a leg injury.

Coach Britton says he is pleased with his team's attitude this early in the season. "I am looking for improvement. The district meet is the biggest meet and that's what we are working towards. Last week the girls showed a lot of enthusiasm and competed well. I expect more this week."

Field events get underway at 9 a.m. while running prelims get started at 10:30 a.m. The 3200 meters will begin at noon with the running finals starting at 2:30 p.m.

Steers in contention in BSHS Invitational

The Big Spring varsity golf team remained in contention for the team title in the Big Spring High School Invitational Friday morning. After the first round results were totaled the Big Spring # 1 team was in eleventh place with a total of 357 for the day. Midland Lee was leading the team competition after the first round with a 314 total. Abilene Cooper was a close second at 317. Andrews was a close third with a 319 total for the day.

It was a spectacular day for golf out at the Big Spring Country Club with temperatures in the mid 70's and a light wind blowing. A total of 20 teams fielded golfers for the two day event. The second round is scheduled to be played at Comanche Trail Municipal Course.

In the fight for medalist honors, Midland Lee's Bobby Gee was leading the pack after the first round with a one over-par 72 for the day. Abilene High's Danny Speegle shot fired a 73 to stay on Gee's heels. Abilene High's Todd Hammer gave chase in third place with a 76.

Individually for the Steers, Freshman Jeff Rhodes shot an 87 on the par 71 Big Spring CC course to lead the first team contingent going into the second round. Sophomore Steve Ross fired an 89 for the day, Marc Couch shot a 90, Mike Porch recorded a 91 for the day and Robert Gilbert rounded out the scorers with a 94.

Big Spring's # 2 team had a team total 384 for the first round. Mike Carrol led the group with a 90 on the day. Larry Garcia fired a 93, and Paul Berringer had a 105 to round out the second group.

Big Spring's # 3 team had a 433 total on the day. Casey Richburg had a 104 to lead the group. Frank Reyna had a 105 total, James Averette fired a 109 and Bryan Bailey rounded out the Steer finishers with a 115.

The second and final round will be played at Comanche Trail tomorrow. The Big Spring # 3 team will begin at 7:30. The BSHS number 2 team will begin at 8:07, and the Steer # 1 team will tee off at 8:45.

Team trophies and medalist awards will be presented at Comanche Trails immediately following the final round.

Big Spring golfer STEVE ROSS raps in his final putt of the day on the 18th green at the Big Spring Country Club during the first round of the Big Spring Invitational. ROSS finished with a 89 for the day.

Flutie leads Generals to first victory

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — The USFL's second weekend began Friday night in Orlando, with Flutie and the Generals taking on the Renegades in their first regular-season game after metamorphosing from last year's Washington Federals. Flutie scrambled and threw for four touchdown passes as the Generals topped the Renegades 28-10. The longest of the four was a 47-yarder to wide receiver Clarence Collins.

The Renegades, who showed a porous defense and punchless offense in a crushing 35-7 opening-week loss to the Tampa Bay Bandits, are prepared for a scrambling, gambling Flutie as a result of his strong second-half effort in the General's 38-28 loss to Birmingham last Sunday.

"We expect him to roll out more. We've worked on a few defenses to hopefully contain him," said Renegades defensive end Scott Hutchinson.

The Generals actually have three good running backs in Flutie, Herschel Walker and Maurice Carthon, the Renegades believe.

Flutie wants to play more aggressively against Orlando than in his regular-season debut against the Stallions. The 1984 Heisman Trophy winner out of Boston College doesn't want to be trailing "by 20 points or have to wait until the fourth quarter to get cranked up," he said in practice this week.

After the Generals fell behind 31-7, Flutie completed 12 of 18 passes for 189 yards and two touchdowns. Said Flutie about his rolling out, running and conducting 2-minute drills in the middle of the game: "There's something about it. I'm in control, and I feel better. Maybe I just have a helter-skelter attitude."

New Jersey Coach Walt Michaels isn't too happy about Flutie's desire to scramble more, however. "It can become exciting, and it can become dangerous," Michaels said. "I guess that's what everyone wants."

Coach Lee Corso of the Renegades, formerly the Washington Federals, will start Jerry Golsteyn, who completed 25 of 43 passes for 231 yards last week despite eight sacks by the Bandits. Golsteyn, a dropback thrower who relies on a short, controlled passing game, is the main offensive hope for Orlando, along with running back Curtis Bledsoe, who ran for 1,060 yards last season as a Washington Federal.

In this weekend's only Saturday contest, Los Angeles visits Portland in a night game. On Sunday, it's Arizona at San Antonio, Denver at Birmingham, Houston at Tampa Bay and Baltimore at Oakland. Memphis plays at Jacksonville on Monday night.

Both the Express and Breakers hope to bounce back from close opening-day losses in their Western Conference game Saturday night. Last Sunday, the Express lost 34-33 to Houston in a contest that featured Jim Kelly's record 574-yard passing performance for the Gamblers. The Breakers' 9-7 loss to Arizona was extra costly because Portland lost running star Marcus Dupree for the season to injury.

In its second straight home game, San Antonio is looking for its first win in the contest with Arizona. The Gunslingers were beaten by Memphis 20-3 last Monday night.

Denver has beaten Birmingham twice in three meetings over the past two seasons. Birmingham is coming off its victory over the Generals. The Gold lost to Oakland 31-10 last week.

Kelly leads Houston against Tampa Bay following the most spectacular game of his pro career in which he tossed three touchdown passes in the last 10 minutes against Los Angeles. Kelly completed 35 of 54 passes for five touchdowns in his 574-yard day. In its opening victory over Orlando, Tampa Bay set a club record of 239 yards rushing.

In hosting the defending USFL champion Stars at the Oakland Coliseum, the Invaders hope to continue their domination in their series. They have beaten the Stars in all three previous meetings.

In winning their home opener against the Gold last week, the Invaders scored their most points since June 4, 1983 when they beat New Jersey 34-21. The Stars lost to Jacksonville 22-14 last week.

Jacksonville's victory over Baltimore was tarnished by an injury to quarterback Brian Sipe, who suffered a separated shoulder and will be out for at least eight weeks.

New Jersey Generals rookie quarterback DOUG FLUTIE is all smiles after leading his team to victory over the Orlando Renegades Friday night at Orlando, Florida.

IOC opens doors for younger pros

CALGARY, Alberta (AP) — Some younger National Hockey League players would be eligible to play in the 1988 Olympics under a proposal approved by the International Olympic Committee's executive board. Whether any will, is another matter.

Juan Antonio Samaranch, the IOC president, announced Thursday the decision by the nine-member governing group to allow into the Olympics hockey, tennis and soccer players under the age of 23. He said the major change in Olympic regulations was experimental.

"This decision is only for 1988," he said. "After 1988 we will see. The Olympic movement must go with the times."

The proposal must be ratified by the IOC's 91 members at their June meeting East Berlin. That is considered a formality.

But the NHL players who would be young enough to be eligible for the 1988 Winter games in Calgary must gain approval from their teams. That is considered unlikely since the league will be in mid-season during the Feb. 13-28 Games.

"I'd be surprised if any player on a regular roster would play in the 1988 Olympics," NHL President John Ziegler said. "Players will be expected to honor their NHL contracts."

"I think the toughest thing would be for the (NHL) clubs to agree to release players in February, down the home stretch of the season," said Sam Simpson, director of operations for the NHL Players' Association. "Then again, they'd also be very concerned about possible injuries, just like they are when players compete in the Canada Cup tournaments."

More likely to be affected by the decision would be minor league players who could be spared for weeks or months to play for their countries, collegians, and junior players who get tryouts in the NHL before being sent back to their amateur teams.

Sweden and Finland might benefit most from the ruling. Those countries could release young players to NHL teams for a year or two, with the understanding that they return home to prepare for and play in the Olympics. Then they could head back to North America.

Buffalo Sabres goalie Tom Barrasso, Pat LaFontaine of New York Islanders, Mario Lemieux of the Pittsburgh Penguins and Steve Yzerman of the Detroit Red Wings are among the NHL stars who would be young enough to play in the Games. Barrasso and LaFontaine would be eligible to play for the United States, while Lemieux and Yzerman are Canadians.

The reaction to the ruling among NHL players was favorable.

"I think it's great," said Boston's Rick Middleton, a Canadian. "It's been an argument in Canada for years. It's why the Canada Cup was formed, basically."

Added Mike O'Connell of the Bruins, who is American, "I think it's great. It will increase the American chances and the Canadian chances, too. Most of our best young players go right into professional hockey. This will give them a chance to play."

TONY PEREZ, a mainstay with the Cincinnati Reds for many years, gets a close look at a bad bounce during the Reds spring training workout in Tampa Tuesday.

Spring training begins with usual controversy

By The Associated Press

The New York Mets' full-scale training camp hadn't officially begin, but outfielder George Foster and third baseman Ray Knight already were in Manager Davey Johnson's doghouse.

Johnson expressed displeasure when the two veterans failed to show up at Thursday's workout in St. Petersburg, Fla. They were the only absentees.

"I'm very unhappy but there is nothing I can do about it before March 1," Johnson said Thursday. "If they don't show (by today) I will fine them. What I feel bad about is that neither bothered to call me to explain why they are late."

Under the basic agreement, players can be invited to camp early but are not obligated to appear before March 1. When the Mets began full-squad workouts on Wednesday, Foster and Knight were the only absentees. Each had requested and had been given permission to miss Wednesday's session, but not Thursday's.

Johnson also said he met with shortstop Jose Oquendo, who signed a contract Wednesday, and promised to try to trade him if he fails to make the team. Johnson has said he expects Rafael Santana to be his starting shortstop and utilityman Ron Gardenhire his backup.

Among the veterans checking in to training camps Thursday were outfielder Claudell Washington of the Atlanta Braves and shortstop Dave Concepcion of the Cincinnati Reds.

Washington arrived in the Braves' camp in West Palm Beach, Fla., a day later than expected, and immediately issued a statement that he would not talk about his recent drug arrest.

"There have been no formal charges filed against me, so I just want to concentrate on baseball," said Washington, who was late arriving at camp for the fourth straight year.

The Braves had expected Washington to be in camp Wednesday for the team's first full workout. Washington was arrested Feb. 18 in Walnut Creek, Calif., and is scheduled for arraignment on drug charges March 12.

Concepcion worked out Thursday in the Reds' first official day of practice, and team publicist Jim Ferguson said it was the first time he could remember "that every player due in reported on the first day. There were no visa delays, car troubles or other excuses."

Cincinnati player-manager Pete Rose might be one reason for the timely arrivals at the Reds' camp. "This year, you go out and you want to work," Reds outfielder Cesar Cedeño said. "Last year, you're here 10 days and you don't want to come out anymore."

Eddie Murray was the only player late to report for the Orioles' camp, but he was staying behind in California where his 17-year-old sister, Tanya, was hospitalized with a kidney problem. The Orioles, who gave permission for the absence, were not sure when Murray would report to their camp in Miami.

Several other teams announced the signing of players at spring training. The Orioles agreed to contracts with catcher Al Pardo and pitcher Nate Snell; the Chicago White Sox signed infielder Tim Lincecum to a one-year deal; the New York Yankees made 1985 contracts with pitcher Rich Bordi, infielders Bobby Meacham, Juan Bonilla and Dan Briggs.

American Samoa: football's blue-chip island

Coach SAMOIA SAMOIA and Somoana High School tackle FITZ ALA on the football field in Pago Pago, American Samoa where the field is 90 yards long and the goalposts tilt. ALA is wearing the traditional Samoan lavalava.

By CHARLES J. HANLEY

PAGO PAGO, American Samoa (AP) — The "Throwin' Samoan," the "Flowin' Samoan" and even the "Snowin' Samoan" made it to the pros. Back home, meanwhile, big and fast football players just keep growin', but with nowhere to be goin'.

"What we've got here is a lot of could-have-beens," laments high school football coach Tu'ufu Uperesa, a former Philadelphia Eagle and, at 6-foot-4 and 275 pounds, a paragon of Polynesian physicality.

At his Fagaitua High School and the four other high schools on this South Pacific island, the kids run, block and kick with the best of them — and more. After all, what Iowa all-stater can climb a coconut tree or paddle a Samoan longboat?

But few of Samoa's naturally gifted young football players are tapped for greater things. Most are left to languish here in the tropical sun, 4,950 miles short of the Rose Bowl.

"This is a very, very far place, and it's difficult to get known," explains Samoa Samoa, a former Washington State quarterback stand-out and now coach at Samoa High School.

Sometimes it's also difficult to excel — when tattered shoulder pads need to be stuffed with socks, the goalposts tilt and the field falls 10 yards short of 100.

Samoans began playing American football in the 1930s, taught by sailors stationed here when this island of lush green mountains and rocky bays, now a largely self-governing U.S. territory of 32,000 people, was under Navy jurisdiction.

Rugby is another Samoan pastime, and cricket is something of a passion. But football strikes a special chord in these descendants of island warriors.

"Samoans make good football players because they won't back down in a fight," Uperesa said.

Besides, said 18-year-old Fitz Ala, "cricket just isn't too exciting." Ala has been stirring up excitement as a 6-4, 280-pound Samoana tackle.

The five high schools play an eight-game season in September and October, when temperatures are around 80 — as they are year-round here.

Uperesa said about 260 youngsters try out for the 30 spots on his Fagaitua team. At any one time, about 10 graduates of island high schools are playing for U.S. colleges — currently including linebackers Alema Fitsemanu at Brigham Young and Taleni Wright at Arizona State, and defensive end Pou Palalei at Washington State.

But landing scholarships is a challenge when you're several time zones removed from the "circuit."

"I tell the kids to talk to their parents about spending their junior and senior years in high school in Hawaii," Uperesa said.

The Samoans who have made it to the National Football League or United States Football League have been schooled in Hawaii, which has a large Samoan community, or on the mainland.

"Throwin' Samoan" Jack Thompson, a quarterback for the NFL's Tampa Bay Buccaneers, for example, was born in Pago Pago but reared in Seattle, where he played high school ball before going on to Washington State.

New England Patriots running back Mose Tatum, who dubs himself the "Snowin' Samoan" at his "Hawaiian-style shaved ice" outlet in San Diego, grew up in Hawaii. And the "Flowin' Samoan," Samoa-born Tony Loia, a light-footed 320-pounder who played center for the USFL's old Washington Federals, hails from Hawaii and New Jersey.

In football, Samoans have a lot going for them — naturally strong and agile, many develop their talents by taking part in traditional dance troupes from an early age, by scaling mountainsides to reach family vegetable plots, and by climbing coconut trees.

There may even be secret ingredients: Uperesa, 36, swears by the light nectar of the young coconut. He says he drinks 15 a day.

But, American Samoa's high schools lack the facilities and staff for a good football program, the coaches say.

The American Samoa government acknowledges the problem.

"We're going to do something ... to ensure adequate equipment," said Al Ripine, spokesman for Gov. A.P. Lutali, who was elected last Nov. 6. "If not through the government, then through some PTA-type fund-raising."

Denver upend Mavs 141-140 in overtime

DALLAS (AP) — Denver reserve guard Elston Turner scored 4 points in the final 40 seconds of overtime Friday night as the Nuggets defeated the Dallas Mavericks 141-140 despite 46 points by Mark Aguirre in National Basketball Association play.

Turner, who finished with 8 points, hit a pair of free throws with 40 seconds left to put Denver ahead 139-138. His 18-footer with 8 seconds remaining pushed the lead to 141-138 and capped a comeback from a 23-point deficit.

Dallas' Dale Ellis tipped in a missed 3-point attempt with one second to play to complete the scoring.

The Mavericks, 32-27, fell to 6 1/2 games behind Midwest Division-leading Denver, 39-21.

Aguirre, who came within three points of his career high, sent the game into overtime by hitting one of two free throws with 24 seconds left to tie the score at 126-126.

Reserve guard Mike Evans led Denver with a season-high 38 points, including 16 in the fourth quarter, as the Nuggets won their fourth straight and 17th in their last 21 games.

Dallas took their last lead at 138-137 with 1:18 left in overtime on an 8-footer by Sam Perkins.

Rolando Blackman had 25 points for Dallas.

Denver trailed 91-68 with 5:17 left in the third period. The Nuggets cut it to 100-85 after three quarters and took the lead at 126-127 with 1:17 left in regulation on two free throws by Evans.

Thurl Bailey led Utah with 24 points. Rickey Green added 20 and Darrell Griffith 19 for the Jazz, who dropped their second straight game at the University of Utah Special Events Center and are now 28-32 in the Midwest.

The Jazz trailed most of the game, but with only one starter on the floor, rallied to grab the lead at 102-99 with 4:16 remaining in the game.

But Houston promptly hit four straight baskets and held on for the victory.

Lewis Lloyd aided the Rockets' cause with 24 points, including 10 in the fourth period.

Fred Roberts, Bobby Hansen and John Stockton sparked the Jazz fourth quarter rally. Roberts wound up with 12 points and seven rebounds and Hansen finished with 14 points.

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Houston's twin powers, Ralph Sampson and Akeem Olajuwon, combined for 55 points in leading the Rockets to a 119-115 National Basketball Association victory over the Utah Jazz here Friday night.

Sampson led all scorers with 29 points, while Olajuwon scored 26 and grabbed 15 rebounds as the Rockets improved their Midwest Division record to 35-24.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

SUNDAY, MARCH 2, 1985
GENERAL TENDENCIES: The daytime is quite good for attending to whatever home and family matters require your attention and to get your ideas on a more sound basic structure.
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Try to be with your family and do what most pleases them, thereby avoiding disagreement in the evening at your home.
TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Morning is best for activities you most enjoy, but be very conservative in the evening though you may feel restricted.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): A good day to make your savings grow, by right investment, but try to be more economical in the evening and purchase wisely.
MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21): Doing whatever you like during the daytime is fine, but avoid arguments in the evening.
LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21): Get into physical studies early; this can help you to avoid possible trouble. Your mate is apt to be more affectionate during the day.
VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): The daytime is good for contacting and seeing friends you have had little time for lately. Plan for the days ahead.
LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Early contact higher-ups you know who can be of assistance to you, and get good results, but take it easy tonight.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Show more character and energy in whatever activities you get into today. Take it easy tonight and feel content.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Your intuition is working accurately in the morning, so be sure to follow its promptings, but tonight your nescies are not good.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Try to please any associates you may see today and come to a better understanding with them.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Set up a schedule for the new week that can be easily followed. The evening is best for taking health treatments you may need.
PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Arrange early for the entertaining you want later and also for into the new week. Avoid romantic entanglements tonight.
IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be very alert to whatever is going on around him, or her and will be most sensitive and also understand matters of business well. One who will want to be of service to the public in general and also have a most artistic and cultural nature.

MONDAY, MARCH 4, 1985
GENERAL TENDENCIES: Strange early morning situations can be very much to your advantage if you are alert to new arrangements that give you the opportunity to express your special talents.
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Decide what it is you want to attain in life and then make plans that you can easily follow. Be happy after a busy day.
TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Some early home trouble can be turned to your advantage if you study how to establish really harmony there.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): You have important calls to make and should concentrate on how to get the best results.
MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21): In the morning you are puzzled about how to handle business affairs, but study your financial status and you'll know.
LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21): You now understand how to gain the benefits that you need, so follow them intelligently. Be with that charming group in the evening.
VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Get a better perspective as to how to get your talents working more profitably. You find that the planets are favorable today.
LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): You are too immersed in your own interests, but today you should get out and see good friends and make new ones.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Seek out prominent persons who can assist you where your goals are concerned and gain their aid.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): You have inspired new ideas and should use them quickly since they can help you make real progress.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Study your own methods instead of working all those angles, and you will understand the motivations of others better.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Be more willing to conform with others on an ethical basis and become more successful. Come to the right decisions.
PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): If you make your environment more artistic and charming, you can be happier in it. Entertain your co-workers.
IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she can, with a smile, gain favors from others, so be sure to give as fine an academic education as you can and your progeny will do very well. Be certain to pay a compliment for any exceptional or outstanding work done and raise the incentive here.
