Farm showdown

Reagan veto threatens farm credit bill

ROBERT DOLE

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. said Saturday that a veto by President Reagan of a package containing credit relief for farmers would hasten farm bankruptcies and compromise the nation's food security.
But Senate Majority Leader Robert Dole countered that Reagan should kill the legislation because it is an unnecessary bailout, and said he hoped the legislation would be disposed of this week so farmers can know what to expect in the way of spring-planting help.

"Rather than offer a sound alternative, the administration is trying to obstruct our efforts to help the American farmer," O'Neill said in the Democrats' weekly national radio speech. "I believe this obstructionism is shortsighted and that it compromises our security."
Dole, in an interview, dismissed the Democratic efforts as political game-playing designed to posture them as friends of the farmer. He said farmers can benefit more from a credit program already in place, and from administration efforts to hold the line on government spending and bring down deficits that cause high interest rates and an overly strong dollar.

"I would hope if the House is going to pass the Senate bill (containing the farm credit aid), that they do it quickly and the president does what he's going to do quickly so we

U.S., Mexico relationship on the mend

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The U.S. and Mexican governments are making gestures to ease relations strained by the kidnapping of an American narcotics agent, whose disappearance still remains a mystery after a month-long search.
Enrique Camarena-Salazar, 37, a Drug Enforcement Administration agent, was kidnapped Feb. 7 by four gunmen within sight of the U.S. consulate in Guadalajara. Despite the investigation and a standing $50,000 reward from the U.S. government, his fate remains unknown.

U.S. officials have said Mexico is the base for as many as 75 major drug traffickers and 18 large gangs and most of their activity is centered in Guadalajara, the country's second-largest city 322 miles northwest of Mexico City.

When U.S. Ambassador John Gavin was summoned to Washington two weeks ago, Mexico's failure to solve the case had led to one of the most serious conflicts between the two countries in recent years.

But with Gavin's return last week, both countries appeared to be making some overtures to show that U.S.-Mexican relations were on the mend.

There had been complaints from top-level Mexican officials about the intense searches of vehicles entering the United States from Mexico that were instituted after the kidnapping.

Some U.S. officials said it was done to pressure Mexico into a more aggressive investigation. Mexico called the move unjustified and said it hurt its economy.

There also was growing concern in Mexico that the State Department would issue a travel advisory for Guadalajara and the Pacific coast resort of Puerto Vallarta.

Counting Camarena, seven Americans have disappeared without a trace in Guadalajara since Dec. 2. There also have been several reports of violence against Americans in Puerto Vallarta.

But when Gavin returned to Mexico last week, the border searches had been ended.

Legislature may decide on abortion

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — In a few weeks, Texas lawmakers will receive a package reminding them of a controversy that won't go away — abortion.

The Greater Dallas Right to Life Committee is mailing 181 video cassettes of "The Silent Scream," a movie showing the reactions of a fetus being aborted.

Their purpose is to try to convince lawmakers to pass legislation prohibiting abortions past the sixth month of pregnancy, impose licensing on abortion clinics and establish other stricter guidelines for obtaining an abortion.

In the past, pro-choice forces have mostly blocked anti-abortion legislation before it reached the House or Senate floor for debate. But this session, it appears legislators may find themselves voting on the controversial issue.

Soon after the tapes are delivered, Bill Price, president of the Dallas Right to Life Committee, predicts that members of the House State Affairs Committee and Senate Intergovernmental Relations Committee will hear testimony that "will make every front page in the state."

Price and Rep. L.B. Kubiak, D-Rockdale, house sponsor of the bill to prohibit third trimester abortions, declined to identify his witness.

"She's going to blow the lid off the abortion industry. She fears for her life and we do, too," Kubiak said.

The Rockdale representative said he has the votes in the House to pass the measure, which also would halt state funding to hospitals that perform abortions, require parental consent for minors and impose felony sanctions on physicians who perform abortions when a fetus is "viable" or able to stay alive outside the womb.

Comeback country singer says he's...

On the road again

By CAROL BALDWIN
Staff Writer

Big Spring musician Kit Smith is going on the road again this month and he hopes his name will become a household word among country music lovers.

Smith, 55, of 1000 Wasson has loved country music all his life, he said. He has been a professional musician since 1974 but said, "I was born into it. My dad would always play when I was a kid. My mother sang at the Grand Ol' Opry in Nashville. She was a member of the Cacklin' Sisters."

Smith was born in Alabama. He came to Big Spring in 1949 and took a job as a trucker for Neal Transfer and Storage and later for the Cosden Oil & Chemical Co.

During the early '50s Smith and Bozo Darnell hosted the Big Spring Jamboree, a series of shows on Saturday nights. The shows featured a number of guests, including Elvis Presley.

Farm problems harvest political battle can get it back up here and dispose of it this next week," Dole said.

He said Reagan has indicated his intention to veto the bill and added that Senate Republicans have more than enough votes to sustain a veto.

If the package, which contains at least $100 million in new spending, were to become law, "it would be the death knell" for budget-reduction efforts which GOP senators are already finding difficult, Dole added.

Although the House has passed its own, somewhat different, credit relief package, O'Neill decided to take the Senate's measure straight to the floor on Tuesday, short-circuiting the normal procedure of a House-Senate conference.

Thousands of farmers, primarily in the Midwestern grain belt, are having difficulty obtaining planting loans this spring because the value of the crops and land they use for collateral has plummeted. For many, inability to plant a 1985 crop would mean financial collapse.

"When we speak of keeping the farmer strong, we are speaking not only of a moral or an economic concern, but of an obligation to our national security itself," O'Neill said in his radio speech.

A strong, stable supply of food for our country is a national insurance policy, one that we Americans cannot afford to cancel."

The bill in question offers $175 million in non-food aid for drought-ravaged areas of Africa. Senate Democrats, joined by a handful of renegade farm-state Republicans, succeeded in tacking on several farm-credit provisions.

One provides $100 million in interest-rate subsidies for farmers and $1.85 billion in additional loan guarantees. Another calls for immediate 50 percent advances on crop price-support loans normally not received until harvest time.

Dole faulted the administration for not doing more to promote its own existing credit help plan, which offers $650 million or more in loan guarantees for qualifying farmers and includes steps to speed up processing of loan-restructuring applications.

"There's so much confusion out there, I wonder if many farmers who really need this relief know what's available?" Dole said.

"If you've got all that money out there with no lid, you're going to take care of a lot of farmers and a lot of banks."

He dismissed suggestions that some new compromise might be reached to extend more aid than is already contained in the administration plan. "I don't see how you can do it at this point," he said.

Legislators may take up abortion issue

Kubiak also is optimistic that House Speaker Gib Lewis will allow debate on the House floor despite the qualms of many legislators who fear an open debate.

"The political consequences could be disastrous if the leadership does not allow us to pass the bill," Kubiak said.

A Texas Poll taken last year indicated a majority of those polled favored prohibiting abortions in the last three months of pregnancy, Price said.

"Anyone who cares about human life supports this bill," said Kubiak, who argued that aborting a viable fetus is no different than "shooting a man down on the street."

Sen. John Sharp, D-Victoria, the Senate sponsor, also is optimistic his version of the bill will win approval. After Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby objected to the portion of the bill dealing with funding of public hospitals, Sharp has agreed to drop that portion.

Sharp said he will be satisfied if only the portion of the bill limiting trimester abortions is adopted.

Pro-choice and pro-life forces both must be willing to make compromises in the area of abortion, Sharp said.

"I am a whole lot more concerned about passing the bill than I am about cutting up members in a public debate. In the past, there were a lot of people more concerned with letting legislators bleed to get a record vote than they were about passing a bill," Sharp said.

Sen. John Traeger, D-Sequin, who chairs the Senate committee that will hear the bill, said he supports the legislation if Sharp removes the public funding portion.

Even leaders of the pro-choice movement say this may be the year when pro-life forces win a victory.

"We are in serious trouble. We could lose this even though I have a difficult time visualizing how it would be to go backward," said Pam Fridrich.

Singer on the comeback

Smith headed for California in 1966. He knew then he wanted to be a country singer, but his career went off track when he was arrested for "a get-rich quick scheme."

That scheme cost him five years in California prisons. It was an experience that drained Smith of his enthusiasm for many things, including his dream of becoming a country singer.

"I was writing lots and lots of songs in prison. Sad songs," he said. But he had decided against performing, saying, "I was going to give it up."

Smith married after he got out of prison. He worked as an ironworker in Diablo Canyon, a nuclear energy plant in California, and dabbled in music. His wife encouraged him to return to music full time.

Today, Smith is a professional, making a living touring the nation and selling records on the Turquoise Singer page 2-A

He distributes his own records. He sends them to 3,375 radio stations affiliated with the Country Music Association and sends out postcards asking how often his songs are played and how they are being received. He also sells records at concerts.

"I've gotten real good airplay," he said. One of his songs was No. 1 in Hawaii recently. Smith also appeared at the Grand Ol' Opry last year.

Smith is heading for California later this month to work on a deal in which the record company will begin distributing his records. He also has other plans, such as taping a country music video and recording some new music.

Smith records with the Buck Owens band, the Buckaroos. Recording is done in Bakersfield, Calif., in Buck Owens studio. Owens is best known as one of the stars of "Hee-Haw," seen locally in syndication.

When Smith tours, as he will later this year, he plays with the Tall Men. He has been with the band since he became a professional musician.

Smith is happy with his career and sees big things in his future. "It's making me a good living," he said. "This year will be the best year. I'm touring to Hawaii, New Zealand, Sweden and Australia."

He is also planning to tour the South Dakota fair circuit in July.

He and the Tall Men will be touring the "Las Vegas circuit," which includes cities in California, Utah, Nevada and Wyoming.

Smith is also planning a guest shot on "Hee-Haw."

Smith and his wife returned to Big Spring about three years ago from California. He said he returned because he considers the city "my home."

"This is the center of country music," he said with a smile. Most members of his band live in California, and his "front man" lives in Brownfield. Smith's agent also lives in California.

Smith has written hundreds of songs individually. He also writes with Wayne Hill of El Paso, a former Big Spring resident. He estimates that both alone and with Hill, he has written 1,000 songs.

Smith recently wrote a song entitled "We Go Together." He had planned to sell the song to country music artists David Frizzell and Shelley West, but later changed his mind.

"It seems like I could do it," he said. With a twinkle in his eye, he adds that this might just be the song that makes his name a household word.

Zimbabwe city sealed off

BULAWAYO, Zimbabwe — More than 4,000 soldiers and police sealed off the suburbs of Bulawayo on Saturday, began house-to-house searches and apparently forced opposition leader Joshua Nkomo into hiding.

Security sources described it as the biggest military operation in the past year in Bulawayo, a stronghold of Nkomo supporters and — with about 400,000 residents — a city second in size in Zimbabwe only to Harare, the capital.

Soldiers armed with Soviet-designed AK-47 automatic rifles, backed by armed police, were trucked from the city center into the sprawling suburbs, where more than 300,000 people live. Residents were warned by loudspeaker to stay indoors.

20 killed in India melee

NEW DELHI, India — Police fired on mobs and rival party workers fought in the streets in eastern India on Saturday during the first round of state elections expected to consolidate the power of Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi.

At least 20 people were reported killed and more than 1,000 arrests were reported. The violence occurred mainly in Bihar, India's most lawless state, notorious for criminal politics and Mafia-style gangs. The deaths pushed the nationwide toll during campaigns and voting to at least 45 as four of the 11 states voted for new assemblies Saturday.

Swiss avalanche kills 8

ZERMATT, Switzerland — An avalanche roared down on a car and a mini-bus on an alpine road leading to this resort near Mount Matterhorn, killing at least eight people Saturday, rescue officials said.

They called it the worst Swiss avalanche disaster in 15 years and feared that more victims were trapped under the snow. But shortly before nightfall, the danger of new snowslides forced a halt in the search conducted by dozens of rescuers and specially trained dogs.

Officials said the eight recovered bodies included five Swiss and two West German nationals. The identity of the eighth was not determined.

Walesa predicts protests

WARSAW, Poland — Lech Walesa, leader of the outlawed Solidarity trade union, predicted in a taped message Saturday that angry workers would protest the government's revised plans for sweeping food price hikes.

He did not call for protests, but said he would support any job action that Solidarity supporters stage on Monday, when the first phase of price increases are slated to go into effect.

No progress

U.S., Nicaragua butt heads in Uruguay talks

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State George P. Shultz met for nearly an hour Saturday with Nicaragua's president, Daniel Ortega, but said no major progress was made toward resolving differences between the two countries.

"I don't know that anything has changed, although perhaps there is a recognition all around that the center of negotiations must be the Contadora process and the sooner everyone gets back to that process the better," Shultz said later.

He was addressing a news conference soon after his 7 a.m. meeting with the head of Nicaragua's leftist Sandinista government.

Ortega reserved comment after the meeting until he could address his own news conference. Shultz also challenged Ortega's proposal, announced Wednesday, to declare a moratorium on new weapons systems in Nicaragua and to arrange for the departure of 100 Cuban advisers.

"We compute that if they have 100 Cubans leave by the end of 1985, which is what they said, (at this rate) it would take until the middle of the next century for all the Cubans to have left," he said.

"The real question is how many Cubans there are in the country."

Cuba and Nicaragua say there are 200 Cubans engaged in military-related activities in Nicaragua.

Shultz said he hoped Nicaragua's announcement Friday that it would release Jose Urbina Lara, 23, a Nicaraguan removed by force from the Costa Rican Embassy in the Nicaraguan capital of Managua, would lead to a resumption of the Contadora group talks.

Those talks had been suspended in a dispute between Nicaragua and Costa Rica over the incident.

"It has to fall into the category of doing something very bad, and then telling everyone you're going to stop doing it. It's a gesture, but a peculiar kind of gesture," he said.

The Contadora effort to restore peace in Central America is led by Mexico, Venezuela, Colombia and Panama. In January 1983 they formulated an outline for a Central American peace settlement at a meeting on the Panamanian island of Contadora.

Shultz left Uruguay for Puerto Rico at noon. He will return to Washington on Sunday.

He and Ortega were among dignitaries from 72 nations in Uruguay for the inauguration of its civilian president, Julio Sanguinetti. He replaced a military regime that had ruled this tiny South American nation since July 1973.

Shultz indicated upon emerging from his meeting with Ortega that their conversation was limited to an exchange of already-stated positions and that no new negotiating was conducted.

"He (Ortega) reiterated the points that he has stated publicly before," Shultz said. "And I stated again the objections that the United States and our friends in the region of Central American have consistently advocated for years."

He said he repeated America's insistence that Nicaragua trim its military capability, remove "the Soviet-Cuban presence," halt its alleged support for leftist rebels in El Salvador, and expand civil liberties within its own borders.

In Moscow, the official Soviet news agency Tass repeated previous suggestions in Soviet news media that the United States intends to invade Nicaragua. It said current U.S.-Honduran military exercises in Honduras were part of the preparations for such a move.

Pan Am struggles to fly

NEW YORK — Pan American World Airways, struck by baggage handlers and other support staff, operated one-fourth of its regularly scheduled flights Saturday by filling some jobs with senior pilots, the company said.

The strike by 5,753 mechanics, baggage handlers, flight dispatchers and food service workers began Thursday after the Transport Workers Union rejected a 20 percent wage increase over three years that had been proposed in return for increased productivity and reduced benefits.

Most of the company's 19,000 hourly employees, including pilots, flight attendants, flight engineers and teamsters, all unionized, are honoring picket lines.

Teacher strike to grow

JACKSON, Miss. — The Mississippi teachers' strike, which already has idled almost 90,000 students, is expected to escalate sharply in its second week after a statewide restraining order expires, union officials say.

Teachers in Meridian voted Friday night to join the bid for raises to lift state teachers from their position as the lowest paid in the nation. That walkout Tuesday morning will idle 7,200 pupils, since school officials decided to shut down classes with 90 percent of the 393 teachers voting to strike.

Other districts also have indicated they would be hit by shutdowns when a restraining order obtained by the state expires Monday. State Attorney General Ed Pittman has said he would not seek to extend the court order.

Border on kidnap alert

SAN DIEGO — Security was increased Saturday at all crossings along the 1,700-mile border with Mexico after authorities were warned of a plot to kidnap a U.S. immigration or customs official, authorities said.

As a result of the threat, nine remote border stations that cannot be secured were to be closed by nightfall until further notice, said Customs spokesman Mike Fleming in Los Angeles.

U.S. Customs Service intelligence officer Kenneth Ingleby warned agents Friday night "that within 10 days, an unknown group of Mexican nationals intends to kidnap a U.S. Customs agent" or Immigration and Naturalization Service officer, officials said.

Shuttle grounded again

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — Two satellites, including a possibly defective one that forced cancellation of the space shuttle Challenger's planned launch this week, will be removed from the ship's cargo bay on Sunday, NASA said.

Hard luck Challenger, grounded for a second straight mission, then will be moved from the launch pad back to an assembly building Tuesday to await another crew and another flight, probably in late April.

Make some time to show you care

That extra edge for students who excel is often the mom and dad who show concern for their child's studies. An excellent opportunity to express that caring involvement comes this week with open house at Big Spring and Crossroads Country schools.

This is both Texas Public Schools Week and National PTA Drug and Alcohol Awareness Week. While the Texas school celebration is one of opening the school doors to mothers and fathers and friends of school children, the PTA push is to increase parents' awareness of the drug and alcohol problem and provide them with tools for combating drug abuse.

Local schools will be open for visitation this week, and the proud efforts of hard-working students will grace the classroom walls. With passage of state education reform, and subsequent tightening of standards for classroom work, many youngsters are feeling added pressure to perform in school. More than a few tummy aches have been attributed to stress from that pressure. It is of premiere importance this year for parents to show they care, that they are supportive, and that they want to have a fundamental knowledge of what their children are learning in school.

While the PTAs will be pounding the axiom about "an ounce of prevention," classroom teachers will be displaying the hard work of their charges for the school year. Open house is a prelude to spring break, and a reminder that the year of learning is on the wane for 1984-85. Notes were sent out with the children listing open house day and time for this week. If yours has been misplaced, contact your school for the details.

But please, make time to attend open house. Take time to listen to the efforts of the PTAs. These are easy ways to reinforce a child's commitment to education, and to smart ground rules for a successful life.

Billy Graham Bitterness sours a sweet heart

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: A good friend of mine wants me to attend church with her. I have explained to her that I haven't been to a church since my father died some years ago. He had cancer, and his suffering made me bitter about religion. My friend keeps trying to get me to go with her, however. I want to remain her friend, but how do I get her to quit bothering me about this? — Mrs. V.C.S.
DEAR MRS. V.C.S.: Have you ever asked yourself why she is urging you to go to church with her? Perhaps it is because she cares about you and wants you to discover a level of happiness and inner peace that you do not presently know. It may be that she senses you are lacking something in your life — something she has discovered for herself and that she wants you to have.

Christ can make your life new, if you will let him.

Around The Rim How did Davy die?

By KEITH BRISCOE

In the garishly commercialized museum next to the Alamo, several square nails from a 19th Century Big Spring pharmacy are displayed under glass cover.

I mention that as my contribution to the gush of Texas trivia drowning us as the state awaits the arrival of the sesquicentennial celebration next year. I have no idea why the nails are on exhibit at the Alamo.

I suppose we should expect a load of Lone Star lore to mark our 150th birthday, but most of the sagas being churned out still slavishly worship that little mission as the tabernacle of Texas truth.

We've got a bad case of Alamo-mania.

A century and a half later, the myth grows mightier. Can you believe the latest book? "How Did Davy Die?"

A Dallas newspaper is devoting too much space to one reporter's sojourn to unravel "the blasphemy and mystery" of the Alamo.

The blasphemy: Davy Crockett was not killed in battle; he was executed after surrendering. The defenders of the Alamo were rapscallions who had abandoned their wives and children to seek frontier excitement.

The mystery: Why did the full Mexican army attack when a small contingent could have starved out the garrison? Why did Santa Anna violate international law by lowering his national banner before ordering the assault?

Pressing questions. Unfathomable mysteries. Here we go again, counting the minutes at the Alamo, reciting in ritual the passion play of Texas' holiest shrine.

Alamo-mania keeps us from appreciating the marvelously full range of our state's character and history. Few Texans seem to know what went on here in the years after the Alamo and before the creation of the Dallas Cowboys.

Here's the real blasphemy: The legend of the Alamo is a big lie. Nothing heroic happened there. Two companies of militiamen were slaughtered in 45 minutes.

And the real mystery: Why do Texans, who take pride in trophies, enshrine a defeat like the Alamo and ignore a great victory like San Jacinto?

The state's 150-year obsession with the Alamo is fraught with guilt, I'm afraid. We can't admit defeat, and the Alamo was a sorry defeat.

So we've turned San Antonio into Jerusalem, and made of the men who died there crucified martyrs. Alamo-mania is not history. It is theology.

How did St. Davy die? Like the rest of the gallant defenders. Very cheaply.

Opinions expressed in this column are those of the staff writer and do not necessarily reflect the views of the newspaper's management.

Second glances

Managing Editor

You're the editor, part two

The question

Readers were asked last week to take the role of editor of the Greenville Tennessee Sun, who faced a tough decision on printing a story.

Our responses were universal that the editor should not have published a story using unnamed sources, even though the editor was confident of the truth of the story and even though a rival newspaper did publish the information.

For background, here's a summary of the situation described last week:

The FBI began an investigation into a junior bank officer who made fraudulent loans that went to finance a marijuana purchase in Colombia. Rumors began to circulate about the investigation, but the probe was conducted in secrecy.

Although Alex Jones, the editor, knew what was going on in the investigation, he chose not to publish because the only source of information could not be named.

One week before a federal grand jury was to hear the evidence, a rival newspaper broke the story. It not only broke the story, but implied in radio advertising that the Sun was covering up for prominent local citizens.

What the readers' say

All the Big Spring readers who responded to "You're the editor" felt the story should not have been printed using unnamed sources. Here are some responses:

Question: Would you have published the story with unnamed sources, as the rival newspaper did?

"The paper was ethically correct in not publishing a story without confirmation, which would only sound like malicious gossip."

"The immorality of 'bearing' false witness against a neighbor, or the possibility of that, outweighs the need of the public to know."

"No — It would be immoral."

"No — Because you might get sued."

"Before a news story is published, it should be based on solid facts, official confirmation — not rumors. It is wrong and unethical for the press to turn honest, intelligent, conscientious, dedicated men or women into dishonest, divisive, unfair individuals by headlines. ... The federal grand jury was the agency to investigate the facts and then release them. One should not be tried and convicted in the press."

"Only truth and substantial facts should be printed. To do otherwise causes loss of integrity and faith of the public."

"No — print the truth, nothing but the truth, so help you God."

Question: After the rival paper published its story, would you have followed suit with yours?

What the editor did

We pick up the story: The reputations we had set out to protect until and unless indictments were forthcoming had been shattered. The opposition's news stories had named them, and they were common currency.

Was there any reason not to run with the ball and print all we knew, using unnamed sources like our rivals? And what about the hysteria? Surely it would calm the town to be told who was involved and who was not.

On the other hand, I felt that what was happening was wrong, and I especially resented the insinuation by our rival newspaper that we were engaged in a coverup. Our position had been stated in a front page editorial in which we had said flatly that it was wrong to destroy a person's reputation based on information which could not be confirmed, unless there was reason to think that justice was not going to be done. In this case, the law enforcement apparatus was working well.

Since the reputations were no longer at stake, the issue became a murky one of principle.

My decision was that the unconfirmed names would not be printed until the people were indicted. So we scrambled like hell to get confirmed information. A local Colombian woman became our investigative reporter, and she spent hours on the telephone to Colombia. We broke several stories on how the plot had faltered. As it turned out, the whole conspiracy had become a farcical failure. The conspirators ran out of gas flying to Colombia, landed at a Colombian Air Force base, and were immediately arrested. They never saw a leaf of marijuana.

The grand jury did not return indictments at its first meeting, and we had to wait several more weeks for it to do so. On the day the indictments came down, we delayed our press start for four hours to be first — and complete — with the story.

White washing prison system

AUSTIN — I thought Bill Clements lost the 1982 governor's race and went back to Dallas. But it sure did sound like him last week when the governor announced four new appointments to the Texas Board of Corrections.

The man who made the appointments looked like Mark White. His voice sounded like Mark White's. But his words were Bill Clements'.

It was Clements, the first Republican governor in 104 years, who stressed the business approach to board and commission appointees. Most of his appointees were white males with solid records of business or professional successes.

Clements also took the tough-line approach to court-ordered prison reform, seeking to keep the state out of trouble but little else. Prisons aren't supposed to be country clubs, Clements said.

During White's successful challenge of Clements in 1982, the Democrat criticized his opponent's narrow selection process for appointments. After he took office, White began appointing minorities and women in record numbers.

White also promised that the Texas prison system would become a model for other states to follow, humane and efficient.

But that wasn't the tune sung last week. "I'm putting together a management team on that board," Clements, or, I mean White said. He explained that each of the four appointees, all middle-aged white males, had key professional skills and experience that the Texas Department of Corrections needed to solve its various problems.

The appointees are: a president of a law firm, a board chairman of a health care firm, an oil service company executive and a bank chairman. Three of them serve on bank boards of directors, with two of them on the same board. All, of course, are White supporters.

When contacted by reporters, the appointees even made basically the same statements: that they don't know much about prisons but are excited about the challenge and willing to learn and work hard. Probably any of them would have been just as happy, or happier, with a Parks and Wildlife Commission seat.

Prison reform advocates and some legislators were disappointed that White didn't reappoint Harry Whittington or Austin to the Board of Corrections. But they couldn't have been too surprised.

Whittington has been the board gadfly, pointing out waste and mismanagement by some staff members and supporting systemwide reforms to comply with federal court orders. To his supporters, he was a refreshingly active member of an often docile board that basically let the staff run things its way. To his critics, he was a troublemaker who helped publicize problems that brought embarrassment to the prison system and the state.

Rep. Ray Keller, R-Duncanville, and Sen. Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls, urged White to reappoint Whittington, saying his expertise is needed as the state seeks to work its way out of a combination of prison problems and budget restraints.

Prison board Chairman Robert Gunn of Wichita Falls also is disappointed to lose Whittington, with whom he worked to break the status quo. So far, Gunn has resisted White's suggestions that he resign, but he must feel awfully lonely about now.

White's signals on the prison situation have been mixed in the past. He promised reform but criticized studies that said money would have to be spent to achieve them. He appointed the prison board's first black woman and then reappointed a member who had defended the often-criticized practices of the past.

Last week's appointments send a clearer signal that the governor is toughening his stand on prison reform, which has never been a popular issue with the voters.

Faced with an expected tough re-election challenge next year, White wants a board that will run the prison system in an efficient — and quiet — manner.

Farm price support date extended

Harte-Hanks Washington Bureau — The deadline program was extended late Thursday from March 1 to April 1, for enrolling in the Agriculture Department's farm price support program announced.

By LILA ESTES

Q.: A while back, I heard the figure 25 percent as being the standard outlay of a family's income for housing. Is that figure valid?

A.: Until about the last decade it was thought unsound financial management for a family to spend more than 25 percent of their income on housing. But, of course, times have changed drastically to such an extent that the 1980's call for an equally drastic change in investment psychology. Inflation has put housing at the top of the list of preservers of dollar-purchase power — indeed a better hedge than savings accounts, securities or government bonds. As early as 1976, the acceptable average housing outlay had risen to 31 percent and, recognizing this trend, many lenders have expanded their guidelines for home loan qualifications. Housing today remains one of the few profitable savings plans, equity builders and tax shelters for the average family.

PROFIT VS. CASH FLOW

"I can't have made that much profit. If I did, where's the money?" Many business people have asked their accountant this question.

How can one have profit but no cash left? Easy. Take this example: Early in 1984 Charlie started a backhoe service. His father signed a $60,000 note for Charlie's two pieces of equipment, a backhoe and a dump truck.

It was a good year for Charlie. Not only did he get into business without spending one penny of his own cash, but his wife taught school and they lived off her salary.

At the end of the year Charlie's accountant informed him that he had netted $60,000. Charlie's reply was predictable, "I can't have made that much profit. We lived off my wife's salary. I didn't draw a dime."

When his accountant informed him that the bank note was fully paid and that the free and clear assets constituted profits, Charlie was aghast. Charlie is now faced with borrowing to enable him to pay the income taxes on the earnings. Perhaps he should have paid less on the equipment loan and used the extra money to pay quarterly estimates on his income tax.

Seldom is it so easy to see where the profits go. Your business may involve real estate acquisition, inventory, accounts receivable, and equipment purchases. You may also have a series of debts ranging from open accounts payable to long-term mortgages. The proof of profits, however, is still in the balance sheet. The change in assets versus the change in liabilities for a given year is the measurement of profits for that year.

Hispanic groups form coalition

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — Seven Hispanic groups have banded together in a bid to increase the political clout of Hispanics in the Texas Legislature.

"The question we Hispanics are now raising is 'Are Hispanics having an impact on the shaping of public policy?'" said Johnny Mata of Houston, president of the Texas League of United Latin American Citizens. "I for one believe that our influence in shaping policy is not as great as we would like to see," he said.

Mata also is chairman of the new Hispanic Council of Organizations, which includes representatives of Mexican American Democrats, LULAC, the United Farm Workers, Mexican American Legal Defense and Education Fund, IMAGE, Mexican American Business & Professional Women's Association and the Texas Association for Bilingual Education.

The organization has scheduled "Hispanic Lobby Day" at the Texas Capitol for Wednesday to push a variety of causes, including voting rights and civil rights, employment and labor, governmental reform, and human services.

Nude man found carrying severed head tosses skull at cop

MIAMI (AP) — A man was arrested Saturday in a quiet residential neighborhood as he walked naked down the street carrying a woman's severed head, police said.

When police arrived the man began screaming, "I killed her. She's the devil," said police spokesman Mike Stewart.

"It's totally bizarre," Stewart said. "I've seen a lot of homicides, but this is the most bizarre homicide I've seen."

Another police spokesman, Angelo Bitsis, said authorities had received a call about 6:30 a.m. "in reference to a man carrying a head."

"The officers arrived and they indeed saw a man carrying a human head, not a skull, an actual head," said Bitsis. "We found ... he had just killed a woman."

The man, later identified as Alberto Mesa, 23, had to be forcibly restrained, said Stewart. He was taken to the prison ward of Jackson Memorial Hospital, where he was sedated, and was charged with first-degree murder, Stewart added.

The rest of the 21-year-old woman's body was found at Mesa's apartment, police said. She had been stabbed several times before the decapitation, Stewart said.

Her identity was not released, but Bitsis said, "We're almost positive it was his girlfriend."

Mesa carried the head from his apartment to outside the home of a relative about four blocks away, Stewart said. The unidentified relative called police.

Before the officer was able to get

Mesa in the patrol car "he had thrown the head at the policeman at least one time," the spokesman said.

Bitsis said investigators had talked with people who knew Mesa and found that "in the last several weeks he's been taking a great interest in religion — in the devil."

Teen death linked to preservatives

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — The mother of a high school honors student who died after ingesting sodium nitrite said she hopes her daughter's death will convince other young people that the food preservative can be deadly if abused.

Police in East Hempfield Township have ruled the death of Julia Hirneisen an accident, but they are investigating reports that other students may be using sodium nitrite to get "high."

"We want to find out if there is a problem, and if these types of chemicals are being obtained from school, we want to get the word out to the school district," said Sgt. Douglas Bagnoli.

Miss Hirneisen, 15, was found unconscious Tuesday night by her mother and sister. A bottle two-thirds filled with sodium nitrite pills was found in her purse, along with a vial of sodium benzoate, another preservative, the mother said.

An autopsy conducted Wednesday by Dr. Enrique Penrades, the county medical examiner, found that the sodium nitrite caused Miss Hirneisen's death. Sodium nitrite is used to preserve meat and give products their customary color and taste. If too much is eaten, it can prevent the body's blood from absorbing oxygen, which could result in death.

Betty Hirneisen, 47, said her daughter's ambition was to be an engineer, and "she loved science and math."

Mrs. Hirneisen said Julia began an experiment in January on the effects of food preservatives on the growth of bacteria.

Foraging moose, trains collide on Alaska railway

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — A game biologist will ride the Alaska Railroad next week to see if anything can be done to cut down on the number of moose being killed by trains.

Freight trains making round-trips between Anchorage and Fairbanks killed 47 moose Wednesday and Thursday. Most of the moose were hit along the stretch of track between Willow and Talkeetna where heavy snows have driven them down to the lowlands in search of food.

Along the Railbelt, south of the Alaska Range, the snowpack is 50 percent higher than normal, according to Jim Haertel of the U.S. Weather Service. "Some areas have gotten 30 inches in the last week," he said.

With snow up to their bellies, the moose seek out the tracks for easier walking, said Jack Didrickson, a biologist with the Alaska Department of Fish & Game. Once on the tracks, moose are stubborn about getting off, he said.

"It's not that they can't get out — they won't get out," Didrickson said. "They're not used to backing up for anything."

Traveling at about 40 mph, it takes a train more than a mile to stop, so by the time a moose is spotted by the engineer it's generally too late to prevent a collision.

Depending on Didrickson's assessment, the ADF&G may recommend the trains slow down in high danger areas where snowfall is extreme. Another possibility is setting up feeding areas away from the tracks, said Sterling Eide, regional supervisor for the ADF&G.

Molester gets word sentence

FORT PIERCE, Fla. (AP) — A man who pleaded guilty to molesting a 7-year-old boy has been ordered to write the phrase "I will keep my hands off other people" 25 times a week for 11 years.

Charles Brockman, in his 50s, was sentenced Friday to 360 days in prison and 11 years' probation by Circuit Judge Philip Nourse after pleading guilty to lewd and lascivious assault in a plea-bargain arrangement stemming from the 1983 molestation.

He will be required to write the phrase a total of more than 14,200 times during his probation.

Nourse is known for handing out unusual sentences. In one case, he sentenced a man to write 25 times each weekend during his probation, "If I drink any more, I'm going to serve the rest of this sentence in the big house."

Artificial heart patient requires surgery

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Murray Haydon, the world's third artificial heart recipient, underwent nearly two hours of surgery Saturday to discover the source of persistent bleeding in his chest, spokeswoman said.

Haydon was listed in critical but stable condition after the operation, as he had been since receiving the mechanical pump 14 days earlier, said Susan Shipley, a Humana Inc. spokeswoman.

The surgery, begun at 5 p.m., ended shortly before 7 p.m., and Haydon was returned to his room, said Linda Broadus, another Humana spokeswoman.

Iacocca gives advice to Demos

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP) — Chrysler Corp. Chairman Lee Iacocca on Saturday declared himself "a survivor" and said the Democratic Party can be one too, but only if it works on getting its message across to the public better.

"They have to get their story across — what they stand for," Iacocca said after meeting with most of the House Democratic membership at a weekend conference for charting new party strategy.

It worked for him at Chrysler and it can work for them as well, he said: "That's why they asked me down here." At the same time, Iacocca, a registered Republican, blasted President Reagan's decision Friday lifting four years of restraints on Japanese automobile imports.

"It's a sad day for American workers," Iacocca told a news conference.

He said the decision was forcing Chrysler to completely review its operation, "plant by plant and program by program."

He said the company will announce its plans for coping with the decision next week — and whether it will close any U.S. plants.

"You don't get mad about it — you adapt," Iacocca said, adding that he gave the same advice to Democrats in a one-hour closed-door luncheon speech.

Reagan vows to weather storm over budget cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan assailed critics of his fiscal policies Saturday, calling them "born-again budget balancers" who decry the deficit but are unwilling to take political "heat" for his proposed spending cuts.

PRESIDENT REAGAN "I'll take the political responsibility, I'll make the cuts and I'll take the heat," Reagan said in his weekly radio address from the Oval Office.

Reagan said, however, he could do so only if Congress granted his request for the line-item veto — the power to erase specific spending items from money bills without rejecting the bills entirely.

So far, Congress has refused to grant the president such power.

Reagan said numerous special interest groups that complain about the deficit lack the courage to accept spending cuts in their pet projects.

Much Capitol Hill criticism of the president's fiscal 1986 budget has centered on proposed reductions of nearly $20 billion in domestic programs and a request for a $30 billion military spending increase.

Overall, Reagan's budget calls for $973.7 billion in federal spending for the fiscal year that begins Oct. 1. It forecasts revenues of $794 billion and a deficit of about $180 billion.

Despite talk on Capitol Hill of a need to cut the deficit, Reagan's budget has evoked little if any support in Congress.

Reagan decried federal subsidies for Amtrak and transit systems in New York and Washington, as well as funds for the Small Business Administration, the National Endowment for the Arts and what he termed "multi-billion dollar bailouts" for banks and farmers.

The president charged that majority Democrats on the House Budget Committee have been touring the country, insisting the deficit must be reduced while they invited special interest groups to resist his proposed budget cuts.

Reagan questioned why taxpayers in Colorado should subsidize transit systems in New York or Washington. His budget proposes $2.1 billion in cutbacks for transportation programs.

Permian Panthers sweep ABC Relays

Hurdler shatters 2 records

By STEVE BELVIN
Staff Writer

Led by the record-breaking performances by hurdler Gerry Guster, the Odessa Permian Panthers easily took the boys team championship in the ABC Relays here yesterday at Blankenship Field.

Coach Waymond Griggs' Panthers won eight events while outscoring the second place San Angelo Central Bobcats 163-111. Guster was the star of the day as he smashed meet records in the 110 hurdles (14.10) and 300 hurdles (37.80).

He and Odessa High distance runner Simon Martinez were the only double winners of the day. Martinez won both the 1600 and 3200 meters.

It was the second meet in as many tries the Panthers have won. It left coach Griggs in a good mood. "I thought we competed well today," said Griggs. "If Lee (Midland) had been there it might have been a different story. We didn't compete as well in the field events as we did last week, but we made up for it in the running events."

It was a rather grim day for coach Randy Britton's Steers as they finished in seventh place with 22 points. Big Spring got top finishes from freshman high jumper Brian Mayfield and 800 meter runner Dax McCracken.

Mayfield finished second in the high jump with a leap of 6-2. Central's C.L. Bowman won the event at 6-4. Mayfield barely knocked the bar off on his last attempt. "I just hit it with the back of my calf," said Mayfield. "I really didn't think it was a good jump. Hopefully I'll go 6-6 by district."

In the 800, McCracken stayed near the head of the pack and never faltered. He was second after the first lap and hung on for third in front of a fast-closing Craig Nolan of Central.

His time of 2:02.65 left him content for the time being. "I'm happy with my time this week, next week is another story," he said. "I usually stay back in the pack but this time I stayed in front. It felt good, I'll probably stick with this strategy."

The Steers got a fifth place from Wimberley White in the long jump, a sixth by Preston Harrison in the 3200 and fifth in the 1600 relay.

But it was the Panthers who stole the show with their superior depth in the running events. They broke the meet record in the 400 relay (42.13) while Bryan Phillips tied the record in the pole vault (13-6) while Alfred Clark shattered the shot put record with a heave of 59-4.

For the second consecutive week Clark and Midland strongman Darrell Davis hooked up in a classic confrontation. Last week at the Comanche relays in Ft. Stockton, Davis won the meet with a toss of 57-8 while Clark finished second. This time it was Clark's time as he passed Davis in the finals.

Davis, who finished second at the state meet last year, finished second with a toss of 58-11 1/2. Ironically Clark broke the record of 58-11 set by Davis last season.

While gaining second place central got top performances from Bowman in the high jump, Willie Blakey in the long jump and Don Hall in the 100 meters.

Big Spring High School trackster Brian Mayfield strains for another inch during the long jump competition at the ABC Relays Saturday at Blankenship Field. For complete meet results see Page 2B.

Odessa girls fight for title

By STEVE BELVIN
Staff Writer

For the second consecutive week the Odessa Permian Panthers and Odessa High Broncos girls teams have competed in the same meet. And for the second week the team championship came down to the final event to see who would win between the two Odessa schools.

Just like the week before at Ft. Stockton, coach Dot Brashear's Panthers prevailed to nose out crosstown rival Odessa High 107-92 for top honors in the ABC relays.

The meet went down to the final event, the 1600 meter relay. Going into the event OHS held a slim 88-87 lead. The stage was set for a Panthers' comeback, after all they did have the best 1600 relay time coming into the meet.

But the day had not been a particularly good day for relays for the Panthers. First they were disqualified for running outside the exchange zone in the 400 relay and then they dropped the baton in the 800 relay.

But it was not to be in the 1600 relay as the Panthers, led by Sonja McIntire, cruised to new meet record of 4:07.21. Meanwhile OHS finished a distance fifth, insuring Permian of the team championship.

Coach Brashear admitted she wasn't too worried going into the final event. "I feel pretty good," she said right before the race. "We have everyone back on the 1600 relay except one. That team made it to regionals with a 3:57. I didn't yell at the girls when they dropped the batons, they are harder on themselves than I am. I just told them to do their best." Meanwhile the Lady Steers, led by their field event performers, finished eighth with 28 points.

Big Spring got a sparkling performance from shotputters Paula Jolley and Armanda Solis who finished second and third. They also pulled off an upset of defending district champ D.A. Washburn of Permian.

Jolley and Solis was first and second until the second throw in the finals. Washburn passed Solis on her second throw and passed Jolley on her final throw with a toss of 37-10. Jolley's throw of 37-4 and Solis' toss of 35-9 were both personal bests.

The second place was a big finish for Jolley, the sophomore who had been practicing for only three days. "I'm not disappointed with second place because I didn't think I would throw 37 feet after only three days of workouts," said Jolley. "It felt good when I let it go," she said of her second place toss.

Solis also came through with a second place in the discus. She was beaten for first of the last throw by Mickey Miller of Lubbock Coronado (110-5). Solis' toss of 107-5 was a new career-best by 10 feet. "I'm getting my form down in both the shot and the discus," explained Solis. "Last year I had problems with my form. Now I feel good when I'm in the ring."

The Lady Steers also got a fourth place finish from 100 hurdler Connie Swinney who recorded a career-best of 17.86.

Other top performances came from Midland High sprinter Ethel Edwards who broke the meet record in the 200 meters (25.63).

Permian's McIntire also broke her own record in the 400 (58.77).

Hawks take Westerners 71-70 in OT victory

By CHARLIE ALCORN
Sports Writer

SNYDER — Howard College's Al Willis hit a short off balanced jumper at the buzzer to give the Howard Hawks a 71-70 overtime victory over the Western Texas Westerners. In the first game of WJAC tournament at Scurry County Coliseum Saturday night.

It was an extremely close game the whole way, with the Hawks playing their best defensive game of the year. Howard College used an aggressive 2-3 zone to keep the Westerners outside shooters from penetrating.

The game went into overtime when Western guard James Dawn hit a pair of free throw with four seconds remaining to tie the game 63-63.

The first two minutes of the overtime period, were wasted by both teams as each committed two turnovers before Howard College's Joe Burney was fouled with 3:01 remaining. He hit both free throws to give the Hawks 65-63 advantage.

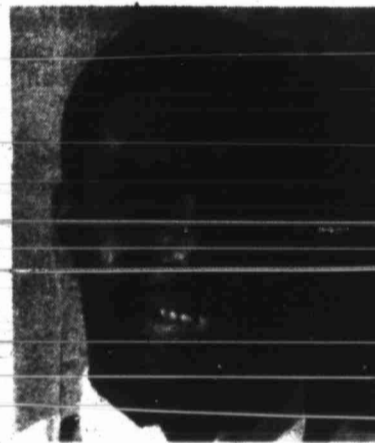

Western was up for the challenge however, they hit six straight unanswered points to take what look to be an insurmountable 68-64 lead with 1:29 remaining in the game. Alvin Hicks led the combat for the Westerners with six points in the overtime period.

Hawks' Forward Benard Bell then responded with four quick points on a jumper and two free throws to pull the Hawks within two points with only 8 seconds remaining. Western guard Hicks hit a base line jumper to give the Westerners a 70-69 lead. Despite intense pressure by Western, the Hawks' Joe Burney was able to inbound the ball to the streaking Willis, who drove three quarters of the court and pulled up to hit the game winner as the buzzer sounded.

It was a seesaw battle in the first half with Howard guard Bruce Kimball battling Western's front court duo Hicks and James Dawn the whole way through. Kimball had 10 points in the first half while Dawn and Hicks combined for 36 points. The score was tied at 28-28 at the half.

The Hawks was using a patient offensive attack the entire game and were able to dictate the tempo of the game throughout. Michael Porter had an excellent night in the floor leadership role directing the offensive game along with point man Burney.

The second half remained the same, seesaw struggle for both teams. The Westerners full court press began to take its toll, midway through the period and the Westerners nodded the score at 59-59 with 2:08 remaining after Howard had led most of the second half.

At the 1:03 mark, the Hawks looked as if they might put the game out of reach. Bernard failed, hit a jumper with a minute remaining, then Porter stooped up and eerant pass and drove the link of the court for a layup to give Howard a 63-59 lead with 37 seconds remaining.

The Westerners came storming back behind the hustling Hicks, who stole a inbounds pass from Porter and dished off to Victor Spencer to pull Western within two points. Porter was fouled the next time up the floor, but could not convert the front end of the bonus. Western called time out with 6 seconds left.

Howard College's Bell was forced to foul the driving Dawn at the basket, and the 6-5 freshman calmly sank both free shots to send the game into overtime.

"We missed some key free throws and short jumpers at the end of regulations," said Howard Coach Ed Spalding. "The game should have never gone into overtime but we played them tough despite losing Kimball with four minutes to go in regulations. I've been holding the kids back all through the conference season, because I wanted them to peak during the tournament. Looks like we're off to a pretty good start."

Leading scorer for Howard was Bruce Kimball with 22 points. Hawks forward Bernard Bell hit for 15 and point guard Joe Burney had 10 points.

Alvin Hicks led Western with 20 points while James Dawn added 16. Victor Spencer gunned in 14 points to round Western players in double figures.

Howard College record goes to 14-15 with the win. They play the winner of Amarillo-South Plains, Monday night at a sight to be determined.

Morelion leads swimmers at region

LUBBOCK — Junior diver Louis Morelion turned in the top performance for the Big Spring High School swim team this weekend at the regional swim meet as he finished sixth in the diving competition.

Morelion scored a school record 297.15 to earn the boys a 15th place finish out of 33 teams.

In other boys results Cade Loftin finished 10th in the 100 yard backstroke (1:04.20) and set a new school record in the 100 butterfly (58.51). Mitch Houghton placed 19th in the 100 breaststroke (1:09.21).

In the girls division the freestyle relay team of Annie Guterrez, Michelle Hummel, Rose Mier and Hartley Newell finished 11th in a time of 4:27.12. Lisa Salazar placed 10th in the 100 breaststroke in 1:21.71.

Amarillo High won the boys division while San Angelo Central took the girls division with 44 points.

Steers fall in baseball consolation

ABILENE — The Big Spring Steers baseballers ended the season-opening district tournament with a 1-3 record as they fell in the consolation finals to Midland High 12-5.

Big Spring has lost to Cooper 5-2 in the opening game and blanked Odessa High 1-0 behind the strong pitching of Tommy Gartman.

But this day against Midland, pitching was not one of Big Spring's strong suits as the Steers went through three pitchers. Junior lefty Eli Torres started the game and went three innings while Mike Dodd came on in relief. Shortstop Sammy Watson finished the game for the Steers. It was a case of one bad inning that led to Big Spring's downfall. With the score tied 3-3 after three innings of play, Midland rallied for seven runs in the fourth inning to take control of the game. Four walks aided Midland's cause.

For the Steers Jay Pirkle swung the hot bat as he drove in all five Big Spring runs on a double and two single. For the game the Steers collected six hits while Midland banged out 11 hits.

Big Spring coach Roland Atkins said the game was a good experience for his team. "It was a good weekend for us," commented the BSHS coach.

Cooper golfers win title

By CHARLIE ALCORN

Abilene Cooper fought off a hard charging team from Andrews to take the Big Spring Invitational golf tournament team championship Saturday afternoon at Comanche Trail Municipal golf course.

Cooper's Danny Speegle walked off with medalist honors with a two day total of 151 for the tournament. Speegle edged out Colorado City's Joey Terrazas, who had the Saturday low of 73, for the individual title.

Big Spring golfers remained in eleventh place for the tournament. Freshman Jeff Rhodes led the Steer golfers with a two day total of 176. As a team the Steers #1 team fired a 350 at Comanche Trail, which gave them a two-day total of 707. Cooper's winning team total was 640, followed by Andrews with 643.

Individually for the Steers, Marc Couch fired a 90 on Saturday to give him a respectable 177 total for the tournament. Robert Gilbert had a 94 at Comanche Trails to finish with a 179 total. Steve Ross had two 89's for the tournament, and Micheal Porch fired a 96 to round out the Steers first team scores with a 187 total.

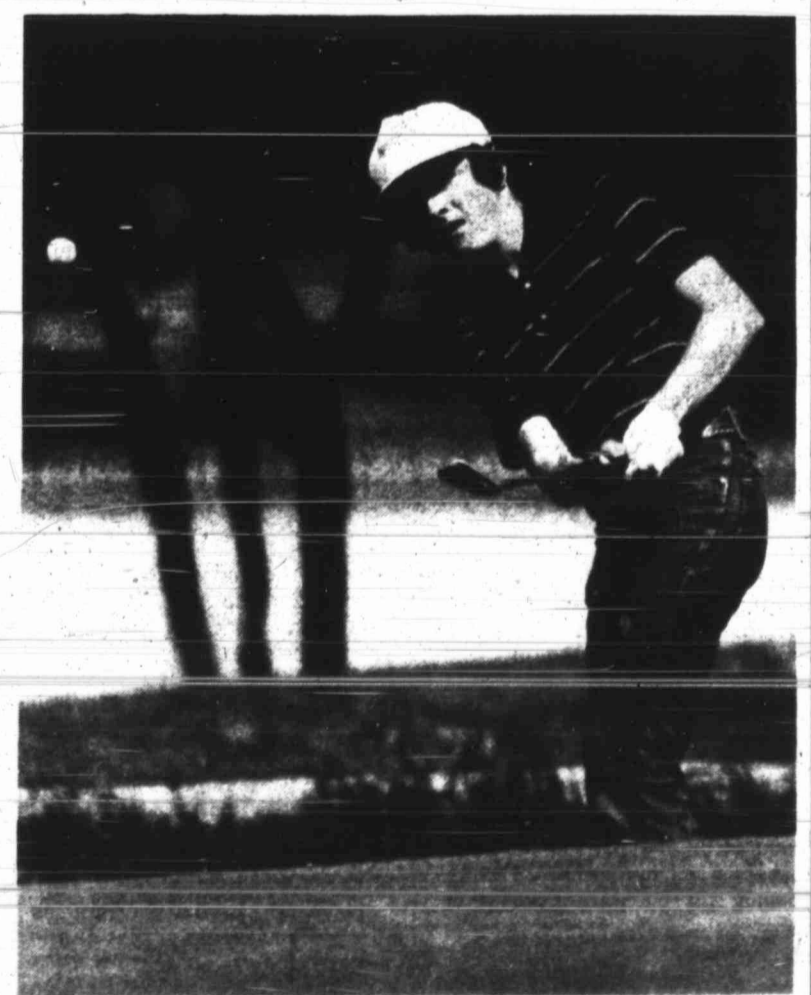

Big Spring's #2 team was led by Larry Garcia, who had a 93 at Comanche Trails and ended with a 183 total. Mike Carrol fired a 90 Saturday and finished at 187 for the tournament. Tony Stuteville had a 96 on the second day and a 189 total. Paul Berringer rounded out the second team effort with a 209 total.

Big Spring's #3 team leader was Frank Reyna who finished with a 202 total for the two day tournament. Casey Richbourg ended up at 207, Bryan Bailey had a 217 for the tournament and James Averette was the final Steer finisher with a 222 total.

"I was real pleased with the team's performance for the tournament," said Steer head coach Mike Sharpe. "I set a goal in my mind for the kids to break 360 yesterday, which they did, then break 350 for today, which they hit right on the money. Now we'll try for 140 at the San Angelo tournament next week."

The Steer golfers will travel to the San Angelo Central tournament to be played on the Bentwood Country Club and San Angelo CC golf courses next Thursday and Friday.

Coach Sharpe, who served as tournament director for the Big Spring Invitational, expressed his thanks to the people at Comanche Trail and Big Spring Country Club for the use of the golf courses during the weekend.

Tech raids Frogs 61-53, claims SWC title

FORT WORTH (AP) — Texas Tech's Red Raiders, the team all the experts overlooked, claimed their first Southwest Conference basketball title in 12 years on Saturday.

The Red Raiders, picked in the preseason to finish fourth behind Southern Methodist, Houston, and Arkansas bounced Texas Christian 61-53, then gave their coach a shower with his suit on.

"It was worth it," beamed a grinning Gerald Myers as he wrung out his wet clothes. Bubba Jennings hit six straight free throws and Quentin Anderson scored two key baskets down the stretch.

"It was a great reward for our seniors who worked hard and have gone through some tough times," said Myers. "That was the big thing to me, we won it for those guys."

Tech finished its regular season at 20-7, the Red Raiders' first 20-victory season since 1977. Tech will be the No. 1 seed in the SWC Post-Season Classic in Dallas next week after posting a 12-4 league record.

TCU fell to 8-8 in SWC play and is 16-11 going into the tournament.

TCU Coach Jim Killingsworth said the Red Raiders were "a deserving champion. They beat everybody else so they ought to be the champion. They play mighty tough defense."

Jennings, averaging 19 points per game, was held to only 10 points by the close guarding of Tracy Mitchell, but scored Tech's last six points in the final minute of the game.

"It's a great feeling to win the title after everybody counted us out," said Jennings. Anderson, who had 11 points, made two baskets and a free throw in the final three minutes of the game.

Dennis Nutt led the Horned Frogs with 21 points before 6,669 fans, the largest crowd of the year in Daniel Meyer Coliseum.

TCU led the Red Raiders 27-26 at halftime as Jennings was held to only one field goal.

The Horned Frogs fell behind by nine points but uncorked a streak of 10 unanswered points to pull ahead of the Red Raiders. TCU led by as many as five points in the second half before a hot shooting streak by Vince Taylor, who had a game-high 15 points for the Red Raiders.

Memphis St. 66, Louisville 59

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Senior Keith Lee fired in 15 points and grabbed 12 rebounds Saturday as he led Memphis State to a 66-59 Metro Conference victory over arch-rival Louisville.

Junior point guard Andre Turner added 14 points as the fourth-ranked Tigers finished their regular-season schedule with an emotional farewell to the 6-foot-10 Lee.

Memphis State, now 24-3 for the campaign 12-1 in the Metro, is headed for the conference tournament next week and an almost sure NCAA tournament berth.

Lee, who fouled out with 1:25 left in the game, finished his regular-season career with 2,677 points and 1,281 rebounds. He leads all other Tigers in both categories.

During pre-game ceremonies, Lee became only the third Tiger basketball player — along with Ronnie Robinson and Larry Finch of the 1973 team that went to the NCAA finals — to have their numbers retired.

The Tigers, owners of the Metro Conference championship for the third time in Lee's career, went ahead 12-10 with 8:27 deep into the first period and were never behind.

Lee hit a couple of cold streaks when his turnaround jumper refused to fall, but Turner began hitting from the outside to take up the slack.

Arkansas 106, Baylor 71

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Senior center Joe Kleine scored 23 points to lead Arkansas to a 106-71 rout of Baylor in SWC basketball action Saturday night.

Arkansas was down 14-6 early in the first half before outscoring the Bears 39-14 to take a 45-28 halftime lead.

The Razorbacks, 19-11 overall and 10-6 in the conference, built a 95-58 lead when freshman Andrew Lang, who had 15 points for game, hit a 10-foot jump shot with 3:28 left in the game.

Arkansas connected on 62.5 percent of their fieldgoals while holding Baylor to 45 percent. Kleine, playing in his last regular season game as a Razorback, ignited the first half rally with a short jump shot. Charles Balen-

N.C. St. 66, Wake Forest 64

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Former Midland College star Anthony "Spud" Webb had three points and a steal in the last 31 seconds as No. 16 North Carolina State beat Wake Forest 66-64 Saturday to take a share of lead in the Atlantic Coast Conference basketball race.

The victory thrust the Wolfpack into a tie with Georgia Tech and North Carolina. A drawing will be held Sunday to determine which of the 9-5 teams will be top seeded in next week's tournament.

N.C. State led 61-55 with 7:30 left, but the Demon Deacons, sparked by Delaney Rudd and Kenny Green, scored the next nine points to take a 64-61 lead with 3:04 left.

The Wolfpack pulled to within one at 2:50 on Bennie Bolton's 18-foot jumper, and had a chance to tie with 1:04 left, but Lorenzo Charles missed the front end of a one-and-one opportunity.

Hawks sweep doubleheader

Just call the Howard Hawks baseball team the "Cardiac Kids". Yesterday in their double-header with Cochise College, Ariz. Howard rallied back in their final bat to take both wins and keep their winning streak alive at 10 games. After losing their season opener to Bee County, coach Bill Griffin's Hawks have not lost a game since.

In the first game Howard rallied for five runs in the bottom of the sixth inning to down Cochise 7-2. Howard got a fine pitching performance from ace starter Chuck Ashcraft who went the distance while allowing six hits and striking out three. The win was Ashcraft's third in as many games.

After trailing 2-0 Howard battled back to knot the game at 2-2 in the fourth inning when Mark Howell drove Eddie Citronelli who had doubled, home with a sacrifice fly.

The game the mighty sixth inning. After Bruce Smith and Citronelli walked, Jim Garcia hit a double to load the bases for Joe Cuellar. Cuellar then hit a ball down the right field line scoring all three runs. Howell then scored doubled, scoring Cuellar. Next Dan Lanfear doubled scoring Howell with the final Howard run.

Cuellar and Howell had the big bats for Howard in the game as each player drove in three runs as Howard banged out 10 hits for the game.

CARDIAC KIDS COME BACK AGAIN

Howard got another strong pitching performance from Doug Myers in the second game as he limited the visitors to two runs on five hits while striking out eight. It took a masterful performance from Myers as Howard managed to squeak out a 3-2 win.

Again Howard waited to the final inning to put some runs on the board. Cochise held a 2-0 lead going into Howard's final bat.

Smith started the inning with a walk and Garcia followed with a single. Howard got a break when Citronelli line a hard shot to the centerfielder who missed the ball, allowing Smith to score.

Then Cochise decided to intentionally walk the hot-hitting Howell loading up the bases for Joey Ortiz. Ortiz grounded out by Jerry Garcia scoring tying the game at 2-2 with one out. Then Steve Carrasco ended the game by beating out an infield hit as Citronelli scored the winning run. Howard will take on Cochise today in a single game at 1 p.m. at Jack Barber Field.

Class 5A rejects superconference

AUSTIN (AP) — Class 5A schools in the Universit Interscholastic League have rejected by a four-vote margin the creation of a "superconference" for high school football playoffs.

The UIL on Friday released results of a referendum on proposals authorized by its Legislative Council in October. Ballots were mailed to the superintendent UIL member schools, and each had one vote.

Class 5A schools with an average daily attendance of 2,000 would have been eligible for the "superconference" with the team over 2,000 placing highest in district going into the special playoffs.

The vote total for the "superconference" was 102, and 106 voted against it.

The referendum vote is viewed as a recommendation or non-recommendation to the State Board of Education, which would have to approve proposals on the ballot.

Another recommendation would allow a potential college athletic recruit five expense-paid trips to colleges rather than three. The proposal carried 881 to 58.

Also, UIL member schools voted 835 to 123 in favor of a proposal that would result in the loss of a year's high school eligibility if a student was redshirted in sports in the seventh or eighth grade.

Here are other results from the mail ballot:

— Authorizing weather-delayed playoff games on Sunday, 489-462.

— Baseball playoffs shall be single-game elimination unless schools agree on a series, such as two-out-of-three, 222-106, with only 4A and 5A schools voting.

— A school may be disqualified for district honors for up to two years in that sport for contracting for a game with other schools prior to the final reclassification and district realignment by the UIL, 694-256.

— Favor the present basketball alignment in Class A, 143-102, with only Class A schools voting.

— Favor retaining the 100-meter low hurdles in girls' track, with a 30-inch high hurdle, for 782, against 130.

— Students may accept free passes to athletic events during self-financed visits to colleges, 921-29.

— Requiring a coach or supervisor to accompany students representing their school in athletic competition, 896-22.

Swifts top Klondike in regional LEVELLAND — The Klondike Cougars saw their bid for a state tournament playoff berth fall short as they were defeated by the Narareth Swifts 61-56 in the Region I-A tourney finals.

The loss ends a very successful season for coach Jimmy Thomas and the Cougars as the finish the season with a 30-4 slate.

The Swifts, 27-5, are headed back to the state tournament after losing to Snook in the state finals last year.

The win didn't come easy for the Swifts as they had to hold off a furious last-quarter rally by the Cougars. Klondike trailed 48-36 going into the final quarter and 59-48 with 1:20 left in the game.

But the Cougars came to life as they scored six consecutive points to narrow the margin to 59-54 with 34 seconds remaining. After that each team traded a basket as Nazareth held on for the win.

Guard Tim Cope led Klondike with 26 points while Mitch Mitchell added 12 and Lane Turner contributed 10 points.

DOWNSWHITHARRAL

The Cougars reached the finals via a 77-75 overtime win over Whitharral earlier that day.

Cope was the hero of the game as he scored a three-point play in the overtime to give his team a 76-75 lead with eight seconds left. He then got a steal and was fouled on the play. He made one free throw giving Klondike their margin of victory.

Cope had a superb game by gunning in 31 points. Mitchell, Brent Airhart and Turner all scored in double figures for the Cougs. Whitharral ended the season with a 21-5 slate.

Goliad

Poll taken on quality of education

By MARC SCHWARZ

Since there is so much controversy over the quality of education, we thought it would be interesting to poll Goliad students and hear their opinions. The question we asked was, "Do you think that the school system is providing you with adequate education to make it in the adult world?"

According to 7th graders, 20 percent feel they are not getting enough of the basic skills, 80 percent think the school system is doing fine. According to the 6th graders, 40 percent think they are not being prepared either emotionally or academically, while 60 percent feel they are getting the skills they need.

Some of the students feel that more emphasis should be placed on academic skills rather than sports. Many others feel the school should allow students to work more with computers.

We would like to congratulate Marilyn Corwin on winning the Goliad Spelling Bee. The winning word was "fraternal". She will now represent Goliad in the Howard County Spelling Bee.

We would also like to congratulate the following students who received awards at the Permian Basin Regional Science Fair: first place — Brad Daniels, John Hunter and Scott Neitzel, and Patrick Gonzales and Lorie Alonzo; second place — Kelly Daily and Laura Branum, Johnny Webb, and Pamela Ferguson; third place — Mark Barber and Marc Schwarz, and Jenique Clark and Dawn Hartfield.

In addition, Johnny Webb also won the U.S. Army Award of Recognition for his project on crystal radios.

Students spend day goofing off

By JERRI BRYSON

Students at Christ Fellowship Christian School were surprised with a "goof-off" day.

All students were rounded up and taken to the bowling alley first thing in the morning. They really had a pin-smashing time. Next, we went to Aladdin's Castle and played video games until lunch. After lunch at the park, we had a three-legged race, egg throw, and a noose hop.

The noose hop was won by Misty Morton in the younger group and Bryan Weddle in the older group. Jenny Yanke and Amanda Gaston hopped their way to victory for the younger group, and C.D. Boyd and Darryl Hammonds fought a close race for the older group in the three-legged race. Christ Guinn and T.J. Lane proved themselves champion egg throwers by not pulverizing their eggs. Winners in each category received trophies.

Next week is Spirit Week for CFCS. On Monday we will be having western day. Tuesday is sock day. Wednesday will be silly hat day. Thursday is 50s day. Friday is international day. Prizes will be awarded for the winning costume each day.

In UIL competition Tuesday in Midland, the choirs received outstanding ratings.

Receiving second divisions in Concert and Sightreading was the Troubadour choir. First divisions went to the Meistersingers as well as the girls' choir.

Congratulations to all three choirs and special thanks to Mrs. Marjorie Dodson, choir director, for all her devotion and hard work.

With the beginning of the new season, several spring sports are already underway. With a great deal of support, the BSHS athletic department will once again stand at the top.

Lakers run by Dallas 125-106

DALLAS (AP) — Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 19 of his 25 points in the first half as the visiting Los Angeles Lakers built a 21-point lead on the way to a 125-106 win over the Dallas Mavericks Saturday night in National Basketball Association Play.

The Lakers, 43-16, shot 68 percent in the first half and outscored Dallas 35-18 over a 10-minute period to pull away before a Reunion Arena sell-out crowd of 17,007. Mark Aguirre scored 33 points for Dallas, which lost its third-straight home game for the first time since the 1982-1983 season.

The Lakers led 29-26 with 1:53 to play in the first quarter. Magic Johnson scored 12 points and passed out four assists over the next 10:18 as the Lakers built a 64-44 lead and secured their 17th win in their last 21 games.

Abdul-Jabbar, who hit eight of 11 shots during the first half, scored eight points during the surge as the Pacific Division leading Lakers defeated Dallas for the third time in four tries this season.

Bullets 109, Knicks 97

NEW YORK (AP) — Gus Williams scored 27 points and Greg Ballard added 22, including four in the final 1:22 to choke off a New York rally, as the Washington Bullets defeated the Knicks 109-97.

The victory was Washington's sixth consecutive over New York, including all five this season.

The Bullets opened the fourth quarter with a 10-4 streak and opened a 91-80 lead on Darren Daye's jumper with 8:06 remaining. Ballard's jumper from the key 30 seconds later gave the Bullets a 13-point advantage, their biggest lead to that point.

Spurs 105, Hawks 92

ATLANTA (AP) — Artis Gilmore scored 28 points and Mike Mitchell added 25 as San Antonio pounded Atlanta 105-92 in NBA play last night.

Most of the damage was done early as the Spurs built a 56-43 halftime lead behind 15 points from Mitchell and 13 from Gilmore.

San Antonio then settled the issue with a 15-6 spurt in the third quarter to take its largest lead of the game, 75-50, midway through the period.

The Hawks trailed 85-67 after three quarters, and came no closer than 8 points the rest of the way.

Battling for the basketball are Sonya Gooden (24, left) of Waco Richfield and Deborah McCain of Sweetwater in the Class 4A state-championship in Austin Saturday. Sweetwater lost the contest 44-35 to unbeaten Richfield.

NBA sees stars in Patrick, Chris

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer

Patrick Ewing and Chris Mullin. A couple of Olympians, a couple of very complete senior stars, and a couple of first round draft choices.

They are together in free-frame that sticks in the mind's eye from Georgetown's convincing 85-69 thumping of St. John's the other night.

Mullin was trying to bring the Redmen back into contention in this showcase event of the college basketball season. If they were to recover from Georgetown's stifling defense and end-to-end attack, he would have to be the catalyst.

Suddenly he was free for one of those patented, soft left-handed jump shots that always seem to find nothing but net. As Mullin, who is 6-foot-6, launched the shot, Ewing came swooping down on him like a vulture after prey. The 7-footer swatted the ball away, almost disdainfully, as if to say, "Is that the best you can do?"

The rejection triggered a Georgetown fast break that was punctuated by Perry McDonald's basket. St. John's seemed paralyzed by the sequence. The Hoyas stole the in-bounds pass and scored again, making it a six-point turnaround. And for the rest of the night, Mullin shot rainbows, altering the arc of his shots, always mindful of the Georgetown giant hulking under the net.

The block was one of six Ewing had in the game. There were also nine rebounds, an assist, a steal, and 10-for-13 shooting from the field, many of them long range bombs that 7-footers once had no business shooting much less making. Eighteen-footers are the bread and butter shots for guys like Mullin and here was Patrick popping them like a point guard.

Ewing? It was more like Whewing.

"I wasn't sure I should go out all the way on him," said Bill Wennington, St. John's 7-foot center who has had the unenviable task of guarding Ewing for four years. "But he stuck it good from out there the whole game."

Mullin admired his ex-Olympic teammate. "Patrick adds something to his game every year," he said.

If you're 7-feet tall with a wing span that resembles a jumbo jet, it hardly seems necessary to add to your arsenal. Yet Ewing has.

I'LL SHOW HIM!!!

RESEARCH — Dr. J. Lawrence Angel, right, and his research associate Jennifer Kelley, measure skulls, pelvic bones and other long bones for information on the nutritional health of American ancestors. They've studied skeletons of black slaves, colonial people, and five recent generations.

Anthropologists study skeletons for history of American health

By WILLIAM G. SCHULZ
Smithsonian News Service

"Wellness," low cholesterol diets, stress elimination and exercise are buzz-words of the health-conscious '80s. Americans are jogging, cycling and swimming their way toward fitness. Health professionals' warnings about preventing such ailments as cardiovascular disease have received robust response. But while well-worn tennis shoes and home exercise equipment might be evidence of quests for sleek physiques, some scientists dig deeper for clues about the health status of past Americans. Physical anthropologists such as the Smithsonian Institution's Dr. J. Lawrence Angel and associate, Jennifer Kelley, examine skeletons of America's ancestors to find the stresses and benefits of their lifestyles that determined overall fitness.

The body's structure hasn't changed much over the past 25,000 years, but "people now are much healthier than past generations of Americans," Angel says. Progress can be credited to advances in medicine that curbed many deadly diseases, to public health policies that made some ailments little more than memories and to dietary changes and improvements that gave Americans better, more consistent nutrition.

'It hasn't been until recently in recorded history that we've been getting an adequate diet.'

THESE CONCLUSIONS may seem common sense, but Angel's study of skeletal remains from five generations of Americans between 1840 and 1965 provides evidence of general health status in each generation and health trends that have prevailed over the period. Drawers of skeletons line the walls of part of the National Museum of Natural History in Washington, D.C.

They were donated to the Smithsonian from the dissecting room collections of the Washington University Medical School in St. Louis, were willed to the Smithsonian or were forensic skeletons — remains of victims of violent crimes.

When Angel and Kelley began their study four years ago, they first grouped the skeletons into 25-year generational time spans. From previous work, Angel found that increases in measurements of the height of the skull base and the front-to-back depth of the pelvis could indicate overall health status. While genetics play a large role in determining physical development, Angel and Kelley believe over time their measurements infer certain aspects of health and nutrition of past generations. "No one has ever worked with skull-base height before," Angel says of this measure of the area that forms the support structure for the skull on the spinal column.

Bone growth, for example, depends in part on vitamin D and the individual's protein intake. If these or other nutrients are lacking, bone in the skull base is inhibited from growing upward against gravity. Decreases measured in pelvic depth, too, can be blamed on nutritional deficiencies. In severe cases, lack of ultraviolet light — sunlight — necessary for the body's production of vitamin D can cause a bone deformation known as rickets.

IN THE FIVE generation study, the two documented an increase in these measurements and an increase in bone growth as calculated for overall stature. "All three" — skull-base height, pelvic depth and stature — "improve with better nutrition," Angel says. Over this 125-year-period, technological developments made fresh fruit and vegetables available to more people year-round; vitamin supplements became more attainable; and the American passion for suntans — which helped prevent rickets — embedded itself in the national culture, becoming closely associated with ideas about sex appeal and healthful appearance.

Piping preacher

Flynn is Long-winded when it comes to bags

By KIM KIRKHAM
Lifestyle Writer

A Big Spring minister often can be found in his backyard practicing with a weapon — his bagpipes. The Rev. Flynn Long, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, began playing the instrument — a weapon in Scottish regiments — 30 years ago when a friend brought it from Scotland.

His friend told him "I couldn't resist buying these, and you're the only person I know crazy enough to play them," said Long.

"I like the way pipe music sounds," Long said. "I had always been interested in Scottish history, partly because of the Presbyterian Church." Presbyterianism is the dominant faith in Scotland.

Long didn't take lessons to learn to play what he calls the "portable organ." "I just got a book and fiddled with them until they worked," he said. "My playing is pretty much my own. I usually play them on St. Patrick's Day and New Year's Eve."

He seldom plays the bagpipes during church services. "It's not really appropriate to play pipes in the church. If it's an instrument of war, it's kind of like taking a gun into the church."

There are two kinds of people, according to Long: those who are fascinated and like bagpipe music, and those who can't stand it. "There's no in between," he says.

"There's not very many people that want to learn and even fewer that have a bagpipe to learn on," said Long. "Most pipers are fairly shy about it, I find, partly because none of us believe we're as good as we ought to be."

Long's bagpipes are made of blackwood with ivory on the tips of the pipes. When he first received the pipes, he had to do rebuild them.

"They're sort of unique," said Long. "It's different from other instruments."

Highland bagpipes have a 9-note chanter ranging from a low G up to a high A. The four pipes or drones are played simultaneously with a continuous air supply from a leather bag.

"The hardest part is learning to let the bag play the pipes and not blow them yourself," he said. "Learning that is a trick of coordination."

The air producing the music is collected into the bag and forced out into the pipes by the arm of the performer. When a person blows, he actually is blowing air into the bag, not the pipes.

"You have to fix it where you run out of air when you run out of the song," said Long.

"You have to play the pipes standing up," he said. "It's very difficult to stand still and play them." Walking back and forth makes the breathing easier, he said.

"Over the years, I've acquired a lot of information about piping. It has a very ancient origin," he said.

BLOWING THE BAG — The Rev. Flynn Long, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, has been playing the bagpipes for 30 years. He uses the Scotland bagpipes which are played while standing. Irish bagpipes are played sitting down, and French bagpipes have bellows.

References in the Old Testament refer to instruments resembling the bagpipes, he said. "They think that the Romans adopted the pipes probably from Egypt." And the Romans probably introduced the pipes to Britain, Long said. "The Scots developed the bagpipes as an instrument you could play standing up or walking or even running," said Long. Irish bagpipes are played sitting down and French bagpipes have bellows.

"The pipes have all sorts of historical significances in Scotland," Long said. "Pipers are pretty important people to the regimental histories."

"(Bagpipes) were used very much the same as the drums and bagles in other armies, sort of the flag-bearer and the band all rolled up in one."

Bagpipes originally were solo instruments, he said. "In the last 150 years, they've developed the use of pipe bands, and it has spread all over the world.

"The music is rarely written down," he said. "For centuries it was taught phonetically." Because of the association with the bagpipes and the Scotland regiments, the tunes are frequently regimental march paths.

"More and more you find people around the country who can play the bagpipes. It's become more and more popular," said Long. "But I don't think it will replace rock-and-roll anytime soon."

Sellars plans 'Buzz in Air' for Theater

By ROBERT M. ANDREWS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Peter Sellars, the avant-garde young director who once had Mozart's Don Giovanni eating a McDonald's hamburger and French fries on stage, is ready to give American theater a startling new look — and won't mind if his audiences are outraged.

The 27-year-old "boy wonder" announced his plans Thursday for the newly formed American National Theater at the Kennedy Center. Sellars, who shoots off ideas like a Fourth of July sparkler, will have a $6 million annual budget and three theaters to try them out as the company's director.

For starters, an Americanized version of Shakespeare's historical classic, "Henry IV, Part I," will open March 23 for a six-week run in the Eisenhower Theater. Sellars says it will be "quite an opening flourish."

Productions for the first full season starting in September will be announced later, but meanwhile Sellars promises to shake up Eisenhower Theater audiences long accustomed to Broadway-bound tryouts and revivals starring big-name casts.

After all, he once set Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Mikado" in a modern Japan jangling with advertisements for Coca-Cola, Sony and Seiko. He used a trailer park at Cape Canaveral, complete with astronauts and pink flamingos, as the locale for a space-age version of Handel's opera, "Orlando."

THEATER MAN — Peter Sellars, an avant-garde theater director, poses in the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington. Sellars, 27, has announced the formation of the American National Theater, which will operate out of the Kennedy Center with a $6 million annual budget.

His "King Lear," with sets by Edward Gorey, featured a Lincoln Continental, and his "Antony and Cleopatra" was performed in a swimming pool at Harvard University.

More often than not, Sellars looks like he just stepped out of one of his own unconventional plays. He wears only black and white Japanese hapi coats, his hair seems to have been combed with an egg beater and his observations are punctuated with a braying, hee-haw sort of giggle.

He said in an interview that he wants to make the theater "a center of creation and not just an expensive roadhouse."

"I want the Kennedy Center to be a place where there's a kind of buzz in the air, not a theater of self-congratulation or admiration of the obvious but of real dramatic confrontation, a place that really shakes you up," he said.

"I'd like people to kind of say, 'wait a minute, I didn't think of that. Hold it. Stop. Wait a minute, this is too much.' I'd like to return to that element of surprise in the theater, where people feel either that they hate it, or they love it, but one way or another they have to see it.

"I want them to argue about it at cocktail parties, not given them something that by the time you've reached your car you've forgotten," he said.

Sellars was artistic director of the Boston Shakespeare Company when he was hired by Kennedy Center Chairman Roger L. Stevens last summer. Stevens, 74, said he was giving Sellars "carte blanche" to create a resident national theater company comparable to the National Theater of Great Britain or the Comedie Francaise in Paris.

Stevens said in an interview Thursday that "the theater has come to a big halt, and there's nothing to see in New York, so we've got to find some other way." That is the task he entrusted to Sellars as someone "young and adventuresome."

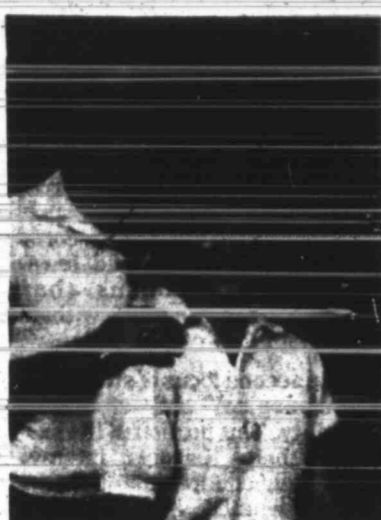

One of Sellars' first moves was to slash ticket prices for his Eisenhower Theater productions to a range of $20 to $10, with students, the elderly and the handicapped admitted for as little as $7.50 a seat. Current prices range from $14.50 to $30 or more.

The company will receive $2 million annually from the Kennedy Center and the American National Theater and Academy, split evenly. Ticket sales are expected to provide one-third of Sellars' $6 million budget, and the balance will have to come from private contributions.

FITNESS FACTS

By Laurie Churchwell

"LACTIC ACID"

"Going for the Burn"

When glycogen is burned, it is then broken down to a chemical called pyruvate. When there is enough oxygen, pyruvate converts to carbon dioxide & water, the end products, which the lungs blow off. If there is not enough oxygen, pyruvate converts to a lactic acid build up in the muscle, and then overflows into the bloodstream. The anaerobic phase of metabolism increases the build up of lactic acid in the muscle. Lactic acid impedes muscle contraction & makes it hard for muscle movement. This is commonly called "the burn" or the fatigue feeling you get when you do too much. To rid of this — stop temporarily and stretch to encourage removal of metabolic wastes and allow oxygen to be replenished, by continuing, a high level of lactic acid will build up and eventually stop the muscle from contracting altogether. It could become increasingly painful, possibly cramp, and even cause muscle tissue damage.

Dr. Kenneth Cooper says, "Instructors who tell their students to 'push for the burn' (exercising muscles beyond limits until burn sensation is felt) are not being health conscious."

Mousse mania combing the country

Mousse mania is combing the country. Mousse is a light, frothy foam that eliminates fly-away hair and takes styling options to the max. It makes dramatic effects possible whether hair is permed, tinted, blow or finger dried, set with heated rollers or curling irons. Layered styles tousled with mousse look sexy and chic; short shapes look snappy. Even fine hair gets the extra body it needs, for as one New York stylist says, "What good is the cut if you can't hold the shape?" Mousse makes hair shiny and holds it, replacing the stiffness of spray.

HAIR COLORING FOR MEN

Some men choose to color their hair because they do not like the way gray looks on them. Others wish to retain the highlights provided by the summer sun. Still others want to return to the lighter hair shade that they had when they were younger. Some men simply want to know how they would look with a different hair color. To temporarily change hair color, a rinse can be used that will simply coat the surface of the hair shaft. It lasts only until it is washed out. Semi-permanent hair coloring slightly penetrates the hair shaft. It lasts three to six weeks. Permanent hair coloring penetrates the hair shaft and chemically alters it. It lasts until it is cut or grows out.

Easy care, fashionable hair styles are a must for today's busy, modern women. LA CONTESA offers you the latest trends in hair cuts, color and perm styles to meet your needs while being in the height of fashion. We will be happy to help select a style that will be most flattering to you. Plan to visit with us soon. We are conveniently located at 1508 Marcy. Our salon is open to serve you Tues.-Sat. Call us at 267-2187.

— HINT —
 It is only permanent hair colors that will lighten hair.

Each student participated in some phase of the conference competition and voting delegates elected the new Area president. Leslie Martin, Coahoma senior member, was the outgoing area president. She presided over the two general sessions and conducted installation ceremonies for the new president, Bobbie Stephens of the Pecos Office Education Association chapter.

The Coahoma students participated in the areas of: accounting I, general clerical I and II, promotional display and information communication II, typing and related II, job interview I and II, prepared verbal communications II, extemporaneous verbal communications I and II, and records management I and II. Those participating were: Deanna Smith, Mary Capps, Miss Martin, Terri Orindorff, Angie Clanton, Rita Uranga, Gina Hudson, Denise McCulley, Mary Jane Salazar, Valerie Calaway and Sandy Islas.

Two students received Merit Awards: Miss Hudson in job interview II placed fifth; and Miss McCulley in records management I placed third.

Four students placed first and earned the right to advance to state competition in Austin, March 28-30: Miss Salazar in general clerical II; Miss Calaway in records management II; Miss Dobbs in prepared verbal communications II; and Miss Islas in extemporaneous verbal communications I. The four students will be accompanied to the contests by Marie Ethridge, Vocational Office Education coordinator from Coahoma High School.

The annual state leadership conference will be at the convention center and area high schools in Austin. During the conference delegates will compete in business related events, elect state officers and national officer candidates, attend mini-sessions, and participate in activities of the conference.

The top three winners in each event at state contest will be eligible to attend the national conference in Houston, April 26-30.

Study Club plans theatre excursion

Members of GFWC Forsan Study Club made plans during their meeting Monday to attend Midland Community Theatre's production of "Peter Pan." The meeting was held in the home of Tena Henkel.

Members will attend the March 17th showing of the play. During the meeting, each member brought a fashion, craft art, or poem to be entered in the upcoming Western District Spring Convention Contest.

The program "Wardrobe Workshop" was changed until the March 11 meeting, instead of "Texas Heritage Panel."

The "Americanism Poster Contest" at Elbow Elementary School and "Americanism Essay Contest" at Forsan Junior High School were reported on. Chairpersons in each group reported on good participation. The winners were not announced as yet, as the prizes and ribbons had not been given out at school.

The next meeting will be March 11.

District Deputy President Lila Holland installed Timmie McCormick as inside guardian at the Big Spring Rebekah Lodge meeting, Tuesday.

Mrs. Holland was assisted by Lillian Rhyne. Sixteen visits to the sick were reported.

Past Noble Grands will meet in the home of Mrs. Ryne Monday at 7 p.m. Lodge members having birthdays in March will be honored at Tuesday's meeting.

Course helps parents become teachers at home

The preschool years are the most important in a child's education. This message is the focus of a course in parenting to be offered Mondays from 7 to 9 p.m. March 18 through May 6 at Malone-Hogan Hospital.

"Parenting," an educational program for parents of preschoolers, is based on the Bowdoin Method, an award-winning educator's program that helps parents become teachers and children become readers. Over the course, parents will learn techniques that will bring them closer to their children and will prepare children for school.

Interested persons may register for "Parenting" by calling 263-1211 extension 175. Courses will be limited to 20 persons each. The hospital may consider offering a daytime course if interest is warranted.

Though the course is primarily for both parents of preschoolers, grandparents, day care workers or any adult with an interest in preschoolers is welcome to enroll. The course is free, although participants may elect to purchase a series of workbooks which are used throughout the course.

The titles of the workbooks cover the areas of study:

Parents are Teachers; How Your Child Learns; Thousands and Thousands of Words; My Mommy Likes Me; How Things Look; The Importance of Good Feelings; Words that Win Children; Instead of Nagging; Getting Ready For Reading; Help Your Child Read Better.

The "Parenting" program is a public service of Malone-Hogan Hospital and Hospital Corporation of America, which developed the program under the direction of noted educator Ruth Bowdoin.

Mrs. Bowdoin, a classroom teacher of 35 years, developed her concept of parental training classes and tested her ideas in the Murfreesboro school system in Tennessee. She found remarkable results. Over a five-year test period children from Bowdoin-trained homes performed better in school, scored better on tests and had fewer discipline problems than children from homes without training.

The second focus of study is on psychological and emotional stability. This portion of the program helps parents interact with their children in ways that produce good behavior and positive self image.

According to Hospital Corporation of America, many educators believe that over half of a child's intelligence is developed by age four, and 80 percent by age eight. It is convinced that the "parenting" program and the techniques developed by Mrs. Bowdoin are effective ways to help parents make the most of their children's formative years.

The course will be taught by Malone-Hogan's Social Services Director Dan Wise, Debra Wallace, R.N., and other trained persons.

THE NEON CUT — Free flowing Neon Cut, left, short in the back with plenty of electric length at the moves hair onto the forehead. The male Neon Cut, center, has options of extended length at the nape or the front of the head. The basic Neon Cut, right, is cut Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association.

Neon cuts are tops this summer

Multi-length haircutting is the key ingredient in energized Neon Cuts designed for spring and summer by HairAmerica, the fashion group of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association.

Plugging into a new generation of hair designing, Neon Cuts makes use of unique cutting techniques that create non-blended cuts with a multitude of hair lengths throughout the entire head.

"Such techniques as chip-cutting and spike-cutting make the hair standup in new energy-filled directions, especially when styled with the latest mousses, gels, or fixatives," says Jack Duckworth, chairman.

Duckworth describes Neon Cuts as short, feminine and pretty. "They are designed to be personalized for almost any face shape or age group," he said. "Neon Cuts are named for the new music-oriented generation, which is attracted to shocking colors, glitter and pizzazz."

"The whole idea is to draw attention to oneself to show individuality and to make one's own statement. Cookie cutter hair styles have been shoved out the window together with carbon copy designer label looks," Duckworth said.

Neon-bright colors have hit the fashion scene for spring and summer, and Neon Cuts, with extra perm-controlled length at the front of the head, interpret the new, electric look of the eighties.

The male Neon Cut varies in length from approximately 1½ inches to 2½ inches, with options of extended length at the nape or at the front of the head. It is designed for adaptability to different facial features.

Lifestyle guidelines

We will be pleased to announce the news of your engagement, wedding, silver or golden anniversary in the Lifestyle section of the Big Spring Herald. We try to use the story on the date you request, but sometimes space does not permit this.

The information must be submitted to us on a form available at the Herald no later than Wednesday noon before the Sunday it is to be published. The form must include a name and telephone number of a person whom we can reach during the day for more information.

We will use a picture of the couple in the announcement. Or in the case of engagement announcements where a picture of the couple is not available, we will use one of the bride-elect. The picture must be a professional quality studio photograph. We prefer a 5 x 7 glossy black and white print. We ask for this kind of photograph so that it will reproduce well in the newspaper. Following the picture's publication, it may be picked up at the Lifestyle department.

The information for the story may be brought to the Lifestyle department of the Herald, which is located at 710 Scurry. Or it may be mailed to Lifestyle Department, Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 1431, Big Spring, Texas 79720. Call us at (915) 267-7331 if we can help with more information or clarification of our policies.

ENGAGEMENTS
Information of engagement announcements must be submitted to the Lifestyle department of the Herald anytime after the engagement is a reality until at least three weeks prior to the wedding. Anything closer than three weeks will not be published. The engagement form must be submitted no later than Wednesday noon prior to the Sunday it is to be published.

If the bride-elect, prospective bridegroom or their parents do not now or have never lived in our area, we need to know why you are submitting your engagement to the Herald. If only grandparents live in our area, please give their names and addresses.

WEDDINGS
If a wedding writeup is submitted to the Herald after the wedding has occurred, the space allotted to it will diminish according to the length of time that has passed since the wedding.
