Firemen petition certified

Can do attitude

A petition asking for the introduction of state civil service requirements for the city's firefighters was certified Friday, City Secretary Tom Ferguson said. Firemen collected 535 signatures of verified eligible voters, he said. Ferguson will present the petition to councilmen, who must set a date for the election, at the 6:30 p.m. Tuesday meeting. The first eligible date will be April 6, the day of municipal and school district elections. Members of the Big Spring Professional Fire Fighters Association Local No. 2922, which is spearheading the campaign to include Big Spring firemen under state civil service laws, will have a candidate's forum at 6:30 p.m. March 21 in the International Union of Operating Engineers Local 826 meeting hall across Interstate 20 from the Cosden Oil & Chemical Co. The hall, meeting place of the International Union of Operating Engineers Local No. 826, is located across Interstate Highway 20 from the Fina station. The candidate's forum will be an open meeting, where city council candidates will be invited to speak on their campaign issues. Although firemen will be interested in hearing candidates' campaign platforms, they are especially concerned with candidate stands on the civil service referendum, Secretary Paul Brown said.

State limits activities after school

Practices held to 8 hours

Staff and wire reports

The number of practice hours students can participate in extracurricular activities was limited by the State Board of Education on Saturday, but the board took no action on a controversial six-week suspension rule for failing students. Students participating in extra school activities will only be allowed to practice up to eight hours per school week for each activity, the board decided. The previous rule allocated students 20 hours per week for all activities. The board also voted to curtail the number of contests and performances a school can schedule for each extracurricular activity to one per week. Lynn Hise, superintendent of the Big Spring school system, said the local district has been operating under the eight hour limit for some time now. "It's not going to affect us to any great extent," he said. Hise said the only activity that had been affected by the limit on contests and performances is the girls' basketball schedule at Big Spring High School. In past years, girls had played games on Mondays and Thursdays. Officials changed games to Monday and Friday to allow for practice and playing time within acceptable limits. Hise said the limit applies only to after-school hours during the school week from Monday morning to Friday afternoon. After school dismisses Friday afternoon, the limit is dropped until the following Monday morning. "Friday doesn't enter into it," he said. Practice time during the school day also does not count against the limit. For example, high school boys here scheduled basketball practice during their last period of the day and practiced after school for an additional eight hours without affecting the limit. The only exceptions include tournaments, post-season competition, and activities re-scheduled because of inclement weather, said Jack Strong, of Longview, chairman of the Students Committee. The board refused to alter a Practice page 2-A

JOHN BLOCK, agriculture secretary, praises new plan.

Fed eases money for farm loans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board, in an attempt to help banks provide credit to farmers for spring planting, is liberalizing its requirements for making loans to agricultural banks. The nation's central bank announced the new program on Friday, two days after President Reagan vetoed a farm credit bill passed by Congress to expand aid to farmers. He said current administration efforts were sufficient. The Fed said its liberalized rules would complement the administration's program. Agricultural Secretary John R. Block, in a statement, praised the Fed's action and said it would be especially helpful to small and medium-size lenders. In a statement, the Fed said, "While the great bulk of farm banks appear to have adequate liquidity, the modifications are designed to ensure that liquidity strains do not hamper the necessary flow of credit in various local areas." The Fed eased requirements for an existing program designed to help local banks meet credit demands occurring on a seasonal basis through direct borrowing from the Fed. About 600 banks participated in the program last year. The amount borrowed at any given time ranged from $100 million to $300 million. Board officials had no estimate of how many additional banks might be encouraged to participate this year under the liberalized rules. About 4,146 of the more than 14,000 U.S. banks are classified as agricultural banks. The administration program, announced last September, will make about $4.5 billion in credit available to farmers this year. The vetoed bill would have increased funds for federal guarantees of private farm loans and would have involved the government in efforts to lower some interest payments for farmers.

Probation

Why criminals often fail in second chance

By SCOTT FITZGERALD Staff Writer

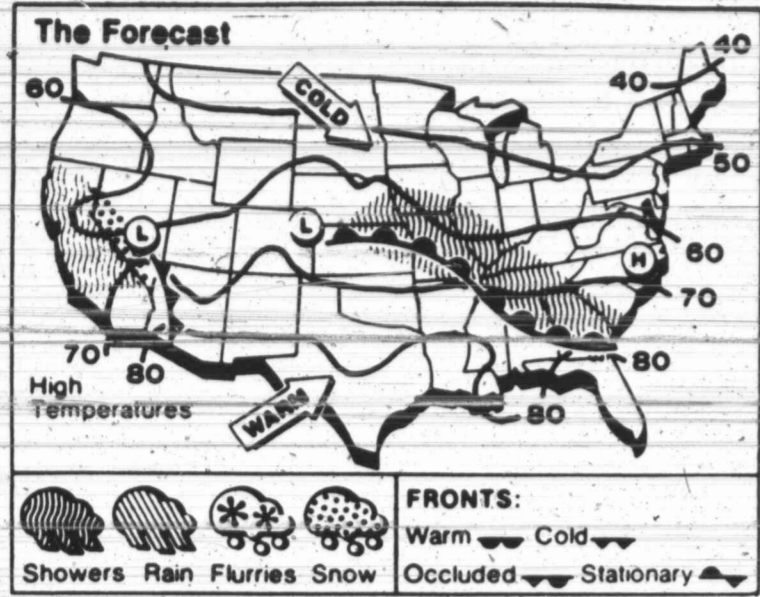

They deserve a chance. And holding a job would greatly increase a probationer's attempt to better himself and the society he lives in. That's what Frank Martinez, chief adult probation officer of the 118th judicial district, stresses when he speaks about convicted people sentenced to probation. "I feel like we could divert a lot of people who are heading to the TDC (Texas Department of Corrections) by giving him a job," Martinez said about people who break their probation requirements. "About 47 per cent of the TDC population according to statistics from the Texas Adult Probation Commission are revocation of probation cases." From September 1983 to August 1984, the 118th Judicial District that serves Howard, Martin and Glasscock counties had 40 felony and 36 misde-

3 killed in Angelo shooting

SAN ANGELO (AP) — A Lubbock-area man who claimed to be the "son of God" was being held Saturday in connection with a shooting rampage that left two men dead and another hospitalized, authorities said. The bloodshed was apparently triggered by a Friday night argument between the suspect and the surviving victim, David Loeffler, in Loeffler's front yard in a subdivision about 10 miles south of here. Authorities said the suspect shot Loeffler, who ran inside his house and telephoned a friend, Travis Scoggins, for help. Authorities said that after Scoggins arrived moments later, the suspect shot through a window and fatally wounded Scoggins, 34, in the head. A neighbor, Jimmie D. Hensley, 38, was shot next after he went outside to investigate the disturbance, police said. Authorities say the suspect shot Hensley in the face with a shotgun. Capt. Mike McCarty of the Tom Green Sheriff's Department said the suspect tried to flee in a stolen truck, but crashed into a nearby house with deputies in pursuit. Authorities told radio station KLST in San Angelo that the suspect, screaming that he was "the son of God" and kicked the door of a patrol car door after he Shooting page 2-A

Weather

Local

This afternoon's forecast calls for highs in the mid 80s and southerly winds, 10 to 20 miles per hour and gusty. Tonight, look for lows in the mid 50s. By Monday, highs should again rise into the mid 80s.

State

Cloudy skies and gentle southerly winds dominated the Texas weather picture Saturday.

A weak frontal boundary stretched from near Longview to Midland, triggering several isolated showers in the northeast corner of the state.

North of the front, temperatures cooled into the 60s. The National Weather Service said afternoon highs in the Panhandle were only in the 40s, while readings in the 70s were common in South Texas.

Nation

The West shivered under record-setting cool temperatures Saturday, while the East enjoyed mild, fair weather.

The mercury dipped to 4 degrees at Pocatello, Idaho, breaking the 37-year-old record low temperature for the date of 12 degrees. In Stockton, Calif., the low of 31 was one degree below the record of 32 set in 1935.

Light rain fell over eastern New Mexico, and showers were scattered over the western Carolinas.

Forecast

WEST TEXAS: Partly cloudy and warmer through Monday. Highs Sunday mid 70s north and mountains to mid 80s south and near 90 Big Bend valleys. Lows Sunday night lower 50s north to lower 60s south. Highs Monday upper 70s north to mid 80s south and mid 90s Big Bend valleys.

Police Beat

4 arrested in weapon case

Police arrested four people, including one juvenile, Friday night for the unauthorized carrying of a weapon.

The four were arrested in the 300 block of West Seventh about 9:30 p.m., according to police records. Arrested were Dennis G. Heffington, 19, of 1425 E. 6th; Tonya S. Ross, 19, of 2516 Fairchild; Shane Fergus, 17, 1425 E. Sixth; and the juvenile.

Ms. Ross and Fergus were transferred to county jail Saturday, placed under bonds of $2,000 each by Judge Melvin Darratt and released.

Claude Craven, pastor of the Trinity Baptist Church, told police Saturday that someone broke into the church sometime Friday night or early Saturday morning and took assorted items, including tools and audio equipment, valued at more than $500.

Mohammad Ebrahimi of 3914 Hamilton told police Saturday morning that someone had broken into the windows in a 1968 school bus that was parked in the alley of his home.

Carl Clark of 1710 Laurie reported that a child's bicycle was taken from his driveway Friday night or early Saturday morning. No value of the bike was listed on police reports.

Carl Stodola told police that a vehicle belonging to Clyde McKimney of 1203 Douglas was damaged Friday. Reports show that the brown Ford LTD, parked at McKimney's home, was damaged when someone pushed a portable trash dumpster into the back of the vehicle, damaging the left tail light and the back of the trunk.

Rodger Lloyd of 1601 Wood told police several items were stolen from his vehicle Thursday night or Friday morning while the vehicle was parked at 1425 E. Sixth. A brown suitcase was taken, valued at $50, and a Ruger .45 pistol, valued at $180.

Anita and Lino DeLeon told police Friday that their home at 1100 Main was burglarized sometime late Thursday or early Friday. A small color television was taken in the incident.

Police arrested two men early Saturday for consuming alcohol on licensed premises. The men were arrested at 600 N. Gregg.

Arrested were Andrew Marquez, 25, of 610 N.W. 8th, and Theodore Diaz, 30, of 610 N.W. 8th. Both men were transferred to county jail Saturday, placed under $500 bonds and released.

Police arrested Bobby Webb, 30, of 710 Galveston at 1100 Scurry early Saturday morning on suspicion of driving while intoxicated and speeding.

requirements will usually get sentenced to prison.

Martinez, who was appointed by Gregg to serve as probation officer in his district, said the court treats very seriously a person who commits another offense when on probation.

"It displays disrespect for the court," Martinez said. But he believes a person on probation who holds a job would have a better chance of meeting those conditions of the contract.

"A person who can't find work ends up going back to the street. He has more time to hang around with undesirable people," Martinez said. "The home pressures intensify. He's not able to make restitution payments that's required of him."

It's a vicious cycle, Martinez said. A person out-of-work is more likely to slip up because his problems are compounded.

"I personally feel that a large percentage of those on probation would make good employees. People deserve a break. Most of our cases are first time offenders," he said.

District Attorney Rick Hamby said he's also a strong believer in giving a person on probation a chance.

"It's important that people realize that in order to rehabilitate, we all have to shoulder the burden," he said.

"Extend a hand and help persons on probation regain their self-respect. Help him make some money so he can pay back his restitution. We've got to rekindle a self-help attitude.

vision in which students failing a course are prohibited from participating in any extracurricular activities for six weeks.

Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, head of the Senate Education Committee, introduced a resolution Thursday requesting the education board consider changing the "no-pass, no-play" suspension provision from six weeks to a weekly basis.

The Senate had approved the resolution 25-4.

"This is just an expression from the Senate as a result of the input we have had from our constituents," Parker said Thursday. "It is unfair to blindside folks with a rule where there is no way out. We should offer more encouragement for our students to get on the ball."

Currently, students not earning a passing grade of 70 must sit out of all extracurricular activities until the next grading period show the students are passing all courses.

Courts need help from the citizens to do its job," Hamby said.

Martinez said his department, which consists of three officers who hold college degrees and three clerical workers, would work closely with employers to help offenders develop necessary or required job skills.

The probation office would screen job referrals and do follow-up work if an offender was given a job. Martinez said this would include talking to employers at the job site and checking in with offenders on a regular basis.

Probation officers also help offenders attain rehabilitation services if it's needed, Martinez said.

Each probation officer handles about 150 cases. The probation department currently has 495 direct and 391 indirect cases on file. Direct cases are offenders who are supervised by probation officers in the jurisdiction where they were sentenced.

Indirect cases are offenders who do not reside in the jurisdiction where they were convicted. They nevertheless, must report to their local probation department.

"We're not law enforcement officers. We enforce stipulations set by the court and work for the courts," Martinez said. "I'm a firm believer in giving a person a chance."

"We're here to do a job," he said. "We will help every person who's willing to help him or herself."

Iran, Iraq battle in air

NICOSIA, Cyprus — Iran and Iraq struck at each other's cities from the air and ground Saturday, and both said they caused heavy casualties and damage on the sixth day of new border combat. Iraq claimed it downed an Iranian jet.

Iran said its air force bombed three Iraqi towns and that all its planes returned safely. It would mark the first appearance in force of Iranian planes in months. Iran's air fleet suffered serious losses in earlier stages of the 54-month-old Iran-Iraq war, and lacks spare parts.

There was no immediate confirmation of Iranian air attacks from the Iraqi side. Western reporters normally are not allowed into the war zone.

Beirut bomb toll hits 75

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Mourning Moslem families, followed by a procession of demonstrators shouting anti-American slogans, buried on Saturday victims of the car bomb explosion that killed 75 people and injured at least 250.

Protesters shook fists and chanted "Death to America, death to Israel!" as victims' bodies, wrapped in black cloth, were buried in a mass grave at the Rawdat al-Shadeedin cemetery about a mile from the explosion site.

The blast Friday at the Shiite Moslem suburb of Ghobeiri was the deadliest in Beirut since truck bombings of U.S. and French military headquarters on Oct. 23, 1983, killed 241 U.S. servicemen and 58 French soldiers.

Thais, Viets in clash

SURIN, Thailand — Artillery fire rattled across the Thai-Cambodian border for the fifth straight day Saturday as Thai troops clashed with Vietnamese launching an assault on a major Cambodian guerrilla camp.

Thai units backed by sustained artillery and mortar fire repulsed a Vietnamese force that defied Thai threats of retaliation and intruded into Sangkha district to attack a strategic hill, Thai military officers said. They did not say how many Vietnamese soldiers had entered Thai territory.

Control of the hill would allow the Vietnamese to thrust southward at the guerrilla camp of Tatum, which has been heavy Vietnamese artillery fire and ground assaults since Tuesday, they said.

NATO officer shot at

MOERS, West Germany — Shots were fired today at an automobile carrying Air Marshal Sir Patrick Hine, head of the British Royal Air Force in West Germany, but he was not injured, authorities said.

Duesseldorf police said a British military vehicle was fired upon by a passing car on the A-57 West German autobahn near Moers at about noon.

"We are ready to build a bridge to a global environment of greater stability through the taming and then the elimination of nuclear weapons."

Arms talks

Soviet, American negotiators meet in Switzerland

U.S.

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — The chief U.S. delegate to American-Soviet arms talks, Max M. Kampelman, pledged efforts Saturday in an airport arrival statement toward the "taming and then the elimination of nuclear weapons."

Ambassador Kampelman arrived from Washington on a U.S. Air Force plane with fellow negotiators John G. Tower and Maynard W. Glitman. They will first meet Soviet negotiators on Tuesday to formally resume nuclear arms talks which have been in suspension for more than 15 months following a Soviet walkout.

Kampelman said his 80-member delegation will "thoroughly and responsibly explore all avenues that can lead to fair and equitable agreements," adding: "We are ready to build a bridge to a global environment of greater stability through the taming and then the elimination of nuclear weapons."

But Kampelman, a lawyer with long experience in negotiating with the Russians, warned that the new talks would be difficult.

"Our differences on the issues of nuclear arms are deep and deeply held. It would be folly to expect them to be bridged overnight," he said.

The talks may run on for years. While Kampelman did not specifically mention it, the main difficulty in the talks is expected to be President Reagan's desire to render "nuclear weapons impotent and obsolete" through a space-based defense shield. The Soviet Union, fearing a U.S. technological and defense edge, has bitterly criticized Reagan's so-called Strategic Defense Initiative, or "Star Wars."

The Geneva talks will be split into three parts — space weapons to be dealt with by Kampelman; long-range or strategic nuclear missiles, to be handled by Tower, a former Texas Republican senator; and intermediate-range missiles, under Glitman, a career foreign service officer.

Neither Kampelman nor Tower has had arms negotiating experience, but Kampelman for three years, until 1983, headed the American delegation to the Madrid European Security Conference which included the Soviet Union. Glitman served on the U.S. negotiating team in intermediate-range missile talks, broken off by the Russians Nov. 23, 1983.

The Americans will be faced with veteran arms negotiators, including Victor P. Karpov, who headed the Soviet delegation to long-range missile talks until they were suspended Dec. 8, 1983. A second negotiator will be Yuli A. Kvitzinsky, who headed intermediate-range talks for Moscow. The third Soviet negotiator is Alexei A. Obukhov, who took part in the long-range rocket talks.

Kampelman's delegation Saturday began studying "nuts and bolts" of arrangements for the talks, a U.S. official said. The negotiations are expected to rotate from U.S. to Soviet offices in Geneva. The opening session Tuesday is expected to take place in the Soviet mission, one conference source indicated.

Kampelman, Tower and Glitman were due to travel to Brussels, Belgium, on Sunday night or Monday morning to consult on the arms talks with the 16-member permanent council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The new round of talks was decided upon in a Jan. 7-8 Geneva session between Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and U.S. Secretary of State George P. Shultz.

An 11-member delegation from the U.S. Senate flew to Geneva Saturday.

Quake shakes Alaska

FAIRBANKS, Alaska — A moderate earthquake shook central Alaska early today, but state troopers said they had no reports of injuries from the sparsely populated area. The Alaska Tsunami Warning Center said the quake measured 6.3 on the Richter scale and was centered about 110 miles northwest of Fairbanks.

The quake was felt in Fairbanks and the tiny village of Bettles at 9:08 a.m. EST. The U.S. Geological Survey reported slight damage around Fairbanks but did not elaborate. Alaska State Troopers said they knew of no damage or injuries.

Teachers still on strike

JACKSON, Miss. — Six state legislators will return Sunday to work on pay raise proposals that could end a teachers' strike keeping 172,000 students out of class.

The three senators and three representatives face the task of devising a plan acceptable to the state House and Senate, to strikers, who are demanding substantial hikes in salaries that are among the nation's lowest for teachers, and to Gov. Bill Allain. The governor remains opposed to tax increases that he says would be needed to cover raises larger than the $1,500 he has offered.

Meanwhile, a school district on Friday became the first to fire strikers who did not return to work as ordered. In dismissing 137 of 163 teachers, the Marion County school board acted under a state law that says teachers' contracts are void if they willfully abandon their jobs.

Illinois flooding kills 4

PEORIA, Ill. — Police threatened Saturday to arrest sightseers along the swollen Illinois River as Red Cross teams assessed damage from a week of flooding that left four people dead and about 1,700 homeless.

Flood victims, some of whom could be out of their homes for a month, won a reprieve Saturday with sunshine and temperatures in the 50s, but the mild weather also drew out unwelcome tourists.

Students swamp Florida

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. — College students from Carolina to California, Boston to Baton Rouge are hitting Florida's beaches and bars almost as fast as the beer is pouring out in spite of austerity suggestions from a Reagan Cabinet member.

More college students are expected here from mid-February through the end of March than the 350,000 who came last year, pumping approximately $120 million into the local economy, tourism officials say.

The students, snubbing the advice of the Reagan administration, are continuing a 30-year tradition of spending spring break at the beach.

Vatican reports huge deficit

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican, in an effort to quash the "myth" about its wealth, reported Saturday it had a deficit of more than $29 million in 1984 and expects even more red ink this year.

Twelve cardinals of a finance oversight committee also disclosed that the Vatican bank had paid off a settlement in a major banking scandal without tapping other church resources.

Banking sources said the Vatican bank had agreed to pay between $240 million and $250 million to creditors of the collapsed Banco Ambrosiano, in which the Vatican was a large stockholder. In their statement, the cardinals said they gave "special attention" to possible cost-cutting changes in the Roman Catholic church's central administration, but did not specify what the changes might be.

Opinion

U.S. is losing its war on drugs

There is bad news on both the home front and the foreign front in the war against drugs. The fight isn't going well for the good guys.

Recent evidence suggests that the drug trade is growing, that traffickers are becoming more vicious and that efforts to stop them have been largely ineffective.

Meanwhile, drug demand and supply are rising in the United States. The expanding market, especially for cocaine, includes people considered to be among the better educated and more successful members of society.

Reports from the State Department and the President's Commission on Organized Crime say that worldwide drug production increased in the past year. And although record amounts of drugs have been confiscated entering the country, law enforcement officials say dealers are keeping their customers satisfied.

So confident are the drug traffickers that they have become brazen. They allegedly kidnapped a U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration agent in Mexico and offered rewards for killing top American drug officers. They have corrupted some government officials in Latin America, as well as some people in finance and law enforcement in the United States.

There have been some successes in the battle U.S. officials recently seized a Colombian airliner that was carrying more than a ton of cocaine into Florida. Authorities say that the cocaine cargo was worth five times the value of the plane. The prospect of such large rewards encourages a steady supply of willing smugglers.

In the past few years, cocaine has become the drug of choice among some affluent Americans who can afford the $100-a-gram price. Many of those cocaine users are in visible or important professions such as sports, entertainment, media, finance and law. Of all people, such individuals should know the dangers of drugs. Yet many can't resist.

It all suggests that drugs have become a social cancer that can't be cured solely by law enforcement or educational programs. A greater awareness is needed that a snort of cocaine may bring momentary pleasure, but it contributes to the moral deterioration of American and foreign societies.

The real story of the Alamo

To the editor:

I would like to correct a few errors and inconsistencies in last Sunday's Around the Rim column. Therein you write, "Here's the real blasphemy: The legend of the Alamo is a big lie. Nothing heroic happened there. Two companies of militiamen were slaughtered in 45 minutes."

The Mexican General President Santa Anna arrived with his army February 23, 1836. On March 3 after ten days of siege and bombardment the besieging army worked its cannons in close enough to begin to have a serious effect on the walls. Even though dozens of Mexican gunners were picked off by the 150 sharp shooting defenders, two days later on March 5, a breach was battered in the east wall. Dawn of March 6 four thousand veteran well trained, well fed, and well armed Mexican soldiers began their assault. It never reached the wall. The second assault actually reached the walls, but was repelled. The Mexicans retreated a second time. The third assault began after eight a.m. At nine, March 6, 1836 the last of the 150 defenders was dead. The Mexicans lost 1,600 men and suffered 500 wounded. This was no 45 minute slaughter.

Further in the column you ask, "Why do Texans...enshrine a defeat like the Alamo and ignore a great victory like San Jacinto?" Well of course we do not. We have a Texas independence day March 2, the declaration of independence. We have a San Jacinto day, April 21 when Houston's forces defeated the Mexican army and captured Santa Anna. But we have no Alamo Day.

Further you wrote that the Alamo defenders died cheaply: "very cheaply." Not so. Their death bought over ten days of time badly needed by General Houston to organize his army for the decisive battle at San Jacinto. At noon April 21 Houston with his army of 918 attacked Santa Anna's 1,300 man army with the battle cry "Remember the Alamo." The Texans overran the demoralized Mexicans, killing 630, capturing 700 including Santa Anna. The Texans lost two killed in action, and suffered 30 wounded, including Houston who was shot in the ankle. Had Santa Anna not lost over half his army at the Alamo, the outcome might have been much different.

No gentlemen, the Alamo defenders did not die cheaply.

Ivie captained the water ship

To the editor:

Now that a final agreement has been reached between the Colorado River Municipal Water District and the Lower Colorado River Authority concerning the Stacy Dam dispute, I feel the time is appropriate to commend O.H. "Owen" Ivie, the general manager of CRMWD, for his dedication in seeing this compromise through to the end.

I don't believe any single individual is more responsible for the resolution of this long-standing conflict, and I salute his accomplishments on this vital issue.

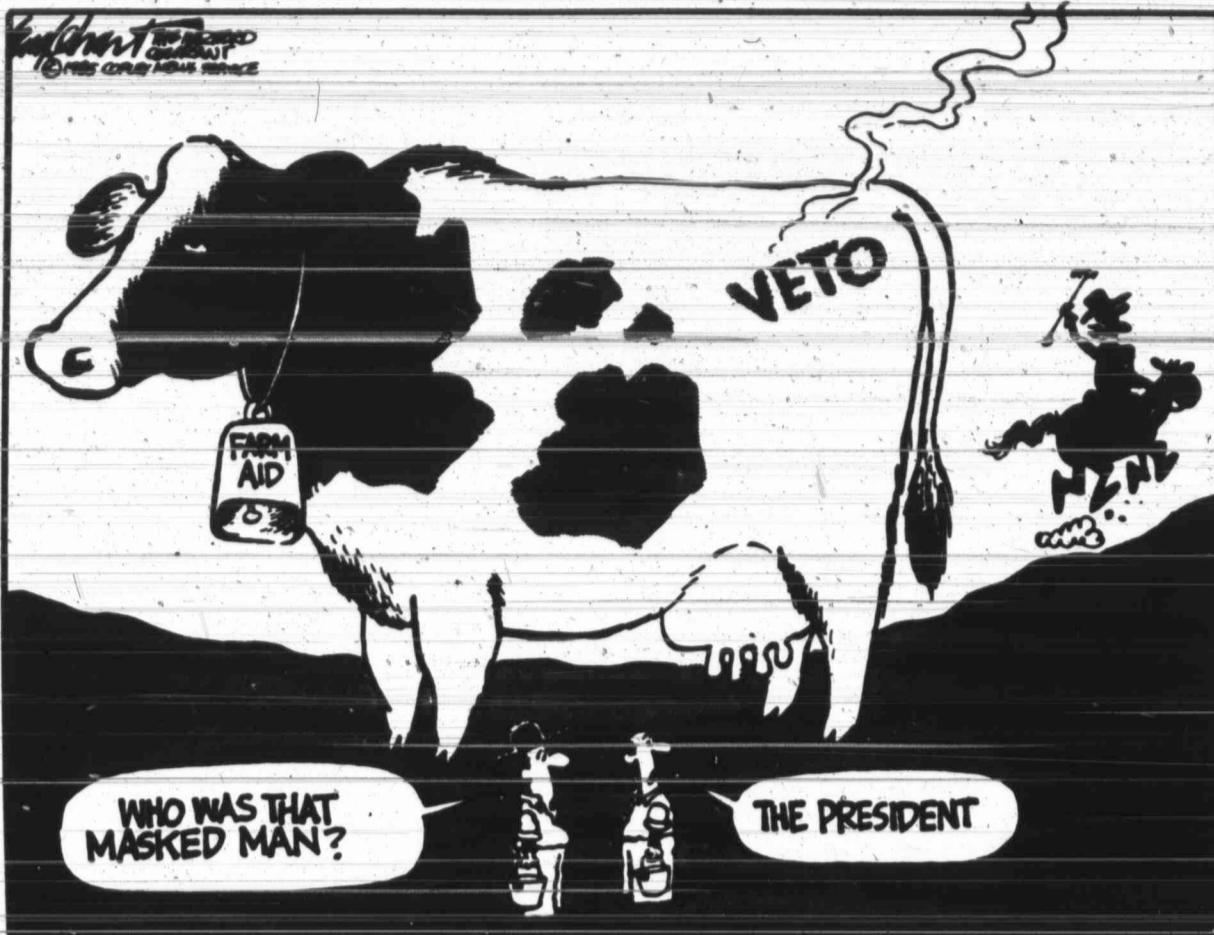

After the years of controversy surrounding the construction of Stacy Dam, I know we are all relieved that these two water agencies have reached a mutual agreement. As vice-chairman of the Natural Resources Committee in the House, I know firsthand how crucial this compromise is to the ultimate passage of a long-term statewide water plan.

Recognizing that the Stacy Dam and Reservoir will serve all of us in West Texas well into the 21st century, I think we should all be proud and grateful that we have a capable representative like Owen Ivie on our side protecting our water interests.

Recently, Owen was selected as "Conservationist of the Year for 1985" by the Texas Water Conservation Association, and I know that he is most deserving of this honor.

Owen, on behalf of all of us in West Texas, thanks for a job well done.

A beautiful baby Beatle

Time heals wounds. It filters out the unpleasant, until all that remains is the Readers Digest Condensed version of the real thing. And people swear by the condensed version. The 1960s plus 20 years produces Julian Lennon, a haunting reflection of father John.

He looks like a baby. But then I guess his father did, too, 20 years ago when he and three other Englishmen who called themselves the Beatles captured the hearts of America's young people. Young people like me.

It's funny and sad to watch my generation come of age. I am the target of the television commercials selling big-ticket items. They're trying to sell me a Mercury to the tune of the Beatles "Help!" That song was released in the summer of 1965 (the flip side was "I'm Down") and it — like most of the Beatles tunes — became a No. 1 bestseller. "Help!" has been recorded by 32 artists, which cannot compare with the versatility of "Yesterday," which shined through 119 different recordings with grace and style. But "Help!" — both a song and a movie — was definitely one of the Beatles' biggies.

"Help" was recorded just two years after John and Cynthia Lennon gave birth to a son, Julian. That was before John's break with Cynthia, his association with Yoko Ono, his granny glasses and his Far East religion.

Over time, all we recall are the romantic memories of the late '60s and early '70s. But there was turmoil: anti-war demonstrations, campus unrest, drug-dropping hippies who turned on and tuned out, and civil disobedience.

We remember the first glimpse of the Beatles on Ed Sullivan, the English musical invasion, but not the overreactions of the "Establishment," the head bashing by police and the deaths at Kent State.

It doesn't matter. Perhaps on a deeper, more enduring level, we remember clearly the pain and growth of that time. It is just as well that the good should rise to the fore of our memories. Let the advertising agencies peddle the Beatles to my generation.

I can sit and watch Julian Lennon sing his Beatlesque tune, with its catchy repetitious harmonies, and be happy that we live in a calmer, more settled time. I try to ignore the fact that the message of young Lennon's "Too Late for Goodbyes" is based on the violent death of his father at the hands of a looney.

Today

By The Associated Press

Today is Sunday, March 10, the 69th day of 1985. There are 296 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On March 10, 1876, Alexander Graham Bell made the first telephone call, telling his assistant in an adjoining room in Boston, "Mr. Watson, come here. I want you."

On this date: In 1496, Christopher Columbus concluded his second visit to the New World as he left Hispaniola for Spain.

In 1629, England's King Charles I dissolved parliament. He would not call it back for 11 years.

In 1785, Thomas Jefferson was appointed minister to France, succeeding Benjamin Franklin.

In 1848, the Senate ratified the Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo, ending the war with Mexico. In 1864, Ulysses S. Grant became commander of the Union armies in the Civil War.

In 1880, the Salvation Army arrived in the United States from England.

In 1948, the anti-communist foreign minister of Czechoslovakia, Jan Masaryk, plunged to his death in Prague.

In 1949, Mildred E. Gillars, who had made wartime broadcasts for the Nazis under the name "Axis Sally," was convicted of treason in Washington.

In 1969, James Earl Ray pleaded guilty in Memphis, Tenn., to the assassination of civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr.

Ten years ago: The administration of President Gerald Ford gained a new Cabinet member as Carla A. Hills was sworn in as Secretary of Housing and Urban Development. She became the third woman in U.S. history to hold a Cabinet post.

Five years ago: The author of the "Scarsdale Diet," Dr. Herman Tarnower, was shot to death at his home in Purchase, N.Y. School headmistress Jean Harris was convicted of the crime.

One year ago: Colorado Sen. Gary Hart scored a solid, fourth consecutive victory over rival presidential candidate Walter F. Mondale by winning the Wyoming Democratic caucuses.

Today's birthdays: Actress Pamela Mason is 67. Playwright David Rabe is 45.

Texas rolls out Red carpet for Russians

DALLAS (AP) — A high-ranking Soviet delegation got a glimpse of American capitalism at its finest Saturday with a visit to a world famous department store before stopping off for a Texas-style picnic of barbecue and beer.

Politburo member Vladimir Shcherbitskiy and his 30-member delegation, the highest-ranking Soviets to visit the United States since 1972, ate breakfast in a private home before touring Neiman-Marcus in downtown Dallas.

The delegation is visiting Texas and California after four days of talks in Washington with U.S. officials.

"This is the richest store I have ever seen," said Vitaliy Koysch, a delegation member, as he walked through the posh Neiman-Marcus department store.

"You have many beautiful and valuable things in the store," said Aleksandr A. Zakharenko, member of the USSR's Committee on Planning and Budget, "but I think only people who are very wealthy shop here."

Richard Marcus, Neiman-Marcus chairman and chief executive officer, led the group down six flights of escalators, stopping at every floor except the lady's wear and lingerie section to show merchandise and answer questions. Marcus presented Shcherbitskiy with a crystal cowboy hat and gave members of the delegation a picture book of Texas cowboys.

VLADIMIR SCHERBITSKIY, a member of the Soviet Politburo, visits with Texas Gov. Mark White in Austin.

"Our emphasis is not only on high-priced goods, but on quality," Marcus explained as he led the group to the section containing furs priced at $55,000 to $125,000. The delegation stopped for several minutes to inspect sable

Around The Rim It ain't English

By KEITH BRISCOE

America has been bilingual for more than a century, and English is our second language.

The Civil War, which brought men from far places together in mass for the first time, gave birth not only to a nation but also to an American language. Elizabethan English gave way to a frontier vernacular distinctly American.

Lincoln was the first president to speak American, and Mark Twain was the first author to write American.

Don't be confused. Both languages exist today in the U.S.A., but linguistically, phonetically and culturally they are as different as German and Dutch. In America, snobs try to speak English, lawyers try to write it, and schools try to teach it.

But admit it. Most of us, though we understand English, speak, write and think American.

The basic difference: English is a Classical language, governed by precise rules and proper usage. American is impressionistic, ruled by feeling, circumstance and utility.

Example: The Constitution was written in English. Martin Luther King defended the Constitution in American.

American author John Steinbeck took great delight in breaking the rules of English:

"A wave of frantic, frustrated frogs, big ones, little ones, brown ones, green ones, men frogs and women frogs, a wave of them broke over the bank, crawled, leaped, scrambled."

And Hemingway simply made love to the American tongue:

"Part of you died each year when the leaves fell from the trees and their branches were bare against the wind and the cold, wintry light...When the cold rains kept on and killed the spring, it was as though a young person had died for no reason."

Britons today can't match that kind of prose because their language died, suffocated by a stifling culture of arrogance, mannerism and aristocratic protocol.

Here's some of their best: "With eyes for the most part downcast and, if ever they lighted on a fellow creature, at once and furtively averted, Bernard hastened across the roof."

In America, unbound by tradition, caste or pretension, language is more than communication. It's a personal creation. Like cooking, dressing, making love.

The English may think us crude, but I ain't ashamed of speaking American.

Opinions expressed in this column are those of the staff writer and do not necessarily reflect the views of the newspaper's management.

About 30 demonstrators met the delegation outside Neiman-Marcus to protest Soviet involvement in Afghanistan.

Delegation members met with Gov. Mark White in Austin Friday and said they looked forward to the start of the arms control talks in Geneva Tuesday.

"Mankind is facing a dilemma now whether to prevent war and insure peace, or be carried away by the hypnosis of the arms race," said Shcherbitskiy.

The Soviets left Neiman-Marcus and walked across the street to Dallas Western Wear, where many of the delegates bought belt buckles and cowboy figurines. Shcherbitskiy was fitted for a $200 Stetson cowboy hat.

The group then headed to the Los Colinas Equestrian Club in Irving, where they ate barbecue and drank Lone Star beer to the accompaniment of "Silver Threads and Golden Needles" by the Country Cousins, a country-western band.

"I like the food and the music — as well as the women," said Vitaliy Pereloma.

Except for a few brief political statements, most of the conversation surrounded the unfamiliar sights the Soviet delegation took in during the day.

U.S. Rep. Martin Frost, D-Texas, hosted the delegation's visit to Dallas.

Legislator tries to revive defeated horse racing bill

AUSTIN (AP) — A House member is trying to revive the horse racing bill, but Speaker Gib Lewis says it's dead and would probably stay that way.

Dallas Rep. Paul Ragsdale, chairman of the Legislative Black Caucus, said Friday he would move to knock out the minority sections that helped seal the bill's doom on the House floor Wednesday.

"This patient might have a cardiac arrest temporarily, but I wouldn't declare it dead," Ragsdale said Friday.

The House voted down the horse race bill 96-52. Among the fatal factors was a minority ownership provision negotiated into the bill by the blacks. In the end, that provision scared away some House conservatives and did not satisfy most of the House blacks.

Lewis proclaimed the bill dead after the vote. He said Friday that Ragsdale's effort probably would go nowhere.

"If I were asked for my advice, I'd advise him not to do it. But he's a member of the House and as a member he has the right to make any motion he wants to," Lewis said through spokesman Tony Garrett.

"His previous statement stands," Garrett said of Lewis. "He thinks it's dead for the session."

Ragsdale's job is made tougher by a House decision to require 100 votes to bring the topic back to the floor.

But Ragsdale said he'll search for the 100 votes because the bottom line is the bottom line — Texas needs the money horse racing could generate.

A month ago, when the black caucus demanded the minority provisions, Ragsdale said the measure did not offer much for minorities.

"Pari-mutuel is a pastime for the wealthy," he said in February. "Poor people clean up at the stables, not the $50 window."

County's only hospital goes broke, shuts doors

HEMPSTEAD (AP) — The doors of Waller County's only hospital have been closed for a week, leaving 20,000 residents without a place to treat medical emergencies.

County officials say they're relieved nothing drastic has happened. But they don't expect their luck to last forever, especially since tens of thousands of motorists travel through the county each week on U.S. Highway 290 between Houston and Austin.

"They're going to meet fenders right here," Hempstead Police Chief Randy Johnson predicted Friday, "and we're sure going to need a hospital then."

While the 80 former Memorial Hospital employees picketed outside the Waller County Courthouse to protest the loss of their jobs, some county officials tried to convince state legislators to pass a bill that would create a tax-collecting hospital district.

"What we really need is a new hospital and the hospital district is the only way we have to create the financial base to build it," said Dr. Linda Flower, a physician who worked regularly at the hospital.

Other officials spent last week talking with corporations about taking over the responsibilities of Memorial Hospital Systems, which tried for four years to keep the aging, 34-bed hospital open.

Jury indicts Tyler oilman

TYLER (AP) — A grand jury probing losses from an East Texas oilman's estate has returned three indictments against Kenneth Wayne Goodwin.

Goodwin, a Tyler oilman and son of a former trustee of the Kenneth C. Miller estate, was named in multi-count indictments alleging thefts totaling $44,467 and securities fraud.

State District Judge Donald Carroll set $10,000 bonds on each indictment. Texas Ranger Stuart Dowell said a warrant would be issued for Goodwin's arrest.

The Smith County grand jury heard testimony from 37 witnesses since it convened Tuesday. Carroll recessed the panel Friday, and set an additional session for March 27.

Mills heads a team of four state investigators assembled for the probe.

Easter Seal Society For CRIPPLED CHILDREN & ADULTS OF HOWARD COUNTY

Dear Friend:

We think that every crippled child or adult deserves a chance for a better way of life, even those who require costly medical treatments and specialized care and treatment that their families simply can't afford. The Easter Seal Society helps crippled children and adults no matter how serious the case is, or what color or religion or age the person may be. Of course, it costs us plenty.

Through the activities we sponsor, people all over Howard County help us raise the money needed each year to keep our services for the crippled going. We would like to be able to do more to make sure that crippled children and adults in Howard County who need and deserve treatment will get it.

Looking through the names of the people who've donated over the past years, we remember the good that the Easter Seal Society has accomplished because of people like you.

We have seen people overcome enormous handicaps; we have seen the smiling faces of young and old as they made progress taking a step or relearning a skill. These wonderful things happened because people like you made it possible by donating to the Easter Seal Society right here in Howard County. A special "thank you" to you for whatever you've done. Never have we had to deny help and hope to handicapped children and adults and with your help, we can meet this challenge again this year.

That's why we are asking you to make a contribution at this time that could mean the difference between hope and hopelessness for some handicapped person in Howard County.

Sincerely,
EASTER SEAL SOCIETY FOR CRIPPLED CHILDREN & ADULTS OF HOWARD COUNTY

Reagan launches MX plea

But Sen. Hart says new missile is weak, not cheap

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan pressed his lobbying campaign for continued funding of the MX missile Saturday, saying America's existing land-based missiles are "sorta like a 1963 jalopy with some new parts."

Using his weekly noontime radio address to urge Americans to put pressure on the Congress, Reagan said the MX vote, which is still about 10 days off, "could be the real key to a successful outcome" of a new round of U.S.-Soviet arms talks beginning in Geneva on Tuesday.

The Soviets, Reagan said, view the upcoming House and Senate votes on MX funding as a key test of American resolve.

"The time is now to send a signal loud and clear that a united and resolute America backs our negotiators in Geneva," Reagan said. "And that could be the real key to a successful outcome."

But Sen. Gary Hart, responding to Reagan on behalf of the Democrats, said, "The Soviets already know we're strong and determined."

Calling the MX weak but not cheap, the Colorado senator who lost a bid for his party's presidential nomination last year said, "We can't show the Russians we are strong by voting for a missile that's weak."

Reagan said a defeat on the vote to release funds for building the second batch of an eventual 100-missile force would signal the Soviets that "they can gain more through propaganda and stonewalling than through serious negotiations."

"There is no easy, cheap way to buy security," the president warned.

In a continuation of his high-pressure sales campaign for the 10-warhead intercontinental MX, Reagan said that in recent decades "America exercised unilateral restraint, good will and a sincere commitment to arms reductions" while the Soviets continued to build newer and better land-based missiles. "As a result," he said, "many of the missiles protecting our security at this very moment are older than the Air Force men and women taking care of them. They are missiles of the '60s, originally equipped with 1950s-era technology."

"It's sorta like a 1963 jalopy with some new parts ... In many states, automobiles that old will soon qualify as antiques."

But the Soviets, Reagan said, "don't deal in antiques. Their response was the same as it's always been: no restraint. Just build, build and build."

Hart's response was only coincidentally on the same subject as Reagan's, since the White House keeps the topic of the president's weekly radio speech secret and Hart's was prepared before Reagan went on the air.

The senator, a leading opponent of the MX, said the Soviets realize "we have spent $1 trillion on the military these last four years. If the Soviets didn't think we were strong and determined, they wouldn't have come back to the negotiating table."

The Senate is scheduled to vote about March 20 on a resolution to release $1.5 billion for 21 additional MXs.

Texas lawmaker blasts Pentagon's crackdown

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Texas, the cigar-chomping chairman of the House Government Operations Committee, has a few choice words for Pentagon crackdowns on defense contractors: "Paperwork, hogwash and cosmetics."

"There's no real attempt to solve the problem," says Brooks. "That's the pattern."

But Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger, already embroiled in a fight with Congress over proposed increases in the Pentagon's budget and money for the MX intercontinental missile, said last week that he means business.

Weinberger announced he is cutting off $40 million of $700 million in monthly payments to General Dynamics, the nation's largest defense contractor, while the Pentagon opens a new investigation into allegedly improper billings by the company for costs seemingly unrelated to the production of F-16 fighters and Trident submarines.

These include a bill for boarding a company executive's pet dog.

In the future all contractors "will be required to certify, under penalty of perjury, that their claims do not include any expenses for political, entertainment or other expenses not made directly for the benefit of the government and required for the performance of the contract involved," Weinberger said.

"They are always wanting to do better," Brooks said last week. "And they send the problem to a committee of senior officials, and they don't do a damn thing."

Chairman Brooks directed those general remarks to another problem, related to defense contractors: testimony that $22 billion in government supplied material and equipment is open to loss, theft and mismanagement because neither the Pentagon nor the contractors has kept track of it.

WENDELL NIBBS (25) of Houston Madison completes a slam dunk as Conroe's KENT OPPERHAMMER (35) looks on in state tournament action Saturday.

Morton also bites dust

Bay City nips Tors in finals

AUSTIN (AP) — LaBradford Smith and Hart Lee Dykes combined for 43 points to lead Bay City to a 65-63 victory over Lamesa and its first Class 4A title game victory after four shots in the UIL Boy's State High School Basketball Tournament Saturday.

The Blackcats lost in the championship game in 1979, 1980 and 1982 before capping this season with a 35-1 record and their first title.

Jerry Mason paced Lamesa, which finished the season at 28-6, with 25 points and 10 rebounds. Smith led Bay City with 23 points and Dykes added 20 points and 15 rebounds.

Bay City fell behind early, then outscored the Golden Tornadoes 15-1 in the final 3:02 of the first period. The Blackcats stretched their lead to 38-24 at the half.

Jerry Mason and his brother Chris, who finished with 18 points, each scored 12 in the second half to cut into Bay City's lead.

Jerry Mason pulled the Tornadoes within two, 65-63 with eight seconds left. But teammate Gilbert Arredondo couldn't connect on two long shots as time ran out.

Led by Sean Gay's 21 points, Houston Madison rolled to an 89-69 victory over Conroe to complete its undefeated season and take its first Class 5A title at the UIL Boy's State High School Basketball Tournament Saturday night.

Gay was a perfect seven-for-seven from the floor to lead the 40-0 Marlins, while Cedric Brown and Patrick Crocklin added 14 points apiece.

In other UIL action Saturday, Sweeny overcame Brownsboro 55-43 in 3A. Grapeland won its first-ever state title with a 63-56 victory over Morton in 2A and La Poyner defeated Nazareth 47-43 in overtime in Class A.

The Conroe Tigers, 34-3, were plagued by turnovers and poor shooting — they hit only 26 of 67 shots from the floor and 17 of 32 from the free-throw line.

Conroe's 27 turnovers led to 24 points for the Marlins, and Madison added insult to injury by outrebounding the taller Tigers 45-32. Maurice Wright paced Conroe with 21 points, followed by Kelvin Smith with 17.

Sweeny, paced by 16 first-half points from senior Kent Baugh, took its first state basketball championship since 1954 with a 55-43 win over Brownsboro in 3A play.

Baugh finished with 18 points, followed by Bennett Fields with 15. Sweeny finished the season at 31-3, while Brownsboro was 30-5.

Tony Jones' 27 points led Grapeland to its first-ever state basketball title with a 63-56 victory over Morton in 2A play.

Jones, a 5-foot-8 University of Texas football recruit, dominated play all-over the court, adding eight rebounds, five assists and two steals to his game-high point total.

Keith Hawkins was high scorer for Morton with 16 points, followed by Jimmy Moore and Jerry Joyce with 12 each. The Indians closed their season at 26-10; Grapeland raised its record to 32-3.

La Poyner's Daryl Street scored a three-point play with 25 seconds left in overtime to clinch the 47-43 win over Nazareth in the Class A final.

La Poyner took the lead for the first time in the nip-and-tuck game, 38-36, on Randy Herd's 20-foot jumper with 2:25 left in the fourth quarter. But regulation ended with the teams tied at 40-40.

The Flyers' victory gave La Poyner, 31-6, its fourth state title. The Swifts' loss, their second straight in the championship game, also spoiled the Joe Lombard's second straight attempt to become the first coach in Texas to take his girls and boys teams to the championship in the same year.

Lombard's Swiftettes won the girls' title last weekend, but the boys' squad finished its season at 28-6.

Tech, in SWC finals

DALLAS (AP) — Dead eye guard Bubba Jennings scored 23 points as regular-season champion Texas Tech stormed into the title game of the Southwest Conference Post-Season Basketball Classic Saturday with a 72-63 victory over Texas A&M.

Tech, now 22-7 for the season, faces Arkansas in the tournament championship at 2:00 p.m. Sunday after the Razorbacks breezed past Southern Methodist 68-55 later Saturday.

The Red Raiders led from start to finish as Jennings connected on 9 of 11 field goal attempts and 5 of 6 free throws.

Jennings, who had 12 points in the first half, hit his first four shots as the red-hot Red Raiders ran off a 38-26 halftime lead.

Tech canned its first six shots of the game then made nine in a row in a nine-minute stretch late in the first half to finish with a 72 per cent shooting percentage against the cold-shooting Aggies, who shot only 40 per cent in the first half.

It was the 600th game for Aggie Coach Shelby Metcalf.

Texas Tech Coach Gerald Myers said the Red Raider game plan was simple — get the ball to Bubba.

Tech hit 60.9 percent from the field for the game to 44 percent for the Aggies.

Arkansas 68
SMU 55

DALLAS (AP) — Freshman reserve Byron Irvin scored 18 points and Joe Kleine muscled in 17 to carry Arkansas into the finals of the Southwest Conference Post-Season Basketball Classic with a 68-55 victory over No. 20 Southern Methodist Saturday.

Texas Tech, the regular season SWC champion, advanced to Sunday afternoon's title game earlier Saturday with a 72-63 victory over Texas A&M behind guard Bubba Jennings, who scored 23 points.

Arkansas is now 21-11 for the year, while SMU tumbled to 22-9.

SMU center Jon Koncak scored nine points and had 11 rebounds in his duel with fellow Olympian Kleine — who had two rebounds — before fouling out with 1:59 to play. Wright led SMU scoring with 20 points.

Williams Mills added 11 points for the balanced-scoring Arkansas attack.

The winner of the SWC Classic is automatically assured an NCAA playoff berth.

One bad inning leads to Steers downfall

By STEVE BELVIN
Staff Writer

Thanks to a walk-filled third inning in which they scored all of their runs, the Snyder Tigers nipped the Big Spring Steers 3-2 in non-district action here at Steers Field.

To say the Tigers were fortunate to gain their fifth win in seven tries is putting it mildly. The visitors got their runs in the dreaded third stanza without a single hit. In fact, Big Spring starter Mike Dodd and relief pitcher Tommy Gartman limited Snyder to three hits the entire game. The Steers defense was for most of the game as it turned three double plays.

The Tiger runs came via a brief wild streak by Dodd in which he threw 12 consecutive balls while loading up the bases with no outs. Then Dodd nearly worked his way out of the inning. If not for an error by the centerfielder on a fly ball, the Tigers would have just pushed a run across the plate.

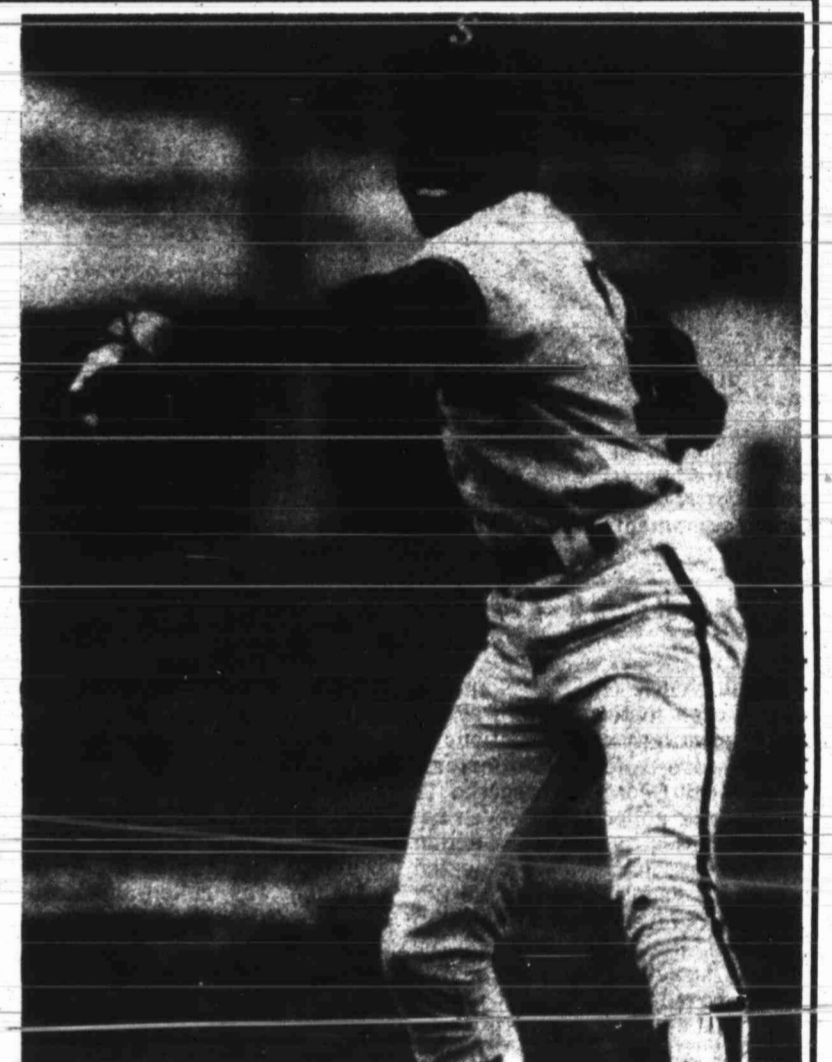

Snyder centerfielder Bobby Valasquez drove in the first run when he brought in Chris Fryar on a sacrifice fly. Brad Holcomb and Justin Webb then scored when Charles Brollinger got a double thanks to the error.

Other than that inning, Dodd pitched a strong game. He exited the contest after five innings, allowing one hit while walking five and striking out three. Gartman did an admirable job the final two innings allowing two hits fanning two.

Ironically the Steers pitchers swung the hot bats. Dodd and Gartman each collected two hits each. Dodd got a double in the first inning and added another in the third stanza in which the Steers scored their first run of the game. His two-bagger in the right-center gap brought in Randy Hayworth who reached base via a walk.

Gartman doubled in the next inning, the stanza in which Big Spring scored their final run. He was left stranded on third. He also singled in the sixth inning and was left stranded on second.

Second baseman Jerry Anderson started off the fourth inning with a single off Cain. Gartman's double moved Anderson to third and Felix Olivas brought Anderson home as he reached base on an error by the right fielder. But that was all the scoring the Steers would get as Cain shut them down the final two innings.

Big Spring Steers shortstop SAMMY WATSON gets ready to throw out a Snyder Tigers runner after fielding a ground ball in Saturday's game at Steers Field.

Frosh, Goliad fare well in annual Optimist Relays

By STEVE BELVIN
Staff Writer

The Big Spring freshmen and Goliad Black teams had the top local performances in the annual Optimist Relays held yesterday at Blankenship Field. Both teams finished second in their divisions.

The freshmen Steers, led by Brian Mayfield and Sean Jackson, finished second with 101 points behind Midland Lee's 145 first place points.

Mayfield and Jackson led the way as each turned in record-breaking performances. Jackson broke meet records in the 400 (53.76) and 800 (2:11.83) meter races. Meanwhile Mayfield smashed the meet record in the high jump with a 6-3 effort and also won the long jump (19-8). He also finished second in the hurdles in a time of 16.22.

Cedrick Banks gave Big Spring a 1-2 finish in the 400 by following Jackson in a clocking of 54.48. Big Spring also racked up points in the sprints as Charles White took first in the 100 and second in the 200. Danny Williams finished fourth in both events.

The Goliad Black team was outdistanced by San Angelo Edison 160-125.

Chris Cole led the way with a new record in the eight-pound shot (40-9), while adding a third in the 100 meters. Michael Hillario finished second in the event.

The Goliad Black team got 40 big points as they zipped to wins in the 400 and 1600 relays. Other first place finishers were Trey Smith in the high jump and Juan Samora in the discus. Peter Buske added fourth places in the shot and discus.

The Runnels team didn't fare as well in the eight grade division as it finished a distant fifth place with 51 points. San Angelo Lee won the meet by nosing out San Angelo Glenn 91-89. It came down to the final event, the 1600 relay. Going into the race Glenn led Lee 81-75. Lee gained the title by finishing second in the relay while Glenn placed fourth.

Runnels top finish was a first place in the 400 relay as they toured the track in a time of 49.95, easily outdistancing second-place Sweetwater. Runnels also scored well in the 400 as Jose Tovar and Kiley Jones finished 1-3.

Other top Runnels finishers were a third place by Dusty Reeves in the discus and a second place by Fidenio DeLeon in the 1600.

UT women win SWC tourney

DALLAS (AP) — Junior forward Fran Harris scored 23 points and Cara Priddy added 13 to power No. 1 Texas to an 82-62 win over Texas Tech in the Southwest Conference Women's Post-Season Tournament championship Saturday night.

The victory gives Texas a 27-2 record and an automatic berth in the women's NCAA tournament that begins later this week. Seventeenth-ranked Tech dropped to 22-7.

Harris scored 13 of her game-high point total in the first half as the Lady Longhorns raced to a 26-12 lead with 7:56 remaining before intermission.

Sharon Cain, who led the Red Raiders with 16 points, scored 12 in the opening period to help Tech cut the halftime deficit to 39-32. The Raiders hit the second half's first bucket to make it 39-34, but Texas steadily pulled away and was never threatened.

Andrea Lloyd contributed 12 points to the Texas cause, while Tech was paced by Camille Franklin with 13 points, Tricia Clay with 12 and Lisa Logsdon with 11.

Clearing the barrier

MIKE RUSH, a Coahoma eight grader leaps over the hurdle in the finals of the 110 meter hurdles at the Optimist Relays yesterday at Blankenship Field. Rush finished second in the race.

Ashcraft hurls Hawks past Northwood, 8-3

DALLAS — Behind a strong pitching performance by ace Chuck Ashcraft, the Howard Hawks downed Northwood Institute 8-3 in the conference opener for the Hawks.

Ashcraft pitched a masterful game, going all nine innings and allowing six hits and striking out 12. The win ups his record to 4-0 for the season.

Howard's big inning came in the fourth as Howard scored four runs on only one hit. Northwood starter Dan Clements walked four consecutive batters, bringing in one run. Jim Garcia singled, driving in a run and Mark Howell and Joe Cuellar drove in runs with sacrifice flies. Going into the fifth inning Howard led 5-1.

Northwood narrowed the margin to 5-3 in the fifth as they got two runs on four hits. But after that Ashcraft would be unstoppable. The sophomore fireballer didn't allow a hit the last four innings while striking out six batters.

Howard added three insurance runs in the eighth inning Steve Carrasco doubled, scoring Ortiz and Carrasco scored on a passed ball. Richard Carroll brought home the final HC run as he singled, scoring Bruce Smith who reached base on a walk.

The win raises Howard's record to 10-2 for the season while Northwood drops to 3-1 in conference play.

The two teams square off for a doubleheader today beginning at 2 p.m. Doug Myers will get the start for Howard in the opener.

Steers improve at WT Relays

By STEVE BELVIN
Staff Writer

ODESSA — It was not a meet in which Big Spring scored a lot of points, but the West Texas Relays produced a lot of improvement in coach Randy Britton's young Steers and Lady Steers squads.

"I was pleased," said Britton. "Everyone gave a good effort and our times got better."

The Big Spring girls scored 30 points, all in field events, in the division won by Odessa Permian. Again, weight people Paula Jolley and Amanda Solis carried the brunt of the load. Jolly uncorked a career-best 116-0 in the discus to come away with first place honors. She also added a second place in the shot put with a heave of 39-6.

Solis got off a career-best of 108-5 for a fourth place in the shot. She also finished fourth in the shot with a toss of 33-4.

Big Spring's other points came from a fourth place finish in the long jump by Monica Lockridge (16-5).

Other top girl finishers were Michelle LaGrand (65.0) and Kerri Brooks (68.0) in the 400, and Tammi Green in the high jump (4-8).

Brian Mayfield scored all of the Steers total eight points behind a second place, 6-2 effort in the high jump. He jumped 20-11 in the long jump but didn't make the finals.

Other Steers to make the finals were Preston Harrison in the 3,200 meters (10:51.00) and Dax McCracken in the 800 (2:03.2). McCracken was never a factor in the finals because he was tripped early in the race.

The 1600 relay team of McCracken (54.2), Dewayne Sherman (52.7), Sean Jackson (51.6) and Brian Reid (52.6) didn't make it to the finals but recorded a season-best of 3:31.2.

Midland Lee won the boys division.

Zoeller moves into Bay Hill tie

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) - Fuzzy Zoeller, whose career was in jeopardy only six months ago, birdied five of his last six holes for a 66 that lifted him into a tie for the lead Saturday in the third round of the $500,000 Hertz Bay Hill Classic.

"Not bad - for me," Zoeller said after his closing rush enabled him to come from five shots back and move past 15 players.

He, along with Curtis Strange, completed 54 holes over Arnold Palmer's Bay Hill Club course in 208, five shots under par.

Strange, winner of last week's Honda Classic, had a third-round 68 in the hot, sunny weather.

The easy-going Zoeller, who won the U.S. Open championship in a playoff last summer, twice was hospitalized with severe back problems later in the year and, in September, underwent major surgery.

He didn't swing a club until January, didn't start heavy practice until last month and returned to Tour competition only three weeks ago.

His success, his high standing in this event, "might surprise some people, but it doesn't shock me," Zoeller said.

"I played in pain so long, got so accustomed to pain, that the little aches and pains I have now, the pains of healing, don't bother me. "Listen, I've been hitting the ball well. It's just the little mental errors I make. I know I'm gonna hit some bad shots, at least until I can get my mind to where I can concentrate for 18 holes."

One of those mental lapses came on the sixth hole, where he drove into the water and made double bogey-7.

"It was a bad shot," he shrugged. "It was a shot that deserved a double bogey."

But Zoeller hit it close to the flag on the back, scoring four of the five birdies in his closing burst after his approach shots had come to rest less than eight feet from the cup.

While the rebounding Zoeller was making his move at the end, those same tough, finishing holes extracted their toll from some of the game's more celebrated names.

Andy Bean, in a tie for the lead, hit into the water on the 18th and made double bogey.

Tom Watson, within a shot of the top, 3-putted from 8 feet on the 16th. "A stupid mistake," he said.

And Greg Norman, the Australian shark-shooter who now owns a home on this course, kept his ball dry but took four strokes to get it on the putting surface at the 18th and fell three off the pace.

Howard County Boxing Club boxers GENE DUKES (left) and JAMIE BALDWIN will be representing Howard County in the State Golden Boxing Tournament in Ft. Worth starting Tuesday. Dukes is a 147-pound welterweight while Baldwin is a 125-pound flyweight. Both box in the Open Class division and earned the trip via winning regional competition in Odessa.

Georgetown subdues St. John's

NEW YORK (AP) - Numbers were very important to Patrick Ewing Saturday night.

The two-time All-American center for Georgetown scored 11 points and pulled down seven rebounds in just 19 minutes of action as the top-ranked Hoyas defeated No. 2 St. John's 92-80 for the Big East Conference championship and an automatic berth in the NCAA basketball tournament.

But no number was more important than the "1" Ewing proffered for the Madison Square Garden fans with nine seconds remaining. The 7-footer waved his index finger so that all could see his team's ranking in the conference and the nation.

"I didn't do it alone," Ewing said, referring to the outstanding performances of four teammates and his backup, 6-11 Ralph Dalton.

"You saw how important Ralph is to us," Ewing said.

Dalton was called upon when Ewing exited with 11:32 remaining in the first half after being called for his third foul. Georgetown trailed 22-20.

All Dalton did was grab seven rebounds over the remainder of the half, only two less than the entire St. John's team, as the Hoyas forged a 47-40 halftime lead.

"They were playing inspired without him," St. John's Chris Mullin, who led all scorers with 25 points, said of Ewing. "The worst thing we could have done was try to shove it down their throats. We played our same game plan."

Georgetown's game plan did change, however. The Hoyas began shooting from the outside, and were extremely effective, especially in the second half.

Bill Martin, who finished with 18 points, Reggie Williams, who had 14, and David Wingate, who had 17, were a combined 12 of 19 from the floor in the second half.

"They made those long shots and they rebounded well," said Mullin, who was limited to one field goal in five shots in the second half after hitting five of nine in the first half.

McCrory retains title

PARIS (AP) - Milton McCrory of Detroit retained his World Boxing Council welterweight title Saturday night with an easy unanimous 12-round decision over a clearly outclassed Pedro Vilella of New York. McCrory, now 25-0-1, is only one or two fights away from his long-anticipated meeting with World Boxing Association welterweight champion Donald Curry. That fight should be held sometime in the fall, according to McCrory's camp.

Saturday night's fight was an exercise in frustration for the 6-foot-1 McCrory. He landed virtually all of the telling blows but never really hurt the 26-year-old challenger, whose record fell to 18-1-1. Vilella, at 5-foot-7, was unable to inflict any real damage and was often caught on the ropes.

The three judges scored it 118-112, 120-112 and 120-113 McCrory. What passed for Vilella's attack consisted essentially of the challenger coming out of a low crouch with a sudden flurry of punches landing mainly on McCrory's shoulders and chest and falling forward to hold on.

Although the lunge and grab method kept Vilella on his feet throughout the entire fight, McCrory, 23, almost went down several times when he was literally tackled by the challenger.

Texas takes SWC swim title

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) - Texas' Chris Jacobs set a meet record of 43.20 in winning the 100-yard freestyle as the Longhorns took their sixth straight Southwest Conference Swimming and Diving championship Saturday night.

Texas, which moved into the lead Friday after trailing Southern Methodist after Thursday's events, piled up 994.5 points for the victory. SMU took second with 905 points, Arkansas third with 678, Texas A&M fourth with 424.5, Texas Tech fifth with 269, Texas Christian sixth with 216 and Rice seventh with 73 points.

Jacobs' meet record eclipsed the mark of 43.62 set by Ang Ping Siong of Houston in 1983.

SMU's Cory Robinson won the 1,650-yard freestyle with a 15:20.99 time to begin the final day. Mook Rhodenbaugh of SMU got his third first place of the meet in the 200-yard backstroke in a time of 1:48.13. Rhodenbaugh was named the high-point man in the championships with victories in the 200-yard individual medley, 100-yard backstroke and 200-yard backstroke.

Birmingham routs Orlando

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) - Quarterback Cliff Stoudt passed for two touchdowns and ran for another as the Birmingham Stallions easily rolled to a 34-10 victory over the winless Orlando Renegades Saturday night.

It was the third straight loss for the Renegades, formerly the Washington Federals. Birmingham is now 2-1.

The only damper on the evening for Birmingham came when leading rusher Joe Cribbs left the game in the second quarter with what was believed to be a broken finger.

The only bright spot for the Renegades came early in the first quarter when they took the lead for the first time since moving to Orlando this season.

With just 5:43 gone in the game, Jerry Golsteyn hit William Miller with a short pass in the right flat and the 5-foot-9, 190-pound running back turned it into a 45-yard touchdown play.

Birmingham tied the game later in the quarter, mounting a 62-yard, 10-play drive with Cribbs bursting through the left side of the line for the final 13 yards before a crowd of 25,831.

Orlando took a 10-7 lead when Jeff Brockhaus kicked a 22-yard field goal with 7:45 left in the first half.

From there on it was all Birmingham.

Big Spring

Pre-registration began last week

By TERRY LYNCH

'Twas busy around the BSHS campus this past week.

To start off on Monday, in view of Texas Public School Week, open house for all parents was held. During this time, parents visited with students' teachers and discussed information regarding the students' involvement in class. Several examples of students' work were displayed. Overall, a good turnout prevailed.

On Thursday, pre-registration for freshmen, sophomores and juniors began. Classes met in the auditorium and lent their ears to three counselors — Mrs. Calvert, Mr. Horton and Mr. Goertz.

Issues such as college, vocational programs and new changes that might be critical to students in the next few years were discussed. The counselors reemphasized that beginning with the sophomore class of 1984-85, an exit level competency test will be required upon graduation.

Spring break begins tomorrow and continues through the 15th, with classes resuming March 18.

Goliad

Corwin advances to Regionals

By MARC SCHWARZ

Congratulations to Marilyn Corwin for winning the Howard County Spelling Bee. She correctly spelled the word "depository" and will now advance to Regional competition in Lubbock March 23.

Thursday was a fun but busy day for students at Goliad. Students were encouraged to dress in clothes that were worn during the 1950s. The annual staff took pictures of some of the students who participated.

During the afternoon, a show was put on by Oscar and Kathy Garcia, a husband and wife acrobatic team. They did juggling tricks with fire sticks, balancing acts and animal acts, as well as various acrobatic feats.

In the evening, Goliad had its open house for all parents. It began with a band and choir concert in the gym directed by Mr. Felty and Mrs. Lee. After the concert, the classrooms were opened to the public.

Students are relieved to know that this coming week is Spring Break. Students go back to school on March 18.

We hope all students have a happy vacation.

Forsan

Many make all As for six weeks

By DANIELLE CLERE

Several students made straight As for the 4th six weeks.

Those in the 6th grade were: Kevin Bryan, Kara Evans, Kelly Hays, J.J. Hollingshead, Sebronia Martin, Jason, Parker, Chris Rosenbaum and Scott Sharrer.

Seventh grade students were: Shannon Donaghe, Ginger Harrison, Eric Hillyer, Lauri Roberson, Tera Sims and Nohk Wilson.

Students in the 8th grade were: Matt Evans, Welynda Grifford, Shasta Hollingshead, Shay Howard, Russell Roberts and Tresa West.

Ninth graders were: Kim Evans and Michelle George. Sophomores making straight As were: Letty Martin, Deborah Smith, Renny Spencer and Julie Williams.

Kristi Evans and Lana Nichols were the juniors making straight As. The senior making straight As was Tony Miranda.

On Thursday, Feb. 21, there was a Fall Sports Banquet held at Howard College. Three players were named Most Valuable Player. Todd East, football, Jason Donaghe, boys basketball, and Bonnie Martin, girls basketball, were awarded.

The first weekend of Spring Break, 21 students went to Robert Lee to compete in a UIL tournament. Several students placed in their event.

Those placing were: Peggy Johnson — 1st ready writing, Lee Morris — 5th number sense, Ricky Hope — 6th persuasive speaking, Lana Nichols — 1st prose interpretation, Thad Sneed — 6th prose interpretation, Todd East — 1st newswriting, Ricky Hope — 2nd newswriting, Kristi Evans — 6th newswriting, Todd East — feature writing, Dana Hiltbrunner — 6th feature writing, Kristi Evans — 4th editorial writing, Dana Hiltbrunner — 5th editorial writing, Todd East — 6th editorial writing, and Dana Hiltbrunner — 4th headline writing.

On Friday and Saturday, a group of tennis players attended a Levelland tournament. The boys were: Tom Thompson, Mark Smith, Mark Yarborough, David Henson, Kelly Garrett, Shane Hudgins and Bert Patterson. The girls were: Peggy Johnson, Renea Mills, Danielle Clere, Sandra Lesueur, Dana Hiltbrunner, Kim Henry and Melanie Mann.

On March 1-2, the tennis teams competed in an Odessa tournament. In the C division, Tom Thompson and Bert Patterson placed 2nd in boys doubles, and Mark Yarborough and Mark Smith placed 4th in boys doubles.

On Feb. 23, the boys track team attended a Stanton track meet. The boys team received second at the meet. The track teams travelled to Garden City March 9.

The contest one-act play "Trojan Women" will be performed for the community Friday. Everyone is invited. This will be the only show performed in Forsan. The show will begin at 7 p.m. in the Forsan auditorium.

Sands

Livestock show winners listed

By MICHELLE HALL

During Sands' Spring Break, several students participated in the Houston Livestock Show.

Among the winners are: Kris Nichols, 19th place fine wool; Duncan Hamlin, 8th Hereford steer, 3rd and 5th place Hereford heifer; Kevin Hamlin, 9th place Hereford heifer; and Russ Billingsley, 2nd place Brangus steer.

The Dawson County Spelling Bee was held Wednesday in Lamesa. Brandi Grigg, Marcus Carr and Fabian Lopez participated in the event.

The girls' and boys' varsity track teams journeyed to Garden City Saturday to participate in the Gurdy City Relays.

Cheerleader tryouts are scheduled for 1 p.m. March 9 in the gymnasium. Good luck!

CFCS

Students spending week goofing off

By JERRI BRYSON

CFCS will be having their Spring Break this coming week. Students are looking forward to an exciting week of goofing off.

Last Wednesday and Thursday Phil Thurmond, pastor, W.L. Weddle, principal, and Don Bryson, choir director, went to Jesus Chapel Christian School in El Paso to tour the school and get new ideas.

The students from Jesus Chapel consistently excel at state and international competitions. They win ribbons in athletics, music, art and academics. Last year, they won more events than any other school.

Runnels

Students say 'thanks'

By CHRISTY ALEXANDER

The students and faculty would like to thank all of the parents who visited Runnels during Texas Public School Week.

This weekend, several organizations were busy. The boys' track team participated in a track meet in Big Spring. The girls' track team participated in a meet in San Angelo. The CVAE students participated in a skills contest in Midland.

During the week of March 19-22, Mr. Tucker will be visiting the English classes. He will be talking to us about high school registration.

Spring Break will be March 11-15.

Veteran diver to lead YMCA's scuba course

It's a rather strange statistic, but something the local community can make note of.

"Big Spring probably has more certified scuba divers per capita than any other place in the world," said veteran licensed scuba diver Doyle Lamb.

Lamb attributes this area's high number of divers to a course the Big Spring YMCA has been offering in scuba diving since 1961.

Dr. Floyd Mays started the course then and he continues to participate in the Y's annual scuba diving class. Enrollment each year usually averages 10 to 16 persons. Lamb said he lends a hand by participating as a teaching assistant.

The YMCA is offering scuba diving again this year. Instructors will be James A. Welch and Harlan Smith. Interested persons should contact the Y and purchase an information kit for $1.

The course has been approved as an advanced scuba diving course. Those who pass course requirements will be certified scuba divers.

"The whole program of scuba diving in this area have been primarily the efforts of retired persons who still love to dive."

"There are lots of old geezers around like me and Mays," Lamb said. Lamb's passion with scuba diving began when he was inducted into the Marine Corps in 1955. He was stationed at the Hawaiian Islands, then a territory of the United States.

Lamb later became a commercial diver and a member of an intelligence reconnaissance unit in the San Francisco Bay region.

"We did a lot of underwater ship repair and part of our responsibility was keeping submarine nets intact," Lamb said.

"When we first started diving, we didn't have the technology that is available now."

"Our basic equipment had three to five minutes air reserve, and we'd literally dive and go down 'til we ran out of air," Lamb said.

He hasn't limited his scuba activity since leaving the Marines. Last year, Lamb joined friends on a scuba diving excursion to Venezuela's northern coast.

"The places we go cater to the diving industry," Lamb said.

Scuba diving's appeal remains with Lamb because he said it is a constant changing science.

Lamb says the most enjoyable aspect of scuba diving is exploring marine ecosystems.

PUBLIC NOTICE
 NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR WASTE DISCHARGE PERMIT AMENDMENT
 CITY OF COAHOMA, TEXAS
 The City of Coahoma, Texas, is applying to the Texas Department of Water Resources for an amendment to Permit No. 10723-01 to authorize the use of some of its effluent for irrigation on 95 acres of land at the R. L. Powell Farm and approximately 100 acres of land on the J. L. Metcalf Farm. The existing permit authorizes the disposal of treated domestic wastewater effluent by irrigation onto a six-acre cemetery at a volume not to exceed an average flow of 60,000 gallons per day which will remain the same. The facility consists of two primary lagoons (0.3 total surface acres) followed by three oxidation ponds (2.4 total surface acres). Application fees for the irrigated land shall not exceed 4.3 acre-feet/acre/year. No discharge of pollutants into the waters of the State is authorized by this permit.
 The plant site is adjacent to the west side of Farm to Market Road 820, approximately 1.2 miles south of the intersection of Interstate Highway 20 and Farm to Market Road 820 in Howard County, Texas. The plant site and irrigated land are located in the drainage area of the Colorado River in Segment No. 1412 of the Colorado River Basin. Legal Authority: Section 26.028 of the Texas Water Code, as amended, and 31 TAC 341 of the Rules of the Texas Department of Water Resources.
 No public hearing will be held on this application unless an affected person who has received notice of the application has requested a public hearing. Any such request for a public hearing shall be in writing and contain (1) the name, mailing address and phone number of the person making the request; and (2) a brief description of how the requester, or persons represented by the requester, would serve the public interest. The Commission shall conduct a public hearing, after the issuance of proper and timely notice of the hearing. If no sufficient request for hearing is received within 30 days of the date of publication of the notice concerning the application, the permit will be submitted to the Commission for final decision on the application.
 Requests for a public hearing and/or requests for further information concerning any aspect of the application should be submitted in writing to the Chief Hearings Examiner, Texas Water Commission, P.O. Box 13067, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711, Telephone 512/747-2876.
 Issued this 5th day of March, 1985.

County to vote on jail study
 Howard County Commissioners will vote on a request for money to study a joint county/city jail when they meet at 9 a.m. Monday in the Howard County Courthouse.
 The Big Spring City Council approved $15,000 last week for a jail advisory committee's suggestion that architects should be hired to begin a preliminary study of the current Big Spring city jail.
 The six-member committee has recommended that the city jail be expanded to detain both city and county prisoners. The committee further recommended that a new building annex could house county and state law enforcement agencies.
 Commissioners also are scheduled to consider new vehicle bids and a telephone system for the sheriff's department.
 Sheriff A.N. Standard said he would be present at the meeting and would raise questions with commissioners about a new proposed jail.
 Commissioners are also scheduled to discuss the vacant position of county trapper.

In search of the slithering serpent

By KIM KIRKHAM
Lifestyle Writer

With the AMBUC-Coors 23rd annual Rattlesnake Roundup fast approaching, hunters are getting out their tongs and barrels in search of slithering serpents.

Local hunter Dalton Carr began catching snakes when he was 12 years old. "I've been watching out for snakes ever since I could leave the house," he said.

"Catching them and bringing them in, I'm just two years behind (the roundup)," said Carr. He entered the third roundup held in Big Spring.

Carr began hunting rattlesnakes for this year's roundup in February, and so far he has caught 196 rattlesnakes (450 pounds), which he will sell to the American Business Club for the Rattlesnake Roundup, which will be March 22-24. His snakes are kept at a friend's ranch near Sterling City.

The roundup also includes an arts and crafts show and takes place at Howard County Fair Barns. It is sponsored by Coors and the American Business Club.

Finding snakes requires time, patience and good sense, Carr said. "A snake can be found anywhere around here. Canyon headers, washed out hillsides, creek beds and rim rocks are my favorite places" to hunt, he said. "I just kind of can tell when I look at the country" where the snakes are.

Snakes also can be found in old houses, cellars, empty water wells and septic tanks, or anyplace they can get underground, said Carr. In the winter, rattlesnakes shack up in dens with pack rats. When spring comes around, they come out, sunbathing in the warm air, eating the rats. But in the summer, they find cool places, such as under rocks, to stay. "They can't stand very much sun," said Carr. "By the time it gets 85 (degrees) or so, they have to shade up."

Skunks, possums, porcupines, raccoons, stinging scorpions and centipedes also can be found in dens with snakes, he said.

Rattlesnakes usually leave their dens around the third or fourth

CATCHING A RATTLESNAKE — Although Dalton Carr has been hunting rattlesnakes for 21 years, he says he is afraid of them.

week of March, said Carr. But "I have seen them leave the first week of April."

The first step in hunting snakes is to find out where the snakes are and who owns the property they are on. "Hunters need to always get (the owners) permission" before hunting on the property, said Carr.

When snakes are still in the den, hunters use mirrors to see them by catching the sun's reflection or with a flashlight when it's dark, said Carr. The opening of the den usually has to be cleared out because of the junk, such as cotton bolls and sticks, brought in by the rats. Gas is released into the den through a hose in order to force the snakes to evacuate. Using tongs, hunters pick up the snakes and put them into barrels or tow sacks. "Sometimes we spend half an hour or more waiting for them to come out," said Carr.

"I've gotten anywhere from one to 40 to 50 snakes out of a den at a time." The most he's ever pulled out, however, is 68 at one time. At one den he hunted, Carr pulled out 100 snakes on two different trips. "You can work a den two years and clean it out," he said.

"A lot of times a snake will give the den away just by being around," Carr said. When looking for snakes, a hunter looks the ground over for drags and snake skins from when they molt. Pack rats and their nests also are giveaways.

Someone rattlesnake hunting for the first time "should go with someone whose been hunting before and has a little experience," said Carr. He suggests that a person hunting snakes wear heavy, ankle-high shoes and leg protectors. They also need proper tongs "so that they won't harm (the snakes) when they pick them up," he said.

Carr warns hunters to move slow. "You don't go stomping around. Just look and see whats around you."

"The ranchers want to get rid of them," said Carr. "They'd rather have the rats than the snakes." Rattlesnakes often harm or kill the rancher's cows, sheep and other animals.

"I'm afraid of (rattlesnakes)," said Carr. "I just go hunt them and get rid of them" by selling them to the roundup.

Although he has never been bit, Carr has come "awful close. You are sure to get bit by them thinking you've got control of them."

His biggest fear, however, is "not finding them. If I go out and spend a day, I hate to get skunked. "I started chewing tobacco so I could spit in a snake's eye and blind him. But it won't work."

CHECKING THE DEN — Local rattlesnake hunter Dalton Carr looks into a den at Mrs. Charlie Creighton's ranch west of the Big Spring Airpark. He has been hunting rattlesnakes since 1964 for Big Spring's annual Rattlesnake Roundup.

Puppets alert kids to sexual abuse

By TINA STEFFEN
Lifestyle Editor

One out of four girls and one out of seven boys will be sexually abused before the age 11. One out of five women will be sexually abused by the age of 18, and 70 percent of those will be abused by someone they know — a family member or caretaker.

The statistics show that child sexual abuse crosses all barriers of race, economics or social standing. The figures were provided by the Rape Crisis Services and the local Sexual Abuse Unit of Texas Department of Human Resources.

A paramedic, nurse, two other hospital employees and a librarian are working to lower those statistics with a puppet show. The show is designed to show kids the difference between good and bad touching and what to do about it.

The need for this program was realized during the last few years when Malone-Hogan Hospital nurse Debra Wallace and Howard County librarian Donna Jackson presented rape awareness programs to sixth through 12th grade students. They asked how many had encountered a sexual assault type situations. More than half responded. The women realized that even at the 6th grade level they were too late for many youths and needed to reach younger children.

The women sought something that would keep a child's attention and reach them. Mrs. Wallace contacted rape centers throughout the country to find out what was being done at this level. She found a program from a center in Washington and with the hospital's help began adapting it to local needs. "It got the point across without overwhelming the students," she said.

"Farrah Frog Talks About Touching" is a sexual abuse prevention program for parents and their elementary or pre-school age children. It's a family-oriented program that can be presented quickly at schools, churches and youth meetings.

"This is something the whole family can come to. It's really better that they do...get them all aware at the same time," Mrs. Wallace said.

Malone-Hogan Hospital's paramedic Pat Condray and purchasing employees Gene Piercefield and Bobby Baker joined Mrs. Wallace and Ms. Jackson in getting the program started. Tim Haynes, Vicki Moore, Bob Lewis (a.k.a. Tumbleweed Smith), Kelly Draper and Randy Tonn also helped by providing equipment, costumes, puppets and tapes at their cost.

The program begins. Farrah Frog, played by Ms. Condray, sits on a ladder to one side of the stage and is the narrator.

"Hi boys and girls! You know me, I'm Farrah the Frog. That's F. Frog for short. I'm going to tell you all about the great program you will see tonight. The program is about touching," she says.

"Let's think about touching for a minute. Think of some of the ways you were touched today. I'll bet some of you had your hair brushed this morning by your mom, or dad or someone. How did that feel to you? That's the kind of touching that can feel really good, if there are no tangles, and the person brushing is doing it gently. But it can also feel terrible if the person brushing is doing it too hard, and they pull a tangle."

You can help prevent abuse

Texas law requires that anyone with knowledge or suspicion that child abuse has occurred to children 17-years-old or younger must report it, including child sexual abuse, says Cecelia McKenzie, Rape Crisis Services' director.

In this area, people can call the Child Abuse Hotline at 1-800-252-5400, or the Texas Department of Human Resources at 263-7671, or Rape Crisis Services at 263-3312. The person can remain anonymous.

Rape Crisis Services also offers counseling referral services for victims, their family members or friends.

Farrah Frog fades out of the spotlight and puppets walk up stage and do the hairbrushing improvisation. From that beginning, an introduction about touching, the show gradually describes other touching situations going from good to serious ones.

At a child's level, the program impresses upon children the importance of telling someone they trust if they have been touched in a manner that makes them uncomfortable. It also tells them the difference between good and bad touching so they can make the distinction and do something about it.

"Remember, nobody has the right to touch you in ways that make you feel uncomfortable," says Ms. Frog. "When someone touches you in a way that you don't like, you have the right to say 'Stop. Leave me alone.' And then tell someone."

"(The program shows) children that there is an option and that they don't have to be scared and can talk to someone," Ms. Condray said. "Because it's puppets and a frog — it's animated, I don't feel it would threaten a child and is something they can relate to better than they could with big people sitting around talking to them."

"I think this (puppet program) is a real good program," said Pat Cirks after briefly skimming the script. She is a child protective services specialist with the Department of Human Resources. "It's dealing with prevention measures where the cases we get have come after the fact, after it has already happened."

PUPPETS EDUCATE — Farrah Frog, center, and Mrs. Abercrombie, left, perform in a puppet show that educates young children, such as Wendie

Wallace, about good and bad touching. The program's purpose is to help prevent child sexual abuse.

The most common child sexual abuse situation involves the father who abuses a son or daughter after the mother leaves home for work. Many cases are not rape, but where fondling occurs or exposure of the genitals — either of the abuser's or the child's.

In 1984, the Department of Human Resources office received 350 sexual child abuse referrals within a 17-county area that included Howard County. Thirty-four referrals were in Howard, Glasscock and Martin County.

DHR created a new sexual abuse unit in November 1984 to serve Howard, Martin, Glasscock, Gaines, Andrews, Dawson and Borden counties. So far in 1985, the unit has had 16 sexual child abuse referrals, 10 of which were from Howard County. According to Mrs. Cirks, the reporting of sexual child abuse is up substantially in 1985 from 1984.

In many cases referred to the Sexual Abuse Unit of DHR, "abuse has just started and the family is seeking help. The child is left with the mother and the father gets help." Most cases involve a father figure as the abuser, but not all cases are that way. Women also have been abusers, she says. The most common cases are those where abuse has been going on a long time.

"People usually call in giving us information that this has happened. When people call in we take it as a referral and go out and investigate it. (Often) another family member discovers what has been going on and calls in for help," she says.

If the case is valid, "our main concern is making sure the abuse is stopped and that the child is safe." Their first choice of action is to remove the "perpetrator" and suggest he or she get counseling. Their second choice is to remove the child from the home. Sometimes sexual child abuse cases are reported first to a family doctor or pediatrician before it is turned over to DHR. "The (cases) that really bother you are the ones that don't report it," Mrs. Wallace said. "And, there's often not any actual physical clues that can be picked up in (a hospital) exam."

When interviewing children as part of her investigation, Mrs. Cirks uses an anatomically-correct doll. With this doll, the child can point to places where he or she was touched or abused. "Most of the kids, especially the younger ones, don't have the ability to make up something they know nothing about. Unless they have had contact with it, they can't," she said.

"The children are so innocent that they don't know it's wrong and the younger they are the less they know," said Mrs. McKenzie. "They have no vocabulary for these things."

The rise in reported sexual abuse cases of children is partly due to the increased publicity given to the problem by the media and awareness programs, Mrs. Cirks believes.

"Publicity given to it has made people more aware of the problem." More people aware creates more calls. People know more about what to look for and realize the situation can exist within their neighborhood or family, not just somewhere else, she added.

Along with the other statistics from government reports, Mrs. McKenzie reports that 80 percent of the abusers in child sexual assault cases were abused as children. "I wonder if we are not raising another generation of abusers. We must break the chain now and lower the statistics."

Wedding

Greenfield-Wood

Sand Springs Church of Christ was the setting of the wedding ceremony uniting Derinda Denise Greenfield and Robert Edward Wood Jr. of Arlington, Feb. 23. Eric Dickey, minister, officiated at the 6 p.m. rite before an arch decorated with pink carnations and roses and flanked by a unity candle.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A.D. Greenfield of Big Spring. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Moody of Mansfield and Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Wood of Big Spring.

Janis Willborn of Bridge City and Greenfield, father of the bride, provided vocal music for the ceremony. Greenfield also gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride wore a formal-length gown fashioned with an off the shoulder bodice of Rachelle lace and sleeves adorned with organza roses. The organza skirt fell into a chapel-length train. To complete her ensemble, she wore a pearl necklace and a headpiece of organza flowers and seed pearls that held a chapel-length veil.

The bride carried a bouquet of pink long-stemmed roses with baby's breath.

church's Fellowship Hall. The bride's table featured a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a bride and bridegroom figurine. Doves sat among wedding rings and pink flowers between the layers. The table was decorated with an arrangement of pink roses and white carnations. The bridegroom's table featured a chocolate cake decorated with chocolate roses. It was made by the bride's aunt, Fredia Greenfield.

The bride graduated from Coahoma High School and Alladin Beauty College. She is employed by Super Cuts in Arlington.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Mansfield High School and Howard College and attends University of Texas at Arlington. He is employed by Ceyer of Mansfield.

Following a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N.M., the couple will live in Arlington.

maid of honor, Sundee Wood of Mansfield, sister of the bridegroom, was a bridesmaid. Scott Harrison of Arlington was best man. Groomsman was Brian Mitchell of Fairfield, Calif. Ushers were Tim Greenfield, brother of the bride, and Kurt Salisbury.

Dear Abby

Shared secrets cause sisters to part

DEAR ABBY: I come from a very large family, but there is one sister with whom I have always been particularly close. I'll call her Mary. We've always confided things to each other that we wouldn't share with anybody else.

About six months ago, I learned that Mary had been telling a close male friend of hers some of the very personal things I had shared with her. When I confronted her, she admitted betraying my confidence, tearfully apologized and promised it would never happen again.

I told her I forgave her but didn't feel that I could ever confide in her again. She said she understood my feelings and didn't blame me.

Mary continues to confide the most intimate details of her private life, hoping I will reciprocate. I just can't. The trust between us is gone. When we're together with the family, Mary's laughter is forced, her brightness is artificial, and she is obviously ill at ease in my presence. The family has picked up on this and keep asking me what is wrong. When I refuse to tell them, they see me as the one who is to blame.

How do I answer my family's questions? And how can I make

Mary return to her natural self? BETRAYED

DEAR BETRAYED: Be honest with yourself. Although you told Mary you forgave her, you really haven't. She senses this and is frantically trying to cover her remorse by putting on a happy face. You owe your family no explanations. Please work on forgiving your sister. Who among us doesn't need to be forgiven?

DEAR ABBY: My husband went to a dentist for a new set of dentures. The terms were cash in advance, so my husband paid him.

Well, unfortunately, my husband died unexpectedly, and I was so upset I never got around to calling the dentist to tell him to stop work on the dentures.

When I called him a few weeks later, he told me it was too late, the dentures were already finished.

I told him I didn't have any use for them, and he said neither did he, but since they were paid for, somebody might as well pick them up.

Abby, don't you think under the circumstances I'm entitled to some kind of refund? MONEY WASTED

DEAR WASTED: I'm sorry your husband died, but the dentist who made the dentures invested his time, talent and material in them and is entitled to the full price. Under said circumstances such as these, some dentists might refund a token sum, but it shouldn't be expected.

DEAR ABBY: I want the whole world to know that I haven't had a cigarette for 58 days! I am very proud of myself because I'm 64 years old, smoked for 30 years and used to smoke three packs a day.

When I was smoking, what gripped me the most was the way nearly everyone was so patient with the drug addict and the lush, but nobody had any sympathy for the smoker. Believe me, Abby, it is just as hard to give up nicotine as it is to quit drugs or booze.

I will never smoke again because I feel 100 percent better, and best of all, I'm no longer a slave to a dirty, destructive, expensive habit.

EX-SMOKER IN MARLBORO, MASS.

DEAR EX-SMOKER: Congratulations. What a message from someone who actually lives in Marlboro country!

Dr. Donohue

Young pitcher needs healthy season

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I had a short baseball season last year, only about a week, in fact. I spent the rest of the season on the bench because of a sore shoulder. Any good exercise to strengthen my shoulder before this season? — O.D.

Sure. There are good exercises. But I want to impress on you the importance of doing warm-up exercises before you start pitching. If you are not properly warmed up before competition, it doesn't matter how conditioned you are, you always stand a chance of being injured and ruining another season.

It doesn't have to be very complicated and time consuming. Just start with a five minute jog, enough to elevate your body temperature. Then throw pitches to a teammate. Most authorities recommend that pitchers concentrate on throwing at half, or a little under half their fast speeds. Then do shoulder stretches. Be especially careful of the first few warm-up pitches from the mound, making sure you get your muscles accustomed to the variation in mound height, etc.

Now, for the exercises you want to strengthen shoulder muscles. Here's one good for those muscles used in bringing the arm across the body during a throw.

Lie on your back, your upper arms (shoulders to elbows) out to the side, with lower arms up, holding a barbell and weights. (You can have a friend hand you the weights when you are in position.) Keeping the elbows on the floor, lower the raised barbell and weights down in back of your head to the floor. Then raise it from that position; then lower again. Start with very light weights and only a few repetitions, as many as you feel comfortable with. Gradually build up weight and reps.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Is treatment for a degenerated disc the same as for a ruptured disc? — C.B.

A ruptured disc is a degenerated disc. The treatment is the same, removal of the disc to alleviate pressure on the spinal nerves.

There's an old saying — If your feet hurt, you hurt all over. Dr. Donohue's booklet, "Relief and Care of Your Feet," shows you how to avoid and take care of foot problems. To get your copy, write to Dr. Donohue, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and $1.00.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Gold Star Mothers serve refreshments to VAMC patients

Members of Gold Star Mothers reported that 30 Veterans Administration Medical Center patients were served refreshments Feb. 13, during the chapter's meeting Wednesday at the home of Elida Hernandez.

Annie Smith, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Moody and Mrs. Odell LaLonde, served patients. A gift of nine towel bibs and one lap robe was presented to the Nursing Care Unit at the hospital.

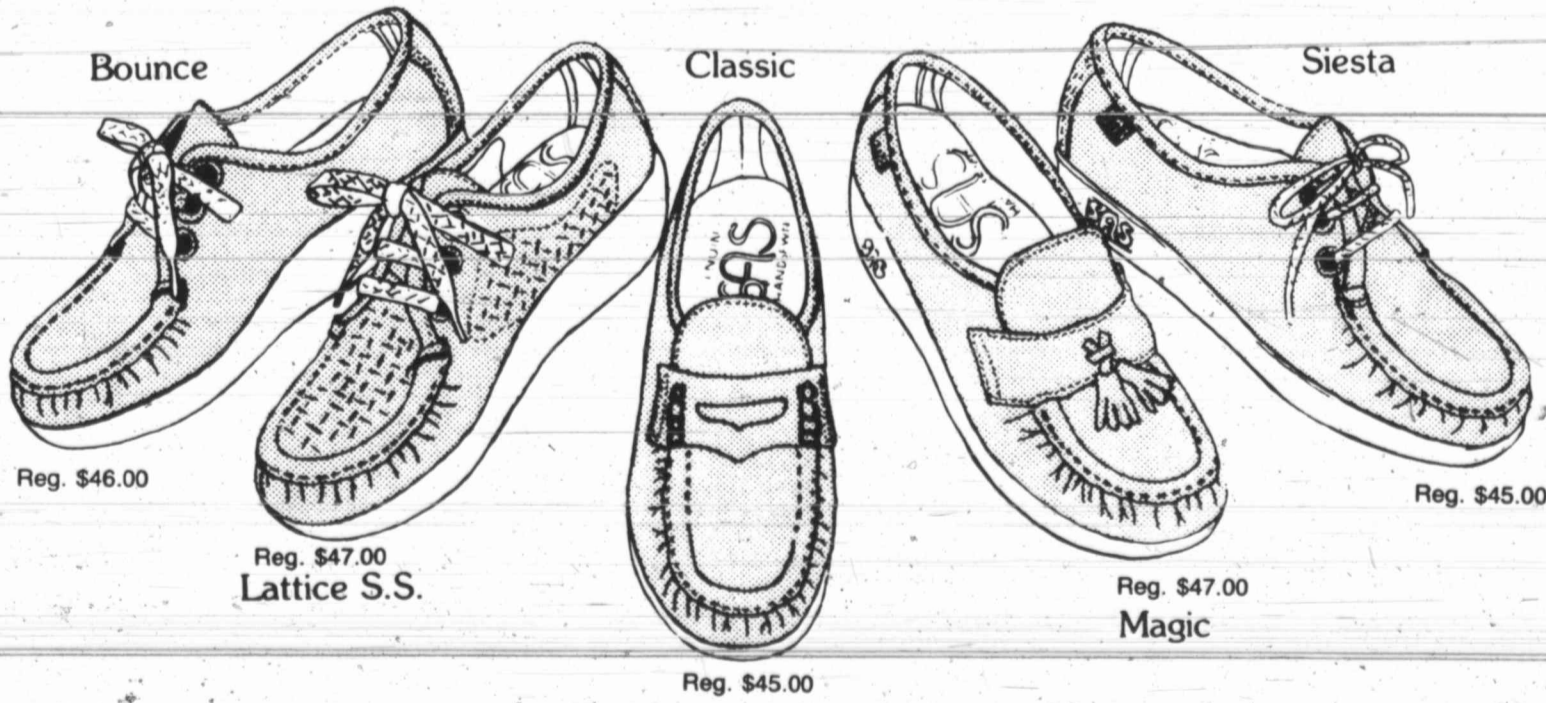

The Department of Texas, Gold Star Mother Convention will be in Big Spring, April 11-12. It will open at 8 p.m. April 11 with a memorial service at the First Church of God, 2009 Main. Memorial speaker will be Dr. Claude Craven, pastor of Trinity Baptist Church.

The next meeting will be April 10 in the home of Mrs. Truett Thomas, 1608 Osage.

Tax breaks aid persons changing jobs

By CHANGING TIMES
The Kiplinger Magazine
 If you're in the market for your first job, or on the verge of taking a new job, you might have some tax breaks coming to you. Don't miss out on them.

First, the bad news: You can't deduct the cost of hunting for your first job. However, when you change jobs, Uncle Sam will subsidize the switch by letting you deduct job-hunting expenses, but only if the new job is in the same line of business as your previous position.

The cost of moving to take a first job may be deductible, and you don't have to itemize deductions to get this tax break. You usually qualify if the job is at least 35 miles from your former home.

As soon as you have a firm job offer, keep track of the date and purpose of everything you spend toward getting to the new location.

Among the expenses Uncle Sam will subsidize via a tax write-off are:

- House-hunting trips. The cost of looking for a new place to live, including travel, food and lodging, is deductible. If you haven't found a new home or it's not ready when you arrive, you can deduct the cost of food and lodging for 30 days. There's a $1,500 limit on deductions for house-hunting and temporary living expenses.

- Moving expenses. Whether you rent a truck or hire professional movers, the cost is deductible. The IRS isn't picky about what you move. If the pet boa needs special handling, for example, a reasonable charge may be deducted.

Of special importance to new college grads: If you have furniture stored away from your college home — with your parents, for example — the costs of moving it to your new house or apartment is deductible, up to what it would have cost to ship it from your old home.

- Getting there. Your deductions include the cost of moving yourself, too, however you go. Include the cost of food and lodging en route. If you drive your own car, you can write off 9 cents per mile or, if higher, the actual cost of gas and oil. In either case, add any parking and toll charges.

After you've got your new job, consider having withholding adjusted to reflect the fact that you probably won't have worked for an entire calendar year.

You can beef up your paycheck by asking your boss to figure tax withholding using the special part-year method. If the employer agrees, you will get more of your money as you earn it.

Basically, the part-year method sets withholding based on what you'll actually earn during 1985, not on 12 times your monthly salary. It can substantially boost take-home pay.

Consider the case of a recent college graduate going to work July 1 for an annual salary of $25,000. Assuming two withholding allowances are claimed on the employee's W-4 form, federal tax withholding will claim $350 each month. That's the regular way.

Under the part-year method, withholding for July would be a mere $14. It would rise as high as $331 by December, but overall the total withheld over six months would be under $1,350, compared with $2,100 under the regular method.

Whether you're new on the job or a veteran worker, there are also plenty of on-the-job deductions you may be entitled to take, in the form of unreimbursed business expenses. These include the cost of food and lodging when away from home overnight on business trips.

If you're required to use your car for company business, you can deduct either actual costs, including depreciation, or the standard mileage rate, which was 20.5 cents per mile in 1984. (The IRS will set the 1985 rate later this year.)

You must keep contemporaneous records of your business trips to back up a deduction.

Itemizing deductions opens the door to more write-offs. These "miscellaneous" deductions include the cost of an employer-required physical exam, union dues, membership dues in professional organizations and the cost of professional journals, the cost of small tools you need in your work, and the cost of uniforms or other work clothes that can't double as your off-duty wardrobe.

That is by no means an exhaustive list of the possible tax deductions open to you as an employee. The key to all of them, however, is careful record-keeping to satisfy the curiosity of the IRS if you're audited.

Changing Times advises that one of the best investments you can make is the time to keep up with tax rules and maintain the records necessary to protect all the tax breaks you've got coming.

Elbow homemakers learn car maintenance

Virginia and Fay Roberts presented a program, "Car Talk for Women", to the Elbow Extension Homemakers Club at a meeting Thursday at the home of Sybil Duffer.

They told the members to know their car as well as they do their family, pay attention to the sounds of the engine, notice how the car handles — how it stops, and know the instrument panel.

The Roberts demonstrated how to check the oil and how to change the air filter. They also told the members how to change a flat tire.

The group will take 12 dozen cookies to the Big Spring State Hospital in April. "Making the Most of the Space in Your Home", will be the leader training session for March.

The next meeting will be March 21 at the home of Dorothy Fowler.

Tidbits

Vickers visit local relatives

By TINA STEFFEN
 Lifestyle Editor

Former Big Springers DAVID AND CARRIE VICKERS were in town recently to visit relatives. Carrie is an associate of Anne Sadovsky and Company. David has just changed jobs and is selling commercial real estate with Craig Germain Company. He was an accountant with Docutel-Olivetti. They live in Dallas.

While the PAT PORTERS were cruising the Caribbean recently, daughter SAMANTHA won the ship's contest in the women's division of the skeet shoot.

GENEVA STARR visited the Herald the other day. Those who haven't heard the LOUISE BURGESS BAND (The Ramblers) are missing out on some good music, she said.

The band is composed of local people and performs country-western music. They perform free of charge for several organizations around town for their own enjoyment and the pleasure of others, she said.

The band plays at Kentwood Center, Senior Citizens Center, Veterans Administration Hospital, Canterbury Apartments and other places. Members of the band are: LOUISE BURGESS, bass guitar, harmonica and vocalist; BILLYE MILES, mandolin; EMILEY WHEITSEL, guitar and vocalist; EDD SHERUM, guitar and vocalist; and ARNOLD LLOYD, guitar and violin.

JERRI DUNBAR visited daughter FELECIA FORD at Texas Tech University for about four days recently and got a taste of today's dorm life. Jerri attended some of Felecia's music and acting practices while she was there.

Felecia will dance and sing in a Broadway-type musical being presented by Tech's Theater Department beginning March 26. She has never had formal dance training but was one out of 25 selected from the acting department for dance numbers.

She also is involved in University Choir and is taking piano and voice lessons. She was one of two girls selected from the Tech music department to recruit high school students.

Mrs. Dunbar is impressed with Felecia's voice teacher, DR. JOHN GILLAS, and all the friends Felecia has made at the university.

"They are real nice young men and women, not too much different than they were in the 1950s. It really aggravates me when (adults) doubt our young people."

DR. AND MRS. JOE E. DAVIS JR. of Marion, Ala. and their daughter, DEANA DEILER, are in town for a few days visiting his mother and step-father, MR. AND MRS. J.M. LEE, and his sister and brother-in-law, MR. AND MRS. R.M. TAYLOR. The family came to celebrate Mrs. Lee's 87th birthday, which was Saturday. Davis recently retired from teaching at Jackson College in Marion, Ala.

Tax & financial planning

IRS AUDITS (How to Handle Them)

A voluntary tax system such as ours uses the audit as a means of achieving compliance with tax laws. Only a small percentage of the millions of returns that are filed are selected for audit. Using a complex scoring system, the IRS computers make the initial selection. A review of these returns by IRS personnel determines which returns will actually be audited. The most frequent audit is the "correspondence audit" where the IRS asks for clarification or documentation for some item on your return. The "office interview audit" requests that the taxpayer bring supporting documents to an IRS office for review by an agent.

A "field audit," usually used for business returns and more complex individual returns, is conducted on the taxpayer's premises.

Some basic rules to follow to get through any audit as quickly and painlessly as possible include:

1. Be cooperative and business like. Provide the information requested promptly, but do not volunteer other information.
2. Remember the agent is just doing his job. Don't harangue him with your views on taxes, and never offer him a "gift."
3. If your return was properly prepared, don't be intimidated into paying taxes that you do not feel you owe. Be reasonable, however; there may be points not worth your time and money to argue.

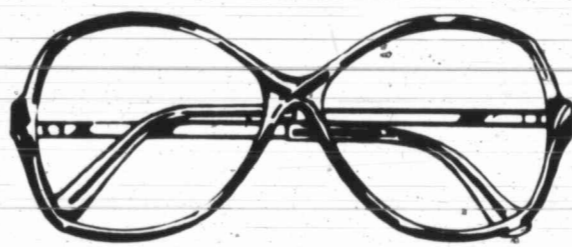

If the audit leaves some issues unsettled, you do have various rights of appeal. You may even take your case to court. It is advisable to engage professional assistance. You will feel more comfortable knowing that you have an expert on your side, and any fees you pay will be deductible on a later tax return.

Judy Jones feted at salad supper

Judy Jones, bride-elect of Blain Lewis, was honored at a salad supper Tuesday in the home of her aunt, Jo Sledge. Mrs. Sledge was assisted by her daughter, Lisa Carter, cousin of the bride-elect. Guests assisted Miss Jones in making rice bags for her wedding. The couple will wed March 16 at First Baptist Church.

Information needed for the circulation area but has local grandparents, please include their name and address. The local grandparents serve as the area connection for the information.

Q.: We've made an offer to buy a home, contingent on getting a new mortgage. We have the 20% cash downpayment, but have been told we probably won't be able to obtain the mortgage because monthly payments will be 39% of our income. Where can we turn?

A.: True, lending institutions are not bending the rules much, and 39% income is more than lenders like to see go toward a mortgage payment. However, an alternative is to limit your search for a new home to those being offered by sellers willing to take back a second mortgage, or to finance themselves. Where do you find these arrangements? Your real estate agent has numerous listings willing to do just that.
