Decline and fall of ESM's empire

Staff and wire reports

Ohio's governor has declared a three-day emergency bank holiday. A Texas city has stopped hiring while considering a workweek cut. A rural community in Washington state is wondering how it will pay for a new hospital wing. These are among the casualties of the March 4 collapse of ESM Government Securities Inc., an obscure, unregulated securities dealer accused of bilking at least 68 investors, including 16 cities and some mid-size financial institutions, of more than $300 million.

Among those investors was First Federal Savings of Big Spring. In a statement to the Herald last week, Charles Beil, president of First Federal, stated, "our current investment via this brokerage house is relatively small."

First Federal has obtained an attorney to "represent it in the home city (Fort Lauderdale, Fla.) of ESM Government Securities," Beil said.

"The far reaching effects are enormous," said Michael Wolensky, a regional administrator for the Securities and Exchange Commission, which is suing the Fort Lauderdale company.

The agency alleges ESM misled its investors with false financial reports, while hiding about $200 million in losses over nine years in a paper company called ESM Financial Group.

Thomas Tew, ESM's court-appointed receiver, said it took him less than an hour to unravel the alleged fraud.

"We moved into the offices. We had coffee. We found the records. Before lunch we uncovered the fraud," Tew said.

How ESM has been able to operate so long is "the $64,000 question," he said.

As a government securities dealer, ESM bought and sold government-backed mortgage notes and Treasury bills. It also engaged in transactions known as repurchase agreements or "repos."

Repos are a popular way of investing surplus cash held by government agencies. The money can be invested until it is needed to

What? No more drought?

By CAROL BALDWIN
Staff Writer

In a pleasant change from last summer's drought, the Big Spring area is running just a little ahead of normal rainfall for this time of year.

After a shower Friday night and early Saturday morning, area residents were reporting from between .3 and .4 of an inch of rain.

The late winter rainfall has brought the county's total to above normal for this time of year, according to records at the U.S.-Big Spring Field Station. As of Friday, the rainfall stood about .15 of an inch above normal.

Unofficially Big Spring and vicinity has received about 2 inches of rain since the first of the year.

Mrs. John Couch, a resident on the Gail Route, said she received about .4 of an inch of rain Friday night and early Saturday. By week's end she had received about a half-inch of rain, she said.

Tommy Hart, a resident on the city's east side, reported about .3 of an inch Saturday.

Residents of the city's southwest side reported about .3 of an inch of rain, also.

The chance of rain diminished considerably Saturday afternoon when clouds began breaking up and the sun began shining. The clearing skies lasted only briefly, however, before clouds began creeping in again.

The area should see a warming trend by Monday and highs near 70 degrees.

A wee bit o' Ireland

By CAROL BALDWIN
Staff Writer

In Big Spring, it's Happy Saint Patrick's Day, y'all

'T is true. Legend and fact have overlapped a wee bit in the case of Patrick, the patron saint of Ireland.

Saint Patrick's Day is a day for the wearin' of the green. There are parades and the drinkin' of green beer and the wearin' of shamrocks and shades of green.

And, saints preserve us, if you are so unfortunate as to forget to wear green in honor of Ireland's patron saint, then you're apt to be pinched.

Legend has it that Saint Patrick is the man who drove the snakes out of Ireland by charmin' them down to the sea. Because of him, the shamrock is the official flower of Eire (Ireland.)

As a young lad, Patrick was snatched away by pirates. Years later, he became one of the most influential men in the Catholic church.

Father Stephen White, minister at Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church, is one of three Irish priests in Big Spring. He, Father James Delaney and Father Aidan O'Donovan will participate in a St. Patrick's Day mass at 5 p.m. today at Sacred Heart Church.

Father White knows much of the history of Saint Patrick and can separate fact from fiction.

The Revs. AIDAN O'DONOVAN and STEPHEN WHITE of Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church.

Patrick was taken prisoner by a band of Irish pirates who frequently journeyed out of their country to bring back goods and young people. These young people were enslaved by the Irish.

"Irish history is not clear as to where Patrick was picked up. It may have been England, Wales or France. He was brought to Ireland as a slave." Patrick was given the duties of a hog herder.

Years later Patrick escaped from captivity and made his way to France. There, he began studying for the priesthood.

It was the priesthood that brought him back to Ireland as a bishop. Church records show he founded more than 300 churches and baptized 120,000 people.

And the legends surrounding Saint Patrick? Well, any legend about Ireland must include wee leprechauns and pots of gold. And the picture of Saint Patrick charming the snakes down to the sea is a hard one to part with.

But Father White says with a smile, "Snakes and leprechauns and pots of gold...well, let your imagination run, because that's what it is."

The legend of the shamrock is more fact than fiction, Father White said.

"There is a well-founded tradition that has it that Saint Patrick was discussing the blessed Trinity (the idea of God as father, son and Holy Ghost) with the King of Ireland. He felt the mystery was not being accepted. As he tacked his brain for means of an explanation, he cast his eyes upon the ground. There he saw a bunch of little tree-leaf shamrocks growing. He picked up a sprig, and saw the stem and three leaves."

Freaky Friday

Crimes keep cops hopping

By CAROL BALDWIN

An armed robbery, high-speed chase, major accident and a man toting a gun kept Big Spring police on the run Friday night and into the early morning hours Saturday.

Police officers tried to stop a man suspected of driving while intoxicated about 1:40 a.m. Saturday morning, according to police reports. When he was approached by officers, the suspect refused to stop his vehicle and sped away.

Police chased the suspect along West Third Street and out onto the interstate. They then called for help from the Texas Department of Public Safety as the suspect headed for Stanton on Interstate 20.

The suspect was chased to Martin County, where Martin County officers joined the chase. The man stopped his car near St. Joseph street in Stanton and began running on foot. He was stopped by Martin County Sheriff's deputies and arrested.

The suspect, Juan Menjares, 22, of 1500 Lincoln was arrested for driving while intoxicated, fleeing to elude a police officer, having no driver's license, evading arrest, speeding, and having no insurance.

A Martin County justice of the peace set bonds of $2,500 for the DWI offense and $400 for evading arrest. Menjares was brought back to the Howard County Jail and placed in custody, where he remained Saturday afternoon.

An attendant at Parkway Laundry at 2511 Wasson Road told Big Spring Police Friday night that she was threatened with a weapon by someone she did not know and robbed of $186 in change and currency.

Ann King told police shortly before 9 p.m. that a subject had

Farm policies blamed for cotton woes

DALLAS (AP) — Federal farm policies are destroying the U.S. cotton industry, Texas Cotton Association members have been told.

"Domestic mills will be out of business within five years because of imported cotton" if something is not done, said keynote speaker W. B. "Barney" Saunders, vice chairman of the agribusiness conglomerate Cargill Inc.

"Our (farm) policies encourage our competitors to produce full-tilt while we cut back and store our cotton and grain," Saunders told the more than 450 members of the industry attending the group's convention Friday.

Saunders said cotton farmers, like other growers, should "move toward greater reliance on market forces" rather than continue to lean on the government.

He said that unless the industry pays sharp attention to farm legislation pending in Congress and cut its dependence on government programs, it will not bounce back from the current downturn.

"Other U.S. industries have gone through the pain of a recession. Agriculture has really postponed this process," Saunders said.

Predicting the farm bill currently being hammered out by Congress will be the most important piece of farm policy ever enacted, Saunders said agriculture should make certain the bill is a good base for the future, then wean itself from a false government-created economy.

Price-support loan levels should more accurately reflect market prices, he said. Farmers should make their own production decisions and not let the government dictate how many acres or crops should be set aside and grain reserves should be limited to a realistic size, he said.

The conventioners were also commended Friday for being honorable businessmen.

Deals are sealed with a handshake, and kept, said association president John Stobaugh of Lubbock. The business constantly changes to offer new challenges, he and others said.

Police Beat

Entry to the office was made through the door, and a drawer was pried open and a cash box damaged. About $27.50 in cash was taken from the office.

• Doyle Hildebrand, a salesman from Odessa, told police his car was burglarized while parked at a lot at the Great Western Motel on the south service road of I-20. The incident occurred between 10 p.m. Friday and 7:30 a.m. Saturday, reports show.

According to reports, a radar detector, valued at $259, was taken from the vehicle.

• Steve Martin of 632 Tulsa told police Saturday morning that someone entered his home sometime between 9 p.m. and 11 p.m. Friday. Martin reported the incident to the police Saturday morning.

St. Patrick

shamrock was a perfect illustration of the Holy Trinity, or idea of three in one.

Throughout the years since his death on or around March 17, Saint Patrick's day became a day for the Irish to honor their patron saint, the Catholic religion and their nationalism, Father White said.

"The Irish are an outgoing, fun-loving people. They bring this characteristic into the religious celebration. We honor Saint Patrick not only in church but in social centers and parades."

Oh, and there's one more thing you might be needing to know. You needn't be Irish to join in the fun. The celebration is popular even in West Texas, where native rattlesnakes are not likely to be tricked into the sea and cactus is more prevalent than shamrocks.

So, happy Saint Patrick's day, ya'll.

entered the laundry early that evening and demanded cash. Taken in the incident were $20 in one-dollar bills, three $5 bills, two $10 bills, three $20 bills, and rolls of quarters, nickels and dimes.

• Police were called to the 1100 block of Runnels about 7:10 p.m. Friday when a resident in that area reported hearing shots fired.

On arrival, they arrested Hoang Nguyen Nam, 29, of 1108 Runnels for unlawfully carrying a weapon. Nam was taken to the Howard County Jail, placed under a $1,500 bond set by the city and released early Saturday.

• Police were also called to the scene of a major accident Friday about 8 p.m. in the 400 block of Tulane.

There they found a car that had fallen into a culvert in the 2900 block of the south service road of I-20.

Reports show that Rodolfo Ybanez of Lamesa was westbound on the south service road when he ran off the road into a culvert. Ybanez was ticketed for failure to control his vehicle to avoid an accident.

Ybanez and a passenger, Floyd Keith Clark, refused medical treatment. A third passenger, Manuel Ybanez, also of Lamesa, was taken to Malone-Hogan Hospital by Shafter Ambulance for treatment of cuts and bruises received in the accident.

Grand Prairie OKs mixed drinks

GRAND PRAIRIE (AP) — A proposal to allow the sale of mixed drinks in restaurants in the southwest Dallas County towns of Grand Prairie and Cedar Hill was approved Saturday by a 7,664-5,511 vote.

Dallas County Commissioners will meet March 26 to certify the results.

Grand Prairie Mayor Jerry Debo had lobbied heavily for passage of the proposition, saying he would consider resigning if it were defeated.

Debo said quality restaurants would not locate in Grand Prairie unless they could serve mixed drinks to customers.

Southwestern Bell to seek 18 percent rate hike in '85

AUSTIN (AP) — Southwestern Bell will ask the Public Utility Commission next week to grant the telephone company an 18 percent rate increase, company officials have confirmed.

The rate increase, which will be formally requested March 22, would raise Texans' residential bills by an average of $1.75 per month. In all, the company will request about $324 million in new revenues, said Richard Harris, Southwestern Bell vice president for revenue and public affairs.

"It will be a broadly based rate increase, but will be considerably less than our last request," Harris said Friday.

The company asked for a $1.7 billion rate hike in mid-1983. The PUC granted Bell $816.7 million in additional rates last May.

Harris said the average rise in the basic residential rate would be $1.75 statewide. Rate increases for cities served by the company would range from $1.50 to $2 per month.

Southwestern Bell also wants additional charges for touch-tone dialing, custom calling, directory listings and some long-distance calls.

Bell officials, who advised the PUC Friday of their plans to file the rate increase request, said the higher rates are needed to handle the company's increased operating expenses.

"It is also our position that our stock is not yielding an adequate rate of return," Harris said.

Slayer of mail carrier gets term

NEW BRAUNFELS (AP) — An 18-year-old Houston man whose parents were jailed for refusing to testify against him was sentenced to 75 years in prison Saturday for killing a female postal carrier.

After deliberating 2½ hours, a state district court jury also fined David Port $10,000 for his murder conviction in the June 7 slaying of Debora Sue Schatz, 23. Prosecutors said the woman was ambushed while making her rounds in the affluent west Houston neighborhood where Port lived.

The jurors took equally as long Friday to find Port guilty of murder.

The case attracted national attention after Port's father and stepmother, Bernard and Odette Port, refused to testify against him before a grand jury, claiming the same protections applied as those afforded by law to spouses.

The Ports were jailed while their son was free on a $20,000 bond, but were later released. The Ports, who were not subpoenaed for the trial that began Feb. 25, did not arrive at the courthouse until Saturday afternoon after the jury began its deliberations on punishment.

Contacted at her home in Houston, the victim's mother, Barbara Schatz, said, "Justice has been done."

Angolans free hostages

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — Twenty-two British, American and Filipino civilians arrived in Johannesburg Saturday on a Red Cross transport plane after being freed by Angolan rebels.

Officials said the men — 17 Filipinos, three Britons and two Americans — would be examined by doctors before being sent home. They were captured Dec. 29 when guerrillas of Jonas Savimbi's National Union for the Total Independence of Angola, or UNITA, overran a mining town in northeastern Angola.

The Americans, Alan Bongard, 56, of Pleasanton, Calif., and Gerhard Opel, 54, of Seattle, were abducted along with one of the Britons when they landed their Hercules transport plane in the town shortly after rebels took control.

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa — Tens of thousands of blacks boycotted work and shops Saturday at the start of a three-day "stayaway" to protest increases in bus fares and gasoline prices.

Police spokesman Lt. Cecil Vermaak said there were minor incidents of stone-throwing and arson, but no major violence in the work stoppage by residents of Port Elizabeth's black townships.

At the main entrances to New Brighton, the largest of this Indian Ocean port city's segregated townships, almost no traffic passed through police roadblocks. The few buses that emerged were all but empty. Police barred whites from entering the township.

Contadora talks resume

BRASILIA, Brazil — The Contadora Group of nations trying to mediate peace in Central America and five nations involved in the regional crisis announced Saturday that stalled peace talks would be renewed in April.

It said all agreed to meet April 12 in Panama. The Contadora statement said a timetable outlining "intensified negotiations" leading to a general peace treaty would be drawn up and that the new outline would be discussed at the April meeting.

Camp Shamrock

Irish troops unlucky in Lebanese peace mission

CAMP SHAMROCK, Lebanon (AP) — U.N. peacekeepers in south Lebanon are stuck in the middle of an escalating war between Israeli troops and Shiite Moslem guerrillas.

A confusing array of emblems denote the conflicting authority along the bumpy road leading to Camp Shamrock, headquarters of the 650-man Irish battalion near the Shiite village of Tibnin nine miles north of the Israeli border.

Sandbagged Irish checkpoints in the powder blue and white colors of the United Nations are interspersed with positions of the Israeli army flying the blue and white Star of David. Roadblocks of a pro-Israeli militia known as the South Lebanon Army are under the red-and-white Lebanese flag with its distinctive green cedar tree.

"It is not comfortable. In fact, it is very uncomfortable," said Maj. Brian McKevitt, who has spent four months in south Lebanon.

But the 10-nation, 5,850-member force has been able to offer humanitarian services such as medical care to the local population and maintain relative peace in a zone where 300,000 people live.

"We are quite happy that by the mere fact of our presence in the area we act as an enormous restraining force on elements within the area," said McKevitt.

Irish and French peacekeepers attempting to observe Israeli search-and-arrest sweeps of Shiite villages have been involved in confrontations with Israeli soldiers and their militia allies during which U.N. soldiers say they have been threatened.

"The Israelis have from time to time issued threats to Irish troops that if they continue following they would shoot at the troops," McKevitt said.

The latest incidents were in the nearby village of Yater, where McKevitt said a patrol of Israeli-backed militiamen accompanied by an Israeli officer was ambushed on March 13. One militiaman was wounded, and guerrillas seized three militia cars.

5 die in shooting spree

SOUTH CONNELLSVILLE, Pa. — A glass factory worker who was "furious" over being suspended knocked out a gate guard and then shot five plant supervisors Saturday, killing four of them, before he shot himself to death, authorities said.

The gunman, Magsel "Sonny" Hammett of nearby Dunbar, was an employee of the Anchor Glass Container Co. in this Fayette County town, about 50 miles southeast of Pittsburgh, said police Chief Pete Casini.

Hammett "had been sent home for disciplinary action" shortly before 10 a.m. Saturday, he said.

Ski lodge blast kills 2

ALTA, Utah — The bodies of a man and a woman killed when an 82-room ski lodge was demolished by an explosion were pulled from the rubble Saturday, and authorities said they did not believe anyone else was trapped inside.

The blast, believed caused by a propane leak from a 10,000-gallon tank in the basement, also injured at least five people, one of them critically, and collapsed the three-story building's left side Friday.

The dead man had been in a room at the Goldminer's Daughter lodge when the explosion occurred, said Salt Lake County Sheriff Pete Hayward. He had been only tentatively identified.

Schroeder sets record

JASPER, Ind. — William Schroeder missed his son's wedding Saturday, but it was a historic and happy day for the second artificial heart recipient, who equaled the 112 days' survival of his predecessor.

"He's in really good spirits today," said Larry Hastings, clinical director at Humana Hospital Audubon in Louisville, Ky., where Schroeder remained Saturday.

Doctors had decided the 90-mile trip to Jasper for his son Terry's wedding would have been too much stress for him.

Ohio seeks S&L solution

CLEVELAND — Gov. Richard Celeste met with banking officials at Federal Reserve offices Saturday as he and the state's financial leaders sought a way to prevent runs on deposits at state-chartered savings and loan associations.

The 71 thrift institutions remained closed Saturday under an executive order declaring a three-day holiday that was issued Friday morning by Celeste.

Syrian army threatens Lebanese Christians

BEIRUT (AP) — Syria moved troops and tanks to the northern fringes of Lebanon's Christian heartland Saturday, saying it was supporting beleaguered Lebanese President Amin Gemayel against pro-Israeli militia rebels within his own Christian community.

The rebel leaders convened a war council after Syria's declaration and said commanders of all fighting units of the Lebanese Forces militia "have placed their entire potential at the disposal of the rebellion to face any emergency."

The statement by the rebel command did not specifically refer to the movement of Syrian troops and armor. The command had earlier denied the "presence of any abnormal military moves" in northern Lebanon.

Israeli forces and their Lebanese militia allies meanwhile came under attack six times Saturday in south Lebanon, military sources in Tel Aviv said. The Israelis also sealed off a village in the south and conducted house-to-house searches, U.N. spokesman Timur Goksel said.

Local radio stations in Beirut said Syrian tanks were seen rolling south of the Madoun bridge on the coastal highway toward Christian areas from Syrian-controlled northern Lebanon.

Iraqi jets bomb 6 Iranian cities

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — Iraqi jet fighters raided six Iranian cities Saturday after a blast "like an earthquake" shook the Iraqi capital of Baghdad, shattering windows at two downtown hotels, an Iraqi military spokesman said.

The spokesman, reading a communique on the state radio, said the raids were "in response to the Iranian regime's aggression on our residential areas and the city of Baghdad."

He identified the target cities as Isfahan, Tabriz, Rasht, Ilam, Karand, and Gilan-e-Garb. There were no immediate reports of casualties.

The spokesman said Iraqi jet fighters returned safely to base after "successfully carrying out their missions."

RECORDKEEPING RULES RELAXED

The new recordkeeping rules for the business use of vehicles have been relaxed somewhat by the IRS. Periods of uninterrupted business use can now be recorded as a single entry in a log or diary. For example, a repairman who leaves the shop in the morning and calls on a dozen customers one after the other, need only make a single entry for the series of calls.

There will also be four special exceptions to the requirement for "adequate contemporaneous records."

(1) Farmers (those who earn 70% or more of their gross income from farming) need not keep strict usage records on certain vehicles such as pickups and trucks. They may instead either (a) keep records of personal use of the vehicle or (b) keep no records and treat 80% of the vehicle's use as business and 20% as personal. This exception does not apply to cars used by farmers.

(2) Records do not need to be kept on a vehicle used in a trade or business if the vehicle is kept at the business site during non-business hours, and if the vehicle is not used for personal purposes.

(3) Where employers require employees to use business vehicles to go to and from work (commuting), no recordkeeping is required if the employer allows no other personal use of the vehicle and includes in the employee's income an amount that reflects the use for commuting.

(4) Taxpayers in sales or service work may choose (a) to keep records of just the personal use of the vehicle, or (b) keep no records and either treat 70% of the vehicle's use as business and 30% as personal if the vehicle is a car, or treat 80% as business and 20% as personal if the vehicle is a truck or some other vehicle designed primarily for commercial use. Farmers may be able to use this fourth exception for their farm automobiles.

Let probationers have a chance

It's often Catch-22 for citizens who've had a brush with the law. In crimes of theft, for instance, a part of the pact between judge and probationer is that the probationer make restitution for the loss. To make restitution, the probationer must have income. To have income, he must have a job. But because he is a probationer, a person convicted of a crime, he may find it tough to convince an employer to take a chance on him.

If he doesn't get the job, the restitution goes unpaid. And the probationer has violated his agreement with the judge. That means prison. Catch-22.

Frank Martinez, adult probation officer here, is mounting a low-key but active campaign to change the perception society has of the probationer.

In the first place, a person is not granted probation easily. An investigation is done, and it must show there is good reason to believe the infraction was a one-time aberration. Judges don't grant probation to people who are risks to society.

Second, terms of probation are tough. They'd be hard for a Sunday school teacher to live up to. Guilt by association — that is, keeping company with "undesirables" — is enough to void the terms of the pact. The slightest misstep sends the probationer to prison to complete his term.

That's why it is important that probationers earnestly pursuing the straight and narrow not be denied the opportunity to do what's right. A job is an essential ingredient in that recipe for success. Probationers are only asking employers for the benefit of the doubt. Broad-mindedness by employers can work to the advantage of everyone — the probationer, the employer, the community.

Could God forgive Hitler?

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I don't agree with you when you say that God will forgive anybody. I mean, do you really think God would forgive anyone, even someone like Hitler, for example? I just find that hard to accept. — P.A.

DEAR P.A.: There is no evidence, of course, that Hitler (or any of the other notorious examples of inhuman brutality that have lived in this century) even repented of their evil and turned to Christ. But God is able to save anyone — even when their deeds have been horrible — who truly repents and turns from sin and trusts Christ alone for salvation.

The Bible tells about just such a person. His name was Manasseh, and he was a king in the ancient kingdom of Judah. As king over that part of God's chosen people, Manasseh was supposed to obey God and serve God with all his heart. But instead, he turned his back on God and deliberately did everything possible to stamp out his name from among the people.

He even burned one of his sons as a sacrifice to a pagan god. He also persecuted and put to death those who tried to speak out for God.

But the time came when Manasseh realized the foolishness of what he was doing and turned to God. "In his distress he sought the favor of the Lord his God and humbled himself greatly before the God of his fathers. And when he prayed to him, the Lord was moved by his entreaty and listened to his plea" (2 Chronicles 33:12-13). God forgave him and Manasseh spent the rest of his life trying to undo the evil he had done.

Yes, God will forgive all who truly turn to him in repentance and faith. None of us deserves God's mercy, but Christ took upon himself our sins so we could be saved. Have you realized you stand under God's judgment for your sins, and have you turned to Christ for forgiveness? Turn to Christ now and know the joy of his salvation.

Let Ward's know store should stay

To the editor:

The news that the Big Spring Montgomery Ward store would be closed both surprised and dismayed myself as well as others I've talked to. This store that many of us have supported and depended on over the years...a store that I've been informed has been near the top in sales in this district...is being closed because of what they term bad economic conditions in Big Spring, which I find hard to believe.

According to Peter Jensen, District Manager of Montgomery Ward in Arlington, "the store is being closed for economic reasons." And while I agree that some of their stores might be facing economic problems elsewhere, I find it hard to believe that the Big Spring store is "being closed because of a lack of business."

Closing the Big Spring store will certainly be detrimental to the economy of Big Spring in addition to affecting the economy and lives of its many fine employees and their families.

At the store, you will notice a supply of "opinion" cards at the various check out counters. On these post paid business reply cards are the words "your opinion is the only one that counts" and "please tell how we can serve you better." I would like to urge the readers of the Big Spring Herald to pick up one...or several...of these cards and send them in to the regional office to let Montgomery Ward know that we want them to keep the Big Spring store open.

And while Big Spring has many fine stores, we still need this full service store with its friendly, knowledgeable and helpful personnel. Please write to: Mr. Peter Jensen, District Manager, Montgomery Ward District Office, 2700 E. Pioneer Parkway, Arlington, Texas 76010; to the editor of the Big Spring Herald; or complete one of the opinion cards mentioned above. With a lot of input, perhaps the ones who initially made the decision to close the Big Spring store will reconsider and keep the store open. We believe in Big Spring.

Firemen have opinions, too

Firefighters supporting the cause of civil service weren't pleased with an editorial page piece in Monday's paper. They've offered a rebuttal story, and it will find a home in tomorrow's edition of the Herald. But the very act of publishing an opinion about the upcoming binding referendum made them angry.

They claim bias. They're right. That's a large part of opinion. Given enough opinions, the theory goes, the general populace can distill the conflicting viewpoints and emerge with an informed point of view. That's what the editorial page is all about. Readers sometimes have trouble distinguishing the editorial page, the traditional home of diverse opinions, from the news pages. On the news pages, we don't have unbridled opinion. We may have perspective, but it is attributed to the source.

The distinction may elude some people. Suppose an accident occurs on a busy intersection. We write a news story that quotes John Smith, a witness, as saying, "The red car ran a stop sign and hit the brown pickup truck." The same story might well quote Mary Doe, another witness, as saying, "The red car stopped and the pickup truck was speeding. When the car started up again, the pickup ran into it." Conflicting opinion as to what caused the accident.

We'd probably top a story like that with a summary that said, "Witnesses gave conflicting accounts of how the accident occurred." But Mr. Smith might well be offended that we would dare quote Mary Doe. By golly, he knows what he saw and Mary Doe is wrong. We don't make that distinction. We just quote 'em both.

On the editorial page, we might run a story saying nuclear power generation is an absolute must for the future of our country. The story might be quite compelling, filled with facts and figures and scholarly statements about its essential need. It might warn of power shortages and gloom and doom should the lesson go unheeded.

The next day we might run an equally persuasive story condemning nuclear power as an unnecessarily risky venture into the world of an unsafe source of electric generation. It too, might quote experts and it might sway readers to adopt its premise.

Ultimately, you will read these conflicting comments, study their arguments and the power of the persuasion may or may not give you a point of view on nuclear power.

That's what the editorial page is all about. In writing the viewpoints on civil service for firefighters, Johnny Lou Avery contacted the firemen and the city. She asked each to provide arguments about the relative merits of adopting this system. Who is Johnny Lou Avery? She is a citizen who is concerned about the city and took the time and trouble to contact both sides in preparing a story about the public issue. She didn't do it for pay, she did it in the public interest.

The firefighters cried foul. The city's figures are distorted, they said.

How are they distorted? They figured the cost of extending civil service benefits to all city employees. We're only talking about firefighters having these benefits, no one else.

Maybe the city reasons that if firefighters get these benefits, the other city employees should get them out of fairness.

Yes, but firefighters work a 56-hour week. Yes, but they're allowed to sleep at the job, too.

The debate could go on and on. And the debate probably will go on and on. When all the verbal volleys have been fired, the best that can happen is for readers to have been exposed to as many points of view as possible. That way when they go to the polls they'll cast a reasonably informed opinion. You can't ask for more.

This newspaper stands in support of that end. The editorial page is open for opinion. I only ask that 1) the material to be published be as brief as possible — time has shown that readers' interest is directly linked to the length of the story they are being asked to read, 2) that the material not rehash old ground, but provide new insight, and 3) that it be reasonably well-grounded.

The editorial page is for opinion. I suspect it will be well used between now and election day in April.

President starring in 'Fistful of Ronnie'

By WILLIAM GARLAND
WASHINGTON — "Go ahead, make my day," said President Reagan last week, speaking to a group of businessmen but aiming the Clint Eastwood-style remark toward the Senate Budget Committee.

The committee threatened to raise taxes while continuing to reject the president's budget cuts, and Reagan told them he had his "veto pen drawn and ready."

Whether the warning worked or not, the committee late that night adopted a Republican-crafted budget package that would reduce federal spending levels to the same range requested by Reagan while avoiding even a hint of new taxation.

However, in several domestic programs, most notably in agriculture, the committee plan would restore funding that formed the basis last month for an estimate that Texas would lose more than $1 billion under the 1986 budget introduced by Reagan.

The 11 to 9 vote by the committee on Wednesday angered the panel's Democrats, who said the plan's deficit reduction — saving $55 billion next year — could not be achieved without new revenue.

The vote, which followed party lines, was the first passage this year of an overall budget package for 1986, setting expenditures at $966.1 billion next year, slightly less than Reagan's original request for $974 billion.

The committee's plan would whack away at some domestic programs, like Amtrak and student loans, but it also would take a bigger chunk out of defense spending than Reagan wanted, allowing only an increase based on inflation. A major component would be a freeze in social security benefits for one year, denying an inflation adjustment for 1986.

Included in the package was the committee's earlier position on agriculture, giving farmers a far better break than with the original Reagan cutbacks.

Reagan wanted the budget to include the administration's first salvo against existing farm programs, reducing agricultural spending by more than $3 billion for 1986, down to about $11 billion from the current level of more than $14 billion for 1985.

Those cutbacks would have knocked $500 million out of direct payments for farmers in Texas alone, slashing farm operating and ownership loans by the Farmers Home Administration and cutting deeply into price support payments from the Agriculture Department's Commodity Credit Corporation.

The Budget committee's alternative, sponsored by Sen. James Exon, D-Neb., would freeze agricultural programs for 1986 at current levels, reducing about $200 million that would be added as an inflation adjustment for next year. In the next two years, the committee's plan would reduce farm spending by $2.5 billion — $1 billion in 1987 and $1.5 billion in 1988.

Exon suggested that the cutbacks be made through the elimination of subsidies for large corporate farms and that the government establish a "conservation reserve program" that would take 20 to 30 million acres of farmland out of production.

The committee's action was viewed as positive for farmers in Texas and elsewhere, suffering from short-term credit problems as well as longer-term uncertainty about commodity pricing.

"They're back to using their surgeon's scalpel rather than the meat axe (in the budget-cutting process), and the patient has a lot better chance of surviving that way," said Claiborn Crain, agriculture coordinator with the Texas State Office of State-Federal Relations.

The Senate Agriculture Committee will determine more specifically how the funding will be divided for agricultural programs, using the ceilings set by the Budget Committee.

Another big loss in the Reagan administration's budget for cities throughout Texas would be the proposal to eliminate general revenue sharing, which accounts for $239.8 million in federal payments to the state this year. The committee plan would keep the program but divide its funding in half for 1986 and 1987.

On the negative side for the state, the Senate package would take back an earlier committee action that would have substantially restored funding for Amtrak, which runs routes through much of Texas.

The House Budget Committee is expected to begin voting on the budget by late this month or early next month.

Jesus and the Pentagon

I suppose only a man of Ronald Reagan's theological stature could invoke the teachings of Jesus to defend the MX missile system.

Before a gathering of Christian clergymen last month, Reagan claimed "the Scriptures are on our side" in justifying his administration's push for an outlandishly expensive military budget.

He cited the 14th chapter of Luke, in which Jesus tells of a king with 10,000 men who might have to make peace with one who has 20,000 soldiers.

"I don't think we ever want to be in the position of being only half as strong and having to send a delegation to negotiate...with the Soviet Union," our president said in Scriptural commentary.

Not only did Reagan incorrigibly twist Jesus' little lesson out of context with such a blundermouth reference. By proclaiming the Bible is on his side, the president also displayed a rancorous insensitivity to religious and political diversity, which are hallmarks of our democracy.

Ignorance and dangerous implications riddle Reagan's righteous epistle. We can conclude from it that:

• The Bible is not on the side of the Soviet Union, which quite curiously counts as many Christians and Jews among its citizens as the United States.

• Everyone opposed to the Pentagon budget is somehow unscriptural or unchristian or atheist.

• Anyone who worships Jesus should support by faith spending for the MX, the B-1 bomber and $7,000 coffee pots.

• The Reagan administration has divined the holy truth, and senators and congressmen opposed to the president should be purged in a political inquisition.

I really wish Reagan would read the Bible more often and more carefully, since he seems wont to quote it with such ecclesiastical authority.

In it he might discover that the Hebrew culture of Jesus held in primacy not the stockpiling of expensive and provocative weapons, but wisdom, diplomacy and tolerance in conducting international affairs.

He also might find that Jesus was a man of peace, who taught that one should love his enemy and care most for the poor, the sick and the forgotten.

Then Reagan could ask himself: "What would Jesus think about the administration's massive budget cuts in food, health and housing programs?"

pay bills — perhaps only overnight — and the securities dealer puts up federally backed securities as collateral. Dealers also offer "reverse repos," making loans to institutions, such as savings and loan associations, which put up their securities as collateral.

The savvy professional investors who avoided getting burned never gave ESM money without taking physical possession of securities in return. However, friends of ESM officers and less sophisticated money managers, especially those in smaller cities, trusted the dealer to hold their securities, Tew said.

"When the music stopped, the only people who had chairs were the people who perfected (claimed) their securities," he said.

Those who did not stake their claim, such as the now-closed Home State Savings Association in Cincinnati and government entities like Beaumont, Texas, and Washington's Clallam County, are not likely to recover their losses in what is shaping up to be the largest failure of a government securities trader, Tew said. He said he has recovered about $23 million in frozen assets so far.

"I've talked to many communities, where resignations are being demanded at angry city hall meetings and where taxpayers may have to suffer tax levies," Tew said.

The state suffering the most from the collapse is Ohio.

On Friday, Ohio Gov. Richard Celeste declared a three-day holiday at 70 savings and loan institutions insured by a privately held fund, following reports of runs on deposits.

Widespread withdrawals came about a week after Home State closed its 33 offices and was placed on the auction block amid the disclosure that Home State borrowed $670 million from ESM. It has been reported that Home State put up securities worth significantly more than it borrowed, but it has not been determined exactly how much the S&L lost.

When Home State's involvement with ESM became known, depositors started bailing out. State legislators tried to calm fears by creating a $90 million deposit insurance fund, but withdrawals continued.

The Home State closing and S&L holiday leaves thousands of Ohio depositors without access to their checking and savings accounts, including some Social Security recipients whose checks are deposited directly.

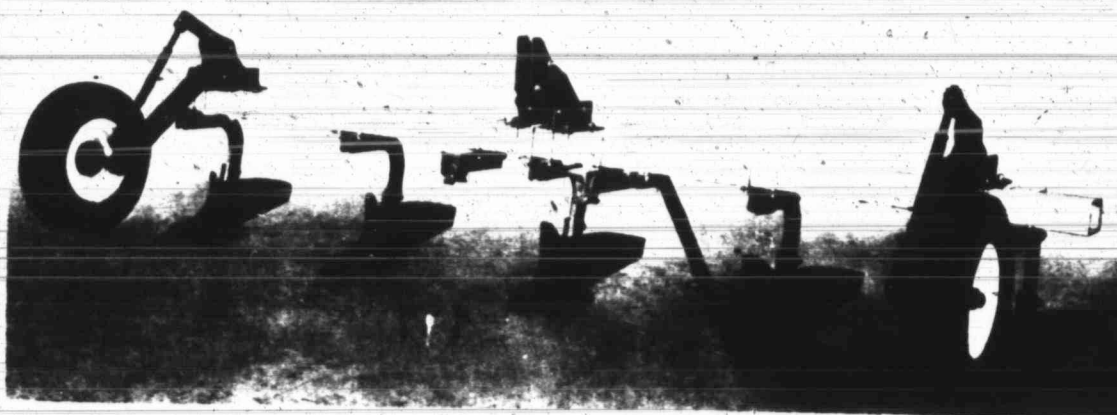

Meanwhile, Mayor Donna Owens of Toledo, Ohio, asked for the resignations of the city manager, law director and finance director after learning that $20 million, or one-quarter of the city's surplus cash, was invested in ESM repos.

Ohio officials are also contemplating an investigation into the ESM involvement of one of its most prominent citizens, millionaire Marvin L. Warner, principal owner of Home State Savings.

Warner, who was President Jimmy Carter's ambassador to Switzerland, befriended one of ESM's founders, Ronald Ewton, and invested millions of dollars in ESM. Warner withdrew $37 million of his funds just before the ESM collapse.

American correspondent kidnapped in Beirut

TERRY ANDERSON

BEIRUT (AP) — Terry Anderson, chief Middle East correspondent of The Associated Press, was kidnapped by armed men off a street in mostly Moslem west Beirut today.

It was the third kidnapping of a foreigner in western Beirut in the past three days. The two previous victims were British. Five other Americans have been kidnapped in Beirut in the last year, including Jeremy Levin, the Cable News Network bureau chief who escaped his captors on Feb. 15.

In Washington, State Department spokeswoman Vivienne Ascher had no immediate comment on the kidnapping but said, "We're working on it."

In Larnaca, Cyprus, a U.S. Embassy official said 11 more American diplomats were evacuated from Beirut today. A U.S. Navy helicopter brought the nine men and two women to the Mediterranean island, said the duty officer, who spoke on condition he not be identified.

Reporters were not allowed to talk to the diplomats, who were driven to Nicosia in a fleet of U.S. Embassy automobiles.

Donald Mell, an AP photographer, said the abduction took place after he and Anderson had played tennis. Anderson dropped the photographer off shortly before 8:30 a.m. in the Ein Mreisse section of the Lebanese capital, Mell said.

"I got out of the car and was talking to him through the window," Mell said. "And at that time, a green Mercedes pulled up and stopped in front of us." Mell said three men got out of the Mercedes, at least two of whom were carrying pistols.

"I saw the guys, and realized that something was wrong," he said. "I told Terry, 'I don't like this, get out of here.'"

Mell said Anderson tried to back up, but one of the assailants opened his door and grabbed him. He was bundled into the Mercedes, which then sped away. Mell said he tried to give chase in Anderson's car but lost the abductors after a block.

There was no immediate claim of responsibility for the abduction.

What do you think about the USFL?
I have tried for three years to ignore this fledgling league, dismiss it as so much "junk sport" clogging the arteries of the nation's cable and network programming. But I am fascinated by the amount of publicity the USFL has received despite putting out an obviously second-rate product.

Actually it doesn't matter that the USFL is little more than a minor league version of the NFL.

The problem lies with the NFL, which left me positively catatonic after its last 25 game season. A season that stretches from an unfathomable August exhibition season, through the joke called the Pro Bowl, pushes even the most dedicated fan far beyond the limits of viewing pleasure.

Even Marilyn Monroe would get old if you had to watch her for 25 straight weeks. And I dare say there is nobody in either league with moves like MM.

I've watched a few USFL games (never an entire one) and although I couldn't quite work myself into a proper autumn froth, it looked as if the guys playing were having a good time. There seemed to be a lot of college type enthusiasm associated with the games, despite dismal attendance.

The San Antonio-Memphis game that I watched was certainly not a sellout (Gunslinger's Alamo Stadium is not among the garden spots in the USFL). But you've got to love a team that has JOHN 3:16 painted on either side of midfield and wear Biob green jerseys and helmets.

Most USFLers play for the love of the game, something a lot of NFL stars seem to have forgotten about. A few guys in the NFL still play the game with a little pride. Rough characters like Randy White and Jack Lambert typify the kind of ball player who is quickly being smothered by the modern day jock. The stud who looks like sculpted granite and has the common sense to match. The kind of Sunday afternoon hero whose biggest worry is how much cocaine he can free base before his 40 time goes over 4.5.

So while the "Boys of Summer" still enjoys dual athletic definition, for at least for one more season, I plan to sit back and ogle over Jim Kelly as he fills the blistering June thermals with as many passes as humanly possible.

Kelly has warmed up in the first three games of the season by passing for a world record 574 yards in the season opener, and threw more than half of the record 105 passes in the 50-20 air force special against Tampa Bay.

Maybe the Gamblers will have to bring in football's first relief quarterback as Kelly's arm begins to fall off near the end of the season. What about Nolan Ryan and Kelly switching for a game? The possibilities seem endless.

For Kelly that is, not the USFL.

Hands off Flutie

BALTIMORE (AP) — The owner of the Baltimore Stars said he was asked by New Jersey owner Donald Trump to have the Stars "take it easy" on Generals' million-dollar quarterback Doug Flutie, according to the Baltimore News American.

Myles Tanenbaum said the request was made about six weeks ago, just after Trump signed the 5-foot-9½ Heisman Trophy winner to a five-year deal worth an estimated $5 million to $8 million, the newspaper said in late editions Friday.

A league spokesman said Saturday Trump had "no recollection" of such a conversation.

The Stars, the 1984 United States Football League champions when they played in Philadelphia, are 0-2-1 so far this season and play the 2-1 Generals Sunday at College Park, Md., in a nationally televised game.

"Donald was serious," Tanenbaum was quoted as saying. "He wanted me to talk to my coach so he could talk to the players because we play them a couple times this season."

"He said the players should try not to hurt Flutie. Donald said, 'It would be a terrible thing for the league if Flutie got hurt,'" Tanenbaum told the newspaper. "It sounded like he had talked to a number of other owners, too. He wanted to protect his investment."

Trump was unavailable for comment Saturday, but USFL spokesman Jim Byrne said Trump "has no recollection of any such conversation and I think to some extent it's a case of Carl trying to motivate his players before the game."

Carl Peterson is president and general manager of the Stars.

"I think it was an off-hand comment made to a reporter as a kind of a joke and he picked it up and went with it," Byrne said.

Peterson said he told the Stars' defensive line about the alleged request.

"How did they respond? Actually, they all kind of laughed," Peterson told the newspaper.

"It's incredulous," he said. "But that's Donald. You've got to understand and appreciate the guy. But, yes, he was serious about it."

that raised his record to 5-0. Myres did not give up any earned runs, which lowered his ERA to a team best 1.91.

The Hawks batters were not too shabby either, as they jumped on Hills pitching right away.

Hawk shortstop Mike Byrd led of the HC scoring barrage with a double to left field. Catcher Eddie Centrone hit his second homer of the series, a towering two run shot over the center field green monster to put the Hawks ahead to stay, 2-0.

Jimmy Garcia and Mark Howell walked following Centrone's shot, before Joe Cuellar singled to right scoring Garcia. Third baseman Roland Gonzales was next on the hit parade, blasting a double to left-center scoring both Howell and Cuellar to make the score 4-0.

Byrd and Lanfear walked on their second trips to the plate,

Permian drops Steers, 11-3

CHARLIE ALCORN

Odessa Permian broke open a close ball game with a 9 run fifth inning as the Big Spring Steers lost a tough district 4-5A baseball game, 11-3, on a chilly Saturday afternoon at Steer field.

The score was tied 2-2 going into the inning, but Permian used 9 hits and a walk, while batting around the order to garner their first district win in two outings.

The Steers got on the board first in the bottom of the second when they loaded the bases with no outs. Big Spring left fielder David Ross stepped up and drove in leadoff hitter Jerry Anderson on a fielders choice to the shortstop. Following Randy Hayworth's walk, Steer shortstop Sammy Watson drove in the second run of the inning with a sacrifice fly to right field, scoring catcher Chris Lamb. Tommy Gartman was thrown out at the plate, ending the rally with the Steers up 2-0.

Odessa countered in the top of the third with two runs to knot the score 2-2. With the bases loaded and no outs, Panther catcher Mike Mungia drove in a run on a sacrifice fly to left field. Permian DH Mike Adams drove in the other run with a center field single off Steer starting pitcher Jay Pirkle.

Panther starting pitcher Donnie McNatt, who came within two outs of getting the complete game victory, set the Steer batters down in order the next four innings during a mid-game lull in which neither team could generate any offense. Mike Dodd came in to replace Pirkle in the fourth inning and looked sharp before the fateful top of the fifth.

Mungia got things started for the Panthers with a leadoff single to right field. Adams followed with another infield single before McNatt helped his own cause with RBI single scoring Mungia and giving Permian their first lead of the day, 3-2. Kyle Bowen safely bunted his way on to load the bases with no outs before second baseman Chris Gonzales punched an RBI single to right, scoring Adams. Th knockout blow for the Steers came when Panther first baseman Albert Jimenez looped a check swing single just over the head of shortstop Sammy Watson to drive in two more runs.

Kyle Bowen scored another Permian run off of a errant Steer pickoff attempt to give the Panthers a comfortable 8-2 lead. Adams got his second hit of the inning, a line shot double to left that drove in Hoak Bethel and Jimenez. McNatt slammed another double off the shaken Dodd, driving in Adams and ending the Permian scoring barrage with the score 11-2.

Tommy Gartman came in to relieve Dodd in the top of the sixth and pitched well during the last two innings allowing no hits and striking out three.

Big Spring looked as if it might rally in the bottom of the last inning when Randy Hayworth lashed a double into left field scoring leadoff batter Gartman, who had walked to open the inning. But Panther left fielder Donny Wright came into replace McNatt with one out and the bases loaded. Wright killed the Steer rally with some fine pitching, setting down the next three Big Spring batters in order to end the game at 11-3.

Big Springs district record evened up at 1-1 with the loss. The Steers overall record dropped to 2-5. Permian also went to 1-1 in 4-5A, the Panthers overall record moved to 3-6 on the year.

SMU, Hogs dumped in regionals

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Loyola does a lot with a little, but the littlest Rambler, 5-foot-9 Carl Golston, was talking big after scoring 20 points to lead them to a 70-57 NCAA tournament victory over Southern Methodist Saturday.

The triumph in the East regional moved Loyola (Ill.), the 1963 NCAA basketball champions, into the third round against top-ranked Georgetown, the defending champions who have won their last 14 games. They will play Thursday night in Providence, R.I.

"It will be power and speed vs. our speed," said Golston. "Georgetown has all the advantages, but this year it will be our turn to be giant killers."

The 14th-ranked Ramblers also may need the stamina of marathon runners against the very deep Hoyas. Loyola used four starters for 39 of the 40 minutes Saturday and the fifth for 31 minutes.

"They (the Mustangs) run pretty well. They just decided not to. That probably helped us out a lot," said Loyola Coach Gene Sullivan. "They (the Ramblers) like to play. It's hard to get them out of the game."

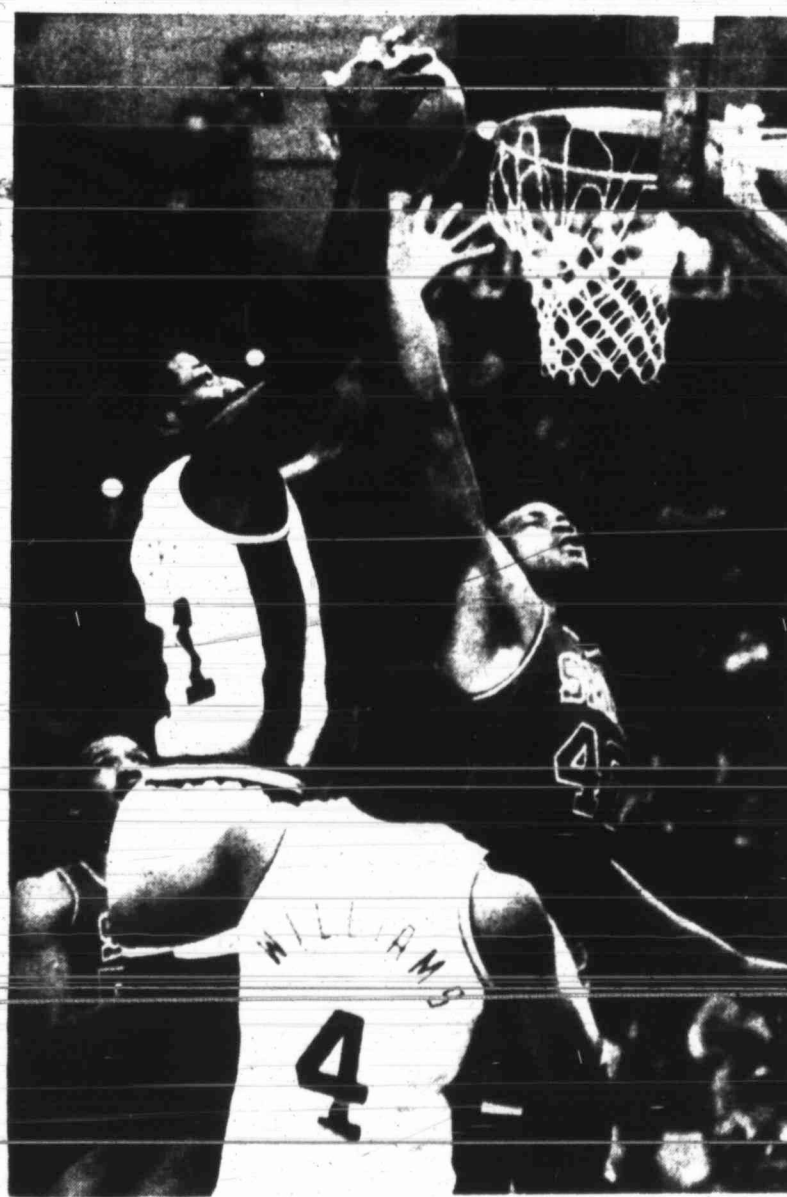

Southern Methodist Coach Dave Bliss had trouble getting his players into the game.

"For some reason, I thought that we were a very flat basketball team today," Bliss said. "We didn't get the job done offensively."

"We turned the ball over five times to their 16. That was probably the key to the game," Sullivan said.

The Ramblers broke the game open with a seven-point run late in the second half and stretched the nation's longest winning streak to 19 games.

Trailing 56-50 with 7:28 left in the game, Southern Methodist suffered a 5:03 scoring drought while Loyola was building a 63-50 advantage with 2:40 to play.

Alfredrick Hughes, the nation's leading scorer, started the surge with a 14-foot jumper from the left.

Andre Moore then hit one of two free throws. Greg Williams stole the ball and was credited with a basket on a goaltending call. Williams ended the uprising with two foul shots.

Loyola's lead never dipped below 10 points the rest of the way.

St. John's (68)

Arkansas (65)

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Chris Mullin scored 26 points and third-ranked St. John's held off a determined Arkansas comeback bid to defeat the Razorbacks 68-65 Saturday in NCAA West sub-regional basketball tournament action.

St. John's, 29-3 and the top seed in the West, advances to the West regional in Denver, where they will face on next Friday the winner of the Nevada-Las Vegas-Kentucky game played later Saturday.

The Redmen led by as many as eight points throughout the game, the last time on a pair of Mullin free throws at 60-52 with 4:23 left in the game. Arkansas center Joe Kleine scored six points during a two-minute stretch to draw the Razorbacks to within 62-61 with 1:32 remaining.

But six St. John's free throws and three fine defensive plays helped protect the lead. Guard Mike Moses canned two free throws to pad the Redmen's lead to 64-61, and St. John's center Bill Wennington then blocked a William Mills shot. Mullin followed with two free throws to make it 66-61 with 36 seconds left, and Wennington subsequently stole a pass.

After Kleine's turn-around jumper made it 66-63, Moses stole an Arkansas pass, was fouled and made both foul shots to help secure the victory.

Hawks sweep Hill JC series; go to 6-0 in Region 5

By CHARLIE ALCORN
Sports Writer

The Howard College Hawks remained in first place in the Region 5 baseball race with a doubleheader sweep of Hill Junior College Saturday at Jack Barber Field. Howards perfect 6-0 conference record keeps them in a tie for the lead with McClellan JC of Waco.

The Hawks had no problem in the first game, scoring 11 runs in the first inning and going on to win the game 15-1 in five innings. The second game was a little tougher for the Hawks, who fell behind 4-0 early in the game, but came back to score 10 runs in the bottom of the sixth, and cruised to an 11-4 victory.

In the first game Hawk starting pitcher Doug Myres continued his masterful pitching with 7 hit win while Centrone was hit by a pitch forcing in three more runs running the score to 7-0.

The bases were loaded when Jimmy Garcia came to the plate and he powdered a Hill fastball over the left center field fence for the Hawks first grand-slam homerun of the year. Garcia had an incredible series against the Rebels, going 8 for 10 with 2 doubles, 2 homeruns and 9 RBI's in three games.

Hill scored their lone unearned run in the top of the second when Rebel hitter Wills went to first on an error Garcia. Wills advanced to third on two consecutive singles by Clay and Pardo, and scored on a throwing error by Hawk first baseman Centrone.

The Hawks got one run in the bottom of the second, when Roland Gonzales slashed his second double of the day into right field, scoring Joe Cuellar who had walked and stolen second base.

Howard College ended the scoring in the bottom of the third with three runs on three hits. Dan Lanfear opened the inning with a walk before Jimmy Garcia knocked his second home run of the day over the left field fence giving the Hawks a 1-1 cushion. Steve Carasco drove in the last Hawk run with a single that scored Bruce Smith, who was running for Cuellar.

Hawks 11, Rebels 4

Hill got off to a better start in the second game, scoring 4 runs in the first four innings while limiting the Hawk bats to one hit and no runs.

Hill got its first run in the top of the first when Wallace led off with a single and advanced to second on an error by Centrone. Hill cleanup man Reagans drove in Wallace with left field single to give the Rebels a 1-0 lead.

A bad fielding inning by Hawk shortstop Mike Byrd enabled the Rebels to score two more runs in the top of the second. Byrd had three errors in the inning as the Rebels took a 3-0 lead without getting a clean hit.

Hill picked up its last run of the game in the fourth inning when Gumlee led off with a single and right fielder Houk drove him in with an RBI double to left-center.

Howard College got one run back in the bottom of the fifth. Byrd opened the inning with a single to left field. Lanfear and Centrone both walked to load the bases. The ever powerful Garcia drove in Lanfear with a double to left-center to pull the Hawks to within three. The Rebels got out the inning leading 4-1.

The Hawks stormed back in the sixth inning, sending 15 batters to the plate, scoring 10 runs on 8 hits and 4 walks. Joey Ortiz led off with a drag bunt down the third baseline and advanced to second on a Steve Carrasco single. Roland Gonzales drove in Ortiz on a hit and run to make the score 4-2.

Mike Byrd got into the hitting act, driving in Carrasco with a double. Lanfear stroked another single and Centrone was intentionally walked to load the bases. Garcia drove in Byrd with a sacrifice fly to tie the score at 4-4. Mark Howell drew a walk to force in Lanfear giving the Hawks a 5-4 lead they would not relinquish.

Carrasco and Byrd both had two run doubles in the inning and Lanfear had an RBI single to give the Hawks the 11-4 victory.

Howard ran their overall record to 16-2 with the three game sweep. They will host Lubbock Christian College Monday at 1 p.m. in a non-conference doubleheader.

Georgetown on track with East win

By The Associated Press
Top-ranked Georgetown, the defending national collegiate basketball champion, continued its quest for a second straight NCAA title, beating Temple 63-46 Saturday in an East Regional second-round game at Hartford, Conn.

Michael Jackson's 14 points led a balanced offense for the Hoyas, who won their 14th consecutive game in improving their season's record to 32-2. Defensively, the Hoyas put the wraps on Temple forwards Granger Hall and Charles Rayne. The two, who had combined for an average of 31.2 points per game during the regular season, collected only a total of 13 against the big, muscular Hoyas.

Georgetown's smothering defense forced Temple to shoot mostly from outside.

"We weren't so much concerned about the inside," said Temple Coach John Chaney. "If a team is going to double down on you, you have to take shots from the outside. We figured every time we'd get it to Granger, they'd double down on him."

Reggie Williams scored 13 points for Georgetown and Patrick Ewing and David Wingate had 12 each. Nate Blackwell led Temple, 25-6, with 15 points.

"It's our time of year," said the Hoyas' Ralph Dalton. "We've worked hard to accomplish what we started."

"This game was another on the way to where we're going."

The victory moved Georgetown into next Thursday's round of 16 in the NCAA tournament. The Hoyas will next face No. 14 Loyola of Chicago, a 70-57 winner over Southern Methodist in the other East Regional second-round game at Hartford.

In Southeast Regional second-round games at South Bend, Ind., seventh-ranked North Carolina edged Notre Dame 60-58 on Kenny Smith's driving slam-dunk layup with three seconds remaining and Auburn upset No. 13 Kansas 66-64 as Frank Ford made all nine of his field-goal attempts in scoring 23 points.

And in Midwest Regional second-round games at Tulsa, Okla., No. 8 Louisiana Tech trimmed Ohio State 79-67 and No. 4 Oklahoma, behind the 29 points of Wayman Tisdale, downed Illinois State 75-69.

In a West Regional second-round game at Salt Lake City, No. 3 St. John's advanced with a 68-65 victory over Arkansas. In a later game, No. 9 Nev.-Las Vegas faced Kentucky with the winner meeting St. John's in the Regional semifinal.

The second round will be completed Sunday.

In the East Regional at Atlanta, it will be Georgia, 22-8, against Illinois, 25-8, and Syracuse, 22-8, vs. Georgia Tech, 25-7.

In the Southeast Regional at Dayton, Ohio, the pairings are Michigan, 26-3, vs. Villanova, 20-10, and Maryland, 24-11, against Navy, 26-5.

In the Midwest Regional at Houston, Boston College, 19-10, plays Duke, 23-9, and Alabama-Birmingham, 25-8, meets Memphis State, 28-3.

And in the West Regional at Albuquerque, N.M., Alabama, 22-8, faces Virginia Commonwealth, 26-5, and Texas-El Paso, 22-9, opposes North Carolina State, 21-9.

Smith's winning basket for North Carolina, 26-8, came on a lead pass from Curtis Hunter.

Hunter grabbed a loose ball that kicked off the left knee of Notre Dame freshman David Rivers after the Irish had run down the clock for more than a minute in hopes of getting the final shot with the score 58-58.

Rivers said the ball was slapped away. Smith saw it differently.

"I saw the ball go off his leg and I broke down the court," he said. "Hunter picked it up and threw it to me."

Notre Dame Coach Digger Phelps defended his strategy of having the young Rivers take the final shot.

"We've been living with David all year, and we'd been living with him today," said Phelps. "David had the green light to go. Once it got down to 20 (seconds), David was going."

"If I had the same opportunity again, Rivers would still have the ball and we'd make the same move," said Phelps.

Smith finished with 12 points, while teammate Brad Daugherty led all scorers with 18. Rivers topped Notre Dame, 21-9, with 15 points.

Chuck Person added 21 points for Auburn as he and Ford took control of the game in the late stages. Ford gave the Tigers the lead for good with just under three minutes remaining. Auburn, 22-11, then pulled away to a 77-77 lead on two baskets by Person.

Calvin Thompson, who finished with 21 points, pulled Kansas, 26-8, to within 65-64 with six seconds remaining. But Person made a free throw to give Auburn its final margin.

Karl Malone, a 6-foot-9 junior forward, scored 27 points and grabbed 14 rebounds, leading Louisiana Tech, 29-2, over Ohio State, 20-10.

Malone scored the first nine points of the second half, giving the Bulldogs a 46-30 lead and control of the game.

Louisiana Tech built its advantage to 19 points, 51-32, with less than 15 minutes remaining and coasted from there.

Sophomore Dennis Hopson was the leading scorer for Ohio State with 20 points.

DAVID WINGATE of Georgetown takes aim at the basket as DERRICK BRANTLEY of Temple University tries to block him.

Evert Lloyd reaches Dallas Slims semis

DALLAS (AP) — Chris Evert Lloyd says she regained her concentration in the third set to advance to today's semifinals of the $150,000 Virginia Slims of Dallas tennis tournament.

"I lost my concentration a little bit, and let her into the match," said the No. 2-seeded Evert Lloyd of serving with a 6-2, 3-2 lead against Bonnie Gadusek Friday night.

She later defeated Gadusek, 6-2, 5-7, 6-2.

Top-seeded Martina Navratilova pulled away from No. 6 Claudia Kohde-Kilsch, 6-4, 6-3, to gain the semifinals against No. 3 seed Helena Sukova. Sukova came back to beat Bettina Bunge of West Germany, 1-6, 6-1, 6-3.

In the semifinals, Evert Lloyd's opponent will be unseeded Catarina Lindqvist of Sweden who dined Myriam Schropp of West Germany, 6-1, 6-3.

Gadusek broke serve to even the second set at 3-3 and again when Evert Lloyd served for the match at 5-4.

Gadusek wore warm-up pants the entire match to hide a bulky knee brace hit out in search of winners in the third set. But the steadier Evert Lloyd won the last four games.

"My serve let me down in the second set," Evert Lloyd said.

"Thank heavens I got a good lead in the third set," she said. "I have to get a good percentage of my first serves in to win, and in the third set, I did, and that was the difference."

"I played pretty solid tennis," Navratilova said. "She played pretty well, mixing it up well. She hits the heck out of the ball and she's moving better than she used to."

The loss to Sukova also halted Bunge's chances of qualifying for next week's Virginia Slims Championships to be held in New York's Madison Square Garden.

CHRIS EVERT LLOYD smashes a return against BONNIE GADUSEK in the quarterfinals of the Dallas Virginia Slims Tennis Tournament. EVERT LLOYD defeated GADUSEK 6-2, 5-7, 6-2 to reach today's semifinals.

Bach's lunch

The First United Church will sponsor a "Bach's Lunch" March 21 at the church and youth hall celebrating the composer's 300th birthday. The public is invited to bring a box lunch to the event. The church will serve tea and coffee.

The 30-minute concert, featuring Johann Sebastian Bach's music, will follow in the church sanctuary at 12:30 p.m. The organists will be Keith Ross of the First Presbyterian Church and Merry D. Wilson of the First United Methodist Church. Vocalists will be Susan Dawes and John Wilson.

School reunion

Lakeview School is planning a reunion June 14-15, according to Barbara Davis, one of the organizers of the event.

Registration fees include all reunion activities and meals. Pre-registration is $25 per family, and registration at the door is $35.

The reunion begins June 14 at 7 p.m. with registration, followed by a program and visiting.

On June 15, the day begins with a continental breakfast at 8 a.m., a lunch at 1 p.m., softball, cards and other games, and a dance at 8 p.m.

Registration fees may be mailed to Cynether Woodruff, 615 N.E. 10th, Big Spring, 79720.

Beauty spots

Dorothy Jones was named chairman of a committee which will select a "Beauty Spot of the Month."

The committee will take nominations for beauty spots each week. The committee hopes to make this a year round project, and will make its first selection in April.

In other business, the beautification committee made plans for a spring house cleaning project for the city which will coordinate with "Keep America Beautiful Month." The goal is to pick up trash items too large to fit into dumpsters.

The C.L.E.A.N. program and a city-wide 4x4 cleanup will be conducted April 13.

A new program, "Adopt an Eyesore," was initiated last week. Plans are to identify community eyesores and to clean up these areas.

Leadership Big Spring is planning to landscape the Potton House grounds. John Gluch, superintendent of the Big Spring Federal Camp, has volunteered the services of his landscape instructor, Carl Johansen, and several Big Spring Camp inmates, to get the project underway.

Dorothy Jones and Diane Moses were named to a committee that will investigate the possibilities of creating a park in the space on Main Street where the former J.C. Penney building burned down.

Farm breaks

The Howard County Farm Bureau and the state Farm Bureau are asking Texas Congressmen to support legislation that would permit farmers to take a business tax deduction for one-half of their health insurance premiums, county farm bureau President Mike Moates said.

People who are self-employed, with the exception of the farmers, are able to take this deduction, he said.

The Farm Bureau is seeking the support of Sens. Phil Gramm and Lloyd Bentsen for the Senate bill.

The bill was introduced by Rep. Del Latta of Ohio in the last session of Congress, but failed to pass.

Texas Congressmen who already signed on the bill as sponsors are Reps. Charles Stenholm, D-Stamford; Larry Combest of Lubbock; Tom DeLay of Sugarland; Sam Hall of Marshall; and Charles Wilson of Lufkin.

Water demands

A cooler, wetter winter than normal continued to curb municipal demands for water in February on the Colorado River Municipal Water District, according to district records.

Municipal customers received 916,937 million gallons of water in February, down 71,886 million from the same month last year.

In contrast, oil companies supplied out of unpotable diverted water received 128,011 million gallons, an increase of 48 million gallons over February 1984.

Total deliveries for February were 1,044 billion gallons, down 47,334 million gallons.

Something to carp about

Looks like somebody has a beef with the Highway Department about standing water along North Highway 87 in front of Custom Ag Service, Inc. Or the state could be luring fishermen to a little-known Howard County minnow lake. Anyway, no one answered when the photographer called about getting a permit.

Thousands flocking to Big Bend

BIG BEND NATIONAL PARK (AP) — While thousands of people were hitting the South Texas beaches last week, thousands of others flocked to this remote West Texas park to mark the beginning of its busiest season.

"We are quite busy right now and it looks like it's going to be one of our busiest seasons in the past four years," said Robert Huggins, Big Bend National Park public affairs officer.

Set in one of the most remote areas in the country, the 1,100-square-mile park is a scenic escape from city and even small-town life, and this month, it began its busiest season.

"The park is always busy at this time of the year. We have spring breaks and Easter and people always come out then," said park superintendent Gil Lusk.

Huggins said the park has averaged about 60,000 visitors during March and April for the past four years.

During the two months last year, he said, 67,112 people chose to spend their spring vacations at Big Bend, 220 miles southwest of Odessa and 330 miles southeast of El Paso.

The City Animal Shelter is operated by the City of Big Spring and picks up strays and unwanted animals. These animals are kept for 72 hours before they are destroyed. Adopting a pet from the City Animal Shelter will save its life. The fee is $18, which includes rabies vaccination and city tag. Call 263-8311 and ask for Animal Control if you have lost an animal.

The shelter has someone in attendance from 7 a.m. to 8 a.m. and from 3 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Einstein the dog escapes eviction

COATESVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Einstein and Lady Ashley can keep on living with Adele White in a federally subsidized apartment, thanks to an agreement mediated by a radio talk-show host.

Einstein, a cat, and Lady Ashley, a dog, are "just like kids," said Ms. White, who had faced the loss of her apartment if she didn't give them up.

The Chester County Housing

Authority, which manages the apartment-building, had told the 63-year-old woman to give up her pets or move out. Ms. White, who lives on Social Security, pays $91 a month rent.

Under a tentative agreement reached Friday on a radio talk show broadcast from nearby Philadelphia, Ms. White can keep the animals if she moves to a smaller apartment building run by the agency.

PUBLIC NOTICE

CITY OF BIG SPRING
NOTICE TO BIDDERS
Sealed proposals addressed to the Honorable Mayor and City Council of the City of Big Spring, Texas, will be received at the office of the City Secretary until 11:30 a.m., C.S.T., April 16, 1985, for street improvements to be made under the Assessment Paving Program for the calendar year 1985. The work will consist of sub-grade excavation and preparation, limestone base, hot mix asphaltic concrete driving surface, and portland cement curb and gutters in accordance with the City of Big Spring's Public Works standards.
It is the intent of the City to accomplish this work through the 1985 paving season and the contractor shall be prepared to accomplish the work accordingly.
Recognizing the changing cost of asphalt and the impact that these costs have upon any project, the contractor shall bid the project with the asphalt cost as of 12:01 a.m., April 16, 1985. The contractor shall reflect the asphalt cost on the bid sheet. The City of Big Spring will adjust the price paid to the contractor by the verified change in cost of asphalt in the hot mix asphaltic concrete surface. The contractor shall submit an affidavit from the asphalt supplier (copy attached) with his bids. Before any payment to the contractor is made, the contractor shall submit to the City of Big Spring invoices reflecting the asphalt quantities and prices. The contractor shall submit bids on all phases of his project and split bids will not be considered. The contractor shall indicate a price break (with respect to the specific quantities of work to be provided).
The successful bidder will be required to furnish a Performance Bond and a Payment Bond, each in the amount of the Contract, written by a responsible Surety Company, authorized to do business in the State of Texas, and satisfactory to the Owner, as required by Article 5160, V.A.T.C.S., as amended by H.B. 344, passed by the 56th Legislature, Regular Session 1989.

Woman recalls her days as sheriff

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

Lucille Merrick picked up the pair of polished handcuffs tenderly.

"My husband had these engraved," said the county's only woman sheriff. She held the steel cuffs up to the window so light gleamed on the block letters spelling her husband's name, "A.J. Merrick."

She sorted through the rest of the items on the table near her: the pearl-handled Colt automatic pistol, the short, lead-heavy leather club and a set of four sheriff's badges, keepsakes of her and her husband's tenures as the county sheriff.

The gun was hers, though she never used it during the 11 months she followed her husband in office. She served as Howard County sheriff from Feb. 7, 1944, to Dec. 31, 1944.

"Working helped me cope," said Mrs. Merrick, 78, of 1410 Nolan.

"My husband died the 3rd (of February 1944, from a heart attack). They buried him the 6th, and the commissioners appointed me sheriff the 7th," she said.

Mrs. Merrick stayed away from the office when she was first appointed to fill her husband's place, she said. Later, she came to enjoy working in the office.

"If I hadn't had the responsibility, it would have been much harder. I would have been alone more," she said. "I felt like it was something I must do. My husband was elected to the office, and I felt I had to finish his term."

Other widows in nearby counties — Dawson and Glasscock — had been chosen to replace their husbands about the same time. The woman in Dawson County — Mrs. Joe Ray — ran for re-election after her appointment and won, Mrs. Merrick said.

"It was not unusual (for a widow to be appointed). There were several men who asked for the appointment," Mrs. Merrick said. "But the commissioners court and the county judge, James Brooks, asked me to do it. They were very supportive."

Andrew, her husband, had been appointed to fill one term and been elected to another. Before he died, he had announced he was running for re-election, Mrs. Merrick said.

Mrs. Merrick said she concentrated on the administration and office work in her tenure; the chief deputy under her husband, Denver Dunn, was in charge of the fieldwork, he said.

"I didn't ever lock but one person up," she said. "There was a teenager who had given us a lot of trouble. I saw him walking down the sidewalk (in front of the courthouse), so I called to him and brought him into the office and we arrested him."

Several people tried to get me to run, but I told them it was not a can handle it now.

She also had a jailbreak during her term in office. "One of the lesser deputies left the door open after feeding the prisoners," she said. "There weren't very many. We got them all back within a couple days."

"There were always jailbreaks then. We had a combination lock, and after the deputies fed the prisoners, they weren't always careful to see if it was locked right," she said.

Mrs. Merrick said she didn't regret her husband's career, though it caused many sleepless nights during the 20 years she was married.

"He was a deputy sheriff when I met him (when I was working in the sheriff's and county tax offices in Lamesa). I didn't mind him being off. He liked that kind of work. He liked trying to figure out why people would do things," she said.

"There were many nights when I stayed up to 3 or 4, waiting for him to get home," she said. "I worried about him. I didn't worry about me. I wasn't out in the field."

When Andrew Merrick first started working for the Howard County sheriff's office, the town was in the middle of an oil boom, and bootleggers had operations all over town. "It was dangerous to walk down the 100 block of Main. My husband wouldn't let me walk down the sidewalk by myself," she said.

"There was a lot of gambling going on. They locked up 75 persons one night. They had a place on Scenic Mountain where they would gamble. There was a big crowd, and they went out and caught all of TENDER THOUGHTS — Lucille Merrick's husband, Andrew Merrick, was sheriff of Howard County until his death Feb. 3, 1944, of a heart attack. She buried him the 6th and was appointed to fill his term as sheriff 7th. "Working helped me cope," she says now when thinking back on those times.

Art of making paper revived

By SUE CROSS
Associated Press Writer

TOLEDO, Ohio — Lois Shelly sweeps her hand through a tub of bright red slush, pulling out a screen covered with soggy red lumps, once old clothing, that is soon to be paper.

The simple-looking process is a rags to riches story of turning cast-aside clothes into fiber which is reformed into paper, a current favorite activity of Ohio artists.

Ms. Shelly, an artist-in-residence at Toledo's Crosby Gardens park and art complex, turns cotton pulp into rough sheets of textured paper that are combined with such things as string and feathers, dried flowers and fabric to create multimedia artwork. On her desk are sheets of stationery made of straw and cedar, willow and cattails — samples sent by other papermakers.

Both types of paper are examples of what Ms. Shelly sees as a revival of interest in the art — or craft, depending on viewpoint — of papermaking.

"It's not new. It's always been around, but it's just been noticed again," she said of the process of beating fibers, swelling them with water, and pressing and drying them into a paper felt for use in art, bookmaking or as a surface for painting in oil, pastels or other media.

Before 1970, the only people making paper by hand were a scattering of bookmakers who made limited editions on paper they formed themselves, said Kathryn Clark. She claims to have prompted the resurgence of the art in the Midwest at the Brookston, Ind., studio she owns with her husband, Howard.

The studio, called Twin Rocker, is known for its technical expertise in making fine paper exactly to standards for use in other types of artwork. Ms. Shelly said, noting that interest in such materials probably kept its popularity growing throughout the 1970s and into the 1980s.

What she has seen in the last few years, however, is the growth of paper art on a different level.

Paper now is used by many teachers to introduce art to young students, and Ms. Shelly frequently gets calls from fabric artists or sculptors who want to dabble in paper.

"The craft is very flexible and expandable — 3-year-olds can do it with great success," Ms. Shelly said, putting the soggy red sheets between felt layers in a giant sandwich that was to be pressed and dried, then formed into valentines.

And as it becomes more accepted, it apparently becomes more marketable as art, said Ken Emerick of the Arts Council of Ohio. He had no statistics on paper art sales but said people who work in the medium tell him they are finding it easier to sell their products.

But Mrs. Clark believes the art form could die if it becomes too much the realm of artists who aren't devoting all their efforts to papermaking. Such a trend could overwhelm the public with an impression of handmade paper as a material in itself and ignore it as a material for other types of artists.

"It doesn't have to be soft, wimpy, gutless, bumpy, whatever. That doesn't have to be handmade paper," she said. "Handmade paper pulp, which can be two-dimensional, three-dimensional ... is just a medium. It's an extremely important medium, as important as paint, or pencils or pastels."

Fair has first woman president

Geraldine Posey was recently elected president of the Howard County Fair Association. Mrs. Posey is the first woman to serve as president of the fair, according to fair officials.

Other officers are George Weeks, vice president; Howard Armstrong, vice president; Lavern Gaskins, secretary; Skipper Driver, treasurer; and Arnold Marshall, chairman of the board. Smitty Smith is outgoing president of the fair.

Wayne Rock, who handles publicity for the fair association, said the 1985 fair will be held Sept. 16 through Sept. 21. The fair association is now recruiting volunteers to help with this year's fair.

This year, board members hope to bring "a nationally recognized name band" to the fair. "We're working on this now," Rock said.

New events planned for 1985 include an updated quilt competition, coordinated by Zula Rhodes. Winners will advance to the Texas State Fair in Dallas in October.

A shoe box size float contest will also be held. Contestants' entries will be displayed at the fair and the winner will advance to the Texas State Fair.

Dave Lammers is in charge of booth contracts and concession rights. He will be mailing out information on booth rental in the near future.

"We'd like the whole county to participate and make this a real successful year for Geraldine," Rock said.

Volunteers create chapel

By TINA STEFFEN
Lifestyle Editor

Hospital employees called it a "meditation room." It was to be used like a chapel, but its atmosphere often wasn't conducive for privacy.

Volunteers decided a real chapel was needed at Malone-Hogan Hospital, so they remodeled the meditation room into a chapel that patients' families could use when they needed privacy and some quiet time.

The meditation room was furnished like a sitting room with a few chairs, table, lamp and telephone. As a chapel, the room now has a lighted stained glass window, kneeling bench, altar rail and benches made by local craftsman Bill Brooks, in addition to the original re-upholstered furnishings and two six-foot silk trees.

In the future, a new door will be installed. It will have a stained glass window and bear the inscription "It is in Quiet Times we find ourselves." All this was provided by the volunteers at a cost of under $4,000. The hospital repainted the walls and installed carpet, and the room has dim lighting.

The Volunteer planning committee for a chapel headed up the planning and remodeling work. The committee was chaired by Helen Draper and Madeline Schwarz.

"Volunteers are more aware of the needs of the chapel than anyone besides the social workers. Volunteers more or less take care of the patients' families' needs," says Dorothy Blackwell, director of volunteers.

The volunteers wanted to create a chapel for two or three years, says Myrl Soles, president of the organization. The project was in the planning stages once, but the volunteers never went through with it even though they knew the need was there.

Volunteers operate the reception desk at the hospital's entrance across from the lobby. They often notice and visit with patients' families there and at other places in the hospital, which has made them aware of the families' needs.

The volunteers also operate the hospital gift shop and use the profits to purchase new equipment for the hospital. In April, they decided to designate up to $4,000 of the profits for the creation of the chapel. The project took about nine months of planning, waiting and working on the room to complete it.

"When there's someone really ill and families would like some quiet QUIET TIME — Malone-Hogan Volunteers recently completed the remodeling of the hospital's meditation room into a chapel, a place where patients' families could have some privacy. time, or a death, they can go in there. There's a phone they can use, and ministers can visit with them," said Mrs. Soles.

"(It's a) private place, when before when a death occurred, they would be in the corridor or hall where there was no privacy," said Mrs. Blackwell.

During the hospital's anniversary celebration and open house March 23, a ribbon cutting will officially open the chapel. Also at this time, Malone-Hogan Hospital will observe its 47th anniversary in Big Spring, its 10th anniversary of ownership under Hospital Corporation of America and its present location, and the 10th anniversary of the Malone-Hogan Volunteers organization.

them," she said. "My husband came home laughing about it."

"He was a great one to fix up family squabbles. He was a peacemaker," said Mrs. Merrick's sister, Mavis Hayes, who lives with her. "A man came in, saying his wife did so and so. His wife would say the man did so and so. And before you knew it, he would have it fixed up."

"He was a peacemaker," Mrs. Merrick said. She paused.

"He was widely respected all over the state. I got telegrams from the FBI, sheriffs and Congressman Mahon," Mrs. Merrick said. "When they had the funeral, 2,000 people came. (Commissioner) Pancho Nall told me there were 200 people standing outside on the sidewalk."

Mrs. Merrick said she never regretted her decision not to run, although she was asked to campaign.

"Several people tried to get me to run, but I told them it was not a woman's job," she said.

"There have been other sheriffs in West Texas since. A woman can handle it now. Forty years have passed; women just do a lot of things now (that) they didn't," Mrs. Merrick said.

Irish theme highlighted meeting

Shirley Shroyer, Toastmaster of the Day, reminded members about St. Patrick's Day during the Toastmasters Club meeting Monday at Holiday Inn. She told a few Irish sayings to the members and gave them a recipe for Irish Coffee.

Lee Henry was topic master. His word for the day was "verbose," which means using many words. Toastmaster responded to his questions about information referring to many Irish sayings.

Speakers for the meeting were: Diane Moses on "How to Build a Better Big Spring," and Dene Sheppard on "Age Old Problem." Trophy winners were: Ms. Moses, best speech; Adrian Bankowski, best bull slinger.

Guests were Terry McIntosh of Fitness Connection and Lola Sheppard. The Spring Conference will be in San Angelo on April 26-27. The next meeting will be Monday at 6:30 a.m. at Holiday Inn.

Overeating causes gout to flare-up

Overeating and drinking not only can add a few unwanted pounds, it also can cause a flare-up of gout.

It says attacks of gout can be brought on by eating rich foods or by drinking excessive amounts of alcohol. Nearly 2 million Americans, mostly men, are effected by this form of arthritis.

It is caused by a defect in the body's ability to metabolize uric acid. Eliminating or cutting down on the foods which produce excess uric acid — such as organ meats — may help to avoid a painful flair-up.

Car maintenance program presented at club meeting

A program on "Car Talk for Women" was presented to members of the Fairview Extension Homemakers Club at their meeting, March 5, in the home of Winifred Wood.

Bernice Micallef urged members to know their cars as well as they do members of their family and learn to listen to the sounds of their car engines. As one listens to different noises, power losses, funny squeaks and rattles, find out what it is. Any changes detected early may save the life of the motor, she said.

By knowing and observing the cars instrument panel, drivers will know that the lights and gauges are put there for a purpose, she said. Instructions were given on checking the motor oil, transmission fluid and brake fluid, as well as general maintenance.

The District Six meeting will be at Mentone, April 4. The next Leader Training meeting on "Making the Most of Space in Your Home" will be at the Howard County Library, Marcy 18. Howard County Extension Agent Naomi Hunt will present it. The next club meeting will be at the home of Inell Smauley, March 26.

Lifestyle guidelines

We will be pleased to announce the news of your engagement, wedding, silver or golden anniversary in the Lifestyle section of the Big Spring Herald. We try to use the story on the date you request, but sometimes space does not permit this. The information must be submitted to us on a form available at the Herald no later than Wednesday noon before the Sunday it is to be published. The form must include a name and telephone number of a person whom we can reach during the day for more information. We will use a picture of the couple in the announcement. Or in the case of engagement announcements where a picture of the couple is not available, we will use one of the bride-elect. The picture must be a professional quality studio photograph. We prefer a 5 x 7 glossy black and white print. We ask for this kind of photograph so that it will reproduce well in the newspaper. Following the picture's publication, it may be picked up at the Lifestyle department. The information for the story may be brought to the Lifestyle department of the Herald, which is located at 710 Scurry. Or it may be mailed to Lifestyle Department, Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 1431, Big Spring, Texas 79720. Call us at (915) 263-7331 if we can help with more information or clarification of our policies.

ENGAGEMENTS
Information of engagement announcements must be submitted to the Lifestyle department of the Herald anytime after the engagement is a reality until at least three weeks prior to the wedding. Anything closer than three weeks will not be published. The engagement form must be submitted no later than Wednesday noon prior to the Sunday it is to be published.

If the bride-elect, prospective bridegroom or their parents do not now or have never lived in our area, we need to know why you are submitting your engagement to the Herald. If only grandparents live in our area, please give their names and addresses.

WEDDINGS
If a wedding writeup is submitted to the Herald

after the wedding has occurred, the space allotted to it will diminish according to the length of time that has passed since the wedding.

Local hospitals supply information for Storkclub. If a child is born elsewhere in the newspaper's circulation area, or is born to out-of-town parents with local or area grandparents, please contact the Herald Lifestyle Department with Storkclub information.

Information needed for Storkclub is: newborn's name, sex, time and date of birth, weight, place of birth, parents' name and address. If the baby is born outside the circulation area but has local grandparents, please include their name and address. The local grandparents serve as the area connection for the information.

Cowpokes excerpt is about advice

"Three Men and Gold and Good Advice" was the program topic Mary Arnold Hefley presented during the Past Matrons Club meeting at Herman's Restaurant, Tuesday. The club is associated with the Big Spring Chapter No. 67, Order of the Eastern Star.

During the program, Mrs. Hefley read excerpts from Ace Reid's "Cowpokes," published by Eakin Publications in 1981. Reid, cartoonist, humorist and author, lives on his Draggins Ranch with his wife, horse Rojo and his longhorns at Kerville.

"Advice is something that anybody can get and hardly anybody can follow," Reid says. "Which reminds me of the three old boys who left their wives and went West, stayed a year and started back home with a bag of gold apiece."

"One night, a hungry, old man rode into their camp and they shared their supper with him. In exchange, the old man gave them three pieces of advice: always stop at sundown and never travel at night; never try to cross a flooded river; never confide in a woman."

Mrs. Hefley told how one man used this advice. "The next day, the travelers came to a town and had a good supper. Afterwards, since there was some sunlight left, two of them headed for a mountain top. But the third, remembering the old man, stayed in town. During the night, a blue norther blew up and the next morning, the gold digger found his two buddies frozen to death. He took their gold and headed home."

"The norther had stirred up a bunch of rain and the rivers were running high. The gold digger halted at the first flooded river. Along came some more prospectors, hauling a wagon full of gold. They were impatient and rigged up a rope across the river and started to float the wagon across on a raft. They invited the lonely gold digger to go with them. But he declined, remembering the old man, and watched the raft swamp and the men drown.

"After a spell, the river went down and the gold digger swam across, found the wagon, still filled with gold, went into town and hired a team and a wagon. Then, he took the wagon home to his pretty and patient wife. She was real happy with the gold, but wanted to know where it came from. He wouldn't tell her because he could still remember the old man. Then the wife got her two out-of-town sisters to come live with them and all three women worked on the old boy. He stayed silent until the two sisters got him loaded on beer. And then, he told all.

The sisters accused him of murdering all the other men for their gold and the jury figured he was guilty because he would never tell anybody. So they hung him. And the three sisters divided all the gold."

Mrs. Hefley added, "All that this proves is this: If you can't follow advice, don't drink beer. If you do drink beer, don't talk to women. And, if you've got a wagon full of gold, don't get married to a girl with sisters!"

Q.: It appears we may have to move to another town because of an impending promotion. A broker heard about our situation, called and asked for a listing. What is this?

A.: When it is definite you are going to move you should call and enter into a listing agreement with a real estate broker. A listing is an arrangement of employment between you and the broker. The broker becomes your agent in selling your home. As the "employer" of the broker, you are known as the principal. The listing states, among other things, that the broker will work for you and on your behalf. In return for these services, you will pay the broker a specific commission when he produces someone willing and able to buy the property at your stated price and other specifics.

Dr. Porter

Can you imagine war ever having positive results? Those of you who are economists would say, "Yes, war induces industry," those of you who are scientists would say, yes, also "Great strides have been made in research through practice during war", and those of you who visit Dr. Porter would say yes, too. Dr. Porter never would have become a doctor. Yes, the army and their program is responsible for M.A. Porter becoming a doctor.

Dr. Porter, originally of Kansas, has been in Big Spring since 1959, specializing in Obstetrics-Gynecology. He's seen a few changes over the years, most notably, the presence of fathers in the delivery room. Nowadays, it is uncommon for an expectant father NOT to witness the birth of his child, but as late as 10 years ago, the opposite was true. Dr. Porter feels that this is positive, as it brings the family unit closer, unless, of course, the father is unwilling. He has seen a few squishy daddys in his day.

One topic that especially excites Dr. Porter is vitamins, for everyone, but especially for expectant women and new mothers. He recommends a proper diet and vitamins for women before, during, and after pregnancy. There is data to support his theory that vitamins can alleviate postnatal depression. This is one subject that you can depend Dr. Porter will stay on top of.

This doctor is not all business and no play, he's quite an outdoorsman. His hobbies include snow skiing, scuba diving, (he was the oldest student in his class!), and flying, (over 600 hours). He is also a member of the Malone-Hogan Hospital Board, the Presbyterian Church, and Rotary Club.

Dr. Porter came to Big Spring because of the opportunities available to doctors here. He is particularly happy at Malone-Hogan Clinic because their arrangement allows a doctor to be free of administrative and accounting duties and spend more quality time with the patient.

When asked what he would have been if he hadn't become a doctor, he answered, "I've never thought about it." Enough said.

Dr. Donohue

Strength plus skill equals success

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: As a trainer, I enjoy your column on sports medicine. You have written of the values of specificity training, and I agree it is important. But one should not forget the equal importance of general body training along with the specificity. The boxer whose training was limited to punching a bag or sparring (specificity) would end up being a great puncher, but would he have the total body strength to make his punches meaningful or to sustain the force of the opponent's punches? — J.D.

Indeed, you are correct, and I hope my comments were not interpreted to mean that specificity of training is the only important kind. As one training authority put it a few years ago: having the skill does not confer the needed strength any more than having the strength can convey the necessary skill.

The Soviets have put this idea to work in their training of world class athletes. They insist that athletes have three or four months of general strength and agility training, a phase followed by a gradual emphasis on specificity (the movements and skills required in the particular sport).

Football trainers realize the principle: The football guard's job is to stop the assault of opposing counterparts. No matter how much weight the guard can bench press, he still needs total body conditioning in order to put his strength to use. The Soviet trainers call the dual emphasis, "coupled effect."

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Please help me. I have tremendous pain in my heel. Nothing seems to help. I have been told I have fasciitis. Even when I get up to walk after sitting or lying for awhile, I feel the pain. — H.S.H.

The plantar fascia is a wide band of dense tissue that runs from the bottom of the heel forward to the toes. It stabilizes the feet when you walk. Inflammation of this fascia is fasciitis. Plantar fasciitis is named for the part of the foot affected — the plantar (sole). The problem is especially dangerous for runners.

The first stage of treatment is rest and use of anti-inflammation medicines, like aspirin. The second stage is protection of the heel from further trauma. Heel doughnuts, arch supports, heel lifts, all have been recommended and are useful. Sometimes, cortisone injections can be tried.

Once you have recovered from this painful condition, and before you resume your activities, have a doctor check out the anatomy of your feet to see if you need special permanent inserts for your running shoes.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Tidbits

Calderon's interpretation impressive

By TINA STEFFEN
Lifestyle Editor

If you missed the Big Spring Symphony's concert, March 9, you missed a beautiful performance by both the symphony and its guest JAVIER CALDERON. The symphony was under the direction of conductor MARIANNA GABBI of Las Cruces, N.M.

Calderon is an acclaimed classical guitar soloist who has performed extensively in the United States, South America, Europe and Asia. He performed the Concierto de Aranjuez for Guitar and Orchestra: I. Allegro con spirito, II. Adagio, and III. Allegro gentile.

The Spanish music, composed by JOAQUIN RODRIGO, is beautiful with its picturesque qualities that Calderon expressed so well. As one critic wrote about this composition, "The guitar boldly acts as an opposing voice to the orchestra. At all times the guitar is the soloist and the orchestra provides a fine contrast in its transparent and constant sparkle."

I enjoyed it as did most everyone attending. Many Odessans and Midlanders were in the audience in addition to local residents.

Local artists and art patrons will have the opportunity to see a demonstration by VICKY CLARK of Seminole Tuesday evening at Howard College Art Building. She will demonstrate in the pastel medium for Big Spring Art Association members and their guests. Miss Clark has won many awards throughout the state, has exhibited her work at shows in the Cowgirl Hall of Fame and has participated in the Texas Women's Western Artists shows.

CAROL GAUER'S Signal class at Goliad raised about $70 and decided to donate it to the Red Cross fund for its Ethiopian Relief Program, says MARIANNE BROWN, executive director of the local Red Cross chapter. The Howard-Glasscock Chapter of American Red Cross has sent a total of $2,160 to the Ethiopian Relief Program.

The RUSS MCEWENS, CRAIG KNOCKE and the LOYD UNDERWOODS spent spring break in Keystone, Colo., skiing. I also heard the TOMMY MCCANNIS and the DAVE DUNCANS were there too.

EDNA LERMA, a junior at Big Spring High School, and her aunt, INEZ MONTANEZ, took a spring break trip to Dallas. They visited relatives there and spent some time at Six Flags Over Texas. Edna is the daughter of MR. AND MRS. MARCOS LERMA, 207 N. Austin.
