Wreck victim dies after hospital release

By SCOTT FITZGERALD and KEELY COGHLAN Staff Writers

A man who died Sunday morning from internal injuries suffered in a one-car rollover was initially released from Malone-Hogan Hospital after treatment for what were thought to be minor injuries, authorities said today

Randy Robertson, 34, of 1109 Runnels was declared dead on arrival at 12:26 a.m. at the hospital, four hours after he was released from the emergency room after being treated for superficial wounds, according to Justice of the Peace China Long.

Mrs. Long ruled death was due to severe internal injuries. She based her ruling on a autopsy report by pathologist Dr. Robert

"It was an accidental death," Mrs. Long said. "The way Dr. Rember explained it, the blood supply to his back was severed. It was the type of thing that didn't show up on X-rays at the time. In essence, he bled to death internally."

"Rember indicated to me that even if they had discovered this at the (first) time he was at the hospital, they probably couldn't have saved his life even if they'd taken action then," Mrs. Long said.

She ordered the autopsy Sunday because of what she called "the strange circumstances surrounding the cause of Hospital staff had observed Robertson for 11/2 hours before the emergency room physician released him around 8 p.m., she said.

"He had stable vital signs. He was walking around and everything," said an emergency room nurse. The nurse said she was working in the emergency room at the time, but that she was not present all the time Robertson was there.

Robertson was taken to the hospital by Shaffer Ambulance immediately following the accident at 5:50 p.m. Saturday. He underwent X-rays and received stitches for a "small laceration" on his forehead, according to the hospital spokeswoman.

He refused to take a blood test requested by a law enforcement officer, according to both the hospital spokeswoman and Mrs. Long. Department of Public Safety Trooper Bill Jennings had requested the test to be used to determine whether there was alcohol in the blood.

The hospital did not take a blood sample for their use either, said the spokeswoman. "We only take them for medical purposes, if it will help in the treatment of the person," she said.

Shaffer Ambulance was called to the Robertson home to transport him to the hospital four hours after his release. Mrs. Long declared him dead on arrival.

According to the DPS office in Midland, Robertson was traveling west on the north service road of I-20 when the accident occurred. He crossed the east-bound lane of the service road and then drove his Chevrolet into the median between I-20 and the service road where the car overturned, the spokesman said.

Robertson was alone in the car, according to DPS reports.

Graveside services for Robertson will be at 4 p.m. Monday at the Colorado City Cemetary with the Rev. Ben Neel of the Vincent Baptist Church officiating.

Robertson was born June 23, 1950, in Colorado City. He moved to Coahoma in 1963, and married Patty Robertson on Nov. 29, 1972, in Big Spring.

Equalization

Taking from the rich and giving to the poor

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau AUSTIN - Last year, the Petrolia Independent School District could hardly meet its payroll. This year, the district gave teachers a hefty raise and is offering new courses

One of the major reasons for the turnaround in this North Texas school district, said Superintendent Troy Bratcher, was the new funding formula adopted last summer to help tax-poor districts raise academic standards.

Because of the increased state funding, Petrolia students, like many others from poor districts all classes in physics, chemistry and smaller classes from kindergarten through 12th grade, Bratcher said.

over the state, can now attend Spanish. The district is able to offer "Without question, increased state funding was a big help. When I arrived here a year and a half ago, I had to lay off 13 teachers, close the elementary lunch room and stop bus routes because of our tion provided to TEA by all but financial problems. We couldn't even meet our payroll," Bratcher said.

The district also instituted costsaving measures to pull out of its financial tailspin, he said. But funding changes made the biggest difference, Bratcher said. The Petrolia district, whose state allotment rose 66.84 percent to $2,831 per student, was one of many school districts throughout the state with a low tax base that. received help from equalization, according to a recent report from the Texas Education Agency.

The report, compiled by Lynn Moak, a consultant for the agency, indicates 151 of the poorest districts in the state received a 44 percent increase in their per-pupil state funding over last year while 151 of the wealthiest districts received a 25 percent decrease in state funding. The report is based on informa-seven of the state's school districts. Because of the increased state allotments, these poorer districts were able to raise teacher salaries by an average of 18.5 percent, while statewide average salaries rose only 12 percent, the report indicated. In addition, beginning teacher salaries were raised 34 percent at the poorest districts while the statewide average for beginning teachers rose only 23 percent, according to the TEA-sponsored

The study also showed that 151 of the poorest districts increased local tax levies by almost 10 percent after the school reform measure was adopted, while the statewide average for tax increases was 15 percent.

Sens. Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls, Carlos Truan, D-Corpus Christi and Chet Edwards, D-Duncanville are three boosters of

Have drill will travel

Traveling dentist takes root-canal work on the road

CHICAGO (AP) — Dr. Joseph Ryne has filled cavities at the kit-chen table, done root-canal work in the living room and performed bed-side oral surgery. It's all part of his portable practice that brings den-tistry to the homebound. Ryne, 33, of suburban Hinsdale, makes house calls to the elderly, handicapped and others for whom a trip to the dentist is more than just an inconvenience.

With the help of a dental assistant, Ryne carts around his minioffice - a black bag filled with dental tools and supplies, and a 5-pound air compressor that powers two drills.

Ryne says dentists don't like the term drill — "it brings up Black-and-Decker images" — preferring to call them "handpieces." Ryne said the equipment fits neatly in the back seat of his car and is easily assembled. "This is a pioneering-type science. There are no textbooks on portable dentistry, he said. There are about 250 dentists who make house calls in the Chicago area, he said, but he predicts the practice will increase as the population ages

Because every home is different, "we improvise a lot," Ryne said. "When they (patients) call, we try to see if they can set up a card table, have us work near a window, use flashlights or goose-neck

Lillian Clubb, 66, recalled a recent visit from Ryne, who has filled and cleaned her husband's teeth. Robert Clubb, 71, is a stroke

LOS ANGELES - Gasoline prices, which bottomed out in recent weeks, continued a steady rise nationwide and average about three cents per gallon more than a month ago, oil industry analyst Dan Lundberg said.

The result is higher prices at the pump, and a sellers' market for crude oil, he said. Lundberg's weekly survey of 17,000 service stations showed the average price for all grades of gasoline was $1.169 Friday, upslightly more than three cents from the

NEW YORK — A lawyer for Bernhard Goetz says his client will appear before a grand jury Tuesday — not today — despite a grand jury's refusal earlier to delay his testimony in the subway shootings of four Defense attorney Barry Slotnick said until Sunday, he and another defense lawyer, Joseph Kelner, thought Goetz would not be able to testify until Friday because they were tied up in trials involving other clients.

But Slotnick called WCBS-TV during the live "Newsmakers" program, which featured an interview with Kelner, to say he would appear Tuesday with Goetz because Manhattan District Attorney intervened to free him for one day from a previous trial commitment.

Today's session is expected to be taken up by testimony from Goetz' neighbor, Myra Friedman, who was subpoenaed Friday to testify about a phone conversation with Goetz that she taped two days before his surrender Dec. 31 to police in Concord, N. H.

White House launches MX missile campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) - As the House nears two crucial votes on the MX missile this week. Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. says the White House is "pulling out every stop" to gain final congressional approval for the long-range strategic weapon. Supporters and opponents agree that the two MX votes, on Tuesday and Thursday, will be extremely "It's a half dozen (votes) one way or the other,"

O'Neill, D-Mass, said in a weekend interview. The Senate gave its approval for the MX in twin 55-45

A handful of freshman House members who have never voted in the decade-old fight over the MX, a few Republicans and some veteran Democrats influenced by Les Aspin, D-Wis., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, will decide the outcome, according to congressional sources on both sides of the issue. Aspin, a Pentagon critic through most of his House career, now supports the production of a limited number of MXs as necessary for the success of the Geneva arms control talks between the United States and the Soviet Union.

That argument is put forth by President Reagan. who called home his chief arms control negotiator, Max Kampelman, for last-minute lobbying. Kampelman, a Democrat, is meeting with Democratic House members on Monday to emphasize the presi-

"That vote is very, very close," White House Chief of Staff Donald Regan said on NBC television's "Meet the Press" Sunday. "The reason is that the House leadership, although they said it was not going to be partisan issue, started lobbying against the MX and that has made our job a lot more difficult in corraling the Democratic support that we need to go with the Republicans in the House.

In a related development, The New York Times reported in its Monday editions that a group of 23 House Democrats has sent a private letter to Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev warning that Moscow must comply with existing arms treaties or risk 'serious consequences for the future of arms control.'

The most pointed reference in the letter, the newspaper said, was to a massive radar facility under construction near Krasnoyarsk in central Siberia, which Reagan administration officials contend violates the 1972 Anti-Ballistic Missile Treaty.

It said signers of the letter include Aspin as well as Reps. Dante B. Fascell of Florida, chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee; and Joseph P. Addabbo of New York, chairman of the Appropriations defense subcommittee. The letter was delivered to the Soviet Embassy on Friday, the Times said.

Some MX opponents in the House say privately they believe that Reagan would have suffered a major congressional defeat if Aspin had decided the weapon was

Cops lead black funeral

UITENHAGE, South Africa - Police in helicopters and armored cars hurried a convoy of thousands of jeering blacks through a whites-only district after the blacks attended a funeral for victims of race riots.

Uniformed police and reservists at almost every street corner Sunday made sure the cars did not stop.

Blacks shouted, "We're going to get you, whitey!" but there was no violence in spite of the highly emotional atmosphere surrounding the police killing of 19 blacks in the same area

Smoldering houses filled the air with smoke after overnight clashes with police in which three people died, raising to 29 the number of blacks killed since last Thursday, according to authorities on Sunday.

Mono Badela, a reporter for the Johannesburg-based black newspaper, City Press, said at least 25,000 blacks attended Sunday's funeral, on a large open square in the black township of Kwanobuhle.

BEIRUT, Lebanon - Sheik Mohammed Hussein Fadlallah, a Shiite Moslem cleric with reported links to the mysterious Hezbollah radical movement, has issued a statement denouncing kidnapping.

Iraqi jet fighters raid Tehran

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) - Iraq said its jet fighters raided the Iranian city of Kashan and Iran's capital Tehran today. The raids came shortly after a mysterious explosion in Baghdad, which Iran said was the result of a missile attack.

An Iraqi military spokesman, who read a statement on state radio, said the Iraqi warplanes "returned safely after scoring accurate and effective hits on the selected targets."

He said the attacks were in response to "the attack on Baghdad and other Iraqi cities," but he said nothing about the explosion or Iran's claim that it had hit the Iraqi capital with a missile.

Iran's official Islamic Republic News Agency, monitored in London, said that an Iranian missile was fired at Baghdad in response to attacks on Iranian cities and ships headed for Iran's Kharg Island oil terminal on the northern end of the Persian Gulf.

The news agency also reported violations by Iraq of Iranian airspace near Tehran and Hamadan early today, but provided no details.

The blast in Baghdad, the fifth in 11 days, was heard shortly before 4 a.m., but no details were available about its cause or location.

Reporters who drove into the downtown commercial sector could not locate any damage.

Residents reached by telephone in various Baghdad neighborhoods said they heard the blast, but did not know where it had occurred.

Previous explosions were reported at a government-owned bank in downtown Baghdad, an area two blocks away from President Saddam Hussein's compound, a Foreign Ministry building, and a building next to the headquarters of Hussein's Baath Party.

Iraq said the first two explosions were caused by bombs planted by Iranian agents, but said nothing about the next two.

Foreign diplomats in Baghdad, speaking on condition they not be identified, said Iran had obtained at least six Soviet-made Scud-B missiles from Libya. The missile carries one ton of explosives and has a range of about 180 miles. Baghdad is 75 miles from the Iranian border.

The Iragis have similar missiles, as well as longer-range Sovietmade SS-12s, capable of reaching Tehran, according to foreign militar y analysts in Baghdad.

Iraq said it would respond "with devastating blows" to use of weapons provided Iran by Libya and Syria, the two Arab countries that have sided openly with Iran in the 41/2-year-old war. On Sunday, Iraq said it hit two oil tankers in the Persian Gulf, and it vowed "strike deep into Iran until the Tehran rulers accept peace."

Iraq's announcement came the day after Iran declared that it was ceasing air and missile attacks against Iraqi towns because Iraq had stopped raiding Iranian towns.

Bahrain-based marine salvage executives confirmed Iraqi warplanes had raided the 50,904-ton Maltese-registered tanker Eastern Star on Sunday near Iran's Bushehr port. The executives spoke on condition they not be identified.

The Italian shipping company Flotta Lauro reported in Naples that its 250,000-ton supertanker Volere was hit 37 miles off Kharg Island, sustaining extensive damage to the prow.

A new balance on offshore oil

The new interior secretary, Donald P. Hodel, may be taking a fresh approach to offshore oil exploration.

In an interview with The New York Times, Hodel said he intends to reduce the scope of federal offshore oil leasing. Reductions would include eliminating tracts which are environmentally sensitive and which are needed for military operations. The purpose of the reduction would be to reduce 'hostility" to offshore leasing and encourage Congress to drop its moratorium on leasing tracts within 20 miles of the coasts. We support that moratorium. But we are curious to hear Hodel's proposal.

We must recognize the need to explore for oil in areas off our coasts. But the federal government must recognize the legitimate rights of coastal communities to protect their environments and their economies. We will fight for those interests. But we prefer a climate of reasonable discussion, where competing interests resolve their differences through Contentiousness was the hallmark of James Watt's tenure at Interior. Watt announced he would open up a billion acres of offshore lands for oil exploration and accused people who resisted his grandiose plan of being unpatriotic. Environmentalists responded to Watt's venomous attacks in kind, poisoning the air. Congress had no choice but to step in and protect, the environmentally sensitive areas with a moratorium on drilling. Watt's successor, William Clark, reduced the level of tension by delaying some of the oil leasing programs. But Congress extended the moratorium. Now Hodel is apparently seeking a new direction.

America needs all the domestic energy it can get. But protecting the environment and the military waters are vital to any oil leasing program. We hope Hodel, coastal communities and Congress can achieve a balance of interests through

Wiretaps were known early

WASHINGTON - The case which finally precipitated the resignation of Secretary of Labor Ray Donovan rests on wiretaps of a well-known Mafia hoodlum begun by the FBI in 1979. Damning parts of the evidence were known at Bureau headquarters — and in the White House - prior to Senate confirmation of Donovan in 1981.

So an important question is why that material was suppressed for so long. Was there a deliberate role of the Reagan White House?

The crime for which Donovan was indicted involves alleged fraud and grand larceny by his firm, the Schiavone Construction Co., of Secaucus, N.J., and a subcontractor, Jopel Contracting and Trucking Co. The two worked together on a federally funded contract for construction of a subway in New York worth $186 million. Jopel came into the deal as a Minority Business Enterprise, entitled under federal law to certain privileges. But Jopel was run by a Mafia hood, William Masselli. The FBI had been wiretapping Masselli since Jan. 5,

The wiretaps were not available to the Senate confirmation hearings, and the most damaging material was kept secret through numerous other investigations of Donovan. It surfaced only after Donovan and others were indicted last fall at the request of the Bronx district attorney. Donovan's lawyers moved to dismiss the indictment. In contesting dismissal, the Bronx D.A.'s office provided papers to Judge John Collins which summarized, and in some cases quoted directly from, the FBI record. Here are some samples of what the Bureau had accumulated prior to Feb. 5, 1981, when Donovan was confirmed by the Senate. Exhibit A is a telex dated Jan. 10, 1981, from the New York office of the FBI to Washington headquarters. The telex asserted that the wiretaps showed that Masselli "maintained a very close personal relationship with the Schiavone Construction Co. and its upper management executives. Their relationship included social engagements and frequent business contacts. Business agreements included preferential treatment on subcontracting projects ... and various other possibly fraudulent schemes to raise federally required minority participation levels in urban mass transit projects." At the end of the telex was a request for authorization to have "experienced .. and knowledgeable" FBI agents from the New York office interview Donovan.

On Jan. 12, the gist of the telex was made known to the White House counsel, Fred Fielding, by Anthony Adamski Jr. the FBI ofcoverup? And, if so, what was the ficial in charge of nominee investigations. Fielding was asked whether he wanted Donovan interviewed concerning the allegations in the Jan. 10 telex. According to the FBI records, "Mr. Fielding stated he did not wish Mr. Donovan interviewed by Bureau agents at this time, because it would serve no purpose since there was no specific allegation of criminal misconduct.

Exhibit B is a summary by the Bronx D.A.'s office of a court affidavit filed by an FBI agent, Benjamin Purser Jr., on Jan. 23, 1979, to justify extension of the courtordered wiretap on Masselli. The summary said that the tap had produced evidence of 29 criminal ac-

Exhibit C consists of material taken from a Jan. 23, 1979, wiretap of conversations between Masselli and another construction company head named Joseph Ippolito. In one conversation, Masselli describes how Schiavone funneled subcontracting business to him as a Minority Business Enterprise. "I gotta relationship with Schiavone second to none," Masselli says. "They wanna do everything with us, with me, we got a little connection with them people in Jersey. Whatever they could give me we're gonna have. He says, look we want a mmillion dollars worth of equipment. Here's first crack at it. They gotta give 10 per cent, 18 million dollars away ... now they could write that off, they say they given it to us they given it to a minority and that helps them...'

On the basis of that kind of evidence Judge Collins ordered Donovan to stand trial. Now a jury will decide his guilt or innocence. But that such damning material could be deliberately withheld from the Senate confirmation hearings smacks of a coverup.

U.S. may have funded murder

WASHINGTON - The Pentagon is secretly investigating the disturbing possibility that dozens of suspected leftists were murdered by Honduran military officers in a U.S.-funded program.

sources in Tegucigalpa told my associate Jon Lee Anderson there is no evidence that U.S. officials were aware of the executions. In fact, Honduran sources emphasized that Americans involved in the program were deliberately kept in the dark. That is one of the questions being pursued by the Defense Department.

The U.S.-funded program was supposed to curb the flow of arms from the Sandinista regime in Nicaragua to leftist rebels in El Salvador. As such, the program was related to the CIA-run covert operation begun in 1981 to support the anti-Sandinista contras. "Arms interdiction" was the justification the Reagan administration gave when it persuaded Congress to put up the original $19 million for the secret war in Nicaragua.

Unlike the CIA's clandestine operations, the U.S. aid to the Honduran government was aboveboard. The need to prevent "export of armed subversion" by Nicaragua has repeatedly been cited by the White House to explain the massive U.S. military presence

A reliable source in Tegucigalpa said there have been several cases of suspected leftists who had 'disappeared'' after detention by Honduran officers

One source said that in the last month the Defense Department's investigation has focused on charges that the Special Operations Command, an elite Honduran counterinsurgency force, was "involved in some of the disappearances.'

Another source, a former special-operations member, told my associate that the outfit also operated "safe-houses" of its own, where it conducted interrogations of suspected leftists. Some of those arrested by the unit for interrogation "later ended up under earth," the source said

In addition, this Honduran source said, the Special Operations Command trained and equipped some private, anti-communist paramilitary squads that operated on their own. "They did some of our dirty work for us," the former COE agent said.

The former COE man emphatically absolved U.S. military advisers of complicity in the disappearances of suspected leftists. Though the

Today

By The Associated Press Today is Monday, March 25, the 84th day of 1985. There are 281 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

One March 25, 1965, the Reverend Martin Luther King Jr. led 25,000 marchers to the state Capitol in Montgomery, Ala., to protest the denial of voting rights to blacks. That same day, civil rights worker Viola Liuzzo of Detroit was shot to death while driving to Montgomery.

Thought for today: "Innocence is ignorance where you're not getting caught." - John Guare, American playwright.

Americans sometimes joined in the interrogations, he said, they were intentionally kept ignorant of the illegal executions

'Our officers don't trust the Americans," he explained. The ex-agent implied that the Hondurans feared that if the American officers learned the truth about the executions, they would feel compelled to report them to the Pentagon - and then it would leak to Congress and the press, and U.S. funds for the Honduran military would be endangered.

Most observers on the scene agree that the armsinterdiction program in Honduras has succeeded. As early as 1982, sources said, the arms shipments to Salvadoran rebels through Honduras had shrunk to a trickle. This would explain why the Reagan administration has changed its strategy and now demands that the Sandinistas cry "uncle!"

The arms-interdiction justification may no longer treaty concede that the prospects of Senate ratification are better than they've ever been. President Reagan, like every chief executive since 1950 - except Dwight Eisenhower - has endorsed the treaty. (Eisenhower held off to avoid inflaming right-wing elements.)

The opposition now, led by Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., will insist on reservations or amendments before approving the treaty.

"Our main objection is that the treaty as it stands gives compulsory jurisdiction to the World Court over the Sovereignty of the United States," Helms aide Dr. James Lucier told my reporter Mark

Critics of the treaty have raised the possibility that the World Court could supplant the Constitution by forcing the United States to go to war with a nation that has been found by the international tribunal to have engaged in genocide. They have also expressed concern that American soldiers — or even police officers - could be hauled before the World Court simply on a complaint that they were racially or ethnically motivated in the exercise of their duties.

But proponents, led by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., point out that other nations have ratified the convention, with reservations. Proxmire says:

"It is a human rights treaty... designed to ensure that all nations, consistent with their own constitutions, will do everything possible to prevent and punish criminals who attempt to commit the most heinous crime - the elimination of an entire national, ethnic, racial or religious group.

Sen. Richard Lugar, R-Ind., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, also supports the treaty. Chances are good that it will finally pass with modifications.

Just dying to see dust

By CHARLIE ALCORN When I came to Big Spring at the tail end of 1984, one of the first warnings that I received about life in Big Spring was about the awful Spring sand storms that annually scour this part of West Texas.

In fact I heard so many horror stories about the rolling clouds of dust that reportedly sandblast every square inch of Big Spring, that I had my house weather stripped for the first time in its fifty year history. I was determined not to wake up one morning with an extra blanket of dust.

So where is the dust?

Not that I'm really looking foward to feasting on a mouthful of tasty Texas silicon, but I would at least like to get a little grit in my teeth. Just so I can report back to the folks back in the South Texas Crossroads (Victoria) that one really doesn't live until eating a big, thick, steaming bowl of Big Spring dust.

I know that all you Big Spring natives are right in thinking that I'm crazy about wishing for a dust storm, but I am a hopeless romantic when it comes to the lore of West Texas. I've always wanted to live out here and now that my wish has been granted, I want to experience all the infamous elements that have etched places like Big Spring into everybody's Texas memory bank. When I was at school in Virginia or whenever I have met people abroad, oftentimes the first question people would ask was what it was like living in a place without trees. I always hated to disappoint them, but I had to admit that Victoria had much the same climate as Indonesia, and dense vegetation that a rubber tree would feel right at home in. "No, really," amateur geographers would screech: "I thought Texas was one big desert.' Now when people inquire about living in the desert, I can honestly say it's great. "Yeah, I don't have a blade of grass in my front yard. It's a big sandbox. I catch kids playing in it all the time." Who cares that my front yard is about 10 feet square and serves as the grit depository for the street cleaners on Highway 87. People like to hear about dirt when you describe Texas landscaping, not Bermuda grass.

So please forgive me until the first dust storm of 1985 arrives. Then you can laugh when a sandblinded semi drives through my

To the editor:

After exhausting every avenue to land a job here in Big Spring, I find that, that bumper sticker "Your best bet, hire the vet" doesn't mean much to Texas Employment Commission, or to local employers I've contacted.

I served a four year hitch in the service (21/2 years in Vietnam). I believe I can speak for the other veterans as well. We don't want sympathy, or a pat on the back. We want jobs

I am very disappointed not being able to find a job. I'm a single parent with custody of three. I have come to the conclusion that being a Vietnam veteran and 50 cents will buy me a cup of coffee. Thanks for letting me get this off my chest. JOHN B. GUTIERREZ

Los Angeles firefighters walk amid the rubble from an apparent natural gas explosion Sunday afternoon in the Mysterious gas blast rips through LA store

LOS ANGELES (AP) - A mysterious gas possibly produced by abandoned oil wells triggered an explosion that ripped through a clothing store, injuring 21 people, shattering windows and sending flames leapng through sidewalk cracks, officials said.

Two of the injured were reported in critical

In addition, fire department spokesman Ed Reed said at least one employee at the shattered Ross Dress-for-Less store was unaccounted for after the 5 p.m. blast Sunday.

'There's a possibility there are more victims in there," Reed said.

Gas seeping through the ground fueled flames that danced several inches high along the sidewalks on two sides of the demolished building, sometimes leaping several feet into the air through cracks and

Firefighters shut off mains that could possibly be fueling the fires and concern grew that an underground pocket of gas or abandoned well was ding the store were evacuated as officials feared more explosions.

"There was debris a mile in the air, it seemed," said Kim Canada, who works at Mordigan Nursery Inc. across the street from Ross.

The explosion blew the front off the Ross store, shattered windows up to a block away and cracked the pavement around the store.

Jim Radcliffe, division manager for Southern California Gas Co., said: "What we have found just recently in our preliminary lab reports is that it is not our gas," but it wasn't precisely known what kind of gas it was.

"The way it's burning, it appears to be a methanebased gas," he said.

Abandoned oil wells in the area may have produc-

"We have in our experience that those wells have leaked (in the past)," he said.

Fumes were also detected in a K mart store across the street, and fire officials vented both stores with spark-free blowers, Reed said.

Ball of fire' puzzles Tennessee authorities

By The Associated Press

A lightning-quick "ball of fire" streaked across the Southeastern night sky "brighter and bigger than a shooting star," but authorities were at a loss to explain it.

"I saw it fall from the sky," said Tennessee Highway patrolman Harold Munger, who said he was about 10 miles east of Chattanooga when he spotted a bright flying object overhead around 8 p.m. Sunday.

"It appeared to be a ball of fire and seemed much brighter and bigger than a shooting star," Munger said. "It had fire streaming from behind it. My concern at first was that it might have been an aircraft in trouble.

"It hit the horizon and went behind a mountain in front of me. I didn't see an explosion or anything. It just disappeared," he said.

Munger said the fireball "appeared to be moving real low and was real bright," but said no injuries from falling debris had been reported.

In Washington, Federal Aviation Administration spokesman Dennis Feldman said air traffic controllers reported sighting a fireball as far north as Chattanooga, Tenn., and as far south as Orlando, Fla.

However, people as far north as southern Illinois also reported seeing bright lights in the sky.

"FAA air traffic controllers at our Jacksonville (Fla.) center and the Atlanta center have received reports from pilots about this so-called fireball, but as far as we know it was not an airplane," Feldman said.

"We have no idea what it was - this is all fragmentary information," he said, adding that no aviation accidents had been reported.

In Huntsville, Ala., an FAA spokesman said pilots passing over north Alabama reported witnessing a "sudden flash" that caused static on their radios.

"Three pilots reported seeing a streak of light that changed from red to green to orange," said Ken King, the FAA supervisor at the Huntsville Jetplex, adding that such color changes are typical of a meteor.

In Atlanta, FAA duty officer John Whiteside said pilots "saw flames coming out from around

"Even experienced people are totally amazed at the size, and the fact that it came straight down rather than at an angle."

Based on pilots' reports, National Weather Service meteorologist Howard Bookman, at the FAA's air traffic control center in Hampton, Ga., said the object was probably a meteor that entered the Earth's atmosphere in the Cherokee-Forsyth County area about 50 miles northeast of Cmdr. William Ranzinger, a duty officer at the North American Air Defense Command's Cheyenne Mountain complex in Colorado, said, "There is a possibility it could have been some meteor showers.'

"We did have a window for meteor showers for around the 20th of March, and this could have been part of that," he said.

The complex, which tracks all objects in space, had expected some debris from a Soviet rocket.

Academy clamps lid on Oscar rehearsals

Academy of Motion Pictures Arts and Sciences, stung by criticism of last year's Oscar telecast, clamped a lid of secrecy on the rehearsal for tonight's award ceremony, barring spectators from the run-through.

Academy spokesman Bob Werden said before Sunday's rehearsal at the Los Angeles Music Center that the four producers of this year's show had decreed "a from Allentown, Pa., to see the closed set" but would not say why. stars. She said her son was holding

The Academy's sensitivity about the rehearsal, which is normally open to reporters and spectators, apparently stemmed from criticisms of last year's TV show and widely circulated promises that this year's show will be shorter and better.

Outside the Music Center, flocks of movie fans with cameras and autograph books gathered in the warm sunshine to see the stars

Kirk Douglas, in blue jeans and a denim jacket, waved to the fans as he arrived to rehearse his role as a presenter of the golden Oscars. Burt Lancaster and Diana Ross were greeted with loud cheers from the crowd.

Around the corner, fans who planned to stay overnight saved seats in the outdoor bleachers — a prime viewing area for the arrival of gowned and bejeweled stars when the real thing gets under way tonight.

The 57th annual Academy Awards, expected to be seen by some 1 billion television viewers around the world, goes on the air live at 6 p.m. (9 p.m. EST) with no clear favorite to sweep the show.

"Amadeus" with a whopping 11 nominations was the favorite for best picture. "A Passage to India" also had 11 nominations. "Amadeus" nominations also include Milos Forman for best director and F. Murray Abraham and Tom Hulce for best actor.

"The Killing Fields," a searing story of a reporter's experience during the war in Cambodia, was a runaway winner of the British equivalent of the Academy Awards. Its best chance for an American Oscar was Dr. Haing S. Ngor, a Cambodian first-time actor

HOLLYWOOD (AP) - The nominated for his supporting role. For celebrity watchers, the appearances of non-nominated stars are almost as important as the brief time spent on stage by the winners. Star watching is the chief attraction for those who spend hours outside the Music Center. "I've wanted to do this for 25 years, and I've finally made it," said Caroline Guldin, who came seats in the bleachers and would stay there overnight. "I saw Gregory Peck and Burt Lancaster," she said. "That's why I came — to see the old stars, you know, the good ones.'

Teen-aged Steve Gaubert of Canoga Park, Calif., said he's been coming to rehearsal day for five years and the highlight was when he saw the late Natalie Wood.

"She stopped and talked to us and signed autographs," he said. She was really nice. Some of the stars just run past us.

Gaubert said he would stay home and watch the actual show on TV. So will an estimated billion viewers who will see the show live on ABC-TV or on tape in 77 countries, including first-time viewers in China and Poland.

Last year's show ran a deadening three-hours, 45 minutes — a record which the show's producers promise not to duplicate.

They have warned winners to keep their acceptance speeches short and have installed a flashing red warning light at the podium to warn overtime speakers. If the speeches go on more than 45 seconds, the orchestra has been ordered to play exit music.

Jack Lemmon, a past winner, is Oscar's host this year, replacing Johnny Carson.

Time-saving devices include mass-introduction of co-hosts and presenters, about 40 in all. The quartet of producers - actor Gregory Peck, writer-producer Larry Gelbart, director Robert Wise and Academy President Gene Allen — also are spreading the big awards throughout the evening.

Who won what, when, why?

HOLLYWOOD (AP) - Quick. Who won the Academy Award for best actor of 1982?

Hunter.' Cimino's next project, 'Heaven's Gate," became the quintessential failure, and his own personal gate to Hollywood's hall of trivia.

Whatever happened to Richard Dreyfuss, the best actor of 1977? Do you remember the name of the movie? How soon we forget.

And who could forget the wunderkind director of the early 70s who scored the amazing feat of winning an Oscar for a sequel -'The Godfather Part II.'

Hint: He went wildly over budget with "Apocalypse Now," failed spectacularly with "One from the Heart," made a couple of films about kids in Oklahoma with scant results, then launched a Titanic, "The Cotton Club."

I am not smart enough to explain it in technical terms, but there is something about the husband-wife relationship that makes it impossible for the wife to accept criticism or instruction from her own husband. And for some reason, a man has very little patience with his own wife's mistakes.

Contest set for Texas directory cover

How would you like to see your painting on nine million telephone books in Texas?

Now's your chance. Southwestern Bell Telephone is sponsoring a statewide contest to select a painting for use on its directory covers during 1986. The painting should depict in some way the Texas Sesquicentennial. It might portray significant events or sites in the state's history. It may even include faces of Texas' heroes. You are only limited by your imagination. In announcing the contest, our Texas Division president, Jim Adams, summed it up this way: "Southwestern Bell has played an active role in the state's history and its growth. It just seemed like a natural for us to be involved in celebrating the Sesquicentennial.

Texas roots go back to 1880s

"We're a Texas company with roots going back to the 1880s. You might say we have grown up together. That partnership continues today. Our 34,000 employees are involved on-and-off-thejob in serving 41/2 million Texans in more than 450 communities."

A purchase award of $5,000 will be paid to the artist whose painting is selected. In addition, the artist will be identified in every phone book which carries the covers. That's about 160 directories with a distribution of almost nine million copies.

Deadline for contest entries is July 1, 1985. No actual paintings are to be submitted. All initial judging will be done from color slides of the artwork.

The contest is open to all Texas residents with the exception of employees and families of Southwestern Bell Corporation and its subsidiaries. School children, college-age students, professional artists and amateurs alike are encouraged to enter.

No restrictions on artist's medium

There's no restriction on the medium the artists uses - it can be oils, acrylics, water colors, tempera, even crayon. That should make it easy for anyone to enter.

An entry form and contest rules may be obtained by writing to: Art Contest One Bell Plaza Post Office Box 225521

Send today for all the information. And remember, the contest ends July 1. Good luck!

Strange wins Las Vegas golf

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) - It's already a good year for Curtis Strange. I fact, it's a very good year, the best he's ever had.

And he has every intention of making it a better one

"I've got something to rest on now," Strange said Sunday after his second victory of the season in the Panasonic Las Vegas Invitational golf

"I don't want to put my foot in my mouth and make any predictions that I might be sorry for," Strange cautioned. "But now I've won two early. I've got a chance to have a really good year now.

"This brings a lot of things into the picture - leading money-winner, almost anything. Even though the season is less than one-quarter gone, the moneywinning title became a realistic possibility when Strange dropped a 6-foot birdie putt on the 90th hole of the five-day tournament and claimed the biggest prize in American golf, $171,000. That huge check pushed his season winnings to $332,344, by far the best on the Tour and well over his earnings for any previous year. He won this one with a closing, 5-under-par 66 and a 338 total, 17 under par on the Las Vegas Country Club course. In addition to staking him to the money-winning lead, it enabled him to join Lanny Wadkins and Mark O'Meara as the double winners for 1985, virtually assured him of a place on the Ryder Cup team, and stamped him as a prime contender for the important Tournament Players Championship this week in Ponte Vedra,

"I'm playing well now," said Strange, who has finished first, fourth and first in his last three starts. "Hopefully, I'll keep improving.

"You can't play good golf every day. You can't play good golf every week. You just can't do that.

"But I expect to play well in the TPC." The Masters, only three weeks away, is a different story.

He isn't even sure he'll be playing. His wife, Sarah, is expecting their second child "the Friday of Augusta," Strange said. "I'm going to try to play the Masters. But I don't know if I'll be able to,"

MONICA LOCKRIDGE ...places third in triple jump

MONAHANS — Paula Jolley and Brian Mayfield were the only two first place winners for the Big Spring High School track teams at the Sandhill Relays here Saturday.

Jolley, a sophomore weightperson, scored 16 of the Lady Steers 22 points by winning the discus and placing third in the shot. Big Spring finished 7th out of 18 teams. Her toss of 119-6 was a career best. She placed third in the shot with a throw of 36-6. She scratched on a throw of 40 feet, according to coach Randy Britton.

Junior Monica Lockridge got a third place medal by leaping 35-2 in the long jump.

Mayfield led the Steers by scoring 15 of their 25 points. Big Spring finished sixth in the meet. The freshman won the high jump at 6-2, placed fifth in the long jump (20-0) and 110 meter high hurdles (16.2). He laso finished sixth in the 300 hurdles (42.89).

In fact all three of Big Spring 300 hurdlers placed. Brian Reid finished fourth (40.7) and Dewayne Sherman was fifth (41.64).

The sprint relay of Alex Minter, Charles White, Reid and Sherman finished sixth in a time of 44:50. Half-miler Dax McCracken ran a career-best 2.00.20 in his speciality and freshman Charles White placed sixth with a time of 2.06.20.

White placed sixth in the 100 (11.15) and Cedrick Banks finished sixth in the 400 (53.34).

The 1600 relay team of Sherman, Reid, McCracken and Jackson finished sixth in a time of 3:35.20.

NEW YORK (AP) — Everbody believes Martina Navratilova can be beaten on a tennis court. It's doing it that's difficult.

The difference between now and the past is that the players think that she's beatable," Hana Mandlikova said of the world's No. 1 woman player. 'Before, the players went on the court and didn't believe they could win.' Helena Sukova somewhat agreed.

"I think she still plays the best matches, but she has some weak days," Sukova said of Navratilova. "Even though she lost two matches against Chris (Evert Lloyd) and Hana, I still think she's the best."

Navratilova proved it again Sunday when she captured the $500,000 Virginia Slims Championships for the second consecutive year, edging Sukova 6-3, 7-5, 6-4 in the unique best-of-five-sets final. In her semifinal match Saturday, she stopped Mandlikova 7-5, 7-6 as she raced through the elite 16-player, season-ending event without dropping a set.

It was Navratilova's way of silencing the critics. After all, after winning a record 74 consecutive matches, she lost to Sukova in the semifinals of the Australian Open last December. Then, earlier this year, came the loss to Lloyd, followed by a loss to Mandlikova.

That's three defeats in five tournaments suffered by the woman who cruised through 1983 with just one defeat and suffered just two losses in 1984, enough to begin whispers that maybe, just maybe, the reign of Navratilova was nearing an end.

said after her latest conquest.

"I didn't feel I was in a slump. Some of those breaks just weren't going my way. You have two bad loses and all of a sudden it's all over.

"I'm not playing worse, I'm playing as well, and I certainly am eager. I think I've proved that this Against Sukova, it appeared she was close to perfection. Only five games went to break point, and Navratilova won four of them - breaking Sukova once in each set and holding her own service the only time her opponent had break point against her.

Only in the first game of the third set, with Sukova serving, was the 6-foot-2 right-hander able to stave off the ever-attacking Navratilova, saving two break points to hold serve. "I wasn't able to break her serve," Sukova said. "She didn't ace much, but it was hard for me to

In the Australian Open, "I was playing much better, I returned much better, I was able to break her serve. Today, I wasn't able to break her serve in

And that was the key in the one-hour, 55-minute match at Madison Square Garden. Whether it was one of their rare rallies from the baseline or the battles at the net, Navratilova always seemed to come up with one more shot, one more winner, sometimes with a spectacular, seemingly impossible shot.

Gamblers still perfect in USFL

By The Associated Press Although Jim Kelly wasn't the passing ace he usually is, the Houston Gamblers still are holding five of a kind — all victories. The Gamblers, the only 5-0 team in the United States Football League, accumulated a net of only 254 yards in total offense, a record low in the team's 23-game history, in Sunday's 27-20 decision over the Portland Breakers. Kelly, who had 17 touchdown passes in his first four games, added only two scoring tosses while completing 18 of 32

"I didn't have the stats that everyone expected in this one but the big thing is that we came back and won the game," Kelly said.
Actually, it was Portland that

In other USFL games Sunday, New Jersey tripped Tampa Bay 28-24, Birmingham edged Baltimore 7-3 in a mud bath and Oakland defeated Memphis 31-19. On Saturday night, Arizona whipped Los Angeles 27-13.

Beverly rushed for 103 yards, including a 6-yard touchdown that tied the score with 3:38 to play. Earlier in the fourth period, Robinson passed 32 yards to Vince Williams to get within a touchdown.

But early in the game, Portland blew several scoring chances.

"This was the first time we real-Portland quarterback Matt ly got tested on the running game," Robinson had better numbers than Houston linebacker Kiki DeAyala Kelly, hitting 21 of 33 passes for 289 said. "But they couldn't stay with it yards and one touchdown, while because we finally came out and Breakers running back Dwight played well defensively when we "You put the ball inside the 20

four times and come away with only three points and it really hurts," Robinson said. "I'd give the defense TWO game balls for this one," Kelly said. Kelly hit touchdown shots of 50 yards to Vince Courville and 13 yards to Mark Barousse and Toni Fritsch added field goals of 25 and 42 yards prior to Harrell's gamewinner. Houston's Clarence Verdin set up the winning drive with a 45-yard kickoff return, leaving the Gamblers only 48 yards to go for their final touchdown. The whole game was returns and they got the big one," said Portland Coach Dick Coury, who saw his team fall to 2-3 Generals 28, Bandits 24 New Jersey crossed up Tampa Bay with a running play in the final minute and Herschel Walker scored the winning touchdown from 13 yards out with 24 seconds remaining. "They were expecting us to throw all the way," Generals Coach Walt Michaels said. "So we crossed them up with a quick pitchto Herschel and he just ran it in there.' Walker's TD climaxed a Generals rally from a 24-14 deficit and left both teams with 3-2 records

Flutie, who hit 11 of 22 passes for 165 yards and two TDs, started

New Jersey's comeback when he capped a 62-yard drive by firing a 7-yard TD pass to Walter Broughton with 5:05 left. Broughton also caught Flutie's 33-yard TD pass in the second quarter.

Bandits quarterback John Reaves completed 20 of 39 passes for 39 yards, including a 64-yard scoring pass play to Eric Birmingham improved its record to 4-1 as Joe Cribbs scored the game's only touchdown on a 10-yard run in the third period. Baltimore, the defending USFL champions, scored only on a thirdquarter field goal by David Trout

The Stars, 1-3-1, also lost their leading runner, Kelvin Bryant, due to a pulled hamstring in the first quarter.

after a drive stalled at the four.

Invaders 31, Showboats 19 Bobby Hebert threw secondquarter touchdown passes of 1 yard to Gordon Banks and 15 yards to Anthony Carter and fullback Albert Bentley ran for 148 yards for Oakland against Memphis. Walter Lewis fired three scoring passes game in a losing cause — 24 yards to Greg Moser in the first period, 5 yards to Mark Raugh in the second and 14 yards to Derrick Crawford in the fourth.

The Invaders improved their record to 3-1-1, while Memphis is
