Iranian missiles hit Baghdad

BAGHDAD, IRAQ (AP) — A powerful explosion shook Baghdad early Sunday, seconds after Iran announced that it had fired two missiles at the Iraqi capital. Residents contacted by telephone in various sections of the city reported hearing only one blast, but the cause, location and damage could not be determined immediately. Ambulance sirens could be heard in this city with a population of four million. The attack followed Iraqi air raids on four Iranian cities Saturday, and an Iraqi claim that an Iranian warplane had bombed an elementary school in the southern border town of Jassan, wounding 70 children. In Tehran, the Iranian capital, the official Islamic Republic News Agency — IRNA — said two surface-to-surface missiles were fired at Baghdad from bases in Iran at 1:59 a.m. Sunday. The report, monitored in London, also quoted Iranian President Ali Khomeini as saying in a speech Saturday that Iran would not bow to Iraqi pressures with its attacks on Iranian cities, but would "end these pressures with greater pressures." Sunday's explosion in Baghdad was the seventh in 17 days. The Iraqi government has refused to confirm they were caused by missiles, or listed casualties. But President Saddam Hussein said in a speech Thursday, "Some Arabs have given the Iraqis some missiles to terrorize the Iraqis. But the Iraqis, who have been fighting for five years, cannot be terrorized by 10, or 20, or 30 missiles." Baghdad-based foreign diplomats said last week the Iraqis have acquired some Soviet-made Scud-B missiles from Libya. Pro-Soviet Libya and Syria are the two Arab states that have sided with Persian Iran against Arab Iraq in the 54-month-old war. The Scud-B missile, considered a battlefield weapon, has a 1,000-pound warhead and a range of 185 miles. Western diplomatic sources have said the Iraqi arsenal also includes Scud-B missiles along with long-range Soviet-made SS-12 missiles that are capable of reaching Tehran.

Hoyle Nix and the West Texas Cowboys took off their trademark white hats and lay down their instruments Saturday night for an unusual occasion — a wedding. Well, sure, weddings take place everyday. But for Hoyle and the boys, this was the first wedding to take place at the Stampede, a popular West Texas dance hall in Big Spring. Chuck Miller and Cindy Pringle decided they wanted their wedding to be a little unusual, and they chose "a special place," the place where they had gone on their first date. The invitations to the wedding read: "We're getting hitched. Wear your boots and Wranglers and BYOB! Ya'll come." "We've both come out here since we were small," Cindy said, shortly before she and Chuck took their final steps toward the altar. Actually, they were married in front of the raised platform that the band sits at every Saturday night. A group of friends and family were seated in chairs set up on the dance floor. Jody Nix, Hoyle's son and a longtime member of the band, took out his father's famous blue fiddle and played "Here Comes the Bride" as Cindy marched up the makeshift aisle. Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin performed the ceremony. True to his word, he kept it traditional as well as "short and sweet."

Tipping the scales

Women take cue from health care experts

By CAROL BALDWIN
 Staff Writer
 Staying well is a primary goal for most people, and more than 50 women who participated in a seminar Saturday were given a number of tips for good health. And while there are no hard and fast guarantees in health care, participants were given information on wellness that may help them tip the scales in their favor. The event was sponsored by the Malone-Hogan Hospital Department of Wellness and the Chamber of Commerce Blue Blazers. Among the health care professionals at the event were Dr. Werner Hoeger and Dr. Lois Hale, both of the University of Texas of the Permian Basin; Helen Wenzel, a dietitian from Malone-Hogan Hospital; and Dr. Thomas Long, internist and dermatologist from Malone-Hogan Hospital. Ms. Wenzel outlined common myths of nutrition and gave tips for good nutritional habits. Participants were given copies of a guide to good eating which encourages eating foods from the milk, meat, fruit, vegetable and and early detection of certain types of cancer, including skin, lung, breast, cervical and colon cancer. Dr. Long told participants to avoid too much sun, to avoid tobacco, to have regular medical exams and to eat diets high in fiber and low in saturated fats. "It is prudent to go in that direction," Dr. Long said, adding that a good diet has also been considered a preventative shield against certain types of cardiovascular disease. Dr. Hoeger outlined some risk factors for cardiovascular disease and displayed some data that shows the disease, a leading killer of Americans, is on the decline. He went through a tally sheet which measures risk of the disease on terms of physical exercise (do you get enough?), blood pressure (too high?), body weight (overweight?), cholesterol and triglyceride levels, proper diet (proper servings from the food groups?), history of diabetes, heart trouble, smoking, tension levels, family history, personal history and age.

When one adapts a healthy "way of life" and quits thinking that a diet is just a personal deprivation of good food, then eating proper foods in proper quantities will become easier, Dr. Hale said. She also stressed the importance of exercise. "Physical activity is a stress releaser." For busy women, time for physical activity should be scheduled into the day just as one would schedule a business meeting, Dr. Hale said. Blacks riot for 10th day

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — Police used tear gas and rubber bullets against black protesters Saturday on the 10th straight day of unrest around southeastern industrial cities.

The new violence came on the eve of funerals scheduled for five blacks killed in clashes with police.

A spokesman at national police headquarters in Pretoria reported at least 10 outbreaks of violence in Zwijede, Veeplaas and Kirkwood townships near Port Elizabeth and Uitenhage on the southeastern coast, and in a township near Cradock, 110 miles to the north.

Trucks were reported set ablaze and a school in Veeplaas was torched with gasoline bombs.

Iraq bombs four cities

BAGHDAD, Iraq — Iraq said its planes attacked four cities and an army camp in Iran on Saturday. Iran said it struck back with an air raid on a border town and artillery barges against nine centers, causing "huge destruction." No official casualty reports were available.

An Iraqi military spokesman reported raids on Sar-e Pol Zahab, Gilan-e Garb, Mehran, Hormuzabad and the Hamid army camp. He said all planes returned safely.

Iran's official Islamic Republic News Agency later confirmed the raids on Sar-e Pol Zahab and Gilan-e Garb. It said that Iranian jets retaliated by attacking "economic installations and military targets" in the central Iraqi border town of Jassan, 120 miles southeast of Baghdad, the Iraqi capital city.

1 killed in Dover crash

DOVER, England — A huge hovercraft carrying nearly 400 people crashed into a pier while trying to dock in rough seas Saturday at this southern port and police said one person was killed, one was missing and 32 were injured.

A flotilla of small craft surrounded the stricken vessel, The Princess Margaret, and plucked dozens of survivors from the sea, while others were removed from the hovercraft in lifeboats.

Police earlier reported two people perished, but a spokesman at police headquarters in the nearby town of Maidstone, Kent, said later that one body had been retrieved from the sea and another person was believed to be missing.

Judges held in treason

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras — Government prosecutors filed treason charges Saturday against the five new Supreme Court judges installed by Congress in its political dispute with President Roberto Suazo Cordova.

The legislature, acting on the report of a commission it appointed, dismissed five of the nine Supreme Court judges Friday for alleged corruption, and appointed their replacements.

KARYN NICHOLSON, widow of Maj. Arthur Nicholson, kisses the casket of her slain husband as her daughter, Jennifer, watches.

Last respects

Slain officer had worked for detente with USSR

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army Maj. Arthur D. Nicholson Jr. was buried with full military honors under a somber gray sky Saturday at Arlington National Cemetery, a week after he was shot to death by a Soviet sentry in East Germany.

A burial service on a hillside near the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier was watched by Nicholson's wife Karen, his 8-year-old daughter Jennifer and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Nicholson Sr. A short distance away stood about 500 friends and military personnel who had attended the funeral at a nearby chapel.

Nicholson's wife and daughter followed the flag-draped coffin out of Fort Myer Memorial Chapel, where it was loaded onto a caisson drawn by six white horses and taken to the gravesite. Jennifer still clutched the yellow-haired doll she held when her father's body was flown back to Washington on Friday.

An honor guard fired a three-volley salute and top officials, including Deputy Defense Secretary William H. Taft IV and Army Secretary John O. Marsh Jr., presented Mrs. Nicholson with the Legion of Merit, one of the military's highest honors.

Just hours before the funeral, Secretary of State George Shultz summoned Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin to the State Department and afterward said they had agreed to a meeting of military commanders in Germany.

Dobrynin said the talks would be aimed at "closing the entire incident." Shultz said through a spokesman the meeting would be aimed at ensuring there would be no repetition.

Nicholson was eulogized by Col. Roland LaJoie, commander of the liaison mission in East Germany, as intensely interested in bettering relations between the superpowers.

He said Nicholson had volunteered for the liaison job, in which soldiers are "routinely subjected to a severe test of strain and pressure."

"Nick not only passed the test, he set the standard," LaJoie said.

He said Nicholson frequently sought contacts with Soviet officers as a way for the two sides to get to know each other better. "He, more than any of us, was prepared to give them the benefit of the doubt — something which they did not give him last Sunday," LaJoie said.

Utah firm lays off 2,000

SALT LAKE CITY — Almost 800 workers are to be out of work by Monday as Kennecott, the nation's largest copper producer, begins shutting down its Utah Copper Division and laying off 2,220 people.

Fewer than 500 Kennecott headquarters and maintenance employees will be left at the Utah operations once the layoffs are phased in over the next six months. In 1981 the company employed 7,300 in Utah.

Workers turned in their safety equipment and tools Friday at the Magna, Arthur and Bonneville concentrators, which use a chemical process to separate copper from copper ore, but otherwise didn't have a lot to do.

Errant freighter sinks

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. — An errant Venezuelan freighter that was beached for three months behind a Palm Beach millionaire's home sank with a roar Saturday as it was put to rest as a fish-attracting artificial reef.

Ringed by hundreds of small boats packed with spectators, the Mercedes 1 was blown up with eight 45-pound charges of TNT shortly after noon, and sank in about 1 1/2 minutes.

The 190-foot ship sank evenly just as the Broward County Sheriff's bomb squad had predicted, remaining horizontal as it slipped below the 3- to 5-foot waves a mile off Fort Lauderdale Beach.

Jet in forced landing

CHICAGO — An airplane with 139 people aboard was forced to make two emergency landings at O'Hare International Airport because its landing gear would not retract, and one of the passengers said "everyone was praying."

Jet America Flight 121, which had left O'Hare Friday night for Long Beach, Calif., landed safely both times Friday night, with the second landing coming more than four hours after the first takeoff.

The plane's nose gear would not retract after a takeoff at 7:55 p.m., forcing its first return to O'Hare.

Rally stops farm sale

GENWOOD, Minn. — The thwarted foreclosure sale of a farm that has become a rallying point for embattled farmers was postponed indefinitely Saturday because of concerns about a planned demonstration, an attorney said.

The sale of the Jim Langman farm had been scheduled for Monday, and there were reports the presence of the Rev. Jesse Jackson at an attendant rally could draw thousands of people. Jackson said he would still attend the rally.

The sale was called off because of concern about public safety, said Dennis Neese.

18 wounded by theater bomb

PARIS (AP) — Two obscure neo-Nazi groups claimed responsibility Saturday for bombing a movie theater that was showing Jewish films, and threatened more attacks against Jews. Eighteen people were wounded by the explosion and fire that followed.

An unidentified caller told The Associated Press that the Wolk

United National Socialism and Column 88 Heil Hitler were responsible for the Friday night bombing of the Rivoli-Beaubourg theater. Three of the victims were hospitalized with burns and 15 were treated for shock and bruises.

The caller said there would be other attacks against Jewish targets.

Voters are eager to give opinions

Earlier this month, state Rep. Larry Don Shaw devised a survey to tap his constituents' thinking on key legislative issues. He asked the newspaper's cooperation in publishing the survey; we felt it was important and obliged him. We don't have all the details of the results yet, but one thing is clear. The voters in the 69th District of this state are vitally interested in the doings down in Austin.

Two years ago, Shaw had his legislative survey published in the Big Spring Herald and a dozen odd other newspapers in his district. He got a grand total of 200 responses.

This year, his informal poll secured 378 responses just from the Herald. Another 160 clip-and-mail surveys were collected from 14 other papers — Crane, Rankin, Monahans, etc. — in the 69th District.

According to an aide, many of the Big Spring responses weren't limited to checking "yes" or "no" and slapping a stamp on the form. As the aide put it, a large number of the surveys from Big Spring were accompanied by "thoughtful letters" on what lawmakers should be doing down in Austin.

The poll queried readers in a wide range of areas: parimutuel betting (which has since gone down in flames), open alcohol containers, the "blue law," raising the drinking age, abortion legislation, state lottery and mandatory seat belt regulations.

But six questions are aimed strictly at education reform, including consolidation of small school districts, state college tuition rates, and no-pass/no-play. We don't know yet how Big Springers felt about the issues of the day. We await a report from Shaw on the findings of the survey. We do know, though, without a doubt, the voters interested in legislative issues. They are claiming a stake in the proceedings, and that involvement will enrich the law-making process.

Waxahachie in tofu time

The story comes to mind of the old man who was interviewed by a reporter on the occasion of his 100th birthday. "You must have seen a lot of changes in all those years," said the newsmen. "Yep," came the reply, "and I was against every one of them." If he's still alive, here are three more changes that our centenerian will no doubt oppose:

• AROMATIC PUBLICATIONS. Texas Monthly, which chronicles the incomparable marvels of life in the greatest state, is one of the best magazines in the Western Hemisphere. It's just one reason you should never ask a man if he's from Texas: If he is, he'll tell you; if he's not, don't embarrass him.

But that doesn't mean I wait eagerly for its arrival each month. I feel a measure of dread too — because along with advice on the best chicken-fried steak in Waxahachie, each issue provides a blast of perfume that could gag a New Orleans madam. The advertisers for various fragrances apparently think one smell is worth a thousand pictures. I ask you: Did Davy Crockett give his life at the Alamo for this?

Unfortunately, Texas Monthly is not alone. The defect has spread to so many other publications that a man who strolls past a newsstand may face suspicious questions from his wife when he gets home. Can't we keep perfume in the boudoir, where it belongs?

• BEEPING TIMEPIECES. If you ever go to plays, concerts or church services, you've probably had the experience of finding yourself transported by the emotional power of the moment — only to be jolted back to bleak reality by a flurry of watch alarms going off precisely on the hour.

My own pastor, whose theology reflects a sober recognition of human depravity, bears the inevitable interruption of his sermon with the stoicism of a martyr. His Calvinist predecessor, Jonathan Edwards, would not have been so tolerant. In fact, he might have been moved to deliver a special sermon: "Digital Watch Wearers in the Hands of an Angry God."

I've never been able to figure out why digital watches offer those hourly beepers in the first place. How many of us have urgent business to transact every hour on the hour, 24 hours a day? What purpose can the alarm serve but to remind us, with Virgil, that "time is flying, never to return"? Who wants to be reminded of that?

Apparently a lot of digital watch owners do. But those who are too inconsiderate to turn off their alarms at public events should emulate time — flying never to return.

• INVISIBLE TRAFFIC SIGNS. Some time between the inauguration of Hustler magazine and the invention of "lite" beer, another foreboding development occurred: drivers began to ignore traffic laws.

The futility of speed limits needs no elaboration here. Scarcely a day goes by that a car doesn't roar past my house going west, even though the street is one way east. And as a pedestrian I have discovered there is no more dangerous place to be than in front of a car that is approaching a stop sign — except maybe a crosswalk when you have the "Walk" signal.

I would support abolition of the death penalty if an exception were made for people who double-park in rush hour. While we're at it, maybe we could install metal barriers at stop signs, programmed to lower only when the car has stopped. And we can arm every one-way street with those devices used in drive-in theaters, which puncture the tires of cars going the wrong direction.

Better yet, we could just allow pedestrians to carry hand grenades.

None of these complaints should be taken as the products of a reactionary mind. Anyone who has celebrated the arrival of tofutti, moonwalking and Morgan Fairchild clearly still believes in the possibility of improving humanity's lot. But, as our 100-year-old knew, change isn't always synonymous with progress. That's one fact that hasn't changed.

Steve Chapman is a member of the Chicago Tribune editorial board. His commentary is distributed by Tribune Media Services.

Double vision in education

New state rules in the education game put the Big Spring Independent School District in the position of devising ways to skirt the spirit of the legislation. And that's not a comfortable spot in which to be.

I can understand the box local administrators are in. But the maneuvering of local districts paints a clear picture of the problem: double vision for Texas education. Before we can get on with education in Texas, local districts, taxpayers and state rule-makers will have to pull their oars at the same time.

The state says that starting next fall there can be no more than 22 students in any one classroom in kindergarten, first or second grade. The local response is abject horror — the only way to meet this mandate is to spend more money, local taxpayer money.

One problem is the cost of a teacher. As one good example, there are 26 youngsters in the Kentwood Elementary first grade right now. If all of them stay in the Kentwood district, the school district will be forced to split the second grade class in two next fall, using two teachers to instruct 13 students each.

Unless the rules change, or unless four of those kids can be convinced they'd really rather spend the year at another school, add $15,000 to $20,000 to the cost of instruction in Big Spring.

Another problem is space. The limited size of, say, the Kentwood campus, may prohibit creating two second grade classes. Then it'll be time to haul in the portable classrooms, and where does that fit in with quality education?

Superintendent Lynn Hise says that rule alone will cost roughly $120,000 next year. And in 1988-89, the pupil-teacher ratio rule broadens to include the third and fourth grades.

One proposal in Austin is to amend the rule to allow a districtwide pupil-teacher ratio of 22-to-1, with provision that, say, no single class could have more than 24 or 25 students. That kind of gerrymandering is precisely what the lawmakers sought to avoid when they adopted landmark legislation in school reform.

If 22 students is an optimal classroom size, then no student should be subjected to less than that level of educational quality.

There's another point to be made here. Suppose the rules were softened to allow 24 or 25 students to a classroom in rare cases. That wouldn't help the problem at Kentwood in the fall, when those 26 youngsters now in first grade advance to second. There would still have to be two second grade classrooms to accommodate those children, and each class still would have 13 students.

Would we then say that 26 is a fairer cutoff for class size? Would we go to 27 or 28, 30 or 35 if the situation seemed to call for it?

I can see the district's dilemma. I can also see why the strict rule was passed. There has to be a cutoff somewhere on class size, or we subvert the reform effort.

If the Legislature does not take action to amend the pupil-teacher rule this spring, the local district has another solution, and here the thinking gets a little fuzzy. One idea is to pack the third, fourth and fifth grades, eliminating some teachers there so they can teach the smaller first and second grade classes. Aren't we getting a little subversive with that kind of thought process?

What that would leave us with is state-mandated idyllic first and second grades where attentive pupils learn in the luxury of 22 students to the teacher. Meanwhile their older counterparts would be packed like sardines to pay for the higher-quality instruction of the lower grades.

The play would be good until the 1988-89 school year, or until the Legislature cries "uncle," whichever comes first.

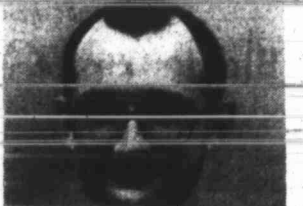

Superintendent Hise is a reasonable man. He's trying to adhere to the law, keep taxpayers happy and provide quality education. It's a tough juggling act. It's tough primarily because while the Legislature hiked state taxes to fund educational reform, something happened on the way to many of the schoolhouses in Texas.

Equalization aid — the Robin Hood theory of taking from the rich and giving to the poor — stole much of that newfound money. Higher teacher salaries took its share. A gem called the Price Differential Index (a measure of cost-of-living, or literally, how much does it cost to educate in a given city?) picked the pocket of every Big Spring student to the tune of $43 per year in state aid.

So the new costs of instruction — like 22-to-1 pupil-teacher ratios — are passed along to local taxpayers. Hise figures a tax increase of $1.3 million next year would be required to keep all the systems intact and obey the law. And while I'm not sure what percentage increase that would require of local taxpayers, I do know it would put it above 8 percent and therefore subject it to the citizens' rollback remedy. Hise isn't ready to tackle a possible rollback referendum. I don't think I blame him for that.

In the presence of higher instruction costs and the absence of stiffer taxation, local districts will keep scurrying to cut back where the law and their consciences allow — and that means finding creative ways to circumvent the spirit of the reform legislation.

I can't say as I blame the schools. And I still have faith in the reform package passed by the Legislature. But something sure went awry in education this year, and its destined to get worse before it gets better.

The Big Spring City Council called an emergency meeting to go on record against state civil service for city firemen. It would deplete local authority, the council said, and it would rob the citizenry of control over its own affairs.

Remember, this is the same council that last year extended its terms of office without consulting the voters. So much for local control.

Today

By The Associated Press

Today is Sunday, March 31, the 90th day of 1985. There are 275 days left in the year. This is Palm Sunday.

Today's highlight in history: On March 31, 1889, the Eiffel Tower, in Paris, was officially opened to the public.

White's bright comments a real bummer

One would think that White, a longtime Democrat and a key target for the Republicans in the 1986 elections, would be supremely careful when talking to those of the opposite party.

big coup for the governor and would have helped counter the recent announcements of several Democratic officials switching, or considering switching, to the Republican team. The chances seemed slim, but maybe not impossible. Ed Cox Jr., a Clements appointee and chairman of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission, now supports White. The stakes were sufficiently high to apparently encourage White to make a stab at converting Bright.

Bright's reaction was to refuse to endorse White, go to last week's A&M regents meeting knowing he would be replaced as chairman, resign after that happened and blast the governor.

According to Bright, White made clear that he controls the votes on the A&M board and he indicated he stacked the Texas Public Utility Commission against Commissioner Peggy Rosson. The latter comment came after Bright expressed his displeasure with Mrs. Rosson, a consumer advocate whom he referred to as that "bomb-throwing woman."

Bright quotes White as replying: "Bum, don't worry about her. I've got her outvoted 2 to 1."

That version is damaging to White's self-proclaimed image as a consumer advocate on utility matters. His promises to clamp down on rising utility rates and to appoint a homemaker, such as Mrs. Rosson, to the PUC formed the cornerstone of his 1982 victory over Clements.

We have only Bright's "don't-kiss-but-then-tell" version of the meeting because White is dodging all attempts to be pinned down on the matter.

At his news conference last week, White ducked questions about Bright's comments like a boxer looking forward to the end of the round. Time after time, reporters asked White to give his version of the meeting. White evaded the questions and urged the reporters to go to other topics.

The most he would say was that it didn't happen exactly according to Bright's version and that he supports Mrs. Rosson on the commission.

Unless one of the parties secretly taped the conversation and later makes it public, we'll never know for certain what went on between White and Bright.

A guess would be that White's natural political instincts for trying to please everyone made him try to soothe Bright's anger over Mrs. Rosson with a comment about her lack of power to do any real harm.

Another guess would be that in the future he'll be more careful about what he says in private to people who might like to serve up his head on a political platter at the first opportunity.

Bombardiers to hold reunion

World War II Bombardiers will meet in their first reunion April 11-14 at the Hilton Hotel in Midland.

Retired U.S. Air Force Colonel E.C. "Ned" Humphreys Jr. of Eagle Harbor, Mich. who founded the Bombardiers in 1946, announced that Bruce D. Callander, a 1943 graduate of the Bombardier training school at Midland and currently editor of Air Force Times, will be the principal speaker at the reunion.

For further information about the organization and reunion, contact Ned Humphreys at Box 254, Eagle Harbor, Mich. 49951 or call (906) 289-4440.

Who's in charge?

You can't run a business or even a household if you have to be asking constantly: "Who's in charge here?"

The Fire Department is asking voters Saturday to give special treatment in vacations, sick leave, hiring and promotion policies, etc. They readily admit they want policies imposed by the state legislature and not our officials who are duly elected under our home-rule charter. The State can afford to be very liberal with benefits — because the State doesn't put up one red cent to pay for them.

No one should minimize the importance of Firemen, for their calls are unpredictable and can be hazardous. Nor should the contribution of any other city employee be minimized. Everyone who applies for one of these jobs does so with full knowledge of what it involves.

But to single out one department for special treatment isn't fair. Moreover, it doesn't make good business sense, for if the administration and the City Council is not in a position to direct all the operations of the city, how can you tell who's in charge here?

Well, you're still in control if you vote Saturday — and we hope you will vote against adoption of the State Civil Service.

Woman wins press awards

Carole Fry Owen of Big Spring won two first place awards, a second, two thirds and an honorable mention in the annual Texas Press Women competition in Wichita Falls March 23. Mrs. Owen won firsts for her feature photo in Country Kids Magazine and a series of articles for Kansas! Magazine.

A second place award was given to Mrs. Owens for a radio campaign designed for Malone-Hogan Hospital which was prepared at KBST radio.

Third place awards were for a 30-second advertisement and three news releases for Malone-Hogan. She earned the honorable mention for a series of children's "how-to" articles for Country

Kids Magazine.

Lana Cunningham of Midland won two firsts and a second place award. Her article, "Eye of the Needle," for the Midland Reporter Telegram and "Midland/Odessa City Review" for the National Real Estate Investor took top honors and a personal column titled, "Childhood memories unlocked by return to home town," received second place.

In the electronic media division, Midlander Linda Bond of The Producers, Inc., was awarded a first place award for two 30-second public service commercials done for Ballet Midland and the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum.

Principal attends college meeting

COAHOMA — High school principal Ronnie Bourland recently attended a high school principal's conference at the 7-A Ranch in Wimberley.

The Department of Education at Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos hosted the two-day conference.

Participants of the conference interacted with Southwest Texas State faculty, visiting consultants and each other regarding current issues in school administration.

Tax & financial planning

TAX BRIEFS

The tax laws, the administration of those laws, and the filing of tax returns get more complicated each year. If you are "just aware" as opposed to being "fully educated" on a given tax item, that may be sufficient. Your tax advisor can fill in all the little "niceties." With that in mind, here are a few "awares."

•Households where both spouses work may find themselves shelling out additional taxes at filing time unless they make adjustments to their withholdings. Consider reducing your claimed exemptions to 0, and if that doesn't produce enough withholding, give your employer a letter of approval to withhold additional amounts.

•The IRS has discovered that a great many individuals are having accountants prepare their tax returns and, therefore, are using only the mailing labels from the forms and instructions mailed to them each year. Henceforth, certain individuals will be receiving only a mailing label from the IRS.

•If you are a "responsible person" in a corporation, you can be held liable for 100% of the FICA and federal income taxes which are withheld from employees but not deposited with the government.

•Some tax exempt bond holders may be denied interest expense deductions. If the IRS feels that you have borrowed money to purchase another investment rather than cashing in tax-free bonds, you may be denied an interest expense deduction.

•Some alimony payments may not be deductible. Some states have laws that specify alimony is no longer payable if the recipient gets remarried. If you reside in such a state and continue to pay unnecessary alimony, your deduction will be lost. The recipient, however, will still be taxed on the funds as income.

Glasscock farmers get OK for reserve grazing

GARDEN CITY — Because of a severe shortage of hay supplies in Glasscock County, farm program participants may request permission from the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service to graze their livestock and harvest hay and forage on their acreage conservation reserve, ASCS Glasscock County Director Joe Esparza said. Normal hay production and pasture development were substantially reduced because of adverse weather conditions. The ACR is cropland removed from production and devoted to approved cover as a requirement of the 1985 acreage reduction and land diversion programs.

Texas feed cattle up 11%

AUSTIN — Texas cattle feeders had 2.1 million head of cattle and calves on feed for slaughter on March 1, an increase of 11 percent from last year and the largest March total since 1974, according to figures from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

The total dropped 3 percent since February, according to the service's monthly report. Placements during February, at 330,000 head, were unchanged from last year. Monthly placements were 3 percent below January. February marketings, at 380,000 head, were down 5 percent from a year ago. Marketings were 17 percent below February, according to state statistician Dennis Findley.

Feedlot operators in the Northern High Plains had 1.53 million head on feed March 1, up 15 percent from the previous year but 3 percent below February. Commercial feeders in the region placed 246,000 head during February and marketed 285,000 head.

Stanton heifer wins blue ribbon

SAN ANGELO — Jeff Brandenberger of Stanton topped the junior Hereford heifer competition at the San Angelo Stock Show with his home-bred winter heifer calf, V Bar Classy 15302.

The Oct. 4, 1983, daughter of SC Classic ET was selected from the field of females by livestock judge John Manning of Corsicana.

Two Sterling City youths also won awards at the show. Rene Stewart won the senior heifer calf division with Tex L1 Adeline 3537 and Reed Stewart won the junior yearling heifer category with H L1 Ms Hawley 308.

"Sunshine, climate, people." Sounds like a commercial for Fly Jamaica, right? It's not a commercial, those are the elements that brought Dr. Thomas Long to the Southwest and to Big Spring. Dr. Long is with Malone-Hogan Clinic specializing in Dermatology, as well as Internal Medicines.

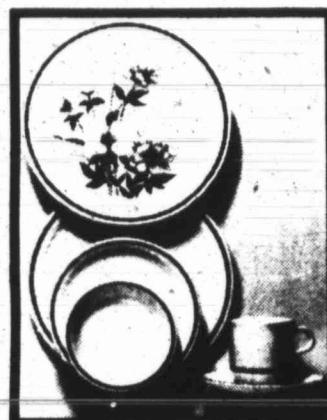

How did he manage to specialize in two seemingly unrelated fields? Dr. Long was lead to the study of medicine through an interest in the humanistic side, behavioral science. Working and interacting with people, both his patients and his colleagues, fascinates him still. To Dr. Long, his two areas of specialization compliment one another, and both areas give him a high level of satisfaction.

Also bringing satisfaction to Dr. Long's life is his little girl, Sarah, who attracts most of Dr. Long's time off. He and his wife, Ann, are expecting another child the first of July. Ann, like many doctor's wives, is involved in a career related to her husband's. She is an instructor in Allied Health Nursing at Howard College. Dr. Long jogs five days a week, usually 2 1/2-3 miles, and reads voraciously. His reading tastes range from medicine-related material to the classics. (Dr. Long's first undergraduate degree was in English). Perhaps the singularly most interesting thing about Dr. Long is his publication in the "American Journal of Public Health" "The Prevalence of Clinically Treated Diabetes Among Zuni Reservation Residents." He spent two months living with Zuni people to research this work.

As a doctor, Dr. Long is a credit to Malone-Hogan Clinic, as a family man, he's a credit to our community. And he's a nice guy.

Hogs don't pig out, man says

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP) — Hogs have gotten a bum rap. They're really very particular about what they eat. Just ask Nelson Drury Jr.

"They prefer the vanilla-type ice cream over the chocolate," said Drury, one of many western Maryland farmers who pamper their pigs with frozen sweets that a manufacturer can't sell. "They just don't eat the chocolate as well."

His nephew, Floyd Davis, also has found that his porkers have their preferences. The two get treats free from the Gold Bond Ice Cream Co. plant in Hagerstown. The giveaways don't meet quality standards for human consumption, but the porkers don't seem to care.

Davis said his hogs seem to like cherry-flavored ice on a stick, but are not as enthusiastic about a lemon-lime flavor.

"I guess hogs are as choosy as people," he said.

Steers bounce AHS

By CHARLIE ALCORN
Sports Writer

The Big Spring Steers played one of their finest games of the year, defeating Abilene High 4-1, behind the three hit pitching of starter Mike Dodd, excellent defense and timely hitting to register their second 4-5A win of the season.

"I thought it was a great team effort today from all the kids," commented Steer head coach Roland Atkins. "Dodd had a super day on the mound and we were able to hit one of the best pitchers (Abilene's Mike Keith) in the district because we went up to the plate and made him throw strikes."

Defensively, the Steers were almost flawless and kept coming up with the big play when they needed it the most. "We had two double plays in the first two innings that really helped us out," explained Atkins.

It was just the opposite for the visiting Eagles, who were charged with 8 fielding errors, two of which resulted in unearned runs for the Steers. Following a fine double play by Steer shortstop Sammy Watson and second baseman Jerry Anderson to end the top of the first inning, Big Spring scored two runs to go ahead 2-0.

Watson got things started for the Steers with a bunt single, and then stole second. Watson advanced to third on a throwing error by Abilene catcher Tim Davis and scored on Mike Dodd's infield single. Steer centerfielder Jay Pirkle then ripped a single up the middle to keep the rally alive. Jerry Anderson stepped up to the plate and delivered another hard single into right-center advancing Pirkle to third, who then scored on a throwing error by AHS center fielder Brian Dairy.

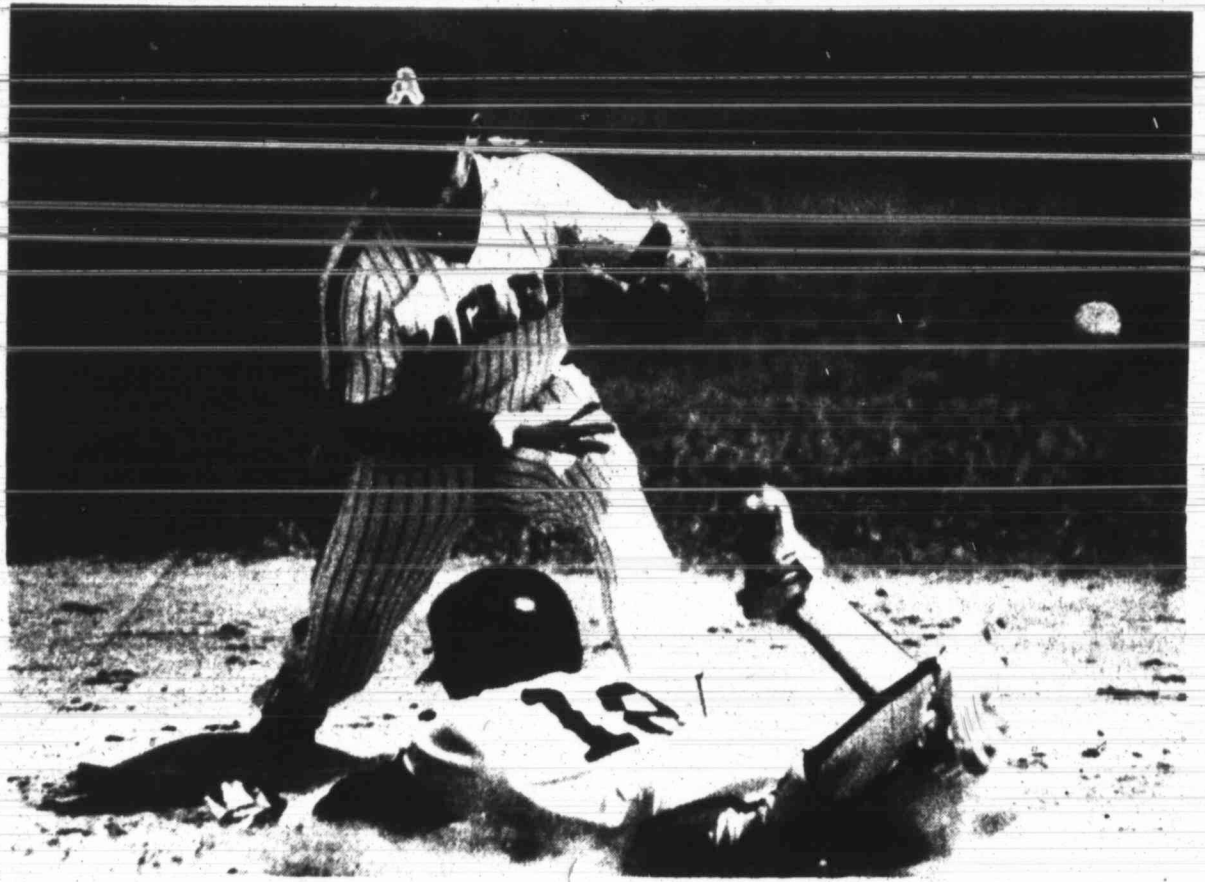

Keith and Dodd squared off in a pitching duel during the middle innings of the game with neither team able to mount an offensive threat. Big Spring still clung to a 2-0 lead going into the bottom of the fifth inning.

Leadoff hitter Tommy Gartman got on base on a throwing error by AHS third baseman Victor Rodriguez before Sammy Watson delivered his second hit of the day to put runners at the corners for the Steers. Mike Dodd helped his own cause with a sacrifice to right center that scored Gartman and put the Steers up 3-0. Cleanup hitter Jay Pirkle then delivered an RBI single into left-center, scoring Watson from second and giving the Steers their final total of four runs.

Dodd continued to stifle the Abilene hitters throughout the game until the top of the seventh. After striking out Mickey Russell to start off the inning, right fielder Tony Lombardi drove a double over Pirkle's head and came all the way home when Pirkle's throw got away from the cut off man. Dodd lost the shut-out, but kept a fine complete game 4-1 win while allowing only three hits.

Big Spring raised their record to 7-8 on the year, and to 2-3 in 4-5A play. Abilene fell to 6-8 and 2-4 in 4-5A. The Steers will face San Angelo Central Tuesday afternoon at Steer field.

Big Spring shortstop SAMMY WATSON slides in ahead of the tag for a stolen base in the Steers 4-1 victory over the Abilene High Eagles.

AUTUMN SPENCER trains hard during a workout for the upcoming Texas State Bodybuilding Championships in Austin.

"It's hard work, but working out is something that I enjoy. People accept the fact that I lift weights much more readily than they did when I was in high school."

Big Spring Brickhouse

By CHARLIE ALCORN
Sports Writer

What is the thoroughly modern girl in Big Spring to do with her life? If you're a 5'2" ball of energy named Autumn Spencer, you work 30 hours a week, get a degree in dental hygiene, and in her spare time, pump enough iron to fill the store rooms of a respectable sized steel mill. Makes locals tired just thinking about it. Makes Autumn one of the premier middleweight bodybuilders in the state.

Mrs. Spencer, the wife of Big Spring native Greg Spencer, a driller for Caliche Drilling, is definitely a lady for the 80's and she takes her career in bodybuilding as seriously as yesterday's needlepointers. At the tender age of 22, Autumn has parlayed a childhood interest in physical fitness into a sculpted physique that may some day take her to Olympian heights, as in the Ms. Olympia Contest, the world's premier bodybuilding competition.

Autumn grew up in Steadman, N.C. under the tutelage of a father who was something of a weightlifting fanatic. He nudged Autumn into the weight room at a young age to improve her strength for high school sports and Kung-Fu in particular. During her schoolgirl days, Autumn concentrated on working her legs with endless sets of squats. The results are a set of wheels that would give Tina Turner a run for her money.

After meeting her husband at a Fort Bragg, N.C. karate class and moving back to Big Spring, Autumn began to entertain her first serious thoughts about a bodybuilding career. Problem was, nobody made any money in the fledgling sport, so Autumn decided she better perse an alternative field, dental hygiene, in case she didn't instantly dethrone the early female hulks like Lisa Lyons and Laurie Bowen of Ms. Olympia fame.

Autumn recently competed in the Mid-America Bodybuilding Championships in Dallas. She won the middleweight class, qualifying her for The America, a national competition schedule for September in Michigan. "The competition really wasn't that tough in Dallas. There were only three girls in my division but I was glad that I won because it qualified me for nationals," contended Autumn.

Mrs. Spencer is currently working out for the Texas Bodybuilding Championships in Austin scheduled for April 6. "I've been trying to step up my strength training a little bit for this competition, but I've mainly concentrated on aerobic workouts so I'll be as lean as possible for the meet. I don't have any idea about the competition, but more than likely there will be a lot more girls there in my division than in Dallas."

If Autumn finishes in the top three in her weight class in Austin, she would qualify for another national competition this fall, the USA Amateur Championships in Las Vegas. "I would really like to attend both national meets, but I haven't been able to find a sponsor yet. Going to these national competitions gets to be pretty expensive and it helps to have a sponsor that can pick up some of the expenses," laments Mrs. Spencer.

Georgetown and Villanova advance to final showdown

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — After four years of trying, Villanova forward Dwayne McClain was only 10 minutes away from playing for the championship of college basketball. He wasn't about to let the opportunity get away.

Villanova held a 41-33 lead with 10:21 to play and got an added boost when Memphis State's All-American forward, Keith Lee, fouled out. But it took some late heroics by McClain to overcome a Memphis State rally and give Villanova a 52-45 NCAA Tournament semifinal victory Saturday.

"When Keith Lee fouled out, we stopped and took a deep breath," said McClain, who scored 10 of his 19 points down the stretch. "But we couldn't lose our poise. The seniors kept it and we looked for the good shots."

Villanova Coach Rollie Massimino said his team got a little complacent. But he said it was a tribute to seniors McClain, Ed Pinkney and Gary McLain that the Wildcats came away with the victory.

"It was such a big game, I guess they couldn't believe it (the lead)," Massimino said. "They got a little complacent, and that happens. They could have gotten very nervous and lost, but their experience came through."

"We didn't enjoy the fact we lost the lead," said McLain, the team's point guard and floor leader. "We could have gotten rattled, but this is a veteran ball club and we maintained our poise."

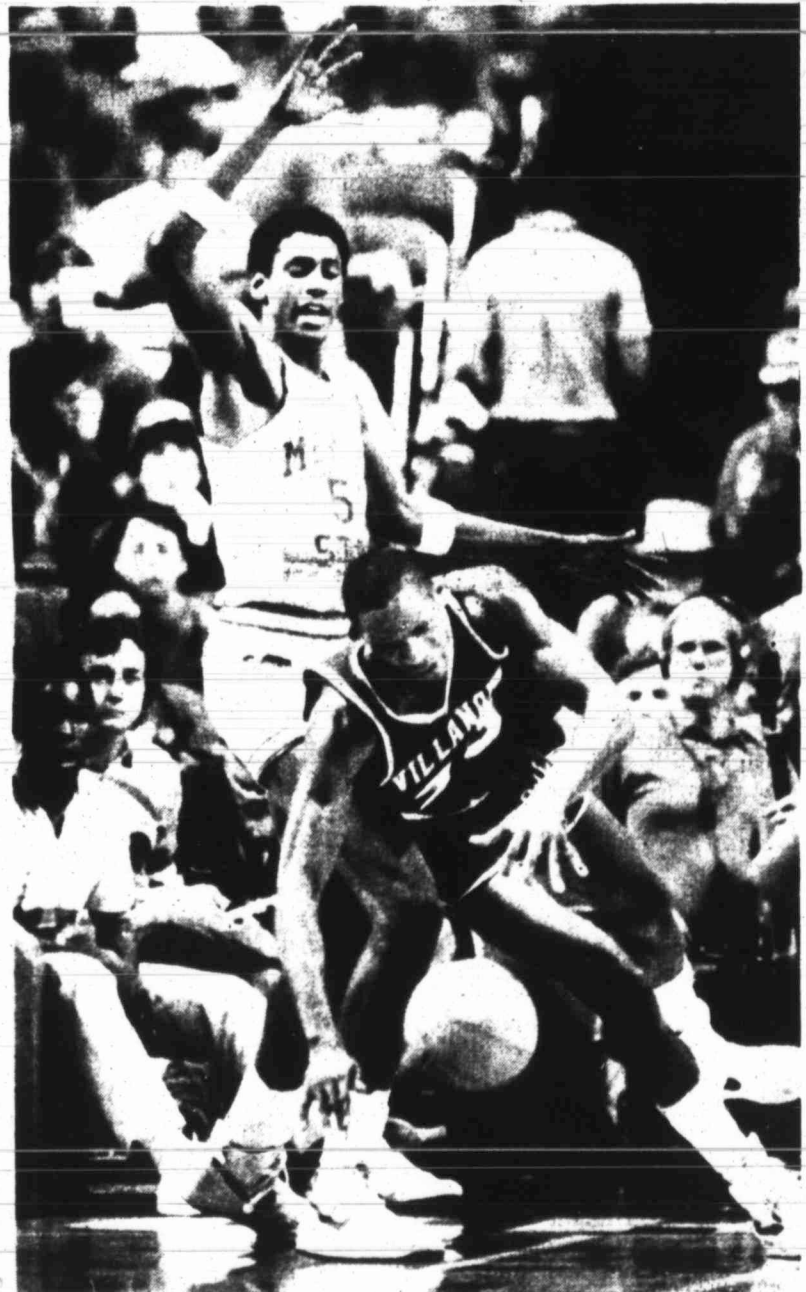

McClain hit a pair of free throws after Lee's fifth foul to give Villanova the eight-point lead; but the Wildcats then went seven minutes without a point. Memphis State, meanwhile, rallied to tie it on a jumper by Andre Turner with 3:27 left.

McClain hit two free throws with 3:04 left to put Villanova ahead 43-41 and then, a minute later, worked free for a slam dunk out of Villanova's stalling offense.

Georgetown 77

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Georgetown's defense claimed another victim, and the Hoyas moved within one victory Saturday of their second straight national basketball championship.

Making a habit of shutting down opposing stars, Georgetown limited St. John's All-American, Chris Mullin, to a season-low eight points and just three second-half shots in a 77-59 romp in the NCAA semifinals.

The defending-champion Hoyas, ranked No. 1, now face another Big East rival, Villanova, in Monday night's championship game. Villanova, already a two-time loser to Georgetown this season, beat Memphis State 52-45 in the other semifinal.

Mullin, a 6-foot-6 guard who is the leading scorer in St. John's history with 2,440 points, saw his string of 101 consecutive double-figure games end at the worst possible time for the third-ranked Redmen.

Howard College sweeps Ranger in wild doubleheader

By CHARLIE ALCORN
Sports Writer

The Howard College Hawks continue to win despite playing less than textbook baseball as was the case during their doubleheader sweep of Ranger Junior College Saturday afternoon. The Hawks won a wild slugfest in the first game, 24-13, and came back to take the afternoon game 4-3.

"I was real proud of the boys the way they came back in the first game," said head coach Bill Griffin. "But I'm here to tell you that our defense was plain lousy."

The Hawks did manage to boot the ball around for nine errors in the first game which saw Howard get behind in the middle of the game only to send 18 batters to the plate in the sixth inning who scored 15 runs, giving the Hawks a 10 run rule 24-13 victory.

Howard got on top in the first inning of the first game 5-0, on four walks, two errors and a single by Roland Gonzales.

Ranger came back to score two runs off of starting pitcher Doug Myres in the top of the second on three walks and one RBI single.

Eddie Citronelli drove in one of his seven RBI's with a one out sacrifice. Dan Lanfear was on second with a double before Citronelli's center field shot.

Howard padded its lead in the bottom of the fourth. Citronelli continued his one-man assault on the Ranger pitching with a two run homer that drove in shortstop Mike Byrd who had walked and stolen second to open the inning. Joe Cuellar had an RBI single to give the Hawks a commanding 9-4 lead going into the fifth inning.

But Howard's defense became very porous in the next two innings. The Hawk's committed 8 errors in the fifth and sixth innings, giving up 8 unearned runs. Coach Griffin pulled Myres in the fifth and let Brian Willis try to stop Ranger, but the freshman righthander from Midland had little help as Ranger jumped out to a 13-9 lead in the sixth inning.

Howard made one of its patented comebacks in the bottom of the sixth however, using 8 hits and one error to overpower the visitors from Ranger.

Mark Howell opened the inning with a single. Joe Cuellar ripped another single and Joey Ortiz walked to load the bases with no one out. Centerfielder Steve Carrasco started the comeback with a single to left, driving in Howell. Scott Smith, who replaced Gonzales, walked to force in Bruce Smith, who was running for Cuellar. Mike Byrd chopped a sharp grounder to the Ranger second baseman who couldn't find the handle while Kenny Merritt dashed home, running in place of Ortiz.

Dan Lanfear drew another walk, forcing in the tying run before Citronelli blasted a bases loaded triple that put the Hawks up to stay, 16-13.

The fun was not over for Ranger yet. Citronelli scored on the next pitch on a balk by Ranger pitcher Fredi Lujan. Jimmy Garcia continued the barrage with a triple before Mark Howell drove him in with a line drive into right field. Scott Smith, Carrasco, and Ortiz all drew walks, forcing in Howell for the 19th run. Bruce Smith hit a sacrifice to deep left that easily scored Scott Smith.

Mike Byrd followed with a single and Citronelli drew a grateful walk that forced in Merritt. Jimmy Garcia finished off the amazing inning with his second triple of the inning. The right-center blast cleared the bases and allowed the Hawks to end the game at 24-13.

HC 4, Ranger 3

Howard ace Chuck Ashcraft posted his sixth win of the year in the second game five hit complete game victory.

Ranger jumped out on top in the top of the first inning as Jerald Jackson led off with a single against the sophomore righthander from Fort Worth. Jackson scored an unearned run when Tim Kriss hit a ball to Hawk third baseman Roland Gonzales and he could not find the handle.

Howard tied the game at 1-1 in the bottom of the second inning when Mark Howell opened with a triple. Joe Cuellar drove Howell with a sacrifice fly to left field.

In the top of the third, Ranger third baseman Omar Brewer drove in two runs with a double to left field that Mark Howell momentarily lost in the sun, giving Ranger the lead 3-1.

Howard came back in the bottom of the fifth to score what would eventually be the winning runs. Steve Carrasco opened the inning with a single to center field. Gonzales kept the drive alive on an error by the Ranger centerfielder who dropped on his pop fly. Citronelli drove in Carrasco with a sacrifice fly to pull the Hawks with one. Jimmy Garcia provided the game-winning runs with a two run single that scored Citronelli and Dan Lanfear, who reached base on a walk.

Howard raised its record to 21-5 on the year and 9-3 in Region 5 play. The Hawks will play Texas Tech's JV Wednesday afternoon in Lubbock.

Stanford's JOHN MOFFET strokes his way to a first place seed as he posts a time 1:57.50 in the 200 yard Breaststroke event at the NCAA Swimming and Diving Championships in Austin, Texas.

Stanford swimmers on course

AUSTIN (AP) — California's top qualifier in the 200-yard breaststroke in 1:57.50 while Sean Murphy of Stanford clocked a 1:46.78 to be the top qualifier in the 200-yard backstroke.

Florida was the No. 1 qualifier in the 800-yard freestyle relay in a time of 6:28.46.

Finals in the events were scheduled Saturday night.

Stanford seized command of the 62nd championships Friday night behind the American record shattering performance of Morales.

The Cardinal team compiled 266 points while two-time defending champion Florida was second with 209.

Texas was third at 191 with John Moffet of Stanford was the Southern California 135.

Three American records fell, including Morris' 100-yard butterfly mark of 46.64 which he set in the trials, and another was tied. Morales splashed to a 46.52 effort with Texas A&M's Chris O'Neil second at 47.48.

California's Biondi eclipsed the 200-yard freestyle record of 1:33.80 by Gaines with a clocking of 1:33.22.

Thomas Jager of UCLA splashed to a 48.21 in the 100-yard backstroke to nip the American record of 48.25 by Texas' Rick Carey in 1983. Stanford's Dave Bottom was second in 48.68.

Curry retains boxing title

DALLAS (AP) — Fort Worth's Donald Curry didn't want to begin his new career as a junior middleweight this way — especially in front of hometown fans and on national television.

Curry, the reigning World Boxing Association and International Boxing Federation welterweight champion, had faced James "Hard Rock" Green for only 3:40 before the referee ended the bout and awarded Curry the victory Saturday.

Curry — weighing in at 154, up seven pounds from his welterweight of 147 — hit Green, of Irvington, N.J., with some quick shots to the head at the beginning of the second round.

Then, 40 after the round started, Curry caught Green with a left jab. Green said a thumb landed in his eye. Curry said the jab was "clean." Referee Dick Cole said the fight was over.

Curry, now 22-0, took the microphone after the bout and apologized to the crowd.

"I'm sorry the fight ended like this, but I will be back," he said. "I love this town, and I know that ya'll love me. Thanks for your support."

The crowd wasn't too kind to Cole, who had to suffer a rain of ice and paper cups after Curry spoke.

"The referee has the discretion of calling a standing eight-count," said Green, whose record fell to 20-5. "He didn't. He just said, 'the fight is over.' I was ready to continue."

Cole said he called the fight because "he said, 'My eye, my eye,' dropped his hands and didn't defend himself. Curry backed off. He's lucky Curry isn't an animal or he would have killed him."

"I just couldn't believe it," said Green, who weighed in at 153 1/2 pounds. "I was ready to continue, and he just said, 'it's over.' I said, 'How can you do this to me?' And he (Cole) said, 'You can't defend yourself, I have no choice.' Man, what a way to lose."

Afterward, Judge Spider Bynum, who refereed some of the undercard, said that similar fight-calling situations could become common.

Spencer

body is one fraught with the unadlylike lifting of tons of free weight and countless miles on the bicycle, running and walking. Mrs. Spencer also must make up for what is considered into today's bodybuilding circles to be a small frame. "I work out 4 hours a day, seven days a week during the competitive season, which runs from March through October," comments Spencer. "It's hard work, but working out is something that I enjoy. People accept the fact that I lift weights much more readily than they did when I was in high school."

Besides the time consuming rigors of weight training, Autumn must also find time to work on her free posing routine. Mrs. Spencer feels that her training in karate has given her an advantage over bigger competitors. "Karate has been a big help with my grace and fluidity in free posing," says Spencer. "Free posing is my favorite part of the bodybuilding competition because personality is a big factor. The audience really gets into the free posing and it's a nice feeling to pose for an enthusiastic audience."

Judging a bodybuilding contest consists of three different categories; muscularity, symmetry, and the free posing routine. The first two categories are judged on a number of prescribed mandatory poses by each competitor in each of the four weight classes. Besides the middleweight class that Mrs. Spencer competes in, there are lightweight, light heavyweight and heavyweight divisions in women's bodybuilding.

"There used to be only two classes when I first started competing, tall and short. But now the groups are more fairly distributed, although after all the winners are announced their is usually a final pose down to determine the overall champion," explains Spencer. "Lots of times a good big girl will win over a good short girl, but it really depends on who's judging. So far, I've been satisfied with the judging, although I've heard of contests where the judges were biased."

The long term plans for Mrs. Spencer include a full bodybuilding agenda this year and a one year sabbatical in 1986. "My husband and I would like very much to have a baby next year. I was worried at first that it would hamper my bodybuilding career, but I've seen a few women who have come back from having babies, and they look great. My dream is to make it to the Ms. Olympia contest, and I think I've got a chance if I keep working at it."

ODU, Georgia set for final

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Georgia Coach Andy Landers said Saturday even though his lineup for the NCAA championship game in women's basketball includes two All-Americans, opponent Old Dominion has more talent.

"We're fortunate that we have the two All-Americans, but the problem we have with the tournament is Old Dominion, in my opinion, has the most talented basketball team in the country and has more excellent players than we do," Landers said.

Said Old Dominion Coach Marianne Stanley: "Let's just say that both teams are awfully talented. They get the job done with more than one or two or three people."

No. 5-ranked Old Dominion, 30-3, advanced to Sunday's nationally televised NCAA women's title game by breaking Northeast Louisiana's 15-game winning streak 57-47.

Eighth-ranked Georgia, 29-4, beat Western Kentucky 91-78 before a crowd of 7,648 in the other Friday night semifinal game, which had to compete for spectators against NCAA swimming and diving championships and a University of Texas Southwest Conference baseball game.

The Lady Bulldogs start All-Americans Janet Harris and Teresa Edwards, a member of the U.S. gold medal Olympic women's basketball team. Old Dominion also has an All-American, Medina Dixon.

All three players and their coaches answered questions at a Saturday news conference.

"I think overall Old Dominion is quicker than we are, yet on the other hand, in terms of strength, we are probably a little bit stronger — more muscular inside than they are, so hopefully we can offset some of their quickness with that strength," said Landers.

"I think defensively both teams match up extremely well," said Stanley.

"Georgia is a very good team in converting turnovers and converting mistakes into points. I think we also excel in that area, so there are a lot of similarities between the two teams," she said.

Stanley described Edwards as "really the glue for Georgia," but when she was asked about individual matchups, she said, "I don't think any one matchup will make or break what happens."

Old Dominion shot only 37 percent from the field in its victory over No. 2 Northeast Louisiana, and Stanley said, "Offensively, we're going to have to shoot the ball better. I don't think we can rely on Bridget Jenkins to get our fannies out of the fire."

Jenkins had 16 of Old Dominion's 27 first-half points and finished with 18.

"I think we've made believers out of them that defense wins championships," Stanley said of her players.

Both coaches were asked about the small turnout of their fans for the NCAA championship tournament, and they attributed it to the long distance from Georgia and Norfolk, Va., home of Old Dominion, to Austin.

"I know their hearts and spirit are with us, and that's enough right now — if it were closer, they would be here," said Stanley.

"That's exactly the way I feel," said Landers. "The telephone rang until 2 o'clock in the morning with people calling and congratulating. I know that they're supportive. We just need to try to take it (the title) back to them."

McEnroe, in Milan finals

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Top-seeded John McEnroe made short work of Switzerland's Jakob Hlasek 6-3, 6-2 Saturday night and moved into the final of the $380,000 Fila Trophy indoor tennis tournament.

In Sunday's finale at Milan's Lido Sports Palace, which is worth $60,000 to the winner, the 26-year-old New Yorker will face Sweden's Anders Jarryd.

In a first semifinal, the second-seeded Swede downed Czechoslovakian veteran Tomas Smid, seeded fifth, 6-3, 7-6. Jarryd won the tiebreaker 7-0.

McEnroe, ranked No. 1 in the world, and Jarryd will face each other for the fifth time in their careers. McEnroe had won four times.

A determined McEnroe played consistent tennis to overcome his 20-year-old opponent in nearly one hour.

Hlasek, a Czechoslovakian-born player who was a finalist in the tournament at Rotterdam, the Netherlands, last Sunday, was overwhelmed by the American, who displayed a wide range of winning shots — from lobs and passing shots to volleys and smashes. McEnroe also served four aces.

He broke Hlasek's serve in the second game of the first set. And he did it in the fifth and seventh games of the second set.

The hot-tempered American, who can grab his fourth victory in as many tournaments this year, avoided any controversial behavior before the sold-out audience, unlike the previous nights when he fought a hostile crowd in addition to the opponents.

McEnroe was clearly tense only in the last game of the second set when there were whistles and boos when he fell behind 15-40 while serving for the match. He fought back to deuce and, after missing three match points, he finally closed out the semifinal battle.

"I think that the crowd likes provoking me," McEnroe said after the match.

About Sunday's final, McEnroe noted that Jarryd "has improved in the last year. He has a better serve and more confidence. ... He will be a tough opponent. The two last matches against him have been very close."

Jarryd, a member of Sweden's Davis Cup team and winner of the tournament at Brussels, Belgium, two weeks ago, volleyed well and hit excellent passing shots against Smid.

Jarryd, who served four aces and made three double-faults, broke Smid's serve twice in the first set, in the second and sixth games, for a 5-1 lead.

After missing three set points on his serve, Jarryd suffered a break and needed the ninth game to win the set.

In the second set, both players lost their serve once and were tied 6-6.

Successfully following his serve to the net and exploiting some unforced errors by Smid, Jarryd breezed to a 7-0 triumph in the tiebreaker.

Jarryd, who has a record of one win and four losses against McEnroe, said he was confident of having "a good day Sunday."

Steer golfers

10th in 4-5A

The Big Spring Steers golfers raised themselves from 11th to 10th place in the second round of District 4-5A varsity golf action over the weekend. The Steers have a 720 total for two rounds. The second round of play was completed at the Bent Tree Country club in San Angelo.

Abilene Cooper was leading the competition after two rounds with a total of 626. The Cooper B squad was second at 640.

Individual leaders for the second round of play were; Bobby Gee of Lee 75, Jeff Foster of Cooper also shot a 75.

Individually for the Steers Freshman Steve Ross led the A team with a 88 on the day. Robert Gilbert came in at 91. Jeff Rhodes fired a 94. Marc Couch had a 97 and Micheal Porch rounded out the first team scores with a 102.

Big Spring B team score were as follows; Mike Carroll 104; Larry Garcia 105; Tony Stuteville 114; James Averette 117; and Frank Reyna 118.

The Steers will continue District play next week in Abilene. The tournament will be played at Abilene's Fairways Oaks Country Club during Friday and Saturday of this week.

Activities keep students busy

The last week of March has been filled with activities that has kept the Garden City students very busy.

Congratulations to members of the one-act play. After winning the Zone competition, they advanced to District, which they also won. The cast advances to Area contest in O'Donnell Friday.

Those receiving honors at Zone were: Jr. Navarro — Best Actor; Stephanie Frerich and Lynn Sparks — All-Star Cast, and Debbie Bednar — Honorable Mention. At district, Navarro added another Best Actor medal to his collection, while Miss Frerich and Cecelia Hirt made All-Star Cast. Jana Hunter received Honorable Mention.

The satirical farce, "Much Ado About John's Other Wife", includes a cast of Navarro, Miss Hirt, Miss Frerich, Miss Sparks, Miss Bednar, Gina Wilde, Jeannie Carstensen and Gina Schaefer, who is taking Jana Hunter's place at Area competition.

The stage crew is Celi Madrid and Travis Halfmann. Special thanks to our play director, Coach Teresa Thedford.

The Garden City Tennis Tournament was held last weekend. Corky Turner placed 3rd in boys' singles, while Dinette Haoldampf took 2nd place in girls' singles. In boys' doubles, John Breneman and Raomon Lopez received 2nd place.

On March 21, Garden City held its annual Spring Coronation. The elementary king and queen were Rindy Hamby and Jason Phillips of 1st grade. The high school king and queen were seniors Lynn Sparks and Ed Wayne Cypert. Congratulations!

The track teams attended the Irion Co. Relays March 23 and took some individual honors. Bryan Thompson took 1st place in the one-mile and two-mile.

The Lady Kats set a record in the 1,600 meter relay with a time at was only three seconds off their time at the State meet last year. Members of the winning team are Carol Hoelscher, Dana Hillger, Jena Schaefer and Jacques Jost.

Both the boys' and girls' track teams traveled to Wink Saturday to compete in a track meet.

Historic hotel won't budge

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — After four unsuccessful attempts, workers Saturday muscled the 3.2 million pound Fairmount Hotel the first 17 feet of its four-block journey to a new site.

The hotel, which promoters say may be the heaviest structure ever moved in one piece on city streets, turned out to be more difficult to lug away from its foundations than engineers first thought.

But "we're confident the hotel will be able to be moved safely," said Nicholas Van Steenberg, whose Van Steenberg-Wright Development Co. is paying for the move. "The critical point was getting it out."

Work crews had to add two extra cranes and a tractor rig to a contingent of one crane and seven dump trucks loaded down with gravel to heave the three-story building off its resting place for the past 79 years.

A crowd of about 1,000 spectators held at bay a block away cheered their approval after the structure made its first move of about a foot to a chorus of grinding engines.

Workers tried unsuccessfully four times to move the hotel earlier Saturday and spent hours working out the kinks in their plan to relocate the structure to its new site.

City Public Works Director Frank Kiobassa said, "Everything is going to go. There's no problem with the building."

The structure is resting on 36 hydraulic-powered dollies and four layers of steel beams have been placed in a criss-cross pattern underneath the structure.

After the first move, workers rushed under the building to rotate the dollies and re-position the beams.

"The first day is always the rough one because you've got to work out all the bugs," Kiobassa said.

Much of Saturday morning was spent laying steel plates on Commerce Street in front of the hotel. Kiobassa said the plates would protect a water line 24 inches below the pavement.

Workers lined up two rows of dump trucks and threaded a huge cable through pulleys attached to both the trucks and the hotel platform. The cable was fed through a high-powered crane designed to do the actual pulling.

Each time the crane pulled the cable, drivers in the dump truck raced their engines.

In preparation for the move, which is expected to take four days, workers pulled down street lights and sheered off parking meters and utility poles.

Play advances to Area competition

The One-Act Play "The Children's Story" advanced to UIL Area competition. The Area competition will be April 5 at Kermit High School in Kermit.

Members of the cast receiving individual district honors were: Tammie Goodin, Stephani Dobbs and Stacey Ream, who were appointed to the All-Star Cast. Mary Jo Moron and Jacob Ruiz received Honorable Mention for their parts in the play.

The stage crew is: Suzy Perkins, Tommy White and Tony Torres. Their help is much appreciated.

OEA students are going to Austin to compete in a UIL Office Education Association meet. They will leave April 29, stay overnight, and finish competition on April 30.

The boys' varsity track team will go to San Angelo to compete in a track meet at Angelo High School. The varsity girls' track team went to Seminole to compete in a track meet at Seminole High School.

Six weeks tests will be given April 3-4. Coahoma schools will be out April 5-8 for Easter holidays.

McKeown advances to Regionals

Last Friday, the UIL literary events were held at Abilene Cooper. Several students advanced to Regionals, which will be held at Lubbock High.

Kevin McKeown qualified for Regionals in feature writing and headline writing. In headline writing, he had a 1st place finish and placed 3rd in features. He also placed 6th in newswriting but will not advance in this event.

Quang Mai received a 3rd place finish in the spelling competition. This is Quang's third year to compete, and "it finally paid off," said Mai.

Being their first year to compete, Laura Ogburn and Jennifer Poe did well in the spelling event.

Other competitors in the literary events were: Sue Leshner, John Woodall, Lan Mai and Terry Lynch. Congratulations to all students, and good luck at Regionals.

'Trojan Women' receives alternate

On March 23, the One-act play "Trojan Women" competed for District at Garden City. They received alternate play, and Roscoe and Garden City will advance to Area at O'Donnell.

Several students received awards for their individual performance. Those receiving Honorable Mention All-Star Cast were Thad Sneed, Sherril Winn and Angel Cannon. Those awarded with All-Star Cast were Danielle Clere and Dana Hiltbrunner.

Also at Garden City on March 23, Tom Thompson and Mark Smith won 3rd place at the Garden City

Tennis Tournament. The team will travel to Abilene for another tournament on Friday.

Six weeks tests will be given this week. The schedule will be as follows: Tuesday — 1 and 4, Wednesday — 3, 6, and 7, and Thursday — 2 and 5.

School will be let out at 2:30 p.m. Thursday due to the Easter holiday and will resume on Wednesday, April 10.

The track teams will travel to Robert Lee April 6 for a track meet.

CHECK UNDER THE HOOD? — Marian Buzbee started working on cars while dating husband Charles. Over the years, she has worked her way up to being a mechanic equal to her husband. In addition to being a mechanic and wife, she is a mother and aerobics instructor.

Mrs. Goodwrench

Marian Buzbee: wife, mother, mechanic

By KIM KIRKHAM
Lifestyle Writer

C&M Garage has a Mrs. Goodwrench. A wife, a mother and a mechanic, Marian Buzbee works side-by-side and under the hood with husband Charles.

A full-time mechanic for 13 years and a part-time mechanic for 7 years, her interest in mechanics grew with her interest in Charles. Their marriage of 21 years began with her handing Charles tools. She then started learning and cleaning parts and pulling motors. "It was interesting to me to learn what everything is. "Instead of going on dates, we would work on cars," said Mrs. Buzbee. "I much preferred to work with him to be with him."

Now after many years of watching over Charles' shoulder and practicing, Mrs. Buzbee is as skilled under the hood as her husband.

She does 90 percent of the motor work and carburetor work at their garage, 3301 W. Highway 80. But "I don't do anything electrical." She enjoys working on carburetors, building motors and brake work the most.

"I'm reasonably good," she said. "I can do a lot of things as good but not better than Charles. He's just mechanically inclined. I've had to learn everything where he can rationalize things out."

"He's always worked on cars," she said. "Charles has the patients to teach anyone."

"I was raised on a farm so hard work was never a stranger." Her father, Hubert Gilbert, is the former shop manager at Broughton and Wise Implement Co. When he retired, her brother, James Gilbert, replaced him.

The Buzbees have a daughter Alicia, 20, and a son John, 18. "John couldn't care nothing about working on cars," said Mrs. Buzbee. However, her daughter has a strong interest in it, working for her parents for six months before going to college.

Mrs. Buzbee used to be afraid her children would be ashamed of her. "A lot of times I'd have to go to school and wouldn't have time to change clothes. But both of them would run around saying 'My mama's a mechanic.'"

Alicia is studying at Texas State Technological Institute in Sweetwater to be a computer technician. John is a senior at Big Spring High School.

"It's just not a profession many women go into. For one thing, you always have grease under your fingernails."

"I enjoy working with the public," Mrs. Buzbee said. But "it took me a long time to get used to my customers and them used to me. They'd just always look at me and say 'You're a lady. You don't know anything.' Now when my customers call, they'll ask me just as often as they ask Charles."

Mrs. Buzbee often gets angry with customers, even women customers, who go to the male mechanic instead of her. "I know that I know as much mechanical stuff as a certified mechanic."

"It's just not a profession many women go into," she said. "For one thing, you always have grease under your fingernails. It still bothers me sometimes."

"I don't think I would enjoy mechanicking if I had to work with a large company," said Mrs. Buzbee. "But here I enjoy it, because we can cut up." She says it also is convenient having Charles around if she has any questions.

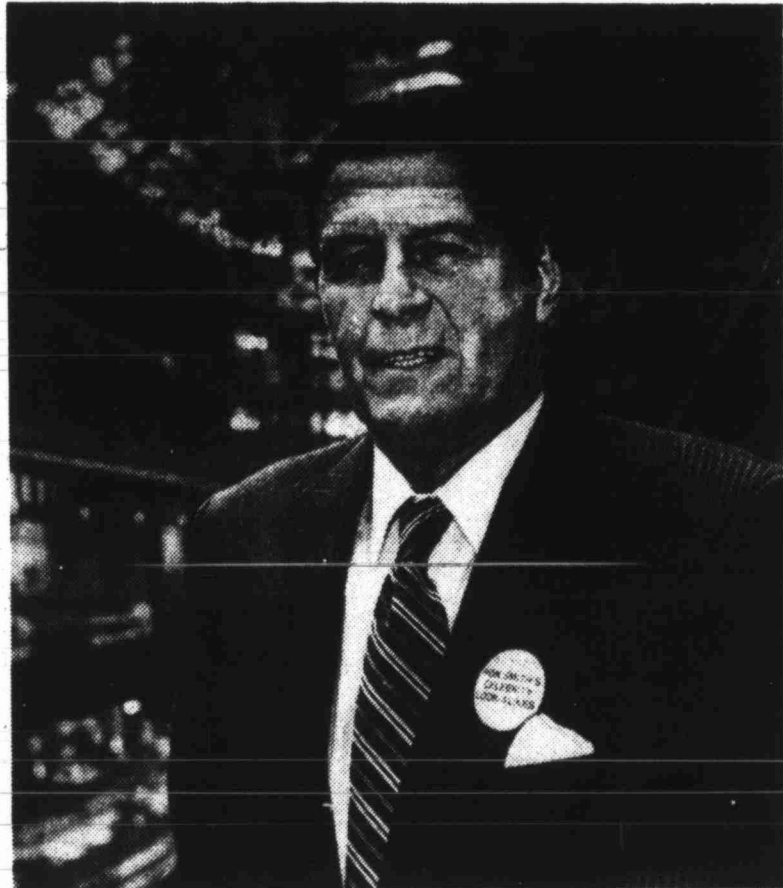

"Since we're together more or less 24 hours a day, he doesn't have his friends and I don't have mine. They're usually friends to both of us."

The only activities she participates in that her husband is excluded from are teaching aerobics and being in a sorority. But when Mrs. Buzbee taught aerobics at the Body Centre, he was in the class. Her other hobbies include snow and water skiing and motorcycle riding.

"Charles and I have a very good working relationship, and we enjoy working together," said Mrs. Buzbee. "We just make a good team. Anything mechanical to do on the car, we can do it."

"When we go home, we leave the shop here. We don't take our frustrations home with us," she said. "Working side-by-side all the time, you get to be real good friends as well as being in love with each other."

"(Charles) respects the idea that I can do the work, and he's proud of me."

LOOKING PRESIDENTIAL — For George "Ronnie" Wilson, Ronald Reagan's re-election means the former electric company worker can serve a "second term" as one of the president's "look-alikes."

Reagan 'double' faces four more busy years

By M.R. KROPKO

Associated Press Writer
CLEVELAND (AP) — George "Ronnie" Wilson was thrilled when Ronald Wilson Reagan, whom he is said to closely resemble, won re-election as president of the United States.

Reagan's second term means more income for Wilson, who is one of several recognized presidential look-alikes across the nation.

The 67-year-old retired automobile plant worker from Lordstown, Ohio, appears frequently at conventions, parties and industrial shows nationwide and also shows up on TV talk shows. He attracts curious stares when he goes into public places, and caused a stir in Washington at the inaugural festivities.

"It is a little bit uncomfortable," the soft-spoken Wilson said in Cleveland, where he appeared on two local television shows. "I never made any public speeches or anything like that before in my life. Now I'm thinking about taking a course in public speaking."

"I want to get into helping some of my 'fellow' politicians. I'd like to make some appearances for them and help them along. I hope his popularity does stay."

Since 1982, Wilson has been employed by Ron Smith Celebrity

Look-Alikes, a West Hollywood, Calif., firm which finds look-alikes of famous people.

Smith said his firm has some 5,000 look-alikes of a number of well-known people available.

"I do have four other Ronald Reagan look-alikes — two in Los Angeles, one in Philadelphia and one in Houston," Smith said. "George is about the best. He's got the height, the facial features and carries off the illusion well."

"Mr. Reagan is a very popular president, so we think Mr. Wilson will be a very popular look-alike. We chose Mr. Wilson to go to Washington (for the inauguration) because we felt he was one of our better look-alikes."

"I would like to meet the president, definitely," Wilson said. "It's hard for me to believe people call me Ronnie Reagan. I'd kind of like the president to say he looks like George Wilson."

Wilson said the resemblance first became apparent when he was a high school student and Reagan was a young Hollywood film star. "Some of the girls used to kid me and say they saw me at the movies," he said.

When Reagan began running for president in the mid-1970s, the resemblance again affected

Square dancing unites all ages

A kaleidoscope of butterfly-fluttery skirts and crinoline petticoats swirl as the square dancers follow caller Red Warrick's directions. He skillfully "moves the girls" in a changing pattern.

The staid Pottsboro High School gym and cafeteria pulse to the rhythmic beat of country music as almost 600 foot-stamping, hand-clapping dancers take their places in four-couple squares.

"Channel through, now link arms and circle!"

Arriving by the busload, as well as RV and camper, dancers and callers poured into Pottsboro recently to take part in the NORTEX (North Texas Square and Round Dance Association) square dance area's "first ever" two-day jamboree, sponsored by the Lakeside Dudes and Dolls square dance club.

Said Ginger Burns, wife (or "taw" in square dance lingo) of the Pottsboro club caller, Jim Burns, "They're here from Oklahoma City to Houston, from Lufkin to Mineral Wells and every little town in between."

Thirty-three callers, ranging in age from 14-year-old Clint Owens to Jim Horn who started in 1947, took their turns calling "tips" (a set of two dances).

Each caller, voicing his own particular style and choosing from the 135 basic calls, led the dancers in intricate patterns — building maneuver on maneuver, changing directions, finally returning each dancer to his or her original spot in the square as the record ended.

"Dancers don't go by the music. They go by the calls," said Horn, adding that being a good caller is "90 percent making dancers respond to your personality so they have fun while they dance."

Warrick, 62, who has written and recorded more than 50 square dance records, said he "has slowed down" from his 1945 pace of calling as many as eight dances a week — in addition to working a full time job. Now, he declares, he only teaches two classes, is the regular caller for Red's Rompers in Henderson and calls for 32 area clubs "on invitation."

"Seesaw, pretty little taw —

munity approximately 70 miles north of Dallas. Hundreds of dancers converged in the north Texas town for the area's "first ever" two-day jamboree.

ladies in, men circle!"

The dancers progress smoothly from pattern to pattern, weaving in and out — following the directions of 14-year-old Clint Owens, Hallsville eighth grader who says, "It's not your age that counts — it's can you call the dance."

Recently named the National Folk Dance of the United States, square dancing brings together people from all walks of life and in all age groups.

Brandi Harbin, 8, dons the full denim skirt and ruffled red blouse and petticoats of her club, the Happy Hoofers, because she "likes visiting lots of places;" Ray and Frances Wood of the McKinney Twisters are celebrating Ray's 65th birthday at the jamboree; Bill and Vida Black, both past 80 and members of the Dudes and Dolls, never miss their club's dances and frequently travel with the group to dance in other towns.

Brushing her hair back and catching her breath, one dancer said she and her husband started dancing when they moved to a new town and, out of all the clubs, churches and organizations they checked, they found square dancers were "the friendliest and happiest people."

"Sashay in, sashay out — now, swing that corner!" Leaving behind their everyday lives as students, factory workers, business owners, doctors and bankers, the colorfully clad dancers seem to embody the major emphasis of square dancing — fun, friendship, fellowship.

"Swing your lady — now all promenade home!"

Technician reaches pinnacle of career often

CHARLESTON, W. Va. — Larry Hoskins has reached the pinnacle of his career, but he's been doing that regularly during his 10 years as a radio communications technician.

Hoskins, who sometimes has to climb radio towers up to 300 feet tall, was hanging above the roof of Charleston's city hall this week, installing the city's new emergency communications center's antenna. Although his work takes him to the top of towers only a few times a year, he always looks forward to an opportunity to reach the rarefied atmosphere above a city.

"It's real peaceful up there," said the 28-year-old employee of Electronic Communications of Cross Lanes. "Charleston looks so nice and neat and laid out. You can see the Kanawha River winding down through the valley."

A tower climber is only as secure as the 10- to 15-pound leather belt that keeps him strapped to the top. "The main thing is the fear of falling," Hoskins said. "You don't have that fear if you have good equipment and a good frame of mind."

Volunteers celebrate Doctors Day

MALONE-HOGAN VOLUNTEERS celebrated Doctors Day Friday, a day earlier than the traditional March 30 date set aside to honor the nation's doctors. A reception for the hospital's medical staff was held Friday morning in the doctor's library in the clinic building. Tray tents were placed on patients' lunch trays to encourage patients to honor their individual doctors that day. Doctors Day was first celebrated March 30, 1933, commemorating the anniversary of medicine's first use of anesthesia in 1842. This particular date was chosen because of its significant erasure of pain and suffering in surgical operations. Coordinating the Malone-Hogan observance was DIXIE HOGAN. Assisting her were MYRL SOLES, volunteers' president, President-elect MADELINE SCHWARZ, and JAYNIE BRANHAM, volunteer. MARK ANTHONY GOMEZ had a big birthday this year for he received his solo pilot's license on that day. Mark turned 16 on March 23. Mark took his pilot's training from instructor HOMER "RICK" RICKABAUGH of Trans Regional-Air and plans to continue his pilot's training. He wants to become an airline pilot in the future.

Mark is a sophomore at Big Spring High School and the son of MR. AND MRS. DAVID GOMEZ, 402 N.W. 9th. M.A. SNELL, four other Lampasas investors and an Austin businessman have filed an application with the Banking Department of Texas to charter a new bank in Lampasas, according to the Lampasas Dispatch Record in its March 25 issue. If you remember, Snell lived in Big Spring from 1970 to 1979 and was senior vice president and director of First National Bank.

His wife, the former JEANETTE RAY, is the daughter of DOIS AND MARY RAY of Gail Route. After leaving Big Spring, Snell was senior vice president with Plains National Bank in Lubbock. Snell has been selected by the board of directors for the proposed First State Bank of Lampasas to serve as chairman of the board. The president of the bank and other officers will be selected later pending approval of the application. The application was filed March 15, and a hearing has been set for May 21 at the State Banking Department.

Dear Abby

Mom worries daughter may be promiscuous

DEAR ABBY: Recently I found a letter my 10-year-old daughter had written to a boy at school. Giving in to sudden impulse, I read the letter, and was shocked to find that it was a love letter! When I told her that I had read it and thought we should have a talk, she was angry at me for "sticking my nose in her business." I apologized for violating her privacy, and explained that I felt that she was my business. I also told her that she was much too young for a sexual relationship, but apparently she is already sexually active. I am worried sick! My daughter — my "baby" — may be only 10, but she could easily pass for 14. How can I prevent her from becoming promiscuous? Her letter to that boy was unbelievable, Abby. I was an unwed mother at 16, and I don't want history to repeat itself with my daughter. Please tell me what to do.

CONCERNED IN SACRAMENTO

DEAR CONCERNED: Now is the time to build a solid bridge instead of a fence between you and your daughter. She's angry now — and has a right to be — but she needs to know that you are prepared to answer every question (including birth control) that she asks. Share with her your own experiences — the mistakes that came from innocence, ignorance and human weakness. Don't judge her; love her enough to be there for her — no matter what.

DEAR ABBY: My doctor is always late. I have tried taking his first appointment of the day, but invariably he is at least 45 minutes late getting started. I've tried making later appointments, but it's even worse; in addition to starting late, he falls behind. I'm a working person, and time off costs me money. Where does he get off wasting my time and costing me money?

He's a very good doctor and I like him, but I am fed up. Don't tell me he's out saving lives; he's a dermatologist! What should I do?

MAD IN MINNEAPOLIS

DEAR MAD: Knowing that the doctor is chronically late, telephone his office and ask his vacuum cleaner. Greeting guests were the honoree, her mother Sarah West, and Mrs. Edward Slate, mother of the prospective bridegroom. Out of town guests were Mrs. Don Grigg of Brownfield and Sandy Womack and Donna Jan Oliver of Lubbock. Guests were served from a table draped with a white linen and lace cloth. The couple will wed April 20 at the Fourteenth and Main Church of Christ with Doug Morris, youth minister, officiating.

Wilson's life. "Where I worked, they all started to change my name from George Wilson to Ronnie Reagan, and then they just called me Ronnie. It became my nickname in the plant," Wilson said. Smith came to Youngstown in 1981 seeking a Kenny Rogers double. Wilson met Smith, who was impressed and has been guiding his "double" career since. "I was hoping he would be rejected," Wilson said. "... A lot of people ask me why I don't try to get the same voice. I don't want to go too far with it by imitating too much. I don't want to push it too hard."

Weddings

Pringle-Miller

Cindy Pringle of Midland and Charles W. Miller Jr. were united in marriage at The Stampede Saturday evening. Justice of the Peace Lewis Hefflin officiated at the 6:30 p.m. rite before the band's stage.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard McMahan, Coahoma. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller, Big Spring.

Jody Nix, fiddler, provided music for the ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The bride wore a white lace blouse and blue jean skirt with boots. She carried a bouquet of white and yellow daisies.

Bridal attendants were: Laquana Jones of Midland, bridesmaid; Danny Lewis, Ray Phillips and Gary Gillahan, groomsmen; and Tanner Pringle, ring bearer.

Following the ceremony, the couple was honored at a reception and dance at the same location. The bride's table featured a cream sheet cake topped with a chocolate horseshoe.

The bride is a graduate of Coahoma High School in Coahoma and Howard College. She is employed by American Petrofina

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES MILLER JR. ...were wed at The Stampede

Co. of Texas in Midland.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Big Spring High School and Howard College. He is employed by Cain Electric.

Following a wedding trip to an undisclosed location, the couple live in Lomax.

Thomas-Stripling

Memorial Drive United Methodist Church in Houston was the setting for the Saturday evening wedding of Tamara Lyn Thomas of Houston and Hayes Franklin Stripling III. Dr. H. Eugene Cragg, pastor, officiated at the 7 p.m. rite before an altar decorated with a large mixed arrangement of lilies, roses and spring flowers.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Charles Thomas, Houston. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hayes Franklin Stripling Jr., 613 Edwards.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore an ivory taffeta gown accented with Alencon lace. The bodice of taffeta, re-embroidered lace and pearls featured a portrait neckline and elbow-length puff sleeves. The full skirt fell from the natural waistline into a chapel-length train.

The bride carried a loose bouquet of long-stem roses, freesia and baby's breath.

Carolyn Kay Thomas of Houston served her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Jennifer Delise Lee of Houston and Susan Elizabeth Purzer of Houston.

Kyle Lindsey Stripling of Dallas served his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Timothy Charles Thomas of Houston, brother of the bride, and Kelly Green of Dallas.

Following the ceremony, the couple was feted at a reception at Lakeside Country Club in Houston. The bride's table featured a three-tiered candlelight white cake with French draping and tassels. The buffet table was highlighted with fresh spring flowers, a swan ice carving and a silver candelabrum.

The bride is a graduate of Westchester High School in Houston and University of Texas in Austin. She is employed by Malone and Hogan Clinic in Big Spring.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Big Spring High School and earned his bachelor's degree in chemical engineering at Texas A & M University in College Station and his master's of business administration degree at the University of Texas in Austin. He is employed by Permian Research in Big Spring.

Following a wedding trip to Hawaii, the couple will live in Big Spring.

Lifestyle guidelines

We will be pleased to announce the news of your engagement, wedding, silver or golden anniversary in the Lifestyle section of the Big Spring Herald. We try to use the story on the date you request, but sometimes space does not permit this. The information must be submitted to us on a form available at the Herald no later than Wednesday noon before the Sunday it is to be published. The form must include a name and telephone number of a person whom we can reach during the day for more information.

We will use a picture of the couple in the announcement. Or in the case of engagement announcements where a picture of the couple is not available, we will use one of the bride-elect. The picture must be a professional quality studio photograph. We prefer a 5 x 7 glossy black and white print. We ask for this kind of photograph so that it will reproduce well in the newspaper. Following the picture's publication, it may be picked up at the Lifestyle department.

The information for the story may be brought to the Lifestyle department of the Herald, which is located at 710 Scurry. Or it may be mailed to Lifestyle Department, Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 1431, Big Spring, Texas 79720. Call us at (915) 263-7373 if we can help with more information or clarification of our policies.

ENGAGEMENTS
Information of engagement announcements must be submitted to the Lifestyle department of the Herald anytime after the engagement is a reality until at least three weeks prior to the wedding. Anything closer than three weeks will not be published. The engagement form must be submitted no later than Wednesday noon prior to the Sunday it is to be published.

If the bride-elect, prospective bridegroom or their parents do not now or have never lived in our area, we need to know why you are submitting your engagement to the Herald; if only grandparents live in our area, please give their names and addresses.

WEDDINGS
If a wedding writup is submitted to the Herald after the wedding has occurred, the space allotted to it will diminish according to the length of time that has passed since the wedding.

BIRTHS
Local hospitals supply information for Storkclub. If a child is born elsewhere in the newspaper's circulation area, or is born to out-of-town parents with local or area grandparents, please contact the Herald Lifestyle Department with Storkclub information.

Information needed for Storkclub is: newborn's name, sex, time and date of birth, weight, place of birth, parents' name and address. If the baby is born outside the circulation area but has local grandparents, please include their name and address. The local grandparents serve as the area connection for the information.

By LILA ESTES

Q.: We have a new house selected. However, we won't be able to get enough cash from the sale of our present house to make a large down payment to reduce the mortgage payments needed to qualify for a new mortgage. It was suggested we take back a large second mortgage on our home to apply to the mortgage on the new home. Will this be considered as income by the lender?

A.: Yes. Income from all reliable sources must be considered by the lender, and that includes jobs, interest, dividends, steady overtime, second jobs, child support and income derived from mortgages you own. You'll probably have to carry back financing for the buyer of your home, and that's how you should purchase your new home: with a large mortgage.

Former agent speaks about her career to businesswomen

Former FBI Agent Dee Dee Cauley spoke to the Cactus Chapter of the American Business Womens Association at a meeting March 18 at Alberto's. An agent from 1980 to 1982, Ms. Cauley is now a teacher at Big Spring High School. She told of the strict requirements and top security clearance required as well as a four-month training academy before being accepted. She also shared details of some of her most important cases as well as humorous situations. The vocation speaker was Pam Welch, secretary to Richard Palmer in the law office of Little, Palmer and Williams. Ms. Welch operates the word processor as well as other office machines. Because Palmer is a defense attorney, Ms.

Welch is involved in investigative work. Mickie Potter, employee of the Big Spring State Hospital, and Blance Berryhill, transfer member, were installed. Lupe Dominguez, co-chairman of the Spring Enrollment Tea said one new member was gained. Elaine Tubb reported on the workshops she attended on getting members more involved. The national convention in San Antonio also was discussed.

Canine joggers incurring injuries

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Veterinarians report dogs are incurring injuries while jogging with their masters. Heatstroke, twisted legs and muscle inflammation are some of the maladies that can strike the dogs. They say that if you take your dog for a run keep him on a leash and stop frequently for water.

Rebekah Assembly reported on at local meeting

Sheri Wilson reported on the Rebekah Assembly held in Abilene to members of the Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 284 at a meeting March 26. Forty-two visits were made to the sick. Past Noble Grands will meet at 7 p.m. Monday at the home of Frances Loftis. Rebekahs having birthdays in April will be honored at a meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. Donohue

Solving the exercise allergy link

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My husband, who is 29 years old, gets a very dramatic reaction every so often. He turns very red. He itches. His facial features become distorted, and his skin breaks out in a rash. On the worst such occasion he also suffered from diarrhea, cramps, runny nose, and breathing difficulty. The most recent attack occurred after playing basketball for more than an hour. Before that he was afflicted several times right after running outside. Once this happened after eating in a restaurant in France. We always assumed he was bitten by a bug or had touched a poisonous plant. But the indoor basketball game ruled that out, I guess. Is there any prevention or cure for this? — A.R.

What you describe fits a condition known as exercise-induced allergic reaction. You can have itching, redness, welts, swelling, diarrhea, headache, dizziness, vomiting, a drop in blood pressure, and even total collapse. Breathing difficulties encountered with this resemble that from asthma or hay fever.

Your reference to food causes also fits the picture. Some people with this may have allergies to certain foods. In this form (food dependent exercise induced allergy) common offenders are shrimp and celery, but there are many, many other possibilities. I don't know what your husband can do. For the present, of course, he has to avoid such situations, because they can, as you know, be quite dangerous. You have to investigate the food-exercise link. An allergist can help you begin your search, and he also may want to prescribe emergency medicine for any future attack.

Your husband should limit his exercise, at very least, and he should avoid eating anything for two hours before exercise. Now, there are other conditions that induce such reactions — heat or cold, for example. But I really think your husband has the food-exercise reaction problem and should see his doctor about it.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Within the last couple of years I have noticed several veins showing through on my legs. Recently, I started running and now run two miles a day at least three times a week. I also walk two miles five days out of seven. I am generally very athletic. What type effect does the running have on my varicose veins? I am told walking is helpful. — D.S.

Neither running nor walking has been implicated as a cause or as an aggravation of varicose veins. To the contrary, we have evidence that by keeping blood flowing briskly through the leg veins, such exercise can be beneficial. The condition is discussed in the booklet, "How to Deal with Varicose Veins." Readers may order a copy by writing me, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents for printing and handling.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: After playing racquetball for an hour and a half I lost two pounds. How can one lose so much fat so quickly? I know I do because I make a habit of weighing myself before and after playing. — S.

It would be nice to be able to lose that much fat so quickly, and I am going to have to tell you it's not possible. You are not losing that much fat. Most of that weight loss is liquid.

A pint of sweat weighs about a pound. Your two pound loss, then, indicates a sweat loss of about two pints. It means you have to be sure to take a water break if you are sweating that much. And you should replenish your liquid loss with plenty of water afterward.

Do you often have a "stomach ache"? If so, your stomach may not be the real trouble spot. The booklet, "Stomach and Other Abdominal Pains: A Checklist," tells you why. For a copy, write to Dr. Donohue, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and $1.00.

Group celebrates March birthdays

The National Association of Retired and Veteran Railway Employees celebrated March birthdays at their meeting and pot luck supper, March 21, at Kentwood Center. Those having birthdays were: Mrs. Marlin, Mrs. J.T. Culpepper, Mrs. Coats, and J.J. Richardson.

Mrs. W.W. Marlin was appointed refreshment committee chairman, and Margaret Barnett resigned as secretary-treasurer effective June 16. Mrs. J.T. Anderson, W.W. Marlin and Doris Coats were appointed to recommend a secretary-treasurer to fill the unexpired term.

A moment of silence was held in memory of Ferrell Hamill who recently died. Visitors at the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Sam Anderson, Julie Richardson and Mrs. J.M. Griffith.

A pot luck supper will be at 6:30 p.m. April 16 at the Kentwood Older Adult Center.

Nathan Green named outstanding employee

It has often been said that the way to a person's heart is through his stomach, and that to the average individual nothing is more satisfying than a well-cooked and nourishing meal.

Nathan Green, who has been one of the head chefs at Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital for 26 years, subscribes to this theory.

His co-workers and members of the hospital staff selected him as the Outstanding Employee for the Quarter beginning April 1, 1985, not only because of his culinary artistry but for his loyal and dedicated service to the hospital for many years.

"In all of the 34 years I have been associated with this hospital, I have never received a major complaint about the meal service, and this in itself is a testimonial to Nathan's skills," said Administrator Charles A. Weeg. "I am most happy that he has received this award."

Green attended Big Spring schools. He joined the hospital staff Sept. 20, 1959, and has been continuously employed there since.

Active in community affairs, Green is a charter member of the Webb Spring Lions Club. He is past president of the club and has served as membership chairman. Green also is active in church work at Baker's Chapel Methodist Church.

...outstanding employee

Green has two daughters, a son, and a granddaughter. In his spare time, he enjoys fishing, cooking out, football and baseball.

Renown artist to judge show

The Big Spring Art Association is sponsoring an area art show April 12-14 at Highland Shopping Center. Judging the annual event will be Delmos Hickmott, professor of art at Odessa College.

Categories for the show are graphics, pastels, mixed media, watercolor, acrylic, oil, three-dimensional, photography and novice. Cash and purchase awards will be made, including a $100 cash award for Best of Show. The association will take 20 percent commission on all sales.

Entry fee is $5 per work for non-members and $4 for association members. Entries are to be hand-delivered to the Highland Shopping Center April 12 from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. and picked up from 4 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. April 14. The show will be open to the public from 12 p.m. to 8 p.m. April 13 and from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. April 14. For further information contact show chairman, Becky Smiley, (915) 263-3848.

A native of Amarillo, Hickmott earned a bachelor of science degree from West Texas State University and a master of fine arts degree from Instituto Allende, San Miguel de Allende, Guanajuato, Mexico. While he was in Mexico, he studied with Diedrick Kortland and James Pinto, well-known artists from Mexico.

Hickmott also did postgraduate work at Texas Tech University, Sul Ross University, North Texas State University and the University of Texas of the Permian Basin.

Having participated in competitions and one-man exhibits in both the United States and Mexico, Hickmott has won many awards. His work has been exhibited in Angelo State University's Houston Harte Center gallery in San Angelo, Museum of the Southwest in Midland, and the 19th annual Southwestern Print Drawing Exhibition at the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts.

Hickmott's work is included in private collections in the United States and Puerto Rico.

His specialty is two-dimension work, especially drawing. His special interest is the house he is building for himself, using only hand tools.

Texas heritage highlighted 1905 Hyperion Club meeting

GFWC-TFWC 1905 Hyperion Club had its Texas Heritage program March 21 in the home of Mrs. Sam Anderson. "Texas Authors - Their Service Then and Now" was the title of a program given by Mrs. Hayes Stripling.

Mrs. Stripling told about J. Frank Dobie, Elmer Kelton, A.C. Greene, Larry McMurry and others. Many were newspapermen who loved Texas and began writing Western stories, then books, some fiction and some true history.

A Texas Song Fest was led by Mrs. Carl Bradley. A donation was made to the Western District Scholarship Fund. The club will furnish a birthday cake for 50 people at the Big Spring State Hospital.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Horace Reagan.

Bauer musicians perform for Big Spring Music Club

Students in second through fifth grades at Bauer Magnet School presented a musical program at the Big Spring Music Club meeting March 20 in the school's library.

Under the direction of Susan Dawes, the choristers sang selections from "Peter Pan." Hand bell ringers interpreted music from Ireland.

Second grade students played a medley of children's songs on orffs, an instrument similar to the xylophone and the metallophone. They were directed by Kathy Ledesco.

Mrs. James Moody was voted in as a member of the Music Club. The next meeting will be April 10 at the home of Joyce Bradley.

The Yummy has arrived

By REDBOOK
First came the Preppy, then the Yuppie, and now there is the Yummy — Young Upwardly Mobile Mommy.

The Yummy can be recognized by her clothes, her husband and how she brings up her baby, according to the Yummy's official handbook in the April issue of Redbook, written by C.E. Crimmins, who previously wrote a handbook for YAPS — Young Aspiring Professionals.

The typical Yummy is 25 to 44 years old, lives anywhere in the U.S., and may work outside the home — but her major role consists of raising America's future generation of aspiring fast-trackers.

The Yummy dresses for mess with a designer jacket or handknit sweater in a dark color to hide cereal stains. She wears jeans, designer sweatsuits and running shoes for housework. Her flexible briefcase may hold anything from fresh pasta to disposable diapers. She wears a childproof hairdo.

The Yummy drives a station wagon, drinks white wine and in role models favors Princess Diana,

Jane Pauley, Jane Curtin, Susan Saint James and Meredith Baxter Birney

Jane Fonda is the Yummy emeritus — she has a beautiful body, part-time work that earns millions, and a cute family.

The Yummy tends to marry a Yummy — Young Upwardly Mobile Papa — who watches his weight, uses the word "father" as a verb and cooks at least one gourmet specialty. Role models include Alan Alda, Bill Cosby and Prince Charles.

Yummies and Yumpys plan their children, consider themselves a "childbirth team" during pregnancy and from prenatal days plan every move to impact on the baby's future earnings.

Nothing but the best will do for a Yummy's baby. The essentials include Snuggli Infant carrier, hand-made crib quilt, Christian Dior christening outfit, $50-plus car seat, goose-down comforter, designer bibs, Izod stretch suits and flashcards with Shakespearean characters.

As the Yummy's child grows, it will acquire a dress-for-success nursery school uniform, a doll that took three hours of standing in line to buy, and an L.L. Bean book bag carrying ballet slippers, Suzuki sheet music, two Disney videotapes or one Care Bear.

Yummies often have plain names like Mary or Debbie, but for their children they lean toward fancy Biblical names and recycled family surnames as first names.

The upwardly mobile Mom's kitchen comes equipped with a microwave oven, pasta machine, cappuccino maker, food processor and perhaps a tortilla press and zucchini corer.

If her children balk at eating upscale food, she can try replacing peanut butter and jelly with cashew butter and kiwi jelly, a grilled cheese sandwich with a grilled brie sandwich and macaroni and cheese with spinach macaroni and smoked gouda. To canned spaghetti, she can add a sprig of fresh basil.

There's a special Yummy vocabulary. Her children aren't born; they are "birthed." When her husband takes care of the child, he has a "fathering experience."

Eventually the Yummy grows beyond her child-rearing years.

"In short," Crimmins wrote, "Yummy yields gracefully to the forces of aging and becomes Mummy, the Mature Upwardly Mobile Mommy."

THE KNOWLTON FAMILIES

...want to thank everyone for helping celebrate our 50th Anniversary. It was great, very nice. Many people came, a lot could not make it but were with us in thoughts and prayers.

It was a wonderful celebration. Thanks to the church for allowing us the use of the fellowship hall.

Thanks again to everyone in christian love.

We love all of you, our prayers to all.

Weima & M.L., and all the Knowlton families.
