School reform package gets OK

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — The Texas Senate overwhelmingly approved legislation Thursday refining last summer's education reform package, sending what the sponsor called a signal to critics that the reforms will be strengthened and not weakened.

"They are going to have to start living with the understanding that they've got to make it work instead of grousing about it," Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, said moments after the Senate voted overwhelmingly to solidify the reform package.

"Education reforms in Texas can stand strong attacks and can stand the test of time," said Parker, chairman of the Senate Education Committee.

The legislation — approved after the Senate's longest debate this legislative session — now heads to the House for consideration.

One provision of the omnibus tune-up package would let the State Board of Education reduce the amount of time students who fail

Senate eyes junior college budget cuts

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — Texas Senate budget writers suggested Thursday cutting state funding for junior colleges by 6 or 7 percent. Their House counterparts, however, have recommended holding the state's contribution to its current level.

Robert Clinton, director of the Texas Public Community Junior College Association, said he was displeased with the Senate Finance Committee action, but relieved that the House Appropriations Committee plan is higher.

A final state budget will be fashioned in a conference committee, where budget writers must stay within the boundaries of the Senate and House proposals.

In other business, the Senate committee cut funding for the Southwest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf to $1.35 million a year from $1.95 million, the current level.

The school had asked for $2.4 million and $2.1 million in the next two budget years.

A state budget examiner said that in the last budget year, the school hadn't used some $400,000 in state funds set aside for it.

The Senate committee also adopted a proposal that would allow the Southwest College Institute for the Deaf to use state funds to help maintain dormitories and food operations.

we are going weak on education reform."

Those voting to table — and thus kill — Sarpalius' amendment included Sen. John Montford, D-Lubbock.

Those voting against tabling Sarpalius' amendment — and thus for putting the "no-pass, no-play" on a weekly basis — included Sen. Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls.

Sen. Bill Sims, D-San Angelo, was not present for the "no-pass, no-play" votes.

Other major provisions in the "reform-the-reform" package include:

New disciplinary rules that would let school districts expel students who carry alcohol, drugs or weapons onto school grounds. The rules also would reinstate short-term suspensions of up to six days for less serious infractions.

The original reform package all but outlawed suspension of unruly students in favor of so-called alternative education center attendance requirements.

Tax rebate up for city

Howard County this month received a net sales tax payment of $67,849 from the State Comptroller's office. April checks represent taxes on sales made in February and reported to the Comptroller by March 20.

A breakdown shows Big Spring received $62,342, Coahoma received $3,254 and Forsan received $2,253.

Year to date payments for Howard County are $484,688, compared to year to date payments for 1984 of $441,980.

Martin County received a payment of $2,024. Year to date payments for Martin County are $14,010, compared to year to date payments in 1984 of $12,784.

Mitchell County received a payment of $15,813. Colorado City received $15,414 of that amount and Westbrook received $671. Year to date payments for Mitchell County are $84,704. Payments to date at this time in 1984 were $80,891.

Sterling County received a payment of $2,652. Year to date Tax page 2-A

Cry goes out to save birds of prey

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

The initial reaction to vultures may be revulsion at thoughts of cartoon creatures circling around the dying, but the birds are beneficial, according to Big Spring ornithologist Bebe McCasland.

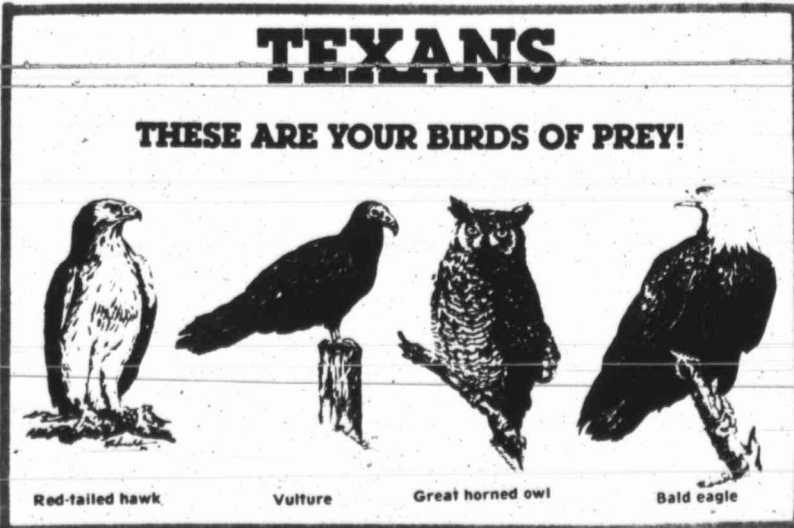

"There was a town in the Midwest 40 or 50 years ago where they thought vultures were bad. They eliminated all the vultures in the area," McCasland said.

"The stench that followed convinced them they had made a terrible mistake. They had to reintroduce vultures into the area because there were none of those birds there to clean up the dead animals," she said. "The carcasses of mice and other animals just collected."

"Every bird has their part to play."

The Audubon Society and the Eos Bird Sanctuary in Midland, with which McCasland works closely, are distributing posters in an effort to get West Texas residents to take area birds of prey — vultures, eagles, hawks and owls — under their wings.

The posters identify the birds as state and federally protected birds and asks residents who see anyone shooting at the birds or taking the young from nests to report it to the local game warden, the sanctuary or her, McCasland said.

Although the conventional reaction to birds such as vultures may be revulsion, the birds actually play a beneficial part in the chain of life, McCasland said.

"We can't do without them," she said, referring to vultures. "They eat carrion, the lifeless remains of animals. They're very clean, however. To envision this bird that sits on top of rotting carcasses — they are actually very clean."

Vultures have no feathers on their heads, so that any germs or particles that gets on their heads is easily washed off, she said.

They also secrete a solution that comes down over the birds' legs and feet that sterilizes the area where the carrion is. "With the secretion, it can prevent infection to itself. And it helps to clean and antisepticize the area," she said.

"They're a beautiful, strong bird," McCasland said.

Great horned owls, which McCasland describes as "formidable" because of their eyesight, silent flight and strong talons, are especially beneficial because they prey on skunks, which often carry rabies, McCasland said.

"If we didn't have that owl working against the skunk population, we would have a lot more skunks and a lot more rabies," she said.

Although the owls prey on skunks, they don't seem to contract rabies, McCasland said. To understand how the birds gain their immunity to the disease, workers at the sanctuary take blood samples from each great horned owl turned in.

A doctorate student who works at the Midland sanctuary, Terry Anthony, is conducting a study to try and isolate the antibody that protects the bird from contracting the disease, McCasland said.

"If we could locate and isolate the antibody, it would be like finding a cure for polio. The idea holds a lot for the future," she said.

Other owls in the area, barn owls — nicknamed "monkey owls" because the feathers form a heart-shaped face — and burrowing owls — feed on mice, prairie dogs and snakes. Burrowing owls live in prairie dog holes, and when frightened, imitate the sound of a rattlesnake so effectively that they frighten off would be predators, she said.

Another predator in the area is the red-tailed hawk, "an extremely adept bird," that eats snakes, rabbits and mice, she said.

Red-tailed hawks are distinctive in flight, showing a rust- or cinnamon-colored tail when its top side is toward a viewer, she said.

Workers set for cleanup

Volunteers will scour the major thoroughfares Saturday morning in the city's spring cleanup campaign beginning at 8 a.m.

Volunteers will work in four-person crews. Each volunteer should bring a rake, shovel or hoe and a box of large trash bags.

Anyone who is interested in participating but has not signed up yet can come to one of these locations at 8 a.m.:

• Chamber of Commerce offices to join the Gregg Street clean team from Third Street north to Interstate 20.

• Methodist Church parking lot to join the team for Gregg Street from Fourth Street south to FM 700.

• Holiday Inn for cleanup on Third Street between Gregg and Interstate 20.

• Dolphin Pools for cleanup on Fourth Street between Gregg and Interstate 20.

• The former Big Cheese restaurant parking lot for the Third Street cleanup between Gregg and FM 700.

• Lancaster and Fourth Street church parking lot for the Fourth Street cleanup between Gregg and FM 700.

• Industrial Park main entrance for cleanup on U.S. Highway 80 between FM 700 and Interstate 20.

Forensics team ranks 5th at nationals

Four Howard College forensics students were ranked fifth in the nation as a team during the Phi Rho Pi national speech tournament in Stockton, Calif. earlier this month.

The tournament was attended by more than 776 students representing 70 schools from around the nation.

Lois Brace is the Howard College forensics coach. The nationally ranked team is composed of Mike Walker, Kelly Ryan, Adriel Saldivar and Kennedy Pugh.

Brace said, "I knew we were good, but I didn't know we were that good." Team members took home honors as first in the nation in dramatic interpretation, second in poetry and third in duet acting.

Pugh received a gold plaque for dramatic interpretation and a silver plaque for poetry. Walker and Ryan received a bronze plaque for duet acting, and Saldivar earned a high ranking for prose interpretation.

Pugh came in second for a fellowship award for leadership abilities and competition skills. The fellowship award is determined by votes from peers, Brace said.

The combined total of points were enough to place the Howard College team into fifth place overall.

Howard College has 11 students enrolled in forensics classes this year. The four students from Howard College who participated in the national tournament "had to qualify to go to nationals," Brace said. A qualifying match was held at San Jacinto Junior College in Houston in February, Brace said.

The group also competed at a state-wide competition earlier this year. Three Texas teams advanced to the national tournament.

"We have a lot to be proud of for our first year of competition," Brace said.

The forensics department includes speech, oral interpretation and public speaking.

This year is the first year of competition in forensics for Howard College since the late 1960s, Brace said.

"The last time Howard College had an active speech squad was in 1967," Brace said. Competitors at the national tournament "had never heard of us," Brace said.

Brace began the year in August with eight students and the department grew to 11 this spring. "We've been getting calls about the program" for next year, she said.

Team member Mike Walker said, "We really feel we put Howard on the forensic map."

Big Spring woman injured in car blaze

A 24-year-old Big Spring woman was injured in a car fire Wednesday evening when a child mistakenly threw gasoline on the blaze in an attempt to extinguish the fire.

According to fire department reports, Rhonda Edmonson, 24, of 608 S. Goliad suffered second-degree burns on her right ankle, foot and lower leg.

Edmonson was injured when the car engine in the family 1974 Buick Apollo ignited while Jerry Edmonson was testing the fuel pump.

Firemen also put out a motor home fire Thursday morning on the south shoulder of Interstate Highway 20 and Nolan.

No one was injured, but firemen estimated the damage at $750, according to reports.

Two firemen and one pumper arrived at the scene at 8:01 a.m. to find a 1973 Dodge motor home owned by C.A. Pruitt of Andrews ablaze. Pruitt had parked the motorhome, which also was towing a boat, on the interstate shoulder, according to the report.

'Light of Hope' campaign receives challenge grant

The J.E. and L.E. Mabee Foundation of Tulsa has made a $250,000 challenge grant to the Salvation Army "Light of Hope" campaign to construct and renovate new facilities in Big Spring.

The Mabee Family is based in Midland. The grant is conditional upon the community providing the added $500,000 support necessary to reaching the overall challenge goal of $753,000.

"We are delighted at this generous expression of support from the Mabee Foundation," Johnnie Lou Avery, campaign chairperson, said. "This is money from outside of our community and it provides an extra incentive for our residents to contribute generously to this project."

The Foundation has set a deadline of Sept. 1 for the matching monies to be raised.

G.C. Broughton, head of the Pacesetter division, has set a goal of raising $300,000 toward the project. "We stood at slightly more than $210,000 following our first report meeting last week," he said. "We have hopes that additional contributions will be reported at our meeting April 16. I feel optimistic about raising the money although it will take sacrificial giving on the part of many to reach the goal."

The campaign continues through May. Money will go toward construction of a new corps activities center on San Antonio Street as well as renovation and refurbishment of the Emergency Family Shelter and Dora Roberts Citadel, both on Aylford Street.

Tax

payments for the county are $15,356, compared with payments a year ago of $14,149.

State Comptroller Bob Bullock sent checks totaling $48.9 million in local tax payments to the 1,003 cities that levy the one-percent local sales tax.

Bullock said April payments

"are in line with our projections for the state."

Houston received the largest check — $8.5 million — for a total of $48 million in 1985. Dallas' check for $6.1 million brought this year's payments to $35.4 million. San Antonio's April payment was $3 million for a 1985 total of $17.3 million.

Birds

Residents continually turn the young of these birds in after finding them on the ground without their mothers when they should leave the birds alone, McCasland said.

"Actually, they've left the nest, but they haven't left their mother. People think the mother's not around but the mother probably has gone off hunting for food," McCasland said.

Rabbits also are prey for bald and golden eagles, although golden eagles are more prevalent in West Texas because they prey on land. Bald eagles usually prey on aquatic life, she said.

"Every bird has a part to play in nature, whether it is pollinating or eliminating pests. Others like the vultures keep nature clean," McCasland said.

"The more informed the public is about the good these birds do, the more the public will take part in protecting them," she said.

To report anyone shooting or injuring these birds, call 263-0203 or 267-6536 in Big Spring or (915) 694-8001 in Midland.

Burglars take $746 in tools

Burglars Wednesday stole $746 of tools and equipment, including an air compressor valued at $430, from 626 Tulane, A.J. Pirkle told police.

Also taken was a power blaster, valued at $80; 50 feet of air hose, valued at $35; 50 feet of 12-gauge extension cord, valued at $30; 50 feet of 14-gauge extension cord, valued at $25; a 10 amp batter charger, valued at $70; a battery, valued at $70; and coupling, valued at $7.

The burglary occurred between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. Wednesday, according to police.

William Belew of Gail Route told police someone stole $465 of tools from his white 1980 Toyota pickup truck parked outside Thompson Electric at 3217 E. FM 700.

Taken from the pickup truck bed were: an electrician's tool box, a socket set, a set of end wrenches, a KO punch and $200 of assorted tools, the report stated. The burglary occurred between 4 p.m. Wednesday and 7 a.m. Thursday.

Bill Billeau of Odessa told police someone stole a .22-caliber automatic rifle from his brown 1978 Ford pickup truck between 8:30 p.m. Wednesday and midnight Thursday, while the car was parked outside the C&C Lounge.

Also taken from the truck were a power saw, valued at $65; an aluminum level, valued at $60; a three-eighths inch reversible drill, valued at $55; and 100 feet of extension cord, valued at $10.

Carla Smith, an employee of the Safeway store in College Park Shopping Center, told police that someone cashed a stolen and forged check at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at the store. The check was marked stop payment when it was returned from the bank, according to the report.

Gus Rodriguez of 207 N.E. Eighth told police someone stole seven coffee cans containing coins from his house. Taken were two cans containing pennies, two cans containing dimes, and one each containing nickels, quarters and half-dollar pieces.

Burglars entered the house between 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. Thursday by forcing open a storm window on the northeast corner of the house, the report states.

Rosemary Moreno of 2626 Dow told police someone stole her gray leather purse between 7 and 7:30 p.m. Wednesday while she was at the Safeway store at 1300 Gregg.

Police early today arrested Eugene Wood Fletcher III, 37, of 1402 Rannels in the 300 block of Gregg on suspicion of driving while intoxicated and driving while license suspended.

Police Thursday evening arrested Timothy Dalton, 27, of 1804 Mittel in the 1800 block of Scurry on suspicion of DWI, fleeing and evading arrest and speeding.

Merchants report break ins

Two Coahoma merchants reported breaking and entering incidents that occurred at their places of business Wednesday night.

Gaylan Harding of Coahoma told a Howard County sheriff's deputy that someone broke into Reid Brothers Oil Company and tampered with several filing cabinets and desks. Nothing was found to be missing.

Ross Roberts of Coahoma told a sheriff's deputy that someone broke into Roberts Auto Parts and stole $20 in change that was left in a cash register in front of the store. The sheriff's department continues its investigations of the incidents.

Big Spring Police transferred Robert Wayne Walker, 32, of 610 11th Place to county jail after he was charged with criminal mischief. He was released on $200 bond set by Justice of the Peace Lewis Hefflin.

He was later issued a peace bond by sheriff's deputies that was warranted by Hefflin. He was released on $2,000 bond.

Police transferred Carmen Moreno, 37, of 602 N. San Antonio to county jail after she was arrested for driving while license suspended and failure to maintain financial responsibility.

Hefflin set bonds totalling $1,500.

Police transferred Glen Ray Wilms, 27, of 104 Washington to county jail after he was arrested on March 21 at 1607 E. Third and charged with theft over $750 and under $2,000.

Bond was set at $10,000.

Sandra Ann Larez, 21, of Colorado City was released from county jail after serving time for a felony driving while intoxicated indictment.

Tokyo airport rocketed

TOKYO — New Tokyo International Airport was closed today after it appeared that several rockets were fired across the runway, Japan's Kyodo News Service reported.

Attacks with rocket-like explosives were reported in three other areas, including one near Tokyo's second airport, at Haneda, Kyodo said.

Haneda airport remained open and flights scheduled to land at the international airport at the international airport at Narita were diverted there, Kyodo said.

Brazil's leader worsens

SAO PAULO, Brazil — President-elect Tancredo Neves suffered a worsening abdominal infection Thursday night and underwent his seventh operation in less than a month, a government spokesman said.

Antonio Brito said the 75-year-old Neves experienced "sharp changes in breathing, temperature and pulse," making the new surgery necessary. Brito said the abdominal surgery was in progress while the announcement was made.

Neves was to have taken office March 15 as Brazil's first civilian president in 21 years. But an intestinal ailment required emergency surgery and he couldn't be sworn in. His vice president, Jose Sarney, was sworn in and has been running the country.

Swedes end sub hunt

STOCKHOLM, Sweden — Swedish naval units ended their search today of a suspected intruding submarine because they could find no evidence of the trespasser after combing the waters around Karlskrona harbor, the military said.

Defense staff spokesman Hans Westberg said no firm contacts had been made in the course of the 13-hour search, during which anti-submarine grenades were fired into the water off the harbor.

Westberg said that a later evaluation of the sonar contact which touched off the search indicated there might not have been a submarine after all. He said there had been only one sign of a possible submarine presence.

Question of innocence

Rape conviction upheld, though 'victim' says she lied

MARKHAM, Ill. (AP) — Cathleen Crowell Webb today challenged the court system to try her for perjury after a judge refused to believe that she lied about a rape that sent a man to prison six years ago.

"I feel the court system did a great injustice to Gary Dotson by sending him back to prison," Mrs. Webb said in an interview. "And it wasn't just my testimony but the testimony of six other alibi witnesses to prove his innocence."

"And I'd like to see the court try me now (for perjury) and the other six witnesses," Mrs. Webb said. "I'd like to see a jury of my peers hear the truth."

Circuit Judge Richard Samuels, saying he did not believe that Mrs. Webb fabricated a 1979 rape charge, refused Thursday to free Dotson, 28, who still faces the balance of a 25- to 50-year sentence.

Samuels ruled that Dotson "failed to sustain his burden (of proof) and I cannot find that perjury was committed."

"He's innocent! ... He's innocent!" screamed Mrs. Webb as she was led from the courthouse Thursday supported by her husband and attorney John McLario.

"I lied in 1979 and I'm telling the truth now," she continued, speaking through tears, pale and visibly shaken.

Mrs. Webb, 23, testified last week she was never raped on July 9, 1977. She said she made up the story when she was 16 because she feared she was pregnant and wanted to prevent her foster parents from learning she had had sex with a boyfriend.

Samuels, who had sentenced Dotson in 1979 on the rape and aggravated kidnapping charges, said Illinois Supreme and appellate court rulings made it difficult to accept recanted testimony. He said that new witnesses who appeared on Dotson's behalf failed to "establish the credibility of Cathy's recantation."

Dotson, who was freed April 4 on $10,000 bond after Samuels continued the original hearing until Thursday, covered his eyes as the judge began reading his notes from the bench following closing arguments. He will be eligible for parole in 1988.

In an interview from the Cook County Jail in the Chicago Sun-Times today, Dotson said, "I'm not surprised about what happened to me. I've done some research on what has happened in the past with recanted testimony. I learned that never in the state of Illinois has anyone been freed from jail based on recanted testimony."

"I certainly appreciate what Cathleen did and I appreciate it even more now after what she's had to go through in this court hearing. My heart goes out to her and I want to be her friend. And I know she wants to be my friend."

As the judge announced his decision, Dotson's mother, Barbara, screamed "What happened?" from her seat several feet behind her son. Dotson slammed the table, then sat back quietly, staring at Samuels.

Mrs. Webb, who now lives in Jaffrey, N.H., said on ABC-TV's "Nightline," "I lied (in 1979), evidently too convincingly. ... I regret deeply that it took me six years to come forward. ... Prior to my decision to become a Christian I didn't have a conscience about this."

Mrs. Webb, speaking this morning on NBC-TV's "Today" show, said, "There were no discrepancies or inconsistencies in my current testimony and if people look at the records of the current testimony they will see that."

Warren Lupel, Dotson's attorney, said, "This is appealable, but I'm not going to comment on what I'm going to do. I'm not going to abandon him because this is an innocent man in jail."

Lupel declined to say whether he would try to contact Gov. James R. Thompson about granting clemency to Dotson. David Fields, a spokesman for Thompson, said any clemency request would have to be referred to the state Prisoner Review Board.

Asked last week by Assistant State's Attorney Peggy Frossard about blood and semen found in her panties at the time of the alleged rape, Mrs. Webb was vague about when she had sex with her boyfriend.

At first, Mrs. Webb testified she had sex a few days before the reported rape, then altered her testimony to a time closer to July 9.

Ms. Frossard picked up that line of questioning Thursday with Mrs. Webb's foster mother, trying to show that Mrs. Webb would not have kept the same undergarment on for several days after having sex with her boyfriend.

Earlier Thursday, Dotson took the stand and was asked by Lupel, "Did you rape her?"

"No," Dotson replied, "I did not."

Man rescues daughter

OROVILLE, Calif. — A man saved his 8-year-old daughter from drowning by carrying gulps of air to her until he could free her from the propeller of a houseboat on Lake Oroville, a state park ranger said.

Elizabeth Woodman was listed in stable condition at Oroville Hospital following surgery to repair a broken arm. Her father, Edward Woodman, 39, said she was laughing and joking with nurses.

Woodman, Elizabeth, and her brother, David, 11, were riding in a houseboat Thursday owned by Woodman's parents when Elizabeth slipped off the boat and her clothing became tangled in the propeller.

Candy triggers shooting

ELBA, N.Y. — A 10-year-old diabetic girl shot herself in the stomach after eating a piece of forbidden Easter candy and developing a stomach ache, sheriff's deputies said.

"I went into the kitchen and got something I wasn't supposed to eat, so I shot myself," the girl told her mother, according to Genesee County Deputy Jack Hawks.

Lisa Larkin was listed in guarded condition today at Genesee Memorial Hospital, where she underwent five hours of surgery for a gunshot wound to her abdomen.

She shot herself with a short-barreled .22-caliber rifle early Thursday morning in front of her 5-year-old sister, Hawks said.

After she shot herself, Lisa put the rifle back where she got it, and went to bed, Hawks said. She got up several times to vomit blood, he said.

5 perish in house fire

NASSAU, N.Y. — A fire apparently set off by a kerosene heater engulfed a house today, killing five members of one family, including four under the age of 20, and injuring three others. The fire gutted the 1½ story house.

County fire inspector Leo Fissett said the first alarm was turned in at 4:04 a.m. and that the dead included children ranging in age from 8 to 20, with the fifth their 76-year-old grandmother. They were all members of the same family, he said.

2 killed in South Africa clash

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Black rioters clashed with police near Port Elizabeth and two people were killed, police said today. Security forces braced for a mass funeral of at least 19 blacks killed by police last month.

A spokesman for the national police force in Pretoria said the worst of the unrest occurred overnight around the auto manufacturing city of Port Elizabeth, where economic recession has caused thousands of layoffs.

The area is in the eastern region of Cape Province.

One man was found dead after a black policeman opened fire on a mob attacking his home, and another man was killed.

A cry for help goes unheard

The Reagan administration's response to Poland's repressive regime has been disappointing during the last three years.

In December 1981, following the imposition of martial law, the president slapped a series of economic sanctions on Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski's government. Mr. Reagan also instructed the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service to inform its offices that Polish refugees would be welcome in the United States. Unfortunately, most of the economic sanctions have been lifted, even though most of Warsaw's ham-fisted policies remain intact. Worse still, thousands of Polish refugees have been betrayed.

According to a recent report from the Georgetown Center for Strategic and International Studies, more than 7,000 Solidarity trade-union activists have been denied asylum in the United States since 1981. This despite the fact that most of them face prolonged imprisonment and even death if they are returned to Poland; most are charged with serious offenses, including high treason.

How mystifying and disturbing, therefore, that the INS rejected 77 percent of the Poles who applied for asylum between 1981 and 1984. By contrast, nearly 75 percent of Polish applications for asylum were approved between 1948 and 1980.

Why the disparity?

It appears that the INS is pursuing its own policy irrespective of the president's instructions. Apparently, the agency's asylum policy is being confused with its immigration policy, which is designed to stem the flood of refugees fleeing poverty. Clearly, Polish applicants, who demonstrate a "well-founded fear of persecution," must not be compared with those prospective immigrants seeking to improve their standard of living.

Although the INS does not disclose actual deportations and departures induced by departmental harassment, the Georgetown study estimates that thousands of Polish refugees to this country have been pressured to leave the United States during the last three years.

The Georgetown study also says that a "national security decision directive" has been drafted that documents these abuses and calls for corrective action. All it requires is the resident's signature.

Why the delay?

United States fails Vietnam lesson

WASHINGTON — Ten years after, the lesson of Vietnam remains unlearned. The U.S. still lacks a strategy for dealing with Russia's clients in Asia, Africa and Latin America.

In Nicaragua, the current test case, this country keeps making the same old dumb mistakes. It chooses sides by virtue of outworn ideology and relies almost exclusively on brute force.

The American case against Nicaragua is not military. Nicaraguan forces are in rough balance with those of neighboring states, and U.S. officials on the spot doubt the Sandinista regime harbors aggressive designs. What Washington holds against the Sandinistas is their doctrine. Thus President Reagan speaks of Marxism-Leninism as if it were a deadly virus. Vice President George Bush waves aloft a Nicaraguan stamp with a picture of Karl Marx as if it were lethal.

Against that burnt-out creed, the U.S. has mustered significant military pressure. This country supports the covert guerrilla efforts of the "contras." It projects force through American "volunteers" who seem to be raised by the Central Intelligence Agency in direct defiance of congressional intention. It participates in extensive naval and ground maneuvers offshore and in Honduras. It provides military aid to other neighboring countries.

A reasonable purpose would be to use force as an adjunct to diplomacy. Military pressure would thus be brought to bear to keep the Sandinista regime in negotiations aimed at cutting Nicaragua's ties with Cuba and Russia. But this country has ended the bilateral talks conducted with the Nicaraguans in Manzanillo, Mexico. It has stalled, if not aborted, the Contadora negotiations by which Mexico, Panama, Colombia and Venezuela sought to neutralize Nicaragua.

Now the use of force is pointed in one direction only. President Reagan has called on the Sandinistas to say "uncle." He has virtually acknowledged that the American goal is the overthrow of the regime. In consequence, the Sandinistas have a national rallying cry — an excuse for demanding sacrifice at home. They have also acquired a grievance perfect for working on public opinion in this country. Already they command the support of much of Latin America and Europe.

So without putting in troops on the ground, the U.S. has been sucked in once again. The Reagan administration has made commitments unsupported by the Congress or the country. Unless it returns to negotiations with Nicaragua, unless it defines objectives that are feasible, Washington will take another drubbing at the hands of a Soviet client state.

As it happens, moreover, the Nicaraguan model has a broad reach. The empire of Russian client states in the Third World now evinces the telltale signs of acute crisis. The local leaders know full well how little Moscow has to offer in ideological appeal and economic dynamism. So from North Asia through Africa to Central America, committed Marxists are flirting with the U.S.

North Korea hints at coming to terms with South Korea in exchange for tighter economic ties with this country or Japan. Vietnam holds out the bait of access for journalists and for officials investigating those "missing in action."

Ethiopia turns to Europe and the U.S. for food. Mozambique and Angola let this country broker deals to prevent border raids by South Africa and its agents.

Talk is cheap in C. America

By JACK ANDERSON and JOSEPH SPEAR
WASHINGTON — It's risky business for reporters covering wars and near-wars around the world, as recent tragic headlines have made clear. And Central America is no exception.

Our associate Jon Lee Anderson has been lucky. He has been under fire on both sides in the shooting wars that have engulfed Central America, but has escaped unscathed, despite his imposing height (he's well over 6 feet) in a region of generally smaller targets.

Unfortunately, our associate's sources haven't been so lucky. On four separate occasions, political or military leaders have been the victims of assassins shortly after Anderson interviewed them. We hope the revelation of this tragic score card don't dry up our associate's sources. But here's the roster:

- In September 1983, Prime Minister Maurice Bishop of Grenada told our associate that he had reached an "understanding" with the Reagan administration that would lead to improved relations between Washington and the island's Marxist regime. The next month, Bishop was murdered by the hard-line communists who had deposed him for not being subservient enough to Cuba.

- Last May, shortly after our associate had interviewed Eden Pastora, the ex-Sandinista contra leader, and accompanied his guerrilla force on a raid into Nicaragua, a bomb nearly killed Pastora at a news conference on the Honduran border. One of the five persons killed in the blast was an American reporter.

- A few days after our associate accompanied El Salvador's top field commander, Lt. Col. Domingo Monterrosa, on an airborne propaganda mission into the Salvadoran hinterland, the colonel's helicopter crashed in what was apparently sabotage by leftist rebels. Monterrosa was killed.

- Two weeks ago today, retired Salvadoran Gen. Jose Alberto "Chelo" Medrano, former head of the country's national guard and founder of ORDEN, a rightist paramilitary group suspected of death squad activities, was killed in downtown San Salvador. The assassins were presumed to be leftist guerrillas. The night before, our associate and another reporter had spent three-and-a-half hours interviewing Medrano on the veranda of his suburban home. It was his last interview.

In addition to ORDEN, Medrano founded ANSESAL, a counterespionage agency that worked with ORDEN and was believed to be the source of information for the rightist death squads that killed tens of thousands of Salvadorans suspected of leftist sympathies. When reformist military officers seized power in 1979, both of Medrano's organizations were banned, and President Jose Napoleon Duarte has publicly blamed the groups for the death squad depredations.

In his last interview, Medrano admitted that his

Billy Graham

The problem of when to give

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I find it hard not to be bitter over the fact we have never been able to have very much. The problem is my husband. He has a good job, but he is a "soft touch" and is always loaning money to friends who claim they have needs, and of course they never pay him back because they know he won't ask for it. How can I handle this situation? — Mrs. R.E.

DEAR MRS. R.E.: There are two principles from the Bible your husband needs to keep in balance. The first is the principle of generosity, for we are commanded to be generous with what God has given us and do what we can to meet the needs of others. "Each man should give what he has decided in his heart to give, not reluctantly or under compulsion, for God loves a cheerful giver" (2 Corinthians 9:7). The other principle is that of providing for the needs of those God has given us — particularly our families. "If anyone does not provide for his relatives, and especially for his two creations had gone sour. But he blamed their abuses on "criminals who took over late." He said his groups had never been death squads, though. "They fought like men," he said. "Those other groups don't." Medrano blamed the death squads on "the rich and their bodyguards."

Surprisingly, Medrano expressed sympathy with the leftist guerrillas. "They aren't communists," he said. "They are idealists who just couldn't stand the corruption of the government anymore."

The death of the one-time strong man marks the end of an era. Medrano cooperated closely with the CIA and was a leader of President Kennedy's regional anti-communist effort in the 1960s. He got a medal for "exceptionally meritorious service" from President Johnson.

The general's last words to our associate were a bit unnerving. "My country has failed," he said, "because of a lack of morality."

A SONGBIRD GETS CAGED: Back in 1970 Vicent "Big Vinnie" Teresa "sang" for 22 federal grand juries in organized crime cases. A one-time gambler and fence, Teresa was rewarded by enrollment in the Federal Witness Protection Program and wrote a book titled "My Life in the Mafia."

But Teresa, under his new identity as Charles Cantino, went into the import business — the illegal importing of endangered birds and reptiles, including the Blue-Eyed Triton, the Green-Wing King, the Greater Sulphur-Crested Cockatoo, the Goffin and a 10-foot snake called the Komodo Dragon.

So the former Mafia songbird is now perched in prison in Seattle, awaiting sentencing the end of this month. He could wind up doing six years in a not-so-gilded cage, along with time for a drug-trafficking conviction he accumulated along the way.

Justice Department officials say Teresa isn't typical; most protected witnesses are determined to stay out of prison, where they might meet someone they helped put away.

CHILD ABUSE UPDATED: An estimated nine out of 10 inmates of state prisons claim to have been sexually or physically abused when they were children, according to a new magazine called Justice for Children. Yet private physicians report only one out of every 80 cases of child abuse that come to their attention, often in a misguided effort to keep the children's families intact, the magazine reports.

Added to the doctors' failure is that of lawyers who represent abused children. According to the magazine, the attorneys, who are usually court-appointed, frequently make little or no preparation, and sometimes don't even bother to learn their clients' names.

Janet Dinsmore, editor of the Washington-based magazine, also faults social workers who fail to report clear evidence of child abuse as they try to keep families together.

Jack Anderson's investigative report from Washington is distributed by United Feature Syndicate.

Around The Rim

The jury's out on slug-a-thug

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Midway through the 1980s, American society has crowned a new folk hero.

He graces the cover of this week's Time magazine and his name has become synonymous with the mass media's reportage of a "slug-the-thugs" attitude that has recently swept the country.

Bernhard Goetz, 37, of Manhattan shot and wounded four black youths in a subway car last Dec. 22. He fled the scene of the shooting and a week later turned himself in to law authorities in Concord, N.H.

On Jan. 25, Time reported that a Manhattan grand jury decided that Goetz had been justified in his use of force, and declined to indict him on any charges but illegal possession of weapons.

Six weeks later, a new grand jury convened and was presented with new evidence about the shootings. This grand jury, according to Time, "throws the book at Goetz, charging him with four counts of attempted murder, four counts of assault, one count of reckless endangerment of other passengers in the subway car and one count of criminal possession of a weapon."

Goetz awaits his first pretrial hearings set for May 16.

Time conveyed its most effective message of the incident through its cover illustration.

Here's an alienated looking character who defied our law enforcement system and took matters in his own hands.

One of the youths shot is paralyzed from the waist down. Two of the youths were reportedly armed with screwdrivers. Goetz felt threatened when one of the youths asked him for $5.

Further facts about Goetz's past are making Americans reconsider their initial jubilation over someone "who had struck back."

Goetz's application for a pistol permit in 1981 was denied on grounds of insufficient need. He was reported to have been jumped by three black youths in January that year. The youths got off scot free. Where, why and who was involved in December's shooting looks like a reenactment of a prior assault.

I wonder if Goetz was harboring a motive when he blasted the youths. Correct the character flaws and you may deter crime.

In Goetz's case, I believe it.

Why recount wasn't needed

To the editor:

It is a great deal easier to be a Critic than one who Produces — & if & Buts are many.

I know a large number of People do not like or trust the present Administration. (The fire Dept. proved this)

But I know I disappointed a number of people for not asking for a Re-Count. But I feel I did not have much of a chance of gaining 25 Votes. For the people who work the Polls & the Administrators are Efficient, Dedicated & Honest people. The mistakes are not many.

Dr. Donohue

Guillain-Barre no respecter of age

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I read your column daily, and wondered if you can write on Guillain-Barre. My father was in the hospital for a month with it. The doctors told me it was the same as polio. My dad is 74. They have seven children. Could you tell me if this can happen to any of us kids? How would you know it was happening? — Mrs. D.R.M.

If you develop Guillain-Barre (gee-AN-buh-RAY) it will not be because your father had it. It's not inherited.

Your father's age is not surprising, since Guillain-Barre is not a respecter of age. It can happen to anyone. Often it comes on after a mild respiratory infection, like the common cold.

The person with Guillain-Barre notices tingling or pain in the feet or legs, a gradually developing paralysis that creeps up the body, even at times reaching the lungs and the breathing muscles. For some a respirator is needed.

The doctors who told your mother this was like polio meant only that it produced muscle paralysis. But that's where the similarity ends. Unlike polio, where paralysis is more or less permanent, with Guillain-Barre it is often only transitory. And we don't know the cause of Guillain-Barre, but we know the virus that causes polio.

Mrs. E.K. writes on this same subject, so the following is for her. Nerve tissue inflammation does bring on the paralysis, and that may last up to four weeks, with recovery then taking another two to four weeks. And the doctor is right who told you that the extent of paralysis is unpredictable. It may stop at the waist or it may go higher.

Finally, I can tell you only that almost three out of four Guillain-Barre patients recover completely. Some are left with a degree of muscle weakness. A very few die of this illness.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am always surprised to read where sun rays have vitamin D in them. I don't think that's what is actually meant. I only had high school biology, but I don't remember them saying that. Can you explain it all? — L.I.

The vitamin D is not in the sun's rays. The ultraviolet of the sun does, however, convert a substance already in the skin into the vitamin. And that is why I am always advising older persons, who must be indoors for weeks and months sometimes, to be sure they get D supplement — through pills, or through special foods that have it added, like milk. Vitamin D is important for the body's use of calcium.

Dear Abby

Couple decides in-laws are best at a distance

DEAR ABBY: Concerning "Heartbroken Parents," who blame their daughter-in-law for "stealing" their son from them, thank you, Abby, for saying the daughter-in-law may have influenced her husband, but the final choice was their son's.

We live only a few hours from my in-laws, but we visit less and less as each year passes. I would enjoy a nice relaxing visit at their home, but it never happens. Please let me speak to them through you, Abby.

You turn every visit into a golden opportunity to impose your religious and political beliefs on us. They're not "discussions"; they're lectures on why your beliefs are right and ours are wrong.

Your son and I are forced to watch the painfully obvious favoritism you show toward your other grandchildren who live in your town and therefore see you more often.

We are subjected to your entire schedule of television programs because you think yours are the only appropriate choices.

We, who are health-minded non-smokers, are subjected to a thick cloud of cigarette smoke during the entire visit.

In short, instead of making us feel as though you enjoy our company, we leave with the feeling that we have spent the weekend at boot camp.

Lady Steers third after two rounds

By CHARLIE ALCORN
Sports Writer

SAN ANGELO — The Big Spring Lady Steer golf contingent continued to hold down the third position through the second round of the District 4-5A golf tournament held at the San Angelo Country Club Thursday afternoon.

The Lady Steers are 43 strokes behind second place Midland High going into the last round. San Angelo Central has a commanding 54 stroke lead over Midland, coming in at 749 after two rounds. The Big Spring A team had a two round total of 847. The top two finishing teams qualify for the 5A regional tournament.

Individually for the Lady Steers, Pam Martinez continued to lead the team with a 192 total for two rounds. Martinez is currently in a three-way tie for sixth place with Permian's Mishun Washington and Central's Dee Dee Wynne. Abilene Cooper's Michelle Hapack is the runaway leader for medalist honors with a two day total of 159. Central's Lisa Faber is in second at 175.

Second round scores and totals for the Big Spring A team were as follows: Pam Martinez, 95-192; Maureen Mitchell, 109-219; Karen Brodie, 113-218; Michelle Cox 104-217; and Heather Varley, 121-241.

The Big Spring B team had a 524 total for the second round. Individual scores for the B team are as follows: Rebecca Read, 134-256; Tami Burnsed, 131-266; Dede Durst 125-249; Julie McVay, 148-283; Holly Mott, 134-289.

Big Spring golf coach Susan Sharpe was impressed with the San Angelo course. "It was the first time this year the girls played on a course where water came into play. Our girls had a hard time negotiating some holes on the front nine because almost every one of them had some sort of water hazard."

When asked about the Lady Steers chances of qualifying for the Regional tournament coach Sharpe was still optimistic. "We are going to have to make up about 10 strokes per girl on Midland to qualify, but the girls are playing well and improving each round. It's going to be tough playing on their home course, but we still have a chance."

The final round of the 4-5A tournament is scheduled for Thursday, April 18 in Midland.

Hallberg grabs Masters lead

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Gary Hallberg says there's no way he will begin thinking about a Masters golf championship yet.

"If you think like that you can eliminate your chances right away," Hallberg said Thursday after securing a one-shot lead with a 4-under-par 68 in the opening round of the season's first major championship.

"It's four days, 72 holes," he said. "The easiest time is when you're on the golf course. It's the other 18 hours I have to keep such thoughts away."

"I don't want to think about it until I have a tap-in on 18 Sunday," he added.

"It's a wonderful feeling, and I'm going to try not to get too excited about it."

Hallberg, who wears an Indiana Jones-style fedora, birdied two of the last four holes on the 6,905-yard Augusta National Golf Club layout.

Payne Stewart, whose clothing quirk is knickers, and Tom Watson, who has won twice and recorded five other top five finishes in the last eight Masters, shared second, one slender shot off the pace.

There were several other imposing figures within striking distance.

Defending champion Ben Crenshaw, PGA champ Lee Trevino and former Masters winner Ray Floyd were in a group at 70.

Jack Nicklaus, holder of a record five Masters titles and 17 major professional triumphs, and South African Gary Player, a three-time winner of this event, were in a group at 71.

Hallberg also gave credit to a physics professor and a teaching pro from Scotland.

He said he went to see the physics professor, Dr. Ralph Mann of Ocala, Fla., two weeks ago for computerized swing analysis and got some more help from the Scot, Bob Torrance, on Wednesday.

Hallberg told Torrance he thought he had done wonders with his son, Sam Torrance, who had an opening round 73. The elder Torrance then spent about an hour helping Hallberg work on his game.

Hallberg says he wears the Indiana Jones hat for several reasons.

"I didn't want to be like the other clones I hear so much about out here," he said. "It's funny. Baseball and football players wear the same uniform, but they're seen as different."

He also said the hat shields his eyes from the sun and keeps him from making eye contact with spectators, which he finds distracting.

"I used to spot friends in the crowd and I had to go speak to them, then I'd lose my concentration and get a bogey," he said.

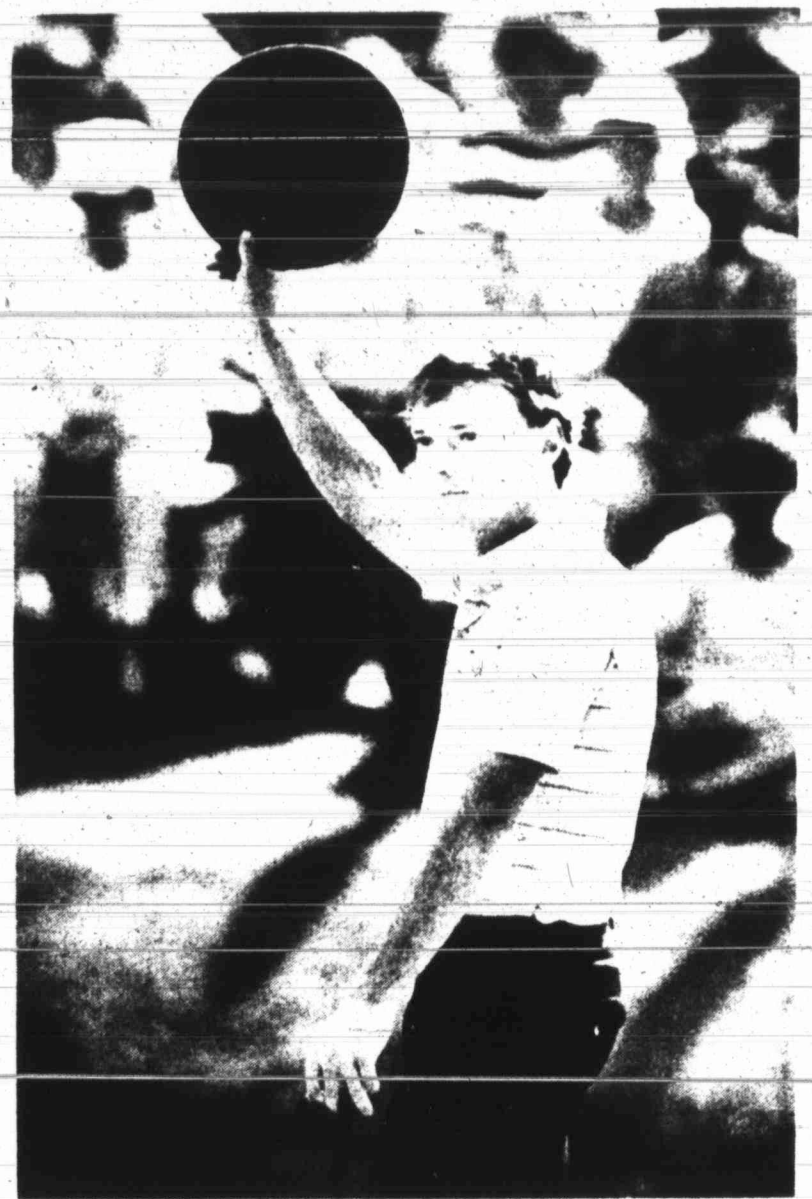

Hallberg's round included six birdies and two bogeys. It was a two-putt birdie from 25 feet on the 15th that gave him a share of the lead and a 10-footer on the 17th that moved him to the top of the leader board.

Watson said his round was "like night and day." He had trouble on the front, shooting 38, but came back with a 5-under 31 on the back, the highlight coming when he drilled a 25-foot eagle putt on the 13th.

Starting with a birdie at the 11th, Watson took five shots off par over five holes.

"For the most part I've stuck pretty close in there after a good first round," Watson said.

"The 69 is a little better start than I'm accustomed to here," said Stewart, who opened with a 76 in last year's Masters.

GARY HALLBERG tips his hat after a shot on the 16th hole Thursday at the Masters. He was opening day leader with a 4-under-par 68.

Thomas' three HR's blast Oakland, 14-6

By The Associated Press

Gorman Thomas, the veteran slugger attempting a comeback from shoulder surgery, blasted three home runs, including a grand slam, to drive in six runs as part of Seattle's seven-homer barrage Thursday night that powered the Mariners past the Oakland A's 14-6.

Thomas, who hit just one home run in 35 games last season before being sidelined, belted his first home run leading off the third against Curt Young, 0-1. In the fourth, he connected for his grand slam off reliever Jeff Kaiser.

The veteran slugger finished the first three-homer game of his career by belting a 3-2 pitch by into the center-field bleachers leading off the sixth.

Thomas, who had walked in the first inning, walked on a 3-2 pitch in the seventh inning in his final at-bat of the night.

Phil Bradley, Al Cowens, Jim Presley and Dave Henderson also homered for Seattle. The seven home runs were one short of the major league record shared by four teams and tied the American League night game record.

Dave Kingman and Donnie Hill homered for Oakland.

In another AL night game, Darrell Miller scored from third base in the bottom of the 10th inning on an infield out by Bob Boone to give the California Angels a 4-3 comeback victory over the Minnesota Twins.

"These are great games to win," said Detroit's Alan Trammell. "But, I wouldn't have hung my head even if we had lost because we came back."

"Cleveland is a scrappy ballclub. I remember when we used to lose those games. When I first came up, somehow the other teams would pull those games out. You have to learn how to win."

Cleveland took leads of 4-0, 6-5, 8-6 and 10-8 against Detroit, but each time the Tigers came back.

The game-winning rally began when Julio Franco booted Chris Pittaro's grounder. Lou Whitaker bunted Pittaro to second. After Alan Trammell was walked intentionally by reliever Dave Von Ohlen, Pittaro moved to third on Kirk Gibson's fly to center. Von Ohlen walked Lance Parrish intentionally to load the bases, then walked Brookers on a 3-1 pitch.

Willie Hernandez pitched 3 2-3 innings to get the victory.

Boston overcame an early 2-0 Yankee lead by scoring three times in the third. Rich Gedman beat out an infield hit and scored the first run when Dave Winfield misjudged a line drive by Jackie Gutierrez into a triple. One out later, Evans homered into the left-field screen.

Boston went ahead for good at 5-4 on Evans' sacrifice fly in the fifth. Later in the inning, Tony Armas tripled and scored on a wild pitch by starter Dennis Rasmussen.

JOAKIM NYSTROM
... straight set victory

Houston nips KC, 125-123

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Houston Rockets coach Bill Fitch says he just wants his players to maintain the mindset that has propelled them into the No. 3 playoff spot in the Western Division of the NBA.

"We are trying to maintain our conditioning and stay in shape," Fitch said following his team's 125-123 National Basketball Association victory over the Kings Thursday night. "Each player on this team has a key role to play."

"We have back-to-back games coming up and that's tough late in the season. We need to stay sharp and have a good mental attitude."

Kansas City Coach Phil Johnson said weakness at the free throw line hindered the Kings, who fell to 31-49.

"Overall, we played hard," Johnson said. "We missed the free throws. In one stretch, we went one for four. You can't do that with a team that shoots from the line like this one does."

Kansas City's Eddie Johnson, who started for the first time in his NBA career as a guard instead of a forward, said the Kings played well but it was hard to accept the loss.

"They're a tough team and the guys we figured would play well, did," said Johnson, who racked up 26 points. "We just had to stop their big guys. It's hard to shoot over a 7-foot-4 guy and score."

Coach Johnson said the size of Houston's lineup worried him, especially in the second half that began with the Rockets up by one, 55-54.

But it was Ralph Sampson's 10-footer with two seconds remaining that delivered the victory for the Rockets, 47-33.

After an 18-foot basket by Johnson, the Kings tied the score with 10 seconds left. But following a timeout, the Rockets returned to the court with Craig Ehlo's inbound pass to the 7-foot-4 Sampson, who moved the ball inside and lobbed in the game-winning basket. Sampson finished the game with 31 points.

"Sampson made the big shot at the end," Coach Johnson said. "We were down and came back, but they won."

Nystrom stuns McEnroe in WCT

DALLAS (AP) — On the day Sweden's Joakim Nystrom shot the lowest golf round in his life, he also whipped defending Buick WCT Finals champion John McEnroe, the world's top-ranked tennis player, in straight sets.

"It was the greatest victory of my career, in tennis that is," said a stunned Nystrom. "My baby being born was another."

"I played my best match. I also played golf earlier and shot 92. It was my best score there also."

The 22-year-old Nystrom knocked off the 26-year-old four-time

WCT Finals king 6-4, 7-6, 6-3 Thursday night and McEnroe said "I felt like my tennis shoes were glued to the floor."

McEnroe had made the finals in the tournament the last six years.

"I felt flat," said McEnroe. "But Nystrom is a good player who makes you work. You have to be on top of your game. I played bad."

Nystrom, the world's 11th ranked player and 10th seeded here, will meet America's Tim Mayotte in a Saturday semifinal match.

Mayotte, the tournament's 11th seed, made surprisingly quick work of the favored Mats Wilander, fourth seeded and No. 4 in the world, 6-3, 6-1, 7-6.

His serve-and-volley game devastated the Swede, who had beaten him twice previously.

"It was the best match I ever played," said Mayotte. "I served well, and had very few errors volleying. I just didn't let him get it together."

Wilander admitted he was dazzled by Mayotte's serve.

"I just couldn't read it," Wilander said.

Baseball Roundup

Miller led off the inning with an infield single against Twins reliever Rick Lysander. 0-1, and moved to second on a single by Bobby Grich. An infield out by Ruppert Jones moved Miller to third.

Earlier in the day, the Detroit Tigers, the World Series champions who won nine straight games to open the 1984 season, improved to 3-0 this year by rallying for a 10-inning, 11-10 victory over the Cleveland Indians. Tom Brookers, inserted as a pinch runner in the ninth inning, scored the tying run and was credited with the game-winning RBI when he drew a bases-loaded walk in the 10th.

In another American League game, Boston got a two-run home run and a sacrifice fly from Dwight Evans and beat New York 6-4 for its third victory over the Yankees, giving the Red Sox their first series sweep in that rivalry since 1982.

In the National League, the Chicago Cubs and New York Mets, also remained unbeaten and got their second victories. East Division champion Chicago used a three-run homer by Ron Cey and the three-hit pitching of Steve Trout to stifle the Pittsburgh Pirates 4-1, and the Mets won again in extra-innings, shading the St. Louis Cardinals 2-1 in 11 innings. Danny Heep drew a bases-loaded walk from ex-Met Neil Allen to settle that game.

At Houston, Mike Marshall slugged a two-run homer in the eighth inning to give Los Angeles a 4-3 win over the Astros.

Cey's homer, his first hit this season, capped a four-run fourth inning against Pittsburgh starter Jose DeLeon.

St. Louis took a 1-0 lead over New York in the fourth on a run-scoring single by Terry Pendleton, but two Pendleton errors in the bottom of the inning allowed the Mets to tie.

Keith Hernandez started the winning rally with his third single of the game and went to third on Gary Carter's single.

Rookie Roger McDowell pitched the 11th inning to get the victory in his first major league appearance.

The Dodgers trailed 3-0 after four innings at the Astrodome, but got a run back in the sixth and took control in the eighth. Mariano Duncan started the Dodger uprising by working reliever Bill Dawley for a walk. Ken Landreaux's double scored Duncan and Marshall followed with his homer.

In a National League night game, Dale Murphy had three hits, including his first home run of the season, and drove in three runs and Bruce Sutter got his first save of the year as the Atlanta Braves beat the Philadelphia Phillies 6-3.

In American League night games, George Bell blasted Dan Quisenberry's first pitch of the 10th inning over the left-field wall for a home run that powered the Toronto Blue Jays over the Kansas City Royals 4-3.

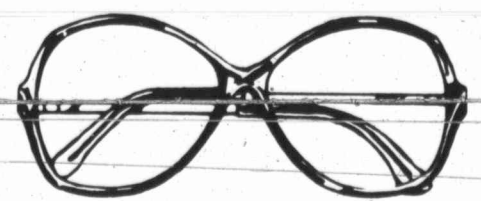

Ray Burris pitched a five-hit bid to lead the Milwaukee Brewers past the Chicago White Sox 8-1.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, APRIL 13, 1985

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Until shortly after noon this Saturday you have a good chance to attend to the errands and the shopping that is not done during the busy week.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Cooperate with kin in getting home conditions improved and all in fine order, then you can gad about town in the evening.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Get busy at Saturday routines and buy items you have long been looking for, and then the evening can be delightful at home.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Early handle any left-over business details in the morning, and in the evening you can visit with friends or relations.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Go ahead with whatever you have in mind for health and appearance improvement which will turn out well.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Many a personal task can be done today, so get busy early and make improvements on such, then join with friends later.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) A fine day for enjoying the company of good friends at social affairs, but the evening must be reserved for the one you love.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) First get busy at the tasks for which you have had little time during the busy week, then pursue personal goals.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Formulate some plan early, and then carry through with it and test it on the public tonight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) A good day to handle those problems you have found difficult to solve ere this.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Take time to come to a fine agreement with your partners early and tonight show them your appreciation.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) A fine morning to organize your tasks so that they become easier to handle. Take any health treatments and exercise needed.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) A good day for enjoying amusements that most please you. Then you can handle duties in the evening.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be attached to home and kin during childhood and may find it difficult to communicate with other children. Upon reaching adulthood, however, your progeny will suddenly become extroverted and will strive to be more popular and get wealthy. Give a good education.

7 in 10 Texans say religion very important

By DR. DAVID HILL
Texas Poll Director

Religion plays a more important role in the lives of Texans than it does in that of other Americans, the Texas Poll has found.

Seven in 10 Texans told the poll that religion is very important in their lives, 22 percent said it was fairly important in their lives, and 7 percent said religion wasn't important to them.

Nationally, 56 percent of the respondents to a 1983 Gallup Poll said religion was very important in their lives, and 30 percent said it was fairly important.

Overall, the Texas Poll found, Texans attend church less frequently now than they did as children. As children, 61 percent of the respondents went to church at least once a week, and 18 percent went less than once a month.

But fewer than half (44 percent) of those polled reported going to church at least once a week, and more than a quarter (29 percent) attend less than once a month.

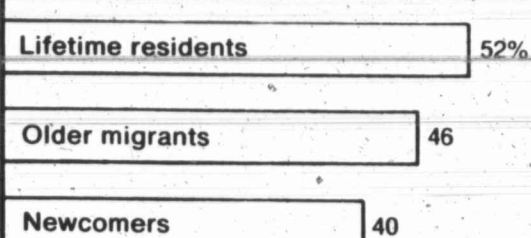

Texans said they go to church now in these frequencies:

- Never — 8 percent.
- Less than once a year — 4 percent.
- Between once and twice a year — 10 percent.
- Once a month — 9 percent.
- Two or three times a month — 11 percent.

More lifetime Texans go to church weekly

Q. How often do you attend religious services?

(Percent saying they attend every week, by length of residence)

Source: Winter Texas Poll, January 1985

Note: Newcomers are respondents who have lived in Texas 10 years or less; older migrants, more than 10 years but not lifetime. Maximum sampling error for subgroups is $\pm 8\%$ for newcomers and older migrants, $\pm 5\%$ for lifetime residents

- Nearly weekly — 5 percent.
- Weekly — 32 percent.
- Several times a week — 11 percent.

Baptists and Catholics are the most frequent churchgoers: 49 percent.

- Several times a year — 10 percent.
- Between once and twice a year — 10 percent.
- Once a month — 9 percent.
- Two or three times a month — 11 percent.

The poll also found that a younger population with fewer Texas natives could mean that religion will be a weaker force in the lives of future Texans.

Religion was very important to more older Texans (75 percent of those 45-61 and 86 percent of those over 61) than the younger ones (59 percent of those 18-29 and 66 percent of those 30-44).

Among lifetime residents, 74 percent said religion was very important in their lives, compared to 61 percent of newcomers (residents of 10 years or less).

The importance of religion also diminished as respondents became more educated and richer. For example, religion was very important in the lives of 79 percent of those with less-than-high-school educations, but only 63 percent of the college graduates felt the same way.

And 81 percent of those with family incomes less than $10,000 said religion was very important to them, compared to 63 percent of those from families making more than $30,000 a year.

The poll also found that more than half of Texans think that religious influence is increasing in Texas, 31 percent think it's decreasing, and 17 percent had no opinion.

The Gallup organization asks a similar question of Americans. In 1983, 44 percent said they thought religion was increasing its influence on American life, and 42 percent said it was decreasing. In 1982, 37 percent said religion's influence was increasing, and 46 percent said it was decreasing.

The Texas Poll is a nonpartisan telephone survey of public opinion sponsored quarterly by Harte-Hanks Communications Inc. and conducted by Texas A&M University's Public Policy Resources Laboratory. The most recent poll interviewed 1,000 Texans Jan. 17-31. The sampling error is 3 percent in either direction.

Upper Room presents dramatic story of 'Joni'

"Joni" is the story of a young woman's struggle to find a useful life in the wake of a tragic accident which left her handicapped. It will be shown at 8 p.m. Saturday at the Upper Room, 313 Runnels. Admission is free.

According to her yearbook, Joni's graduating class at Woodlawn Senior High School in Maryland had voted Joni Eareckson the "Most Athletic" girl in the senior class. She was not only active but outstanding in a variety of sports.

A month after graduation, she found her world had changed after diving from a raft in the shallow waters of the Chesapeake Bay. Her head struck something solid and, in a fraction of a second, she suffered a broken neck.

The film follows Joni's progress from the moment she became a quadriplegic. She survived the broken neck and was alive, but she would never walk again. Against that she rebelled with all the quiet rage of her Scandinavian heritage.

In a powerful film, the agonies, achievements, joys and hopes of Joni's experience are shared with the viewer. And the impact of its message is made even more outstanding by the performance of the star of the film: Joni Eareckson portraying herself.

come to understand and accept others in their diversity. The class is open to adults and youth.

Richard Foster will teach "Celebration of Discipline: The Path to Spiritual Growth." A four-part film series based on the best selling book, this course will give the learner an in-depth study of prayer, meditation and classical spiritual disciplines as well as service, worship and solitude. Adults and youth may attend.

For adults, Tim Haynes, Dolores Norred and Larry McLellan will teach a theater class. The group will develop either a reader's theater or a brief drama. It will not meet May 5.

Laurie Churchwell, Will Johnson and Ginny Zobeck will lead "Singin' N Dancin'." Youth are encouraged to bring their joy for dancing and love of music and share their talents together.

"Creative Dramatics" will be lead by Alice Haynes and Susan McLellan. Children grades K-6 will act out stories and readings.

Rueleen Freeze and Ada Narem will direct "Quilting for Beginners." This class will spend the first Sunday learning to create the classic cathedral quilt. The final three classes will be devoted to learning how to machine quilt a basic design.

In "For Young Children," directed by Carol Bickham, children to kindergarten age will meet in their regular classrooms where they will participate in a variety of activities designed for their age group.

First Methodist presents programs

First United Methodist Church, 400 Scurry, is presenting several spring programs April 14, 21, 28 and May 5.

A dinner will be served at 6 p.m. in Garrett Hall each of these Sunday evenings. Cost is $5 per family and $1.50 per person.

Sunday, an arts and crafts display will be shown. Items for display may be brought to Garrett Hall Sunday at 9:30 a.m. or 5 p.m. The Signal Mountain Singers will perform.

Other special entertainment presentations during the dinner follow. "Moses and the Freedom Fanatics," a musical by the children's choir, will be presented April 21. "The Bells of First United Methodist," a presentation by the bell choir, will be given April 28. Theater anyone? The drama classes of Spring Specials will perform May 5.

The Spring Special classes begin at 7 p.m. each Sunday night.

FAMILY FOCUS SERIES: Jack Riley will talk about parenting, Sunday. He will look at the seven misbehaviors of children and how best to respond to them. On April 21, R.H. Weaver will talk about the formulation of wills followed by questions and answers. Aleisa Dale will speak on step-parenting. Kathy Preston will teach single parenting, and Jerry Kelly will discuss coping with stress in a dual career, all April 28.

Keith Wiseman will teach money management May 5. Practical application of budgeting principals and setting financial priorities will be presented.

YOUR HEALTH SERIES: On Sunday, Everett Blackburn will teach basic first aid in response to many situations. The Hiemlich maneuver will be taught by Dave Lambert April 21. Wayne Carroll will teach the basic Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation maneuvers April 28. On May 5, Craig Brace will give an introduction to wellness. This course will cover stress management, self-responsibility, nutritional awareness, physical fitness and environmental sensitivity.

OTHER CLASSES: "How to be Your Own Best Self," taught by Joan Weir, is designed to help persons discover new strengths and to

Hausmann to present Sunday services

The Rev. Arlyn J. Hausmann will be the guest minister Sunday at St. Paul Lutheran Church, 810 Scurry. He will speak at the 8:30 and 10:45 a.m. worship services.

Associate vice-president for development and public relations of Lutheran Social Service of Texas, Hausmann is a graduate of Texas Lutheran College in Seguin and the Lutheran School of Theology in Chicago. Before coming to Lutheran Social Service of Texas in August 1980, he had served as pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Darrouzett, United Evangelical Lutheran Church near Schulenburg, and St. Timothy Lutheran Church in Corpus Christi.

Johnston gives program at fellowship

Pat Johnston of Canterbury Housing Project spoke at the March 18 meeting of the Howard County Ministerial Fellowship. The topic was "Housing for the Elderly."

Delmer Loy, John Wilson, Clayton Hicks and Carrol Braun were elected by acclamation.

The next meeting will be at noon Monday at the Golden Corral.

Discovery thunders into orbitCAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)

Space shuttle Discovery thundered into orbit today, carrying Sen. Jake Garn among its seven-member crew on a much-delayed mission that blasted off with just 55 seconds to spare.

The space plane vaulted off its launch pad at 8:59 a.m. EST, spewing an awesome 700-foot-tail of fire as it climbed swiftly out over the Atlantic Ocean and then disappeared from view into a heavy cloud layer. Nine minutes later, Mission Control reported Discovery was in a secure orbit, 281 miles up and circling the globe at more than 17,400 mph.

While the shuttle was accelerating toward orbit, the commander reported a caution and warning light on the cabin pressure. Mission Control checked its readings on the ground and told him it was a false alarm.

The mission, the first of two shuttle flights this month, got off the ground after five postponements caused by a number of problems — and after a 55-minute delay caused by cloudiness and by a cargo ship in the area where the booster rockets fall.

If it had not blasted off by 9 a.m., it would have been postponed again. The launch time was based on requirements for putting two communications satellites into precise orbit.

Prices increase during March

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices rose a moderate 0.2 percent last month, the steepest increase of 1985, the government said today. Over the last year, however, prices have been up 0.3 percent, the smallest 12-month inflation rate in 20 years.

In March, a hodge-podge of increases more than wiped out cheaper prices for gasoline and food, which was down overall despite a 16.7 percent gain in vegetable prices.

The March rise followed a 0.1 percent decline in February. Prices had held steady in January.

For the first three months of the year, prices were up just 0.3 percent, at an annual rate. Indeed, that rate held true for the last year as a whole and was the lowest since a 0.1 percent rate for the 12 months ending in January 1985.

The 0.8 percent gasoline price decline was the product of the Labor Department's seasonal adjustment process, designed to remove predictable, periodic influences from price activity. Without the adjustment, prices at the pump actually rose 1.7 percent.

Analysts, however, expect pump prices to begin falling before long as pressure builds from the worldwide oil glut.

Indeed, many analysts predict inflation for all of 1985 could be as low as 2 percent, only a slight deterioration from the 1.8 percent gain recorded in 1984.

That performance, combined with a minuscule 0.6 percent increase in 1983, gave the United States its best back-to-back inflation record in two decades.

In other economic news today, the government said that sales of manufactured goods rose a slight 0.2 percent in February following a 0.7 percent decline in January. Business inventories climbed an even faster 0.4 percent in February.

As for March, the department offered these specifics on price activity:

—Food prices overall fell 0.2 percent, the third monthly decline. The drop came despite the big rise in vegetable prices, which was almost four times the 4.6 percent gain of the preceding month.

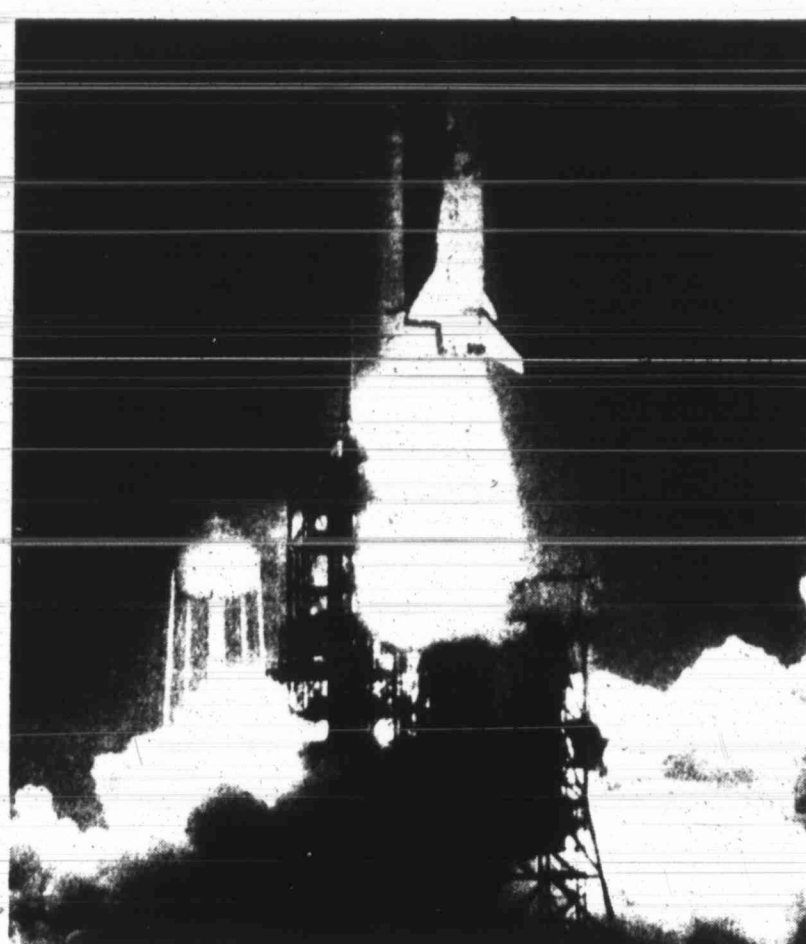

Prices were also up, but at more modest levels, for eggs and pork while costs fell for fruit, down 8.3 percent, for beef and veal, for fish and for poultry.

PUBLIC NOTICE

AN ORDINANCE ANNEXING THE HEREINAFTER DESCRIBED TERRITORY TO SAID CITY OF THE CITY OF BIG SPRING, TEXAS, AND EXTENDING THE BOUNDARY LIMITS OF SAID CITY, SO AS TO INCLUDE THE HEREINAFTER DESCRIBED TERRITORY WITHIN THE CITY LIMITS, AND GRANTING TO SAID TERRITORY AND TO ALL FUTURE INHABITANTS OF SAID TERRITORY ALL OF THE RIGHTS AND PRIVILEGES OF OTHER CITIZENS AND BINDING SAID FUTURE INHABITANTS BY ALL OF THE ACTS AND ORDINANCES OF SAID CITY, AND PROVIDING FOR PUBLICATION UPON INTRODUCTION AND NO FINAL ACTION UNTIL 30 DAYS AFTER PUBLICATION.

WHEREAS, a Petition for Annexation has been duly signed and acknowledged by each and every person or corporation having an interest in the territory described in the attached Exhibit A; and

WHEREAS, said tract of land is contiguous and adjacent to the City of Big Spring, Texas, and is not more than one-half (1/2) mile in width; and

WHEREAS, a plat of said tract of land has heretofore been filed with the City Planning and Zoning Commission and has been finally approved by said Commission and the City Council; and

WHEREAS, after said Petition was filed said City duly enacted an Ordinance setting a date, time and place for each of two (2) public hearings on the proposed annexation and authorizing and directing the City Secretary to cause Notice of each of said two (2) public hearings to be published once in a newspaper having general circulation in the City and in the above described territory not more than 20 days nor less than 10 days prior to the date of said public hearing, all in accordance with the Municipal Annexation Act, Article 970a of the Texas Revised Civil Statutes; and

WHEREAS, said Notices were duly published in accordance with the Ordinance and a notice of each of said two (2) public hearings was posted on the bulletin board at the City Hall at least 72 hours before each hearing; and

WHEREAS, each hearing was held on the day and at the time and place specified in the applicable notice published in the newspaper, which hearing before the City Council at City Hall was held in conjunction with a regularly scheduled meeting of the City Council or a called special meeting as prescribed by Article IV, Section 3 of the City Charter; and

WHEREAS, the date of said hearing before the City Council at City Hall was not less than five (5) and not more than thirty (30) days after the filing of the Petition for Annexation, as required by Article 974g of the Texas Revised Civil Statutes; and

WHEREAS, as required by Section 10 of Article 970a of the Texas Revised Civil Statutes and as directed by the City Council, the Public Works Department prepared a Service Plan for the area proposed to be annexed, and said service plan was made available for inspection and explained to the inhabitants of said area at said public hearings hereinabove described; and

WHEREAS, the attached is a true and correct copy of said service plan or said service plan as amended, through negotiations at said public hearings (but said amendments, if any, did not delete provision of any service); and

WHEREAS, after hearing the Petition and the argument for and against the same and after hearing all speak who desired to speak, the Mayor asked if anyone else desired to speak, and it appearing that there were none, each meeting was adjourned; and

WHEREAS, not more than 40 days nor less than 20 days after the foregoing hearings were held, the City Council, by its action, adopted the following resolution:

Section 3 of the City Charter, voted to introduce this annexation ordinance and publish it as required by City Charter; and

WHEREAS, notice of said meeting was posted on the bulletin board at the City Hall at least 72 hours prior to said meeting. NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF BIG SPRING, TEXAS:

That the above described territory be and the same is hereby annexed to the City of Big Spring, Howard County, Texas, and that the boundary limits of said City, be and the same are hereby extended to include the above described territory within the city limits of said City and the same shall hereafter be included within the territory limits of said City, and said land and the future inhabitants thereof shall hereafter be entitled to all rights and privileges of other citizens of said City, and shall be bound by the acts and ordinances of said City.

Provided, however, if the above described territory is not already served with paving, curbs and gutters, alleys, drainage structures, storm sewers, fire hydrants, and water and sanitary sewer mains and any other improvements required by the City's Subdivision Development Ordinance and which meet City specifications (hereinafter called collectively "said City improvements"), then the owners of said territory shall (1) complete said City improvements according to the specifications of said City and pay all costs (including labor, material, engineering, legal, and all other costs) incident to providing said City improvements to said territory and obtain a certificate from the Director of Public Works of the City certifying that said City improvements have been completed and that proof of payment has been furnished and that said City improvements have been accepted by the City
