"I guess I could pour me a little sidewalk and I'd be legal."

Danny Heckler's sidewalk war

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

Another chapter in the continuing saga of "The Dire Straits of Danny Heckler" unfolded Wednesday evening.

This latest episode could be titled "Of Human Bondage" or "How a Yardstick and Outstanding Tickets Can Land You In Jail."

Heckler, a bail bondsman and used-car salesman, ended up behind bars last night following a heated argument with Councilman Larry Miller over parking at Miller's business.

Miller could not be reached for comment this morning. He was not at work, and his wife said he was doing errands. Later telephone calls to his home went unanswered.

Heckler's feud with the city, ostensibly over a year-old but just recently enforced ordinance that prohibits sidewalk parking, started about five months ago, according to Heckler.

At Tuesday's council meeting, Heckler again leveled charges that city officials are harassing him because of a campaign letter written during his second unsuccessful bid for the council.

During the meeting, Heckler and Miller argued about parking at Miller's business, Carver Pharmacy, at 310 E. Ninth.

"If you can park on my sidewalk, I'll eat it," Miller told Heckler.

The argument spilled over onto the sidewalk about 4:45 p.m. Wednesday when Heckler, armed with a measuring tape and yardstick, appeared at the pharmacy to take Miller at his word.

"I went up to measure his sidewalk," Heckler said today. "When his customers park on the east side, they park parallel and the cars stick out on the street at least a foot."

Heckler claims he is the only businessman to receive tickets for violating the sidewalk parking ordinance, and says he wants the ordinance enforced equally. City officials currently are studying traffic at each area to determine if the city can grant variances.

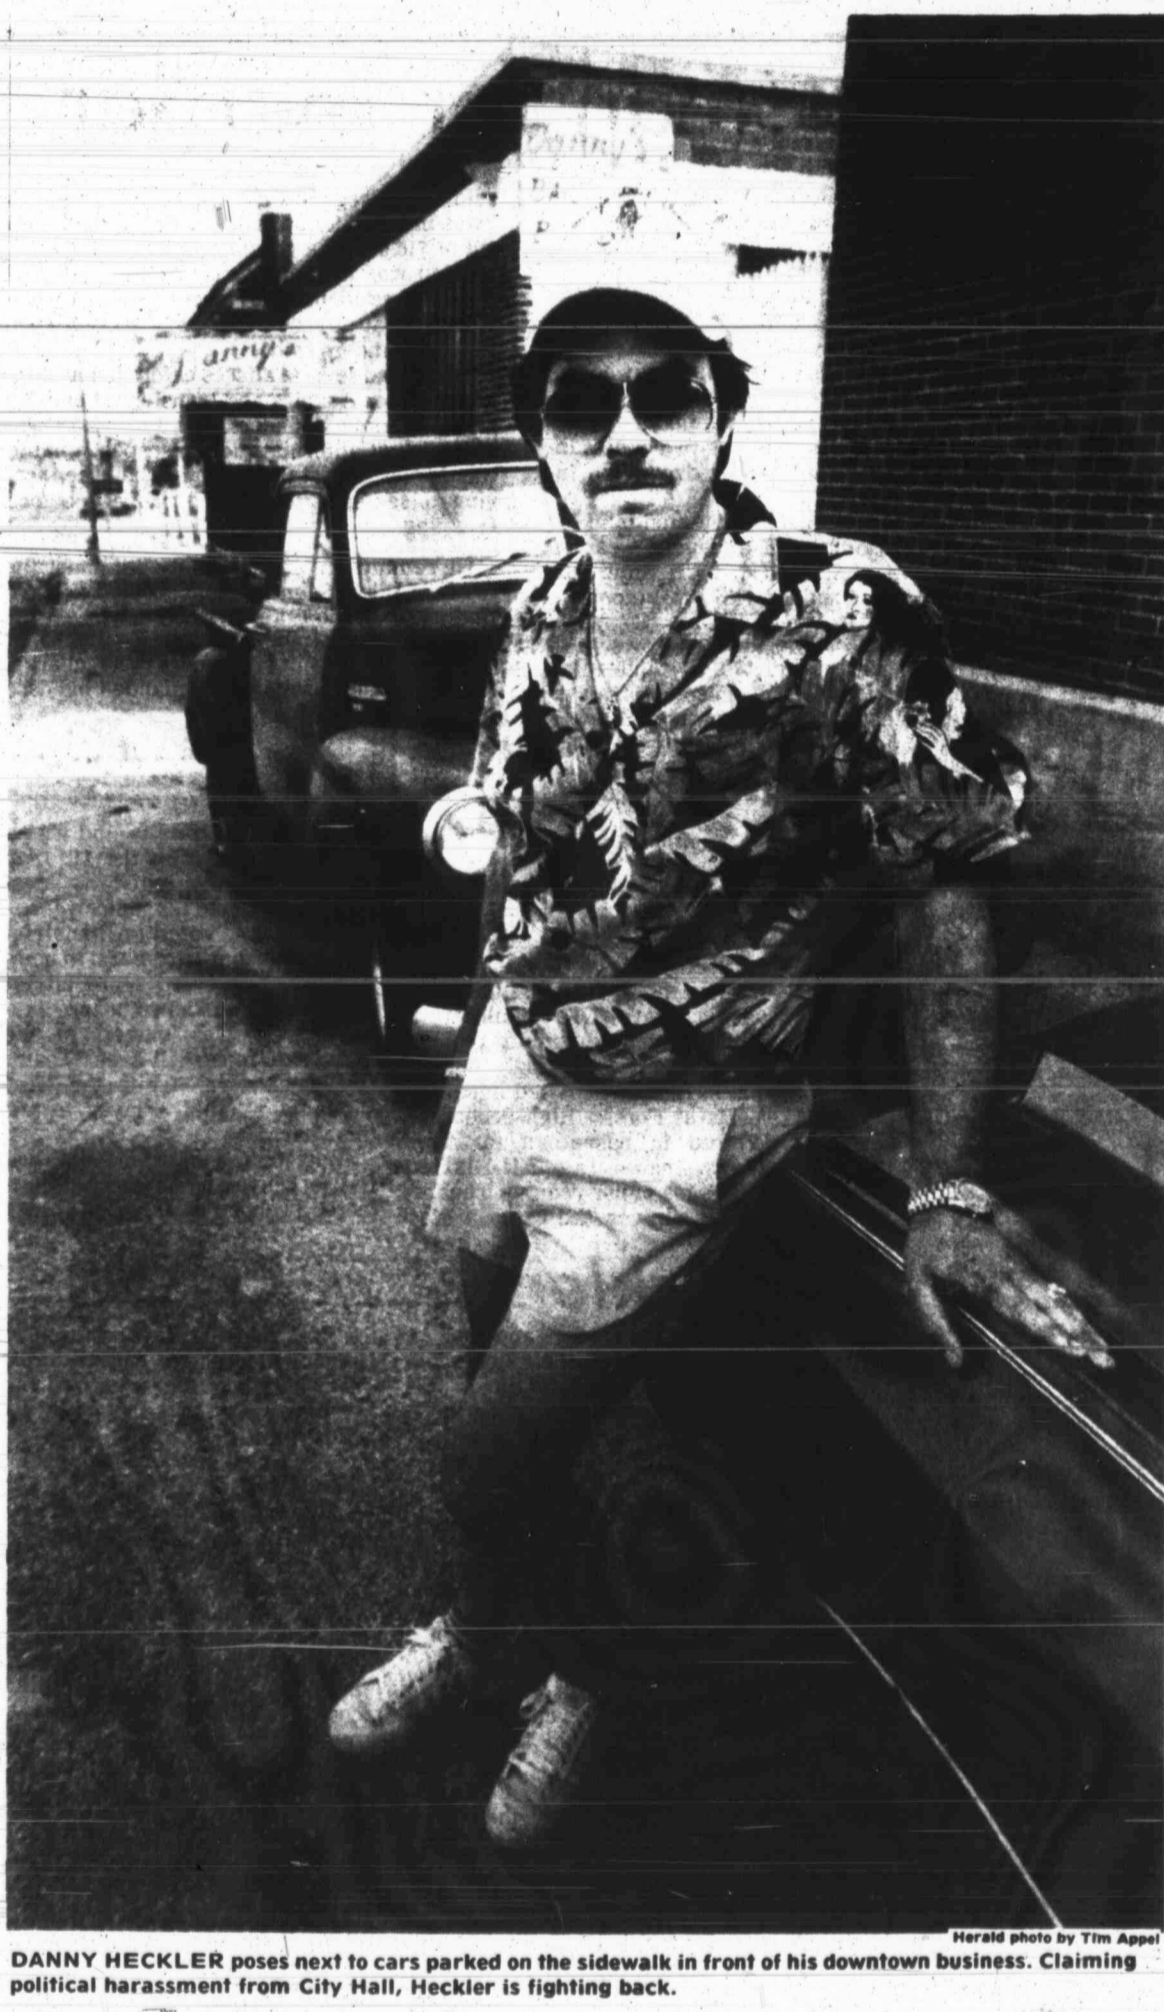

"I showed him a picture (of the sidewalk and parking). He said get the hell out of his property, and I said it was a business, I had a right to be there," Heckler said.

According to Heckler, Miller then called Big Spring police. But before they arrived, Heckler jumped in his car and started to circle the block, watching to see what happened, he said.

The police officers arrived, talked to Miller and then Heckler page 2-A Carver Pharmacy, owned in part by Councilman LARRY MILLER, is the site of the latest sidewalk skirmish.

Snake snags Stacy

By CAROL BALDWIN
Staff Writer

A water snake may pose a few problems for the Stacy Reservoir project, according to Steve Helfert of the Permit Section of the Army Corps of Engineers in Fort Worth.

Helfert said today that, "There are quite a few irons on the fire that have to be worked out" before an Environmental Impact Statement is completed on the project.

Helfert said an application for the statement was filed several years ago but was never completed because of other logjams to the project.

Rod Lewis, assistant manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, said the Army Corps of Engineers had almost completed the report several years ago but stopped when the permit was sidetracked by litigation.

Now that a Stacy reservoir permit has been issued by the Texas Water Commission, "We will get back to finalizing that draft," Helfert said.

The reptile, known as the Harter's water snake, "is not listed as a federally protected animal" at this time, but the snake "is in the process of review" under the Endangered Species Act, Helfert said. Lewis said, "We believe that our data will support that the snake will survive" whether or not the reservoir is built.

Lewis said the water snake, "is not an insurmountable problem. Hopefully our data will support that it is not endangered."

The fate of the snake is only one of several environmental questions that must be answered by the statement compiled by the Corps of Engineers, Lewis said.

"We have to satisfy the Corps that the project benefits outweigh any danger to the environment," Lewis said.

Helfert said the Stacy Reservoir project is to be built in an area "that is considered one of the most sensitive archeological areas in the state."

Both sides will undertake "a plan of mitigation," Lewis said.

The Texas Water Commission issued a permit Tuesday after the time period expired in which it could be challenged, according to John Taylor, president of the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

Taylor met with water district representatives from Odessa, Big Spring and Snyder Wednesday.

Despite questions about the environmental impact study, O.H. Ivie, general manager, said the district will soon begin putting the 554,000 acre foot reservoir into motion.

McClelland Engineers will move in Monday to begin additional geotechnical explorations at the dam site 25 miles southeast of Ballinger.

Howell Engineering Inc. of Odessa has been hired to survey the site and lake basin. Freese and Nichols, Fort Worth consulting engineers, have started working plans with a March 1, 1987, target date.

Local

Less than a 20 percent chance of isolated afternoon thunderstorms is in today's forecast. Highs will be near 90 with southeasterly winds blowing 5 to 15 miles per hour. Tonight, lows will be in the lower 60s with southeasterly winds blowing 5 to 15 miles per hour becoming easterly by morning. On Friday, a 30 percent chance of thunderstorms is forecasted. Highs will be in the mid 80s with easterly winds blowing 5 to 15 miles per hour.

State

Most of South Texas bathed in a steamy tropical air mass this morning while a mass of cool, dry polar air filtered into the Panhandle. The National Weather Service said it was that mass of cool air that caused Wednesday's torrential rains across the lower Rio Grande Valley. By this morning, the precipitation had moved completely out of the state and flash flood watches and warnings issued late Wednesday had long since expired. Temperatures were in the mid 70s early today south of the warm front, fell off into the 60s over West and North Texas, and readings in the 50s were common in the Panhandle. Winds were 5 to 10 mph across the state.

However, more storms — some quite heavy in the Valley — were expected this afternoon and tonight in South Texas from the Hill Country to the Rio Grande.

Forecast

Grand jury indicts man for murder

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

STANTON — A grand jury murder indictment will send a Martin County man to trial on June 3 in Stanton.

Raymond Sanchez, 20, of the Flower Grove community in Martin County was indicted Monday for the murder death of Richard Vela, 58, of Flower Grove.

Martin County Sheriff Dan Saunders said Assistant District Attorney Jeanene Walker of Big Spring will prosecute the case.

Sanchez had initially been charged with aggravated assault for the incident which occurred on Feb. 1.

"The assault was the culmination of a drinking party in Flower Grove and on that date (Feb. 1), a fight took place and allegedly Raymond Sanchez hit Vela in the head with a crow bar," Sanders said.

Vela was taken to the Medical Arts Hospital in Lamesa and later transferred to Lubbock General Hospital. He died on April 20. Sanders said the victim never regained consciousness after being struck in the head.

Martin County jurors also heard four other cases on Monday.

• They declined to indict Jim Cordes, 25, of Big Spring for aggravated assault with a deadly weapon for an incident that allegedly occurred last August. Sanders said Henry Currie, 27, of Big Spring had filed a complaint against Cordes saying Cordes had fired two bullets into his (Currie's) vehicle while driving on Interstate 20 in Martin County.

• Grand jurors indicted a Stanton man for aggravated assault with a deadly weapon. E.J. Henry, 64, of Stanton shot J.H. Smith, 62, of Midland in the shoulder with a .25 automatic pistol last April in Henry's home, Saunders said.

• Grand jurors indicted a Californian prison escapee for theft by deception in an incident that occurred last January. Sanders said that Gregory Udell, 28, of Los Angeles "was indicted for swindling a 95-year old man out of $10,000 on a lightning rod scam."

Udell was also charged with the same offense for residential driveway pavement services that he offered home dwellers in Martin County, Saunders said.

Udell used several aliases before being picked up in Los Angeles and transferred back to Martin County, Saunders said. Folsom Prison officials in California said the suspect's name was James Robert Brown and he had been serving a sentence for armed robbery before escaping.

He remains in Martin County jail under the name of Udell, Saunders said because he gave that name at the time of his arrest.

• Grand jurors indicted James Earles, 43, of Stanton for a misdemeanor theft charge. Saunders said jurors also remanded his case to Martin County court.

Sheriff's Log

Residents report dogs poisoned

Judy Cirks of Suburban East Mobile Park told Howard County sheriff's deputies Wednesday evening that her dog had died that morning from symptoms which indicated poisoning.

Deputies learned from the park owner Robert Mitchell that two other dogs had been found dead in the park on Wednesday.

An employee of the park said she had received a phone call about a month ago from a man who said he was tired of dogs coming from park and getting into his garden.

Deputies continue to investigate a suspected cruelty to animals offense.

• Jimmy Shackelford of J.W. Cooper Construction told sheriff deputy George Quintero that someone entered the construction site at Forsan High School and stole a red Lincoln Brand Crackerbox Electric welder. The item was valued at $100. The incident occurred between 5 p.m. Tuesday and 8 a.m. Wednesday, according to a sheriff's report.

• Deputies arrested John Randall Lewis, 26, of 1205 Lindberg on a revocation of probation charge for a prior DWI conviction. He was released on $1,000 bond set by County Judge Milton Kirby.

Police Beat

Burglar takes pump shotgun

A 12-gauge Winchester pump shotgun was reported stolen Wednesday by Howard Walker of • Big Spring Police transferred Robert Dale Little, 20, of 3304 Auburn and David Eugene Watts, 21, of Gail Route Box 19 to county jail after each person had been arrested for possession of marijuana. They were released on $1,000 bonds set apiece by Municipal Judge Melvin Daratt.

• Deputies arrested John Henry Zant, 20, of Sandra Gale Apts. No. 65 on a bond forfeiture charge. Kirby did not authorize bond for Zant's release and ordered him to be transferred to Big Spring State Hospital.

• A Texas Department of Public Safety trooper picked up Leonard Wilmer Peoples, 50, of Queen City and arrested him for on DPS traffic warrants. Peoples was also warranted for a parole violation from the Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles. He was committed to Howard County jail on order from Justice of the Peace Willie Grant of Coahoma.

• Big Spring Police transferred Boyce Lee Horton, 26, of 1600 Settles to county jail after he was arrested and charged for driving while license suspended. He was released on $500 bond set by Sgt. Ray Meek of the police department.

907 W. Second, police reports show. The time of the theft is unknown, according to the report. The shotgun is valued at $50.

• Maureen Schoenaker of 302 Jones told police someone broke her house window between April 22 and April 24.

• Police Saturday afternoon arrested Boyce Lee Horton, 26, of 1600 Settles in the 1700 block of Gregg on suspicion of driving while license suspended.

• Police early today arrested Rosetta Scott, 26, of 120 Airbase in the 1200 block of W. Third on suspicion of driving while intoxicated, no driver's license and possession of less than two ounces of marijuana.

Heckler

"started flashing their lights," Heckler said.

He said police then called the Department of Public Safety, who arrested him on warrants for two outstanding tickets. One was for speeding — 61 miles an hour in a 55-mile an hour zone — and the other was for failure to maintain liability insurance, he said.

"We got a call from Larry Miller about a disturbance at his business. When the officers arrived, they observed Heckler driving away," said Lt. Jerry Edwards.

The officers then learned through the radio that the DPS had outstanding warrants on Heckler. They detained him until a DPS officer arrived and also issued him a citation for no motor vehicle inspection sticker, Edwards said.

"We wouldn't have bothered him if he hadn't been at Larry Miller's doing whatever he was doing. If we learn someone has outstanding DPS warrants, we normally detain him for the DPS," Edwards said.

Heckler was then handcuffed by the DPS and taken straight to Justice of the Peace Willie Grant's office in Coahoma, Heckler said.

"Why did they handcuff me for a traffic citation?" Heckler asked. An employee in his car sales office laughed: "Because you're a hardened criminal, Danny."

Heckler also said he was not aware there were problems with the traffic citations, since he had contacted Grant about the tickets.

"He made contact with me about a month ago," Grant said. "I usually give between 10 and 15 days after that (to pay). I gave him more than that; I allowed him nearly a month. I do that with other people too.

"It applies to everybody. He's not no different from anybody else," she said.

Heckler claims the citation for no inspection sticker is not valid because he has a dealer's tag on the car. Edwards, however, said: "If he'll read the code, he'll find out if he has a metal dealer's tag. He's required to have an inspection sticker."

And Heckler claimed the officers discussed arresting him for second offense on failure to maintain liability insurance. However, he did not receive a citation for that, according to Edwards.

Heckler's trials and tribulations, however, were not over for the night. An employee of his was arrested for driving while his license is suspended, and told police he wanted to call Heckler as a bondsman.

"They knew I was in jail. And they laughed when he said he was going to call me. They said, 'No, he's in jail.'"

"I don't know why this started," Heckler said today, referring to last night's incident.

And he's still upset about Miller's parking. "I guess I could pour me a little sidewalk and I'd be legal," he said, referring to the sidewalk against the wall of Carver's Pharmacy.

Accident victim listed stable

A Big Spring woman remains in serious condition at the surgical intensive care unit in Lubbock General Hospital, a hospital spokesman said this morning.

Leslie Martin, 28, of Big Spring was transferred to Lubbock from Malone-Hogan Hospital following a major accident south of Big Spring Wednesday evening.

She was a passenger on a motorcycle that collided with a pickup truck on Highway 87 in front of the C & G Quickstop store.

A witness at the store said a pickup driven by a man, pulled out of the store's parking lot onto the highway. The truck struck a motorcycle driven by Terry Huit, 19, of Garden City Route Box 127. The motorcycle was traveling south on the highway, the witness said. Lee's Ambulance arrived at the accident scene and transferred Martin and Huit to Malone-Hogan Hospital in Big Spring.

A spokesman at Malone-Hogan Hospital said this morning that Huit was listed in stable condition.

The man driving the truck was uninjured. The Texas Department of Public Safety report on the accident was not completed by noon today and the name of the driver was not available.

Reagan may host summit

WASHINGTON — President Reagan still may host a summit meeting this year for Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev, but the United States is not pressing Moscow to agree to a time and place.

"There's an invitation on the table," Secretary of State George P. Shultz said before his meeting in Vienna on Tuesday with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko. "I don't know if the Soviets will respond."

Following the six-hour session, and two briefer talks Wednesday, that is where the matter stood.

"The situation remains as it has been," Shultz told reporters on the flight back to Washington. "The two leaders have exchanged messages saying a summit meeting would be a good idea. No time or place has been set."

Shultz was scheduled to meet with Reagan today to discuss the status of the summit, plus other issues raised in his meeting with Gromyko and his four-day swing through the Middle East.

2 found shot to death

SHREVEPORT, La. — A man and woman have been found shot to death in what police are calling an apparent murder-suicide.

The man shot and killed his terminally ill companion before turning the gun on himself, police said.

Authorities discovered the bodies Tuesday in the apartment the couple shared.

Gloria Ufert, 46, was found in a bedroom with a single gunshot wound in the head. Authorities said she suffered from multiple sclerosis, a chronic, progressive disease of the central nervous system.

Dudley Somdal, 45, was found in the living room. He had been shot in the head, the victim of an apparent self-inflicted wound, police said.

Mayor defends raid

PHILADELPHIA — The police assault that incinerated at least 11 people in the fortress of the radical cult MOVE came under official attack and was targeted by lawsuits, but the mayor again defended the raid and a poll indicated he had strong public support.

Police and fire investigators, assisted by federal weapons agents, found guns, ammunition, a mortar and a basement bunker Wednesday while searching rubble from the MOVE house, which burned with 60 others after officers bombed the home's rooftop bunker on Monday.

Police also found the remains of five bodies Wednesday, bringing the toll to 11: four children and seven adults. They estimated that up to 15 people were in the house belonging to the cult organization that espouses a back-to-nature, anti-establishment philosophy.

Amid the MOVE debris, a charred, soaked tablet bore the message: "The cops will be coming for us. Don't be impressed by their numbers. Pick them out one by one."

John Thomas Walker, carrying two pistols, emerges from his home with his two sons urging police to kill him. Walker, who said he was despondent over domestic problems and wanted police to kill him, was later shot by a police sharpshooter as he carried his three-month-old baby. The children were unharmed.

Police sniper kills man; ex-guard wanted to die

HENDERSON, Nev. (AP) — A former security guard who begged police to shoot him as he held a pistol to the head of his infant son was fatally wounded by a police sniper, ending a five-hour siege.

"Do your job!" shouted the man police identified later Wednesday as 35-year-old John Thomas Walker of Las Vegas. "Shoot me, man, shoot me, man."

Shortly after 3:30 p.m. Wednesday, as Walker held the baby in a residential street of this Las Vegas suburb, the police marksman fired, hitting Walker in the head.

He was pronounced dead 20 minutes later at St. Rose de Lima Hospital.

The gunman's 14-year-old son, who also brandished a gun during the standoff, dropped his weapon and put his hands in the air, police said.

The youth, whose name was not disclosed because of his age, was taken into custody and held at Clark County Juvenile Center.

Police said Walker fell on the infant after he was shot, but the boy was unharmed and released to his mother after a hospital checkup.

Walker apparently was despondent over his wife leaving him and the children and his inability to find a job, police and neighbors said.

"He said his wife left him with the baby and 14-year-old son," said Geraldine Johnson, manager of an apartment complex where Walker applied for a job Tuesday. "He seemed down... I felt bad for him."

The incident began about mid-morning when Walker allegedly called a television station and told a newscaster "There's going to be front page news today. There's going to be a murder."

Police said Walker went to a house in this Las Vegas suburb, where three unidentified girls fled and the siege began when he fired one shot at officers.

Walker, in telephone negotiations, repeatedly threatened to come out with the baby and start shooting, police said.

Police thought at first that the man was holding the two children hostage, but it later became apparent the 14-year-old was helping his father, said Henderson Police Sgt. Ed Eckels.

Several times during the standoff Walker walked outside the house with the infant in his arms and the gun held high in the air. Once, he fired five shots into the air before going back inside the house, police said.

Police cordoned off the area and installed sharpshooters in neighboring houses and on the roof of an adjacent shopping center while negotiators tried to talk the man into surrendering. Some neighbors were evacuated from their homes and children from a nearby school were rerouted on trips home.

Police said late in the siege Walker said he was going to come out with a semi-automatic rifle and start shooting. He also demanded to talk to his wife, a request police denied.

"We felt it would do nothing but aggravate the situation," said Henderson police Lt. Ron Delia.

After the man returned to the house, tactical commanders ordered a Las Vegas police sharpshooter to shoot if Walker came out and pointed the weapon at officers.

A few minutes later, that order was amended to shooting Walker if he left the property whether or not he held the baby, police said.

Walker emerged from the home a final time with his gun drawn and the baby in his arms. He walked down a driveway, into the street, then turned and took a few steps up the street before the single shot felled him, police said.

Pope addresses 40,000

LUXEMBOURG — Pope John Paul II told almost 40,000 Roman Catholics at an outdoor Mass today that too many people are "dazzled by progress and prosperity," leaving them slaves of work or entertainment and prone to disillusionment.

John Paul was on the second day of a brief stop in Luxembourg, where he earlier appealed to Common Market nations to give more surplus food to African famine victims.

The pope said Mass on a raised altar at a city parking lot on Ascension Thursday, the feast marking Christ's return to heaven and a national holiday in Luxembourg.

Police estimated the crowd at almost 40,000 people. Church officials say 97.3 percent of Luxembourg's 366,000 people are Roman Catholic. Grand Duke Jean was among those attending the Mass, as were the mayors of most of the country's 313 towns and cities.

After the Mass, the pope planned a trip to Echternach, about 20 miles northeast of Luxembourg city, to visit the tomb of St. Willibrord, who founded a Benedictine monastery there in the year 698.

Soviet plane disappears

TOKYO — An aircraft believed to be from the Soviet national airline Aeroflot disappeared off the Soviet coast today, the government said.

The mysterious incident occurred north of Japan, in the region where a Korean passenger jet was shot down by a Soviet fighter in September 1983.

Japanese officials would not say whether the plane was known to have crashed, and they said they were trying to check details such as the aircraft's course, type, and altitude. They said they did not know whether it carried cargo or passengers.

An Aeroflot official, who refused to be identified, told The Associated Press by telephone that he had "no report from Moscow" on the incident and hung up. A Soviet Embassy official also said he had no information.

Kidnapped in Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon — The Islamic Holy War group has sent color pictures of six missing Frenchmen and Americans to Beirut newspapers and threatened "catastrophic" consequences unless alleged terrorists held in Kuwait are freed.

The stark "final warning" was published in Beirut newspapers today along with photographs of the men, kidnapped in Lebanon between March 16, 1984, and March 22 this year.

Saying it will not wait long for Kuwait to act, the group declared: "We shall terrorize America and France forever."

The photographs, sent in plain envelopes to the dailies, were accompanied by three typed Arabic-language statements signed by Jihad Islami, or Islamic Holy War, a shadowy group which is believed to be holding seven westerners hostage.

Device aids bladder-problem patients

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A surgically implanted electronic pacemaker for the bladder prevents accidental urination in people who are paralyzed or suffer other nerve damage, a researcher says.

The experimental device could help many people who are unable to control their bladders because of nerve damage caused by accidental injury, stroke, diabetes, multiple sclerosis and Parkinson's and Lou Gehrig's diseases, Dr. Emil A. Tanagho said.

The surgically implanted pacemaker is operated with a hand-held external control box. It sends signals to relax the bladder and contract the sphincter muscle to store urine, and then to contract the bladder to expel urine, said Tanagho, chairman of urology at the University of California-San Francisco.

Tanagho said he implanted the device in six men and three women, and it helped them avoid accidental urination. One is a paraplegic who has used the device for 2½ years without major complications, he said during a telephone interview from Atlanta, where he was to present his findings at today's meeting of the American Urological Association.

The bladder pacemaker "is a very sound approach," said Dr.

Terry Hambrecht, head of the neuroprosthesis program at the National Institute of Neurological and Communicative Disorders and Stroke. "We certainly are tickled he (Tanagho) is getting it into patients and it seems to be working." Hambrecht cautioned that the pacemaker cannot help the many elderly people who are incontinent because of weakness of the sphincter muscle that shuts off the flow of urine from the bladder.

Truth in banking

When a customer applies for a loan, bankers want to know all about the customer's finances, especially if the applicant has been in difficulty. But when a bank gets into difficulty, the last thing it wants to let customers know is that it's being examined by the government.

That's wrong and we're glad to see that federal regulatory agencies are moving toward disclosure. The Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. has decided to provide the public with a list of all banks and bank employees it is investigating. And the comptroller of the currency is considering a more open disclosure policy.

Bankers fear the new policies will result in runs on troubled banks. But frankness can help calm fear and quiet rumors, and it can show that the system of bank regulation is working.

Bankers should expect to give customers the same frank answers they expect from customers.

Reagan arrogance shining through

WASHINGTON — Hubris, fostered by the electoral landslide, lies behind the recent setbacks sustained by the Reagan administration. So a correction seems easy to make.

President Reagan could regain the political high ground by showing a little more willingness to compromise a little bit earlier. Still, making the correction requires overcoming personal instincts and staff pressures at a time of uncertain signals from Russia and the economy.

By far the most enduring of recent defeats came not at Bitburg, but in the Republican Senate. Majority Leader Robert Dole has been putting to the vote elements of a budget compromise which was worked out by the Senate leadership and the White House. On the controlling issue — limiting defense spending to a 3 percent rise — Dole was beaten by a majority which wants zero growth.

Behind that loss was a lack of confidence, building over years, in Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger. Defense experts, on both sides of the aisle, have come to the conclusion that Weinberger has no systematic rationale to justify endless rises in military spending. They are trying to force a rationale upon him by limiting growth in outlays.

But neither Weinberger nor Reagan nor the White House staff saw the handwriting on the wall. The 1986 budget Reagan presented last February asked for a 6 percent rise in defense outlays. He compromised with Dole on 3 percent in mid-March. Now he will have to go lower. For if the administration cannot strike a bargain on military spending, all the other sacrifices being asked — from Amtrak through Social Security — will be beaten. Serious reduction of the deficit, and with it tax reform, will then go by the boards.

A similar pattern explains congressional repudiation of Reagan's request for $14 billion in aid to be made available though the Central Intelligence Agency to the contra guerrillas fighting the regime in Nicaragua. At the core of opposition to that proposal was the widespread conviction that the director of Central Intelligence, William Casey, had long been flimflamming the Congress. Reagan himself fortified that conviction by referring to the contras as "freedom fighters," and giving the impression he sought the overthrow of the Sandinista regime.

The application of economic sanctions against Nicaragua opens the way to another set of votes. If only because of a Moscow visit by the Nicaraguan leader, Daniel Ortega, the administration should do better. But it will still have to recede from its original stance. It will have to accept the principle of non-military aid, probably delivered by somebody other than the CIA.

Talking about compromise, however, is a lot easier than actually cutting deals. For one thing, while able to make pragmatic adjustment, President Reagan doesn't start from that corner. His political base is with the right wing of the Republican Party. He parts company with his supporters only reluctantly. His instinct is to stand his ground.

The White House staff, moreover, now lacks the sensitive early warning system personified by the former chief of staff, James Baker, and his chief aide, Richard Darman. The present chief of staff, Donald Regan, is accustomed to side with the president and take arms against all opposition. His top assistant, at least in matters of rhetoric, Pat Buchanan, comes out of the hang-tough school that flourished with such poisonous results under Richard Nixon.

More important, perhaps, are two highly ambiguous outside circumstances — the new Soviet leadership and the state of the national economy. The one sure thing about General Secretary Mikhail Gorbachev is that he goes for personal over policy. He rushed his men into top Politburo posts at the Central Committee meeting last month. Now he is moving to install his own Central Committee, at a Party Congress in February. Until that time there will almost surely be no decisive swings in policy. In foreign affairs, Gorbachev will hold open chances for future accommodation while taking constant swipes at the U.S. Thus until the spring of next year, Moscow's long-term policy will be hard to read.

As to the economy, more than ever the U.S. is on uncharted seas. For the first time in this century an unfavorable trade flow has swamped the manufacturing sector.

Still, other parts of the economy surge forward. Government spending is high, as is home construction. Between them they put enough money in enough households to sustain consumer spending. So there will not necessarily be a recession — more likely just a slowing of growth to about 2.5 percent this year.

Events, accordingly, present no decisive thrust against inertia.

Let's sleep on it for an hour

WASHINGTON — Evidently taking his lead from the nation's nursery schools, the boss of a Commerce Department office has instituted an hour-long "quiet time" from 3 p.m. to 4 p.m. daily for all his employees.

According to an internal memo announcing the advent of the "quiet hour," the purpose is "to provide uninterrupted time to all employees" of the U.S. and Foreign Commercial Service "so that they may do individual work, such as reading, writing, typing, proofing, etc."

The employees will not be expected to bring rest mats and assume the fetal position next to their desks, nor will milk and cookies be served to induce the proper restful attitude. But stimulating activity will be discouraged. "The hour will not be used for meetings, conferences, telephone calls, personal business, coffee-breaks, etc.," the announcement warns.

And outsiders will be told that they should not call the service's employees and disrupt the quiet time. "All people who normally do business with US & FCS should be advised not to call or visit during quiet hour," the internal memo admonishes.

What about those who unwittingly expect the office to answer their inquiries during business hours? "Telephones may be answered by one person, taking names and messages for all remaining personnel on quiet hour," the memo explains, adding: "This duty should be rotated so that one person is not constantly taking messages."

Answering machines may also be utilized to enforce the quiet hour. But whether callers reach a person or a machine, they "should be advised that the person they are seeking is not 'available at the moment' and will return the call shortly," the memo says. "Other equivalent, diplomatic statements can also be used," it adds.

What about TIPS — Truly Important Persons — who may not be aware of the office's quiet hour? "Exceptions to quiet hour should be understood by all — the White House, congressional offices and the immediate office of the (Commerce) secretary." But lest President Reagan get too demanding, the memo warns sternly: "Exceptions must be minimal."

POLISH ADVENTURE: The Polish government's crackdown on Solidarity leader Lech Walesa extends to foreigners who visit him. Ralph Andrews, an American movie producer, learned this to his dismay last month. The morning after a three-hour meeting with Walesa, Andrews was arrested by Polish secret police, interrogated at length, and ordered to stay in his hotel until he left for the airport the next day.

It was Andrews' fourth trip to Poland in connection with the movie he is making about Walesa and Solidarity. I had made the original arrangements for Andrews to meet Walesa, and had given him some questions to ask the Nobel Peace Prize winner. Andrews has told the story of his final trip to Poland with humor and palpable relief. Here are the highlights:

Andrews began sweating it out the minute he got off the plane at Warsaw. A premonitory hunch had led him to hide my list of questions and the contract documents for Walesa in his left sock; he had almost $4,000 in cash hidden in his right sock. ("Thank God I wear over-the-calf socks," Andrews said.) It was a wise precaution, for the Polish customs inspector searched his luggage with excruciating thoroughness.

Andrews, who is bald, had brought a wig to wear on his drive to Gdansk for the meeting with Walesa, hoping to elude secret police surveillance. It worked, and the meeting with Walesa and his wife, Danuta, was a complete success.

That evening in the Black Cat — the Warsaw hotel's night club — Andrews struck up a conversation with a foreign businessman, who disclosed that he never had trouble with customs inspections. Acting again on a premonition, Andrews gave the stranger his precious documents, including videotapes of Walesa, and arranged to get them back in Paris two days later.

It was another lucky hunch. Early the next morning, Andrews was taken in for interrogation. Lacking incriminating evidence, the police let him go.

When he arrived in Paris the next day, Andrews raced to the Crillon Hotel to meet the businessman. "There he was," Andrews reported.

Insight

U.S. household size hits record low

WASHINGTON (AP) — The average American household contained fewer people than ever last year, while families with children increasingly were headed by a single parent, the Census Bureau says.

The decline in the size of the household, from an average 2.73 persons in 1983 to 2.71 in 1984, resumes a trend which had been strongly under way since the 1960s.

Also reflecting a dramatic post-1960s phenomenon, more than one in four families with children last year were headed by one parent, the Census Bureau said Tuesday.

The maturing of the post-World War II Baby Boom generation helped spur the decline in overall family size, with many young people setting up households on their own and young couples postponing children to pursue education and careers.

At the same time, more and more elderly people continue to maintain households on their own rather than moving in with their children, a trend that also helps lower the average size of households.

Nonetheless, after falling from 2.76 in 1980 to 2.73 in 1981, the per-household average held steady until last year's drop.

Some sociologists speculated that family size had evened out because weak economic conditions discouraged the formation of new households. Thus improvements in the economy and increased public confidence may have led to the resumed decline found in the new study.

While household size has declined most steadily since the 1960s, the trend has been a way of life throughout the nation's history.

The first census in 1790 found an average of 5.79 persons per household. That slipped below five persons by 1890 and below four in 1940, after which it leveled off, fluctuating only slightly until the average reached 3.34 in 1961 and then began falling steadily.

But as household size has fallen, the number of one-parent situations has shot upward. Single-parent family groups constitute 25.7 percent of all family situations, up from 21.5 percent in 1980 and only 12.9 percent in 1970, the bureau reported.

Prime reasons for this change were cited as premarital birth, separation and divorce.

While the increase occurred among both black and white families, blacks reported a considerably higher ratio of one-parent situations, totaling nearly three out of five families in 1984, Census officials said.

The new study found 59.2 percent of black families with children had only one parent present, up from 51.9 percent in 1980 and 35.7 percent in 1970.

By contrast the 1984 figure for whites was 20.1 percent, up from 17.1 percent in 1980 and 10.1 percent in 1970.

In one-parent situations, mothers continue to predominate in caring for children. Women headed 22.9 percent of families with children, while 2.8 percent were headed by fathers only.

That is an increase for fathers, though. They headed 2.2 percent of the families with children in 1980 and only 1.3 percent in 1970, the bureau reported.

Other findings of the new report, which updates preliminary statistics issued earlier, included:
• There were 85.4 million households in the United States in 1984, including 61.9 million families. About one-third of the households had children under age 18.

• Married couple families constituted 73 percent of white households but only 53 percent among blacks.

• The median age of the head of household was 45.6 years in 1984, down from 46.1 in 1980 and 48.1 in 1970.

• Nearly 70 percent of households were located in metropolitan areas in 1984.

• The South had the most households, 34 percent, followed by the Midwest, 25 percent; Northeast, 21 percent, and West, 20 percent.

Uno de ellos nunca ha perdido; el otro nunca supo que fue ganador. Pero de que individuos hablo? Uno fue condenado a morir por el estado de Texas por haber matado un director de tienda. Jesus De La Rosa tenia 24 años de edad cuando murio el miercoles al amanecer. Se robo una caja de cerveza.

De familia, nomas su madre y padraastro estaban con el cuando murio en Huntsville. Todo lo que les dijo es que por favor lo perdonaran por lo que habia hecho.

Viente y cuatro años de edad. Nisiquiera comenzo a vivir su vida. Pero mucha gente va a decir que eso era lo que merecia. Pero quien es uno para juzgar?

La señorita Laura Martinez Herring fue la primera Hispana que ha ganado el titulo de "Miss USA." La señorita de El Paso fue coronada el lunes; dias antes de la muerte de Jesus.

En su entrevista, Laura dijo que no ha habido un concurso de belleza que no ha ganado. La señorita no sabe que es la palabra "perder."

Hay esta — dos cuentos y dos vidas. Una afortunada y otra degradada.

El individuo condenado por sus acciones fue victima de la sociedad en que vivio su breve vida. No es verdad que muy facil la sociedad iba a dejar a Jesus ganar.

La gente puede arguir que el hombre siempre era gente mala — que era robon, marijuano borachento y luego maton. Esa misma gente fue la que pensaba eso cuando Jesus estaba vivo.

Esa gente, ese pensamiento es la sociedad. La sociedad somos Ud., su amigo, su vecino y tambien yo.

La sociedad le fallo a ese hombre aun tiempo o otro. No es verdad que Jesus era como fue toda su vida. Pero si uno le dice a una persona que ellos no valen para nada; con tiempo se van a crear de eso.

Eso pienso yo que fue la caida de Jesus.

Y si no cree eso, nomas mira a la señorita Laura en toda su belleza. Todos le han dicho a ella que no es posible perder. Y siendo la persona que es, eso fue suficiente para ella.

Con esa poca esperanza y mucho trabajo, Laura es lo que es.

Esa esperanza, esa ocasion fue algo que el desgraciado de Jesus nunca conoció.

Dear Abby

Minister stresses Christian unity

DEAR ABBY: As a minister of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), I want to applaud your response to "Cut Off in Virginia," whose son-in-law has forbidden her and her minister husband from visiting their home. You said, "Until you respect your daughter's right to religious freedom, forget about your 'rights' as a grandparent. You have none." Good for you!

"Cut Off's" letter indicates a lack of understanding of both the Gospel and of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ). Sure we believe in "believers baptism" and understand that to be immersion. However, we have never claimed to be the only Christians, and have worked to bring the unity of Christ's people, recognizing all Christians, whatever the denomination, to be brothers and sisters in Christ.

I can only pray that "Cut Off" will someday be able to ask for the forgiveness of her daughter and son-in-law and come to know their love and the love of the grandson.

RONALD E. NOWLIN,
A DISCIPLE MINISTER,
REDONDO BEACH, CALIF.

DEAR DISCIPLE MINISTER: I heard from many Disciple ministers, including Kenneth L. Teegarden, general minister and president of the Disciples of Christ in the United States and Canada, conveying the same message.

However, not all my readers agreed with me. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: Your curt response to the grandparents who told their son-in-law that his son was going to hell indicates that you are as intolerant as you accused these grandparents of being.

If you were in a burning building, would you be insulted by a warning from a fellow man? The intent of religious zealots is not to insult, but to warn.

It would behoove us all to examine and re-examine our beliefs. For just because the Constitution of the United States guarantees us freedom to worship God in any manner that we choose, it does not guarantee that God will be pleased with that choice.

We must put aside the popular misconception that as long as we are sincere, we'll be pleasing to him. Many, many examples in the Bible show that he wants and demands our very best in the way that he commanded it.

Dr. Donohue

Fat cells work against our insulin

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I've been taking Orinase for diabetes for 15 months. I am led to understand that I will need this medicine for life. I know that I am controlling the diabetes this way, but is there really no hope for ever curing it? — R.P.L.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE — How does the oral medicine, Orinase, help control my diabetes? — J.E.

There are many ways to control diabetes mellitus, especially the kind that needs no insulin injection. In that kind, the person's pancreas in making insulin but the body is not using it properly, so its' guarburing effect is lessened, causing the blood sugar rise. The Orinase (tolbutamide) assists this kind of diabetic by helping his body utilize the insulin already present. Its precise way of doing this is still not entirely clear, but that is the end result.

Now, having said that, let me add that there are other things the diabetic can do to help his condition. Perhaps the most important of them is control of body weight. Fat cells, we know, work against the action of body insulin, so if you reduce their numbers you help control blood sugar. The diet should include lots of complex carbohydrates, the kind that are more slowly digested, the pastas, fruits, vegetables, etc. With dietary changes, many adults with the non-insulin-dependent diabetes will be able to control their blood sugar.

I can't answer R.P.L. definitely. How long he will have to continue his oral medicine depends on the success of his total control program. But even if he must use it the rest of his life, that would be no cause for despair. To my mind, control in this instance is a very good second to cure.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: How many calories does it take to make up a pound of body weight? Seems to me I heard this figure given in thousands, but I can't recall it. — G.G.

The figure is approximately 3,000. That means to gain a pound you have to take in an excess of 3,000 calories as food over the amount of calories expended (through activity over a given period — a week, a month).

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

'Gift of sight' will be featured at Health Fair

The "Gift of Sight", educational exhibit sponsored by members of the Lion Eye Bank, Inc., of Midland and the Big Spring Evening Lions club, and a breast self-examination demonstration film, sponsored by the Howard County-Glasscock Chapter of The American Cancer Society will be two of the 50 exhibits at the fourth annual Big Spring Health Fair in the Big Spring Mall on Saturday.

The "Gift of Sight" exhibit will discuss the donation of eyes to the District 2-A1 Lions Eye Bank, Inc., a non-profit organization serving 25 Texas counties. It is an organization formed to collect human eyes and distribute them to an ocular (eye) surgeon when a cornea is needed for grafting or transplantation. Eyes are removed within six hours of death from donors. Donor cards must be filled out to make this possible. Next-of-kin must sign an "Authority For Removal" form before the eyes can be removed. Donors are given cards, and the Texas Driver's License provides a space for the driver to donate organs, tissue and other parts. The color of the eye, sex, and race of the donor is not relevant. Eyes cannot be designated for a specific person. They are used for the next patient on an eye surgeon's list. If a donated eye is diseased or cannot be used for grafting, it is studied in research to help find causes and cures for blindness. Anyone 18 or older and of sound mind may be a donor. An individual under 18 may become a donor if both parents or a legal guardian gives consent.

● Cancer of the breast cannot be prevented, but cure is more likely if cancer is identified early and treatment started immediately. Most tumors are located by the woman herself; therefore, all women should practice breast self-examination.

Court upholds jury conviction

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — A Mitchell County jury had enough evidence to convict Raymond Gonzales for the murder of his live-in companion, the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals ruled Wednesday. Gonzales was convicted in 32nd District Court of fatally shooting Malva Forbes while the couple sat arguing in their kitchen. A jury in Judge Weldon Kirk's court sentenced him to 50 years in prison. Gonzales, in his appeal, said the 1978 shooting was accidental and argued that there was not enough evidence for the jury to convict him. The appeals court, however, disagreed, pointing to testimony from the victim's family which indicated the couple had a history of violent arguments. The woman's 20-year-old son, according to court records, said he heard the shot and found the pistol pointed in his direction immediately after the shooting. He fled following a scuffle with Gonzales. Discrepancies between Gonzales' version of the shooting, the son's testimony and evidence presented by the state, the court said, "render it wholly rational for a jury to conclude that Raymond Gonzales knowingly caused the death of Ms. Forbes by shooting her with a gun."

Commissioners express dim view of center aid

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer
Martin County commissioners express a dim view of offering financial assistance to a proposed juvenile detention center in Howard County. "County Judge Bob Deavenport reported to county commissioners on Monday the discussion at the juvenile board commission meeting last week about Howard County officials considering a juvenile detention center," said Martin County Attorney Robert Morris. Commissioners made no decisions about the agenda item, Morris said, but expressed concern about an estimated $600,000 construction cost and a "substantial operating cost." "Martin County needs for a detention center are not constant. Perhaps it would be more economical to contract for juvenile services with other counties. One possibility would be the Midland County facility," Morris said. Deavenport said county commissioners are concerned with finances and "watching our expenditures." He said the issue of a new detention center in Howard County should be explored further and "more counties that can share the cost — the better." But, he added, "it's very expensive." In other action, Martin County commissioners:

for the care and housing of Midland County jail inmates. Deavenport said Martin County jail can house five Midland prisoners a day at $26 per day. ● Approved a motion to bring county labor laws into compliance with Federal labor laws. Morris said that county employees will be paid 1½ times their hourly rate for any overtime hours. ● Commissioners voted in favor of granting Martin County homesteaders 30 percent discounts from homestead appraisals. They also approved a motion of granting discounts for people who pay their taxes early. Morris said the county will offer a three percent discount in Oct., two percent discount in Nov. and a one percent discount in Dec.

By CHARLIE ALCORN

COLLEGE STATION — The Howard College Hawks got off on the right foot in the opening round of the Texas Junior College Baseball Tournament with a 14-0 victory over Panola JC Wednesday afternoon at Texas A&M's Olson Field.

The Hawks were fighting off a determined Panola squad 6-0 going into the top of the ninth, when Howard batsmen erupted for 8 runs in the last inning to secure the victory. Hawk shortstop Mike Byrd dealt the killing blow with a grand slam home run that gave the Region V representatives a comfortable 13-0 lead.

Starting pitcher Chuck Ashcraft, who contracted an ear infection prior to the game, managed to go the distance while striking out seven. The sophomore righthander allowed seven hits in the game and no earned runs with the help of some fine defensive play by his Hawk teammates. The Howard ace raised his record to 10-1 with the victory.

After a pair of scoreless opening innings, Hawk centerfielder Steve Carrasco got things going in the top of the third with a leadoff single. Third baseman Roland Gonzales followed with another single to put runners at the corners. Byrd lashed a single, driving in Carrasco, to give the Hawks an early 1-0 lead.

In the top of the third, Carrasco again opened up with a single. With one out, Byrd got on base via one of Panola's seven errors. Hawk catcher Eddie Citronelli came up with two outs and runners at second and third and hit a hard shot to the Pony third baseman, who could not find the handle, scoring Carrasco and Byrd.

The Hawks added 3 runs in the seventh and eighth innings to stretch their lead to 6-0 going into the ninth inning. Cleanup batter Jimmy Garcia drove in Dan Lanfear in the seventh with a two out single. In the eighth, Gonzales drove in Joe Cuellar with a sacrifice fly and Byrd knocked in the second of his six RBI's with a two out single scoring first baseman Joey Ortiz.

The Hawks batted around the order in the eighth run ninth, using 7 hits to put the Ponies away. Garcia was hit by a pitch to open up the inning before Mark Howell and Cuellar loaded the bases with singles. Ortiz then singled in Garcia to give the Hawk a 7-0 lead.

With the bases loaded and one out, Byrd delivered his first career grand slam over the left field wall, putting the game out of reach 13-0. Following a pair of singles by Lanfear and Citronelli, Garcia ended the Hawk scoring with an RBI double to make the final score

The win placed the Hawks in today's winners bracket game against the nation's fifth-ranked team, San Jacinto Junior College. San Jacinto beat Texas Southmost College in a 10 run rule game early Wednesday afternoon to advance to the second round.

In the other first round game, Region V regular season champion McClellan Community College defeated Lee College of Baytown in a 10 run rule game. The 7th-ranked Highlanders are scheduled to meet Panola JC this morning in a second round game. Panola made it to the second round by beating Lee College in the losers bracket game late Wednesday night.

Howard head coach Bill Griffin has slated Doug Myers to pitch in the 4 p.m. game against San Jacinto. Griffin is hoping the 7-2 Myers can go the distance because his two relief aces, Bryan Willis and Khrist Segrist, are both currently battling injuries.

"Hopefully the extra day of rest will do the boys (Willis and Segrist) some good," commented Griffin. "We are going to need them tomorrow, because Ashcraft was hit by a line drive last night and might not be able to pitch any more in the tournament."

Texas Ranger manager DOUG RADER sits on the steps at Yankee Stadium holding his lineup card prior to Wednesday night's game against New York. The Rangers lost 6-5 in 10 innings. The Rangers reportedly offered RADER's job to Met coach BOBBY VALENTINE.

Rangers lose again; Rader out of a job

NEW YORK (AP) — The game, and the game-ending play, summed up the way things have gone this season for the Texas Rangers.

"It gives you a headache," said first baseman Pete O'Brien, whose error with one out in the 10th inning Wednesday night gave the New York Yankees a 6-5 triumph over the Rangers. "You try to do so much, and you end up overdoing it."

Texas relievers Greg Harris and Dave Schmidt held the Yankees without a hit after the third inning. O'Brien had not made an error in 314 chances until the 10th. And the Rangers had rallied from a 5-1 deficit against Ron Guidry.

But, the end result saddled Texas with its fifth straight loss and left the Rangers with a 9-22 record — worst in the major leagues. The defeat came amidst published reports this week that the Rangers' management had decided to fire Manager Doug Rader shortly.

Dave Winfield led off the 10th by drawing a walk from Schmidt, 1-2, after being down in the count 0-2. Winfield stole second and then tagged up and slid safely into third just ahead of left fielder Gary Ward's strong throw on a flyout by Don Baylor to deep left-center field.

After Ken Griffey was intentionally walked, Butch Wynegar hit a chopper that O'Brien charged, but bobbled, as Winfield slid home safely without a throw.

Texas outhit New York 11-7 and O'Brien found some bright spots, although they may not be enough for Rader's sake.

Rumors that Rader's job was in jeopardy were confirmed Wednesday night when New York Mets' third base coach Bobby Valentine said he had been offered the Texas post.

Valentine was to meet today with Rangers' majority owner Eddie Chiles, team President Mike Stone and General Manager Tom Grieve in Houston, where the Mets are playing the Astros.

"I've been offered the Rangers' job. Grieve gave me a verbal OK, but he said everybody has to agree. They might just drag it out until the weekend," Valentine told the Stamford (Conn.) Advocate. "Tom told me that Eddie and (Stone) have to finalize everything and that's why they're all flying down here," he said. "I'm asking for a three-year contract. If they decide to offer me only one year, well, I guess that's something that could go wrong."

Reports began circulating early this week that the Texas management had decided to fire Rader. The Rangers, who were last in the American League West last season, lost their fifth straight game Wednesday night to the New York Yankees, 6-5 in 10 innings, as their record fell to 9-22, worst in the major leagues.

"Sometime this week everything will be cleared up, all the doubt, suspicion and speculation," Chiles said early Wednesday, commenting on the speculation that Rader would be let go.

Arkansas headed for 4th straight SWC title

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Olympic silver medalist Mike Conley leads the Arkansas track team as it seeks its fourth straight Southwest Conference outdoor track championship this weekend.

Add to that the advantage of competing on their own turf and the Razorbacks look like the favorites. A tight race for second is to pit Texas, Houston, Southern Methodist University and Baylor.

Arkansas, coached by John McDonnell, also has won five straight SWC indoor championships and 11 straight cross country championships.

The last team other than Arkansas to win a league track title was Texas A&M in 1981. Arkansas also is the 1984 and 1985 NCAA indoor champion and won the NCAA cross country title last fall.

Conley, who won his medal in the triple jump at the 1984 Summer Olympics in Los Angeles, holds the conference meet record of 56-2 3/4 in that event. His best this season is 56-4 1/2.

Assistant track coach Ted King of Arkansas said there will be a new triple jump record after the meet Friday and Saturday. "Mike will beat that and rightly so," King said. "The new runway, particularly at the take-off point, has a beautiful consistency and is bouncy. So, there should be a lot of great performances this weekend."

The teams will be competing on a new long jump and a triple jump runway built in front of the grandstand at the Razorback track.

Conley has won every SWC long jump competition the past four years. His best jump this year — 26-7 1/2 — is short of the meet record set in 1981 by Olympian Carl Lewis.

Highlights of the meet include competition by four NCAA champions and defending conference champions in 12 of the 17 events.

Three runners entered for the 1,500-meter run have posted times below the SWC record of 3:42.53, set by Baylor's Todd Harbour. SMU's Paul Rugut ran a 3:37.81 two weeks ago, Arkansas' Paul Donovan has run 3:39.88 and Rice's Gwynn Guy has turned in a 3:41.00.

SWC record-holders entered in the meet include high jumper Bill Jasinski of Arkansas, pole vaulter David Hodge of Baylor and 200-meter sprinter Kirk Baptiste of Houston.

Texas' Patrick Sang is to defend his 1984 SWC title in the steeplechase, SMU's Rod Jones in the 400 meter, SMU's Road Bradstock in the javelin, Texas' Marty Davenport in the discus and Texas A&M's Arturo Barrios in the 10,000.

In the women's competition, Houston and Texas are to continue to dominate the overall championship. Houston has won the women's title the past two years.

Houston's Carol Lewis, an Olympian and sister of Carl Lewis, is to compete in five events.

Stewart wants reprieve

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Payne Stewart, golf's tarnished golden boy, says it may be this week, next week or next year, but he will erase the nightmare that began here a year ago on the banks of the Trinity River.

"Hey, keep giving me the chance, and one day I'll finish it off," said Stewart, 28, prior to the start of today's $500,000 Colonial National Invitation Tournament.

The former SMU sharpshooter was ruled as one of several favorites in the select field of 102 competing for a $90,000 first prize and the red plaid jacket that symbolizes a Colonial championship.

"I know I'm going to win again," said Stewart, who lost the NIT title here last year under conditions almost identical to his well-chronicled collapse Sunday at the Byron Nelson Classic.

"It may be this week, next week, two weeks or three years, but I'm going to win again," vowed the colorful Stewart, who won the Quad Cities Open in 1982 and the Walt Disney World Classic in 1983.

He brought a one-shot lead into the 72nd and final hole here a year ago but had to scramble for a bogey that took the tournament into sudden death.

Peter Jacobsen beat him on the first hole of the playoff, where Stewart again worked overtime for a bogey.

After squandering a 3-shot lead on the 72nd hole last week, he took a double bogey 6 on the first hole of sudden death and lost the Nelson crown to Bob Eastwood.

"This wasn't my week," he sighed after a lonely trek through the woods. "This wasn't my time to win."

Mets down Houston, 5-3

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Astros caught National League strikeout leader Dwight Gooden on an off night, only to catch New York Mets relief pitcher Jesse Orosco at his best.

Gooden allowed three runs on eight hits while walking two and getting a career-low one strikeout Wednesday night before being chased from the game during a Houston uprising in the seventh inning.

But Orosco came on to retire all eight batters he faced over the final 2-23 innings to pick up his fifth save of the season and preserve a 5-3 victory for Gooden (6-1) and the Mets.

Houston had cut the lead to 4-3 in the seventh inning on a one-out double to right by Bill Doran and a single to center by Terry Puhl that brought on Orosco in relief. Orosco struck out Enos Cabell and Jose Cruz to kill the rally.

"This is my sharpest outing of the year," said Orosco. "I had command of all my pitches tonight."

Astros manager Bob Lillis saluted the Mets reliever.

"Orosco just simply shut us down tonight," Lillis said. "It was a tough game for us to lose."

Doran, the Astros second baseman, added "We just didn't get the key hits we needed."

The Mets took a 2-0 lead after two innings off Astros starter and loser Joe Niekro (2-4). Mookie Wilson tripled to right and scored on a one-out sacrifice fly by Keith Hernandez in the first inning, and Danny Heep slammed a one-out solo home run, his first of the year, in the second inning.

After the Astros tallied a run in the fourth on a leadoff double by Denny Walling and two infield ground balls, the Mets scored two more runs in the fifth to take a 4-1 lead.

Ray Knight led off with a walk and advanced to third on a hit-and-run single to right by Rafael Santana. Gooden grounded to third, and Knight was tagged out in a rundown, with Santana and Gooden advancing to second and third. Santana scored on a sacrifice fly to center by Wally Backman. Gooden scored on a single to right by Wilson.

Consecutive singles by Kevin Bass, Doran and Terry Puhl leading off the fifth inning gave the Astros their second run, but Gooden worked out of further trouble by retiring the next three batters.

"I thought I threw some good pitches with runners in scoring position," Gooden said.

"I didn't have the hard curve ball tonight. That is the pitch that I get most of my strikeouts on. But it is a good feeling to know that you have guys in the bullpen to pick you up when you don't have your best stuff," said Gooden (6-1), who now has 57 strikeouts for the year.

Saturday will mark week five of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce CLEAN Committee campaign. The citywide cleanup is being done in coordination with the City of Big Spring. Crews will collect trash that is too large for dumpsters. Any items such as tree branches, furniture and appliances should be placed in front of residences and not in alleys. All items should be placed on the curb by 8 a.m. Saturday. The crews will be collecting refuse in Area 5 Saturday. The area includes north of 11th Place (east of Gregg, south of the railroad and west of FM 700).

3 states supporting Texas as site for GM Saturn plant

TEXARKANA, Texas (AP) — Attorneys general from Arkansas, Louisiana and Oklahoma called a news conference today — apparently to announce that the three states are throwing their support behind proposals to locate the General Motors' Saturn automobile plant in Texarkana.

Robert E. "Swede" Lee, president of the Texarkana Chamber of Commerce, announced the 10 a.m. news conference and said it would be about the location of the $5 billion GM plant, but declined further comment.

Ironically, Texas officials were not represented at the meeting, at least not directly.

Harden Wiedemann, executive director of the Texas Economic Development Commission, told the Dallas Times Herald Wednesday that Texas officials support the plan but decided not to get involved. To do so would be to show favoritism to Texarkana at the expense of the more than 80 other Texas cities also bidding for the Saturn plant, he said.

Officials of the three states remained generally mum Wednesday on the purpose of the meeting, but Wiedemann speculated that officials from the other states devised the plan in recognition of Texas' status as a frontrunner in what has become a municipal and state sweepstakes to attract the manufacturing plant.

The certain regional economic benefits of a Saturn plant at Texarkana — which sits on the Texas-Arkansas border and is less than 40 miles from Oklahoma and Louisiana — would be sufficient to excite Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana about the prospects of having a plant located near, albeit not inside of their borders, Wiedemann told the Times Herald.

"Wherever Saturn is located, there's going to be a mini-city" that will rely on the labor and supplier pools of the surrounding region, Wiedemann said.

He said he did not know the specific inducements that would be offered GM, but said the proposal was based on the notion that "it makes sense from a geographical distribution standpoint, plus GM gets favors from four states instead of one by putting (Saturn) in Texarkana," Wiedemann added.

However, Wiedemann noted, there apparently has been no narrowing in the scope of GM's interest. GM officials in Dallas and Detroit said they first learned of the joint effort Wednesday when contacted by the news media.

GM has been conducting a national search for a site for the Saturn plant, which would create 6,000 jobs. The plant is to produce an inexpensive compact car to compete with foreign imports. GM has said it hopes to choose a site sometime this summer.

Like Texas, towns throughout Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana have been vying for the plant, which would employ thousands of workers and pump millions of dollars into the local economy.

Several industry officials have speculated that Dallas computer magnate H. Ross Perot's involvement in the plant might make Texas a front-runner. Perot, originally of Texarkana and founder and chairman of Electronic Data Systems Inc., became involved in the project when GM acquired EDS.

House OKs seat belt proposal

AUSTIN (AP) — The House has joined the Senate in voting to fine Texans up to $50 for riding in the front seat without wearing seat belts.

Today's 77-60 vote sent the measure to Gov. Mark White. The bill passed an initial vote Wednesday by a 79-56 margin.

House members praised the bill as a life-saver and criticized it as typical of over-protective government.

"Next thing after seat belts and next thing after air bags is going to be helmets in cars," said Rep. Keith Valigura, R-Conroe.

The U.S. Department of Transportation has said air bags would become mandatory in cars in 1989 if seat belt laws are not enacted in states representing two-thirds of the nation's population.

The federal threat comes after years of education and advertising aimed at urging, cajoling and scaring motorists into buckling up. Bill sponsor Rep. Bill Messer, D-Belton, said about 15 percent of Texans now use seat belts. The law could immediately spark 80 percent usage, he said.

"There's not anything this Legislature has the opportunity to do to save more lives, reduce injuries on the highway and save more money," said Messer.
