City dusts off advisory board

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

A city advisory board, on the drawing board since last August, may be in operation by October, Councilman Russ McEwen said last week.

City officials are scheduled to meet in June with representatives from the U.S. Justice Department in Dallas to discuss setting up the advisory committee, McEwen said.

"What we're trying to do is to come up with an independent, almost ombudsman-type, committee," McEwen said.

The board, once established, could assist in dealing with "people who have problems with not just the police but any area of the city," he said.

City officials came up with the idea for the advisory board after last August's special election on whether to change the method of selecting a chief from appointive to elective.

The committee would have a broader function than just handling citizen grievances, McEwen said. He said he sees the board as "a committee that would receive information to keep the city administration informed of perceptions of the community toward different departments."

One of the board's functions could be "the receiving of grievances about any department," McEwen said. Its main function, however, would be not so much handling grievances but assisting the administration by informing it of the areas in which citizens want action, he said.

City officials who will meet with the Justice representatives include Councilmen McEwen, Larry Miller and Henry Sanchez, City Manager Don Davis, Police Chief Rick Turner and City Attorney Doyle

Curtis

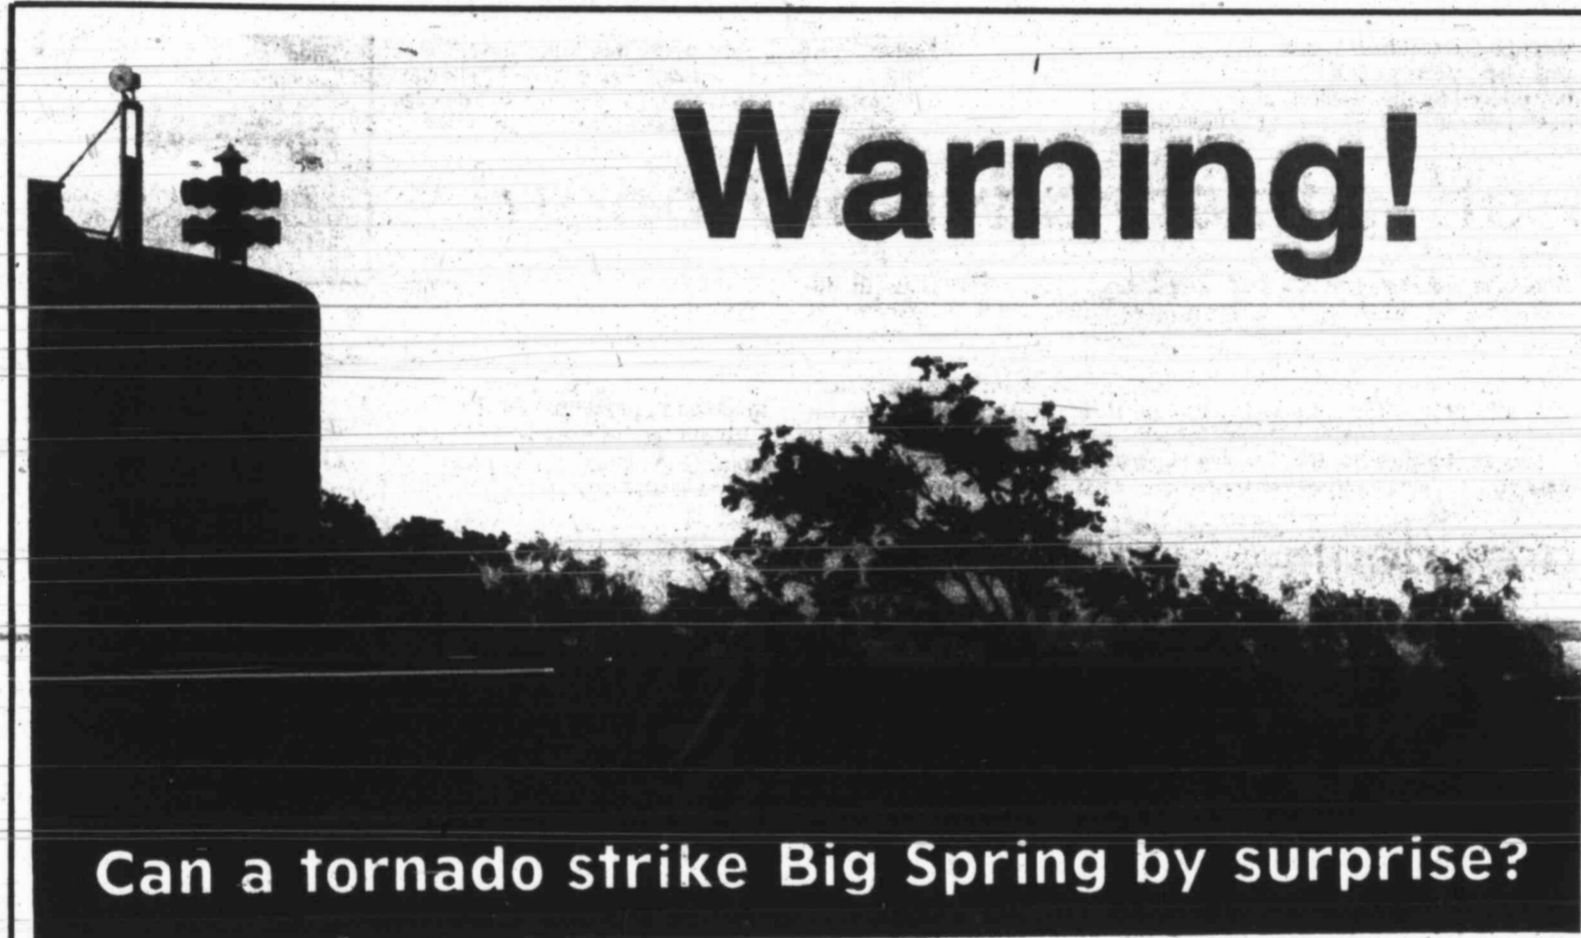

City officials have met once with the Justice representatives, they said.

"The last time, they brought a lot of literature. We looked through it and we are mulling over ideas," McEwen said.

City officials, however, have not decided specifics of board make-up or scope, they said.

"Nothing has been decided,"

Can a tornado strike Big Spring by surprise?

Confirmation. Judgment call. Take shelter.

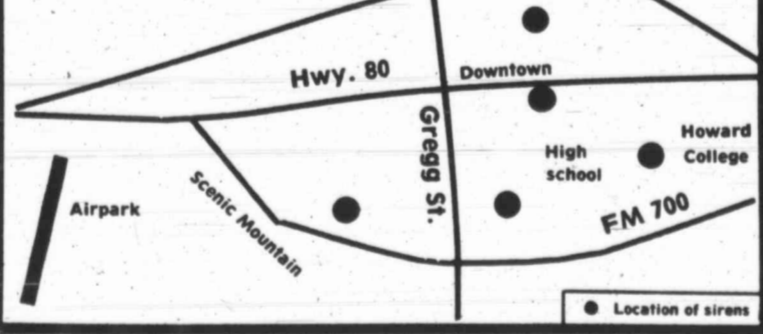

These are key words that determine a city's safety when a tornado warning is issued by the National Weather Service or warning sirens are activated.

Hal Boyd, Howard County emergency management coordinator, heads the Emergency Operation Center (EOC) and is the first person notified when severe weather threatens Howard County.

Officials on the EOC team are Boyd, City Manager Don Davis, Police Chief Rick Turner, Fire Chief Carl Dorton and Director of Public Works Tom Decell.

The team determines whether to activate the sirens if and when a tornado is sighted, he said. The decision to sound the sirens is purely a judgment call, he said.

Five sirens make up the emergency warning system in Big Spring. The sirens are located at the Main Street Fire Station on Third and Nolan, 11th and Birdwell Fire Station, 18th and Main Fire Station, North 8th and Main (Northside) and the water tank on the hill beside the Barcelona Apartments.

When the sirens are activated, everyone should seek shelter immediately, Boyd said.

"A person should take the closest or most immediate protective shelter possible," he said. "Go to the strongest wall in the house or into a hallway if you have one. You can cover yourself with a mattress or lie down in a tub."

"If you are out in the open, look for a deep depression to lie in. Look for a bridge or a ditch to get into. The worst thing to do is to get in your car and try to outrun it (tornado)."

Boyd said some of the shelter areas in the city include the county courthouse, Howard

It unleashed its fury on Lubbock. Its wrath devastated Wichita Falls several years later.

Wichita Falls residents remember the day as Black Tuesday.

The two cities lived through a terrifying weather phenomenon known as a tornado.

The National Weather Service at the Midland-Odessa Regional Air Terminal is responsible for issuing warnings for severe thunderstorms in Big Spring and the Crossroads Country area.

Tornado warnings have been top priority to local residents during the past month. The city's sirens were activated when a tornado was sighted in Howard County last week.

A tornado warning means a tornado has been spotted on a radar scope or a confirmed sighting has been received by the weather service, said a weather service spokesman.

"Radar detects precipitation, possible tornadoes, hook echoes and 'curly Qs,'" said Jack Nunan, with the weather service in Midland. "Radar is basically a tool."

Nunan said the weather service office in Midland, which covers an 18-county area stretching into New Mexico, relies heavily on law enforcement officials and other agencies.

"If you are in a 125-mile radius, it (radar) measures only 1/16 of an inch on one of our scopes," Nunan said. This sometimes makes it difficult to make a confirmation, he said.

"The best thing that we've got to say 'We have a tornado on the ground,' is our weather spotters (law enforcement and other agencies)," he said. "We cover this area and also Lea County, N.M."

Nunan said radar also detects hail spikes. The level of intensity for a particular thunderstorm

Texans arm against fear

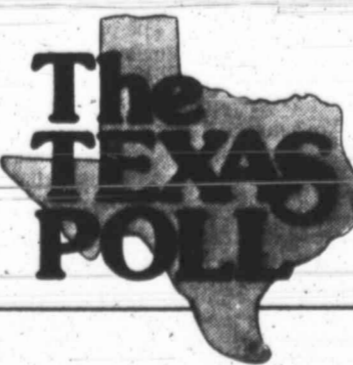

Crime affected the families of one in six Texans last year, according to a recent Texas Poll.

And although law enforcement officials consistently say that many crimes go unreported, almost all of the victims interviewed also said the crime was reported to the police.

Among all Texans, 16 percent said someone in their families had been affected by crime in the last year; 84 percent said not.

Texans indicated that crime was more likely to affect their families last year if they were:

- White — 18 percent of the whites, but 8 percent of the blacks and 10 percent of the Hispanics.
- Better educated — 21 percent of the college graduates and 17 percent of the high-school graduates, but 6 percent of those who had not graduated from high school.
- Richer — 21 percent of those with family incomes above $30,000, but 9 percent of those with family incomes below $10,000.

More than half of the Texas Poll respondents (54 percent) said they have a firearm in their homes. About a third (35 percent) of all Texans interviewed said they have a pistol in their homes; about a third (34 percent) said they have a shotgun; and about a third (34 percent) said they have a rifle.

About 42 percent of the respondents said they don't have any guns in their homes.

Guns are more likely to be in the homes of East Texans (73 percent), small-town and rural residents (65 percent), whites (59 percent), richer Texans (64 percent) and lifelong Texans (59 percent).

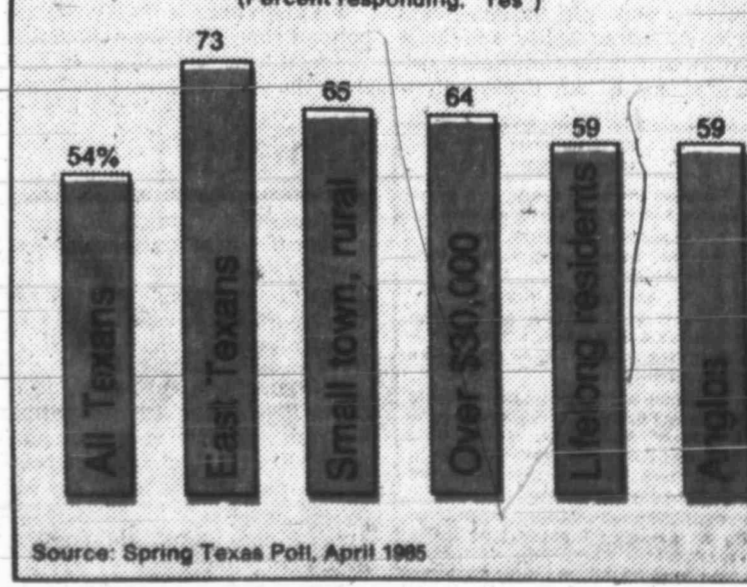

People not as likely to have guns include newcomers to the state (42 percent), poorer Texans (42 percent), blacks (43 percent), Hispanics (34 percent) and college graduates (47 percent).

The poll also found that people whose families had been affected by crime in the last year (61 percent) were slightly more likely to have guns in their homes than people whose families had not (52 percent).

Something that didn't have much effect on whether Texans were affected by crime was the size of the area they live in.

No kidding about health

Children focus of screenings, education at Big Spring fair

By CAROL BALDWIN
Staff Writer

The focus was on children Saturday as hundreds of people crowded into the Big Spring Mall to participate in the fourth annual Health Fair.

Numerous booths were set up to screen for problems such as asthma, hearing, diabetes and anemia.

Older folks were not forgotten either, as adults swarmed around booths offering screenings of blood pressure, colon-rectal cancer and glaucoma.

In addition to screenings, professionals were distributing literature about the "concept of wellness," good nutrition, drug and alcohol abuse and weight management.

Naomi Hunt, county extension agent, said with a laugh that she had never seen so many people "line up to be weighed" as she and other volunteers manned a booth on food and fitness.

Barbara Holdampf, chairman of the event, was also a participant. Coming out of a screening for glaucoma, Holdampf said she undergoes the test every year to check for any trouble. The idea behind the health fair is to be alert for danger signals. Any abnormal findings are referred to physicians.

Health was on the mind of all participants in the fair as dozens of people lined up to donate blood for the county blood bank. The need for blood in Howard County is always pressing because of the number of trauma cases, Holdampf said.

Another popular area was a children's identification room, where parents could get their children's dental records and fingerprints jotted down for future use in case their child is missing.

"It has been continuous all day long," Holdampf said.

Holdampf and other organizers were unsure whether emphasis on children would be a good approach to the annual fair, but Saturday's crowd "were tremendous," she said later.

Clowns, puppets and even a human-sized green frog roamed through the children's area, cheering up youngsters a little bewildered by the needles and probes needed for some of the screenings.

On display in the children's area were posters done by area children in connection with the fair. Kimberly Martinez, 5, took first place. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Martinez. Other winners were Isaac Martinez of Coahoma and Steve Osburn of Lakeview.

Participants wandering through exhibits picked up free literature at every booth. Diane Linhart said she had come to the day's event "just to check it out. I thought I might learn something new about health and nutrition."

Teri McIntosh found the event "interesting. I'm interested in health and nutrition. I think it is a worthwhile event."

Participant Gwen Nichols was especially complimentary of the event. "I'm majoring in physical education at the University of Texas Permian Basin. Health is a big factor in my life. Everyone is health conscious these days." Offering the services free of charge was a big incentive to bring people out, Nichols said.

City dusts off citizen advisory board

Davis said.

The group was scheduled to meet again in December or January, but was cancelled when former councilman Jack Y. Smith had a death in the family, McEwen said.

Other committee members had other conflicts, Davis said. In addition, the Justice officials had a backlog of other meetings, McEwen said.

"It (the meeting and work on the advisory board) was just very informally or unofficially tabled or postponed," Davis said.

"We're talking to the Justice department because they have experience with committees in different cities. We want to avoid the trial-and-error process other cities have made," McEwen said.

He said he wants the board to be operating by October, when the new fiscal year starts. Once in operation, however, McEwen said the city would have to guard against the committee being perceived as another layer of bureaucracy.

McEwen said he hopes the advisory board will get citizens more involved in municipal government. "We'd like to have more citizen input. (But) I sometimes wonder if there's really any way."

Former bank president sentenced for embezzling

MIDLAND (AP)— A federal judge has sentenced former Metro Bank President John Edward Thomas Jr. to 25 years in prison for embezzling funds and making false bank entries.

Thomas, president of the West Texas bank from its start in 1978 until he resigned two weeks before the bank failed in July 1983, was sentenced Thursday by U.S. District Judge Lucius D. Bunton.

Bunton, who also ordered Thomas to pay more than $555,000 in restitution, stacked several of the five-year prison terms and ordered others to run concurrently.

The judge also placed Thomas on probation for five years following his prison term.

Thomas, 42, was convicted in April on 14 counts of embezzlement and misapplying $550,000 of Metro

Bank funds and making false entries of nearly $1 million between 1981 and 1982.

The bank, located between Midland and Odessa, was closed by the Texas State Banking Commission for insolvency because of its high percentage of non-performing loans and $7 million in loan losses.

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation became the bank's receiver, and the FBI launched an investigation after the closing.

Thomas, who begins serving his sentence June 17, will be eligible for parole after serving about a third of the sentence, officials said.

"I know I'm going to spend some time in prison, but I'm going to take it like a man and hopefully come back a better citizen," Thomas told the judge before he was sentenced.

County Junior College, municipal auditorium, First Presbyterian Church, First Baptist Church, YMCA, Baptist Temple, Permian Building, State National Bank, First National Bank, Security State Bank, First Methodist Church, Federal Building, Big Spring High School and the city water filtration plant.

Those areas are open during the day, Boyd said. The courthouse would be the only building open at night. The police department could assist in getting any facility open in an emergency, he said.

Residents should not rely solely on a siren system when severe weather threatens a city, Boyd said.

"No one should rely on sirens as a single source," he said. "With the high winds, heavy rain and hail, it's sometimes difficult to hear the sirens."

People should stay tuned to a local radio or television station which broadcasts weather service bulletins.

Boyd also said the city's sirens were not as effective as he would like them to be.

The sirens are situated in the more densely populated areas of the city as indicated by the map. Persons living in the far west part of the city are not covered by a siren, according to the map.

Spotting

is also measured by the radar, he said.

"The level of intensity of a storm is measured from one to six," Nunan said. "One means you have a small shower; six means you have a very, very heavy thunderstorm."

The height of the cloud mass of the storm also measures the intensity of a storm, he said. This sometimes helps determine if the conditions are right for a tornado.

"The higher the top of the cloud (mass), the more intense the storm," Nunan said. "300,000 feet for a cloud top means you have one heck of a thunderstorm storm and possibly a tornado."

The weather service relies on the Texas Department of Public Safety, police, sheriff deputies, ham operators and civil defense personnel, he said.

"To have actual confirmation of a tornado, a person in an official capacity would have to go out and confirm it was a tornado," Nunan said.

Police Beat

4 injured in 2 car crashes

Two major accidents were reported in the city Friday. According to police reports, a car driven by Harold Woods of Box 567 was westbound in the 1800 block of Marcy when a vehicle driven by John Sledge of 401 E. 17th drove into his path.

Both cars swerved and Sledge's vehicle struck a vehicle belonging to Darla Barton of Forsan, who was stopped at an exit of the Big Spring Mall.

Reports show that Sledge was ticketed for failure to yield right of way.

Woods, 62, and his wife, Ella Faye Woods, 57, received minor injuries in the incident. Sledge, 80, was not injured, and his wife, Estel, 76, received minor injuries. Barton was not injured.

In a separate incident, cars driven by Arthur Nelson and Callie Barnes, both of the Gail Route, collided at 400 E. 4th Friday afternoon. According to reports, Nelson attempted to stop for a traffic light but slid on the wet pavement. He was ticketed for failure to control speed to avoid an accident.

A passenger in Barnes car, 20-year-old Becky Barnes, received minor injuries in the incident. No one else was injured.

Richard Perez of Coahoma told police Saturday that someone took his 1975 Ford LTD while it was parked at 1907 Austin sometime late Friday or early Saturday. Police are investigating the incident.

A juvenile male was arrested at Godfather's Pizza in the College Park Shopping Center Friday night after police observed him chasing a woman and threatening to beat her.

Lupe Yanez of 704 NW 5th told police Friday that someone stole a 10-speed bicycle, valued at $129, from the yard outside 605 NW 9th.

Sheriff

Sheriff's deputies Saturday were investigating the theft of a transmission belonging to J. L. Baron of Forsan. Reports show the transmission is valued at $600.

Charles Lee Yarber, 25, no address given, was arrested with a warrant for driving while intoxicated Friday night after his bondsmen went off his bond. He was placed under a $1,500 bond set by Judge Melvin Daratt. He remained in jail Saturday.

Weather

The Forecast

Local

Cool temperatures prevailed over the area Saturday as light rain showers moved slowly off to the east, leaving clearing skies and light winds in their wake. Conditions should become more summerlike when a warming trend begins Sunday.

State

Heavy rains drenched parts of South Texas this morning for the second day in a row. The strongest thunderstorms toppled power lines and trees near McAllen, and golfball size hail pounded a portion of Laredo Friday night.

Heavy thunderstorms were scattered over a large portion of South Texas early today, with some showers extending off the middle coast. Other light showers were detected over the South Plains.

Light winds were common across most sections of the state. A notable exception was in South Texas, where a strong northwest wind of 15 to 25 mph was reported. A thunderstorm gust of 56 mph was clocked at Brownsville.

Predawn temperatures cooled to the 50s and 60s with the 70s confined to the south. The readings ranged from 54 at Amarillo and Lubbock to 71 at the Corpus Christi Naval Air Station.

Forecast

West Texas - Partly cloudy with a chance of afternoon and evening thunderstorms. Lows 50s and 60s. Highs 70s and 80s except lower 90s far west to near 100 Big Bend valleys.

Sands FFA wins district honors

ACKERLY — Members of the Sands Future Farmers of America chapter won two second-place and five third-place banners at the El Rancho FFA district banquet.

The chapter placed second in district horse-judging and senior chapter conducting contests. It placed third in district contests in livestock judging, FFA quiz, junior chapter conducting and FFA radio broadcasting.

The chapter also received a "superior chapter" rating for its performance during the 1984-85 school year.

Chapter members honored during the banquet were Kevin Hamlin, who served as area vice president; Wesley Huse, who served as district sentinel; and Michelle Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dean Hall, the chapter sweetheart.

At the district meeting at Grady High School in April, Duncan Hamlin was elected as El Rancho district president for the 1985-86 school year.

College to discuss future

The Howard County Junior College District trustees will meet Tuesday at 12:30 p.m. to consider catalogue changes and district goals.

Also on the agenda are considerations of personnel and of bid limits.

A report from the president, Dr. Bob Riley, and financial reports and bills are also on the agenda.

Trustees meet in the Dora Roberts Student Union Building.

Sands honors top students

ACKERLY — Sands High School in Ackerly Friday night honored outstanding students and supporters.

Sheri Perry was recognized as outstanding in science. Brent Staggs was recognized in math, while Lenona Gonzales was recognized in typing.

Others were Sheri Perry, history; Stefani Shortes, vocational home economics; Kevin Hamlin, vocational agriculture; Scottie Freeman, accounting; Lisa Idea, journalism; Jamie McGinnis, choir; and Kevin Hamlin, English.

The student with the highest grade average is Brent Staggs, boy, and Michelle Hall, girl.

Hazel and Donald Allred were recognized as the No. 1 fans.

In other news at Sands, University Interscholastic League qualifiers for regional competition include Lisa Iden, Jamie McGinnis and Lenona Gonzales.

Military

Staff Sgt. WILLIAM B. ALLENSWORTH Jr., son of Dr. William B. Allensworth of 906 Mountain Park Drive, has been decorated with U.S. Army Commendation Medal at Fort Benning, Ga.

Allensworth is a marksmanship instructor with the U.S. Army Infantry Center. He is a 1974 graduate of Big Spring High School.

ANGIE HOGENMILLER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hogenmiller of 801 Marcy will begin recruit training for the U.S. Navy in Orlando, Fla., next November.

She currently is a senior at Christ Fellowship Christian School. After completing recruit training, she will enroll for 20 weeks of advanced training in ocean systems technology in Norfolk, Va.

SAN DIEGO — Marine Pfc. RICHARD LINEBAUGH, son of Linda Linebaugh of 2521 Hunter, recently graduated from the sea duty indoctrination course.

During the four-week course at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot in San Diego, Linebaugh prepared for duty with Marine detachments aboard Navy ships.

His studies focused on the naval establishment, terminology and ships organization, naval communications, security, small arms indoctrination and close-order drill. He also underwent a rigorous physical fitness program.

Dog saves boy in pool

SAN DIEGO — A 2-year-old boy who fell into a swimming pool apparently was rescued by a neighbor's dog that jumped in and pulled him to safety, and then went for help.

The dog, a golden retriever named Charlie, apparently grabbed Jesse Domer by the shirt and dragged him to the side of the pool, depositing him on poolside steps. And the dog's owner, who took him in as a stray two years ago, credits him with previously saving her own son from traffic.

Spoked horse kills rider

NEWAYGO, Mich. — A 23-year-old woman was dragged 300 feet to her death after her horse was spooked by an approaching bicycle. Kathy Winwright of Newaygo and a companion were riding a horse about 8:30 p.m. Friday when a bicycle came up behind them.

The horse, which was pulling a wagon in which the victim's 2-year-old daughter was riding, galloped out of the riders' control. Winwright became entangled in the tow rope and was dragged about 300 feet.

State works out S&L bill

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — Maryland officials went to work Saturday setting up a new state-backed insurance fund for savings and loans, after Gov. Harry Hughes signed seven bills to keep the privately insured thrift industry from financial collapse.

Hughes signed the legislation into law at 12:30 a.m., after a 13-hour emergency session of the General Assembly. The governor appointed the state secretary of licensing and regulation, Frederick Dewberry, acting director of a new state-backed insurance fund that will temporarily replace a system of private insurance.

60 injured in bus crash

LOS ANGELES — A city bus collided with a mail truck and another vehicle in a Friday evening rush-hour accident that injured about 60 people and threw a pregnant mother and a child from the bus, officials said.

The crash, in the Skid Row district, was the second involving a Southern California Rapid Transit District bus in as many days. At least 47 people suffered mostly minor injuries when a bus was rear-ended by a tractor-trailer rig Thursday night on the Santa Ana Freeway.

DETROIT — Several groups have canceled reservations at a hotel where 30 people are thought to have contracted Legionnaires' disease, even though health authorities say there is little chance of another outbreak of the respiratory illness.

Miami experienced a giant traffic jam as uncontrolled fires knocked out electric power to 4.5 million Florida residents.

Florida in flames

Brush fires sweep state; hundreds flee disaster

PALM COAST, Fla. (AP) — Wildfires raged across 100,000 acres of Florida brushland Saturday, destroying homes, sending hundreds fleeing and leaving the state "in the throes of a major disaster," officials said.

The blazes cut highways and communications and were responsible for at least two deaths.

Gov. Bob Graham, calling the fires the worst in Florida history, declared a state of emergency Saturday after mobilizing the National Guard to aid exhausted firefighters.

Fires burned in 29 of Florida's 67 counties. The worst threat was along a 100-mile stretch of the northeast coast from St. Augustine to Cape Canaveral, where fires forced mass evacuations.

"The state is in the throes of a major disaster with wildfires," said Paul Willis of the state Division of Forestry headquarters.

"From Cape Canaveral up to St. Augustine, you can count seven or eight huge fires, including two of 5,000-and-more-acres," he said.

As many as 200 houses and two schools have been destroyed in the area near St. Augustine known as the Palm Coast, said Charles C. Wall of the Highway Patrol. Information remained sketchy because the fires knocked out phone service throughout the region. Power also was out in some areas.

Evacuees, including 135 families who spent the night at a school, were unable to obtain information about the fire or the homes they left hurriedly Friday afternoon.

"Flames were shooting up in the trees," said Roy Corbin, who turned on yard sprinklers before he left his house in the Palm Coast Belle Terre neighborhood. "It would be a miracle if it made it."

Hundreds of residents of this 3,000-home area spent Friday night in hotels or Red Cross emergency centers. Residents who left their Palm Coast homes Saturday morning were prevented from returning by troopers who blocked all entrances.

Troopers also closed Interstate 95 near the Palm Coast exit because of a downed power line.

Firefighter Robert Tabor, 50, died late Thursday in a blaze that burned 1,000 acres of prime North Florida timberland.

Militia cuts Israeli ties

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Lebanon's largest Christian militia cut its ties with Israel Saturday, making an apparent bid for peace with its Moslem foes.

But sectarian shelling and fighting persisted in the capital, killing four people. Rival militias kept on fighting along the midcity Green Line after Elie Hobeika, leader of the Lebanese Forces, announced he was shutting the Christian militia's liaison office in Jerusalem.

Truck explosion kills 4

COLOMBO, Sri Lanka — A truck laden with explosives blew up during a search by security forces in the northern city of Jaffna Saturday, with at least four people reported killed.

The truck, carrying five people, was heading toward the Jaffna fort, headquarters of the army and police, when it was stopped by security forces checking for Tamil separatist guerrillas. The vehicle exploded while being examined.

Pope decries sex, drugs

NAMUR, Belgium — Pope John Paul II on Saturday challenged Belgian youth to shun "unbridled sex," drugs and expensive fashions and said they must "avoid the traps which our society sets to exploit the weak."

About 45,000 young people packed a fairgrounds in this French-speaking town for the evening service. When the pontiff appeared, many chanted "Happy birthday to you, happy birthday to you" in English, and "Long live the pope" in French. John Paul turned 65 on Saturday.

Mobs burn cops' homes

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — Mobs of black youths went on a rampage after a funeral Saturday for a riot victim and set fire to the homes of five black policemen in a township east of Johannesburg.

Police and soldiers in armored cars fired tear gas and rubber bullets to disperse the crowds. In another development, about 9,000 black miners staged an illegal strike at the Blyvooruitzicht Gold Mine west of Johannesburg over the dismissal of two colleagues.

Liquor-by-drink deserves a vote

Liquor-by-the-drink deserves a full hearing by residents of Justice of the Peace Precinct 1, the boundaries of which roughly correspond to the city of Big Spring. The subject deserves a place on the ballot and a decision by voters because it is an important issue for residents to address.

Round two of the push to put liquor-by-the-drink on a ballot began Friday. The effort is much better organized this time than it was a few months ago. There is a broad base of support for liquor-by-the-drink — businessmen, civic leaders, and a full gamut of different types of people. There are also detractors who are adamant that liquor-by-the-drink will contribute to the moral decay of Big Spring and that the "cost" of making alcohol even easier to consume is not worth the economic benefit.

The simplest argument in favor of liquor-by-the-drink is that people should have the privilege of ordering a "cocktail" before a meal at a restaurant. They should have that option without being limited to drinking beer or wine, which are already legal items in food establishments. Adults should be able to go out for a drink at a club, the argument continues, without having to become a "club member" under the current private club laws.

There is also the incentive that, while residents who drink have ready access through private clubs, visitors do not. That means special, sometimes complicated arrangements have to be made for conventions that come to Big Spring. Some argue that it's easier just to hold conventions elsewhere, in towns with "big city" rules on alcoholic beverages. Tourism might be helped by liquor-by-the-drink.

Pros and cons on the subject will be thoroughly debated once the liquor-by-the-drink issue is on a ballot. It will not come to a conclusion, however, unless an adequate number of names are obtained on petitions now in circulation. We think the voters should decide liquor-by-the-drink; we urge signing the petition so that voters will have the opportunity to make that determination.

Auto motives: bigger the better

The energy "crisis" of the 1970s produced a raft of bad laws. Most of them, like the price controls on gasoline and domestic oil, have gone the way of all flesh. But one of the worst ideas — requiring automakers to meet fuel economy standards — survives. If the Reagan administration isn't willing to ask for outright repeal, it ought at least to use its authority to relax the standards.

Until recently, the Corporate Average Fuel Economy (CAFE) rules were mostly academic. After the gasoline panic of 1979, the demand for high-mileage cars made it easy for Detroit to meet the requirements. More recently, General Motors and Ford have fallen short, but they were able to avoid fines by using credits from the years when they did better than they had to.

This year is different. With the demand for small cars down and the demand for big cars up, GM and Ford will have real trouble achieving the 27.5 mile-per-gallon average in the 1986 model year. Their credits exhausted, they face a fine of $50 per car for every mile their fleet average drops below the standard — a bill that could come to $800 million. So they've asked Washington to reduce the requirement to 26 miles per gallon.

This request is criticized as an attack on energy conservation and an attempt to evade the law. Chrysler, which has managed to meet the CAFE standards, is opposed to any change. But Lee Iacocca didn't mind asking for and getting a reduced mileage requirement for his 1981 light trucks. In any case, Chrysler's past reliance on federal charity puts it in a weak position to criticize a dispensation for its rivals.

The energy conservation idea is a product of the discredited Carteresque belief that the market can't ensure a rational use of resources. Back when gasoline prices were held down by government decree, thus encouraging wasteful overconsumption, the CAFE rules served to mitigate the damage.

But they were a clumsy tool. The standards apply only to new models, which normally make up only a small portion of the cars on the road. Drivers of older cars got no incentive to reduce their fuel consumption.

A far better answer is to decontrol the price of gasoline, as Reagan did four years ago. Decontrol encourages all drivers to use less fuel by forcing them to pay the full cost of producing it.

Keeping the CAFE standards makes no sense when prices are set by supply and demand. Sensible conservation doesn't mean cutting fuel consumption at any cost, but discouraging only that use whose real cost exceeds its value to the buyer. That's what decontrol does. The mileage requirements treat fuel conservation as inherently praiseworthy, whatever the sacrifices required. The logic is the same as saying that because overeating is bad, then malnutrition must be good.

Mixed drinks are not worth the cost

To the editor:
I think all of us have had the experience of having something cost far more than it was worth. I read that the misuse of alcohol is blamed for 60 percent of all child abuse cases, 55 percent of arrests, 37.4 percent of admissions to state and county mental hospitals — and the list goes on and on.

Therefore I cannot but feel that the cost of having mixed drinks, with all of its ramifications, is far greater than the supposed value.

Looking for good friends

By JOHN RICE
Managing Editor

Tom Ferguson, who heads up the city's finance department, came to the Big Spring Herald at my request recently to sit down with the newsroom staff and talk about budgets.

He described the effort to draft a city budget as one of juggling "unlimited demands and limited resources." He told us that the city's ability to deliver services is only as strong as the taxpayers' willingness to foot the bill.

And another obvious consideration, so obvious that it went unmentioned, is that cities must weigh carefully where to direct their limited, precious resources to be of greatest benefit to the most people. No one should be erecting monuments while basic services go unmet.

The "best" use of city resources is a judgment call.

City officers rely on their knowledge and experience to make the decisions on how to use tax dollars.

Newspapers are a lot like that. The newsroom staff and the space for news are limited resources; the demand for news is unlimited. Newsroom editors must juggle not tax dollars, but staff and space. And they, too, are experienced at what they do.

Although newspapers are not public entities in the sense of operating with tax dollars or as regulated utilities, they are at a basic level public enterprises.

With that in mind, I would like to extend a personal, sincere invitation to the public: I want to get 10 good people together who are willing to commit some of their time and intelligence to a better dialogue between this newspaper and the community it serves.

The common bond of these 10 should be a thirst for news. I want people who are vociferous newspaper readers — the ones that really like to sit down and read the paper.

Beyond that, I'm not clear on what characteristics will be best for this group that I don't want to call a "committee." Big Spring seems to me to have plenty of committees; I'm not sure there's any benefit to chartering yet another one.

What I'm looking for is, to borrow from our public libraries, a "friends" group. The Friends of the Library look for ways to make the library better — stronger, better used, more viable in the community. The Friends don't make moral judgments about which books should line the libraries' shelves, they leave that to the professional staff.

Reporters and editors are trained to do what they do. They take college degrees to begin a career that pays no better than unskilled labor. They do so for love of the written word, for the challenge of communicating complex issues, for the opportunity to have a bird's-eye view of momentous events. There are a dozen other reasons — but the point is this: reporting the news is a discipline of choice for journalists. We're here because we love the work.

Given the constraints of newspapering — unlimited demands on limited resources — I think the Herald does a consistently good job, over the long haul, in serving the community.

But we can be better. We can do a better job of explaining how and why we do what we do. We can bring the readers into the newsroom and let them see first-hand what goes into producing a daily newspaper.

That's where the Friends of the Newspaper would come in. Being a Friend won't cost anything but a little time — probably a meeting once a month or once a quarter. It will only require an ear receptive to concerns about newspaper content and quality and the willingness to seek answers to those concerns.

It will require an active and on-going interest in newspapers and the role they play in a community. If you've read this far, you're probably a candidate to be a Friend of this newspaper.

All you need do now is drop a line to me, John Rice, at the Herald, P.O. Box 1431, Big Spring, 79720. Or give me a call at 263-7331 and say you're willing to take the plunge for a stronger newspaper-community relationship.

Class of '85 faces tough job prospects

By PETE YOST
AP Labor Writer

A million high school seniors will hunt for permanent jobs in the next few months, and they will compete in a somewhat tight market run by employers who apply tough standards to the Class of '85, job market analysts say.

Graduates with extensive vocational education in fields ranging from construction to business office skills are paid about 50 cents an hour more and will work an extra two to three weeks a year compared with those who didn't take such instruction, says research scientist Morgan Lewis.

About half the seniors looking for permanent jobs enrolled in such courses and have a 50 percent chance of getting work for which they were trained, said Lewis, of the National Center for Research in Vocational Education at Ohio State University.

In Cleveland, qualified high school graduates with vocational training can expect to find jobs with smaller-size companies, says David A. Mikita, director of manpower for the Greater Cleveland Growth Association.

"The disadvantage comes to those who took college preparatory classes who didn't go to college" and now are unable to compete successfully with graduates with saleable skills,

'The disadvantage comes to those who took college preparatory classes who didn't go to college.'

Mikita said of the Cleveland-area job market, where unemployment is 8.6 percent.

Even vocational education, which former Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz calls "the surest way to a first job," is no guarantee to future advancement.

"What more and more of them are going to have to do is a continuing liberal education at the college level," said Wirtz, labor secretary from 1962-69. "A kid coming out of high school faces pretty rough competition. They're playing hard odds."

Nationally, openings reflect the changing nature of the U.S. economy, where 70 percent of the jobs are in the service sector. A mere 20 percent of U.S. jobs are in manufacturing, marking a generally steady 35-year decline.

Work at fast-food chains and bottom-run work in retailing is available nationwide, and higher-paying, higher-skilled jobs are in plentiful supply across much of the South and the West.

But work much above the $3.35 an hour minimum wage may be hard to find in parts of the economically hard hit "rust belt" of industrial states and some of the farm states, job market analysts around the country say.

The jobless rate in Grand Island, Neb., is, for that area, an unusually high 7.4 percent and job prospects for high school graduates are "lousy; we're tied into agriculture pretty strongly," says John Lincoln, local manager of the state Job Service office.

With falling farm prices, Lincoln says, "it's an employer's market. When they do want somebody they want somebody with experience." A farm equipment plant in the town of 35,000 recently laid off 100 people.

In Omaha, 150 miles to the east, prospects of finding well-paying jobs "appear to be very good," says Tom McKinnon, manager of technical services for the state job service.

The U.S. military, which absorbs 300,000 people each year, is increasingly successful in getting better-qualified students who have graduated from high school. That trend suggests in part that high school graduates in rising numbers are having trouble getting a foot in the door in the civilian job market.

The Russian who rocked

By KEITH BRISCOE

I don't like Bruce Springsteen. Which is to say, I don't like Bruce Springsteen's music.

My first impression of his art remains unaltered: He sounds like Bob Dylan shouting. And I don't like Bob Dylan.

Understand, this comes from a former purist, a symphonic stick-in-the-mud who once and often proclaimed that compared to Wagner and Bach, all other music was merely a footnote. But I became a convert, and I am as comfortable today with Huey Lewis as with Wolfgang Mozart.

It was B.B. King who changed my life. Or more precisely, Alex Smushkevich, a teen-age Russian immigrant who moved in down the street in 1966 and became my friend.

Alex, whose kind was depicted in the movie "Moscow on the Hudson," was hell-bent on becoming an apple-pie American. He wanted me for a teacher, but I ended up his student.

This kid had been studying. He was American even before left the Motherland.

His knowledge and skill in baseball eclipsed and embarrassed mine. He was versed in American slang, and he spoke it poetically.

And his metabolism surged in tempo to American rhythms. It was he who dragged me to the Cotton Club in South Dallas to hear B.B. King. Rhapsodic; simply lyrical.

Alex also introduced me to James Brown, Creedence Clearwater Revival and the Classics — Elvis Presley, Eddie Cochran and Buddy Holly. Very soon, "Heard It Through the Grapevine" rivaled "Tristan und Isolde" for first place on my turntable.

Alex turned me into an aficionado — an expert, if you will — of American music. Jazz, rock 'n' roll, rhythm and blues. I emptied the record stores. But I still don't like Bruce Springsteen.

Alex, my mentor from Minsk, the pale, frail Russian who taught me many joys of America, became an American citizen.

He joined the Marines and was killed in Vietnam.

There's a song there, somewhere.

Today

By The Associated Press
Today is Sunday, May 19, the 139th day of 1985. There are 226 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On May 19, 1536, the second wife of England's King Henry the Eighth, Anne Boleyn, was beheaded after being convicted of adultery.

In 1588, the 130 ships of the Spanish Armada sailed from Portugal to attack England.

In 1780, a mysterious darkness enveloped much of New England and part of Canada in the early afternoon. The cause has never been determined.

In 1935, T.E. Lawrence — better known as Lawrence of Arabia — died following a motorcycle accident.

In 1943, in an address to the U.S. Congress, British Prime Minister Winston S. Churchill pledged his country's full support in the war against Japan.

In 1964, the State Department disclosed that 40 hidden microphones had been found in the U.S. embassy in Moscow.

In 1967, the Soviet Union ratified a treaty with the United States and Britain banning nuclear weapons from outer space.
Ten years ago: Thailand said it viewed as a formal apology a note from the United States expressing regret over misunderstandings that had arisen over the use of a Thai base in the "Mayaguez" rescue operation.

Five years ago: Angry residents of the Love Canal neighborhood in Niagara Falls, New York detained two Federal environmental officials for about five hours. Homeowners were demanding an immediate federal evacuation of their area, which had been contaminated with toxic chemicals.

Today's Birthdays: Sen. Mark Andrews, R-N.D., is 59. TV personality David Hartman is 50. Author Nora Ephron is 44.

N-dump search confined to state land

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — A bill directing the Texas Low-Level Radioactive Waste Disposal Authority to give preference to state-owned land for a disposal site was approved Friday in the Texas Senate.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Hugo Berlanga, D-Corpus Christi, and Sen. John Traeger, D-Sequin, also prohibits placing a low-level radioactive waste disposal site within 20 miles upstream of a water-supply reservoir.

The measure was drafted following an announcement earlier this year that the waste authority had recommended a site for underground burial of radioactive waste in McMullen County within 12 miles of the reservoir supplying water to more than 500,000 South Texans.

Because the bill was amended in the Senate, it must go back to the House for concurrence. Berlanga said he agrees with the amendments sponsored by Sen. John Montford, D-Lubbock, and predicted the House will concur with the Senate amendments.

"This is a much tougher bill than we originally drafted. It's great news for South Texas," Berlanga said.

Sen. Bill Sims, D-San Angelo, failed to win support for an amendment exempting state-owned lands from consideration for a disposal site after Traeger said it would "shatter" his bill.

The bill was amended to:

- direct the authority to give preference to above ground storage of the waste;
 - instruct the Texas Board of Health, the authority and the commissioner of health not to relax standards because the site is located on state-owned land;
 - consider severe weather such as tornados, hurricanes and violent storms in locating the disposal site;
 - require the University of Texas board of regents to enter a finding in its records that a proposed disposal site does not interfere with potential siting of a superconducting super colliding particle accelerator project being proposed by the U.S. Department of Energy.
- Currently Texas sends most of its low-level radioactive waste to a disposal site in Hanford, Washington.

JOHN MONTFORD

Plastic approved for well casings

AUSTIN — With little debate, the Senate approved on Friday a bill that could allow plastic and fiber glass casings to be used for oil and gas wells.

The measure, sponsored by Sen. John Montford, D-Lubbock, and Rep. Ed Emmett, R-Kingwood, previously passed the House but now must go back for concurrence because it was amended in the Senate.

Under provisions of the bill, the Texas Railroad Commission is authorized to adopt standards to determine if materials other than wrought iron and steel can be used as casing for oil and gas wells.

While wrought iron and steel are the only materials approved for oil and gas well casings in Texas, Montford said, polyvinyl chloride (PVC) and fiber glass can be effective substitutes.

A TEXAS TRAGEDY

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) — The Texas Rangers would make a great Broadway comedy. You could call it "Hilarious Hardball" and the only research needed to write the script would be to chronicle the Rangers' chaotic 13 years in the major leagues.

The play might run longer than "Damn Yankees!" Warning signs would be required: "Enter Theater at Own Risk; Sidesplitting Could Occur."

Unfortunately, there's too much Shakespearean tragedy in what's happened to the American League fortunes of the worst major baseball team on both sides of the Mississippi.

There have been too many self-inflicted wounds since the franchise moved from Washington in 1972 — where incidentally it never won a pennant.

Owners Bob Short and Brad Corbett and Eddie Chiles and the cast of characters they hired have proved to be more pathetic than humorous. Just how many times can you laugh at a pie hitting a face? Or a prat-fall off a ladder?

We're talking major league pitiful here. The Rangers have led in all the sad stats such as bad trades, bum ideas, and madcap management. They've been a dozen managers but not even Ted Williams, Whitey Herzog, Billy Martin or Pat Corrales could find a championship key.

A plastic pipe sharpie like Corbett discovered he was a babe in the woods around major league baseball's horse traders.

Chiles was a big success in the oil business but learned the hard way that baseball's front office heavy hitters are just as salty as wildcaters.

Now Chiles is clowning around again with a franchise that desperately needs stability and the acquisition of baseball talent, particularly in the pitching department.

So came the Doug Rader saga with Rader being left to dangle off the cliff while the Rangers found another crown for the managing head.

Not that Doug Rader did anything to deserve a fair shake. Just about everything he tried failed to work from the sorry Ned Yost trade to helping get General Manager Joe Klein fired to intimidating the press.

Rader also won't go down as one of the greatest bench managers to ever grace a major league dugout.

But Rader was given an extension of his contract in September until 1987 wasn't he? Wasn't that a sign Chiles wanted some stability?

Impatience has once again caused the 72-year-old Chiles to get the moving vans cranked up.

Remember how the Don Zimmer affair was handled in 1982? Zimmer was on the road and found out on a tip from Paul Richards that he had been replaced by Darrell Johnson.

Zimmer finally forced Chiles to announce the move. Sloppy, very sloppy when it comes to dealing with people and isn't that what the major league baseball business is all about? Filling the right positions with the right people?

One thing is clear: The Rangers are the plankton of the American League survival chain.

In the AL West, the California and Kansas City bass eat the Oakland and Chicago White Sox perch which feed on the Seattle and Minnesota minnows which consume the Ranger plankton.

It's humiliating to Chiles to be baseball's biggest blooper. It's made him determined to get action, any kind of action, to turn things around.

"I want to someday see this franchise win a pennant and hopefully be in the World Series," said Chiles who quickly added, "If I live long enough and that might not be possible."

110th Preakness

Tank's Prospect victorious

BALTIMORE (AP) — Trainer D. Wayne Lukas sounded a bit like Harry Truman following his upset over challenger Tom Dewey in the 1948 presidential election.

"I'd better hurry up," Lukas chided the news media Saturday after Tank's Prospect won the Preakness. "I know you've got to change some of your headlines. I heard this was a two-horse match race."

Lukas, who also won the controversial running of the 1980 Preakness with Codex, referred to the many prerace stories which virtually conceded the 110th Preakness to either Chief's Crown or Eternal Prince.

Eternal Prince, displaying the early speed he lacked while finishing 12th in the Kentucky Derby, took the lead soon after the start of the 1 3/16-mile race and stayed ahead until Chief's Crown took over heading into the stretch.

But Tank's Prospect, at the urging of Pat Day, closed ground steadily while making up 3 1/2 lengths in the stretch and won by a head in track and Preakness record time of 1:53 2/5 to earn a record Preakness prize of $423,200.

This was accomplished even though Day lost the iron off his left foot when his mount was bumped by I Am The Game as they came out of the gate.

"I had to fight for the next sixteenth of a mile to get it back, but it had no bearing on the race," Day said. "I was a little farther back than I wanted."

Entering the stretch, Day said, he wasn't quite sure that Tank's Prospect would be able to make up his deficit.

"But at the eighth pole, I felt much better," he said. "With every jump, I was closing ground on Chief's Crown."

Day whipped furiously with his left hand down the stretch, as he moved out from the rail to pass his final two opponents, but said it was at the instructions of Lukas.

"He told me to ride him hard," Day said, "that this horse would take a lot of abuse when he was ready."

Day, who rode on the Pimlico course earlier on the card, said the track was fast but not hard after its quick drying following a heavy rainstorm of Friday.

"It was the same all the way around," he said. "It had a live cushion."

Owner Eugene Klein, former owner of the San Diego Chargers football team, said his winning colt was named after former Los Angeles Rams' fullback Tank Younger.

"He looks like a fullback and he runs like a fullback," Klein said. But when asked if the colt ran faster than a fullback, Klein cracked: "You'd better believe it."

Asked about running in either the Jersey Derby on May 27 or the Belmont Stakes in three weeks, Klein said: "Nothing is beyond the realm of possibility."

"The Belmont," Lukas said, "is a big possibility."

Rookies lead Indy qualifying

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Rookies Raul Boesel of Brazil and John Paul Jr. led seven qualifiers Saturday as the tentative 33-car field — the fastest in the history of auto racing — was filled for the May 26 Indianapolis 500.

The four-lap qualification runs by Boesel, Paul, Indy veterans Chip Ganassi, Johnny Parsons, George Snider and Tony Bettenhausen and rookie Jim Crawford of Scotland left non-qualified drivers only the Indianapolis Motor Speedway's "bumping" procedure as a way of making the race with time trials concluding Sunday.

Anyone turning in a faster qualifying run prior to the end of the fourth and final day of time trials Sunday at 7 p.m. EDT would bump the slowest qualified entries out of the lineup, just as Paul did to Derek Daly of Ireland, Bettenhausen to Chet Filip and Crawford to Kevin Cogan Saturday.

That left Steve Chassey "on the bubble" for Sunday at 204.224, with three-time Indy winner Johnny Rutherford just behind at 204.495.

Boesel, 27, was the first to take the green flag for a qualifying attempt on the cool, sunny day, turning in four laps averaging 206.498 mph in a March-Cosworth. That earned him the $17,500 for being the fastest qualifier of the day as the slim Boesel joined car-owner Dick Simon — one of 29 drivers to qualify in the first weekend of time trials — in the field.

The Brazilian, a former Formula One competitor, turned in the 19th fastest overall speed but tentatively earned the 30th spot in the lineup because of the complicated Indianapolis qualifying procedure which rewards first-day qualifiers with higher starting positions than those qualifying on succeeding days.

Ganassi placed one of four-time Indy winner A.J. Foyt's Marches in the field at 206.104; Parsons, replacing Canadian rookie Jacques Villeneuve in a Canadian Tire team March, qualified at 205.778, and Snider earned a starting spot in his 20th Indy 500 in another of Foyt's cars at 205.455.

Paul, in his third and last qualifying attempt of the month, put his March into the lineup at 206.340, bumping Daly, the slowest of the first-weekend qualifiers at 203.082, out of the field.

Bettenhausen put a Lola into the tentative lineup at 204.824, bumping Phillip's March, which had qualified last weekend at 203.661, and Crawford, just beating the end of the qualifying session, bumped Cogan's 203.793 in a March that also was qualified a week earlier.

Crawford made it into the field for the second time this month. The Scottish driver made a first-weekend qualification run of 205.269, but the car was disqualified for being 20 pounds underweight. This time, the team's new car passed inspection.

The average for the 33 qualified cars is 207.830 mph, breaking the Indianapolis record of 203.686, set last May. That also bettered the all-time racing record of 204.669, set by a 24-car Indy-car field last September at Michigan International Speedway.

Daly and Cogan, who have been working with a backup cars all week in case they were bumped, are expected to try to get back into the lineup Sunday. Phillip, however, crashed his backup car during practice Saturday. He was not injured, but the car was badly damaged.

Boston dominates Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Larry Bird scored 26 points as the Boston Celtics, taking the lead for good at the halftime buzzer, defeated the Philadelphia 76ers 105-94 Saturday to take a commanding 3-0 lead in their best-of-seven National Basketball Association semifinal playoff series.

No team in NBA history has ever won a best-of-seven playoff series after losing the first three games.

Danny Ainge added 17 points and handed out seven assists as the Celtics beat the 76ers in Philadelphia for only the sixth time in 27 games since Bird joined the team for the 1979-80 season. Robert Parish and Kevin McHale each had 14 points, while Parish collected 13 rebounds for the defending NBA champion Celtics.

Boston gets its chance for a sweep of this Eastern Conference championship series in Game 4 here Sunday.

The 76ers cut the deficit to four points twice, at 90-86 with 5:54 left and 92-88 at the 4:21 mark.

In the first period, the score was tied three times, the last at 12-12 with 5:30 left. The 76ers then outscored the Celtics 14-4 to take a 10-point lead at 26-16.

But the Celtics rallied 13-2 at the start of the second period, getting three field goals from Ray Williams, to go ahead 33-30 with 10:05 left. The 76ers went scoreless for 4 1/2 minutes before Toney started a surge of five straight points that sent Philadelphia ahead 35-33 with 5:37 to go.

Boston came back with an 8-2 rally, including a three-point basket by Bird, and led 41-37 at the 2:44 mark.

Hogs take 4th SWC outdoor title

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas' Mike Conley set a meet record in the triple jump, finished second in the 200-meter dash and ran the third leg of the winning 400 relay team Saturday in leading his team the Southwest Conference track and field championship title.

Arkansas took the first two men's events Saturday, beginning a scoring barrage that brought the Razorbacks their fourth outdoor title in four years. Arkansas had 167 points, Texas 80, Houston 75, Baylor 60, Texas A&M 48, SMU 44, Rice 43, Texas Tech 33 and TCU 32.

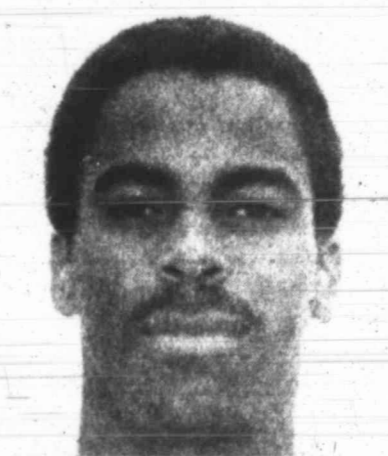

Texas won the women's title with 182 points, followed by Houston with 173, Rice 90, Arkansas 55, TCU 34, Texas Tech 14 and Baylor 10. Texas A&M did not score.

Conley went 56-3 1/4 on his first attempt in the triple jump, good enough to beat the meet record of 56-2 3/4 set by Keith Conner of SMU in 1982. But, as he predicted Friday, the jump was not good enough for an American record.

"That was the furthest opening jump of my career," Conley said. He fell trying to out-lean Kirk Baptiste in the 200. "There was no way I was going to triple jump anything good after that 200," he said.

Roddie Haley of Arkansas ran the fastest 400 ever by a SWC athlete, 44.67, the quickest 400 in the world in 1985 and the fifth-fastest 400 ever by a college runner. His SWC record eclipses a 44.86 run by Zeke Jefferson of Baylor in 1981.

"It felt fast; it felt like the fastest race I've ever run, but I thought it was more like a 45.1," Haley said. Conley, a record-setter Friday in the long jump, ran the third leg on Arkansas' 400-meter relay team. Arkansas took the 4x100 in 38.81, a meet record and the fastest 400 relay run in the United States this season.

Arkansas, running the event without a true 100 sprinter, lowered the meet record of 39.38 set by Baylor in 1981.

Paul Donovan of Arkansas set a meet record of 3:40.31 in winning the 1,500. Donovan broke the record of 3:42.53 set by Todd Harbour of Baylor in 1978.

"Everything went about as planned," Donovan said. "I wanted to hang on in good position and then kick when I had the chance. I was never really worried."

Baptiste, of Houston, took the 200 in 20.18, the fastest 200 in the world this year but short of his SWC meet record of 20.16 set in 1984. Conley was second at 20.21, the second-fastest in the world this year.

Baptiste won the 100 in 10.14, pretty easily according to him. "Oh, sure, I won it," he said. "I pretty much knew I had it all along."

In the first men's event completed Saturday, Arkansas' Bill Jasinski soared 7-5 1/2 in the high jump, setting a meet record and propelling the Razorbacks into the lead in the battle for the team title.

Jasinski breezed past his competition in the high jump and then missed three straight attempts at 7-6 1/4. The 7-5 1/2 jump tied Jasinski's personal best and was his best jump ever outdoors.

Jasinski said the partly cloudy and warm conditions suited him and allowed him to take very little time between jumps. "Today was just the perfect day for it," he said.

He spiked himself on his record-setting jump, opening an inch-long gash in his knee. But he said that didn't bother him. "I was too psyched up for the try at 7-6," Jasinski said. "I thought I had it on the first one and third one, but I just couldn't get my feet out of the way."

"I think I just got a little lazy on the top," Jasinski said of his misses. "I was surprised being up there so easily."

Baylor's Todd Cooper won the pole vault at 18-3 1/2, a meet record. David Hodge of Baylor cleared an identical height, but Cooper won on fewer misses.

Arkansas' Marty Kobza won the shot put at 66-9 1/2.

Arturo Barrios of Texas A&M set a meet record of 13:55.16 in the 5,000. He won the 10,000 Friday.

Pavin increases Colonial lead

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — The records continued to fall at "Hogan's Alley," and Corey Pavin continued to increase his lead in the Colonial National Invitation Tournament.

But Pavin, who has led or shared the lead all the way, was less than comfortable after matching the course record for 54 holes and establishing a five-shot advantage going into Sunday's final round of the chase for a $90,000 first prize.

"I'm certainly pleased with my position now," Pavin said after a 2-under-par 68 that was achieved in occasionally light rain Saturday.

"It was a good, solid round, which is what I wanted," said the 25-year-old who won three international events before gaining his PGA Tour playing rights last year. "But a five-shot lead is not insurmountable."

"I'll have to work hard tomorrow. I really have to go out and concentrate real hard not have any mental lapses."

"Five shots is not comfortable because Colonial is the kind of course that can come up and bite you," he said.

But the normally tough course has been tamed this week by the lack of winds that have produced ideal scoring conditions.

The storied old layout on the banks of the Trinity, called "Hogan's Alley" when the immortal Ben Hogan was winning this title five times, has given up the lowest scores in its history.

Pavin, for example, set a record when he played the first two rounds in 130. And his 198 total for three rounds matched the tournament record and the lowest 54-hole total on the tour this year.

A tournament-record number of sub-par scores have been posted on each of the first three days. And the three-day total of sub-par rounds — 97 — already is greater than the tournament record for four rounds.

And on this day, Colonial gave up the lowest score ever, an 8-under-par 62 to tour sophomore Joey Sindelar, a winner at Greensboro earlier this year. The effort, built around a birdie-birdie-eagle burst, broke the course record of 63 set in 1970 by Dale Douglass.

Sindelar, who started his day's play from the 10th tee, played the back in 30, with birdies on the 17th and 18th.

Turning to the first hole, he hit a 3-wood second shot to within 18 feet of the flag, made the eagle putt and, he admitted, "started to feel a little shaky."

Billy Glasson, stumping along with braces on both his oft-damaged knees, shot a 64 that lifted him into a tie for second at 203 with Scott Hoch and 42-year-old veteran Bob Murphy, whose last victory came 15 years ago.

"I'm trying to prove to myself I can still play," Murphy said after his 65.

Hoch had a 66.

Mike Donald was next at 68-204 and was followed by Hal Sutton, Sindelar and Chip Beck at 205, 5 under par and seven back. Sutton had a third round 67, Beck 68.

But the exceptionally low scoring did not extend to Tom Watson. He struggled to a 73 that left him 15 shots off the pace at 213. PGA champion Lee Trevino had a 68-207. Defending champion Peter Jacobsen was 69-209.

Pavin, who had a four-shot lead after 36 holes, started the cloudy day with a birdie on the first hole, the result of a little wedge shot that nestled in about three feet from the flag.

He was short of the green and bogeyed the fifth, but got the shot back with a wedge to six feet on the next hole.

He parred around — making an important sand save on the eighth hole — until he dropped in a 12-footer for birdie on the 17th.

"I'd missed so many short ones, it was a relief when that one went in," said Pavin, who won the Houston Open and more than $260,000 as a tour rookie last season.

Courts postpone 5A playoffs

HOUSTON (AP) — A temporary injunction against two Houston school districts for their attempts to enforce the state's "no-pass, no-play" statute has caused further postponement of the state Class 5A baseball playoffs.

State District Judge Marsha D. Anthony on Friday ruled unconstitutional a state statute that prohibits students from competing in extracurricular activities if they are not passing all subjects.

University Interscholastic League Director Bailey Marshall said the 32 teams still involved in the Class 5A playoffs would not resume at least until after a Thursday hearing before a state district judge in Orange.

The father of a Houston Stratford football player obtained a temporary restraining order against the Spring Branch School District after he failed a six weeks segment of a geometry class.

The judge also offered the five other cases involving the controversial state law to consolidate with the Spring Branch-Alief decision and gave them until Monday to decide their course.

Among those cases is one brought against the Aldine school district that involves the participation of two Aldine players ruled ineligible for the playoffs because of failing grades.

Anthony Sheppard, representing Houston Stratford football player Nicky Duke Stamos, claimed the state statute was not applied equally to all students and was unconstitutional.

"The rule is arbitrary and capricious," Sheppard said. "If a child fails Spanish, he can't go to Spanish Club after school. If he fails English, he can't go to typing club after school."

"They've all been cut down by this rule. There is no way one rule can clear all ills, but they have a constitutional duty to address these issues in a rational manner."

Two Aldine players who were declared ineligible under the "no-pass, no-play" statute, participated in the school's victory over West Orange Stark in the Class 5A playoffs.

Aldine was to advance to the next round of the state playoffs against Houston North Shore but the mother of a West Orange Stark player, obtained a restraining order from State District Judge David Dunn, stopping the state Class 5A playoffs entirely if Aldine advanced.

A Maine teen-ager plants a 1-year-old tree in the Johnny Elmseed program.

'Johnny Elmseeds' plant tree campaign

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — Thanks to an idea by a 12-year-old Boy Scout, "Johnny Elmseeds" could soon be planting tiny American elm trees around the country in a program to replace the stately giants felled by Dutch elm disease.

"When I'm dead, my grandchildren will say, 'Gee, my grandfather did that,'" says scout Sean McNutt, 14, who two years ago planted about 70 of a new strain of trees in his hometown of Sebago Lake, Maine.

The Elm Research Institute has been growing thousands of trees resistant to the disease, which has killed millions of elms that once offered shade and beauty to countless communities.

Now, thanks to McNutt's idea, the nonprofit private agency is enlisting Boy Scouts to help in its "Johnny Elmseed" program to protect mature elms and spread the new strain of trees, much as the legendary "Johnny Appleseed" carried apple trees around the country.

National scouting officials have decided the elm program may be used to fulfill a service project requirement for scouts working toward the Eagle rank, the highest in scouting.

Scouts who choose the project will survey their communities to find elms that need to be replaced or mature elms which can be treated with a new fungicide that wards off the disease.

The scouts will ask private elm owners and communities where the trees are on public property to buy a new tree, a seedling, or the fungicide at a cost of $25, said Barbara O'Brien, assistant director at the institute's Harrisville headquarters.

Along with each purchase, the institute will donate a second seedling to the scout's troop to establish a nursery. When those trees reach eight to 10 feet high after two to three years, they will be replanted in a public place.

"When you buy one from your scout, you actually are buying two for your town," said Ms. O'Brien. "One gets planted where you want it and the other gets donated to the troop nursery."

In addition, for every 10 seedlings sent to the scout nursery, the institute plans to donate a six-foot elm to the scout nursery.

Ms. O'Brien said the scouting link was explored after McNutt read of the institute's elm restoration project and asked for help in his Eagle Scout project.

McNutt calls the program "a way to help 200 years in the future."

The institute was inundated with requests from scouts around the country after it publicized the boy's project in its newsletter, Ms. O'Brien said. She then contacted national scouting officials who approved it as an Eagle Scout project in their 412 councils.

"I look at this project as an absolutely ideal Eagle Scout project because of the necessity for the scout to organize," Tony Booth, scouting's associate director of outdoor programs, said from his Irving, Texas, office.

Forsan

Graduation

By DANIELLE CLERE
This Thursday the 1985 seniors will graduate in the Forsan Auditorium. The ceremony will begin at 8 p.m. The seniors will leave on their trip the next morning for New Orleans.

Last Tuesday at the awards banquet, several students were given awards for performance in their individual events.

Coach Doug Parker awarded the most valuable male and female tennis players, Tom Thompson and Danielle Clere. Coach Mike Poyner named Robert Stone the most outstanding golfer. Coach Roger Hudgins presented the boys most valuable track member award to Bobby Headrick.

Coach Johnny Shaffer presented the most valuable female track honors to Deborah Smith and most outstanding female athlete award to Lana Nichols. Coach Jan East awarded Mitch Hays as outstanding male athlete.

Jan Sims awarded the most outstanding UIL award to Ricky Hope and the theater award to Dana Hiltbrunner. Bob Fishback awarded Bonnie Martin the most outstanding band member award and Termitte Kendrick the John Phillip Sousa award. Kendrick also picked up the Oscar Boeker award for most outstanding shop member.

The Shop State results are: Ricky Spencer, one 1st and three 3rd places in photo; Derek Payne, one 1st and three 3rd places in photo.

The junior high cheerleaders for next year are Shannon Donague, Lauri Roberson, Amy Stockwell, Wendy Robertson and Brandi Nelson.

Junior High UIL results are: Oral reading — Tera Sims, 1st; Shasta Hollingshead, 5th; Ronnie Jo Hope, 7th. Ready writing — Sylvia Dale, 1st; Shasta Hollingshead, 2nd; Tera Sims, 5th; Number sense — Teresa West, 4th. Calculators — Teresa West, 4th.

Semester exams will be taken this week. The schedule is: Monday — 3,6,7; Tuesday — 1,4; Wednesday — 2,5.

Next year school will start on Sept. 3.

Garden City

Cheerleaders

By LEANN SEIDENBERGER
Cheerleaders selected for the 1985-86 school year are Gena Schaefer (head), Laurel McDowell, Carol Hoelscher, Michelle Pechacek, Jacque Jost and Dana Hoelscher. Mascot is Charlene Schraeder.

Garden City was represented in Austin May 11 by three tracksters. Bryan Thompson emerged as the champion of the 3200 meters with a personal best of 9:46:0. Also running a personal best was Jacque Jost in the 400 meter dash with a 60.3 for 5th place. Gena Schaefer made her third straight appearance at state in the 800 and was second with a season best of 2:20.3.

Twirling, flag, and drum major tryouts were held Tuesday. Drum major for next year will be Jeannie Carstensen, who will be assisted by Holly Hare. Wendi Hillger was chosen to head the flag corps. Other flags are Joan Braden, Liz Glass and Amber Pike.

Twirlers are Jackie Halfmann (head), LeAnn Seidenberger and Carol Schwartz. This trio will be heading to Austin June 1-3 for the state solo and ensemble competition. They made a first division rank in their twirling ensemble in contest.

School dismissed Thursday with graduation held that night at 8 p.m. in the Ruth Cook Auditorium. The seniors have found a cure for their year-long case of senioritis — a cruise to the Bahamas.

Student robbers out of prison

AUSTIN (AP) — Two former University of Texas students who staged 10 armed robberies to keep from having to ask their parents for more spending money have been released after serving three months in prison.

State District Judge Jon Wisser on Friday ordered Joseph Center and Bryan Geer, both 22, to serve the balance of their sentences on probation.

Center, a former cheerleader for the UT football team, and Geer, a filmmaker and honors student, were arrested last June 25 after a holdup at a motel.

The two students pleaded guilty to using an unloaded pellet gun to rob the motel. It was the last of 10 robberies the two admitted.

Center and Geer pleaded guilty Jan. 21 to aggravated robbery and were sentenced by Wisser to 10 years in prison.

Andy Forsythe and Erik Goodman, the students' attorneys, asked Wisser in April to release their clients from prison and place them on probation.

Forsythe said the non-violent nature of the crimes, their good behavior in prison, and the fact that neither of them had been in trouble with the law before made them prime candidates for "shock probation" — a short stay in prison and probation.

Goliad

Awards ceremony

By MARC SCHWARTZ
Goliad's annual awards assembly was held Tuesday morning. Certificates were given to the students who were on the all A or A and B honor roll.

The American Legion Award was given to Peter Buske and Yvette Regalado. The Sock Walker Award went to Peter Buske for the best student athlete. The Sonia Lancaster Award went to Yvette Regalado.

Jennifer Lee won an award for outstanding volleyball player. The outstanding basketball award went to Linnea Balderach and Tricia Tompkins. Irene Levy and Gina McWhirter won an award for outstanding track. The 100 percent award was given to Vanna Walker.

In addition, awards were given to the annual staff members who put together the yearbook. They are: Kristine DelBosque, Becky Dominguez, Kristy Geanopolous, Heather Hendrickson, Liron Caplan, Jamey Moss, Marc Schwartz and Johnny Webb.

This past week was study week for Mrs. Allen's and Mrs. Slate's classes. Some of their guest speakers included student nurses, policemen and firemen. They talked to the students about the pros and cons of their jobs.

Each student was required to interview an adult about his job and give an oral report, as well as bring in an article about a specific career. This is the seventh year that this program has been done at Goliad and it gives the students an opportunity to learn more about the many careers that are available.

Girls chosen by the 7th grade to be cheerleaders next year at Runnels are: Brenda Arellano, Tina Atkins, Bonnie Lopez, Tina Marquez, Joann Puente and Shirley Willet.

Missing dog returns home after 2 years

LA MARQUE, Texas (AP) — Bear, a 50-pound red chow dog who disappeared nearly two years ago during Hurricane Alicia, is finally back with his owners.

"After a year we had just about given up hope," Harriet Fretwell, 38, said. "But I just knew he wasn't dead. I felt like we would know if he were."

After months and months of advertising and offers of rewards, a friend of the family visiting the Galveston animal shelter recognized the dog there and led to the reuniting of Bear with the Fretwells.

"Bear didn't recognize me until I pulled the car keys out of my purse, shook them and said 'C'm on Bear, Let's go take a ride in the car.'"

A crooked tooth in the dog's mouth made her certain that the dog really was Bear, who disappeared in August 1983, when the hurricane blew down a backyard fence and the animal escaped.

Ms. Fretwell said the reunion between the dog and her two sons, Perry 16, and Richard, 15, was just like in the movies.

"As soon as Bear saw the boys he let out with the strangest yell and he actually started to have tears in his eyes," she said. "I'm still in shock over this."

BASEBALL

A catcher for a PeeWee Division team in the American Little League stretches for a wild pitch, but more often than not, the ball finds its way to the backstop.

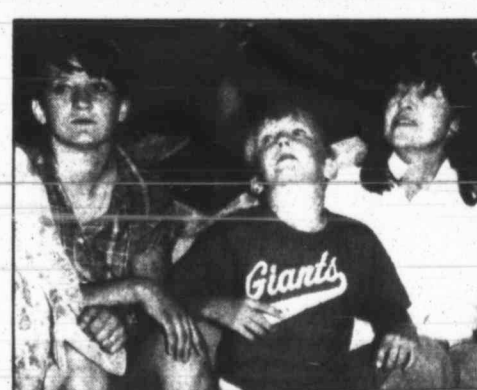

Spit. Pound the glove. Cap bill down on the nose. Eyes squinted. Hands on knees. Knees bent. Body forward, balanced on the balls of the feet. Rigid, alert, only the jaw moves, massaging the bubble gum. The universe is reduced to a single plane, a 45-degree angle. Time and movement are suspended. Then the pitch, the parabola of the ball, the calculus of speed, the infinity of flight. One out, man on first. Second for a double. Third if a hit. Cut off the throw-in. The tiny chessmen contemplate their moves. Crack. The bat sets the physics of fastball in motion. Ordered chaos. Bodies whirl in diamond-shaped ellipses. Out. Safe. Error. Score. 6-4-3.

"Who leads off? I'm on deck. Watch the signs. Come on ump!"
 "Jason had a cold this morning. I didn't want him to play."
 "He should be batting third or fourth. He's got to learn to keep his eye on the ball."
 "A walk's as good as a hit, boy. Make him pitch to you."
 "Batter can't hit. Easy out."

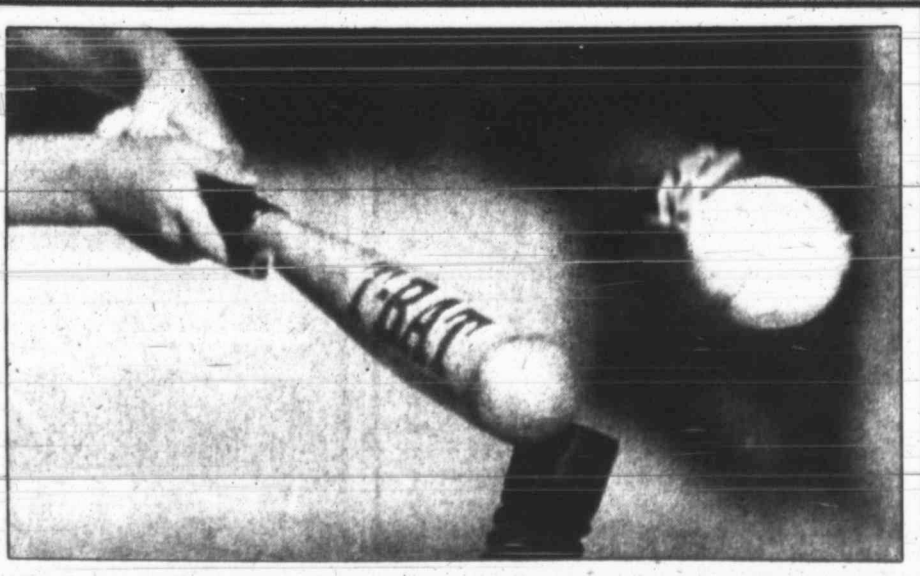

The sons of summer, the legions of Little League. School's out, no swimming before the game, and "Mom, did you wash my uniform?"

From Big Spring, Texas, to Great Falls, Mont., it's the rites of rawhide, the summer solstice initiation of the American boy into the sanctum of sports. Yankees, Wildcats, Pirates, Hawks dive, slide, stumble, hurl running, leaping, stretching, bending. Before they can read or write or reckon, the sons of summer throw and catch and swing. So hungry for triumph, they are too young for tragedy. For some, it's a field of honor, guarded by Yogi and Mickie and Reggie. For others, it's a passage, a school, a diploma. Little League is the benchmark of boyhood. The great flight of fancy, the flirt with fame, the dance of dreams before growing up makes fun only a memory.

Debby Calley (left), Michael Calley (middle) and Sylvia Speaker spend a Thursday evening at the National Little League park cheering for their favorite team. A fly ball dropping for a hit is cause for celebration, provided it is their team up to bat.

Leatherman-Stovall

MRS. RICKY FRANKLIN DYER
...formerly Sheila J. Miller

Kelly Lin Leatherman became the bride of Jeffrey Carl Stovall during a wedding ceremony at Tollett All Faith Chapel May 11. The Rev. Clifford Stovall, father of the bridegroom, officiated at the 7 p.m. rite before an altar decorated with two candelabra entwined with ivy and white mums. The stairway leading to the altar was lined with baskets of white lilies.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Leatherman, 2804 Coronado. The bridegroom is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Clifford Stovall, Lamesa Highway.

Julie Shirey, pianist, provided music for the ceremony. Taped selections by Dan Fogelberg and Kenny Loggins also were played.

MRS. JEFFREY CARL STOVALL
...formerly Kelly Lin Leatherman

Following the ceremony, the couple was feted with a reception at the home of the bridegroom's parents. The bride's table was draped with a white lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of dusty pink rosebuds in a cut-glass vase. A pale blue "bride and bridegroom" candle accented the arrangement.

Out of town guests were from Dallas, Levelland, Buchanan Dam, Odessa and San Antonio.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School and Texas Tech University. She is employed by the Lubbock Independent School System in Lubbock as an elementary teacher.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Big Spring High School and is a senior in the School of Business at Texas Tech University in Lubbock.

Following a wedding trip to Galveston, the couple will live in Lubbock.

Miller-Dyer

Sheila J. Miller and Ricky Franklin Dyer were united in marriage during a March 9 wedding ceremony at Hillcrest Baptist Church. The Rev. Jim Lynch officiated at the rite.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy G. Miller of Roanoke. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H.H. Dyer of 1701 Aylford.

Kelli McCutchin, pianist, and Helen Marshall of Denison, vocalist, performed music for the ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Sherry Sandburg Miller, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. Reva Franklin was bridesmaid.

Rocky Dyer, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Tommy G. Miller Jr., brother of the bride, was groomsman. Richie Dyer, son of the bridegroom, was ring bearer. Tommy Miller and Bob Coltrane were ushers.

Following the ceremony, the couple was honored at a reception in the church's Fellowship Hall. The bridegroom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner at the church.

The bride is a graduate of Denison High School and East Central State University in Ada, Okla. She is employed by SouthWest College Institute for the Deaf. The bridegroom graduated from Big Spring High School and owns Dyer Plumbing.

Following a wedding trip to San Marcos, the couple live in Big Spring.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents. She wore a white satin floor-length gown embellished with white lace and pearls. She also wore a matching chapel-length veil, a strand of pearls and pearl earrings to complete her ensemble.

The bride carried a bouquet of lilies and other pastel-colored flowers.

Lynn Shipman was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Leslie Stovall of Galveston, and Cheryl Stovall, both sisters of the bridegroom.

Terry Stovall of San Marcos, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Groomsmen were Phillip Stovall, brother of the bridegroom, and Gary Leatherman of Dallas, brother of the bride. Ushers were Bill Miller of Odessa, cousin of the bride, and Gary Stovall of Sand Springs, cousin of the bridegroom. Candlelighters were Eli Stovall, Brian Stovall of San Marcos, and Miker Stovall of San Marcos, all cousins of the

They will be singing May 22 at 7:30 p.m., College Park Church of God, 603 Tulane.

Wesley and Dorothy Pearce have been ministering in Gospel Music for twenty years. They have always felt the importance of the whole family working together. Their five children, ranging in ages from 12 to 19 are co-laborer (I Cor. 3:8-9) singing with them and are a vital part of their ministry. Their main purpose and hearts cry is "This is the work of God, that ye believe on Him whom He hath sent." (Jn. 6:29).

The Pearce family have traveled all over the United States and Canada as they minister to people of all denominations. They have ministered at F.G.B.F.I. banquets and have appeared on radio and television on numerous occasions. They are currently taping their fifth music album and plan on further touring the United States and Canada. Their ministry will lift your spirit in praises to the Lord.

A petition drive to put the issue of the legal sale of mixed beverages on the ballot in Justice of the Peace Precinct I is now underway. Justice of the Peace Precinct I includes most of Big Spring. If you're a registered voter in JP Precinct I and would like to place this issue before the voters, petitions are available to be signed at Classic Auto at the corner of FM 700 and Birdwell. For the next few weeks, volunteers will be calling registered voters and asking for signatures. If you would like to sign the petition, be sure to have your voter registration card with you.

"AVENUE OF FLAGS AT TRINITY MEMORIAL PARK"

We are pleased to announce an "Avenue of Flags" created in our Perpetually cared for Cemetery. This avenue of flags is dedicated to the men and women who served their country and state. (In peace and war). These flags will be proudly displayed in their memory every year on Memorial Day, Veterans Day, and special days and events. For each family member represented in the "Avenue of Flags", there will be a special bronze plate with their name, birth, and death date appearing on it. This plate will be a permanent fixture in the park office. If you wish for your loved one to be represented in this avenue of flags, please contact the Trinity Memorial Park office by mailing the coupon below.

Clip and Mail to: P.O. Box 2591, Big Spring, Texas 79720

PLEASE RUSH!

Please see that I receive the information on your "Avenue of Flags" to be dedicated on May 26, 1985 at 2:00 P.M. I understand that if I wish to participate, my loved ones name will be mentioned in the Dedication Ceremony.

Dear Abby

What happens to files when doctor goes?

DEAR ABBY: What happens to a patient's files and medical records after the physician (or psychiatrist) retires, dies, or the patient decides to change doctors? I have seen both kinds of doctors, and I do not want my medical history read by anyone other than the doctors who have treated me. It's bad enough to know that the doctors' nurses, bookkeepers and receptionists who had access to my files might have opened their mouths at a party. CONCERNED DEAR CONCERNED: In California the patient's medical records are the property of the doctor. In almost every case, if the patient changes doctors, the "old" doctor willingly sends the patient's records to the "new" doctor, but no doctor is legally bound to relinquish a patient's records on demand.

The laws vary from state to state, but in all states, if a doctor believes that it would not be in the best interest of the patient to see his or her records, the doctor will not release them.

THE KEN HUGHES FUND

On Easter Sunday, Ken and Sharon Hughes' young son, Eric, lost his life in a tragic drowning accident. Since that time Ken has been hospitalized for several days and has been unable to work for almost four weeks.

The Hughes need our love and financial support at this time. A fund has been established for them at the Coahoma State Bank, your help is needed and will be greatly appreciated.

Dr. Donohue

Are full-length push-ups fair?

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am a 14-year-old girl, a freshman in high school. Many of my friends and I would like you to answer a question. It concerns a gym exam. Is it harmful or even reasonable for a girl to be asked to do eight full-length push-ups for a grade? Many of us are upset because we cannot do what is expected of the boys. Is this fair? Answer quickly before the exam. — L.K. & C.E.

I am probably too late for you, but maybe this will help the next class. It isn't harmful to do eight full-length push-ups, but it isn't fair to ask a girl to do the same kind of strength exercise as a boy or to grade her by the same standards. Your muscles are not as strong as a boy's because you don't have the muscle-stimulating male hormone. I don't mean that you can't be as good an athlete as a boy, only that you can't be expected to duplicate his strength. On the other hand, boys won't be able to duplicate girls' flexibility. So things even out. (See next item).

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: How much stronger is the man than the woman? — K.

One way to measure this would be to cite the difference in muscle mass between them. Around 40 percent of the average male's body weight is muscle, compared to 23 percent in the average female. This is what gives the male his advantage in activities involving power and strength.

SLEIGHT OF HAND

Hand size should be taken into consideration when selecting nail polish. Large hands generally look most elegant in muted or neutral tones. Small hands can carry brighter colors. The right polish can also camouflage imperfections. Uneven cuticles, for example, seem less noticeable with close to skin color neutrals. They also have an elongating effect on short, thick fingers. Wide nails can appear narrower by choosing two shades in the same family, one just a tone darker. Apply the darker shade to the outsides of the nails and the lighter shade to the middle. Older hands should avoid reds, which tend to make veins appear more obvious.

Keep skin healthy and young looking with periodic facials, moisturizers and little exposure to the sun. Eat the proper foods, nutritionally balanced to meet your needs and get plenty of rest. Exercise is another necessary component to keeping fit and healthy. Here at LA CON-TESA, we can meet your hair needs with the utmost professionalism. You will find us located at 1508 Marcy. We are open Tues.-Sat. Tel. 267-2187.

Lifestyle guidelines

We will be pleased to announce the news of your engagement, wedding, silver or golden anniversary in the Lifestyle section of the Big Spring Herald. We try to use the story on the date you request, but sometimes space does not permit this. The information must be submitted to us on a form available at the Herald no later than Wednesday noon before the Sunday it is to be published. The form must include a name and telephone number of a person whom we can reach during the day for more information.

We will use a picture of the couple in the announcement. Or in the case of engagement announcements where a picture of the couple is not available, we will use one of the bride-elect. The picture must be a professional quality studio photograph. We prefer a 5 x 7 glossy black and white print. We ask for this kind of photograph so that it will reproduce well in the newspaper. Following the picture's publication, it may be picked up at the Lifestyle department.

The information for the story may be brought to the Lifestyle department of the Herald, which is located at 710 Scurry. Or it may be mailed to Lifestyle Department, Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 1451, Big Spring, Texas 77602. Call us at (935) 263-7331 if we can help with more information or clarification of our policies.

ENGAGEMENTS
 Information of engagement announcements must be submitted to the Lifestyle department of the Herald anytime after the engagement is a reality until at least three weeks prior to the wedding. Anything closer than three weeks will not be published. The engagement form must be submitted no later than Wednesday noon prior to the Sunday it is to be published.

If the bride-elect, prospective bridegroom or their parents do not now or have never lived in our area, we need to know why you are submitting your engagement to the Herald. If only grandparents live in our area, please give their names and addresses.

WEDDINGS
 If a wedding writup is submitted to the Herald after the wedding has occurred, the space allotted to it will diminish according to the length of time that has passed since the wedding.

BIRTHS
 Local hospitals supply information for Storkclub. If a child is born elsewhere in the newspaper's circulation area, or is born to out-of-town parents with local or area grandparents, please contact the Herald Lifestyle Department with Storkclub information.

Information needed for Storkclub is: newborn's name, sex, time and date of birth, weight, place of birth, parents' name and address. If the baby is born outside the circulation area but has local grandparents, please include their name and address. The local grandparents serve as the area connection for the information.

1970 Hyperions install officers

The 1970 Hyperion Club met May 10 in the home of Maureen Haddad for a salad luncheon and installation of officers. Evelyn Elrod installed the officers for the coming club year.

New officers are: Lynda Elrod, president; Londa Henry, vice president; Cindy Middleton, secretary; Cissy Speck, treasurer; Darlene Pirkle, reporter; Lauretta Glass, historian; and Thelma Carlile, parliamentarian.

Carlile, outgoing president, presented gifts to the outgoing officers and committee chairman. Lynda Elrod presented Carlile with a gift from the club and with this year's club scrapbook.

A donation will be made to the Rape Crisis Center. The next meeting will be in September.

Rape prevention topic of program

Thressia Henry, assistant director of Rape Crisis Services, presented a program at the City Home Extension Club meeting May 10 at the home of Frances Zant.

The service has been in existence for 9 months and focuses on rape protection and sexual abuse of children, said Henry. It is funded by the Texas Department of Health, Howard County and private organizations.

Henry told of preventive measures for rape protection such as: never give personal information to strangers or let them into the home, and always keep doors and windows locked.

Tell your children that sometimes it's okay to say "No!" to adults, said Henry. Children can scream and run away from adults who frighten them.

Rape is a crime of violence - not of sexual passion, she said. Most arrested rapists will repeat the crime. Anyone who is a rape victim needs to report it to law enforcement officials and/or Rape Crisis Services.

Are You Color "Blind"?
 Chances are, you are not! Fortunately, very few people are truly color "blind." Girls rarely exhibit color deficiencies but they may pass the trait on to their children.

About 4 percent of the boys show some measurable color discrimination difficulty present from birth. These males often confuse red, brown, yellow and green, finding it hard to match socks and coordinate clothing. They may have trouble with jobs demanding color coding or choices, for instance with photography, dyes or printing.

Did you ever notice that traffic signals are usually red on top with green at the bottom? This fact helps color "blind" drivers. Adding a little blue to the green "GO" and blending other colors with the red "STOP" further assists the color deficient at night or in fog.

Most people learn to accept their color "blindness" and some learn to see colors a little better with constant practice. In some cases a special colored contact lens worn on one eye can help to discriminate colors easier.

If you feel you have a problem with your color vision and would like to discuss it, please call me. ***

Q: My wife and I want to buy our first house. I say let's buy now because homes seem to move better in the summer. She wants to wait for the slower winter market when sellers may be willing to make a better deal. Who's right?

A: There is logic in both arguments, but the best time to buy anything — a car or a house — is when inventory is high. Generally, most people want to move in the summer. Sellers are competing — a buyer's market. So, this is probably the best time to buy that first home. But, it is also the time to make a wise homebuying decision. Don't rush into what may sound like a good deal without advice. Seek the advice of a qualified, experienced real estate agent — someone who is highly interested in helping you obtain the best home, with the best deal.

Tavaglione-Partridge

The Church of Glad Tidings in Austin was the setting for the Saturday afternoon wedding of Valarie Jean Tavaglione and Daren Lee Partridge, both of Fort Worth. The Rev. Nolen W. Partridge, pastor of Bible Baptist Church of Justin and father of the bridegroom, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael John Tavaglione of Austin and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Meek, 1516 Vines, and the late R.B. Hall. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nolen W. Partridge of Fort Worth.

The couple was wed before three arch candelabra and an archway decorated with greenery and flowers and a background of green plants. Gary Leslie, Leanne Leslie and Phyllis Hall Mitchell, vocalists, provided music.

The bride wore a white taffeta gown. It was fashioned with a bodice and sleeves embellished with pearl and sequin encrusted lace, an illusion yoke and high lace collar. The sleeves were puffed at top and then fitted from the upper arm to the wrist. Scalloped tiers fell from the waistline to form the skirt and train. The scallops were held by fresh pink rosebuds and showed lace underlining.

The bride carried a cascading bouquet of white and pink silk roses, four white fresh roses, three strands of pearls and navy, dusty rose and white ribbons.

Michelle Tavaglione of Austin served her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Tammy Woodard of Fort Worth, sister of the bridegroom, Kim Pesta of Wyoming, Pa. and Amy Hoge of Austin.

Alan Boyer of Fort Worth was best man. Groomsmen were Craig Cox, Charlie Woodard, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Robb White, all of Fort Worth. Ushers were Ricky George and Brian Ballinger, both of Fort Worth, and Michael J. Tavaglione II of Austin, brother of the bride. Matthew J. Tavaglione of Austin, brother of the bride, was candlelighter.

Following the ceremony, the couple was honored at a reception at the church's Fellowship Hall. The bride's table featured a three-tiered wedding cake flanked by two-tiered cakes on each side. Stairs lead from the smaller cakes to the main cake. The cakes were decorated in pink and white icing. The main cake sat above a lighted water fountain. The bridegroom's table featured a chocolate cheesecake with strawberries.

MRS. DAREN L. PARTRIDGE
...formerly Valarie J. Tavaglione

The bride attended Wyoming Area High School in Pittston, Pa. and graduated from David Crockett High School in Austin. She also attended Austin Community College in Austin and Tarrant County Junior College in Fort Worth. She is employed by Texas American Bank in Riverside.

The bridegroom graduated from Haltom High School in Haltom and attended Tarrant County Junior College and University of Texas in Arlington. He is employed by the Fort Worth Fire Department.

Following a wedding trip to the Bahamas, the couple will live in Fort Worth.

Loudamy-Roen

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Wash was the setting for the Saturday afternoon wedding ceremony of Dacia Kaye Loudamy and Steven Ray Roen. Dr. Rick Davis, pastor of First Baptist Church in Stanton, officiated at the 2 p.m. rite before a stone fireplace flanked with greenery and a floral arrangement in apricot, white and yellow.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loy Loudamy, 1302 Baylor. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Roen, Tubbs Rd.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a traditional gown fashioned from white organza and Chantilly lace. The fitted bodice features a scooped neckline outlined with a full lace ruffle and Princess Anne sleeves of organza ending in lace-trimmed ruffle. The full skirt fell from the waist into cascades of lace ruffles. She wore a lace-trimmed picture hat that held a fingertip-length veil of illusion.

The bride carried a cascading bouquet of white roses and apricot carnations.

Lisa Wash served her sister as matron of honor. Mark Roen, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Derek Wash, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the same location. The bride's table was draped with an ivory silk cloth and featured a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with a cascade of apricot roses and a bride and bridegroom figurine. The bridegroom's table featured a strawberry cake in the shape of a tool box.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School and Angelo State University. She has a bachelor's degree in psychology. The bridegroom, a graduate of Coahoma High School, is employed by Clyde McMahon Concrete Company as a mechanic. He attended Howard College.
