Lawmakers reach budget compromise

AUSTIN (AP) — Threats of a special legislative session over 1986-87 state spending have all but disappeared after House and Senate budget writers agreed on a compromise.

Unexpected money from a court settlement led to a break in the deadlock Wednesday, members of the 10-member conference committee said later.

"I feel very confident there won't be (any special session)," said Gov. Mark White.

Rep. Jim Rudd, D-Brownfield, head of House negotiators, said the $36.5 billion bill could be financed without new taxes, thanks to the court settlement and expected passage of a bill increasing state fees.

Sen. Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls, said the court settlement of almost $47 million was negotiated by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby in a suit the state filed against out-of-state insurance companies. The companies had been paying taxes levied by the 1983 Legislature under protest.

"Farabee said the unexpected financial windfall allowed us to give state employees a pay raise, raise welfare benefits and meet the demands of other needed services."

"I think both sides are very happy it is all over,"

said Rudd.

Rudd said the placement of $24 million, from the suit settlement, in the funding of state colleges and universities not in the University of Texas and Texas A&M systems, was a key to breaking the stalemate that had tied up negotiations.

The appropriations compromise, reached after 13 days of long and tedious arguments and discussion, included:

- A 3 percent state employee pay raise, as proposed by the House, with 1 percent of the second year to be financed by savings in agency budgets or by doing away with two state holidays.

- Authorization for a $35 million advanced research fund for state colleges, as advocated by the Senate. No more than two-thirds could be spent by the University of Texas and the Texas A&M systems. The $24 million for schools not in the Permanent University Fund balanced higher education for all schools at about 98 percent of current spending, Rudd said.
- Adoption of a House proposal to increase monthly payments to families of dependent needy children from $53 to $57.

Highway patrolmen troop to driving school

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

Troopers, get to know your car.

"We want to show our people what this car can do and what you can do with the car," Highway Patrol Sgt. Frank Woodall said Tuesday at the Big Spring Airpark.

Woodall, who heads the Department of Public Safety office here, was teaching the second week of a five-week driver's training course for DPS troopers in District 4A. The district extends from Howard County through El Paso County and south to the Rio Grande.

"Every rank down will be required to go through the obstacle course," Woodall said. The 20 to 36 troopers scheduled weekly will earn credit for the course with the Texas Commission of Law Enforcement Officer Standards and Education.

It looked like fun, so I asked if I could ride along.

We climbed into the Ford sedan and buckled up. I had never been through an automobile obstacle course.

The first part is known as the "Serpentine" course, Woodall said.

A parallel line of rubber cones are spaced 55 feet apart, like a twisting serpent, waiting for us to weave through them at a speed of 30 miles an hour.

Woodall placed his hands in the three and nine o'clock positions on the steering wheel. Not one cone fell as we weaved around them.

"The purpose is to maintain speed. That test shows you how the car handles," Woodall said, after completing the Serpentine.

Our next obstacle course tests evasive action. The car was driven toward a barricade of cones. Then, upon an instructor's cue on the radio, the car was to swerve under control left or right into a 12-foot wide alleyway.

Woodall approached the barricade at 40 mph and then swerved into an alleyway. No cones fell. I felt the vehicle's powerful lurch, but everything was under control.

Woodall said before we started the course that the DPS wants its troopers to learn the car's maneuverability in a controlled environment.

Staff reports

Evelyn Feather MacLeod, 35, of Lubbock, who was found murdered in Scurry County, was the daughter of former Big Spring resident Herb Feather.

Feather worked at the Big Spring Herald after World War II and was named advertising manager. He moved to Snyder in 1950 when he acquired the Snyder Daily News.

His brother, Dan Feather, also lived in Big Spring and was a linotype operator for the Herald. Feather lived on Main Street.

MacLeod's mutilated body was discovered near an isolated farm-to-market road Tuesday in Scurry County. Her husband, Arthur Lee MacLeod, a 36-year-old Lubbock elementary school teacher, was charged with the brutal murder.

The couple was living in Lubbock and had been married about five months, according to reports.

A motorist observed a man dumping something from an incline near Post and reported to officials what he thought was a poacher.

When officials discovered the body, they began an investigation that led them to MacLeod. The wife's head and hands were discovered buried in the couple's backyard.

Services for MacLeod are pending with Bell-Cypert-Seale Funeral Home in Snyder. She was born Sept. 30, 1949, in Lordsburg, N.M.

Survivors include her father, Herb Feather, of Snyder; a daughter and a son, Julia Ann Brown and William Scott Brown, both of Celina; and a sister, Mrs. Ray Powell of Snyder.

Farmers complain about too much rain

Staff reports

Where's the ark?

Farmers in rain-drenched portions of the county are beginning to look crossways at continued downpours, which already have washed out freshly planted fields of cotton.

Vincent, Knott and Martin County farmers are hoping for clear skies after the deluge so they can replant rows of cotton.

Knott farmer Larry Shaw said he would have to replant his Martin County fields because of flooding. He reported receiving two-tenths of an inch of rain last night, and said he'd had enough rain for the present.

Vincent farmer David Barr said earlier this week he would have to replant because of flooding on his farmland.

Lomax farmers, however, wouldn't mind having the rain sent special delivery to their fields. After receiving 1.75 inches of rain Tuesday to bust the drought, fields remained dry as stormclouds skipped over the area.

Coahoma resident Melva Swinney also said she had received no rain last night.

The rain apparently fell in dribbles throughout the area. Luther farmer Calvin Juneke reported the most rainfall — three-tenths of an inch — from last night's small showers.

Martin County Justice of the Peace Francis Kennedy also said he received three-tenths of an inch at his home west of Stanton last night.

The small storms boosted the year-to-date rainfall total to 8.89 inches, more than three inches above the normal total of 5.83 inches, a spokesman from the U.S. Big Spring Field Station said this morning.

In Big Spring, Red Thomas of 107 E. 13th said he received only a trace. Tommy Hart of 1750 Purdue received five-hundredths of an inch for a two-day total of seven-tenths of an inch.

Water improvement reservoir on tap

Staff reports

Unusually frequent and heavy rains are proving to be a watershed for Big Spring's water district, which is seeing its lakes fill up as it prepares to open a new reservoir.

According to Rod Lewis of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, Lake Spence has 220,000 acre-feet of water and is standing at 45 percent of capacity. The lake is now 1,873.03 feet above sea level.

Lake J.B. Thomas has 26,420 acre-feet of water and is at 13 percent of capacity. Although the levels sound low, Lewis said the situation is much better today that before recent rains.

Lake Thomas is up by about 4 feet from recent rains, Lewis said. Lake Spence is up by about 3 feet. "We're very grateful for that," Lewis said of the rising levels.

And the construction of a low channel dam, pump station and balancing reservoir at Beals Creek "is just about completed," said water district secretary Joe Pickle.

The estimated $4.8 million project is complete except for 30 days of dirt work needed around the reservoir, he said.

The project is part of a program to help upgrade the quality of water at Lake

Spence. The disposal system will also help divert water to oil companies.

The water is pumped from Beals Creek to Red Draw, which is a storage unit. From Red Draw the water can be sent back to the pumps and then to Moss Creek salt water pumps. The water is then pumped to the balancing reservoir, Pickle said.

The balancing reservoir "mound" can distribute water to the numerous oil companies at East Howard Field, Scurry Area Canyon Reef Operator's Committee (SACROC) and Sharon Ridge in Scurry

New Mexico University, Jay Pirkle also received an athletic and academic scholarship from ENMU.

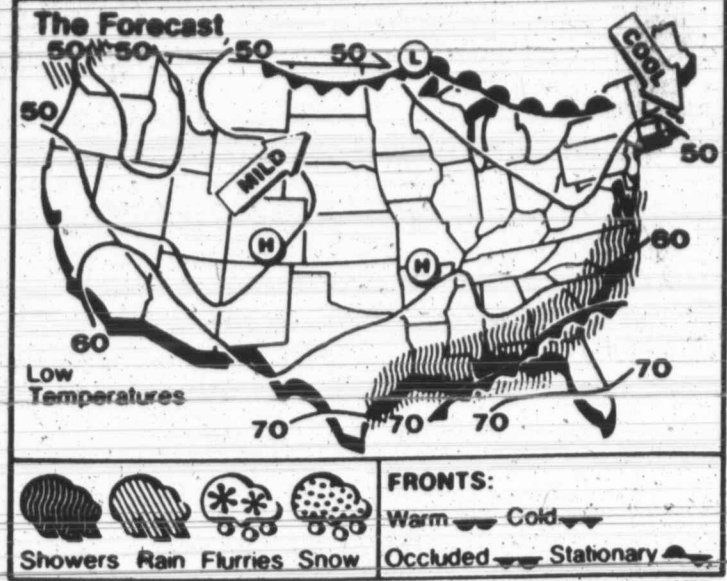

James Cowan received the Texas Christian University Chancellor's scholarship. Casey Weaver received the Texas Wesleyan Scholarship and Blair Richardson received the El Paso Livestock Association scholarship.

Lisa Salazar received the Wal-Mart scholarship and the Texas Tech University Scholars award. Other Permian Honor scholarship winners were Jerry Anderson, Paul Kennemur, Sherri Criswell, Patricia Dawn Underwood, Lisa Subia, Ann Basham, Stacy Basham, Alex Castetter.

Kristie Grimes received the Texas A&M University Presidential Endowed scholarship. Pam Grant, Tanya Hollis, Lisa Salazar and Adrienne Allen won Carr Academic Scholarships to Angelo State University.

James Cowan and Kristie Grimes were recognized as National Merit Finalist Award winners. Receiving Midland College Academic scholarships were Ann Basham, Stacy Basham, Rebecca Bridges and Mark Walker.

Weather

Local

Today's highs will be in the low 80s. Winds will be light and variable. Tonight temperatures will fall into the mid 50s. The extended forecast calls for partly cloudy skies with highs in the upper 80s and nightly lows in the 60s.

State

Very heavy thunderstorms developed in Southeast Texas this morning. Scattered showers with a few isolated thunderstorms were also occurring over portions of South Central Texas, while patches of light rain dampened parts of South Texas and the Coastal Bend.

Meanwhile, a weak stationary cold front extended from northern Louisiana across East Texas into the central part of the state.

Partly cloudy to cloudy skies covered most of the state, except for some clear skies over the western section of North Texas, the Panhandle and the Trans Pecos.

Light east to northeast winds breezed across most of East, South and Southwest Texas while light northwesterly winds were common across the rest of the state.

However, strong northeasterly winds of 30 miles an hour swept through the Guadalupe mountains. Temperatures were mostly in the 50s and 60s over the northern half of the state while readings in the 70s were the rule over the rest of Texas.

The early morning extremes ranged from 51 at Amarillo to 76 at Corpus Christi and McAllen.

Parts of Texas and Louisiana were under severe thunderstorm watches today after damaging storms pushed along by high winds dumped hail and heavy rain on the Carolinas.

Rain and thundershowers extended from the Virginias across North Carolina. South-central Texas also had rain and thundershowers, while showers were scattered today from eastern South Dakota into western Minnesota.

The National Weather Service issued a severe thunderstorm watch in west-central and southwest Louisiana and southeast Texas this morning, saying large hail, high winds and lightning were possible.

Forecast

WEST TEXAS - Partly cloudy and warmer through Friday with isolated late afternoon and evening thunderstorms. Lows tonight lower 50s Panhandle to near 60 Concho Valley and mid 60s Big Bend. Highs Friday from near 80 Panhandle to mid 80s Concho Valley to near 100 Big Bend valleys.

AG prepared to battle 'no-pass, no-play'

AUSTIN (AP) - The attorney general's office is prepared to take the controversial no-pass, no-play issue to the Texas Supreme Court.

Elna Christopher, spokeswoman for Attorney General Jim Mattox, said Wednesday the office expected to appeal State District Judge Marsha D. Anthony's decision declaring the rule unconstitutional.

The Houston judge was scheduled to issue her written opinion Wednesday afternoon, but instead announced it would not be signed until today.

The judge read her 15-page order in court Wednesday, making minor amendments along the way. She then said a retyped version would be signed this morning, but, court reporter Don Rymer, said the judge would not sign the ruling until this afternoon. "If she doesn't enter an order, we're going to tell our clients just to ignore it. She's got to play by the rules, too," said Mattox of Ms. Anthony's action.

An aide to Mattox stood by in Houston, waiting to fly the document to Austin. Ms. Christopher said Mattox intended to appeal that ruling directly to the Supreme Court.

Police Beat

Burglars swipe antiques

Antique furniture valued at $2,000 was stolen Wednesday morning in the burglary of a rent house at 1700 Lexington, Aubrey Weaver of 601 Washington told police.

According to the police report, three men loaded the furniture in a pickup truck at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

Taken were: two dressers, two nightstands, a bed and a chest of drawers.

A 1977 light green Mercury Marquis, valued at $3,000, was stolen at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday from Bob Brock Ford at 500 W. Fourth, according to police reports.

Gary Allen Peterson of 1319 Mobile told police he was assaulted at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday outside the Flamingo Club at 310 N.W. Fourth.

According to the report, he suffered two one-inch lacerations on his face when a man struck him with a pool cue as he was walking out of the club.

A.C. Neighbors, an employee of Carroll Coates Auto Sales at 1101 W. Fourth, told police someone caused $800 damage to a 1976 Oldsmobile Delta 88. The vandalism occurred between 6 p.m. Tuesday and 9 a.m. Wednesday.

Vandals broke three windows at Carver Pharmacy at 310 E. Ninth, according to police reports.

The incident occurred between 8 p.m. Tuesday and 1:50 a.m. Wednesday. Damage was estimated at $375.

Burglars broke into the KC Steak House on the north service road of Interstate 20 between 10:30 p.m. Tuesday and 10:30 a.m. Wednesday, Fred Green told police.

Taken were a shrimp dinner, valued at $14, and five packs of gum, valued at $2. Also, the door frame to the main entrance and the cigarette machine were damaged. Damage to the door frame was estimated at $100.

Deborah Churchwell of 2208 Morrison told police she was assaulted at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday while she was in Furr's Grocery store at 900 11th Place. According to the police report, while she was bending over, a man grabbed her from behind.

Irma Lozano of 507 W. Sixth told police she had been receiving obscene phone calls between April 1984 and May 20.

Police Wednesday night arrested Bobby Lee Edmondson, 24, of 608 Goliad in the 2900 block of W. Highway 80 on a peace bond.

Two injured in 2-car accident

A 76-year-old Big Spring woman and a 27-year-old Big Spring man were injured late Wednesday morning in a two-car accident at the intersection of 18th and Goliad.

According to police reports, Grace Lockhart McClinton, 76, of 605 W. 17th was taken to Malone-Hogan Hospital for treatment. However, according to hospital spokesmen, McClinton was not treated at either Malone-Hogan or Hall-Bennett Hospitals.

The driver of the second car, Keith Alan Gibbons, 27, of 2604 E. 10th, refused treatment.

The accident occurred at 11:45 a.m., police reports state. McClinton, who was driving a 1984 brown Buick Century, had been southbound in the 1800 block of Goliad and was trying to turn east onto the 500 block of E. 18th, according to the police report.

Gibbons, who was driving a 1982 red Toyota Starlet, was headed north in the 1800 block of Goliad, the report stated. The two vehicles collided in the intersection while McClinton was trying to turn left. Both vehicles had green lights, the report stated.

A pickup truck Wednesday night drove through a wooden fence in the parking lot of White's Auto Store at 1607 Gregg and into the wall of Herman's Restaurant, according to police reports.

The driver, Robert David Schaff II, 16, of 2604 Fairchild, was not injured, according to police reports.

Schaff was headed northbound in his 1979 white Toyota pickup truck in the parking lot of White's when the accident occurred at 11:48 p.m., the report stated.

According to the report, Schaff was trying to pull in to a parking space bounded on the north by the fence. His truck struck the fence and continued through the fence to strike the south side of the restaurant.

Damage to the restaurant, owned by Homer Wilberson of 1718 Yale, was estimated at $2,000. No dollar estimate of damage to the fence was listed on the report.

Two transported to prison

District Court Judge James Gregg sentenced two Big Spring men to the Texas Department of Corrections in Huntsville Wednesday afternoon.

Johnny Valencia, 25, of 505 N. Goliad will serve five years for revoking his burglary probation.

Roy Rodriguez, 18, of 908 E. 15th will serve three years for revoking his burglary of an automobile probation.

Valencia will be given eight days credit for time served in the county jail. Rodriguez was given 34 days credit.

Howard County sheriff's deputies arrested Bobby Frank Boyd, 58, of 1000 E. 20th on a Nolan County warrant charging him with issuing a bad check. He was released on $200 bond.

John Henry Zant, 20, of 2911 W. Highway 80 No. 65 was arrested on a warrant charging him with possession of marijuana. He was released on $1,500 bond.

A Texas Department of Public Safety trooper arrested David Leroy Husband, 35, of Henderson on traffic warrants from Harris, Mason and Collingworth counties. He was released on bonds totalling $800.

Big Spring Police transferred Bobby Lee Edmondson, 24, of 608 S. Goliad to county jail after he was arrested on a peace bond warranted from Justice of the Peace Willie Grant's office. He was arrested at the Sands Motel Room No. 17 at 11:05 p.m. He was later released on $1,000 bond.

The water district and San Angelo have reached an agreement that will enhance the city's intermediate and long range water needs, Pickle said recently.

For the next five years, the water district will make 10,000 acre-feet, in addition to 3,000 acre-feet the city already has a right to, available.

San Angelo will pay $325,000 per year for the additional 10,000 acre-feet per annum. The city has the option to cancel when its lakes reach certain levels.

In the long term agreement the district will provide 15,000 acre-feet annually to San Angelo out of the Stacy Reservoir.

"Everything went pretty much on schedule except for the reservoir," Pickle said. "The cost is slightly over $4 million."

He said the water district will be coming out with a cushion of $500,000 which will be deposited in the interest and sinking fund to help pay of the district's bond indebtedness.

The completion of the project will mean a reduction of 29 percent in the amount of chlorides running down Beals Creek to Lake Spence.

"On the roadway, they will be better prepared to handle the car," Woodall said.

The third part of the obstacle course: control braking. In this test, Woodall was to hit the brakes 12 feet from a barricade and steer around it at 40 mph.

We approached the cones. Would any fall? No. Woodall hit the breaks and steered around the barricade.

"Most of us have a tendency to overbrake. Once your brakes lock, you can't steer an automobile. If your brakes don't lock, the vehicle will go where you steer it," Woodall said.

I thought of Big Spring's first snowfall last January, when I accidentally jack-knifed my car on Eighth and Runnels. I mistakenly blamed the road's slick condition. Our last test was "off-road recovery." We were to travel on a dirt road off the runway where the previous obstacles were. In this test, Woodall dropped both wheels on the driver's side off the roadway at 50 mph.

The edge of the lane is separated by only nine feet from the row of cones running parallel to the lane. True to form, Woodall handled the car perfectly. No cones fell.

"This is a very real obstacle. You'll usually encounter this situation in a pursuit. The secret here is not to oversteer," Woodall said.

All the region's DPS vehicles - including the Ford Mustang fleet cars, station wagons and regular sedan patrol cars - are required to run the course, he said.

Parole hearing set for Marquez

A state parole hearing began this morning in Lubbock for a Howard County man who was arrested last January in Big Spring on a federal drug offense.

Robert Marquez, 39, of Gail Route is being detained in Lubbock County jail after U.S. Magistrate Judge J.Q. Warnick Jr. ruled last Feb. that he (Marquez) was a threat to society.

The suspect was on state parole for a three-year felony conviction in Howard County at the time of his arrest. A spokesman from the district parole office in Lubbock said Parole Officer David Harman of Big Spring and Parole Hearing Officer Johnny Hoggatt of Lubbock were present for the hearing. A final decision on Marquez's parole will be made in about two weeks by the Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles, the spokesman said.

Marquez was arrested last January by Big Spring Police after he allegedly sold six ounces of cocaine to undercover agents.

Warnick said this morning that Marquez waived his right to a speedy trial and the case would probably come up on the June 22 federal court docket.

A night at the Apollo

NEW YORK — Amateur Night has returned to Harlem's Apollo Theater, with singing, dancing and "the hook" for losers in a reprise of the contest that catapulted Billie Holiday, Sarah Vaughan and Ella Fitzgerald to stardom.

The sold-out show Wednesday night featured 18 amateur performers and marked the official reopening of the Apollo, which had closed in the mid-1970s and has since undergone a $10 million renovation.

The redone theater is a spectacle of red, white and gilt, crystal chandeliers and a sound and lighting system that belie the Apollo's 72 years. Outside on West 125th Street, Harlem's main cross street, is a decaying strip of bars, fast-food joints, storefront churches and apartment buildings.

The emcee of the new Amateur Night was old-timer Ralph Cooper, who originated the Wednesday-night Apollo fixture in 1935. Audience members, many of them among those who jammed the house in the Apollo's heyday, gave Cooper a rousing welcome home.

United at stalemate

CHICAGO — Negotiations between United Airlines and its striking pilots have reached a stalemate, according to federal mediator who said the talks had been "tense and difficult."

The strike entered its seventh day today, when both sides went home when talks broke off at 3:45 a.m. after more than 15 hours of negotiating. Talks were scheduled to resume at 3 p.m. today in suburban Arlington Heights, said Meredith Buel, a spokesman for the National Mediation Board.

Both sides refused to comment on whether the marathon session had produced any progress, Buel said today.

"I wish we could come down and say we have an agreement or are close, but we can't," said Helen Witt, head of the mediating board, on Wednesday night.

6 newborns doing OK

ORANGE, Calif. — Doctors say they are optimistic about the chances of survival for the six remaining Frustaci septuplets, the smallest a boy nicknamed Peanut because he weighs only a pound.

The two-day-old infants, four boys and two girls, struggled for life as doctors treated them Wednesday for lung and liver problems and an ailment that flooded their lungs with blood.

"We still feel optimistic about the survival of all of these babies," said Dr. Carrie Worcester, director of newborn intensive care at Childrens Hospital of Orange County. "They are holding their own. There are no impending deaths at this time."

"The smallest one is at the greatest risk right now," she said, adding that the babies had a 50-50 overall chance of survival. The infants were listed in critical but stable condition.

Death toll climbs as Lebanese warring resumes

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Shiite Moslems fought from house-to-house today in a bloody assault on Palestinian refugee camps in west Beirut. Police said 33 people died in the fighting overnight, bringing the four-day toll to 188.

Many of the dead were killed in hand-to-hand combat between Palestinian defenders and the Shiites, who are trying to prevent the Palestinians from re-establishing themselves as a military force in west Beirut.

In east Beirut, Christians observed a day of mourning for the victims of a Wednesday car bomb explosion. Police said Wednesday that 60 people were killed in the blast, but reported today that 34 were confirmed dead and another 24 were missing and believed dead. Church bells tolled at five-minute intervals, radio stations played somber music and schools were closed.

Across town, the sound of gunfire and grenade blasts echoed from the shantytowns of Sabra and Chatilla, 12 hours after the Shiites claimed to have overrun both camps.

In Amman, Jordan, Chairman Yasser Arafat of the Palestine Liberation Organization appealed for an urgent meeting of the U.N. Security Council, and U.N. intervention to stop the fighting.

U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar appealed from U.N. headquarters in New York for an end to the violence.

A Palestinian spokesman who spoke on condition he not be identified, said today that "most Palestinian strongpoints in Sabra" had fallen to the Shiites. "But we are holding most of Chatilla. We have beaten back all attacks on Chatilla," he said in a telephone interview.

The Palestinians launched hit-and-run attacks from the narrow alleys of the camps and fired through holes knocked in the walls of tin-roofed houses turned into sandbagged fortresses.

An Amal field commander in Sabra said at mid-morning: "It will take an hour or two to clean up the area." There was intense shooting soon after. One of the militiaman came back saying: "They (Palestinians) come out from basements, from everywhere, firing. They fire from windows, from holes in the walls."

"It was a surprise. We thought we'd crushed them," a weary Amal militiaman said after a night-long battle.

Another Amal fighter said the outnumbered Palestinians were superior fighters. "They're better than us. They've been fighting for years and years. Women and even girls fight," he said.

Police estimated the Shiites took about 200 Palestinian prisoners.

Amal militiamen in camouflage herded jeeps of blindfolded Palestinians, apparently captured in the fighting, to an interrogation center in a 40-story skyscraper. They pushed their prisoners into the building, slapping and beating them.

At the sprawling Bourj el-Barajneh camp to the south of Sabra near Beirut airport, the Amal fighters kept up a steady barrage of machine-gun and grenade fire on the Palestinians, but made no attempt to seize the camp.

London axes skyscraper

LONDON — The government has rejected a plan to knock down 20 Victorian-era buildings and build a steel and bronze-tinted glass skyscraper that Prince Charles labelled a "giant glass stump."

Conservationists exulted and exponents of modern architecture conceded a defeat over the decision on the skyscraper, the last building designed by the late German-American architect Ludwig Mies van der Rohe, a pioneer of the Modernist movement.

The decision ended a chapter of one of the longest and costliest battles over the London skyline.

Environment Secretary Patrick Jenkin called proposals for the 20-story office tower, plaza and underground shopping complex in London's most historic quarter "unacceptable in their scale and character."

Missing troops in Angola

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — The army said today its soldiers still operate deep inside Angola, and that contact had been lost with a small force. It refused to say whether the missing soldiers were the same ones Angola says it caught on a sabotage mission.

The official Angolan news agency ANGOP, monitored in Lisbon, said Wednesday that the army caught three South Africans laden with weapons and limpet mines in Cabinda Province in the country's far north. It said they were planning to sabotage an oil complex.

A fight broke out, and two of the South Africans were killed and one was captured, the news agency said.

Early today a spokesman for South African armed forces in Johannesburg denied the ANGOP report.

But later Gen. Constand Viljoen, chief of the armed forces, said in a prepared statement that: "The defense force is involved in gathering information about hostile elements," and that South Africa's opponents "are continuously studied."

Pupils threaten suicide

SEOUL, South Korea — At least 30 students barricaded themselves on the second floor of the U.S. Information Service building today and threatened mass suicide if police attacked.

The students were protesting the deaths of at least 189 people in a 1980 military crackdown in Kwangju, a provincial capital of Seoul. Government critics have charged the United States did not oppose the military action and may have condoned it.

U.S. officials have denied any responsibility for the incident.

Embassy officials said negotiations were under way with the students, who occupied the public library of the four-story building, which is part of the U.S. diplomatic mission.

"AVENUE OF FLAGS AT TRINITY MEMORIAL PARK"

We are pleased to announce an "Avenue of Flags" created in our Perpetually cared for Cemetery. This avenue of flags is dedicated to the men and women who served their country and state. (In peace and war). These flags will be proudly displayed in their memory every year on Memorial Day, Veterans Day, and special days and events. For each family member represented in the "Avenue of Flags", there will be a special bronze plate with their name, birth, and death date appearing on it. This plate will be a permanent fixture in the park office. If you wish for your loved one to be represented in this avenue of flags, please contact the Trinity Memorial Park office by mailing the coupon below.

Clip and Mail to: P.O. Box 2591, Big Spring, Texas 79720

PLEASE RUSH!

Please see that I receive the information on your "Avenue of Flags" to be dedicated on May 26, 1985 at 2:00 P.M. I understand that if I wish to participate, my loved ones name will be mentioned in the Dedication Ceremony.

The succession of democracy

Brazil's return to a democratic form of government following 21 years of military rule seemed, only in April, to have suffered a potentially serious setback even before it officially began. President-elect Tancredo Neves died before he could take office, and there was widespread concern that his successor might lack either the will or the capacity to carry out the reforms that Neves, a respected national figure, had promised. So far, at least, the skepticism has been unwarranted.

Jose Sarney, the man elected by an electoral college as Neves' vice president on a coalition ticket, has moved swiftly and decisively since becoming president to carry out Neves' program, and then some. In recent days, Sarney has proposed — and the Brazilian Congress approved unanimously — a constitutional amendment providing for the direct election of future presidents. The military regime had insisted, as part of the price of its departure, that presidents and vice presidents be chosen by an electoral college.

Perhaps even more important to winning public support was Sarney's decision to limit himself to a four-year term of office instead of the six years to which he is legally entitled, which means the next presidential election can be held in 1988. Sarney also plans to hold direct elections this year to choose mayors of the country's 32 state capitals, important regional posts that the military had filled through appointment.

These moves, and Sarney's apparent determination to deal firmly with Brazil's economic crisis — its 220 percent inflation rate, for example, and its $100 million foreign debt, one of the world's largest — holdout hope that despite Neves' untimely death, his promise to bring democracy and economic stability to Latin America's largest nation will not be forgotten. Dealing with the economic crisis is an almost forbidding task, but Sarney's reassuring steps during the short time he has been in office should make it at least a little less forbidding than it might have been.

Money you can bank on

Jan. 2, 1985
Dear Freddy,

I know you haven't heard from me for some time. But I'm writing to ask you if you would attend a dinner in which I'm going to be honored as the "Good Citizen of the Year" at the Grand Milkwood Hotel on June 3.

I guess you've been wondering what happened to me since I stopped selling encyclopedias door-to-door in Bethesda. Well, believe it or not, I'm a hotshot banker in Maryland. I know what you're thinking. What do I know about banking after selling encyclopedias for the last 10 years?

It's a business just like any other business. People are always looking for bargains and if you can offer 'em a better deal than the guy down the street you've got a customer.

Banking is really a snap if you know anything about human nature. The trick is to have a solid-looking building with lots of marble and a guard standing by the door with a gun on his hip, who looks real serious about protecting the customer's deposit.

Since I pay more interest than other banks in the area, the money just keeps pouring in. People are standing in line in front of my window right now with paper bags full of currency, scared silly our safes will be full up before they can open an account with us.

I don't have any problems attracting deposits. My difficulty is figuring how to spread it around. Heh, heh, heh. What I mean, Freddy, is if I'm paying 7 percent to the depositors I have to loan it out at 15 percent to make any money. Well, fortunately, there are a lot of people in America who are more than willing to pay more than the going rate to borrow money. Most of them were turned down by the other banks for one silly reason or another.

These guys and dolls are salt of the earth. They're real estate developers, commodities speculators, oil drillers, takeover artists and horse-racing enthusiasts.

Besides the money I make on loans, my bank also invests with go-go securities firms in Florida and New Jersey. They pay us interest rates you wouldn't believe. So you can see I've got a foolproof thing going. The depositors are getting rich, businessmen are getting their loans, and the bank is earning a huge return on its money.

The reason I'm being made "Citizen of the Year" is I have just bought new uniforms for the high school football band and the people of Milkwood don't know how to say thank you. Hope you can make it.

Best regards,
George

May 10, 1985
Dear Freddy,

The dinner has been called off. I don't know if you saw it in the papers or on TV but my bank has been taken over by the state. What happened was this dippy doodle securities outfit in Florida walked away with our money.

We could have survived that, but the news of our losses got into the papers, and suddenly the depositors made a run on the bank. It was a small run until the TV stations showed the people with their beach chairs and paper bags waiting to take their dough out. Then all hell broke loose.

Alcohol's cost can be deadly

To the editor:

Let's tell Big Spring the truth about alcohol.

In July of 1984 the Chicago Tribune stated that alcohol misuse is blamed in 64 percent of U.S. murders.

I feel the cost is far greater than the supposed value.

His sin was saving money

By JACK ANDERSON and JOSEPH SPEAR
WASHINGTON — A government engineer has been fired because he persisted in a vain attempt to save the taxpayers billions of dollars.

The engineer, Floyd Stanek, was fired last February after he disclosed his determined efforts to get the Federal Highway Administration to use pre-stressed concrete on federally funded roads. The technique requires far less cement and steel than standard paving methods.

His dismissal notice, which had the sickening flavor of a Soviet political trial, accused him of undermining "the confidence of the public in the integrity of the government."

A report he wrote and sent to Congress "unfairly and injudiciously attacks the origins, legitimacy, integrity and worth of a program endorsed by the FHWA," Stanek's boss wrote.

It's hard to deny that Stanek was injudicious — perhaps even a bit rash. But if anyone was unfair, it was Stanek's superiors.

They hired a cement industry association to study the paving technique Stanek had advocated. It was hardly a surprise that the cement manufacturers recommended using substantially more cement than Stanek says is necessary.

Internal agency documents obtained by our associates Corky Johnson and Indy Badhwar show that Stanek's bosses were determined to muffle the troublesome whistle blower.

On Dec. 29, 1983, for example, Stanek received a memo from Richard E. Hay, director of highway operations research and development, threatening to charge him with absence without leave if he used government work time to criticize the agency. Among the forbidden activities were "self-initiated media contacts and other discussions and meetings not specifically authorized by FHWA wherein you present your personal views on FHWA activities, policy and procedures."

This was shortly after Stanek forthrightly informed his bosses that our office had contacted him.

In a bizarre interpretation of the situation, Hay accused Stanek of trying to intimidate others. "Attempts to intimidate, involve or implicate your fellow employees by sending them copies of your so-called documents of record... shall cease," the director ordered.

Last June, Stanek drew a two-week suspension for using government time and property to prepare the report he sent to members of Congress.

Last January, officials rifled Stanek's desk and confiscated his computer disks. "The disks were not, as you contend, stolen from the desk in your office," Stanek was informed by memo. "Rather, they were removed from the government desk in a legitimate and appropriate exercise of FHWA's management authority. The disks are in our possession."

Highway officials say the notes on the seized disks show that Stanek was intruding in matters that were none of his business. This was reflected in his dismissal notice, which said: "That the FHWA or some other government agency may be concerned with such subject areas, as you have written, does not mean such areas are official duties of Dr. Floyd Stanek. Your official duties are those assigned to you or approved for you by your supervisor."

Stanek was even accused of soliciting a gift or favor from a potential government contractor. Stanek readily acknowledged that, in a letter to the inventor of the paving technique, he asked for advice on raising money to "expose doings that are not in the best interest of the nation's highway technology."

Stanek added that he had already spent $1,000 of his own money on one report, in which he claimed he could save the government $300 million. He was not permitted to attend the Transportation Research Board's annual meeting, where he had planned to distribute the report.

DISGUSTING DISCO: What's a poor commissar to do? In a complaint that could have been voiced by the parents of an American teen-ager or the mayor of River City, Iowa, the official Soviet army publication offers this hair-raising glimpse of decadence:

"A discotheque should assist in raising the people's moral and cultural level. But in a garrison of officers' club... you were hit in the face by the slovenly apparel — washed-out jeans held up by braces displayed over shirts; jumpers and sweaters tied around the hips. The girls were not wearing evening dresses but T-shirts, gym shoes, jeans, trainers and flipflops....

"For almost the whole evening they played foreign songs. There was a projector displaying weak-looking, long-haired Beatles and foreign clothing fashions....

"Drums can drive people to a frenzy, depending on how they are played. Neuropathologists have confirmed that thunderous stereo sounds and irritations caused by lights can lead to psychiatric disorders. In girls it can lead to infertility. ...Almost all the girls and youths who go to this form of entertainment smoke. What's more, some even drink before they go."

Confucius say garbage more important

By KATHY CHANG

TAIPEI, Taiwan — Plans to build a statue of the sage Confucius that would be higher than the Statue of Liberty have been stymied by critics who say it would endanger air traffic and waste $2.5 million better spent on the city's garbage crisis.

The two Confucian societies that proposed it say the statue would attract tourists and would be a "cultural and spiritual fortress," a public reminder of the Confucian values that have profoundly influenced Oriental societies.

"Statues increase by numbers and sizes in Taiwan but a social atmosphere of corruption remains and the physical presence of any statue will not help the social atmosphere," says Huang Kuang-kuo, a professor at the National Taiwan University and a newspaper columnist.

"If we don't take care of more urgent problems, like garbage collection, the garbage will someday probably pile up higher than the proposed statue," he added in an interview.

Taipei's population of 2.5 million generates about 3,200 tons of garbage daily. It is now deposited in dumps, but there have been proposals to burn it.

Critics claim the statue would be a hazard to aircraft, spoil what little natural beauty is left in Taipei and amount to defecation of the philosopher, thus violating the very principles he espoused.

'Statues increase by numbers and sizes in Taiwan but a social atmosphere of corruption remains and the physical presence of any statue will not help the social atmosphere.'

Controversy over the statue has forced city officials to shelve the idea for further study.

Confucius, born in the 6th century B.C. while China was divided into warring feudal states, held only minor government posts. But the principles of just government and filial piety he taught were espoused by centuries of Chinese rulers.

The Chinese Music and Ritual Society and the Confucius-Mencius Society, civil groups devoted to studying and preserving Confucianism, first proposed the statue.

It won the support of some city government officials but it now has been shelved for further study because of the controversy.

As proposed, the 220-ton copper monument would rise 157 feet from a 98-foot-high pedestal atop Elephant Hill, which itself rises 852 feet in eastern Taipei. The Statue of Liberty in New York measures just 151 feet from its base to its torch.

Hsia Huan-hsing, secretary of the Chinese Music and Ritual Society, says the two societies' 4,000 members would help raise funds for the project. But, he says, the city government would have to donate the land and protect the statue from pollution and acid rain at an estimated annual cost of $500,000.

City Councilman Yu Ping-hsi considers the expenditures unnecessary and believes the statue would be dangerous for airplanes using Taipei's domestic airport, five miles away.

Proposals to install a powerful light in the statue's head to warn aircraft have been vetoed by the two societies, which say this would be irreverent to Confucius. But, they say, the statue's pedestal could be lighted with powerful searchlights so it would be visible at night.

The societies also oppose suggestions that a platform be built high up in the statue so visitors can view Taipei city.

"It is impermissible for people to climb inside or up the statue," said Hsia. "Visitors might stick a hand from the ear or eyes of the statue and this would be most disrespectful for Confucius."

La escuela ya se va acabando por muchos de los estudiantes. Los mas afortunados van a graduar en unos pocos dias.

Doce anos o mas de educacion. Pero para que?

Esa es la pregunta que se deben hacer los alumnos. Si no pueden contestarla, no les servio los 12 anos de escuela.

Uno de muchacho piensa que sabe mucho nomas porque sabe hablar ingles. Fijese cuando tiene que corregir a sus padres cuando ellos no pronuncian una palabra bien en ingles.

Los padres nomas miran a sus hijos y no les dicen nada. Yo me acuerdo.

Pero con tiempo me ha fijado que mis padres pensaban de cosas mas importantes. Cosas como, "Donde vamos conseguir dinero para que vaya mi hijito al colegio para que pueda mejorar su vida? y tambien "Como puedo ayudar a mi hijo o hija ya que tiene que trabajar. Haber donde se le puede conseguir un trabajo donde no tiene que trabajar como un burro como yo?"

Al que va a graduar de la escuela secundaria nomas le puedo decir que se atare los pantalones porque aqui en adelante vamos haber que tanto hombre es.

Su colacion de grados es mas que recibir su diploma.

Si es un tiempo de andar con todos sus amigos que ha conocido por tantos anos. Pero tambien sera la ultima vez que va a verlos todos juntos.

Ese dia, le van a decir que ya no tiene que ir mas a la escuela. Uno ya puede hacer lo que quiere; ya no lo van a mandar.

Ese dia, por la primer vez ya no tiene que levantarse para ir a la escuela. Va a extranarlo. Porque por doce anos hizo la misma cosa y ahora tiene que hacer algo diferente.

Durante los discursos por los varios instructores en la colacion de grados, le van a decir que el futuro de los estados unidos depende en Ud.

Pero no le dicen que tiene que hacer Ud. para lograrlo.

Pero Ud. ya tiene 12 anos de escuela y sabe bastante. Ud. ya sabe que hacer para tener exito. Verdad?

Dear Abby

Teens learn dangers of drinking, driving

DEAR ABBY: The response to the column you wrote last year to promote Students Against Driving Drunk was effective beyond our wildest dreams.

Since SADD became a national program, hundreds of thousands of Contracts for Life have been signed. The death rate has dropped over 2,000 in the age bracket 16-21 in drinking and driving accidents. It is the only age bracket that has shown a decrease in deaths due to drinking and driving.

You would be doing a great public service if you will once again alert the public that the Contract for Life for high school students and the new Contract for Life for college students is now available.

The deadliest time of the year is upon us, during prom time and senior weeks across the country.

Abby, will you help us to save young lives by repeating the enclosed item from your column?

ROBERT ANASTAS,
EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

DEAR MR. ANASTAS: With pleasure:

DEAR READERS: A life-saving effort has just come to my attention that I think deserves publicizing.

It's called the "Contract for Life" — an agreement signed by parents and teen-agers in an effort to reduce the number of deaths involving drunk drivers.

SADD (Students Against Driving Drunk) was launched two years ago in Marlboro, Mass., by Robert Anastas, a teacher from Wayland High School in Wayland, Mass., after two of his students were killed in a car crash.

The part of the contract to be signed by the teen-agers states:

"I agree to call you for advice and/or transportation at any hour, from any place, if I am ever in a situation where I have had too much to drink, or a friend or date who is driving me has had too much to drink."

The part signed by the parents states:

"I agree to come and get you at any hour, any place, no questions asked and no argument at that time, or I will pay for a taxi to bring you home safely. I expect we would discuss this issue at a later time."

"I agree to seek safe, sober transportation home if I am ever in a situation where I have had too much to drink, or a friend who is driving me has had too much to drink."

Although the SADD program has already reached a million teen-

Dr. Donohue

Staph germs tough critters

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Can you enlighten me on staph infection? And why do people get it in hospitals? I am in the dark. — M.P. I invite you in out of the dark.

People get staph infections in and out of hospitals, for the germ is found anywhere you want to look. Boils are staph (staphylococci bacteria) infections. Our outer skin is always being threatened by staph germs, but usually they get washed off, or in any event remain a threat for only a brief time. But if skin is broken the germ can get in under it and multiply, causing serious infection.

Hospital staph infections are more serious because the bacteria found there tend to be more potent. That's because a lot of people in hospitals are taking, or have been taking, antibiotics, which are normally death to staph germs. But the bacteria that have survived the antibiotics wars come away stronger and more infectious. They have become really tough critters.

Whether inside or outside the hospital environment, fastidious cleanliness is no guarantee against staph infection, so widespread is the germ. Another factor that makes staph such a threat to hospital patients is that, being sick, their bodies are already at lowered levels of resistance.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Bill creates research institute

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — A new Geo-technology Research Institute, designed to inject high-tech solutions into future oil and gas development, was approved Wednesday by the governor.

The institute will be part of the Houston Area Research Center located in the Woodlands near Houston. Chairman of the board for the Houston center is George Mitchell of Mitchell Energy.

John Onoda of Mitchell Energy explained that the new institute will view the oil and gas industry "from the high-tech aspect. The industry has to keep up the pace", in technology, Onoda explained.

"We will get the best talent available...for contract and grant research" in the oil and gas industry. Studies will allow the industry to stay up "with scientific advances in technology."

The Houston Area Research Center includes the Texas Accelerator Center which is working under a multi-million dollar grant to study the atom. West Texas is one of several sites being considered for the accelerator research center. Although the centers both fall under the Houston Area Research Center umbrella, their operations are separate, Onoda said.

Gov. Mark White signed a bill that creates the Geo-technology Research Institute. The legislation was sponsored by a number of legislators, including Rep. Larry Don Shaw, D-Big Spring.

White said the effort will help Texas maintain "its position as a world leader in the energy industry and for the future development of the oil and gas industry."

The institute, he said, will operate as a brain trust to create new technology to find oil and gas in the future and to help Texas recover energy reserves not yet tapped.

Coahoma hires 8 teachers

COAHOMA — School trustees Monday night approved the hiring of eight teachers for the upcoming year.

The hirings included Mark Valco, high school English and journalism; Robert Wadell, English and history; Ted Harris, English and history; Shelia Abusaab, high school English department head; Cindy Mints, speech therapist for all grade levels; Lynn Chalker, elementary teacher; Ricky Stovall, elementary teacher (his position was terminated a few months ago and he was rehired and reassigned); and Coahoma native Keith Stone, coaching and math teacher.

The board approved photography contracts and a transfer list for 1985.

The trustees also voted for the local option property tax exemption for the 1985 tax year. The rate was set at 30 percent, which is the maximum allowed by law.

Three teachers were honored at a retirement banquet May 16. The teachers were Doris Tiller, chairman of the English Department who served for 28 years at Coahoma and 30 years total; Tye Renfro, had 27 years service at the elementary level; and Alleen Bohannon, 22 years at the elementary level.

New postmaster named for Ackerly

ACKERLY — John B. Turman, 43, of Kerrville has been appointed the new postmaster at Ackerly. His duties began May 11, according to a press release from the U.S. Postal Service.

Turman has served as Postmaster in Saragosa for the past year and a half. Turman is married to the former Patsy Booher of Carrizozo, N.M. They have four children.

Another Big Springer is making a name for himself in college baseball.

Wayne Shipman, who played on the the Steers district winning baseball team in 1981, is making headlines pitching for Winthrop College in Rock Hill, South Carolina.

The senior was named District VI Pitcher of the Year, selected to the District VI All-Star team and was named Regional and Big South Tournament Pitcher of the Year. He was also nominated for the NAIA All-American Team.

Shipman has a 9-2 record and his team is ranked second in the nation with a 49-9 slate.

Ex-Big Spring track stars Rochelle Rutledge and and Carla Jackson, and the Abilene Christian University teammates are competing in the NCAA Division II Track and Field Championships at Cal-State in Los Angeles which is going on this week.

Jackson, a junior, heads the list of ACU qualifiers in the long jump with a leap of 19-6. Rutledge, a sophomore will compete on ACU's sprint relay team which has clocked a 45.51 this season.

Texas Tech University student and ex-Big Springer Kelly Rogers recently won the gold medal in the Junior Men's Pacific International Trapshooting Championships in Renton, Washington.

Celtics squeak by, Lakers win in a rout

Another Boston-LA showdown

BOSTON (AP) — Dennis Johnson scored 23 points, including four in the last two minutes, and Larry Bird stole the ball from Andrew Toney with three seconds left to salvage defending champion Boston's 102-100 victory over Philadelphia Wednesday night and lead the Celtics into the finals of the NBA playoffs.

By winning the fifth game of the best-of-seven Eastern Conference final and eliminating the 76ers, the Celtics kept alive their hopes of becoming the first team to repeat as National Basketball Association champions since 1969.

With the score tied 93-93, Bird started a 7-2 Boston run with a jumper from the foul line that gave the Celtics the lead for good with 4:13 remaining. Kevin McHale hit two free throws to build the lead to 97-93.

A layup by Philadelphia's Bobby Jones with 3:13 to go trimmed it to 97-95, but one free throw by McHale and two more by Johnson seemed to put Boston in control at 100-95 with 1:41 to play.

But just eight seconds later, Charles Barkley hit his third three-point field goal of the game as Philadelphia closed the lead back down to 100-98.

Johnson then scored from the top of the key, but Julius Erving countered with a driving basket to cut Boston's lead to two with 56 seconds left.

The 76ers had one last chance to tie the game after Bird missed a shot in the lane with 12 seconds to go. They got the rebound and worked the ball up to Toney in the corner, but Bird stole it and dribbled safely away.

Lakers 153
Nuggets 109

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Earvin "Magic" Johnson handed out 19 assists to become the all-time playoff leader Wednesday night as the Los Angeles Lakers raced to a 153-109 victory over the Denver Nuggets and into the National Basketball Association Championship Series against the Boston Celtics.

Los Angeles whipped the injury-riddled Nuggets four games to one in the best-of-seven Western Conference finals.

That set the stage for a championship renewal of pro basketball's most storied rivalry and a rematch of the 1984 finals won by Boston in seven games.

The Celtics, who'll host the championships' opening game Monday afternoon, won the Eastern Conference title earlier Wednesday night with a 102-100 triumph over the Philadelphia 76ers in the fifth game of that series.

Johnson, in just his sixth NBA season, became the league's all-time career leader in playoff assists when he dished out his seventh of the game in the second quarter. That gave him 971, better-

MAGIC JOHNSON receives an early high-five from teammate JAMES WORTHY (42) as BYRON SCOTT joins in the celebration as the Lakers whipped Denver 153-109.

ing the mark of 970 held by Jerry West, a former Laker guard who's now the team's general manager. Johnson also scored 17 points and James Worthy had 25 and Byron Scott 21 for the Lakers, who took control of the contest in the second quarter.

Four Hawks named to All-Region team

Howard head baseball coach Bill Griffin announced the Region V All-Region team today. Four Hawks, pitcher Chuck Ashcraft, second baseman Jimmy Garcia, first baseman Eddie Citronnelli and center fielder Steve Carrasco, were elected to the mythical all-star squad on a composite ballot by the five Region V coaches.

The hard hitting Garcia is also a repeater from last year's All-Region team. Garcia was voted the team MVP this year and at one point in the season was the NJCAA's leading hitter. Garcia, who hails from San Antonio, had a team high .468 batting average and 54 RBI's. The Hawk second baseman is currently in 7th place in the nation in hitting. Citronnelli, a Brooklyn, New York native who transferred from Ranger JC, was the man the Hawks counted on for power hitting all year. He belted a team high 6 home runs while driving in 45 runs and hitting .321 for the year. The versatile right hander played catcher and first base for the Hawks.

Carrasco, another one of Howard's 14 San Antonio natives, was the defensive anchor for the Hawks in 1985 providing speed and a powerful arm from his outfield position. The right hander hit an impressive .320 on the year, and drove in 28 runs. The Hawks finished at 31-14 for the 1985 season.

STEVE CARRASCO ... defensive ace

CHUCK ASHCRAFT ... 1.34 ERA

JIMMY GARCIA468 average

EDDIE CITRONNELLI ... 6 home runs

Ashcraft and Garcia were unanimous first team choices. Citronnelli was also named to the first team, while Carrasco was tabbed for the Honorable Mention squad. All of the players elected were sophomores.

Ashcraft, a repeater off last year's All-Region team, was among the NJCAA leaders in strikeouts and lowest ERA this year. The right handed fastballer from Fort Worth posted a team best 10-1 record for the Hawks in 1985. His 1.34 ERA currently ranks first in the nation and his 101 strikeouts in 104 innings pitched should place him among the top five in the nation in that category.

McHale nets NBA's Sixth Man Award

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Basketball Association's Sixth Man Award has special significance for Kevin McHale.

"Being on the Celtics, it means more because this is the team that started it," McHale said Wednesday in Boston after learning that he had won the award for the second straight season. "I think it's great that a role that Red Auerbach started years ago is recognized by the league."

Despite his reserve-role status most of the year, McHale was the Celtics' second-leading scorer with a 19.8-point average and third-leading rebounder with 6.1 per game. He also finished the season seventh in the league in field-goal percentage at .570.

At one point in the season, McHale was thrust into a starting role because of an injury to Cedric Maxwell. The 6-foot-10 McHale responded well, averaging 24.5 points and 10.6 rebounds in 26 games. In one of those games, he scored 56 points, which stood briefly as a Boston record.

Astros rally for win; Rangers need relief

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Alan Ashby, who tied the game with a ninth-inning sacrifice fly, drilled a two-run double in the 10th to lead the Houston Astros to a 5-3 victory Wednesday night over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

With the score tied 3-3, pinch-hitter Enos Cabell singled with one out in the 10th and was batted to second by Al Holland before Phil Garner drew an intentional walk. Ashby followed with a line drive off the top of the left field wall.

Bill Dawley, 1-2, worked two scoreless innings for the victory. Dave Smith finished up for his sixth save.

Holland, 1-2, lost after surrendering only the second and third runs he has allowed in 22 1-3 innings since being acquired by the Pirates from Philadelphia last month.

Jose DeLeon, a loser in 15 of his previous 16 decisions, had checked the Astros on three hits over seven innings until pinch-hitter Kevin Bass belted a two-run homer following Craig Reynolds' single in the eighth.

Jerry Mumphy led off the Astro ninth with a double, took third on Phil Garner's groundout and scored on Ashby's fly.

The Pirates, held without an extra-base hit for five consecutive games, took a 1-0 lead in the second inning when Johnny Ray homered off the left-field foul screen. It was the 18th homer of switch-hitting Ray's five-season career, but his first as a right-handed batter.

Pittsburgh made it 2-0 in the fourth when Sixto Lezcano singled with one out and scored on Marvell Wynne's triple into the right-center field gap.

In the seventh, Wynne hit a line shot down the left field line that eluded Jose Cruz.

Royals 6
Rangers 3

ARLINGTON (AP) — The situation, a one-run lead with two opposing runners on base in the eighth inning, called for a top notch relief pitcher — someone like Dan Quisenberry, who was down in the bullpen.

But there was no Quisenberry or any facsimile in the Texas bullpen, so the Rangers called for Dave Stewart, who promptly gave up Jorge Orta's three-run homer that carried the Kansas City Royals to a 6-3 victory Wednesday night.

Having overcome the Rangers' 3-2 lead, the Royals called in Quisenberry, who pitched the last two innings to save the game for starter Bret Saberhagen, 4-3. Saberhagen had given up a game-tying home run and balked another run across in the bottom of the seventh to give the Rangers the lead.

Lonnie Smith led off the Royals' eighth with a single after Texas starter Dickie Noles, 2-5, had retired 11 consecutive batters before Noles walked George Brett.

Stewart relieved and Orta, the first batter he faced, homered to give the Royals a 5-3 lead. They made it 6-3 later in the inning when Darryl Motley reached second on two throwing errors, stole third and scored on Sundberg's single.

Pete O'Brien of the Rangers tied the game 2-2 with his fifth home run of the season in the seventh inning and Glenn Brummer and Wayne Tolleson followed with singles. Alan Bannister ran for Brummer, went to third when Od-die McDowell flied out and scored on Saberhagen's balk.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, MAY 24, 1985

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Until noon you will be able to make some plan work to your advantage where your home or property are concerned. An obstacle arises in the path of some creative idea you wish to express.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) In the morning be sure to keep promises you have made to kin, and later you can settle an account before working on your talents.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Handle important correspondence before solving some problem with an associate. The evening is harmonious at home.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Improve your financial status early and then handle some job efficiently and profitably. Plan the future wisely.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Get your appearance improved in the morning, and then soothe your mate's wounded pride. Set up appointments.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Plan a course through which you can gain your secret desires. Be pleasant with a close tie and later you can be with fine friends.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You can take some wise steps in the morning toward gaining personal aims, and then you can start handling correspondence.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Some work with the public can have good results in the morning, then be sure to handle that financial affair wisely.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get out to some interesting affair in the morning, and later handle a personal problem before meeting with good friends.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Be practical in the morning, and later get rid of some problem that has been vexing you for some time.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Finish those arrangements with a partner and then soothe a good friend in trouble before you handle business affairs.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Work quietly and efficiently and all goes well in the morning, before you contact bigwigs you know.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Get future amusements well arranged in the morning, though a problematical affair from afar can irk you later.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she can accomplish a good deal where studying and sports are concerned in early youth, but upon reaching maturity will want to handle small projects and turn them into something very worthwhile. Be sure to encourage when some fine work is done and raise the incentive to do even better.

Leadership Activity Days

September

The one-day session which began Leadership Big Spring focused on history and leadership. Members gathered at 8:00 a.m. at the Chamber of Commerce and were briefed of the history of the city. After lunch members toured the Potton House and Heritage Museum.

October

General introduction to media impact was October's topic. Presentations were made by Lea Whitehead, Community Relations Director for the Herald, David Wrinkle, owner of KBST and Randy Rogers, manager of Big Spring Cable TV. The day concluded with Leadership skills development program.

November

City government and city services were topics for the one-day session in November. Members heard presentations from City Manager, Don Davis, and Tom Ferguson on finance.

Public works and parks were discussed by Tom Decell, director of public works. The group traveled to the central fire station to hear Carl Dorton, fire chief, from there for a tour conducted by Police Chief Rick Turner. To conclude the day, the members toured the airpark with Hal Boyd, airpark manager as tour guide.

December

County government was the December topic. Members heard presentations from the county auditor, county engineer, county treasurer, the head of county welfare, the Texas Rangers, the county judge, Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission and county attorney. Before returning to the Chamber offices the group took a tour of the county jail.

January

A varied agenda greeted Leadership Big Spring for January's day long session. First up presentations dealt with transportation facilities: Bus was discussed by Jim Owens; motor freight, Don Crobett; railroad, Tom Seahouse; and travel agency, Denise Burchell. Utilities were also a topic for the members.

Utilities presentations were made by Hopper Sanders on electric service, Dearl Pittman on natural gas, Darlene Gifford on telephone and Joe McMinniss on cable television services. The panel discussion included a presentation by Tom Decell, City Park and Recreation, Sam Woodward on the Symphony, sporting events by Bill Griffin followed with a discussion on H.C.C. Drama dept.

Afternoon activities included a tour of the City Auditorium followed with a tour of Edward D. Jones and Co. Finance was the topic presented by Bruce Hoganmiller; savings and loan; J. D. Nelson; banking Jim Weaver; credit unions, Dan Wilkins; Stocks and bonds.

February

Medical and health-related facilities were February's topic. Tours and presentations were made at the Big Spring State Hospital, Veterans Administration Hospital, Malone-Hogan Hospital, Hall Bennett Hospital and other health-related facilities.

March

Education was March's area of interest. The agenda for the day included discussion of Howard College by Dr. Bob Riley, Big Spring public schools by Mr. Harold Bentley, the Southwest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf by Mr. Sam Hill and St. Mary's Episcopal School by Father Bonington and Mrs. Bebe McCasland.

April

April's agenda consisted of industrial tours, starting with Western Container, Fiberflex, Fraser Industries, Co-Ex Pipe and lunch at Permian Research. The day concluded with a visit to CRMWD, Cosden Oil and Chemical, TESCO and Energas.

May

The last session's activities were devoted to specialty areas, including United Way, Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission, Salvation Army, Canterbury Retirement Community, Big Spring Federal Prison Camp, and United States Department of Agriculture.

Blaze guts woman's car

A 1977 Ford Granada was destroyed by fire Wednesday evening on West Interstate 20 about 700 yards west of FM 700, according to the fire department reports.

The car, owned by Freida Richter of Dublin, Texas, was "totally involved in flames from the dash back," when firemen arrived "at 8:23 p.m., the report stated.

Firemen parked their truck on the north service road and used the pumper's water supply to battle the flames with 100 gallons of water.

They returned to the station at 9:30 p.m.

According to firemen, the car was a "total loss from the windshield back." The engine, however, did not suffer any apparent damage, the report stated.

The fire "probably was caused by brake overheating," the report stated.

Also destroyed in the fire were some clothes in the trunk. Damage was estimated at $1,800, the report stated.

HC schedules kids' day camp

Howard College will be sponsoring "Kosmic Kamp with the Howard Hawks," a day camp for children first grade through eighth to begin June 3.

The camp will be offered in two week sessions and will meet Monday through Thursday from 7:45 a.m. to 5 p.m. The cost will be $32 per week.

All campers must register and the camp must have a minimum of 25 children to begin. Campers will be involved in organized play, swimming, skating, and tennis. Each child will need to bring a sack lunch.

More information can be obtained by calling the Howard College Continuing Education office at (915) 267-6311 and ask for extension 344 or 315.
