How's that?

C.L.E.A.N.

Q. Are there any plans to clean up the downtown area before the Heart of the City celebration Saturday?

A. Yes. Cleanup crews will assemble downtown on Thursday and Friday after about 4 p.m. and will clean up until 8 or 9 p.m., according to the Chamber of Commerce. The employees of the C.L.E.A.N. program will coordinate the effort. Contact Dave Mills or Pat Hardy for more information on the cleanup or the celebration.

Angry robber

CATANIA, Sicily (AP) — "That's all? You keep it!" shouted a disgusted robber when a 45-year-old businessman handed over 13,000 lire from his wallet.

Police said two armed youths grabbed Orazio Gravagna, a salesman for a milk products company, on Monday and demanded that he hand over all his money.

When they saw the 13,000 lire, Gravagna told police, they looked at him in disgust, shouted obscenities and fled.

Legislature in special session

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — Texas legislators who had thought they would be heading for home on Tuesday found themselves faced with a special session on expanded medical care for the poor.

They indicated they didn't want to stay around very long. Both houses quickly got down to business, with the Senate passing out a bill within an hour.

Gov. Mark White announced the special session only 40 minutes after the regular 1985 session ended at midnight with that topic under discussion by the Texas House of Representatives.

The House and Senate met in separate sessions at 10 a.m. and indicated an attempt to reach a speedy accord.

Senators met as a committee-of-the-whole and then as the full Senate and passed out a bill. House members meet briefly to send a bill to committee and then quit until 10 a.m. Wednesday.

Sen. John Montford, D-Lubbock, who represents Howard County, said he strongly supports the medical care legislation.

"I think it's a good program because it looks not only at results but also at causes," he said. "From a humanitarian side, it's a very necessary program."

Prenatal care, for example, will save "a lot of agony and grief in terms of medical care for newborns born with problems," he added.

White limited the special session to "the limited purpose and the only purpose of dealing with indigent health care."

Estimates of how long the special session will run vary from an optimistic two days to a more pessimistic one week.

A Texas scorcher

High expected to hit 106 degrees

Scorching temperatures and cloudless skies may spell trouble for folks who spend too much time outdoors today and Wednesday, according to the National Weather Service.

Temperatures this afternoon should reach 106 degrees, a near record high for this time of year. Highs on Monday reached 101 degrees, about three degrees short of the 104 degree record set in 1927.

The average high for this time of year is 89 degrees, according to the U.S. Big Spring Field Station.

The weather service today was issuing warnings to "stay out of the heat during the hottest part of the day." The weather service also warned elderly people to stay inside during the hottest part of the day to avoid heatstroke, and sunbathers were advised to stay out of the sun to avoid a severe burn.

Big Spring was one of the hottest spots in the state Monday and should be one of the hottest again today and Wednesday, according to weather service reports. Other cities in the state with temperatures 100 degrees or above included Abilene, Midland-Odessa, San Angelo and Wink.

The near-record highs plaguing this area were almost 20 degrees hotter than the temperatures recorded in other parts of the state. South Texas was recording temperatures only in the upper 80s Monday while cities to the north of Big Spring were recording highs in the lower 90s.

Tonight, look for temperatures locally to drop to the low 70s or upper 60s. Winds will be southerly, 5 to 10 miles per hour.

On Wednesday, the forecast is calling for a high of 104 degrees and southerly winds, 10 to 15 miles per hour.

A participant in Monday's splash day at the Comanche Trail Park pool douses himself with water before diving into the pool. The event was sponsored by radio station KBST.

A swimmer takes a dramatic dive off the board at Comanche Trail Park pool Monday during splash day. The pool is open Tuesday through Sunday from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Keeping cool and getting a great tan were two of the things on the mind of this participant at Monday's splash day.

County stalled on detention center site

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

Howard County Commissioners today retained Big Spring architects John Gary and Donald Bailey to design a new county juvenile detention center, but delayed selecting a site for the facility.

The juvenile detention center will house juveniles involved in criminal offenses in the 118th Judicial District, which includes Howard, Martin and Glasscock counties.

During the meeting this morning, commissioners also discussed whether Martin and Glasscock counties will help finance construction costs. Commissioner Bill Crocker said the court should find out whether Howard County was obligated to include the other counties in "our original planning."

Under a proposal by the 118th District Juvenile Board, Glasscock County would pay for 3 percent and Martin County would pay for 15 percent of the total building costs. Howard County would pay the remainder.

Chief Juvenile Probation Officer Margy Thompson told commissioners she understood that the other counties "can be required by the board" to comply with the board's decisions.

"A lawsuit can be filed. In the past, it has been held that commissioners courts must abide by what juvenile boards want," Thompson said.

Commissioners today did not take any action to select a site for the juvenile detention center, although they did discuss a recommendation by Commissioner Louis Brown to build the center on county property located on N. San Antonio Street between N.W. Ninth and N.W. 10th streets. "We have services in that part of town that will provide landscaping for the property. Another advantage to the area is that it contains paved roads," Brown said.

After suggesting that the court talk to the adjoining property owner of the site, Commissioner David Barr then telephoned him during the meeting.

After speaking with the property owner, J.C. Broughton, Barr told commissioners that Broughton "would sell or buy."

Americans favor harsh laws for drunk drivers

Poll shows majority oppose penalties against bartenders for accidents

NEW YORK (AP) — Most Americans support harsh penalties for drunken drivers but do not believe bartenders and social hosts should be responsible for alcohol-related accidents, a Media General-Associated Press poll says.

The poll also found that 15 percent of the respondents have had a family member injured or killed by a drunken driver, and almost half of those who drink admit driving after drinking too much.

Bartenders can be sued for damages by victims of drunken driving accidents in at least 35 states, and the New Jersey Supreme Court last year ruled that social hosts may be held liable for drunken driving accidents caused by their intoxicated guests.

An estimated 23,500 people were killed in drunken driving accidents last year, according to U.S. Department of Transportation. Few issues have galvanized the public as strongly in recent years, and most states have either toughened their drunken driving laws or are considering doing so.

In the Media General-AP poll, 72 percent of the 1,402 respondents said bartenders should not be legally responsible for drunken driving accidents caused by their customers. Sixty-five percent disagreed with the New Jersey ruling on liability for social hosts.

But the respondents came down hard on the drunken drivers themselves. If someone is convicted of drunken driving once, they should be required to attend an alcohol rehabilitation program, according to nearly three-fourths of the respondents in the nationwide telephone poll.

Twenty-three percent said a mandatory jail sentence should be imposed on the first conviction, while 39 percent said a second conviction should carry a mandatory sentence. Nine percent said a drunken driver should be convicted three times before going to jail.

Twenty-six percent said sentencing should be left to the discretion of the judge, and 3 percent were unsure.

More than six in 10 of the respondents said they drank alcoholic beverages. Among the drinkers, 49 percent admitted drinking after they'd had too much to drink.

Younger people were more likely to drink and drive than older people.

A man and his tires

Dallas entrepreneur's Goodyears run up good riches

DALLAS (AP) — The Firestones, Goodyears, Michelins, Uniroyals and Goodriches lie buried beneath the sandy loam, their graves unmarked by tombstones or epitaphs.

The graveyard is congested with them. Some went to their burial plots with ruptured steel belts. Some got slashed; others failed to make the rubber meet the road.

Some just couldn't hold their air any longer.

Tires. Millions of them. They arrive by truckload as factory cast-aways, their battered bodies dumped onto growing volcanic mounds of rubber that smell faintly of creosote.

And every day the great tire baron of the Southwest rides herd over his 100-acre dump, where his brood is offered a brief respite before being shipped to distant lands to assume some of the oddest duties ever imagined.

To Frank Prasifka, rubber is the quintessential black gold.

During the past six years, Prasifka has amassed enough old, abandoned tires in a southeastern Dallas County gravel pit to outfit just about every car in the Dallas area. So far, he has collected almost 4 million tires. It may sound like a strange profession, but rubber has made Prasifka independently wealthy.

Canadian and German shipping companies, interested in melting the tires to reclaim their oil, have offered to buy the graveyard for "substantial sums." And although Prasifka could retire if he accepted the offers, the 55-year-old Dallas native isn't selling.

"I didn't sell because I don't believe anybody could carry on my tradition of disposing of tires," said Prasifka, who operated three smaller such graveyards since 1955 before digging the pit near Hutchins in 1979.

"My sons might sell out when I'm dead and gone, but until then, it stays. It was a different challenge every day. People call me from all over the world wanting to use the tires for all kinds of things."

More than 300 tons of used tires are dumped in the graveyard every week, adding to the bulky mountains of rubber that fill the pit. Crews battle the mounds daily with bulldozers, burying thousands of the poorer quality tires, which will be unearthed later for reincarnation.

Frank Prasifka stands among the stacks of used tires in his southeastern Dallas County workplace. Tires from area companies eventually to be recycled.

Better quality tires, however, are treated with more respect.

Once unloaded, they are separated from the 2,000-pound truck tires that rest along the yard's northern perimeter. Some of the tires are so large the treads are as wide as a man's arm, and a child easily could stand inside them.

And as long as the internal combustion engine survives, the graveyard — the only one in the county and, Prasifka claims, one of the largest in the Southwest — is destined to be a moneymaker.

Five Dallas-Fort Worth tire companies pay Prasifka as much as $300 for every 40-foot trailer of used tires he hauls from their warehouses. To top it off, they even go through the trouble of loading the trailers.

But the real profit comes from dismembering the tires and selling the parts. A used 21-inch truck tire, for example, can bring anywhere from $6 to $30 or more.

When such tires arrive, crews separate the good inner tubes from the bad. The good tubes are reconditioned and sold for $1,000 a ton for rafting and swimming purposes; the bad tubes are bundled and sold to rubber companies for about $120 a ton. If the tubes are bad, the stems are cut out, melted and the brass sold to wrecking yards.

Crews then extricate the tires' inner flaps — a wide slab of rubber stripped along the inner surface to separate the tube from the tie. If the inner flaps are good, they are resold to tire companies for about $10 apiece. The bad ones are sold for $6 apiece to oil companies, which use them to protect plastic pipe stacked in pipe yards.

Once the tubes and flaps are taken out, if the tire itself is good, Prasifka regrooves the tread surface and sells it for $50 to $80 to "the poor people who can't afford the new ones."

Bad tires are recapped and sold for $25, or shipped to companies that pay about $16 a ton for the rubber.

The bad tires, more than half of which are buried for later use, are even pressed into service for foreign duty.

In past years, Prasifka has shipped thousands of tires to the Gulf Coast and to Saudi Arabia, where they are lashed to shrimp trawlers and oil rigs as bumpers. Others are sent to Detroit, where a company punches holes in the sidewalls and uses the rubber plugs to separate metal joints in vehicles' suspensions.

Smooth-soled aircraft tires are reconditioned and sold for $350 apiece to plantations in Mississippi, where they are used on sugarcane buggies and road graders. All totaled, he ships out about 25 tons of tires a week.

Local mall hit by bomb scare

Memorial Day sales at stores in the Big Spring Mall were delayed two hours Monday while police and firemen searched the building for explosives.

According to a fire department report, firemen and police began searching the building, owned by Beamalea Ltd., about 9:50 a.m. However, no sign of a bomb or other explosives were found.

The Peanut Shack, a small candy store in the mall, received a phone call at 9:45 a.m. warning that a bomb would explode that morning, according to a store employee and Police Lt. Jerry Edwards.

The Peanut Shack employee then notified police of the phone threat, Edwards said. Firemen and policemen then evacuated the mall at the mall manager's request, Edwards said. The mall was filled mainly with employees preparing to open their stores and bargain-hunters waiting for the stores to open.

According to Edwards, the police and firemen searched both the main mall area and the individual stores.

"It didn't go up and the stores opened," Edwards said. "That's about all there was to tell."

If a bomb had been found, explosive detonation experts at Fort Hood would have been called in to handle the device.

Deaths

Ella Smith

Mrs. H.W. (Ella) Smith, 81, died Tuesday morning in a local hospital following a sudden illness. Funeral services will be at 4 p.m. Wednesday at the First Christian Church with Rev. Victor Sedinger, pastor, and Rev. Robert Bonnington, pastor at St. Mary's Episcopal Church, officiating. Burial will be at Trinity Memorial Park.

Mrs. Smith was born March 1, 1904, in Austin County. She married H.W. Smith March 22, 1930, in Love County, Okla. He died April 6, 1985. She was a member of the First Christian Church, where she had served as secretary for the Sunday School for about 50 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith came to Big Spring in the middle of 1935. She had worked for Cosden Oil and Chemical Co. and had helped her husband establish the H.W. Smith Transport Co.

She had been very active in volunteer work in the community for many years. She was a lifetime PTA member and had been active in Girl Scouting. She had worked to help establish the YMCA here, and she and her husband were members for many years.

She had been a volunteer at the Big Spring State Hospital for many years. In addition, she was the first woman to serve on a grand jury in Big Spring.

Survivors include two daughters, Jo Ann Howell of Big Spring and Nancy Lee Puckette of Colorado Springs, Colo.; and two sisters, Lola Rinn of Fort Worth and Almeida Henkhaus of Woodsboro. She is also survived by six grandchildren and one great-granddaughter.

A son, Clem Dahse, died in 1959. The family suggests memorials to the First Christian Church Memorial Fund or a favorite charity.

Myra Anderson

Myra V. Anderson, 83, of Corpus Christi, formerly of Big Spring, died Saturday evening in Corpus Christi following a lengthy illness.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Tuesday at Nalley-Pickle and Welch Rosewood Chapel with Dr. Claude N. Craven, pastor of Trinity Baptist Church, officiating.

Burial will be at Trinity Memorial Park.

Mrs. Anderson was born Aug. 25, 1901, in Myra, La. She married William Ivy Anderson May 5, 1923, in Bosier City, La. He died Nov. 23, 1968.

She was a member of Trinity Baptist Church. She moved to Big Spring in 1937 from Rodessa, La. She had taught school for a number of years before retiring. She moved to Midland in 1983 to live with her daughter and had recently moved to Corpus Christi.

She is survived by two sons, San Anderson of Big Spring and William Anderson of Eldorado; one daughter, Edna Smith of Midland; one brother, Osia Whisenant of Minden, La.; and one sister, Maud Besley of Tulsa, Okla.

She also is survived by five grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be Derek Smith, Zane Anderson, Shawn Anderson, Ken Cobb, Joe Knight and Darrell Jordan.

W.B. Locke

W.B. Locke, 60, died Monday afternoon at a local hospital following a sudden illness.

Graveside services will be Thursday at 2 p.m. at Mount Olive Memorial Park with Rev. Larry Ashlock, pastor of Midway Baptist Church, officiating.

Military graveside rites will be conducted by Goodfellow Air Force Base.

Locke was born Sept. 21, 1924, in Flower Grove. He moved to Midland from South Texas 35 years ago. He is a member of the Baptist Church.

He served in the U.S. Army during World War II from 1944 to 1946. He is survived by his mother, Eura Locke of Midland; three brothers, Bobby Locke, Elton Locke and M.A. Locke, all of Midland; and one sister, Peggy Milton of Midland.

Nalley-Pickle & Welch Funeral Home and Rosewood Chapel

W. B. Locke, 60, died Monday. Graveside services are tentatively set for Thursday at 2:00 P.M. at Mt. Olive Memorial Park.

Mrs. H. W. (Ella) Smith, 81, died Tuesday. Services will be Wednesday at 4:00 P.M. at the First Christian Church with interment at Trinity Memorial Park.

Evelyn O. Paul, 55, died Saturday. Prayer services will be Tuesday at 7:00 P.M. at Nalley-Pickle & Welch Rosewood Chapel. Funeral services will be Wednesday at 12:00 Noon at Nalley-Pickle & Welch Rosewood Chapel. Interment will be at Mt. Olive Memorial Park.

Firemen douse two blazes

A grease fire caused $500 damage Monday to a cabinet and vent-a-hood at 2603 Ann, according to a fire department report.

Firemen arrived at the house, owned by Jerry Hall, at 11:38 a.m. Monday, to find the fire out on arrival. After investigating, they determined the fire started in grease in a skillet on the stove.

Flames burned the vent-a-hood and the left side of the cabinet also was burnt slightly, the report stated. Firemen returned to the station at 11:58 a.m.

Firefighters also doused a trash fire Monday night in a ravine north of the Interstate 20 service road and west of the I-20 Trailer

Park, reports show.

The fire was reported at 9:16 p.m., and firemen arrived at 9:25 p.m. The three firemen used 500 gallons of water to extinguish the flames in the ravine, where people have started a dump, the report stated.

Firemen returned to the station at 9:53 p.m., according to the report.

Firemen also responded to a call for the "Jaws of Life" at 2:26 p.m. Sunday at Highway 87 and Ratliff road. However, the victims had been freed from a 1981 Oldsmobile before the firemen arrived at 2:33 p.m., the report stated.

Man's parole hearing delayed

A motion for continuance was granted in the state parole hearing for Robert Marquez, 39, of Gail Route.

District Parole Officer Johnny Hoggatt who is hearing the case, granted a continuance of the hearing on June 4 at 1:30 p.m. in Lubbock. The hearing began last Thursday and continued through Friday afternoon.

Marquez was arrested in Big Spring last January on a federal drug offense. He is being detained in Lubbock County jail after U.S. Magistrate Judge J.Q. Warnick Jr. ruled last February that he (Marquez) was a threat to society.

District Parole Officer David Harman of Big Spring said a continuance was granted because Assistant U.S. District Attorney Dick Baker of Lubbock wished to have two witnesses testify. Harman said he wished for more time also so he (Harman) could obtain certain documents from the U.S. Attorney's office.

Harman said that Marquez was on probation at the time of his arrest in January for a seven year sentence of a felony possession of marijuana charge.

Harman said Marquez will have a trial by jury for the federal drug offense on June 10 in Lubbock's Federal Court.

Marquez is being represented by two attorneys — Thomas Griffith and George Gilkerson of Lubbock.

Testimony challenged

PROVIDENCE, R.I. — Prosecutors have gotten Claus von Bulow's former lover to return from Europe to appear at his retrial, but defense lawyers are trying to block testimony from the woman who has already once helped convict the socialite of attempted murder.

Defense attorneys were expected today to ask Superior Court Judge Corinne P. Grande to bar Alexandra Isles' testimony, claiming it is not relevant and would prejudice the jury against von Bulow.

Mrs. Isles, who gave damaging testimony against the Danish-born socialite at his 1982 trial, is one of two prosecution witnesses remaining in the case against von Bulow, charged with twice trying to kill his heiress wife, Martha "Sunny" von Bulow, with insulin injections.

Von Bulow's 1982 convictions were overturned by the Rhode Island Supreme Court on state constitutional grounds. Von Bulow, 58, faces up to 40 years in prison if convicted on the two counts.

Volcano expanding

VANCOUVER, Wash. — Molten rock continues to rise inside Mount St. Helens, expanding the dome-shaped formation of cooling lava in the volcano's crater as earthquakes shake the mountain, an official said early today.

It was too cloudy for scientists flying over the crater late Monday to see anything, but they were able to use heat-sensitive film to take pictures of the dome, said Chris Newhall of the U.S. Geological Survey.

Until molten rock breaks the surface to form a new lobe on the dome, there is still the chance of an outburst of steam and volcanic ash, said Don Swanson, a USGS geologist.

"We would anticipate the emergence of a new lobe within the next day or so," Swanson said.

Settlement approved

NEW YORK — A federal judge today approved a final plan to distribute the multimillion-dollar settlement of the Agent Orange lawsuit filed by Vietnam veterans, with most of the money going to totally disabled vets or to the families of deceased veterans.

Seven chemical companies that made Agent Orange, a defoliant widely used in Southeast Asia during the Vietnam War to reduce the enemy's jungle concealment, reached an out-of-court settlement last year with the plaintiffs in the class action suit. The companies, denying liability, created a $180 million fund, now estimated at nearly $200 million with interest.

Tragedy aftermath

Aid pours in to islands hard hit by storm

URIRCHAR, Bangladesh (AP) — Navy ships are plucking bodies from the Bay of Bengal and air force planes are dropping food packets to survivors in the aftermath of a hurricane that news reports say could claim tens of thousands of lives.

The official government count of the dead today was 1,569. But the International Committee of the Red Cross in Geneva, Switzerland, put the death toll from Saturday's storm at 3,000.

Unofficial reports from the hardest hit offshore islands and the devastated southern coastal areas said 25,000 people may have perished in the Saturday storm. Hardest hit were the islands of Pirbakh, where 10,000 people reportedly died, and Urirchar, with 7,000 to 8,000 reported fatalities.

Another 3,000 people were said to have died in the Noakhali district along the southwestern coast. About 5,000 people were feared dead on Sandwip Island, and 1,000 fishermen from the island also were missing and presumed dead.

Authorities estimate 5.5 million people in the coastal area were affected by the hurricane, which washed away entire communities with huge waves and flooded large areas of cropland.

In a helicopter tour of the stricken area Monday, reporters saw decomposing bodies lying on the islands and in channels of Bay of Bengal.

In Urirchar, survivors were crouched under broken bamboo roofs, their crops destroyed, clothing tattered and faces pale with fear and hunger. During a walk on Urirchar this reporter counted 97 bodies, and found only a few houses and trees standing on the western side of the island.

Sixty families were completely wiped out, 20 families have only one surviving member, and 23 families have two survivors. Survivors said none of the families on Urirchar escaped the devastation.

Abul Khair, sitting on a raised piece of ground where his home once stood, began sobbing when he recounted the loss of seven members of his family, including his wife.

"Ask Him (God) what He has done," Khair said, looking at the sky. "Today even He must be crying over the tragedy."

An elder on Sandwip Island, Abdul Momin, told The Associated Press that residents and farm laborers on several neighboring islands did not move to shelters for fear their cattle and other property would be stolen. Laborers piled up earth to make shelters, but the tidal waves demolished them and washed away many of the people, Abdul Momin said.

Victims are faced with a shortage of drinking water, medicine and food. Survivors were living under scorching sun and frequent bursts of monsoon rain. Army medical teams were working to prevent an epidemic caused by the decaying bodies.

The Red Cross said Monday its local workers "report cadavers of people in the sea, cadavers of animals in the sea, the crops completely destroyed, washed out. ... Several islands have become completely denuded of people, of houses, of cattle, of dwellings. The situation on the ground is pretty desperate."

It said winds had reached 140 miles per hour during the storm, and that, "Dwellings, crops, cattle and people in coastal areas and offshore islands have simply disappeared."

American kidnapped in Beirut

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Gunmen kidnapped the American manager of the American University Hospital today as he walked to work in Moslem west Beirut, a university spokesman said.

David Jacobsen, 54, of Huntington Beach, Calif., became the sixth American kidnapped in Beirut since March 1984.

There was no claim of responsibility for the abduction. Islamic Jihad, believed to be an extremist Shiite Moslem group with links to Iran, has claimed responsibility for the other kidnappings.

Jacobsen was walking from the American University of Beirut campus, where he lives, to the hospital complex a block away when was abducted at gunpoint, said the spokesman, who declined to be named.

An eyewitness, who also refused to be identified, said the six kidnapers climbed out of a blue van as Jacobsen stepped out of the hospital's medical gate.

They fired one pistol shot at the feet of an unidentified doctor who was walking with Jacobsen at about 8 a.m., the witness said.

He said Jacobsen told the gunmen in broken Arabic: "Okay, I'll go, I'll go." Jacobsen then stepped into the back seat of the van with the gunmen and it sped away, the witness added.

In Washington, a spokesman for the U.S. State Department said: "We can confirm that the kidnapping took place and the man was in fact David Jacobsen. We have no further comment at this time."

Jacobsen was appointed director of the university hospital last December.

Agca back on stand

ROME — The state attorney prosecuting seven men accused of plotting to kill Pope John Paul II says he is not worried about the courtroom antics by his star witness, convicted papal assailant Mehmet Ali Agca.

Agca's outbursts during the first day of the trial Monday had no effect on the case because they were "merely a show for journalists," prosecutor Antonio Marini said.

Agca will be back on the stand today. Marini told reporters that the state's case would now move to "concrete facts," including details about the gun used to shoot John Paul. The prosecutor has called five witnesses to detail the history of the Browning 9mm pistol Agca used to wound the pope.

Agca, 27, a Turk, is serving a life sentence for the May 13, 1981, shooting in St. Peter's Square, but has repudiated his original story that he acted alone. His testimony led to the seven indictments, plus a new charge against Agca of illegally importing the pistol into Italy.

Agca disrupted the court Monday.

"I am Jesus Christ. I am omnipotent," he shouted in Italian from inside a metal-barred holding cage for defendants. "I announce the end of the world. The world will be destroyed."

Blast injures several

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — Several people were injured in an explosion at the offices of a South African army medical command in a central Johannesburg office tower today, police reported.

Police spokesman Col. Fred Bull told reporters at the scene the injuries were slight and that he believed no one was killed. Bull declined to say whether the blast, in a corridor on the second floor of the skyscraper, was caused by a bomb. He said the cause of the explosion was undetermined.

The South African Press Association reported without attribution that 10 persons were injured, and that three were taken to hospital in serious condition. It said the injured had been inside the building.

20 killed in blasts

ALGECIRAS, Spain — Several thousand people attended a funeral Mass in this western port city for 20 people killed in explosions that sunk two ships.

Thirteen people were still listed as missing Monday following blasts the previous day that sunk a Spanish ship and a Panamanian-registered vessel. King Juan Carlos praised a young man for rescuing 10 men who jumped into the sea from the blazing ships.

Juan Carlos visited 14 of the injured in a hospital and talked with their families. He also met 18-year-old Francisco Javier Blesa and praised him for his bravery.

Heat takes toll on young musicians

LAKE BUENA VISTA, Fla. (AP) — The Memorial Day heat, like sub-zero temperatures at January's presidential inaugural, conspired to rob some teen-age band members of their chance to play in a parade for President Reagan.

The mercury hovered at 85 degrees as 20 bands from 16 states entertained President Reagan and his wife Nancy before 35,000 spectators at Disney World's Epcot Center on Monday.

The 2,500 musicians recreated part of the outdoor inaugural festivities which were canceled Jan. 21 when temperatures plunged to 20 below zero in Washington.

However, about 100 youths were denied the chance to perform Monday when they were sidelined by heat exhaustion.

One young musician with Ohio's Brunswick High School band, who could only watch, said she just couldn't take the heat.

"When I saw the president I started crying because I knew I couldn't play," said Michelle Faux, a piccolo player.

After a greeting from Mickey Mouse, clad in an Uncle Sam outfit, and a kiss from Minnie Mouse, the Reagans reviewed the parade from a glassed-in booth with Disney Chairman Michael Eisner and his wife.

Nixon was close on political picks

A year ago in Washington, Richard Nixon was wowing a bunch of editors at a convention with an ad-lib preview of the 1984 presidential election. They were amazed at the facility with which he discussed problems in state after state, blocs of electoral votes, the strengths and weaknesses of various candidates. Never looking at a note. Never even pausing to say "uh."

Looking back on it, he got the outcome correct, too. Reagan eating Mondale — a prediction made even before either one had been nominated.

But other parts of his crystal ball were cracked:

- On Mondale's choice of a vice president: "He will bow toward the women, say he is considering one, will interview them and will not take one. The reason he will not select a woman is not because he does not like them and not because he does not think they are qualified. He will think a woman on the ticket is not going to help him."

- On the margin of victory: "I think it's going to be a closer election than many of the Reagan optimists believe ... I predict Reagan a victor in November in a close vote."

Well, as we know, Mondale ran with Rep. Geraldine Ferraro as his vice presidential candidate, and Reagan carried 49 states. Nixon, in many ways, is an astute politician — although not astute enough to know he was destroying himself — but he illustrates the truth that one of the most perilous aspects of politics, or any other field, is trying to predict the future.

Credit policies you can't bank on WASHINGTON — Hardly a week goes by, hardly a day goes by, without some new breach in the fabric of credit. Whether in Maryland or Argentina, the banking system is under siege.

Resources to buttress the system exist, however, and most of the troubled institutions are victims of transition. But there is a need for a new statutory framework that permits the authorities to stay abreast of a revolution that has been bringing turmoil to financial services all over the world.

Through the four decades following the great crash, the U.S. operated with a tightly regulated banking system. Banks were confined in their geographical reach, and in the interest they could charge and pay. A division of turf put commercial banks, investment banks and savings and loan associations in watertight, non-competing compartments.

The inflation of the 1970s, plus the spurt in interest rates which followed, punched a gaping hole in that system. Ordinary depositors — the likes of you and me — were no longer prepared to live with 3 or 4 percent interest on savings accounts. We sought out, and got, much higher rates from various financial institutions. As regulations caught up with the marketplace, the limit on interest payments was virtually eliminated.

Technological changes facilitated the accommodation of financial institutions to consumer demands. The information revolution made it possible to transfer funds anywhere in the world at a moment's notice by wire or telephone. Brokers like Merrill Lynch devised legal ways — the non-bank banks — to do all banking business except taking deposits. Major banks, like Citibank, found ways to expand beyond their traditional boundaries — the non-branch branch.

The upshot has been intense competition among financial institutions in a period of great turmoil. Institutions accustomed to doing one kind of business in one kind of environment took on new functions. Some did it badly. When that happened, rapid changes caught them short, and they turned to federal and international authorities for help.

During the late 1970s, for example, most of the major banks in this country, Europe and Japan were keen to make big loans to Third World countries benefiting from an inflationary rise in commodity prices. The banks practically fore-ed money down the throats of such producing countries as Argentina, Brazil and Mexico. In 1982, the bottom dropped out of commodity prices. The major debtor countries proved unable to meet their obligations, and most of the big banks were left with dubious IOUs.

The International Monetary Fund and the central banks, including the Federal Reserve in this country, came up with a rescue program. The program, in effect, stretches out repayment in exchange for austerity measures. But in some countries — notably Brazil, Argentina and the Philippines — political exigencies put austerity in doubt. Moreover, now and for a long time to come, all the major banks are denied what used to be a source of lucrative profit. So the whole system is under pressure to generate more revenue.

Under the spur of competition, furthermore, several of the biggest American banks also made ill-considered loans on real estate and energy projects in this country. Recession and disinflation caused those projects to fail. At least one big bank, Continental Illinois, was caught in a squeeze when foreign lenders suddenly began withdrawing funds. The Federal Reserve came to the rescue with a bail-out operation that saved all depositors, even though only deposits of up to $100,000 were actually insured.

Savings and loan associations have proved especially vulnerable to the new competition. One of the very biggest of the thrifts, Financial Corporation of America in Los Angeles, was caught in that squeeze last year and had to be saved by the federal authorities. Ohio S&Ls were hit when an unregulated government bond dealer went bust earlier this year.

No doubt regulators and accountants can do a better job of auditing, particularly of unregulated government bond dealers. But what this record mainly shows is the need to bring deposit insurance abreast of the new realities. Depositors in traditional banks clearly deserve to be protected, at least up to a certain amount. But Congress ought to decide whether such protection should be accorded more speculative depositors in more venturesome financial institutions. In the process, there will emerge an answer to a question that baffles most of us — just what is a bank anyway?

Special interests ensure the comfort of Congress

By JACK ANDERSON and JOSEPH SPEAR
WASHINGTON — To borrow a Washington lobbyist's apt word, members of Congress are routinely "pampered" by those whose destinies they affect.

Here are two recent examples of the toady's art — one committed by a government agency, the other planned by a business group. Both obviously hoped to win friends and influence people on Capitol Hill:

- Saratoga Soiree: On May 3, the Navy flew Rep. Charles Wilson, D-Texas, two aides and a woman Wilson described as "a girl friend" to Jacksonville, Fla. There they were joined by two friends from Texas. Then the entire party was flown to the carrier Saratoga 75 miles offshore, where they spent the night as the Navy's guests.

The overnight junket cost the Navy $4,050 for the flights between Washington and Jacksonville, calculated at $1,157 an hour. Wilson said he will reimburse the Navy $650 for his friend, a Washington lobbyist named Annelise Ischenko.

On the day of the flight, our reporter Asghar Nowrouz tried to reach Wilson for comment, then tried again the following Tuesday: Late on Monday, according to Cmdr. Mike Cherry, Wilson called to say he would pay Ms. Ischenko's airfare.

There was no estimate of how much it cost to shuttle the congressman's party between Jacksonville and the Saratoga in a C-21 "on-board delivery" plane, or to provide overnight accommodations for the six visitors. The Navy apparently will pick up the tab for that. The justification: Wilson was on an official "orientation" trip.

As for Ms. Ischenko, Cherry said the Navy "was under the assumption that she was a member" of the congressman's staff. Wilson said, "I brought her along because Molly Hamilton (an aide) was by herself." The other members of the party were Jack Wheeler, another aide, and the congressman's two friends from Texas.

The Navy lavished Wilson and his party with hospitality throughout — from the pickup on Capitol Hill in a Mercury sedan for the ride to Andrews Air Force Base to the crab salad, assorted cheeses, beef sticks, white wine and soft drinks served by a crew member of the flights to Florida and back.

On board the carrier, the three unofficial guests were charged $10 apiece for dinner of seafood casserole with rice and broccoli, plus choice of eggs for breakfast the next morning.

Attempts to reach Ms. Ischenko for comment were unsuccessful. In the presence of our reporter, Wilson called her and asked if she wanted to talk with our representative. She declined.

- Pampering and Politics: "A little pampering at Saks Fifth Avenue" is on the itinerary for political guests of the Tobacco Institute. It has offered a weekend junket to the Big Apple for staff members of congressional committees that deal with health and tax issues of concern to the cigarette industry.

The weekend will apparently be exclusive. The tobacco people have reserved just 12 seats on AM-TRAK's train 228, leaving Washington at noon Friday, June 7, and 12 single rooms in the Regency Hotel at $195 a night, according to the itinerary.

After a "legislative seminar," described as a "short, informal discussion on congressional responsibilities of participants," the staffers will attend a Broadway show ("Big River") followed by a late night dinner at 21.

The "little pampering" at Saks will come on Saturday, and on Sunday the congressional staffers will discuss legislative matters over brunch at the Tavern-on-the-Green in Central Park.

Footnote: A Tobacco Institute spokesman could not say exactly what was meant by "a little pampering" at the exclusive Fifth Avenue store.

WATCH ON THE KREMLIN: Another Soviet undercover agent has defected to the United States, CIA sources tell us. He is Vladimir Ivanov, a 25-year-old KGB agent who posed as a trade official in a six-man Soviet delegation to Manila in mid-January. Young Ivanov contacted the U.S. Embassy there and was taken to a "safe house" for 48 hours of interrogation. Then he was spirited away to Munich on Lufthansa Airlines in early February.

- A recent issue of Pravda, the official Soviet newspaper, gives a revealing explanation of why it is that 21 percent of a vodka factory workforce was listed as "escorts." Their job is to accompany freight carloads of vodka, and as Pravda reports disapprovingly, sometimes "an escort gets so drunk that not only the car's contents but also he himself has to be carried out." In other words, the escorts need escorts.

- We recently reported a CIA analyst's recommendation that the Pentagon study the way the Soviets develop and produce military hardware. Apparently someone at the Pentagon is taking the advice to heart. An in-depth study of the Soviet bureaucracy — including the KGB — has been ordered, and according to a statement on the project, "This appreciation of internal Soviet affairs will provide defense planners with a more informed basis for determining what factors influence Soviet military force development, how military decisions are made and how ... options are carried out."

Around The Rim

View of war from afar

By CHARLIE ALCORN
Memorial Day. A time to mourn the fallen. A time to honor those who served our country. For my generation, Memorial Day has a somewhat different meaning. There have been no wars to fight in. No glorious conflict with Nazis and Japanese to swell our chests with pride. No bitter duty in Southeast Asia to haunt our young dreams. My generation has lived in blissful peace. It could be otherwise.

My childhood was filled with fascinating tales of bravery told by my veteran father and his cohorts from World War II. I knew that war was bad and yet it all sounded so romantic. Scenes from "To Hell and Back" and John Wayne hell-bent for leather on the sands of Iwo Jima were my history books, providing exotic backdrops on the many days my buddies and I played army.

But my innocent notions of war took a beating when Vietnam came to Victoria via satellite. Even before I remember watching Neil Armstrong set his boots on the lunar surface, Walter Cronkite caught my attention with phrases like "body count" and B-52 bomber. Even my own name, Charlie, took a strange, sinister meaning.

Images of a jungle battlefield beamed half way around the world seemed too foreign. I tried to imagine how Audie Murphy would have reacted up to his hips in mud, fighting a fearless enemy he couldn't see. We still fought Germans down in the creek. I couldn't pronounce any of our new enemy's names.

Ten years ago, the United States finally evacuated the Vietnamese hellhole, and war was no longer romantic. America had learned an awful, bitter lesson, one that I will never take for granted.

Yesterday I enjoyed a Memorial Day filled with idle leisure. A cold beer on the front lawn as American flags waved in the hot breeze. At 23, I've never looked into the eyes of an enemy. Never seen a bullet rip my partner to shreds. If not for the men and women we honor on Memorial Day, it would be different.

To the editor:
Thank God we got some one like C.G. Gilstrap. Who will speak out against the seat belt law. For I think if you buy a car, you pay for it. You should be able to wear seat belts if you want.

But I don't. I've saw a man burn to death in a truck one time because he couldn't undo his belt. So Mark White and Larry Don Shaw wear a belt if you want. But let us people do what we want.

Californians say thanks to city

To the editor:
Just a note to tell you how much six Californians (in three RVs) appreciate Texas hospitality.

While visiting in your city, we enjoyed our stay at the overnight campground in Comanche Park, free of charge. We have yet to experience this in our travels. We, also, encountered friendliness and goodwill while shopping throughout the town.

Hoping we gave as much as we received, thanks again.

Dear Abby

Wife struggles to cope with husband's history

DEAR ABBY: I just found out that my husband sexually abused our daughter when she was an emotionally disturbed teen-ager on drugs. This went on for several years, but she never told me at the time, because she feared physical violence, which she knew he was capable of. When she became emotionally stronger (she's fine now), she put a stop to it.

When I became aware of this, I demanded that he see a therapist, knowing there had to be something terribly wrong with a father who would do this to his own daughter. He refused, so now we are separated.

I have two other daughters who refuse to allow their children to see their grandfather because of his abnormal behavior. (When I left him, I told our children why.)

Once before I had heard that he was having incestuous relations with his sister, but I pooch-pooched the whole thing. Now I realize it was probably true.

Abby, please let me know if there is any legal redress against this man I called "husband" for 36 years, but never really knew.

HEARTSICK: The man you called "husband" for 36 years, but never really knew, is guilty of a crime. Your lawyer can advise you about the statutes of limitations in your state.

He should also be psychiatrically examined. If he is mentally disturbed, he could be a threat to society unless treated. Please act at once.

DEAR ABBY: As a result of your recent column, our society department has been inundated with calls from people claiming to have lost the "diamond" ring that was found in the ladies' restroom of the Ritz-Carlton Hotel in Chicago. So far, no one has been able to establish ownership.

Contrary to the finder's impression, the ring contains no real diamonds. According to the appraisal we had made, the ring is valued at approximately $200.

We regret that the woman who found the ring was misinformed by the assistant manager on duty. If an article has not been claimed by its owner after one year, it becomes the property of the person who found it.

I hope you will print this to restore confidence in the fairness of our lost-and-found policy.

Dr. Donohue

Compressed spine causes pain

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Mother has thoracic vertebral fracture. Is there any special treatment or exercise that would help her condition? — G.M.T.

The vertebrae are those sections of the spine that absorb the tension of holding the body upright. In time they may weaken and, like a worn spring, lose flexibility and collapse. The result is a compression fracture, and in your mother's case this has occurred in sections of her spine at the chest (thoracic) level. The usual cause is osteoporosis.

There are things she can do to help the situation, including exercise, but for the present rest is in order. Usually the pain from such fracture lasts about two months. Besides the rest, a back brace can be used while she is hurting, along with pain medicines. Massage of back muscles along with heat helps relieve any of the spasms that can accompany such injury.

Once the pain has subsided, your mom should become as active as her condition will permit, for inactivity promotes further osteoporosis, increasing the possibility of further compression fracture. Even an exercise as simple as walking will be helpful. She must be careful about lifting, never bending from her hip when doing so. And the usual advice about calcium supplements applies. In all likelihood she is not getting enough and that's the major factor in developing osteoporosis.

Not all back pain originates in the back. In his newest booklet, Dr. Donohue explains the spine, its muscles and nerves and how you can help yourself avoid back problems or ease those you may already have. For a copy of the new booklet, "Backache and Spine Problems," send $1.00 and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Donohue, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, MAY 29, 1985

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The early morning finds some confusion in your relations with another person, but this soon passes, and the remainder of the day and evening are splendid. Romance is good.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Study your relationship with others and then do whatever will improve it. Talk over your mutual aims.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Although a partner may give you trouble, you find that co-workers are very cooperative, so carry through with your ideas.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Forget dull duties and get your fine talents to the attention of those who can assist you most in promoting them.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Be more willing to do what kin desire of you and forget entertainment for the time being. Have guests over.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Get out and do shopping and run errands that are important. Forget that easy chair and get busy. Make your future brighter.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You are planning how to increase your assets through better understanding with associates.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Put aside that troublesome matter and go after your personal desires and aims, and you will gain them.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You can gain romantic and other personal pleasure today if you are not forceful with others. Listen carefully to others.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) There is little you can do about some situation, so put it out of your mind. Plan the future more wisely.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Get into the business world and show your finest talents. Forget your friends for awhile.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Take a friend along and go to some place of interest you have long wanted to see. Avoid a bigwig who does not know his own mind.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Forget new interests and keep promises you have made to others and clear your desk for new beginnings.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will quickly understand what others' needs are and will help them to attain them, especially where the artistic and personal side of life is concerned. Be sure to provide a fine education, particularly concentrated on finances and business. Sports are beneficial.

"The Stars impel; they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Reputation of Denisons built on quality work

Have you been thinking of home repairs, remodeling, additions or a new home built to suit your personality? Denson & Son Inc. specializes in home improvement services. They custom-build cabinets. For a complete new look at a much lower price, they also do cabinet refacing. Besides custom staining and lacquer work, the Denisons also build counter tops, install fireplaces, design and decorate, hang wall paper and tape and bed sheetrock.

"Customer satisfaction is very important to us, and that's why we give every job so much personal attention," says Rick Denson of Denson & Son. Rick is proud that their customers appreciate the personal attention, and the rate of repeat business is extremely high. The firm handles both residential and commercial work.

The Denisons are constantly learning new techniques to upgrade their skills. They study and test new products so they can do the best possible job for the customer. Because the Denisons are well-trained and have years of experience, the customer can be confident the job will be done right when it is finished.

"There is a market in Big Spring for very high-quality construction work," says Rick. "And we believe we are uniquely qualified to serve it."

For free estimates on your remodeling or construction job, call Denson & Son at 267-1124 or 263-3440 or stop by their new location at 1407 Lancaster. Their personalized service and quality workmanship will make your next project the most satisfactory one ever.

Reagan to unveil tax plan in TV address

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan will call on the nation tonight to join "a new American revolution" he hopes will spark the economy through an overhaul of the federal tax code that lowers individual rates, eliminates various deductions and increases the burden on big business.

The initiative, being announced in a nationally broadcast address from the Oval Office at 7 p.m. CST, also is a high-stakes political gamble for the president, who is trying to reverse a string of congressional setbacks he has suffered in the first four months of his second term.

Setting the stage for his broadcast speech during a Florida visit Monday to Disney World's Epcot Center, a 260-acre showcase of futuristic technology and foreign cultures, the president told an audience that included many teenagers, "It's a proposal intended to launch a new American revolution and to give to you young people, as you come of age, a nation of even greater freedom, vitality and strength."

He added, "Just as the American people rebelled against oppressive taxation some two centuries ago, the reform that I will announce tomorrow will represent a dramatic effort to make our tax code more simple, efficient and fair and place more resources into the hands of your families and ultimately, you yourselves." White House spokesman Larry Speakes said the president will give examples of how the changes will affect various income groups and describe incentives for business, "particularly small business and their entrepreneurial efforts."

However, the administration is not releasing the full details of the package — and presumably some of its less attractive aspects — until Wednesday in order to fix the spotlight on Reagan's upbeat broadcast presentation.

The plan Reagan is sending to Capitol Hill is a softened version of a sweeping proposal the Treasury Department drafted at Reagan's direction late last year. That plan called for lowering individual income tax rates and doing away with an array of popular tax breaks for individuals and business.

The new plan retains the reduction in individual tax rates, but Reagan has decided against the elimination of some tax breaks in order to build support.

Sen. Bob Packwood, R-Ore., chairman of the tax-writing Senate Finance Committee, said over the weekend "there were some changes made" in the original Treasury proposal "to attempt to mollify some of the opponents."

President Reagan and first lady Nancy wave from Marine One, the presidential helicopter, after they returned to Andrews Air Force Base, Monday night. Reagan will unveil his new tax plan in a nationally broadcast speech tonight.

Memorial Day frenzy

People flock to beaches during weekend

By The Associated Press

Millions of Americans jammed highways to the beach and countryside in the first bash welcoming the return of summer, while in public ceremonies and private remembrances, millions more met on the green grass fields of Memorial Day to honor the dead of bygone wars.

The holiday that began as Decoration Day to honor the dead of the Civil War has since become the kickoff to the summer vacation season. And beautiful weather on Monday had people flocking to the parks and beaches for a day in the sun.

In Connecticut, a Coast Guard official said Long Island Sound was "nothing but wall-to-wall boats." In Ocean City, Md., beach patrol Capt. Robert Craig said the crowds were huge. "We have 190,000, 200,000 people down here. We've had beautiful weather. We've had a lot of people sunburned," he said.

At Georgia's Tybee Island, on the Atlantic Coast, police dispatcher Willie Steele said weekend crowds surpassed last year's. "There was no way you could park all the vehicles down here this weekend. We had 'em stacked on top of each other," she said. "This is a July 4th crowd."

Thousands of people jammed New York City's beaches on Long Island, including Coney Island, where "Nathan's" expected to sell half a million of its famous hotdogs over the weekend — a 10 percent increase over last Memorial Day, said manager Frank Soto.

But in small towns and big cities, in private ceremonies and public gatherings the real meaning of the day was not forgotten.

For Christopher Scalise, 36, the holiday was a two-hour vigil in the rain at a small cemetery in central Michigan, at the grave of Mark Daniels, killed in Vietnam combat in March 1969.

"We knew the hills were 'hot' and that it would be a miracle if even one of us would come out alive," said Scalise, who served with Daniels in the Army's 4th Infantry Division and has visited the grave for 15 years.

"So we promised that if something happened to one of us, the other would take his personal belongings and go back and see his parents and visit the grave."

President Reagan, who laid a wreath at the Tomb of the Unknown-Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery in Washington D.C., appeared to brush a tear from his eye as an Army bugler played "Taps" during a brief ceremony.

SPEND A BUCK with LAFFITT PINCAY aboard enter the winners circle of the Jersey Derby, Monday after winning the $2.6 million purse.

Spend a Buck collects $2.6 million at Jersey

CHERRY HILL, N.J. (AP) — Spend a Buck had about a quarter of a mile left to run in his quest for a $2.6 million paycheck, and his chances of collecting it were looking golden.

Just past the quarter pole, Spend a Buck, the Kentucky Derby winner, gave up the lead to Creme Fraiche in the Jersey Derby Monday at Garden State Park.

"I got up to Spend a Buck, and my horse may just have stuck his nose in front for five strides," said Eddie Maple, who rode Creme Fraiche.

Once he quickly regained the lead, Spend a Buck, ridden by Laffit Pincay Jr., held on to win by a neck over Creme Fraiche, with El Basco another head back.

Spend a Buck looked to have nothing left after struggling over the final quarter-mile in 27 3/5. His final time was 2:02 3/5 for the 1 1/4 miles under scale weight of 126 pounds.

"He ran on guts," said Pincay, who was riding Spend a Buck for the first time in a race. "He's just a great horse, believe it."

"He's a game little fellow; he's got a lot of heart," said owner Dennis Diaz, who bought Spend a Buck for $12,500 as a yearling and has watched him earn $3,998,509 in 13 career starts to become second to only John Henry in all-time earnings. John Henry, a gelding, has earned $6,597,947 in 83 starts.

By winning the Jersey Derby, Spend a Buck earned $600,000 from a $1 million purse plus a $2 million bonus for sweeping the Gherry Hillumile, the Garden State Stakes, the Kentucky Derby and the Jersey Derby. It was horse racing's biggest payoff ever.

Spend a Buck turned in a front-running, 5 1/2-length victory in the Kentucky Derby May 4 in 2:00 1/5, the third fastest of 111 Derbies. That effort sent him off as an overwhelming favorite in the Jersey Derby — he paid $2.10, $2.10 and $2.10 — over a track on which he won the Cherry Hill and Garden State by 9 1/2 and 10 1/2 lengths, respectively.

Pincay got the mount on Spend a Buck when Angel Cordero, who rode him in his last two starts as a 2-year-old and his four previous races this year, decided to keep a commitment to ride Track Barron in the Metropolitan Handicap Monday at Belmont Park. Track Barron finished third.

Pincay picked up $260,000 for Spend a Buck's fourth straight win, which gave the colt a single-year money-winning record of $3,330,524. His career record is nine wins, two seconds and two thirds in 13 starts.

Completing the order of finish after El Basco were Purple Mountain, Skip Trial, Huddle Up, I Am The Game, Bolting Holme and Ah So Tony.

Boston pounds LA, 148-114

BOSTON (AP) — It was the runners against the gunners.

The Boston Celtics solved the puzzle that baffled so many Los Angeles opponents. They showed, in record-setting fashion, that the way to slow down the Lakers' fastbreak is to keep hitting shots.

With Scott Wedman and Danny Ainge connecting with long-range bombs, the National Basketball Association's defending champions overwhelmed the Lakers 148-114 Monday in the opener of the best-of-seven championship series.

"After we got up by 30 points, I thought it was a dream," said Boston forward Cedric Maxwell.

"Not in my wildest dreams would I have thought this would happen to us," said Los Angeles guard Earvin "Magic" Johnson. "It was like a nightmare."

The Lakers, who had scored 153 points to beat Denver by 44 in their previous game, lost Monday by 34, their biggest deficit in a championship series.

It came on the anniversary of Los Angeles' 115-109 victory over Boston in the opener of last year's finals. Since then, the Celtics are unbeaten in 12 home playoff games.

Los Angeles also was on a roll, averaging 131.2 points per game in building an 11-2 playoff record this year before Monday's contest.

"We're a good running team when we rebound, but you have a hard time fastbreaking consistently when you're taking it (the ball) out of your net," said Los Angeles Coach Pat Riley. "The majority of your fastbreaks come off good defense and long rebounds and we didn't have it."

"We controlled the boards, we showed patience on offense, moved the ball around and looked for the good shot," said Boston Coach K.C.

LARRY BIRD of the Boston Celtics holds back MAGIC JOHNSON of the Los Angeles Lakers from DANNY AINGE following a third quarter incident Monday in the first game of the NBA championship series. AINGE picked up a technical for his trouble but Boston won the game convincingly, 148-114.

Jones. "That's how we controlled their fastbreak."

"We are not going to shoot like that every night. Hopefully, we will be the same Thursday (in the second game), but I know better than that."

In the first half, Boston had 21 fastbreak points to just eight for Los Angeles.

"Their team is a fun-loving team that likes to play offense," Maxwell said. "We created situations that made them play defense. We took them out of their game somewhat."

The Celtics did it by hitting 60.8 percent of their field goal attempts, breaking the championship series record of 60.6 percent set by the Lakers in 1970, and by building a 63-43 rebounding advantage.

They also set championship series records for most points, largest halftime lead, most points in the first half and most field goals, 62.

The old marks were 142 points by Boston against Los Angeles on April 18, 1965, a 27-point halftime lead by New York against Los Angeles on May 8, 1970, and 76 points in the first half and 61 field goals, both by Boston against St. Louis on March 27, 1960.

Wedman made all 11 of his shots, including four three-pointers, to set a championship series record for players making a minimum of eight shots. James Worthy of Los Angeles and Bill Bradley of the New York Knicks shared the previous shooting mark of .917 with 11-of-12 marksmanship.

Kevin McHale had 26 points to share scoring honors with Wedman, who played 23 minutes as a substitute. Ainge and Larry Bird added 19 apiece. Los Angeles was led by Worthy with 20 and Johnson with 19.

After Thursday night's game, the series moves to Inglewood, Calif., for games Sunday and June 5.

Gerulaitis upset in French Open

PARIS (AP) — Boris "Boom Boom" Becker, the big-serving, 17-year-old West German tennis star, adapted his aggressive style to the slow clay courts of Roland Garros Stadium today and ousted American Vitas Gerulaitis in the first round of the French Open tennis championships.

Becker, who won the World Young Masters' title at Birmingham, England, in January, stopped the blond New Yorker 6-3, 6-7, 6-1, 6-1 in 2 1/2 hours.

After winning the second-set tiebreaker 9-7, Gerulaitis appeared to be back in the match. But the powerfully-built West German crushed the 30-year-old Gerulaitis in the final two sets.

Gerulaitis showed glimpses of his old form, but generally was unable to crack the consistent serve of the young Becker.

The net-rushing American found few weaknesses in his opponent's game. It was only when he slowed the match down in the second set and rallied from the baseline that Gerulaitis broke Becker's serve in the eighth game to lead 5-3.

Becker immediately broke back and eventually forced the set into the tiebreaker. Gerulaitis saved two set points before winning the tiebreaker with some delicate touch play at the net.

But the American's challenge evaporated in the next two sets as Becker's serve again gave him the edge.

Monday's opening-day audience at the French Open had plenty to cheer about. And today, Yannick Noah was to take his turn on center court.

"I can't wait to play the French. I'm ready," Noah exclaimed after winning the Italian Open two weeks ago, his first singles title since capturing the title here in 1983 and becoming the first Frenchman to win the French Open since 1946. "I'm back and I'm playing well," said Noah. "I feel like this is a new phase of my career."

The player all French fans were waiting to see was seeded ninth and faced a tough first round opponent in Libor Pimek of Czechoslovakia.

Others making their debut today included top-seeded John McEnroe, who faced a qualifier, Ronald Agener of Haiti; No. 2 Ivan Lendl of Czechoslovakia, who took on South African Eddie Edwards; third-seeded Jimmy Connors, who played Wolfgang Popp of West Germany; and the No. 2 women's seed, Chris Evert Lloyd, whose opponent was Janine Thompson of Australia.

But as far as the Parisien crowd was concerned, the opening day was marvelous.

First up on center court to begin this year's opening Grand Slam event was Pascale Paradis, and she started the successful parade of French winners by upsetting 15th-seeded Andrea Temesvari of Hungary 7-6, 3-6, 6-3.

And by the time the first day had been completed, 10 other French players had battled their way into the second round of this two-week tournament, including three men.

Henri Leconte defeated American Tim Wilkison 7-5, 6-2, 6-1; Pascal Portes stopped Ivan Kley of Brazil 6-2, 6-2, 6-2; and Tarik Benhabiles fought his way from behind to outlast American Todd Nelson 6-7, 5-7, 7-6, 6-3, 6-3.

Posing first-round victories in the women's singles besides Paradis were Christiane Jolissaint, Nathalie Herremann, Catherine Suire, Catherine Calmette, Marie-Christine Calleja, Emmanuelle Dery and Nathalie Tauziat.

Also moving easily into the second round was defending women's champion Martina Navratilova, who, following her victory, pronounced herself "in good shape."

Navratilova, who had today off, will face Virginia Wade of Britain in the second round.

Houston tops Pittsburgh; Royals snap Ranger winning streak

HOUSTON (AP) — Pittsburgh pitcher Jose DeLeon would like to get into some of the luck that Houston's Bob Knepper has been enjoying this season.

If he doesn't do something soon, he may find himself back in the minor leagues.

While Knepper benefitted from a four-run cushion in the second inning that led to a 4-2 victory Monday night, DeLeon lost for the 16th time in his last 17 decisions over two seasons.

DeLeon, 0-7 this season, has received only 17 runs from his teammates in his last five starts. Last season, the Pirates averaged 3.21 runs in games DeLeon started.

Knepper, at 5-0, is off to his best start as an Astro despite a pair of off-performances in the recently completed road trip.

"I won three games on the last road trip and I didn't pitch all that well," Knepper said. "But I was lucky and had a few runs so I was able to work out of it."

Terry Puhl's two-run double, a triple by Phil Garner and Craig Reynolds' single scored Houston's four runs in the second inning and could signal a trip to the minors for DeLeon.

"We've talked about it (sending DeLeon to the minors)," Pittsburgh Manager Chuck Tanner said. "But it will be up to Joe (Brown, general manager). He pitched well his last time out but tonight Jose got the ball up and couldn't get it down."

"We know he has a great arm (and) it's just a matter of learning to keep the ball down. He's learning the hard way."

The Astros were breaking away from a string of two straight losses to Chicago when they blew leads.

"We had some tough games in Chicago when it looked like we had the games locked up," Astros manager Bob Lillis said. "But you never have enough runs in Chicago."

The Astros set about getting the lead Monday night when Harry Spilman led off Houston's big second inning with a single to center field and scored the first run on Phil Garner's triple off the center field wall.

Mark Bailey walked, went to second on Knepper's sacrifice bunt and brought up Puhl, who sliced a double down the leftfield line scoring Garner and Bailey.

Phillies 10, Padres 9

Mike Schmidt and John Russell hit three-run homers, Tim Corcoran hit a game-winning sacrifice fly, and they all lost their jobs.

The three put the Phillies over the top in a 10-9 slugfest with the San Diego Padres Monday, then each found something unpleasant waiting for him in the locker room.

Phillies Manager John Felske announced that a top prospect, third baseman Rick Schu, had been recalled from Philadelphia's Pacific Coast League affiliate in Portland.

Schu's arrival in Philadelphia means that Schmidt, nine times a Gold Glove winner at third base, is on his way to first base.

Schmidt's arrival at first base means that Corcoran, who has played most of the Phillies' games at first this year, is on his way to becoming a pinch hitter.

The Padres clubbed 17 hits off six pitchers in a failed effort to maintain their seven-game winning streak. Terry Kennedy, Jerry Royster and Garry Templeton each had three hits. Kennedy had four RBIs and lengthened his hitting streak to 11 games.

In other National League games, Chicago held on to beat Cincinnati 4-3, New York clobbered Los Angeles 8-1, Houston topped Pittsburgh 4-2 and San Francisco breezed past Montreal 6-1.

Cubs 4, Reds 3

Bob Dernier doubled with the bases loaded for two runs and Keith Moreland broke out of a slump with three hits, including an RBI double. Ron Cey drove in the fourth run with a double off the wall.

Lee Smith, relieving in the ninth with the bases clear and the score 4-2, soon had a man on third with one out and the score 4-3. The man stayed there as Smith notched a groundout, a strikeout and a popout.

"Gave 'em their money's worth, huh?" a happy Smith said. His door-slammng gained him his 12th save of the season.

Mets 8, Dodgers 1

Ray Knight had started 11 games at second base before Monday night — the last one in 1978. He was still queasy from a viral infection but was penciled into the lineup late when starting second baseman Kelvin Chapman came down with back spasms. Knight responded by driving in four runs with a three-run homer and a double to pace the Mets.

Ron Darling, 4-1, won his third straight decision.

Giants 6, Expos 1

Atee Hammaker won his first game of the year for the Giants.

"It's been a long time," said Hammaker, 1-4, who worked seven shutout innings. "After a couple of months you really want to get that first one over with." Hammaker allowed four hits and struck out four.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — It's amazing how much difference one player can make.

The first six weeks of this season, the Kansas City Royals struggled fitfully to score runs. Their hopes of defending their American League West title seemed dim.

Then from the other side of the state came Lonnie Smith, a fleet, spray-hitting outfielder who was inserted into batting order as the No. 2 hitter between Willie Wilson and George Brett.

The result has been dramatic. The Royals' 4-2 victory over the Texas Rangers Monday night was their sixth straight triumph. Brett's three runs batted in gave him 15 in the past seven games, with 12 of those runs being scored either by Wilson or Smith. Against the Rangers, Smith reached base three times, stole three bases and scored twice.

"We're just a much better offensive club than we were 10 days ago," said Kansas City Manager Dick Howser, who has given Smith and Wilson a perpetual green light to run the bases at will. "You just look at what those two guys in the front of the order are doing for us. Smith has the same kind of speed on the bases that Willie has."

The Royals' winning streak has carried them to within one-half game of the front-running California Angels in the American League East, but Brett has no illusions about maintaining his torrid run production.

"It's going to be tough to continue that — 15 in seven games," he said. He also noted that Wilson is under his career average of .304 and Smith, who came over from the St. Louis Cardinals, is still getting acquainted with American League pitching.

Bret Saberhagen gave up three hits through six innings and Dan Quisenberry pitched the final three frames for his ninth save as the Rangers, who unveiled their new gray road uniforms, saw their winning streak halted at four games.

Red Sox 9, Twins 2

Rookie Steve Lyons is starting to make the kind of noise the Boston Red Sox like to hear.

In his first start in the major leagues, Lyons belted the first two home runs of his career and drove in four runs Monday to lead the Red Sox past the slumping Minnesota Twins 9-2.

Lyons also had a single in five at-bats while starting in place of center fielder Tony Armas, who leads the majors in home runs with 13 but was nursing a sprained wrist.

Lyons broke a 1-1 tie in the third inning with a towering home run into the Minnesota bullpen off Ken Schrom, 3-4. Lyons then drilled a three-run homer into the Boston bullpen, near the 420-foot mark, off Ron Davis during a five-run eighth.

"I was just hoping it would be a memorable day," Lyons said. "I think it will be now."

In other American League games on Memorial Day, Cleveland blanked Milwaukee 8-0, Baltimore stopped California 6-4, Seattle downed Detroit 5-2, Kansas City defeated Texas 4-2, Oakland edged New York 2-1 in 10 innings, and the Toronto at Chicago game was rained out.

Indians 8, Brewers 0

Bert Blyleven has found the surest way to win with Cleveland — throw a shutout.

Blyleven pitched a three-hitter and won his third game this season, all by shutout, against five losses. He struck out 10 and walked none in tossing his 49th career shutout.

Blyleven is tied for 20th place on the all-time shutout list with Don Drysdale, Luis Tiant, Ferguson Jenkins and Early Wynn.

Orioles 6, Angels 4

Scott McGregor, continuing his success at Anaheim Stadium, turned in another strong outing with a six-hitter against the Angels.

McGregor, who lost four of his first five decisions and also lost a turn in Baltimore's starting rotation, followed a three-hit shutout at Oakland last week with his victory over California. McGregor has won 10 of his last 11 decisions in Anaheim.

The Orioles broke a 4-4 tie in the seventh with two runs.

Mariners 5, Tigers 2

Detroit made four errors, setting up three unearned runs that carried Seattle and Matt Young to victory.

Young, 4-5, went 6 2/3 innings. He allowed eight hits, including run-scoring singles by Bob Melvin and Tom Brookens in the seventh.

Loser Dan Petry, 8-3, was the victim of Detroit's miscues.

A's 2, Yankees 1

Dwayne Murphy led off the bottom of the 10th inning by clouting a home run to center field off Yankee reliever Dave Righetti, 3-4. He hit a 3-1 pitch that just carried over the 390-foot mark for his sixth homer of the year. It was the first homer hit off Righetti this season.

Former Yankee reliever Jay Howell, 3-2, worked the last three innings for the victory.

Oakland starter Don Sutton pitched five hitless innings and left after seven, allowing two hits, walking two and striking out five.
