State's jobless rate up

DALLAS (AP) — The Texas unemployment rate jumped slightly to 6.9 percent in May, and a labor forecaster predicted that the state's gains in employment would lag behind the national recovery.

The jobless rate rose from 6.6 percent in April, an increase that is statistically insignificant, said Bryan Richey, a regional commissioner with the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The state's unemployment figure was 5.9 percent in May 1984, Richey said.

Nationally, the jobless rate held at 7.3 percent for the fourth straight month in May, the bureau said.

The latest figures painted a mixed economic picture in Texas, Richey said.

"In Texas, economic activity has been relatively flat for nearly a year," Richey said.

Although some areas of the state, such as Dallas-Fort Worth, San Antonio, Austin and Bryan-College Station, continue to show gains in employment, the depressed oil and agriculture industries and bad economic conditions in the Lower Rio Grande Valley continue to nullify overall improvements, Richey said.

"In balance, the state is no better off than a year ago in terms of the total employment situation," Richey said.

Richey said only three areas of employment in Texas have made significant gains over the past year — services, finance, insurance and real estate, and government.

"In marked contrast, the national figures are showing fairly impressive gains in the major industry divisions," Richey said.

Texas experienced a 2.1 percent increase in the job growth rate from April 1984 to April 1985 — compared with 3.6 percent nationally, Richey said.

"We're moving in the right direction, but at a slower pace," he said.

Richey said factors holding back the Texas economy probably won't show any sudden improvement.

Governor signs drinking bill

New state law raises drinking age from 19 to 21

AUSTIN (AP) — In hopes of saving lives and of getting the state more highway funds, Gov. Mark White has signed into law a bill that would raise the drinking age in Texas from 19 to 21.

White also said Thursday he would sign another measure that not only would raise the drinking age to 21 but would provide maximum penalties for anyone driving drunk with an open container of alcoholic beverage in the car or pickup.

In 1984, Congress enacted federal legislation to withhold federal highway funds from states that do not raise their drinking age to 21 in an effort to decrease highway deaths.

The bill signed Thursday, sponsored by Sen. Bill Sarpalis, D-Amarillo, would become effective Sept. 1, 1986, only if the federal law has not been changed. The drinking age would

'First and foremost, there is evidence that raising the drinking age would reduce the number of alcohol-related deaths on Texas highways.'
Gov. Mark White

revert back to 19 if the federal law is held invalid.

White told a crowd in his reception room he was signing the increase in the drinking age "fully aware of the strong feeling on both sides of this issue, but I am convinced that the drinking age should be raised for several reasons."

"First and foremost, there is evidence that raising the drinking age would reduce the number of alcohol-related deaths on Texas highways.

"Second, I think this bill puts Texas into compliance with the congressional mandate and guarantees that more than $100 million in highway funds will flow to Texas in the next two fiscal years."

"I think we all share a concern about the problem of alcohol abuse, and I would not suggest for a minute the problem is limited to our young people," White said. "For that reason I am also supporting increasing the penalties for driving while intoxicated and applying those penalties equally to all persons."

Hazel McKee, who represented the Texas Safety Association at the signing ceremony, said the governor's action made a total of 35 states that have a 21-year drinking age.

White also signed a bill that would allow the state to issue up to $500 million in bonds to finance purchase of farms and ranches on a small-down payment, low-interest basis for those who have made 25 percent of their income the past three years from farming.

The bill will not become effective until and unless a constitutional change is approved by voters in November.

New fee hikes help fuel state budget

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — When you find yourself plunking down an extra $6 to renew a driver's license, look on the bright side — you're helping balance the state budget.

The Texas Legislature has approved that hike and a host of other revenue proposals in a bid to meet the state constitutional requirement that prohibits state budgets from going into the red. Gov. Mark White signed the bill into law on Wednesday. The new fees go into effect Sept. 1.

In all, the so-called fee bill either raises or establishes nearly 90 different fees to collect more than $145 million. Listed below are most of those fees and estimates of how much more money they will raise toward the two-year, $36.8 billion state budget that begins Sept. 1.

• Directory of Texas Airports, obtained through the Texas Aeronautics Commission, new $5 fee. Anticipated revenue: $100,000.

• Driver's licenses, raising four-year license fees from $10 to $16; provisional and learner permits from $4 to $5; license reinstatement fees, from $10 to $20; duplicate license fees from $3 to $5; registering lease cars with Department of Public Safety, $5; Anticipated revenue: $50.3 million.

• Vehicle inspections, from $5.25 to $7.75 annually for older models; to $15 for two-year inspections of new cars. Anticipated revenue: $13.4 million.

• Personalized license plates, from $25 to $75. Anticipated revenue: $8.1 million.

• District court filing fees, from $25 to $75. Anticipated revenue: $22.3 million.

• Real estate transcript evaluations by Texas Real Estate Commission, new $15 fee. Anticipated revenue: $1.1 million.

• Depository applications with state Depository Board, new $25 fee. Anticipated revenue: $42,000.

• Child-care facility, provisional and initial licenses, $35 with annual renewal fee of $35 plus $1 per child served; child placement agency licenses, $50 for provisional license, $35 for initial license and $100 annual renewal fee; registered family homes, annual $35 fee. Anticipated revenue: $3.7 million.

• Firemen certificates, $20 for new and renewed certificates. Anticipated revenue: $740,000.

'Angel of Death'

Police exhume man's body believed to be Josef Mengele

EMBU, Brazil (AP) — Police have exhumed the body of a man they believe may have been Josef Mengele, the Nazi doctor known as the "Angel of Death," and begun the lengthy task of analyzing the skull, bones, and shreds of cloth.

Jose Antonio de Mello, director of the Sao Paulo morgue, held the skull high for hundreds of onlookers to see when the remains were disinterred Thursday at Embu, 17 miles from Sao Paulo, Brazil's largest city.

"There are extremely strong indications that we have the man we're looking for here," Federal Police Chief Romeu Tuma said Thursday.

Mengele, who would be 74, is accused of sending hundreds of thousands of people, mostly Jews, to their deaths at Auschwitz concentration camp, and for his sinister experiments on those who were not sent to the gas chambers. Nazi hunters were skeptical of the report.

"If Mengele were dead, his family would be in a hurry to make it known in order to settle an important inheritance and the German courts would be immediately aware," said Paris lawyer Serge Klarsfeld, one of the world's best-known Nazi hunters.

Rabbi Marvin Hier, dean of the Simon Wiesenthal Center in Los Angeles said the information could be intended to throw researchers off Mengele's trail.

Brazilian police said they were led to weed-covered grave in Embu by information from West German investigators. Gino Carita, former administrator of the cemetery, told The Associated Press that a man he knew as Wolfgang Gerhard was buried there in the same grave as his mother, Friederike Gerhard. The gravestone bears only her name.

said in Frankfurt a review of files turned up clues that led to Guenzberg, Mengele's hometown in Bavaria. Police seized documents there that led them to Brazil, he said.

Tuma said the man he believes was Mengele drowned Feb. 7, 1979, while swimming at Bertoga, a beach resort 73 miles from Sao Paulo. He said the body was buried the next day in Embu.

De Mello said bones taken to the morgue late Thursday were badly decayed, but that the teeth were "sufficiently well preserved to compare with dental records and make an identification."

Identification would take at least 15 days, he said.

Tuma said he had been told by the West German consulate in Sao Paulo to expect Mengele's dental and medical records from West Germany.

However, Hauelsen said there are no records of Mengele's teeth or bone structure. The conflicting reports could not immediately be reconciled.

Carita described Gerhard as about 6 feet 2 inches tall. But Interpol, the international police organization, says Mengele was about four inches shorter.

The information from the West German authorities led Brazilian police to an elderly Austrian couple, Wolfram and Lisolotte Bossert, residents of a middle-class Sao Paulo neighborhood.

"There is no doubt that Mengele lived at their house," Tuma said. Police discovered papers, photographs of a man resembling Mengele, and a diary believed to belong to Mengele, he said.

Bossert told police in a statement he was introduced to Mengele in 1970 by a mutual friend, Wolfgang Gerhard, the Austrian under whose name police believe Mengele was buried.

When Gerhard returned to Austria in 1975, he left his passport and documents with Mengele "so he could change his identity," Bossert said. Gerhard died in 1978.

Bossert described Mengele as a lonely man, but said he was "always afraid of being caught by the Jews."

Mengele was vacationing with the Bosserts when he apparently suffered a stroke while swimming and drowned, Bossert said. He said Mengele's son, Rolf, came from West Germany to pick up Mengele's belongings.

Auschwitz survivors say Mengele conducted experiments on prisoners in search for keys to Adolf Hitler's dream of a master race. Many of his experiments were done on twins and dwarfs.

Mengele is the world's most sought-after Nazi war criminal. Rewards totalling $3.5 million have been offered for his capture. He has been reported as living in Argentina, Uruguay, Paraguay and Brazil.

Abilene lawmaker makes GOP switch

State representative announces move to become a Republican

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Republicans aggressive recruiting drive paid off again today with three-term state Rep. Gary Thompson's announcement that he is now a Republican.

The Abilene lawmaker had made it clear throughout the recently ended legislative session that he was done with the Democrats.

"Today, sadly, the national Democratic Party is the party of Jimmy Carter, Walter Mondale, Geraldine Ferraro and Jesse Jackson. It is the party whose principal thrust has become a concentration of power at the national level in domestic policy and retreat internationally," Thompson said.

He was joined at the news conference by state GOP Chairman George Strake and recent GOP convert Kent Hance, a probable Republican contender for governor in 1986.

Thompson, chairman of the Abilene Christian University government department, said party-switching had been on his mind since 1972, when the Democrats nominated George McGovern for president. He said "McGovernization" was a turning point from which the party has not recovered.

The Republicans "economic program of growth and opportunity is the answer to this country's economic problems," said Thompson.

"Its philosophy with respect to the grave moral issues of the day — abortion, prayer in schools, homosexual rights — accord with my own views," he said.

Thompson said he is confident he could win re-election as a Democrat or Republican.

Four sets of twins?

NEPTUNE, N.J. — Regina Dorchy, now convinced that children come in pairs, has declared that eight is enough.

The 30-year-old Lakewood woman gave birth to her fourth consecutive set of twins Tuesday at the Jersey Shore Medical Center. While she said she was thrilled at the birth of her fifth daughter and third son, she said she would not have any more children.

"Nooooo," she said.

Dr. Steven Feld, who called it a "biological phenomenon," said the 5-pound, 5-ounce girl named Alicia and 5-pound, 8-ounce boy named Andrew were in excellent health.

Procter & Gamble logo

CHICAGO — Procter & Gamble Co., long angered by rumors that its 103-year-old logo is a symbol of satanism, was not amused when a business magazine Thursday published results of a whimsical contest to create a new logo for the company.

Entries submitted to Advertising Age ranged from serious designs to cartoons with angels and pitchforks.

"We thought we would help them" find a new logo, said Ad Age's executive editor, Robert Goldsborough, "but I don't think they're amused."

Lightning starts wildfires

MADISON, Fla. — Wildfires touched off by two days of lightning storms burned in three North Florida counties today, and forestry officials called the situation "critical."

At least 20 wildfires flared along a boomerang-shaped 50 mile stretch through Madison, Lafayette and Taylor counties, state Division of Forestry spokesman Larry Harrington said today.

"The situation is critical," said Harrington, who said some of the fires are out of control.

He said the wildfires were sparked by lightning storms Wednesday afternoon and evening, and that more were started late Thursday by another string of storms.

"We will have others," said Harrington.

Third septuplet dies

ORANGE, Calif. — Samuel and Patricia Frustaci kept a vigil at the crib of one of their four surviving septuplets, Bonnie Marie, after her tiny, 16-day-old brother, James Martin, died in his parents' arms.

Bonnie Marie is "extremely critical, and we do not expect her to survive the next 24 hours," the septuplets' doctor, Carrie Worcester, said today.

Three other Frustaci infants remained in critical but stable condition at Childrens Hospital.

Sen. Richard Lugar, R-Ind., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, left, Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., center, and Sen. Christopher Dodd, D-Conn., talk about aid to anti-Sandinista rebels, prior to the Senate vote Thursday to approve $38 million in non-weapons logistical aid.

Senate OKs $38 million in funding to Nicaragua

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate voted Thursday to approve $38 million in non-weapons logistical aid to anti-Sandinista rebels and to repeal a strict prohibition against U.S. support for military action inside Nicaragua.

The vote was 55 to 42.

President Reagan praised the Senate action as "a display of bipartisan concern for the people of Central America and our own national security."

The aid amendment would provide $14 million this year and $24 million next year, resuming direct U.S. assistance to rebels fighting to overthrow Nicaragua's leftist government.

The Democratic-controlled House, which has led opposition to CIA aid to the guerrilla force in Nicaragua known as the Contras, is expected to vote on a similar proposal next week.

Reagan, in a statement released by the White House, said the Senate amendment would "provide support for the freedom fighters who are struggling for liberty and democracy in Nicaragua. The Senate has seen that their struggle is ours — that they need and deserve the help of the American people."

He urged the House "to join with the Senate in sending a signal to both the Sandinistas and to the struggling Nicaraguan democratic opposition: The only resolution to the tragedy in Nicaragua is the same course which the Congress has supported in El Salvador — that of democracy, reconciliation and liberty."

The proposal, sponsored by Sens. Richard Lugar, R-Ind. and Sam Nunn, D-Ga., would restrict the aid to food, clothing, medicines and transportation. It bars use of the money to buy weapons, ammunition, and other lethal military equipment.

But the aid could be funneled through the CIA, which trained and supported the rebel force from 1981 until last year.

After the vote, Nunn refused to rule out the possibility that the amendment would allow providing the Contras with defensive radar gear, as well as possible CIA use of helicopters to fly medical supplies to the rebels fighting inside Nicaragua.

Nunn said that the new U.S. assistance would show that the United States "stands with those who favor democracy" in Nicaragua. But he added that it would also encourage efforts to resolve internal Nicaraguan disputes peacefully.

The amendment contains language urging progress toward a negotiated settlement in the region.

And, as an incentive, it would suspend economic sanctions if the Sandinista government agrees to a cease-fire and to open negotiations with the rebels.

The measure also calls on the Contras to purge their ranks of any individuals who have engaged in human rights abuses.

Keach freed from prison

READING, England — American actor Stacy Keach was freed today after serving six months of a nine-month prison term for cocaine smuggling and said he hoped to help others fight drug abuse.

He left shortly afterward for New York.

The star of the TV show "Mickey Spillane's Mike Hammer" gave a thumbs-up sign to about 100 reporters and cameramen waiting in a steady drizzle, and said:

"It feels great to be free. I made a mistake. I have paid for it." Keach received the standard one-third off his sentence for good behavior, said David Gerrie, his publicist.

"In spite of the weather, this is one of the happiest moments of my life," Keach said. "Thank God I am alive and standing on this side of the wall. The past six months have been a painful education."

Ortega blasts rebel aid

MANAGUA, Nicaragua — President Daniel Ortega on Thursday said the U.S. Senate's approval of aid to Nicaraguan rebels was a vote "in favor of terrorism."

Ortega repeated his claim that the United States plans to invade Nicaragua.

The result of the Senate's 55-42 vote earlier in the day would be "to trip the efforts to achieve peace by the Contadora group," Ortega told a rally in Managua.

Syrian peace proposal

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Factional fighting claimed eight lives in Beirut today and a newspaper reported that Syria and Lebanon had agreed to form a 5,000-man "strike force" to restore peace in the Lebanese capital.

"The main task of the strike force would be to consolidate security in greater Beirut, dismantle the Green Line and collect the heavy weapons from all rival militias and parties," Cabinet minister Joseph Hashem was quoted as telling the Daily Star independent newspaper.

The Green Line cuts Beirut into mostly Christian and Moslem sides. It has been the scene of almost daily fighting for years.

Pope's assailant testifies

ROME — The man who shot and seriously wounded Pope John Paul II four years ago testified today that his personal motive for the attack was to draw the West's attention to problems of the Third World.

Mehmet Ali Agca testified for the third day today in the trial of three Bulgarians and four Turks charged with complicity in the assassination attempt. Agca claims they were involved with him in a conspiracy to kill the pope.

NATO heads deal 'Star Wars' major setback

ESTORIL, Portugal (AP) — In a setback for U.S. nuclear arms control strategy, NATO foreign ministers concluded a two-day conference today without endorsing President Reagan's controversial "Star Wars" initiative.

The French and Danes balked at formally endorsing research into a space-based anti-missile system, and the ministers' final statement failed to put the North Atlantic Treaty Organization squarely behind one of the key elements of Reagan's defense policy.

Secretary of State George P. Shultz said at a news conference that the United States would have liked an endorsement, but added he'd known from the start there would be objections.

"It would be a great mistake if anyone were to think the research program of the United States is in any way deflected" as a result of the communique, he said.

"It will go on," Shultz said, insisting there was "quite widespread support for doing this research on the part of the allies."

The ministers' final statement said the allies "strongly support U.S. efforts in all three areas of negotiation" with the Soviets in Geneva. The three areas are strategic and intermediate range nuclear weapons as well as space-based weapons.

Shultz was asked about French assertions that use of the word "efforts" instead of "positions" meant the allies had not formally endorsed U.S. posture on every negotiating issue.

"Precise phraseology is something that the French seek and oftentimes they have a good point," Shultz replied.

Shultz said he took "great encouragement" from the communique's support of U.S. Soviet arms control talks in Geneva, adding, "I think as an overall proposition, this has been a most satisfying meeting."

Shultz said he expected to meet with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in August when both visit Helsinki.

GEORGE SHULTZ Loses Star Wars endorsement.

Jobless rate holds steady in May

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's civilian unemployment rate held at 7.3 percent in May for the fourth straight month, the longest stagnant period in at least 14 years, the Labor Department reported today.

Manufacturing employment fell by 28,000, the fifth straight monthly decline. Since the start of the year, some 163,000 manufacturing jobs have been lost.

But the economy overall created 345,000 jobs in May, with virtually all the gain in the services sector. Some 111,000 of those jobs were health- or business-related.

At the same time, the overall unemployment rate among young men, traditionally one of the strongest labor pools for manufacturing, was up. The jobless rate for those aged 20-24 rose 1.2 percentage points to 12.5 percent.

And for teen-agers, the rate rose from 17.7 to 18.9 percent.

Is there any cure for violent crime?

Occasionally a pessimistic note punctuates the hopeful refrain known as American society. One recently sounded: A violent-crime-risk study by the Justice Department found that 6 million Americans annually — 3 percent of the population 12 years and older — are the victims of violent crimes.

The study, known as the Crime Risk Index, is a statistical indicator based on interviews with 125,000 persons at six-month intervals during a five-year period. According to the index, a black male has a 1-in-21 chance of being murdered, compared with the 1-in-131 chance faced by a white male. For all females, there is an estimated 1-in-282 chance of being murdered and for all males, the chance is 1-in-84.

In addition, the study found that certain sub-groups of the population are particularly prone to the violent crimes of rape, robbery, and assault. Young adults were more likely to be victimized by violent crimes than the elderly; poor persons more likely than wealthy persons; single or divorced persons more likely than married persons; and blacks more likely than whites.

A Justice Department official involved in the study, Steven Schlesinger, added no relief when he observed that the annual 3-percent victimization rate is "understated over a lifetime."

These statistics are numbing. And it's as sad as it is shocking that the index concludes that crime is the chief malady of American society. Longer sentences, stiffer penalties, tougher judges, more prisons, citizen vigilance — these are generally accepted but insufficiently applied cures for lawlessness.

Art Buchwald Lobbyists waging war on the Hill

Louie, the lobbyist, was dressed in battle gear. As soon as President Reagan declared war on the "special interest" groups, Louie loaded his Xerox machine and marched forth toward Capitol Hill to wage combat.

"It must be a bad time for you," I said, as he paused on Pennsylvania Avenue to drink from his canteen of Pouilly Fuisse.

"It's the best of times," said Louie, slapping me on the back. "Every lobbyist dreams of someday going up on the Hill to fight against tax reform. We were trained all our lives for this moment."

"Aren't you afraid your loopholes will be killed?"

"My boy, for every loophole that falls, we'll find another to take its place. When push comes to shove we'll get what we want out of tax reform, and the President will get what he wants."

"Then you're not going to attack the Reagan plan head-on?"

"That would be suicidal. He's raised the hopes of every taxpayer. Our strategy is to publicly support the President on his reforms and cheer him on, whilst we quietly infiltrate the offices of congressmen and senators whom our people have been nice to over the years."

"You mean you're going to start calling in your notes on the money you contributed to our legislators' campaigns?"

"What is so unreasonable about that? They came to us when they were in trouble — now we're coming to them when we're in trouble. That's what fairness in tax reform is all about."

"This could be a tough one because the people have their expectations raised and it's quite possible the congressmen and senators will have to vote for the bill, whether they want to or not."

"Of course they're going to vote for the bill," Louie shouted. "We would never ask them not to vote for it. That's like telling them not to vote for mother or the American flag. All we want them to do is fine tune the law so that our industry will still be entitled to the tax breaks that have made it one of the highest generators of capital in the country."

"What you're asking then is that you continue to pay no taxes at all?"

Louie was outraged. "There has been too much made of the fact we don't pay any taxes. We pay payroll and Social Security taxes, as well as taxes on all our soft drink machines. Just because an industry doesn't pay income taxes is no reason for our companies to be singled out as tax dodgers."

"The people may not see it that way," I said. "Reagan has thrown down the gauntlet and the Democrats are scrambling to pick it up. It looks like tax reform could be an idea whose time has come. It sure is a lot easier to deal with than a $200 million deficit."

"We've been through tax reform battles before," Louie said. "The trick is not to fire your ammunition too early. Wait until everybody is tired and their nerves are frayed. Then sneak in and plant your loophole while no one is watching. That's the way the smart lobbyists work."

"You believe you can still pull it off?"

Louie put on his Stetson. "It's a trade-off, my boy. The Northeast wants something from our people, so we're ready to deal. We'll give 'em their loophole if they give us ours."

"How can you be so sure of victory?"

"He opened up his pants pocket. 'Look in here.'"

I couldn't believe it. He had 12 congressmen and five senators in his pocket.

"Where did you get them?" I asked him.

"Through my political action committee. Got more in this other pocket if I need them."

Jack Anderson FBI evidence was bait to lure big fish Biaggi into its net

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA
 WASHINGTON — Some FBI officials thought they had a prosecutable bribery case against Rep. Mario Biaggi, D-N.Y., as a result of wiretapped conversations, according to internal FBI documents.

But at least four FBI and Justice Department officials thought the G-men were "hyping" the evidence against Biaggi drawn from the recorded conversations.

No official charges were ever brought against Biaggi.

Biaggi, now serving his ninth term in Congress, told our associate Tony Capaccio he had been unaware of the allegations until a few weeks ago, and had never been interviewed by either the FBI or the Justice Department on the matter.

A review of the tapes in the FBI's controversial "TUMCON" investigation turned up Biaggi's name. He was mentioned on a TUMCON tape made on April 14, 1979, of a conversation between alleged mob figure William Masselli and a friend. Masselli's phone was one of those tapped in the anti-racketeering investigation.

According to an FBI narrative taken from the tape, Masselli's friend was describing how he allegedly got Biaggi's help on a dumping contract. "Biaggi wanted $5,000 to secure the contract," the friend told Masselli.

The friend told Masselli he handed the congressman a check for $5,000 "on the steps of the (federal) administration building," and that "on the face of the check he wrote 'annual retainer,'" according to the FBI narrative. It noted that "Masselli was told that this incident with Biaggi occurred several years ago."

Biaggi scoffed at the whole idea. A much-decorated former New York City police lieutenant who was wounded 10 times in the line of duty, the 67-year-old congressman said: "I'm an old cop. If I'm going to do something wrong, do you think I'd do it with a check? That's ridiculous."

It is not uncommon for mobsters to boast of political payoffs and connections.

The information on Biaggi was presented during a briefing for more than two dozen FBI officials on the TUMCON investigation six days after the conversation in which Biaggi was mentioned.

"Among the conclusions reached" by the briefing agent was "that they had sufficient information regarding Congressman Biaggi to be able to conclude prosecutable cases within a short amount of time and minimal amount of effort," according to a report made to FBI inspectors last October.

And in an earlier TUMCON review made in late 1980, FBI official Kenneth Walton "commented to the effect that if the bureau did not go after Masselli... he believed there was a shot at Biaggi," according to an FBI internal document.

Walton also lamented a decision by a Justice Department attorney "which thwarted investigative efforts," according to the document, which explained: "He stated that a decision was made to issue a subpoena against the man who claimed to have given Biaggi the $5,000 check, 'rather than execute a search warrant to produce the check he had given to Biaggi, and not surprisingly the check disappeared.'"

However, the two federal prosecutors closest to the TUMCON case thought the evidence of political corruption was exaggerated by the FBI.

U.S. Attorney Michael Ross "advised he feels the TUMCON case was hyped by the FBI in that the FBI considered every case to be a good one... (and) all the high-level cases the FBI talks about are just hype," according to an internal report. The other U.S. attorney, Patricia Hynes, told FBI inspectors "there were no political corruption cases."

According to an internal agency review, two FBI officials also agreed that some of the TUMCON cases were being overblown.

Footnote: At our request, Walton reviewed the documents. Through a spokesman he said: "At the time, that was what I thought, based on the information available to me. But time and additional information can change opinions."

HUSH-HUSH: President Reagan's most controversial action to date was probably the invasion of Grenada. He said military force was necessary to stabilize the Caribbean. Has it worked?

According to a highly sensitive report, prepared by the Agency for International Development, the answer is yes. "The Grenada crisis ushered in a new era in U.S. relations with the Commonwealth Caribbean," states the report. American influence there was given a "significant boost."

Jack Anderson's investigative report from Washington is distributed by United Feature Syndicate.

The answer to the $659 ashtray question

By HENRY GOTTLIEB
 Associated Press Writer
 WASHINGTON (AP) — How could an ashtray cost $659?
 The simple answer would be: greedy defense contractors and uncaring or incompetent military officers who let them get away with it.
 The real villain, however, according to those wise to the ways of the $100 billion-a-year military procurement labyrinth, is a timeworn bureaucratic system that won't be changed by punishing individual officers and firing companies.

"I blame bureaucracy," says a retired communications officer who spent 20 years buying equipment for the Defense Department. The former officer, who spoke only on condition of anonymity, said he was not surprised that Grumman Aerospace Corp. collected $659 for each ashtray it installed over a 15-year period in the cockpits of the Navy's E-2C electronic warfare aircraft.

Although Grumman won't say how it arrived at the figure, here's how the system can make a dime-store item cost $659.

The Pentagon traditionally had a limited program of competitive bidding for spare parts. If a company made a particular weapon, it also was assigned to supply most of the parts that went into it. Theoretically, a small ashtray company may have bid on the job and come in with a lower price.

Since the Navy only wanted one or two ashtrays a year, the cost of "developing" the product could not be spread out over a large procurement project. If the Navy had ordered hundreds of ashtrays the unit price would have been substantially lower.

Robert Springer, a former Army officer who has run a procurement studies program at American University, estimated it could take an engineer charging fees of $300 a day two or three days to design even a simple item such as the Navy ashtray, which fits into cockpit

'It's all done with slide rules. The accountants are under orders to recoup fixed costs; it's not their business to worry about whether it hurts the government.'
Robert Springer, former Army officer

The engineer's salary, plus the material costs, plus the costs of overhead — down to the amount of electricity it cost to light the worktables — are all figured in.

Then a Pentagon-approved profit margin of between eight and 14 percent is factored in and it all must be recouped in the cost of the one or two ashtrays.

"It's all done with slide rules," Springer said. "The accountants are under orders to recoup fixed costs; it's not their business to worry about whether it hurts the government."

But even when the Navy in 1981 tried to find a cheaper ashtray than Grumman's, one of its own facilities could not make the item for less than $954.47, according to a Navy official who also spoke on condition of anonymity.

Springer says the private contractors also have no incentive to supply many parts at low prices because they'd rather drop them from their inventories in the first place.

Grumman, acknowledging it was embarrassed about the ashtray flap, announced last week it had sent the Navy a list of 2,200 spare parts it didn't want to make anymore, along with recommended alternative sources for each part. An additional list with 3,800 parts will be sent soon, Grumman said.

In the first five months of this year, Grumman has asked to be excused from supplying $3.5 million worth of "low value" spare parts

When basketball changed colors

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
 Staff Writer

It was an excellent trivia question that evolved during Wednesday night's NBA championship game between the Boston Celtics and the Los Angeles Lakers.

Big Spring Herald sportswriters Steve Belvin and Charlie Alcorn were combing through the dredges of ancient college basketball history. Belvin suddenly asked if there had ever been an all black team that had won the NCAA basketball championship.

You better believe it boys — and best of all — that team was from Texas. They were the Texas Western Miners, now known as the University of Texas at El Paso. They won it all in 1966.

The Miners trounced an all white team from the University of Kentucky coached by the late Adolph Rupp in the championship game.

Interestingly enough, Los Angeles Laker coach Pat Riley was a member of that Kentucky squad. The game earmarked the arrival and permanence of the black athlete in college sports. Texas Western fielded a team that year of predominantly black athletes.

Texas Western coach Don Haskins played six players in the championship game and they were all black. Rupp made segregated remarks before and after the game. The Kentucky baron retired soon after. It was the last game he coached in. Yes sir — the times had changed.

Haskins is a basketball genius. He's still coaching at UTEP and this year's squad reached the finals of the Western semi-regional tournament.

The year the Miners won it all, Haskins recruited his black athletes from the big cities such as New York, Detroit and Houston. My favorite player was David "Big Daddy D" Latin who hailed from Houston.

I'll never forget that climactic moment when El Pasoans — stunned from the world of disbelief — greeted their heroes at El Paso International Airport on a windy Sunday morning.

Haskins stepped out of the plane, raised his index finger to indicate numero uno and received a crown of cheers that was unforgettable.

The memory tingles on. Thank God, it always will.

War is the theme and Starburst '85 is the name of two week training exercises scheduled for June 8-June 23 at Fort Hood.

Fifty Big Spring area residents who are members of the 111th Engineer Battalion, 1st Detachment, Co. A of the Texas Army National Guard will be leaving their civilian jobs for two weeks to participate in the exercise.

They are part of the 15,000-strong 49th Armored "Lone Star" Division traveling to Fort Hood for the exercises, Sgt. Richard Cohn of the Big Spring unit said. Starburst '85 will draw troops from armories in 95 Texas cities.

The soldiers will take part in combined armor, artillery and infantry training utilizing tanks, cannons and helicopters. The training will also include simulated combat against opposing enemy forces, according to a release from Maj. William M. Coleman of the 49th Armored Division Headquarters in Austin.

This two-week exercise was five years in planning and marks the first time the entire division has trained as a single unit since the Berlin Crisis, the release stated.

The Big Spring 111th Battalion has been a combat engineer unit since 1980. Previously, it was an artillery detachment.

As an engineer unit its main responsibilities will be to put in obstacles for the enemy and to remove enemy obstacles.

"Without us the infantry tankers and field artillery cannot get out of the area," Cohn said.

Most of the obstacles placed by the unit are mines. When citizens join the armored guard they are trained in the technicals of general engineering tasks and explosives in either a 14 week course at Fort Leonard Wood in Missouri or if have already had military experience are trained in monthly sessions at the 111th Engineer Battalion in Big Spring.

The Big Spring 111th Battalion, 1st Detachment commander is 1st

Lt. Ramiro J. Perez, of Big Spring. The group is organized into three platoons with one being out of Midland and the other two out of Big Spring, Cohn said.

The Midland platoon is headed by Sgt. 1st Class Thomas Pabilla of Big Spring. Staff Sgt. Andrew Ortega of Big Spring will head up the second platoon and Staff Sgt. Samuel Eavans of Midland will lead the third platoon, Cohn said.

Youth touring 4-state area

By KIM KIRKHAM
Lifestyle Writer

The youth choir at Hillcrest Baptist Church left Wednesday to tour a four-state area, performing the musical "Dreamin' Again." The 4th annual tour is directed by Randy Anderson, music minister at Hillcrest.

Because of donations by members of the church, the 30-member choir will travel cross-country in a chartered bus, presenting concerts at Baptist churches in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Missouri.

Today, the youth gave a concert at the Thorncrown Chapel in Eureka Springs, Ark. The glass chapel, built in the countryside at Eureka Springs, is a popular tourist attraction, said Anderson.

Tonight, the group will attend the Great Passion Play in Eureka Springs. The religious pageant runs for 5 or 6 months each year. According to Anderson, it is one of the longest running performances in the world.

Tomorrow, the choir will take a canoe trip with the youth at Calvary Baptist Church in Joplin, Mo. Phillip McClendon, former pastor at Hillcrest, is the minister of the church. The youth choir will give a concert Sunday morning at Calvary Baptist.

Gene Gage, youth minister, also is traveling with the youth. They will return Tuesday. The tour is funded through donations and money raised by the youth. For this year's tour, the youth held a car wash.

Baptist Temple to show film Sunday

"God's Prison Gang" is a newly released film featuring Al Capone's getaway driver, the last member of Bonnie and Clyde's gang and two other notorious criminals who have become Christians. The movie will be shown at 7 p.m. Sunday at Baptist Temple Church, 11th and Goliad.

The film, shot behind the walls of New York's Attica Prison, is hosted by Art Linkletter. It tells of the accomplishments of the International Prison Ministry.

Telling their stories in the 44-minute film are George Meyer, Al Capone's favorite driver; Floyd

Hamilton, the last of the Bonnie and Clyde Gang; Jerry Graham, the "robber king" of California; and Ted Jefferson, convicted of crimes from drugs and robbery to murder.

Also featured is "Chaplain Ray," whose Dallas-based International Ministry has changed the lives of thousands of inmates over the past 18 years.

The Rev. Logan Peterson, pastor, said he hopes all citizens concerned about problems of rising crime will attend the free screening of the film.

TV actor exchanges scripts for gospel

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — Why would the star of a hit television series give up fame, fortune and a promising career to preach in auditoriums and tiny churches across America?

Demond Wilson, best known for his role as Lamont Sanford in "Sanford and Son," has found a different and permanent kind of glory: presenting the gospel to a few, rather than sitcom to millions.

"I love preaching the gospel more than anything else I've ever done," Wilson said in a recent interview. "I'm so happy now. I feel honored to be chosen. Even when you've got everything — clothes, jewelry, nice house — you don't feel happy. I was like Jonah, running from the Lord.

"God took me out of the world. He refined me and took my mind out of acting. I didn't have the desire to be in it anymore."

The change to preaching was hard, though.

"On your own you can't make the transition," said Wilson, who was recently in the valley to preach at the World of Pentecost Church in Tempe. "I questioned it, too. God makes you a new person. He says, 'Just be patient — I'll show you how.'"

Born 1946 in Valdosta, Ga., Grady Demond Wilson grew up a conservative Catholic. He spent summers with his grandmother, Ada Mitchell, and attended a Pentecostal church with her for the first time. He was shocked.

Wilson said he felt called to the ministry at an early age. At the same time, he said he felt the call of the theater.

Dr. Donohue

Follicle infection may need drainage

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: About a month ago I had an ingrown hair under my left arm. I pulled it out. Now there is a sore there with a bump under the skin. Is there anything I can do for this? I have another one started in the same area. I am a nervous wreck over this. — P.G.

Calm down, P.G. Apply moist heat (you can use a washcloth dipped in hot water). Do this three or four times a day for five minutes or so at a time. That should promote the drainage you need. The bump is most likely an infected hair follicle.

Now, if the bump doesn't drain (and don't wait too long for that to happen) it's time to see the doctor. He may have to incise the bump for drainage. And you may need antibiotics to kill the germs causing the infection. If the bumps keep forming you will need a program to eliminate the staph germ from your skin. That would entail use of special antibacterial soaps and ointments for application where such transferable germs can lurk, as inside the nose. You will have to isolate your washcloths and towels from the rest of the family's.

You mention (another part of your letter) that you keep "feeling" in the area. Stop doing that. It's not going to help matters to check to see what's happening every half hour or so.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I was told when given my nitroglycerine Lingerie shower honors bride-elect

Lana Williams

A lingerie shower was given June 1 for Lana Williams, bride-elect of Gene Piercefield, at the home of Pat Daniels, 2201 Alabama.

Other hostesses were: Sue Bradbury, Marie Daniels, Sharon Grant, Judy Lewis and Tammy Newsom. Corsages were presented to the bride-elect and her mother, Ima Dell Williams.

Guests were served from a table of fruit pizza and fruit in a carved watermelon basket.

The couple will wed Saturday at Trinity Baptist Church.

Dear Abby

Best gift to Dad is one from the heart

DEAR READERS: Next Sunday (June 16) is Father's Day. Many believe Father's Day was invented by the merchants who saw a way to play on the sentiments of the buying public and stimulate business — after all, almost everybody has a father. (Look what Mother's Day has done for the florists, greeting card people and retail merchants!)

Regardless of whose idea it was, it's a good one that has taken hold, and continues to bring joy to dear old Dad.

Last year, my Father's Day column brought a surprising number of requests from editors of church bulletins, newsletters and other publications asking permission to reprint it. Many readers wrote to say that they had put my suggestion to use, and found it more appreciated than any gift they had given Dad.

I was encouraged to run it annually, so here it is:

DEAR ABBY: The week before Father's Day you wrote: "Don't give Dad another tie, shirt or wallet; give him something he will cherish forever — a letter telling him how much he means to you."

Well, I composed a letter on the bus to work that very morning, typed it on my lunch hour and mailed it to my father in a beautiful card that evening. He was actually my stepfather, but he had been more of a father to me than my real father. I knew it would mean a lot to him, especially since he was in the hospital at the time.

He died on July 5, and I'm so glad I wrote that letter. Now I can live with myself, knowing that he knew how I felt about him.

Thank you so very much for making me put my thoughts of love and gratitude on paper. If this letter helps just one person to do what I did, it was worth writing.

Arkansas bats pound Stanford

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Jeff King said pregame talks from Coach Norm DeBryn and past and present players were enough to awaken sleeping Arkansas bats in the NCAA College World Series losers' bracket.

The fourth-ranked Razorbacks pounded out 12 hits, four from King, in a 10-4 whipping of top-ranked Stanford Thursday night. In the second contest, the noisy bats of Miami and Oklahoma State were nearly put to sleep in a 2-1 victory for Miami.

Arkansas' offense had been relatively silent in its first two games of the CWS. A 1-0 win in 14 innings in the first game last Friday was followed by a 5-4 loss to Mississippi State Monday night.

"We had a team meeting before the game and it woke me up, and I think it woke the whole team up," said King, who belted his 17th homer of the year with nobody on in the seventh inning Thursday. Mark Jackson hit a three-run homer in the fifth to stake the 51-13 Razorbacks to an 8-1 lead. Arkansas scored five runs in the fourth on six hits and an error off Stanford starter Jeff Ballard, 14-4.

Arkansas advances to Saturday's elimination round against Texas, which will play 50-13 Mississippi State in the winners' bracket finale Friday night. The Razorbacks have won four of five regular-season meetings with the 62-12, third-ranked Longhorns.

Miami's Kevin Sheary and Ric Raether combined for a four-hitter in sidelining second-ranked Oklahoma State.

Sheary, now 6-4, allowed only one run, a Carlos Diaz homer to right-center in the fifth, while Raether picked up his 20th save on the season to shut the door on the power-hitting Cowboys through the final two innings.

Lakers, Celtics ready for round five

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — The Los Angeles Lakers scoff at the notion that it's fate, mystique or luck that always wins close games for the Boston Celtics.

"I've dumped the theory of Celtic Mystique," Lakers Coach Pat Riley said Thursday after practice for tonight's Game 5 of the National Basketball Association championship series. "I like to deal in reality, facts and basic fundamentals."

"I have no feeling that the fates are against us," Earvin "Magic" Johnson said. "I don't think there's anything to that."

The Celtics revived the idea that they have some kind of special aura surrounding them in close games on Wednesday night when they evened the best-of-seven series at 2-2 with a 107-105 victory.

Boston guard Dennis Johnson swished a game-winning jumper as time expired, breaking a 105-105 tie. The shot was reminiscent of past heroics, by Sam Jones and Don Nelson in the 1969 finals and by Gerald Henderson last year, which gave the Celtics crucial victories over the Lakers.

"I believe in a Celtic Mystique," said President Red Auerbach, coach of the team for nine of its 15 NBA championships. "There's no source to it, it's just there."

"I'm not sure if the Celtics have mystique, but they have pride,"

Coach K.C. Jones said. "The Lakers have pride, too, but the Celtic family pride is something that started with Bill Russell and continued on through the years. When it comes down to clutch time, you just need a break to win."

"We pride ourselves on not doing things that lose the game for you at the end," Celtics forward Larry Bird said. "We make good passes and don't turn the ball over. All we want when we're on the road is to have the ball with a tie game. That's all we ask for."

When Johnson's high-arching jumper ripped the net Wednesday, it ended Los Angeles' opportunity to win the NBA title without having to return to Boston Garden, where the Celtics have never lost the last game of a championship series.

"The main thing about that shot is that now we know we're going back to Boston," Jones said.

Games 6 and 7 are scheduled for Sunday and Tuesday at Boston Garden.

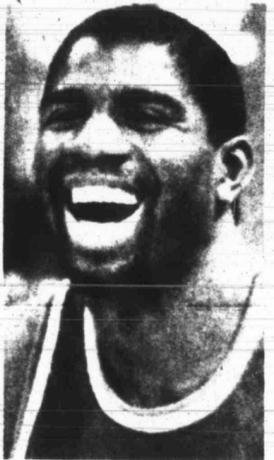

"We're looking to win Friday night and go back to Boston ahead 3-2," Riley said. "If we can't win one out of two there, I don't think we deserve it."

Riley said the Celtics' reputation for winning close games is a bit overblown.

"They've won a lot of close games in which there was a lot of national exposure," Riley said, "but we won 62 games in the regular season and a lot of those were close. They're confident they can win at the end, but so are we."

The Lakers insist that there will be no psychological fallout from Wednesday's heartbreaking loss — "It's amazing how teams of high quality are stimulated by adversity," Riley said — but the tendency to wonder about Celtics' heroics is strong.

"The Celtics always seem to win the close games," the Lakers' Michael Cooper said. "It would be nice to win one of these close ones. I don't know what it is."

Soccer championship game

The championship for the Adult Soccer League will be decided Sunday at 1 p.m. at the soccer field located at the Big Spring Industrial Park.

The title match will pit Fiberflex against the Big Spring Federal Prison Camp.

Local boxers faring well

EL PASO — Howard County Boxing Club hopeful Juan Baldwin is just one win away from becoming the state champ at the Region IX Boxing Tournament here.

Baldwin, a 112-pound flyweight, knocked out his opponent in the second round to earn a spot in the championship match. He will box tonight at 7 p.m. against a boxer from Ft. Worth. Baldwin is a member of the West Texas team that is competing against other teams from all over the state. Right now the West Texans have qualified eight boxers for the finals.

This puts them in the driver's seat in their bid to become the first West Texas team to win the state title at the tournament. If Baldwin wins it would qualify him for the Junior Regional Tournament in Peoria, Illinois.

Juan's older brother, Jamie will be in action in El Paso next week in the Junior World Cup Qualifying Championships. Competitors from the western United States along with Hawaii and Puerto Rico will be present.

If the 125-pound featherweight wins there, it qualifies him to the Junior World Cup Championships in Romania. If he does well there he has a chance to make the U.S. Olympic Boxing Team.

Lendl ousts Connors

PARIS (AP) — Martina Navratilova and Chris Evert Lloyd, the top-ranked women's tennis players in the world, will meet again Saturday for the French Open singles title.

In men's semifinal action, Ivan Lendl downed Jimmy Connors 6-2, 6-3, 6-1.

Andrews, Monterey fall at state

AUSTIN (AP) — Victoria Stroman and Pasadena Rayburn meet today for the class 5A state baseball title as the rain-delayed state finals wind up.

DeSoto and New Braunfels Canyon meet earlier in the day for the state 4A title. Semifinal games in other classes will be held today after they were postponed because of rain Thursday.

Bruce Aguilar provided the pitching Cory Thompson the hitting with a three-run homer to power Pasadena Rayburn to an 8-2 victory over Lubbock Monterey in the other 5A semifinal game.

Rayburn, in its first trip ever to the state tournament, jumped on Monterey starter Mike Eckles for three runs in the first inning. John Schelson and Bubba Augustine led off with singles and scored on Aguilar's long fly ball that was dropped by Doug Welch.

DeSoto used a four-run fifth inning to defeat Andrews 5-2 and advance to the Class 4A UIL state baseball final against New Braunfels Canyon, a 10-7 winner over Jasper.

Martinez's shot saves day for Blue Jays

By The Associated Press
Toronto's Buck Martinez didn't figure to get into the game, while teammate Jimmy Key was just hoping to stay there long enough to reap the benefits of what he had sown.

It worked out beautifully for Martinez, whose two-run homer in the 12th inning Thursday night lifted the Blue Jays to a 2-0 victory over the Detroit Tigers, who had been held hitless through eight innings by Key.

AL Roundup

"It was only by a funny set of circumstances that I got into the game in the first place," said Martinez, who hit a breaking ball off reliever Aurelio Lopez to give the Blue Jays their 14th victory in 16 games and widen their lead in the American League East to 5 1/2 games over idle Baltimore.

Lopez, 0-4, hit George Bell leading off the 12th. One out later, Martinez hit his fourth homer of the season, to left field.

Jim Acker, 2-0, who pitched the 12th, was the winner.

Elsewhere in the AL, it was Milwaukee 5, New York 1; Cleveland 9, Seattle 1, and Chicago 4, Texas 3. The Chicago Cubs beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-2 in 12 innings in the only National League game.

Brewers 5, Yankees 1
Milwaukee's Danny Darwin flattened New York with a three-hitter and shrugged it off as just another night at the office.

The only New York run off Darwin came in the fifth inning on Don Baylor's 10th homer.

The Brewers scored four runs off Ed Whitson, 1-6, in the fifth inning on run-scoring hits by Earnest Riles, Cecil Cooper, Robin Yount and Ben Oglive.

Molitor gave Milwaukee a 5-1 advantage in the sixth with his fifth homer of the year.

Indians 9, Mariners 1
Bert Blyleven won for the fourth time this season to raise his career total to 199 and then said he doesn't like the notion that he is able to beat only the weaker teams in the league.

Blyleven, 4-6, has two shutouts over Texas — last in the AL West — and one over Milwaukee — sixth in the East.

"My control got better as the game went on," said Blyleven, who struck out nine Mariners, including five in a row, and walked three in hurling his sixth complete game to improve his career record to 199-173.

"We had a chance to get him early, but after he got us out in the third inning, we didn't put any pressure on him," said Ken Phelps, who drove in Seattle's only run in the second.

Brook Jacoby hit a two-run homer to cap a seven-run eighth inning for Cleveland, which snapped its three-game losing streak. The Indians, aided by an error by Seattle second baseman Jack Perconte, scored two unearned runs in the fourth against Matt Young, 4-7.

Brett Butler drove in three runs for the Indians.

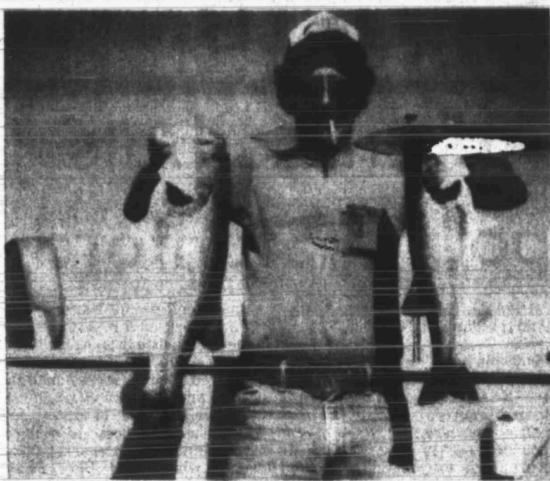

White Sox 4, Rangers 3
Slumping Ron Kittle, who says he has been known to hit a homer now and then, hit a three-run shot to break a 1-1 tie in the sixth inning and end an eight-game Chicago road losing streak.

"Kittle was consistent tonight," said White Sox Manager Tony LaRussa. "Two walks and the dinger."

Kittle's homer broke an 0-for-11 slump. He has six homers among his 15 hits this season. He led the White Sox in home runs with 32 in 1984 and 35 in 1983.

Kittle has been inconsistent this season. He said he has been bothered by a shoulder injury. He has appeared in just 33 of the White Sox's 48 games, batting .154.

"If it wasn't for bad luck I'd have no luck at all," Kittle said. The homer made a winner of Floyd Bannister, 4-4, who worked 5 1-3 innings. Bob James worked the final two innings of the game, delayed more than an hour by rain, to collect his 11th save.

Durham comes through for Cubs

CHICAGO (AP) — Manager Jim Frey had been thinking about it for some time and finally he decided to sit down Leon Durham in favor of Richie Hebner.

Durham's rest didn't last long. The first baseman was forced into the game in the late innings Thursday and then delivered a run-scoring double with two outs in the 12th inning to lead the Chicago Cubs to a 3-2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

NL Roundup

"I wanted to get Hebner some swings," said Frey. "Bull has been struggling and last night I decided to get him out of the lineup. Smart move, wasn't it?"

As it turned out, it was, since Durham was flip-flopped in the batting order with pitcher Ray Fontenot when both came into the game in the ninth and Durham became the right man in the right spot.

Jody Davis led off the 12th with a single and was bunted to second. After Larry Bowa fled out, Durham doubled to left-center to score the winning run.

"That was a lifting thrill," said Durham of his first game-winning run-batted-in this season. "I'm pleased about it. That was the first but there are a lot of games left to play. I'm a .300 hitter, not a .240 hitter but I've been getting myself out a lot."

The Cubs' victory came in the only National League game scheduled Thursday.

Durham insisted he wasn't angry at being benched.

"I look at it this way, the way I've been playing sometimes it helps a guy to have a day off to get his act together."

Until Durham's blow — which made a winner of Warren Brustar, 1-1, and a loser of Al Holland, 1-3 — it had been a battle of pitchers beginning with former Cub Rick Reuschel and Dennis Eckersley.

The Cubs nicked Reuschel for two runs in the first with Keith Moreland's single driving in the first run and setting up the second. Reuschel gave up harmless singles in the second and third innings and then retired 14 in a row before leaving for a pinch batter in the eighth when the Pirates tied it on a single by Bill Madlock, a pinch double by Sixto Lezcano and a two-run single by Johnny Ray.

Eckersley had a two-hit shutout going into the eighth.

"Reuschel was outstanding and that's the best I've seen Eckersley throw since he came into this league," said Pirate Manager Chuck Tanner.

"We've been battling all year but we keep coming up a run short here and there. It has not been a lack of effort."

Reuschel was making his first start against the Cubs after posting a 2-0 record in three previous starts since the Pirates recalled him from Hawaii.

"It doesn't matter who you're playing against, you always want to win," said Reuschel, who has had shoulder problems the last two years.

"I'm 100 percent healthy and it's just a matter of going out there and pitching. If I do the job, I'll stick around."

Reuschel was a mainstay of the Cub pitching staff from 1972 through 1981 when he was traded to the New York Yankees. He came back to the Cubs late in 1983 and was 5-5 with them last year before becoming a free agent.

"I have nothing against the Cubs," said Reuschel, who added that Cub boss Dallas Green "helped find me a job."

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Handle duties wisely in the morning, and then you can keep any promises you have made later. LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Be with a partner and complete that contract in the morning; work on details later. Outside situation should be studied. PUBLIC WORKS DIVISION
PUBLIC NOTICE
IN COMPLIANCE WITH THE MAXIMUM CONTAMINATE LEVELS FOR TRIHALOMETHANES
The City of Big Spring is required under the Safe Drinking Water Act to reduce the maximum contaminate levels for Trihalomethanes below the 100 micrograms per liter limit. In order to comply with this public law the City of Big Spring will convert to the use of Chloramines as a disinfectant in the treatment processes and to maintain a residual throughout the distribution system. The combination of chlorine with ammonia does not allow the chlorine to alternately combine with the naturally occurring organic acids to form Trihalomethanes. Thus, the system will be able to be in compliance with the maximum contaminate levels for Trihalomethanes.
The change from the previous routines of water treatment to the use of Chloramines at the treatment plant can cause serious problems to persons dependent on dialysis machines than Carbon Filter are not employed to prepare for the dialysis. A condition known as Hemolyticemia can occur. Therefore, the general public is hereby placed on notice that on July 15, 1985, the water treatment with process within the City of Big Spring water system will convert to the use of Chloramines as a disinfectant. Dialysis patients may be affected by this change, therefore, it is imperative that the pre-treatment scheme used for dialysis units provides some means such as, charcoal filters for the removal of the chlorinating (disinfecting) agent. In addition, the use of Chloramines for disinfecting the potable water system will require different pre-treatment prior to being utilized in aquariums and other uses where the disinfectant agent would prove a hazard to the proposed use. Anyone having any questions with respect to this process are urged to contact the Director of Public Works or the Big Spring Health Department.
