How's that? Involuntary payment

Q. What happens if your neighbors agree to have the street paved and you don't?

A. If their petition for volunatary paving passes muster, then you will be involuntarily assessed a fee for the streetwork as well. You will be required to pay a note with 8 percent compound interest or at the interest rate paid by the city on its most recent general obligation bonds, which, according to City Finance Director Tom Ferguson, is 9.6 percent.

To avoid being involuntarily assessed, you can agree to sign the petition after it has been approved.

Woman suffers miscarriage in accident

By SCOTT FITZGERALD Staff Writer

A Big Spring woman lost a child through miscarriage as a result of a two-car accident that occurred early Sunday evening on Highway 350, 11/2 miles north of Big Spring.

According to a Malone-Hogan Hospital report received by Nalley-Pickle & Welch Funeral Home, infant Adam Rubio died at 10 p.m. after major surgery was performed on his mother, Marta Elena Rubio, 21, of 308 N.W. 10th at the

Dealers prime gasoline pump prices despite oil glut

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Oil-glutted gasoline dealers scrambling to recoup losses and pay for cleaning lead from gasoline pushed up alread, rising pump prices over the past two weeks, says oil industry analyst Dan Lundberg.

'This will continue right straight through to next January," Lundberg said Sunday. "The public is going to have to pick up this increasing tab for the luxury of getting poisonous lead out of our blood streams.'

Gasoline prices nationwide rose an average 0.52 of a cent a gallon for all grades of gasoline since June 21, said Lundberg, who surveys 17,000 gasoline stations in 50 states every other week for his Lundberg

The largest increase was for self-serve, leaded regular, which rose 0.77 of a cent to an average price of $1.12.53 a gallon, he 0.48 of a cent, and premium unleaded hit $1.31.91, an increase of 0.38 of a cent per The addition of lead is a relatively inexpensive way to boost the octane of gasoline. Recent crude oil price cuts may not have had time to be fully reflected at the pump, but some of the potential savings to consumers is being absorbed by gasoline retailers, Lundberg said. Those retailers were unable to quickly pass on wholesale gasoline price hikes to the public earlier in the year. "The dealers' overall gross profit margin remains 31/4 cents lower than it was at beginning of year, and the dealers are strongly motivated to recover the lost markup," he

But if international and domestic prices increase, then gasoline prices will zoom up as we try to get the lead out of gasoline no matter how much it costs." The crude oil prices continued their threemonth fall as Mexico cut its export prices last week and the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Nations was still in disarray, Lundberg said.

The price of crude oil on the international spot market dropped approximately $1 a barrel since last April.

Mexico cut its price for light crude by $1.24 a barrel to $26.51, and by $0.77 to $23.23 for its heavy Maya oil, Lundberg said. Mexico, the United States' leading importer, supplies 14 percent of U.S. oil imports.

Live Aid mega-concert raises $70 million for Africa

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - As protest singer Joan Baez said, the Live Aid mega-concert was the Woodstock of the '80s, and three performers who appeared at both said it pointed out differences between today and the Vietnam era.

The 450,000 people who crowded a 40-acre farm hillside in upstate New York for the three-day Woodstock festival in 1969 "were of a total different consciousness,' Carlos Santana, leader of a 10-member group that bears his name, said after Saturday's 16-hour concert.

"Live Aid is more helping, while the other was more music conscious with the idea to show the world that people could get together, without violence, to do

On Saturday, 61 of the world's biggest rock acts performed simultaneously in London and Philadelphia as 162,000 watched in person and an estimated 1.5 billion more heard the music on television and radio in 150 countries.

Organizers said Sunday the concert, the largest ever staged, raised $70 million for African famine relief efforts

The show was carefully choreographed, running only five minutes past the scheduled 11 p.m. close, and was covered by hundreds of reporters from around the

"The way Live Aid ran was with Japanese efficiency, very smooth," said Santana. "At Woodstock, it was haphazard, no time schedules.

'Woodstock was chaos," said Grace Slick, then part of the Jefferson Airplane, now called the Jefferson Starship. "I'm not that kind of outdoors person, and going to the bathroom in the woods doesn't appeal to me an awful lot," said Ms.

"In Philadelphia you can walk here and there. The cameras worked, everything worked," she said.

Woodstock was a joyful musical happening while Live Aid, in raising millions of dollars to fight starvation in Africa, was musicians helping others, said Ms. Slick, who participated in Live Aid as an introduction host.

College donations up

NEW YORK - Financial contributions to colleges rose 8.5 percent in the 1983-84 school year, with corporate donations up and support from religious groups down, the Council for Financial Aid to Education Inc. said today.

Total contributions during the period were $5.6 billion, up nearly a half-billion over 1982-83, said the council, a non-profit organization established to encourage corporate support for higher education.

According to its estimates, based on information received from 1,118 colleges and universities, donations from corporations rose 14.3 percent to $1.271 billion.

Firefighters and residents of Ojai celebrated together hours after the largest of California's wildfires was contained, as crews began gaining the upper hand over blazes that had blackened more than 1 million acres in Weary firefighters were heading for home Sunday, when the number of people on fire lines had declined to 10,000 from the peak of 17,000 last week, said Pauline McGinty, spokeswoman for the Interagency Fire Center in Boise, Idaho.

"It's getting very quiet around here," she said of the command center that has coordinated the battle against the 3,500 fires that have ravaged 12 Western states since June 27.

LOS ANGELES — A 30-year-old mechanic, wearing an official U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration jacket, was held for investigation of impersonating a peace officer and attempted robbery after frisking a man outside "The DEA came over and said (the jacket) was real, so we believe it was stolen," sheriff's Deputy Robert Stoneman said.

Antonio Cota, who was booked Saturday at the East Los Angeles sheriff's station, remained in custody Sunday in lieu of $6,000 bail, Sgt. Michael Kenyon said.

Investigators suspect the jacket was used as a ploy to rob people, particularly illegal aliens, Stoneman said, adding that no one has reported being victimized.

Shuttle flight postponed

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. - The aborted launch of the space shuttle Challenger will be delayed at least two weeks and could be put off indefinitely because of a tight schedule involving the other shuttles, space officials said. NASA was expected to decide today whether Challenger will get another crack at blastoff this month or will be put on a back burner because of a heavy launch schedule involving the entire fleet of four shuttles.

Defeated Mexican party claims ballot stuffing

MEXICO CITY (AP) - The ruling Institutional tion fraud by PRI officials. Revolutionary Party kept a tight political grip on Mexico by winning a strong majority in the Congress in midterm balloting, according to incomplete returns.

But leaders of the opposition National Action Party, a conservative group known as PAN, claim there was widespread fraud in the July 7 election and races for state authorities.

Still incomplete Federal Electoral Commission returns indicated the Institutional Revolutionary Party, or PRI, won at least 210 of the 400 seats in the lower

Three-hundred of those seats are filled by direct election and the rest alloted to minority parties in proportion to the number of votes they get. In the outgoing

House, the PRI held 299 seats and PAN just one. The PRI - which has been in power for 56 years also holds the entire 64-seat Senate.

PRI candidates were declared winners in seven races for governor and their party claimed decisive victories in a smattering of state legislatures and dozens of municipalities.

PRI victors included new governors for Colima, Queretaro, Campeche, Guanajuato and San Luis Potosi, and for the northern border states of Sonora and Nuevo Leon where PAN hotly contested the races.

PAN supporters in the two northern states have protested almost daily against what they claim was elec-

In Juarez, across the border from El Paso, Texas, hundreds of soldiers patrolled the streets and one of the international bridges as 2,500 demonstrators rallied peacefully Sunday in support of their PAN mayor, Fransico Barrio Terrazas.

Barrio Terrzas, his wife, and two PAN supporters continued a five-day hunger strike to protest alleged fraud there, where the PRI has also claimed victory. Sporadic demonstrations have been held in Nuevo Leon, along the Texas border, where the PRIcontrolled legislature proclaimed PRI candidate Jorge Trevino the governor-elect last Thursday.

Russia fights corruption

MOSCOW — The Communist Party daily Pravda reported Sunday that several senior officials in Kazakhstan were punished and fired after allegedly squandering or embezzling at least $16.4 million in public funds.

The report, apparently aiming to reinforce Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev's drive for party discipline, detailed embezzlement in industry, agriculture and construction in Chimkent, the second largest administrative region in the southwestern republic of Kazakhstan.

Pravda reported on Thursday that Asanbay Askarov, Chimkent party head, lost his job for 'serious shortcomings.'

LONDON - The dollar, hitting its lowest rates for a year against the Japanese yen and British pound, fell against all major currencies in early trading today. Gold prices rose.

Dealers predicted that the dollar, which has fallen more than 15 percent against major world currencies since hitting record highs in February, would decline further. The currency has been depressed by lower U.S. interest rates and market doubts about the strength of the American economy.

Grand old statue deserves facelift

More than $155 million has been collected toward a $230 million fund to restore two of our national symbols - the Statue of Liberty and Ellis Island.

The statue stands on 12-acre Liberty Island. It and 271/2-acre Ellis Island lie close to one another in New York Harbor's Up-

Contributions, which are tax deductible, are being raised from the general public and from corporations and foundations.

The Statue of Liberty was a gift from France to the people of the United States, a monument to Franco-American friendship. The 100th anniversary of the statue's dedication will be next year, and restoration work is expected to be completed in time for the centennial celebration.

Restoration is extensive. The torch held by the statue is being replaced. The structural skeleton is being renewed. The copper skin is being cleaned and treated with anti-corrosive materials. Various stairways are being restored, elevators replaced and ventilation improved. It is a massive task.

Ellis Island was an immigration station between 1892 and 1954. During that time 17 million immigrants arrived at the island from their native countries and passed through to become new Americans. An Ellis Island centennial will be celebrated in 1992, with the opening of its refurbished buildings and a new historical museum.

Those who came to America from Europe sailed by the Statue of Liberty on their way to Ellis Island. The statue became a symbol of hope and freedom, and it represented home to American servicemen returning from Europe after two world wars. It deserves the permanence of restoration.

Hostages enhance U.S.-USSR affairs

WASHINGTON - A deep inner logic connects the end of the hostage drama with the opening of a new perspective in Soviet-American affairs

For the hijacking exposed the empty bombast behind much of what has passed for foreign policy in the Reagan Administration. With the right-wing ideological baggage thus stripped away, serious people in the Administration have settled to the serious business they should have been ment in Big Two relations.

well managed by the president and his associates. They resisted the pressure of the networks to 'Carterize' an act of terrorism into a teary test of presidential compassion. But of course the Administration was not able to satisfy the bloodthirsty cries of its hardretaliation.

Beneath a cover of tough from the beginning with all parties. Garrick playing Drury Lane on his best day could not have concealed from an audience faint with willingness to disbelieve three implicit bargains:

One, with the Israelis, was so implicit it nearly fell apart. A phone call from Prime Minister Shimon Peres to Secretary of State George Shultz saved the day. In what amounted to a quid pro quo, the Israelis began releasing some 700 Shia prisoners taken during their recent withdrawal from Lebanon. In return, the Shia leader, Nabih Berri, released the American

A second deal was cut with a leader infamous the world over as a patron of terror in his homeland and abroad - President Hafez Assad of Syria. President Reagan spoke to Assad by phone on the night TWA Flight 847 was seized. Reagan asked for help, and Assad clearly played the lead role in arranging for Nabih Berri to take control of the hostages from the original hijackers.

Recognition of Assad's helpful part was acknowledged in selection of the point of transfer for the hostages. They did not find freedom as many had supposed under French or Swiss auspices, or through the Red Cross. The road home went by way of Damascus.

Between his first talk with Reagan and his farewell to the hostages, Assad went to Moscow. His Moscow visit was a curious business, unmarked by the usual dinners, speeches, toasts and communiques. Still it can be surmised that the Soviet leader, Mikhail Gorbachev, after promising not a little hope, encouraged Assad to be helpful on the hijackers. For the last thing the Soviet leader wants at this point is another flareup in the Middle East with more and working on all along - an improve- more scope going to terrorist crazies and retaliation by The hijacking, to be sure, was American forces. Gorbachev has much, much juicier fish to fry.

Smoother relations with the U.S. have repeatedly been cited by Gorbachev as one feasible goal for Russia at this time. Thus in arms control discussions Gorbachev has persistently demanded American line fans for acts of vengeful concessions on President Reagan's Star Wars" or Strategic Defense Initiative program as a price for rhetoric, on the contrary, the considering reductions in Russia's Reagan Administration trafficked arsenal of offensive weapons. He has regularly brushed aside complaints by Secretary Shultz and others regarding human rights in

In a further show of playing hard to get, he ducked a summit meeting proposed by President Reagan for the United Nations this September. So the agreement on a Geneva summit in November promises to open a long, difficult Big Two negotiation on a wide range of subjects, including arms control.

Still the elements of a bargain are there - mutual restraint in missile defense with cuts in offensive weapons. There is no reason to accept the advance discount being put on the Geneva summit by the Administration. There is reason, however, for the sensible figures in the Administration - notably Secretary of State Shultz and National Security Adviser Robert McFarlane - to put their own house in order. If the American delegation is hampered by op-ponents of arms control, if this country has talked itself into positions it cannot decently sustain, now is the time to apply the chop. Events have handed Shultz and McFarlane the chance to seize control from the ideologues and they will never have a better shot.

Mexican fears die hard

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA WASHINGTON - Not in many years have relations between the U.S. and Mexican governments been as cool as they are today. Ironically, this estrangement comes at a time when economic and cultural ties between the American and Mexican peoples are closer than ever.

A fundamental trouble seems to be that U.S. and Mexican leaders simply don't understand each other. No more startling proof of this could be imagined than the private conversation Mexican President Miguel de la Madrid had with two of his top aides late last year.

They weren't discussing U.S.-Mexican relations directly. The subject was the upcoming Mexican midterm elections (held recently) in which the opposition National Action Part - or PAN - was expected to win two or three of seven governorships at stake in northern Mexico. The president and his aides were discussing the usual steps that could be taken to steal the election for their Institutional Revolutionary Party - PRI - which has had a virtual monopoly of political power for more than 50

But the Mexican leaders were worried about the violence that was sure to erupt if PAN's candidates were cheated out of their victories. In the old days, before PAN emerged as a viable opposition party, the PRI would have had nothing to worry about. But disturbances have broken out in recent years when vote fraud had been too obvious.

According to a top-secret U.S. intelligence report on de la Madrid's strategy meeting, one of the two Cabinet ministers made an astonishing suggestion: Perhaps the restive northern states would secede from Mexico and join the United States. Far from being pooh-poohed, this off-the-wall scenario was decoded by de la Madrid, who said the United States would certanly acquiesce in the annexation of the breakway Mexican states.

This snatch of high-level conversation may strike Americans as totally divorced from reality, but that's beside the point. What matters is that, almost a century and a half after the U.S. war with Mexico and the annexation of Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California, responsible Mexican leaders are still paranoid about the possibility of a Yankee conquest. Gen. Black Jack Pershing's punitive expedition 400 miles into Mexico in 1916 may be ancient history to us, but it seems like only yesterday to Mexicans.

The State Department, at least, has long been aware of both the difficulties between the United States and Mexico and the importance of trying to erase them. "There (are) forces so powerful that the combined efforts of leaders here and in Mexico can only influence them at the margin," a secret department report states. "The problems of illegal immigrants, narcotics and social inequality are forces of this magnitude. These problems will be important to us: Mexican and American societies are becoming interwoven to the point of symbiosis.'

The State Department's concern over Mexico ar its seemingly insurmountable problems is shared in a frightening way by the Pentagon. The Defense Intelligence Agency has actually made a secret study of how many Army divisions it would take to seal off the 1,933-mile border with Mexico to stop an expected deluge of panic-striken refugees in case of revolution or widespread violence.

want to talk about Mexico's problems. Repeated requests for interviews were rejected.

Navy port site inspires headline war

WASHINGTON - Just when we begin to think that politics really isn't the primary force in this town after all, purely partisan theatrics emerge to remind us we were foolish to ever think otherwise.

A case in point was the announcement early this month that Corpus Christi will be homeport to the battleship USS Wisconsin, aircraft carrier USS Lexington and three other support ships.

The fight to see which politician got to announce it - thus, taking some credit, perhaps was as intense (in a much abbreviated way) as the battle to win homeport.

The announcement, which fulfilled the hopes of Corpus Christi officials and will lead to a multi-million dollar boost to the city's economy, was a major development for the

It capped almost two years of hard struggle Corpus Christi waged with cities across the Gulf Coast. The battle for homeport pitted Texas congressmen against those from the other competing states, particularly Florida. For a time, the battle for homeport was viewed, perhaps incorrectly, as a war between Sen. Phil Gramm, the Texas freshman Republican, and Sen. Paula Hawkins, the Florida Republican whose re-election prospects show signs of deterioration.

Since Texas got the big prize - homeport for Corpus Christi and several other support ships to be based at Galveston-Houston - it appeared that Gramm won whatever battle may have occurred with Hawkins.

But the struggle to win credit in newspaper headlines in Texas rivaled any other contest-- real or imagined.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, the Texas Democrat who largely remained as an onlooker in the homeport battle, stepped in at the last minute and won some credit.

The act, timed perfectly, gave Bentsen aides reason to chuckle and cheer privately. It infuriated Gramm and his staff.

The fight to see which politician got to announce if perhaps was as intense as the battle to win homeport.

Here's what happened:

After much speculation, the Navy was ready to announce its homeport decision July 2. As is customary, the lawmaker of the party in power - Gramm, in this case - is the one notified by the government. He, in turn, makes the announcement and takes whatever credit he feels is appropriate.

Indeed, being of the party in power, Gramm had worked feverishly to win homeport for Texas. It is only fair, too, to point out that Bentsen was a strong supporter of homeport for Texas. However, being a Democrat, he was not always in a position to exercise influence to see a Texas city named homeport. On the morning of July 2, Gramm announced a press conference for early afternoon.

lioineport was finally to be annot The day before, Jack DeVore, Bentsen's press secretary, was asked if Bentsen would be available for comment once the decision was announced. DeVore said the senator would be on vacation and would have no comment

However, on the morning of the day the announcement was to be made, DeVore called reporters offering a statement from Bentsen.

Until that time, reporters writing stories speculating which city would become homeport had to quote unnamed sources. The Bentsen camp knew that if it could offer a name to attach to the announcement before it was formally made, whether Republican or Democrat, whether instrumental in the homeport decision or not, reporters willingly would use it. (With credibility always on their minds, reporters much prefer naming the people they quote in stories rather than not attributing information.)

Suddenly, the Bentsen statement came. It said he had been advised that the Navy had selected Corpus Christi. His carefully worded statement simply said he had been advised of the decision, not that the Navy had advised

In fact, the Navy hadn't officially advised him at all. The Navy was not confirming anything to Democrat Bentsen. He based his statement on information from a source at the Navy Department which was not revealed. He was using unnamed sources just as reporters

As the Associated Press began sending a story to its member newspapers that Bentsen had announced the homeport decision, Gramm, advised of this development, went on the record with the information. He realized not to go public with the announcement before his scheduled news conference in the afternoon would allow the senior senator to grab some headlines.

The last-ditch maneuver by Gramm saved part of the credit for himself. But by the time Iramm made the move the eterior ing into print in afternoon newspapers all over the state saying Bentsen was announcing the secretary Larry Neal admitted later. "There will be others," he said, suggesting the headline-grabbing war between the state's two senators is far from over.

Later in the day, Bentsen held a press conference in Houston after Gramm held his on

"We got 'em. We really got 'em," a Bentsen aide chuckled the following day.

Penicillin protects rheumatic fever victim was 13 I had rheumatic fever. I am now 33 and have been taking penicillin all my life. I am not sure why, but my doctor insisted on it. He has passed away. My husband and I don't agree, but I believe I should continue to get penicillin.

What do you say? - Mrs. T.Z. I have two rheumatic fever letters today. You're first.

You have been taking penicillin all these years to prevent another strep infection. That's the germ that causes rheumatic fever in a small number of people. In them it's a complication of strep sore throat. And one of the complications of that is heart valve inflammation.

The idea, then, is from that point on to protect the person from infection, for a repeat of rheumatic fever from strep infection is a very real threat. And damage to the heart from a second episode would be greater than from the first.

penicillin for the rest of his life. That would be especially so if he is in a profession where there is constant exposure to the strep germ in others - like teaching.

See another doctor. He will assess the present status of your heart and give you guidance on the penicillin matter. Don't delay.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I would like some information of rheumatic fever. My son has been taking penicillin daily. He has been taking it since he was 9, and he is now 22. He hasn't seen a doctor for some time. How long can he stay on penicillin before becoming allergic to it? Is he a candidate for heart surgery when he is older? Should I consult a cardiologist? I want to get things straight. - A.H.

Your son can stay on penicillin the rest of his life and not become allergic to it. He is a candidate for surgery if any heart valve damage from the rheumatic fever puts strain on his heart. Some never need surgery. Some need it early in life, some later. Sure you can consult a cardiologist. Your son needs to find out whether the rheumatic fever damaged his heart to the point of placing restrictions on physical activity.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am going on a vacation and expect to get sun-drenched. Just what is the best sunscreen to use to give me maximum protection against skin

Dear Abby

Prostitutes work at home in Nevada

DEAR ABBY: In a recent column a "Trucker's Wife" described the activities of an alleged prostitute who drives a van with a waterbed in the back and "advertises" on her citizens' band radio.

In your response, you stated that solicitation (for purposes of prostitution) is legal in some parts of Nevada. That portion of your response was incorrect.

Brothels, subject to strict health, licensing and other requirements, are legal in some of Nevada's rural counties. However, soliciting any act of prostitution violates a specific statute that is applicable statewide. Therefore, the activity described by "Trucker's Wife" is illegal in our state.

BRIAN McDAY, ATTORNEY GENERAL, CARSON CITY, NEV. DEAR MR. McDAY: I stand corrected. I wrongly assumed that since prostitution was legal in some parts of Nevada, soliciting was also.

A trucker's wife unloads: DEAR ABBY: I am a registered I'm not working, I enjoy riding with him. It may be illegal to solicit over a CB, but that doesn't stop the hookers. Truckers are besieged DEAR ABBY: The letter from 'Concerned Mom," who was trying to teach her 5-year-old not to accept gifts from strangers, prompts this letter.

Spotlight on Texas

Texas has become the envy of many other states. And it's not just because of our mouth-watering chili and mesquite-smoked

Our state is now attracting more and more businesses to headquarter or locate a major operation here. Corpus Christi was just chosen as the new U.S. Navy base for the battleship Wisconsin. And support warships will be stationed in the Houston-Galveston area. The annual economic impact is expected to top $250 million. No longer is our state a land of only oil and agriculture. While those industries still play major roles, they are now part of a varied big picture, which includes the banking, defense, computer, tourism and telecommunications industries, to name a few.

Regardless of their locations within Texas, the influx of new businesses is a boon to the whole state. New businesses increase the state's tax base and create new jobs for all Texans.

Attracting new businesses

Helping to draw new businesses to Texas are the state's abundant resources, good climate, excellent transportation and hard-working For example, good transportation was a dominating reason for Southwestern Bell Telephone's recent decision to locate a major distribution warehouse in Lancaster, south of Dallas. The new 490,000 square foot complex will serve all five of our company's In addition to transportation, telecommunications facilities are also important in many business relocation decisions.

Southwestern Bell Telephone is proud to offer top-notch telecommunications in the 450 towns it serves in Texas. For the eighth year in a row, we are investing more than $1 billion in new construction to meet Texas' growth and to continue adding state-of-the art communications facilities.

Reasonable phone rates

Also, Texas residential telephone rates are among the lowest in , the nation. In fact, a recent study conducted by an investment brokerage firm - Smith Barney - found Texans had the lowest average monthly residence bill among the 18 states surveyed.

From 1975 to 1984, the average residential phone service for most

Texans increased only 44 percent. During that time, the Consumer Price Index rose 93 percent, gasoline went up 117 percent, medical costs increased 184 percent, while natural gas prices rose 239

In fact, statistics show it actually takes a smaller percentage of earned income to pay for telephone service today than it did 25

Even at our current proposed increases, Texans will continue to

What makes Texas grow? It's a lot of factors, from its highways to its telecommunications services to its state government that actively works to promote economic development.

It's also good people, including Southwestern Bell Telephone's 35,000 Texas employees. We're proud of our traditions of service in the state since the late 1800s. And we're confident of our abilities to continue meeting the needs of our growing state.

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, JULY 16, 1985

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The waning moon finds you have a good time to wind up and get rid of conditions not to your liking and especially where your home, family or property matters are concerned.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Study your home and family and plan how to have everything more comfor-table and ideal there

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Get those arrangements working that can improve your station in life. Take time to visit with friends who can help you.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Fine day to carry on with some fine plan that can make you far more pros-perous. Avoid one who is a boring pessimist. MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Your personal aims can be reached very easily now, so apply yourself seriously to them. LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) You have a noble nature and this is the day to impress others favorably and get much done. Someone is setting a trap for you.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get the expert advice you need so that you can gain your finest ambitions. Be willing to help one who needs your assistance.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) A good day to tie up loose ends of any business deals that are important to you. Show a bigwig you can be relied upon.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You may get news from out of town that can help you to get a new perspective.

An older individual could give you needed data. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Complete those arrangements concerning business that will get you the right results. Bills are overdue, so pay them. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Use care in dealing with a partner who is sensitive and then you can come to a fine agreement. AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Get right at that pile of work and you soon make a big dent in it and then can gain benefits from it. PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You are in the mood for fun and should stick to the proven and be with con-genials. Finish a project you've been working on. IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will always want to be near home and family and should have as secure and fine a place as possible in which to be reared. One who will do well at merchandising since there is great salesmanship in this nature.

Gooden baffles Astros, 1-0

Gooden said.

HOUSTON (AP) — New York's Dwight Gooden baffled Astro hittes to help lead the Mets to their best road trip in club history. He struck out 11, and the Mets capitalized on an eighth inning throwing error to down the Houston Astros 1-0 Sunday night.

The victory gives the Mets a 10-1 record on their 11-game road trip, marking the best in franchise

"I thought he was outstanding," said New York manager Davey Johnson. "His pitches were crisp and he was throwing exceptionally hard

The 20-year-old Gooden gave up only five hits and walked two to improve his record to 13-3 while collecting his seventh consecutive victory and his eighth complete game of the season

"What's so amazing about Gooden is his control of his curve ball," said losing Astro pitcher Bob Knepper, 8-6. "There are a lot of guys who can throw that hard, but they can't get the curve over.

The second-year right-hander faced runners on third twice, and second once, but used two double plays and three strikeouts to avoid any Houston scoring. "Double plays are great," said

Gooden. "This is the most I've had in any game this year. They're better than a strikeout With runners on first and third in the Astros' sixth, Gooden forced a Bass to squelch Houston's final threat of the game. "He's a good offspeed hitter, so I went with a fastball outside.

Stars win USFL title

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) - The 1985 United States Football League Championship wasn't a mirror image of 'the Baltimore Stars season, but it was a fitting, typical end to it.

The Stars, last year's champions, opened with a 1-3-1 record and struggled through the rest of the season, playoffs and right down to the last two minutes of their 28-24 win over the Oakland Invaders in the championship Sunday night.

"Last year it was easy," said Stars quarterback Chuck Fusina. "And it shouldn't have been. We'd have a fumble and it would bounce right into our arms. This year, we had to work for it, grind and spill blood for it."

The Stars ongoing battle carried into the championship.

Baltimore took the lead three times in the first half, only to be tied twice and finally overtaken in the third quarter.

Kelvin Bryant, the game's MVP with 103 yards on 23 carries, scored two of his three touchdowns in the first 30 minutes to give Baltimore a 21-14 halftime lead

But in the third quarter, Baltimore was showered with trouble, as it had been throughout its season. While the offense managed a paltry eight net yards in the third, Oakland took 24-21 lead on a 19-yard field goal by Novo Bojovic and a touchdown following a fumble by Baltimore running back Alan Harvin at his own 24.

8:15 left on another seven-yard run, but the Stars still couldn't win it

On the ensuing kickoff, Shawn Faulkner dropped David Trout's kick and was nailed at his own fourvard line.

"I figured if they could go 96 yards on our defense, they deserved to be champions," said Baltimore coach Jim Mora. "But they didn't." But they almost did.

It took Oakland nine plays to drive to the Stars' five-yard line. Bobby Hebert hit Derek Holloway with a 10-yard strike that set up a third-and-two situation.

John Williams tried to get the two yards but was stopped at the line of scrimmage by linebacker Sam Mills. Baltimore's Jonathan Sutton and Oakland's Tom Newton squared off in the last of a series of altercations that ended up with Newton being tagged for a 15-yard unnecessary roughness penalty.

Hebert overthrew Gordon Banks on the third-down replay. On fourth down, Banks went to the goal line but Sutton just managed to tip Hebert's pass away with 1:59 remaining.
"No, I don't think the better team won," said Oakland Coach Charlie Sumner. "What I'm saying is in this caliber game you shouldn't settle it on that kind of a penalty."

For the Stars, it was one break that went their way in a season

Bryant put the Stars up 28-24 with where so many have gone the other

Following the league's decision to move to a fall schedule last August, the Stars figured it best to play their home games in Baltimore. But Memorial Stadium wasn't available. So they had to pracitice in Philadelphia and play in College Park, Md. Then their offices were thrown out of Veterans Stadium in a rent dispute.

"I didn't think it would be as distractive as it was," Mora said. 'We loosened up after we clinched a playoff spot against Orlando. We didn't even get above .500 until the 14th game of the season.'

Throughout the mess, the Stars have been able to laugh.

While the Baltimore Stars and Oakland Invaders spent a week preparing for Sunday night's championship game, the owners spent their time in meeting rooms, trying to figure out what the league will look like when it is scheduled to resume play in the fall of 1986.

But they accomplished little. "You might see 14 teams playing in exactly the same places they are Jacksonville Bulls owner Fred Bullard said after a four-hour meeting Sunday morning.

The only major development was a motion to incorporate the league, which would allow it to form an executive commmittee that would make decision-making easier.

Baltimore Stars return specialist GARCIA LANE (47) is persued by Oakland Invaders OLIVER DAVIS on a punt return in the final quarter of the USFL championship game in East Rutherford, New Jersey. Baltimore won the game, and their second straight title, 28-24.

KATHY BAKER is all smiles after sinking the winning putt to capture her first victory on the LPGA tour at the Women's U.S. Open in Spr-

Baker battles to U.S. Open victory

SPRINGFIELD, N.J. (AP) -Kathy Baker arrived at the practice range just 20 minutes before her tee-off time for the final round of the U.S. Women's Open, soft drink in one hand, sandwich in the other and obviously late.

It was the only thing that went wrong all day as Baker mastered the tough Baltusrol Golf Club on Sunday, firing a 2-under-par 70 for a three-stroke victory over Judy Clark in the 40th U.S. Women's Nancy Lopez, who led the tournament the opening two rounds and was one shot back heading into the final round, bogeyed three of the again failed to add the Open to her long list of triumphs.

Baker, meanwhile, made the Open her first triumph as a professional. And it came in impressive fashion. Her 72-hole total of 8-under-par 280 was just one shot off the Open record of 9-under set by Pat Bradley in 1981.

I don't think it's quite hit yet,' Baker said. "It was really something coming up 18 with the describe it.'

Baker entered the final round at six under par with a one-stroke lead over Clark and Lopez and a two-shot edge over Janet Coles and Vicki Alvarez. She never lost the edge and after seven holes it came down to a battle between Baker and Clark.

Baker took the lead for good with consecutive birdies on the seventh and eighth holes and made the biggest shot of the tournament on No. 16, hitting a seven iron to within three feet of the cup for a birdie. Clark bogeyed the same hole to fall four shots off the pace with but two to play.

just kept trying to concentrate the hunt in the final round as she on each shot, even when I was on the green on 18," Baker said. "I knew we still had some work to do and I didn't want to relax."

Raker said she was detained getting to the course Sunday and had to park in a lot on a hillside away from the clubhouse. Then she had to run back to her car because she forget something. Then people stopped me for my autograph and finally I had to take a back route to get into the people applauding. I just can't clubhouse," she said. "People still bad saying no, but I had only 20 minutes to get ready."

Baker bogeyed the second hole to fall into a tie for the lead with Clark, while Lopez was taking herself out of contention with bogeys on the first, second and fourth holes. A 32-time winner on the Ladies

Professional Golf Association tour, Lopez was looking to guarantee herself a spot in the LPGA Hall of Fame by winning her second different major. But it wasn't to be. The 28-year-old wife of New York Mets third baseman Ray Knight finished her over par round of the tournament. She did not have a birdie all day. "I should have never bogeyed the first hole," Lopez said. "I struggled the rest of the day because my putts just would not drop. I was disgusted, humiliated and embarrassed starting with two bogeys in a row. It made me sick."

Clark, who played with Baker in the final twosome and was also seeking her first pro victory, twice time was after Baker bogeyed the Alvarez claimed third at 1-underpar 287, one shot ahead of Lopez and Coles. Alvarez, seeking her first professional victory, had a 75 and Coles a 76 on the 6,274-yard

Baker was the 1982 NCAA champion and was the low amateur in the Open in both 1981 and 1982. She earned $41,975 with the victory.

Baker took the tournament lead Saturday on the final hole, rolling in a 15 foot birdie putt from the right side. She had five birdies and one bogey on the back nine and finished with an Open record 54-hole total of 6-under par 210.

The old record for 54 holes was drew within one stroke. The first 5-under parset in 1980 by Amy Alcott.

Wiebe captures Busch tourney

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) -Mark Wiebe said a putt that didn't fall was probably the critical stroke in his first professional victory, a sudden-death triumph over John Mahaffey in the $500,000 Anheuser-Busch Golf Classic.

Wiebe could have won the tournament on the 72nd hole, but a 16-foot putt to save par just slid by the hole. Wiebe made up for it on the first extra hole by sinking a 15-foot birdie putt that quickly ended his battle with Mahaffey.

I really felt it had a lot to do with the playoff," Wiebe said of his missed putt on the final hole Sunday. "My first thought was, 'you hit a good putt on 18, and you missed it. So hit another good one here and you can make up for it.'

"I was real happy with the way I hit that second putt. I didn't dog it. I didn't leave it short. I gave it a good ride.

"Mark played very, very well," said Mahattey, the 1981 Anneuser Busch winner. "He deserved to win the tournament. When you birdie the first hole of a sudden-death playoff, it takes care of most people. He took care of me.

Wiebe, with a final 70, and Mahaffey, who had a 69 finished regulation play at 11-under-par 273 over the 6,746-yard, par-71 Kingsmill Golf Club course.

Wiebe, only 117th on the money list this year, said he felt little pressure heading into the playoff.

win or win more," said the 27-yearold Escondido, Calif., golfer, who added that he'd been through the PGA school "seven or eight times.

Thanks to the victory, worth $90,000, Wiebe "can live my life out. I don't have to play every single week. I can play whenever I want" because of the exemption granted players who win tournaments.

Wiebe's tee shot on the 408-yard, par-4 72nd hole went into the right rough, and his approach landed on the lower level of the two-tier green, about 60 feet from the hole. His first putt came up 16 feet short, and his par-saving effort slid past the hole

The roles were reversed on the first playoff hole, the 427-yard, par-4 16th. Wiebe put his drive down the middle of the fairway, while Mahaffey sliced his onto the cart path down the right side.

wiebe's second shot landed on the green about 15 feet from the pin. Despite playing off the cart path, Mahaffey put his second shot on the green, 25 feet from the hole. 'Playing off the cart path was better than any of the options I had." said Mahaffey. "I had a clear shot to the green. Mahaffey missed his putt for birdie, however, clearing the way for of collecting $54,000. "If I lose, the worst that could happen is I'm not going to have to Kingsmill and the leading moneygo to tour school next year. I either winner on this year's PGA Tour.

All-Stars replaced

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The National League has replaced St. Louis' Joaquin Andujar with New York Mets pitcher Ron Darling, and Glenn Wilson of Philadelphia has replaced injured outfielder Pedro Guerrero of the Los Angeles Dodgers on the roster for Tuesday night's 56th major league All-Star game.

In the American League, All-Star catcher Lance Parrish of Detroit is hurt, leaving the starting job to Carlton Fisk of the Chicago White Sox. Andujar, who leads the majors with 15 victories, decided two days ago that he would relinquish his spot on the team because he thought he would not be named the starting pitcher by manager Dick Williams of

Cowboys missing four rookies

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) -The Dallas Cowboys were missing four draft choices, including their top selection, as the team's rookies began on-field activities at training camp today

The rookies reported here Sunday and were to begin on-field camp

the San Diego Padres.

They included Kevin Brooks, the team's first round draft pick. The defensive end was at camp Sunday afternoon while his agent, Mike Trope of Los Angeles, negotiated with Cowboys personnel director Gil Brandt. Brooks is asking for a four-year package worth about $1.5 million, including a $500,000 signing bonus. Brandt is believed to have offered him about $1.5 million over five years, including a $350,000

The Cowboys problem with signing Brooks is hardly unique. As of Sunday only four of the 28 National Football League teams had signed their first round draft picks. Other missing from camp Sunday included center Matt Darwin, of fenisve guard Matt Moran and defensive end Kurt Ploeger Defensive end Jim Hermann and wide receiver Leon Gonzalez signed with the Cowboys Sunday afternoon and running back Robert Lavette signed late Saturday night.

Nationals enjoy big series lead and Pete Rose was just a kid second baseman with the Cincinnati

A lot has happened since then. When the 56th All-Star Game begins Tuesday night, the Nationals will take the field with a commanding 35-19-1 advantage that Rose helped build.

"I played my first All-Star Game there and I'll probably play my last there," Rose, now the Reds' player-manager, said Sunday. "It's the only town I'll play two All-Star Games in. "Damn, I must be old:"

For Rose, 44, his 17th All-Star selection was a break from two more important pursuits - the overhauling of Ty Cobb's all-time hit record and the guiding of the ocurgent Rade But for the American League, the game presents the same old prickly problem. Why can't they ever win the All-Star Game?

The last time the AL was even in the matchup was in 1965, when the game was played at Metropolitan Stadium in nearby Bloomington, Minn. Rose went 0-for-2, but Willie Mays and Willie Stargell hit home runs that led the Nationals to a 6-5 victory, its seventh in eight games, and an 18-17 lead in the series.

Since then, "The Mary Tyler Moore Show," which helped popularize the Twin Cities, has MINNEAPOLIS (AP) - The last come and gone, Metropolitan time baseball's All-Star Game Stadium has been torn down and visited Minnesota, the American some vacant lots and warehouses League and National League had in the downtown area have been won the same number of games transformed into the fluffy, white cloud that is the Hubert H. Humphrey Metrodome.

And, during that time, it's been all downhill for the AL - two victories in 19 years.

No one seriously believes that one exhibition game in the middle of the season determines which league is better, although the situation keeps nagging at these American Leaguers.

"If they win this year, that league is definitely better than ours," said Kansas City's George Brett, who will start at third base for the AL.

"I have no idea why it happens, Brett said. "I think this is probably the best team we've had in a long time. But it seems like something ways happens late in the game a wild pitch or a guy will walk two in a row, things like that. It's real strange.

Some say pitching, particularly the hard-throwers, has swung the advantage to the NL in recent years. Since 1973. NL pitchers have annually struck out more batters than their AL counterparts. But hits have been about even.

So what is it? Rose, still full of the enthusiasm that became his trademark in the mid-1960s, points to something Price 250
