Volcker favors 'consumption tax'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal Reserve Chairman Paul Volcker indicated today he favors some form of national "consumption tax" if House-Senate negotiations to trim the spiraling federal deficit through spending cuts alone fail or fall short.

"If you can't make sufficient reductions in the deficit on the spending side, then you've got to turn to revenues," Volcker told a House banking subcommittee. "A consumption tax is a desirable way to do it."

Earlier this year, Volcker said that Congress would have to cut the $200-billion deficit by at least $50 billion in 1986 for the effort to be viewed as significant by financial markets.

House and Senate negotiators have been deadlocked for several months over a compromise budget, with the most recent attempt at a compromise — allowing both Social Security benefits and defense spending to rise with inflation next year — falling about $10 billion short of the $50 billion mark.

Volcker was asked whether, given the present budget impasse, a consumption tax such as a national sales tax or value-added tax would be appropriate, or whether it would be harmful to the economy.

"If you have to go to revenues, you go in that direction," Volcker said.

He conceded that there would be political problems in enacting such a tax and said it probably would not be practical "as part of this year's decision on the budget."

President Reagan has consistently vowed to veto any effort to enact a new tax as a means of reducing the deficit.

Volcker, presenting the Fed's midyear economic report to Congress, also defended the central bank's action to expand its money-growth targets to accommodate a surprisingly rapid growth in the nation's basic money supply in May and June.

Volcker said the bulge in the money supply remains a mystery to him. He said that the traditional response to a rise in the supply — tightening credit to avoid the accompanying increase in the inflation rate — was not appropriate in the present situation.

Despite the growth in the money supply, there is no evidence from other indicators that inflation may soon increase dramatically, Volcker said. "We have had a lot of factors working against inflation — happily."

Bush: Reagan looking good

BETHESDA, Md. (AP) — Vice President George Bush visited President Reagan today for the first time since Reagan's cancer surgery and said the president discussed problems of government "just as if he were sitting there in the Oval Office."

"It really is dramatic the way the recovery is taking place," Bush said after meeting with Reagan for 45 minutes at the Bethesda Naval Hospital outside Washington.

He said Reagan walked toward him to greet him and "looked very good indeed."

Bush said they discussed the progress of congressional budget negotiations and agricultural issues among other matters.

"The main point is he was clearly read up and concerned about the various problems just as if he were sitting there in the Oval Office," the vice president said.

He said he asked Reagan how he felt and the president replied, "I feel fine right now."

Earlier, the White House said Reagan had had "best night" since Saturday's surgery. When doctors removed a tube running through his nose to his stomach, Reagan quipped that he felt as if it were "Christmas in July."

Reagan was examined by his medical team shortly after 8 a.m. EDT. The doctors reported his condition as excellent, his vital signs as stable and spirits as good, said a statement by presidential spokesman Larry Speakes.

He said the doctors reported the president had "the best night ever" and was not experiencing any discomfort.

When doctors removed a tube used to draw out gas and fluid secreted in the stomach, the president, who earlier had complained of some irritation from the device, said, "This is Christmas in July."

On Tuesday, Speakes said Reagan was anxious to be "up and at 'em" as he regains strength and received get well wishes from friends and foes alike.

Meanwhile, Bush said it was "business as usual" at the White House.

First Lady Nancy Reagan carries a bunch of balloons as she arrives at Bethesda Naval Hospital on Tuesday. The balloons were for President Reagan, who is recovering from cancer surgery on Saturday.

Teens nabbed in hi-tech scam

SOUTH PLAINFIELD, N.J. (AP) — Seven teen-agers who allegedly used home computers to commit credit fraud, cheat on long-distance phone bills and learn access codes for Pentagon generals are the tip of a scam "like 'War Games,' only it's real life," a prosecutor says.

"I'm sure they think they're having a good time, putting it over on the big corporations," said Middlesex County Prosecutor Alan Rockoff on Tuesday. "They get that Robin Hood syndrome. They're common little thieves and they're going to be treated as common little thieves."

At least 500 people nationwide may have used the "electronic bulletin boards" in which the youths listed telephone numbers of Pentagon brass and information on making free telephone calls, fake credit card purchases and explosives, Rockoff said.

Explosion rocks Sweetwater warehouse

Police evacuate 100 people; property damage estimated at $1 million

SWEETWATER (AP) — More than 100 people were evacuated Tuesday night as an explosive fire destroyed half a city block in this city's warehouse area and did as much as $1 million in property damage.

Foam Crafts Inc. went up in flames about 6 p.m. as a fast-spreading blaze, fueled by plastics and paint, swept through the three-building complex with explosions for a couple of hours, authorities said. More than 100 residents of a four-block area around the scene were evacuated.

Police Chief Jim Kelley said the people had no place to go, "but most will stay with kinfolk. We're going to keep them out until we are sure there won't be any further danger ... all night if necessary."

The entire five-unit Sweetwater Fire Department and the volunteer departments of Roscoe and Blackwell combined forces to fight the fire into the night.

By 9 p.m. the fire was under control, but firefighters were forced to tear down a metal shop building attached to the main 61-year-old brick structure.

The cause of the fire is under investigation, according to assistant fire chief Marlon Williams.

Foam Crafts owner Frankie SoRelle, a Sweetwater city councilman, said he would not rule out arson but said another cause might be hot tar roofing work next door.

He was the only person in the building at the time of the fire and said he smelled something burning, opened the door from his office to the warehouse and the smoke almost overcame him.

SoRelle estimated the property damage to geodesic domes and various other materials in the buildings at $1 million. George Wright of San Antonio, owner of neighboring B and W Toy Co., projected smoke and water damage to his building at $35,000.

Chief Kelley speculated total economic loss to be in excess of $500,000, including the jobs lost by the approximately 35 employees of Foam Crafts.

Foam Crafts manufactures decorative wall crafts, figurines and other plastic resin products as well as geodesic buildings.

Deaf speaker sings audience to its feet

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau AUSTIN — Motivational speaker Nita Tarbet of Big Spring drew a standing ovation and some tears from teachers and parents Tuesday after singing a rendition of Bette Midler's "The Rose."

Her crooning was passable but there was another reason the Texas Parent-Teacher Association audience was so moved. Ms. Tarbet can't hear.

Ms. Tarbet, an artist, writer and speaker, was placed in an institution for the retarded as a child before it was discovered that she couldn't hear or speak.

While she took two years to learn her first word, her speaking voice is normal.

She reads lips but can't spell because she has dyslexia, a reading disability. She wouldn't give her age, but said she is approaching 50.

She said she is a good writer and has hired a secretary to spell for her. "If I had listened to what they said about me in school, I would never have picked up a pencil," she said.

She told group members that they can make the difference in children's lives if they want. A deaf teacher who discovered her as a child in a facility for the retarded went to court to get her out. He taught her she was special and good, she said.

"You can be anything you want to be if you believe in yourself. If I can learn how to sing, you can learn how to do anything," she said.

Another problem for her was overcoming a "very bad" family background, she said.

66 You can be anything you want to be if you believe in yourself. If I can learn how to sing, you can learn how to do anything. 99

Nita Tarbet of Big Spring

She has done well, but apparently the going is still tough. She said she thought about taking her own life several years ago when she was accused of faking deafness. Of her 270 former deaf school classmates, she said, 70 of them have committed suicide. "They couldn't make it in a world where they didn't know what was going on around them," she said.

Ms. Tarbet has worked in education for about 20 years. It is disheartening, she said, to find teachers trying to top each other with stories about how bad a particular child is.

"I emphasize what people can do. Nothing else," she said.

She rarely missed a chance in her address to make light of her situation and how the world reacts to her. People most often ask her how she eats, drives, thinks and has babies, she said.

"I didn't know my reproductive organs were connected to my ears," she quipped.

Disneyland delight

Amusement park plans all-night bash on 30th birthday

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Disneyland marks its 30th birthday Wednesday, starting with an all-night bash marked by bands, 30,000 balloons and free cars.

The party was to begin just after midnight Tuesday and will include a performance of the Main Street Electrical Parade that features scenes from classic Walt Disney films.

Sister Sledge, Animation and Les Brown and his Band of Renown offer the entertainment, along with the usual dazzle of fireworks and parades.

At 2:30 p.m. — the hour when Walt Disney dedicated Disneyland on July 17, 1955 along with the help of Ronald Reagan, Robert Cummings and Art Linkletter — a special rededication ceremony will be held in Town Square.

A car will be given away to every 3,000th guest who attends the all-nighter.

Disneyland's 250 millionth guest will receive a bonanza: a Cadillac, 30,000 miles in free airline travel, 30 free trips to Disneyland or Florida's Walt Disney World and free lodging in Disney hotels at either park.

That lucky person is expected to pass through the gates before summer's end, said Erwin Okun, vice president of Walt Disney Productions.

Although the Magic Kingdom got off to a rocky start, marred by a plumber's strike and still-soft asphalt on Main Street that trapped women's spike heels, its popularity has soared.

Celebrities, like the average tourist, are not immune to its charms. Some penned their thoughts on Disneyland for the Los Angeles Times recently.

"Lots of kids grew up thinking Disneyland was a state, just like Iowa and Rhode Island," comedian Phyllis Diller wrote. "Some Mickey Mouse Club kids have turned into grandparents, who bring their grandchildren to the world's greatest family attraction."

Science fiction writer Ray Brad-

Hundreds wait in line for tickets at Walt Disney's $17 million amusement park July 17, 1955. The culmination of Disney's long-held dream was to take place in Orange County of Anaheim, known principally for its orange groves.

bury admits he leans to overstatement when pondering Walt Disney and his creations.

"Because of Disneyland, the look, color, texture and life in hundreds of and eventually thousands of our cities and towns will never be the same. Which is to say, improved."

"Like the Victorians, he (Disney) gave us gifts of far places, great castles, streets to be happily lost in," Bradbury wrote.

From a first-year crowd of 1.2 million, the park, 27 miles southeast of downtown Los Angeles, welcomed 10 million people in 1984 despite a 22-day strike and Pirates of the Caribbean. The crowds keep Disneyland's kitchens busy. Each year, 4.5 million hamburgers, 4.5 million orders of fries and enough soft drinks to fill a five-acre lake are consumed.

The park grew out of a $17 million investment by Disney. Last year, Walt Disney Productions earned nearly $1 billion in revenues from Disneyland, Walt Disney World near Orlando, Fla., and Tokyo Disneyland, Okun said.

The Tokyo park is owned and operated by the Oriental Land Co., which pays Walt Disney Productions royalties and licensing fees.

Weather

Local

Today, look for fair to partly cloudy skies and temperatures to reach the upper 90s. Winds will be southerly 5 to 15 miles per hour. A less than 20 percent chance of late afternoon and evening thunderstorms is also forecast. On Thursday, highs will be in the upper 90s and winds should be light and variable.

State

Fair skies and mild temperatures were reported across most of Texas today.

A few widely scattered rainshowers were detected across portions of north central Texas along the remnants of a weak frontal boundary that extended from near Texarkana to Wichita Falls.

Another area of light rain and thundershowers was noted over southeast Texas and offshore in the Gulf.

Temperatures were in the low to mid 70s statewide.

DPS awaiting blood test results

Results of a blood sample taken from the driver in a Monday afternoon fatal accident should be returned "in a couple of days" to the Department of Public Safety office in Howard County.

The sample was ordered taken from Roy Dunlap, 34, of Balch Springs, and is being analyzed by the Midland DPS lab, according to DPS Sgt. Frank Woodall.

Dunlap was driving on Interstate 20 Monday afternoon when his pickup truck went off the interstate near Birdwell Lane and down a concrete embankment.

Killed in the accident were Dunlap's nephew, Eric Wade Deaver, 14, and his mother, Marian Landers, 54, both of Lovington, N.M. They were pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace China Long.

Odessan burned to death when tanker overturns

GAIL — An Odessa man burned to death Tuesday morning near here while he was pinned inside the cab of 2 1/2-ton tanker truck that overturned on FM 669.

Rockford Kirk McCray, 21, of Odessa was pronounced dead at 7 a.m. at the scene by Borden County Justice of the Peace Carolyn Stone pronounced McCray. Funeral services are pending with Frank W. Wilson Funeral Directors in Odessa.

The accident occurred at 3:15 a.m. Tuesday morning 11 miles south of Gail on FM 669.

According to a Texas Department of Public Safety accident report, McCray was driving northbound when he approached a left curve in the roadway. McCray failed to make the curve and the truck overturned 2 1/2 times before the gasoline in the tanker exploded into flames, the report stated.

According to the DPS report, the truck belonged to Permian Testors Inc. of Odessa.

Gunman robs radio station

Big Spring police are investigating an armed robbery that took place early this morning at the offices of the KWKI-KKIK radio station on E. Interstate 20 and FM 700.

According to Capt. Lonnie Smith, a single man whose face was covered by a ski mask took $90 at gunpoint at 4:20 a.m. from the station.

The robber apparently knocked on the door and was admitted to the station by the lone disc jockey, Smith said.

After entering the station, the robber flashed a gun at the disc jockey and took the money, Smith said.

Parolee returned to prison

A 23-year-old Big Spring man waived his right to a parole revocation hearing and will be transferred to state prison.

According to state parole officer David Harman, Francisco Olivarez Jr., 23, of 211 N.E. Seventh was arrested Friday on an emergency warrant for parole violation.

Olivarez was on parole for conviction on two counts of burglary of a building, for which he was sentenced in April 1983 to five years in prison. He will return to prison to serve the remaining four years and four months left on his sentence, Harman said.

In addition, Richard Del Cantwell, 22, of Kentwood Apartments remains in county jail pending a hearing on revocation of parole, Harman said.

Bond was denied to Cantwell, who was arrested Monday evening at 1905 E. 25th by Big Spring police on an emergency warrant for violation of parole, Harman said.

The warrant was issued Monday following Cantwell's arrest at 3 a.m. Friday in Odessa on suspicion of unlawfully carrying a weapon, intoxication on a substance, other than alcohol and attempting to evade arrest, Harman said.

Cantwell was sentenced to 10 years in prison in 1982 for theft of more than $10,000. He served 2 1/2 years of his sentence, Harman said.

Police Beat

Stolen car found wrecked

A brown 1985 Nissan Maxima, valued at $13,000, was stolen Tuesday night, Mrs. A.J. Allen of 1620 E. 17th told police.

According to the report, the four-door car was taken between 9 and 11 p.m. Tuesday from Mrs. Allen's driveway. The car was later recovered, wrecked, at 12:15 a.m. today, the report stated.

Gregorio Arenivaz of 100 Carey told police an automobile repairman cashed his insurance check for $3,172.75 on June 25 and didn't do the repair work. Arenivaz gave the check to the repairman at 3911 W. Highway 80.

Burglars stole an Apple IIe computer, monitor, and duo disc drive, valued at $1,575 between 5 p.m. Monday and 7 a.m. Tuesday from Big Spring High School, according to police reports.

Also taken were a video home system, valued at $395; and an unknown number of blank cassette tapes.

Rudolfo Jimenez of 511 E. Second told police someone stole a Valmet 223-caliber semi-automatic assault rifle from his red 1982 Ford pickup truck between 11 a.m. Sunday and 8 a.m. Tuesday.

The gun, which had a 30-round clip and a folding stock, is valued at $800. Also taken was a 10x50-magnification pair of binoculars, valued at $69.

Carolyn Walls of 405 W. Seventh told police someone she knows hit her at 11:30 p.m. Monday at her home. She suffered two black eyes and bruises on her right arm and right side of her lip, the report stated.

In addition, someone threw rocks at her light green 1974 Ford. Damaged were her driver's side window, the windshield and three headlights. Damaged was estimated at $330.

James Weaver of 605 E. Fourth told police someone stole four tires from his car between 8 p.m. and 7 a.m. Tuesday. The tires were valued at $200.

Police arrested two women at 8:27 p.m. Tuesday on suspicion of attempted burglary at the Western Villa apartment complex at 4107 W. Highway 80.

Arrested were a juvenile girl, whose name was not released, and Augustine Mendez, 21, of 1311 Elm. The juvenile girl was released from city jail today.

According to the police report, the two had removed the window screen and were trying to pry open a window on an apartment when they were arrested.

Carolyn Janice Wheeler of 1903 Runnels told police someone stole a computer keyboard between 12:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. Tuesday after entering through an unlocked south side window. The keyboard was estimated at $200.

Myrtice Peterson of 1509B Wood told police someone she knows threatened to hurt her at 12:15 a.m. Monday at 1505 Wood.

Nursing home residents twice evacuated for bomb threats

Bomb threats forced the nursing home in Stanton to be evacuated twice last night, nursing home Assistant Administrator Margie Clardy said this morning.

The Stanton Care Center received the bomb threats at 7 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. from an anonymous telephone caller, who sounded male, Clardy said.

Both threats were followed by a complete evacuation of the 58 patients in the center, she said.

Stanton police and town volunteers made complete searches of the grounds and building after both calls. No bomb was found, Clardy said.

The police department declined to comment on the bomb threats when called this morning.

On the second call, the caller said, "Now that you've had your practice and know how to do it, it's for real," according to Clardy.

About 20 extra staff members were called in to help during the evacuations and stay with the center's residents for the rest of the night. Several community volunteers, including Stanton Mayor Danny Fryar, aided in the bomb searches and evacuations, she said.

Pat Nash, the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce Artist of the Month for July, displays her Indian-influenced art. She and her husband Horace Nash, who is employed by Walsh and Watts Oil Co., have lived in West Texas for 15 years. They have a son, Don Nash; a daughter, Nancy Gilliam; and two granddaughters.

Sheriff's Log

Tools taken from workshop

Dwayne Clawson of Clawson Lumber Co. in Coahoma told a Howard County sheriff's deputy this morning that several items are missing from his storage workshop behind his business office.

Missing items include: a battery charger, valued at $206; a spray gun, valued at $60; two air wrenches, valued at $50 each; a hand grinder, valued at $90; and a portable radio and eight-track cassette player, valued at $100.

The items were stolen between Friday and Wednesday morning. Deputy Ed Covington is investigating the case.

Sheriff's deputies released Adam Rodriguez Canales, 18, of 106 Algeria from county jail after he served 15 days for a driving-while-intoxicated conviction.

Deputies released Gilbert M. Sanchez, 24, of 1011 W. Eighth from jail after he served 15 days for a DWI conviction.

Deputies released James Willie Mathews, 53, of 1311 W. Second from jail after he served time in lieu of a fine and court costs for a DWI conviction.

Abdon Oscar Barraza, 40, of Three April Lane pleaded guilty Tuesday morning to a DWI charge in Howard County Court. County Judge Milton Kirby fined Barraza $400 and $106 court costs two years probation.

Tom Green County sheriff's deputies arrested Loanne Biddison (also known as Loanne Brown) on a Howard County warrant for theft of more than $750 and less than $20,000. She was released on bond.

Deputies arrested Mary G. Salazar, 40, of 703 Douglas on a warrant for aggravated assault. She was released on $5,000 bond set by Justice of the Peace China Long.

Ralph Hilton, 21, of the Travel Inn Motel pleaded guilty Tuesday afternoon to a charge of burglary in 118th District Court.

District Judge Jim Gregg sentenced him to five years in prison, $101-court costs and $200 attorney fees.

Jerry Dan Pharris, 21, of Colorado City pleaded guilty Tuesday afternoon in district court to possession of a controlled substance.

Gregg sentenced him to five years probation and $101 court costs.

The sheriff's department released two persons suspected of illegally entering this country to the U.S. Border Patrol bus.

Police transferred Carolyn P. Walls, 20, of 405 W. Seventh to county jail after she was charged with unlawfully carrying a weapon on licensed premises. She was released on $3,500 bond set by Long.

Cheating on a fish story

PEMBROKE, Mass. — Two men were disqualified from a $1,000 bass fishing tournament and face a court hearing after five live fish were found in their boat before it entered the water, tournament officials said Tuesday.

"A lot of people are mad about it, too," said Richard Federico, who said he had signed up with the Pembroke Bait & Tackle store to help run the tournament, held June 30.

Federico and tournament director Michael Clemente said they found the fish in a gear compartment when they stopped Richard Bernier, 39, and his 30-year-old brother, David, of Middleboro, for a routine check.

AF tests missile site

TRENTON, N.J. — The Air Force has agreed to test the groundwater at a defunct missile site for radioactive plutonium released in a fire 25 years ago.

Air Force officers announced plans for the tests Tuesday after meeting with state and federal environmental officials, and also agreed to give the state Department of Environmental Protection all unclassified information the military has about the fire that destroyed a nuclear-tipped missile.

But any Air Force proposal to clean up the site will be about two years away, said Lt. Col. Edwin C. Banner III of the Biomedical Service Corps at Scott Air Force Base in Illinois.

GE managers indicted

PHILADELPHIA — Two former managers and a supervisor of a General Electric Co. division that has admitted a scheme to defraud the government have been indicted as investigators move up the chain of command, authorities say.

The indictments were "a very substantial step" in assessing responsibility for $800,000 in overcharges on a $47 million Re-Entry Systems Division contract to refurbish Minuteman Mark-12A intercontinental ballistic missiles, U.S. Attorney Edward S.G. Dennis Jr. said Tuesday.

Thomas E. Shaw, 54, of Lexington, Mass.; Richard S. Davis, 53, of Springfield; and Forrest J. Yocum, 51, of Newtown, were indicted Tuesday along with Joseph Calabria, 51, of King of Prussia.

Reagan Jr. goes to ABC

NEW YORK — President Reagan's son Ron has signed a contract with ABC as a journalist and reporter for the network's entertainment division, ABC announced.

"Ron Reagan is a young man who, over the past few years, has shown remarkable development as a journalist and broadcaster," Gary L. Pudney, Vice President, Special Projects and Senior Executive in Charge of Talent for ABC Entertainment, said Tuesday in a statement announcing the agreement.

Senate considers House Democrats final offer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sputtering congressional budget talks are slowly rolling again with Senate negotiators considering a final offer from House Democrats for a compromise, $273 billion deficit-reduction package.

Nonetheless, no one is ready to express optimism about the outcome of the negotiations.

Sen. Pete V. Domenici, R-N.M., chairman of the Senate Budget Committee, said Tuesday he was "not that much more encouraged" after the House bargainers made their offer.

The conferees were meeting again today to discuss the House plan in an effort to draft a compromise version of 1986 budgets passed by each chamber.

While not yet delivering a formal response, Senate Republicans are indicating the House offer may not go far enough in meeting the Senate's higher level of military spending authority or do enough to enforce domestic spending cuts.

Rep. William H. Gray III, D-Pa., chairman of the House Budget Committee, told senators his three-year, $272.6 billion deficit-reduction package was "a 60 percent split in your favor" compared with the $295.2 billion deficit-reduction plan that had been passed by the Senate. The original House budget contained savings of $259.1 billion over three years.

Gray said the new House offer went $24 billion beyond the original House budget in domestic spending reductions. However, Senate Republicans had said they wanted to see the House ante up about $40 billion in additional cuts.

The House plan: —Provides $298 billion for military spending authority next year compared with the $302.5 billion Senate position. The original House proposal was $292.6 billion for fiscal 1986.

—Drops $12.2 billion in savings over three years the House had claimed for changing federal contracting procedures. The Senate had disputed these savings all along.

—Imposes a new user fee on electric utilities that generate nuclear power.

—Makes additional cuts of $1.95 billion in agriculture programs.

—Makes additional cuts in various domestic programs such as the Small Business Administration, mass transit subsidies, rural housing, public housing financing and others.

—Agrees to the Senate position on phasing out general revenue sharing for local governments.

—Agrees to a Senate plan to reduce the federal civilian work force by 4 percent through attrition.

"We feel this is very close to a bottom-line offer," Rep. Martin Frost, D-Texas, said.

Reagan's get well wishes

It was news around the world Tuesday that a tumor removed from President Reagan's colon was cancerous, but the disease had not spread. His political friends wished him well; his enemies said little.

Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher of Britain, one of the president's staunchest allies, sent "love, affection and best wishes" via a telephone call to Donald T. Regan, the White House chief of staff, after the results of the examination were announced Monday.

President Francesco Cossiga of Italy sent this telegram Tuesday: "Happy over the good result of the second surgical intervention that you have undergone. I wish to renew my warmest and most sincere wishes for prompt recovery and fervently hope that you will be able to resume your activity in the government quickly."

Middle East talks peace

TEL AVIV, Israel — Prime Minister Shimon Peres met with two West Bank Palestinian leaders whom Israel could accept as members of a Jordanian-Palestinian delegation to Middle East peace talks, an official said today.

Bethlehem Mayor Elias Freij and Nabulsi businessman Hikmet Al Masri accepted an invitation from the prime minister and conferred with him at his residence for three hours Tuesday night, the official said.

"It was a general discussion about the need to get into the peace process and develop a dialogue," said the official, who spoke on condition he not be identified.

Dollar hits lowest mark

LONDON — Jitters over the U.S. economy and President Reagan's health pushed the dollar to its lowest level in a year on foreign exchange markets today. Gold bullion prices edged up.

The dollar opened broadly lower in the wake of an announcement late Tuesday by the Federal Reserve that it was revising its anti-inflation growth targets for the basic U.S. money supply.

A trader in Frankfurt, West Germany, said the move was taken as a sign that the Fed wants to continue easing its monetary grips and push interest rates lower to stimulate the economy.

3 blacks killed in riots

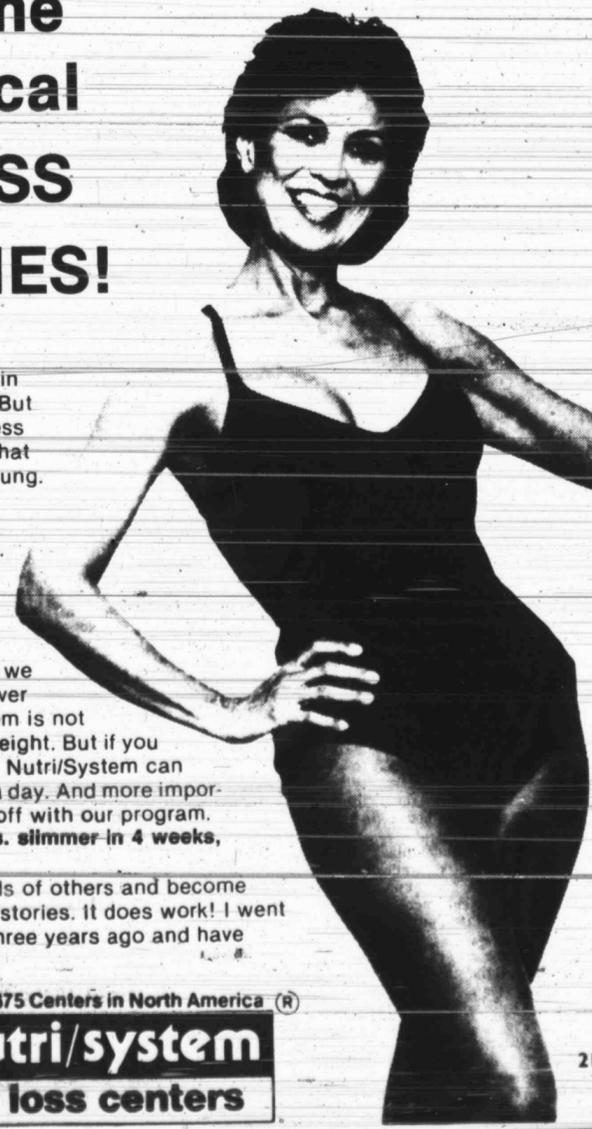

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — Three blacks were killed in widespread rioting across the country, police said today. Students in the black township of Soweto stoned a bus carrying 15 German and American tourists, but none was reported hurt.

The police divisional commissioner, Brig. Jan Coetzee, said the bus was stoned by a crowd of about 100 girls and boys dressed in school uniforms.

But weight loss is more than a business to me because it wasn't long ago that my clothes stretched instead of hung. That I used a cover up over my swimsuit. That all my clothes had long sleeves to cover up my arms. And everytime I bent over to pick something up, I got in my own way. After four children I had accumulated my share of baby fat. At Nutri/System we know how self-conscious being overweight can make you. Nutri/System is not magic; you have to want to lose weight. But if you are fed up with being overweight, Nutri/System can help. You can lose up to a pound a day. And more importantly, you can keep that weight off with our program. If you call now, you can be 20 lbs. slimmer in 4 weeks, for only $49.00 plus food.

Won't you join me and hundreds of others and become one of our Nutri/System success stories. It does work! I went from being a size 12 to a size 7 three years ago and have not changed.

Coahoma council does a disservice

Observers at Coahoma City Council meetings come away with the sense that hardly anything is going right for the town. It probably isn't a fair estimation — certainly there is much in which Coahoma can take pride. The conduct of governing officials, though, is enough to undo much of the good that is done.

Why can't Coahoma city government cope with basic rules in governing? On Monday, for example, the mayor called an emergency session with a few hours notice. The newspaper was notified, and we assigned a reporter to attend.

But two hours notice gives the people of Coahoma little chance to know that a meeting is coming up. Public meetings fail their purpose if the public is unaware of them.

At Monday's meeting, the council voted to spend $26,000 to purchase a garbage truck. Purchase of expensive capital equipment is subject to state competitive bidding law. That law was ignored, and for all the wrong reasons. The decision to buy the truck from a local trash collector was an obvious attempt to avert a lawsuit.

At the time the decision was made, no one was sure how the truck would be purchased. That makes it hard for people to have faith that their elected officials are running city hall from a budgetary game plan.

While in the process of violating competitive bidding laws, the council ducked into closed session in violation of the open meetings act. The doors were closed to discuss "real property" but real estate wasn't the topic — it was the garbage truck purchase: capital equipment, not real property.

We know there are good people in Coahoma working hard to solve serious problems, mostly financial. Witness the willingness of city council members to take on garbage collection duties themselves if necessary. But flitting helter-skelter into ill-considered decisions diminishes the respect residents have for their government. Down that road lies civil disobedience and chaos.

The relatively simple laws that govern bidding and public meetings were designed to advance the cause of the public institution, not retard it. Dancing around those laws makes a mockery of public service.

Companies scared of being sharkbait

There was a time when any American company worth its salt would be happy to proclaim it made high profits and held large cash reserves in the bank. No more. Our captains of industry are now scared to death when they have to announce they're operating in the black.

Boomer Cogswell, chairman of Dapperdan Foods, who just announced his company had lost $230 million, is an example of the new type of executive whiz kid.

I assumed Cogswell would be depressed when the news of his losses was reported. But I was wrong. He was elated. "If we luck out and have a lousy third quarter, we could drop a billion dollars this year."

"And that pleases you?" "Why wouldn't it? Last year we showed a net profit of $750 million and had $800 million in cash stashed away in the bank. Every gunslinger in America wanted to take over the company. Our glowing balance sheet threatened our very existence."

"It was a nightmare. The merger boys not only attacked us for the way we were running the company, but they hired detectives to look in to our private lives. We couldn't make a move without being sued by a stockholder. The better the company did, the more the sharks kept swimming around us. The worst part of their takeover strategy was they said they intended to buy our company with our cash. They also declared they would sell off our profitable subsidiaries to raise capital to retire their debt."

"The more they studied our assets, the more they drooled all over their Wall Street Journals."

"I have to assume then that you took action."

"The only thing we could do was call in the bankers and lawyers to devise a shark repellent takeover defense."

"The first thing they did after examining all our books was criticize us for having one of the most outstanding management and profit records of any company in the United States. Based on our earnings, they were amazed we hadn't been acquired before."

Cogswell continued, "It was hard to explain to them that our policy, since old man Dapperdan founded the company, has always been to have low debt, maintain high cash balances and give our stockholders a fair return on their money. They heard us out and then said we were not in tune with the times. The only way to save the company from a takeover was to make ourselves so unattractive that no one would go near us with a 10-foot junk bond."

"What shark repellent did they suggest?" "For starters they made us unload our cash surplus by buying several companies that were worthless. After making the acquisitions they persuaded us to borrow as much money at high interest rates as the traffic would bear. They proved to us that the more debt we built up, the more chance we had of surviving in the takeover jungle."

Cogswell went on, "It wasn't enough to have high indebtedness and no cash — we also had to produce low earnings so the stock would be overpriced on the market. Last year our shares looked like a dream buy. Now we're in the bottom of the tank."

I said, "You apparently followed your investment bankers' and lawyers' advice to the letter."

"It wasn't easy to turn the company overnight from a winner into a loser, but we managed to do it," he said proudly. "I can only take so much credit — my management team has to be given recognition for the precarious position the company now finds itself in."

"And although you're almost bankrupt, you can still smile?" "Why not? Thanks to our strategy, no one has tried to take us over for six months."

Commando raid in Vietnam showed military strength

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA WASHINGTON — While the Reagan administration weighs its options for dealing with terrorism, it is relevant to examine the lessons learned from a remarkable U.S. military operation nearly 15 years ago: the commando raid on Son Tay, North Vietnam.

The raid was regarded widely as an intelligence fiasco, since the American prisoners who were supposed to be rescued were no longer there. In fact, it was nothing of the sort. U.S. intelligence was quite accurate, and the raid itself was carried out with superb skill.

What the Pentagon planners knew before the Son Tay raid and the surprising results never have been revealed. Here's the story:

On Nov. 21, 1970, a force of 60 elite commandos landed in a secluded compound 23 miles west of Hanoi, deep inside North Vietnam. The men were told their mission was to liberate as many as 80 American POWs being held there.

Not a single POW was found. Only North Vietnamese (and some Chinese) soldiers were on the premises. A brisk battle ensued. The enemy suffered up to 100 casualties; not a single American was killed. In fact, the only U.S. "casualty" was a commando who sprained an ankle.

The raiders were bitterly and understandably disappointed. They had apparently risked their lives for nothing. Who had blundered?

The overwhelming evidence is that no one had goofed. U.S. intelligence was reasonably certain there were no American POWs at Son Tay by the time of the raid. So why send the raiders in?

The chief planner of the raid, Gen. Donald T. Blackburn, told our associate Donald Goldberg years later: "We knew they (the POWs) had been moved. We didn't want to give up the demonstration of power."

There were intelligence gaps, though not over the central question of the presence or absence of Americans in the camp. An Army intelligence officer who worked on the raid told us recently that the Pentagon deliberately held down the number of reconnaissance drones that flew over the camp for fear of tipping off the North Vietnamese to an imminent raid.

"The big thing was not whether there were POWs there or not," he explained, "but whether there was a North Vietnamese regiment there or not. We had to make sure that they would not set up a trap for the raiding force or we could have had 60 more POWs, which would have been disastrous."

The large number of troops the raiders encountered was a surprise, as was the quality of their weapons. In fact, a CIA analyst later resigned over the raid, explaining that his boss, not wanting to admit he had no spies in the area, "estimated" that the enemy soldiers at Son Tay were armed only with old Japanese and French rifles, pitchforks and machetes. In fact, they had machine guns.

But, in retrospect, the raid was both a strategic and tactical success. It netted maximum military gain from a minimum risk of men and material. There were four important results:

- Enemy leaders were so frightened at the demonstration that U.S. raiders could strike with impunity so close to Hanoi that they withdrew from the capital and avoided gathering together, which hampered their planning ability.
- Some of their best troops were pulled back from the south to protect Hanoi.
- Devastatingly effective surface-to-air missile batteries also were recalled from the south to ring Hanoi.
- The treatment of American POWs improved dramatically as they were moved into Hanoi for security.

Reaganites miss beat of 'My Generation'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The spectacle of rock stars raising $55 million for famine aid for Africa cannot be a totally comforting one for the Reagan administration.

Rock singers and their influence over American youth were among the targets of some true believers in the Reagan revolution. It is dogma among many conservatives that the advent of rock music in the late 1950s became a destructive factor in American life.

A lot of Americans, not just conservatives, object to the explicit sexual message in many rock songs and their suggestions of permissiveness toward drugs, homosexuality and rebelliousness. But a lot of Americans don't.

Former Interior Secretary James Watt barred the Beach Boys from the official U.S. Fourth of July celebration in Washington in 1983 because he claimed the band attracted degenerate people. After a public outcry and pressure from Nancy Reagan, the Beach Boys performed at the event the following year.

The Beach Boys also performed in Saturday's Live Aid concert for African relief. But they were models of decorum compared to many of the performers. One popular singer was Madonna, who is featured nude in photographs in the current Penthouse and Playboy magazines.

The Live Aid concert in Philadelphia and London so completely dominated American television that it became apparent that not only were rock stars still solidly entrenched as a musical force in the United States but possibly as a political force as well.

John W. Sewell, director of the Overseas Development Council, said the success of Live Aid showed that "Americans with political savvy were surging way ahead of the government" in providing development aid for the global poor, just as Americans had earlier been ahead of their government in civil rights, women's and environmental issues.

"For the first time in the development field, the equivalent of the nuclear freeze movement and environmental movement has taken charge," Sewell said in an interview. The ODC is a non-profit think-tank which focuses on foreign aid and global poverty.

Sewell gives the administration good marks in providing emergency famine aid to drought-ridden African countries, a total of $751 million so far this year. But he gives it poor marks in providing development aid to build roads and irrigation systems for long-term solutions.

The administration has slashed U.S. contributions to the most important international development aid program, the World Bank's International Development Association, and indicated it might end U.S. contributions altogether by fiscal 1988.

Sewell said the 1985 foreign aid bill of $15 billion contains only about $2 billion for development aid in low-income countries. The remainder he said is for political and security assistance to friendly nations, with Israel getting the biggest single chunk. The share of American aid that goes to poor nations has steadily declined during the Reagan administration, he said.

In the Live Aid project, groups which had not performed together for years took the stage to help raise money for famine relief and development aid. Contemporary rock groups such as Duran Duran mixed with older groups such as Led Zeppelin. They were joined by folk-singers from the 1960s, such as Joan Baez, who played a prominent role in the anti-Vietnam War movement, the war Reagan refers to as "a noble cause."

The message of the lyrics had not changed very much over the years. Folk singers Peter,

Paul and Mary were there. They now sing a song called "El Salvador" — critical of past human rights abuses by the U.S.-backed government there.

The Who, in London, sang of the "new revolution." Bob Dylan, sporting an earring now, sang of injustice in America. A raucous duet by Mick Jagger and Tina Turner was heavy with sexual content.

The message of protest and discontent is not the kind of message the Reagan administration has stressed in its five years in office. The administration has focused on building patriotic feeling and returning to traditional family values.

The administration has said from the beginning that it wanted private groups to do more in providing aid. But it probably didn't guess that rock music groups would rise to the challenge.

The Reagan administration had little to say about the Live Aid concert. In England, Prince Charles and Princess Diana appeared as sponsors of the London performance, but there was no comparable administration role on the American side.

Irish singer Bob Geldof, who masterminded the project, declared he was overwhelmed by the multimillion dollar response to the concert, and predicted on Monday that the response would stir world governments.

"Pop music more than anything else expressed the emotion of the day and I think the message is finally, finally getting through (to governments)," Geldof said.

Harvey Goldsmith, the co-producer, said the response to Live Aid has "shamed the governments of the world."

He said the organization's seven trustees will confer Thursday about specific projects the trust will fund in Ethiopia, Sudan and other drought-ravaged African nations.

R. Gregory Nokes writes on diplomatic affairs and foreign aid issues for the Associated Press.

Around The Rim

Explosion of a generation

By KEELY COGHLAN The bomb puffed up into a poisonous mushroom, booming over the desert with an unnatural brilliance.

Even on that scratchy film, the first atom bomb that exploded over comfortable assumptions 40 years and one day ago broke across the screen with the pain of a primal scream. If there was one event that changed our century, that was it.

Without Trinity — a super-sanctimonious, name for an unhallowed ground — Hiroshima and Nagasaki would not have become blood-dark, burning flowers writing on the sand.

The bomb, even more than rock 'n' roll, has altered us so surely that the world of 1918 seems another universe. And rightly so.

There's a gulf between the world of that time and ours. The two Holocausts of World War II — Hitler's Final Solution and twin bombs on Japan — have made us cynical, callous and nihilistic.

In an effort to ignore the daggers hanging over our global heads, we turn to extremes, from the spaced-out fashions of punk to the over-prepped power wardrobes of yuppies, who spew mottoes like "success is a gold American Express card."

My memories of the Cuban missile crisis are necessarily vague; I was young. But the idea that at any minute a bomb could land on my street and destroy us all was absorbed quickly in my mind.

The Johnson campaign commercial where the child picking daisies disappears during the countdown is more firmly etched in my mind than Jackie Kennedy crawling over the back of the convertible, though I've seen both countless times.

We could all share Mrs. Kennedy's grief. The vision of violence was harsh, but certainly not totally incomprehensible. A man fired a gun; another man died.

A plane dropped a bomb over Hiroshima; a generation was killed and maimed.

J. Robert Oppenheimer, the scientist who directed the development of the bomb at Los Alamos, said it best. When he saw the bomb, he thought of a haiku: "I am become Death, the destroyer."

Woman criticizes Rev. King, singer

AUSTIN (AP) — The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. was a lawbreaker and singer Joan Baez offends "people with traditional values," according to a Mesquite woman who Tuesday complained about textbook references to King and Baez.

Mary Lassiter presented the testimony on the second day of State Textbook Committee hearings. The committee's recommendations will go to the State Board of Education, which next month will pick $92.9 million worth of books for use next year.

Mrs. Lassiter testified about a Spanish supplementary reader. She said Ms. Baez's views of "peace and freedom ... may have stirred emotions but reflects a total lack of intellectual analysis."

"Clearly, you can't have both peace — which in Miss Baez's philosophy is a lack of resistance to oppression — and freedom, or at least the freedom ... enjoyed by our founding fathers when they escaped from totalitarian tyranny," Mrs. Lassiter said.

"Furthermore, it is offensive to people with traditional values to hold up Joan Baez as a role model as she advocated lawbreaking," she added. "The use of Martin Luther King Jr. as a role model is objectionable on the same grounds."

She called for deletion of the Baez references and editing of the King references "to eliminate the praise for lawbreaking."

Textbook comments about newscaster Connie Chung also sparked criticism. The book quotes Ms. Chung as saying, "I would say it definitely helped me to get hired, the fact that I am a woman and from a minority."

The book says "democracy provides opportunity for women and racial minorities to have a higher quality of life and freedom from discrimination."

Mrs. Lassiter said, "One gets the feeling that the author is rejoicing in the change that our democracy is undergoing whereby the majority is made to be guilty for being the majority, and the minority deserves more just for being the minority."

Offbeat western film to premier in S'water

SWEETWATER (AP) — "Red Desert Penitentiary," an offbeat western shot in Nolan and Taylor counties last summer, will have a two-performance local premiere, film production officials said.

The movie, filmed through the cooperation of local residents, will have an invitation-only screening at 10:30 a.m. Saturday in Sweetwater, Tom Henderson, production manager of the film and longtime Sweetwater resident, said Monday.

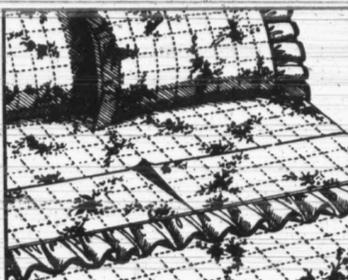

A public screening is slated for 9:30 p.m. Monday. George Sluizer, best-known for his documentary work, said he was shooting a brief documentary about Sweetwater's annual rattlesnake roundup when he got the idea for doing a feature film here.

The project became a reality through the efforts of Henderson and several members of Sweetwater's Little Theater. It was shot on locations ranging from the Sears Ranch in Maryneal to the Nolan County Courthouse in Sweetwater to Old Abilene Town.

Of the film's cash budget of $100,000, 80 percent was invested by Sluizer's MGS Films while the other 20 percent came from two anonymous Sweetwater investors.

Another approximately $125,000 worth of in-kind services — including food, lodgings, transportation and technical work — came from local citizens, many of whom envisioned the project as a way to help fund restoration of the town's Civic Auditorium.

Dear Abby

Some women don't split hairs about shaving

DEAR ABBY: "Rapunzel Legs," a hairy feminist in Everett, Wash., refused to shave her armpits or legs, and now she's screaming "sexual discrimination" because she's not welcome at private swim centers and exercise clubs. I think she deserves all the grief that comes her way.

Doesn't she know that in this country women shave their legs and armpits in the interest of good grooming? Underarm odors are bound to be trapped in all that hair, so it's also a matter of hygiene. If "Rapunzel" let her hair down for me, I'd send up a case of Right Guard.

DENVER READER
DEAR ABBY: Sure it's sex discrimination to ban "Rapunzel Legs" from swimming centers because she doesn't shave her legs and underarms.

Are men banned from swimming centers because they have beards and hairy chests, hairy legs and hairy arms?

Personally, I'd be happier if men and women got rid of all their body hair before swimming in a public pool. They don't realize that all that hair clogs the drains and filter system.

EX-POOL MANAGER
DEAR ABBY: That woman who refused to shave her legs should be named "Repulsive" instead of "Rapunzel."

If she's too lazy to shave, she should move to Europe.

RITA, CHARLOTTE, N.C.

DEAR ABBY: "Rapunzel" should realize that allowing her dark and plentiful hair to grow in an unsightly manner is uncooth, unfeminine and unsanitary. In America we consider hairy legs and underarms gross. In Europe it's considered sexy. But then, Europeans don't use deodorants; they think sweat and other natural body odors are "sexy." Pee-ooey!

ALL-AMERICAN GIRL

DEAR READERS: And now, equal time for "Rapunzel Legs": DEAR ABBY: I applaud "Rapunzel" the hairy lady who dares to be herself. Let it grow — let it show. It suits closet fur fanciers just fine. I am one of them.

I adore furred feminine forearms, flashes of tufted armpits, downy mustaches and soft and silky leg hair. (It looks divine under nylon hosiery!) And if you care for me, don't change a hair for me. I love the natural look!

ROGER THE FUR FANCIER

DEAR ABBY: No woman should shave her legs if she doesn't want to. I haven't touched a razor for years, and when some no-class, big-mouth comments on my hairy legs, I say, "I'll shave my legs when my husband shaves his!"

LOTTA GUTS IN RICHMOND, VA.

DEAR ABBY: Hooray for "Rapunzel"! I think hairless women are a multibillion dollar conspiracy dreamed up by the manufacturers of razors, razor blades, electric shavers, shaving creams, depilatories, waxes and the electrolysis business.

Shaving is a bloody nuisance (literally!) and often leads to infections, ingrown hairs and razor burns. Thanks for sticking up for a woman's right to be herself.

HAIRY IN HOUSTON

DEAR ABBY: Like most American women, I learned early in life to tweeze, pluck, shave or wax away offensive body hair, but I always hated the chore. Now that I'm more mature, I'm able to face a few rude stares or comments rather than return to scraping my skin with a metal blade.

I'd like "Rapunzel" to know that seeing other unshaven women in public gives me permission to be myself, and I thank her for her courage in being a pioneer. Women are taught to hate their bodies, and to believe that their natural selves are somewhat disgusting. I see it as just one more way we're kept busy being self-conscious and thinking about trivial things (like men's opinions of us), so that we won't figure out where our real power lies.

FEMINIST
DEAR ABBY: Tell "Rapunzel Legs": Yes, it is sex discrimination to demand that women shave their legs while men walk around like gorillas.

And if "Rapunzel" wants to go topless — like a man — she won't get any complaints from me. RED IN PARIS, TEXAS

Picnic Surprise

BARBECUE SALMON BURGERS

- 1 can (15 1/2 oz.) or 2 cans (7 1/2 oz. ea.) Honey Boy Salmon
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1/4 cup quick cooking rolled oats
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley

- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon spicy brown mustard
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- Dash pepper
- Oil
- 4 hamburger buns, toasted if desired

Drain salmon; combine with egg, oats, onion, parsley, lemon juice, spicy brown mustard, salt and pepper. Form into 4 patties. Barbecue on oiled piece of foil 6 minutes; turn and cook 6 minutes longer. Place salmon burgers on buns and serve with your favorite condiments. Makes 4 servings.

Variation: Fine dry bread crumbs can be substituted for rolled oats. If so, add 1 additional egg and 1/4 cup salmon liquid to the salmon mixture.

Dr. Donohue

Empty sella: A headache cause

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My wife has empty sella syndrome. Can you give us any information or help? She has had bad headaches at times. — F.B.R.

The reference here is to the sella turcica (SELL-a-TER-cih-kuh), a small cavity in the skull at the base of the brain. It holds the pituitary gland. The two Latin names translate into "Turkish saddle," something I'm told it resembles.

The term, empty sella, refers to a condition in which the pituitary fails to occupy all of the cavity. It often results from a ballooning of one of the brain coverings down into the space, compressing the gland toward the rim. Pituitary function remains intact; hormone production continues.

About 90 percent of empty-sella patients are women, and headache is the most-often-reported symptom. Other parts of the syndrome include obesity and high blood pressure. I am sure your wife's doctor has explained how he plans to handle this. Symptoms are treated straightforwardly — analgesic for headaches, weight loss, blood pressure medicine.

Now I've given you the most common scenario for empty sella. It's possible for it to happen because the pituitary gland itself has withered from lack of blood supply. In that event, hormone replacement medicine is needed.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am on cloud nine! I just heard there is a herpes cure. I've had it for the past five years and get about one attack a year. What about this medicine, acyclovir? — A.Y.

Hold on! Let's get some things straight about acyclovir, which is now available in pill form. It's basically the same medicine as it was in the cream form. And it doesn't cure herpes; it is palliative.

When used for a first-time infection, it hastens healing of the sores and lessens the duration of pain. But it doesn't kill the virus. You still can have recurrences. But for those who have them frequently, one right after the other, the medicine can be used on a daily basis to prevent outbreaks. At present, the longest it's been used in this way is six months. Again, no cure; just suppression.

One attack a year is really a quite minimal recurrence rate. You might not even note any difference. Anyway, you do have to see your doctor about the medicine, which is a prescription drug. Herpes continues to fill much of my daily mail.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have achalasia, the inability to swallow solid or liquids without great difficulty. What is the report on use of dilation therapy, where the esophagus is opened up? — J.D.H.

Results of dilation are very good. Forceful dilation with a water pressure device or with mechanical instruments has brought good results in three-quarters of patients.

Occasionally, surgery is done to reach down to the sphincter muscle (in the lower esophagus). The goal is to relieve the esophagus tightening without sacrificing the ability of that muscle to close properly. It's that closing that prevents the splashing up to stomach acid. More recently, drugs have been successfully used to bring relief, but they are usually reserved for the more serious or difficult to treat cases.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

EVELYN FLORES
honored employee
Evelyn Flores
honored by Hall-Bennett

Evelyn Flores was recently honored by her co-workers at Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital as outstanding employee for the quarter beginning July 1. Flores is an X-ray technician and has worked for Hall-Bennett since August of 1967. Charles Weeg, administrator, said, "Evelyn is one of the most loyal and dedicated employees on the hospital staff and she is highly thought of by both patients and her fellow employees."

Flores comes from a medical family. Her mother has worked as a nurse and one of her sisters is a surgical nurse.

Flores was born in Big Spring and attended Coahoma schools. She became interested in radiology when she began working in a hospital. She was trained under Dr. Sherman Merritt, a specialist in radiology who was living in Snyder.

She passed her registry examinations at Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene and is a registered technician, holding registry from the American Registry of Radiologic Technologists. She is also a member of the American Society of Radiologic Technologists. She and her family reside at 208 N. Goliad.

Volunteers needed for camp

A Girl Scout Day Camp is planned for Aug. 5-9 from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Comanche Trail Park. Volunteers for the camp are needed. More than 60 children have already enrolled for the camp and more volunteers are needed.

Cost for the day camp is $12 for registered scouts and $15 for non-scouts. Scouts whose mothers are volunteers may pay only $6. To volunteer, contact the Girl Scout office at 263-1364.

Atomic clock very accurate

MALIBU, Calif. (AP) — A clock that is accurate to within one second every 30 million years is being assembled here for use in space.

The hydrogen master atomic clock is designed for use on a satellite-based navigation system to enable users to pinpoint their locations from land, sea or air. Particularly critical in bad weather, precision navigation would enable pilots to land on aircraft carriers, or rendezvous tanker aircraft with fighter planes.

The clock, being prepared by Hughes Research Laboratories here, has shrunk from its original size and weight of a 1,000 pound refrigerator to a 50 pound breadbox.

Summer time is sandwich time. Sandwiches give the cook time to enjoy the hot sun instead of slaving over a hot stove.

Keep it easy, keep it light with chicken. Frozen breaded fully cooked chicken patties heat quickly in the microwave and become tasty new sandwich meals with just a few added ingredients.

For a savory supper, try Tangy Avocado Chicken and Bacon Sandwiches, served on toasted English muffins and seasoned with piquant Russian dressing. Serve with chips and an ice-cold beverage.

Crusty rolls, crisp cucumber and alfalfa sprouts give the "crunch" to Crunchy Chicken Crescent Sandwiches. It takes only a few minutes to microwave the frozen chicken patties, add cheese, a creamy herb sauce and the "crunchables."

The olives in Sumptuous Tuna Sandwich add a smooth nutty taste and interesting texture of the versatile pantry standby, tuna. Tuna and ripe olives are combined with sunflower nuts, mayonnaise and lemon juice. The result is a rich, hearty spread spiced with just a hint of curry powder.

The tuna-olive mixture is best heaped on dark rye or fresh French bread and served open-face with garnishes of sliced ripe olives and garden-fresh lettuce, tomato slices and alfalfa sprouts. With the addition of soup, this hearty luncheon sandwich becomes a satisfying supper.

OPEN TOMATO-HAM SANDWICHES WITH MUSTARD SAUCE

- 4 medium-size fully ripe tomatoes
- 2 slices (2 ounces) cooked ham
- 4 English muffins, split and toasted
- Salt and pepper
- 8 Tbsps. butter
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 1/2 tsp. dry mustard
- 2 eggs, lightly beaten
- 1/4 cup cider vinegar

Remove stem ends from tomatoes; cut each in half. Cut each slice of ham in half; cut halves into 1-inch wide strips. On each muffin half place 2 strips of ham, crossing one over the other. Top with a tomato half. Sprinkle lightly with salt and pepper. Dot with 2 tablespoons of the butter. Place in a shallow pan — lined with foil, if you like. Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven for about 10 minutes or until hot.

Meanwhile, make a mustard sauce by melting remaining 6 tablespoons butter in a small saucepan. Stir in sugar, mustard, 1/4 teaspoon salt and 1/2 teaspoon pepper; mix well. Stir in eggs, then vinegar. Cook, stirring constantly, over low heat (do not boil) until mixture thickens — about 2 minutes. Makes 2/3 cup. Spoon over tomatoes and serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

WALNUT PIMIENTO TUNA SANDWICHES

- 6 1/2-oz. can solid pack light tuna in olive oil, undrained
- 1/2 cup finely diced celery
- 2 whole canned pimientos, finely diced (scant 1/2 cup)
- 1/4 cup coarsely broken walnuts
- 1/4 cup mayonnaise
- 1 tsp. lemon juice
- 10 slices bread
- Lettuce

Mix together tuna and its oil with the celery, pimiento, walnuts, mayonnaise and lemon juice. Makes 2 cups. Use as a filling for sandwiches made from the bread (toasted if you like) and the lettuce. Cut each sandwich into 2 triangles. Makes 5 servings.

SHRIMP CLUB SANDWICHES

- 12 slices bacon
- Mayonnaise or salad dressing
- 12 slices white bread, toasted
- 4 lettuce leaves
- 12 slices tomatoes (about 2 medium)
- 2 cans (4 1/2 ounces each) large shrimp, rinsed and drained
- 1 large avocado, thinly sliced

Fry bacon until crisp; drain. Spread mayonnaise over 1 side of each slice toast. Place lettuce leaf, 3 slices tomato and 3 slices bacon on each of four slices toast. Top with another slice toast. Arrange shrimp on toast; top with avocado slices. Top with third slice toast; secure with wooden picks. Cut sandwiches diagonally into 4 triangles. Makes 4 servings.

Turkey Club Sandwiches: Substitute 4 slices cooked turkey or chicken for the shrimp.

SUMPTUOUS TUNA SANDWICH

- 1 can (7 ozs.) tuna, drained
- 2 Tbsps. sunflower nuts
- 1/2 cup pitted ripe olives, chopped
- 1/2 cup mayonnaise
- 3/4 tsp. curry powder
- 1 Tbsp. lemon juice
- Pepper
- Dark rye or French bread
- Extra olives, sliced
- Frisly lettuce
- Tomato slices
- Alfalfa sprouts

Combine tuna, sunflower nuts, olives, mayonnaise, curry powder, lemon juice and pepper to taste. To serve, pile 3/4 cup mixture high on 2 slices of dark rye. Garnish with sliced olives. Serve open-face with lettuce, tomato and sprouts on the other slice of bread. Makes 2 servings.

TANGY AVOCADO CHICKEN AND BACON SANDWICHES

- 1 package (12 oz.) frozen prepared breaded chicken patties
- 2 English muffins, halved and toasted
- 1/4 cup Russian salad dressing

- 1 avocado, peeled and diced
- 8 slices bacon, crisp-cooked and crumbled

Prepare chicken patties according to microwave package instructions. Place chicken on English muffin halves. Spread salad dressing on chicken. Top with avocado and bacon. Heat on high 1 to 2 minutes or until hot. Makes 4 servings.

CRUNCHY CHICKEN CRESCENT SANDWICHES

- 1 package (12 oz.) frozen prepared breaded chicken patties
- 4 slices (about 2 oz.) Cheddar cheese

- 1/2 cup mayonnaise
- 2 Tbsps. dairy sour cream
- 1/4 tsp. dried dillweed
- 4 crescent rolls, halved lengthwise
- Cucumber slices
- Alfalfa sprouts

Prepare chicken patties according to microwave package instructions. Place cheese on top of chicken. Heat on high 30 seconds to 1 minute or until cheese melts. In small bowl, combine mayonnaise, sour cream and dillweed. Spread on crescent rolls. Cut chicken in half and place on crescent rolls. Top with cucumber and alfalfa sprouts. Makes 4 servings.

spreads. Makes 4 servings.

OPEN-FACED CHICKEN PARMAGIAN SANDWICHES

- 1 package (12 oz.) frozen prepared breaded chicken patties
- 1 jar (15 1/2 oz.) spaghetti sauce
- 4 slices (about 2 oz.) mozzarella cheese
- 1/2 tsp. crushed basil leaves
- 1/2 tsp. crushed oregano leaves
- 2 Tbsps. grated Parmesan cheese
- 4 slices French bread, toasted

Prepare chicken patties according to microwave package instructions using a glass baking dish. Remove paper towels. Pour spaghetti sauce over chicken. Top with mozzarella cheese. Sprinkle herbs and Parmesan cheese on top. Heat on high 2 to 3 minutes or until cheese melts. Serve on top of French bread. Makes 4 servings.

COTTAGE CREPES

- 3/4 cup milk
- 2 large eggs
- 1/2 cup cornstarch
- 1 Tbsp. vegetable oil
- 3/4 tsp. baking powder
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- Cottage Filling
- Unsalted butter

Specialists say many popular diets unsound

Good nutrition, gradual weight loss are important for dieters

"Many of the millions of dollars that Americans spend on diet books, plans and products are a waste of money," says Marily Haggard, a foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

According to Haggard, a recent study of 15 popular diet plans shows many make unfounded claims, encourage poor nutritional practices through misinformation and require unnecessary expense.

For example, popular diet plans may promise rapid weight loss or claim to reduce specific body parts, such as the stomach. Yet research shows that one- to three-pounds per week is optimal for long-term weight loss, says Haggard.

"Spot reducing" can take place only with the addition of specific physical exercises, if at all. Overall weight loss is usually required to reduce weight in one specific part of the body, she says.

Although nutritionists, physicians and health educators recommend a balanced diet, reducing plans often encourage an unbalanced intake of foods. For example, some diet plans claim that carbohydrates are harmful, and recommend eliminating them from the diet. Yet omitting the carbohydrates found in cereals and breads could cause a lack of thiamine, niacin and iron necessary for good health.

Other diet plans advocate over-consumption of particular food groups like protein or fruit, which cannot provide all necessary nutrients.

"Many popular diets also contain misinformation about digestive processes," says Haggard. Some plans claim that certain combinations of foods will "burn" fat, that digested food cannot cause weight gain, or that stomach enzymes cannot digest a variety of foods at once. To "help" the digestive process these diets recommend eating only particular foods.

Other diet books assert that people can eat as much as they want of certain foods and not gain weight, or that they can eat as much as they want and still lose weight. This is simply wishful thinking and has no basis in fact, says the specialist.

By requiring the purchase of special foods, devices or books, or promoting the use (and sale) of diuretics, appetite depressants, "miracle" foods vitamins or minerals, the diet "industry" makes money off of consumers.

Diet plans are usually advertised with some type of "evidence" or testimonials by successful clients. But the ads don't discuss all the people who tried the diet and failed to maintain a weight loss.

According to Haggard, there are no scientific studies showing that any of these popular diets are successful in the long run for most people.

The best way to reduce is with a nutritionally balanced diet, moderation of eating habits, increased physical activity and the establishment of good eating habits, which will result in gradual weight loss, she says.

Sour cream

Sliced fresh strawberries

In an electric blender whirl together milk, eggs, cornstarch, oil, baking powder and salt until smooth. Pour about 2 tablespoons batter into a hot oiled non-stick 6 or 7-inch skillet (bottom measurement); off heat, swirl so batter covers bottom. Over medium heat cook until top dries around edges — about 30 seconds. Turn and cook other side for a few minutes. Turn out. Repeat with remaining batter. Makes 12. Add Cottage Filling to center of each crepe. Fold 2 opposite sides over; fold other side to make an "envelope" and seal in filling. Chill. At serving time, quickly brown stuffed pancakes on both sides in a little unsalted butter in a non-stick skillet. Serve topped with sour cream and strawberries. Makes 6 servings.

Cottage Filling: Slightly beat 1 large egg; thoroughly stir in 1 pint small-curd creamstyle cottage cheese, 1 tablespoon sugar and grated orange rind to taste.

CANTALOUPE MELBA

10-oz. package frozen raspberries
4 cantaloupe rings (cut from center of melon), rind removed
1 pint vanilla ice cream
Thaw raspberries, press through a fine-mesh strainer to eliminate seeds. In a small saucepan bring raspberry syrup to a boil; simmer, stirring constantly, until just thickened — about 5 minutes; there should be ½ cup. Chill. At serving time place a scoop of ice cream in the center of each cantaloupe ring; spoon raspberry syrup over ice cream. Makes 4 servings.

MERINGUE BARS

¼-lb stick butter
½ cup confectioners' sugar
2 large egg yolks
1 cup stirred all-purpose flour (spoon into measure and level)
1 tsp. lemon juice
Meringue
½ cup finely chopped pecans
Cream butter and sugar; beat in egg yolks; stir in flour and lemon juice until blended. Spread evenly in an ungreased 13x9x2-inch pan. Bake in a preheated 350 degree oven for 10 minutes. Spread with Meringue; sprinkle with pecans. Continue baking at 350 degrees until topping browns — 25 minutes longer. Cool completely. Cut into bars.
Meringue: Beat 2 large egg whites until they hold soft peaks; gradually beat in ½ cup granulated sugar and 1 tablespoon lemon juice until whites hold stiff and glossy peaks.

LETTUCE SOUP

4 cups packed shredded iceberg lettuce (1 medium head)
2 chicken bouillon cubes, crumbled
¾ cup water
2 Tbsps. lemon juice
2 Tbsps. butter
1 small onion (peeled, thinly sliced and separated into rings)
2 Tbsps. cornstarch
½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. white pepper
2 cups milk
¼ cup dry white wine
Blend lettuce, bouillon cubes, water and lemon juice in electric blender until smooth; reserve. In saucepan melt butter; add onion and cook gently until tender but not brown; remove onion from pan. To butter in pan add cornstarch, salt and pepper; mix well; remove from heat; gradually stirring in milk, keeping smooth. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until mixture comes to a boil and boils 1 minute. Stir in reserved lettuce mixture and the wine. Add cooked onion and heat to serving temperature. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

STRAWBERRY TAPIOCA

½ cup sugar
½ cup water
2 Tbsps. quick-cooking tapioca
2½ cups sliced fresh strawberries
In a 2-quart saucepan stir together sugar, water, tapioca and strawberries; let stand 5 minutes. Over high heat, stirring constantly, cook until sugar dissolves and mixture comes to a full boil. Ladle into individual dessert bowls and chill. Makes 2½ cups — 4 servings.

TV cable thefts bring jail terms

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas cable television companies Tuesday began warning people who pirate cable service that beginning Sept. 1, such thefts are a crime that could bring jail sentences.

"If they are receiving cable TV programming and not paying for it, the show's over," said Bill Arnold, executive secretary of the Texas Cable TV Association.

For the next 45 days, cable companies will conduct an advertising campaign to alert Texans of the new law and urge them to comply, Arnold said.

"Our goal is not to put people in jail. Our goal is to stop the theft of our product by educating the public," he said.

The Legislature this year enacted the law making cable TV theft a Class B misdemeanor, punishable by up to six months in jail and a $1,000 fine.

Arnold said the law won't apply to people who receive signals via satellite dishes, but will include those who tap cable lines or tamper with channel selector equipment.

He said cable operators estimate that one of every eight people in Texas receiving cable service obtains some level of it without paying.

Revenue losses are estimated at more than $50 million annually.

Live concert brings no aid to ABC ratings

NEW YORK (AP) — "Live Aid — An All-Star Concert for Hunger Relief" was right in the middle of the ratings last week, but the rock 'n' roll concert performed better than ABC's other live events, the USFL championship game and its weekly major league baseball game.

Figures released Tuesday by the A.C. Nielsen Co. showed that the "global jukebox" to aid African famine victims had an 11.6 rating and ranked 30th out of 64 shows for the week of July 8-14. ABC estimated that 40 million viewers watched part of the all-day concert's three-hour finale Saturday night on ABC.

With prime-time programming for three nights devoted to sports and rock 'n' roll, ABC finished third again. NBC won the ratings for the eighth consecutive week with "The Cosby Show" and "Stingray," a pilot for a series that isn't on NBC's fall schedule, tying for first.

For the week, NBC averaged a 13.4 rating to CBS' 11.5 and ABC's 9.5.

A new natural gas well spewing poisonous hydrogen sulfide gas near the Republic Refining Ltd. plant in a rural area 30 miles southeast of Jackson, Miss. About 800 people were evacuated from the area.

Crews burn off poisonous gas

UCKETT, Miss. (AP) — Emergency crews burned off toxic hydrogen sulfide gas spewing from a natural gas well Tuesday, and state officials said some of the 800 residents evacuated from their homes could return within a day.

John Harper, chief of enforcement for the state Bureau of Pollution Control, said that if the readings were good, it was possible that the three-mile evacuation zone could be reduced to one mile by Wednesday.

Sci-fi film favorite at box office

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Back to the Future," a tale of a boy who becomes a time traveler and meets his parents in 1955 before they were wed, grossed $10.6 million as the top box office draw over the weekend.

In its second week of release, the Universal film boosted its total gross to $32.6 million.

"Mad Max Beyond Thunderdome," from Warner Bros., was the weekend's No. 2 film, taking in $7.3 million. The third release in the "Road Warrior" trilogy stars Mel Gibson and rock star Tina Turner.

"Cocoon" grossed $5 million to rise one notch above the previous weekend and boost its four-week total to $39.7 million.

Tri-Star's "Rambo" slipped to fourth on a gross of $4.4 million. Sylvester Stallone's sequel to "First Blood" has brought in $125.3 million in eight weeks.

"Pale Rider," starring Clint Eastwood, slipped from second place to fifth with $4 million, followed by Paramount's "Explorers" with $3.6 million, and Columbia's "Silverado," $3.5 million.

Here are the top seven films at the box office this past weekend, with distributor, weekend gross, number of screens, total gross and number of weeks in release.

1. "Back to the Future," Universal, $10.6 million, 1,435 screens, $32.6 million, two weeks.
2. "Mad Max Beyond Thunderdome," Warner Bros., $7.3 million, 1,475 screens, $10.3 million, one week.
3. "Cocoon," 20th Century-Fox, $5 million, 1,102 screens, $39.7 million, four weeks.
4. "Rambo," Tri-Star, $4.4 million, 1,674 screens, $125.3 million, eight weeks.
5. "Pale Rider," Warner Bros., $4 million, 1,688 screens, $28.5 million, three weeks.
6. "Explorers," Paramount, $3.6 million, 1,750 screens, $3.6 million, one week.
7. "Silverado," Columbia, $3.5 million, 1,168 screens, $4.5 million, one week.

Mistrial declared in fraud lawsuit against church

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — A circuit judge declared a mistrial today in a lawsuit that had ended in May with a jury's recommendation for a $39 million fraud judgment against the Church of Scientology.

The jury's decision had prompted more than a week of protests by Scientologists and supporters who alleged religious persecution.

Multnomah County Judge Donald Londer said he based his ruling on improper and prejudicial arguments made by the attorney for Julie Christofferson Titchbourne. He ordered a new trial.

About 150 Scientologists burst into applause when the ruling was announced.

Ms. Titchbourne, 27, of Portland, alleged the group defrauded her by claiming it could raise her intelligence, correct her weak eyesight and improve her creativity when she joined it in 1975. She also charged that it misrepresented the background of its reclusive founder, L. Ron Hubbard.

Her attorney, Garry McMurry, said it was "a case of common-law fraud, of deceit," and not one of religious persecution.

Londer, who had delayed signing the judgment pending his decision on a mistrial, said issues dealing with the beliefs and practices of Scientologists were admitted for limited use, but the jury was improperly told those issues could be used as a basis for punishing the group.

Nationals keep mastery over American leaguers

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The National League and the San Diego Padres, reduced to rubble in last year's World Series, finally got back at the American League and the Detroit Tigers.

Knocking out Jack Morris, benefiting from Dan Petry's uncharacteristic control problems and roughing up Willie Hernandez, the Nationals continued their dominance of All-Star play with a 6-1 victory Tuesday night.

The NL parade of pitchers — led by Most Valuable Player LaMarr Hoyt of the Padres and finished by teammate Rich Gossage — shackled the vaunted AL attack, allowing only five singles.

These were the same AL hitters who had put on an awesome power display in a home-run derby Monday. But none of the 54,960 fans expecting a long-ball show at the Hubert H. Humphrey Metrodome would have known it.

"I thought it might be a 10-8 game or a 12-10 deal," said San Diego catcher Terry Kennedy, one of five San Diego starters, whose two-out single off Morris in the second inning tied the game. "I watched batting practice tonight and said, 'Man, this is going to be a wild game.'"

Instead, Hoyt, Nolan Ryan, Fernando Valenzuela, Jeff Reardon and Gossage combined to hold an American League All-Star team without an extra-base hit for the first time since 1958.

"You know, we didn't even see Joaquin Andujar or Dwight Gooden tonight," said Don Mattingly. The victory widened the NL's lead in the series to 36-19-1, including 12 of the last 13 and 21 of 23.

"We had the home-run hitters, but if they're pitched to right, they're going to make outs," said Morris, who started but left with the bases loaded and two outs in the third, trailing 2-1. Last October, Morris beat the Padres twice as the Tigers demolished the National League champions in five games for the World Series title.

Ozzie Virgil singled home two runs in the fifth, and the NL put the game away in the ninth when Petry walked the bases loaded and Willie McGee greeted Hernandez with a ground-rule double.

"That doesn't make up for last fall, but it makes me feel good to see that those pitchers are human," said winning Manager Dick Williams of the Padres. "Because last year those guys were not human against us."

In all, the NL collected four of their runs, six of their nine hits and five of their seven walks from the Detroit pitchers.

"Yeah, we were terrible," Morris said.

Hoyt, rudely dispatched by the Chicago White Sox in the off-season after leading the AL with 18 losses in 1984, pitched three innings and gave up one unearned run on two hits.

"The American League had the big boppers out there and they can be pitched to," Hoyt said. "I was nervous for the first pitch, but after that, it was just what I had hoped it would be. I did not want to lose this game on national TV."

Steve Garvey, another Padre, made it 2-1, getting the game-winning RBI with a two-out single off Morris in the third following a double by Tommy Herr.

In all, it was quintessential National League baseball of the late 1960s and 1970s, hinging on great pitching, good defense and speed. All-Star page 2-B

Players set strike deadline for Aug. 6

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Peter Ueberroth, who said early this week that he thought a player strike was possible, was more optimistic on Tuesday, predicting that a strike deadline will put pressure on negotiators to agree on a new collective bargaining agreement.

On Monday, the Major League Players Association set an Aug. 6 deadline for agreement on the pact that expired last December. After more than 30 meetings over the past nine months, the owners and players still are far apart.

Asked about the strike deadline Tuesday morning during an interview on NBC-TV's "Today" show, Ueberroth said, "I'm kind of happy about it."

"It puts the pressure on everybody.... I think they'll get it done," the commissioner said.

The negotiators, he added, should "get their job done ... and get this over with."

In an interview on the same network Sunday, Ueberroth said he saw "a fairly good chance" of a strike.

"As far as I'm concerned, the sooner the better," he said then. "Let's get it over with. Let's get the strike behind us."

Any walkout would be the second in the major leagues in four years. The 1981 strike cut 50 days from mid-season, resulting in two-tiered league championship series.

Among the unsettled issues are whether the players will continue to take one-third of the television package for their pension fund and conditions for free agency and arbitration.

After signing a record $1.1 billion broadcast deal, the owners have resisted turning over the usual third to the pension fund, claiming that their books show $43 million in losses last year and projecting more red ink in years to come.

The players' analysis, however, indicates profits of about $10 million in 1984. Don Fehr, acting executive director of the union, said 1985 attendance figures indicate an increase of more than 5 percent. Fehr also says salary increases have leveled off at around 10 percent, well below the management projection of 15 percent.

San Diego hurler notches MVP award

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A year ago he led the major leagues in losses. But LaMarr Hoyt of the San Diego Padres made that seem like ancient history as he won the Most Valuable Player award in the 1985 All-Star Game.

"I felt I had great stuff tonight. The ball was moving all over the place," Hoyt, the National League's starting pitcher, said Tuesday. "I had trouble getting the ball over the plate."

That's a problem Hoyt hasn't had much this year — he's only walked 13 batters in 138 innings.

"This is something I never dreamed of," Hoyt said after being presented with the award by Commissioner Peter Ueberroth. "That makes it all the better. This was a game I didn't want to lose."

Hoyt was one of five National League pitchers who teamed to hold the American League to only five hits — all singles — in a 6-1 win. The victory was the Nationals' 13th in the last 14 All-Star meetings. Hoyt said superior pitching is the reason for that dominance.

"They have a lot of big swingers in the A.L. But they can be pitched to — every one of them. There's a tendency to get the big boppers out there, and I think that shows up in an All-Star game."

Hoyt, 12-4 this season with a 2.93 earned run average, was the American League's Cy Young Award winner in 1983 for the Chicago White Sox. A year later he dropped to 13-18 and found himself on the trading block.

After joining the Padres in December,

San Diego Padres pitcher LAMARR HOYT pitches for the National League All-Stars in the first inning. Hoyt went three innings in the game and was named the Most Valuable Player.

Hoyt put himself on a diet and shed 40 pounds. He said the weight loss helped him regain his winning form.

"I changed my diet. I used to eat a lot of red meat. I had to cut that out," he said.

Hoyt said he regretted allowing the Yankees' Rickey Henderson, the first batter to face him, to score an unearned run. Henderson singled, stole second, advanced to third on a throwing error by catcher Terry Kennedy of San Diego, and scored on a sacrifice fly by Kansas City's George Brett.

"When he gets on, he's gonna cause problems," Hoyt said. "I think Terry got the ball caught in his glove or he might have thrown him out. But I thought a made a great pitch to George Brett."

"I was a little aggravated, but that's the way life goes."

The NL parade of pitchers — Hoyt of the Padres and finished by teammate Rich Gossage — shackled the vaunted AL attack, allowing only five singles.

These were the same AL hitters who had put on an awesome power display in a home-run derby Monday. But none of the 54,960 fans expecting a long-ball show at the Hubert H. Humphrey Metrodome would have known it.

"I thought it might be a 10-8 game or a 12-10 deal," said San Diego catcher Terry Kennedy, one of five San Diego starters, whose two-out single off Morris in the second inning tied the game. "I watched batting practice tonight and said, 'Man, this is going to be a wild game.'"

Eastern pitcher fires no-hitter at local team

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Writer

The pitching performances keep getting better and better for the Midland Eastern All-Stars.

Last night at Pittman Field, Eastern got a no-hit masterpiece from pitcher James Madrid as it rolled past the Big Spring Nationals 3-1. It was a game of unbeatens in the third round of District III Little League tourney action.

It marked the second consecutive time a Eastern pitcher has pitched a no-hitter in the tournament. In their last game Paul Zarate did the feat in a 14-1 win over the Big Spring Internationals. In their opening 7-3 win over Lamesa, J. J. Johnson hurled a two-hitter.

Madrid hooked up with Nationals Neal Mayfield, who only allowed three hits himself, in a heated pitching duel. Their stats were almost even. Each pitcher struck out 13. Madrid struck out the side in last two innings while Mayfield did the same in the first, third and fifth stanzas. Madrid walked nine while his counterpart issued six free passes.

The Nationals' lone run was a unearned one that came in the third inning. This tied the game up a 1-1 at the time.

Eastern scored only one earned run. This came in the top of the first when catcher Manuel Galindo singled and scored on a double by second baseman Johnson. Johnson got the other Eastern hit when he singled in the third.

Big Spring tied the game up in the bottom of the third when Able Hilario and D. J. Tedesco both walked. Hilario scored when the catcher fired a bad throw trying to get him at third.

The final Eastern tallies came in the fourth inning. Joe Dominquez, who had walked, was on third and Charles Trauber, who reached on a

Rodriguez hit a grounder to shortstop Gerald Cobos and Dominquez tried to score from third. Cobos' throw to home was close but Rodriguez was able to slide and knock the ball away from catcher Shane Myrick. While Myrick was trying to retrieve the ball Trauber also came across with the third run. That was all the insurance Madrid needed.

Madrid got into a little trouble in the final inning when he walked Michael Gonzales and Myrick to lead off the inning. But he finished up his no-hitter by fanning T. J. Lane, Sammy Vierra and Joey Conway.

Mid-City 5 North Central 3

At Johnnie Hobbs Field, Midland Mid-City nipped Midland North Central 5-3. Both teams went into the contest unbeaten.

Mid-City scored all of its runs in the second inning. Two walks aided the Mid-City team. David Worley hit a double in the five-run rally while George Jowell banged out a single.

North Central scored two runs in its first-at-bat. Chad Thomas, Danny Schroeder and Greg Pepper all singled in the inning.

The final North Central tally came in the fifth. The big blow was a triple by Thomas. Brandon Oden was the winning hurler for Mid-City, who is now 3-0 in tourney play.

Cram sets mark in 1500 meters

NICE, France (AP) — Steve Cram of Britain used a burst of speed in the last 150 meters to edge Morocco's Said Aouita at the wire and slash more than a second off the 1,500-meter world record at the Nice international track and field meet.

Cram, who lost to Aouita in the 1,500-meter final in the 1984 Olympics at Los Angeles, literally nosed out the Moroccan with a time of 3:31.76, 29.67 seconds, 1.1 seconds better than the mark set in 1983 by Britain's Steve Ovett.

Aouita, whose time of 3:29.71 also eclipsed Ovett's old mark, led until Cram inched ahead on the final stride. Aouita was reduced to tears as he watched Cram take a victory lap.

"I really felt I was alone out there," Cram said. "I only noticed Aouita about 10 meters from the finish line."

Jose Luis Gonzalez of Spain finished third, ahead of Steve Scott, who nonetheless cut two-tenths of a second off his four-year-old American record with a time of 3:31.76.

Cram, coming off a recent calf injury, wasn't expected to challenge a record, and indeed was behind Ovett's pace with but 300 meters to go. But the Commonwealth and European 1,500 champion, who is noted for fast finishes, unleashed an astonishing burst of speed down the stretch to easily snap his countryman's mark.

Cram's performance was the highlight of the meet, but only because Soviet pole vaulter Serguei Bubka narrowly missed boosting his world standard for the second time in a week.

Bubka, who established a mark of 19 feet, 8 1/4 on Saturday in Paris, cleared 19-6 1/4 on his first attempt Tuesday to win the competition. He missed three tries at 19-8 1/4, barely grazing the bar on his final attempt.

Pierre Quinon of France, who won the Olympic gold medal last summer when Bubka was sidelined by the Soviet boycott of the Los Angeles Games, established a personal best of 19-4 1/4 in finishing second. Another Frenchman, Thierry Vigneron, and Alexandre Krupski of the Soviet Union each went 18-6 1/4.

There was another close call in the men's 100-meter dash, won by American Darwin Cook in 9.98 seconds, only .05 off the 9.93 clocking of Calvin Smith in 1983. Desai Smith set a Canadian record in claiming second in 10.03 and Smith was third in 10.05.

Smith came back to win the 200 meters in 20.45. Carlo Simonata of Italy was second in 20.57 and Williams third in 20.67.

In other events: —American Roddie Haley won the 400-meter event in 45.37, followed by countrymen Eugene Sanders in 45.71 and Mark Howe in 45.72.

The 5,000-meter race was won by Fernando Mamede of Portugal in 13:23.71.

Pokes No. 1 pick still unsigned

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — Defensive end Kevin Brooks, like 23 other first-round draft picks, was a holdout when the Dallas Cowboys opened their training camp, but Cowboys president Tex Schramm says the pressure will be on them, not the National Football League clubs.

Brooks is one of four who weren't on hand Sunday when the Cowboys became the first NFL team to set up camp. Also missing were offensive linemen Matt Darwin and Matt Moran and defensive end Kurt Ploeger.

Defensive end Jim Hermann and wide receiver Leon Gonzalez signed Sunday afternoon and running back Robert Lavette signed late Saturday.

Brooks is the first No. 1 pick not to report to the Cowboys' camp on time since 1971, Brandt said.

Brooks is asking for a four-year package worth about $1.5 million, including a $500,000 signing bonus. Cowboys personnel director Gil Brandt is believed to have offered him about $1.5 million over five years, including a $400,000 signing bonus.

Brooks actually came to camp in hopes his agent, Mike Trope of Los Angeles, and Brandt would work out a deal. But after four hours of negotiation, Trope decided not to accept the club's offer, and Brooks had to leave the California Lutheran campus where the Cowboys train. He said he planned to stay with friends near Thousand Oaks.

Brandt and Cowboys coach Tom Landry have warned rookies that missed time in camp will result in a lower signing bonus.

Landry also said rookies will have a more difficult time making the roster since the National Football League has reduced its team rosters from 49 players to 45.

"A rookie misses valuable time now because this is when he gets a foothold," Landry said. "This is where you get your basic foundation. Now you can work with them as individuals. Later, when the veterans report, you don't have that luxury."

...from Gambler to Cowboy

Former-USFL fullback Todd Fowler was scheduled to arrive Sunday with the rookies, but Landry changed his decision about Fowler's reporting date.

Fowler, who just finished a season with the Houston Gamblers, is now scheduled to come in next Sunday.

Americans shun British Open

SANDWICH, England (AP) — Jack Nicklaus and Lee Trevino defended the American stars who have made a massive withdrawal from the British Open, then couldn't resist a couple of small jibes at the absentees.

"The cost probably prohibits a lot of guys from coming here. I haven't figured it up, but I know I have to finish in the top three to cover it," Nicklaus said Tuesday after scoring a hole-in-one in a practice round over the Royal St. George's Golf Club links.

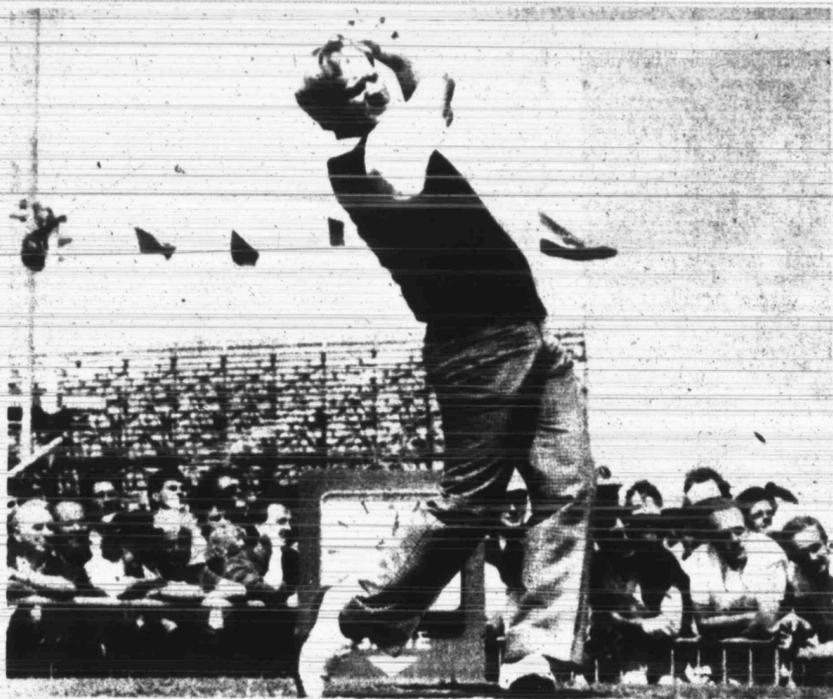

"Accommodations are difficult and it's a hard place to get to," said Nicklaus, 45, who counts three British Open crowns among his record collection of 17 major professional titles.

Another problem, he said, is the fact that there are so many big-money tournaments on the American schedule that "a lot of players make a lot of money, $200,000, early in the year, take their money, and go home."

And Royal St. George's, he said, "is not one of the more traditional Open courses, like St. Andrews and Muirfield. I think some of the Americans remembered that from the last time, and just decided not to come."

Whatever the reason — and a variety have been offered — the 114th renewal of golf's oldest championship will begin Thursday without such stars as Ray Floyd, Hale Irwin, Calvin Peete, U.S. Open titleholder Andy North, Hubert Green, Johnny Miller and Fred Couples.

Most conspicuous by his absence is Curtis Strange, the outstanding player on the American tour this year with three victories and more than $525,000 in earnings. In fact, only eight of the top 20 American money-winners are in the 153-man field, a situation Nicklaus viewed with a twinkle in his eye. "I probably have a little better chance than I did last year, if 12 of them stay home," he said. "If the other eight want to go home, my chances will be even better." Trevino, 45, the current PGA champion and a two-time British Open winner, also spoke of the expense involved.

All Star

"That's what our league used to be all about," said 44-year-old Pete Rose, who became the oldest non-pitcher to appear in an All-Star Game when he grounded out as a pinch hitter in the eighth.

Meanwhile, three times late in the game the American League tried to mount threats. Three times, a National League glove got in the way.

In the sixth, with one on and one out, Eddie Murray sent a slicing drive to left-center that left fielder Jose Cruz caught on the run with a backhanded grab just off the Metrodome's "Super-Turf."

"I have to try to catch that ball," Cruz said. "If I let it drop, it bounces over my head."

In the seventh, Jim Rice led off with a walk and took second on a wild pitch by Valenzuela. Pinch-hitter Gary Ward followed with a liner that first baseman Jack Clark leaped for and caught.

And in the eighth, Damaso Garcia opened with a single and then stole second, with the throw bouncing off the glove of second baseman Ryne Sandberg. The ball trickled toward the mound as Garcia broke for third. But Reardon picked up the rolling ball and easily threw out Garcia.

"Yessir, that's the way we play,"

Williams said. Along with being aggressive, the NL batters were opportunistic. Darryl Strawberry, whose .229 average was the lowest among the elected starters, singled with one out in the second and stole second. After Graig Nettles, another San Diego representative, flied out, Kennedy singled up the middle.

Garvey's RBI single and Virgil's two-run hit off Bert Blyleven also capped two-out rallies.

The AL lineup, leading off with Rickey Henderson and his .357 average and followed by George Brett at .358, seemed like it was ready to quickly exorcise the NL jinx. Henderson opened with a sharp single, promptly stole second and continued to third on Kennedy's throwing error. Lou Whitaker flied out, but Brett hit a ringing sacrifice fly to left.

That was all they would get. Hoyt and Ryan retired 10 of the next 11 batters, and the Nationals took over.

Rookie poses challenge for Connors

WASHINGTON (AP) — A rookie on the men's tour, Stefan Eriksson figures his anonymity might work to his advantage when he meets top-seeded Jimmy Connors in the $200,000 D.C. National Bank Tennis Classic.

"Nobody knows anything about me and that will be to my advantage. He won't be expecting a big match," said the 21-year-old Swede of his impending second-round match against Connors today.

Eriksson, who advanced into the main draw after winning three qualifying matches over the weekend, surprised Chile's Hans Gildemeister on Tuesday, 6-2, 6-1, to advance. After leaving the University of Minnesota to pursue a pro career this year, Eriksson received a lesson in how the big boys play last week during a straight-set loss to countryman Mats Wilander in the U.S. Pro Championships in Brookline, Mass.

"I was nervous and had too much respect for him. I learned you have to play your game and to be patient," Eriksson said.

Currently listed as No. 187 in the world rankings, Eriksson is seemingly unfazed going up against Connors, ranked fourth worldwide. "I am looking forward to it, it will be fun," said Eriksson, who added that he will have to play his own game if he is to have chance.

"Play from the baseline and keep the ball in play. I will have to hit my forehand and need to be more aggressive because he will be," Eriksson said.

In addition to Connors, Andres Gomez of Ecuador, seeded second here, will make his first appearance on the court in a Wednesday evening match against Peru's Pablo Arraya.

Gomez, the defending champion here, will try and shake off the effects of a leg injury which forced him to miss both Wimbledon and the U.S. Pro Championships.

"It won't be easy," he said. "You have to be at your best to win here this week. The tournament's field is the toughest I have seen here in five years and you can't take anyone for granted."

Other seeded players who will see action on the clay courts today are third-seeded Yannick Noah, who goes against Sweden's Mikael Pernfors; No. 7 Jimmy Arias, who faces France's Guy Forget; and Paraguay's ninth-seeded Victor Pecci, who plays Austria's Thomas Muster.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, JULY 18, 1985

GENERAL TENDENCIES: An influential man will aid you greatly today if asked to help you make your life on a more solid and secure structure, so go along with his views. Be astute.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) A senior member of your family has good ideas, so listen and profit from them. Avoid an extravagant woman.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Go after that secret advice from an expert that is invaluable to you and follow it. Don't lose your temper over delays.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You have a friend who wants to help you, so accept gratefully, and you can gain aims more easily. Avoid an overly talkative person.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) A bigwig gives you good ideas, so go along with them and avoid gossiping individuals who waste your time.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Get a plan well-organized that can help you to gain your fondest wishes, but don't expect quick action to occur.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have to be more tactful with a business person if you are to gain your way and get good results. Schedule activities well.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Use charm to tone down that overly-energetic partner and then organize your work very well. Take things in stride.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have been studying advanced methods for handling your duties more efficiently and this is a good day to see if they work.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You want to have fun at all costs, but this could get you into big trouble, so be sensible. Spend time with mate.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You could have a good deal of activity at home and particularly through your own efforts today. Think constructively.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Try to be of assistance to others in gaining their wishes and you gain their good will. Pay attention to health matters.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Don't be too lavish in spending today or you could regret it later. Find better ways of improving your possessions.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will need to early plan his, or her, life if there is going to be any success here. One who will have a pioneering quality and will be quick to seize new opportunities to advance. Spiritual training should come early in life.

"The Stars impel; they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

McDONALD REALTY
 263-7615 611 Runnels
 Big Spring's Oldest Real Estate Firm
 WHAT CAN WE SAY??? — To describe this marvelous home? Nearly new & loaded from roof to foundation with lots of extras. Fireplace, family room, dining room with Mediterranean openings, stove, dishwasher, patio, oversize garage, pretty yard, fence — even an assumable FHA loan. 3 br, 2 bath, $Fifties. College Park.
 A PERFECT ADDRESS — Unmatched neighborhood environment at affordable price. 2 br, 1 bath, lots of new remodeling, new carpet, extra insulation, mock fireplace, good sized rooms on quiet street with canyon view & proven stable real estate values.
 SITTING PRETTY — Remodeled/redecorated 3 br, 1 1/2 bath on quiet, closed loop road near City Park. Lowest FHA-down payment possible available. Immediate occupancy — rent while you buy. Extra nice! $28,000.
 IN TOWN — COUNTRY FLAVOR — From adjacent wooded acreage. 3 br, 1 bath brick, den, fireplace, patio, kitchen bar, efficient storm windows. Spacious $Fifties.
 $18,500 — PRICED LIKE — A mobile home — but this is a solid 2 br, 1 bath home with fenced yard & 1 blk. walk to city park for kids.
 WATER WELL — COUNTRY LOCATION — This neat 3 br, 1 bath on approx. 1/2 acre Sand Springs area — although you'll use all the water you want. Excellent soil. $Twenties.
