1 injured in accident

An elderly Big Spring woman was taken to Malone-Hogan Hospital today after she was struck by an unattended car on the northside.

According to Police Lt. Jerry Edwards, the woman, described by neighbors as in her 80s, was in her front yard at 601 N. San Antonio. An unattended car, parked at a grocery store in the 500 block of N. San Antonio, rolled north across the intersection with N.W. Sixth Street, jumped the curb and pinned the woman against a tree.

Ambulance personnel gave cardio-pulmonary resuscitation to the woman for more than 10 minutes before transferring her to the hospital. According to Edwards, ambulance personnel said she "had a heartbeat" when she was transferred.

Water cut-off

Water supplies will be shut off on Grafa Street between Morrison Street and FM 700 between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. Thursday while the city changes a fire hydrant.

Council nixes fingerprinting

Pool, dance hall owners must still submit to photographs

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

Employees and owners of pool halls and dance halls won't have to be fingerprinted any more, but still must submit to police photographs.

Big Spring city councilmen in a 4-2 vote Tuesday night decided to drop the fingerprinting requirements. Two council members who voted against it did so because they said the new ordinance didn't go far enough in relaxing the special requirements.

Councilmen Johnny Rutherford and Henry Sanchez said they felt the fingerprinting and photography rules should be scrapped altogether.

According to Rutherford, who called the requirements an "administrative burden," the state licensing board for alcoholic beverages keeps most of the data on pool and dance hall owners.

"Every time an employee is hired or fired, they have to make a new request," Rutherford said after the meeting. "I wouldn't want those kind of regulations on any business."

"They should be treated as the rest of the businesses," said Sanchez. "This burdens them further. There should do something else to help the police department out without (this) but I don't know what. We need to try and get some businesses here, not find a way to get them out," Sanchez said.

The ordinance, adopted in the last year, was not in effect when

Stenholm confident of farm legislation

Official expecting Congress approval

Harte-Hanks Washington Bureau WASHINGTON—The House and Senate may pass legislation to set long-term federal farm policies as early as this summer, according to Rep. Charles Stenholm, D-Stamford.

"Right now today, I would say we've got a greater consensus of where we're going to end up," said Stenholm, whose district includes Big Spring and who is a member of the House Agriculture Committee. "We're at the point now of achieving the possible."

Congressional committees had been bogged down on the 1985 farm bill with controversial details for particular commodity programs, which were considered possible roadblocks to passage of a new farm bill this year.

Both the House and Senate agriculture committees now are expected to finish work on the bill this week, according to congressional aides.

Although Stenholm was optimistic about committee action, he cautioned that "we're still a long way from getting a bill," in part because of the need to eventually get President Reagan to sign the proposal.

Committee members are anxious to get the bill through the House and Senate before the traditional August break for Congress, when farmers will be asking congressmen about the direction of farm policy this year, the aides said. The farm bill will set up guidelines for federal policies on commodity price support and loan levels, probably for another four years.

Both committees early this year abandoned the Reagan Administration's 15-year plan for agriculture that would have replaced traditional four-year farm bills with sweeping reforms, most of which would have sharply reduced federal support for farmers.

The House Agriculture Committee has been working with original legislation proposed by Rep. E.

"Kika" de la Garza, D-Mission, chairman of the committee, and the Senate has been amending a farm bill proposal recommended by committee, chairman Jesse Helms, R-N.C.

Stenholm said House and Senate committees seem to be supporting these primary features of new farm bill legislation:

• A reduction in overall federal loan levels from the Commodity Credit Corporation for most production.

• Freezing target price support figures for 1986 for most or all commodities and reducing those levels beginning in 1987, but at a far more gradual pace than originally recommended by the Reagan Administration.

• Relating the federal loan system more directly to market prices, making U.S. agricultural commodities more competitive in world markets.

Stenholm said agricultural policy-makers want an increase in exports, resulting from a more competitive price in foreign markets, eventually to counteract the gradual reduction in price support and loan levels for farmers.

"There is no magic wand in the Agriculture Committee we can wave to (change) the bad economic situation there is today," said Stenholm. "The best we can do is hold on to the same income protection we have today."

Although the committees are considering four-year plans for farm legislation, Stenholm said he hoped amendments this week would give the legislation a five-year lifespan.

The House committee July 17 adopted a Stenholm amendment that would simplify and standardize the way the Agriculture Department assigns important "bases and yields" designations for farmers. Currently, bases and yields are changed with revisions of the farm bill, usually every four years.

Rain coverup

An unidentified woman takes shelter from the storm by burying her face behind an umbrella at the Howard County Courthouse. According to the U.S. Big Spring Experiment Station, the city received 45-hundredths of an inch of rain Tuesday, raising the year's total to 15.67 inches, five inches more than the 10.43-inch normal total for this date.

SW Bell seeking rate hike

City facing small increase

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau AUSTIN—Phone line charges for Southwestern Bell Co. residential customers in Big Spring would increase 35 cents from $8.35 to $8.70 a month under a recommendation by the Public Utility Commission staff.

For businesses, the charge would go from $19.60 to $20.40, according to a staff breakdown.

In Stanton, the staff recommendation calls for residential charges to go from $8.15 to $8.50 a month, while the business charge would increase from $19.15 to $19.95.

These rates include charges for one phone line. They do not include rates for instrument rental, touch-tone, custom calling and other special phone services.

The company wants $9.65 a month for residential customers in Big Spring and $9.40 in Stanton.

For business customers, the company request was $22.60 in Big Spring and $22.05 in Stanton.

In March, Bell originally requested a $323.9 million increase in annual revenues. However, company officials say that figure now has been trimmed to $276.9 million and the rates adjusted down by about 25 cents a month for residential customers and 65 cents for businesses.

The staff recommended a $92.7 million annual increase, with $41.7 million coming from charges on residential and business phone lines. Another $11.2 million would come from increasing long-distance rates by an average of 4.2 percent.

Emergency!

Nurse was at scene of fatal wreck

By LISA MUSSER
Staff Writer

Nurse Leslie Williams of Big Spring set out Saturday night to check cotton on the family's farmland. What she found instead was an overturned bus, four trapped beneath it and dozens injured.

She became a vital link in Malone-Hogan Hospital's effort to cope with what was "probably the biggest disaster" in its history.

The bus was carrying 54 passengers on a road made slick by thunderstorms that covered the area. It skidded off Highway 87 at about 8:15 p.m. and overturned in a cotton field on the westside of the highway one-quarter mile east of Ackerly. Williams arrived at 8:25 p.m.

The accident and Williams' knowledge of emergency medicine were the key factors in providing the hospital an opportunity to use its written disaster plan.

The detailed disaster plan enabled the Malone-Hogan emergency room to treat the more than 37 injured in the accident, nursing director Carmen Phillips said.

Almost every department in the hospital was involved in the disaster Saturday, each with different roles, Phillips said.

When Williams came upon the accident, private cars were being loaded with injured to shelter them from the thunderstorms. Ambulances were already taking injured to the hospital. The rain-soaked, mud-covered area "made you appreciate a clean emergency room," Williams said.

Storm drifts out to sea

MIAMI — A disorganized Tropical Storm Bob drifted steadily out over the Atlantic Ocean today after whipping up surf, flooding roads and ripping off the roof of a condominium as it stirred up two tornadoes.

Forecasters warned that while Bob was not likely to return to Florida, the Eastern Seaboard may see more of the tropical storm, the second named storm of the Atlantic hurricane season and the first to hit shore.

Bob crossed Florida from west to east Tuesday as a lively storm that brought high seas, gusting winds and torrential rains, punished beaches and temporarily closed coastal roads but caused no serious injuries.

Panel admonishes judge

ALBANY, N.Y. — A judge who called female attorneys "kitten" and joked about giving one attorney's client a lighter term because the lawyer had "great legs" has been admonished by a state court watchdog panel.

Nassau County District Court Judge Warren Doolittle was given the weakest possible official slap on the wrist because his comments weren't made in public or "meant to offend or demean," the Commission on Judicial Conduct said.

An admonishment amounts to a black mark on the judge's record and could be used against him should he seek another judicial office.

Between 1980 and 1984, Doolittle, told one attorney she was his "favorite little JAP (Jewish American Princess)" and called two "Kitten," according to a statement of facts in the case, said commission administrator Gerald Stern.

GOP bashes Demos 9-3

ALEXANDRIA, Va. — Rep. Silvio O. Conte, the cigar-chomping manager who guided House Republicans to a 9-3 baseball rout of House Democrats, says the GOP now dominates the annual game with "blue collar guys who like hot dogs and beer."

Democrats lost for the 17th time in 24 years Tuesday night in a contest played before a crowd of several hundred congressional staffers and former baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

Conte, of Massachusetts, kept the Democrats off balance with his insults and Colorado Rep. Dan Schaefer dazzled them with his pitching. Rep. Mel Levine of California pitched for the losing Democrats.

Union probe dropped

NEW YORK — The Justice Department has ordered an end to a 32-month investigation of Teamsters union President Jackie Presser despite a recommendation by department lawyers that he be indicted on charges of fraud and conspiracy, it was reported Tuesday.

NBC News and CBS News quoted unidentified sources as saying that the Justice Department has ordered a halt to the investigation.

In Washington, Justice Department spokesman Terry Eastland declined to comment on the reports Tuesday night.

A Drug Enforcement Administration agent, right, leads a woman arrested in a drug raid in Gary, Ind., to a car Tuesday as federal and local agents arrested more than 120 of 134 people indicted in a crackdown on drug trafficking.

Smack crackdown

120 people arrested in 7-state heroin bust

CHICAGO (AP) — Raids by law officers in seven states, Puerto Rico and Mexico led to the arrest of 120 people and confiscation of 47 properties in a crackdown on a "Mexican connection" authorities say has pumped heroin into the United States for two decades.

More than 400 state and federal agents took part in the raids Tuesday in Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Texas, Colorado, Florida, California, Puerto Rico and Mexico; authorities said.

One of those arrested was Jesus Herrera-Diaz, described as "a chieftain of the Herrera organization in Chicago," which authorities say is part of a ring involving thousands of people. Many of those arrested in Indiana were members of the Zambrana family, which is allied with the Herreras, authorities said.

Drug Enforcement Administration officials believe the Herreras have been operating since the early 1960s, growing opium in the Sierra Madre Occidental around Durango, Mexico, refining it and shipping heroin north.

"We're not dealing with small quantities," said DEA Agent Phillip E. Jordan in Dallas. "We're dealing with multi-kilo distributions. We're dealing with the godfathers of organized crime in Mexico who use the Juarez-El Paso area to smuggle their narcotics into the United States."

"This shows the importance El Paso plays in the Mexican connection."

Eight people were arrested in El Paso, Texas, which sits across the Rio Grande from Juarez, Mexico.

The FBI would say only that millions of dollars' worth of marijuana, heroin and cocaine were seized in the raids, which netted more than 120 of 134 people named in recent federal indictments. Forty-seven pieces of residential and commercial property in the Chicago area were seized, authorities said.

The names of some of those indicted or arrested were withheld for security reasons, said U.S. Attorney Anton-Valukas in Chicago. "There would be blood spilled if the names of the individuals in the undercover operation were revealed. It's a dangerous expedition and the largest of its kind in the history of the U.S. attorney's office."

Valukas said 99 people were charged in eight indictments alleging six distribution networks — involving heroin, cocaine and marijuana — operating in the Chicago area. Another 35 were named in three indictments in Indiana.

The indictments charge conspiracy to violate drug-trafficking laws, use of telephones to commit narcotics offenses, interstate travel in aid of racketeering and the distribution and sale of heroin, cocaine and marijuana.

Valukas said the properties seized in the Chicago area include residences, taverns, jewelry shops, florists, restaurants, hot dog and taco stands, a candy store and two service stations.

He declined to speculate on the value of drugs seized but said in one raid agents found 10 pounds of heroin. Police in Lake County, Ind., said one man was arrested in a Gary warehouse containing $8 million worth of drugs.

The New York Times reported today that arrests also were made in New York state and the Chicago Sun-Times listed New Mexico as an arrest site.

Authorities say that at times the Herreras have had such control over heroin sales they were able to set the price, quality and availability of the narcotic. The indictments, which name a number of Herrera family members, alleged the organization imports drugs primarily through El Paso.

Last month, the attorney general's office in Mexico arrested Jaime Herrera Herrera in a drug crackdown that led to the arrests of 27 people. It identified Herrera Herrera as "the son of the czar of heroin in Mexico and the principal exporter of the drug to Chicago, Jaime Herrera Nevarez."

Indicted in Indiana was Jesus Zambrana Sr., identified by authorities as the head of an allied family drug ring that imported large quantities of marijuana from Texas and cocaine from Florida.

Israel frees prisoners

ATLIT, Israel — A group of 100 Lebanese prisoners freed from an Israeli military jail today crossed the border into Lebanon to return to their homes, U.N. officials said.

The prisoners, mostly Shiite Moslems, were among hundreds whose release had been demanded by Shiite extremists who hijacked a TWA plane last month, killed a U.S. Navy man and held 39 Americans hostage for 17 days.

Traveling in three Israeli buses, the prisoners crossed the border at Rosh Hanikra and were driven up the Mediterranean coastal highway, according to U.N. officials contacted at Naqoura, headquarters of the U.N. peacekeeping force in South Lebanon. They spoke on condition of anonymity.

Man held in dam incident

TRENTO, Italy — Authorities arrested an owner of the mine whose dam collapsed last week, wiping out an alpine resort, and charged him with involuntary manslaughter in the deaths of more than 200 tourists and villagers, prosecutors said today.

Giulio Rota, one of two brothers who own the Prealpi Mining Co., was arrested Tuesday night and was being interrogated, Trento Prosecutor Francesco Simeoni told The Associated Press.

Rota turned himself in to authorities Tuesday night after an arrest warrant was issued, Andrea Di Francia and Aldo De Bertolini, the arrested man's lawyers, also told the AP in Trento, the provincial capital.

Simeoni said the charges were involuntary multiple manslaughter and involuntarily causing a disaster.

Dollar rebounds today

LONDON — The dollar rebounded early today from lows hit during the previous day's trading in Europe, but dealers said market sentiment for the U.S. currency remained unfavorable.

Gold bullion prices fell. In the first hours of trading in Europe, the dollar was quoted higher against other major currencies, but it slipped from levels reached in New York late Tuesday.

Dealers interviewed in Frankfurt, West Germany, said that while there was no clear trend apparent, most market participants remained bearish on the dollar.

Guerrilla leader missing

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica — Anti-Sandinista guerrilla leader Eden Pastora has disappeared, and spokesmen for his rebel force said today it is believed he was in a helicopter accident in Nicaragua.

Spokesmen for the Democratic Revolutionary Alliance, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said guerrilla patrols had been mobilized and were searching for Pastora, nicknamed "Commander Zero," after the helicopter he was traveling in reported trouble Tuesday.

Pastora, a hero of the Sandinista revolution that unseated the right-wing regime of President Anastasio Somoza in 1979, renounced the Managua government in 1981 in protest of its Marxist leanings and declared guerrilla war against it.

Nationalism nice but unity cheaper

It's generally agreed that the greatest impediment to European unity — not to mention world peace — is nationalism, whether it's reflected in quarrels over the proper ingredients for making beer or in differing views about the appropriate response to terrorism. One of the consequences of such nationalism for the average European is that, among other things, it costs money. A case in point is television, that great common denominator, educator, unifier ... unifier?

Charles de Gaulle, when he was president of France in the 1960s, didn't see it that way. Out of a deep-rooted French passion for being different, and to protect his compatriots from being polluted by foreign tongues and ideas, De Gaulle opted for a color-television transmission system that was technically incompatible with others in Europe. That suited not only De Gaulle but a lot of other nationalists all over Europe. Today, European TV audiences are still paying the price, and not only in money.

Because of the TV systems' incompatibility, you can't live in France and watch West German TV (or vice versa) unless you live near the border and have a dual-standard adaptor on your receiver, which roughly doubles the price of a TV set. But at long last, the two countries have agreed to introduce a new common standard to be built into all new TV sets. That will solve one problem, but again, at a price. Consumers will either have to buy a satellite "dish" antenna costing about $1,000 — since only satellite transmissions can be picked up beyond a normal transmitter's range — or subscribe to their country's new cable system, now in the development stage in both countries. In either case, it will require a new TV set, since few existing sets are equipped with the dual-standard system.

Sooner or later, all the old sets will be gone, and then the French and the Germans can watch all they want of the other's television programs — assuming that, of course, they care enough to learn the other language. And the question of language gets back to the old question of nationalism, which ... well, suffice it to say, neither Rome nor a united Europe — not to mention a peaceful world — was built in a day.

Second revolution suffers defeat

"Mother died today. Or maybe it was yesterday." Thus begins The Stranger, Albert Camus' famous novel about man's indifference to man.

In the same casual spirit there expired what had been called the "Second American Revolution." For nothing less than that agenda of social reaction was killed last week, or maybe the week before, in an obscure Senate committee vote against President Reagan's nomination of William Bradford Reynolds to be associate attorney general.

A lot of history, to be sure, separated the Reynolds' vote from the collection of grievances known as the "Second American Revolution." The grievances began accumulating in the heady days of the 1960s and 1970s. Liberal do-gooders were the leading authors. Pragmatic centrists, trying to accommodate idealism to reality, played a supporting role.

Together the liberals and centrists put together a formidable structure of institutions, laws, beliefs, habits, practices and values. All aimed, in one way or another, to use public power as an instrument of social progress — improving race relations, mitigating the harshness of punishment, protecting the ecology and easing the pressure of social custom and religious conviction.

The first election of Ronald Reagan marked a genuine reaction against the assorted follies and unanticipated side-effects of 20 years of "enlightened rule" in the courts, the Congress and the federal executive. But during the first term the exponents of harsh correction dissipated their energies.

Edwin Meese, a political leader of the right wing inside the Reagan entourage, never became an effective White House aide. Enormous amounts of capital went into fighting and losing battles for the likes of Secretary of Interior

James Watt and Secretary of Labor Raymond Donovan. The genteel spirit in the person of Attorney General William French Smith curbed nastiness at the Justice Department. The courts did their usual office of delay and obfuscation.

Reaction enjoyed an undoubted rebirth in the election of 1984. The Democrats went further than ever in support of such verities of the new politics as abortion by choice, secular schools and job quotas for women and minorities. Jesse Jackson panicked the white South into the Republican column. From Brooklyn through West Virginia to Utah, traditionalists of every religion rallied to President Reagan.

So a virulent populist backlash shaped up as a prime feature of the second term. Reagan himself, reelected by a record landslide, proclaimed the "Second American Revolution." True believers in right-wing ideology commanded the rhetorical ramparts at the White House. The oddballs were out at Interior and Labor. Meese held the powers of darkness as attorney general. The Supreme Court, with an emerging right-wing majority, had read the election returns even before the election.

The first test came on the nomination of William Bradford Reynolds to move up from assistant attorney general for civil rights to the No. 3 post of associate attorney general. As head of the civil rights division, Reynolds had stood upside down the doctrine of affirmative action. During the years of "enlightenment" affirmative action had been devised as a tool for advancing job and educational opportunities for minorities. Reynolds saw in this practice "reverse discrimination." With a semi-nod in one case from a narrow Supreme Court majority, he began moving to overturn the basic law on civil rights in this country.

French keep tight rein on defense purchases

WASHINGTON — There's a whole of a difference between the way the French military buys its weapons and the way it's done in this country. U.S. defense contractors and their Pentagon pals may well cry gratefully, "Vive la difference!"

But American taxpayers would save billions if only the Defense Department would adopt the nonsensical, superbly efficient French military-procurement system.

Believe it or not, someone high up in the Pentagon knows this and has cited the advantages of "Qla methode francaise" in a hard-hitting memo that was obtained by our associate Indy Badhwar.

The memo makes some impressive claims for French efficiency, economy and incorruptibility. If their procurement system were adopted here, the memo indicates, it would virtually depopulate the Pentagon, drive the "Beltway Bandits" out of their lucrative consulting jobs — and bring the military budget back to earth.

Here's the memo's explanation for these promised wonders:

Although France is the world's third largest arms producer (after the United States and the Soviet Union), its military contracts are handled by "an astonishingly small bureaucracy." At most 25 experienced, well-paid professionals in the Armament Directorate "do the work of, quite literally, tens of thousands of us bureaucrats in the Washington area," the Pentagon memo discloses, adding sardonically: "Of course, most of us are writing memos to each other."

According to the memo, a senior French official was asked how they managed and replied: "But of course. Twenty-five people is plenty. How long does it take a well-informed person to decide at a ministerial level that this missile or that aircraft is a good or bad idea? It is not any more a question of detailed studies but a question of common sense and political courage."

If the Pentagon patterned its procurement after the French Armament Directorate, "tens of thousands of bureaucrats would be unhorsed," the memo states, adding:

"There would also be a ripple effect because tens of thousands of people in the 'engineering support consultant think tank defense intellectual business' (generally called 'Beltway Bandits') would also be superfluous because there would be nobody left to read the tons of drivel they turn out every year."

Furthermore, the memo gloats, "lobbyists, congressional staffers and the diamond cufflink-Gucci set in the Washington offices of the major corporations would be out of work because the people left in the bureaucracy would be too busy and too smart to bother with them."

What is there about the French system that would achieve these miracles? For one thing, the defense minister is the procurement czar and the military chiefs of staff "have little to do with procurement besides being the end users and defining requirements," the memo explains. A chosen few of officers from the combat branches are allowed to move into the Armament Directorate; they "are highly qualified, spend their entire careers at the job and get very good at it." And they are not forced to retire at an early age.

Furthermore, "anyone who negotiates any kind of contract is forbidden from going to work for the contractor for five years," the memo notes, adding: "They enforce this rule and are perfectly willing to impose prison sentences on miscreants."

Summing up, the memo lists the features of the French system that the U.S. system lacks: strong checks and balances, a tiny bureaucracy, thoroughly trained personnel with good job security and, finally, "incentives to do the right thing and not the wrong thing."

Footnote: In fairness to the Pentagon, we should note one crucial factor the French procurement system lacks that ours has in abundance: interference from legislators hungry for home-state defense contracts.

SCANDAL OF THE WEEK: The government has kissed off complaints by veterans who took part in atomic tests between 1946 and 1962, claiming that these ex-GIs show no greater incidence of cancer than the general population. But the National Association of Atomic Veterans presents statistics to Congress showing that their cancer rate is a lot higher than that of veterans who were exposed to little or no radiation: 34 percent higher, in fact.

The fallacy in the government's position is that ex-GIs started out as the healthiest part of the U.S. population, so the only fair comparison is atomic veterans vs. non-atomic veterans.

WATCH ON WASTE: The Bonneville Power Administration promised to repay the Treasury about a billion dollars over the 1981-84 period. How much did Bonneville actually repay? A scant $2 million.

MINI-EDITORIAL: Last month the Democratic National Committee rubber-stamped Chairman Paul Kirk's slate of 25 at-large members for the 377-person committee. According to a spokesman, the traditional purpose of the at-large seats is to create a better balance for groups that may be under-represented on the national committee. Surveying the Democrats' disaster at the polls last November, it's fairly obvious that some groups are under-represented in the party councils: business people, farmers and young people. So who got the 25 seats? Labor, blacks, Hispanics and women.

Billy Graham

Never too late to believe

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I am in prison for armed robbery. My mother always tried to teach us the right way and took us to Sunday school and all, but I didn't turn out very well. Now I wonder if it is too late to turn to God. My cellmate says it is never too late, and he has become a Christian, but I'm not convinced. — T.W.E.

DEAR T.W.E.: No, it is never too late — in this world — to turn to Christ. It is not God's reluctance to forgive us that will keep us from being saved — it is only our reluctance to turn to Him and receive His gift of forgiveness.

Perhaps when you attended Sunday school years ago, you heard the account of Jesus's crucifixion. Do you remember that two other men were put to death with Him? There were both criminals under death sentences for their crimes. The Bible tells it this way: "One of the criminals who hung there hurled insults at him ... but the other criminal rebuked him ... Then he said, 'Jesus, remember me when you come into your kingdom.' Jesus answered him, 'I tell you the truth, today you will be with me in paradise.'" (Luke 23:39-40,42). That man was about to die — but it was not too late for him to turn in faith to Christ. And Christ received him and promised him a place in Heaven.

The promise of God is clear — to you and every other person who is reading this column: "If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just and will forgive us our sins and purify us from all unrighteousness" (1 John 1:9).

Yes, you have done wrong and must pay the penalty by your prison term. But in a greater sense, Christ has already paid the penalty for your sins by dying on the cross in your place. Accept his gift of forgiveness and new life right now, and join with your cellmate in experiencing the joy of knowing Christ. There is no reason for you to carry your burden of sin and guilt any longer.

Billy Graham's religious column is distributed by Tribune Media Services.

Today

Today is Wednesday, July 24, the 205th day of 1985. There are 160 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On July 24, 1959, during a visit to the Soviet Union, Vice President Richard M. Nixon got into a well-publicized debate with Soviet leader Nikita Khrushchev on communism versus capitalism. The confrontation became known as the Kitchen Debate because it took place in a model kitchen at a U.S. exhibition in Moscow.

On this date: In 1783, Latin American revolutionary Simon Bolivar was born.

In 1847, Mormon leader Brigham Young and his followers arrived at Great Salt Lake in Utah.

In 1862, Martin Van Buren, the eighth president of the United States, died.

In 1866, Tennessee became the first state to be readmitted to the Union after seceding during the Civil War.

In 1929, President Herbert Hoover proclaimed the Kellogg-Briand Pact, which renounced war as an instrument of foreign policy.

In 1937, the state of Alabama dropped charges against five black men accused of raping two white women in the Scottsboro Case.

In 1946, the United States detonated an atomic bomb at Bikini Atoll in the Pacific, the first underwater test of the device.

In 1969, the Apollo 11 astronauts — two of whom had been the first men to set foot on the moon — splashed down safely in the Pacific.

Ten years ago: An Apollo spacecraft carrying three Americans splashed down safely in the Pacific, ending a mission that included an orbital rendezvous with a Soviet Soyuz spaceship.

Five years ago: Comedian-actor Peter Sellers died in London of a heart attack at age 54.

One year ago: President Reagan told a news conference he had "no plan" for a tax increase the next year despite Democratic challenger Walter F. Mondale's assertion that one was inevitable, no matter who won the November election.

Energas files lawsuit against Westar, Cabot

AMARILLO — Last July, Energas Company filed companion suits against Cabot Corporation, Westar Transmission Company, Cranberry Pipeline Corporation and Gas Marketing, Inc.

The suits, filed in both U.S. and State District Courts in Lubbock allege violations of Federal and State statutes relating to restraints of trade and anti-competitive activities.

Energas seeks damages based on artificially high prices paid for natural gas under provisions of a 1983 contract between the company and Westar which requires Energas to purchase all gas for its West Texas System from Westar. Energas also seeks to have Westar prohibited from enforcing the "all requirements" portion of that contract and would have Westar prohibited from refusing to transport gas for Energas in the future.

The suit alleges that Cabot Corporation and certain of its subsidiaries, among other things, committed the violations by manipulating the calculation of gas costs under the 1983 contract, and by refusing to grant Energas relief from the "all requirements" provision of the contract. By so refusing, the defendants have restrained

Energas' ability to purchase lower cost gas for the West Texas System from other potential suppliers.

This condition has resulted in Westar having absolute control over the price Energas pays for gas for its West Texas System, while at the same time, Westar and its affiliates are in direct competition with Energas for certain large-volume customers' business.

Since the cost of gas constitutes a large portion of a customer's bill, Energas is seeking this relief primarily on behalf of its customers. Where appropriate, damages awarded based on past excessive costs would be refunded to Energas customers based on a formula to be determined at a later point in time. Future savings could also accrue to Energas customers through lower costs paid for gas.

Through this litigation, Energas Company expects to be able to maintain its competitive position which will enable it to retain current customers and attract new ones.

Energas is an independent natural gas distribution company headquartered in Amarillo and serving approximately 288,000 customers in 90 West Texas communities including Big Spring.

Group plans to honor Mahon

COLORADO CITY — Plans have been made to construct a bust to honor former Rep. George Mahon of Colorado City, Jim Baum chairman of the Mitchell County Historical Commission, announced.

The commission has set up a fund to to construct the bust on County property in Colorado City. Colorado City Mayor Elmer Martin, finance committee chairman, said a goal of $16,000 was set for the project fund.

A total of $7,000 has been received from private sources, Martin reported.

Juan Dell, sculptress from Santa Fe, N.M., has been commissioned to do the bronze bust.

Mahon, a native of Loraine, was first elected in 1934 and served in the U.S. Congress for 44 years. In 1964, he became chairman of the House Appropriations Committee. He held this post until he retired in 1978.

Contributions to the fund-raising drive can be made by sending checks to The Mahon Fund, P.O. Box 990, Colorado City, Texas 79612.

Pupils attend FFA convention

Three members of the Coahoma Chapter of Future Farmers of America attended the 57th Annual Texas FFA Convention in Houston on July 10-12.

Brandon Luce, Brad Madry, Gene Hector and their advisor Stanley Blackwell went to the three-day meeting held in the Astro

Village Hotel and Astro Arena.

Luce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Luce of Coahoma, was also awarded the Lone Star Farmer Degree, the highest degree given by the state association.

Luce and Hector served as voting delegates.

WT club plans horse show

The West Texas Appaloosa Horse Club will be sponsoring an open horse show July 27 at the 4-H Arena behind the Midland County Exhibit Building on old Highway 80.

The event will be in honor of Midland's centennial.

Registration for the events will begin at 5 p.m. and the show will start at 6 p.m.

Fees are $2 per class. Traditional horse show events will be offered, plus several new, fun, timed events, such as a timed trail class, a one horse/three rider team relay and a boot scramble.

Prizes will be awarded and the public is invited to participate and attend.

Ballinger slates chili cookoff

The second annual Muscular Dystrophy Association Chili Cookoff will be Sept. 20-22 in the Ballinger City Park.

The cook-off will have three divisions, Texas Chili, Yankee Chili and Exotic Chili. The entry fee is $15 per cooking event.

The cook-off will be accompanied by a dance, adult and children's games, an auction and a party for the cooks.

For more information, contact Debbie Smith by writing to 307 Sharp, Ballinger, Texas 76821 or by calling (915) 365-5475.

Odessan gets commission post

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau AUSTIN — Gov. Mark White on Tuesday bypassed Dusty Rhodes of Abilene and took Odessa lawyer Ray Stoker Jr. as his choice for a vacant Texas Highway Commission seat.

For much of the year, White and his aides searched for a West Texan to succeed Bob Dedman of Dallas, whose term expired in February. Dedman remained on the three-member commission while White's search continued.

Stoker, whose six-year term ends in February 1991, is a partner in the law firm of Shafer, Gilliland, Davis, McCollum and Ashley in Odessa. Like White, the 46-year-old lawyer received his law degree from Baylor University.

White announced his selection during a hastily called news conference in Odessa. Capitol reporters were informed of White's decision through his press office.

City hosts domino tourney

The seventh annual National "Texas-style" Domino Tournament will be held beginning with registration for single play at 9:30 a.m. Thursday at the Dorothy Garrett Memorial Coliseum's East Room.

Big Spring Chamber of Commerce Executive Director LeRoy Tillery said the single play tournament will contain a single consolation tournament.

"Everyone is qualified to participate for at least two games," Tillery said.

The tournament will last all day Thursday and entry fee is $50 per person.

A team tournament will begin at 9:30 a.m. Friday. Two persons compose a team, Tillery said.

Tournament officials say they will use a round-robin concept matching each team with as many other teams as time permits.

Teams will compete for total prize money of $12,000. Trophies will also be awarded.

The team tournament will conclude Saturday afternoon with a champion and consolation bracket, Tillery said.

Registration fees are $100 per team.

Interested persons should contact the Chamber and may pay their fees at the door.

Student to attend workshop

Stanley Blackwell of Coahoma will be attending the In-service Education Workshop for Vocational Agriculture Teachers July 30 through Aug. 2 in Dallas.

The in-service and meeting are sponsored by the vocational Agriculture Education Department of the Texas Education Agency in Austin.

The event will include workshop sessions, an awards program, speakers and entertainment.

Gov. White announces job program

Gov. Mark White announced last week the allocation of almost $104 million for programs throughout the state under the Job Training Partnership Act.

The money will be distributed to 34 local service delivery areas for job training programs. These programs, contracted with the Texas Department of Community Affairs, are designed to prepare economically disadvantaged Texans for jobs in the private sector.

Approximately $77 million will be allocated to provide job training and other services to teenagers and adults. The remaining $27 million will be designated specifically for summer youth employment programs.

Local elected officials work in partnership with private-industry councils and implement job training programs that are tailored to meet the needs of area residents.

The Job Training Partnership Act brings the public and private sectors together.

I am so grateful to you for thinking about me in my sorrows. All of you Big Spring people are just great in my books. God Bless you and may He keep you always. I like to give this poem of Thanks:

Perhaps you sent a lovely card, or sat quietly in a chair. Perhaps you sent a floral piece ... If so we saw it there. Perhaps you spoke the kindest words, as any friend could say; Perhaps you were not there at all, just thought of us that day. Whatever you did to console our hearts, we thank you so much whatever the part. I have to say; many, many thanks to everyone.

Dr. Donohue

Reader has question about impotence

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I hope my question is suitable for you to answer. It has to do with impotence. Specifically, it has to do with the device now being implanted in the penis of impotent males to permit a complete erection. This will be of interest to many of your older male readers, most of whom, I'm sure, do retain an interest in sex.

How successful is the implant? What is the feedback from men who have had this done? How long is the hospital stay required? How soon after can the device be used practically? What kind of doctor does this work? Please, don't even use my initials. — K.C.S.

There are some brand new initials selected at random from my typewriter.

It is healthy to retain an interest in sex, so feel no qualms about that no matter what your age.

Some people expressed skepticism about the penile implants when they were first introduced. It was thought that even were they practically effective, acceptance might be limited by personal distaste for such procedures among men or their spouses. However, after only a few years' experience with the implants, doctors seem to be giving them better than just-passing grades. Problems encountered with early versions have been overcome.

Doctors who do such implant work (placement of a synthetic tubular device) report up to 90 percent success in patients. It's estimated that as many as 80,000 men have had this done. A newer inflatable prosthesis has been popular.

Hospitalization time depends on many factors, but in most cases the work can be done with a single day, and sexual relations can be resumed in about a month, again depending on the individual doctor's desires. A urologist is the doctor to see about the possibility of having such surgery, and your own doctor will know which ones in your area are doing this work.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I just became aware of the fact that I have many gallstones. My question is: Aside from surgery, what other means of relief are there? Is there a diet that is special for this affliction? — J.B.

Do you mean is there a diet that dissolves gallstones? The answer to that is no, there isn't. But gallstone formation may result from a high caloric diet and obesity.

If you mean to ask is there a diet to avoid symptoms of gallstones, the answer is: maybe. Fat is the chief culprit.

Fat is a signal to the digestive tract to release a hormone. That hormone is a signal for the gall bladder to contract to squeeze some of its fat-digesting bile into the intestines. Pain may be associated with the bladder contraction, so the fat restriction is recommended in some to minimize that by interrupting the signaling hormone.

Having said all this, I have to add that many people with stones get no discomfort no matter what they eat. So you just have to find out through trial and error whether fat restriction will help you. I'm talking about deep-fried, greasy foods, the kinds associated with pain in some people. If your doctor is recommending gall bladder removal, I doubt that any diet is going to substitute for that.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

DEAR AB: have been m children. He Yesterday a doctor's bill five years ago shocked, esp years ago, a When I cotomy to pre intend to hav point in men I have nev prevent kid your medic local doctor Also, why wife has had

David Rickey appointed to committee

David Rickey of Big Spring has been appointed to serve on a standing committee for the Council of the American Heart Association. He will coordinate and support the efforts of the development function of the Council.

Sue Blair of Odessa and Raymond C. (Skeet) Doss of Midland will be members of Rickey's committee.

The Panhandle-West Texas Council extends from Amarillo to Lubbock, Midland/Odessa, down to El Paso, and is one of six councils of the American Heart Association in Texas.

The Panhandle-West Texas Council is divided into four regions and 64 divisions. The division membership is made up of volunteers who have contributed either time or money on the local level.

Also serving on committees are: Bridget Gossett, Midland, and Richard McKeel, Odessa, organization committee; Judy Pester, M.D., Andrews, and Karen Johnson, Odessa, public information committee; Eileen Piwetz, Midland, and Lois Hale, Odessa, program committee.

The Council committees will assist divisions in organizing local committees, provide training opportunities for committee members and provide assistance in implementing statewide projects on the local level.

Motivating existing volunteers and encouraging new participation will be an important task at the Council level of organization.

The mission of the American Heart Association is the prevention of premature death and disability due to heart and blood vessel disease. For more information about the work of the American Heart Association, contact the regional office at (915) 563-2008.

Dear Abby

Vasectomy pregnant with meaning

DEAR ABBY: Thomas (not his real name) and I have been married for nearly 21 years and have four children. He's 48 and I'm 43.

Yesterday I accidentally came across a receipt for a doctor's bill showing that Thomas had a vasectomy five years ago. He never told me he'd had one. I was shocked, especially since I had a tubal ligation nine years ago, after the birth of our fourth child.

When I confronted him, he said he'd had a vasectomy to prevent kidney stones, and since we didn't intend to have any more children, he didn't see any point in mentioning it.

I have never heard of a man having a vasectomy to prevent kidney stones, have you? Please consult your medical advisers. I'm too ashamed to ask a local doctor.

Also, why would a man want a vasectomy when his wife has had a tubal ligation?

DEAR DOUBTING: A man wants a vasectomy for the same reason a woman wants a tubal ligation — because he doesn't want any more children. And there is no correlation between a vasectomy and kidney stones.

DEAR ABBY: We want to warn others about the adoption pains we have just experienced. We have been approved as adoptive parents for several years, but we grew impatient. Last month we were approached by the parents of a 16-year-old pregnant girl who wanted to place her child for adoption through our lawyer. Everything was arranged except the signing of the papers. After the baby (a girl) was born, the young mother decided not to give up her baby, so the deal was off. Five days later she changed her mind and told us to come and get the baby. We were thrilled and went immediately to pick up the baby, and when she placed that little girl in my arms I was the happiest woman alive. The young mother promised to sign the papers and never bother us again.

Two days later, my husband and I took the baby shopping for baby clothes and furniture when this young mother phoned us. Nobody answered our phone so she kept calling until she found us home. She accused us of lying, saying we had left the baby all alone. She ranted and raved like a mad person! Abby, we had the baby with us, but she wouldn't believe us. She demanded that we bring the baby back immediately, so of course we had to, because we had no legal right to keep her.

Please advise adoptive couples to get all the papers signed before taking a baby. We learned a valuable lesson the hard way.

DEAR HEARTBROKEN: Thank you for wanting to spare others from the painful experience you endured. The young mother was obviously distraught and hysterical. Don't be surprised if she changes her mind again.

(Do you hate to write letters because you don't know what to say? Thank-you notes, sympathy letters, congratulations, how to decline and accept invitations and how to write an interesting letter are included in Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Send your name and address clearly printed with a check or money order for $2.50 and a long, stamped (39 cents) self-addressed envelope to: Dear Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.)

Light Delicious Dinner Recipe

FAMILY STYLE BAKED SALMON

4 to 6 Lbs. Salmon
 1 Green Pepper - sliced
 1 Onion - sliced
 2 Tomatoes - peeled & sliced
 Rub fish with a little salt and olive oil. Layer pepper, onion and tomato slices inside salmon. Place salmon on a large piece of foil and arrange remaining pepper, onion and tomato on top of fish. Drizzle with remaining olive oil and sprinkle with more salt, pepper and parsley. Pour 1/2 cup red wine over fish. Fold foil to make an air tight packet and bake for 10 minutes per inch of thickness. 5 minutes must be added to the total cooking time for the foil packet. This recipe usually takes about 30 minutes at 425° when baked in the oven. (Can be done outside on grill with cover). Place fish on platter with foil still intact. Open foil and serve with fresh corn on the cob and green pea salad.

Tammy Green surprised with baby shower

A surprise baby shower was given for Tammy Green Saturday in the home of Lesia Sturm. Hostesses were Susan McLellan, Debbie McDonald and Sturm. Gifts given by the hostesses included a stroller, car seat and swing. Gwen Fryar, mother of the honoree, was a guest at the shower. A rocker was decorated for Green with a blue umbrella overhead and light and dark blue streamers cascading around the chair. The refreshment table was covered in pale blue. Bears under a blue umbrella highlighted the centerpiece. Small baby gifts were also placed on the table. Baby Green is expected Aug. 13.

Three guests play at Rook Club meeting

The Rook Club met in the home of Gene Duncan Friday. Two tables were in play. Fannie Kent was high scorer. Three guest players, including Marie Affleck, Norma Murdock and Avanelle Cook, joined the group Friday. The next meeting will be Aug. 16 in the home of Fannie Kent.

Tonsillitis not only a kid's disease

Tonsillitis is not just a childhood disease — it also afflicts a surprisingly large number of adults. While it is not a dangerous infection, according to an article in the March issue of Cosmopolitan, it can be annoyingly persistent — and recurrent. The tonsils are masses of bacteria-fighting lymphoid tissue with a porous surface of 12 to 20 mucus-lined pits, called crypts. Once thought useless and routinely removed in childhood, today they are believed to play a role in immunological development and, although their function is not clear, they are no longer casually removed. Symptoms include severe sore throat, fever, swollen glands, earache and general weakness. "Penicillin is still the best drug to fight tonsillitis," said Dr. W. Shain Schley, associate professor of clinical otolaryngology at New York Hospital-Cornell Medical School. "Allergic patients are given erythromycin." He also prescribes that patients "stay home, keep warm and avoid drafts." It is important to use up your entire prescription — an incomplete course of antibiotics allows bacteria to become resistant to the drug. Proper bed rest alone will help the body rid itself of tonsillitis without medication. "Recovery just takes a lot longer," said Dr. Lester Coleman, attending surgeon at New York's Manhattan Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital. Unfortunately, relapses and recurrences are hard to prevent, particularly among active women.

Month of July designated National Ice Cream Month

By CAROL BALDWIN
Lifestyle Editor

The month of July was designated as National Ice Cream month by the U.S. Congress. Ronald Reagan issued a proclamation on July 9, 1984, and we've got some recipes featuring ice cream to help you celebrate.

Ice cream is a nutritious food because it is high in calcium. Some of the recipes below can be prepared in advance and final touches added at the last minute.

Although other brands of ice cream can be used in many of these recipes, some of the recipes below were winners in the Baskin-Robbins Ice Cream Show-Off Recipe Contest. The contest is held every two years.

HAWAIIAN SMOOTHIE

- 1/2 pint orange smoothie
- 1/2 pint French vanilla ice cream
- 1 kiwi fruit, peeled and halved
- 1 avocado, peeled and pitted (1 cup)
- 1 tablespoon honey
- 1 cup pineapple juice
- 1 Tbsp. wheat germ

Blend all ingredients until smooth. Garnish with orange slice on edge of glass. Makes 3 servings. This recipe also makes a good dressing for a fruit plate or salad. It may be thinned with additional pineapple juice for a cold summer soup.

BLACK BOTTOM

- DAIQUIRI CHEESECAKE CRUMB CRUST:
- 2 cups chocolate wafer cookie crumbs
 - 1 cube (1/2 cup butter) melted
- CREAM CHEESE LAYER:
- 1 pkg. (8 ounces) cream cheese, softened
 - 1 can (14 ounces) sweetened condensed milk
 - 1/2 cup lime juice
 - 1/2 to 1 tsp. grated lime peel
 - 1 tsp. rum extract
 - 1 1/2 quarts Daiquiri ice cream
 - 4 ounces crushed English toffee

Combine crumbs and butter until well blended. Place 1 1/2 cups crumb mixture into a buttered 8-inch springform pan and press into an even layer around side and bottom.

Beat cream cheese until light and fluffy. Add condensed milk and mix until thoroughly blended. Add lime juice, peel and rum extract. Mix thoroughly. Pour cream cheese mixture into crust and spread into an even layer. Sprinkle remaining 1/2 cup buttered crumbs over top and refrigerate for 2 to 3 hours.

Spoon one pint of Daiquiri Ice over top of cream cheese layer and smooth into an even layer. Scoop remaining ice into half-rounded scoops by leveling off excess ice from each scoop with a small spatula or knife to create a flat surface. (Use a 1-ounce scoop for a pebbled look.) Place scoops, flat side down on top of Daiquiri Ice layer starting at the outer edge and working in. Freeze until firm, at least two hours.

Remove springform pan and set cake on a chilled serving plate. Sprinkle top of cake with crushed candy and cut into wedges. Makes 8 to 12 servings.

MERINGUE CRUNCH SUNDAE

- 4 egg whites at room temperature
 - 1 cup sugar
 - 1/4 tsp. cream of tartar
 - 1/4 tsp. vanilla
 - 1/2 cup finely chopped blanched almonds
 - 1 quart Lemon Mousse ice cream
- RASPBERRY SAUCE (below) chopped pistachio nuts

Fresh raspberries

Cut a piece of parchment paper to fit a large cookie sheet. Grease the cookie sheet. Spread the paper on the cookie sheet. Grease top of paper. Beat egg whites to form soft peaks in mixing bowl. Beat in one tablespoon of sugar, cream of tartar and vanilla. Gradually beat in remaining sugar until stiff, glossy peaks form. Fold-in nuts. Spoon the meringue mixture onto the parchment paper and spread evenly into an 8x12-inch rectangle. Bake at 250 degrees F. for 60 minutes. Turn oven off and leave meringue in oven for another hour or until thoroughly dry. Remove from oven and cool completely. Peel off parchment paper and crush meringue into coarse pieces, about the size of peas. Meringue should be made ahead, placed in an airtight container or bag and stored in the freezer until needed.

To assemble, roll each scoop of ice cream in frozen, crushed meringue. Refreeze scoops for up to 2 hours. To serve, place one or two scoops in each dessert dish and top with the raspberry sauce, chopped pistachio nuts and fresh berries. Makes 4 double or 8 single scoop servings.

RASPBERRY SAUCE: Puree 3 cups fresh or one (12 ounces) bag frozen raspberries, thawed in blender. Sieve puree to remove seeds. Return to blender. Add 1/2 cup sugar and blend until sugar has dissolved. Stir in 3 to 4 Tbsp. Chambord.

NOTE: Strawberries may be substituted for raspberries; use Kirsch instead of Chambord.

MAHOGANY SUNDAE

- 2 Tbsp. instant coffee powder
 - 1 1/2 cups hot water
 - 1 cup granulated sugar
 - 3 Tbsp. cornstarch
 - 2 Tbsp. cold water
 - 3/4 cup butter
 - 3/4 cup rum
 - 1 pint Jamaica ice cream
 - 1 pint French vanilla ice cream
- Blend coffee with hot water and set aside. Place sugar in a heavy saucepan and melt over medium heat. After it begins to melt, stir constantly until golden brown. Slowly stir coffee mixture into melted sugar. Continue to cook, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Remove from heat.

Mix cornstarch with cold water to make a smooth paste. Stir a small amount of hot sauce into the cornstarch mixture then stir this mixture into remaining hot coffee sugar sauce. Return to heat and cook, stirring constantly until sauce is thickened and smooth. Remove from heat, add butter and rum and stir until butter is melted. Refrigerate covered, until needed. Sauce can be made up to several days ahead.

Before serving, warm sauce. Place a scoop of each ice cream in to 6 dessert dishes so that all ice cream is used. Top with warm mahogany sauce. Makes 6 servings.

FOXY FRIAR FLOAT

- 1/4 cup hazelnut-flavored liqueur
 - 2 Tbsp. chocolate syrup
 - 2 Tbsp. heavy cream
 - 2 scoops Jamaica ice cream
 - 1 can (12 ounces) cream soda, chilled
 - Cinnamon to taste
- Combine liqueur, chocolate syrup and cream in a tall chilled, soda glass. Stir. Slowly pour in enough cream soda to half-fill glass. Add two scoops ice cream and fill glass with additional cream soda. Dust with cinnamon. Serve immediately with a straw, a long-handled spoon, and remaining cream soda on side. Makes 1 large serving.

REFRESHING LEMON SURPRISE

- 1 1/2 cups graham cracker crumbs
- 2 Tbsp. sugar
- 1/4 cup butter, melted
- 12 thin slices lemon (take out

- seeds)
 - 1 quart Nutty Coconut ice cream or Baseball Nut ice cream
 - 3/4 cup raspberry preserves
 - 1 quart Lemon Mousse ice cream
 - Fresh or frozen raspberries and thin half-slices lemon for garnish
- Blend cracker crumbs, sugar and butter together. Press mixture into bottom of 9-inch springform pan. Chill. Stand lemon slices around sides of pan. Carefully spread softened Nutty Coconut ice cream over the crust into an even layer, making sure that lemon slices remain upright. Freeze at

Captive audience enjoys home cooking

FERGUS FALLS, Minn. (AP) — When Ethel Barker and Debbie Emery prepare a meal, nobody walks away from the table — at least they don't walk far.

The mother and daughter serve their fare on gleaming silver trays, and one might even refer to the delivery of their cuisine as "room service."

They are cooking and serving meals to a captive audience — inmates at the Otter Tail County Jail.

Barker and Emery, who work along with Alice Beske, say cooking for the prisoners is no different than cooking for anybody else.

Although the meals are served through a window divided by metal bars, the three say they've never had a problem with the inmates.

"Most of the prisoners are considerate," Barker said. "Some say thanks, some say it was good and some look at you like you're trying to poison them."

Even though the prisoners are friendly, the cooks have to keep a close count on the silverware. All the kitchen utensils are counted every night, Barker said, "and if there's one missing they go looking for it."

The women don't have any contact with dangerous criminals, who are kept in isolation. The jailers take the food to those inmates.

Mother and daughter begin work at 6 a.m. weekdays, preparing breakfast, lunch and dinner for the jail residents. Beske serves the evening meal, and the three rotate solo shifts on the weekend.

Pizza and hamburgers are some of the prisoners' favorites, the cooks said. Emery's french toast is also a big hit, with some of the inmates eating six or seven slices.

"When you multiply that by 28 prisoners, that's a lot of bread," Emery said.

Cereal, pancakes or eggs are on the breakfast menu. On Sunday morning, each prisoner gets two sweet rolls.

Dinner is everyday fare such as roast, meat loaf, turkey or fish, Barker said, "but no steak."

The jail is usually filled to capacity, with 28 mouths to feed in addition to the jailers and the dispatcher, who cannot leave his post.

Barker began cooking for the prisoners part time in 1975 with Esther Mortensen, wife of former sheriff Carlton Mortensen. Barker says Mortensen told her to keep the prisoners well-fed.

"He told me to keep them full, and they'd be less apt to argue or fight," Barker says. "I believe that. I really do."

Summer foods turn deadly if not properly prepared

Picnicking, camping, outdoor barbecuing or snacking on the patio are as much a part of the Texas summer as temperatures in the upper 90s.

Unfortunately, some summertime foods, if not properly prepared, stored and served, can turn a happy occasion into a tragedy.

Foods which should stay refrigerated often warm rapidly in the heat, making them unsafe to eat in a short period of time.

Food spoilage and food poisoning occurs when bacteria in the food are allowed to multiply and produce chemicals called toxins which are harmful to humans. Victims of food poisoning may have mild symptoms — nausea, vomiting, diarrhea — but may also require hospitalization to prevent death.

Texas Department of Health Commissioner Dr. Robert Bernstein said, "Virtually all food poisoning could be avoided if people would follow two simple rules. Those who are handling or preparing food should wash their hands and utensils thoroughly before and after handling the food. And they should keep hot foods hot and cold foods cold. As simple as those rules are, some people find them hard to follow."

least 30 minutes to firm. Spread raspberry preserves over ice cream layer. Freeze. Spoon Lemon Mousse ice cream in thin layer over raspberry preserves and smooth. Cover with plastic wrap and freeze until serving time.

Before serving, remove rim from springform pan, lift dessert off bottom of pan and place dessert on serving plate. Garnish with raspberries and lemon slices. Makes 12 servings.

ORANGE PRALINE ICE CREAM CAKE

1 pkg. (about 15 ounces) brownie mix
1 quart vanilla ice cream
6 Tbsp. (half of a six-ounce can) frozen concentrated orange juice, thawed, undiluted, divided
1 quart chocolate ice cream
Orange slices

Prepare brownie mix according to package directions for cake-like brownies; pour into a 9-inch springform pan. Bake according to package directions; cool completely. Sprinkle with half the Spiced Praline. Soften 1 quart vanilla ice cream in a chilled bowl. Stir in 3 Tbsp. orange juice concentrate. Spread ice cream evenly over the brownies. Freeze about 1 hour or until firm. Sprinkle with remaining Spiced Praline, reserving about 1/4 cup for top of cake. Soften chocolate ice cream. Stir in remaining 3 Tbsp. orange juice concentrate. Spread evenly in pan. Freeze until firm. To serve: remove cake from freezer about 10 minutes before serving. Sprinkle top with reserved 1/4 cup Spiced Praline. Garnish with orange slices, if desired. YIELD: 12 servings.

SPICED PRALINE

1 1/2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
2 Tbsp. cornstarch
1 tsp. ground cinnamon
1/4 tsp. ground clove
1/4 tsp. ground allspice
1/4 tsp. salt
2 egg whites

1 can (8 ounces) shelled walnuts coarsely chopped (2 cups chopped)

In a small bowl combine sugar, cornstarch, cinnamon, clove, allspice and salt. In a medium bowl beat egg whites until foamy. Add nuts; stir to coat with egg whites. Remove nuts with a slotted spoon; toss lightly in sugar mixture. Spread nuts in a jelly roll pan. Bake in 250 degree F. oven 1 hour, stirring every 20 minutes. Cool completely. Chop coarsely.

LIME SORBET IN MELON WEDGES

1 1/4 cups sugar
1 1/4 cups water
1 1/4 cups fresh lime juice
1/4 to 1/2 tsp. grated fresh lime peel
1/4 cup heavy cream
1 to 2 drops each yellow and blue food coloring, if desired
Cantaloupe, Crenshaw or honeydew melon wedges

Fresh lime wedges

Heat sugar and water until sugar dissolves; cool completely. Stir in lime juice and grated peel. Pour mixture into 2-quart shallow metal pan; freeze until almost firm. Spoon mixture into container of food processor or blender; process on high until light and fluffy. Gradually add cream, mixing thoroughly. Add food coloring to mixture, if desired, stirring to combine. Pour mixture back into metal pan and refreeze, stirring thoroughly after 1 hour. Let sorbet thaw in refrigerator a few minutes before serving. Spoon into wedges of melon. Garnish with lime wedges. Yield: 3 cups.

Hudson's cancer inoperable

PARIS (AP) — The American Hospital said today that tests have not yet revealed the ailment afflicting movie idol Rock Hudson. But Hudson's agent says he is suffering from liver cancer and being treated by specialists from an institute that specializes in AIDS research.

"Mr. Hudson was hospitalized July 21st, Sunday, for fatigue and general malaise. He is currently undergoing a series of examinations. As of this moment the results of these examinations have been inconclusive," hospital spokeswoman Joyce Gray told The Associated Press.

Bruce Redo, a hospital spokesman, said late Tuesday that the 59-year-old Hudson was under observation and was in satisfactory condition.

Hudson's publicist, Dale Olson, said in Los Angeles that the actor had collapsed at the Paris Ritz Hotel on Sunday night. "He's been in and out of a coma. He's a very, very sick man," Olson said.

"My official statement is that Rock Hudson is in the American Hospital in Paris, where his doctors have diagnosed that he has cancer of the liver and that it is not operable," Olson said.

Hudson had gone to Paris to see doctors at the Pasteur Institute, said his Beverly Hills physician, Dr. Rexford Kenamer. Olson said: "I believe people from the Institute Pasteur have been treating him. He has not been in the Institute Pasteur as a patient."

The institute specializes in research on AIDS, or acquired immune deficiency syndrome.

Hudson had made a public appearance last week in Pebble Beach, Calif., to help Doris Day promote her television series on pets. He looked gaunt at the time, but his publicists said only that Hudson had wanted to lose weight.

Beginning in 1948, Hudson's commanding 6-foot-4 size, strong presence and good looks led him to starring roles opposite some of Hollywood's leading ladies in more than 50 Westerns, war epics, comedies and tear-jerking dramas.

Cartel disagrees on price cuts

Key Arab oil ministers criticize Saudi Arabian proposal

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — A key Arab oil minister joined his African partners today in criticizing a Saudi Arabian proposal for a small cut in the price of OPEC oil.

"I don't like changing the price," said Mana Saeed Oteiba of the United Arab Emirates. "I would like to keep everything as it is."

Oteiba spoke to reporters as he entered a third day of talks among members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

Despite reports of progress Tuesday, OPEC members did not reach an agreement. The ministers said they did not expect a quick breakthrough today, either.

African members Libya, Algeria, Gabon and Nigeria oppose Saudi Arabia's plan for a cut of perhaps 50 cents a barrel from the standard of $26.50 for heavy, lower-grade oil.

OPEC

Sources who spoke on condition they not be identified said Nigeria's objection was the key obstacle to agreement on a price cut. Tam David-West, the Nigerian oil minister, vehemently opposes the Saudi Arabian-sponsored plan, the sources said.

A committee of oil ministers from seven of the 13 members was seeking to work out a compromise. A decision by the panel would be expected to get quick approval from the full conference.

Iran's oil minister, Mohammad Gharazi, told reporters before today's session that his country was disappointed in the Saudi proposal. He called the expected 50-cent price cut "a little bit bigger than I want." He did not say, however, that he would try to block it.

Saudi Arabia has proposed cutting the price of lower-grade oils to regain sales lost to non-OPEC producers.

Even a 50 cents per barrel cut in the price of OPEC's lower-quality crudes would not halt the general downward drift of oil prices that has eaten away at OPEC's wealth and international influence.

OPEC would still be so far out of line with market prices that its production would be expected to remain depressed, putting more pressure on its members to offer price discounts in order to sell their oil.

Ag department employee blasts DOE's safety record

AMARILLO (AP) — An agriculture department employee criticized the U.S. Department of Energy's health and safety record during a public briefing held Tuesday to discuss the agency's plan to store radioactive waste in an underground site in the Panhandle.

Angela Lamb, district manager of the Texas Department of Agriculture, said the department has failed to protect its own laboratory workers from radiation hazards.

"DOE's record for health and safety is about as clear as the Amarillo sky in a heavy dust storm," Mrs. Lamb said.

The department is considering locating the nation's first high-level nuclear waste repository in Deaf Smith County 30 miles west of Amarillo. There are two other finalists in the government's decade-long search for a site.

A crowd gathered at the Amarillo Civic Center to talk about the proposed site. Some expressed a lack of confidence in the energy department's ability to construct a safe high-level nuclear waste repository in Deaf Smith County, the Amarillo Daily News reported.

Mrs. Lamb said she doubted that the DOE repository could be constructed without damage to the Ogallala Aquifer and Panhandle farmland.

Deaf Smith County, where the proposed repository would be located, is the one of the state's top agriculture producing county.

Don Hancock, a member of the Southwest Research and Information Center in Albuquerque, N.M., said he does not believe a permanent seal can be constructed in the shaft to insure that the Ogallala and Santa Rosa aquifers would not be polluted and that the water from them would not eventually flood the mine shaft.

Wayne Wyatt, manager of High Plains Underground Water Conservation District in Lubbock, said the DOE's proposal to freeze both aquifers to drill through them is not proven technology.

"They don't know what is going to happen, we don't even know what's going to happen and it could get us all in trouble," Wyatt said.

The DOE is finalizing drafts of its environmental assessments of the area and records of public comment. The records will be presented to President Reagan in December, said Linda McClain, project manager for the DOE.

Linda McClain, Department of Energy official, speaks to a group in Amarillo concern with the possible placement of a nuclear waste site in Deaf Smith County.

Hance committed to gubernatorial race

KENT HANCE seeks governor's seat.

LUBBOCK (AP) — Former U.S. Rep. Kent Hance says he is "pretty well committed" to the gubernatorial race despite the news three Republican congressmen are going to support Rep. Tom Loeffler in the GOP primary.

"We're pretty well committed to the race. You can quote me on that," Hance told the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal. "We'll probably make a formal announcement in August or September."

Hance, who lost a bid last year for the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate to Lloyd Doggett, played down the idea of an "intraparty rift" among Texas Republicans. He also rejected the idea the endorsements for Loeffler were a "message" for him to back away from the gubernatorial race.

Hance said he would rather have the support of Republican U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm, who went on to defeat Doggett.

"I don't think it was intended to be any kind of message. I'll take the support of Phil Gramm any day over three congressmen, or even 10 congressmen," Hance said.

Gramm has said in the past that he would be inclined to support any gubernatorial bid by the former Lubbock congressman.

U.S. Reps. Bill Archer of Houston, Jack Fields of Humble and Tom DeLay of Sugar Land recently said they will back Loeffler.

A fourth congressman, Rep. Mack Sweeney of Wharton, said he would also support Loeffler although he has not been asked for an endorsement yet.

"Those three told me sometime ago that they were going to announce their support for Loeffler. I never expected them to give their support to anyone else but Loeffler," Hance said.

Harris, Thayer named in lawsuit

Anheuser-Busch Cos. Inc. seeking $15 million in damages

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Anheuser-Busch Cos. Inc. seeks more than $15 million in damages in a lawsuit against people the brewery claims profited from information leaked about the company's plans to take over a baking firm.

The suit, filed Monday in St. Louis Circuit Court, alleges that the defendants made illegal profits and also cost the St. Louis brewery nearly $90 million by increasing the cost of its August 1982 merger with Campbell Taggart Inc.

The defendants include Paul Thayer, who allegedly first leaked the information about the merger. Thayer resigned from the No. 2 position in the Pentagon in January 1984 when it was disclosed that he was being investigated by the Securities and Exchange Commission. He pleaded guilty in March to lying to the SEC and is serving a four-year prison sentence.

Another defendant, former

Dallas securities broker Billy Bob Harris, also pleaded guilty of lying to the SEC and is also serving a four-year prison term.

Also named as defendants were A.G. Edwards Inc., a holding company, and its brokerage subsidiary, A.G. Edwards & Sons Inc.; William Mathis of Atlanta, a partner and agent of Bear Stearns & Co., a New York-based brokerage; and 119 other general partners in Bear Stearns.

The suit alleges that Thayer learned of the proposed merger at a June 1982 meeting of the brewery's directors. The suit alleges that he passed on the information to Harris, who bought large amounts of Campbell Taggart stock.

The suit alleges that Harris told Mathis and others about the proposed merger.

BILLY BOB HARRIS named in lawsuit.

Amateur astronomer Mary Firth sites through her compound mirror system telescope at her home in Los Angeles recently. She will join other selected amateurs worldwide in tracking Halley's Comet when it makes its appearance in Earth's skies.

The comet cometh

Star gazers look to the skies for Halley's arrival

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mary Firth will photograph Halley's comet from a California mountainside. Mark Coco plans to watch it from the Galapagos Islands. Ruthi Moore may plant her lawn chair in a Hawaiian sugar cane field.

The three amateur astronomers belong to International Halley Watch, a loosely organized group mounting history's largest study of a comet, says Stephen Edberg, an astronomer at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena.

About 900 professional and nearly 600 amateur astronomers from more than 50 nations, including Eastern bloc countries, will participate in the Halley Watch, which is coordinated by the Jet Propulsion Laboratory and West Germany's University of Erlangen-Nurnberg.

With so many eyes turned to the skies, scientists hope to keep the comet under 24-hour watch, Edberg said.

"The reason is that we don't know very much about comets," he explained. "We have very nice models of what we think a comet is and how it works. We've got a very nice edifice, but it really needs a foundation" of solid facts.

Edberg said information amassed by Halley Watch participants will complement data from five space probes — two Soviet, one European and two Japanese — that will fly by the comet next March, as well as from various U.S. spacecraft that will watch the comet from afar.

Halley Watch "is an excellent opportunity for an amateur to contribute data which has real meaning," said Mrs. Firth, a 57-year-old grandmother from suburban Canoga Park. She plans to haul her telescope and cameras onto the foothill slopes of Mount Pinos, 75 miles northwest of Los Angeles, two weekends a month starting in August.

Coco, 25, a Redondo Beach computer firm employee, said he's excited about watching and photographing the comet while leading a trip to Peru, Ecuador and the Galapagos next April because "comets are a lot of fun. They're strange visitors and poorly understood. They're different from the average, run-of-the-mill objects we normally observe."

Mrs. Moore, 39, wife of a Navy submarine commander, said she will record details of fall and spring meteor showers associated with Halley's comet while sitting in a lawn chair "either in my backyard (in Honolulu), Barbers Point Naval Air Station or on the island of Lanai in the middle of a cane field."

Her husband thinks her hobby "is nice," Mrs. Moore said. "When I come home at 3 a.m. in the morning, he asks all the appropriate questions and then goes back to sleep."

John Brandt, astronomy and solar physics chief at NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center in Greenbelt, Md., said amateur astronomers will make "a vital contribution" to the study.

AG subpoenas hijacking tapes

American television networks asked to turn over videotapes

WASHINGTON (AP) — During last month's 17-day hijack-hostage crisis, American television networks devoted hours to coverage of the Beirut drama. Now the government is looking for a rerun, in what may be a bid to bring the hijackers to justice.

ABC, CBS and NBC were served Tuesday with subpoenas, personally approved by Attorney General Edwin Meese, seeking all material, aired and unaired, about the June 14 hijacking of TWA Flight 847 and the hostage ordeal that followed.

Two of the networks, ABC and CBS, reported that they were told the Justice Department wanted to use their videotapes, audio tapes, film and still photos in a federal grand jury investigation of the hijacking.

NBC quoted sources as saying the FBI wants to show the tapes to the crew of the Trans World Airlines plane to help identify one of the hijackers.

The government of Lebanon has ordered a judicial probe to identify and arrest the Shiite Moslem hijackers who commandeered the jet on the Athens-to-Rome flight, terrorized the passengers and forced the crew to crisscross the Mediterranean. The hijackers killed a U.S. Navy serviceman and dumped his body on the Beirut airport tarmac. The Justice Department would not confirm that a grand jury probe was planned, or discuss any legal steps the United States might try to take against the hijackers, such as extradition and indictment.

"We decided it would be important to look at some of the footage of these events," said Justice Department spokesman Terry Eastland, adding: "You can draw your own inferences."

He refused in a telephone interview to elaborate on the department's plans, citing "the obviously sensitive nature of the whole thing."

The subpoenaed networks weren't saying Tuesday whether they would cooperate.

Senate GOP draft new budget plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republicans are drafting a deficit-reduction offer aimed at reviving stalled budget talks as House Democrats say they can achieve $56 billion in savings next year even without a fiscal 1986 spending plan.

Although negotiators from the House and Senate have been unable to draft a compromise version of budgets passed by each chamber, legislators are trying to show the public they still are serious about reducing the government's flood of red ink.

Majority Democrats were bringing a resolution to the House floor today which would, in effect, commit that chamber to achieving the $56 billion in savings for next year that was called for in the House-passed budget. The measure is not binding on the Senate.

House Majority Leader Jim Wright, D-Texas, hailed the move saying, "We will not permit Senate intransigence (in the budget talks) to paralyze the legislative process."

He added that if there is not a budget agreement this year, "we will have at least done our part."

Scout gala goes hi-tech

BOWLING GREEN, Va. (AP) — First-aid, knot-tying and wood-crafts are still here, but the National Boy Scout Jamboree is going high-tech, with exhibits by NASA and computer companies and an opening-night gala "the equivalent of any Las Vegas show."

"The Spirit Lives On" is the theme of this year's Jamboree, which celebrates 75 years of scouting in America and officially opens today at this community of 15,000 tents on 7,000 acres of the Army's Fort A.P. Hill.

When the 31,000 Scouts and their leaders gather in a grassy arena tonight, it won't be around a council fire, but before a 72-by-72-foot stage illuminated by 160-foot lighting towers and enough electricity to supply 15 homes.

"It's really falling into place," said Phil Johnson, of the arena production staff. "The biggest thing we had to do was get the stage built."

The show will include videotaped features projected onto 30-by-40-foot screens by four $475,000 Swiss-made cameras, Johnson said. "The whole idea is, with the equipment being used, it's the equivalent of any Las Vegas show."

The Beach Boys are scheduled to perform tonight.

Abilene nips Big Spring, 8-7

By STEVE BELVIN Sports Writer

Big Spring spotted Abilene six runs in three innings and then came back to tie, only to have Abilene score in its last trip to the plate to take an 8-7 win in Division IV All-Stars girls softball today.

It was the opening game for both teams in the United Girls Softball Association National Tournament at Roy Anderson Complex. It was a gallant comeback by Big Spring, which trailed 6-0 after the first three innings.

Abilene scored two runs in the bottom of the first inning. Their leadoff hitter touched Big Spring starter Gloria Bustamante for a home run over the center field fence. Tracy Owens singled and scored on Lisa Sherwood's single.

Big Spring Division IV All-Stars shortstop DEBRA RUBIO is about to put the finishing touches on a double play in first inning action this morning at Roy Anderson Complex. Rubio caught a line drive, and tagged the Abilene base runner who was coming from second base.

Abilene padded its lead to 6-0 in the third thanks to a couple of walks and a Big Spring error. Patty Bealey and Beth Watson crossed the plate, giving Abilene a seemingly comfortable lead.

Big Spring started its comeback in the top of the fourth inning. Solis started things off when she hit Abilene starter Rachael Rodriguez' first pitch high over the center field fence, cutting the lead to five.

Another Big Spring run scored when Anderson singled, scoring Cunningham, who had walked.

The local team added two more runs in the fifth. Rubio and Monette Wise singled and Solis reached base on an error, loading up the bases for clean up hitter Sherri Myrick.

games, Andrews downed Clyde 21-9 in Division III action. Andrews scored 10 runs in the first three innings to stay in command of the game.

Lorraine Hernandez and Sara Pando got two hits for Andrews. Carmen New added three hits for the winners. Michelle Fisher led Clyde with two hits.

In Division II action, Clyde downed Jal, New Mexico 18-8. The winners held an 8-4 lead after two innings of play and never trailed after that.

Amy Wright and Alice Morris led Clyde with two hits each.

4th time charm for tight end

By JOE DON MCGAUGHEY Harte-Hanks News Service SAN ANGELO — Tight end Jamie Williams made the most of what might have been his last chance.

After hitting and missing with three National Football League teams in 1983, Williams' professional football future looked dim. Then the Houston Oilers rescued him from the waiver wire after the Tampa Bay Buccaneers had released him.

Oilers notes

Entering training camp in San Angelo, Williams found himself third on the depth chart behind highly-regarded Oilers '83 draftees Chris Dressel (3rd round) and Mike McCloskey (4th round). But Williams impressed everyone, especially head coach Hugh Campbell, who gave the 6-foot-4, 244-pounder the starting job.

"I don't know if it would have been my last chance. I felt like it may have been," Williams said Tuesday. "I don't know if I would have tried again or not. I didn't want it to be my last go-around." Williams is looking for a lot of go-arounds if he continues rolling up numbers like he did last year. Williams started all 16 games, hauling in 41 passes for 545 yards and three touchdowns.

Williams never got the chance to play for Tampa Bay. The Buccaneers were having contract problems with starting tight end Jimmie Giles (an ex-Oilers player) and wanted Williams for insurance. Giles eventually signed before the Bucs' training camp and Williams was released.

Enter the Houston Oilers and Williams' potential last stand against McCloskey and Dressel. "I was fairly familiar with them. I knew what they could do from what I had seen in college," Williams said of competing with the holdover tight ends.

"Plus they had a year of experience on me. But I knew I could compete with them if I could learn the offensive terminology." Williams' 41 catches and 545 yards, as well as his three TDs were good enough for second place on the club behind Tim Smith in all categories. So can Williams be more relaxed with his place on the squad secure for once?

"That's not necessarily true," Williams said quickly. "Whenever you're a starter or you contribute a lot, there's a lot of pressure put on you. You have to be a man and accept it and make yourself work on the little things. You don't want to get too relaxed. You still need to push and hustle."

Williams is pleased with what he's seen after the first two full days of training camp.

"I'm very excited about the offense. The offense is really going to give the defense a cushion to grow. With (quarterback Warren) Moon having a year of experience under his belt and the offensive line being back intact, we're going to be good."

For a man who almost had to start a career outside of football, Williams is also optimistic about his chances in television after he is finished playing.

"I'd like to get in front of the camera and eventually I would like to produce and direct," said Williams, who was a broadcasting and speech communications major at Nebraska. "I'd really like to make commercials or music videos."

LA Raiders running back ROBERT JOHNSON (42) is stopped by Dallas Cowboys cornerback ROBERT ESTES (23) during a scrimmage Thursday afternoon at the Cowboys training camp in Thousand Oaks, Calif.

Fowler feels at home; Dorsett has IRS problems

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — Todd Fowler is the son of a high school football coach so he is used to being around the sport all year long.

Being a fulltime player is something else, but that's what Fowler has been since he got out of Stephen F. Austin State in Nacogdoches.

"I'm pretty well used to playing football all year," said Fowler. "I went into the United States Football League coming out of college and it didn't bother me that much."

"Coming directly from the (Houston) Gamblers to the Dallas Cowboys shouldn't be any problem physically. There might be just a little burn out mentally."

Fowler, a fullback for the Gamblers, signed a four-year contract with the Cowboys who are also looking at him as a tight end.

Cowboys notes

His father, Malvin, was a star for the Texas Christian Horned Frogs in the early 1950s.

Malvin Fowler has been the coach at Van High School for over 20 years.

Todd Fowler was slowed by injuries his final season with the Gamblers which ended earlier this month.

Dallas Coach Tom Landry gave him an extra week off for rest. "I appreciated it," said Fowler. "I needed a little breather."

The Cowboys are hoping

Fowler can become a blocking force at fullback. Fowler, who has a reputation for good hands, also could be shifted to tight end.

"I don't care where I play," said Fowler. "I sure don't mind blocking. In fact, I'd rather do that than run the ball. I played tight end in college so that doesn't matter."

Fowler even volunteered for something dear to Landry's heart — the specialty teams.

"I really like playing on the specialty teams," said Fowler of the suicide squads that most professional players dread.

"I think it's a good chance to put some shots on people," Fowler said. "You can kind of slip up on some people."

"Besides, it's a major phase of the game."

Fowler said he found no resentment among the Houston players although he was playing out his option.

"They didn't treat me like a lame duck," Fowler said. "The guys treated me good."

Fowler doesn't know any of the Cowboy players.

"I met Gary Hogeboom and Danny White when I got here," Fowler said.

Fowler has seen only one professional football game that he didn't participate in.

"My dad took me to see the Cowboys play the Green Bay Packers in the Cotton Bowl when I was a kid," Fowler said. "It was my only game as a spectator."

And Fowler is determined not to be watching from the bench for the Cowboys.

TODD FOWLER ...at home with Cowboys

DALLAS (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service could sell two homes it has seized from Dallas Cowboys running back Tony Dorsett within 30 days if Dorsett's alleged $400,000 tax debt is not satisfied, an IRS spokeswoman said.

The homes in a far north Dallas subdivision and in Lucas, in neighboring Collin County, were seized by the IRS Tuesday in an effort to collect more than $400,000 in income taxes allegedly owed for 1979, 1980 and 1983, said IRS spokeswoman Marlene Gaysek.

The sale of the homes would satisfy the tax liabilities, but Dorsett has 180 days from the date of any sale to pay the taxes and reclaim his property, Ms. Gaysek said.

Cowboys president Tex Schramm confirmed he had been talking to a "third party" representing Dorsett about getting "quick financial help" from the club.

Dorsett is scheduled to get $400,000 this year on a contract that runs through 1987.

Dorsett, 31, reportedly was in Los Angeles with his agent attending to business matters and could not be reached for comment.

Cowboys Coach Tom Landry said Dorsett was not required to be at training camp in Thousand Oaks, Calif., until Thursday night, although the eight-year veteran had been asked to be at camp on Sunday. Landry said he only recently had become aware of Dorsett's financial problems.

"I'm always concerned when players have things on their mind that they have to handle," Landry said. "It's a distraction from football. But these things happen and they have to be dealt with."

"My bet is that Tony will be here Thursday night when everyone else is reporting," Landry said. "If he's not, he'll be fined $1,000 a day."

The IRS began filing liens against Dorsett's property in November 1984, when agents first cited a $156,065 debt for his 1979 income taxes, officials said.

That figure was revised in March to $74,143, according to the IRS and deed records in Collin and Dallas counties.

Since February, however, the IRS has filed liens for more than $339,000 for taxes owed by Dorsett for 1980 and 1983, according to the IRS and the deed records. The latest lien was filed on July 10 against Dorsett's residence in Lucas.

Junior Leaguers drop 7-4 decision to Big Country

CLYDE — Big Country East pitcher Randy Towery pitched out of a bases-loaded jam in the seventh inning as the Big Country East All-Stars downed Big Spring 7-4 in the Junior League Sub-Sectional Tournament.

Big Country East is now the lone remaining undefeated team in the double-elimination tournament. Lubbock Dixie eliminated San Angelo Western 9-7 and will face Big Spring tonight at 7:30.

Big Spring hurt its own cause with questionable base running on several occasions, especially in the seventh, as it turned out.

Trailing 7-4 going into their final bat, losing pitcher Michael Hilario lost the inning with a single. Hilario was then doubled up when he attempted to steal second and batter Joe Downey popped up to the second baseman, thus doubling Hilario at first.

This turned out to be the big play in the game since the following three Big Spring batters reached base. Sammy Carrillo and Robert Perez singled and Lance Newell walked, loading the bases.

But Towery ended the game when he got Danny Whitehead to line out.

Big Country East scored four runs in each of the first four innings and trailed only once.

It scored twice in the first inning on a run-producing single by Jeff Howle and on James Lane's double, but Big Spring fought back with three runs in the second inning.

Big Spring took a 3-2 lead after one inning of play. Towery walked four batters, Eric Torrez bunted in a run, Sammy Carrillo drove in another and an error scored another run.

Big Spring scored its final run in the fourth. Doubles by Torrez, Hilario and Downey produced a run.

ABILENE 10, BIG SPRING 0

The Abilene Big League All-Stars, led by Jay Gravens' 11-strikeout, three-hit performance, thumped Big Spring 10-0 in the first meeting of the best two-out-of-three series.

Wednesday night's game will begin at 8:30 at Rose Park. Gravens was an All-District pitcher for Abilene High this season. The Abilene team can come back with another good hurler in this next game. All-State hurler Terry Suggs, of Cooper, will probably get the start versus Big Spring this game.

The Big Spring Senior Leaguers' game with San Angelo Western was rained out last night. The game was played at 10:30 a.m. this morning. Scores were not available deadline.

Hole-in-one

A hole-in-one was recorded by Nile Cole of Big Spring Monday at Comanche Trail Golf Course. The ace was the first in his career. It came on the 175-yard fourth hole and he did it using a three-iron. Witness were Tom and Diane Posey.

Oilers sweep Astros

The Big Spring Oilers took a doubleheader from the Odessa Astros last Sunday. David Barbee was the winning pitcher in the Oilers 7-4 first game win. He got relief help from Tommy Rodriguez. John Carr and Ricky Stone got two hits each. Randy Clanton added a double.

Adam Rodriguez hurled a four-hitter and fanned seven in the 7-2 second game win. Joe Justice was leading hitter with three hits. Kurt Salisbury got a hit and a walk. The Oilers, tied for first in their division in the Texas-New Mexico Semi-Pro League, will face the Big Spring Cardinals Sunday at 1:30 p.m. in a doubleheader at Jack Barber Field on the Howard College campus. The Cardinals have already won the division in the league.

McDowell hits for cycle, Rangers drop Indians

ARLINGTON (AP) — Oddibe McDowell became the first Texas player to hit for the cycle and went 5-for-5, giving him eight straight hits over the last two games, to lead the Rangers to an 8-4 victory over the Cleveland Indians Tuesday night. McDowell's eight consecutive hits — including four singles, a double, a triple and two home runs — ties a club record established by Rico Carty in 1973. He had three RBI, including the go-ahead run with a triple in Texas' five-run fourth inning, and became the first American League player to complete the cycle this season with his seventh homer in the eighth. McDowell, a 1984 Olympian, doubled and scored on Pete O'Brien's sacrifice fly in the first, had a bunt single in the third and hit a run-scoring single in the sixth. Winner Charlie Hough, 9-10, got the victory with five innings of pitching. He gave up four hits, one of them a grand slam by George Vukovich in the second inning. Loser Neil Heaton, 5-12, lasted just 3 2-3 innings, giving up six runs on seven hits and three walks. Vukovich's second career grand slam gave the Indians a 4-1 lead in the second. Andre Thornton walked, Mike Hargrove doubled and Tony Bernazard was hit by a pitch to load the bases ahead of Vukovich's third home run. The Rangers scored five runs after two were out in the fourth to take a 6-4 lead. Glenn Brummer hit a two-run double and scored on a single by Tolleson, tying the game 4-4. McDowell then tripled, driving in Tolleson and chasing Heaton. McDowell scored on Toby Harrah's infield single off reliever Jeff Barkley. The Indians loaded the bases with none out in the sixth, chasing Hough, but reliever Dave Rozema struck out pinch hitter Jerry Willard and got Brett Butler to hit into a double play.

Phillies down Astros

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Second-string catcher Bo Diaz, tired of being a "cheerleader," says he wants to play or be traded. On Tuesday night, he played. Oh, did he play. Diaz hit two home runs and a double, drove in four runs and scored three as the Philadelphia Phillies beat the Houston Astros 12-6. "It's no fun sitting," said Diaz, who lost his job to Ozzie Virgil last season when he was put on the disabled list three times, undergoing surgery on his left knee twice. He played in only 27 games. This season he was out from April 16 to June 2 with a broken wrist and then a kidney stone. He has been in 23 games. Diaz erupted Sunday in Cincinnati with a demand to be traded. He repeated it Tuesday night. "Why pay me all that money (a reported $600,000) to sit on the bench?" he asked. "I'm a professional. I want to play. I can't do nothing on the bench but be a cheerleader." "I don't blame Bo Diaz for wanting to play every day," said manager John Felske. "I said all along that Bo is a good catcher. But Ozzie is doing a good job. "If we trade Diaz we have to get a lot of quality," he went on. "We'll trade him only if what we get makes us a better team." Diaz was joined by Mike Schmidt in the Phillies' 15-hit attack on four Astros pitchers. Schmidt, who has been in a season-long slump, had a home run, a double, a single, three RBIs and three runs scored. "It's a lot more fun to play the game," said Schmidt, who had two hits Monday night, including a ninth-inning, game-winning homer. He said his home runs the last two nights should dispel rumors he's lost his power. Schmidt got the Phillies underway with his 14th homer of the season in the first inning. The Astros tied it in the second on a double by Mark Bailey and single by Dickie Thon, who had four hits, including his second homer. The Phillies took the lead in the third on two unearned runs. Juan Samuel doubled and advanced to third on an infield out. Schmidt and Glenn Wilson walked, loading the bases. Diaz then hit a sinking liner that skipped through Thon at shortstop for a two-run error. Glenn Davis hit the first of two home runs, scoring Jerry Mumphrey to tie the game in the fourth. But the Phillies took the lead for good in the fourth on a double by Rick Schu.

Mavericks' assistant coach may go to Nets

FORT WORTH (AP) — Dallas Mavericks assistant coach Bob Weiss said he will interview for the head coaching job of the New Jersey Nets next Monday. "They wanted me to come up this week, but I was tied up with mini-camp and it wouldn't be fair," Weiss told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram in a story published today. Weiss added that he is scheduled to meet with Nets' vice president Lewis Schaffel on Monday. Nets President Bernie Mann told The Associated Press Tuesday that he hoped to name a coach within the next two weeks but no one has the inside track at this time. Weiss conducted the final workout of the Mavericks' mini-camp at Royal Haven Baptist Church Tuesday afternoon.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, JULY 25, 1985

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You will feel that you are being in some way restricted and more so as the day wears on, but make a point to keep as cheerful as possible and maintain a pleasant environment.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Get busy making collections, payments and reports during the day and be conscientious tonight in home affairs.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Be sure to compromise with an associate who is as stubborn as you and come to a fine understanding.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You have much work ahead of you, so concentrate on that and don't try to take on any more responsibilities.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Some recreation you were relying on may have to be put off until a better time, so don't let this bother you.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Much stress is possible at home if you do not take a more patient stance and be more understanding with your mate.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 21) A day for communicating with others in an ideal way, so contact them and get much accomplished. Avoid trouble.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You want to commit yourself to some practical matter, but this is not the right time or day for that.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Don't try to be forceful if you can't get conditions moving as you would like, but be patient and persevering.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You may have a private worry that could keep you fretting if you permit, so get busy at whatever is practical and accomplish a good deal instead. Be kind.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Concentrate on making right plans for whatever it is you have had in mind for some time. Socialize with young people.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Be prepared to answer question which bigwigs put to you and come up with flying colors, improving your career thereby.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You had better get more information before you take on that new interest that appeals to you and then you can be successful.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will seem to want to learn lessons the hard way, but will come out the winner in the long run as a result of hard knocks. Early teach to be patient and to persevere so that upon reaching adulthood, there is success.

U.S. Choice W.D. Brand Beef

...enjoy the Big, Bold Goodness of the West!

the Beef People

Nothing compares to the taste of a U.S. Choice steak or roast from Winn Dixie. We carefully select our beef from heavy western corn-fed livestock, and age it naturally for tender, juicy perfection. Then it's expertly cut and trimmed for the best flavor and value.

You can see the difference, and taste the difference. No other beef sold is quite the same...or quite so good.
