Spring Local stores to open Sundays

Big Spring shoppers will be able to spend their money at several locations on Sundays beginning Sept. 1, the effective date of the repeal of the state's Blue Law.

A survey of local merchants found that some stores will open to Sunday shoppers, others will re-main closed, and still others will open only if competition forces

The Big Spring Mall will open the doors to its first Sunday shoppers at 1 p.m. Sept. 1 and will remain open until 5 p.m. J.C. Penney and Bealls department stores, the largest stores in the mall, will be open, store officials said.

However, merchants in the Highland Mail will not open for Sunday business, said June Russell, mall manager. The decision was left up to the individual merchants, and all of them decided to remain closed, she said.

The mall already opens on Sundays for customers of the Furr's Cafeteria. Mr. G's Garden Center may open its special Christmas store on Sundays in October, but that would only be for the holiday season, Russell said.

TG&Y and K mart also will open Sundays beginning Sept. 1, managers said.

Wal-Mart, located at Highway 87 and Farm Road 700, originally planned to open Sept. 1, but has received orders from its home office in Bentonville, Ark., to wait and see what competition does, assistant manager Rod Cox said.

Cox said customers "seem to be excited" about the repeal because it "gives them more of an opportunity to shop.

MANCHESTER, England (AP) An engine exploded on a British Airtours Boeing 737 taking off on a vacation flight for Greece today with 137 people aboard, and authorities said 54 people perished when flames swept through the the jet was saturated with fuel after the engine explosion and became "a towering inferno."

All 83 survivors were hurt, hospital authorities said, but only 15 were burned. Many suffered only from shock, they said. "We were about two-thirds of the

Education official predicts calming in school reform Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN - The still turbulent waters of school reform should be quite a bit calmer this fall, Texas Education Commissioner William Kirby predicted Wednesday.

"The vacuum and confusion that occurred last year is why people thought the sky was falling," Kirby said. "Now, they've found out it's not falling, and the reforms will, in fact, be carried out."

The reforms are good, he said, because they ask more of students. 'We believe, because we are asking more, that the kids will rise to those expectations," he said. "We have not had those expectations and standards in the past. "If you don't expect anything out of people, you're not going to be disappointed.

Much of the criticism leveled at the reforms by critics, Kirby said, stemmed from the fact that the Texas Legislature's changes were implemented before any clear-cut guidelines and interpretations were in place.

"We started school last year with a lame-duck State Board of Education that was not to pass on any new policies, and we did not have the policies in place to carry out those reforms," Kirby said.

the fifth major air disaster this year.

"I can assure you that, in many instances, the statutes were not clear," he told a Texas Daily Newspaper Association-sponsored workshop on school reform.

A year of experience with such reforms as the so-called "no-pass, no-play" rule will help, Kirby noted.

A new, appointed State Board of Education and a newly reorganized Texas Education Agency have spent almost a year writing a 300-page-plus "encyclopedia" covering all the reform laws and their interpretations for guidance,

That encyclopedia should end the practice of school board attorneys interpreting the reforms differently, Kirby said.

As for other changes in the works, he said, "I think you'll see reforms implemented carefully over several years.

Some changes in the works, he said, include: A statewide "student code of conduct" to let pupils know what is expected of them. New district-level discipline plans, set for review by the state board in February. Those must be

The local "King of Swing" is dead. A heart attack stripped the title of 'oldest active fiddler in the state" from Big Spring's Hoyle Nix Wednesday.

Funeral services for the 67-year-old western swing music performer will be 11 a.m. Saturday at East Fourth Baptist Church with Guy White, pastor, officiating. Burial will follow at the Mount Olive Memorial Park

"He's a legend in his own time. He's a real tribute to country music," Barry Doss, a promotional agent for country music from Nevada said of the performer upon his 1984 selection to the Nebraska Cowboy Hall of Fame.

The veteran, organizer of his own band, knew and enjoyed his business country and western music. He had been working professionally in the field at his own Stampede, in appearances with other performers and at rodeo dances for 39 years, and his success was revealed through his fans and honors.

He was inducted into the Nebraska Cowboy Hall of Fame Oct. 25, 1984, and into the Colorado Country Music Hall of Fame in May 1985. In 1975, he was awarded the Wrangler Award from the National Cowboy Hall of Fame in Oklahoma. In 1980, he was presented with a golden fiddle at the Howard County Fair from friends and fans for being in country music for 35 years.

He built the Stampede, on the Snyder Highway, in 1954. It was open every Saturday night except for rodeo dances. He had played for the Big Spring rodeo for 30 years and had played for the San Angelo Steer Roping dance for 20 years. He also performed for rodeo dances in Snyder, Sweetwater and Odessa. He played in Turkey for the Bob Wills Celebration.

In 1973, he was featured on the Bob Will's "Last Time Album." Hoyle filled in for Wills during the recording session because Will's was unable to perform. "I thought this was the greatest - to play with this old boy," Nix once said about producing an album with Wills.

Firemen's union opposes cuts

By KEELY COGHLAN Staff Writer

Firefighters' union members voted Wednesday to oppose demotions and reductions in manpower called for in the city's proposal to close the Central fire station.

The vote was taken in an emergency meeting of the Big Spring Professional Fire Fighters Association Local 2922, according to a news release from the union.

The firemen are not opposed to the closing of the Central stationhouse, but do object to the elimination of two positions in the department and three actual firefighting positions, they said.

Firemen say they will be manning the same number of engines with three less men.

Earlier, union president John Branham had said the proposal was a good one. Wednesday, however, he said he had been giving only his personal opinion, and had not discussed the proposal with union members.

Fire Chief Carl Dorton, who was involved in the emergency disaster drill today, could not be reached for comment this morning.

The proposal approved by council members Monday would allow the fire chief to appoint an assistant chief. A new post of training of-ficer, equivalent to a captain's position, would

Under the proposal, however, two lieutenants would be demoted to driver rank, two drivers would be demoted to hosemen, and two hosemen's positions would be lost through attrition. One man who quit last week will not be replaced, leaving only one lowerechelon position to be lost through attrition.

The union does not oppose the creation of a training officer or an assistant chief, members said. What they do oppose are the demotions, they said.

"The demotion of four firefighters as soon as the proposal takes effect is, in our opinion, a slap in the face," the statement reads. The four men have been with the department for a combined 25 years, according to the release.

"This proposal is not only damaging to the whole morale of the department, but it attacks the intelligence of everyone concerned when it is justified as a cost-savings move," the statement reads.

The entire proposal was approved at the council work session as a cost-cutting proposal. Firemen, however, say the city will save only $100 a month with the demotions.

"We cannot understand how this small amount of money could help or hurt a city's budget. Only the four men and their families will see the effect," the statement reads.

The release also states that firemen have tried to discuss compromises with Fire Chief Carl Dorton that would save the same amount of money, but without demotions. "Chief Dorton has agreed that savings are minimal in this area, but refused to change the original proposal," the statement reads:

 A statewide job-performance evaluation for all school teachers to emphasize finding ways to improve performance rather than reasons to fire them. The lack of consistency in evaluating those performances, especially from one school district to another, has been criticized by many teachers. But that should be solved to a great extent, Kirby said, by requiring those who do the appraisals be trained and certified by the Texas Education Agency.

 An attempt to move toward job training programs that pay economically disadvantaged students to stay in school and take technical and vocational trade courses after academic classes are through for the day or in the evening. ### Police say stolen property recovered following recent arrests totals $1,400. The property was rest of the cases with the 118th

District Attorney's office as soon as investigative work is complete,

Detective John Sautter said. Arrested in connection with the burglaries were: Charles Gary Deford, 21, and Shane Allen Kreager, 19, both of 809 W. 16th. They remain in jail in Snyder in lieu of $35,000 bond each on three counts of burglary. The men have been charged with two burglaries in Snyder in addition to the Big Spring case.

The men will be charged with all the burglaries, Sautter said.

Sautter, who is investigating the case, said Deford and Kreager are suspected of committing burglaries at Omega Housing at 2617 Albrook, between July 17 and 22; at S&S Wheel Alignment on July 22; and at Clyde McMahon Concrete at 605 N. Benton on Aug. 10. They also are suspects in four burglaries committed Aug. 1 at Big Spring Cable TV at 2006 Birdwell and at three offices inside the Anderson Building at 2000 Bird-well, Sautter said. Those offices are the B.S.E. Credit Union, the Texas Department of Public Safety Drivers' License office and the Anderson Oil Co.

He also said two burglaries that were not reported have been cleared as a result of information from the two men

In addition, the Howard County Sheriff's office has obtained statements from the two men in connection with five cases they are investigating, Deputy George Quintero said.

Police recovered most of the pro-

The burglaries at Clyde McMahon Concrete and S&S Alignment involved breaking into company safes, Sautter said. The safe at McMahon Concrete was broken into on the premises, while the safe at S&S Alignment was taken out of the building, he said.

That safe has not been recovered, although the men have told him where it should be. 'We've been out to the area but we haven't found it," Sautter said.

Diplomats exposed to cancer-causing chemical

WASHINGTON (AP) - Disclosure that American diplomats in Moscow have been exposed to potentially cancer-causing spy dust raises questions about much more sophisticated chemical and biological agents the Kremlin is believed to be developing, U.S. specialists

Such advanced materials, according to the experts, range from radioactive tracers effective in "infinitesimally small" quantities to genetically engineered viruses and bacteria resistant to all known drug treatments.

Soviet chemical and biological experimentation today will soon give them the capability — if they don't already possess it already - to use far more insidious and subtle agents to track individuals, parcels, aircraft, whatever it might be," said Neil C. Livingstone, co-author of a forthcoming study on Moscow's largescale chemical and biological research effort.

He added that "the kind of things that we could merely contemplate a decade ago are all too do-able

The Reagan administration's public protest Wednesday over use of tracking chemicals to monitor contacts between U.S. Embassy personnel and Soviet dissidents marked the latest episode in a long saga of unusual and at times bizarre - risks facing Americans assign-

State Department spokesman Charles E. Redman told reporters, "We have protested the practice in strongest terms and demanded that it be terminated

The State Department's emphasis on potential health risks from exposure to the chemical recalled U.S. protests that were first aired publicly in 1976 over Soviet microwave bombardment of the U.S. Embassy in Moscow

The searchlight-like beams aimed at the embassy chancery, initially detected in 1950s, were the focus of intensive classified research efforts undertaken during the late 1960s by the State Department, the CIA and the Pentagon's Advanced Research Projects Agency.

Those studies included laboratory experimentation on monkeys as well as chromosome tests run secretly on Moscow embassy personnel — under the guise of a routine "viral study" — to try to determine whether the low-level microwave radiation might be causing genetic effects. Following public disclosure of the microwave problem by the Ford administration in 1976, the State Department conducted a special series of medical tests to investigate abnormally high white blood cell counts. It also carried out an epidemiological study, which found no "convincing evidence" that the microwave bombardment was linked with health problems among U.S. personnel.

Other incidents involving unusual hazards for Americans in the Soviet Union have included: A report by two Secret Service agents that strong levels of ionizing radiation were detected at the U.S. ambassador's residence during a 1959 visit to Moscow by then-Vice President Richard M. Nixon. • Elevated levels of cvanide found in 1977 in drinking water at two Moscow apartment buildings housing U.S. diplomats.

 Apparent drugging of two physicians accompanying Nixon's presidential delegation to the Moscow summit in May 1972. One of the doctors reportedly showed signs of severe disorientation and suffered unexpected crying fits following the Soviet visit.

Soviet militiamen check the papers of a visitor to the U.S. Embassy in Moscow today. Embassy officials told Americans in Moscow Wednesday that the Soviet KGB is using a potentially cancer-causing tracking substance on embassy personnel.

Livingstone and other specialists familiar with Soviet and U.S. counterespionage activities said they were not surprised by Wednesday's disclosure about Soviet use of tracking chemicals.

"This is old technology - it's just the stepped-up activity which must be of concern to people, as well as the potential health hazard," said Livingstone, president of the Institute on Terrorism and Subnational Conflict, a Washington-based research organization. #### Violence erupts

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa - Racial violence flared today in eastern Cape pro-vince, where police said they killed a black rioter, and a mob stoned a black man's house and then abducted his 16-year-old daughter.

Police also reported that a black man who was arrested on drug charges Aug. 14 was found dead in his cell. He was at least the 11th black to die in police custody in the past two vears.

South Africa's major black miners' union postponed a planned strike against 29 gold and coal mines, defusing a threat that almost certainly would have fueled anti-government violence.

301 dead in Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon - Prime Minister Rashid Karami today asked that Syrian military observers be deployed throughout Beirut to try to end sectarian combat which has killed at least 301 people and wounded nearly 1,000 in 12 days.

The observers would police a Syriansponsored cease-fire

Karami issued his statement after the Cabinet met for the first time in four months, at Syria's urging, to find ways to end the bloodletting. President Amin Gemayel, a Maronite Christian, presided.

A four-party security committee representing the army and the three main militias -Druse, Christian and Shiite Moslem - also met under Syrian sponsorship in the town of Chtaura in eastern Lebanon's Syriancontrolled Bekaa Valley and announced a cease-fire for 1 p.m.

Chart a course to cut the deficit

The president's men may have moved on to new business planning their "new fall offensive" they say — but it's the unfinished old business that's in desperate need of their attention. An article in the respected journal Tax Notes recently got what it called the "Reagan legacy" down to just a few graphs and tables, and they were startling.

The graph of the gross federal debt from Hoover through Nixon looks almost flat; at Ford, it starts angling upward; at Reagan, it takes off i ito the stratosphere. Compared to what's been added — and is still being added — under the current administration, even the Roosevelt period, with the New Deal and World War II raising the federal debt by an average 22 percent a year, looks like a mere gentle slope.

By the end of Reagan's second term - even using the administration's own extremely optimistic economic assumptions - the total national debt will stand at $2.8 trillion, and two-thirds of that indebtedness will have been incurred under Reagan's tutelage.

As the prospect of continuing mammoth deficits drives interest rates higher than they otherwise would be, that takes a toll, as well, on other domestic investments and thus on economic growth itself. And when the Federal Reserve Board feels constrained by this to loosen the nation's money supply as it recently announced it was going to do — it loses much of its ability to prevent a surge in inflation. What these continuing deficits are doing, in other words, is making it increasingly more difficult to steer any other part of the economy on a safe course. A new offensive? A debate over revenue-neutral tax reform? They would make for a nice change of pace, no doubt. But until the nation is put on a course of diminishing deficits, they are dangerously beside the point.

Art Buchwald

Book blurb isn't serious criticism

(Whilst Art Buchwald is on vacation we reprint some columns from the past.)

The average newspaper reader may wonder how a book editor goes about selecting someone to review a newly published novel or work of non-fiction. Except for the few books that the book editor chooses to review himself, the editor usually assigns the job to: (a) A college professor.

(b) Someone who has written a book on a similar subject.

(c) A reporter friend who can use

Now each one of these people can cause trouble for an author.

The college professor usually doesn't review the book assigned to him but uses it as an opportunity to discuss everything he knows about literature. His review may start off "Murray Slotnick is no Marcel Proust. When Proust was a boy .... Slotnick is lucky if the professor mentions his book even once in the review

While the college professor is always getting sidetracked in his review, he is usually not malicious about Slotnick. If he ignores the book, he only does it because the professor knows the reader is much more interested in his knowledge of writers of the 20th Century than in Slotnick's latest

The second category of reviewer is the most dangerous. When the book editor turns over a newly published work to an author who has written on the same suibect. the writer of the book is sunk.

Let us assume that Stump has just written The Definitive History of Staten Island. The book editor assigns the work to Carstairs, who

Letters

Letters to the editor should be 350 words or less. They are published at the discretion of the managing editor and are subject to simple editing for length, taste and libel. The essence of the writer's message will not be altered.

Address letters "To the editor," Big Spring Herald, Box 1431, Big Spring, TX 79720. Please write your name and address on the letter.

two years ago wrote The Definitive History of Staten Island. Carstairs has no intention of letting Stump's history replace his own, and so he lacerates Stump in the review for factual inaccuracies, lack of depth, shoddy writing, poor illustrations and outdated street maps.

In fiction the situation is even worse. When an editor asks one fiction writer to review another writer's new book, he is signing the latter's death warrant. There are very few writers of fiction who are capable of reviewing another writer's book without slashing off an ear.

Brubaker, the author of Sit, starts off his review of Templebar's new novel Big Toe as follows: "Templebar, who showed so much promise in the Fifties with his first novel, 'Postage Due,' has once again disappointed his readers ..." What nobody knows is that Templebar reviewed Brubaker's last book in a similar manner, and Brubaker is finally getting his revenge.

(I know from personal experience that book editors operate this way because every time Russell Baker comes out with a new book, I am asked to review it. Since I have nothing good to say about Baker and he has nothing good to say about me, we have a deal. We each write our own reviews of our own books and sign each other's name. This is the only reason we've been able to remain friends for so many years.)

If the author had his choice of reviewers, he would probably choose the third category — the editor's reporter friend who needs the extra $25. The reporter, who is more interested in the money than he is in criticism, doesn't have time to read the book so he just types up everything printed on the inside book jacket and hands it in as his review. Publishers know this, and that is why most inside book jackets read like favorable book

What of the blurbs that appear on the back cover and in the advertisements recommending the book in glowing terms? Those, dear reader, are written by friends of the author who haven't read the book but owe the poor guy a favor.

Art Buchwald's humor and satire is distributed ationally by Los Angeles Times Syndicate.

Flying the friendly skies isn't as safe since the strike

WASHINGTON - Federal investigators have painstakingly examined the blackened hulk of the Delta Lockheed Twister that went down short of the runway in Dallas on Aug. 2.

It is undetermined at this point whether air-trafficcontroller error contributed to the tragedy. If this was a factor it will come as no surprise to investigators for the House Public Works and Transportation Committee. They have been reviewing the safety of the air-traffic system since 16.250 controllers walked off the job four years ago and were fired en masse by President Reagan.

The House investigators have concluded, according to their draft report, that the "margin of safety" for air travelers has diminished substantially since 1981, because the Federal Aviation Administration has allowed traffic to increase at the same time the "experience level" of controllers has dropped.

This does not mean the sky is falling, cautioned former Rep. Elliott Levitas, D-Ga., who began the investigation. "We know that the dire predicted consequences of the controller walkout failed to materialize," he said. "An economic disaster and a potential safety hazard, to mention just two, did not

But safety experts believe, and the congressional investigators agree, that "accidents are a poor way of measuring safety, since they represent the final results of an unsafe system. ... The margin of safety should be determined and any safety problems resolved before, not after, accidents occur.

Put another way, this is one war in which the winner ought not be determined by body count.

The investigators' draft report, entitled "Has Safety Taken a Back Seat to Expediency?" has been obtained by our associate Tony Capaccio. Here are its main conclusions:

• The air-traffic controller system is plagued with a "diminishing margin of safety ... stress, fatigue, staffing shortages, increasing traffic, lack of supervision and an unseasoned work force have all" contributed to the problem.

· At the same time, the FAA has made the riskfraught decision to ease traffic restrictions and 'return to 100 percent of pre-strike (air traffic) capacity as quickly as possible." The growth of air traffic has "outpaced increases in controller numbers and experience levels.'

· "The number of experienced controllers has declined by about one-half (of the pre-strike level) and that experience loss will not likely be replaced for years to come."

Prior to the strike, the report notes, 82 percent (13,311) of the controllers in the federal system were

Williams, a 63-year-old locomotive engineer from Evansville, Ind., came up with a new safety device, he thought railroad executives would jump at the news. Williams devised a multi-purpose foot-control pedal that would let the engineer operate the horn, bell and emergency brake all at the same time. But even though his contraption has been endorsed by engineers, the railroads have been less than enthusiastic. Railroad officials admit that Williams' invention is feasible, but they say "the system needs more research." Williams believes they simply want to market it themselves - without him.

residents have been caught in a scam involving lowinterest federal loans to repair deteriorating houses. The homeowners discovered that city-approved contractors were getting paid for work not finished, faulty construction and inflated costs. In one case, a woman was charged $650 for a $150 toilet. And the residents, who have to pay back the loans, have been stuck with the repair bills. Federal and local officials say they will provide $250,000 to the homeowners for the losses. But one critic says that won't even make a dent in the damages.

Billy Graham

Bible teaches more than love

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: What do you think was the real message of Jesus? I think the teaching of Jesus can be summed up in one phrase: "Love your neighbor." Isn't that what Christianity is all about? -

DEAR P.W.: Certainly Jesus stressed that we should love others - in fact, the Bible says we are to love others in the same way God loves us. But that is not the heart of the Christian message, nor did Jesus come just to tell us to love others. The Gospel goes much deeper than that.

The problem, you see, is that if we are honest we must admit we are not capable of loving others as we should. Nor are we capable of truly loving God; in fact, often we are indifferent to others and to

Why is this the case? The Bible tells us we cannot love others or God as we should because we are sinners, and as sinners we are morally and spiritually crippled & unable to do what we should. The Apostle Paul stated it clearly from his own personal experience: "I do not understand what I do ... I have the desire to do what is good, but I cannot carry it out ... When I want to do good, evil is right there with (Romans 7:15, 18,*21). No matter how hard we try, we cannot live as we should in our own strength.

But Jesus Christ came to take away our sins - and not just to forgive our sins, but to release us from the power that sin has overus. By His Holy Spirit, God comes to dwell within us when we come to Christ, and the Spirit helps us overcome the sin and evil in our hearts. He is able to make us love others as we should, because "the fruit of the Spirit is love" (Galatians 5:22).

Don't let your pride keep you from coming to Christ. God loves you, and He wants to fill your life with His love. Ask Christ to come into your life today.

LUFKIN (AP) - Earlier this year, a group of about 30 neighborhood residents crowded into a meeting of the Lufkin Planning and Zoning Commission to protest the re-zoning of a residence for conversion to a halfway house for mentally retarded adults.

The commission sided with the residents and unanimously denied the request.

Despite that action, the house is being prepared for the six retarded individuals who will move in Sept.

The change was brought about by the quiet passage of Senate Bill 940, which overrides the city of Lufkin's zoning laws and zoning laws in all other Texas cities, allowing for the facility despite the objections of the neighbors.

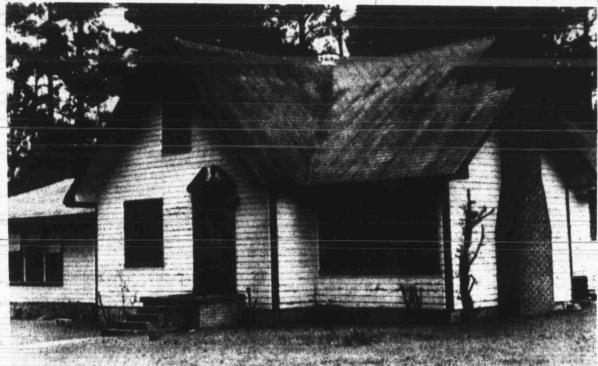

The law, and the outcome of it locally, has some of the residents extremely angry.

"It was like they couldn't play by the rules, so they changed the rules and are forcing this down our threat," said Phil Medford, who lives nearby.
"We've got rules, regulations and guidelines that everybody else in Lufkin has to abide by, but now this Senate bill has given them, authority to act outside our current zoning laws. That's what's so upsetting is the way they did it after we had gone through all the proper channels.

Another resident shared Medford's dissatisfaction.

'It's very hard for me to understand why someone would come into a neighborhood a second time after being soundly defeated the first time, and try to force this thing on said local resident Bob Dunkin, who lives next door to what is now the halfway house.

This house in Lufkin has become the subject of controversy in recent months after the city zoning commission prohibited re-zoning the property for a mentally retarded adult halfway house. A new state law overruled the local decision, and the house is scheduled to open Sept. 1.

Glenn Addison, of Goodman-part of the neighborhood. It will be house, or "group home" program in Lufkin, says that the facility will be an asset, not a detriment to the neighborhood.

"We are going into the neighborhood and spending a great deal of money to fix up the house before the residents move in, so we're adding to the looks of the area," Addison told the Lufkin Dai-

Dunkin said the Senate bill doesn't provide adequate protection for the retarded residents of halfway houses or for other residents of the neighborhood.

'What if these people do sneak out of the house in the middle of the night and take a little stroll? If they do, they're more than likely going to be run over," Dunkin said.

HAWTHORNE, Calif. (AP) -An obscene phone caller dialed a woefully wrong number - 911 seemingly unaware that all calls to that emergency line are traced, officials said.

Shoppers soon to buy wardrobes for school of the heat wave outside, shoppers will be flocking into air-conditioned stores this month to buy back-toschool wardrobes, dress-forsuccess suits and other fall

According to Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service clothing specialist Becky Saunders, what they'll find in the stores is high prices

"Clothing prices increased at a lower rate than prices for other items over the last few years," she says. "But when the effect of inflation is removed, U.S. Department of Agriculture figures show the percentage of personal expenditures for clothing and shoes is at a 25-year high."

Annual spending for clothing and shoes is now estimated at $588 per

Part of the increased spending for clothes is due to higher prices, and part is because we're buying more clothes than in the past, she explains.

Clothing industry figures also show that the number of small children who are outfitted for school is growing at a fast pace, Saunders says.

The specialist points out that from namufacturer to manufac-

• Figure out what you need in terms of types of clothing, colors and fabrics. Cut fabric swatches so you can match items you already

• Get organized for shopping. Set a budget, and shop with a list.

 Remember that separates are a relatively inexpensive way to extend a wardrobe, since items can be mixed and matched.

 It doesn't cost anything to try on "trendy" clothes, but be careful when you buy them. Make sure the clothing is suitable for you, and that the trend is new, rather than on the way out.

• Try on every item of clothing you plan to buy. This is important both for children and adults. Sizes are often little more than a guideline since they vary too much while many shoppers are in-turer to be entirely reliable.

Dr. Donohue

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Is it true that using the birth control pill can cause infertility in women? My mother-in-law believes this is so and that this is why I am having trouble getting pregnant. If so, how long does it last? — Anon.

Many studies have been undertaken on most aspects of Pill use, including the various potential side effects. So far as I know none includes subsequent infertility as an after-effect. In fact, evidence indicates that the Pill user will return to pre-Pill menstrual cycles and ovulation patterns after stopping, although there may be a threemonth mensturation/Ovulation hiatus until that happens DEAR DR. DONOHUE: For more than a year I have been having swelling on various parts of my body, anywhere pressure is applied. For instance, like when I sit in a hardback chair the swelling will be all across my back where the chair presses.

Sometimes the swelling goes away in a day; sometimes it takes longer. When it gets in my feet or hands I can't do anything. It has prevented me from taking many jobs. I've been out of work for 16 months. There is pain with the swelling. Nothing seems to be able to cure it. Can you suggest mething? - R.L.B.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My son, who is 30, has a problem that has us baffled. Whenever he puts pressure on any part of his body, he gets very painful lumps that disappear without a trace after a few hours. He's had blood tests and nothing shows up. He was first bothered when he was 19. Now after 11 years he has had this recurrence. I wonder if you have run across this? - Mrs. R.H.

What you are describing (in both letters) fits the picture of pressureinduced hives. Some people, and we don't know why, develop these welts from pressure against the skin, as from a belt or strap, or the back of a chair.

I wish I could offer you real help in the way of suggestions for preventing this over the long haul, but I can't. There is no way I know of to desensitize the body so it won't react this way. There's nothing comparable in that respect to desensitization against actual allergens that cause hives.

all I can suggest beyond the obvious advice to avoid the pressure is to ask the doctor about use of antihistamines. I must admit that they are not always successful in alleviating the problem, but they might be worth a try.

Post-pill infertility may last three months

I am going to continue my search of the literature to see what doctors may have tried to alleviate this most distressing condition. Meanwhile, I hope that the first writer takes some measure of hope from R.L.B,'s account of an 11-year absence of the problem in her son's

Rumors open wounds in parents hearts

DEAR ABBY: We are grieving over the recent loss of our 19-yearold daughter. Margaret was a beautiful, popular girl with everything to look forward to. She graduated from high school with honors and was maintaining a Bplus average in college. Her interests were nutrition and physical fitness, and she hoped to go to law school. She excelled in everything she did and was a joy to us for all of her 19 years, never giving us a minute of heartache. Margaret went into a sudden coma and died a week later. We learned that a malignant brain tumor ruptured an artery, causing severe cerebral hemorrhage.

Yesterday, a friend told me that two of her neighbors were under the impression that our daughter died of a "drug overdose"! # Lady Steer spikers sweep Bronte

BRONTE — The Big Spring Lady Steers volleyball team got their 1985 season off to a fine start with a 15-5, 16-14 sweep of defending Class A state champion Bronte Tuesday

In the first game, Tabatha Green had an excellent service game, scoring nine points in a row that put the Steers ahead to stay. Monique Jones served out the game with three striaght service points, including two aces.

The second game proved to be much tougher for the Lady Steers, who at one time were behind 11-3 before making their piecemeal comeback. Tammi Green and Shari Myrick each had three service points during the comeback. For the match, the Lady Steers had 17 kills and a spiking percentage of 60 percent.

Coach Susan Sharpe was pleased with the team's effort. "The girl's footwork was a little slow and they are learning a new defense, so they were out of position a few times, but that's to be expected this early in the season. But they played well as a unit and that's what I'm look-

The Lady Steers travel to Brownfield today for freshman, junior varsity and varsity games. The varisty match is scheduled for p.m. The team will travel Friday to Monahans for a first round game against Midland High in the onahans Volleyball Tournament.

U.S., Brits tied in Walker Cup

Charles Green says there is a new breed of amateur golfer in England and Ireland. American team captain Jay Sigel is hoping they are not the ones who will end the United States' domination in Walker Cup Green's new breed rallied in the afternoon singles matches on Wednesday and forged an 6-6 tie with the United States after the opening round of the oldest international competition in golf.

"It's been said we work for a living and play golf for fun," said Green, the non-playing captain of the Walker Cup team representing Ireland and Great Britain. "Those days are over and more of our players are turning pro:

The United States was hardessed to win the last Walker Cup in 1983 in England, and Green said that was because the team had a number of future pros on it.

Green's amateurs played like pros against the United States, especially during the quartet of foursome matches Wednesday morning in the rain as they took a 2½-1½ lead in competition over the 6,691-yard, par-70 Pine Valley Golf Club in southern New Jersey.

The United States rallied behind Sigel and U.S. Amateur champion Scott Verplank during the afternoon when the rain stopped.

"I think everyone played fair," said Sigel. "We have a lot of firsttime Walker Cup players and I expect them to do a lot better

None of the Americans played better than Sigel and Verplank on PINE VALLEY, N.J. (AP) - Wednesday. Both players scored a singles victory and they combined to win a foursome match.

The two-day match ends today with four more foursome matches and eight singles.

"I knew our opponents were top notch," said Sigel. "I think we will have to do better if we want to win. None on our team wants to be on a losing team.

Losing the Walker Cup is a rarity as far as the United States is concerned. It has a 26-2-1 record in the biennial competition and the only blemish on its record in this country is a tie in 1965.

However, the players from Ireland and Great Britain do think they have a chance.

The team is quite confident." said Peter McEvoy of England. We feel we have a good side and can be competitive and win."

McEvoy, playing in his fourth Walker Cup, was the star for the Europeans, defeating Bob Lewis 2 and 1 in a singles match and combining with 17-year-old Peter Baker to beat Randy Sonnier and Jerry Haas 6 and 5 in foursome

The other singles winners for Great Britain-Ireland were George Macgregor and Sandy Stephen.

Sam Randolph and Duffy Waldorf won their singles matches. John Hawksworth and Sonnier halved the final singles match.

Gulf Universal Tractor Fluid oes more than one job. Just like you.

Lubricating everything from a hydraulic pump to a large differential places tough demands on a fluid. Gulf Universal Tractor Fluid performs.

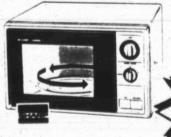

It is a superior fluid for most modern tractors requiring a "common fluid" in the hydraulic, transmission, final drive, wet brake and power steering systems. It combines a long list of exceptional properties to work in hot or cold weather, and deliver long trouble-free service.

Come to us for Gulf Universal Tractor Fluid. Like all Galf products, it's the kind of help you can use around the farm.

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Thursday, August 22, 1985.

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, AUGUST 23, 1965

GENERAL TENDENC'ES: An unusually good day to think in terms of how you can best project your ideas both at close range as well as at a distance, so communicate with whomever is available.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Plan that trip to uncover whatever it is that puzzles you. Listen carefully and follow the best of these.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Your hunches are good where finances are concerned so follow them. Reach your

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Pursue that individual who can assist you to commercialize on your talents. In the evening, confide in your family. MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Get right at career work early and you can accomplish a great deal today. Come to a better understanding with co-workers. LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Make the appointments with congenials for the amusements you want to enjoy later.

Make real progress with your talent.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get the okay of home ties before you make certain improvements at home that you have in mind. LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Although you like to weigh and balance everything before proceeding, it is better to carry through quickly today.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Plan just how to profit the most and put such a plan, however intricate, to work quickly. Listen carefully to what you hear.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You can hit the mark today in whatever is most important to you and can be very articulate.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Either be with an advisor or by yourself and plan the future very carefully now. Later, be with the one you love.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) A good day to be your gregarious self and see as many good friends and acquaintances as you can. PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) A good day to see influential persons and gain their support for the future.

Obey every rule and regulation that applies to you.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be able to express the self very well. Much travel is denoted during the lifetime. Teach not to act so independently so that others will not be alienated. Give good spiritual training. Make sure the diet is right.

Cards rally past Astros, 7-4

HOUSTON (AP) - St. Louis' Darrell Porter came off the bench and Jeff Lahti came out of the bullpen to rally the Cardinals to a 7-4 victory over the Houston Astros Wednesday night.

Porter's pinch-hit, three-run homer in the eighth inning broke a 4-4 deadlock and Lahti struck out three of the five batters he faced to hold off the Astros.

"He gave me all fastballs," Porter said of Astros reliever Dave Smith. "Smith has gotten me out in the past so this was a big win for us. It's too early to start talking pennant."

Lahti, 2-1, came on in the eighth inning with the score tied at 4-4 and the winning run on base.

"When I came in, I knew I had to do my job right now,' Lahti said. "This was a big game for us because it stopped a three-game off Houston reliever Dave Smith, 6-5, who has struggled in recent outings.

"He's getting the ball up and he got hurt tonight," Manager Bob Lillis said. "We had some opportunities to score some runs but we couldn't take advantage of them."

The win moved the Cardinals only one-half game behind the New York Mets in the National League East.

Pinch-hitter Andy Van Slyke led off the ninth with a single off Smith. One out later, Ozzie Smith singled and Porter homered to right field, his seventh of the season.

The Astros tied the score 4-4 in the eighth against reliever Ken Dayley when Jerry Mumphrey walked, was sacrificed to second hit, RBI single.

Porter's game-winner came and scored on Mark Bailey's single.

> The Cardinals took a 4-0 lead in the first inning against starter Bob Knepper, who yielded a double to Vince Coleman and a single to Willie McGee to start the game.

Coleman scored the first run on a fielding error by second baseman Bill Doran on Tom Herr's grounder. Jack Clark followed with a double, scoring McGee, and Brian Harper's single knocked in Herr and Clark.

Cardinals starter Danny Cox also had a shaky start, yielding a double to Terry Puhl and a triple to Denny Walling for one run and Jose Cruz's sacrifice fly in the first inning.

The Astros made it 4-3 in the seventh on Phil Garner's pinch-

Look out for Wacker and the Frogs

FORT WORTH (AP) — "Look over there," said Texas Christian's Jim Wacker, pointing to a framed photograph of the scoreboard taken after his Horned Frogs nipped Arkansas last year in one of college football's most pivotal upsets. "There's a good reason that's up there. That was one of the most important games of my life," said Wacker, 48, whose 1984 honors included Southwest Conference coach of the

"That was the turnaround. No question. If we hadn't pulled it off, well, who knows."

The photograph hangs in Wacker's office as a symbol of a Cinderella season in which the Horned Frogs rode that 32-31 October stunner in the Ozarks to their first shot at a SWC title

"We were 8-1 and the pot of gold was right there," recalled Wacker. "All we had to do was beat Texas or Texas A&M and we were in the Cotton Bowl. Conference champs: The whole thing.

"And we let it slip away." It is a monument to the Wacker magic and mystique, his charm and charisma, that the Frogs could drop their final SWC games to Texas and A&M and lose to West Virginia in the Bluebonnet Bowl and still emerge as the collegiate equivalent of America's Team. When Cinderella became a Frog, it was fun for a lot of people," said Wacker, whose 8-4 Frogs torpedoed a quarter century of frustra-tion and captured the fancy of football fans across Texas and the nation.

And the key was the Arkansas game, in which the Frogs came from behind with two touchdowns and a 2-point conversion in the final 10 minutes to beat the Razorbacks for the first time since 1958. "A loss could have been devastating.." said

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) - A team from Al Khobar, Saudi Arabia, came within a half-inning of a no-hit victory in the Little League World Series. In the end, even the victory slipped away.

Tim Cariss of the Saudi team, nicknamed "Bigfoot" because of his 5-foot 9-inch frame, carried a no-hitter and a 5-1 lead into the bottom of the last inning when the roof fell in. Binbrook, Ontario, punched out four hits and took advantage of four wild pitches and a Saudi error to score five times in the sixth inning, the last coming on Philip

Demik's game-winning, two-out

JIM WACKER, coach of TCU, led the Horned Frogs to a 8-4 record last year. This season Wacker and the Frogs are looking for better Wacker. "We needed a come-from-behind win against a good team to prove we could do it.

'That's what Arkansas did for us.' With his enthusiasm and optimism fully intact, Wacker enters his third season at TCU with a team short on age and experience but long on speed, talent and momentum.

"Youth and inexperience are going to be the trademark of this team," said Wacker. "But
