Spring City gets good dousing

Rainfall causes minor flooding

Thunderstorms caused minor flooding in some parts of Howard County Thursday night, with reports of rainfall ranging from 0.3 inches in Coahoma to 4 inches in southeastern Big Spring.

Big Spring police and Howard County sheriff's deputies directed traffic at 11th Place and Midway at 6:49 a.m. Friday because of excessive water on the roadway, according to the sheriff's records.

The U.S. Agriculture Research Service field station in Big Spring reported 1.68 inches of rain by Friday morning, bringing the year-to-date total to 17.44 inches. Normal year-to-date rainfall is 13.79 inches.

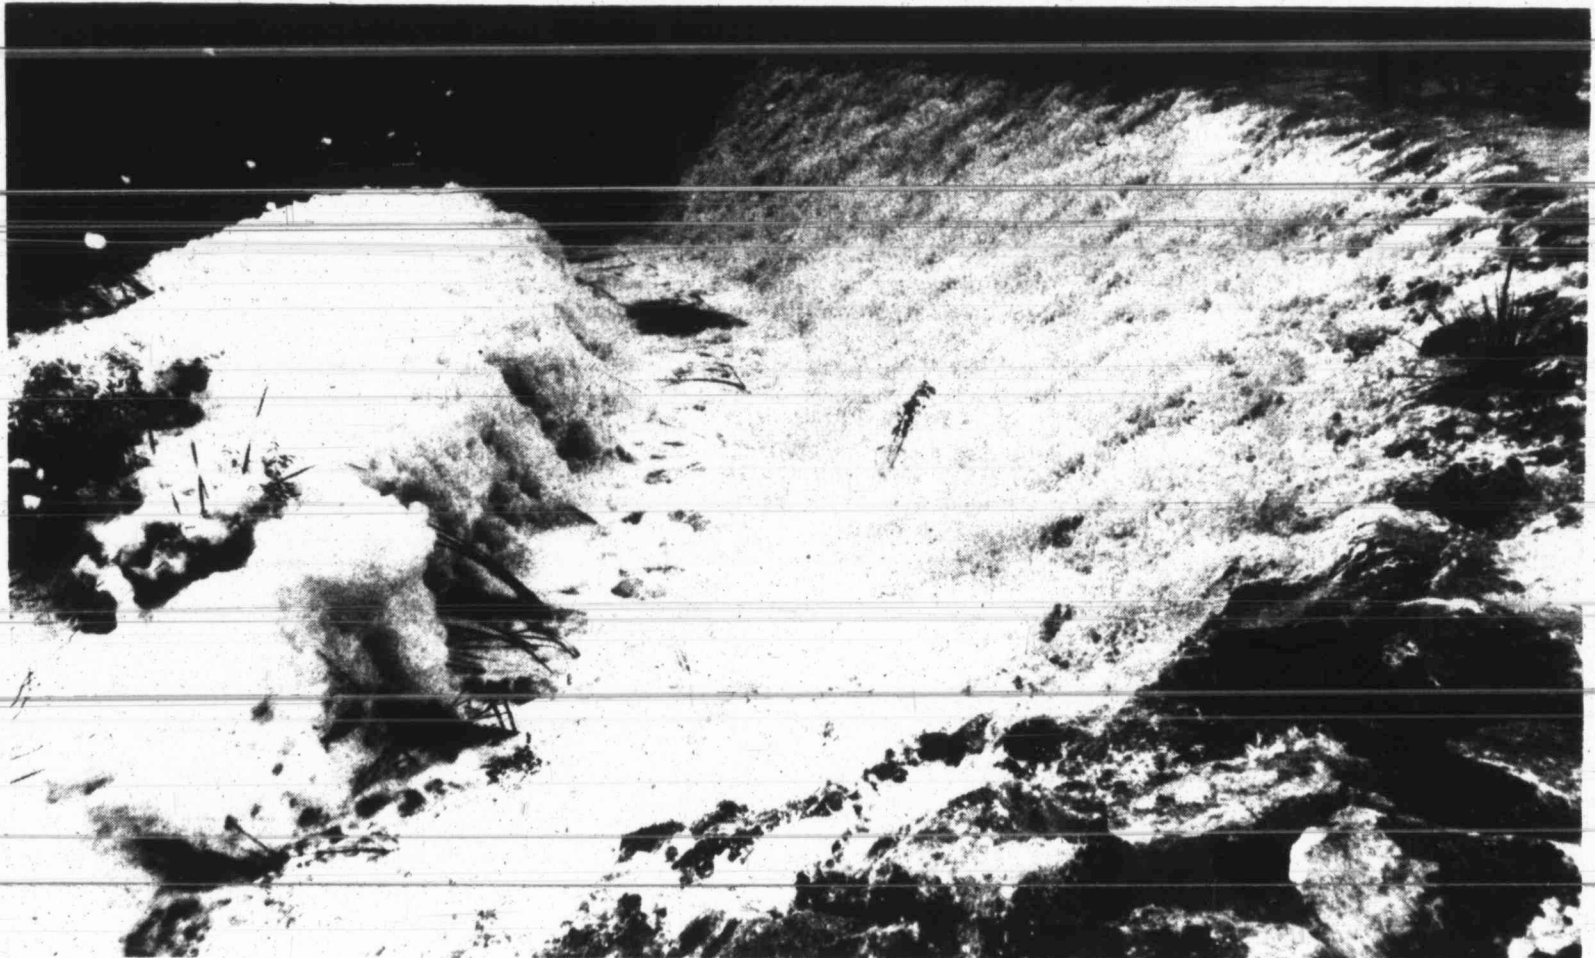

Joe Pickle of the Colorado River Municipal Water District said Cosden Lake was spilling over, and Bealls Creek, northwest of Lake Thomas, was 4 to 5 feet deep and flowing over the road.

"We got a 1- or 2-foot increase, not much," he said.

B. Barber on Settle Street in the southeast part of town reported 4 inches of rain there. J.M. Lee of East 16th Street and State also reported 4 inches.

Eleanor Hart, in the east part of Big Spring, measured 2.8 inches rain. Her total from the last three days was 3.08, she said.

School board approves plan to rank courses by difficulty

By SPENCER SANDOW Staff Writer

The Big Spring school board approved a plan Thursday that would rank high school classes according to their difficulty. The plan is similar to ones used in many Texas districts and complies with House Bill 72 regulations requiring a restructuring of the grading system, said Murray Murphy, high school principal.

Murphy, who proposed the plan, said it would most affect students with the highest and lowest grade point averages.

The plan awards points according to difficulty of the course and the grade the student earns.

Classes are grouped into honors, regular and basic, Murphy said. Under the new system, a B in an honors course would earn the student the equivalent of an A in a regular course, and an A in a basic course would earn him the equivalent of a B in a regular course, Murphy said.

The new plan also differentiates between high and low letter grades. A numerical grade of 99 would earn a student more points than a 90, although both fall in the range of a letter grade A, he said.

The current system, by not taking into account the difficulty of the course, penalizes students for taking harder classes, Murphy said.

"A lot of kids drop out of difficult classes to maintain a high average. I've seen this a lot in the two weeks I've been here," the principal said. "I hate the thought of a student with an 80 in an honors class dropping to not hurt his average."

The honors classes are advanced science, chemistry I, physics, English II-IV honors, foreign language III-IV, algebra II, trig/math analysis and calculus.

Basic classes are correlated language arts I-IV, fundamentals of math, pre-algebra, introduction to biology, introduction to physical science, consumer math and informal geometry.

All other courses, including vocational courses, will be counted as regular courses. Special education resource classes will not be counted into rank. Athletics, physical education, choir, band, driver education, correspondence and summer school classes, and aide work also do not carry rank points.

Blood shortage blamed on fear of getting AIDS

Blood supplies are critically low in scattered sections of the nation and some health officials say unfounded fears of contracting AIDS may be keeping potential donors from giving blood.

The Atlanta regional office of the Red Cross, which serves 106 hospitals, issued an emergency appeal for blood donors Thursday, and sought to assure donors that "there is no danger of contracting AIDS or any other infectious disease through the donation process."

"AIDS has just been in the public eye so much lately, you can't help but feel that plays a part in the shortage," said Dr. Adalisa Panilio, acting director of blood services at the Red Cross chapter in Nashville, Tenn., where the inventory was 670 pints Wednesday, down from the usual 2,000 to 2,500 pints.

Some cases of acquired immune deficiency syndrome have been linked to receiving transfusions of contaminated blood.

But "you cannot contract AIDS by giving blood," said Dr. William C. Sherwood, director of Red Cross Blood Services in Philadelphia. "Giving blood is an extremely safe and easy procedure."

It is routine practice in the United States for blood to be extracted from donors with sterilized needles that are used only once and thrown away.

Health officials in some regions blamed shortages on the annual summer slump in donations and on increased demand.

"Traditionally, this time of year across the system we see shortages," said Gene Jeffers, manager of press relations for the American Red Cross in Washington, D.C. He said vacations mean people are away from home and not donating, and at the same time are more likely to be in traffic accidents.

And while some officials in some regions blamed fear of AIDS for reducing donations, "at the moment,"

Police arrest suspect in attempted robbery

Police arrested a man Thursday night in connection with an armed robbery attempt at Furr's supermarket at 6:18 p.m.

Wilford Zane Houndshell, 60, of the Ocean Plaza Motel, was arrested about an hour later near a convenience store in the 2100 block of West Third, according to police reports.

Furr's employee Louis Velasquez told police a man wearing a ski mask entered the store, approached a clerk and demanded money while brandishing a gun.

The man fled the scene when the clerk began calling for the manager, according to police reports.

Police Lt. Jerry Edwards said this morning the gun was described as similar to an Uzi machine gun. Police haven't found the weapon, Edwards said.

The suspect was described as a white male, wearing glasses under a ski mask. Police have the ski mask believed used in the attempt, Edwards said.

Shortly after the robbery attempt, police broadcast a description of the suspect, including a description of the vehicle he fled in.

Houndshell was arrested at 7:23 p.m. after Police Chief John Turner spotted a car matching the description leave a convenience store parking lot, police said this morning.

Bond for Houndshell was set at $25,000 by Judge Melvin Daratt.

Music studio seized

SAUSALITO, Calif. — Plant Studio, one of the top 10 music recording studios in the nation, has been shut down by government agents who said it was purchased with money earned through drug trafficking.

No arrests were made in Thursday's seizure of the studio, known as "The Plant," a hangout for two decades of jazz and rock stars. It has recorded such stars as Huey Lewis and The News, Journey and Jefferson Starship.

Debate slithers on

FAIRCHANCE, Pa. — Environmentalists and sportsmen are entangled in a sharp-toothed debate over the state's ban on timber rattlesnakes in snake sacking contests.

The state Fish Commission, which imposed the ban Jan. 1, says the contests injure the snakes by tearing their muscles, dislocating vertebrae and causing internal bleeding. Sackers, who are getting around the ban by importing diamondback rattlers from Texas or moving across the state line, say the snakes are released unharmed.

Search for murderer

HALETOWN, Tenn. — More than 300 law officers from three states searched today for a convicted murderer who escaped from two sheriff's deputies and took a woman hostage at gunpoint, authorities said.

The search for Jimmy Don Spangler, 25, who escaped Wednesday, was concentrated on a rugged, wooded area in Alabama, southwest of Chattanooga, said Mike Davis, a Hamilton County sheriff's dispatcher.

Non-smoker's risk

NEW YORK — It's not as bad as even light smoking, but living with a smoker can double a non-smoker's risk of lung cancer, according to a new study by the American Cancer Society.

The study, to be published Friday in the Journal of the National Cancer Institute, is the latest in a series by various researchers on so-called "passive smoking," the inhaling of somebody else's tobacco smoke.

Past studies of non-smoking women married to smoking men have split on the question of whether their lung cancer risk is increased. The cancer society has said since 1981 that more research is needed to decide the question.

Condition upgraded

TUCSON, Ariz. — Heart transplant patient Michael Drummond's condition was upgraded from critical to fair Thursday, and hospital officials said he was showing no sign of rejecting his new heart.

Drummond, who was kept alive temporarily with an artificial heart, was moved to a different section of University Medical Center's intensive care unit reserved for patients in less serious condition, hospital spokeswoman Nina Trasoff said.

'Faceless' spy

KGB defector expected to reap rich rewards

LONDON (AP) — The British press today painted a portrait of Soviet KGB defector Oleg A. Gordievski as an average, "faceless" man who will reap rich rewards for passing to the West.

The Foreign Office announced Thursday that Gordievski, identified as the chief KGB operative in Britain, had defected and given British officials the names of 25 other Russians engaged in spying activities. Those 25 were ordered to leave by Oct. 3.

London's Daily Mail quoted a former British agent, Greville Wynne, as saying the 46-year-old Gordievski will be given a new identity, a salary, and set up in business if he desires.

"This KGB man will be given whatever he wants," Wynne told London's Daily Mail newspaper.

If Gordievski was a colonel in the KGB, the Soviet Committee for State Security, his salary will start at that of a British army colonel, the equivalent of $35,210 a year, Wynne said.

Wynne's own career as a spy ended in 1962 when he was caught in Moscow while posing as a businessman. He was exchanged in 1964 for Gordon Lonsdale, a Soviet spy imprisoned in Britain.

British authorities refused to give any details on Gordievski's whereabouts or what will happen to him. But Wynne told another London newspaper, The Times, that the house where Gordievski is being debriefed would be well furnished and boast meals of gourmet standards.

If past dealings with East bloc defectors are a guide, Gordievski will live in a country house near London with a team of interrogators from British intelligence agencies, talking about Soviet spying activity in Britain.

Specialists from other NATO countries are likely to be given their turn later with the defector.

It could be months before he is provided with a new identity, funds and protection, probably far from Britain. Canada has been Britain's favorite place to send defectors, although most Russians prefer the United States.

London's Daily Mirror claimed that Gordievski was under guard in Scotland and that he had sold his secrets to Britain for 250,000 pounds ($325,000), a safe house in Glasgow, a car and a salary for life.

Without citing its sources, the tabloid said that his defection began a year ago when British security chiefs discovered from a conversation he had with someone he thought was a businessman, that he was "unhappy with the KGB, his marriage was on the rocks and that he had fallen for the British pub and the British way of life.

The "someone" was an agent from the British counter-intelligence unit Military Intelligence 5, who eventually took Gordievski to his superiors, the newspaper said.

However, officials in Denmark said Thursday that Gordievski already had made contact with Danish intelligence officers when he served there in the 1970s.

The ex-KGB man "has one quality that fits him supremely for the role of the faceless spymaster" — he left hardly any impression with the people who met him, said Times reporter Patricia Clough.

The Times quoted an unidentified diplomat as saying: "I met him once but I'm afraid nothing has stuck in my memory." Another said: "I chatted with him for about three minutes but he left no impression at all. I suppose you could say he was just an average man."

Another diplomat recalled: "He spoke English very well. He just seemed to have no particular characteristics."

The Daily Express said that the defector left his wife and two children in Moscow and may never see or hear from them again. "It is possible his wife would not have consented to come to the West," the newspaper said.

Bill sponsor predicts passage

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sponsor of a bill to slow illegal immigration says there are enough votes for passage, despite likely defections by some senators who fervently hoped the legislation would permit a large foreign work force to pick perishable crops.

The rejection Thursday of the mobile, temporary crop-picking force, moved the bill closer to a final vote.

The Senate was dealing with several controversial issues, including the question of whether legal aliens need new protection against job discrimination and whether some illegal aliens should be granted amnesty.

Sen. Alan K. Simpson, R-Wyo., trying to shepherd the bill through, said he wanted a final vote today, or at least next Tuesday.

Amendments still to be introduced include proposals to prohibit discrimination based on citizenship status, and permit amnesty sooner than in Simpson's plan, which could delay legalization up to three years.

Also to be introduced are amendments to the cornerstone of the legislation — sanctions against employers who knowingly hire illegal aliens. The amendments would call for the sanctions to be phased out if it can be shown that the penalties lead to discrimination in hiring.

Senators voted 50-48 Thursday to table, in effect kill, the motion to admit temporary foreign workers to pick perishable fruits and vegetables precisely when weather conditions make them ripe for harvesting.

Simpson told a news conference after the vote that rejection of the amendment — desperately sought by growers in western states — would cost him votes on the bill.

As a result, Simpson said, he expected the bill to pass the Senate with something less than the 4-1 margins of 1982 and 1983.

Plane defects found

TOKYO — Broken bolts, loosened bolt fixtures and damaged rivets were found in the tail sections of 26 of 69 jumbo jets inspected because of the Aug. 12 crash of a Japan Air Lines 747, a Transport Ministry official said today.

A senior official of ministry's Civil Aviation Bureau, who spoke on condition he not be identified, said the defects were found in the fleets of Japan Air Lines, All Nippon Airways, Japan Asian Airways and Nippon Cargo Airlines.

Bombs hit cars

ATHENS, Greece — Bombs today damaged two cars belonging to U.S. servicemen stationed in Greece and smashed the windows of a Citibank branch, police said.

A police spokesman who spoke on condition he not be identified said the two incendiary devices exploded at 2 a.m. in streets a few blocks apart in the Kypseli district of Athens.

There were no injuries, the spokesman said.

European rocket fails

KOUROU, French Guiana — An Ariane rocket from the European Space Agency's launch site in South America veered downward toward a populated area minutes after take-off, forcing technicians to destroy it, officials said.

The Ariane-3 rocket was carrying one American and one European communications satellite insured for a total of $145 million. Both of them were destroyed along with the launcher late Thursday.

The explosion marked the Ariane's third failure in 15 launches, and was a setback for the European challenge to the U.S. space shuttle as a means of placing commercial satellites into orbit.

U.S. plan alleged

THE HAGUE, Netherlands — A former intelligence analyst for the CIA told the World Court today that the agency prepared a plan for President Reagan in 1981 to destabilize Nicaragua's leftist regime.

The United States is boycotting the proceedings, claiming that the panel officially known as the International Court of Justice is an improper forum for settlement of the U.S.-Nicaragua dispute.

KGB was joke topic

LONDON — A Soviet journalist who is being expelled as an alleged spy often joked that he and his wife were KGB officers, British reporter David Healy, political correspondent for Press Association, the British domestic news agency, wrote Thursday.

Michail Boghdanov, 43, was among 25 Soviet diplomats, trade officials, embassy officials and journalists ordered expelled Thursday as the Foreign Office announced that the London station chief for the KGB secret service had defected and received political asylum in Britain.

Weatherization funds allocated

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — More than $2.2 million to help low-income people weatherize their homes is being distributed to community action agencies across Texas, including $30,059 to the agency serving Howard and surrounding counties. The program will enable the agencies to provide up to $1,600 per dwelling for such things as caulking, weatherstripping, insulation and replacing windows and doors. Applications for funds may be made to the agencies. West Texas Opportunities Inc. will spend the money on weatherization projects in Howard, Andrews, Borden, Dawson, Ector, Gaines, Glasscock, Martin, Midland and Upton Counties. Gov. Mark White announced the allocations on Wednesday. Funds for the effort came from the U.S. departments of energy and health and human services. Priority, White said in a statement, will go to the state's elderly and disabled. In the past 11 months, White said, 8,560 homes have been weatherized under the program. The Texas Legislature also designated for weatherization programs a portion of the accrued interest on money awarded to Texas for overcharges by some oil companies.

Dear Abby

Happy couple bridges generation gap

DEAR ABBY: I wrote to you three years ago, telling you that a couple can be happily married even if there is a big gap in their ages because that is what happened to us. I was 14 and Jack was 61 when we married 10 years ago. We still love each other dearly, and he treats me like a queen.

We now have a son named Andrew Jackson. When I found out I was pregnant, we were so surprised we could hardly believe it. And yes, Jack is Andrew's father. I have been faithful to my husband all these years and will continue to be.

So you see, Abby, two people can be happy together regardless of their ages. I am enclosing a picture of Jack, the baby and me.

JANE MCCARTNEY,
DENISON, TEXAS

DEAR JANE: Thank you for the progress report. The baby is beautiful, and you and Jack radiate happiness.

Not every 14-year-old bride can live happily ever after with a husband 47 years her senior.

Congratulations to your Jack who treats you like a queen, and is able to deal you a full house.

DEAR ABBY: I am sick and tired of hearing that alcoholism is an "illness." It isn't; it's a vice, a moral weakness and a lack of self-control. Although chronic excessive drinking can cause a number of diseases, it is not in itself a disease.

I wish someone who insists that alcoholism is a disease would tell me what virus, bacterium or other micro-organism causes it. Or is it a genetic disorder, inherited at birth?

Obviously, to classify alcoholism as a "disease" portrays the drinker as a "victim" who is not responsible for the damage his drinking does to himself and others. Granted, this is very kind, but it is an undeserved kindness, having no basis in fact.

The fact is, everyone has a choice. He can either choose to drink or choose not to drink. And the person who chooses to drink more than he is able to handle is not an innocent victim of a "disease." He is a selfish drunk of his own making.

It's time we called a spade a spade. Thanks for listening.

HAD MY SAY

DEAR HAD: Because I "listen" doesn't necessarily mean I agree.

Dr. Donohue

Misleading EKG

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Many doctors are recommending a stress test for their patients following heart examination and the regular EKG. I have heard many stories about the procedure and look upon it with some reservations. Would you please write on this subject? What is the purpose of the stress test, what exactly is accomplished? What does it prove? — S.S.W.

The test of any product is how it performs and holds up under stress. The purpose of a heart stress test is to uncover problems that won't show up under ordinary examination. Many times a resting heart in which there is serious disease will produce a perfectly normal EKG reading.

Think about it for a minute. When you are lying down there's not much work for the heart to do. But when you run to catch a bus the heart has to accelerate. If there's something amiss you will get chest pain. The stress test imitates under very carefully-controlled circumstances the non-resting activity of day-to-day life.

The stress test is done with the person walking a treadmill or pedalling a bike. The EKG monitors the way the heart responds to the rising level of exertion. As the heart works harder, if there are abnormal changes they will show up in great detail, perhaps pinpointing the precise heart problem location. What are those stories you heard? Really, it's quite a safe procedure.

Emphysema can be controlled. To learn how to live with this serious lung problem, write to Dr. Donohue for a copy of his new booklet, "Emphysema-Bronchitis: The Twin Problems," P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and $1.00.

Most young volunteer deaths due to accidents, suicide

CHICAGO (AP) — Motorcycle accidents and suicide killed more young Peace Corps volunteers during a recent seven-year period than the tropical diseases that plague the Third World, a new study says.

The study, published in Friday's Journal of the American Medical Association, suggests the Peace Corps should shift its concern for volunteers from exotic diseases to accident prevention. Dr. Stephen W. Hargarten, a specialist in emergency medicine, conducted the study from 1962 to 1963.

For volunteers between the ages of 20 and 29, suicides and motorcycle accidents were the leading causes of death from 1977 to 1983, accounting for 13 of 34 fatalities in that group, the study said.

Ron De Fore, a Peace Corps spokesman, said the agency already had altered some of its training procedures.

"Some of the problems, there may not be any solution for," De Fore said in a telephone interview Wednesday from Washington, D.C.

"For example, in some rural areas there are all sorts of wild animals that can cross these roads, and unless you're going extremely slow, you can come close to or hit some of them," De Fore said. "What's more important, fencing in a road or developing a country's agricultural production?"

He also said the Peace Corps was working to reduce the number of suicides through screening and counseling.

Over the 21 years of the study, 185 Peace Corps volunteers died, the report said.

Injuries — through accidents, including drowning, suicide, plane crashes, poisoning or animal attack — accounted for 145 deaths. The remaining 40 deaths resulted from illness, it said.

Forty-six percent of the fatalities, 89 deaths, came in vehicle accidents — 22 of them involving motorcycles, the study said.

The Peace Corps recently increased vehicle-safety training and requires volunteers to wear helmets when riding motorcycles.

De Fore and Hargarten agree that, despite increased emphasis on vehicle safety, some safety measures must be taken by developing nations.

"There are new cars being built in the Philippines that don't come with safety belts," Hargarten said in a telephone interview Wednesday from Milwaukee.

"We go through an extensive screening process," he said. "If they want to escape a problem or situation (in the United States), they will most likely not become a Peace Corps volunteer."

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, SEPT. 14, 1985

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You can expect some upsets early in the day and especially in completing what has already been put in motion, so get rid of what you can for later in the day.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You find one difficulty after another in trying to accomplish something in the morning, but later all goes smoothly.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You want to have a good time in the morning, but feel thwarted. By evening, all works out to your favor.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) A tense situation at home in the morning can clear itself up by evening and then all goes well, so don't worry about it.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) The afternoon is best for doing your marketing, shopping and the like. Pay attention to your wardrobe.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Study your property and think just how to improve it and make it more valuable. Go over finances and cut down unnecessary expenses.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Conditions may be upsetting in the morning, but after lunch, all eases up and you can do a great deal.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Be sensible in handling any problems that vex you and they are soon solved wisely. Don't hold a grudge over an unintentional slight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Try to help a good pal who is upset, even if it interferes with what you have planned. Use tact in personal matters.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Do whatever will make a good impression on those who have power over your affairs, but do so quietly and tactfully.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Be sure you study every angle of that new enterprise before you commit yourself to it. Be most careful in motion.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Study what promises you have made and the best way to handle them without getting confused. Patience works wonders.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Show that you are a fine worker and you keep an associate from bothering you. Don't overwork, even at sports.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be able to handle some venture or enterprise very carefully and thoroughly, but should early be taught to first study the ethical and spiritual side of any such. A good education is important here and spiritual studies.

Hillcrest hosting advance for singles

By KIM KIRKHAM
Religion Editor

"Free to Live," an advance for singles, will be held Oct. 4-5 at Circle Six Baptist Encampment in Stanton.

Hillcrest Baptist Church of Big Spring is hosting the event.

The non-denominational advance is open to single adults who have been divorced or who have never been married, said Bruce Coe, singles minister at Hillcrest.

"The idea behind it is that there's a real need for singles to get together in Christian fellowship," Coe said.

"The desire came from seeing that singles didn't have a fellowship," he said. "They're looking for some people to visit with."

Coe had planned to host a retreat only for Hillcrest, but there was a large response and he decided to open the event to the area.

"This is not a Southern Baptist retreat," Coe said. "This is for anyone that feels they might like to come out in fellowship."

He hopes to make it an annual event.

Workshops and the directors are: "Freedom in Finances" — John David King, minister of education and administration at Hillcrest; "Freedom in Friendships" — Ron Harvel, associate pastor of Friendship Baptist Church in Weatherford; "Freedom in Singleness" — Claud Williams, minister to singles at Temple Baptist Church of Odessa; "Freedom in Marriage" — Lynn and Caron Cartrite, lay members of Wilshire Park Baptist Church of Midland; and "Freedom in Relationships" — Terry Fox, pastor of Hillcrest.

Cost is $35 and includes six meals. Participants need to bring a Bible, notebook, pencil, sleeping bag and other overnight items.

Late registration will be Friday, Oct. 4, from 6-7 p.m. Dinner will be at 7 p.m. followed by worship and a workshop.

Craig Smith will give a free concert Saturday, Oct. 5, from 8 p.m. to 9 p.m. Public invited.

For more information, contact Coe at (915) 267-1639.

"The church is just now waking up to the singles needs," Coe said. "In the church field today, I see it as one of the greatest needs."

Religion roundup

WASHINGTON (AP) — Christian and Jewish groups are taking opposing sides in a case now before the U.S. Supreme Court over whether student religious groups can meet in non-class periods in public schools.

Congress recently passed an equal-access law saying student religious groups had the same right to meet in public schools as other special groups and clubs, but a case from Williamsport, Pa., has brought the issue before the high court.

Christian groups totalling about 70 million members have urged the court to uphold such student rights, saying a lower court's refusal to do so prohibited freedom of speech "solely because of its religious content."

It constitutes "hostility to religion," says the U.S. Catholic Conference in a brief filed in the case.

The American Jewish Congress said free-speech rights do not entitle students to form religious club since public schools must oversee content of activity groups in keeping with "values" apart from religion.

A few shopping tips...

Nothing matches the beauty of fur. No other garment offers so much romance, character, and practical warmth. Unlike mass-produced coats, each fur is unique, an expression of individuality. Because differences are subtle, you may find it difficult to judge quality. But there are ways to make your final decision easier:

Choose a reliable furrier.
 If you don't know furs, get to know a furrier. That's the first and most important step you can take. Ask your friends or business associates who own a fur for advice. You may well benefit from another's experience.

A professional furrier can answer your questions, recommend furs that fit your taste and budget, tell you which labels are most respected and why, and assist you in your final selection. And a reliable furrier will back each sale to every customer's satisfaction.

See that skins are matched correctly.
 Look for overall consistency of color and pattern. A quality coat will be pleasing to the eye and free of blemishes. If pelts have not been properly matched in the manufacturing process, differences in color, height of hair or fur, or shading will be readily apparent.

Brush the coat gently, in the direction the fur grows.
 The fur should feel soft and silky, not rough. Long guard hair should be glossy and the underhair dense. If the fur is flat, the guard hair should be full: if it is curly or has a pattern, the curl or pattern should be uniform.

Fold or squeeze the coat to test the suppleness of the leather.
 Fur should be soft and pliable. A properly processed fur will have enough oil to keep the fur lustrous and the leather supple. The coat should not feel stiff, or have any bulky seams where pelts are joined.

Take care to get the proper styling as well as the right size.
 No matter how beautiful a fur looks on the rack, you must try it on to see if the style and fit are right for you. A quality fur, properly styled and fitted, will immediately "feel" right.

Our professional furriers have a combined total of more than 300 years experience in the business of fine fur fashion. We'd be happy to answer any questions you have and show you the latest fur styles...including selections from our Grosvenor, Black Willow, and exclusive Cameo Collections.
